+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Jl 10 '48 550w

"This book has a different and interesting philosophy of history. Its English translation by Heinrich Hauser is clear and readable."
+ Current Hist 15:225 O '48 70w

"This tract for the times should be useful in public and college libraries of all sizes." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ag 7 '48 1150w

Reviewed by Donald Derby
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 170w

MURNAGHAN, FRANCIS DOMINIC. Introduction to applied mathematics. 389p $5 Wiley

517 Calculus. Harmonic analysis. Vector analysis. Integral equations 48-4666

"Some of the fundamental concepts of higher mathematics that are finding wide application in present-day science and engineering are discussed in this text. The work is based on a course for graduate students that was given for twenty years by the author at the Johns Hopkins University, and is intended for use in similar courses." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Chem Eng 55:348 N '48 150w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:72 S '48

MURPHY, MRS DORIS. Cold heaven. 256p $2.75 Doubleday

48-5624

Novel about a woman who must decide whether to be artist or housewife.

"Sensitive in its probing, but sometimes hysterical in manner, this is 100% feminine."
Kirkus 15:679 D 15 '47 120w

"Disquieting story of rudeness and quarrels too numerous to be exciting." Anne Whitmore
— Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 70w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 90w

"Many a reader will find it difficult to believe that 'Cold Heaven' is a first novel at all, in fact; the author's handling of the whole novel is as mature as though half a dozen novels had already come from her typewriter." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 19 '48 550w

MURPHY, EDWARD FRANCIS. Mademoiselle Lavallière. 274p $3 Doubleday

B or 92 Lavallière, Eve 48-6933

Biographical novel of Eve Lavallière, the actress who gave up her career for a life of penance.

Reviewed by Riley Hughes
Commonweal 48:289 Jl 2 '48 260w

"Deeply versed in Catholicism and based on the life of an actual person, this is essentially for a Catholic market."
Kirkus 16:151 Mr 15 '48 150w

"Of theatrical interest primarily, but only for those libraries seeking completeness." George Freedley
Library J 73:1029 Jl '48 50w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 70w

Reviewed by Catharine Brody
N Y Times p11 Ag 1 '48 370w

Reviewed by Pamela Taylor
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Jl 17 '48 750w

MURPHY, GARDNER. Personality; a biosocial approach to origins and structure. 999p $7.50 Harper

137 Personality 47-31218

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"Because of its somewhat difficult style and involved organization, the volume is not likely to become a popular textbook for undergraduate courses; but anyone seriously interested in this field will want to have this book on his desk, because it is a systematic examination and critical analysis of our position today in the study and theory of personality." Kimball Young

+ — Am J Soc 53:511 My '48 1500w

"The publication of Gardner Murphy's book on personality will probably be hailed as an outstanding, perhaps even an epoch-making, event in the history of contemporary psychology. Murphy's scholarship has a really wide and discriminating basis. His style in many ways is the most fluent in the field since William James, and his knowledge is truly catholic. . . This is a piece of fine scholarship in the very best academic tradition. The best academic tradition, however, has weaknesses as well as strengths. Despite the fact that Murphy does deal with the critical problems of Marxian sociology and Freudian psychology and their interrelationships, one gains the impression that Murphy feels that the type of scholarship practiced here will, of necessity, gradually go on to solve the basic problems of personality in the bio-social field. In times of crisis this represents, if anything, an all-too-leisurely approach." J. F. Brown

+ — Am Soc R 13:497 Ag '48 1000w

Reviewed by P. R. Farnsworth

Ann Am Acad 257:241 My '48 380w

"It is refreshing to have a book dealing with personality consider the effects of technological developments, of changes in methods of production and distribution on personality and attempt to solve the problem of why people apparently exhibit different characteristics in different eras. . . Readers sophisticated in the field will find Murphy's discussion of the creative personality, of the knowledge of the self, and of autism, particularly useful. In discussing autism (the way in which our perceptions are affected by our needs) there is a much-needed round-up of the literature." Hadley Cantril

+ N Y Times p31 Mr 28 '48 700w

"All readers, I feel certain, will agree that this is an urbane, sophisticated book, the product of an intelligence that is constantly aware of the indescribable variety and confusion of human proceedings and of the difficulties that obstruct the path of the psychologist. The author is profoundly distrustful of all quick, neat, and self-assured solutions. Modestly he calls his Mont Blanc merely an 'approach,' but, in truth, the more confident books on personality, when placed around it, look like little peaks of arrogant sectarianism." H. A. Murray

+ Survey G 37:167 Mr '48 1200w

"In this comprehensive work, Professor Murphy has succeeded admirably in making a constructive survey and evaluation of scientific knowledge about personality. . . The work will interest most those who are engaged in research in the field of personality. The clear and interesting presentation will make the work valuable to the nonspecialist, for it is not encumbered with unnecessary technicalities."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:79 Mr '48 220w

MURRAY, GILBERT. From the League to U.N. 217p $4.50 Oxford

341.12 United nations (organization). League of nations. International cooperation 48-4872

"This little volume is a compilation of Professor Murray's lectures and commentaries between 1933 and 1946 on the problems of international order, and on the moral and intellectual crisis which lies behind them. Some of his most perceptive writing is contained in the essays 'The Cult of Violence' (1934), and 'The Author of Civilization.' In these he analyzes the dreadful implications of the violent ideologies, and, by contrast, the moral idea which has knit western civilization together." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by J. T. Watkins

Am Pol Sci R 42:1230 D '48 500w

Reviewed by DeWitt John

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 15 '48 650w

"A remarkable testament of a man who never allowed his idealism to blind him to the brute realities of the struggle for power or to restrain him from bitter censure of those men and nations who betrayed the peace. . . His chapters on the United Nations are valuable contributions to an understanding of the giant tasks, the obstacles and the possibilities inherent in this second effort to build world peace." J. K. Gordon

+ Nation 167:189 Ag 14 '48 500w

Reviewed by Frances Witherspoon

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 O 24 '48 550w

San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ag 22 '48 400w

"Throughout his long life . . . Gilbert Murray has been an exponent of the liberal tradition. His latest book is more distinctive for its fine reassertion of that tradition than for any particular program it offers." R. M. MacIver

+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 Ag 21 '48 650w

School & Society 68:256 O 9 '48 10w

"At a time when faith in the liberal creed is wilting, it is refreshing to find it restated with forthrightness and clarity. Professor Gilbert Murray retains all the courage of his opinions, and needless to say, presents them with the persuasive force of a great scholar and a master of letters. His is not the theoretical view of a savant, but a realistic view which does not shirk the rude lessons of events." Harold Butler

+ Spec 180:650 My 28 '48 700w

MURRAY, MAX. The king and the corpse. 234p $2.50 Farrar, Straus

48-7630

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun Jl 23 '48 130w

Kirkus 16:245 My 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 8 '48 170w

Reviewed by W. J. Glick

N Y Times p15 Ag 8 '48 160w

"The main purpose of this mystery is to divert rather than mystify. It's successful, too."

+ New Yorker 24:64 Jl 31 '48 120w

"This is a slick, gay cream puff of a mystery adventure. Max Murray writes merrily and well, his characters exude charm all over the place, the story has been a Saturday Evening Post serial, and you'd best read it. You might call it the ideal book for an easy chair on the veranda of a summer hotel." E. D. Doyle

+ San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ag 8 '48 150w

"Murder with wartime roots, considerable Wodehousian comedy, sundry spots of excitement, agreeably skittish royalty, and solution rather pat—but pleasing."

Sat R of Lit 31:24 Jl 24 '48 40w

MURRAY, ROSALIND. Forsaken fountain. 185p $2.75 Longmans

239 Christianity—Evidences. Mysticism 48-6416

"[Miss Murray's] aim is to show how the nonbeliever can regain the wisdom he has forsaken. She believes that the way of God—the way to God—is within the reach of every human being. What she advocates is less self-assertion and more receptivity; a deepening of man's natural powers of inner vision and a true humility which comes from the recognition of reality as a hierarchy of the spirit. . . The author's view is that human life is life in union with God and that the way to God is in prayer—the fountain of wisdom." N Y Times

---

"Well reasoned, sympathetic, timely, the book is recommended to readers who (1) are looking for a calm, penetrating, well reasoned diagnosis of the world's contemporary misery; or who (2) wish to know what path may be pointed out to an honest pagan hungering for peace, and truth, and goodness." Joseph McSorley

+ Cath World 167:470 Ag '48 270w

"It is a book which would appeal only to the intellectual and it is aimed at the unbelieving but seeking intellectual. Its theological presuppositions are, of course, those of the Catholic faith."

+ Kirkus 16:118 Mr 1 '48 160w

"[Miss Murray's] assumption that such vision and the experience of 'grace' cannot be known to non-Christian mystics is gratuitous, and she tends to be too exclusive in other distinctions she draws. But she has drunk of the fountain of wisdom to which she would have us return." H. I'A. F.

Manchester Guardian p3 My 21 '48 130w

"Books like this are useful, if they come off. Miss Murray's does. She writes with simplicity and deep conviction. Her ideas are gleaned from many sources and are marshaled with skill. . . It should appeal to all who are concerned with the inner contradictions of the modern world. It is neither learned nor personal but humane—sane and unconstrained." Nancy Lenkeith

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 18 '48 350w

MURRAY, ROSALIND. Good pagan's failure. Am ed 177p $2.75 Longmans

201 Christianity—Philosophy. Civilization, Occidental 48-5362

A study of the contrast between the Christian, the conscientious pagan and the barbarian points of view in the history of Western civilization. The failure of even "good" paganism is attributed to its materialistic nature and the attempts to use standards of Christian morality without regard to Christian doctrine. The author, daughter of Gilbert Murray, is a Catholic convert.

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 167:470 Ag '48 400w

"Miss Murray's book is written in that lucid and unpretending style which seems the especial gift of the English, whether in letters to the Times or in memoirs of persons otherwise non-literary. It makes plain that what is not theocentric of necessity moves toward the void and that each man's central problem is achieving his given degree of sanctity, always greater than he assumes." Geoffrey Stone

+ Commonweal 48:311 Jl 9 '48 390w

"This exceedingly important subject is treated in an intelligent, lucid and fresh manner, and should greatly interest those who view our present predicament philosophically. However its readers will be few." G. W. Wakefield

+ — Library J 73:333 F 15 '48 120w

"Despite its Spenglerian pessimism and the implicit appeal for a return to the institutions of the Middle Ages, the work makes fascinating reading."

+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 F 29 '48 170w

MURRAY, STUART. Traveler's guide to France; the country, the people and the language; il. by John N. Barron. 223p $3 Sheridan

914.4 France—Description and travel 48-5809

A guide book to France. Contents: Travel to France; Paris; Travel in France; Cities of Northern France; The wine regions of France; The French Riviera; Youth hostels in France; French—the language. Index.

"Seems very superficial, though it covers a lot of ground. . . The most valuable addition this makes to the travel shelf lies in the data on war ruins and their effect on tourist travel and interest, and the extensive information on travel facilities, how to get where and when and at what cost."

+ — Kirkus 16:142 Mr 1 '48 120w

"Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle

Library J 73:471 Mr 15 '48 70w

"In his 'Traveler's Guide to France,' Mr. Murray makes a commendable effort to smooth the visitor's pathway but he is hoist by his own zeal in some instances. . . He shows faulty judgment in including a list of train schedules, which are highly susceptible to change; a table of railroad fares, which has been knocked galley-west by the devaluation of the franc, and a chapter on the language, which could be better left to the dictionaries." Trevor Christie

Sat R of Lit 31:35 My 1 '48 280w

"A handy sized book full of required and interesting information." G. E. Lyon

+ Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 18 '48 90w

MUSSOLINI, BENITO. Fall of Mussolini: his own story; tr. from the Italian by Frances Frenaye; ed. and with a pref. by Max Ascoli. 212p $3 Farrar, Straus

940.5345 World war, 1939-1945—Italy. Italy—Fascist movement 48-10400

Nineteen articles giving Mussolini's own account of the period October 1942 to September 1943. There is a preface by the translator. Key to names and places.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 182:118 D '48 850w

Booklist 45:176 Ja 15 '49

Reviewed by E. R. Rosen

Christian Science Monitor p14 N 16 '48 950w

Reviewed by J. S. Roucek

Commonweal 49:284 D 24 '48 160w

Kirkus 16:466 S 1 '48 170w

"Written by anyone else, this book would have little value, but the authorship gives it importance as an historical document." Donald Wasson

Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Paolo Milano

Nation 167:642 D 4 '48 900w

"A petty, unpleasant, snarling whine by a dying buffoon. Again and again, through its brief length, I found myself asking what Italy had done to this villain that he should hate her so. Never has the land of love and beauty whelped such a creature." Vincent Sheean

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 31 '48 1200w

"There is much in these articles that should open the eyes of future generations, for the Duce is disarmingly, even naively, frank. . . His account of the confusion, lying, inefficiency, poltroonery and treachery of the Fascist leaders should be a corrective for future generations. The minutes of the meeting of Oct. 15, 1940, where the Greek campaign was decided upon, is an extraordinary account of flattery, falsity, blindness and stupidity. It is the last of the nineteen articles, and never was there such an anti-climax; it damns them all—Mussolini, Badoglio, Ciano and the generals." H. L. Matthews

N Y Times p3 O 24 '48 1350w

New Yorker 24:134 N 6 '48 140w

"With today's hindsight we know what a stunted, although dangerous, man Mussolini really was. Il Duce's own words in this volume bolster this knowledge as he venomously denounces his former henchmen, glows over the heroism of his German rescuers, prates emptily of future Fascist glories, and flamboyantly likens himself to Napoleon, who had his hard knocks too." S. S. Kline

Sat R of Lit 31:14 N 13 '48 600w

MUSTE, ABRAHAM JOHN. Not by might; Christianity: the way to human decency. 227p $2.50 Harper

261 Peace. Christianity. Sociology, Christian 47-12403

"This book is a vigorous challenge to Christians in their basic ethical presuppositions. It is a double mirror. On the one side, it shows the present situation, from which many try to turn their heads, for they prefer pathetic fancies to prophetic insights. On the other hand, it brings out the vital Christian assumptions and attitudes. . . As an American, writing to Americans, Muste recommends three courses of action. First, the United States should renounce all war-making as a national policy. Then the billions saved by not having any military establishment should be spent in world rehabilitation. Further, we should participate fully in cultural, economic and political world organizations, including a federal world government." (Christian Century) Index.

"A 'must' reading in these times for nonpacifists. Pacifists will need no urging, for they know that 'A. J.' will strengthen their convictions like concrete poured into a waiting mold. Others, however, who differ should ponder over the facts and implications which the national secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation has marshaled in these 219 penetrating pages." C. D. Brodhead

+ Christian Century 65:141 F 4 '48 700w

Reviewed by T. D. Mygatt

Churchman 162:18 F 1 '48 270w

"In these days of rising hysteria one could have a greater sense of hope if all nonpacifists would read this book, search themselves, and then decide. It is an urgently needed antidote to the rapid drift toward aggressive defense. This is a book that all of those who disagree ought to discipline themselves to read. It wrestles cogently with the greatest life-or-death issue of our times." A. T. Rasmussen

+ J Religion 28:229 Jl '48 250w

MY WEEKLY READER (periodical). Weekly reader parade; pictures by Rudolf Freund [and others]. 116p $1.50 Simon & Schuster

808.8 48-2352

Collection of stories, poems, and articles, written by the editors of My Weekly Reader, the national children's newspaper. Material is arranged under five main headings. Flying the skyways is about planes and their inventors; All aboard for many lands contains stories and articles on life in other countries; Modern miracles, is about science; Nature's parade, contains material on the smaller animals and some birds and insects; and Let's celebrate contains stories for holidays.

"The style is quick, bright, off-the-shoulder and the editors understand exactly how boys and girls like challenging questions, humor, facts, action, and a sprinkling of magic tricks and scientific puzzlers." Martha King

+ Chicago Sun Mr 6 '48 150w

"It's rather difficult to determine the standards by which the editors evaluated the material selected. The whole thing has a rather random air, but there's enough interesting stuff and colorful illustrations to make it a satisfactory buy."

+ — Kirkus 16:87 F 15 '48 90w

"Pleasant, useful, and not unattractive book. . . Recommended for ages 7-10." Judith Stevenson

+ Library J 73:399 Mr 1 '48 60w

MYERS, JOHN MYERS. Alamo. 240p maps $3 Dutton

976.4 Texas—History. Alamo—Siege, 1836 48-5208

Historical investigation of the difficulties between Texas and Mexico from the days of the Spanish missions to the fall of Alamo. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:246 Mr 15 '48

"This romantic story is partly stripped of its romance by the factual and colloquial style that Mr. Myers has employed; but by the same means, it has acquired a satisfying effect of reliability." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 F 28 '48 550w

"Possibly not the definitive book on the Alamo, but outstanding in its recapitulation and assessing of available material. A master tale of an American symbol. Sure of a regional audience."

+ Kirkus 15:640 N 15 '47 120w

"Told in a popular vein, but backed by thorough research." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 72:1777 D 15 '47 70w

"Probably because he was determined to use self-restraint, Mr. Myers somehow manages to make his story of the Alamo almost pedestrian. While keeping his emotions in check and giving a casual air to the narrative, he somehow seems to lose the feel of the great tale, so that at the end one has the impression of having read a competent but rather incomplete memorandum. Well, even that is preferable to much of the magniloquent gush that the story of the Alamo has produced." Stanley Walker

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 F 8 '48 500w

"'The Alamo' does not claim to advance research about its subject. It does make use of research and tells in readable form one of the best known stories from America's past." J. F. Dobie

+ N Y Times p7 F 15 '48 750w

Reviewed by A. R. Bosworth

San Francisco Chronicle p19 F 8 '48 200w

"The author is at pains to put the Alamo in its historical setting by beginning with the coming of the Spaniards, and their struggles with the Indians. On the whole his efforts are not successful, admirable as his purpose was, because his narrative lacks both sharpness and clarity. . . It is hoped that the casual reader can enjoy the author's persistent use of contradictions and slang, and his preference for 'Texian' over the more acceptable 'Texan.'" H. D. Cater

— + Sat R of Lit 31:12 Ap 10 '48 800w

MYERS, ROBERT MANSON. Handel's Messiah; a touchstone of taste. 338p il $5 Macmillan

783.3 Händel, Georg Friedrich—The Messiah 48-1662

Beginning with a résumé of Handel's musical life in England before the writing of the Messiah in 1741, the book continues with an account of the popularity of the great oratorio with British and American audiences thru two centuries. Select bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:309 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Felix Borowski

Chicago Sun My 24 '48 180w

"The book is indispensable for all chorus directors and soloists who present the Messiah." B. F. Wise

Christian Century 65:544 Je 2 '48 300w

Reviewed by W. P. Tryon

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 4 '48 420w

Reviewed by W. P. Sears

Churchman 162:15 My 15 '48 120w

Kirkus 15:641 N 15 '47 170w

"Of interest to all libraries." H. E. Bush

+ Library J 73:338 F 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. M. Coopersmith

Music Lib Assn Notes 5:367 Je '48 1250w

"This monograph on the background, creation, reception and subsequent glorious history of the most universally beloved of oratorios claims attention because of its excellent documentation and because Mr. Myers had hewed to the approach indicated in his subtitle, 'A Touchstone of Taste.'" Herbert Weinstock

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 8 '48 500w

"The author traces the career of Handel's 'Messiah' from its conception more than two hundred years ago down to the present, and shows the influence it has had not only upon musicians but upon poets and philosophers as well. Mr. Myers accomplishes all this admirably, with an amiable and clear style that should please the musical layman as much as his thorough research and careful presentation will satisfy the scholar." M. C. Hastings

+ N Y Times p17 Je 20 '48 700w

MYERS, VIRGINIA. Angelo's wife. 372p $3 Bobbs
48-8712

Romantic historical novel of Spanish grandees living in California in the 1830s and 40s.

Booklist 45:178 Ja 15 '49

"The author's style is schoolgirlishly strident, like this: 'She hated him. She hated him. She hated him. She loathed, abhorred and despised him. She longed with a soul-shaking fury to kill him.' During one of her hating spells she 'swallowed a torrent of hot words.' Readers of the novel are obliged to do that for hundreds of pages."
— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p31 O 17 '48 270w

Reviewed by Robert Halsband
— Sat R of Lit 31:31 O 2 '48 290w

MYRDAL, GUNNAR, and others. The Negro in America, by Arnold Rose; with a foreword by Gunnar Myrdal. 325p $3.75 Harper
325.26 Negroes 48-7307

A condensation of Dr. Gunnar Myrdal's The American Dilemma (Book Review Digest 1944). "In one-fifth the space Dr. Rose, who aided Dr. Myrdal in his great study, has given us the gist of it. Here we find all the important analyses, insights and conclusions, everything the busy, intelligent citizen needs. Discarded in condensation is much bulk of supporting evidence, and the appendixes. Dr. Myrdal in a preface endorses Dr. Rose's distillation and notes that he added to it the developments in race relations occurring since 1943." Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by M. C. Hill
Am J Soc 54:386 Ja '49 420w

Booklist 44:385 Jl 15 '48

"The Negro in America is plainly the best single volume about the Negro in America." H. A. Jack
+ Christian Century 65:1176 N 3 '48 380w

"In 'The Negro in America' [Arnold Rose] has succeeded admirably, not only in retaining the scope and significance of the larger book but also the breadth and vision, which are rare qualities in a purely social analysis." Henrietta Buckmaster
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 15 '48 900w

Kirkus 16:164 Mr 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Daniel James
Nation 167:321 S 18 '48 1450w

School & Society 67:464 Je 19 '48 30w

"This is a valuable book in itself and a readable introduction to its portly parent." M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p15A Jl 25 '48 130w

Wis Lib Bul 44:146 S '48

N

NAGY, FERENC. Struggle behind the iron curtain; tr. from the Hungarian by Stephen K. Swift. 471p $6 Macmillan
943.91 Hungary—Politics and government 48-11003

The former premier of Hungary describes how he and his co-workers in the Hungarian government were squeezed out by the Communists. The author is now living in this country. Index.

Booklist 45:118 D 1 '48

Reviewed by Irving Pflaum
Chicago Sun D 8 '48 150w

Christian Century 65:1403 D 22 '48 220w

Reviewed by R. H. Markham
Christian Science Monitor p19 N 18 '48 850w

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 49:260 D 17 '48 420w

Kirkus 16:464 S 1 '48 260w

"This moving autobiography, rather well translated by Stephen K. Swift, will be exceedingly useful to students of foreign affairs, but should interest also general public in era of cold war. Recommended for public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 73:1593 N 1 '48 180w

Reviewed by Seymour Freidin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 D 12 '48 900w

"Nagy's book is written in a simple style replete with direct quotations. Almost everyone cited seems to speak in the same Hemingway-like sentences. One is left with the unfortunate impression that Nagy's story would have carried much more weight had it been otherwise conceived. The fact remains that it is still of great interest to anyone concerned with the methods of Soviet penetration and political conquest—and just why it is so difficult for the Western powers to block that process." C. L. Sulzberger
+ — N Y Times p7 N 14 '48 800w

"The book is a little overweight with Hungarian internal politics, but it is not wearisome, and it is written modestly and with deep feeling."
+ — New Yorker 24:146 N 13 '48 120w

Reviewed by Martin Ebon
Sat R of Lit 31:13 D 18 '48 320w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p14A Ja 23 '49 700w

NAMIER, LEWIS BERNSTEIN. Diplomatic prelude, 1938-39. 503p $5 Macmillan
940.532 World war, 1939-1945—Diplomatic history [48-18171]

A study of European diplomacy between the Munich agreement and the outbreak of the war, based on official collections of documents, British and American newspaper reports and memoirs.

Reviewed by J. S. Beddie
Am Hist R 54:331 Ja '49 500w

Reviewed by I. M. Stone
Am Pol Sci R 42:1246 D '48 480w

Reviewed by Preston Slosson
Ann Am Acad 260:189 N '48 380w

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 22 '48 850w

"Professor Namier has the competence and the disposition to carry out the task he has set himself. The probability is that 'Diplomatic Prelude' will develop into a standard work on one facet of a period that will present a problem of interpretation, to historians and others, for many generations to come." Franz Hoellering
+ Nation 167:211 Ag 21 '48 1050w

"There is 'distortion' in Diplomatic Prelude, but it is the distortion of historical perspective; and it does not obscure the truth, provided that we remember the narrow limits which Professor Namier has set himself—to study the available documents and to interpret them as diplomatic history in the light of all the relevant information available. It is one of his achievements that he has disguised from the inexpert reader the vast amount of research which has gone into his work; important new facts are revealed almost casually in his narrative. Like Thucydides, and unlike many modern scientific historians, he regards it as his task to let the story tell itself and not to advertise his own diligence." R. S. Crossman

NAMIER, L. B.—Continued
New Statesman & Nation 35:97 Ja 31 '48 700w

San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 22 '48 300w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Wiskemann
Spec 180:110 Ja 23 '48 180w

"[This] book is as closely abreast of published sources of information as it could possibly be. Happily Professor Namier has the intention of keeping his book up to date by the inclusion in subsequent editions of any fresh evidence that may come to light. It is to be hoped that he will at the same time improve the index to a book that will certainly become a standard work of reference. Professor Namier has been remarkably successful in carrying out his uncommonly difficult task. His book will for a long time to come be indispensable to the student of pre-1939 diplomatic history and to all desirous of learning the truth about the immediate origins of the war. Moreover, Professor Namier has performed the almost impossible feat of breathing life into the dry bones of diplomatic correspondence. There is hardly a dull page in the five hundred pages of this book."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p47 Ja 24 '48 2100w

NASSAU, JASON JOHN. Practical astronomy. 2d ed 311p il $5 McGraw 522 Astronomy, Spherical and practical
48-7632

"This second edition is a thorough revision of a book well known to astronomers. It represents a broader view of the subject. Additional text and illustrations have been introduced to clarify and emphasize fundamental principles. The meridian angle and azimuth angle are defined. More than 50% of the illustrative material is new. No previous knowledge of physical trigonometry is required. Part II presents the advanced material for field work in geodetic surveying." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1598 N 1 '48 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:50 Jl '48

NATHAN, GEORGE JEAN. Theatre book of the year, 1947-1948; a record and an interpretation. (V6) 370p $4 Knopf
792 Theater—U.S. Drama—History and criticism (43-51298)

"This is the sixth volume of the distinguished Mr. Nathan's personal record of the plays he has seen, the actors noted, the rambling thoughts which pass through his head while watching a play." Library J

Booklist 45:84 N 1 '48

Kirkus 16:463 S 1 '48 70w

"Brilliant as always but in no way of documentary value. Recommended for large theatre collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1513 O 15 '48 50w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ja 30 '49 500w

"For a great many years now we have been reading angry pronunciamentos by producers, playwrights and actors, denouncing George Jean Nathan as a destructive critic, menacing the otherwise bright futures of the American stage. These enraged gentlemen would do well to read his report on the past season. Out of their collective bad work he has made a constructive, instructive and very entertaining book that will probably bring more people into the theatres than such plays as 'The Rats of Norway' and 'This Time Tomorrow' have driven out of them." T. Q. Curtiss
+ N Y Times p20 O 24 '48 450w

Sat R of Lit 31:33 O 30 '48 70w

NATHAN, ROBERT. Long after summer. 146p $2 Knopf
48-8246

Short novel based on the idyllic love of Johanna, a fourteen-year-old girl from an orphanage, and a lad who lives in the Cape Cod village where Johanna goes to work. When the boy is drowned in a storm Johanna almost loses her mind; but is saved by the narrator, for whom she has worked, and a fine Catholic priest.

"A story which, in its taciturn speech, its descriptive beauty, and its sensuous feeling for spring and summer, is truly evocative of the Cape." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 182:106 N '48 450w

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

"The reassertion of reason puts this story on more sober footing than some of Mr. Nathan's; but it has the same small perfection and tender evocation." W. K. Rugg
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 N 4 '48 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"Its slightness is more than compensated by Nathan's skill in creating the tenderness of spring and young love and in drawing readers into belief of shifting time." M. C. Scoggin
+ Horn Bk 25:64 Ja '49 80w

Kirkus 16:344 Jl 15 '48 150w

"Long After Summer has a faint perfume that soon vanishes. It will, however, make a pleasant little addition to the fiction shelves and most libraries will want it. W. A. Dwiggins designed the binding, a heavy decorated paper over boards." G. D. McDonald
+ — Library J 73:1274 S 15 '48 130w

"Perhaps the very distance from which one observes his characters keeps one from total involvement in Robert Nathan's world. But for most readers the very real enchantment of that world's atmosphere and the warmth of Robert Nathan's affection for unaffected humanity will more than make up for any loss of immediacy." J. J. Espey
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 S 26 '48 450w

"The story has its moments of truthful eloquence and beauty, chiefly in its cumulative suggestions of the remote, incommunicable world inhabited by the very young in love. On the other hand it is, to its loss, nearly innocent of all everyday reality in its depiction of the world inhabited by Cape Cod boatbuilders, lobstermen, housewives, parish priests, and bachelor housekeepers." Wilson Follett
+ — N Y Times p23 O 3 '48 600w

"Mr. Nathan is one of the very few living novelists who could assault the jaded multitude with this cloying tale and escape from the arena alive, and he is probably the only novelist who could do even more—tell the story well enough, as he has done, to merit a round of mild applause."
+ — New Yorker 24:99 O 2 '48 160w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 24 '48 600w

"Here is another of Robert Nathan's porcelain miniatures, fashioned with the quiet perfection, the tenuousness of plot, and sure evocation of atmosphere which have become his hallmark. . . As a craftsman, Mr. Nathan is a delight. Sensitive to the rhythms of the spoken word and to nature, he knows how to carry them into his story with a skill that seems effortless. Mature and sophisticated, he manages to convey the appearance of a direct and disarming simplicity." Bradford Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 S 25 '48 700w

"In his beautiful prose, Robert Nathan . . . has written a Cape Cod love story as refreshing as the breezes at his Truro summer home." E. H. Dexter
+ Springf'd Republican p5C O 31 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:165 O '48

NATIONAL RECREATION ASSOCIATION. Water-color painting is fun. See Staples, F. A.

NEAL, RAYMOND ELWOOD. Chemistry in nursing. 564p $4 McGraw

540 Chemistry. Nurses and nursing 48-3781

"Presents clearly the inorganic and organic chemistry needed for basic training for nurses. The sixteen units are followed by questions and laboratory exercises. Includes teaching aids, lecture outlines and demonstrations." (Library J) List of visual aids. Index.

Booklist 45:60 O 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1824 D 15 '48 30w

NEFF, EMERY EDWARD. Edwin Arlington Robinson. (American men of letters ser) 286p $3.50 Sloane

B or 92 Robinson, Edwin Arlington 48-8640

A biographical study of Edwin Arlington Robinson, and a critical study of his works. The author is a professor of English at Columbia university. Selected references. Indexes.

Booklist 45:87 N 1 '48

Reviewed by Denham Sutcliffe
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 950w

"Mr. Neff, in the way of biographers, tells us all about his subject's forebears, about his education, about his private affairs, within reasonable limits. He combines biography with criticism; we are provided with extensive analyses of the poet's individual works. Perhaps Mr. Neff is a little excessive in his enthusiasm, but on the whole his is a job well done." John Cournos
+ Commonweal 49:76 O 29 '48 600w

"The man, for all the friendship of the writer, is never fulsomely praised, but rather fairly valued, with his peak in 1916 contrasted with his later writings. A worthy companion to the previous volume and making an auspicious start for this new series."
+ Kirkus 16:467 S 1 '48 140w

"An appreciative work, written with simplicity and understanding. More profound studies and a more definitive biography will sometime be written but the present book should be highly recommended." G. D. McDonald
+ Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 130w

"The book is slanted toward the past more than I should like it to be; it is worth reading if for nothing else than the story it tells of the battle Robinson carried on to live and be a poet in the 1890's. It is a story which needed telling, and though Mr. Neff has omitted many details which might have added to his effects, all the essential points in the heroic struggle have been at least brought to our attention." W. C. Williams
+ Nation 167:498 O 30 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 119:29 D 6 '48 550w

"It is because of his thorough awareness of the poet's quality that Emery Neff, writing in the new American Men of Letters Series, has produced a study of Robinson's literary career which possesses a special kind of radiance. Structurally it is a systematic and scholarly book that places the writer's works in relation to the story of his life, searches for clues to the origin of his inspiration and the sources of his material, and reviews the critical reception of each of his important publications. But between the lines it is more than that; it is a tribute of admiration from a fine intelligence and sensibility to a greater, a recognition of what it means when the potential of life in the soul is heightened through the electric discharge of genius." G. F. Whicher
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 O 17 '48 850w

"Emery Neff's 'Edwin Arlington Robinson' is a disappointment. Professor Neff knew Robinson at the McDowell colony, and values Robinson's poetry deeply, but what he writes is conventional academic appreciation at its minimum of intensity or speculativeness. . . The Robinson of Professor Neff's study is the Robinson already familiar to us from Hermann Hagedorn's biography and from the volume of letters, 'Untriangulated Stars.' . . His account necessarily parallels Hagedorn's, and is at times, indeed, a paraphrase of it. But it is in the description of individual poems that we most feel the critical wastefulness of Mr. Neff's approach." R. G. Davis
N Y Times p14 O 24 '48 750w

"Mr. Neff has achieved rare success in blending three distinct elements in his book: a biography of Robinson, a critical account of Robinson's poetry and thought, and a literary history of the reception of Robinson's work, both here and abroad. . . Any one of the three, presented in Mr. Neff's evocative and admirably lucid prose and informed by his personal friendship with the poet, would mark out this book as exceptional; the combination of the three makes a book which is equally profound in its scholarship and in its sympathy with the subject, equally sensitive in discerning the unique qualities of a difficult personality and in appreciating the universal implications of a single man's life and career." Milton Crane
+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 N 13 '48 600w

NEFF, EMERY EDWARD. Poetry of history; the contribution of literature and literary scholarship to the writing of history since Voltaire. 258p $3.50 Columbia univ. press

907 Literature and history. History—Historiography 47-30933

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"From Voltaire through Herder, Vico . . . Carlyle, Michelet, Renan, Burckhart and Green to Spengler and Toynbee, Mr. Neff has written agreeably and informatively, holding always to his central theme that really good historical writing is an art, and therefore a part of the literary heritage of the race. The result is lively, readable, and provocative. Compared to these essays, a book like Gooch's History and Historians in the Nineteenth Century is simply a dull compilation." Crane Brinton
+ Am Hist R 53:306 Ja '48 500w

"In elaborating his theme, Professor Neff practises what he preaches. Instead of following the dismal and established tradition of manuals of historiography and writing perfunctorily about as many historians as can be crammed into his pages, he selects a limited number of representative and eminent men about whom he writes with spirit, relating them to his own point of view. . . Some of these sketches are perhaps too brief to be of much weight but others, particularly those of Herder and Michelet, have something important to say. Professor Neff is least satisfactory in his concluding pages where he hastily disposes of the Ranke-Stubbs-Freeman school, leaving the unfortunate impression that nothing good can be said for the 'scientific' historian." David Spring
+ — Canadian Hist R 29:67 Mr '48 650w

Reviewed by Crane Brinton
Nation 166:103 Ja 24 '48 800w

Reviewed by Max Lerner
New Repub 119:18 D 6 '48 220w

"In an age when knowledge is threatened by overspecialization and when professors are as a rule frightened to publish anything broad enough in scope to have any significance, Mr. Neff has the courage to dedicate his book 'to those who believe that knowledge is one and indivisible.' It is a noble profession, and 'The Poetry of History' lives up to it. One critic, at least, has found it the most exciting professional contribution to understanding he has read for a long time." David Daiches
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 My 2 '48 800w

"Because these essays about European historians are written with a scholar's breadth of reference and a critic's perception, the reader will find them rich in incidental insights and unexpected suggestions. But they were not written merely to add to the pleasures of self-cultivation. Like the histories they discuss, like any work of art their real aim is to reveal us to ourselves. In succeeding, they provide a prime illustration of the kind of book the critic is talking about. And they provide, also, more fruitful and imperative

NEFF, E. E.—Continued
reading than many a more pompous and louder-spoken volume." Garrett Mattingly
+ N Y Times p3 F 29 '48 600w

"In dealing with historical writing in the nineteenth century, Mr. Neff's method is not quite so felicitous as in treating the earlier periods. . . Taken as a whole, however, this study of the unfolding and flowering of history . . . is admirable. It is itself both a work of scholarship and a work of art. Into two hundred pages (excluding the last section) Mr. Neff has distilled a wealth of reading and reflection." Allan Nevins
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:34 Je 5 '48 650w

Reviewed by F. Hinsley
Spec 181:22 Jl 2 '48 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p515 S 11 '48 2450w

"In his rich book, whose concentration more than compensates for its brevity, the historiography of the Romantic Movement is expounded in its best exemplars. . . By skillful quotation and accurate summary Professor Neff presents carefully chiseled outlines of the life work of nine historians of Romantic temper, with particular attention to the primary inspiration and the essential Weltanschauung of each."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:366 D '47 290w

NEFF, PHILIP, and others. Production cost trends in selected industrial areas; pub. for the John Randolph Haynes and Dora Haynes foundation. 249p $4 Univ. of Calif.

338.52 Manufactures—Costs 48-6041

"Based principally on data published in the U. S. Census of Manufacturers from 1929 through 1939, this study presents a statistical comparison of manufacturing trends and costs in six industrial areas: Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, and Pittsburgh. The reason for selecting these particular areas seems to have been the authors' judgment that the five other regions compete with Los Angeles for new industrial plants." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

"From a methodological point of view, the authors leave much to be desired in the analysis used in conjunction with the above measures. There is an unfortunate habit in this book of computing trends from data for the period 1929 to 1939; in fact this procedure, as the title indicates, is the principal type of analysis employed. . . In spite of these criticisms, however, this book is a useful contribution to the literature. It is easy to criticize methods and results; but those who open up new fields and attempt positive research merit a great deal of credit." Richard Ruggles
+ — Am Econ R 38:949 D '48 1050w

"For those concerned with differential rates of regional development and relocation of industry within the United States, this stimulating statistical study provides a valuable fund of background material." Walter Isard
J Pol Econ 56:366 Ag '48 600w

"The evidence presented is interesting, but far from conclusive; nonetheless, the study is a contribution to the analysis of regional cost differences."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:163 Je '48 260w

NEGRO year book [1947] a review of events affecting Negro life, 1941-1946; Jessie Parkhurst Guzman, editor; Vera Chandler Foster, W. Hardin Hughes, associate editors. (V10) 708p $4.50 Tuskegee inst. Dept. of records & research, Tuskegee, Ala.

325.26 Negroes—Yearbooks (12-14974)

" 'The Negro Year Book dates back to 1912 [but published irregularly] . . . covers mainly events from 1941 through 1946, with some historical background. . . It provides a comprehensive view of events affecting the Negro in the United States, in Africa, in Europe and in Latin America.' (Preface) These geographical divisions make up the four main divisions of the book with 22 of the 39 chapters containing data on the Negro in the United States under such headings as, 'The Negro in the Sciences,' 'The Negro and Education,' 'The Negro in Agriculture,' 'The Negro and Civil Rights,' 'Health and Housing,' 'The Negro and World war II,' 'The Negro press,' and 'The Negro in the Theatre, on the Radio, and in Moving Pictures.' Statistics, analyses, background information, and discussion are all used to give accurate, objective, and fairly comprehensive information on important phases of Negro life." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"As the major encyclopedic source book on Negroes this volume has the obligation to be meticulously accurate, rigidly correct, and up-to-date in data. Unfortunately, upon examination it falls short in every one of these categories. . . The volume does, however, contain some positive aspects. Its format is commendable. The treatment of the Negro in the national economy, although only dated through 1945, is helpful and authoritative. The data on race riots are valid and current; and the reconnaissance of the Negro in literature is effective." H. H. Smythe
— + Am Soc R 13:363 Je '48 450w

"Civil rights are discussed in detail. The skillful editing of the volume is itself a demonstration of the Negro's ability to study his problems in a scientific way." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:449 My 12 '48 110w

"A brief comparison, in so far as the two books are comparable, with The Negro Handbook, 1946-47, edited by Florence Murray, discloses that, though there is some duplication, both titles should be on library shelves as one supplements the other. . . The Negro Year Book, 1947 is recommended not only as an important reference book but also because in the evaluation, discussion, and analysis of interracial problems there is concisely presented the current trend of thought of many of the leaders of the Negro people."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:33 Ap '48 1100w

"Its wide range, sound organization, and temperate presentation make this an invaluable reference book." Beulah Amidon
+ Survey 84:128 Ap '48 150w

NEHRU, JAWAHARLAL. Nehru on Gandhi. 150p $2 Day

B or 92 Gandhi, Mohandas Karamchand 48-6972

"A selection, arranged in the order of events, from the writings and speeches of Jawaharlal Nehru" about Mahatma Gandhi. Index.

Booklist 44:335 Je 1 '48

Reviewed by Carlyle King
Canadian Forum 28:143 S '48 170w

Chicago Sun My 16 '48 180w

Christian Science Monitor p18 Je 11 '48 600w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 48:383 Jl 30 '48 70w

Kirkus 16:203 Ap 15 '48 170w

"There is a great deal in this slim volume to be learned about the man Gandhi. There is even more to be learned about the man Nehru who so often, against his own better judgment, followed Gandhi because 'the unknown stared at us through his eyes.' " H. R. Isaacs
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 My 23 '48 1000w

"From one point of view, 'Nehru on Gandhi' is a stimulating record of the interplay between two forces in Indian nationalism symbolized by these two great men. . . From another point of view, 'Nehru on Gandhi' is an exciting history of the Indian Nationalist movement in capsule form. In one or two cases, the editors have included material that is either misleading or out of date, such as Nehru's former evaluation of the left wing forces in India. But by and large the selections have been skillfully chosen to display the momentous events and to reveal the narrative brilliance of Nehru's style." John Bicknell
+ N Y Times p21 Je 6 '48 750w

New Yorker 24:98 Je 12 '48 120w

Reviewed by Louis Fischer
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 Je 19 '48 550w

"His close connection with Gandhi for so many years lends peculiar importance to everything Nehru has to say about him, and while his opinions may be studied to better advantage in their original contexts, this little book is interesting and valuable as a memorial tribute to the great Indian leader." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 180w

NEHRU, KRISHNA. See Hutheesing, K. N.

NEIDER, CHARLES. Frozen sea; a study of Franz Kafka. 195p $3.50 Oxford
833 Kafka, Franz 48-6133

An analysis of Kafka literature based on the theory that Kafka applied Freud's dream findings deliberately.

"Mr. Neider's [book] is as serious and as vital an approach to Kafka as the 'Skeleton Key' was to 'Finnegan's Wake,' for Mr. Neider regards Kafka as a conscious artist, deliberately using his own infantilisms, as material for his imagination to work upon. . . But, alas, Mr. Neider goes too far, at least in his vocabulary. He really is most helpful in much of his analysis, especially of the short stories and tales, but outside of a clinic such phrases as 'the symbol of virility bars the pregenital neurotic's way to heterosexuality' should really be forbidden. They have little relation to life, less to reality and none to literature." Anne Fremantle
— + Commonweal 48:458 Ag 20 '48 210w

"The great value in this study lies in its being a spur to the reader, who is compelled to return to Kafka's writings to discover what he himself thinks is their true meaning. Recommended for large libraries." H. R. Forbes
+ Library J 73:556 Ap 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. B. Martin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Je 27 '48 1000w

"In less than 200 pages Mr. Neider has succeeded not only in giving a profound analysis of one of the most fascinating and enigmatic modern writers but in attacking a large number of fellow-commentators. Mr. Neider expects a good deal from his readers, but he gives them an abundance in return. He is, on the whole, free of the uncritical hero-worship that has befallen many 'Kafkans'; he possesses an enormous arsenal of philological, historical psycho-analytical knowledge, but unlike many of our younger critics, he never strains to overwhelm the reader by sheer brilliances." Richard Plant
+ N Y Times p4 My 23 '48 800w

"The reasoning gets pretty rarefied . . . and will probably appeal only to the very devout."
New Yorker 24:115 Ap 17 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 Jl 18 '48 100w

Reviewed by Marjorie Brace
Sat R of Lit 31:15 My 29 '48 420w

"It is Neider's intention to introduce Kafka to a wider audience; but he undertakes to do so largely by interpreting the symbols of 'The Castle' and 'The Trial' almost entirely as conventional sexual images derived from Freud. Kafka's life, especially in the dominance of his father, was one of extreme subjective tension, but if his writing is only a reflection of that, it becomes reduced to the level of merely another case history." H. L. Varley
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 18 '48 240w

"Mr. Neider has made an intensive study of Kafka. He has a fresh, untrammelled approach and many interesting and valuable things to say. Hs analysis of 'Amerika,' for example, is original and provocative, and perhaps the best part of his book. His studies in Kafka's nomenclature are very suggestive. But Kafka was not a collector of Freudiana who wrote in order to illustrate Freud's symbols and theories any more than he was a theologian. . . Kafka was, above all, a consummate artist, and his technique is inextricably bound to his content. The book on Kafka, therefore, remains to be written." Angel Flores
+ — Yale R n s 38:365 winter '49 700w

NEIDER, CHARLES, ed. Short novels of the masters; with an introduction. 643p $4; text ed $3 Rinehart
Short stories—Collections 48-8488

Contents: Benito Cereno, by Herman Melville; Notes from underground, by F. M. Dostoyevsky; A simple heart, by Gustave Flaubert; The death of Iván Ilých, by L. N. Tolstoy; The Aspern papers, by Henry James; Ward No. 6, by A. P. Chekhov; Death in Venice, by Thomas Mann; The dead, by James Joyce; The metamorphosis, by Franz Kafka; The fox, by D. H. Lawrence.

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 O 10 '48 90w

"A splendid anthology of short works of fiction."
+ New Yorker 24:131 O 9 '48 110w

"He relies heavily on psychoanalysis, and his nose for latent homosexuality is perhaps over-keen; but he is always interesting, and the reader will find his ideas are stimulating." B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 31:23 N 27 '48 110w

NEIDER, CHARLES, ed. Stature of Thomas Mann [anthology of commentary and criticism on Thomas Mann's life and works]. 510p $5 New directions
B or 92 Mann, Thomas 48-5734

"What G.B.S. did recently for George Bernard Shaw this compilation, whether prompted by it or not, does for Thomas Mann. . . Within the covers of one massive volume it brings the tribute of a great variety of critics, sixty-one in all, to Thomas Mann's eminence in present-day literature. Most of the critics are Americans, but there is J. B. Priestley for England, André Gide for France, F. J. H. Letters for Australia, and A. F. B. Clark for Canada. Only five of the articles are wholly new. While most of them are dated in the forties, some are older, and the earliest, from the pen of Conrad Aiken, is of 1928." Canadian Forum

Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

"There is a wealth of contemporary opinion here which will make the volume desirable for any or all of Thomas Mann's followers. It is perhaps toward them rather than toward the reviewers that the volume is immediately directed. For what the reviewer finds, to his dismay, is sixty-one starts, sixty-one opening chapters to sixty-one critical biographies, or words to that effect. In such a situation what can he do in self-defence but climb up behind and start writing Book Sixty-Two?" Barker Fairley
Canadian Forum 27:285 Mr '48 500w

"Time alone can decide the stature of Thomas Mann. In the meantime, the contributions to this volume . . . testify to the fact that the Mann pedestal is in the making." John Cournos
Commonweal 47:405 Ja 30 '48 500w

Reviewed by Ronald Peacock
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 2 '48 350w

Reviewed by Jacques Barzun
Nation 167:20 Jl 3 '48 1500w

New Repub 118:32 F 9 '48 230w

"The present book, intelligently planned by a critic of ability, is a rich and informative collection of tributes paid to Thomas Mann. . . One regrets that the book does not include at least some unfriendly criticism, for there is a good deal. These strictures could not, of course, detract from the enduring beauty and significance of the great novels. But they might well blow out the window some of the incense clouds which have tended to create the illusion that Moses was moving with new tables of the law into a cathedral designed by Le Corbusier." G. N. Shuster
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 F 1 '48 1100w

"Some of Mr. Neider's choices are sensible enough. . . Yet I find his volume as a whole far from satisfying. There is so little real criticism in it. Yes, there are genuinely critical remarks in a certain number of the essays. . .

NEIDER, CHARLES—Continued
For the present, Mann has been explained quite enough and praised far too much." Eric Bentley
N Y Times p3 Ja 25 '48 950w
San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 23 '48 350w

"Thomas Mann, his personality, his appearance, his family life, his method of work, are described and revered in this collection: his creative mind, his style, his philosophical system are studied and analysed. . . The influence of a greater writer on letters is not always, nor of necessity, good. To read the body of exegesis that is growing up around the works of Thomas Mann reminds one painfully: Here is another trick that fame has played on him. . . Mann has much to say and says it resoundingly; 'level after level of meaning' opens out before the pilgrim, who may feel lost and frightened and lonely in this stately forest, but is rewarded with exaltation. But only from the Master should the pilgrim have to submit to these rigours: disciples should be wary in the demands they make. Hacking through the undergrowth of jargon in some of the German and American criticism which Mr. Neider—himself a principal offender—has collected, one pilgrim at least grows cross and tired." John Midgley
Spec 180:232 F 20 '48 650w

NEILSON, MRS FRANCES FULLERTON (JONES) and NEILSON, WINTHROP. Bruce Benson, son of fame; il. by Margaret Ayer. 173p $2.50 Dutton
48-4526

Story of Bruce, whose ambition was to play baseball, but who was taken to Central America by his explorer-parents instead. There he learned to like exploration, and to assume responsibility in time of need.

"Good yarn with the sort of factual natural history that boys interested in the subject will find good reading for ten and up."
+ Kirkus 16:479 S 15 '48 100w

"Nicely developed family relationship with enough action to satisfy all. Recommended for sixth-graders." Anne Izard
+ Library J 73:1388 O 1 '48 70w

"Eight to 11 year olds will enjoy the adventures but they will also grasp the fact that parents are people even though their own may not be famous but only busy." F. C. Smith
+ N Y Times p24 D 12 '48 180w

"Bruce is a well-drawn character and his growth as the story develops is well-described. It is a story that will probably have a wide appeal to boys." R. A. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 N 13 '48 160w

NEILSON, FRANCIS. Modern man and the liberal arts; critical essays. 339p $3.50 Schalkenbach
304 Education. Political science 47-12036

Eleven critical essays on education, political economy and history, containing a plea for a return to the liberal arts in education. The author is an actor, journalist, speaker, who was a member of parliament in England before World war I. Index.

Current Hist 14:175 Mr '48 20w
School & Society 66:430 N 29 '47 10w
Social Studies 39:96 F '48 10w

NELS, JACQUES. Man of means; tr. by Elaine P. Halperin. 173p $2.50 Ziff-Davis
48-1231

Novel in which M. Villiers-Bernard, who has just lost five million francs in the Paris Bourse, reviews his past life and doubtful future.

Kirkus 16:244 My 15 '48 110w

"The subject of the story gives the reader little basis for guessing at its author's powers, either of imagination or observation, while the translation gives only the darkest hints as to his style. . . 'A Man of Means' in translation is a mechanical sequence of short, primerish sentences, like the exercises in a first-year French grammar, without cadence, or color, and hence without life." Donald Barr
N Y Times p14 Jl 25 '48 550w

"A mediocre import from France."
New Yorker 24:78 My 29 '48 160w

NELSON, HUGH LAWRENCE. Fountain of death. 244p $2 Rinehart
48-7721

Detective story.

"The background here is agreeable and so is the author's way with his people. But the interest evaporates in the strenuous demonstration at the last. Mild and ingratiating." James Sandoe
+ — Chicago Sun p10 Ag 6 '48 100w
Kirkus 16:270 Je 1 '48 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 S 5 '48 40w
N Y Times p15 Ag 8 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p23 S 19 '48 120w
Sat R of Lit 31:30 S 4 '48 40w

NELSON, HUGH LAWRENCE. Island of escape. 235p $2 Rinehart
48-276

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun F 20 '48 150w
Kirkus 15:684 D 15 '47 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 '48 150w

"A story which should win some sort of an award for preposterousness." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p27 F 22 '48 130w

"Hardly in the same class as the earlier Nelsons." E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 15 '48 100w

"Readable."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Mr 6 '48 40w

NELSON, WILLIAM STUART, ed. Christian way in race relations [contributors: Marion Cuthbert, and others]. 256p $2.50 Harper
261 U.S.—Race question. Church and social problems 48-5726

A symposium prepared in connection with the Institute of religion at Howard university. Contents: Crucial issues in America's race relations today, by W. S. Nelson; The Christian way in race relations, by G. D. Kelsey; Economic forces and the Christian way, by J. N. Hughley; Political forces and the Christian way, by A. W. Hardy; Social practices and the Christian way, by J. H. Robinson; What can the church do? by H. V. Richardson; The role of the Christian college, by W. L. Imes; The role of the Young Men's Christian Association, by F. T. Wilson; The role of the Young Women's Christian Association, by Marion Cuthbert; The role of social and civic organizations and agencies, by G. E. Haynes; The obligations of the individual Christian, by B. E. Mays; Judgment and hope in the Christian message, by Howard Thurman; Judgment and hope in the nature of man and society, by R. I. McKinney. Index.

Booklist 44:243 Mr 15 '48
Christian Century 65:298 Mr 24 '48 20w

Reviewed by Earl Cranston
Crozer Q 25:366 O '48 650w

"The authors express their views in forthright fashion and for that reason the book will not be popular in some circles. Nevertheless, it should have a wide and a respectful reading since the authors are presenting a Christian point of view."
Kirkus 16:81 F 1 '48 220w

NESBITT, MRS VICTORIA HENRIETTA (KUGLER). White House diary. 314p $3 Doubleday

975.3 Washington, D.C. White House. Roosevelt, Franklin Delano. Roosevelt family 48-7746

Chatty account of life in the White House during the years of Franklin Roosevelt's tenure. The author was the Roosevelts' housekeeper, and she gives menus, recipes, diets of important people as well as accounts of struggling with rationing. There is a detailed sketch of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth of England.

Booklist 45:11 S 1 '48

Reviewed by Dorothy Hartung
Chicago Sun p8X Ag 1 '48 270w

"Whoever likes food will love Henrietta Nesbitt—not for eating, of course, though 'White House Diary' suggests that she is mighty sweet, but for reading. Her book is a saga of edibles, a paean to good cookery. It is, besides, a highly entertaining look through the kitchen door at the home life of the exuberant Roosevelts." Rod Nordell
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ag 19 '48 650w

"Not gossipy but certainly amusing, chatty and human." M. C. Scoggin
+ Horn Bk 25:65 Ja '49 50w

Kirkus 16:249 My 15 '48 140w

"A chatty book of passing interest." J. L. Ross
Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 70w

"It is hard to do more than suggest the wealth of this book, which is personal without being gossipy, and opinionated without being malicious. Men may find themselves skipping the details of buying silver and linen to replace the amazing depredations made by souvenir hunters, but it seems safe to predict that the most undomesticated reader will find parts or all of this book completely fascinating." Joanna Spencer
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 25 '48 1100w

"A charming and humorous book. . . No one could be in a better position to write a truly 'inside' story—and this Mrs. Nesbitt has done with minimum wordage devoted to political and governmental controversies. . . 'White House Diary' will not appeal to all readers equally. Americans who didn't like the Roosevelts and their gregarious mode of living, will certainly find its pages aggravating. But Americans interested in White House history, all women who have ever run a hospitable home, all adults who love good food, and all admirers of the Roosevelts, will find anecdotes, details and descriptions to remember and chuckle over for years to come." N. B. Brown
+ N Y Times p4 Jl 25 '48 600w

"One of the most readable books this reviewer has read in many a day of reading books. That this isn't a well-written volume matters not at all. Mrs. Nesbitt makes no claims in that direction. Indeed, too much editing and polishing might have spoiled it." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ag 1 '48 500w

Time 52:76 Ag 2 '48 1300w

NETTL, PAUL. Luther and music; tr. by Frida Best and Ralph Wood. 174p $2.25 Muhlenberg press

783 Luther, Martin. Church music 48-7152

"This book attempts a survey of Luther's relation to music and gives a short outline of evangelical church music with a consideration of contemporary theological and religious movements." (Foreword) Contents: Luther's personal relation to music; Luther's creativeness; Music in the church service; From Luther to Bach; The passion; Luther and Bach. Bibliography. Index.

Christian Century 65:600 Je 16 '48 160w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 162:17 S 1 '48 190w

"In a frankly popularizing work, rapid coverage might serve a useful purpose had the presentation of the material been clear, concise, and accurate. Whatever may have been the case in the German original, Dr. Nettl has been let down by his translators. The English style is awkward and diffuse, and furthermore it seems probable that neither translator knew much about the history of music. . . In short, the book is not recommended. It does have a certain amount of material not readily available in English, but it is rather a dangerous source to offer the uninformed." R. S. Hill
— Music Lib Assn Notes 5:568 S '48 800w

NEUSCHUTZ, MRS LOUISE (MORGENSTERN). Job for every woman. 206p $3 Wilson, H.W.

396.5 Woman—Occupations 48-8048

"Suggestions for many service and creative jobs from needlecraft, home cooking, and shopping services to organizing lecture agencies, for the mature woman who has never worked before or who wants to work at home. . . Selected readings on the jobs suggested are listed with each chapter." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 45:44 O 1 '48

School & Society 68:239 O 2 '48 20w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 190w

"Highly recommended for all libraries."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:162 O '48

NEVILLE, LESLIE E., and SILSBEE, NATHANIEL FRANKLIN. Jet propulsion progress; the development of aircraft gas turbines. 232p il $3.50 McGraw

629.13338 Jet propulsion. Gas turbines 48-5415

Contents: The weapon behind the Revolution; How the Nazis beat us to it; The British were early, too; The AAF and American industry pull a miracle; The Navy-industry team takes the field; A big boost from government research; Tough problems still to be whipped; New horizons for flight—a glimpse of the future; Chronology of aircraft gas-turbine developments; Glossary of technical terms and abbreviations. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1616 N 15 '47 60w

"Highly technical discussions of theory (including the pertinent mathematics) and mechanisms have been omitted from this book in order to make it readable to anyone interested in jet engines. Plenty of technical terms are used, but they are used in a descriptive sense and, furthermore, are defined in the glossary. . . The chronology, glossary and bibliography will be useful in libraries."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:14 Ja '48

NEVINS, ALLAN, ed. America through British eyes. new rev ed 530p $6 Oxford

917.3 U.S.—Description and travel. U.S.—Social life and customs. National characteristics, American 48-7848

"Over a hundred excerpts from the writings of prominent Britons who have dropped in on us during the last century and a half for the purpose of examining our customs, admirable and otherwise, and have commented on them with varying degrees of discernment. For the sake of convenience, Mr. Nevins has divided his anthology chronologically into five sections, each with an excellent introduction." (New Yorker) Originally published with title American Social History as Recorded by British Travellers (Book Review Digest 1924). Annotated bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:35 S 15 '48

"No one bias is stressed, and the book should be a useful adjunct to standard histories, international relations courses."
+ Kirkus 16:352 Jl 15 '48 170w

Reviewed by Harold Lancour
Library J 73:1085 Ag '48 140w

NEVINS, ALLAN—Continued

Reviewed by Mark Burgunker
Nation 167:553 N 13 '48 1000w

Reviewed by George Dangerfield
New Repub 119:22 O 11 '48 1250w

"To his 'American Social History as Recorded by British Travellers' Allan Nevins has added a long section on the travelers of the past twenty-five years. A competent craftsman, his presentation of British opinion of America really presents it—although this reviewer is mildly resentful of his disregard of D. W. Brogan's superb analysis of the American character." G. W. Johnson
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 S 5 '48 1100w

"It is a quarter of a century since Allan Nevins published 'American Social History as Recorded by British Travellers.' . . What we have now is a new, better and even more entertaining anthology, with even better introductory essays and biographical notes. The new and enlarged edition, like the first, has the primary merit of being extremely amusing reading, amusing in the serious as well as the frivolous sense." D. W. Brogan
+ N Y Times p1 Ag 29 '48 1350w

"An interesting and illuminating collection, augmented by a bibliography of other outstanding British views on America."
+ New Yorker 24:70 Ag 28 '48 160w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 1 '48 900w

NEVINS, ALLAN. Ordeal of the Union. 2v 593; 590p il $10 Scribner

973.6 U.S.—History—1815-1861. U.S.—History—Civil war—Causes (47-11072)

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Reviewed by J. D. Hicks
Am Hist R 53:845 Jl '48 900w

"This is complete history, without undue emphasis on any one aspect. Mr. Nevins has sometimes been thought of as a political historian, and many of his best works have been biographies of political figures; but, in this present study, he has given unusually adequate attention to the full width of the times with which he deals. This is truly social, intellectual, and economic as well as political history. Geographic influences are not ignored, and there is much attention to the development of various forces and movements. General readers will join with historians in their appreciation of Mr. Nevins' ability to relate the problems of the 1850's to those of the 1940's." R. A. Brown
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 F 21 '48 900w

Reviewed by George Soule
New Repub 117:27 D 1 '47 210w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager
Spec 181:709 Je 11 '48 850w

Times [London] Lit Sup p241 My 1 '48 3400w

"These volumes give us history rich in color and detail, balanced and presented with a graceful style. They provide also, quite consciously, a tract for our times—no less critical than the years between 1848 and 1861." R. H. Gabriel
+ Yale R n s 37:343 winter '48 900w

NEVINS, ALLAN, and KROUT, JOHN ALLEN, eds. The greater city; New York, 1898-1948. 260p il $3 Columbia univ. press

974.71 New York (city)—History 48-8678

"Popularly and entertainingly written history of New York composed of chapters by various authors on the consolidation of the boroughs, the politics, business, and cultural life of the city. Many photographs but no index." Booklist

Booklist 45:86 N 1 '48

Reviewed by R. F. Crandell
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 N 28 '48 550w

"There are a number of illustrations which suffer as much from the wages of time as they do from the inadequacy of the offset reproduction." Horace Sutton
Sat R of Lit 31:35 O 16 '48 140w

"Comprehensive in scope and rich in pictorial content."
+ School & Society 68:343 N 13 '48 20w

NEW wonder world; a library of knowledge; ed-in-chief: J. R. McGaughy. 11th ed 11v il pl maps $76.50; to libs & schools $69.85 G. L. Shuman & co, 203 N. Wabash av, Chicago 1

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 47-19926

"Originally called Our Wonder World, c1914-1928, and later changed to The New Wonder World, this set was first reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin in April 1932. The 1937 edition was reviewed in January 1939 [Book Review Digest 1939]. As the publishers state, the work follows the 'unit plan . . . rather than the customary alphabetical arrangement of material. . . . No attempt has been made to cover every conceivable subject. The aim has been to select those subjects most directly applicable to the needs of children from preschool through high school. . . .' Departing from the customary alphabetical encyclopedic arrangement, each volume is devoted to material related to a general subject field and stories, biographies and factual articles are mingled." Subscription Bks Bul

"In spite of the index and the addition of new material, this set is limited for library reference use. Prospective purchasers also should understand that the New Wonder World is not an encyclopedia or ready reference set. Its chief aim is to provide information in literary rather than encyclopedic form. Factual information can be found in more concise form elsewhere and the literary selections are readily available in individual books. Chapters in the volumes covering various subject fields are not always comparable to the best current books on a subject, for example, volume 3, The Nature Book. Styles of writing for children have changed greatly since much of this material was prepared, as is obvious from the re-written passages. The high standard of selection of literature, however, has kept the major portion of the stories and poems readable. The New Wonder World is recommended only for the home where a set for browsing is desired in preference to individual books and where the primary interest is not in quick reference use."
— + Subscription Bks Bul 18:53 O '47 1300w

NEW YORK. MUSEUM OF MODERN ART. Painting and sculpture in the Museum; ed. by Alfred H. Barr, jr. 328p il $5 Museum of modern art

708.147 Paintings—Catalogs. Sculpture—Catalogs 48-10843

"A comprehensive catalog of the vast collections of our present-day crystal palace. Listing and cross-indexing, with pertinent information as to size, date, and provenance of 797 items. Mr. Barr, the eminent authority, prefaces each of twenty groupings of works of art with illuminating introductory paragraph." Library J

"As one might expect from its compiler, it is terse and well-ordered; even if sometimes rather fine-spun and a little dry. Yet the book exercises the critical function in that it clearly sorts and often well evaluates." Jerome Mellquist
+ Commonweal 49:334 Ja 7 '49 100w

"Photographs excellently clear; from a librarian's point of view, it seems a pity that there is no color work. Essential wherever contemporary art is a moot subject and that is nearly everywhere." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 74:61 Ja 1 '49 70w

NEWBERRY, MRS CLARE (TURLAY). Smudge; story and pictures by [the author]. [30p] $1.75 Harper

48-8624

Story of three little kittens' first day of exploring the world outside their box. The climax of the tale occurs when Smudge, the bravest, breaks a lamp. For ages 4-8.

"In this little story of the very first adventures of a family of Persian kittens is some of the artist's most delightful work. Less sketchy than the drawings in Pandora [Book Review Digest 1944] but not so well defined as those in April's Kittens [Book Review Digest 1940], these illustrations which are done in pen, wash, and crayon, are as soft and wobbly as brand new kittens themselves."
+ Booklist 45:74 O 15 '48

"In a way this book seems more of an illustrator's delight than one which will appeal to most children. There are lovely sketches, but there is not quite enough story or variety to justify the book." F. C. Darling
+ — Christian Science Monitor p4 N 16 '48 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '48

Commonweal 49:147 N 19 '48 10w

Kirkus 16:524 O 1 '48 50w

"Will definitely appeal to adults as well as children who love cats." F. W. Butler
+ Library J 73:1601 N 1 '48 70w

"The tiny story is the vehicle for color studies that catch babyhood on the wing. For with kittens, babyhood is so condensed that even a little child can watch it all the way through; these pictures put it on the record for children who find it enchanting." M. L. B.
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 14 '48 250w

"The book is well designed, and the reproduction of the red chalk and black charcoal drawings is so perfect that you almost expect the pictures to rub when you touch them."
+ New Yorker 24:124 D 11 '48 60w

Reviewed by Alice Taylor
San Francisco Chronicle p21 N 28 '48 100w

Sat R of Lit 31:24 N 13 '48 30w

NEWCOMB, COVELLE (MRS ADDISON BURBANK). Running waters; il. by Addison Burbank. 266p $2.75 Dodd

B or 92 Caroline, Mother—Juvenile literature 47-11807

The life story of Mother Mary Caroline, founder of the Congregation of the Poor School Sisters of Notre Dame in America. She was born in Germany and came to America in 1847. After considerable hardship she succeeded in establishing schools in Baltimore and other cities. The story is written for high school girls. Bibliography.

"Miss Newcomb is adept in the choice of interesting detail and Running Waters will please girls of high school age." B. J. Thompson
+ Cath World 166:240 D '47 70w

"Written for Catholics, the most dramatic episodes . . . turn on points of conventual rule that are unfamiliar, even in vocabulary, to almost anyone else. But to this special audience the book will be vividly interesting and a Catholic school library can scarcely be without it." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ja 18 '48 270w

Wis Lib Bul 44:43 F '48

NEWCOMB, ELLSWORTH. Window on the sea. 192p $2.50 Dutton
48-4729

"Joan Andrews is delighted at the prospect of keeping house for her Navy father now that he is stationed at the Air Base near San Diego, but she misses the friends at Annapolis. . . In the course of time Mrs. Chance, a pretty young widow with two children, comes into the lives of Joan and her father. Before the story ends Joan has had her round of parties, picnics, dances and success as a beginning artist." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"Entertainment, while not elevating, pleasurable, for the middle teens."
+ Kirkus 16:482 S 15 '48 120w

"A lively modern story which older girls will like, but not an outstanding one." E. E. Frank
+ Library J 73:1676 N 15 '48 70w

"The purpose is pure entertainment for younger girls and it will be just as popular as its predecessor, 'Anchor for Her Heart.'" M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 O 17 '48 200w

NEWELL, AVERIL. Fly-by-nights; il. by Kathleen Hilken. 48p $1.50 Macmillan (for A. & C. Black)

The Mouse family, in search of excitement, moved to an empty house in London. Soon they heard that the house was to be torn down and they had to fly by night to their cousins' barn. After Tailer Mouse was nearly caught by a cat, the family was happy to return to their own home in the country.

"Delightful story and pictures. . . The insubstantial binding makes it impractical for libraries with limited funds."
Booklist 44:253 Mr 15 '48

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 12 '48 130w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:190 My '48 80w

"An English book in the tradition of Beatrix Potter, but without the inimitable touch of magic that redeems the Peter Rabbit stories from any hint of sentimentality."
Kirkus 16:109 Mr 1 '48 80w

"The plot reminds the reader of the Potter books, although the text does not measure up to these classics. . . Recommended for eight year-olds." M. M. Smith
Library J 73:485 Mr 15 '48 70w

NEWELL, DAVID MCCHEYNE. Fishing and hunting answer book; il. by the author and Lynn Bogue Hunt. 285p $2.45 Doubleday

799 Fishing. Hunting 48-11530

Questions and answers on hunting and fishing, chosen from questions submitted to Fishing and Hunting Club of the Air. Arranged topically under headings: Fishing; Hunting; Dogs; Guns; Outdoors; Snakes.

Kirkus 16:422 Ag 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson
Library J 74:64 Ja 1 '49 30w

New Yorker 24:151 N 13 '48 50w

NEWER methods of preparative organic chemistry; first Am. ed. tr. from the second German edition. 670p $8.50 Interscience

547 Chemistry, Organic 48-6233

"Published and distributed with the consent of the Alien Property Custodian, 14 articles originally published in Die Chemie and translated and revised by American chemists, chiefly of the Eastman Kodak Co. A group of detailed studies of the technique and applicability of a number of newer methods for the synthesis of organic compounds." Library J

"The volume will be a valuable reference book but by its very nature cannot be expected to present anything very startling or new. It is well presented and has been carefully proofread." W. C. Lothrop
+ Am Chem Soc J 70:3150 S '48 200w

"The availability of compilations such as 'Newer Methods,' 'Organic Reactions,' 'Organic Syntheses,' and allied guides in the field serve to aid trained workers and students alike in their efforts to make full use of the whimsies of organic chemistry. This book is to the credit of all concerned in its production, and in particular to the patience of the artisans who develop our science. In it there appear to be extremely few errors and the format is excellent; it is well worth the cost." E. A. Steck
+ Chem Eng 55:296 Je '48 220w

"The title of the book is somewhat of a misnomer, for most of the subject matter has

NEWER methods of preparative organic chemistry—Continued
been familiar to organic chemists in this country for several years. . . Nevertheless, the book has value and it presumably does give a picture of the state of knowledge on these topics in Germany around 1940. The reviewer was particularly glad to see a translation of Plattner's excellent paper, the papers by Alder and by Wittig, and he found in Chapter 3 some material on the preparation of Raney alloys and the Raney catalysts—iron, copper, cobalt, in addition to nickel—which was new to him. The chapter by Nelles appeared sketchy and rather weak in comparison with the others, but that impression was caused, perhaps, by the rather large area which Nelles attempted to cover in thirty pages. On the whole, the reviews are very good and are well documented, particularly with reference to the patent literature; the authors are all men of prominence and of outstanding accomplishment in chemistry; and the book should serve as a useful supplement to the material already available in English." L. I. Smith

+ — J Phys Chem 52:1268 O '48 550w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:37 My '48

NEWKIRK, LOUIS VEST, and others. Adventures with plastics. 275p il $3.50 Heath
668.4 Plastics 47-31374

"Working with plastics in the home or school workshop. Tools and machines to be used, projects and working suggestions, with concluding chapters on common industrial processes and methods of manufacture. Suggestions and specifications for ordering plastics and supplies. No index but adequate table of contents." (Booklist) Bibliography.

Booklist 44:128 D 1 '47

"Informative material on plastics for the home or school craftsman is still very limited; hence, this book fills a decided need. It is outstandingly attractive in presentation, is well illustrated, and suggests well-designed projects. . . The authors are well qualified to write this book and have sufficient breadth of information to interest both young people and adults." E. F. Mathieson

+ J Home Econ 40:211 Ap '48 140w
School Arts 47:10a Ap '48 150w

"Presents an excellent program of activities from which teachers or students may select suitable units for almost any need. . . One feature of the book that will appeal especially to the craftsman is its large number of drawings, diagrams, and photographs of crafts items. These illustrations are not intended for copying but for supplying as wide a range as possible of the great field of creative possibilities of the medium. . . This book makes a distinctive contribution to the literature of the field by presenting specific problems which will appeal to the interests of both young people and adults. . . Here is a volume that will do much to establish a relatively new material into the craft program of the modern school. The tools and machines required are not expensive or dangerous to use. The completed articles are attractive, useful, and durable." W. G. Whitford

+ School R 56:57 Ja '48 700w

NEWMAN, JAMES ROY, and MILLER, BYRON S. Control of atomic energy; a study of its social, economic, and political implications. (Whittlesey house publication) 434p $5 McGraw
541.2 Atomic energy 48-1687

"Clear analysis of the import and wide power and scope of the Atomic Energy Commission and an interpretation of the new legislation. Some of the subjects are organization and structure of the commission, production and ownership of fissionable material, radioactive-by-products, patents and inventions, research, military applications, industrial and commercial uses and control of information. Glossary. Bibliography." Library J

"The book is very well written and easily readable." R. D. Fowler

+ Chem & Eng N 26:2456 Ag 16 '48 320w

Reviewed by D. F. Cavers
Harvard Law R 61:1284 Jl '48 1050w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:714 My 1 '48 70w

"This is not an easy book, but it is a fascinating one—fascinating for laymen no less than for lawyers and researchers." Alan Barth

+ New Repub 118:30 My 17 '48 1250w

"This excellent volume is concerned essentially with the problem of the control of atomic energy within the United States, and as such it is primarily an interpretation and explanation of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 (the McMahon-Douglas Bill). The authors are eminently qualified; both are lawyers and were closely connected with the many special problems that arose during the drafting and modification of the bill. James Newman served as counsel to the Senate Committee on Atomic Energy." Harrison Brown

+ Sat R of Lit 31:10 My 1 '48 650w

NEWMAN, JOHN HENRY, cardinal. Essays and sketches; new ed, ed. with a pref. and introd. by Charles Frederick Harrold. 3v ea $3.50 Longmans
208.1 48-7787

"Three volumes of essays on various subjects—educational, historical, classical, religious and theological. Most of these essays were written before Newman's transit to Rome, but the direction of his movement is already evident, at least in the light of the subsequent event." Christian Century

"The work of selection is not an easy one. It requires in the editor the combined qualities of the literary critic, the historian, the philosopher and the theologian. It is doubtful if any one man could be found who possessed fully all these qualifications. It can be said of Dr. Harrold that his competence in the fields of literary history and criticism and his deep acquaintance with the works of Newman made him as capable of the task as any one man could be. Therefore, his untimely death is a double loss in its interruption of a task for which he was so eminently fitted." M. J. Healy

+ Cath World 168:171 N '48 270w
Christian Century 65:784 Ag 4 '48 70w

"This new edition, taken textually from the forty-volume edition of 1874-1921, is nicely done, and well-edited. One would wish, however, that Newman could be fed us whole: this cerealized version is very good, but the complete food would be better."

+ Commonweal 48:482 Ag 27 '48 230w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ag 29 '48 70w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 31:32 S 18 '48 500w

NEWMAN, JOSEPH SIMON. It could be verse! with a foreword by Louis Untermeyer. 185p $2.75 World pub.
811 48-9215

Collection of light satirical verses, including parodies, burlesques and poetic tall tales. Many of the poems included were selected from the original volume Poems for Penguins (Book Review Digest 1941).

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

Reviewed by Rex Lardner
+ N Y Times p46 N 21 '48 280w

"Readers have tended to neglect the 'mere versifier,' as they like to think of him. The exception is the reader who has learned to sense the quality—and the labor—behind the seemingly careless line, to relish the neatness of the performance when they come across a genuinely good performer. For such readers Joseph Newman is a constant delight. He has the neatness, which is an important aspect of good light verse, and the faintly wry humor of the best light versifiers; he has the ability to handle words, the broad general knowledge, classical and modern, which gives the good craftsman in the field his ease of manipulation —of ideas and syllables, both." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 26 '48 900w

NEWTON, JOSEPH FORT. The one great church; adventures of faith. 122p $2 Macmillan
204 Christian life 48-7060

"The essays and addresses here brought together, if various in theme, have a unity of faith, spirit and purpose—to interpret the Spiritual Life as it is related to the problems of thought and the issues and aspirations of our time." (Pref) Contents: The one great church; Fate, faith and God; What is salvation? Religion and health; The marriage muddle; Reviewing reviewers; What to do with life today; Everybody's religion.

Christian Century 65:806 Ag 11 '48 180w

Reviewed by T. F. Opie
Churchman 162:16 S 1 '48 150w

"Dr. Joseph Fort Newton has risen above petty sectarian prejudices and spoken as a Christian on the question of spiritual unity in this volume. The reader has the feeling that if Jesus were living in this period of a burdened and divided world he would have spoken and written in a similar vein." J. H. Ivey
+ Crozer Q 25:364 O '48 900w

"This is neither a profound nor an especially significant book, but, Dr. Newton is always urbane and readable."
Kirkus 16:119 Mr 1 '48 180w

NIALL, IAN. No resting place. 280p $2.75 Knopf
48-8259

A first novel describing the lives of the Kyles, a family of Scottish tinkers. There are six of the Kyle brothers, with their wives and children, and they wander about with their household goods, working at any odd job which offers food, indifferent shelter, and a little money. The focal point of the story is a murder committed in a moment of rage by one brother, and the attempts of the whole clan to cover up the crime, and escape the police.

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 13 '49 210w

Kirkus 16:341 Jl 15 '48 120w

"Dialectical passages excellent. Shadow of police vigilance clouds every-day life of the Kyle family. Author's sympathetic treatment of this little-known class of Scots will be revealing and rewarding to the discriminating reader. Recommended for large and medium sized libraries." R. K. Doms
+ Library J 73:1193 S 1 '48 100w

"Ian Niall has written with sensitive detail and with effective understatement about this small band of English tinkers. Their mentality, their fierce loyalty to each other, their crafty suspicion of the outside world are clear and understandable in this first novel. Its fault is a too melodramatic ending which rings falsely even in the somber inevitability of the Kyles' story."
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 S 26 '48 280w

"A remarkably good first novel. . . The author seizes your interest on the first page and holds it fast to the end. His close of the novel is something of an act of desperation, but better novelists before him have had trouble biting off the thread of a good story. The narrative is fast, without being scrawny, cool, easy, full-bodied, yet full of drive and vigor." Horace Reynolds
+ N Y Times p5 S 19 '48 550w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 30 '48 650w

"This first novel, which is reminiscent of the best novels of Hardy, is a finished piece of work, worthy of being called first rate. In the reviewer's jargon, it not only 'shows promise,' but also contains in a large measure the promise's fulfilment." James Nelson
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 S 18 '48 400w

Reviewed by Robert Lee
Spec 180:296 Mr 5 '48 130w

"Mr. Niall has written a book which blends intelligently the excitement of an adventure story and the suspense of a good crime novel."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p161 Mr 20 '48 270w

NICHOLS, ROY FRANKLIN. Disruption of American democracy. 612p il $7.50 Macmillan
973.66 U.S.—Politics and government—1783-1865. Democratic party 48-6344

A political history of the United States from 1856 to 1861, dealing in particular with the reasons for the break up of the Democratic party which had been in power for more than a third of a century. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by G. F. Milton
Am Hist R 54:161 O '48 1000w

Reviewed by M. E. Dillon
Am Pol Sci R 42:594 Je '48 380w

Reviewed by A. B. Miller
Ann Am Acad 260:214 N '48 550w

"Though the reader may not easily follow Professor Nichols through his creation, destruction, and re-creation of straw-men in the early part of his volume, he performs a valuable service in directing attention once more to the immediate causes of the Civil War, to the weaknesses of man as a 'political animal,' and to the last-ditch resistance of the Southern oligarchy whose self-interestedness has been obscured by the work of whitewashers. In particular he describes in full and interesting fashion the play and counter-play of democratic politics during the period. In this subject, if not in the full panorama of the period which he covers, Professor Nichols's work will replace all previous expositions." R. A. Preston
+ — Canadian Hist R 29:416 D '48 800w

Christian Century 65:855 Ag 25 '48 240w

"The work is dramatic, even thrilling; but, as a rule, it does not overstress sensational details. It clearly and coldly portrays the chief political actors during the years immediately preceding the terrible conflict, refraining in most cases from making them either saints or knaves. It is unusually successful in delineating the forces that moved Americans during the first half of the nineteenth century. . . Professor Nichols' broad, colorful, rapidly changing panorama of American development is one of the best that has been drawn." R. H. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 30 '48 600w

Reviewed by Paul Kiniery
Commonweal 48:313 Jl 9 '48 330w

Current Hist 14:296 My '48 50w

"A comprehensive and thorough work that gives a competent understanding of the workings of politics, highly recommended within its specialized field."
+ Kirkus 16:16 Ja 1 '48 150w

"A thoughtful and scholarly treatise, supported by a mass of documentation, which yet manages to remain readable and engrossing. Recommended." A. J. Gaines
+ Library J 73:394 Mr 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by Richard Hofstadter
Nation 167:190 Ag 14 '48 850w

Reviewed by Avery Craven
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ap 25 '48 2050w

"The book is clear, hardboiled narrative, full of new material and pregnant interpretation—an important work in American history." W. B. Hamilton
+ N Y Times p12 My 16 '48 800w

"The book is detailed to an exhausting degree, since the author felt that he had to examine every political wrangle of the times

NICHOLS, R. F.—Continued
to comprehend the prewar crisis. It must be admitted, though, that the method is justified by the results."

New Yorker 24:122 Ap 10 '48 140w

"All in all, Mr. Nichols' book is an impressive picture of some of the most fundamental and chronic weaknesses in the American political and social structure. As such, it deserves the careful attention of every serious student of American history. It is also a book from which a much larger reading public could derive great value, for many of its lessons are applicable today; but its multiplicity of detail, even though enlivened by the author's vigorous style, is bound to repel the general reader and to decrease the number of those to whom it will surely bring enlightenment and inspiration." G. G. Van Deusen

+ Pol Sci Q 63:429 S '48 800w

"Professor Nichols combines a high degree of scholarship with a facility for vivid biography and clear narrative writing, attributes not at all typical of scholarly historical writing in general." Gilman Ostrander

+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 My 16 '48 500w

Reviewed by J. G. Randall

Sat R of Lit 31:17 Je 12 '48 900w

School & Society 67:272 Ap 3 '48 20w

Social Studies 39:336 N '48 40w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:189 Je '48 290w

NICHOLS, WILLIAM ICHABOD, ed. Words to live by; a little treasury of inspiration and wisdom; selected and interpreted by eighty-four eminent men and women. 194p $2.75 Simon & Schuster

170 Conduct of life 48-5602

"Like a glimpse behind the scenes of a well-known play is the experience of coming on some illuminating or wise saying that has influenced many a prominent individual with whose work we are familiar. In 'Words to Live By' we are introduced to sayings by writers as widely different as Maxwell Anderson, John Florio, Bhagavad-Gita, and Thomas Jefferson, which many eminent contemporary men and women have found to be a treasury of inspiration and wisdom. Among the 84 distinguished contributors in various fields are General Eisenhower, Lord Halifax, Cordell Hull, Lin Yutang, Ingrid Bergman, Helen Keller, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Jan Struther, and Dorothy Canfield Fisher." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by R. F. Jenney

+ Chicago Sun Mr 14 '48 170w

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 10 '48 180w

Reviewed by H. J. Forman

+ N Y Times p27 Ap 11 '48 160w

NICOLL, ALLARDYCE. Development of the theatre; a study of theatrical art from the beginnings to the present day. 3d ed rev & enl 318p 315il $10 Harcourt

792 Theater—History. Drama—History and criticism [48-10661]

A new edition of this survey of theatrical art from the time of the Dionysian theater at Athens, to the time of the Dead End Kids. "The bibliography has been brought up to date, and a new appendix has been added concerning the Spanish stage in the times of Lope de Vega and Calderón. In a concluding chapter, a 'Postscript: 1946,' an attempt is made to assess the immediate needs of the theatre at the present time." (p.6) Bibliography. Index. For earlier editions see Book Review Digest, 1928, 1937.

Booklist 44:385 Jl 15 '48

"One of the few indispensable volumes on the development of the physical stage and the theatrical playhouse, this volume is enthusiastically recommended to university libraries and theatre collections." George Freedley

+ Library J 73:948 Je 15 '48 30w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 Je 6 '48 110w

"With its authoritative but often lively text, and its rich variety of more than three hundred illustrations, this volume is invaluable both to the student and layman." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:46 Je 5 '48 90w

NICOLSON, MARJORIE HOPE. Voyages to the moon. 297p il $4 Macmillan

910.4 Interplanetary voyages. Voyages, Imaginary. Moon in literature 48-9024

"A look at the literature of interplanetary travel before the discovery of actual means of flying. . . Miss Nicolson shows that since the earliest times men have been speculating about cosmic flight, and she goes into a number of the more spectacular schemes to get off the earth for a little while. They include devices for flying with the aid of harnessed birds, Cyrano de Bergerac's moon rocket, flying chariots, and a sixteenth-century flying canoe, in addition to the more prosaic balloons. Among the authors discussed, quoted, or paraphrased are Rabelais, Cervantes, Jonathan Swift, Edgar Allan Poe, and Jules Verne." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

"An obscure, somewhat esoteric interest is here given comprehensive, interesting coverage."

+ Kirkus 16:274 Je 1 '48 170w

Reviewed by J. W. Krutch

Nation 167:607 N 27 '48 800w

"This book has not one but dozens of ingenious adventure stories. They are told with humor, proportion and a rich allusiveness. It is as hard to stop reading them as to stop eating salted nuts at a bridge party." D. A. Stauffer

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 7 '48 1500w

Reviewed by Fletcher Pratt

N Y Times p32 N 7 '48 380w

"[Miss Nicolson is] a distinguished scholar who is an accomplished and amusing writer as well."

+ New Yorker 24:148 N 13 '48 180w

Reviewed by Charles Wales

San Francisco Chronicle p16 O 24 '48 1100w

"If Miss Nicolson's book did nothing else but document the antiquity and persistence of humanity's obsession with flying to the moon, it would be worth the reading. But there is much more. What whiffs and whimsies, what figmental fancies, what bold imaginings she has unearthed in her ten years' avocation! Her book would have delighted Burton, charmed Lamb, and exalted Lowes." Bergen Evans

+ Sat R of Lit 32:27 Ja 8 '49 550w

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 480w

NIGGLI, JOSEPHINA. Step down, elder brother. 374p $3 Rinehart

47-11652

The scene of this novel is the Mexican city, Monterrey; the chief characters the members of an old, aristocratic family. The story tells of the conflict between tradition and modernism, as the younger members of the family rebel against the old ways and arrange new patterns of life for themselves.

Booklist 44:172 Ja 1 '48

Reviewed by Warren Beck

Chicago Sun p38 Ja 29 '48 450w

Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '48

"More than in most stories the place is a part of the plot. Miss Niggli knows the old city like her own back yard. Her love for its local color and her sympathetic understanding of the Mexican mind shine on every page, and she has a sufficient knowledge of Mexican history to give depth to her background. . . . Miss Niggli's 'Mexican Village,' a collection of sketches published in 1945, created something of a sensation. This is her first novel. She has not as yet fully mastered the art of the longer narrative form. . . The narrative lags a little at times in the wrong places. Miss Niggli's reach exceeds her grasp but she has a whacking good story to tell." Bonaventure Schwinn

+ — Commonweal 47:259 D 19 '47 390w

"A refreshingly different sort of book, in that it has a contemporary feel of modern Mexico, pace and story that catches the American rhythm, while at the same time the mood and psychology, atmosphere and plot values, are inescapably Latin—and Mexican."

+ Kirkus 15:655 D 1 '47 250w

"If the love story fails to come off, the novel as a whole does not fail to come off. For . . . the real protagonist of this novel is Monterrey and every page of it pulses with the pulsing life of Monterrey and is dramatic with the clash of the old and new that are at war in the city's spirit. Behind the individual characters is the life of an entire social class, the full wealth of local circumstances, the sense of being of an entire community." B. D. Wolfe

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 F 22 '48 1000w

"As a novel the book cannot be said to be completely successful. Where the short tales in Miss Niggli's 'Mexican Village' were breathlessly compact and dramatic, this one in the longer form moves too slowly, is too long drawn out, its love story tasting at times of the saccharin and pink tinting its hero so deplores. Nor is the conflict between love of woman and love of younger brother clearly resolved. Yet for all that, the skill with people, the sense of place and dialogue, the ability to make the reader smell and taste and feel which mark a born writer, are here." Mildred Adams

N Y Times p26 F 8 '48 430w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p16 F 9 '48 900w

"Time and again this book suggests that this is a novel that might have been written in Spanish for a Spanish-speaking audience. Josephina (and why is it not Josefina?) Niggli's prose has the same sweep as Spanish prose; her sentences have an echo of Spanish construction. When she takes her readers to Don Primitivo's to drink beer and to talk and sing, she does not treat them as foreigners entering the closed circle. . . It is only when the reader must follow Domingo's vagaries, when Márgara, the lady of the shadows, moves across a room to disappear behind a curtain, that one regrets that a writer who commands the gift of painting a picture as vivid and as real as her descriptions of Monterrey should build her novel on this kind of romanticism." Betty de Sherbinin

Sat R of Lit 31:18 Ja 24 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 44:22 Ja '48

"Miss Niggli is intelligent rather than subtle, dramatic rather than polished. This is an interesting and superior book, as authentically Mexican as tamales. But it lacks the humor, the dash and color and exuberant charm which made Mexican Village so captivating. In part, this is inevitable since in Step Down, Elder Brother, Miss Niggil is writing about educated creoles who lack the primitive joy of living of her previous peasant characters." Orville Prescott

+ — Yale R n s 37:576 spring '48 220w

NIMKOFF, MEYER FRANCIS. Marriage and the family [under the editorship of William F. Ogburn]. 767p il $5 Houghton

392.3 Family. Marriage. U.S.—Social conditions 47-6287

"Planned as a revision of the author's earlier text, The Family [Book Review Digest 1934] this turned out to be an entirely new work because of the shifting of interest and emphasis in the study of family life. . . Parts I and II discuss the family background, ethnic variations, and changing economic and social order. The importance of the modern family as an agency concerned with the achievement of happiness is stressed. Parts III and IV consider courtship, choice of mate, marital happiness, parents, and children, with predictions of success or failure in attempts to aid in the organization of a happy family. Each chapter gives questions for discussion, topics for reports, and especially selected reading suggestions." J Home Econ

"Minor flaws only accentuate the virtues of Nimkoff's book. The clarity of writing is enviable. In no other single book could a student find so much useful and reliable material concerning marriage and the family. Many thousands of students will read this fine text and become better informed. Some will also become wiser, some happier. In any event Professor Nimkoff has labored greatly and achieved greatly." Clifford Kirkpatrick

+ — Am Soc R 13:245 Ap '48 750w

"This new volume presents a mass of authoritative, up-to-date data. . . These data, completely indexed for easy reference and often presented in graphs, tables, and pictographs, make this volume a valuable reference work for anyone dealing with the social foundations of contemporary family living." E. M. Duvall

+ Ann Am Acad 256:240 Mr '48 400w

Reviewed by A. F. Wieman

J Home Econ 40:153 Mr '48 200w

Reviewed by D. S. Klaiss

Social Forces 27:104 O '48 850w

NIN, ANAIS (MRS IAN HUGO). Under a glass bell, and other stories. 221p $3 Dutton 48-605

A collection of all the short stories written by Miss Nin with the addition of one novelette. Contents: Houseboat; The mouse; Under a glass bell; The Mohican; Je suis le plus malade des surrealistes; Ragtime; The labyrinth; Through the streets of my own labyrinth; The all-seeing; The eye's journey; The child born out of the fog; Hejda; Birth; Winter of artifice, Part I—Djuna; Winter of artifice, Part II—The voice.

Kirkus 15:678 D 15 '47 90w

"Anais Nin's short stories, like her recent novels, 'Ladders to Fire' and 'Children of the Albatross,' describe the terrors, evasions and loneliness of people reacting to the stringencies of life. Fact and fantasy mingle continually and the world appears as a subjective vision, bathed in private emotion. . . Most of the characters are Bohemians living in a timeless Paris, but the scene shifts to Cadiz and New York in some stories, and a few of the most successfully projected figures make no pretensions to artistic accomplishment of any sort. All of them emerge in sudden insights, flashes of phrase that combine fact and emotion, wholly appropriate to Miss Nin's view of the universe."

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p33 N 21 '48 180w

N Y Times p24 Mr 28 '48 600w

NIZER, LOUIS. Between you and me. 302p $3.75 Beechhurst press

814 48-2606

Collection of brief essays on personalities and diverse other topics, including such things as splitting atoms, the right of privacy, gin rummy, and trial by jury. Among the forty-five brief biographical notes are those on: Irving Berlin; William O'Dwyer; Walter Winchell; John Golden; Eleanor Roosevelt; Frank Case; Fiorello H. LaGuardia; Maurice Rose; Sidney Hillman; Jack Benny; Belle Baker; Sholem Asch; Maurice Maeterlinck; Helen Hayes; Franklin D. Roosevelt; Albert Einstein.

Reviewed by Lewis Robbins

N Y Times p15 Jl 11 '48 600w

"The most interesting section of the book is the one on international affairs. Mr. Nizer has strong feelings about our messy postwar world and consequently his essays on what to do about Germany and Russia are good provocative reading. The reader may agree wholeheartedly or disagree with violence but at least he won't be able to close the book with a yawn." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 270w

NOAR, GERTRUDE. Freedom to live and learn. 159p $1.60 Franklin pub. & supply co, inc, 1931 Cherry st, Philadelphia

373 Education—Curricula. Junior high schools 48-1457

"A manual that gives techniques for selecting and developing units of learning in the modern classroom." (School & Society) Bibliography. No index.

School & Society 68:15 Jl 3 '48 20w

"This fine text for pupils of junior high school level gives practical help with the techniques in a core-curriculum. It is indispensable to teachers in service, college students of education, and curriculum-study groups."
+ Social Studies 39:380 D '48 30w

NOBLE, HOLLISTER. Woman with a sword. 395p $3 Doubleday

Carroll, Anna Ella—Fiction 48-7668

Biographical novel, based upon the life of Anne Carroll, a well-born Maryland woman who was an unofficial member of Lincoln's cabinet during the Civil war.

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

"The author of 'Woman With A Sword' has written this almost unbelievable story in beautiful style, and has used his poetic license with admirable restraint. All in all, he has produced a volume which is not only intriguing as a novel, but has an enduring value second to no other book of its kind." Otto Eisenschiml
+ Chicago Sun Jl 27 '48 400w

"Readers who are looking for glowing love scenes, high tension, violent action and hair-breadth escapes will not find them here. They will find instead a documented novel, long, engrossing to those who like something serious, and honest—almost severely so." W. K. Rugg
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 29 '48 480w

"You will get vivid impressions of the war tensions from this book, even though you may not accept all the inferences and conclusions of the author." Paul Kiniery
+ — Commonweal 48:529 S 10 '48 260w

"I found it fascinating reading, a good story, history revivified, a vital sense of place and period."
+ Kirkus 16:240 My 15 '48 260w

"Highly recommended for adults of all ages." L. R. Miller
+ Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 130w

"No fiction writer would have dared invent Anne Carroll; she would have seemed too incredible. Mr. Noble tells the story so vigorously and so well that one cannot read the book merely as a novel. . . It is a forceful and exceedingly interesting picture, the more so because of the parallels and contrasts it affords with the figure of our recent war-time President and with the social and political currents in the years just past and in the present. Yet I am inclined to wish that the author had given the results of his obviously searching study of Anne Ella Carroll as straight history, with the vividness he here gives it in a novel." Mary Ross
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 25 '48 650w

"Mr. Noble has unearthed fascinating material; he has written a less fascinating novel. The content of the book will attract congenital students of the Civil War and collectors of historical injustice. The manner of its telling will stir the hearts of feminists and of those who like their wars with a primly romantic flavor. . . This novel of her life has revived a vigorous legend, without fully bringing its heroine out of the shadows of oblivion." Jane Martin
+ — N Y Times p10 Ag 1 '48 450w

"Mr. Noble has made Anne Carroll live in his pages. He conveys her energy and determination and what is always important in a novel, 'her intangible, magnetic quality.' Conservative by principle, radical by instinct, she was one of the great figures of her time. She did the work that made others famous." Jane Voiles
+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ag 1 '48 700w

"That Mr. Noble has made an enduring and believable historical figure of Miss Carroll and yet has been able to give her all the attributes of a woman, capable of both human love and of an overwhelming passion for a cause, is an accomplishment in itself. He has also added memorable and believable portraits, not only of Lincoln, so often described with bathos and sentimentality in his moments of doubt and desperation, but of Secretary of War Stanton." Harrison Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 Jl 24 '48 1100w

NOCK, OSWALD STEVENS. Railways of Britain, past and present. 120p il $4.50 Batsford

385 Railroads—Great Britain 48-4266

A historical survey which includes chapters on post-war railway developments. The author covers all phases of his subject from the construction of the line to recent innovations in railroad travel. Illustrations are from old prints and photographs. The author is consulting engineer to the Westinghouse Brake and Signal company.

"Mr. Nock displays a style most journalists would be proud of, as well as a highly integrated knowledge of his subject. . . The volume is extraordinarily well illustrated with more than a hundred drawings and photographs, the latter refreshingly clear and unarty." R. T.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p26 O 31 '48 200w

"The book is, strangely, quite exciting, in spots, even to non-aficionados of the iron horse."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 S 4 '48 140w

"In spite of its omissions and lack of balance, the book contains plenty of accurate, if random, information, supported by a good index. Both its charm and its weaknesses come from its shapelessness—charm because Mr. Nock introduces, as his feelings incline, all kinds of observations about railways, and bits of gossip about their engineers and financiers, and pieces of his own professional experience; weaknesses because the book is anecdotal, and it will be difficult for the ordinary reader, uninfected by the present-day railway mania for fact and number gathering, to assess the dynamic part the railway has played in the history of Great Britain." Arthur Elton
+ — Spec 181:710 Je 11 '48 650w

"Mr. Nock touches with a masterly hand on many of the difficulties, struggles and triumphs in the construction of great engineering works."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p406 Jl 17 '48 480w

NOLAN, JEANNETTE (COVERT) (MRS VAL NOLAN). This same flower. 237p $2.75 Appleton

48-4617

In 1911, twenty-one year old Sidney Cameron left her small-town home and went to the city to become a career girl. There she took a job as secretary to a leader in the woman suffrage movement, and after a series of adventures finally satisfactorily settled the question of career-vs.-love and marriage. A sequel to Gather Ye Rosebuds (Book Review Digest 1946).

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

"Pleasant 1911-1912 shenanigans among the ladies trying to emancipate their sex, this is gently amusing period stuff."
Kirkus 16:409 Ag 15 '48 150w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 O 24 '48 110w

"Patently passive, but agreeable, afternoon reading." C. M. Brown
Sat R of Lit 32:20 Ja 15 '49 90w

NORDMARK, OLOF E. Fresco painting; modern methods and techniques for painting in fresco and secco. 126p il $4.75 Am. artists

751.44 Mural painting and decoration
48-5638

"The author's thesis is that a fresco painter—in order to produce a work of monumental value—must have a thorough knowledge not only of his colors and the correct brush techniques, but also of the finest materials and the proper methods used in preparing the wall spaces prior to actual painting. The very nature of this particular medium limits the artist closely in tools and color—and most particularly, in time. . . The author discusses in exhaustive detail each step of the process. There is a careful analysis of the kinds of lime and sand used in making the mortar, together with the correct proportions necessary for each of the several layers—with precautions noted for the convenience of the beginner." (N Y Times) Index.

"The techniques and materials used in the actual painting of the fresco are adequately covered. The obvious authority with which Mr. Nordmark speaks, combined with a literary style almost elementary in its simplicity, makes this a most practical handbook for both beginners and experienced artists who have aspirations to work in the rather difficult medium of fresco painting." R. S. Robbins

+ N Y Times p38 D 7 '47 240w

"If you like the wonderful tonal effects which are possible only in fresco painting you will like Olle Nordmark's remarks in 'Fresco Painting.' . . This is not a weighty, worthless collection of ancient painting lore but a lucid guide in the use of contemporary materials." Hubert Buel

+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 N 30 '47 90w

Springf'd Republican p10B N 23 '47 110w

NORLING, MRS JOSEPHINE (STEARNS). Pogo's farm adventure; a story of soil [pictures by Ernest Norling]. 46p $1.50 Holt
48-6243

In this story John and his dog Pogo spend a summer on a farm. John learns about irrigation and Pogo rides a bucking bronco at a rodeo. For ages 7-9.

Booklist 44:302 My 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun My 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 My 25 '48 240w

Kirkus 16:235 My 15 '48 80w

"Recommended." Elizabeth Johnson
Library J 73:716 My 1 '48 60w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ap 25 '48 180w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 130w

Wis Lib Bul 44:106 My '48

NORTHEY, ELMORE HATHAWAY. Sulfonamides and allied compounds. (Am. chemical soc. Monograph ser) 660p il $12.50 Reinhold

615.222 Sulfonamides Med48-22

"Here is an exhaustive survey of the published knowledge on the chemical aspects of the sulfa drugs. Although a considerable portion of the work is devoted to clinical aspects, this phase of the subject is treated somewhat less thoroughly. As is common in this series, the work is based on the literature, and statements in the text are key-numbered to the citations of the original sources in the bibliography. The bibliography contains 2668 references. Patents are included." N Y New Tech Bks

"The last part of the book, is devoted to the laboratory and clinical evaluation of the sulfonamides and sulfones. . . The principles laid down in these chapters are for the appraisal of drugs in general and will be invaluable to students and investigators." Graham Chen

+ Chem & Eng N 26:2456 Ag 16 '48 220w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:481 Mr 15 '48 80w

"Despite the length of the work, the treatment is highly compressed, and many data are presented in tabular form."

N Y New Tech Bks 33:7 Ja '48

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:216 Je '48 230w

NORTHROP, FILMER STUART CUCKOW. Logic of the sciences and the humanities. 402p $6; college ed $4.50 Macmillan

160 Logic. Science—Philosophy. Humanities
48-5077

"A restatement of the central idea expressed in the author's recent 'The Meeting of the East and West'—that the technological West and the intuitive East are moving toward fusion in a new world order and an international philosophy. This time, Professor Northrop approaches his conclusion by way of an analysis of the scientific, religious, and artistic methods of getting at truth." (New Yorker) Index.

"This is a profoundly important book. . . Some of the chapters are reprints of papers which originally appeared in various professional journals. Others are presented in the book for the first time. This makes for some repetition, but with a compactly reasoned treatise such as the present one, repetition is helpful rather than distracting." Joseph Mayer

+ Ann Am Acad 259:184 S '48 800w

Columbia Law R 48:668 My '48 90w

"Scientists have been able to solve satisfactorily many questions independently of their conflicting metaphysical and religious views. One wonders why Mr. Northrop did not take this indisputable fact as his point of departure and explore the possibility that the area of agreement among men in social affairs might be extended if the same pattern of inquiry were employed with the same freedom from metaphysical commitments. At any rate, it would be hasty to conclude that Mr. Northrop's ideas are dictated by the logic of scientific method. They are closer to the Platonic metaphysics of 'The Form of the Good' as the source of all being and all value." Sidney Hook

N Y Times p7 Ja 11 '48 1100w

"Unfortunately, the exciting possibilities that his investigations suggest are swathed in the specialized verbiage of the academy."

New Yorker 23:59 D 27 '47 120w

School & Society 67:112 F 7 '48 20w

NORTHROP, JOHN HOWARD, and others. Crystalline enzymes. 2d ed rev & enl 352p il $7.50 Columbia univ. press

612.0151 Enzymes. Pepsin. Trypsin. Bacteriophage 48-6672

"This is a new edition of a book published in 1939 [Book Review Digest 1939] under the same title, and treats of the chemistry and isolation of proteolytic enzymes and bacteriophage. New material covered in this edition includes a discussion of the methods of preparation and properties of the enzymes ribonuclease and hexokinase. An appendix of over sixty pages contains methods of preparation and crystallization of enzymes." (Chem Eng) Bibliography. Index.

"The simplicity of presentation makes this volume really enchanting reading, even for the nonenzymologist; the general information on the handling of proteins and on kinetics is very valuable to the chemist concerned with the behavior and purification of any enzyme. The appendix with its very detailed experimental directions makes the book an indispensable working tool for the chemist concerned with the specific subject matter covered therein." Bernard Axelrod

+ Chem & Eng N 26:2717 S 13 '48 450w

Chem Eng 55:318 O '48 100w

NORTHROP AERONAUTICAL INSTITUTE, HAWTHORNE, CALIFORNIA. Aircraft basic science, by the Technical development staff; Charles Edward Chapel, chief editor. 440p il $6 McGraw

629.13 Airplane engines. Airplanes—Design and construction 48-1710

"The Northrop Aeronautical Institute, located in Hawthorne, Calif., is associated with Northrop Aircraft, Inc. This book is the first of a series of three, prepared by members of its staff, designed for the practical instruction of student aircraft mechanics. The clear and thorough exposition is supplemented with a large number of illustrations. In addition to its usefulness in organized courses, the series provides 'refresher' material for those preparing for certification examinations." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 45:8 S 1 '48

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:1 Ja '48

NORTON, ALICE MARY (ANDRE NORTON, pseud). Scarface; being the story of one Justin Blade, late of the pirate isle of Tortuga, and how fate did justly deal with him, to his great profit; il. by Lorence Bjorklund. 263p $2.75 Harcourt

48-8179

A pirate story for older boys. The hero, Scarface, is a boy in his teens. He is cabin boy to the notorious pirate Captain Cheap, who operated out of Tortuga in the West Indies. In an attack on Bridgetown, Barbados, Scarface nearly lost his life, but escaped from the pirates and at the same time solved the mystery of his own parentage.

Booklist 45:38 S 15 '48

Churchman 162:29 N 15 '48 10w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '48

"This is a vigorous, exciting story... The story has full share of brutality in the tradition of such tales, but it holds to the history of the period and will be eagerly read by young people." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 25:42 Ja '49 80w

"Well-sustained, action-packed pirate yarn which should provide good material to bridge that gap for the boys emerging from the comic book stage."

+ Kirkus 16:439 S 1 '48 90w

"Good descriptions, excellent characterization. Recommended for older boys and girls." C. W. Field

+ Library J 73:1392 O 1 '48 80w

"For those who like a pirate story and a mystery, 'Scarface' is a fine one, well written with plenty of action. . . A map of the West Indies would have been a useful addition. And why will authors continue to make their people talk in hard-to-pronounce dialect, when no young person likes to read it?" Margaret Ernst

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 S 12 '48 250w

"The story has a complicated and suspense-filled plot. The action is fast and the characterization is excellent. The historical background is accurate. All combine to produce a top-notch story." R. A. Brown

+ N Y Times p4 N 14 '48 140w

"Older readers will compare this well-written and plotted story with Howard Pyle. It has humor and atmosphere and action that never falter. Even the minor characters are sharply drawn. It is 'strong meat.' There is no softening of the brutality and coarseness of the 'men from the sea.' To older boys and girls and to adults it will probably emerge as one of the outstanding adventure stories of the year." M. G. Davis

+ Sat R of Lit 31:36 O 16 '48 190w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7B S 12 '48 120w

Wis Lib Bul 44:168 O '48

NORTON, ANDRE, pseud. See Norton, A. M.

NORWAY, NEVIL SHUTE (NEVIL SHUTE, pseud). No highway. 346p $3 Morrow

48-3534

Novel about Mr Honey, a shy little research worker in a British airplane testing station. Mr Honey is testing to find out what makes the planes of a great new transatlantic fleet subject to failure. One plane is wrecked in the wilderness of Labrador and Mr Honey is sent out to investigate in another plane of the same type. That plane gets across the ocean in safety and then the excitement begins.

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun Ag 31 '48 650w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p9 S 2 '48 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 49:21 O 15 '48 360w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 25:65 Ja '49 60w

"A disappointment from Nevil Shute, who somehow, for this reader, does not come to grips with the potentials of his story, which fuses fiction and science."

— Kirkus 16:292 Je 15 '48 130w

"Greater part of this book is a rattling good, intensely absorbing story. . . Plot unfortunately lessens in credulity and interest when it evolves upon a message obtained through a planchette, after which somewhat of an anticlimax sets in. Nevertheless we recommend it as an unusually well-told tale." R. W. Henderson

+ — Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 100w

"One thing more certain than fatigue in metals is the absence of fatigue in reading Mr. Shute's novels. He has the knack of leading the reader quietly yet breathlessly from one suspense to another. The plot of 'No Highway' is ingenious, even for its author, who has invented many such in his time; it builds absorbing as well as literate entertainment, and probably no author now writing can make better fictional use of scientific technology. To which is added a somewhat synthetic love story which no one need believe in who doesn't want to, and an American female movie star whom no one should believe in at all." James Hilton

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 S 5 '48 850w

"Something of the old Shutean magic is missing, as well as the humor, in this story based on a disease of metal called 'fatigue.' It is an unfortunate word. . . There may be serious scientists like Honey, with similar psychic and religious eccentricities, but Shute fails to make him come alive in print. He remains an unconvincing curiosity, and his alleged 'indefinable charm' seems a very magnanimous generality with which to describe an untidy crank whose genius for figures is matched by an equal genius for domestic irresponsibility and parental ineptitude." Myles Green

— N Y Times p4 S 5 '48 1050w

"Trivial."

New Yorker 24:108 S 18 '48 120w

"Nevil Shute has chosen his own special field, aeronautical engineering, as the subject of his latest novel. The choice was fortunate, for the best of this indifferent novel is its fairly interesting and probably accurate account of the complex administration which directs British airplane production in England today." Gilman Ostrander

— + San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 5 '48 600w

"This book has a kind of suave tailoring which I suppose accounts for the popularity of his other novels, and which inevitably extends to the characters. They seemed to me to have their faces cut out, to leave spaces for Hollywood to fill in, and when Mr. Honey is put entirely into celluloid, as he surely will be, he's going to be as sweet as his name. As entertainment goes, and it certainly does, 'No Highway' is a well-cooked, deftly-served blue-plate special, and a lot of people are going to be faithful to it, after their fashion, while I cry for madder music and stronger wine." John Woodburn

— + Sat R of Lit 31:10 S 4 '48 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p677 D 4 '48 360w

Wis Lib Bul 44:166 O '48

NOWAK, JOHN F. Practical residential wiring. 495p il $5.95 Van Nostrand

621.3282 Electric wiring, Interior 48-8713

"Practical book on house wiring covering every wiring method from the smallest repairs to wiring a complete house, a remodelled house, garage and workshop, illustrated with working photographs. Shows at every point the application of the National Electric Code. Author explains circuits, how to read wiring diagrams, and how to use tools. Chapters include testing and trouble shooting, and household electric appliances. Glossary." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:152 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:1518 O 15 '48 70w

Springf'd Republican p10B S 26 '48 230w

NOWELL-SMITH, SIMON HARCOURT. comp. Legend of the master [Henry James]. 176p il $3 Scribner

B or 92 James, Henry 48-6762

An attempt to sift the true from the false legends about Henry James. From about 150 sources the author has collected anecdotes of James by his friends and contemporaries. They are arranged in sections, treating different aspects of his life. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 45:30 S 15 '48

Christian Science Monitor p11 My 29 '48 600w

Manchester Guardian p3 D 12 '47 190w

Reviewed by Edward Sackville-West

New Statesman & Nation 35:177 F 28 '48 500w

"In effect, 'The Legend of the Master' shows that the people who knew James differed widely in their opinion of him and that many held different opinions of him at different times. Since neither of these facts is especially remarkable, the book may be recommended chiefly as a source of amusing anecdote and sometimes entertaining reminiscence." Lloyd Morris

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 29 '48 1050w

"[Mr. Nowell-Smith's] book chiefly consists of anecdotes that have survived his testing. I do not think that he has much altered the picture of Henry James held by any conscientious and sympathetic student. He has, however, amply rebuked a lot of people who have had the itch to make Henry James ridiculous." C. H. G.

N Y Times p19 Jl 25 '48 450w

"An entertaining and intelligent anthology of anecdotes about and descriptions of Henry James. The more brilliant of the full-length prose portraits are spoiled by being presented fragmentarily, but the compiler achieves something worth while by combining under various heads . . . examples from diverse sources and builds up a 'character' of James that gives an excellent all-around idea of him."

+ New Yorker 24:69 Jl 10 '48 180w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles

San Francisco Chronicle p21 My 23 '48 220w

"Has a curious rather than a scholarly interest. It is an assemblage of things said or written about Henry James by a wide circle of his friends and contemporaries. It might be called a supplement to biography, and for anyone who knows, to begin with, something about James it is an interesting book. This is a mild term. The collection of anecdotes, brief sketches, gossip, poignant sayings by James himself is fascinating reading. The period and the circle of friends comes to life." H. S. Canby

+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 My 29 '48 140w

"It is surprising how little love James seemed to inspire; there are malicious thoughts here in this book, witty thoughts, angry thoughts, accurate epigrams, hints, exasperation, homage, even fear, but little affection. And, of course, almost everyone contradicts everyone else; so in the end James escapes behind a blanket of verbiage, aloof in his loneliness (the great James loneliness which he recommended to young authors as he would have introduced them to his tailor). However, this book will supply a good deal more material for critical or biographical sharpshooting."

Spec 179:752 D 12 '47 290w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 20 '48 390w

Time 51:100 My 3 '48 900w

"The writer who here presents James the man with most affection and discernment is his close friend Edith Wharton, and Mr. Desmond MacCarthy often throws a beam on the novelist's quality of mind. Some of the others, cordially shaping their anecdotes for the effect of a bon mot, laugh at the Master with a geniality safely short of clowning. Of Mr. Nowell-Smith's triumphant piece of editing one criticism alone arises: each extract, given with its author, should have borne also the name and date of the work drawn upon, so that readers might have a chance of reference and be certain to what period the matter referred."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p34 Ja 17 '48 900w

NOYES, WILLIAM ALBERT, ed. Chemistry; a history of the chemistry components of the Nat. defense research com, 1940-1946, by R. Connor [and others] foreword by James Bryant Conant and Roger Adams. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 524p il $6 Little

940.53185 World war, 1939-1945—Chemistry 48-3048

"This volume, in the eight-volume series Science in World War II, covers the work done in chemistry. Includes the many chemical developments in manufacture of leather goods, rubber, steel, glass, munitions, paints, mold preventatives, insecticides, and absorbents. Primarily for the chemist, with extreme technical details omitted, making it useful to the interested lay reader also. Appendix of committees and organizations." (Booklist) Indexes.

Booklist 45:11 S 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 70w

"This book is presented largely in terms of chemical formulas so that only the reader with some professional training in that field will get the full benefit of the narrative. Chemistry, however, by now has a considerable public of its own, and this book will doubtless find its way into every one of its laboratories." H. M. Davis

Springf'd Republican p14A Je 11 '48 120w

NUNMAKER, FRANCES G. Library broadcasts. 166p $2.25 Wilson, H.W.

021.7 Radio advertising. Publicity. Advertising—Libraries 48-3270

"Brief information about broadcasting library programs: planning, writing script, getting radio time, speaking into the mike, checking results. Appendix contains sample scripts." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:27 S 15 '48

"It should be required reading for every librarian, whether radio work is to be done or not. Certainly, for the newcomer to radio work, this book is a godsend. Miss Nunmaker gives good advice, and a sense of humor and a lightness of touch remove any suggestion of preaching. She gives concrete examples of what to do and how to do it. . . The book is well

NUNMAKER, F. G.—Continued
indexed. The annotated bibliography is well selected and offers a necessary ground course for any librarian interested in radio." D. F. Hoyle
+ Library J 73:1363 O 1 '48 420w

"The only weak chapter in this highly useful little book is the one on 'Testing,' an analysis of who is listening. This weakness is no fault of the author's. No adequate surveys have been made of library broadcasts. . . Any library planning to use radio publicity or one striving to improve its present programs will do well to study this excellent manual." G. W. Gilman
+ Library Q 18:298 O '48 900w

NUTT, FRANCES TYSEN. Three fields to cross; an historical novel. 368p $3 Stephen-Paul 47-12333

A first novel which chronicles the ordeal of a Staten Island family during the Revolution.

Booklist 44:203 F 1 '48

"The dialogue is consistently good and flavorsome, with no cluttering 'prithees.' If Mrs. Nutt had stuck to her last which seems to be romantic and bucolic narrative, her novel would have been a solid picture of another era. As it is, it is an entertaining, readable, if unlikely, adventure story which leaves no more lasting impression than that a spirited maid like Giletta was a good girl to have around when the going was rough." Mary McGrory
+ — N Y Times p12 D 21 '47 600w

"The author knows her terrain well and presents it with fidelity. . . Her novel is at its best when depicting the conflict between Tories and rebels among the Islanders. . . It is an ambitious canvas, crowded with characters and action. There are pace and vigor in the execution. But one could wish for less blood and thunder, more quiet concentration on character development and subtle nuances of plot. As it is, 'Three Fields to Cross' often degenerates into a dime novel, and is just as readable." Ray Pierre
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ja 17 '48 650w

NUTTALL, GEOFFREY FILLINGHAM. Holy Spirit in Puritan faith and experience. 192p $3.25 Macmillan
231.3 Holy Spirit A48-4761

"The author believes that Puritanism revived the doctrine of the Holy Spirit, which had little place in the theology of the medieval, hierarchical church, with its established orthodoxy. . . There are chapters on The Spirit and the Word, The Discerning of Spirits, The Spirit and Prayer, The Spirit and the Ordinances, The Liberty of the Spirit, The Government of the Spirit, The Spirit in Every Man, among others. It is full of quotations from the Puritan leaders, and throughout are many references to those who carried the freedom of the Spirit to its extreme, the Quakers." Churchman

---

"This book is more important and interesting to the Evangelical Anglican than the title might suggest. . . While the book deals with the seventeenth century, the problem with which it is concerned, the tension between religious freedom and authority is as timely as ever." W. L. Caswell
+ Churchman 161:17 D 15 '47 330w

"The principal weakness of Geoffrey F. Nuttall's study of Puritan mysticism is to be found in his failure to deal with the social and cultural results of the movement, but this is not a failure in the light of the task which he set for himself. The scope of his book was delimited by two major concerns: (1) to place Quakerism in its larger setting as a phase of a more inclusive mystical movement and (2) to explore the significance—in a narrowly defined 'theological' sense—of the Puritan doctrine of the Holy Spirit for today. One might lament that he did not give himself to the larger task, but one cannot discount the real importance of his volume as an introduction to a literature of vast proportions and major significance." W. S. Hudson
+ — J Religion 28:51 Ja '48 3950w

"Dr. Nuttall is to be congratulated on an admirable piece of research in which the fruits of exact scholarship are presented with a fine literary grace." H. G. Wood
+ Spec 177:554 N 22 '46 750w

"Dr. Nuttall's book is of first-class importance, as readable as it is worthy of reading, and giving new insight into seventeenth century Puritanism. While he does not aspire to the fullness of Knappen's survey of Tudor Puritanism, nor of Haller's study of The Rise of Puritanism, he has made, in fewer than 200 pages, an original contribution to knowledge; he has also written a most enjoyable book."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p199 Ap 26 '47 1050w

NYE, NELSON CORAL. Outstanding modern quarter horse sires. 221p il $5 Morrow
636.168 Quarter horse Agr48-27

"The first third of this gives a background of the start of the 'quarter horse', in the Chocksaw horses, small blocky types, which Carolina planters got from the Indians and used in informal quarter mile races. Utility horses, mainly, they were crossbred with Arabian and Oriental stock. . . They became an important economic factor in the Southwest as cow ponies. A brief section outlines the standards and practices of the National Association and the American Quarter Racing Association. The balance of the text takes up specific sires, in brief biographies [of 24 outstanding stallions]." (Kirkus) No index.

"In its special field, an important item."
+ Kirkus 15:691 D 15 '47 120w

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:711 My 1 '48 30w

"This book should interest anybody who likes to read about horses. The 24 biographies of the outstanding stallions of this breed are entertainingly told."
+ San Francisco Chronicle p11 Mr 28 '48 550w

Wis Lib Bul 44:130 Je '48

O

O. HENRY MEMORIAL AWARD. Prize stories of 1948; sel. and ed. by Herschel Brickell. 292p $3 Doubleday

Short stories—Collections (21-9372)

Contents: Shut a final door, by Truman Capote; Beyond the glass mountain, by Wallace Stegner; Powerhouse, by Ray Bradbury; Sparrow's last jump, by Elliott Grennard; She did not cry at all, by Frank Brookhouser; The muse and Mr. Parkinson, by J. B. Gidney; The petrified woman, by Caroline Gordon; The silent day, by M. F. Greene; Mr. Henig's wall, by Lodwick Hartley; The other side of the river, by Marianne Hauser; The wind is blind, by J. W. Ingles; Child of God, by Elizabeth Janeway; The three aspects, by Christopher La Farge; Pico never forgets, by Richard Malkin; The professor and the puli, by Robert Morse; Welcome home, by Elizabeth Parsons; The answer, by Katharine Shattuck; The snow girl, by W. R. Shelton; The talking stick, by Virginia Sorenson; The plan, by Sidney Sulkin; The saddle, by Courtenay Terrett; The gun on the table, by John Watson; The ascent, by R. B. West.

Atlantic 182:121 D '48 100w

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

"Despite the pleasing variety of subjects and writing displayed in the stories, the editor and judges had to confront an astonishingly uniform lack of success which undoubtedly rendered difficult their selection of the O. Henry Award winners." T. H. Cordle

Commonweal 49:19 O 15 '48 450w
Kirkus 16:340 Jl 15 '48 130w
Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 119:26 N 29 '48 370w
Reviewed by Richard Match
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 O 24 '48 600w
Reviewed by Granville Hicks
N Y Times p4 S 19 '48 430w
Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 S 7 '48 600w
Reviewed by Hollis Alpert
Sat R of Lit 31:15 O 23 '48 650w

OAKES, VIRGINIA ARMSTRONG. By sun and star. 166p $2.50 Macmillan
48-11367

This novel for young readers tells a story of the migration of Chinese students from Shanghai to West China in 1938.

Booklist 45:182 Ja 15 '49

"I commend the book not because an American flier ties the story in with boys and girls in the USA but because of its historic significance and because here is real adventure and real courage."
+ Commonweal 49:157 N 19 '48 160w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 25:42 Ja '49 90w

"A stirring book with lots of interesting details for the more mature upper teens."
+ Kirkus 16:444 S 1 '48 100w

"Though it does not always hold together as a dramatic story, it is important as a picture of those years and that unusual experience. Recommended for grades 5-7." Anne Izard
+ Library J 73:1521 O 15 '48 80w

"The tale is brief and the characterization slight. Nevertheless the flavorful proverbs, the unusual individuals and episodes, will encourage appreciation of the Chinese people and their land." C. E. Zagat
+ N Y Times p59 N 14 '48 130w

"A vivid picture of the old China and the new in the war years."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 N 13 '48 50w

OBERMANN, JULIAN JOEL. Ugaritic mythology; a study of its leading motifs. 110p il $2.75 Yale univ. press
492 Mythology, Semitic. Inscriptions, Semitic. Ras Shamra 48-6396

During the last two decades excavations at Ugarit (modern Ras Shamra) have brought to light numerous clay tablets which reveal something of the lost culture of the Canaanites of northern Syria some fifteen centuries before the beginning of our era. In his study the author attempts to establish that "the central theme of the 'Building Saga' in Ugaritic mythology reflects the changing economic and social conditions in Ugarit around the middle of the second millenium B. C., and that the coming to power of Baal in place of his aging father El reflects the coming to the fore of those in control of precious metals and metalworking." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

"The interpretation of the Ugaritic texts is still in need of considerable elucidation. Books like Professor Obermann's are the rungs on the ladder of progress toward a clear understanding of a literature interesting not only as a valuable source of collateral evidence on the Bible but also in its own right as an artistic creation." C. H. Gordon
Crozer Q 25:269 Jl '48 1100w

"Amateurs and specialists interested in ancient mythology, both Near Eastern and Greek, in the Canaanite culture for itself or as background for the Israelite culture which borrowed from it and then superseded it, will find this book useful."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:146 Jl '48 300w

O'BRIEN, HOWARD VINCENT. All things considered; memories, experiences and observations of a Chicagoan. 345p $3.50 Bobbs
818 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-6749

A memorial volume to a former columnist on the Chicago Daily News, who died last September. The book consists of a first printing of O'Brien's Chicagoan, which is an autobiographical sketch, and selections from his daily column.

Booklist 44:349 Je 15 '48

"Rare indeed is such a book as this one. It is rare because it is composed for the most part of daily newspaper columns and yet achieves a permanence of value that will make it among the most cherished volumes of my library. It is rare because in these days of garrulous and aggressive ignorance, it reveals the humility of a wise man who realized complete truth must always be beyond our grasp." Emmett Dedmon
+ Chicago Sun My 4 '48 500w
Christian Science Monitor p18 My 26 '48 350w

"O'Brien has a friendly, intimate touch, and his columns, in which an informal essay was polished off daily, won the affection of many readers. This representative selection will appeal most to those who already look upon him as a friend. Not a must for all libraries." G. D. McDonald
Library J 73:649 Ap 15 '48 130w

"It is amazing and comforting to see how well his aphorisms stand up, how permanent his affection for eternal things, his delight in quirks of human character, his recognition of the ever-repeated patterns of family life." Ernestine Evans
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 My 16 '48 800w

"The strength and charm of his appealing book come from the columns selected from the hundred he wrote. They are essays of considerable literary merit, but their great worth is in their searching honesty. And because Mr. O'Brien rarely thought it worth-while to stray far from common experience, the columns written a decade ago have worn as well as those written last year." V. P. Hass
+ N Y Times p23 My 23 '48 480w
Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Jl 2 '48 900w

O'BRIEN, ROBERT. This is San Francisco; il. by Antonio Sotomayor. (Whittlesey house publication) 351p $3.75 McGraw
979.461 San Francisco—History 48-10991

An interpretation of San Francisco which studies the city by means of its famous streets. The author writes the column "Riptides" in the San Francisco Chronicle, and the book is based on those columns. Illustrated with line drawings. Index.

Booklist 45:190 F 1 '49

"It is delightful. It is informative. And it is useful, besides." Kimmis Hendrick
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 N 17 '48 420w

"For those who are strangers, a perfect introduction."
+ Kirkus 16:429 Ag 15 '48 90w

"Good San Franciscans everywhere will welcome the book with delight, read and re-read it, refer to it time and again when they want to recall some flashing bit of brightness, some tenderly told story, some episode out of the city's historical past which they may be sure is buttressed by careful research. With its gay pen-and-ink drawings by San Franciscan Antonio Sotomayor, which interpret the city admirably, the volume is certain to become one of its town's best-known classics." J. H. Jackson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 D 5 '48 1100w
Reviewed by Idwal Jones
N Y Times p5 N 28 '48 550w

O'BRIEN, ROBERT—Continued

"I'm happy to prophesy that 'This Is San Francisco' will turn out to be one of the classics on its town, and that people will be reading it when most of the books about the city are long forgotten. A word must be said, too, about the decorations which Antonio Sotomayor has done for the book. I can't remember any artist who has come closer, on a job such as this, to interpreting not merely the city itself but the author's approach to it. . . A lot of San Franciscans are going to realize that here's the book they've been looking for when it comes to just the right Christmas present for the right recipient." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 N 7 '48 1450w

O'CONNELL, CHARLES. Other side of the record. 332p $3.50 Knopf

780.883 Musicians. Music—U.S. 47-31377

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '48

"This is the personal accounting of a frustrated musician with those who were more successful or luckier than he. The author states rather naively that he wrote this book to keep from bursting. That seems a strange justification indeed for a book. A few visits to a psychoanalyst might have accomplished the same object less painfully for us and more successfully for the author." H. W. Heinsheimer

— Music Lib Assn Notes 5:101 D '47 320w

"In the year's best volume of musical reminiscences the former director of Red Seal recording for RCA Victor tells more of the truth than is usually revealed. His profiles of singers, instrumentalists and conductors expose their weaknesses as well as their strong qualities without undue malice, except, perhaps, in his irritable picture of the tight little Toscanini entourage." C. S.

+ — Theatre Arts 32:81 F '48 200w

O'CONNOR, FRANK, pseud. See O'Donovan, M.

O'CONNOR, RICHARD. Thomas: Rock of Chickamauga. 385p maps $4 Prentice-Hall

B or 92 Thomas, George Henry. U.S.—History—Civil war 48-9515

A biography of General George H. Thomas, a West Pointer and a Virginian, who fought for the North in the Civil war. He became one of the four top commanders of the Union forces and was the only general in that war who never lost a battle. Bibliographical note. Index.

"This story of divided loyalties, bravely and honestly sustained, is worth reading in times when men must search their hearts for truth."

+ Kirkus 16:495 S 15 '48 180w

+ Nation 168:24 Ja 1 '49 40w

"It is relevant that Mr. O'Connor has not thought it necessary to annotate his book, that his bibliography is skimpy, and that he shows no direct evidence of having used the Official Records. . . His is the journalistic approach. For effect he begins with Chickamauga, which suggests that we are reading a story of the war rather than a biography of a soldier. He is, like all of his predecessors, a frank partisan of Thomas, but he makes out his case more by reiteration than by proof." H. S. Commager

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 D 19 '48 850w

Reviewed by W. B. Hamilton

+ N Y Times p6 D 19 '48 500w

"Mr. O'Connor, who, with nice candor, states that he has 'utilized every reportorial trick' to dramatize his man and to set the record straight, has succeeded in writing an interesting book, very belatedly justifying a remark once made by General Thomas to the effect that history would do him justice."

+ New Yorker 24:112 D 18 '48 120w

Reviewed by Lloyd Lewis

Sat R of Lit 32:26 Ja 15 '49 320w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 20 '48 130w

Time 52:60 D 27 '48 350w

O'CONNOR, WILLIAM VAN, ed. Forms of modern fiction; essays collected in honor of Joseph Warren Beach. 305p $4.50 Univ. of Minn.

809.3 Fiction—History and criticism 48-7160

Collection of essays by some outstanding critics, in which the form and technique of the novel are discussed. Partial contents: William Van O'Connor, The novel in our time; Allen Tate, Techniques of fiction; David Daiches, James Joyce: the artist as exile; William Troy, Scott Fitzgerald: the authority of failure; Ray B. West, Jr., Ernest Hemingway: the failure of sensibility; Richard Chase, The Brontës, or, myth domesticated; T. S. Eliot, Ulysses, order, and myth; Robert Penn Warren, William Faulkner; Warren Beck, For Virginia Woolf; Eric Bentley, The meaning of Robert Penn Warren's novels; Morton Dauwen Zabel, Graham Greene.

Reviewed by Theodore Kalem

Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 1150w

"A book that demands a thorough familiarity with the writers discussed, as no effort is made to supply deficiencies of knowledge, the assumption [being] that the reader is on familiar ground. This will somewhat limit the scope of the market to students, critics, and omnivorous readers of the modern leaders in the novel field."

Kirkus 16:227 My 1 '48 220w

"An unusually good anthology, containing a number of bright and provocative essays by critics of contemporary literature."

+ New Yorker 24:91 Je 19 '48 90w

Reviewed by W. R. White

San Francisco Chronicle p12 O 3 '48 350w

"[This] is a valuable and interesting collection of essays, but it also points to the limits of the tradition which it represents. The major figures in literary criticism have always taken a double or a triple view of their material. An extraordinary and almost compulsive concern with technique alone is itself a sign of the times; it is probably the last refuge of the contemporary artist but it should not be the only concern of the critic." Maxwell Geismar

Sat R of Lit 31:10 Jl 3 '48 650w

O'CONNOR, WILLIAM VAN. Sense and sensibility in modern poetry. 279p $4 Univ. of Chicago press

808.1 Poetry 48-9231

"The student of modern poetry and those interested in discovering why today's serious poets seem to write in a private language of their own can find in William Van O'Connor's book the answers to almost all their perplexities." (San Francisco Chronicle) He takes up such subjects as meter, metaphor, obscurity, the Symbolist school, the Imagist school, the alienation between artist and society, and the work of T. S. Eliot, Yeats, and other modern poets. Bibliography. Index.

"Though it sometimes shows more Pride and Prejudice than Sense and Sensibility, O'Connor's book of esthetic criticism is an unusual intellectual achievement—unusual because it is equally informative for the practicing poet and for the bewildered reader of modernist poetry. Open this book at random at any chapter and you will find exciting insights, covering every conceivable aspect. . . That such insights are not always original is no objection: O'Connor, who is an assistant professor of English at the University of Minnesota, scrupulously yet unpedantically gives the sources for his borrowings." Peter Viereck

+ N Y Times p6 D 12 '48 500w

"The giant of modern poetry, of course, is T. S. Eliot; and Mr. O'Connor writes some very illuminating pages on the work of this expatriate American. . . Others are treated with fine insight: Edwin Arlington Robinson, Yeats, Tate, Wallace Stevens, Marianne Moore, W. H. Auden. In one way and another nearly all of them have been influenced by Eliot, but none has equalled the master." G. S.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p6 N 28 '48 450w

O'DONOVAN, MICHAEL (FRANK O'CONNOR, pseud). Common chord; stories and tales. 278p $2.75 Knopf

48-5376

Twelve stories whose "common chord" is the love urge driving various types of middle-class Irish people. Two of the tales have appeared in the New Yorker.

"A distinguished and enjoyable book."

+ Atlantic 181:120 Ap '48 60w

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

" 'Gusty, earthy humor' is what the publisher's blurb attributes to these Irish tales, adding that they are 'never suggestive or obscene.' Well, they are not obscene, although suggestive with a vengeance. But when it adds that the 'beautiful simplicities' of O'Connor's style reveal the 'bright, enchanting life' of Irish town and village one rubs one's eyes. There is nothing in the least enchanting in these pictures of selfish, confused and frustrated men, women and even children." Katherine Brégy

Cath World 167:183 My '48 400w

"Frank O'Connor possesses, in abundance, two invaluable assets: a seemingly undauntable sense of humor and a real respect for both his characters and his art. These add distinction and beauty to what in less skilled or less tolerant hands, might have become a series of clinical studies." William Peden

+ Chicago Sun Mr 1 '48 400w

Reviewed by Riley Hughes

Commonweal 48:214 Je 11 '48 650w

"The effect of humor is shaded with satire and an unmincing reality, the whole providing a specialty for those experienced in the field of the short story."

+ Kirkus 16:2 Ja 1 '48 90w

"Authentic Irish idiom and lovably humorous characters, marred only when O'Connor's personal bitterness intrudes. Catholics may object to The Fryingpan." E. L. Lewis

+ — Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by Paul Bloomfield

Manchester Guardian p3 N 25 '47 240w

"These are the stories of a man who knows what he's about. His knowledge of his subject almost convinces us of powers of divination, and it is a subject of uncommon interest. For that, for his humanity, for his rough wit and for his swift, sure skill, I would certainly recommend them as the best stories I have seen in a year." John Farrelly

+ New Repub 118:24 Mr 8 '48 600w

"By this, his fifth collection, O'Connor's skill in the short story has reached high artistry. . . No one interested in either Ireland or the short story should overlook this book." Horace Reynolds

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 F 15 '48 700w

"Some [of the stories] are so tenuously told that a single reading will not reveal all the subtleties of their plots and people, particularly of the important roles played by O'Connor's priests. . . O'Connor's compassion for and understanding of their predicament in the face of personal emotion and the strict code of their religion are qualities that in an author call for extraordinary objectivity, a rare sense of justice, and, above all, love for his fellowmen. Such qualities O'Connor possesses to a degree shared, I believe, by no other writer of short stories alive today." James Stern

+ N Y Times p5 F 15 '48 1000w

"An excellent and amusing composite picture of the Irish national struggle against the great, dark bird of sex."

+ New Yorker 23:94 F 21 '48 80w

Reviewed by Edith James

San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ap 4 '48 100w

Reviewed by Vivien Mercier

Sat R of Lit 31:12 F 21 '48 700w

"If at times Mr O'Connor's technique and characterisation are not oversubtle, we accept these crudities for the sake of a talent that goes straight to life for its inspiration. The only real failure (and that in part only) is The Holy Door, which, excellent in its shorter version, is here dragged out for nearly thirty more pages to make a point fairly obvious from the beginning. Of the others, Judas and The Babes in the Wood strike the deepest notes; all have a native vitality that in these lean times is worth a lot of fine writing." Olivia Manning

+ — Spec 179:782 D 19 '47 200w

Time 51:92 Mr 1 '48 650w

"The author is a practised hand. His competence and ease are always in evidence—too much so, perhaps, because tenacity in making his point (in News for the Church, for example) sometimes results in an atmosphere of unreality. . . Mr. O'Connor is at his best when he describes easy-going morals bringing their own reward, as in Don Juan (Retired), where he does not record the thoughts of his characters, a method which threatens to blunt the narrative in some of the stories."

Times [London] Lit Sup p589 N 15 '47 230w

"A precise and careful artist and a rare hand at dialogue, Mr. O'Connor never fails to make a point, to tell about something. His stories have little plot and suspense; but they are never mere sketches or evocations of mood." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 37:767 summer '48 220w

O'FAOLAIN, SEAN. Man who invented sin, and other stories; with il. by Elizabeth Rivers. 183p $2.75 Devin-Adair

48-28238

Fifteen short stories chosen by this Irish author as his best. Contents: The man who invented sin; Unholy living and half dying; The silence of the valley; Innocence; The trout; Shades of the prison house; The end of a good man; Passion; A letter; Viva la France; The woman who married Clark Gable; Lady Lucifer; Up the bare stairs; The fur coat; Teresa.

Booklist 45:193 F 1 '49

+ Cath World 168:415 F '49 200w

"A man who writes few unnecessary words, O'Faolain also foregoes the folklore and leprechauns in favor of the Irish people; and after reading his stories, you have no doubt whatever that you have met some very real Irish people indeed. . . O'Faolain manages to transmit this feeling without once falling into sentimentality: the power of tightly controlled tragedy animates this art, a power that frequently even passes through humor like a subdued undertone." E. F. Meagher

+ Commonweal 49:282 D 24 '48 330w

Reviewed by Richard Harrity

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 30 '49 500w

"The essence of Ireland paints every page green. A short paragraph smells of brackish water. A barge, gliding 'like an otter, greasily' photographs climate and canal. And conversation—the Irishman's education—turns an empty New York apartment into a smoke-filled country pub packed with men for whom the gift of speech is their life." James Stern

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 2 '49 650w

"He is at his most amusing when handling such topics as the visit of a French soccer team to Cork, and a middle-aged housewife's hallucination that she is married to Clark Gable. Many of the pieces are, inevitably, ventures into more sentimental themes, and the author's adeptness here is best shown in 'The Trout' and 'Passion.' Some of the situations and people bear an undoubted family resemblance to others encountered in modern Irish literature, but they seldom pall."

+ New Yorker 24:107 D 18 '48 140w

O'FAOLAIN, SEAN—Continued

"Some of the narratives in this book are of stuff too subtle for analysis. They can only be felt. . . Mr. O'Faolain is at his best when he is most truly Irish, as he is in 'The Silence of the Valley.' . . 'The Silence of the Valley' can take its place alongside Mr. O'Faolain's best work, the unforgettable novel called 'A Nest of Simple Folk.' " A. F. Wolfe
+ Sat R of Lit 32:17 Ja 22 '49 500w

"They are like pieces chipped off a larger design, showing, despite their incompleteness, a wonderful workmanship."
+ Time 53:90 Ja 10 '49 250w

O'FARACHAIN, ROIBEARD. See Farren, R.

O'FARRELL, WILLIAM. Brandy for a hero. 218p $2.50 Duell
48-5440

Mystery story.

Kirkus 16:96 F 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 14 '48 100w

N Y Times p30 Mr 7 '48 450w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 F 22 '48 100w

"Pretty good."
Sat R of Lit 31:35 F 28 '48 40w

O'FARRELL, WILLIAM. Ugly woman. 254p $2.50 Duell
48-7955

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ag 29 '48 50w

"All in all, this appears to be a case of psychiatry gone mad."
N Y Times p15 Ag 22 '48 150w

"Fairly unnerving."
New Yorker 34:72 Ag 28 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 S 5 '48 60w

Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 11 '48 40w

OFFICIAL DETECTIVE STORIES MAGAZINE. Official detective omnibus; ed. by Harry Keller. 299p $2.75 Duell

Short stories—Collections 48-11525

Eleven fact-detective stories from the Official detective stories magazine.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun p38 Ja 14 '49 80w

Kirkus 16:563 O 15 '48 180w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 D 19 '48 170w

"The book has an interest quite distinct from stories of the marvelous exploits of fictional detectives." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p22 Ja 9 '49 140w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 D 19 '48 220w

"Typical mag. yarns—fast moving, lurid, and aptly reported. 'Me, a Public Enemy's Wife' is high satirical (intended?) comedy."
Sat R of Lit 31:30 D 18 '48 40w

Wis Lib Bul 45:15 Ja '49

OGG, OSCAR. 26 letters. 254p il $3.50 Crowell

411 Alphabet—History. Writing—History
48-9445

This book for high school students and their elders, tells the story of the growth and development of the alphabet from the cave drawings of prehistoric man, thru the hieroglyphics of the Egyptians and the first all-letter writings of the Phoenicians down to the linotype machines of today. The illustrations, adorning almost every page, include line drawings, alphabets, facsimilies, etc.

Booklist 45:131 D 15 '48

" 'The 26 Letters' is an enlightening book; for not only does it trace this history of our alphabet but it shows how printing developed into what it is today—from those far and difficult beginnings when crude tools and techniques determined how the early lettering should be done. Mr. Ogg, it is plain, loves his letters as well as the stories he tells about their origin; and he has drawn with skill and verve examples of all of them—the ancient, the medieval, and the modern." H. B. Nichols
+ Christian Science Monitor p20 D 8 '48 410w

"This is easily one of the best turned out books of 1948. And so it should be, for Mr. Ogg is one of America's foremost calligraphers. It is not only, however, lovely to look at and delightful to know, it is profoundly satisfying." Anne Fremantle
+ Commonweal 49:310 D 31 '48 260w

"Clear, flowing text, beautiful illustrations and a fine preface make this a book all libraries will want for all readers over 12 years of age. Recommended for adult and juvenile collections." G. E. Cartmell
+ Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 80w

"A good popular account." Horace Reynolds
+ N Y Times p22 D 5 '48 500w

"A popular history of the alphabet . . . which is a triumph of exposition and abbreviation. As limpid and rapid-paced as a juvenile, with drawings of symbols and letters on almost every page, it appeals to curiosity and carries one pleasantly along, so that it is likely to be read through at a sitting."
+ New Yorker 24:60 D 25 '48 70w

Reviewed by Karl Kup
Publisher's Wkly 155:854 F 5 '49 800w

School & Society 69:15 Ja 1 '49 40w

"What might have been as dry as dust material in less skilful management rewards the student and casual reader alike in being a lively, interesting book. This scholarly subject is trimmed all round the edges with a running comment of thumbnail sketches concerning people, events and places, relating to the subject, all with a slightly humorous twist." S. M. Neal
+ Springf'd Republican p12C D 12 '48 550w

OGRIZEK, DORE, ed. France: Paris and the provinces; text by Roger Roumagnac; gastronomy by Pierre Andrieu; tr. by Marguerite Bigot and Madeleine Blaess; il. by Beuville [and others]. (Whittlesey house publication) 462p $5 McGraw

914.4 France—Description and travel
48-1645

A combination of travel book and gastronomical guide to France. It is illustrated with colored maps, old prints, photographs, and drawings in color. The book is divided into two sections: the first on Paris; the second on the Provinces. Index.

Atlantic 181:119 Je '48 140w

Booklist 44:281 Ap 15 '48

"The book not only whets the appetite, but is an elegant souvenir and gift book."
+ Commonweal 48:682 Ap 30 '48 250w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 S 26 '48 130w

"Not only information but loving observation have gone into 'France: Paris and the Provinces.' With all its appreciation of great spectacles and trivial makeshifts, of the historical past and the hopeful present, this is considerably more than a guide or travel book. The text is blithe and the illustrations profuse. Reproductions of old prints lend an impressive air to certain pages and gay color illustrations brighten the tone of the whole book. . . This book comes at an auspicious moment. It is fine bait for the new school of travelers and a delightful album for the initiated." Virginia Dale

+ N Y Times p26 Ap 25 '48 330w

"The illustrations are the best part; the text is rather thin and has been quaintly translated. Furthermore, despite the fact that the book was written toward the end of the war, the authors do not specify which historic buildings and public monuments survived the destruction."
New Yorker 24:116 Ap 17 '48 90w

"The book is alive with color, brilliants and pastels, in tiny spot drawings, double-page spreads and decorative borders. And the text itself is as colorful as the illustrations." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p19 Ap 11 '48 500w

"The writing lacks style and unity and sometimes verges on the juvenile. There is a good deal of interesting information to be found in these pages but in some places it descends to a mere hodgepodge of words. The outstanding virtue of the book, from our point of view, is the delightful dissertation on the regional gastronomy of France ending each chapter. . . On the whole, this phase of the book, M. Andrieu's end, steals the show from the main ring. Messrs. Roumagnac and Andrieu blithely ignore the fact that France has been through a war and make no attempt to guide the wayfarer through the postwar jungle of restrictions." T. L. Christie
Sat R of Lit 31:35 My 1 '48 280w

"If you've ever been there, 'France: Paris and the Provinces' will rekindle your memory. If you've never been but hope to, or even if that's one of the things you've given up on, this book will tell you all about it. The full flavor of France is in captivity here, for which the myriad illustrations must get a good share of the credit. There are several hundred—full page reproductions of the facades of famous cathedrals, halftones of historic buildings and rural landscapes, gaily colored sketches of provincial costumes and Parisian scenes." D. B. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 18 '48 420w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

OGSTON, HELEN. Piney bear; il. by James H. Davis. 54p $1.75 Dodd

Bears—Legends and stories 48-1894

Story of a black cub's summer in Yellowstone national park, his brief captivity in a filling station, and his return home to Mother Bear. For grades 3-5.

"This story of the first summer of Piney Bear's life is well written. Its chief value is the picture it gives of Yellowstone Park." J. M. Smith
+ Library J 73:561 Ap 1 '48 60w

Wis Lib Bul 44:65 Mr '48

OLDENBOURG, ZOE. World is not enough; tr. from the French by Willard A. Trask. 509p maps $3.75 Pantheon bks.

48-6397

Long historical novel, the scene of which is 12th and 13th century France and the Orient. It describes in great detail the daily life in a medieval castle, as evidenced in the affairs of Ansiau of Linnières and his wife, the Lady Alis. Part of the story is concerned with the second and third crusades.

"A striking departure from the garish fustian which has discredited the genre. In her saga of a petty knight's family in the twelfth- and thirteenth-century France, Miss Oldenbourg has sought an authentic re-creation of medieval life. . . Those who have a penchant for the massive period piece, and would like to see it handled with artistry, should find this to their taste."
+ Atlantic 182:107 Jl '48 130w

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

Cath World 167:573 S '48 200w

Reviewed by Jex Martin
Chicago Sun Je 16 '48 350w

"As a slice of medieval life, this novel is nearly one-dimensional. It has neither breadth nor depth: all the characters come from one narrow class, the nobility, and thin characters they are, indeed: made up of superstitions, fears, lusts, and pains. Filth, stench, and blood wall them off; the reader cannot respect them, or pity them, or even believe in them. Anything like mental experience is so shunned, and the sheer physical detail is so unselective and so unaccented, that the reader may complain of Miss Oldenbourg, as Mark Twain did of the knights themselves: she has 'dealt in tales of blood and suffering with a guileless relish that made me almost forget to shudder.'" M. M.
Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 12 '48 650w

"The World is Not Enough is a young, fresh book by a young Russian who lives in France. . . It is a refreshingly unsentimental re-creation of medieval life, which makes that remote period and the people in it come alive as if they were our contemporaries. . . The book would have been very greatly improved by a good deal of cutting. Five hundred closely printed pages make for an endless amount of repetition, which dulls and slows an otherwise very bright book. The translation is good." Nika Standen
+ — Commonweal 48:193 Je 4 '48 390w

Kirkus 16:175 Ap 1 '48 200w

"Top rank, grimly fascinating: peccant subject, but not sensational. Excellent translation from the French." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 100w

"This remarkable novel is a major addition to the accessible accounts of the Middle Ages. . . It is the work of a rare imagination, but it is based on long study and research." John Erskine
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Je 20 '48 900w

Reviewed by Oskar Seidlin
N Y Times p13 Je 13 '48 650w

"An unusually sound historical novel."
+ New Yorker 24:77 My 29 '48 140w

"It's as magical a tale of its kind as you'll ever have read. The author's ability to communicate what she has absorbed about the life of the time, her capacity to interpret this in terms of likely action, her extraordinarily lively imagination—all of these talents contribute to the making of a novel which will cause in your mind that 'willing suspension of belief' of which someone—was it Wordsworth?—spoke when he was defining what makes a story teller." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 15 '48 750w

"The characteristic which renders even well-written novels about the Middle Ages so generally anemic despite the bustling adventure which fills them is the tendency of their authors to accept the pattern of medieval life at its face value. . . Any honest re-creation of that world, therefore, excludes 'heroic' writing and moral appraisal; its depiction must be chronicle rather than saga. Miss Oldenbourg's book is both chronicle and rewarding fiction. . . It is a pity that Miss Oldenbourg has not used her mastery of the period to give us at least a glimpse of the life of the peasants. Except for their promiscuous wenches, they never appear." Robert Pick
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:17 My 22 '48 750w

"Miss Oldenbourg's canvas is wide but her stitches are painstakingly small. . . For its details of a rough and cruel period of history, The World Is Not Enough is impressive. Miss Oldenbourg seems to know a lot about the Middle Ages. As a novel, the book wobbles from sheer weight of overpopulated subplots. The author meanders along on the theory that an unselective detailing of life histories is a satisfactory substitute for dramatic construction."
Time 51:92 My 31 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

Reviewed by Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 38:192 autumn '48 140w

OLDS, ELIZABETH. Riding the rails [il. by the author]. 48p $2.50 Houghton

385 Railroads—Juvenile literature 48-8418

"A picture book in soft, rich colors that tells the full story of the railroads in America, beginning with the Indians and their ponies on the plains and ending with the 'streamliners' of today." Sat R of Lit

Booklist 45:74 O 15 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun N 27 '48 140w

"This is first rate history, as well as a thoroughly satisfactory picture book."
Commonweal 49:153 N 19 '48 200w

"Clarity and a fine selective sense distinguish her text. It is in full accord with her drawings and can be read with interest and profit at any age level for it is based upon thorough research." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 24:435 N '48 60w
Horn Bk 24:454 N '48 30w

"Seven and eight year olds, with endless questions about trains, will enjoy this direct and simple history of railroads; and slightly older children can read it for themselves."
+ Kirkus 16:478 S 15 '48 60w

"Recommended as a worthy companion to The Big Fire." Mary Strang
+ Library J 73:1674 N 15 '48 40w
New Repub 119:33 D 6 '48 90w

"Pictures in brilliant color and sparkling black and white show the history of railroads in America in this beautiful picture book for younger children." H. A. M.
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 N 14 '48 220w

"Young train aficionados who have outgrown their first picture books and are looking for some solid information on their favorite subject should be delighted with this book." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p14 D 19 '48 200w
New Yorker 24:141 D 11 '48 70w

"A beautiful and informing book."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:23 N 13 '48 40w
Wis Lib Bul 44:214 D '48

OLIVER, ALFRED RICHARD. Encyclopedists as critics of music. 227p $3 Columbia univ. press

780.072 Music—France. Encyclopédie, ou Dictionnaire raisonné des sciences 47-31483

"The author first surveys classical French musical criticism of the late seventeenth century, then singles out the founding and early development of French opera, instrumental music, and the dance for individual treatments. The articles on music in the great eighteenth-century Encyclopedie are thoroughly explored, and related to their past. In particular, there is a careful analysis of the encyclopedists' criticism of the opera. Also explained in context are the incidents—The Buffons' Quarrel, The Rameau Controversy, Gluck's Reform Opera—which occured during preparation and publication of the Encyclopedie. Finally touched upon are its musical influence at home and abroad, and the effect of the Encyclopedie on music over the century and a half since its completion." U S Quarterly Bkl

"Those sections of the book which deal with the historical review, the analyses of the Encyclopedia articles, and the role of the Encyclopedists in formulating thought and marshalling action present interesting material in a clear, concise, and objective manner, giving the reader a comprehensive account of the aesthetic theories and of the problem of combining music, dance, and drama as viewed by the French critics from St. Evremond to La Harpe. . . The concluding section which treats of the influence of the Encyclopedists is, however, less satisfactory." Doris Silbert
+ — Music Lib Assn Notes 5:106 D '47 650w

"The book is not very easy to read, partly because of the amount of paraphrase which it contains and which in fact constitutes much of its value; but it is well documented and helps the reader, whose normal approach to music is through the German classics, to think himself into the French tradition, which always maintained its independence of the main European stream and followed it on a parallel course."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p398 Jl 17 '48 600w

"On the whole, this is a distinguished and enlightening synthesis of scattered knowledge, clearly written and satisfactorily documented. Concerned as it is, in part, however, with the evaluation of articles and authors, it is a subjective book, and some of its critical estimates are open to disagreement. Perhaps the most serious flaw in the work is its failure to point out that in music, at least, the Encyclopedie was largely a triumph of amateurs, that among the contributors in music, Rousseau was a philosopher, d'Alembert a mathematician, Diderot a philosopher, and Marmontel a tragedian, to name some of them. Fortunately, these faults do not vitiate the wealth of information assembled."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 4:124 Je '48 290w

OLIVIER, SYDNEY HALDANE OLIVIER, baron. Letters and selected writings; ed. with a memoir by Margaret Olivier, with some impressions by Bernard Shaw. 252p il $4 Macmillan

B or 92 Statesmen—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. [48-4324]

Memoirs and writings of Lord Olivier, the former secretary of the Fabian society. The writings include letters, six papers and an autobiography which ends with Olivier's recollections of his life as colonial-secretary in British Honduras. The memoirs are by his wife, Bernard Shaw, Sir Alexander Harris, Herbert de Lisser. Extracts from the official records of the colonial office describe Lord Olivier's career in the service of his government. Chronology. Index.

"Sir Sidney and Shaw must have been understanding friends for GBS writes with fervor and appreciation of him and brings out the delightful points that Olivier must have had. Both in action—English public service—and in his writings, Sir Sidney was distinguished, and now that the English colonies and the color questions are of burning import his comments and judgments made years ago, are valuable. Recommended." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 73:940 Je 15 '48 130w

"The letters chosen by Lady Olivier, particularly those to H. G. Wells, are affectionate, combative, and ironic, the play of a mind and pen which were kept keen until past fourscore."
Manchester Guardian p3 My 22 '48 260w
New Yorker 24:106 S 11 '48 140w

"A fragment of autobiography in Lady Olivier's memoir of her husband is almost tantalizing in its intimation of the humour and lambent wit and serious, stiff purpose, all combined, that would have had full scope in a complete self-disclosure. . . Only those perhaps who knew Olivier as an active, vital force will see again in these memoirs the intrinsic worth of the man, but none will fail to recognize one whose large-hearted humanity no official cloak could conceal or cramp."
Times [London] Lit Sup p427 Jl 31 '48 1100w

OLMSTEAD, ALBERT TEN EYCK. History of the Persian empire. 576p il $10 Univ. of Chicago press

935 Persia—History—Ancient to A.D. 640 48-7317

History of the Persian empire during the Achaemenid period, from the extension of Persian rule to Greece, under Cyrus, to the burning of the capital at Persepolis by Alexander. Considers not only the political and military history, but also economics, agriculture, science, religion, and art. Illustrated with photographs. Indexes.

"A particular feature is the informal and simple style and frequent allusion to minor things which bring out highlights on culture and habit. Here are the old historical facts plus some new, and a form of presentation that makes for interest in the study."
+ Current Hist 15:165 S '48 70w

"Of course, Professor Olmstead's presentation is in more accurate perspective than those based solely upon Thucydides and other Greek sources. Many of the latter are masterpieces of literature, factually sound, but they distort the value of events. . . A work of deep erudition, inclusive, as thorough and complete as present-day knowledge permits (future discoveries can hardly change the main course), the volume is a worthy companion to Professor Olmstead's previous monumental studies of Assyria and Palestine." P. J. Searles
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ag 1 '48 600w

OLSEN, D. B., pseud. See Hitchens, D. B.

OLSON, HARRY FERDINAND. Elements of acoustical engineering. 2d ed 539p $7.50 Van Nostrand

621.381 Electroacoustics. Sound—Recording and reproducing 47-11939

"Completely revised edition of one of the best books on the subject, the principles of sound waves and their application to acoustical systems by means of electrical analogies. Presentation of the entire field of modern acoustics including the new instruments, designs, developments, applications and practices. Covers the greatest variety of apparatus for the reproduction of sound, solutions of problems in vibrating systems, underwater sound, ultrasonics, acoustical, radio, motion picture, and architectural engineering. Formulas, tables, graphs." (Library J) Index. For first edition see Book Review Digest 1941.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1379 O 1 '47 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:67 O '47

"Because of its wide coverage of acoustical topics, this book will serve as a vade mecum both to research workers and to engineers in the field."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:111 Mr '48 140w

O'MORAN, MABEL, pseud. See Moran, M. O.

O'NEILL, ANA MARIA. Ethics for the atomic age. 411p $3 Meador

170 Ethics 48-5980

"Emphasizes the incapacity of science, as generally understood, to redirect Western culture and the necessity of a system of morality." School & Society

Am Soc R 13:367 Je '48 90w
Reviewed by Charles Wegener
Ethics 58:314 Jl '48 200w
School & Society 67:206 Mr 13 '48 20w

O'NEILL, HESTER. Picture story of the Philippines; pictures by Ursula Koering. [50p] $2.50 McKay

919.14 Philippine Islands—Juvenile literature 48-6244

"Story about the things children want to know about other countries,— holidays, carnivals, birthday presents, parties, schools, kinds of houses, favorite foods, sports, animals, city and country life, something of the history and the struggle for independence, the coming of the republic, the cities and their characteristics, and the work done in and about them." (Kirkus) For ages 9-12.

Booklist 44:302 My 1 '48
Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun Jl 10 '48 100w

"Everywhere that you open the book, you will find the gay marginal drawings by Ursula Koering to vivify the text, and each page is almost a little essay in itself." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p5 Jl 27 '48 250w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:200 My '48 80w

"A colorful, attractive story. . . Good supplementary reading for schools; good library material."
+ Kirkus 16:50 F 1 '48 130w

"Recommended." Katherine Bridges
+ Library J 73:716 My 1 '48 70w

"The book will no doubt be used in schools but it will be read and liked for itself alone." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 My 9 '48 160w

Reviewed by H. K. Lippmann
+ N Y Times p30 Ap 11 '48 230w

"It would be a fascinating adventure to go to Manila with this book as a guide. . . Little children will claim this as a picture book. Older boys and girls will find it informing and stimulating." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 8 '48 110w

O'NEILL, HESTER. Young patriots; il. by Richard Floethe. 256p $3 Nelson

940.53161 World war, 1939-1945—Children—Juvenile literature 48-4294

"Fourteen countries are represented in this collection of short stories of the war years, 1937-1945. There are two tales from each country, all true and all recording the brave deeds of young people in lands occupied by the enemy in World War II. . . Most of these stories have been published previously in magazines or papers." Horn Bk

"These human documents based on verified source material have value both as an historical record and as evidence of the promising background in the countries where the European Recovery Program encourages hope for the future." H. F. Griswold
+ Christian Science Monitor p6 N 11 '48 240w

"They mount up to an inspiring memorial of boys and girls whose high devotion to country led them to risk and often sacrifice their lives." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:466 N '48 80w

"There is a good deal of factual background and data on the countries, but the stories themselves are good adventure with the authenticity of official sources confirming the facts."
+ Kirkus 16:481 S 15 '48 60w

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 26 '48 220w

"The incidents are all true and often moving in their account of courage and devotion, but they might better have been told as straight reporting, omitting any attempt to dramatize the events or to characterize the children. For here the author presents wooden figures rather than real children, and the dramatization is constantly interrupted with bits of local color, foreign phrases and broad historical statements. However, 'Young Patriots' gives valuable information to American children about their contemporaries; readers will enjoy this book and learn something about their own possibilities from the brave record of children in Europe." Marjorie Fischer
+ — N Y Times p43 N 28 '48 150w

ONIS, MRS HARRIET DE, ed. & tr. Golden land; an anthology of Latin American folklore in literature. 395p $4 Knopf

860.8 Folklore—Latin America. Spanish American literature—Collections. Brazilian literature—Collections 48-8896

Collection of writings by Latin American writers showing the influence of the folklore themes which persist in the country's literature. The period covered is from the time of the Spanish and Portuguese explorers to the work of Mario de Andrade who died in 1945. Biographical material about the authors. No index.

ONIS, HARRIET DE—Continued

Booklist 45:117 D 1 '48

"In view of the fact that many of the selections in this volume are genuinely historical narratives, such, for example, as those from Bernal Diaz del Castillo and Father Clavijero, in distinction to creative fiction based on a social situation, such as Latorre's The Old Woman of Peralillo, one may ask whether the editor of the collection has not over-played her hand or perhaps taken too broad a view in the matter of folklore. But there can be no doubt that she has opened a treasure house of Hispanic-American understanding for all who do not possess the lingual facilities of Spanish or Portuguese." J. A. Magner
+ — Commonweal 49:334 Ja 7 '49 480w

"Worthwhile introductions, to the book and to individual inclusions, give a compact survey of Hispanic writing, both critical and interpretative. . . A book of definite value to the student of Latin-American literature, on Latin American reference shelves, for followers of international writings."
+ Kirkus 16:464 S 1 '48 160w

"Recommended." Joseph Borome
+ Library J 73:1507 O 15 '48 130w

"An anthology that finds no need to repeat anything found in the others, yet is as rich as the richest. . . Mrs. de Onis's knowing selection and racy translation provide a remarkable first introduction to the treasures of 'The Golden Land.' " B. D. Wolfe
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 7 '48 750w

"This is a book to read for its literary quality. One may savor these selections—and know, at the same time, that he is looking through the windows of a variety of intelligences into the minds and souls of his neighbors." Herschel Brickell
+ N Y Times p24 O 17 '48 470w
Wis Lib Bul 45:12 Ja '49

ORGEL, VERA. New view of the plays of Racine. 255p $3.75 Macmillan
842 Racine, Jean Baptiste

Detailed discussion of Racine's plays by a lecturer in French at the University of Dublin.

Reviewed by George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1513 O 15 '48 30w

"Miss Orgel has a thorough knowledge of Racine's work, and guides us painstakingly through all the plays, but she is continually throwing away her opportunities. There is far too much description of action, character and motive, and far too little critical comment." Martin Turnell
— + New Statesman & Nation 36:200 S 4 '48 900w

"Alas for literature, when such guidebooks to its mysterious beauties should be found necessary; in such a case one weeps both for the teacher and the taught, but most of all for the Muses. There are indeed difficulties in appreciating Racine, as in all writers removed from us in time and in space; but these are precisely the difficulties which Dr. Orgel's explanations do not help to remove. There are also some of the purest and most intense pleasures that literature can offer to be found in reading him; Dr. Orgel will effectively prevent one from finding them for oneself." Goronwy Rees
— Spec 181:148 Jl 30 '48 900w
Times [London] Lit Sup p674 D 4 '48 800w

ORMOND, CLYDE. Hunting in the Northwest. 274p il $5 Knopf
799.2 Hunting—Northwest Agr48-247

Tales of hunting elk, mountain goats, bighorns, grizzlies, wolves, and coyotes in Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Oregon and Washington. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 45:28 S 15 '48
Kirkus 16:296 Je 15 '48 120w

"Based on considerable 'know-how', written in great style, nicely printed and well illustrated, this book makes one want to pack up and go hunting without delay." R. V. Henderson
Library J 73:1197 S 1 '48 40w

"Mr. Ormond writes well, and his knowledge of hunting is awe-inspiring. His book omits no detail necessary to an amateur or veteran on the trail. Consequently it is more of a 'pack manual' than the other two books, but one that any hunter would be glad to have along." Baynard Kendrick
+ N Y Times p18 Ag 1 '48 80w

"In a pleasantly anecdotal style, the author expounds on such matters as stalking, bagging, and dressing the trophies, giving practically all the information required up to the point where the taxidermist steps in."
+ New Yorker 24:110 S 11 '48 60w

ORMONDE, CZENZI. Laughter from downstairs. 271p $2.75 Farrar, Straus
48-8480

Novel of life in a Bohemian-American family, told from the viewpoint of nine-year-old Lida. Parts of the book have appeared in the Cosmopolitan magazine.

Booklist 45:51 O 1 '48

"Among the piles of cheap and ugly novels pouring from the presses today, it is a pleasure to find a book as clean, wholesome, and amusing as Laughter from Downstairs."
+ Cath World 168:254 D '48 120w
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 4 '48 100w
+ Kirkus 16:375 Ag 1 '48 190w

"This narrative is presented with sympathy and vigor." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 73:1274 S 15 '48 130w

"The successful books of this school have been successful because they have a genuine ring of nostalgia and warmth about them. In this case, the characters have charm, but the incidents are so contrived that the genuine spirit is lost."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p25 O 24 '48 180w

"This is an affectionate, highly entertaining picture of life in a closely knit family and in a friendly small town. Redolent of a succulent middle-European tradition of good food and large-scale hospitality. . . This is the happy acclimatization one would like to think possible for every first-generation family in America." Pamela Taylor
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 N 6 '48 450w

ORMSBEE, THOMAS HAMILTON, ed. Prime antiques and their current prices. 419p il $15 Dodd
704.95 Antiques 47-12478

Based on auction sale catalogs of the 1946-47 season. The antiques and objects of art are pictured, and data consists of quality, rarity, age, condition, sale price, etc. The main sections of the book are: American antiques; English antiques; French antiques; Antiques of Low Countries, Italy, Germany, and Austria; Gothic and Renaissance art treasures; Paintings, miniatures and sculpture; Engravings, etchings and lithographs by famous artists; Chinese periods; Oriental ceramics, jades, paintings, furniture and rugs; Antiques and art auction sales, 1946-1947.

"Used for study and though expensive, recommended for the reference shelf." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:398 Mr 1 '48 110w

"One is apt to view the compilation of this guide with suspicion as to carefulness when one finds such a gross error as plates 52 and 53 which show some ordinary nineteenth century chairs labeled as fine Philadelphia eighteenth century pieces bringing respectively $1,550 and $2,000. Actually the chairs illustrated sold for $60 each, and they are shown and listed at this price in plate 61. Despite this, the collected prices and plates, in the field of furniture, silver, glass, paintings, textiles and other objects, make the project worth while." W. G. Dooley

+ — N Y Times p12 F 15 '48 380w

O'ROURKE, FRANK. Action at Three Peaks. 282p $2.50 Random house

48-8241

Romance of the American western frontier in the late 1870's. The hero, Captain Jim Larimore, is sent to a frontier army post and there finds a former friend who had stolen Larimore's girl. Larimore's competence makes more trouble for Jackson, already disliked by his men. Altho Jackson fears he will lose his wife to Larimore, it is another woman who brings happiness to the latter.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

"Authentic adventure for a masculine market."

+ Kirkus 16:312 Ag 1 '48 130w

"An earnest tale told in frequently goofy prose." Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 D 26 '48 60w

O'ROURKE, FRANK. Flashing spikes. 245p $2.50 Barnes, A.S.

48-9006

Story of Bill Riley and his rise from Country Fair baseball player, to the big leagues. The author is a former ball player and the novel contains considerable material about the mechanics of that game and the life of the players.

Booklist 45:181 Ja 15 '49

"This book has distinctive writing."

+ Kirkus 16:556 O 15 '48 110w

"Baseball novel, a little more meaty than most sports stories and good reading except for one confusing peculiarity of style. The pronoun 'he' always refers to the main character no matter who has been mentioned previously. Worthwhile, anyway, for the good baseball and the excellent picture of a ballplayer's life on and off the field." Lillian Morrison

+ Library J 73:1676 N 15 '48 70w

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 60w

ORTEGA Y GASSET, JOSE. Dehumanization of art; and, Notes on the novel; tr. by Helene Weyl. 103p $2 Princeton univ. press

701.17 Esthetics. Fiction—History and criticism 48-6960

"Two essays written more than twenty years ago. In the first, Ortega investigates the significance of the willful deforming of reality by modern artists, which has resulted in painting and sculpture that require the spectator as well as the creator to be among the initiated. In the second essay, he advances the theory that the novel can continue to be a vital literary form only if there is an increase of psychological understanding in the delineation of character." New Yorker

"Ortega is always an interesting philosopher to read, and it would be sheer dogmatism to try offhand to pronounce his conclusions right or wrong. It is easy to see that exceptions can be found to some of his generalizations, but it is equally apparent that his underlying insight is probably very close to the actual state of affairs. Certainly the least one can say for this book is that it opens the way for what should be most fruitful thought." Robert Marsh

+ — Christian Century 65:783 Ag 4 '48 650w

Commonweal 48:338 Jl 16 '48 130w

Current Hist 15:40 Jl '48 30w

"Senor Ortega's observations are as keen as ever, while the polemics and manifestos of that decade make dull rereading, because he was moved exclusively by the delight of trying to understand—and neither by ire nor by enthusiasm. . . An English version of such an important little book should be timely and welcome. With regret, however, it must be stated that this translation has not been rendered into English. Since it is quite free, it should be more idiomatic; or else it should have adhered more closely to the Spanish text." Harry Levin

+ — N Y Times p4 Je 6 '48 950w

"Both studies are masterly and reveal the author as a critic of perception and wide comprehension; it is noteworthy that Ortega, whose intellectual eminence is unapproached by most of the specialists in literary and art criticism, writes more clearly than any of them, is more humble, and is signally less encumbered by faddish words."

+ New Yorker 24:79 My 29 '48 160w

OSBORN, ALEXANDER FAICKNEY. Your creative power; how to use imagination. 375p $3 Scribner

155 Imagination. Creation (literary, artistic, etc.) 48-9126

"Alex Osborn [is] head of the world's largest advertising agency. . . Mr. Osborn's 'creative power' is directed toward the pragmatic ends of life. His approach is empirical and theoretical. His book is built on a platform borrowed from the teachings of psychology and mathematical laws of probability, a platform propped with references to the techniques which successful businessmen, natural scientists, popular writers, and outstanding practitioners of materia medica say they have used. The thesis of the book is simple. The reader is advised to select a problem, itemize every aspect of it, break it down into sections, do research into it, set a goal, and then think up a multitude of ideas about it." (Christian Science Monitor) Index.

Reviewed by C. T. Holman

Christian Century 66:145 F 2 '49 280w

Reviewed by D. E. Reilly

Christian Science Monitor p21 D 2 '48 450w

"True life illustration amplifies this self-betterment study which is not, on the whole, as superficial as many of its kin."

+ Kirkus 16:540 O 1 '48 120w

Reviewed by H. A. Littledale

N Y Times p37 N 7 '48 230w

OSBORN, FAIRFIELD. Our plundered planet. 217p $2.50 Little

631.45 Conservation of resources 48-6167

A survey of the lessening of earth's natural resources, which science has not been able to counteract, and which together with the gradual rise in population causes a growing menace to the future. The author sums up in one sentence: "The tide of the earth's population is rising, the reservoir of the earth's living resources is falling." Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:263 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by C. E. Merriam

Chicago Sun p8X My 9 '48 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

Reviewed by Emerson Hynes

Commonweal 48:263 Je 25 '48 750w

Eng N 141:111 N 11 '48 210w

"The author, president of the New York Zoological Society, has done a solid and scientific job that should make many sit up and take notice."

+ Kirkus 16:166 Mr 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:821 My 15 '48 80w

Nation 167:192 Ag 14 '48 140w

Reviewed by Angus McDonald

New Repub 119:25 S 6 '48 230w

"Written with an admirable combination of strength and grace, and with a meticulous respect for evidence, it is perhaps the most convincing account of man's material plight that has yet appeared. It is prime stuff for statesman and citizen alike. Its importance can hardly be exaggerated." P. B. Sears

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Mr 28 '48 1400w

OSBORN, FAIRFIELD—Continued

"No one can read this fascinating popular exposition of ecology without being impressed by two things. First, the ever-wonderful facts of natural economy and balance. . . Second, the specific facts cited by Dr. Osborn are so grave in their implications that they bring or should bring the problem of conservation to the forefront of public consciousness. . . Dr. Osborn seems unaware of the fact, first established by Marx in his critique of Malthus, that overpopulation is a social category, not a biological one, and that as distinct from plants and animals, there is no abstract law of population for human societies. These larger questions aside, Dr. Osborn's book is a well-written, informative and stimulating exposition of the elements of ecology as well as an eloquent plea for a far-flung program of conservation." Sidney Hook

+ — N Y Times p5 Mr 28 '48 1100w

"A strongly worded and brilliantly written book."

+ New Yorker 24:98 Ap 3 '48 150w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p12 Mr 30 '48 950w

Reviewed by Russell Lord

Sat R of Lit 31:23 Je 12 '48 650w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 11 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:162 O '48

OSBORN, MRS FLORENCE. How's your bridge game? (Whittlesey house publication) 201p $2.50 McGraw

795.41 Contract bridge 48-6959

A contract quiz book containing 200 questions on bidding, and 50 bridge hands to play, presented by the bridge editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p24 Jl 18 '48 70w

OSBURN, BURL NEFF. Constructive design. 94p il $5 Bruce pub.

745.4 Design 48-3121

"Fundamentals of design for handcrafts in metals, wood, pottery, leather, textiles, and plastics, and for printing; descriptions of the properties of the various materials. The text is concisely basic and copiously illustrated with drawings. Many problems and projects are suggested but no directions are given for actual working. Intended especially for the industrial arts teacher and student." Booklist

---

Booklist 45:62 O 15 '48

"Useful for crafters, somewhat restless effect for readers." A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:1386 O 1 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 44:212 D '48

OSTENSO, MARTHA. Milk route. 250p $3 Dodd 48-5614

A cross-section of life in a small midwestern town. It is made up of a group of sketches about the lives of the people who live on Ben Start's milk route.

Booklist 44:233 Mr 1 '48

"Like so many modern authors, Miss Ostenso is very successful in creating unselective sympathy for characters struggling without adequate weapons to find some purpose in today's confused world, but she is never able to rise above or to enlighten this bewilderment."

Cath World 167:93 Ap '48 140w

"This homely, fictional survey of a little town in Minnesota in the first months of the postwar period is a convincing one. Both happiness and failure appear along the route in restrained but poignant guise. The story well reflects the current American mood of bewilderment and lack of sustained direction."

+ Commonweal 47:502 F 27 '48 60w

"Gloomy, casual, but effective picture of human relations, world troubles and social problems. Some characters are drawn with sensitivity, others are too vicious. Uninspiring, but fair novel. Recommended." Anne Whitmore

+ — Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 70w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Jl 11 '48 50w

"Occasionally one or another of [the characters] flashes into life and reality; some of the scenes are excellent, but they do not add up to an eloquent or even a dramatic whole. The preacher who doubts his own faith, for instance, might have drawn the whole book together; instead, he becomes another groping example of good intention. The whole book becomes little more than a group of sketches." Hal Borland

N Y Times p22 Mr 7 '48 400w

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 25 '48 170w

Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 180w

Wis Lib Bul 44:63 Mr '48

OSTERHOUT, HILDA MARIE. Flame and the serpent. 238p $3 Dodd

48-9204

Story of a young girl's visit to Mexico where she grows into maturity and understanding of herself and others.

"The author writes in a manner remindful of Anais Nin. Disconcertingly abrupt, occasionally unclear, she none the less displays unmistakable talent—especially for characterization and for evoking the twilight workings of a girl's mind in the throes of growth."

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 21 '48 180w

"'The Flame and the Serpent' is a remarkable rather than an admirable novel. It has more faults of style and construction than Miss Redinger would permit herself in a lifetime of writing. But there shines through it, even at its worst and most pretentious, one of those vivid talents that it is impossible to ignore at the novel's end." Marc Brandel

+ — N Y Times p36 O 24 '48 180w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p22 N 17 '48 600w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal

Springf'd Republican p10C D 19 '48 90w

OTTLEY, ROI. Black odyssey; the story of the Negro in America. 340p $3.50 Scribner

325.26 Negroes—History 48-9099

An account of the Negro's experiences in the United States from 1619 to 1945, based on anecdotes and personalities that illustrate social and economic factors influencing him. Selected bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:131 D 15 '48

Reviewed by Henrietta Buckmaster

Christian Science Monitor p11 N 24 '48 1350w

"His material is dramatically chosen, full of interest, and provides a scratching of history's surface for fresh and fascinating light on the race question, with gratifying results."

+ Kirkus 16:431 Ag 15 '48 180w

"Recommended, especially for public libraries." G. W. Wakefield

+ Library J 73:1596 N 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by W. T. Hedden

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 21 '48 1000w

"This readable history skillfully combines anecdote with breadth of observation. . . Though he aims to entertain as well as to recount history, the author always maintains high respect for historical accuracy. Mr. Ottley discusses events and trends of great variety, yet he successfully integrates these remarks into the main stream of the story he is telling. . . In listing Negro accomplishments, however, Mr. Ottley devotes practically no space to the growth and spread of American jazz. . . Despite its broad coverage, 'Black Odyssey' does not adequately consider the role of the Southern interracial groups that have been working quietly for decades on the very frontier of race relations." Morroe Berger

+ — N Y Times p6 O 24 '48 750w

"It's not a very pleasant story, but the author tells it well and manages to control his temper in the process, even while recalling some of our fanciest lynchings and while presenting his view of the Negro's future in the South."

+ New Yorker 24:133 N 6 '48 160w

Reviewed by H. A. Overstreet

Sat R of Lit 31:12 D 25 '48 700w

School & Society 68:375 N 27 '48 60w

OURSLER, FULTON (ANTHONY ABBOT, pseud). These are strange tales. 212p $2.50 Winston

48-7061

A collection of thirty-three short tales of murder, mystery, and the occult.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun Je 18 '48 50w

"Mr. Abbot's yarns are varied, journalistic in style, and designed for your entertainment."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 Je 13 '48 110w

"An interesting, if motley, collection of stranger than fiction yarns. . . With the most admirable restraint, Mr. Abbot does not begin to tell stories on himself until midway in the book. His boyish zest in describing these eldritch carryings on has the bounce of an Alger—plus the nimble touch of the specialist in mayhem." H. B. Parker

N Y Times p15 Je 20 '48 230w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p13 My 30 '48 100w

"Easy-to-read, amply egotistical accounts of strange and violent incidents, including 'The Perfect Case' on which film 'Boomerang' was based. Good bedsider."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 15 '48 40w

OVERHOLSER, WINFRED, and RICHMOND, WINIFRED VANDERBILT. Handbook of psychiatry. 252p $4 Lippincott

616.8 Psychiatry Med47-2445

"This handbook of psychiatry is designed to inform the layman of what is currently known about mental illness, its treatment and prevention. . . The handbook begins with descriptions of the commonly encountered mental disorders and proceeds to discuss problems of mental hygiene, of hospital administration, and of forensic psychiatry. The authors have not devoted much space to the elucidation of the step-by-step development of mental illness; the book does, however, contain some important factual data which should help to remove existing lay prejudices." U S Quarterly Bkl

"It is a well written, clear, very superficial statement of abnormal psychology, perhaps one might say of descriptive psychopathology, but it contains little of a modern psychodynamic viewpoint. . . As a presentation of classical psychopathology, the book includes the usual, unproved cliches involving causality, but hedges when the issue narrows to the particular case. . . This would be a good review of psychiatry for the practitioner; it is beyond the grasp of the average layman. Since its concept of mental hygiene is hardly more than implied by the term selection, it has no preventive function." P. V. Lemkau

+ — Am J Pub Health 38:432 Mr '48 400w

Reviewed by Frederic Wertham

N Y Times p16 Ja 4 '48 420w

School & Society 66:384 N 15 '47 10w

"The work should prove valuable as a textbook for nurses."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:90 Mr '48 160w

OVERSEAS PRESS CLUB OF AMERICA. As we see Russia, by members of the club. 316p $3.75 Dutton

914.7 Russia 48-8354

"Articles by members of the Overseas Press Club, chosen by the Club's editorial committee. Seeing relations between the United States and Russia as one of the crucial problems of our times, these twenty-five correspondents write out of their own past assignments and experience and cover the 'aspirations' of the Russian people, describe the people themselves and their 'system' and finally explore the 'delusions' of the Russians." Library J

"Some few articles are potboilers. There are others which are fashioned of epithets and prejudices loosely conceived and slapped together. But these latter stand out as inept, obviously so, surrounded by the craftsmanship of much of the rest. The best of these pieces are responsible, not irresponsible political warfare. They are written by men conscious of the issues of war and peace. They are honest journalism." S. R. D.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 S 27 '48 600w

Kirkus 16:355 Jl 15 '48 170w

"This all adds up to important and substantial illumination, and as such seems essential to all collections, even the smallest." R. E. Kingery

+ Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 100w

"The symposium makes discouraging reading and also not too interesting reading. No attempt whatsoever has been made to correlate the material or give the book any unity. There is no question that the contributors know Russia as well as any group of competent journalistic craftsmen. Many of their articles, however, would appear to have been hastily prepared to meet an order to write something—really no matter what—on the Soviet Union." F. R. Dulles

— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 3 '48 650w

"As is virtually inevitable in a collection of the works of twenty-five correspondents, several of whom seem to bear that title largely by courtesy, the quality of the volume runs the gamut—from reminiscences of an Intourist swing through the Soviet sixteen years ago to a thoughtful study of Russia's aspirations for a warm-water port by that long-time student of the Soviet, Emil Lengyel. The outstanding chapters, not unnaturally, have been contributed by American correspondents with actual experience in Russia during the war and post-war years." H. S.

+ — N Y Times p30 O 17 '48 750w

"As thorough a survey, in all probability, as was possible, considering the restrictions prevailing in the territory in which the authors operated."

+ New Yorker 24:111 S 18 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p18 S 28 '48 650w

"The composite impact of the observations of so many experienced interpreters of world events gives as good an idea of conditions, peoples, and ideas in the Soviet Union now and twenty-five years ago, as perhaps any book written by someone who has lived there for more than a decade." H. B. Kranz

+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 S 25 '48 1000w

Springf'd Republican p8B O 24 '48 850w

OVERSTREET, BONARA (WILKINSON). See Wilkinson, B.

OWEN, FRANK, ed. Teen-age baseball stories; il. by Drayton S. Haff. 255p $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)

Short stories—Collections 48-7426

Sixteen baseball stories reprinted from magazines. Contents: One mighty clout, by C. W.

OWEN, FRANK—Continued
Whittemore; The pitch-out, by H. C. McFadyen; Speed ball Porter, by W. T. Person; Now in October, by Holmes Alexander; Sacrifishial play, by W. T. Person; Headline-happy, by H. C. McFadyen; God bless America, by W. T. Person; Weird windup, by Richard Hooker; Four-legged baseball, by N. B. Lincoln; An ump goes west, by H. L. McNary; The wrong game, by J. O. Hubler; Surprise pitch! by Jack Anderson; Pitching secret, by W. T. Person; "We go together," by Gertrude Schweitzer; Winning pitcher, by John Gartner; Baseball ghost walks again, by W. T. Person.

Booklist 45:38 S 15 '48

Kirkus 16:236 My 15 '48 70w

"Good stories, well selected and well told about both professional and school baseball. . . Any baseball fan will enjoy this book. Recommended for children's rooms and young people's collections." M. D. Read
+ Library J 73:1100 Ag '48 70w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 10 '48 50w

OWEN, FRANK, ed. Teen-age football stories. 252p $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)
48-8815

Contents: Bigger than a pigskin, by H. C. McFadyen; Headline hero, by B. J. Chute; Hey Okie! by John Gartner; Spotlight on O'Connell, by B. J. Chute; Team play, by R. G. Carter; Discipline's the thing, by Bob Eddy; Horse Logan, has-been, by John Gartner; Trained seal, by W. F. Strube; Hold that pun! by B. J. Chute; The left-footed halfback, by H. W. Sandberg; Teeny vs. Truck, by H. C. McFadyen; Captain on the bench, by John Gartner; The whole team, by R. G. Carter; Pigskin glory, by H. W. Sandberg; The Royal Rooster, by J. E. Dodge; Correspondence coach, by John Gartner.

Booklist 45:196 F 1 '49

"Simple but entertaining stories which slow readers can handle with satisfaction." B. J. Thompson
+ Cath World 168:220 D '48 40w

Kirkus 16:484 S 15 '48 60w

"This is good, authentic, up-to-date football, well described, and although each story illustrates some point of good sportsmanship, it is not hammered home. Recommended for children's rooms and young people's collections." M. D. Read
+ Library J 73:1603 N 1 '48 60w

"Sure-fire for younger readers."
+ Springf'd Republican p12C D 5 '48 90w

OWEN, FRANK, ed. Teen-age mystery stories [il. by Carl Cobbledick]. 247p $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)
49-787

Collection of mystery stories which would appeal to all teen-age groups. Partial contents: The bookshop mystery, by A. V. Elston; Spider mansion, by Ralph Goldsmith; Elementary my dear Elly, by R. G. Cochran; Footprints in the snow, by R. G. Carter; Voices of the storm, by R. G. Carter; Tiki's treasure, by Bill Brown; The lost freight car, by David Lorraine; Dead man's secret, by W. B. Mowery; The mirror, by A. V. Elston; Death of a stranger, by Owen Grant, Jr.

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p13 O 14 '48 150w

"Tight plotting, plenty of action, excitement and thrills, with settings and situations that might be true, and no emphasis on the criminally brutal, sordid type of tension stories."
+ Kirkus 16:145 Mr 15 '48 90w

"Selected to avoid the sordid and brutal, several are excellent, others definitely substandard. If a library needs safe but largely unliterary material to meet the eternal request for mysteries, this book will be suitable for grades 7-9. High school people will prefer adult books." Eleanor Kidder
+ — Library J 73:825 My 15 '48 70w

"To collect short mystery stories that contain enough suspense to hold the interest of teen-agers and yet do not have undesirable emphasis on crime in its gorier aspects is not an easy task. The editor of this anthology has succeeded in making selections which in the main seem to satisfy both requirements." Frances Smith
+ N Y Times p30 Ap 25 '48 180w

OWEN, FRANK, ed. Teen-age stories of action. 255p il $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)
Short stories—Collections 48-8283

A collection of adventure stories emphasizing character. Contents: My brother Bill, by C. L. Fox; His name on the cup, by David Lorraine; Leap before you look! by B. J. Chute; Mannikin talk, by W. B. Mowery; Tale of two horses, by B. J. Chute; The play's the limit, by B. J. Chute; Pioneer man, by Jack Anderson; Peculiar pooch, by R. G. Cochran; Flood bound, by C. W. Whittemore; The long tradition, by Walter Havighurst; A fool on skis, by Owen Grant; A nose for news, by B. J. Chute; Love of horses, by R. G. Carter; A rooster for Thanksgiving, by R. G. Carter; Barton's coldest fire, by C. W. Whittemore.

"Fifteen stories in all, top ranking."
+ Kirkus 16:101 Ag 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Eleanor Kidder
Library J 73:1382 O 1 '48 60w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 10 '48 70w

OWEN, ROBERT E. Practical sign painting. 143p il $3 Bruce pub.
745.6 Sign painting. Lettering 48-1464

"An established commercial sign painter shows methods of producing signs with explanation by means of job procedure. Basic phases are clearly explained for the beginner. He discusses proper equipment and materials, how to set up a shop, and covers the field from simple showcards and silk screen work to elaborate electrically lighted billboards." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:714 My 1 '48 60w

"The mounting of large outdoor signs is treated only superficially, and neon signs are only mentioned. Nevertheless the book is an excellent one for the beginner who intends to enter the sign-painting business. In addition to the material on sign painting, there are many good 'pointers' on managing the business."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:26 Ja '48

Wis Lib Bul 44:163 O '48

OXENHAM, JOHN. Selected poems; ed. by Charles L. Wallis, with a biographical sketch by Erica Oxenham. 178p $2 Harper
821 48-9382

One hundred and forty-three religious poems selected from the works of this English religious poet and novelist. There is a biographical sketch of his daughter. Indexes of titles and of first lines.

Booklist 45:134 D 15 '48

Christian Century 65:1403 D 22 '48 280w

Kirkus 16:596 N 15 '48 100w

"In this special field of religious poetry the 143 poems included in the book will be of permanent interest to libraries." Gerald McDonald
+ Library J 73:1819 D 15 '48 80w

P

PACKER, PETER. Inward voyage. (Whittlesey house publication) 234p $3 McGraw 48-6936

Story of a young ex-GI who comes home to find his father suffering from Parkinson's disease. The story of the months that follow is told chiefly from the point of view of the son, the psychological conflicts between his own readjustment problems, his love for a girl, and hopes of marriage and his worries over his father's condition.

"If not for a general audience, this achieves both psychological insight and interest."
+ Kirkus 16:174 Ap 1 '48 110w

"A valid and sympathetic study of a real problem intelligently presented and honestly solved."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 18 '48 300w

"A sensitive and well-made story, 'The Inward Voyage' shows that the psychological novel can draw more strength from the canons of taste, rules of sound dramatic construction and straightforward story-telling techniques of our literary tradition than from all the casebooks and jargon of all our psychiatrists. Mr. Packer establishes his book on the sound old theme of love vs. duty, a theme which in itself is capable of much more dramatic subtlety than its modern counterpart or counterfeit, libido vs. superego. And he makes this theme subtler still, and still more dramatic, by showing how, at times, fear can transform love into duty and shame can reveal duty as love." Donald Barr
+ N Y Times p6 Je 13 '48 500w

"The returned veteran and his troubles once more, but handled more imaginatively than usual."
+ New Yorker 24:76 My 29 '48 140w

Reviewed by Luther Nichols
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Jl 25 '48 1050w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p10B My 23 '48 150w

PAKINGTON, HUMPHREY. Washbournes of Otterley. 303p $3 Norton
48-7996

Chronicles the lives of three generations of an English county family, the Washbournes of Otterley, from 1845 to 1895.

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

"'The Washbournes of Otterley' has a tongue-in-cheek elegance, light and admirably sustained, which goes very well in the general content of his narrative, but insulates the reader from his characters' emotions when emotions are involved. You cannot respond very deeply to the troubles of people performing a minuet. It is quite all right for Mr. Pakington to conduct the show, but there are moments when one would prefer to be less aware that he is waving a baton." Lisle Bell
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 15 '48 500w

"Mr. Pakington's special, and specially English, talent in fiction is well adapted to hitting off the pomposities, in particular the more broadly comic ones, of folk dominated by pride of place. . . This chronicle of three generations of Washbourne adventure and misadventure, marital, political, social and economic, is continuously amusing." Wilson Follett
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 29 '48 500w

"A successful effort."
+ New Yorker 24:107 S 18 '48 120w

"Raw realism has no place in the beneficent atmosphere of Otterley. Yet social comedy of this kind is often the best specific to help the world to understand what ails it." Jane Voiles
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 5 '48 400w

"Enjoyment being highly contagious, it seems likely that a good time will be had by all who read 'The Washbournes of Otterley,' for it is quite obvious that the author has thoroughly enjoyed creating this period piece which might so easily have been quaint or sentimental but is, in the end deftly amusing. Content to let other novelists shock, startle, or arouse their readers, Mr. Pakington goes on adding to his list of highly entertaining tales, iridescent with nimble and subtle humor." Pamela Taylor
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 S 4 '48 550w

Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 420w

Times [London] Lit Sup p609 O 30 '48 240w

PALFFY, ELEANOR. Largely fiction. 314p $3 Houghton
48-9239

Partly fact, partly fiction, the thread of continuous story in this book deals with a Boston aristocrat who on a visit to Paris, marries a Hungarian count and goes to live in a middle-European castle. After a few years of this marriage there is a divorce and the rest of the book relates little stories of life among the gay social sets of Europe.

Booklist 45:120 D 1 '48

"Although the emphasis throughout the book is upon entertainment, the tragedy that is France today, the French people's weaknesses and their will to survive are the underlying girders upon which Eleanor Palffy has built her book. La belle France is belle indeed for this author. Her love for its peoples and its traditions are implicit in the writing. She brings us the European with sophistication, gaiety, and understanding." R. B.
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 N 26 '48 490w

Kirkus 16:559 O 15 '48 220w

Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:1595 N 1 '48 100w

"It is for two or three of the more fully developed studies—they are virtually short stories in their own right—that her book will be most prized. As related here, the life and adventures of an amorous girl, Félinité, form an admirable piece of candid portrait-painting. More warmth and depth appear in the tale of the elderly lady with whom the narrator traversed France after war broke out. But incomparably the best thing in the book, carried off with skill and great delicacy, is the chapter devoted to an account of intermittent conversation exchanged between a group of French soldiers during an air-raid." Iris Barry
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 N 21 '48 470w

Reviewed by Nona Balakian
N Y Times p6 N 7 '48 300w

"When the author is concerned with a great manorial estate of some Hungarians living in Czechoslovakia, she gives an unusual and entertaining description of the life there, but when she reaches the well-trodden ground of Paris, Salzburg, and the Riviera, she is reduced to a series of only partially successful anecdotes."
+ — New Yorker 24:128 N 6 '48 180w

"Here is a witty, wise and polished woman who knows what she is writing about and who has the talent to mirror her world intelligently and readably. If the ordinary reader finds her book in principle a little like, say, a trip to the zoo—well, that's interesting, too." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 N 30 '48 650w

Reviewed by Harry Bull
Sat R of Lit 31:30 N 27 '48 650w

PALM, FRANKLIN CHARLES. England and Napoleon III; a study of the rise of a utopian dictator. 183p $2.50 Duke univ. press

944.07 Napoléon III, emperor of the French. France—Foreign relations—Great Britain. Great Britain—Foreign relations—France
48-5639

History of the part played by England in the events leading up to the establishment of the Second Empire in France. The author is professor of modern European history at the University of California. Bibliographical note. Index.

PALM, F. C.—Continued

"Easy-flowing, exceedingly interesting, and thoroughly documented. It is therefore eminently readable." R. K. Gooch
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:605 Je '48 300w

Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p21 My 23 '48 550w

PALMER, FREDERICK. John J. Pershing, general of the armies; a biography. 380p $4.50 Military service

B or 92 Pershing, John Joseph 48-8289

This biography was completed in 1940, but was withheld from publication until after Pershing's death. The author was a personal friend of General Pershing and served on his staff in the AEF. He attempts to show the human side of Pershing, as well as his military genius, and to point out the value of his pioneer work in the first world war. No index.

Booklist 45:50 O 1 '48

"The appeal of this authoritative and competent biography is somewhat limited. . . No attempt at an objective evaluation, but a marshalling and presenting of the evidence."
Kirkus 16:460 S 1 '48 180w

"Well worth buying." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. I. Green
N Y Times p6 Ja 2 '49 700w

"Colonel Palmer, a veteran war correspondent who was attached to Pershing's staff during the first World War, idolized the General and believed, apparently with good cause, that he was one of our greatest soldiers as well as a dominating influence in the careers of the men who followed him. . . Here and there, the author sounds as though he were writing a series of books entitled 'Jack Pershing at West Point,' 'Jack Pershing in the Old West,' 'Jack Pershing Wins the War,' and so on, but his biography contains a great deal of informative material about a national figure whose importance has been much ignored."
+ New Yorker 24:105 O 2 '48 160w

"Authoritative and readable biography. In contrast to the pedestrian style of General Pershing's own memoirs, Colonel Palmer's interpretation of character and analysis of military events is relieved of unessential detail and inconsequential trivia. While this biography has the advantage of being based on personal knowledge and observation, and is quite clearly a labor of love, it achieves a high degree of objectivity." Donald Armstrong
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 O 2 '48 750w

PALMER, ROBIN. Barkingtons; pictures by Flavia Gág. 112p $2 Harper

48-7153

Story of the winter the Barkingtons, Mother, Father and five children, spent at Grandmother's big brownstone home in the city. Something was always happening to one or another of them, so Grandmother decided they should stay with her all the time so she could look after them.

Booklist 44:370 Jl 1 '48

"The Barkingtons are a happy family with a slightly mad air—and their story is individual and fun, with the Flavia Gag illustrations accenting the individuality."
+ Kirkus 16:255 Je 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 My 9 '48 340w

"Some of the incidents are a little slapstick, but the general effect is of a cheerful group enjoying an active, integrated family life. The stories are simply written, yet have enough variety, action and complication to interest children from 5 to 11. Miss Gag's pictures, in color and black and white, well reflect the atmosphere of the stories." Marjorie Burger
N Y Times p21 Je 20 '48 180w

Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 18 '48 40w

Wis Lib Bul 44:135 Je '48

PAPDAKI, STAMO, ed. See Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. Le Corbusier, architect, painter, writer

PAPINI, GIOVANNI. Letters of Pope Celestine VI to all mankind; tr. from the Italian by Loretta Murnane. 223p $3 Dutton

261 Church and social problems 48-5039

Letters purporting to be written by a non-existent Pope about the state of the world, peace, unity, and the church. They are written to various fictitious persons: laity, priests, monks, theologians, rich, poor, administrators, citizens, historians, scientists, non-Catholics, Hebrews, pagans, and others.

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"These letters contain some lovely laments for the living, written in moving and lyrical prose, admirably translated. . . They are empty of bitterness, intensely charitable, and generally wise. . . Unfortunately, there is a disagreeable amount of personal advertising. . . Yet Papini has many valid, interesting and even necessary things to say. . . There is much that is disappointing in this book, and nothing Papini's Pope has to say of current problems can compare with the Leo XIII Encyclicals, or with the recent utterances of Pope Pius XII." Anne Fremantle
+ — Commonweal 47:448 F 13 '48 1100w

Kirkus 15:671 D 1 '47 250w

"These 'arrows of light hurled at the hearts of all men' permit Papini to analyze brilliantly and incisively the present moral chaos. . . Iconoclast turned mystic, known by his noted Life of Christ Papini provides the mature reader with a lot of winter evening thinking." R. J. Hurley
+ Library J 72:1683 D 1 '47 100w

"Because, after all, this book is Papini, a man who has written for years, and not always as a Pope or even as a Christian, and, although now he draws from his Catholicism a broad and poetic synthesis, he is still, as an Italian, sometimes very Italian. . . [It] is Papini speaking, or Machiavelli; it is not the Church. The Church is not so cynical about human institutions or so indifferent to the ideal of human justice. . . Yet his letters, once disengaged from the papal fiction, are mainly vigorous, often moving, and they show the world as one world in the sense that it is subject to a creator, doubting a creator, with its fate bound inescapably to the resolution of that doubt." C. G. Paulding
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 25 '48 550w

"It would be idle to pretend this book represents great art, inspired theology, profound thought. Yet at least one critic who came prepared to suffer remained to cheer. Perhaps our overtaut nerves should occasionally be relaxed by the stirring eloquence of the inspired actor. Signor Papini has earned a warm curtain-call, with 'bravos' from the galleries. And not to be forgotten is his translator, Loretta Murnane, who has turned in an unusually accomplished performance in a role too often miscast these days." J. W. Chase
+ N Y Times p4 Ja 25 '48 750w

Reviewed by Carlo Beuf
Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ja 31 '48 700w

PARADISE, VIOLA ISABEL. Toward public understanding of casework; a study of casework interpretation in Cleveland. 242p $2 Russell Sage

361.8 Social work 48-6417

"An experimental study made under the sponsorship of the Russell Sage Foundation Department of Social Work Interpretation. It charters the beginning of administrative research needed 'to stimulate other studies out of which public relations practice will achieve a much greater usefulness and stability than it now has.' . . Cleveland was chosen for the experimental study because of its desire to participate in the venture, its high standards of casework performance, its ability to work well with other agencies, its young and vigorous Welfare Federation." (Am J Soc) No index.

"The book is well and interestingly written; the author has a broad grasp of her subject matter and knows well the skills required for competent execution of casework and for its interpretation to the public. The value of the book is greatly enhanced by a stimulating introduction by Mary S. Routzahn. This reviewer was disappointed, however, in almost complete lack of documentation of the data, total lack of a bibliography, and conspicuous absence of an index." P. V. Young
+ — Am J Soc 54:255 N '48 900w

"Anyone connected with social work, or who in any way co-operates with social agencies in working for the betterment of the community, will find this book both profitable and helpful reading." K. S. Weitzel
+ J Home Econ 41:39 Ja '49 250w

"Viola Paradise's beautifully written book is a real addition to the limited literature in the field of social work public relations. Its greatest contribution is to put the primary responsibility where it belongs—squarely on the shoulders of the professional social worker, executive, and staff member." Frances Schmidt
+ Survey 84:237 Jl '48 500w

PARES, SIR BERNARD. A wandering student. 448p $4.50 Howell, Soskin
B or 92 Russia—Civilization 48-5576

Autobiography of an English author in which he describes especially his frequent visits to Russia during the first 40 years of the nineteenth century. His book is largely devoted to interpreting the Russian people and their ways of life.

Reviewed by E. C. Ropes
Am Hist R 54:143 O '48 800w

"All in all, 'A Wandering Student' can be likened to a drink of Russian tea, strong and aromatic, served in a precious English cup. The two elements blend surprisingly well, thanks mainly to the author's human warmth, his wide range of interests and knowledge, and his natural gift for storytelling. But one had better take the drink in slow sips with ample pauses for thinking in between." Ernest Pisko
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 Mr 11 '48 800w

"It is informal, gossipy and pleasant, with a fund of information."
+ Current Hist 14:233 Ap '48 100w

Reviewed by E. J. Simmons
Nation 166:309 Mr 13 '48 750w

Reviewed by Thomas Lask
N Y Times p22 My 16 '48 600w

"This, certainly, is a crowded life, and Sir Bernard tells of it rather charmingly, but that is not what most impresses me; there have been other lives just as full. What I keep coming back to is that such a life probably can't ever be lived again." Hamilton Basso
New Yorker 24:79 F 28 '48 1300w

"The whole story is told with a warmth of human understanding and with charm. The book can be commended to those who seek good relaxation on a day off among events and people who are a part of their professional lives as historians, political scientists or Russian area specialists." J. N. Hazard
+ Pol Sci Q 63:293 Je '48 850w

"The epic career of Sir Bernard Pares is vastly more intriguing than his chronicle of it. Britain's leading interpreter of Russia to the West permits his style to limp far behind the notes of a long, earnest, and wondrously crowded life. . . It is too bad Sir Bernard has spent no time observing his Russians at work on the body of 'liberated' Eastern Europe. He might then revise his calm and scholarly judgment that we should view Soviet expansionism with only small alarm." Hal Lehrman
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ap 24 '48 700w

"A book about Russia that should aid in creating a better understanding of life in the Soviet Union."
+ School & Society 67:127 F 14 '48 20w

PARGETER, EDITH. By this strange fire [Eng title: By firelight]. 310p $3 Reynal
48-5971

An English writer, after the death of her husband, buys a lonely country house and goes there to live. Obsessed with the presence of the man who owned the house in the seventeenth century, she writes his story (which is included in this novel). She hardly notices the rivalry between a neighboring farmer and his nephew, both in love with her, until the young man shoots his uncle. The real story and the ghost story end at the same time.

Booklist 44:268 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by M. W. Stoer
Christian Science Monitor p15 My 15 '48 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Reviewed by Ruth Byrns
Commonweal 48:116 My 14 '48 190w

"With its period mounting, strong narrative and emotional interest, this should appeal to women."
+ Kirkus 16:29 Ja 15 '48 160w

"A fine, strange story, told in subtle style, this novel touches on the fringes of the occult world, bridging the time gap between today and 300 years ago. . . The double story is told with such verve and authority that there's no doubting a word of it. Its own select audience will find it a rare bit of work." Beatrice Sherman
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 18 '48 380w

"Commonplace."
New Yorker 24:116 Mr 20 '48 80w

"The weakness of Miss Pargeter's treatment lies in the absence of any parallel between the two stories. It is Salathiel's drama which matters and the contemporary characters seem only dragged in to provide a framework for his story."
Times [London] Lit Sup p145 Mr 13 '48 270w

PARK, ARTHUR F. Making friends with birds. 216p il $6 Macmillan (for Chatto)
598.2 Birds—Great Britain. Photography of birds [48-23650]

The text of this book of English origin describes the author's methods of photographing birds without the use of a "blind" or "hide." He specializes in the more common birds such as the hedge sparrows and warblers. The book is copiously illustrated with samples of his work. Includes photographic data for each plate.

"The book is filled with detailed and practical suggestions for this type of photography and behavior study. The reproductions in this book, printed in England, are far sharper than those in the Cruickshank volume and are more attractively placed throughout the book." R. T. Bond
+ N Y Times p8 D 19 '48 140w

Times [London] Lit Sup p286 My 22 '48 120w

PARK, NO-YONG. The white man's peace; an oriental view of our attemps [!] at making world peace; foreword by Arthur N. Holcombe. 252p $3 Meador
172.4 Peace. World politics. Asia—Politics
48-2640

"The White Man's Peace is an Eastern appraisal of the Western attempt to create peace, freedom, and democracy. It analyzes and evaluates the rôle played by the Western nations, past and present, in the making of world peace and inquires into the question whether the great Western powers can create a perpetual peace. The first part is devoted to the white man's contribution to the making of peace among the primitive peoples. The second part is given to his attempts at banishing war among the civilized men in general. The third part deals with his efforts of making peace among the Asiatics in particular." (Pref) Some of the material has appeared in Current History, Asia and the Americas, and the Journal of the National education association. No index.

PARK, NO-YONG—Continued

Reviewed by O. I. Janowsky
Ann Am Acad 260:194 N '48 800w

"With nice precision of language, Arthur N. Holcomb, professor of government at Harvard, says in the foreword to this book that it is 'provocative and stimulating as well as intensely interesting.' It is written in an easy style and the subjects discussed—at least most of them—are of a nature to interest anyone with a concern for peace and order in the world. The author's views are such as to be stimulating to thought, whether or not they carry conviction in particular cases. Many of his conclusions will be provocative in the extreme to certain readers." Vernon Nash
+ Christian Century 65:881 S 1 '48 650w

Current Hist 15:226 O '48 210w

"A provocative and penetrating book written from an Oriental point of view."
+ School & Society 67:447 Je 12 '48 20w

"'The White Man's Peace' is a rather disappointing book because the author has not quite succeeded in offering any new philosophical analysis of the problem of peace or in writing a genuine history of peace movements. . . There is a considerable display of learning in Dr. Park's pages, but most of it is derived from secondary authorities and while on occasion of interest—as old half-forgotten facts from the history of the past usually are—it is in many cases of doubtful value for a study of this sort. Some of the statements made, even, are of questionable accuracy. . . Probably the real difficulty with this volume is that Dr. Park has attempted to write more pages than his ideas or his facts can sustain." Donald Derby
— + Springf'd Republican p14A Je 11 '48 300w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p7B S 19 '48 650w

PARK, RUTH (MRS DARCY NILAND). Harp in the south. 301p $3 Houghton
48-5613

Novel of the Sydney slums by a young New Zealand author. It is about a tenement family of Irish extraction, the Darcys, who managed to get quite a bit out of life despite grim poverty. They were Hughie, the father, who drank; Mumma, who managed to hold her head high, no matter what happened; Grandma, with her zest for life; but chiefly it is Roie's story: Roie who starts out in despair but later finds a fine love.

"This is a sturdy, deeply human book, touched with compassion for the suffering and striving of the poor who will always be poor; brimful of the guts, the humor, the idiosyncrasies, the small pleasures, and the wistful hopes that keep them hanging, sometimes joyously, on to life."' C. J. Rolo
+ Atlantic 181:119 Ap '48 480w

Booklist 44:283 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 48:118 My 14 '48 400w

"The book has a wistful charm that is difficult to analyze."
+ Kirkus 15:610 N 1 '47 240w

Reviewed by Walter Allen
New Statesman & Nation 35:358 My 1 '48 240w

"The most sustainingly beautiful novel that has come my way in many a day. And its fresh and supple graces both of style and inmost content are the perfect reaffirmation of a too-frequently overlooked fact, that the deep poetic quality which is characteristic of many truly fine novels does not depend upon the natural beauty of the materials used. It is fruit of the novelist's creative gift." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 22 '48 650w

"Miss Park's novel has a weight and solidity that puts fancier books to shame. It is a little squat and homely, perhaps—like an old-fashioned stove—but it gives out enough heat to warm the chill print of half a dozen of our streamlined models." Seymour Krim
+ N Y Times p6 F 22 '48 550w

New Yorker 24:86 F 28 '48 80w

"The writing is unpretentious but deft, relying a good deal on dialogue and achieving a good deal through it. It manages to achieve a point of view both detached and sympathetic. To present a realistic picture of squalor, and yet to leave an impression of warmth, of the overbalancing qualities of the human spirit when confronted with nearly every sort of discouragement, is more than a technical triumph." Bradford Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:14 F 28 '48 750w

Reviewed by Robin King
Spec 180:596 My 14 '48 190w

Times [London] Lit Sup p217 Ap 17 '48 180w

PARKE, NATHAN GRIER. Guide to the literature of mathematics and physics including related works on engineering science. 205p $5 McGraw

016.5 Mathematics—Bibliography. Physics—Bibliography 47-3599

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"Librarians will profit greatly by a careful reading of the first part of the volume and will find helpful suggestions in Part II for sources of material in fields which may be unfamiliar to them. Advanced and graduate students will find much to help them in the bibliographic aspects of their research work. . . [It] is a valuable asset to the librarian, engineer, scientist and the advanced student who wish to have a good introduction to the literature in these fields. It is the first useful guide to appear on mathematics and physics giving clear explanations of the scope of the subjects as well as a selected bibliography. It is recommended for college and university libraries and all but the smallest public libraries."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:2 Ja '48 600w

"College students who are preparing to specialize in science or technology should acquire much of the knowledge that is in the first part before their senior year. On the other hand, the bibliographies are definitely for graduate and professional use. The selection of books in the bibliography is good, but the usefulness of the lists would have been greatly improved by brief annotations to indicate the special qualities of the individual titles."
U S Quarterly Bkl 3:419 D '47 180w

PARKER, EVERETT C., and others. Religious radio, what to do and how. 271p $3 Harper

259 Radio in religion 48-5150

A guide to religious radio, by three leaders in the field. Contents: Religious radio programming for the total community; The service goals of religious broadcasting; Writing your program; Producing your program; Educational functions in religious radio. Reference material. Index.

Booklist 44:210 F 15 '48

Reviewed by J. O. Supple
Chicago Sun Mr 21 '48 90w

+ Christian Century 65:275 Mr 3 '48 40w

"The book is recommended for the library of every radio station having difficulty with some local minister who has all the answers for good radio without ever having seriously studied the medium. The book is recommended by this reviewer for the library of every seminary where the members of the faculty may assume that radio requires no special understanding, and where the ministerial students are hungry for an understanding of this means of communication which they will be called upon to use (too often without knowledge). This book is recommended for the libraries of all ministers and religious education leaders that this medium may be handled more successfully and well. 'Whenever a new book appears in this department, buy an old one.' Since this is the first authoritative book of its kind in this field, there is no old one to buy. Get this one and use its insights to great advantage." C. H. Schmitz

+ Crozer Q 25:184 Ap '48 900w

"Strongly recommended to all who are using or thinking of using the radio for religious purposes. There is no sectarian or denominational bias."
+ Kirkus 16:81 F 1 '48 170w

"If your message is labor or politics, instead of theology, just substitute your own label whenever you come to the words 'sermon' or 'worship' in the book, and you'll have an excellent thesis on 'what to do and how' in radio." Saul Carson
+ New Repub 118:37 F 16 '48 230w

Reviewed by W. W. Brickman
School & Society 67:324 Ap 24 '48 180w

PARKER, MILTON E. Food-plant sanitation. 447p il $6 McGraw

664 Food industry and trade. Factory sanitation 48-8684

Discusses safety in sanitary practices in food processing, for the food manufacturer, technologist, and student. Partial contents: Sanitary aspects of buildings and equipment; Sanitary aspects of water supply; Wastes disposal and utilization; Employee training in sanitary practices; Safe and effective insect control; Safe and effective rodent control; Fungicides, Germicides, and Sanitizers; Sanitary packaging practice. Index.

Booklist 45:100 N 15 '48
Library J 73:1095 Ag '48 20w

PARKES, JAMES WILLIAM. Judaism and Christianity. 222p $3.50 Univ. of Chicago press

296 Christianity and other religions—Judaism 48-8915

"The main thesis of this book, the equal permanence and validity of the revelations of Sinai and Calvary, was first put to a conference of American Jewish chaplains in London in 1944. It was then enlarged into a series of four lectures delivered at the Hebrew University, Jerusalem, in the spring of 1946. The suggestions and criticisms made on those occasions were taken into further consideration when Dr. Wise invited me to deliver the Charles William Eliot Lectures at the Jewish Institute of Religion, New York, in 1946-7. These lectures in turn led to further discussions which have been embodied in the present book." (Introd) Bibliographies. Indexes.

"Dr. Parkes believes Judaism to be as true as Christianity. He does not desire to see either disappear, even by conversion to the other. This is a remarkable statement to come from a Christian clergyman who believes, as he does, in the essential truths of fundamental Christian doctrines. Jews will welcome this new approach from a professing Christian. Here is something more than tolerance. This is real understanding." D. L. Lipson
+ Spec 181:18 Jl 2 '48 750w

"The book is based on lectures shaped to suit American Jewish audiences. This may account for the acceptance of some dubious hypotheses, e.g., the quaint Büchler theory of two Sanhedrins . . . or the theory, popularized by Travers Herford, that third-century rabbinism can be equated with first-century Pharisaism. But it should not excuse the substitution of 'Robinson' for 'Box,' so obliterating the record of one who, fifty years ago, laboured more than all others in just that cause which Dr. Parkes has so much at heart."
Times [London] Lit Sup p434 Jl 31 '48 750w

PARKIN, REX. Red carpet; pictures by [the author]. [48p] $2 Macmillan
48-6703

Picture book with text in rhyme, all about the red carpet belonging to the Hotel Bellevue which was rolled out to honor a visiting duke, and went on a wild jaunt on its own.

Booklist 44:340 Je 1 '48
Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun My 8 '48 200w
Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 10 '48 310w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:274 Jl '48 50w
Kirkus 16:255 Je 1 '48 80w
"Mildly recommended." Mary Strang
Library J 73:824 My 15 '48 80w
New Repub 119:32 D 6 '48 80w

"The effect of this brilliant picture book is the same on young or old: they keep laughing out loud and turning the pages fast to see what comes next." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 My 9 '48 250w

"An audience aged 4 to 6 will be too much charmed by the author's brightly colored pictures to cavil at the lazy inaccuracy of his rhymes." S. C. Gross
N Y Times p24 My 9 '48 150w

"Excitement is the keynote, even to the surprise ending of a gay and brilliant picture book for children and grownups." M. K. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 90w

PARRINGTON, VERNON LOUIS. American dreams; a study of American utopias. 234p $4 Brown univ.

321.07 Utopias. American fiction—History and criticism 48-5076

A survey of American utopian writings from John Eliot's Christian Commonwealth of 1659 to Franz Werfel's Star of the Unborn, written while the author was living in the United States in 1946. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by A. F. Tyler
Am Hist R 53:839 Jl '48 850w

"American Dreams contains much valuable material; but, with more systematic and rigorous treatment, it might have been a far more illuminating book." A. M. Schlesinger, Jr.
+ — New Eng Q 21:286 Je '48 350w

"An intelligent, informative, and readable survey of Utopian fiction in America from Colonial times to the present. . . Future writers on the subject may challenge its definitiveness, but they will nevertheless be indebted to Mr. Parrington for having blazed the trail." Randall Stewart
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Jl 18 '48 320w

"Mr. Parrington is good on the human foibles as well as the social aspirations of his utopianists—although he tends to let a descriptive summary of their work take the place of more decisive interpretation. Many of these interesting literary documents could be integrated more fully with the main body of American literature, and with the history of the actual utopian colonies that flourished during the nineteenth century. This is a necessary and illuminating book within its own limits, however, and it is very pleasant to see the name and value of Vernon Parrington continue in our letters." Maxwell Geismar
+ — N Y Times p4 F 8 '48 700w

Reviewed by Louis Filler
Pol Sci Q 63:469 S '48 600w

"The chapter on Edward Bellamy, and those who utilized the method of his structure for rejoinder or imitation, is a good, compact statement. Less successful is the discussion of William Dean Howells which underrates the vigor and penetration of his social criticism. The book performs a real service, however, in bringing to light numerous obscure and ephemeral works, many of them originally local and limited in distribution."

PARRINGTON, V. L.—Continued
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:16 Mr '48 260w

PARRISH, ANNE (MRS JOSIAH TITZELL). Clouded star. 242p $2.75 Harper

Tubman, Mrs Harriet (Ross)—Fiction
48-8288

A very old Negro, Samuel, tells in retrospect his experiences with Harriet Tubman, the ex-slave who acted as guide on the underground railroad. As a small boy Samuel accompanied Harriet and eight others on a journey to Canada.

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

Reviewed by E. B. Thompson
Chicago Sun D 16 '48 500w

"Such a moving and such a singing book, of such great expectancy and tenderness, that the heart and sensibilities are incalculably warmed." Henrietta Buckmaster
+ Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 750w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 25:64 Ja '49 30w

"The story is told in rhythmic prose that holds the cadences of a saga. Occasionally it seems artificial, but the end result is impressive, the progress holding."
+ — Kirkus 16:342 Jl 15 '48 170w

"A Clouded Star is a labor of love; perhaps that is why it lacks the astringent irony that was the best feature of Anne Parrish's earlier novels. . . The author resists the ante-bellum glamor of the great plantations, but falls into the tone of abolitionist indignation. This might have been avoided if the particulars of the escape had been more realistically detailed." John Farrelly
New Repub 119:25 S 13 '48 180w

" 'A Clouded Star' is first of all the portrait of a personality, and Miss Parrish has had to rely chiefly upon her insight as a novelist. It has enabled her to re-create imaginatively the figure of Harriet Tubman, to trace her relationships with the little band on its way to freedom and to depict the internal tensions and the external dangers with which she dealt. 'A Clouded Star' is a little masterpiece." Coleman Rosenberger
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 S 19 '48 550w

"As a doughty warrior leading the escape from bullwhip and shotgun, Harriet is too heavily shackled by reference books. This is doubly regretful, for until Harriet shows up there is all of the Miss Parrish we recognize, the acerb wit, the deft sure touch which both blocks out the image and colors it." Thomas Lask
+ — N Y Times p50 N 14 '48 400w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 S 15 '48 600w

"A brief, beautiful, and lyric evocation of what might have been one of Harriet Tubman's northward journeys in the last year before the war." John Woodburn
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 S 25 '48 1000w

Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 270w

PARRISH, ROBERT HARKNESS. My uncle and Miss Elizabeth. 221p $2.75 Beechhurst press

48-5956

A Proustian novel about a young man and his bachelor uncle who share an apartment in Chicago. The time is the 1920's and 30's. The book is composed of anecdotes about the uncle, his friends, the boarder, and Miss Elizabeth, a lost and usually inebriated lady.

"Sophisticated and sensitively written, this is a book that you may lay down, but one which you will surely pick up again, either to reread some of its whimsical and philosophical passages or to look again for the key to Parrish's literary magic." E. B. Thompson
+ Chicago Sun Mr 16 '48 490w

"A perceptive, gracefully written account of a young man's intellectual and emotional awakening to people and places in the Middle West." Stephen Stepanchev
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 S 26 '48 370w

"Mr. Parrish is satisfied with nothing but the most lucid, the least hackneyed method of presentation. And, understandably, he is hampered by the extent of his study in great, modern masterpieces of fiction; embarrassed in the appreciative student's self-conscious respect for accredited landmarks: the realization that James said more, that Proust saw objects more clearly. But for all its specialness, this is a book that many set out to write, but few are as successful, within their own limitations, as 'My Uncle and Miss Elizabeth.' . . The important criticism of the book is, of course, the amount of easily noted influences in it. Apart from Proust and James, the author claims Meredith and Sterne as his idols. From these two great comic authors he has brought away a good deal. He has borrowed continually but from the best, and he has assimilated much of what he has learned." B. V. Winebaum
+ N Y Times p12 Mr 14 '48 500w

"The meandering, occasionally humorous manner in which it is told reminds its publishers of both Marcel Proust and James Thurber. The influence of Proust is apparent enough—one of the chapters is a frank parody on the style of 'Remembrance of Things Past,' and even the author's more serious writing is characterized by a kind of narcissistic reluctance to bring a sentence to a close—but Mr. Thurber is nowhere to be found."
New Yorker 24:125 Mr 13 '48 140w

"Mr. Parrish, in his endeavor to look back over the past, owes much to Proust. His approach, in the stylistic sense, owes much to his feel for good poetry. The combination is remarkable, and results in a curious novel that is well worth reading." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 7 '48 600w

"What set out to be a nostalgic record of a boy's memory of the Twenties and Thirties in Iowa and Illinois has become only a document of incredible confusion." R. B. Gehman
— Sat R of Lit 31:31 Je 19 '48 310w

Springf'd Republican p12B My 2 '48 240w

PARSONS, WILFRID. First freedom; considerations on church and state in the United States; with a foreword by Francis P. Keough. 178p $2.25 McMullen

261.7 Church and state in the U.S.
48-7230

A consideration of the subject of church and state in this country, written from the Catholic point of view. Father Parsons has suggested the terms "distinction and co-operation" rather than "separation and unity."

"Well documented, clearly written, the chapters of this persuasive book deserve wide circulation. Some of them if put in pamphlet form, would have high value for any one called upon to take part in the current discussions on the legal position of religious schools—and that includes nearly everybody." Joseph McSorley
+ Cath World 167:377 Jl '48 400w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 65:853 Ag 25 '48 3450w

Reviewed by Tully Nettleton
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 12 '48 500w

School & Society 67:447 Je 12 '48 20w

PARTRIDGE, BELLAMY. Big freeze. 236p $2.75 Crowell

48-3712

Historical novel of New York city in the 1840's centering in the building of the Croton aqueduct.

Tho many historical figures appear in the story, —Horace Greeley, Nathaniel P. Willis, James Fenimore Cooper—the chief characters are fictitious being a young engineer and the two pretty ladies who lay siege to his heart.

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

Reviewed by E. B. Thompson
Chicago Sun p7X S 5 '48 400w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 30 '48 600w

"Good regional, period material, but the story is thin spun and the telling somewhat pedestrian."
+ — Kirkus 16:292 Je 15 '48 90w

"Restful reading after so much recent high-powered fiction. Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:945 Je 15 '48 100w

"In draping history with the raiment of romance, Mr. Partridge is always conscientious if rarely inspired, and 'Big Freeze' is solidly constructed and rich in detail." George Conrad
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ag 29 '48 320w

" 'Big Freeze' is not top-shelf Partridge. Some interesting historical footnotes are worked into the text, but the story is thin and slow, and the characterization trite. Little of the author's 'Country Lawyer' drollery lightens the style." Charles Lee
— + N Y Times p5 S 5 '48 750w

" 'Big Freeze' has little of the gaiety, humor and perfect timing that made 'January Thaw' such an entertaining book. It is Mr. Partridge's genuine affection for his characters that saves his novel from being just another lifeless period piece." J. V.
San Francisco Chronicle p17 S 5 '48 550w
Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 480w
Wis Lib Bul 45:14 Ja '49

PARTRIDGE, ERIC. Shakespeare's bawdy; a literary and psychological essay, and a comprehensive glossary. 225p $7.50 Dutton

822.33 Shakespeare, William—Dictionaries, indexes, etc. Sex in literature. Vulgarity in literature 48-9104

"A glossary and study of the sexual and non-sexual language and subject matter in Shakespeare." (Library J) "Mr. Partridge describes himself as a Shakespeare-lover, interested in wit and words, and not a Shakespearian scholar. In his essay he divides discussion of his subject into five main categories: Shakespeare's system of imagery in his approach to, and treatment of, sex; references to non-sexual bawdy talk; homosexuality; sexual allusions, ranging from the figurative through the literal-allusive to the absolutely frank; and general." (Times [London] Lit Sup)

"Highly scholarly. Recommended to Shakespeare and large theatre collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1821 D 15 '48 30w

"The smutty jokes in Shakespeare may not have weathered very well, but it would be hypocritical if I pretended to wish them away: they are one facet of his adorable genius; and since this glossary elucidates passages that were previously obscure, it must be welcomed. At the same time I have not the expert knowledge to decide how far it is to be trusted. Mr. Partridge is a high authority on slang, but not —as he frankly admits—a Shakespearean scholar. He does not give references to the interpretations of earlier scholiasts (Steevens he never mentions), and much more regrettably he offers no parallel uses from Shakespeare's contemporaries." Raymond Mortimer
New Statesman & Nation 34:434 N 29 '47 1250w

"In the glossary much space is devoted to words which require little or no explanation. . . Some light is thrown on obscure and disputed passages, but in the process of illumination the sens. obs. is discovered lurking round every corner. . . No parallel authority is quoted from contemporary sources; the interpretation rests on the unsupported opinion of the compiler. And with that commonsense may well agree to differ. Indeed, Mr. Partridge hardly carries his method far enough, but the reader can apply it for himself. There are indeed no limits in this game of wishful interpreting, but there is a folly greater than Bowdler's—the other way on. And at two guineas the rules are expensive." John Bryson
— + Spec 180:20 Ja 2 '48 750w
Times [London] Lit Sup p632 D 6 '47 1000w

PASCAL, BLAISE. Great shorter works; tr. with an introd. by Emile Caillet and John C. Blankenagel. (Westminster Press bks) 231p $4.50 Presbyterian bd.

848

A collection of the shorter writings of Pascal including the Mystery of Jesus; Three discourses on the station of noblemen; Prayer asking God to use illnesses to a good end; and some letters written between 1643 and 1660. The editors state that their purpose in compiling the works has been "to make essential classical Pascalian literature other than the Provincial Letters and the Pensées available to discriminating readers who might find the original texts difficult and discouraging." (Introd)

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 Ap 25 '48 110w

Reviewed by Harvey Breit
N Y Times p29 My 16 '48 180w

PASCHKIS, VICTOR A. Industrial electric furnaces and appliances. v2 320p il $8 Interscience

621.396 Electric furnaces (45-3601)

"This volume written for the designer and furnace engineer using furnaces, describes the construction and practical features of electric furnaces, especially the steel making. The three chapters comprise resistance furnaces and appliances, induction and high-frequency capacitance heating. The last chapter concerns the various forms of furnaces and appliances chosen for their applicability to different problems." (Library J) For volume 1 see Book Review Digest 1945.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:821 My 15 '48 70w

"In spite of the long interval between volume one and the present volume, the two books constitute one work and should be used together, if possible, because much of the discussion in the first volume is pertinent both to large and small furnaces. Speaking generally, the present volume covers the smaller, diversified furnaces that have been developed for other purposes than large-scale metallurgical operations. The topics are discussed from the viewpoint of engineers responsible for the design and operation of furnaces."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:38 My '48
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:233 Je '48 270w

PAT, JACOB. Ashes and fire [tr. by Leo Steinberg]. 254p $3.25 Int. univs. press

940.54056 Jews in Poland. World war, 1939-1945—Jews 48-1353

"Jacob Pat revisited Poland at the end of the war to discover what kind of life the Jewish survivors were reconstituting in the graveyard of Poland, which once held three and a half million Jews. . . The tiny, struggling communities that Pat revisits in the once flourishing Jewish centers of Poland contain two groups—those who are trying desperately to emigrate, chiefly to Palestine, and the obstinate few who are determined to remain in Poland for practical or ideological reasons." (Nation) In his report the people themselves speak, describing their past sufferings, and their present difficulties.

PAT, JACOB—Continued

" 'Ashes and Fire' is in effect a powerful sermon on what happened, what is happening, and what the Jews of Poland hope will happen. It will also tell you why these Jews are willing to face war in the Middle East, merely for the chance to sink new and hardy roots in Israel. This is quite an accomplishment for a little book. But 'Ashes and Fire' is more than a book: it is a document for the archives of man." Ralph De Toledano

+ Commonweal 48:286 Jl 2 '48 550w

"Pat has none of Renya Kulkielko's terrifying artlessness. He is a finished and eloquent writer, and his sketches of Jewish life in postwar Poland are vivid and moving. As we move among the survivors and hear their histories, we are in hell again, but in a more organized and therefore less frightening hell. The moral chaos of a dissolving world is more surely reflected in Renya's, unaccented, child-like paragraphs." Marie Syrkin

+ Nation 166:580 My 22 '48 550w

"A report of literary distinction, relentless in its sharply pictured grief." Gertrude Samuels

+ N Y Times p28 F 22 '48 550w

PATCHEN, KENNETH. See you in the morning. 256p $2.75 Padell bk. co, 830 Broadway, N.Y. 3

48-17796

"[This] is a simple story of two people who fall in love and get married. He hasn't long to live as both of them know, but they are willing to take their chance. They meet at a second string summer resort where she is a maid. . . Then they fall in love. He wants to leave before she finds out about his illness but it isn't fated that way." San Francisco Chronicle

---

"Patchen brings both the qualities and weaknesses of his poetry to his first essay into the novel form. A virile gentleness combined with a searching mysticism and an intimate feeling for nature heighten the dirge-like effect of his story. . . For its occasional moments of beauty and vision one may be prepared to forgive much that is bad in the novel's structure and form. But less easy to overlook is a basic weakness that makes Patchen vacillate between genuine poetic prose and the worst explicit and declamatory style of the women's magazines. . . In supplementing the romantic idea of a fatal love with the modern idea of meeting fatality halfway, the novel would seem to be groping toward a new kind of spirituality, free of the need for certainty and characterized by an intensified sense of life. The idea is challenging, even if Patchen's characters never seem equal to it." Nona Balakian

+ — N Y Times p16 Ap 18 '48 490w

"Kenneth Patchen's first novel is the sort of thing you would like to praise without reservation. It is tender, inspiring and at times beautifully composed. It shows understanding, taste and discretion. The trouble is that it never is as interesting as its title." W. R. W.

San Francisco Chronicle p21 Mr 21 '48 250w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal

Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 150w

PATERSON, JOHN. Goodly fellowship of the prophets; studies, historical, religious, and expository in the Hebrew prophets. 313p $3 Scribner

224 Bible. Old Testament—Prophetical books

48-258

A book on the Hebrew prophets based on the author's lectures to theological students, ministerial conferences, and adult education groups. "The method adopted in these studies has been to set each prophet in his historical background, relate what is known of him personally, and mark his significance in the history and religion of Israel. Inasmuch, however, as these prophets and spokesmen of God operated with universal ideas and permanently valid principles these ideas and principles are lifted out of their accidental and temporary setting and expounded in their vital reference." (Foreword) Selected bibliography. Indexes.

"While the word 'historical' is stressed in the subtitle of the book, the treatment of the historical circumstances of the various prophets is generally brief. Only in regard to the post-exilic period is much historical detail given—a proper enough emphasis in view of the particular obscurities and difficulties which attach to the history of this time. Critical questions also are for the most part touched but lightly. This evidently is due not to lack of familiarity with them but rather to the constant purpose to subordinate matters of technical scholarship to the practical attempt to comprehend and elucidate the central religious message of each prophetic book. Insofar as matters of technical criticism are presented, the author's judgments appear moderate and restrained. . . Professor Paterson's book is written vigorously and vividly. . . Allegory is occasionally employed. However, the use of picturesque language is perhaps carried slightly too far when Amos is called 'no hayseed.' " Jack Finegan

Christian Century 65:543 Je 2 '48 650w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell

Churchman 162:17 S 1 '48 140w

"This is a sensible and finely sensitive presentation of the prophets of the Old Testament by the professor of Old Testament at Drew Theological Seminary. Its clear, crisp style, its grasp and warm appreciation of the problems and values with which it deals, make it a book to interest, inform, and even inspire readers among students, ministry, and laity. Gathering up much of the best thought of the most competent interpreters, the author adds many fresh and fruitful insights of his own all along the way." J. W. Flight

+ Crozer Q 25:271 Jl '48 800w

"Dr. Paterson's book is a manual of the prophets which should serve Sunday school teachers and, to a lesser extent, ministers, and interest those who would like a guide book before reading the prophets themselves. . . The chapters are ideally arranged as class materials and the 20 chapters should cover six months nicely with very little supplementary material." E. M. Tainton

San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 4 '48 250w

PATMAN, WRIGHT. Our American government; the answers to 1,001 questions on how it works. 143p $2.75; pa $1.50 Ziff-Davis

342.73 U.S.—Politics and government

48-5663

"Representative Patman's 1,001 questions and answers constitute a popular encyclopedia of the American Government, compiled by one of its most active and alert public figures. The book is well indexed, upon which feature much of its practical value rests. In the foreword Mr. Patman, Democrat, of Texas, describes the process by which his book has been developed. Appropriately enough he rejoices in the 'admirable curiosity' about our Government, which he says is 'more intensive today' than has been the case heretofore." N Y Times

---

Booklist 44:285 Ap 15 '48

Current Hist 14:234 Ap '48 60w

"Although the section on Congress is the best, the other portions of the work . . . are highly informative. If there is a certain amount of trivia in the collection, such as the number of rooms in the White House, there is very little that does not seek to meet the normal curiosity of a people about its government and much that is rather difficult to obtain from other sources about the serious operations of that government. The whole has been done with admirable clarity and a noteworthy lack of bias." H. W. Baehr

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ap 4 '48 550w

"As a mine of information never before brought together in a form at once so useful and so popular in appeal, this book will serve long and well as a reference manual for schools and libraries, for those seeking to influence legislation—and, it is to be hoped, for members of Congress themselves." Jerry Voorhis

+ N Y Times p14 Mr 7 '48 1050w

"The questions are prosaic and the answers are unimaginative but solid. It is not for the scholar but for the citizen. The sophisticate might be prouder of his citizenship if he could answer half the questions here put. If what you want, when you ask a question, is a factual answer, rather than a theory, or a comment, or a wisecrack, then here's the book for you—as far as it reaches. And it reaches through elementary civics particularly on the structural side of government." T. V. Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 Mr 27 '48 320w

"Its up-to-the minute data should make the book a reference book of incalculable value to advanced students of government, to school teachers and their pupils, to government officials and aspirants to public office, to editors, to quiz-game contestants and to all other public spirited citizens." E. A. F.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 7 '48 150w

PATON, ALAN. Cry, the beloved country; a story of comfort in desolation. 278p $3 Scribner
48-5218

A novel of life in South Africa. A humble Zulu minister from the country goes to Johannesburg to find his sick sister. There he discovers that his brother has left the church, his sister has become a prostitute, and his son is a murderer. The good pastor's personal sufferings epitomize the sufferings of his race.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 181:112 Ap '48 600w

Booklist 44:203 F 1 '48

Canadian Forum 28:118 Ag '48 280w

"If you are looking for a profound and beautiful book in which humility and love and the power of childlike Christianity are requisites, then Cry, the Beloved Country is a clarion call." M. P. Corcoran
+ Cath World 167:91 Ap '48 550w

Reviewed by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:212 D '48 50w

Reviewed by F. H. Kirkpatrick
Christian Century 65:684 Jl 7 '48 420w

"'Cry, The Beloved Country' is one of the few recent books that merit a second reading, as many have discovered. For here is a rare and beautiful instance of that 'singleminded attempt to render the highest kind of justice to the visible universe,' which has been called the requisite of a true work of art. And here are the nuances of an exquisitely colored etching." O. D. Hormel
+ Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 800w

Reviewed by S. C. Aspoas
Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 27 '49 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48

"The stature of this book comes from the spirit of compassion and the intellectual honesty which set it apart from many others dealing with the same theme. It is more than just a fictionalized social tract." A. W. Foulke
+ Commonweal 47:499 F 27 '48 480w

"The restraint and beauty of the writing are a joy; the wisdom and integrity of the author an inspiration." M. C. Scoggin
+ Horn Bk 24:448 N '48 170w

"A handling of choral-like interludes, a shifting montage of people affected by the incidents of the story, the staccato quality of the dialog with its stylized Zulu forms, keep the narrative from a smooth pace. But the material is distinctive."
Kirkus 15:683 D 15 '47 170w

"A novel of love, not hate, of hope and courage springing from the dauntless spirit of man. Highly recommended." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 73:198 F 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset
Manchester Guardian p3 O 8 '48 130w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 166:283 Mr 6 '48 230w

"I should like to predict that in the Reverend Stephen Kumalo, Paton has created an immortal figure. If there is a man who can read the tragedy of Kumalo's life with eyes dry, I have no desire to meet him." James Stern
+ New Repub 118:26 Mr 22 '48 850w

Reviewed by Walter Allen
New Statesman & Nation 36:445 N 20 '48 180w

"As a novel, a story of lives unfolding, 'Cry, the Beloved Country,' stands by any standards. But above all the quality of the style is a new experience. Here, in English, is a new cadence, derived from the native tongues. English words are used with the limpid rhythm of Zulu or Xosa, as picturesque, as simple in expression, yet as delicately suggestive, as those languages. It is almost as though the author were translating from the Zulu, but without stumbling into the circumlocutions and inexactnesses of a translation." M. C. Hubbard
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 1 '48 700w

"This is a beautiful novel, a rich, firm and moving piece of prose. Its matter and locale may be strange to most American readers, but its writing is so fresh, its projection of character so immediate and full, its events so compelling, and its understanding so compassionate, that to read the book is to share intimately, even to the point of catharsis, in the grave human experience treated." Richard Sullivan
+ N Y Times p6 F 1 '48 700w

New Yorker 23:85 F 7 '48 120w

"Remarkable novel of present-day South Africa. . . Here, is a book which presents a clear and compassionate picture of one land and yet is universal in its basic theme. It is a book to read and enjoy and then to read again and ponder over." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 F 15 '48 900w

"Rarely have professional story tellers in recent years achieved the affecting truthfulness, the shining warmth, and analytic sanity of this book. And while a writer's 'sincerity' is a quagmire criterion to use in judging artistic worth, Mr. Paton's sincerity must be remarked because it is overwhelming and objectified in the utterly credible people who inhabit his story." Adrienne Koch
+ Sat R of Lit 31:14 F 14 '48 600w

"As it stands, 'Cry, the Beloved Country' commends itself to readers as an outstanding example of a creative effort embodying social comment. The story, the characters, and the problems are all memorable. The book suggests that there are men of good intentions everywhere, but not enough of them to rebuild society in terms of justice, equality, and generosity. Perhaps the best evangelistic work of this book will be done in the author's own South Africa. But it will be valuable for us all to see how effective the gentle, beautifully phrased protest can be, in a world where each loud speaker is trying to drown out all the others." Harry Hansen
+ Survey G 37:166 Mr '48 1300w

Time 51:120 Mr 8 '48 280w

Times [London] Lit Sup p593 O 23 '48 360w

Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

"Mr. Paton's novel is the finest I have ever read about the tragic plight of black-skinned people in a white man's world. It lacks entirely the bitterness, dogmatism and exaggerated melodrama which disfigure most fictional treatments of race relations. It is steeped in sadness and grief over man's inhumanity to man; but it is illuminated by hope and compassion. There is a generosity of spirit here which is as rare as it is beautiful and moving." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 37:573 spring '48 600w

PATRI, ANGELO. How to help your child grow up; suggestions for guiding children from birth through adolescence. 352p $4 Rand McNally

649.1 Children—Management. Child study 48-6806

A selection from the author's syndicated columns on guiding children. Includes such subjects as common child problems at home, in school, and in the neighborhood; the importance of love; differences between children; obedience and punishment; manners; money, etc. Index.

Booklist 45:46 O 1 '48

Reviewed by Ruth Crowley
Chicago Sun p54 My 19 '48 460w

Reviewed by M. H. Bro
Christian Century 65:880 S 1 '48 350w

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

"The opinions of an educator who has worked 50 years with children and parents, and still sounds undated."
+ Kirkus 16:231 My 1 '48 170w

"An impressive volume. . . As a book to read it is pretty tremendous and tedious. As a handbook for parents it is a thorough and sympathetic piece of work." L. L.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 Je 13 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:145 S '48

PATTERSON, HOMER LA FERNE, ed. American educational directory, 1946. (V43) 1024p $7.50 Am. educ. co, 500 N. Dearborn st, Chicago 10

370 Education—U.S.—Directories

"This directory, published annually since 1904, is well known as a source of information about public and private schools and institutions of higher learning in the United States. The arrangement of the book is geographical. . . There is a section classifying schools as to kind, e.g., universities, military schools, schools of theology, forestry, etc., with alphabetical listings by state under each type. These are also indexed by name in a separate section. A library directory of the U.S. gives name of the librarian and number of volumes in the library. Other sections include a directory of associations, a list of college colors, and a buyers' guide to manufacturers and dealers in educational supplies. The introduction states that 'The aim of this work is to give a complete and accurate index to the public and private educational system of the United States. The information has been thoroughly revised to date and before final printing of the book, proofs submitted to the various school officials for final revision and correction.' A careful analysis, however, reveals many inaccuracies and much data which is out of date." Subscription Bks Bul

"The list of state and county superintendents was compared with the 1946-47 directory issued by the U.S. Office of Education. For the states there were 15 names that did not agree, for the counties a few examples indicate the discrepancies. . . There are many omissions of schools in all cities. . . A check was made with a list of discontinued private schools and the majority of them are still retained in Patterson's . . . The Committee regrets that the 1947 edition was not available when this review was prepared. However, since the inaccuracies discovered in this survey date back so many years, it is evident that continuous thorough revision is not maintained. Although Patterson's American Educational Directory has been regarded as a standard reference work for many years, the obsolete material and serious inaccuracies which it contains make it unreliable. It is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 19:7 Ja '48 1000w

PAUL, ELLIOT HAROLD (BRETT RUTLEDGE, pseud). A ghost town on the Yellowstone. 341p $3.50 Random house

818 Trembles, Montana. Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-7534

The author's account of his life as member of a survey crew in the town of Trembles, Montana, in 1907 and 1908. The book forms a sequel to: Linden on the Saugus Branch (Book Review Digest 1947) and is the fourth in Mr Paul's autobiographical series: Items on the grand account.

Booklist 44:380 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Jay Monaghan
Chicago Sun Jl 22 '48 550w

"Grand reading—tough, bawdy, at times—but entertaining."
+ Kirkus 16:246 My 15 '48 250w

Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:941 Je 15 '48 140w

"The book is skillfully evocative, even if it is read—as much of it should be—as fiction. Like the men and women who people it, it is in turn ribald and tender. Rowdiest of the series and perhaps in spots the least plausible, it nevertheless leaves with the reader a reasonably accurate picture of life in a frontier era which has been ignored by writers—the coming of the 'big ditch.' " J. K. Howard
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 18 '48 1700w

"Here again the author of 'The Life and Death of a Spanish Town' and other increasingly mellowing reminiscences has assembled a cast of characters in a story that has the emotional range of uncensored horse opera. Add to this a large dose of psychology and an uncanny sense of conversational total recall, and the reader is confronted with the question of where autobiography ends and fiction begins. Yet Paul is a vivid and sensitive recorder of nature, a warm-hearted viewer of human frailties, and a superb story-teller." W. G. D.
N Y Times p5 Jl 18 '48 650w

New Yorker 24:62 Jl 31 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Jl 20 '48 850w

"His book at times seems perfectly adapted to readers who can't absorb anything longer than a short piece in a tabloid. The book will certainly appeal strongly to what one may call the vaudeville mind—the kind of mind that lacks powers of concentration and prefers a new sensation and a new subject every five minutes. Yet the author has enough philosophy behind his puppets to give the more deliberate reader plenty of food for thought and for thoughtful feeling." Stanley Vestal
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:8 Jl 24 '48 750w

PAULI, HERTHA ERNESTINE, and BASCH, ERNST (E. B. ASHTON, pseud). I lift my lamp; the way of a symbol. 368p $4 Appleton

974.71 Statue of liberty, New York. Liberty 48-6534

The story of the Statue of liberty as a physical monument and symbol of freedom, from its genesis in a remark of Edouard Laboulaye in 1865 to sculptor Bartholdi and up to the present drive for federal aid to improve Bedloe's island. Index.

Booklist 44:310 My 15 '48

Kirkus 15:667 D 1 '47 180w

"Much care and research has been expended on gathering material for this book, it is an exhaustive study. This makes for slow, though not dull reading. A distinctive and specialized book for lovers of American history and democracy." Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:649 Ap 15 '48 130w

"Brilliant, eloquent, learned, arrogant, often shrewdly right and often bitterly wrong, 'I Lift My Lamp' permits the reviewer to express only one unqualified opinion. It is certainly original." Gerald Johnson
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ap 18 '48 1150w

"The authors lose control of their matter most conspicuously when they are confronted, as confronted they are on every other page, with the business of transition from one reference to another. Their method is to bridge remotely connected facts with large, empty generalities. This done, they back helter-skelter into their new subject, invariably starting with some peripheral detail and working with astonishing deviousness toward the relevant center. As a result the reader is apt to become first peevish, then enraged." E. B. G.

— N Y Times p27 Je 6 '48 500w

Reviewed by Allan Nevins
Sat R of Lit 31:26 O 23 '48 180w

PAXSON, FREDERIC LOGAN. American democracy and the World war [3v; v. 3] Postwar years: normalcy, 1918-1923. 401p $6.50 Univ. of Calif.

973.913 U.S.—History—20th century. European war, 1914-1918—U.S. (36-21132)

This third volume in a series brings to an end the author's study of the years 1913-1923. In it he studies the domestic and international problems of the people of the United States during the last years of Wilson's presidency and the time when Warren Harding was president. For earlier volumes: Prewar years, 1913-1917, and America at war, 1917-1918, see Book Review Digest 1936 and 1939. Index.

Reviewed by T. C. Pease
Am Hist R 54:169 O '48 480w

"The work under review, like all from Professor Paxson's pen, is on a high plane of scholarship and reads easily. It gives due attention to social and economic events as well as to those of a political nature. And at the same time, it is characterized by an understanding, a maturity of outlook, and a mellowness of evaluation that could come only after a lifetime devoted to historical study and reflection." W. C. Langsam
+ Ann Am Acad 259:158 S '48 390w

Booklist 45:11 S 1 '48

Reviewed by H. U. Faulkner
J Pol Econ 56:544 D '48 600w

"Although the author refers to a few books in his narrative, he fails to include a bibliography. The absence of illustrations and essential statistical charts is surprising. Without fireworks or heroics, Professor Paxson has written a careful, restrained and excellent record of the events and movements of the period, but it is still not a history of the people." N. G. Goodman
+ — N Y Times p17 Jl 11 '48 800w

San Francisco Chronicle p8 N 28 '48 170w

Reviewed by H. N. Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:19 Jl 3 '48 750w

PAYNE, EMMY. Johnny Groundhog's shadow; pictures by Theo Pascal. 32p $2 Houghton
48-6107

Story of a groundhog who did not have a shadow and had to have a painted one pinned to his tail by a sympathetic little girl. For grades 1-3.

Kirkus 16:144 Mr 15 '48 80w

"Story lacks clear-cut charm of Katy No-Pocket [Book Review Digest 1944] though Theo Pascal's pictures have humor and color." Gertrude Andrus
Library J 73:658 Ap 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 2 '48 100w

"Listeners aged 4 to 7, if they are not so literal-minded as to question why a pin-the-donkey game was held in the woods on nobody's birthday, or precisely how the shadow was pinned to Johnny, will be amused by Emmy Payne's story and touched by Theo Pascal's sympathetic drawings." S. C. Gross
N Y Times p29 Ap 4 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

PAYNE, PIERRE STEPHEN ROBERT. Yellow robe; a novel of the life of Buddha. 308p $3 Dodd

Buddha and Buddhism—Fiction 48-6038

A fictional life of Gautama Buddha. The book is divided into two parts: the first relating his worldly life as a young prince; the second devoted to his life as a pilgrim and mendicant preacher.

Booklist 44:299 My 1 '48

"Done in a reverent spirit and with great intelligence."
+ Christian Century 65:294 Mr 17 '48 20w

"Oriental phraseology, rich colorful poetic imagery, but overwrought repetitions and difficult to read." R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:198 F 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Jl 18 '48 750w

PAYNE, STEPHEN. Teen-age stories of the West; with an introd. by Leo Margulies. 253p $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)

Western stories by an old-time cowboy. All of the fourteen episodes emphasize some phase of character development.

Kirkus 15:601 N 1 '47 80w

"Unlike the other 'Teen' stories these are all by Mr. Payne, but they are good tales, and the young people will enjoy them. Recommended for children's rooms and young people's collections." M. D. Read
+ Library J 73:127 Ja 15 '48 60w

"[The stories'] appeal is to girls as well as to boys. Indeed, several of the tales, such as 'Hook 'Im, Cow!' and 'Shaggy Lays Off,' are perfect for reading aloud in the family circle or the classroom. A glossary of cowboy terms would have been worth while." Howard Pease
N Y Times p33 Mr 28 '48 140w

PEALE, NORMAN VINCENT. Guide to confident living. 248p $2.75 Prentice-Hall

258 Psychology, Applied. Pastoral work
48-5754

The pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York city has established a consultation service there to which hundreds of people with personal problems come each year. In these chapters he describes his work in that service, stressing such problems as fear, worry, tension, and the inferiority complex, their effects and his methods of overcoming them.

Booklist 44:276 Ap 15 '48

"Here is a 'how to' book that is worth the reading. The author has wisely taken a long overlooked word and restored it to its rightful place. That word is 'confident.' . . The illustrations are honest, natural, vivid and apt. In this book is given more than a mere formula, here is portrayed a way of life." R. F. Jenney
+ Chicago Sun Mr 22 '48 360w

"Helpful to pastoral counselors and to those who need counsel. Psychiatrists who think they can ignore religion as a medicine for sick minds will learn something to their advantage by reading this."
+ Christian Century 65:294 Mr 17 '48 20w

Reviewed by R. A. Burkhart
J Religion 28:296 O '48 750w

"It will, no doubt, extend to a wide group of people a ministry which is already beneficial to thousands. For the same reason that 'Peace of Mind' has become a best-seller, these messages will be helpful to many readers, they hit men where they live."
+ Kirkus 16:84 F 1 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. B. Garside
N Y Times p23 Ap 25 '48 480w

"A practical book and one that merits careful reading." O. J. Aldrich
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 14 '48 330w

PEARCE, CYRIL CHARLES. Toys and models. 95p il $4.50 Batsford

681.15 Toys. Mechanical models 48-7657

"Cyril Pearce, instructor in the Art Department of the University of Reading, England, has prepared instructions for making a number of toys and working models that will be of educational value to the children. Building scientific models of steam engines, electric motors, and turbines helps in learning their principles of operation. The suggestions on making architectural and geographical models will add liveliness and accent to social studies. The section on Working Toys includes many old-time favorites such as performing monkeys, running dogs, drummer boys, kites, and tops." (School Arts) Index.

PEARCE, C. C.—Continued

Booklist 44:377 Jl 15 '48

"A study of the volume will take the craftsman from simple tops to turbines; from acrobats to the Astro-Compass. Working drawings are abundant and there are color plates that show various finished products." Richard Robbins
+ N Y Times p30 S 26 '48 190w
School Arts p13a O '48 120w

PEARL, RICHARD MAXWELL. Popular gemology. 316p il $4 Wiley
553.8 Gems 48-7378

A survey of gems, from ancient times to the present. Contents: The lure of gems; Recognizing gems; Faceted gems; Cabochon and carved gems; Gems of the silica group; Gems with a genealogy; Man-made gems; Luminescent gems. Selected reading. Index.

Booklist 45:46 O 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 70w

"The information in this work is well selected, clearly presented and reliable. Persons interested in only one variety or family of gems may find that the treatment of it is too concise to be satisfactory, but the book will serve well as a general introduction to the subject and also as an elementary reference book. There are 115 black-and-white illustrations, most of which are clear reproductions of photographs, but no colored illustrations."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:54 Jl '48

PEARSON, HAYDN SANBORN. Sea flavor. (Whittlesey house publication) 178p il $3.50 McGraw
574.974 Natural history—New England. New England—Description and travel 48-6364

Brief essays on different phases of life along the New England coast. Among the subjects considered are: beach plums; driftwood; net mending; old shipyards; moonlight on the ocean; trees; old fishing villages; etc. Illustrated with photographs. A companion volume to Country Flavor (Book Review Digest 1945.)

Booklist 44:308 My 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

"Simple, clear, at times poetic text. . . Beautifully illustrated. Recommended for young people's collection and for adults." G. E. Cartmell
+ Library J 73:826 My 15 '48 40w

"If you can't get to the sea, the next best thing is to savor it through Mr. Pearson's sensitive writing, though his book could be read with equal profit alongside the sea itself, for not all of us have so quick and observant an eye as he. Then, if you want to eat your fill, turn to the last sixteen additional essayettes in which he lays down the laws governing the concoction of a perfect clam chowder, codfish cakes, fish hash, quahog cakes, clam pie and diverse other gastronomic triumphs that are best cooked and eaten close to the shore." Richardson Wright
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Jl 4 '48 550w

"Mr. Pearson's book, as a work of belles-lettres should be, is very well put together. The photographs are reproduced with great care in grayish-green tones corresponding to the New England coastline theme. Unfortunately the excellence of reproduction is often wasted on banal scenes, banal at least to this reviewer who lives in their midst and has so often seen them, or their close equivalents, put to bookish use. Shots of Provincetown mackerel-seiners laid in at the dock, of geese over the marshes against a twilit sky, of a grizzled lobsterman sucking his pipe by this time have surely lost much of their original pull." E. B. Garside
+ — N Y Times p12 Ag 29 '48 360w
Springf'd Republican p14A Je 11 '48 250w

PEARSON, TALBOT. Encores on Main street; successful community theatre leadership. 175p $3 Carnegie inst. of technology, Schenley Park, Pittsburgh
792 Theater—Little theater movement 48-7070

"In this book Mr. Pearson offers help for the [community theater] director in dealing with human problems; his relations with the community, with his actors and actresses, with the 'unsung heroes'—the backstage workers. Mr. Pearson also gives practical information about evaluating contracts, organizing the group, selecting plays, casting, and ways of resolving financial difficulties. . . Talbot Pearson is now a member of the Department of Drama at Carnegie Institute of Technology. . . He is also a member of the National Theatre Conference, from which organization he received a grant for writing Encores on Main Street." (Publisher's note) List of plays produced by the Dallas Little theatre 1920-1943. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:333 Je 1 '48

"Informal, informative, and amusingly illustrated by Harold Helvenston. Recommended." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:817 My 15 '48 70w

"A wholly practical and commonsense guide, for the use of non-professional theatres looking for directors and for directors hoping to work for such institutions. . . Incidentally, Encores on Main Street is an entertaining and informative bit of local Americana, and may be read with pleasure even by those who have nothing to do with community theatres." B. H. Clark
+ Theatre Arts 32:99 Ag '48 320w

PEASE, HERBERT LEIGHTON. Singing rails. 304p $3 Crowell
B or 92 48-8458

Narrates the author's adventures in becoming a railroad man. He was little more than a boy in 1900 when he took over as night operator in a small midwestern town. In less than eight years he had risen to the position of a central passenger agent in Pittsburgh. For younger readers as well as adults.

Booklist 45:50 O 1 '48
Commonweal 48:578 S 24 '48 100w
Kirkus 16:330 Jl 1 '48 100w

"Author has a knack of vivid writing and a good, rather bald, sense of humor. Since Frank Packard died, there has been no more promising writer of what has been called the Railroad School. Recommended for smaller libraries, especially." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 110w

"His is a story far less known than that of the operating railroaders, and it will acceptably fill the void on any shelf of railroad books." Stewart Holbrook
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 O 17 '48 600w
Wis Lib Bul 45:13 Ja '49

PEASE, HOWARD. Bound for Singapore; being a true and faithful account of the making of an adventurer. 243p $2.50 Doubleday
48-8749

In part a manual of instruction in fiction writing, in part memories of the author's early adventures at sea, this is as a whole the story of a boy with a fierce determination to be a writer, who ships as a seaman from San Francisco in order to gather material for stories. The surface plot of the tale concerns a lost dog, rescued by Chet Hardy's fellow sailors and made the mascot of the engine room.

Booklist 45:109 N 15 '48

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:220 D '48 70w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun N 13 '48 90w

Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 70w

"Plausible, passable, though toned down to a younger level than usual for Pease."
+ — Kirkus 16:482 S 15 '48 90w

"An unusual combination of sea and dog story, good character development, and authentic atmosphere of life aboard a freighter." M. A. Herr
+ Library J 74:68 Ja 1 '49 70w

"Howard Pease has too good a sense of plot, character and the sea to write a dull story, but some of his younger fans think this tame in comparison with the Tod Moran tales. Its chief appeal will be to older boys (and girls) who have read his books, who themselves aspire to write, and who can see just how a successful writer transmuted his own first-hand experience and observation into the pure gold of his sea and adventure stories." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 10 '48 230w

"For any boy or girl who has a yearning to become a writer, reading this latest Howard Pease book will be a rewarding experience. The author has not only combined a first-rate dog story with a tale of adventure on the high seas, but has employed an interesting device which enables the reader to observe just how a young writer should properly go about the task of weaving a successful piece of fiction." H. B. Lent
+ N Y Times p45 O 24 '48 190w

"This is an absorbing story, and a heart-warming one. . . Any boy or girl who has yearned to take up writing as a career will be extremely interested in the tips to good writing technique that are blended into the story." G. M. Jansens
+ San Francisco Chronicle p8 N 14 '48 430w

"A good story of a young writer who wanted to 'see life' before he wrote of it."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 N 13 '48 50w

Wis Lib Bul 44:187 N '48

PEATTIE, RODERICK, ed. The Berkshires: the purple hills; contributors, Walter Prichard Eaton [and others]. (American mountain ser) 414p il $5 Vanguard

917.441 Berkshire hills 48-2653

Descriptions of the western section of Massachusetts and life in the Berkshire hills. The articles which compose the book are written by authorities. Contents: What are the Berkshire hills? by W. P. Eaton; With what the hills are clothed, by A. K. Simpson; Four seasons of Berkshire bird lore, by G. J. Wallace; Byways to pleasure, by Bartlett Hendricks; Streams and castings, by Theodore Giddings; Man changes the landscape through gardening, by A. K. Simpson; Winter sports among the hills, by Bartlett Hendricks; Indian legends, by Haydn Mason; Two hundred and fifty years of history, by W. P. Eaton; Berkshire folk and folkways, by W. S. Annin; The invaders and what they have meant, by Margaret Cresson; The Berkshire festival, by Margaret Cresson. Index.

Booklist 44:366 Jl 1 '48

"The present volume is redolent of those sane, comfortable, spacious homes of Lenox and Stockbridge without modernistic slur or ostentation—simply solid." E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 48:312 Jl 9 '48 260w

Kirkus 16:204 Ap 15 '48 110w

"Highly recommended for New England vacationists and libraries catering to their reading interests and welfare." R. P. Tubby
+ Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 90w

"In unpretentious and readable fashion this handsome, well illustrated book is a mine of information about one of the loveliest sections of the United States. It has something to say to visitor, the native, and that increasingly numerous species, the adoptive or self-appointive native." Mark Saxton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 My 23 '48 600w

"It is an adequate presentation, written with local pride leavened by modesty, covering matters of tourist interest. . . There are omissions. Unmentioned are Josh Billings, the homespun philosopher, the Millerites and Shakers, George Westinghouse and Anson Clark, a many-sided genius antedating Edison, surpassing Daguerre. . . But for tourists who regale stay-at-homes with 'when I was in the Berkshires,' the book is a mine of information." J. E. Kelly
+ — N Y Times p31 My 23 '48 650w

New Yorker 24:82 S 4 '48 80w

"Roderick Peattie has gathered essays and anecdotes from an articulate set of experts for this excellent addition to Vanguard's American Mountain Series." Thomas Sugrue
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Jl 3 '48 500w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

PEATTIE, RODERICK, ed. The Sierra Nevada; the range of light; with an introd. by Donald Culross Peattie; contributors: David R. Brower [and others]. (American mountain ser) 398p il $4.50 Vanguard

917.94 Sierra Nevada mountains 48-5004

Nine contributors describe the natural beauties of the Sierra Nevada, the historic lore, and recreational advantages. Contents: Sierra panorama, by W. F. Heald; Empire in the sky, by W. F. Heald; "On a trail of beauty," by Lester Rowntree; The trees and forests, by Mary Tresidder; A geologist's view, by F. E. Matthes; Winter sports, by D. R. Brower; Mother lode folk, by Idwal Jones; Some birds of the Sierra Nevada, by C. A. Harwell; Sierra climate, by R. J. Russell; Yosemite, a mecca for mountaineers, by Oliver Kehrlein. Map. Index.

Booklist 44:171 Ja 1 '48

Kirkus 15:645 N 15 '47 110w

"The volume is certainly the one to put into the hands of any person wishing an introduction to the Sierra Nevada, especially to what is known as the High Sierra. It is, however, more than an introduction for the beginner; even an oldtimer may well wish to have it on his shelves for reference. As for the real mountain-enthusiast, he will obviously have to own it; for him it will be a kind of Bible, composed by nine ecstatic high priests, presenting for him the creed of the beauty of clean granite and snow in high wind-swept and lonely places." G. R. Stewart
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 28 '47 650w

"Roderick Peattie, who began the task, and his brother, Donald Culross Peattie, who completed it, have done a comprehensive job of editing." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p3 D 28 '47 450w

Reviewed by Kent Kay
+ San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ja 4 '48 550w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:61 Mr '48 160w

PECKHAM, HOWARD HENRY. Pontiac and the Indian uprising. 346p il maps $4.50 Princeton univ. press

970.2 Pontiac, Ottawa chief 47-11041

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"By utilizing documents which have come to light since 1851 and by the careful use of ethnographical data, Mr. Peckham has produced both an exciting biography and a well-documented work in the history of the Indians' relations with the white man." R. N. Adams
+ Am Hist R 53:547 Ap '48 480w

"Rightly cautious in making statements he cannot substantiate, the writer has written a plain tale, well told and documented. While

PECKHAM, H. H.—Continued
Parkman made Pontiac an arresting and dramatic figure, his entire work exuding drama and atmosphere, with his felicity of phrase and of expression, the author of this volume has been content to present the facts as they happened, and has produced a work of value to the student of this period of the North America scene." H. M. Jackson
Canadian Hist R 29:80 Mr '48 800w

"While Mr. Peckham disagrees with Parkman on a number of points and corrects him on others, he would be the last to claim that he had outmoded 'The Conspiracy of Pontiac.' What he has done is to provide for that fascinating classic a scholarly supplement which students of American history will find of great value." Keith Hutchison
+ Nation 166:132 Ja 31 '48 600w

"Mr. Peckham sheds much fresh light on the trading conditions in the West, on Indian weapons and strategy, and on the psychology of the savages. His second chapter, describing the daily life of the Ottawa villages, is worthy of Parkman himself. Altogether, he has produced a book which, while pleasantly modest in style, is a permanently useful addition to the historical literature of the Indian, the Old Northwest, and the last years of British rule south of the Great Lakes." Allan Nevins
+ Sat R of Lit 31:10 Ap 10 '48 400w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:62 Mr '48 240w

PELCOVITS, NATHAN ALBERT. Old China hands, and the Foreign office; pub. under the auspices of American institute of Pacific relations. 349p $3.75 King's crown press

327.51 Great Britain—Foreign relations—China. China—Foreign relations—Great Britain 48-869

"This is a study of the opinions and attitudes on Anglo-Chinese relations held by British merchants engaged in the China trade and of their relevance to the formation of British foreign policy toward China in the half-century between the Treaty of Tientsin and the Treaty of Portsmouth. It is, further, the story of that repeated clash between the Old China Hands and the British Foreign Office about the premises of Anglo-Chinese relations, despite their basic agreement on the aims of foreign policy in the Far East. In sum, it is an analysis of the reasons which could lead The Times to exclaim in 1875, apropos of a periodic crisis in those relations, that Britain did not want another India in the valley of the Yangtze." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Knight Biggerstaff
Am Hist R 54:145 O '48 650w

"This excellent study . . . has, as the title indicates, a restricted scope. Nevertheless it throws light on aspects of British policy as well as on the success of the Old China Hands, in England as well as in China, in influencing policy. It is made quite clear that that influence was greater in the formulation of commercial policy than on political questions, even when the latter had an admixture of the commercial." H. M. Vinacke
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:366 Ap '48 800w

Reviewed by C. M. Wilbur
Ann Am Acad 257:220 My '48 360w

"Nathan Pelcovits' admirable and scholarly work is a book which will be primarily of interest to the more serious students of Far Eastern affairs. It can, however, despite its forbidding title, be recommended to any and all Americans—including members of the State Department—who are concerned about the present special position of the United States in China." J. G. Dowling
+ Chicago Sun p38 F 9 '48 550w
Commonweal 47:478 F 20 '48 90w
Current Hist 14:233 Ap '48 140w

"Primarily a documentary study, offering valuable new source material to students. Fortunately, however, Mr. Pelcovits writes easily and so offers the general reader fresh perspective on the problems of the West vis-a-vis China." G. G. Stevens
+ N Y Times p29 F 8 '48 650w

"In this excellent and well-documented work Mr. Pelcovits convincingly rebuts the usually accepted view that British policy in China after 1858 was shaped according to the desires of the mercantile interests concerned with the China trade. . . He is the first to deal thoroughly with the fundamental and long-continued conflict between the official and the mercantile standpoints." F. C. Jones
+ Pacific Affairs 21:304 S '48 750w
San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ag 22 '48 220w
School & Society 67:360 My 8 '48 10w
Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 25 '48 500w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:182 Je '48 320w

Reviewed by G. E. Taylor
Yale R n s 37:570 spring '48 350w

PELIKAN, ALFRED GEORGE. Fun with figure drawing. 89p il $3 Bruce pub.

743.4 Figure drawing 47-6690

"The present volume has been planned with two objectives in mind—one, to enable the student to develop some skill in drawing the human figure for the fun of it without the need of models; two, to show a number of diversified methods by which the figure may be constructed and developed in order to add variety." Introduction

Booklist 44:236 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by E. A. Groves
Library J 72:1620 N 15 '47 70w
School Arts 47:10a Je '48 150w

PELLEGRINI, ANGELO M. Unprejudiced palate. 235p $3 Macmillan

641.01 Cookery. Gastronomy 48-9187

The author was born in Italy, came to the United States when he was ten, and now teaches English literature in the University of Washington. His book is made up of recollections of his childhood in Italy, his coming to America, some references to his profession; all interspersed with recipes. No index.

"This is a buoyant and genial discourse. Whether the subtler gustatory pleasures are worth the trouble taken to secure them, is an arguable question." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:1207 N 10 '48 110w

"A completely unorthodox book, critical in a semi-humorous way, of the American palate, the American waste, and philosophical as to the ingredients of the good life—and the good table. . . It's a book I want for my cookbook shelf."
+ Kirkus 16:426 Ag 15 '48 160w

"An earthy yet urbane philosophy arrestingly articulated." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Idwal Jones
N Y Times p23 Ja 9 '49 450w
New Yorker 24:182 D 4 '48 90w

"If you like enthusiastic, high-spirited, intelligent talk about what you eat, this is eminently the book for you. Yes, there are a good many recipes scattered through the volume, but the author didn't set out to do a cookbook. This is a discussion of food 'upon philosophical principles,' written in straightforward, simple English which is lusty, gusty and good. And although Mr. Pellegrini indulges in a good many healthy roundhouse swings at whatever he doesn't like—chiefly the coy, arty, chichi writers of what ought to be called 'Cooksy-wooksy books'—he has a solid, soundly balanced approach to his subject, which is Man himself, quite as much as cookery." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 N 1 '48 750w

PELTZ, MARY ELLIS (OPDYCKE), ed. Opera lover's companion; sponsored by the Metropolitan opera guild, incorporated. 385p pl $5 Ziff-Davis

782 Opera—Stories, plots, etc. 48-9446

Essays on thirty-eight operas, all of which have been given at the Metropolitan opera house. The sketches are composed of data on plot, composer, librettist, source, and interpretation of the opera. All have appeared in the Opera News. Index.

Booklist 45:154 Ja 1 '49

"Sound information but little operatic glamour." George Hanson
+ — Library J 74:127 Ja 15 '49 120w

"This book manages to detail much musical information of value to the Saturday afternoon listener. Twenty-five contributors set to work on thirty-eight operas—with the usual uneven results." Roland Gelatt
— + Sat R of Lit 32:62 Ja 29 '49 50w

"Copiously illustrated with scenes from the operas, it is an excellent reference book, teeming with information from these famous authorities." V. P.
+ Springf'd Republican p9B N 28 '48 120w

PELUS, MARIE JEANNE. Opera ballerina; with phot. of the author and of outstanding ballets. 233p $2.50 Dodd

48-7824

Continues the story of the career of Sylvia Allen begun in Yankee Ballerina (Book Review Digest 1941). In this book Sylvia becomes prima ballerina of the Metropolitan opera company. For older girls.

Booklist 45:54 O 1 '48

"There is little plot, but it gives a fine picture of work behind the scenes. Will appeal to the many young people who are becoming increasingly interested in ballet. More entertainingly written than the first book." J. F. Carter
+ Library J 73:1199 S 1 '48 70w

"Teen-aged girls who are interested in dancing, the stage and life in the world of these arts will find this an engrossing story." V. H. Mathews
+ N Y Times p35 S 12 '48 130w

"The narrative is instructive as well as entertaining, since in telling the story Marie-Jeanne also tells a good deal about how operas and ballets are staged and what life is like among the performers. And needless to say, she knows the background and life that she describes, having danced with most of the major American ballet companies herself at one time or another." C. S.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p25 S 12 '48 160w

PEMBERTON, LOIS. Stork didn't bring you! foreword by William A. Schonfeld. 228p il $2.75 Hermitage

612.6 Sexual hygiene 48-7371

"A sensible, frank discussion of sex and the problems it presents to adolescents. The reasons for most parental embarrassment and reluctance in talking with young people about sex are explained. Although the book is directed principally to the young person, the author suggests that parents also use it. Written in teen-age vernacular." Booklist

Booklist 44:386 Jl 15 '48

"The information is exact and technical; it is certainly comprehensive. Since the teen age can so easily batten upon misinformation, a book of this sort can fill a need." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Times p11 S 5 '48 370w

"An intelligent enlightenment of the facts of life for teen-agers in a language and style that can be readily understood."
+ School & Society 67:488 Je 26 '48 40w

PENN, MARGARET. Manchester, fourteen miles. 240p $2.50 Macmillan (for the Cambridge univ. press)

48-6449

Memories of life in a lower middle-class English family in the early 1900's. Hilda, the narrator, is a foster child of the Winstanleys, but is treated as "one of their own" by this kindly family, living fourteen miles from Manchester. The book is evidently autobiographical, but is treated as fiction.

Booklist 44:279 Ap 15 '48

"It is told as if from memory with lovingly intimate details in an engaging style of plain-sewing that is never monotonous because the story keeps moving from the start." Charles Marriott
+ Manchester Guardian p3 O 17 '47 240w

"From the plainly written tale of Hilda's early life, surprisingly delicate relationships emerge; the imagination of the writer is not spent on childhood fantasies but on the appreciation of character and situation; by the end of the story we know the exact shade of difference in a simple woman's feelings towards an adopted daughter and towards her own flesh and blood, and we know, too, that the adoptive father finds no such barrier, but loves the foster-child as his own." Dorothy Baker
+ New Statesman & Nation 34:436 N 29 '47 370w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 60w

"All is told in a flat naïve style with local conversation and much homely detail, so that the book is in a way a social document. Altogether a readable, honest record; but not cast in quite the right shape."
+ — Spec 179:812 D 26 '47 260w

PENNELL, JOSEPH STANLEY. History of Nora Beckham; a museum of home life. 330p $3 Scribner

48-8382

Novel of life in a small town in Kansas around the turn of the century. The narrator is Lee Harrington, who describes his own life up to the time of his first year in college. His domineering mother, granddaughter of the hero of the author's earlier book The History of Rome Hanks (Book Review Digest 1944) shares the center of the stage with him.

Reviewed by M. W. Stoer
Christian Science Monitor p12 S 21 '48 550w

Kirkus 16:321 Jl 1 '48 240w

"It continues the tale of The History of Rome Hanks, even occasionally borrowing the obscure style that hindered action and interest in that book. Admirers of Pennell and 'Rome' probably will be in the mood for this long tale." H. S. Taylor
Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 100w

"That Mr. Pennell can keep the reader fascinated throughout this episodic novel-in-suspension is the measure of his extraordinary talent. It is interesting to see how, since 'Rome,' he has expanded and sharpened his method, an approach to character which, though it demands a good deal of the reader, is singularly suited to the theme." J. H. Jackson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 O 17 '48 1100w

" 'Nora Beckham' starts slowly. . . It is when Lee, as a little boy starting to school, begins his life away from home, that the pace and interest of the narrative pick up. There are some wonderful chapters on Lee's grammar-school days, public and parochial—and some wonderful ones, too, later on when Lee goes to the University of Kansas. These are sensitive, finely written episodes, displaying shrewdly and bitterly the impact of life on a shy, uncertain small-town boy. . . The story never gets very far, in space, from where it started, Fort City, Kan.; but it shows how fine and brutal, how wise and stupid, how innocent and lecherous, human life can be." N. K. Burger
+ — N Y Times p4 S 12 '48 550w

PENNELL, J. S.—Continued
"After one catches on to Harrington's overrich way of putting things, the story becomes fairly interesting."
+ — New Yorker 24:113 S 25 '48 220w

Reviewed by Vance Bourjaily
San Francisco Chronicle p20 S 19 '48 1450w

"How can a reviewer convey any real sense of a story which is based so completely on a series of minor family episodes. . . For what is best in this book is the recreative strength of the scenes remembered . . . all of which have the static quality of an album or an old photograph rather than the urgency of drama. . . The result is rather like stopping a movie film and looking at the action held suspended on the screen. An occasionally turgid style, an absence of quotation marks, and an infrequent and unexpected shift to Elizabethan English also make things difficult for the reader." Bradford Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:21 S 11 '48 700w

PEPIN, HARRIET (MRS W. K. BERGER). Fundamentals of apparel design. 250p il $5 Funk

646.01 Costume design 48-2051

"This book is devoted to a single phase of a broad subject—fundamentals of design as they may be applied to apparel compositions made from cloth. . . It is written as a 'companion,' or continuation study, to the author's previous work, Modern Pattern Design [Book Review Digest 1942]." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 44:308 My 15 '48

"There is an unusual wealth of material in the 196 pages of text in this book. The discourse on equipment needed in the clothing profession should be valuable for those thinking of going into the commercial field, for teachers, or for home sewers. The author also discusses natural aptitude, artistic invention, and hard work. There is an excellent chapter on design, with deft and appropriate illustrations." M. D. Parker
+ J Home Econ 41:39 Ja '49 220w

"This is by far one of the most searching books in its class. Its value exists no less for the professional than it does for the amateur." R. S. Robbins
+ N Y Times p29 O 10 '48 280w

PEPPER, NANCY, pseud. See Frankel, E. G.

PERELMAN, SIDNEY JOSEPH. Westward ha! or, Around the world in eighty clichés; drawings by Hirschfeld. 159p il $2.95 Simon & Schuster

817 48-3213

Hilarious account of a trip around most of the world. The text is accompanied by illustrations in keeping with the spirit of the writing.

Booklist 45:85 N 1 '48

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Chicago Sun S 2 '48 320w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Commonweal 48:312 Jl 9 '48 190w

Kirkus 16:163 Mr 15 '48 130w

"In fulfillment of his obligation as a recorder of things seen, heard, smelled and swallowed, Mr. Perelman is naturally under some restriction of his normal verbal virtuosity. The few morsels of fact that require quiet mastication he disposes of quite decorously, but he is bubbly by preference, and the champagne touch is dominant. And the Hirschfeld drawings are joy to behold, equally eloquent in conveying the contours of a camel, a mosque or a maid." George Conrad
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ag 8 '48 450w

"Mr. Hirschfeld's drawings are apt, plentiful, amusing, and telling and go well with the text. The book is attractive and gay to the eye. We ought not to look for anything unmitigated in this day and time, they tell us—especially joy. But it would have been nice to have our Perelman straight, not constricted by a job to fulfill." Eudora Welty
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 8 '48 600w

New Yorker 34:79 Ag 21 '48 100w

Reviewed by Paul Speegle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p11 Ag 8 '48 800w

"As a humorist, Perelman is a pixie. He walks you down the garden path of simple declarative sentences, then smacks you with a load of double-jointed linguistics. He hits you on the shin with syntax, and when you double over, he steps in to clout you over the head with a hidden hieroglyphic. . . It all looks so pleasant and amiable, and all of a sudden there you are rolling on the floor." Horace Sutton
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 Ag 7 '48 800w

Reviewed by A. B. Horwitt
Theatre Arts 32:101 Ag '48 320w

PERKINS, DEXTER. Evolution of American foreign policy. (Home univ. lib.) 187p $2 Oxford

327.73 U.S.—Foreign policy 48-8538

A brief survey of the foreign policies and the foreign relations of the United States during the last two hundred years. Contents: The sources of national power; Territorial expansion; American isolationism; American imperialism; The emerging Orient; The United States, World war I, and the 'twenties; The good neighbor; Challenge in the Orient; Isolation and the resurgence; Summary and prospect. Suggestions for further reading. Index.

Booklist 45:139 D 15 '48

"Of all the flood of literature and oratory unloosed on the subject in the last few years, Professor Perkins' little handbook surely deserves the palm for brevity, clarity and critical approach that maintains an admirable sense of perspective through the two centuries covered." Henry Sowerby
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 N 4 '48 650w

PERKINS, DEXTER. The United States and the Caribbean. (American foreign policy lib) 253p maps $3 Harvard univ. press

327.73 Caribbean sea. U.S.—Foreign policy 47-11619

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The author's opinions are presented with such great care to avoid frightening nontechnical readers or offending sensibilities at home or abroad that the style is somewhat pedestrian. In a brief account of so large a subject there are bound to be deliberate omissions, yet it is unfortunate that so little attention could be devoted to Puerto Rico or the British dependencies, where the two great powers have direct responsibility. But these are minor flaws in a book which rests on thorough knowledge of the subject and offers much common sense on implementation of the Good Neighbor policy and the vexed question of intervention (or its more polite substitutes) in behalf of 'democracy.'" George Soule
+ — Am Hist R 53:638 Ap '48 320w

"This is an urbane and readable introduction to the problems of an area whose future wellbeing depends largely upon a sympathetic understanding of its needs by the government and people of the United States." W. T. R. Fox
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:579 Je '48 500w

"The book constitutes an excellent essay on the Caribbean area, although the author is often hesitant in his assertion of historical deduction. Some readers may quarrel with him regarding his analysis of the political scene, and there appears to be a failure to understand the true historical and psychological significance of Latin American totalitarianism. The factors of personalism and nationalism are not clearly placed in their proper perspective. . . . But the book deserves to be widely read; it is published at a timely period in the affairs of the world." A. C. Wilgus

+ — Ann Am Acad 256:210 Mr '48 320w

Current Hist 14:297 My '48 40w

Foreign Affairs 26:582 Ap '48 50w

Reviewed by J. W. Ivy

Nation 166:640 Je 5 '48 550w

Reviewed by C. C. Griffin

Pol Sci Q 63:433 S '48 550w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:62 Mr '48 320w

Wis Lib Bul 44:36 F '48

PERKINS, VIRGINIA (CHASE). Discovery. 304p $3.50 Macmillan

48-5441

Laurie Drummond, an intelligent suburban housewife and mother, was just over forty when her two children went off to college at the same time. At first she and her husband enjoyed a second honeymoon, but when he became immersed in his business again Laurie found she had not enough to take up her time. A near breakdown was staved off when she became a hospital volunteer in the city's worst-equipped hospital.

Booklist 44:233 Mr 1 '48

Kirkus 15:681 D 15 '47 120w

"Smooth flowing, well planned but rather obvious story." L. R. Miller

Library J 73:335 F 15 '48 90w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Mr 28 '48 180w

Reviewed by Florence Crowther

+ N Y Times p10 F 29 '48 500w

"Mrs. Chase, who writes with fluency and vigor, has something to say to American mothers." J. V.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 Ap 11 '48 270w

Wis Lib Bul 44:104 My '48

PERRIN, HENRI. Priest-workman in Germany; tr. by Rosemary Sheed. 230p $2.50 Sheed

940.547243 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, French 48-5753

An account of the experiences of a French priest serving as a volunteer munitions worker in Leipzig in order to minister to his conscripted countrymen.

"While the episodes of [Father Perrin's] work, his apostolic weekends, his imprisonment are quite insignificant in comparison with those of the resistance and concentration camps (as he would be the first to admit), yet Priest-Workman in Germany is rich in the new spirit of France . . . [and is] well worth reading." S. W. Cassidy

+ Cath World 167:88 Ap '48 400w

"It is a fascinating story that this 'Priest Workman in Germany' tells of himself. Starkly honest, movingly beautiful—as witness the description of his furtive Easter Mass." L. J. Trese

+ Commonweal 48:188 Je 4 '48 1950w

Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich

+ Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 300w

PERRY, CLAIR WILLARD (CLAY PERRY, pseud). Underground empire; wonders and tales of New York caves. (American cave ser) 221p il $3.50 Ungar

551.44 Caves. New York (state)—Description and travel 48-6642

History, description, and legends of some of the many caves and caverns underlying New York State, set forth in informal text by the author of New England's Buried Treasure (Book Review Digest 1947). Index.

Booklist 44:377 Jl 15 '48

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 8 '48 330w

PERRY, RALPH BARTON. Thought and character of William James. abr. ed 402p $6 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 James, William 48-6039

"Briefer version of the Pulitzer Prize biography published in 1935 in two volumes. Author is professor of philosophy at Harvard, and a former student of James. Aim of the present abridged edition is to make the central core of the longer work available to the general reader. Major omission is of material in volume one on James's early philosophical orientation. New material includes three letters printed here for the first time." Library J

Booklist 44:317 My 15 '48

"While never skimping his own narrative and comment, Professor Perry has allowed his subject to speak so far as possible for himself. There are ample selections from his letters which, in their effusiveness and effulgence, are characteristic of his radiant personality; and these are increased in value and interest when, as often, both sides of an exchange of letters are given." S. C. C.

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 22 '48 700w

"This is a very fine book about a very great personality." J. A. Leighton

+ Churchman 162:17 S 15 '48 650w

Kirkus 16:39 Ja 15 '48 120w

"Occasional revisions, in the direction of greater simplicity, and skilful cutting have produced a work which—although it does not supersede the earlier edition—retains most of its best qualities, and is even to be preferred for some purposes." H. W. Hart

+ Library J 73:333 F 15 '48 110w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 21 '48 150w

"It is the fascinating story of a man who spent his thinking years looking for usable truth. . . 'The great use of a life,' James once said, 'is to spend it for something that outlasts it.' By so spending his life as to make possible such a record of it as Ralph Barton Perry's, William James assured his survival." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ap 24 '48 250w

PERRY, THOMAS DOANE. Modern plywood. 2d ed 458p il $6 Pitman

674 Plywood 48-6778

"Since the first edition of this book appeared in 1942 [See Book Review Digest 1942] there have been rapid strides made in the plywood industry under the pressure of wartime necessity. The new edition of 'Modern Plywood' includes new developments as well as the changes in manufacturing technique which have resulted from the greatly increased use of synthetic resin adhesives." (Chem & Eng N) "The bibliography of the 1942 edition has been brought up to date, but the references are now grouped at the end of each main section." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"From the point of view of plywood manufacture this book remains one of the few authoritative texts available. . . Although the text includes numerous necessary tables of technical data, it is well illustrated and written in an easy and readable style." R. E. Pflaumer

+ Chem & Eng N 26:2717 S 13 '48 200w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:45 My '48

PERSIAN art and design influences from the Near and Middle East [ed. by William C. Segal; pub. by arrangement with American fabrics]. [43p] il pa $2 Studio

709.55 Art, Persian

"Persian art sources of some contemporary designs for fabrics and costumes, bits of poetry, a couple of essays, swatches of materials. Paper cover, and pages of various sizes. Useful for the library that does not have a book on the subject and for clothing and design collections. May be used in pamphlet file. Published by arrangement with American Fabrics." Booklist

PERSIAN art and design influences—Continued

Booklist 45:47 O 1 '48

"A bewildering and delightful over-size, paper-bound assortment of lovely and stimulating pictures and ideas. Difficult to classify for library shelves; inexpensive enough to use for picture or pamphlet file. Recommended." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 73:1029 Jl '48 130w

PETERS, CHARLES CLINTON. Teaching high school history and social studies for citizenship training; the Miami exper. in democratic, action-centered educ, DAC. 192p $1 Univ. of Miami, Coral Gables 34, Fla.

307 Citizenship—Study and teaching. Social sciences—Study and teaching

A report of a field experiment in teaching history and social studies thru presentation of current problems among pupil units. Bibliographies.

School & Society 67:127 F 14 '48 20w

"[Dr Peters] realizes that the statistical evidence underlying his conclusions is far from definitive; consequently, he adds nonstatistical testimonials from teachers and pupils and compares his findings to those of other experimenters in Progressive education. Strangely enough, he does not evaluate the latter experiments critically from the standpoint of a veteran researcher, particularly the Eight-Year Study. It should be added that the form of the book is likely to confuse the reader, since it is difficult at times to determine who is writing, Peters or his teacher-participants." W. T. Phillips

School & Society 67:413 My 29 '48 550w

Reviewed by T. E. Christensen
School R 56:426 S '48 2700w

Reviewed by G. V. Price
Social Studies 39:283 O '48 650w

PETERS, CLARENCE A., comp. Immigration problem. (Reference shelf) 254p $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

325.73 U.S.—Emigration and immigration 48-7463

"This volume brings together in one compilation statements which delineate the immigration problem as it exists in the U. S. today, analyzes our present immigration policy, its strength and weaknesses, and various proposed modifications of immigration policy." (Social Studies) Bibliography.

Booklist 45:33 S 15 '48

"An excellent job. . . A valuable part of the book is that devoted to outlines of programs for education on the part of private organizations as well as official government departments. . . All in all, there is not much on the topic of immigration that goes unmentioned, and that is important for an understanding of the question. The very fact that Peters has incorporated articles of such a diversity of opinion as to inflame adherents of either belief—for or against—is proof of the good job he has done." Roy Hillbrook

+ Current Hist 15:164 S '48 850w

Social Studies 39:336 N '48 50w

PETERS, W. A. M. Gerard Manley Hopkins; a critical essay towards the understanding of his poetry. 213p $4.50 Oxford

821 Hopkins, Gerard Manley A48-7358

"The amount of criticism and commentary which Hopkins's poetry has evoked during the last twenty years is the more remarkable when it is remembered that his work in verse consists of no more than fifty poems, mostly sonnets, and some fragments. Only a poet of concentrated originality could have compelled such close attention and still be imperfectly understood. It is to make this difficult but so richly dowered poet more accessible and intelligible that a brother Jesuit, Dr. W. A. M. Peters has searched anew for the clue to Hopkins's peculiar medium of expression and found it in the terms 'instress' and 'inscape' by which he defined his intense awareness of the perfect 'self-bent' of things and of his own relation to their essence." Manchester Guardian

"Dr. Peters's analysis both of the poet's mind and of the nerves and tissue of his verse is acute and penetrating, and throws new light, too, on the laws that govern the language of poetry." H. I'A. F.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 13 '48 210w

"Admirable book. . . Dr. Peters is well equipped for his task. His scholarship shows no taint of pedantry, and his training as a Jesuit, which fits him to expound Hopkins's poetry with full knowledge of its intellectual substructure, appears not to have prevented him from examining it nearly always as might a secular critic." Babette Deutsch

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ja 2 '49 500w

"Father Peters has written exactly the kind of book which was needed. He has evidently studied the poetry of Hopkins with that patient ferocity which would alone be enough to discover what had not been clearly seen before. And though he is very conscious of the interpreters who have preceded him, he has not made a new interpretation only for novelty's sake. What he has done, and done admirably, is to disclose an important and neglected aspect of Hopkins's mind and to give a detailed interpretation of the poetry in the light of this disclosure. . . Father Peters's book is a brilliant exposition of Hopkins's theories and intentions, and a brilliant defence of them. He is wrong only in imagining that they ever were, or could be, put into practice."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p386 Jl 10 '48 3350w

PETERSEN, H. TSCHERNING. Tropical adventure; Sumatra, land of loveliness and stern destiny; tr. by Eugene Gay-Tifft. 275p $3.50 Roy pubs.

919.21 Sumatra—Social life and customs 48-7438

"A Danish adventurer of the 1930's gives a frank picture of the prewar life of a planter in the Indies. The romantic greenhorn was fascinated by the landscape, the animals, the native people and planter population, got a job with some difficulty on an oil palm plantation, and soon fell in with the life of the planter which meant semimonthly payday binges and finding a native wife, as well as supervision of labor." Booklist

Booklist 44:380 Jl 15 '48

Kirkus 16:204 Ap 15 '48 130w

"Mr. Petersen recaptures the romantic mood in which he went to the Indies, re-experiences the ecstasy which their beauty aroused, and relives the grind, the glory and the grossness. It is an adventure in the spirit of Conrad's 'Youth' and, indirectly, a study of the colonial system in the raw." M. C. Hubbard

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 My 30 '48 600w

"It is more in the Halliburton tradition than a realistic current travel book, but romantics who have never been to the East Indies and who will probably never get there will love it." Beach Conger

+ Sat R of Lit 31:39 O 2 '48 110w

PETERSEN, WILLIAM FERDINAND. Man, weather, sun. 463p il $10 Thomas, C. C.

612.0144 Man—Influence of environment. Weather—Mental and physiological effects Med48-52

"In this volume Dr. Petersen carries further his studies of the effect of the weather on man. A set of triplets, two of whom were identical twins, were observed for a period of six weeks during June and July of 1940. Dr. Petersen demonstrates that many of the physiological and mental functions were correlated with the weather and its changes during the six-week period. . . Having established the correlation of physiological and mental functions of the triplets to the weather, the author then correlates their data with certain measurable data concerning the population of the city of Chicago during the same six-week period. . . Having established the correlation of the weather, not only to the data pertaining to the triplets, but also to the population for the six-week period, the author extends his observations to the population and the weather for the entire year of 1940." U S Quarterly Bkl

"The language used in this book is quite foreign to most students of medicine or public health, but seems to have much in common with that used by astrologers." L. J. Goldwater

Am J Pub Health 38:1025 Jl '48 230w

"The book is challenging but not easy reading. It will make you pause and ponder. And that alone is worth while." A. J. Carlson

Am J Soc 54:252 N '48 240w

"Whether or not the author is justified in his conclusions is open to question. This serious study will, however, be of interest to the scientists of the world who are seeking to evaluate all of the factors affecting the life and destiny of man."

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:218 Je '48 380w

PETERSHAM, MRS MAUD (FULLER), and PETERSHAM, MISKA. My very first book. [46p] $3 Macmillan

A baby record book beginning with baby's birth and ending at the fifth birthday.

Christian Science Monitor p6 Ag 7 '48 70w

"Its expensive merchandise for people who expect more from this gifted couple."

Kirkus 16:55 F 1 '48 160w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 4 '48 140w

Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 14 '48 120w

PETERSON, ROGER TORY. Birds over America; il. with 105 phot. by the author. 342p $6 Dodd

598.2 Birds—North America 48-10505

Studies of birds in all parts of the United States, illustrated with many photographs. Besides his own personal adventures in bird hunting, the author includes much technical information. Index.

Booklist 45:100 N 15 '48

Reviewed by R. C. Murphy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 28 '48 700w

"The Peterson bird guides are generally thought of as the most useful handbooks of their kind ever published. . . Because of his unchallenged popular authority, his first full-length book will be seized on with great curiosity and expectation." E. B. Garside

+ N Y Times p24 N 21 '48 230w

"Information about birds and their relationship to man, informatively and charmingly put down by the author-and-artist of the country's best-known bird-identification manuals."

+ New Yorker 24:60 D 25 '48 140w

"The charm of this book is that, in spite of reason, it combines the knowledge and experience of the professional with the innocence and fresh delight of the amateur. . . Bird-watchers all over the country should get a special satisfaction from this book because it relates the adventures of their own souls among the masterpieces of nature." L. J. Halle

+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 D 11 '48 650w

PETTEE, JULIA ENSIGN, comp. List of theological subject headings and corporate church names; based upon the headings in the catalogue of the Library of Union Theological Seminary, New York City. 2d ed 653p $10 A.L.A.

025.3 Subject headings—Theology 47-11827

"In this second edition are 'incorporated the Library of Congress subject headings in theology and an appendix giving historical and descriptive information on all the church bodies in the list.' (Subtitle) Like the first list, published in 1924, this is not a theoretical selection but is a combination of actual working lists. Minutely detailed; for use in large or special libraries." Booklist

Booklist 44:113 N 15 '47

"The list is well planned and easy to use. . . Librarians of theological seminaries who face problems of recataloging will be grateful for such a list. Other seminary librarians and librarians of institutions possessing large collections of religious books will also find it invaluable." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 73:308 F 15 '48 550w

Reviewed by J. E. Newhall

Library Q 18:228 Jl '48 800w

PETTIT, TED. Book of nature hobbies; il. by Don Ross. 280p $3.50 Didier pubs.

574 Nature. Hobbies 47-12249

The purpose of this book is to help the young reader "to find out more about the world of nature, and to have fun doing it." Contents: Exploring nature; Where plants grow; Plants and how they grow; Insects and how they live; Snakes and turtles; Let's go fishing; Bird watching; Our most important animals; Conservation of natural resources. Nature books to read.

Booklist 44:188 Ja 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48

"Simple, strong and explicit illustrations fortify this fine job." R. E. Harrison

+ Commonweal 49:149 N 19 '48 100w

"Mr. Pettit offers more than 200 suggestions for rewarding outdoor pursuits. His directions are clear and well tested and are also illustrated by many informative line drawings. Helpful reading lists add to the usefulness of this guidebook to the outdoor world." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:127 Mr '48 80w

"Excellent for young people, and just the thing for adults beginning to take an interest in nature." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 72:1787 D 15 '47 80w

"Profusely and delightfully illustrated. Ideal for young people, as well as adult amateurs." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:43 Ja 1 '48 30w

"Mr. Pettit, a nature hobbyist and writer of some renown has approached this subject in a way that will attract many to his hobby. Simple, illustrative projects in the various fields of nature study—rocks, soil, forest life, plant life and the various forms of animal life—are used to explain cause and effect in natural cycles. The wide variety of these experiments, all conducted with a minimum of equipment and expense, are well chosen to stimulate interest and supply information. Written primarily for youngsters in a lucid and simple style, this book will nevertheless appeal to the adult." R. S. Robbins

+ N Y Times p15 D 28 '47 150w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 23 '48 120w

PEVSNER, NIKOLAUS. Outline of European architecture. 242p il $5 Scribner

720.94 Architecture 48-10972

"Pevsner interweaves general history with the evolution of architecture. The book might be called an interpretation of European culture as mirrored in its monuments." Nation

"Writing about architectural styles never makes easy reading, and Mr. Pevsner by packing his book with details and facts has made it hard to follow his main thesis—the development of those styles as an expression of a changing Western European attitude towards life." J. W.

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 16 '48 150w

"On the whole the difficult task is surprisingly well done. . . It is impossible to discuss the details of a work so highly condensed. In the narrow fields within my competence I could detect a few flaws: the references of St. Gervais and the Hôtel de Ville in Paris, for instance, are misleading. But the scholarship, although not infallible, is sound." Albert Guerard

PEVSNER, NIKOLAUS—Continued

+ — Nation 167:644 D 4 '48 1150w

"Dr. Pevsner seems happiest with Gothic and Baroque, and it is surprising to find the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, on which he is an authority, so summarily dealt with and inadequately illustrated. (Otherwise, the illustrations are a brilliant collection, and just right in quantity). There are many curiosities of emphasis in this book. Why bring in America, if not Scandinavia? Why, if there is no room for Hawksmoor, Gibbs or Gabriel, refer at length to Gilly, who never built anything? The temptation to exalt the humble and debunk the great is presumably responsible. But one can argue for ever on aesthetic relativity. Better to salute here a book which does add appreciably to the pleasures of the eye; not standing like some beastly Cerberus on the threshold of architecture, but tempting the student, as with the sound of music behind a door, to open it and go inside." Lionel Brett

+ — Spec 181:118 Jl 23 '48 750w

PEYTON, GREEN, pseud. See Wertenbaker, G. P.

PFAFFENBERGER, CLARENCE J. Training your spaniel 203p il $3 Putnam

636.75 Dogs—Training. Spaniels Agr48-154

A guide for the new spaniel owner on the lifetime training of his dog. The lessons are divided into the following sections: A household companion; Hunting; Spaniels are good at obedience; Spaniel field trials and dog shows.

Kirkus 15:569 O 1 '47 70w

"Should be in every library whose juvenile patrons love and own dogs. There is much here of profit for the owner of any dog." J. M. Smith

+ Library J 73:127 Ja 15 '48 50w

Wis Lib Bul 44:79 Ap '48

PFEIFFER, GEORGE, and PFEIFFER, LOUISE, comps. Language through pictures, English, French, Spanish. de luxe ed 276p $2.50 Garden City pub. co.

413 English language—Glossaries, vocabularies, etc. French language—Glossaries, vocabularies, etc. Spanish language—Glossaries, vocabularies, etc. 48-7906

"A short-cut to what the authors call a 'living vocabulary' is the idea behind the more than 2,900 words and expressions listed in English, French, and Spanish besides simple sketches. More than adequate as a prompter for the traveler who has some knowledge of either French or Spanish, possibly a successful crutch for the tourist who has nothing of either language." Sat R of Lit

"For all the skill in classifying the material, it probably would take a smarter tourist than the writer to get by with just this book."

Sat R of Lit 31:39 O 30 '48 90w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 120w

PFEIFFER, HAROLD A. Catholic picture dictionary; il. by R. and K. Wood. 156p $2 Duell

282.03 Roman Catholic church—Encyclopedias and dictionaries 48-5835

Pictures, pronunciations, and definitions of items connected with Roman Catholic church ritual. The arrangement is alphabetical. The two appendices present the story of the Mass and instructions for serving Low-Mass. Word index.

Booklist 44:331 Je 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

Commonweal 47:549 Mr 12 '48 130w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 18 '48 100w

PHELPS, EARLE BERNARD, and others. Public health engineering; a textbook of the principles of environmental sanitation. v 1 pts 1-2 655p $7.50 Wiley

614 Public health. Sanitary engineering (48-4238)

"Comprehensive text dealing with wide variety of subjects relating to problems involved in environmental sanitation and Public Health. Consists of an introductory chapter, 'Man and His Environment,' analyzing environmental contacts and the extent to which they are public health problems, followed by 15 chapters devoted to specific development of the nature, scope and solution of these problems. Divided into two parts, dealing with (1) public health problems as influenced by atmospheric conditions and their effect on man's environmental reactions, with emphasis on nature of such conditions and their corrective measure; and (2) water supplies and water quality, sewage disposal, industrial waste problems and miscellaneous phases of urban and rural sanitation." (Chem Eng) Bibliographies. Index.

"The author has drawn upon his extensive and rich experience acquired during many years of research endeavor and constructive practice in sanitary engineering. Subject matter has been particularly well organized and coordinated, and written with clarity seldom encountered in technical literature. A general reference text valuable to all interested in the subject of public health engineering." S. T. Powell

+ Chem Eng 55:343 N '48 250w

Eng N 141:112 D 9 '48 410w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:78 S '48

PHELPS, EDITH MAY, and ULMAN, RUTH, eds. University debaters' annual; constructive and rebuttal speeches delivered in debates of American colleges and universities during the college year 1946-1947. (V33) 316p $2.25 Wilson, H.W.

374 Debates and debating (16-1455)

"Thirty-third annual volume of notable intercollegiate debates and discussions delivered in American colleges and universities during the college year 1946-1947, followed by bibliographies and briefs. The subjects included are: United Nations, Statehood for Hawaii, Our national labor policy, U.S.-Russian relations, Great Britain-U.S. relations, and Control of atomic power." Wis Lib Bul

Booklist 44:365 Jl 1 '48

Wis Lib Bul 44:61 Mr '48

PHELPS, MARGARET. Regular cowboy; with il. by Evelyn Copelman. 224p $2.50 Macrae Smith co.

48-8611

When Mark's mother died on their trip from Chicago to Phoenix, the eleven-year-old orphan was sent by a sheriff to Silver Spur ranch. The rest of this story for boys tells how Mark learned to be a regular cowboy and a comfort to the ranch owner.

"While this may go to opposite extreme . . . in avoiding the cheap and free use of pseudo-cowboy lingo, and may be tagged as slightly sentimental, there's plenty of authentic routine."

Kirkus 16:479 S 15 '48 130w

"The background of ranch life is well drawn and the characters lifelike and likeable. All boys will thrill with Mark and his adventures. Highly recommended for all children's rooms." M. D. Read

+ Library J 73:1390 O 1 '48 60w

"A moving, understanding, story." Marjorie Burger

+ N Y Times p45 O 17 '48 180w

"The book is written in a simple style but is full of interest. The life on a cattle ranch is portrayed with all the excitement of learning to ride a cow-pony, bronc breaking, a roundup and catching rustlers." Florence Tapples

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 N 28 '48 170w

PHILLIPS, CHARLES JOHN. Glass, the miracle maker; its history, technology, manufacture, and applications. 2d ed 429p il $6 Pitman

666.1 Glass manufacture and trade. Glassware 48-7836

"Revised, bringing up to date this text on all phases of glass industry. Among the new features are descriptions of applications and sections on lamp-working and glass-to-metal seals for production of electronic tubes. Author states that E. B. Shand of Corning Glass Works has completely rewritten the sections on Electrical Properties, Glass-to-Metal Seals, and Limitations of Form and Dimensions for this edition. Chapter references." (Library J) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1941. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1598 N 1 '48 70w

"Some important revisions, for example the rewriting of the material on glass-to-metal seals, have been made; but the proportion of text altered is small. Nevertheless, the type has been reset, and the open book now presents a more attractive appearance."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:55 Jl '48

PHILLIPS, DOROTHY BERKELEY, and others, eds. The choice is always ours; an anthology on the religious way; chosen from psychological, religious, philosophical and biographical sources. 511p $4.50 Smith, Richard R.

208.2 Religion. Mysticism 48-6245

An anthology of excerpts from inspirational writings, selected from writers on religion, theology, philosophy, psychology, etc. They are grouped under three main headings: the way; the techniques; and the outcomes. Suggested reading. Indexes.

Christian Century 65:481 My 19 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. R. Johnson
Churchman 162:16 N 15 '48 170w

"In a time when increasing numbers are becoming sensitive about themselves in relation to the greater world, seen and unseen, a book like this must fill a deep need. It provides sources for regular reflection, methods for spiritual discipline leading to spiritual growth, insights into the interaction of body, mind, and soul. And, best of all, so comprehensive a book permits the seeker to choose for himself." H. M. Gehr
+ Crozer Q 26:90 Ja '49 300w

"This carefully compiled volume is for modern readers interested in the meaning and goal of life and who are convinced 'that there exists an ultimate Reality that is by nature both transcendent and immanent.' The editors note that a belief in God, and in God as dwelling in man, can be traced from Hindu sources, through Greek and Christian thought into our own time. The passages printed make clear this unity of belief linking the earliest religions with modern psychology." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p20 My 23 '48 460w

"This anthology will appeal, not only to ministers and teachers in the field that it covers, but to many others who seek for the spiritual enrichment of their own lives." O. J. Aldrich
+ Springf'd Republican p12B My 16 '48 300w

PICARD, MAX. Hitler in our selves; tr. from the German by Heinrich Hauser; introd. by Robert S. Hartman. 272p $3.50 Regnery; for sale by Devin-Adair

943.086 Germany—Nazi movement 48-449

A diagnosis of the sickness of Western civilization by a Swiss philosopher. "Hitler in Our Selves is concerned with Nazism, not merely as a German phenomenon, but as a reflection of the general crisis of modern man. Picard regards Hitlerism as a terrible warning, and Germany, in a sense, as a sacrifice for the sins of humanity. He analyzes Nazism as a consequence of the spiritual chaos into which modern civilization has fallen: a chaos in which continuity has been destroyed, in which values have become meaningless, in which the individual has been reduced to a nullity." (Publisher's note)

"Picard's book is written with the imaginative power of a believer who searches deep into the present state of modern man. . . The translation from the German by Heinrich Hauser deserves full praise." John Fermatt
+ Cath World 167:90 Ap '48 350w
Commonweal 47:171 N 28 '47 1200w
Foreign Affairs 26:738 Jl '48 30w

PICASSO, PABLO (PABLO RUYS). Desire: a play; tr. from the French by Bernard Frechtman. 63p $2.75 Philosophical lib.

842 48-9007

A farce made up of abstract characters named Big Foot, Onion, Tart, Silence, etc. The famous artist wrote the play in three days during the first winter of the German occupation of Paris.

"Rabelaisian, it will upset many readers. For drama and art collections only." George Freedley
Library J 73:1513 O 15 '48 30w

"It is, of course, and is clearly meant to be, unactable, and largely unreadable; but it is quite funny and there is some entertainment in the picture which it suggests of Picasso in war-time. . . The book should have an interesting reception in Boston, and the better it sells the better the joke." J. W.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 6 '48 180w

"Monumental piece of obscurity." Lewis Funke
N Y Times p9 D 19 '48 360w
New Yorker 24:111 O 30 '48 90w

"I claim that there is hardly a line or a speech in this thirty-minute farrago in six acts that could not have been transposed from its present place to any other part of the text without anyone being the wiser . . . even the most reverent or informed disciple of the master." B. H. Clark
— Theatre Arts 33:78 Ja '49 200w

PICKARD, VERA. Mr Hobbs can fix it; il. by Mary-Amy Orpen. 48p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

48-8297

Story of how Mr Hobbs, the fix-it man, cured a Scottie dog of chasing cars. For grades 1-3.

Booklist 45:74 O 15 '48
Kirkus 16:477 S 15 '48 90w

"Not important, but useful for beginning readers who are ready for a real storybook. Good print and make-up." Marian Herr
Library J 73:1522 O 15 '48 50w

Reviewed by S. C. Gross
N Y Times p43 N 28 '48 130w
Springf'd Republican p12C D 12 '48 70w

PICKERING, JAMES SAYRE. Stars are yours. 264p il $3.95 Macmillan

523.8 Stars 48-8267

"This book about the stars is written especially for the layman. Its emphasis is upon those objects in the sky which any sighted human being can see on a clear night without a telescope. . . Mr. Pickering discusses our solar system—its sun, moons, planets and asteroids—the visiting meteors and comets, our galactic system and the many other galaxies that lie beyond, such celestial phenomena as variable stars and novae, theories of star and planetary formation and the possibility of life on other planets." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

PICKERING, J. S.—Continued

"James Pickering's work written for the layman, might be just another nontechnical book on the stars if it were not for the extraordinary series of sky maps and charts, together with a fine faculty for sifting the maze of astronomical data gathered by professionals in recent years and interpreting its meaning for the amateur stargazer. . . For those who already know their way around above, this book has little to offer. It isn't a tabulated, professional's star catalogue." H. B. Nichols
Christian Science Monitor p14 S 7 '48 550w

"Without sugar coating the scientific pill, the author manages, by an entertaining and easy style, to carry the reader into the mysteries of astronomy, fully and graphically."
+ Kirkus 16:299 Je 15 '48 100w

"General discussion of planets, constellations, and stars is good, the zodiacal constellations very well done. . . The 'folksy' style nevertheless employs many scientific terms, not always clearly explained. Repeated references to white dwarfs as 'late stages of a star' apparently support a largely discarded theory of star evolution. Recent studies of novae make expansion there desirable. Imaginary journey through celestial space is confusing in its arrangement of planets. Chief value would seem to be the charts." Frances Morrison
Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 140w
Wis Lib Bul 44:163 O '48

PICKREL, PAUL MURPHY. Moving stairs. 229p $2.50 Harper
48-5170

Novel about a young girl, Pat, who lived with her grandfather after the death of her grandmother. Things went quite smoothly until Pat's widowed mother came back to live at home. Mother always had a string of admirers. And then Pat, too, fell in love. In the end things turned out right for all of them.

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48
Kirkus 16:317 Jl 1 '48 130w

"An entirely predictable work. They are all here, just as one would expect—the nice old Grampa, the enchanting but morally irresponsible mother of the solemn heroine, the futile town intellectuals, the solid farm boy who will get the solemn heroine. . . It is a world which takes no serious account of the harsh facts of growing up." Ernest Jones
Nation 167:353 S 25 '48 110w

"One of those curiously flat books which never quite get around to saying anything. At the same time, it is competent enough so that the reader tags along, expecting more from the novelist than ever materializes. . . There is some gentle wit in this first novel, and some genuine-sounding conversation. It is unfortunate that the total effect is so negative."
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 S 5 '48 170w

Reviewed by C. M. Brown
Sat R of Lit 31:14 D 11 '48 90w
Wis Lib Bul 44:214 D '48

PIERCE, JOHN ALVIN, and others, eds. Loran; long range navigation [prepared under the supervision of the] Office of scientific research and development, Nat. defense research committee. (Mass inst. of technology. Radiation laboratory ser) 476p il maps $6 McGraw
621.38 Loran 48-6305

"Complete account of the design and use of long-range pulse navigation system, Loran, both its original form and as skywave-synchronized Loran with much discussion on equipment now in operational use. Sections are included on radio propagation at Loran frequencies and on methods for the computation and preparation of Loran navigational charts." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:714 My 1 '48 70w

"The book is the first authoritative and comprehensive treatment of the subject. It contains a large body of new information and is a valuable addition to the literature on radio navigation. Although the volume will be most useful to the specialist, the general reader will find in it much of interest."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:234 Je '48 280w

PIERCE, JOSEPH ALPHONSO. Negro business and business education; their present and prospective development. (Atlanta univ. Publications) 338p $3.50 Harper
325.26 Negroes—Education. Negroes in business. Business education 47-11352

The findings of a study of Negro business and business education, made under the joint sponsorship of Atlanta university and the National urban league, from February 1944 to February 1946. The investigation of business activities describes the background, status and future of enterprises owned and operated by Negroes. The second section of the book is a study of the evolution, present status and problems of business education in Negro colleges and universities. References at the end of each chapter. Index.

Reviewed by E. N. Palmer
Am J Soc 54:383 Ja '49 480w
Reviewed by A. L. Harris
Ann Am Acad 260:238 N '48 800w
Booklist 44:196 F 1 '48
Christian Century 65:514 My 26 '48 100w

"The detailed analysis of the factors involved in the successful operation of a business is of value to every Negro undertaking a new business. . . A text book primarily, but thorough and informed."
+ Kirkus 15:418 Ag 1 '47 120w

"This is easily the definitive work on this subject. . . Highly recommended for all reference collections." L. D. Reddick
+ Library J 72:1191 S 1 '47 100w

"Not only is the volume strongly commendable to students and laymen interested in business and business education, but also deserves the same attention from social scientists, particularly economists and sociologists. Moreover, the book should obviously be on the 'must' list of those engaged in business whether big or small, as well as college teachers in the field of business education." M. C. Hill
+ Social Forces 26:482 My '48 850w

PIERCE, WELLINGTON G. Youth comes of age; drawings by Grayton S. Haff; phot. by Bernard Harris. (Whittlesey house publication) 400p $3.25; text ed $2.60 McGraw
392 Youth 48-6702

A discussion of the adjustments which must be made as youth approaches maturity. Partial contents: Getting along with your family; How the affections mature; Learning to be likable; A sound attitude toward sex; Finding the suitable life-mate; Attaining maturity; Predicting happiness in marriage; Meeting the family crisis. Bibliographies. List of visual aids. Index.

Booklist 44:357 Je 15 '48
Reviewed by R. J. Hurley
Library J 73:1100 Ag '48 130w
School & Society 67:327 Ap 24 '48 10w

"Youth Comes of Age will be welcomed by teachers and counselors of youth in secondary schools and by leaders of young people in churches, community groups, or at any gatherings of an educational nature. This book can be used for independent study, as a textbook, or as supplementary reading for a course or unit in family living within the social-studies curriculum." A. E. Hendricks

+ School R 56:555 N '48 850w

Survey G 39:288 O '48 10w

PIERSON, JOHN HERMAN GROESBECK. Full employment and free enterprise; introd. by Wayne Chatfield-Taylor. 183p $3 Public affairs press

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Unemployment 47-4160

"Thirteen of the author's papers, covering a period from early 1942 to early 1946, are collected here. Their central theme is the assurance of full employment, not by public works—though these should be available as a last resort—but through guaranteeing a market for goods, and attaining this through supporting of consumer income." U S Quarterly Bkl

Reviewed by C. R. Daugherty
Ann Am Acad 256:197 Mr '48 500w

"By its very nature this book cannot offer a smooth, connected flow of thought. The book is somewhat repetitious and has no logical pattern other than the author's personal chronological development. It has, for this reason, a relatively poor style compared with many other serious books on technical economic problems." L. R. Klein

J Pol Econ 55:576 D '47 1100w

Management R 36:299 My '47 180w

"The proposals made here are not likely to find general acceptance. The papers present, however, thought-provoking ideas looking toward the solution of the still unsolved problem of full employment."

U S Quarterly Bkl 3:268 S '47 250w

PIERSON, MRS MARY BYNUM (HOLMES). Graduate work in the South; pub. under the sponsorship of the Conference of deans of southern graduate schools. 265p $4 Univ. of N.C. press

378 Colleges and universities—South. Colleges and universities—Graduate work 47-11677

Summarizes the history of the development of graduate work in the eleven southern states which once constituted the Confederacy. The greater part of the work deals with the years since 1900. Bibliography. Index.

"A well-organized, thoroughly documented, handy volume. . . The volume gives an authoritative account of the history of graduate training in the South." L. R. Wilson

+ Library Q 18:144 Ap '48 1450w

School & Society 66:351 N 1 '47 30w

PIGORS, PAUL JOHN WILLIAM, and MYERS, CHARLES ANDREW. Personnel administration; a point of view and a method. 553p $4.50 McGraw

658.3 Employment management 47-11937

"Basic text for courses which emphasize the psychological approach. Book stresses the philosophy of personnel administration instead of giving a detailed analysis of systems and procedures. Material in the book has been used in the authors' classes at M.I.T. over a period of two and a half years." (Library J) Selected references. Indexes.

Reviewed by Reinhard Bendix
Am J Soc 54:167 S '48 550w

"Taken as a whole, the book makes a very worth-while contribution to the teaching of personnel administration." R. N. McMurry

+ Ann Am Acad 256:199 Mr '48 550w

Booklist 44:213 F 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1379 O 1 '47 60w

"This book can be useful to all who will give its expositions of theory and practice the careful reading they deserve. It should not be restricted to workers in a personnel department. As a reference in helping any executive to a better understanding of some of his human relations problems, the book will prove valuable." H. K. Tootle

+ Management R 37:49 Ja '48 450w

PILCHER, DONALD E. Regency style, 1800-1830. 120p il maps $4.50 Batsford

724.142 Architecture—England. Architecture, Domestic 48-7669

The author defines his period as "an overall dating between 1800 and the early 1830's." His account is of the architecture of that time. "In their suburban and rural designs, Regency architects wedded the house to its surrounding garden, as we are only now beginning to do again, and in the development of row houses, dignified by the name of 'terrace' or 'mall,' they provided an alternative to those countless identical private dwellings, erected at random on an arbitrary gridiron of narrow plots, that were beginning to engulf the comparatively small and stable court cities and market towns of the eighteenth century. Many photographs." New Yorker

"Many readers of Donald Pilcher's Regency Style will be amazed to discover that the discussion of an architectural epoch may be at once scholarly and entertaining. Unlike our architectural historians, Pilcher is not afraid to be amusing. . . This is a Batsford book, and the illustrations live up to their standard of excellence." Wayne Andrews

+ Commonweal 49:234 D 10 '48 390w

"A thorough, charmingly written account."

+ New Yorker 24:106 O 2 '48 160w

Reviewed by James Lees-Milne
Spec 180:442 Ap 9 '48 480w

"One criticism of a useful book applies also to several other modern works of the kind. The text is good, and the illustrations are good within limits, but there is not enough liaison between the two. . . In his text Mr. Pilcher is habitually shrewd in judgment and well informed, so that The Regency Style throws valuable light on the Romantic age, whose predicament had a good deal in common with our own."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p424 Jl 31 '48 1400w

PINCHOT, GIFFORD. Breaking new ground. 522p il $5 Harcourt

B or 92 Forests and forestry—U.S. U.S. Forest service. Conservation of resources 47-11529

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Reviewed by J. J. Flynn
Ann Am Acad 256:196 Mr '48 500w

"Gifford Pinchot's personal story, here told with informal ease, is the story of a life unselfishly devoted to public service." W. E. G.

+ Christian Century 65:177 F 11 '48 130w

"In the strict sense of the word, this is not an autobiography. . . It offers many insights into the character and personality of the writer, yet the picture is not complete—is not meant to be. It also offers interesting and valuable comments on many Americans who played important national roles during the last decade of the nineteenth century and the first decade of the twentieth. For all who wish to know the origins of our fight for conservation, this book is required reading." R. A. Brown

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 28 '48 550w

"Pinchot's volume is the work of a man with a lucid, sensitive mind, an unchanging devotion to the public good—and bulging files of source material. He is honest and personal, unafraid either to confess his own errors or to quote letters and clippings that praise his work. He writes idiomatic plain talk and shows a shrewd sense of human nature." R. G. Lillard

+ Nation 166:162 F 7 '48 1000w

"The story is told informally and sincerely with many anecdotes and free quotations from

PINCHOT, GIFFORD—Continued
Pinchot's diaries, notes and letters. It will interest foresters and conservationists as well as students and historians of the era of Theodore Roosevelt."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:38 Mr '48 280w
Wis Lib Bul 44:81 Ap '48

PINCKNEY, JOSEPHINE. Great mischief. 247p $2.75 Viking
48-6015

A tale of fantasy and witchcraft, of the conflict between Good and Evil, laid in Charleston in the 1880's and reaching a climax in the earthquake of August 31, 1886. The hero is a shy, studious, middle-aged apothecary. After that stormy night when he is visited by a strange young girl who demands a jar of nightshade, Timothy gradually becomes aware of strange doings in the town, he becomes acquainted with witches and even travels to Hell and meets Satan in person.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 181:108 Ap '48 270w
Booklist 44:268 Ap 1 '48

"Miss Pinckney's manipulation of fantasy and reality is skillful, her wit and irony pointed, her flights of imagination the essence of poetry, and yet one can't help wondering why in the mischief, if she wished to escape reality, she didn't choose a pleasanter place than hell to take her devoted reading public. Of course, Miss Pinckney is merely indulging herself in a bit of psychological spoofing and the atmosphere, whether in Charleston or Hades is brilliantly and cleverly contrived."
+ Cath World 167:285 Je '48 300w

"A strange parable, beautifully done."
+ Kirkus 15:684 D 15 '47 250w

"Miss Pinckney is an old and sure hand at describing Charleston; she etches Penelope with certain design and consummate artistry; she knows the kind of man who submits to possession by female relatives, and Timothy personifies the type. But Lucy and Sinkinda and Satan escape her even as she describes them; their evil is not intense; the fingers of their lust do not reach the soul." Thomas Sugrue
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Mr 21 '48 850w

"Fantasy such as Miss Pinckney is using here is difficult. On the one hand, it must not be too gossamer, else it will fail to touch the reader at all; on the other, it must not be too real, else it will lose its enchantment, cease to be fantasy. Miss Pinckney manages to avoid either extreme. She so intermingles the realities of Charleston streets, homes, dinners, seasons and customs with her defiance of the laws of nature that it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between what really happens to Timothy and what he thinks happens." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 21 '48 850w

"Except for one first-rate passage of unadulterated caprice, when the druggist accompanies his friend on an overnight excursion to Hell, the novel . . . is a hopelessly misguided effort to create a fresh dimension in narrative entertainment out of a freehand mixture of incompatible elements."
— + New Yorker 24:97 Ap 3 '48 100w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles
San Francisco Chronicle p19 Ap 11 '48 750w

" 'Great Mischief' will be compared inevitably with Hawthorne, but it has its own atmosphere. . . If 'Three O'Clock Dinner' concerned itself with the world and the flesh in Charleston, 'Great Mischief' presents another part of Charleston and the Devil. Miss Pinckney has much in common with Maum Rachel: 'She was said to have second sight and certainly she had succeeded in making real to his youthful eyes the spirits of the countryside, the ghost-dogs and witch doctors, the mysterious, the enchanting, the unpredictable creatures who lent richness and murk to the earth she trod.' The mysterious, the enchanting, the unpredictable creatures are indeed made real to us here." R. C. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 Mr 27 '48 800w
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 25 '48 150w

"B. O. M. Judges Henry Seidel Canby, Dorothy Canfield, Clifton Fadiman and John P. Marquand have bought a salable name . . . but not a satisfactory novel. Apparently unabashed, they compound their great mischief by bracketing Miss Pinckney with Novelist Nathaniel Hawthorne. This tiresome little witch story, which flirts scrappily with the question of good & evil, is as far from the intent and purpose of Moralist Hawthorne as it is from literature—a considerable distance."
— Time 51:109 Mr 29 '48 400w

PINKERTON, KATHRENE SUTHERLAND (GEDNEY) (MRS R. E. PINKERTON). Bright with silver. 347p il $3.75 Sloane
636.9 Fur farming. Foxes. Fromm family
47-12017

History of fox farming in Wisconsin and a success story combined. The Fromm brothers started fox farming about forty years ago and developed their farm to its present 90,000 animal strength thru years of hard work and intelligent planning. They have experimented with breeding for lighter pelts, and have produced a fine silver fox strain. In their earlier years the Fromms grew ginseng as a cash crop.

Booklist 44:128 D 1 '47
Reviewed by Ben Kartman
Chicago Sun p33 D 8 '47 450w

"A glamour industry, with highly informed fox and mink lore, described in fascinating and dramatic details. . . [The author's] knowledge of the silver fox drama was first evidenced in a story for girls, Silver Strain. She writes well of the north country she knows and loves."
+ Kirkus 15:566 O 1 '47 220w

"Readers who enjoyed Mrs. Pinkerton's Wilderness Wife and Three's a Crew will welcome this new book. Recommended." H. P. Bolman
+ Library J 72:1467 O 15 '47 100w

"Mrs. Pinkerton has set forth in detail a story of dogged perseverance with a Horatio Alger climax. It is a good job of reporting, too. The Fromms don't seem to be a talkative family, but Mrs. Pinkerton doesn't seem to have missed a detail. She really summed it all up in her first sentence: 'Henry Fromm had always liked foxes.' " R. B. Peck
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 21 '47 700w

"Mrs. Pinkerton makes this story of the Fromms who were always 'devising ways of accomplishing the impossible' as exciting as a mystery thriller. The boys and their parents are made very real. The significance of their work is emphasized, how they developed new methods in fox farming, set different standards and 'changed world opinion of beauty in furs.' " Jane Voiles
+ San Francisco Chronicle p20 D 12 '47 550w
Springf'd Republican p8B F 8 '48 180w
Wis Lib Bul 44:20 Ja '48

PINKERTON, KATHRENE SUTHERLAND (GEDNEY) (MRS R. E. PINKERTON). Good partner. 269p $2.50 Harcourt
48-8181

On his way West after the death of his mother, Neal visited his guardian in Wisconsin. Wise Tom Clark, instead of discouraging his ward from his plan of farming on reclaimed desert, offered him a partnership on his mink ranch. They disagreed on breeding methods; but Neal proved hybridization could be successful when their silverblus were sold at highest prices at the New York fur auction. For junior and senior high schools.

Booklist 45:38 S 15 '48

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:219 D '48 50w

Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 10w

Kirkus 16:439 S 1 '48 120w

"Good picture of partnership and hard work involved. Considerable biological theory may make it less popular than others by this author." Eleanor Kidder
+ — Library J 73:1392 O 1 '48 80w

"As a story of a boy's growing up this is excellent; for good measure, it is also a fascinating account of mink farming and mutation breeding. Possibly it has first appeal for the boy or girl with scientific leanings, but it is a good outdoor story for any teen ager." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 N 7 '48 230w

New Yorker 24:135 D 11 '48 80w

"This will be a popular book—and it well deserves to be."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:31 N 13 '48 200w

"The slender romance involved helps lighten the strain of a rather heavy book, though one written primarily for young readers. Mrs. Pinkerton knows wild animals and forest life and her readers get full measure for the time spent with her books." S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 360w

PLAGEMANN, BENTZ. Into the labyrinth. 245p $2.75 Farrar, Straus
48-7956

A novel of a Catholic schoolboy's struggle with the mysteries of sin and guilt. In the forty days of Lent eighteen-year-old Robert Vandermeer quarrels with his girl Laura, is seduced by a married woman, but finally realizes that his salvation rests in his love for Laura.

"Mr. Plagemann had a glimpse of something valid and searching when he started. He had caught hold of the conflict between the interior and exterior arcs of experience, that contest which C. S. Lewis sees as the subtlest of modern temptations for the Christian. Yet though his Catholic tangibilities ring true enough, his angle of vision does not. The meum of the novelist and the tuum of his protagonist are not clearly distinguished." Riley Hughes
— + Commonweal 49:20 O 15 '48 390w

Kirkus 16:268 Je 1 '48 110w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 22 '48 130w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 26 '48 200w

PLANT, RICHARD. Dragon in the forest. 310p $3 Doubleday
48-9466

A picture of life in Germany between the two world wars. Willy Halder, son of a Social-Democrat father, and a sensible, well-born mother, is the protagonist, and Frankfurt-am-Main is the scene. The novel follows the course of Willy's life from 1917, until the burning of the Reichstag when the boy fled to Switzerland.

Booklist 45:193 F 1 '49

Reviewed by Melvin Maddocks
Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 6 '49 600w

"A sincere, authentic portrait of a boy and a period."
+ Kirkus 16:411 Ag 15 '48 230w

"Most events of this first novel are known in a statistical sense to those who follow headlines. The virtue of the story is that it presents them on a deeper, more affecting plane, against a detailed background of everyday German life, arresting both for its differences from and similarities to our own. Plant writes awkwardly but engagingly. This is a substantial tale and Mr. Plant has written it with conviction, passion and drama." Milton Lomask
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ja 9 '49 550w

"The degeneration of a decent German youth movement into the 'Black Reichswehr' and the Hitler Jugend, and the poignant story of Germany's child vagabonds are well dramatized. So is that of the demoralization of Frankfort's stage and other arts in that time of nightmare. The novelist has skillfully made the dreadful police episode of the 'monster of Duesseldorf'—that demoniac killer of 1930 and 1931—an integral part of the story. . . It is good these days to be reminded, in fiction as soundly written as this, not only of the decencies of such Germans as Dr. Halder's family but of the abhorrent things which they either permitted or could not prevent from happening. What makes one ponder as one puts down Mr. Plant's moving novel, is that while its principal figures are plausible, the events through which they move are monstrous and incredible." Morris Gilbert
+ N Y Times p4 Ja 2 '49 900w

"All this makes for a somewhat crowded calendar of historical events and tends to leave many of the characters pretty shadowy. The style is serviceable, if a bit labored."
New Yorker 24:77 Ja 8 '49 140w

"We have here a leaden, plodding, and discursive account of a boy's growth into manhood. No amount of authentic detail about life in Frankfurt during those years of inflation, hunger, and terror ever manages to lift Willy, his family, his friends, to more than heavily-symbolic figures. This is unfortunate, since the purpose has been so entirely serious. . . And, in a way, the book presents a reasonable argument for those who would not place German guilt on a whole population. . . But the story itself becomes only a thin veil for what seems primarily a journalistic task. Almost never do the people emerge vividly." Hollis Alpert
— + Sat R of Lit 32:10 Ja 1 '49 650w

PLATH, IONA. Decorative arts of Sweden. 246p il col il $10 Scribner
745 Decoration and ornament. Arts and crafts 48-9641

A comprehensive survey of the arts and crafts of Sweden, especially those designed for the home. After a chapter on Swedish history, the book is divided into chapters devoted to: textiles, ceramics, metal, glass, wood, and wall paintings. Amply illustrated, with photographs, sketches, line drawings, and thirty-two pages in color.

Booklist 45:154 Ja 1 '49

+ Commonweal 49:406 Ja 28 '49 130w

"One of the handsomest books of the year. . . The decorative arts of Sweden reveal the high esteem in which Swedes hold everything pertaining to the home. And Miss Plath's illuminating book serves to remind us that democratic Sweden is 'not only a rewarding country for those who love beautiful things, it is equally rewarding for those who endeavor to make beautiful things.'" Hudson Strode
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 D 12 '48 800w

"Extremely beautiful book. . . The whole volume, its binding, format, text and illustration, is a thing of beauty. Miss Plath has presented a serious study of a culture stemming for the most part from peasant beginnings, and in so doing has managed to skirt the quaint and the cute." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 D 5 '48 550w

PLATO. Portable Plato; ed. with an introd. by Scott Buchanan. (Viking portable lib) 696p $2 Viking
184.1 48-8959

Contains: The Republic; the Symposium; Protagoras; and Phaedo, in the Jowett trans-

PLATO—Continued
lation. In his introduction the editor shows the relation of Plato's work to the great Greek dramas. Bibliography.

Booklist 45:105 N 15 '48

Kirkus 16:538 O 1 '48 40w

"Scott Buchanan has produced, in 'The Portable Plato,' as sound an introduction to that master as I have ever seen."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p49 D 5 '48 360w

San Francisco Chronicle p29 N 21 '48 90w

School & Society 68:327 N 6 '48 30w

PLENN, ABEL. The southern Americas; a new chronicle. 455p $4 Creative age

980 Latin America—History 48-6040

"A documentary history of Latin America as seen through the eyes of travellers and active participants from colonial times to 1947." (Library J) Bibliographical references. Index.

Booklist 44:280 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by J. F. Thorning
Cath World 167:283 Je '48 700w

Reviewed by Oden and Olivia Meeker
Chicago Sun Ap 13 '48 460w

Reviewed by E. L. Furness
Christian Century 66:146 F 2 '49 600w

Current Hist 14:296 My '48 20w

Kirkus 16:73 F 1 '48 130w

"[Mr Plenn's] documents are well chosen and judiciously edited, and he has so knit the selections together—by means of a beautifully written running commentary—that they present a continuous narrative of unflagging interest. Should be required reading for every student in Latin American history. A must volume for all libraries." Joseph Borome
+ Library J 73:471 Mr 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Wilder
Nation 167:527 N 6 '48 600w

"As a history [the] book is too diffuse in its material and covers too much ground hastily to be anything more than fairly superficial. Furthermore, there are at least two minor complaints to be made against the commentary. In the first place, the author's style often has the rhapsodic quality of the prose found in many documentary films. . . In the second place, his interest in social and political issues occasionally tempts him to write a general editorial attributing his own opinions to the South Americans. . . Since one of the important purposes of the book is to interest North American readers in the story of their southern neighbors—a story which they too frequently ignore—this mixing of drama and narrative skill with the hard facts of one of the world's great struggles for liberty and democracy is the most justifiable kind of popularization." Richard Watts
New Repub 118:25 Mr 29 '48 600w

"It is good enough for the reviewer to want it to be better, for Mr. Plenn is deeply in love with Latin America, knows profoundly its splendid and tragic history, has made on the whole a brilliant selection of representative bits of its amazing chronicle, and his commentary despite its deficiencies, is frequently productive of as much insight as the selection it introduces." B. D. Wolfe
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 18 '48 750w

Reviewed by Mildred Adams
N Y Times p5 Ap 18 '48 470w

"As Mr. Plenn works it out, the book becomes almost unique of its kind, a brilliant and dramatically presented panorama of the Southern Americas from the beginning to date, and fascinating reading." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 21 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 290w

PLIEVIER, THEODOR. Stalingrad; tr. from the German by Richard and Clara Winston. 357p $3 Appleton
48-8870

A fictionized account of the siege of Stalingrad told from the standpoint of the German soldiers who took part in it.

"The most clinically realistic, the most horrifying novel written about modern war. . . A book which bears comparison with All Quiet on the Western Front." C. J. Rolo
+ Atlantic 182:118 D '48 750w

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Chicago Sun O 28 '48 450w

"Herr Plievier . . . makes the Stalingrad disaster a tragedy of individuals as well as a catastrophe of armies. . . The writing is memorable when it is primarily epic. . . When Herr Plievier singles out sergeants and generals from 'the gray mass' and gives them faces and names and backgrounds and even reactions, the narrative remains convincing. But he loses the touch ever so slightly when he probes beneath their surfaces and articulates what they are thinking: it tries the credulity to have the writer an ordinary observer one moment and a omniscient omnipresence the next." Melvin Maddocks
+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 O 16 '48 750w

Reviewed by C. A. Cline
Commonweal 49:124 N 12 '48 550w

"The comparison of this epic account of the German debacle at Stalingrad to All Quiet on the Western Front is inevitable. The extraordinary thing is that it could come so soon. . . A tremendous book. Don't let it be sidetracked."
+ Kirkus 16:405 Ag 15 '48 320w

"A brutal, realistic book, it is not light reading, but contains some very fine writing." Donald Wasson
+ Library J 73:1190 S 1 '48 100w

"The book has merit. There is, for instance, a good working compromise between the treatment of individual and of collective German soldiers fighting in the Russian snows. And further, the writing is not hysterical; the effects are not without being striven after. There is an inner composure which reminds one a little of Remarque's measured sadness in 'All Quiet on the Western Front.' But that is all the composure or quiet there is in this stronger book." Paul Bloomfield
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Je 18 '48 240w

"Before the question of the literary quality of Mr. Plievier's novel, the reviewer must lay down arms. If the profound terror and misery it communicates are a valid measure of its achievement as a piece of writing . . . then it is a quite remarkable literary performance. On the other hand, how good can a novel be the whole of whose impress is simply the force of its horror? There is no complete character in Mr. Plievier's story, just as there is no completed moment of conflict or drama; there is only the completed experience of a not-to-be-thought-of insanity. This can scarcely constitute a conventional critical recommendation." Diana Trilling
Nation 167:555 N 13 '48 1000w

"Chronicled in graceless, block-busting prose, with searing realism and merciless detail, Theodor Plievier's Stalingrad [is] the greatest document yet to come out of World War II. . . But his book is far more than a report; it is an imaginative, dramatized recreation in which dozens of individual soldiers ranging from gravediggers to a penal battalion to the commanding general, as well as the corporate organism of the army itself, play important roles." Alexander Klein
+ New Repub 119:22 N 8 '48 1050w

Reviewed by W. L. Shirer
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 N 7 '48 1450w

"Massive, brilliant and terrible in its relentless detailing of an army's destruction, Theodore Plievier's 'Stalingrad' is the most impressive novel of the second World War yet to appear in Europe." R. G. Davis
+ N Y Times p5 O 17 '48 1200w

New Yorker 24:110 O 30 '48 200w

Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 17 '48 750w

"Plievier gives as harrowing an account of the horrors of war as I have ever read. Nothing is spared. Detail is heaped upon ghastly detail with a kind of stolid objectivity until the cumulative picture is one of madness and chaos. It is a single, sustained note, unrelieved and undeviating." Edmund Fuller
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 O 30 '48 800w

Time 52:98 N 1 '48 400w

"Plievier describes, dispassionately, authentically and with a remorseless but tender poetry, the successive stages of physical and moral disintegration that led up to its annihilation. The book is in every sense a monumental achievement, one in which detail is piled upon detail, horror on horror, with no relief at all. . . Yet the whole book, with its glowing, smoky content, convulsive with the struggles and cries of wounded men, has a power and accuracy, a restraint of feeling and writing, that put it on a level with anything yet written about war."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p413 Jl 24 '48 410w

POE, EDGAR ALLAN. Letters; ed. by J. W. Ostrom. 2v 664p $10 Harvard univ. press
B or 92 48-9083

"Authoritative and virtually complete one-volume collection of 333 letters written by Poe, from 1824, when he was a 15-year-old cadet, to the year of his death in 1849; some proud and high-spirited, some acrimonious, and many more that are deeply pathetic." Library J

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun N 15 '48 410w

Reviewed by Henry Rago
Commonweal 49:381 Ja 21 '49 390w

Current Hist 16:36 Ja '49 50w

"Editorial matter is more than adequate, but book as a whole would best be used in conjunction with Quinn's Poe, to which the reader is in fact often referred, or Hervey Allen's Israfel. . . Chiefly for larger libraries." E. F. Walbridge
Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 100w

"An edition such as the present was urgently called for. Obviously the result of long and exhaustive labors, it is provided with elaborate critical apparatus. For each letter there is a note indicating source, first appearance in print, reasons for conjectural dating when that is necessary, etc. There are also bibliographies and a check list which includes letters inferable but not extant. Almost certainly this job will never need to be done again and the book is an indispensable tool for any student of Poe's life." J. W. Krutch
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 D 19 '48 2300w

"In this new edition, the editorial ineptness and the deliberate alterations or omissions which marred many of the earlier published letters have been emended and, as far as circumstances permit, the texts printed as Poe actually wrote them—even to punctuation and spelling. To accomplish this, Professor Ostrom has utilized every accessible original letter by Poe." A. C. Gordon
+ N Y Times p1 D 19 '48 600w

"The present collection is the first in which are assembled all Poe's known letters, including many never before published. They have been printed, when possible, from the original texts. It is an admirable piece of scholarship and an indispensable book for anyone interested in Poe."
+ New Yorker 24:147 N 13 '48 180w

Time 52:108 N 8 '48 850w

POETS at work; essays based on the modern poetry collection at the Lockwood memorial library, University of Buffalo, by Rudolf Arnheim [and others]; introd. by Charles D. Abbott. 186p $2.75 Harcourt
821.09 English poetry—History and criticism. American poetry—History and criticism. Creation (literary, artistic, etc.)
48-5089

"At Buffalo University, there has been founded in the Lockwood Memorial Library, a collection of the 'work sheets' as well as a complete set of the published works of English poets. . . The project was launched by Prof. Charles Abbott, and the major portion of the book consists of four essays appraising the work of Dr. Abbott and his associates. The first . . . is by Donald Stauffer of Princeton. He picks lucid examples of 'worksheets', laboriously gathered from often reluctant poets, and indicates the value of studying the process of growth in a poem. . . The next article is a brilliant one by Karl Shapiro, who elusively takes up the same point and manages to say many illuminating things about poetry in general. The third is by Rudolf Arnheim, professor of psychology at Sarah Lawrence, who suggests that the undertaking is one phase of our interest in our own thought processes. In the last essay, Mr. Auden mockingly begs the issue and sets down a few witty aphorisms about poetry, poets, advertising, the 20th century, etc." Kirkus

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun p36 F 16 '48 90w

Christian Century 65:913 S 8 '48 280w

"This book is of particular interest to poets as it introduces the first known laboratory collection of twentieth century poetry. . . Doubtless one of the most valuable services such a collection can render is to show the beginner how the experienced writers search and toil to find the right word or phrase, the right form. There was some talk, in the beginning, of using microfilm to make the collection available to other libraries and educational institutions. It could become world-wide in its usefulness." Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 31 '48 750w

"It is a heartening thing to see in this book the modern mind so many times doubting, hesitating, turning upon its materials and upon itself, and yet, somehow, finally rising." Warren Ramsey
+ Commonweal 48:309 Jl 9 '48 1100w

"The book is provocative. It will be read and discussed by poets, students, sociologists, museum folk."
+ Kirkus 16:19 Ja 1 '48 290w

Reviewed by Gerald McDonald
Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 160w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
Nation 166:637 Je 5 '48 1300w

Reviewed by Robert Fitzgerald
New Repub 118:32 Ap 26 '48 220w

Reviewed by G. F. Whicher
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 F 22 '48 600w

"Of the four essays, the most rewarding is Mr. Shapiro's 'The Meaning of the Discarded Poem,' a discussion of the poetic act, copiously and intelligently illustrated by the examination of the worksheets of poems by Spender, William Carlos Williams, and Hart Crane. This is a lucid essay, written with tact and humility. . . As for Mr. Arnheim's 'Psychological Notes in the Poetic Process,' the worst that can be said is that the fearsome jargon which he has chosen to employ does not quite conceal from the layman a sympathetic and subtle intelligence at work upon poetry. . . Mr. Abbott's introduction is a warm, appealing account of the genesis of his project and the vicissitudes through which he and his associates have passed in realizing it." Dudley Fitts
+ − N Y Times p4 Ja 25 '48 650w

"This is rich material for all students of poetry. The worksheets not only throw light on a particular poem and poet, but give a vivid idea of the poetic use of language and the rigors of craftsmanship. They reveal the hard thinking of the poet as he strives for a kind of exactitude that is different from the exactitude of science but no less disciplined. They should dispel the popular misconceptions of poetry as a spontaneous expression of beautiful feelings, or an overflow of fine frenzy, or an escape from 'reality,' or a fancy-free

POETS at work—Continued
play with words. They suggest that writing poetry is essentially a quite normal, rational, controlled activity." H. J. Muller
+ Poetry 72:311 S '48 2050w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 13 '48 170w

"The book is well worth having for the sake of any one of its parts." Robert Hillyer
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Mr 20 '48 360w

" 'Poets at Work' is of enormous value in helping to understand the process of poetic creation." Ephraim Fischoff
+ Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 360w

Time 51:85 F 2 '48 950w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:134 Je '48 320w

POLITI, LEO. Juanita [pictured by the author]. [31]p $2 Scribner
48-1509

Picture book describing how Juanita, a little Mexican girl of Olvera street in Los Angeles, celebrated her birthday and "the blessing of the animals" on the day before Easter. Includes music for three songs: Las mañanitas, La paloma and Duérmete niña.

Booklist 44:302 My 1 '48

Chicago Sun Ap 10 '48 100w

"An exquisite book, with a quality of purity which lingers after you are through like an immense peaceful benediction." C. H. B.
+ Commonweal 49:146 N 19 '48 120w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 24:173 My '48 200w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:190 My '48 80w

"Good merchandise as well as sound regional interest for libraries."
+ Kirkus 16:169 Ap 1 '48 110w

Reviewed by A. E. Kirkland
Library J 73:716 My 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Mr 21 '48 180w

"Birthday party and the charming old Easter custom are described in felicitous prose, lightly sprinkled with Spanish words which children can easily understand from the context. The pictures are in many subtly combined colors and are full of details which bring to life this colorful neighborhood." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p33 Mr 28 '48 140w

New Yorker 24:125 D 11 '48 50w

"On the day before Easter there is a blessing of the animals in Olvera Street in old Los Angeles. Leo Politi has never made lovelier pictures than these in this book that show this enchanting procession of children with their pets winding along Olvera Street. . . This is a picture book that can be given a place of honor on the spring list."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Ap 10 '48 200w

POLLOCK, JAMES KERR, ed. Change and crisis in European government; contributors, John N. Hazard [and others]. 253p $3.50; text ed $2 Rinehart
342.4 Europe—Politics 47-5768

Papers on constitutional and political developments in European countries, presented at the 1946 meeting of the American science association. Contents: Constitutional problems in the U.S.S.R., by J. N. Hazard; Constitutional development in the Danubian area, by Andrew Gyorgy; Political reconstruction in Germany, zonal and interzonal, by Karl Loewenstein; Germany under military occupation, by J. K. Pollock; Constitutional developments in Austria, by Erich Hula; The constitutional problem in France, by R. K. Gooch; The proposed Italian constitution, by Mario Einaudi; Scandinavian political and constitutional development, by R. V. Peel; Government and politics in the Netherlands during reconstruction, by S. J. Eldersveld; Postwar politics in Great Britain, by L. H. Laing. Index.

"A welcome collection of papers. . . On the whole, it provides a well-rounded and most useful picture of postwar (as well as some wartime) constitutional and political developments in Europe." J. B. Mason
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:159 F '48 750w

Reviewed by H. R. Shields
Ann Am Acad 255:193 Ja '48 550w

Booklist 44:196 F 1 '48

Foreign Affairs 26:568 Ap '48 20w

"Of particular interest to students of contemporary history and government, the book will also be of value to the general reader as a source of reference."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:379 D '47 240w

POLNAY, PETER DE. See De Polnay, P.

POPE, LISTON, ed. Labor's relation to church and community; a series of addresses. (Inst. for religious and social studies. Religion and civilization ser) 182p $2.50 Harper
331 Labor and laboring classes—U.S. 47-5064

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"This volume is an important sociological document. Most readers will find themselves in sympathy with much of what is said; perhaps few will agree with all points of view expressed. Apart from any question of agreement or disagreement the viewpoints expressed are important because they are representative of the thinking of men and women who influence the contemporary labor movement." L. C. Brown
+ Am Soc R 13:110 F '48 700w

"It is, of course, a one-sided presentation, intentionally so. The writers constantly put labor's 'best foot forward.' It is a statement of labor's ideals, hopes, and aims in its larger relationships. Such a statement, though one-sided, is, of course, useful." J. H. Bentley
+ — Ann Am Acad 255:209 Ja '48 220w

"These lectures in many cases were obviously delivered extemporaneously. Edited by Professor Liston Pope and able stenographic assistants, they are on the whole warm human documents of persons who have made the labor movement the equivalent of a religious experience. They may tend to stress one particular aspect to the exclusion of others, and some statements and interpretations are subject to qualification. But every minister may well read this book. If he can improve upon it in word or action, society will be the gainer, and the vitality and adaptability of religion will once more be demonstrated." Earl Cranston
+ Crozer Q 25:180 Ap '48 600w

J Philos 45:219 Ap 8 '48 220w

Reviewed by Victor Obenhaus
J Religion 28:227 Jl '48 500w

POPE-HENNESSY, JOHN. Sienese quattrocento painting. 33p il 93pl $6 Oxford
759.5 Paintings, Italian 48-2436

A collection of Sienese fifteenth century paintings preceded by an essay describing the period and the works illustrated.

Booklist 44:364 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by Christopher Fremantle
Commonweal 48:504 S 3 '48 220w

"This is a delightful picture book; the half-tone reproductions are much clearer and more satisfactory than the photogravures in some similar books. Mr. Pope-Hennessy explains and interprets well though he assumes a good deal of knowledge in the reader. Two small points: Why are sizes not given in inches, and is it not time we stopped calling the fifteenth century 'the quattrocento,' whatever Italians do?" S. B.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 25 '48 120w

Reviewed by David Carritt
New Statesman & Nation 36:357 O 23 '48 650w

"This volume is more than the mere picture book to which some of this series aspire. Mr. Pope-Hennessy's introduction is the clear and discriminating account of Sienese fifteenth-century painting which one expects from the author of the definitive studies of Sassetta and Giovanni di Paolo." L. J. Wathen
+ N Y Times p9 Jl 4 '48 370w

"This book, with its hundred full-page plates, gives a thorough survey of the work [of the fifteenth century Sienese painters], and the brief prefatory essay is vivid and informative."
+ New Yorker 24:100 Mr 6 '48 80w

Reviewed by J. T. Soby
Sat R of Lit 31:44 O 9 '48 30w

"This book, like so many bearing the famous imprint of Phaidon, must inevitably find a place on the shelves of both painters and connoisseurs." Michael Ayrton
+ Spec 180:594 My 14 '48 500w

"A brief reference to the remarkable decline of Sienese painting might have enabled the reader to appreciate more vividly what the more attractive artists of the period gained by rejecting 'crude evolutionary standards.'"
Times [London] Lit Sup p300 My 29 '48 800w

POPOWSKI, BERT. Hunting small game. 225p il $2.95 Macmillan
799.2 Hunting Agr48-13

"A hunter-author discusses hunting the cotton-tail rabbit, the snowshoes, the white-tailed jack rabbit, European hares, squirrels, prairie dogs, and woodchucks—their distribution, habits, how to hunt them as well as the care and preparation of game for the kitchen." (Wis Lib Bul) Index.

Kirkus 15:638 N 15 '47 100w

"Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 30w
Wis Lib Bul 44:38 F '48

POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO. Farm manual. 288p il $3 Pop. mechanics
631.1 Agricultural engineering. Agricultural machinery Agr48-163

How-to-do-it articles for the farmer reprinted from the Popular mechanics magazine and grouped under the following chapter headings: Farm machinery and implements; Farm workshop, equipment, repairs; Poultry and livestock; Vegetable storage and processing; Farm home, improvement and maintenance; Farm hints and kinks. Index.

Booklist 44:229 Mr 1 '48
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:714 My 1 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:60 Jl '48
"Essential in all small libraries."
Wis Lib Bul 44:131 Je '48

POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO. What to make for children. 110p il $2 Pop. mechanics
680 Handicraft. Toys 48-5505

"'175 projects for father to build for son and daughter.'—Subtitle. Specifications for furniture, toys, and indoor and outdoor play equipment; also suggestions for safety devices in a home where there are children." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 44:230 Mr 1 '48
Reviewed by Elizabeth Johnson
Library J 73:486 Mr 15 '48 50w
Reviewed by R. S. Robbins
N Y Times p51 D 5 '48 70w
Wis Lib Bul 44:80 Ap '48

PORTEOUS, CLARK. South wind blows. 192p $2.50 Current bks.
48-2894

A story of a lynching in a small Mississippi town, set forth by a young reporter in interviews with various people—members of the mob, the Negro boy's family, businessmen and others.

Reviewed by H. T. Kane
Chicago Sun Je 29 '48 420w
Kirkus 16:175 Ap 1 '48 200w

"A fascinating and intelligent book and one that many people ought to read. Recommended." Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:813 My 15 '48 80w

"The jacket blurb defines 'South Wind Blows' as 'a portrait of the whole South.' A more trustworthy phrase would be a portrait of some localities in the South. . . Because this painting of things as they are in Kilton is entirely somber, it should be hung inconspicuously for aliens and Northern Americans whose sole concept of the South might crystallize from it and spotlighted for urban Southerners who do not know the chemical content of their own hinterland." W. T. Hedden
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Je 13 '48 550w

"Though Mr. Porteous' intentions are of the most admirable, he has not organized his material into a gripping story. Narrative and personality conflict, which could reveal in exciting ways the representative attitudes of the townsfolk, are sacrificed to unmoving anthropological case histories. Only in the last three chapters, with the widow of the murdered man, the widow and the father of the lynched man, do we get back from the explicit editorials to emotion and story-telling. Even the most sincere and worthy of propaganda novels fails to convince and thus to do its job when it fails at fictional artistry; and that, unfortunately, is the failure of Mr. Porteous' novel." Hubert Creekmore
— + N Y Times p15 Je 27 '48 360w

PORTEUS, STANLEY DAVID. Restless voyage. 257p $2.75 Prentice-Hall
Campbell, Archibald—Fiction 48-9100

A novel of life at sea and in the Hawaiian islands in the early nineteenth century. The story is based on the autobiography of Archibald Campbell written and first published more than one hundred years ago.

"This makes an interesting salt water tale, as well as a period account, and is for the collector of true sea adventure."
+ Kirkus 16:461 S 1 '48 150w

"Rearranging material and phrasing, Mr. Porteus has put out a gusty novel (for novel is what it is), with plenty of action throughout."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 21 '48 170w

"Since 'The Restless Voyage' is a first-person story with Campbell, of course, as the narrator, one wonders how much of its often excellent prose should be ascribed to Campbell and how much to Dr. Porteus. A critic who feels he ought to know whom exactly he is praising, or blaming, when he is reviewing a book can only, in this instance, secure a copy of Campbell's original text and find out—which done, he is in a position to say that the palm should go to Dr. Porteus. Campbell's own account . . . is an honest piece of work, but it is far from an exciting one. 'The Restless Voyage,' on the other hand, is never dull, and it contains many really stirring pages." Philip Hewitt-Myring
+ N Y Times p22 D 12 '48 500w

POSIN, DANIEL Q. Mendeleyev; the story of a great scientist. (Whittlesey house publication) 345p il $4.50 McGraw
Mendeleev, Dmitrii Ivanovich—Fiction
48-9043

Fictionized biography of the Russian scientist Mendeleyev who created the periodic table of the elements. The appendices include a list of his principal published works and a bibliography. Index.

POSIN, D. Q.—Continued

Booklist 45:135 D 15 '48

Reviewed by O. D. Hormel
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 180w

Reviewed by Rod Nordell
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 900w

"There's a chance to interest laymen in a great personality in the field of science through this fictionized biography. . . There was so much richness to the man's life that we can forgive the author's over-sentimental, sprawling style, if it somehow suits the colorful, mystic, sensual background of 19th century feudal Russia where he grew up—and in whose transformation he exerted so profound an effect."
Kirkus 16:462 S 1 '48 250w

"While [this biography] provides a readable story, it fails to reveal its hero as a living personality, and adds little to what is already known regarding the man who first recognized and enunciated the periodic law of the elements. The author has obviously made a thorough study of available sources and has adhered to facts, but his imaginative embellishments of these facts have resulted in neither an absorbing work of fiction nor an outstanding biography. Book's chief merit is that it will introduce to many English-speaking readers the tremendous accomplishments of this pioneer worker in the field of modern science." J. E. Brown
— + Library J 73:1383 O 1 '48 150w
Nation 167:673 D 11 '48 20w

"Dr. Posin has written it in a sweeping style which pleases and amuses while it shares all at once the grandiloquence, the astonishing breadth and the farmer's homeliness of the people and the times it describes." Philip Morrison
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p27 N 21 '48 1000w

Reviewed by E. B. Garside
N Y Times p33 N 14 '48 850w

"No matter on what page the reader opens this biography of Mendeleyev, one of the greatest figures in the annals of chemistry, it looks like a novel. . . A biography so written makes livelier reading than if it were more didactically treated, but doubts constantly arise in the mind of a critical reader. . . There is no question that Dr. Posin's biography holds the interest and that it links a great man with his social times and background. Despite his occasional chasing of stylistic affectations . . . Dr. Posin writes well and with a command of English remarkable in one who may have had difficulty in shaking off the Russian idiom." Waldemar Kaempffert
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:28 D 4 '48 650w
School & Society 68:272 O 16 '48 30w

POST, CHARLES GORDON, and others, eds. Basic constitutional cases; with introd. notes by [the editors]. 312p $2.50 Oxford

342.73 U.S. Supreme court. U.S.—Constitutional law. Law—Reports and digests
48-2348

"This collection of cases is intended primarily for use in the introductory course in American government and is designed to supplement the standard texts. Its object is to introduce the student to a study of cases, and to give him a deeper understanding and appreciation of the significance of courts and case-law in the American system of government. It is not the editors' intention to cover or even to touch upon, however briefly, the entire field of constitutional law, or to include the last word of the Supreme Court on any particular constitutional question. In 1946 Vassar College published Twenty Cases on the Constitution, a small collection of Supreme Court opinions edited by the present collaborators. . . The present book is in no sense a reissue of Twenty Cases on the Constitution, for it not only includes thirty-one cases instead of twenty, but also the organization of the material has been changed so completely as to make of this a virtually new presentation." (Pref) No index.

Reviewed by R. J. Harris
Ann Am Acad 259:181 S '48 350w

"The purpose of the authors is to give a deeper comprehension of the part played by courts and case-law in our governmental system. This volume will serve as a welcome addition to the collateral reading list for courses in American history and government, constitutional law, and similar courses." J. F. Santee
+ Social Studies 39:327 N '48 300w

POST, MRS MARY (BRINKER). Annie Jordan, a novel of Seattle. 280p $3 Doubleday
48-6153

The saga of beautiful, red-haired Annie Jordan, as she progressed from the Seattle waterfront to the best section of town. When tragedy struck Annie returned to the waterfront. The time is from 1889 to 1917.

"Romantic melodrama, on a superficial level, but competent in handling, authentic in background, except for occasional modernisms that strike a wrong note."
+ — Kirkus 16:32 Ja 15 '48 110w

"Most women will enjoy it thoroughly. Characters are absorbingly human and quickly become real, as does the booming western city in the first part of the 20th century. A gripping, melodramatic story. Recommended." A. S. Whitmore
+ Library J 73:473 Mr 15 '48 70w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 70w

"Social-minded critics may note the absence of such controversial elements as the I.W.W. and the shipping unions. But Annie Jordan's story should please many a Seattle-ite and all those ladies who never leave a double feature with a dry hanky." R. M.
N Y Times p16 My 23 '48 500w

POTTER, EDITH LOUISE. Fundamentals of human reproduction; il. by Alvin W. Meyer. 231p $3.50 McGraw

612.6 Reproduction Med48-70

The book is divided into four sections. "The section on background deals with early forms of animal life, general pattern of reproduction, factors responsible for body form and number of offspring. The second section covers sex organs and their function, development of the blastocyst and formation of the placenta and a survey of embryonic and fetal development. Thirteen chapters devoted to development of the various organs form the third part, and the fourth section is devoted to the infant." (Am J Pub Health) Bibliography. List of visual aids. Index.

"Compact, dynamic book. . . The material is very readable and reflects the author's excellent performance as a lecturer. Use of simple analogies, colorful language and interesting comments regarding the rational bases of developmental changes help not only in making all development seem logical and understandable but easier to remember. . . Maternal and child health directors and public health nurses and all others interested in a clear, concise, and interesting text on human reproduction will find this a good addition to their libraries." Marion Hotopp
+ Am J Pub Health 38:1589 N '48 250w
School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 20w

POTTER, PITMAN BENJAMIN. Introduction to the study of international organization. 5th ed rev & enl 479p $4.50 Appleton

341 International cooperation 48-6282

"A revised edition still emphasizing the historical aspect of international institutions, and expanded with material on the United nations." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

"In a field where so many well-meaning people have written so many misleading books, it is refreshing to read an author who combines common sense and a certain idealism with historical perspective. . . This is a good book, a good introductory text. It deserves wider circulation than the normal textbook market, however. Many who have left collegiate halls long ago could read it with interest and profit." W. J. Ronan

+ Ann Am Acad 259:170 S '48 400w

Booklist 44:317 My 15 '48

School & Society 68:64 Jl 24 '48 10w

POTTER, STEPHEN. Theory and practice of gamesmanship; il. by Frank Wilson. 128p $2.50 Holt

827 Games [A48-3058]

Humorous little essays on the gentle "art of winning games without actually cheating." Glossarial index.

"All this would be utter nonsense were it not at the same time perfectly delightful and true." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 182:100 Jl '48 360w

"Although a predisposition toward British humor is a valuable asset in appreciating this invaluable 'Art of Winning Games Without Actually Cheating', there is nothing to scare off any games' participant who has decided he can talk his opponent out of winning. . . Plus sale (if a bit expensive) for an audience that will admit its special humor. And it really is funny!"

+ Kirkus 16:295 Je 15 '48 240w

"It is one of the brightest, wittiest, most amusing, pomp-deflating and bunk-dispelling parodies that I have had the good fortune to read these many years." C. E. M. Joad

+ New Statesman & Nation 35:99 Ja 31 '48 1200w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p10 Jl 1 '48 550w

"As might be expected in any situation where the author squeezes the last ounce of humor out of situations which are not, in their nature, necessarily funny, Mr. Potter's elaborations sometimes spill over into tedium. However, it is repectfully submitted that in the field of humor Mr. Potter has clearly demonstrated that he knows, as did Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley, the difference between corn and caviar." Dillon Anderson

Sat R of Lit 32:21 Ja 8 '49 550w

Time 52:93 S 6 '48 800w

POUND, EZRA LOOMIS. Cantos. [538p] $5 New directions

811 48-4633

"For more than twenty years Ezra Pound has been at work on a monumental poem of epic scale—The Cantos. . . The present volume brings together all the Cantos which have been completed to date. 'A Draft of XXX Cantos,' 'Eleven New Cantos,' 'The Fifth Decad of Cantos,' and 'Cantos LII-LXXI' are reprinted here, and to them are added 'The Pisan Cantos.'" Publisher's note

"The moral universe of the Divine Comedy was orthodox, graded, and public, firmly conceived to its uttermost corner; and this of Pound's is quite a different thing. But at their least valuation I submit that these cantos in which light and air—and song—move so freely are more exhilarating poetic sketch books, 'Notes from the Upper Air,' than can be found elsewhere in our literature." Robert Fitzgerald

New Repub 119:31 Ag 16 '48 1750w

"Pound's sense of language is inferior to none, in spite of his large abuse of it. He is sometimes betrayed by a desire to make English do the work of the Chinese ideographs with which the text is peppered, and there are long dull stretches in which he rambles on, mulling over memories of men and books, trivial anecdotes, old animosities, talking unintelligibly to himself. But the best passages in the Cantos, which move between verse as speed and verse as song, are, in either genre, supreme." Babette Deutsch

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 22 '48 550w

"The whole design is gradually becoming plain. Pound's apparent intention is to present 'ideas in action'; the living ideas of the past to counteract the dead ideas of the modern world, in which usury has triumphed." Lloyd Frankenberg

+ N Y Times p14 Ag 1 '48 350w

Reviewed by Louise Bogan
New Yorker 24:107 O 30 '48 480w

Reviewed by W. V. O'Connor
Sat R of Lit 31:15 S 4 '48 400w

Time 52:110 O 25 '48 850w

Reviewed by L. L. Martz
Yale R n s 39:144 autumn '48 1100w

POUND, EZRA LOOMIS. Pisan Cantos. 118p $2.75 New directions

811 48-4592

"These ten Cantos, called 'The Pisan Cantos' because they were composed when the poet was incarcerated in a prison camp near Pisa, are the most recent additions to the monumental epic poem on which Pound has been at work for more than twenty years. . . Written entirely out of memory . . . they are more autobiographical than many of the earlier sections." Publisher's note

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun Ag 9 '48 650w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
Nation 167:349 S 25 '48 650w

Reviewed by Robert Fitzgerald
New Repub 119:21 Ag 16 '48 1750w

Reviewed by Babette Deutsch
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 22 '48 550w

Reviewed by Lloyd Frankenberg
N Y Times p14 Ag 1 '48 350w

"Pound's imprisonment in Pisa seems to have brought him back to art and to life. 'The Pisan Cantos' shows a new sense of proportion. He begins to feel pity and gratitude, and he begins to smile wryly, even at himself. I cannot think of any other record by an artist or a man of letters, in or out of prison, so filled with a combination of sharp day-to-day observation, erudition, and humorous insight." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 24:107 O 30 '48 480w

Reviewed by Reed Whittemore
Poetry 73:108 N '48 900w

Revewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p11 N 7 '48 160w

Reviewed by W. V. O'Connor
Sat R of Lit 31:15 S 4 '48 400w

Reviewed by L. L. Martz
Yale R n s 38:144 autumn '48 1100w

POUND, ROBERT V. Microwave mixers; with a chapter by Eric Durand; ed. by C. G. Montgomery [and] D. D. Montgomery [prepared under the supervision of] Office of scientific research and development, Nat. defense research committee. (Mass. inst. of technology. Radiation laboratory ser) 381p $5.50 McGraw

621.384136 Radio—Short wave. Radio receivers 48-712

"Volume 16 in the Massachusetts Institute Radiation Laboratory Series deals with the microwave portions of receivers for very high frequency waves. The conversion frequency problem is treated and practical and balanced mixers are described. Schemes are described for maintaining a constant absolute frequency of the local oscillator as well as those for stabilizing to a constant frequency difference between the transmitter and local oscillator. Manual for engineers and technicians." (Library J) "Because the frequency of the local oscillator determines the sensitive frequency of the mixer, automatic frequency control has been considered to be closely related to the mixer; for this reason, the chapter on this subject by Eric Durand has been included in this volume." (Pref) Index.

POUND, R. V.—Continued

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:481 Mr 15 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:22 Ja '48
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:234 Je '48 350w

POWELL, DAWN (MRS JOSEPH R. GOUSHA). Locusts have no king. 286p $3 Scribner
48-6638

A satirical novel about New York's night life and literary crowd. Frederick Olliver, an obscure writer with a love of solitude, nevertheless links up with a name magazine, gets involved with two women, and suffers some shattering disillusionments.

"Those who like Dawn Powell will find her in full voice, sharp, bitter, worldly as it may be."
Kirkus 16:64 F 1 '48 190w

"No problems are solved but we get a look at ourselves and our foibles and are amused rather than embittered, for, as in previous novels, author points up frailties without hammering at a thesis." Elizabeth Nichols
+ Library J 73:651 Ap 15 '48 70w

"There are many wonderful things in Miss Powell's book, such as her admirers have come to expect in her work. . . The novel as a whole, however, quite fails to sustain the excitement promised by its best moments." Diana Trilling
— + Nation 166:611 My 29 '48 1000w

"The follies at which Miss Powell pokes such ribald and satiric fun are in a manner of speaking your follies too. For the rootlessness of these typical Manhattanites, and their want of serious purpose in life larger than the single, selfish one of getting on and up in the world, are certainly everywhere the weaknesses of these our times. Miss Powell spreads them out before you in bounteous array." F. H. Bullock
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 My 2 '48 850w

"If the art of satire at Miss Powell's hand is less baleful, knife-edged and glittering than when Mr. Evelyn Waugh puts his hand to it, it is equally relevant, and more humane. . . If Miss Powell dissects her specimens at the level of their foibles and fantasies, the reader is none the less reminded that it is at this level most of us appear to live. The combination of a waspish sense of satire with a human sense of pathos results in a novel that is highly entertaining and curiously touching." A. S. Morris
+ N Y Times p6 My 9 '48 750w

"Most of the people and institutions the author holds up for examination have, of course, been publicly gutted many times before, though rarely with comparable precision."
New Yorker 24:101 My 1 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 13 '48 200w

"So many sparks of witty observation kindle the pages of Miss Powell's lively comedy of postwar Greenwich Village and its cultural environs that one reads on and on, fascinated and inquisitive for more. Not for the story certainly; that is commonplace enough. . . The secret of the hold on our interest, I imagine, is simply that Dawn Powell is running this show; whatever her faults as a novelist, she will not say anything uninteresting about her characters nor allow them for long to try the patience of a reader." J. C. Fuller
+ Sat R of Lit 31:19 My 15 '48 700w

POWERS, ALFRED. Prisoners of the Redwoods; an adventure story of San Francisco and the northern California coast in the fifties. 246p $2.50 Coward-McCann
48-4959

"In the early 1850's when men were making quick fortunes in the California gold fields . . . two teen-age boys left San Francisco in search of adventure. . . Among giant trees, centuries old, the two boys found disillusionment, hard work and danger, mystery and conflict. Through perseverance and courage they finally achieved financial security, a vocation, and self-dependence." Sat R of Lit

"A solider book than most of this type."
+ Kirkus 16:338 Jl 15 '48 170w

"Writing is uneven, but the better passages may hold the young reader's interest sufficiently to carry him over the dull places. Background is authentic and the feeling of the greed for gold which dominated the period is well presented." Margaret Ward
+ — Library J 73:1200 S 1 '48 80w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 N 14 '48 340w

"This is a story unusual in its approach, rapid and dramatic in its presentation, satisfying in plot." R. A. B.
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 N 13 '48 130w

PRATT, CAROLINE. I learn from children; an adventure in progressive education. 204p $2.75 Simon & Schuster
372.9747 New York (city). City and country school
48-4040

"In the early 1890's, Miss Pratt—then an unorthodox young graduate of Teachers College in New York—began to experiment with educational procedures in an effort to determine how the school might sustain that inquisitive spark which is the natural endowment of every child. Today, more than half a century later, the distinguished principal emerita of New York's City and Country School looks back on her life and relates the progress of her quest." Sat R of Lit

Booklist 45:99 N 15 '48
Reviewed by Ruth Crowley
Chicago Sun S 13 '48 140w
Reviewed by S. W. McKee
El School J 49:178 N '48 850w

"The marketability of this is not simple. Those who cling to the traditional will not be interested; others are already convinced. But the progressive parent and pedagogue with an open mind should provide a substantial and fertile field."
Kirkus 16:332 Jl 1 '48 210w

"Not a personal biography but an informal, running account of what she saw and learned in her study of children and the building of her own experimental progressive school. It is as good reading as all history that is honestly and interestingly told." Betty Barnes
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 S 26 '48 1100w

"Here is no crack-pot interpretation of educational fads but a clear, lucid presentation of what progressive education can accomplish. There is no molly-coddling of the child. Rather, real work, responsibility and service are emphasized. Miss Pratt has faithfully translated the philosophy of John Dewey into practice." M. R. Brown
+ N Y Times p34 S 12 '48 450w

San Francisco Chronicle p13 O 3 '48 120w

"Here is no dull treatise on pedagogical theories; rather, a semi-autobiographical and refreshingly down-to-earth account of the growth of an idea and a school, the two being interwoven one with the other. How rambunctious eight-year-olds came to regard arithmetic as a vital and exciting necessity instead of an incomprehensible and unremitting bore is but one of the many tales with which Caroline Pratt fascinates the reader." Roland Gelatt
+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 S 11 '48 270w
School & Society 68:160 S 4 '48 30w

PRATT, EDWIN JOHN. Behind the log; il. by Grant Macdonald. 61p $2.50 Macmillan

811 World war, 1939-1945—Poetry [48-19248]

A poem telling "the story of the passage of a convoy from Canada to Britain during the early dark hours of World War II and the first encounter with the 'wolf-pack' strategy of the Nazi U-boats." (Canadian Forum) The author obtained first-hand information for his work while at sea with the Royal Canadian navy in the spring of 1945.

"Again E. J. Pratt has grappled with a theme of heroic dimensions and massive significance and with all his familiar scope of imagination and zest with language has fashioned it into a verse narrative of sustained excitement and heartening affirmation. . . Many of the long-admired qualities of Pratt are here: the immediate impact of his narrative lines; the exhilarating momentum of his vocabulary; the ability to convey tribute to human courage, physical and spiritual, without sentimentality. The present book does not equal, as poetry, the earlier narratives of Pratt. Form is not so well proportioned; the two levels, narrative and poetry, frequently do not fuse. But Behind the Log is a book to be grateful for, as every book of Pratt's is, and it effectively reminds Canadians that in Pratt they have not only a great narrative poet but almost the only one writing in English today." Ralph Gustafson

+ — Canadian Forum 28:69 Je '48 240w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 O 17 '48 110w

"In recounting the tale of the slow freighters shepherded by the thin-skinned terriers of the north, Pratt has demonstrated the vigor of his poetic diction, and his vitality of image. The long poem is written in blank pentameter, mostly iambic, and despite a heavy dose of technical jargon, it is for the most part easily readable. Pratt in the strength of his eloquence occasionally does some violence to blank verse decorum." A. M. Sullivan

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:24 My 15 '48 800w

PRATT, FLETCHER. The Marines' war; an account of the struggle for the Pacific from both American and Japanese sources. 456p $5 Sloane

940.542 U.S. Marine corps. World war, 1939-1945—Pacific ocean 48-5151

Not an official history, but an account of the operations of the United States Marines in the Pacific (with the exception of Wake Island and Bataan). The history has been written with access to Marine corps files and wherever possible the author describes what took place on the Japanese side during both military and naval engagements. Indexes.

Booklist 44:366 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by P. H. Douglas
Chicago Sun p38 F 10 '48 450w

"Probably the most dramatic record of the war is that of the Marine Corps. It is also the bloodiest. Fletcher Pratt has written a book that is important as a military record, but more important as a striking picture of just what made the Marine campaigns so brutal and so brilliant; what made this Pacific war so strange and overwhelming in its combination of oceanic sweep, and bitter, exhausting, foot-by-foot combat. He writes colorfully, though a bit repetitiously and at times disjointedly." T. E. Cassidy

+ — Commonweal 47:476 F 20 '48 450w

Current Hist 14:173 Mr '48 100w

Kirkus 15:638 N 15 '47 170w

"It is not an 'official' account, and the operations are viewed objectively. Author notes that faulty intelligence and inaccurate estimates of the situation sometimes produced casualties incommensurate with the value of the objective. The Navy's decisive role in the island hopping is carefully recorded. Captured Japanese documents are utilized extensively in re-examining the general strategy used by both sides. A serious but non-technical, military history which all libraries should welcome to their collections." A. J. Gaines

+ Library J 72:1467 O 15 '47 100w

Reviewed by W. H. Hale
New Repub 118:30 Ja 12 '48 160w

Reviewed by P. J. Searles
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 My 9 '48 850w

"With a sparkle and warmth unusual in books of this type, Mr. Pratt describes the fighting across the blood-stained lagoon at Tarawa, the jungle growth at Eniwetok, the sugarcane fields at Saipan and Tinian, the ridges at Peleliu, the volcano ash at Iwo Jima, the rice paddies and hills at Okinawa. The writing has a popular touch that sprinkles the cold operational reports with engaging anecdotes of simple men caught up in terror-filled moments. Mr. Pratt pulls no punches, and those who served with the Marine Corps in the Pacific theatre are likely to come up short on several occasions as he names officers who were relieved of their commands, scores imperfect staff work and cites plans that were bungled." J. N. Popham

+ N Y Times p5 F 1 '48 700w

"A vivid and highly readable account."

+ New Yorker 23:87 Ja 24 '48 70w

Reviewed by Walter Millis
Sat R of Lit 31:12 F 7 '48 900w

"Pratt, one of the best of the civilian war analysts, wrote The Marines' War at the Marine Corps' request, but on three conditions, all granted: that he have full access to official Marine files and captured Japanese records; permission to interview eyewitnesses; complete freedom of opinion. The result is a fine service history written with clarity and intelligence, one that many Marines will welcome as an authoritative corrective to their own unit histories."

+ Time 51:108 Ja 19 '48 650w

"The author's scholarly detachment is overcome at times by his obvious antagonism toward General MacArthur and General Buckner. . . The style is simple, occasionally lapsing into the unacademic vernacular."

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:183 Je '48 320w

Reviewed by Foster Hailey
Yale R n s 37:529 spring '48 150w

PRATT, FLETCHER. The Well of the Unicorn [by] George U. Fletcher [pseud]. 338p $3.50 Sloane

48-5093

The Well of the Unicorn symbolizes peace, and is the possession of an empire in some mythical country at a time not designated. The conquering Vulkings have overrun the country of the Dalecarles, and raids and councils and sieges are the order of the day. Young Airar, the hero, is a Dalecarle, who becomes leader of his countrymen against the Vulkings. After a long series of adventures in love and war Airar finds the right wife and success, and is being led to drink of the Well of the Unicorn when the story ends.

Reviewed by Robert Halsband
Chicago Sun F 18 '48 450w

Commonweal 47:502 F 27 '48 90w

Kirkus 15:628 N 15 '47 170w

"A difficult novel to read, it nevertheless compels admiration for the skill with which the author sustains the language and atmosphere of his saga, while evoking in the reader's mind modern analogies to this struggle for freedom and peace." H. W. Hart

Library J 72:1685 D 1 '47 70w

" 'The Well of the Unicorn' is rough going even for those who want only the surface story; the scene shifts constantly, the names of people and places are difficult, and the prose style trips the mind and leaves it either confused or irritated." Thomas Sugrue

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 F 1 '48 700w

"Mr. Fletcher . . . has pinned down this strange country of his with brilliant exactness. Its bogs and battlements, its spiny ridges and tumbling valleys are intimately known. . . And the accurate archaisms of Mr. Fletcher's language which, at first, amid so much strangeness seem just one more barricade, end by giving a rare and racy flavor to his created world." A. S. Morris

PRATT, FLETCHER—Continued
+ N Y Times p5 F 29 '48 700w

"The exhausting effect on the hero of his coming to grips with evil spirits is sensitively described, and this description is the book's chief imaginative achievement. . . The hero's victories in love and war, on the other hand, are less convincing, perhaps because they are attained as much through naivete as through prowess. Although to some readers this book may seem too wordy, and overrich in its exoticism, its intricate structure, and its linguistic sophistication, it is, as an example of purely artificial structure lovingly planned and executed, certainly a minor marvel."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:137 Je '48 240w

PREBBLE, JOHN. Edge of night [Eng title: Edge of darkness]. 325p $3.50 Sloane
48-6306

Story of the war experiences of a British soldier during the last months before VE day, and after that as a member of the army of occupation in Germany.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Chicago Sun Je 10 '48 430w

"By no means a top-flight novel (the writing and characterization are too ragged), this is a highly readable work. Some of the portraits of the men and officers are distinguished (poor Mr. Smith, for example, the useless misfit, despised by his men). Jones, the central character, is sensitively drawn, though too lengthily purgatorized. . . Mr. Prebble will undoubtedly come through with a more finished piece of prose that will be part of the beginning of good World War II fiction." T. E. Cassidy
+ — Commonweal 48:117 My 14 '48 240w

"A quietly worthwhile and definitely masculine story."
+ Kirkus 16:125 Mr 1 '48 130w

"Recommended for its authority, its excellent characterizations (especially one of a misfit officer) and its sharply realistic writing." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 100w

"Fine and thoughtful English novel." Eugene Lohrke
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ap 25 '48 650w

"Perhaps it is in his manner of writing that Mr. Prebble has been beset with the most interesting difficulties. The war produced much fine reporting, and Mr. Prebble is a superb reporter, not only of what he saw, but—and here he differs from most young novelists—of himself. He has parceled himself out generously among Jones, Smith, Michaels and the rest, with rich results." Donald Barr
+ N Y Times p5 My 23 '48 500w

"Entirely satisfactory, even if you don't share the hero's irresolution."
+ New Yorker 24:113 Ap 17 '48 150w

"This is surely a fresh and interesting young novelist whose work seems less abstract and verbal than the current volumes of the established English intellectuals, and for three quarters of the way at least 'The Edge of the Night' is one of the best war novels to come forth as yet on either side of the Atlantic. . . The real achievement of 'The Edge of the Night' is that all the disparate elements in the story are joined together in one continuously flowing narrative, just as they are joined in experience. Probably this is done at some cost of character delineation. . . The final section of the novel, dealing with the Britishers in occupied Germany, loses some of the tension in the main narrative; the ex-Nazis are rather boring. When it is good, though, 'The Edge of the Night' is very good indeed, and deserves the attention of American as well as English readers." Maxwell Geismar
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:36 Ap 17 '48 700w

Reviewed by Robert Kee
Spec 180:476 Ap 16 '48 180w

"The Edge of Darkness is not by any means inspired but it is very natural and sincere. It takes a British searchlight unit through the backwash of the fighting in Holland and on into Germany, and gives a balanced picture which is singularly free from either hysteria or hypocrisy."
Times [London] Lit Sup p201 Ap 10 '48 370w

Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

PREDEEK, ALBERT. History of libraries in Great Britain and North America; tr. by Lawrence S. Thompson. 177p $3.25 A.L.A.

027.042 Libraries—Great Britain. Libraries—U.S. 48-5294

History of British and American libraries from the Renaissance to the beginning of World war II, translated from the third volume of the Handbuch der bibliothekswissenschaft. Bibliographical notes. Index.

"A concise, well-balanced outline."
+ Booklist 44:194 F 1 '48

"The teacher who decides to use the book for teaching purposes should be aware of its limitations, some of which are serious enough to occasion the necessity for careful charting of the student's course. . . The reader will find real cause for complaint along other lines. This is especially true of the American portion of the book where the author had insufficient material with which to work. . . Despite its shortcomings and its understandable, if at times jarring, orientation toward a German audience, the book is a very useful addition to the literature of Anglo-American library history. It will provide an eligible point of departure for teaching and research in this field." Sidney Ditzion
+ — Library J 73:550 Ap 1 '48 600w

"Leaning heavily upon secondary sources, especially the work of Edward Edwards for the treatment of British libraries, superficially buttressed with an impressive bibliography which the author has obviously read neither wisely nor too well, and filled with errors of fact and interpretation, these chapters contribute nothing to existing knowledge of library history in either Great Britain or the United States. This is especially unfortunate since the reputation of the Handbuch will give the treatment an authenticity, at least among librarians, that it does not deserve." J. H. Shera
— Library Q 18:226 Jl '48 1600w

School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 10w

PRESSON, JAY. Spring riot. 262p $2.75 Rinehart
48-8617

"Psychological novel of a woman ignored and humiliated by one lover, pointlessly getting a satisfaction-revenge by ruining another. Ultra-bohemian Hollywood background." Library J

— Kirkus 16:377 Ag 1 '48 170w

"Unreal, degenerate characters laugh uproariously at their own 'humor'—readers won't. Extremely vulgar taste, accentuated by two children who ape their parents (flat comedy). Not recommended." R. W. Henderson
— Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Marc Brandel
N Y Times p36 O 24 '48 100w

" 'Spring Riot' is filled with Hollywood color—Laurel Canyon, San Fernando Valley, Beverly, Culver, Laguna, Ciro's and so on. It is peopled with the benzedrine and hyper-thyroid set who drive only convertibles. It is supposed to be a mad, gay book with a tragic, bitter ending. It is as slick as a Class A movie, and almost as real." W. R. W.
— San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ja 2 '49 350w

PRETORIUS, PHILIP JACOBUS. Jungle man [his] autobiography; with a foreword by J. C. Smuts. 256p il $3.75 Dutton

B or 92 Hunting—Africa. Adventure and adventurers 48-7844

Life story of an African big game hunter. At sixteen the author left his father's South African farm and began his adventurous career by riding transport for the British South Africa company. From there he ventured northward hunting elephants, and other big game in the territory which became Southern Rhodesia. In the opening chapter the story is told of the author's successful discovery of the German cruiser Königsberg, during World war I, and its destruction by the British navy. Index.

"Pretorius had a natural aptitude for languages, and could talk with authority with any native anywhere. He never pauses to tell us about this linguistic accomplishment and I rather wish he had. He never forgot any detail he had observed about animals, and some of them are arresting. . . It is not a sense of squeamishness on my part, but a dislike of repetition, which slackens my interest in the shooting of Jungle Man. As the narrative proceeds I find myself much more interested in the side lights of Africa than in the bigger scenes where the beast comes to a dead stop two yards from the author's toe." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 182:100 O '48 800w

Booklist 45:9 S 1 '48

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

Horn Bk 24:450 N '48 70w

"The author wins his reader with wry humor and bravado and self reliance and his taste for high adventure."

+ Kirkus 16:298 Je 15 '48 170w

"Recommended for adventure lovers." J. E. Cross

+ Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 110w

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson

Library J 73:1515 O 15 '48 20w

"Before Pretorius all photographers of African animals should bow out gracefully. The only pity is that his photographs have not been shown in this country. But we have his story, fortunately, of a life that cannot be duplicated today, for the Africa in which he lived it has all but vanished. It is sheer romantic adventure, a saga of high courage and of an intelligence whetted to keenness on danger and love of the wilds in which he chose to live." Margaret Hubbard

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ag 29 '48 750w

"Amazing tales, but truth is in every line of the humorless and often awkward prose. He tells the story of his life in his own way which includes none of the tricks of the professional biographer. That his years saw the passing of a frontier was incidental." Hoffman Birney

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 29 '48 500w

"A book of another day in time and manners, a record of adventures told without egotism (a rare lack among African big game hunters) and a document of historical interest in its chapters on the campaign against the old imperial Germans, especially the hunting of the cruiser Konigsberg." J. W. H.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 8 '48 100w

"Major Pretorius died in 1945, and his autobiography was left in the hands of literary executors. Apparently the text was constructed from unfinished notes and, as is often the case, the results leave much to be desired. Those who were privileged to know Major Pretorius will have difficulty recognizing his personality in the almost boastful paragraphs that open his account in Chapter I. His character was personified by modesty and charm, but little of these qualities appear in the opening pages. . . Despite the lurid title, which is also out of character, 'Jungle Man' is exciting reading. As a hunter Pretorius was without peer, and the portions of the book devoted to his big game experiences are exceptionally fine. Major Pretorius was the last of a race of men. He exemplified the best in the pioneering traditions of Africa." J. W. Feiss

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:20 Ag 28 '48 800w

Springf'd Republican p10B S 26 '48 850w

"Jungle Man could have done with a dash of the Hemingway talent. It is competently written, but with a calm matter-of-factness that makes a commonplace of every act of fantastic nerve and daring."

Time 52:77 Ag 30 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 44:213 D '48

PREZZOLINI, GIUSEPPE. Legacy of Italy. 339p $5 Vanni

914.5 Italy—Civilization 48-8854

"Based on lectures originally delivered in a college course on Italian civilization, this book tries to show the peculiarly native qualities of Italian culture. Professor Prezzolini (Italian, Columbia University) goes back over the country's history to list some of the high points in its artistic, literary, and educational growth." Current Hist

Reviewed by J. G. Harrison

Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 13 '49 900w

Current Hist 15:350 D '48 60w

"The author attempts here 'to set forth the unique quality of Italian civilization.' Although he has made no claim to originality, he has written a stimulating and controversial book, one that will annoy many of his former compatriots. This is an exposition backed by great erudition, but it is full of personal judgments, and it is no apologia." H. L. Matthews

+ N Y Times p5 Ag 1 '48 900w

PRICE, CHRISTINE, il. See Santa's footprints

PRICE, OLIVE M. Three golden rivers. 272p $2.50 Bobbs

48-8227

The three rivers are the Allegheny, the Monongahela, and the Ohio; the time 1850. The story is of a sixteen-year-old girl who takes her younger brother and two younger sisters to Pittsburgh, where the "three golden rivers" join. Together the four children manage to launch themselves successfully in their chosen careers. Andrew Carnegie and Stephen Foster are among the characters. For older girls.

"Each member of the household is vividly drawn and the romance of the growing city is made real." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:464 N '48 80w

"Improbable but entertaining story. . . Valuable only as light reading for girls 12-16." A. M. Wetherell

Library J 73:1392 O 1 '48 70w

PRICE, WILLARD DEMILLE. Roving south; Rio Grande to Patagonia; with photographs and drawings by the author. 373p $5 Day

918 Latin America—Description and travel 48-9344

"Mr. Price and wife took a 23,000-mile safari in luxury and discomfort which covered virtually every country in Latin America from Mexico south to the Argentine. The results appear as a running diary of the author's encounters, rather than as an expository paper for future travelers." (Sat R of Lit) Index.

Kirkus 16:465 S 1 '48 150w

"The publishers of this pleasant volume call it a 'super-guide.' It is vastly better than a guidebook; it is actually a book. . . This is a friendly and discriminating volume, one which cuts well below the surface." Hubert Herring

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 19 '48 900w

"In a work of somewhat uneven merit Mr. Price gives us a lively account of his travels by land, air and water. . . The line drawings

PRICE, W. D.—Continued
by Mr. Price are abundant and attractive, and the selection of photographs is admirable. There is a full index, but no bibliography." Herschel Brickell
+ — N Y Times p20 N 21 '48 900w

"An excellently done travel-guide. . . Even though it is written and intended as a vade mecum for the traveler, the author has made it so lively that it could well be used in, say, a high school geography class—and with some chance of being read by the boys and girls, too." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 N 12 '48 650w

"The book, it seems to me, will prove most valuable for visitors going down on long stays, and for businessmen who wish to capture the feel of the lands before they settle there. There is, to be sure, lots of interesting trivia."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:39 N 27 '48 230w

PRIESTLEY, JOHN BOYNTON. Linden tree, and An inspector calls; two plays. [72p] $2.75 Harper
822

Two plays by the English playwright. Both have been produced on Broadway.

Booklist 45:63 O 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"Why Priestley's plays have not been more popular in America is a puzzle. They are well tailored for the stage, the characters are alive, the themes comprehensible to the quite ordinary intelligence, save in a few cases when Priestley juggled time around. There is no juggling in 'The Linden Tree,' a straight, realistic play. . . 'An Inspector Calls' did rather better on Broadway. Perhaps we liked the hint of the supernatural, or was it the detective-story technique? The play is good theater and good if hardly revolutionary, social doctrine." W. P. Eaton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ag 15 '48 230w
Theatre Arts 32:93 O '48 160w
Wis Lib Bul 44:163 O '48

PRINTERS' INK (periodical). Cutting advertising and printing costs; short cuts to economy on the road to advertising results; more than 500 economy devices for advertising men everywhere. 391p il $5 Funk
659.13 Advertising 48-5922

Suggestions for cutting advertising and printing costs. There are descriptions of economies in paper, art, records, sampling, catalogs, mailing, dealer helps, etc. The material appeared originally in Printers' Ink. Index.

Booklist 44:277 Ap 15 '48
Special Libraries 39:58 F '48

PRITCHETT, CHARLES HERMAN. Roosevelt court; a study in judicial politics and values, 1937-1947. 314p $5 Macmillan
347.99 U.S. Supreme court. U.S.—Constitutional law. Roosevelt, Franklin Delano 48-4203

"A study of the non-unanimous decisions of the Supreme Court during the decade preceding the memorable day in March 1947 when the court announced its decision in the John L. Lewis contempt case. The book is a study of the 'politics and values' of the court made by a political scientist 'interested in the social and psychological origins of judicial attitudes and the influence of individual predilections on the development of law.'" (Sat R of Lit) The author is associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago. Table of cases. Index.

Booklist 45:45 O 1 '48
Reviewed by T. F. Reynolds
Chicago Sun p22 S 30 '48 600w

"In view of the importance of the subject matter, Mr. Pritchett's book is worth reading. Written in an easy style, free of dogma and interspersed with a sense of humor, it will solve for many the enigma of seven Justices appointed by the same President and presumably endowed with a kindred social outlook attaining unprecedented heights of disagreement." Dean Alfange
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 S 24 '48 1250w
Current Hist 15:227 O '48 60w
Kirkus 16:389 Ag 1 '48 170w

"A well presented study, with apt statistical analyses, to clear away some cobwebs of controversy." Walter Hausdorfer
+ Library J 73:1190 S 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 2 '49 1500w

"Provocative, well written and adventurous." M. L. Ernst
+ N Y Times p6 O 10 '48 1700w

"Considered as a political science teacher's appraisal of the division of the Supreme Court on the bulk of the best-known cases that have come before it during the past 10 years, the book presents an adequate summary of those cases, and statistical tables on the amount and type of disagreement among the Justices that are valuable because they are not elsewhere available. More than that cannot be said in favor of this work." Caspar Weinberger
San Francisco Chronicle p9 D 26 '48 750w

"While the author has succeeded to an eminent degree in making a study of the value judgments of the Justices of the Court, he has put into the book very little material pointing to the 'social and psychological origins' of these value judgments. . . He has, however, done very ably what may be expected from a competent political scientist who has a special interest in constitutional and administrative law." M. R. Konvitz
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:15 S 18 '48 750w

PRIZE homes; 92 houses, complete with floor plans and elevations . . . submittted in the Chicago tribune's $24,000 Chicagoland prize homes competition. 102p $3.50 Wilcox & Follett
728.6 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 48-6712

"A book of plans submitted in a contest sponsored by the Chicago Tribune. The plans were developed as solutions to housing needs in the Chicago area but are equally adaptable to any section of the country. The 92 house plans were developed to serve three types of families: (1) the family with father, mother, and 6-year-old son; (2) the one with father, mother, 12-year-old son, and 6-year-old daughter; and (3) the family with father, mother, two daughters (16 and 6), and a 12-year-old son. Plans were developed within specified floor areas and lot sizes. They show modern trends in organization and use of space, use of materials, and integration of living area with gardened section of lot to give spaciousness and interest to living. Designs are about equally divided between one- and two-floor types. Floor plans, elevations and suggestions for use of the lot are included." J Home Econ

Booklist 44:348 Je 15 '48

"Subject matter is limited to a paragraph listing good features of each plan. A few photographs of houses adapted from the plans are also shown. The graphic quality of the plans makes the book a good reference for plan analysis." F. H. Mason
+ J Home Econ 40:468 O '48 200w

PROGRESSIVE ARCHITECTURE (periodical). Homes; selected by T. H. Creighton [and others]. 190p il $5 Reinhold
728 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 47-6223

"The editors of Progressive Architecture have selected homes—small, medium and large, one and two story, for livability and attractiveness representing various regions, New England, Midwest, Southwest, Pacific coast and middle Atlantic. Brief text data with tips on planning, use of materials, built-in furniture, terraces, living-dining room and other details. 287 photographs and 116 plan drawings by Elmer Bennett." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1614 N 15 '47 70w

"The photography and the reproduction of it are superb. The editors' discussions of modern architecture in general and of the individual houses in particular are illuminating and should be very helpful to anyone who is planning to build a house for his own use."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 32:51 Jl '47

"This is that uncommon publishing undertaking, a sensible book on houses. You can forget about the text: what matters is the large, clearly printed, and well-arranged photographs of a hundred modern houses."
+ New Yorker 23:114 N 1 '47 140w

PROKOSCH, FREDERIC. Storm and echo. 274p $3 Doubleday
48-8302

The story of the quests of four men on an expedition in darkest Africa. Samuel, the narrator, is searching for an old friend; Alessandro, the anthropologist is looking for the peace and love he has never known; Joshua, the entomologist, seeks God; and Marius, the mineralogist, is looking for metals but faces death. All discover that man's inner life is as terrifying and impenetrable as the jungle they explore.

Reviewed by O. D. Hormel
Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 480w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

Kirkus 16:318 Jl 1 '48 180w

Reviewed by James Hilton
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 S 12 '48 850w

"It's all very mysterious, really, and we are not quite convinced, though the novel insists on it, that each of his characters' souls has changed under the duress of the trip. In a novel, we must see before we believe. Mr. Prokosch, unfortunately, relies on rhetorics, not on demonstration." Hilda Lake
N Y Times p14 S 19 '48 350w

"The author's metaphors and other images are at their customary high, and his philosophical notions, which the principals toss back and forth while on the march, are at their habitual youthful low."
New Yorker 24:114 S 25 '48 120w

Reviewed by Alfred Kay
San Francisco Chronicle p19 S 26 '48 750w

"Powerful, enigmatic, and quite as nightmarish as any of Conrad's journeys to the edge of darkness, Mr. Prokosch's novel is, nevertheless, somewhat more impersonal, less sympathetic, than Conrad's in showing us the malevolence of nature against which man appears to be fighting a losing battle. On the surface, 'Storm and Echo' may be a gripping tale of adventure and suspense in an exotic setting; but underneath its vivid word-painting, its poetic imagery, its lavish feeling for color and mood, there is the anguished cry of modern man seeking to discover his own identity." Richard McLaughlin
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 S 11 '48 900w

Time 52:109 S 20 '48 450w

Wis Lib Bul 44:165 O '48

PROUST, MARCEL. Maxims; ed, with a tr. by Justin O'Brien. 235p $3 Columbia univ. press
843 Maxims 48-9440

"In both French and English [this volume] presents 428 'detachable sentences' from what Mr. O'Brien rightly enough calls the 'labyrinthine "Remembrance of Things Past."' " (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) Index.

"The translation, which in the nature of the case is brisker and less 'literary' than Scott Moncrieff's, is admirable for its purpose, deftly bringing these observations out of context to present them as maxims. As such they can be read with interest, even with fascination, if not always with comfort." David Daiches
+ New Repub 119:24 D 27 '48 950w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p32 N 21 '48 90w

Reviewed by Guido Verch
N Y Times p34 N 21 '48 360w

PROUST, MARCEL. Pleasures and regrets; with a pref. by Anatole France; tr. by Louise Varese. 221p $2.75 Crown
48-7870

Early stories and sketches, published in 1896 in France, and now translated into English for the first time.

"The schoolboy was precocious, and what he wrote between his twenty-first and his twenty-fourth year, varies from tenderly innocent fables with which Romeo might have enchanted Juliet on their honeymoon to darksome, melancholy tales with which Petronius might have held the ear of Nero. Interspersed between these stories are fresh tactile descriptions of nature, good-humored spoofing of literary contemporaries, and witheringly acute observations on snobbery, and the vanities of worldliness." T. E. Kalem
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 29 '48 800w

Reviewed by Robert Vigneron
New Repub 119:23 S 13 '48 900w

Reviewed by Lloyd Morris
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ag 1 '48 750w

"This little book, so apparently casual and slight, has gained momentum with the years. Now it has weathered the additional test of being translated. The translator, facing not only the difficulty of Proust's ramified clauses and reiterated pronouns, but the implicit rivalry of Scott-Moncrieff, has hewed close to the original in letter and spirit. Readers who are not avid Proustians, however, may feel the lack of explanatory apparatus. No one will cavil at the omission of his handful of poems, 'Portraits of Painters and Musicians,' untranslatable and unsuccessful experiments in impressionism and synesthesia. But a serious objection must be raised at the failure to translate his dedicatory letter to an English youth recently dead—six of the most revealing pages Proust ever wrote." Harry Levin
N Y Times p3 Ag 1 '48 1100w

"The heavily scented air is occasionally relieved by fresh breaths of wit and perception, and the writing is expertly contrived in the best Parisian fin-de-siècle manner. Still, the world re-created in the book seems very far off and long ago."
+ — New Yorker 34:72 Ag 7 '48 160w

San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 5 '48 250w

Time 52:85 Ag 9 '48 240w

PULESTON, WILLIAM DILWORTH. Influence of sea power in World war II. 310p maps $5 Yale univ. press
940.545 World war, 1939-1945—Naval operations. Sea power 47-30931

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Reviewed by S. E. Morison
Am Hist R 53:796 Jl '48 400w

"It is indeed an ambitious undertaking to assess the role of sea power in World War II and to attempt a prognosis of the future place of sea power in military strategy. Unfortunately, while this is the task to which Captain Puleston has set himself, it is not the one which he has fulfilled. . . There is little criticism of battle tactics to be found, no hint of conflicting strategic or tactical concepts in Washington or in the field creeps into Captain Puleston's pages. Within these limitations,

PULESTON, W. D.—Continued
however, the reader may benefit from a clear recounting of the naval engagements and a concise assessment of their significance." E. S. Furniss
+ — Ann Am Acad 256:217 Mr '48 400w
Foreign Affairs 26:398 Ja '48 20w

"This work is an interesting narrative but a disappointing analysis of the naval operations of World War II. . . Despite its narrative interest, this book has two serious limitations. Firstly, its critical comment is confined to navies other than that of the author. This is unfortunate, for the large-scale American operations in the Pacific require objective appraisal. . . Secondly, 'sea power', however defined, is so closely integrated with the remaining elements of national combatant strength that the attempt to evaluate its contribution to victory by suppressing the influence of other and equally weighty factors will satisfy only the partisan controversialist." Gerald Packer
+ — Pacific Affairs 21:318 S '48 1100w
Times [London] Lit Sup p459 Ag 14 '48 390w
U S Quarterly Bkl 3:368 D '47 400w

"In discussing the war the author pays enough attention to Europe to make clear that the Allied offensive, from the east as well as the west, was dependent on control of the sea lanes. But his main theme, which absorbs more than half the volume, is the study of enemy and American strategy in the Pacific theatre, and his wide knowledge of Japanese sources gives his work its particular value." W. B. Willcox
+ Yale R n s 37:352 winter '48 700w

PULSIFER, MRS SUSAN FARLEY (NICHOLS), comp. Scenes from the life of Jesus. See Bible. New Testament, Selections

PURCELL, VICTOR WILLIAM WILLIAMS SAUNDERS. Chinese in Malaya; issued under the joint auspices of the Royal inst. of int. affairs and the Inst. of Pacific relations. 327p maps $6 Oxford
325.251 Chinese in Malaya 48-4242

"Dr. Victor Purcell was a British official [in Malaya] from 1921 to 1946 and held the post of Protector of Chinese, which means that he speaks the language and knows the people as well as any Westerner can ever hope to do. . . The first section gives the history of Chinese settlement in Malaya, from its small beginnings in the fifteenth century to about 1900. . . The second section of the book is made up of chapters on Chinese religion, relations with the British, economics, labor, education, secret and political societies. . . The concluding chapters deal with the Chinese during the Japanese invasion and since the end of the war." Ann Am Acad

---

"Dr. Purcell writes so impartially that the book gives no indication of whether he is pro-Chinese, Malay, British, capitalist, or Communist. He merely states the facts and leaves the reader to draw his own conclusions. There is an immense mass of detail about everything from how to appease underfed ghosts from hell to the details of the Malayan Constitution of 1948. Yet the writer is so completely master of his subject that it is easy to follow the main trends of development. His book will be the authoritative work on the Chinese of Malaya for a long time to come." L. A. Mills
+ Ann Am Acad 260:187 N '48 440w

"Mr. Victor Purcell, formerly of the Malay Civil Service, has written what will at once become the standard work on the Chinese in Malaya. . . His book is carried on the wings of such admirable prose that the weight of its information may not be immediately apparent." G. W.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 27 '48 290w

"Mr. Purcell's book fills a gap in the now well-documented history of Malaya. His pages may be statistical, but they are enlivened by historical and contemporary anecdotes." Richard Winstedt
+ Spec 180:320 Mr 12 '48 360w

"Dr. Purcell's elaborate and detailed study is essential not only to sinologists but also to every student of Malayan affairs, and is likely to remain for a long time the most convenient summary of the growth and nature of Chinese influence in that part of the world."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p215 Ap 17 '48 1150w

PUTNAM, PALMER COSSLETT. Power from the wind. 224p il $6 Van Nostrand
621.45 Air turbines. Windmills 48-7300

"In the main, this volume is a record of the experiments in using wind power to generate electrical energy on a commercial scale that were carried out from 1939 to 1945 by a distinguished group of engineers and scientists under the sponsorship of the S. Morgan Smith Company, York, Pa. It describes from an engineering viewpoint both the design and the performance of the 175-foot, 1,250 kilowatt unit that was erected on Grandpa's Knob near Rutland, Vermont. However the work goes beyond this single experiment and discusses the whole problem of utilizing wind as a source of power. An account is given of other experiments carried out by other individuals and groups." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Library J 73:1095 Ag '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:62 Jl '48

PUTNAM, SAMUEL. Marvelous journey. 269p $4 Knopf
869.09 Brazilian literature 48-7154

A comprehensive survey of four hundred years of Brazilian literature. Bibliographies. Chronological table. Index.

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

"Putnam has a flair for giving immediacy and liveliness to his surveys of the literary scene. The difficulty here (as compared with his study of the left bank writers in Paris a generation ago) is a certain apathy towards Latin American writing on the part of the general reader. Stress for students of writing."
Kirkus 16:206 Ap 15 '48 190w

"Charmingly written and excellent analytical history of Brazilian literature. . . No more rewarding criticism can be found in English of the works of Cunha, Ramos, Freyre, Nabuco and Amado." Joseph Borome
+ Library J 73:877 Je 1 '48 100w

"The tourist who reads this book before or after he goes to Brazil will find his own interest enriched. The student who really wants to evaluate Brazilian literature will, however, do well to check Mr. Putnam's encomiums with critical reading of his own before he concludes that Brazilian writers are in truth the unexampled geniuses that this scholar-traveler finds them. His enthusiasm is infectious, and a good antidote for ignorance. It is not harmed by a pinch of salt." Mildred Adams
+ — Nation 167:379 O 2 '48 450w

"Samuel Putnam's 'marvelous journey' has indeed been marvelous for him, and, despite the necessary peppering of his pages with unfamiliar names and titles, much of Mr. Putnam's enthusiasm for his subject is communicated to the uninitiated reader. . . Mr. Putnam is at his best when he is so sure of his own opinion of a work that he elbows all the rival critics to one side and steps to the center of the stage to quote and translate a favorite passage, to pronounce out of the tensions of his own spirit on the issues involved and to venture a verdict of his own." B. D. Wolfe
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Jl 4 '48 550w

"Travelers to Brazil who wish to know more of the land and the people than they can get through viewing the miraculous beauty of Rio from a ship or a plane will do well to include this volume in their portable libraries. As for stay-at-homes, to call it indispensable and irreplaceable is not in the least to exaggerate its exceptional merits." Herschel Brickell
+ N Y Times p18 Jl 25 '48 700w

"A fine and stimulating book, which works in a generous historical and social background and manages to kindle in the reader a strong curiosity about Brazil's literary riches."
+ New Yorker 24:92 Je 19 '48 120w

"It is the first time, I believe, that an Anglo-Saxon observer has been able fully to understand and underscore this marriage between the writer and the nation which in Brazil asks of every poet and novelist of stature that he play an important, at times decisive, part in political and social events. . . There are omissions which were undoubtedly forced on the author by the limitations of space." Hermane Tavares de Sa
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:23 Jl 31 '48 800w

"Inevitably, the student of Brazilian literature will find fault with some of Mr. Putnam's emphases and opinions. As it seems to me, for example, Gonçalves Dias, probably the finest of Brazilian poets, receives too little space in comparison with Castro Alves—a disproportion which results from the latter's prominence in an abolitionist role. Too little attention is given to the literature of Brazil since the First World War. . . And it is a pity there is no mention of the powerful, individualistic poet Augusto dos Anjos, if only as the most interesting disciple of Cruz e Sousa. But there ought to be no carping at a successful attempt at the thorny, thankless task of writing a history of literature. And this is a successful attempt. For the general reader it relates Brazilian literature to a warm, sympathetic interpretation of the national life. Its meaty notes and bibliography make it also by far the most serviceable book in English for anyone who feels special interest in the subject." D. L. Hamilton
+ — Yale R n s 38:369 winter '49 750w

PYE, ERNEST. Biography of a mind: Bosworth of Oberlin. 491p with Bosworth, E. I. Christian religion and human progress. $8 Bosworth memorial committee; distrib. by McKee

B or 92 Bosworth, Edward Increase 48-7487

A tribute to the late dean of Oberlin, Dr Edward I. Bosworth. Before going abroad, where he served as president of the School of Religion at Athens, the author was secretary to Dr Bosworth for six years. The book is not a formal biography, but a study of the man, "his principles and practice of religion, and those associated areas of his thought which disclose him as one who, with puissant good will in the companionships of the present, explored well the life which he believed shall be Beyond Mortality." (Subtitle) List of Bosworth's published writings. Index.

Christian Century 65:735 Jl 21 '48 100w

Reviewed by O. G. Lawson
Library J 73:706 My 1 '48 100w

"A well-rounded life expressed in well-rounded language that leaves nothing uncertain yet jumps at no conclusions. The reading is not difficult, but there is a good deal of it." P. W. Wilson
+ N Y Times p22 Ag 29 '48 180w

PYNN, LEROY. Let's whittle. 128p il $2.50 Manual arts

736.4 Wood carving 48-7353

"Twenty-six drawings of very simple carved-wood birds and animals to be achieved with the aid of a sharp knife. Gives front, back, and side views and coloring charts, and includes instructions for choosing wood, transferring designs, cutting, and refinishing." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 45:9 S 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 40w

Reviewed by R. S. Robbins
N Y Times p51 D 5 '48 120w

School Arts p13a O '48 50w

Q

QUAIN, BUELL HALVOR. Fijian village; with an introd. by Ruth Benedict. 459p il maps $5 Univ. of Chicago press

572.9961 Ethnology—Fiji islands 48-7315

An anthropologist's account of everyday life on an island of Fiji. The author spent ten months of 1935 and 1936 studying native life in the village of Nakoroka. Contents: Vanua Levu, an island of Fiji; The conquest of Fiji; History and legend at Nakoroka; Households of Nakoroka; Livelihood; Castes and chiefship; Priests and practitioners; Kinship; Life-cycle; Ceremonies of the life-crises; Trouble; Keeping the peace: status and wealth; Social cohesion at Nakoroka. Appendix: linguistic note. Glossary of proper names and titles. Bibliography. Index.

"Fijian Village is hardly a conventional ethnography, although it shares in the growing tendency of anthropologists to describe the social systems of localized communities rather than tribal societies. It is a book to be read in order to see how the individual in society transmutes social heritage into flesh and blood behavior." J. J. Honigmann
Am Soc R 13:640 O '48 550w

"Another of the valuable pictures of other cultures which is of interest to both student and layman."
+ Booklist 44:377 Jl 15 '48

"Somehow the account rarely comes alive, and the background remains too often flat and one-dimensional. In fact, the book reads surprisingly like an old-style ethnography, with its account of social organization neatly packed away in one chapter, religion in another, and so on, while the human beings of whom these traits are functions remain the merest puppets." M. F. Ashley-Montagu
— Sat R of Lit 31:28 S 11 '48 650w

Social Studies 40:48 Ja '49 20w

QUARLES, BENJAMIN. Frederick Douglass. 378p il $4 Associated pubs.

B or 92 Douglass, Frederick 48-2544

A biography of the great Negro leader, who after making his escape from slavery, joined William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, and other abolitionists in Massachusetts. The volume follows the course of his life, from his birth in 1817 to his death in 1895. Bibliography. Index.

"The interpretation and evaluation of Douglass' influence seems essentially sound. The book leaves the reader, at least this reviewer, with a vivid realization of how the abolition crusade led many whites to cross the color line to a greater degree possibly than has been true at any other period of our history." Ella Lonn
+ Am Hist R 54:156 O '48 750w

"Professor Quarles has written an excellent biography of Frederick Douglass. The content is sound, the organization is good, and the style is excellent. The eighteen chapters are well documented, the index is satisfactory, and the bibliography is adequate." G. D. Harmon
+ Ann Am Acad 259:198 S '48 360w

Reviewed by R. A. Preston
Canadian Hist R 29:418 D '48 90w

"An eminently readable and consistently interesting book worthy of nomination for a Pulitzer award." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 360w

QUATTLEBAUM, CHARLES ALBERT. Federal aid to elementary and secondary education; an analytic study of the issue, its background and relevant legislative proposals, with a compilation of arguments pro and con, statistical data, and digests of pertinent reports and surveys. 191p pa $2 Public adm.

379.12 Education and state. School finance. Education—U.S. 48-8658

"Considers the financial problems of the American educational system today, and the

QUATTLEBAUM, C. A.—Continued
recommendations of Congress and of governmental and non-governmental advisory commissions for solving the difficulties." Booklist

"Within the limitations the report sets for itself, it is a very creditable piece of work." E. W. Weidner
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:821 Ag '48 410w
Booklist 45:45 O 1 '48

"This volume is a valuable reference work for school administrators and officers or committees of professional organizations, as well as for members of Congress who are charged with the responsibility of evaluating the appeals or proposals calling for federal aid." N. B. Henry
+ El School J 49:179 N '48 600w
School & Society 67:447 Je 12 '48 40w

QUAYLE, ANTHONY. On such a night. 185p $2 Little 48-5017

Spy story relating the events taking place in a Mediterranean island on the night of July 1, 1942.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Ja 16 '48 200w
Kirkus 15:660 D 1 '47 100w

"Impressive and entertaining if a bit uncertain in genre." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ja 11 '48 230w

"A blend of the sentimental and the cynical spiced with a pinch of fantasy, it is certainly worth a couple of hours' attention before putting out that bedside table lamb." Lawrence Dodd
+ N Y Times p22 Ja 18 '48 270w

"A neat, spirited, and literate bit of intrigue."
+ New Yorker 23:83 Ja 10 '48 100w

"This splendid story details the events of a single night on the British-governed island of Palleria in the Mediterranean. . . An auspicious beginning for 1948." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ja 11 '48 150w

"Theatrical." D. S. Savage
— Spec 178:474 Ap 25 '47 60w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE. Brown fox mystery. 243p $2.50 Little 48-8618

Mystery story for young readers.

"A pleasant, relaxed whodunit for the ice cream cone crowd."
+ Kirkus 16:401 Ag 15 '48 70w

"Story moves at rather a slow pace, and the suspense is not well sustained, but it will undoubtedly be welcomed by the mystery enthusiasts. Recommended for ages 10-14." Judith Stevenson
+ — Library J 73:1603 N 1 '48 70w

"There are refreshing descriptions of fishing and the outdoors, credible characterizations of the boys and the adults they out-think, and logical development of a plot in which clews are honestly set forth for the young readers." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ja 9 '49 140w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE, ed. Queen's awards, 1948. 368p $3 Little
Short stories—Collections (46-8129)

Contents: Justice has no number, by Alfredo Segre; From another world, by Clayton Rawson; The green-and-gold string, by Philip MacDonald; The fourth degree, by Hugh Pentecost; Mother, may I go out to swim? by Q. Patrick; Through a glass, darkly, by Helen McCloy; Extradition, by Brett Halliday; The specialty of the house, by Stanley Ellin; The adventure of the single footprint, by Robert Arthur; The silver dollar, by Rink Creussen; The lady and the tiger, by Jack Moffitt; The power of the leaf, by A. E. Martin; The garden of forking paths, by J. L. Borges; The maul, the sword, and the sharp arrow, by Victor Palla; Fourth rule for murderers, by H. T. Alfon; Being a murderer myself, by Arthur Williams.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48
Kirkus 16:349 Jl 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 S 26 '48 290w

"Almost every type of mystery story is represented, and there are a few which defy classification. All are good, and some are better than that." I. A.
+ N Y Times p16 O 10 '48 150w

"An above-the-average collection, with the customary explanatory preface by Ellery Queen."
+ New Yorker 24:119 S 25 '48 120w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p24 O 10 '48 310w

"The collection as a whole is most enjoyable and is the best one so far in the Queen contest series." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 300w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE. Ten days' wonder. 265p $2.50 Little 48-4963

Detective story.

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun p48 N 5 '48 80w

"Enigmatic entertainment which proceeds with a smoothness suspiciously synthetic, but nonetheless masterful."
+ — Kirkus 16:456 S 1 '48 90w

"Last chapter contains the best surprise and the handsomest solution of the year." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 17 '48 230w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p31 O 31 '48 140w
New Yorker 24:135 O 16 '48 120w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 N 7 '48 300w

"Very good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 O 23 '48 40w
Springf'd Republican p10C D 19 '48 70w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANNFRED LEE, ed. Twentieth century detective stories; il. by Seymour Nydorf. 288p $1.25 World pub.
Short stories—Collections 48-6724

Fourteen modern detective stories never before published in book form in the United States. Contents: Vampire of the village, by G. K. Chesterton; Tom, Dick or Harry, by Dashiell Hammett; The double clue, by Agatha Christie; The shadow, by T. S. Stribling; Greedy night, by E. C. Bentley; The coin of Dionysius, by Ernest Bramah; Cabin B-13, by J. D. Carr; Some kinds of bad luck, by C. S. Forester; The inner circle, by Ellery Queen; The stripper, by Anthony Boucher; The perfect maid, by Agatha Christie; The missing Shakespeare ms., by Lillian De la Torre; The man who murdered in public, by Roy Vickers; Squeeze play, by Leonard Thompson; Queen's quorum: the 101 most important books of detective-crime short stories, by Ellery Queen.

Chicago Sun Ap 30 '48 20w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Jl 4 '48 230w

"The short stories are uniformly good, and bear witness to Queen's extraordinary gift for happening upon lost or strayed tales by celebrated authors. . . 'Queen's Quorum,' Queen's annotated list of the hundred and one most important items in the history of the short detective story, is a useful and intelligent guide. The tone of Queen's comments, although generally sensible, occasionally deviates into a regrettable archness—most often, it seems, when the editor is hard put to it to find something to say." Milton Crane
+ — N Y Times p13 Ag 1 '48 500w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p26 My 2 '48 470w

QUENEAU, RAYMOND. Skin of dreams; tr. by H. J. Kaplan. 115p pa $1.50 New directions
48-9105

"As a novel it might be described as a mixture of fairy tale and off-color story. Ostensibly it records the progress of Jacques L'Aumône, the misfit son of a French sock manufacturer, as he passes from one failure to another until he winds up as James Charity (an exact translation of his name), the famous Hollywood star. But this is mere surface. Actually the story is a comic vehicle for the author, who having been a surrealist believes that spontaneity is all and desires an opportunity to release his best wit and his best fancy." N Y Times

Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 119:27 D 27 '48 150w

"The right way to give an impression of 'The Skin of Dreams' is to quote from it, but that is difficult; the best passages are invariably indecent. Mr. Kaplan, moreover, has been singularly felicitous in finding equivalents in our own gutter for the sly argot of M. Queneau. . . Yet it is good to have a Queneau book at last brought to these shores, and Mr. Kaplan's is a very fine translation. Personally, I wonder how it will make out in Boston." Gerald Sykes
N Y Times p49 N 14 '48 600w

"M. Queneau, who has had considerable attention in France, is entitled to some here if this short and witty novel (his first to be translated on this side) is a fair sample. . . The style, which has been acutely dealt with by the translator, is a blend of argot and pseudo-stilted verbiage having some of the texture of Joyce. There are also moments of Joyce's unashamed bawdiness, as well as a few descents into a grotesquerie, reminiscent of Louis-Ferdinand Céline, that is less refreshing."
+ — New Yorker 24:177 D 4 '48 160w

QUENTIN, PATRICK, pseud. See Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C.

QUICK, DOROTHY (MRS JOHN ADAMS MAYER). Variations on a theme [poems]. 94p $2.50 Fine editions
811 47-6695

"Lyrics about love, hope, war and human life." Christian Science Monitor

"The poet does not blaze any new trail in idea or form but follows with sure instinct paths well established by tradition. She shows deep understanding of human emotions and lifts the reader to higher altitudes. The lines have grace and dignity."
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 27 '48 90w

"If Miss Quick had been content to publish only the last two sections of 'Variations on a Theme,' she would have had a much better book. The lyrics under the variations 'Of Love' and 'Of Hope' are not comparable to the best love songs of our time; in communicable and unimaginative symbols, they are personal but unrealized. . . The Fine Editions Press has done a good job of bookmaking; the format is pleasing and the bookbinding superb." I. L. Salomon
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:35 F 21 '48 320w

QUIGLEY, MARTIN. Magic shadows. 191p il $3.50 Georgetown univ. press
791.4 Moving pictures—History 48-5807

The story of the origin of motion pictures. Chronology. Bibliography. Index.

"Told by a less gifted author, the story of the origin of motion pictures might have been a bit on the dry side, as descriptive research so often is, but here one vividly senses the joy of discovery experienced by the author as he came upon each new morsel of information. . . One cannot but feel that this is authentic history and that the subject has been thoroughly covered." G. S. Crampton
+ Ann Am Acad 258:164 Jl '48 320w

"The most striking thing about Magic Shadows is the sound scholarship and long and painstaking research that have evidently gone into its making." A. J. Burggraff
+ Cath World 168:93 O '48 450w

School & Society 67:222 Mr 20 '48 10w

QUINN, VERNON. Pageant of the seven seas; il. by William Sharp. 152p $2.50 Lippincott
910.4 Voyages and travels—Juvenile literature. Discoveries (in geography)—Juvenile literature 48-5887

A combination of history, biography, geography, and natural science, spiced with adventure, for grades six and up. It is a story of human daring from the time of the first explorers by sea to the recent long-distance airplane flights. Index.

Booklist 45:109 N 15 '48

"Recommended." Nelle McCalla
+ Library J 73:1676 N 15 '48 80w

"This is a book rich in information for anyone attracted to the lure of the sea. But it could have been made more valuable if it had included a few detailed maps instead of the six imaginative drawings." W. G. T.
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 N 13 '48 160w

R

RACKOWE, ALEC. Stylish marriage. 374p $3.50 Farrar, Straus
48-7069

Character sketches of two cousins of widely different temperaments: the gentle, phlegmatic Daisy, and the quick-tempered, determined Anna. To Anna, who was frustrated and unhappy, Daisy seemed all that was best in a harsh world. Four times she was deflected in her course of making a quiet life for herself and Daisy, and it was more than thirty years before she realized her ambition. The time is from 1898 to 1931; the place New York.

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

"It is Anna who is the more interesting of the two women and were the focus on her more strongly, the story would be more holding in its implications. But a definite feminine accent makes this acceptable in its field."
Kirkus 16:154 Mr 15 '48 170w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p33 N 21 '48 120w

N Y Times p18 My 23 '48 100w

RAINE, MRS ALICE. Eagle of Guatemala, Justo Rufino Barrios. 229p $2.50 Harcourt
B or 92 Barrios, Justo Rufino—Juvenile literature 47-31018

Fictionized biography of the Guatemalan president, Barrios, for teen-age boys and girls. The author lived in Guatemala for five years.

Booklist 44:220 F 15 '48

RAINE, ALICE—Continued

+ Churchman 161:17 D 1 '47 30w
Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '48

"A valuable book."
+ Kirkus 15:509 S 15 '47 120w

Reviewed by Mildred Adams
N Y Times p30 F 8 '48 290w

"Mrs. Raine pours this fighting 'eagle' into a fictionalized yarn of scant dimensions from which he emerges pretty well stripped of his talons, his eyes moist with romance and sentiment. It is a very well told tale, however, on a rather teen-age level. But the starkness of his struggle and the starkness of his program and the utter ruthlessness of his methods are pretty well blurred. . . However, Mrs. Raine is to be commended on presenting in easy, readable form a figure of whom there is no adequate biography even in Spanish and about whom little research has been done." Carleton Beals
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ja 31 '48 750w

"Young people will be attracted by this book because it tells a vigorous and exciting story. To many of them the Guatemalan reformer and the soldier is unknown. His attempt to unite Central America—the cause for which he gave his life—will appeal to North American boys and girls at this particular time." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 Mr 13 '48 180w

RALSTON, ANDERSON WHEELER. Fatty acids and their derivatives. 986p $10 Wiley

547.7 Acids, Fatty 48-2518

"The author of this volume [is] Assistant Director of Research at Armour and Company. . . In this work he provides a comprehensive discussion of the present-day knowledge concerning the occurrence, synthesis, physical and chemical properties and uses of these acids and their derivatives. . . Extensive lists of references key-numbered to the text are given at the end of each chapter." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"Another excellent contribution has been made to the armamentarium of reference texts on fatty acids. . . It is perhaps unfortunate that the material presented in the addendum could not be woven into the main body of the book under the appropriate headings. . . Considering the tremendous amount of reference work and the size of the book, it is remarkably free of mistakes. There are a few, however." B. F. Daubert
+ — Chem & Eng N 26:2386 Ag 9 '48 470w

"This new book brings together in very readable form a wealth of literature and original work. . . The bibliographic material is presented chronologically at the end of each chapter rather than as an alphabetic author index at the end of the book. While this presentation has some advantages, it also makes it difficult to trace specific publications which may be familiar to the reader. The 40-page subject index seems quite complete. As one would expect, there is comparatively little fatty acid technology treated in this volume. The chemical engineers will find it of great reference value, however, from the standpoint of the fundamental chemistry on which present and future technology must be based. Charts and tables illustrate the book to a limited extent. In all cases the material seems well presented and the book is mechanically satisfactory." G. W. McBride
Chem Eng 55:283 Jl '48 330w

"The frequent mention of actual and suggested uses of the derivatives adds much to the usefulness of the book. This book should be owned by every person working in fields related to fatty acids and their derivatives." D. H. Wheeler
+ J Phys & Colloid Chem 52:1273 O '48 270w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:33 My '48

RAMAKRISHNA. Ramakrishna: prophet of new India; abridged from [his] Gospel [recorded by Mahendranath Gupta] tr. into English with an introd. by Swami Nikhilananda; foreword by Aldous Huxley. 304p $3.50 Harper

181.4 Philosophy, Indic 48-924

"In 1942 the complete text of the Sri Sri Ramakrishna Kathamrita, an account of the daily life and teaching of the great 19th-century Hindu saint written by one of his devoted disciples, was published in English in a huge volume of over a thousand pages by the Ramakrishna-Vivekananda Center of New York [Book Review Digest 1943]. The present work is the same excellent translation considerably abridged to meet better the needs and tastes of western readers." (Library J) Chronology. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 44:284 Ap 15 '48

"There is an element in it which will seem to the Western reader fantastic, but it is indisputably a sincere and vivid report of religious experiences in the Oriental mood and in a setting of Hindu ideas." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:574 Je 9 '48 140w

Reviewed by J. Wach
J Religion 28:304 O '48 200w
Kirkus 16:82 F 1 '48 170w

"A work of great interest and value to all concerned with mystical thought. Highly recommended." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 72:1683 D 1 '47 140w

Reviewed by H. J. Forman
N Y Times p35 F 29 '48 470w

"For the Western reader, the book is primarily an interesting study of religious psychology. How much more than that it can be depends on the state of the reader's own spiritual life and the questions in his heart." E. M. T.
San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 2 '48 500w

RAMSBERGER, JACK F. How to make publicity work. (Reynal & Hitchcock bk) 123p $2 Harcourt

301.154 Publicity 48-5575

"Guidance for the nonprofessional publicity chairman, press agent, or public relations representative of civic or other noncommercial organizations. It includes practical information on fundamentals of media, tools for the job, writing publicity, and combating unfavorable publicity. No index." Booklist

Booklist 44:228 Mr 1 '48
Wis Lib Bul 44:130 Je '48

RAMUZ, CHARLES FERDINAND. What is man [sel. from three of the author's works] tr. by Gouverneur Paulding; introd. by Albert Béguin. 245p $2.75 Pantheon bks.

848 Man 84-9188

Study of the philosophy of the French-Swiss writer, author of When the Mountain Fell (Book Review Digest 1947). "This new book brings together, in an unusually competent translation, passages from three essays the theme of which is man face to face with himself. It probes deep. What do we mean when we say that our world is driven by a conflict between Communism and the West? Is the struggle merely for the most men and the biggest bombs? Or does it have to do with the way in which human beings are going to live?" N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"Ramuz is a profound thinker, communicating, with dignity and clarity, the problems of modern society. It is to be hoped that such a book will be thoughtfully read at this urgent hour." H. W. Steiger
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 N 18 '48 850w

Reviewed by H. G. J. Beck
Commonweal 49:179 N 26 '48 260w
Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 21 '48 800w
San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 26 '49 400w
Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich
Springf'd Republican p7B Ja 2 '49 210w

"'What is Man' is a companionable irritant. Truly, it stirs. It has been well translated by Gouverneur Paulding. In places there is a lyric—even an epic—beauty." Paul Harris
+ Survey 85:53 Ja '49 400w

RANDALL, RUTH HUNIE (MRS DORUS POWERS RANDALL). Ceramic sculpture. (Step-by-step ser) 95p il $3.75 Watson-Guptill

738.1 Pottery. Modeling 48-1720

"Ideas on modeling figures so they last through the firing, on designing, ceramic jewelry, color, glaze, and work with children." (Booklist) Bibliography. Lists of supply companies. Index.

Booklist 44:349 Je 15 '48

"Clear directions should stimulate enthusiasm in professionals and amateurs. Excellent illustrations." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:710 My 1 '48 80w
Reviewed by R. S. Robbins
N Y Times p29 O 10 '48 270w
School Arts p12A O '48 120w

RANDOLPH, VANCE, ed. Ozark folksongs: 4v; v2, Songs of the south and west. 436p $3.75 State hist. soc. of Mo, Columbia, Mo.

784 Folk songs, American (47-1554)

"Volume II contains 210 songs, numbered 131 to 341, most of them with one or more variants, and grouped in four chapters: Songs about Murderers and Outlaws; Western Songs and Ballads; Songs of the Civil War; Negro and Pseudo-Negro Songs. As might be expected, the headnotes for individual songs are briefer in this than in the former volume, dealing as they do with less studied, less widely current, more recent or more obscure material." Music Lib Assn Notes

"One of the remarkable things about this volume is the relatively few songs whose Ozarkian origin can be established. For every song like 'Cole Young,' the ballad of a Missourian Civil War veteran who turned bank robber, you get a dozen or more like 'The Lily of the West,' which obviously the seedfolks have brought out to the Ozarks from the East. . . The section on the songs of the Civil War is especially interesting. Several songs reveal that there were many Germans in the Union Army in the West. The Arkansawyers sang often of the 'flop-eared Dutch.' One wonders what the flop-eared Dutch sang back at the Arkansawyers. Maybe some collector will tell us some day." Horace Reynolds
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 10 '48 600w
Reviewed by Charles Seeger
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:576 S '48 320w

"A large selection is given here, with interesting historical notes. All in all, the volume will provide a wealth of entertainment for anyone who can make out a tune on the piano and use his vocal chords for sheer pleasure." Hilda Lake
+ N Y Times p10 My 16 '48 380w

RANKIN, MRS LOUISE. Daughter of the mountains; il. by Kurt Wiese. 191p $2.50 Viking

48-1649

When the Tibetan girl, Momo, received her long-desired terrier, an astrologer declared that "you two will go thru many adventures and the dog will bring fortune to you all." Adventure came when the dog, Pempa, was stolen by a muleteer and Momo went seeking him down the Great trade route. In Calcutta Pempa's new owner, Lady Paton, returned him to the happy Momo and fortune came to the Tibetan family in the form of a new job for father from this kind English woman. For grades 4-7.

Booklist 44:302 My 1 '48

"Some books for children tower so high above their fellows that they win the label of 'literature', stories satisfying to young and old. Daughter of the Mountains is such a book, worth a permanent place in a home library." Martha King
+ Chicago Sun My 22 '48 350w
Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48
Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 60w

"Timely as the story is, I feel that it springs from a spontaneous creative impulse, fostered by years of living in India with an open mind, a seeing eye, and a selective skill in storytelling which puts character and atmosphere first. It is an incredible adventure, but it has the color and shape of reality and will be eagerly read by boys as well as girls for its vivid background and thrilling adventure. An ideal book to read aloud at home, or in a classroom where children feel free to talk it over." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 24:173 My '48 110w

"Intimate knowledge of the country enabled Miss Rankin to make not only the people and the monastery real, but the very pass itself with its twists and sharp descents, its rocks and forests. It is a beautiful and inspiring book with pictures that fit in every respect." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:194 My '48 120w
Kirkus 16:49 F 1 '48 120w

"Her adventures are plausible, and her character unfolds at each crisis with consistent and unsentimental realism. . . Recommended for ages 10-14." H. M. Brogan
+ Library J 73:716 My 1 '48 100w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 11 '48 370w

"Young Momo, with her stout heart and her simple trust in the sheltering goodness of Lord Buddha, is a memorable character. Miss Rankin paints her without a trace of sickly piety, making her delightfully human and wholly lovable. Kurt Wiese's drawings, lavish in number, are distinguished as always." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p24 My 9 '48 180w

"The writing is above average and the background unusual."
+ New Yorker 24:132 D 11 '48 60w
Reviewed by Dorothy Hult
San Francisco Chronicle p20 N 28 '48 150w

"Momo's story is a dramatic one. It is convincing in its atmosphere, and the characters are varied and well drawn. It is the story of a remote and backward people living in a country that we know too little about." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 My 8 '48 100w
Wis Lib Bul 44:107 My '48

RANSOME, ARTHUR. Great Northern? 350p $3 Macmillan

48-7170

Another story of the Swallows, Amazons and Scarabs, all eight of them, and Captain Flint. It is the story of a seafaring holiday in the Hebrides, in which Dick, the naturalist, is the central character. A pair of Great Northern divers (loons) are nesting on a remote Scottish loch, contrary to all rules and regulations. The children act to save the birds from a famous ornithologist with the wrong intentions.

Booklist 44:370 Jl 1 '48
Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun Jl 31 '48 320w

RANSOME, ARTHUR—Continued

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p4 Jl 29 '48 180w

"It is a red-letter day when a new Ransome book appears. . . This is equal to the best of Mr. Ransome's books." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:277 Jl '48 120w

"Lively story for children who like boats."
+ Kirkus 16:236 My 15 '48 150w

"Suspense? It is maintained up to the very last page. You may have often held your breath over a book, but never one of this kind, a mystery unique in juvenile fiction. Indeed, by this time anything Swallows and Amazons do in Arthur Ransome's stories isn't fiction: Captain Flint, Nancy, Roger, Dick, Titty and the rest are live people, personal friends of young folk all over the world." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Je 13 '48 330w

"Even if you shouldn't happen to care very strongly about birds, you feel with John a desperate earnestness that the loons must be saved. It is this quality of intensity which the youngsters bring to both work and play, even more than the sense of outdoors, the fun and the vigor of the characters, that has made Arthur Ransome's books so well-beloved by a whole generation of readers. For 10 to 14-year-olds." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p21 Je 13 '48 230w
New Yorker 24:134 D 11 '48 120w

"Readers 11 to 14 years old will find this a satisfying adventure distinguished by unusual vitality and spontaneity. The author understands the love of children for the details of outdoor living and sailing, which he gives to them with Crusoe-like thoroughness. 'Great Northern?' is a worthy addition to a long popular series." J. H. Cole
+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 N 28 '48 250w

RANSOME, STEPHEN, pseud. See Davis, F. C.

RAPHAELSON, MRS DORSHKA (WEGMAN). Morning song. 280p $3 Random house
48-7052

Novel of adolescence. It is the story of Mary Millar, whose father was Austrian, her mother, a Russian. When her beloved father died leaving his family unprovided for, Mary was only fifteen, but she attempted to support her neurotic mother and younger brother. The place is New York city; the time some twenty-five years ago.

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48
Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:449 N '48 100w

"A fragmentary portrayal of adolescence, the portrait of an engaging, enterprising youngster."
+ Kirkus 16:177 Ap 1 '48 160w

"A reasonably interesting novel. The background of a semi-literary and professional group, impractical and ardent, and the naive yet vigorous attack on the problem of family support produced unexpected and somewhat incredible results. Amusing and touching in spots and free from emphasis on sordid details." Marian Manley
+ Library J 73:945 Je 15 '48 80w

" 'Morning Song' is a refreshing reminder of how it feels to be young." Mary Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 8 '48 450w

"Mrs. Raphaelson (who, by the way, is the wife of the playwright Samson Raphaelson) has written a Grade-A novel. Her 'Morning Song' is far more than another study of adolescence. It is also a story of 'only yesterday,' and a story of family life, on which score there is more to the book than meets the eye." Rose Dobbs
+ N Y Times p5 Je 20 '48 450w

"Outrageously heart-warming."
New Yorker 24:90 Je 19 '48 120w

" 'Morning Song' is a first novel. Whether or not it is tinged with personal recollection is beside the point. . . Mrs. Raphaelson looks back clearly, carefully, and directly. It is rewarding to look back with her." C. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 Je 19 '48 600w

RATCHFORD, BENJAMIN ULYSSES, and ROSS, WILLIAM DEE. Berlin reparations assignment; round one of the German peace settlement. 259p $3.50 Univ. of N.C. press

940.531422 World war, 1939-1945—Reparations. Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany
47-12499

"The purpose of this book is to describe one phase in the negotiation of a German reparations settlement after World War II. That phase extended from the Potsdam Conference in July-August, 1945, to the proclamation of the Level of Industry Plan on March 28, 1946. Although that Plan was designed as the principal, if not the final, reparations settlement, subsequent developments soon rendered it obsolete and it now appears as only one step in the slow and painful process of developing and implementing a reparations policy. . . This is primarily a personal account by the two authors of what they saw, what they did, and some of the impressions they received while working on the reparations problem at the lower levels of the military government hierarchy of the Allied Control Council in Berlin, Germany." (Pref) Index.

Reviewed by H. J. Barnett
Am Econ R 38:657 S '48 1050w
Reviewed by Harold Zink
Am Pol Sci R 42:381 Ap '48 400w
Booklist 44:182 Ja 15 '48
Current Hist 14:104 F '48 60w
Foreign Affairs 26:574 Ap '48 60w
Reviewed by Carl Landauer
J Pol Econ 56:344 Ag '48 2650w

"They have succeeded in recording their impressions in a refreshingly unemotional and unprejudiced manner. Being economists, they occasionally lapse into the technical jargon of the profession. Because of the importance of the subject the book should be widely read by the general reader as well as the specialist." A. J. Gaines
+ Library J 73:123 Ja 15 '48 140w

"The subject of reparations necessarily is a complicated and involved one: it is doubtful that this book will enjoy wide appeal. None the less, for anyone interested in the German problem and post-war European stabilization, it should be read as a study in how not to conduct international negotiations." C. B. Peters
N Y Times p10 Ja 11 '48 550w
Reviewed by P. E. Mosely
Pol Sci Q 63:607 D '48 850w

"While the book offers a most competent and lucid analysis of the broad economic and political problems involved in these negotiations, its greatest value lies in the keen observations of the many details of international bargaining." F. A. B.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p23 Je 6 '48 460w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:63 Mr '48 420w

RATHBONE, JOSEPHINE LANGWORTHY, and others. Health in your daily living. 442p il $2.60 Houghton

613 Hygiene
48-6839

Textbook on health for high school students. The material is arranged in ten divisions: In search of health; Looks that show health; Eyes, ears, nose, and throat; Eating for good health; Your food-using machinery; Nerves and emotions; Exercise and relaxation; The menace of the microbe; Safety and first aid; Health through united effort. Chapter bibliographies. Glossary. Index.

"An interesting and attractive textbook, meeting most of the requirements demanded by teachers who are making selections of health textbooks. Such requirements which are here met include accurate, reliable content, interesting readable script, with a selection of topics of interest to the intended age group, and illustrations and graphs which engage the interest of the reader as well as clinch points made in the text. The glossary is complete and the teaching aids are excellent. Pre-tests of materials to be presented might have been added which would assist the teachers in selecting points for emphasis in class. Since there is no mention of a supplement in which the reproductive system and its function have been mentioned, it is safe to assume that this important subject again has been omitted." A. L. Beaghler

+ — Am J Pub Health 38:1594 N '48 230w

"High school students using this text will find clear, concise, up-to-date factual material on what comprises good health in everyday living. It is written in language that everyone can understand. . . This textbook contains many clear examples, with explanations, and some very good pictures." Margaret Zachariah

+ J Home Econ 40:594 D '48 170w

RATSEY, ERNEST A., and DE FONTAINE, WADE HAMPTON. Yacht sails; their care and handling. 258p il $4 Norton

623.86 Sails. Yachts and yachting 48-2376

The purpose of this book is "to assemble in one volume most of the known facts about yacht sails, their care and handling. . . Descriptions of the various sails which are used aboard modern racing and cruising yachts are given together with suggestions for their care and handling. . . Chapters on the care and repair of sails, how to locate the center of effort of a sail plan, and useful knots and hitches are included. The reader will find also brief descriptions of fittings which have been developed to render sail handling more efficient." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:334 Je 1 '48

"Extremely useful, detailed information." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:711 My 1 '48 30w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:714 My 1 '48 60w

RAWLINGS, ARTHUR LIONEL. Science of clocks and watches. 2d ed 303p $5 Pitman

681.11 Clocks and watches

Revised edition of a book which appeared four years ago (Book Review Digest 1944). "This edition has been substantially revised and enlarged. There is new material on the photographic zenith tube, a summary of up-to-date records of the Shortt 'free pendulum' clocks, the Hamilton marine chronometer, quartz-crystal clocks, the radio time signal service, and the poising of watch balances. The chapters on striking clocks and on perpetual calender clocks are also new additions." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 60w

"The work remains a well-written, technical treatise that will be of primary interest to specialists and advanced hobbyists; but parts of it, for example the chapter on the selection and management of a domestic clock, are written for the layman."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:37 My '48

READ, HERBERT EDWARD. Green child; with an introd. by Kenneth Rexroth. Am ed 195p $2.75 New directions

Fantasy about an English schoolmaster who for thirty years had lived in Europe and South America. After his experience as the dictator of a South American country he managed his apparent assassination and went back to England to try to find the "green child" of his youth. When he found her in his little English village they slipped away together to a life in the green child's underground country, there to live out their strange lives.

Booklist 45:178 Ja 15 '49

"Mr. Read's tale, utterly lacking in warmth, makes no appeal to the heart; while, on the other hand, being irrational in its indictment of humanity, it finds no abiding place in thought. A treasurable book—if it cannot reach the reader in both of these ways, it must at least succeed in one of them. . . In being so preoccupied with showing man as no better than a beast, a vegetable, or a stone, Mr. Read has completely ignored the possibility of man thinking. It seems to this reviewer that the whole fable constitutes a denial of the idea that intelligence, happiness, or goodness can be manifested by man on this plane of existence. One closes the book with a shiver." M. W. Stoer

Christian Science Monitor p14 D 31 '48 440w

Kirkus 16:602 N 15 '48 180w

"A remarkable, unforgettable novel. Distinguished job both in the content and the setting down on paper that at least approaches, if it does not attain, greatness. Not everybody's meat, but urged for most collections as of permanent worth. Enthusiastic introduction by Kenneth Rexroth." R. F. Kingery

+ Library J 73:1743 D 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by John Farrelly

New Repub 119:27 D 27 '48 550w

"The space accorded this notice of Herbert Read's wonderful little work is in inverse proportion to the measure of its excellence. It is one of those books, rare in any time and especially in our own, that a writer envies the author the joy of having composed and that a reader admires almost without qualifications. So finely is it wrought that one is prepared to believe that a certain want of warmth one feels in it may be due to a lack in one's self." Babette Deutsch

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 23 '49 460w

"'The Green Child' is beautifully imagined and beautifully written. But its estheticism seems a little narrow and inhuman. It symbolizes a temporary flight from life, passion, complexity and change, which is dramatically and poetically effective. There is no mistaking the effectiveness of some of the author's passages—just as there is no mistaking his sincere belief that the times are out of joint, and that the escapes chosen by his protagonists are, in the circumstances, inevitable—so far as these particular people are concerned. But the basic narrowness remains. It is a little chilling as one closes the book. It will chill especially those unacquainted with the great range and intellectual vigor of Read's critical writing." R. G. Davis

+ — N Y Times p48 D 5 '48 1150w

"A sometimes opaque allegory on politics and metaphysics, the book has narrative and stylistic lucidity as startling as some of its fantasy. . . The allegorical twists are arduous, but the prose is impeccable."

+ New Yorker 24:57 D 25 '48 230w

San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ja 9 '49 90w

"The fragments do not add up to an allegorical whole; nor is the green world an imaginative projection of the kind of society to whose realization Mr. Read has devoted so much argument and talent. I am content to call 'The Green Child' a fantasy, a delightful fantasy, and one in which Mr. Read has successfully and beautifully realized his ambition of writing a certain type of book—a type which he tells us elsewhere he 'would most like to imitate.'" B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 D 11 '48 1200w

RECK, WALDO EMERSON, ed. College publicity manual [sponsored by the American college public relations association]. 246p $3 Harper

371.2 Publicity. Advertising—Colleges and universities 48-9284

Contains articles by various hands on publicity media including screen, direct mail, magazines, radio, and newspapers. Forms a companion volume to Public Relations (Book Review Digest 1946).

RECK, W. E.—Continued

Booklist 45:151 Ja 1 '49
School & Society 68:327 N 6 '48 30w

REDER, MELVIN WARREN. Studies in the theory of welfare economics. 208p $3 Columbia univ. press
330.16 Economics 48-5018

"In this book, we attempt to explore some of the implications of welfare theory as it has been developed in the last few years. The first four chapters contain a rather brief review of this development. They have no pretension of originality. . . Chapters V through VIII contain what we believe to be some new developments in the theory of welfare economics on the 'static' level. Part II consists of a rather extensive sketch of a theory of dynamic economics. . . In Part III we analyze the concept of 'full employment' in the light of the welfare criterion." (Pref) Index.

"Throughout the book there is no reliance at all upon mathematical symbolism, which should immensely widen the book's influence. Extensive use is made instead of graphs, and these, for once, are well drawn and produced on a large enough scale to be easily comprehended. As befits a work begun as a Ph.D. thesis, there are numerous references to the literature and attempts to identify the contributions of different writers. . . The advanced student may be [troubled] by an occasional lack of ideal precision in the footnote references. . . It would be ungracious to dwell upon what are after all only minor blemishes in an important work—particularly since the author is so unpretentious in his claims, alleging at many places simply to be expounding already established doctrines. In this he is surely over modest, since there seems to be no subject that he touches upon which he does not have new light to shed." P. A. Samuelson
+ — Am Econ R 38:397 Je '48 1500w

"There is one flaw in this volume on welfare economics. The American economic system is viewed in isolation, without regard for its responsibility toward the world. . . In spite of this flaw Reder like Klein is a theorist with a conscience. But while Klein's economic narrative will be read by many for a few years, Reder's theoretical pioneering work will be read by a few for many years." H. S. Bloch
+ — Nation 166:254 F 28 '48 750w

REDGRAVE, RICHARD, and REDGRAVE, SAMUEL. Century of British painters; with a bibliographical index and 100 il. [ed. by Ruthven Todd]. new ed 612p $2.50 Oxford
759.2 Painting, British. Painters, British

"The Redgrave brothers (Richard, in his day, was quite a well-known painter) were younger contemporaries of Lawrence, Constable, Raeburn, Turner, and other great figures in the golden age of English painting, and their book, first published in 1866, reprinted in 1890, and now revised by Mr. Todd, has long been an important source of information on eighteenth- and early nineteenth-century painting. In a sense, it is an English Vasari—part anecdote, part history. . . A hundred full-page illustrations in half tone." New Yorker

"Though the artists it treats of are not in the same class as those in Vasari, it has the same quaint conscientiousness and cheerfully humdrum quality as the older book."
+ New Yorker 24:109 S 11 '48 140w

Reviewed by J. T. Soby
Sat R of Lit 31:50 D 4 '48 60w

"This book is a classic, and there is every reason why it should be, since it is highly readable today and was a landmark in 1866. The sense is sound, the history well founded, the prose is sturdy without being heavy and the serious matter is nicely relieved with sympathetic anecdote and relevant irony. But what is perhaps unexpected about this popular history of English painting is not the several differences between the tastes of that period and the fashions of our own, but the much more considerable grounds for agreement to be found after a lapse of eighty-two years." Michael Ayrton
+ Spec 180:414 Ap 2 '48 750w

REDINGER, RUBY VIRGINIA. Golden net. 434p $3 Crown
48-8991

Novel of life in a midwestern college during the war years. The main character is Marcia Anderson, instructor in the English department. The plot of the story concerns Marcia's efforts to escape the meshes of "the golden net of passions" surrounding her.

Booklist 45:120 D 1 '48

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p15 D 16 '48 170w

"An intelligently integrated novel."
+ Kirkus 16:560 O 15 '48 170w

" 'The Golden Net' is Miss Redinger's first novel and bears some marks of an inexperienced novelist. It could have been cut to advantage. At some points, particularly in Marcia's first love affair, it seems to follow too pat a psychological pattern; one sees at last, rather than feels, why she acted as she did. Some of the flaws, however, are the defect of a virtue and in toto they are minor by comparison with the book's solid achievements. The author knows faculty life at first hand and writes with candor and insight about a college campus and its people. The characters have variety and individuality and actuality; they grow and change as the novel progresses. The story itself has vigor and maturity." Mary Ross
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p19 O 10 '48 360w

"Perhaps the best word for 'The Golden Net' is admirable. It is admirable in the same well-written, well-planned way as so many English novels of a couple of decades ago. It is distinguished from them, however, by moments of genuine wit—and there are passages as incisive in their observation of human behavior as Arnold Bennett at his best." Marc Brandel
+ N Y Times p36 O 24 '48 220w

Reviewed by N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 31:15 N 27 '48 600w
School & Society 69:32 Ja 8 '49 50w

"The book is distinguished by its high intelligence, its psychological authority, and its evidence of the emergence of a new and gifted writer." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 38:384 winter '49 310w

REEDE, ARTHUR HALLAM. Adequacy of workmen's compensation. 422p $5 Harvard univ. press
331.825 Workmen's compensation 48-5856

"Analyzes workmen's compensation laws in the various states by kinds of workers not covered, number of workers included either compulsively or electively, compensable injuries, scale of benefits for various degrees of disability and medical provisions. Moves on to examine costs of workmen's compensation and sees injury prevention as effective way to reduce such charges. Most of the material is based on the year 1940 for obvious reasons, but final chapter previews recent changes and their significance. Views workmen's compensation as living law. Careful, thorough and required in special collections." Library J

"A carefully compiled and correlated analysis of the significant parts of the compensation laws of the various states, the cost of these laws, the compensation rate-making procedure, and the prevention of accidents. The research has been carefully done and the entire book is well prepared." G. C. Kelly
+ Ann Am Acad 258:157 Jl '48 450w
Booklist 44:263 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by R. E. Kingery
Library J 73:398 Mr 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Jacob Loft
Pol Sci Q 63:636 D '48 700w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:164 Je '48 280w

REEDER, FREDERICK MARTIN. Safe for solo: what every young aviator should know; il. by Robert C. Osborn. 216p $3.75 Harper

629.13252 Airplanes—Piloting 47-31274

"A book for the beginning pilot to aid him in acquiring the right attitude toward flying and in developing good flying habits. Written to supplement manuals and personal instruction, it discusses briefly, one by one, problems encountered in routine flying and gives the young aviator the benefit of the condensed experience of other pilots in such situations. The informal, anecdotal style and the cartoons done in the manner of the comic strip should attract those who might not otherwise be induced to read a book of advice and warnings. No index." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 33:1 Ja '48

"With this book you can almost fly the corner of an overstuffed sofa: its simple text and lively illustrations give you that real 'seat-of-the-pants feel' which Admiral Reeder, out of a vast depth of experience, says is still necessary to successful flight despite the vast mechanizations of the modern cockpit." John Stuart
+ N Y Times p26 N 2 '47 230w

REES, JOHN RAWLINGS, ed. Case of Rudolf Hess; a problem in diagnosis and forensic psychiatry. 224p $3 Norton

B or 92 Hess, Rudolf Med48-17

Medical case-history by eight psychiatrists who attended Rudolf Hess from his landing in Scotland to the end of the Nuremberg trials.

"Three years' residence in Washington has been enough to demonstrate to this reviewer that 'The Case of Rudolf Hess,' could profitably be read by students of political science. The book should also be part of the library of any serious student of the German 'Question.' The student of psychiatry or psychology would list it as recommended, rather than required, reading." D. F. Cleary
Commonweal 47:573 Mr 19 '48 450w

Foreign Affairs 26:745 Jl '48 20w

Reviewed by S. K. Padover
Nation 166:421 Ap 17 '48 270w

Reviewed by David Abrahamsen
N Y Times p7 Ap 4 '48 700w

"The book is unavoidably repetitious and technical in places, but it has a grisly interest because of Hess's grotesque role in recent history. As a pathological study, it is not so successful, because Hess, whether lucid or mad, was a dull man."
New Yorker 24:87 F 28 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 12 '48 700w

"A fascinating record." W. E. Jackson
+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 Mr 6 '48 360w

Reviewed by W. R. Brain
Spec 179:278 Ag 29 '47 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p489 S 27 '47 850w

Reviewed by Sigmund Neumann
Yale R n s 37:741 summer '48 140w

REEVE, ALAN. Africa, I presume? with il. by the author. 232p $3 Macmillan

916 Africa—Description and travel 48-197

A personal account of a nineteen-week trip through Africa from Cairo to Cape Town, taken by a young journalist from New Zealand.

Booklist 44:232 Mr 1 '48

"The record, at once amusing and informing, is as clever as the title of the book." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:481 My 19 '48 110w

Kirkus 15:639 N 15 '47 150w

"[Mr Reeve] is an observant reporter, honest and impersonal (his manner is not, as the title would suggest, feebly humorous). Result is an account satisfying to the vicarious traveller and useful as a source of information." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 72:1539 N 1 '47 80w

"A highly personal and altogether charming account of a quick journey, usually gay and always intelligent. . . I wish the book had more pictures. Reeve's text and drawings complement each other admirably in both spirit and context; they should balance each other throughout, with the drawings helping to bring out the text's nuances. However, the pictures are used only as chapter heads." E. P. Hanson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 F 1 '48 600w

Reviewed by John Barkham
N Y Times p7 F 29 '48 430w

San Francisco Chronicle p16 Mr 7 '48 250w

Times [London] Lit Sup p180 Mr 27 '48 600w

Wis Lib Bul 44:104 My '48

REIK, THEODOR. Listening with the third ear; the inner experience of a psychoanalyst. 514p $6 Farrar, Straus

131.34 Psychoanalysis. Psychologists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. Freud, Sigmund 48-7460

"Reik begins with a study of the hidden causes which drove Freud towards his discovery of psychoanalysis. He conducts this rather on the same lines as Freud's examination of Leonardo da Vinci. . . Reik then makes an excursion into self-analysis which leads one to believe that he is a remarkably well-adjusted man, or that he perhaps observes a certain reticence. The main body of the book is devoted to detailed descriptions of a number of cases he has treated through the thirty-seven years of his experience." N Y Times

Booklist 45:43 O 1 '48

Kirkus 16:191 Ap 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by Harold Lancour
Library J 73:877 Je 1 '48 130w

"This book is advertised as providing the answer to the layman's question: 'What is psychoanalysis?' It does not." Lionel Ovesey
— New Repub 119:23 O 11 '48 950w

"Theodore Reik (not to be confused with Wilhelm Reich) was a favorite pupil and is still a devoted disciple of Freud. He writes profusely and has published many volumes including 'A Psychologist Looks at Love,' an account of the processes of love which is almost as intellectually pleasing as 'De L'Amour.' His present book, despite a certain breeziness of manner and some chapter headings suggestive of Dale Carnegie rather than of anything more profound, is a serious, stimulating and communicative work." Anthony Bower
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 15 '48 450w

"A book that is sometimes brilliant and often profound. But at the end we know just as little about psychological insight as we knew before (which is little enough) although we have learned a good deal about Reik, his personality, problems, and methods of work." Jule Eisenbud
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:18 O 2 '48 850w

REILLY, FRANK A. Hideout club; decorations by Clifford N. Geary. 147p $2.25 Rinehart

48-5855

Jimmie Reynolds, a newcomer in town, hopes to become a member of the boy's club called the Cobra Club. When he is chased away by the members, Jimmie decides he will have the most exclusive club in the world. He manages

REILLY, F. A.—Continued
so well that in time the haughty Cobra Club members are begging to join the Hideout Club.

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p10 S 9 '48 180w
Commonweal 49:150 N 19 '48 50w
Kirkus 16:49 F 1 '48 100w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 2 '48 260w

"Young readers may be somewhat confused by a shifting back and forth from the boy's point of view to that of the adults around him, but they will find plenty of fun, vivid characters and a feeling of good humor and tolerance." Frances Smith
N Y Times p11 My 30 '48 180w

REINHERZ, NATHAN. Trumpets at the crossroads; il. by Ralph Ray. 263p $2.75 Crowell
48-8537

Historical novel of thirteenth-century England, written for older boys. The tale relates the adventures of a young lad, son of a hammersmith, when the town in which he lives comes into conflict with its feudal lord, the wicked Baron Hubert.

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48

"A good yarn of feudal days."
+ Kirkus 16:365 Ag 1 '48 110w

"In spite of a certain choppiness caused by occasional shifts in point of view from Francis to other characters, this is a lively, colorful tale which high-lights the restiveness of townsfolk and the cruel plight of serfs." M. C. S.
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 N 14 '48 260w

REINSCH, JAMES LEONARD. Radio station management; foreword by Justin Miller. 177p il $3.50 Harper
384.5 Radio—Stations 48-10434

"A handbook for guidance in station operation. Covers every phase of radio station management, acquiring the station, setting up the organization, surveys, labor relations, programming, news, engineering, sales, personnel, accounting, promotion, and community responsibilities." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:83 N 1 '48

"A practical handbook for radio students, for increasing effectiveness of stations already in operation."
+ Kirkus 16:354 Jl 15 '48 130w
Library J 73:1670 N 15 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:77 S '48

REISNER, MARY. Katherine and the dark angel. 245p $2.75 Dodd
48-10302

Love story of two people sick with fear.

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48
Reviewed by Dorothy Sparks
Chicago Sun p8X D 5 '48 220w

"Laid in northern Italy, this otherwise readable novel too diligently describes the cathedrals, castles and countryside. But the dialogue is realistic and the story moves quickly. Recommended." Anne Whitmore
+ — Library J 73:1385 O 1 '48 70w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p26 N 7 '48 140w
Reviewed by H. B. Parker
N Y Times p41 N 28 '48 110w

"A nice feeling for Italy only succeeds in slowing the story and the merest swatches of characterization make us impatient for a fuller picture. Miss Reisner has unfortunately coated her nightmare with sunshine." C. M. Brown
Sat R of Lit 31:14 D 11 '48 180w

REITHER, JOSEPH, ed. Masterworks of history; digests of eleven great classics. (Masterworks ser) 693p $5 Doubleday
908.2 History 48-6587

Digests of eleven classics of history dating from 447 B.C. to 1927. Contents: History, by Herodotus; The History of the Peloponnesian War, by Thucydides; Commentaries on the Gallic Wars, by Caesar; The Annals, by Tacitus; The Ecclesiastical History of the English Nation, by Bede; The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, by Edward Gibbon; Renaissance in Italy, by J. A. Symonds; The History of England from the Accession of James the Second, by T. B. Macaulay; The French Revolution, by Thomas Carlyle; History of the United States of America, by George Bancroft; The Rise of American Civilization, by C. A. Beard and M. R. Beard.

Reviewed by C. F. Mullet
Am Hist R 54:101 O '48 480w
Booklist 44:354 Je 15 '48
Kirkus 16:37 Ja 15 '48 240w

"Eleven reasonably satisfactory abridgments of famous historical works, with adequate transition to effect running continuity but omitting detailed analyses. In several cases the originals appear in preferable abridgments, biographical sketches and introductory remarks are repetitive and dull. There is little bibliographical information about editions and translators. . . Recommended for home use, small high-school and public libraries only." Donald Wasson
Library J 73:394 Mr 1 '48 140w

REITZEL, WILLIAM. The Mediterranean; its role in America's foreign policy. 195p $2.75 Harcourt
327.73 Mediterranean sea. U.S.—Foreign policy 48-7273

"The author, who is assistant director of the Yale Institute of International Studies and who has spent much time in the Mediterranean area, traces the rather haphazard evolution of American policy in the Mediterranean and speculates on its future requirements. His basic conclusion is that at this moment of history American policy is inextricably linked with British policy requirements, but that care must be taken to pursue those interests most important to our own national interests." (N Y Times) Index.

Booklist 45:27 S 15 '48

"Excellent study."
+ Kirkus 16:301 Je 15 '48 300w
Reviewed by Crane Brinton
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 4 '48 500w

"Reitzel's carefully and thoughtfully written book is a profound effort to analyze with detached impartiality the importance of the Mediterranean to the United States, both in terms of the present and the future. . . This is a good and intelligent study, although it will not interest the amateur. I should consider it required reading for anybody in the policy division of the State Department or connected with the Mediterranean or Levantine aspects of our foreign service." C. L. Sulzberger
+ N Y Times p3 Je 27 '48 1000w
New Yorker 24:91 Je 19 '48 180w

"Brief though it is, it could be briefer still, but the treatment is unquestionably clear, to the point, and accomplishes precisely what its title promises." René Albrecht-Carrié
+ Pol Sci Q 63:613 D '48 550w
Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Jl 25 '48 400w

REMBRANDT HERMANSZOON VAN RIJN. A catalogue of Rembrandt's selected drawings; ed. by Otto Benesch. 64p $3.50 Oxford
741

Companion volume to Rembrandt's Selected Drawings. Gives historical data on the drawings, together with some critical appraisals by the editor.

Booklist 45:62 O 15 '48

Reviewed by John Cournos
Commonweal 49:233 D 10 '48 330w

"The great variety of interesting information in the catalogue volume is unfortunately too often phrased in a repellent Middle European manner. 'Study after a man' should be 'study of a man,' and so on. This is a small but irritating flaw in a remarkable feat both of scholarship and of publishing." Stephen Bone
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 S 28 '48 90w

Reviewed by Stephen Bone
New Statesman & Nation 36:553 D 18 '48 130w

New Yorker 24:109 S 11 '48 70w

Times [London] Lit Sup p608 O 30 '48 500w

REMBRANDT HERMANSZOON VAN RIJN. Selected drawings; [ed.] by Otto Benesch. 30p 292il $7.50 Oxford

741 Drawings 48-8984

Reproductions of 292 of Rembrandt's known drawings, forty-one of which have not been reproduced previously. They show the development of the artist's technique, and the relations of the drawings to his paintings. There is an introduction by the editor. List of plates.

Booklist 45:62 O 15 '48

"Admirable reproductions." Stephen Bone
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 28 '48 90w

Reviewed by Stephen Bone
New Statesman & Nation 36:553 D 18 '48 130w

"A superlative example of book making: 280 reproductions and a short text that is not hard to take." Thomas Craven
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ja 2 '48 170w

"A volume of truly impressive scholarship. . . The editor contributes an introduction, which, though studiously dry, is obviously written out of profound understanding of and sympathy with Rembrandt's artistic purpose."
+ New Yorker 24:109 S 11 '48 70w

"To the lover of Rembrandt's paintings who wishes to realize the essential virtues and varied qualities of his drawings, Dr. Benesch will be an inspiring and reliable guide. . . Here and there the English text does not ring quite true, and Dr. Benesch would reap benefit if he allowed an English reader to look over his manuscript before he publishes the complete catalogue, which will be awaited with interest."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p608 O 30 '48 500w

REMY, GILBERT, pseud. See Renault-Roulier, G.

RENAULT, MARY, pseud. North face. 280p $3 Morrow

48-4120

A problem novel in which a young English woman and an older countryman meet at a country inn, where each is trying to solve an emotional difficulty by mountain climbing. Neil Langton blames himself for his wife's infidelity and the death of their child; Ellen Shorland believes she is responsible for her fiance's death. Their long journey toward an understanding and marriage is the plot of the novel.

Booklist 45:32 S 15 '48

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 14 '48 120w

Kirkus 16:342 Jl 15 '48 170w

"Miss Renault is an able craftsman and a genuine artist. Her characters are precisely and competently delineated and their mental reactions are subtly sketched with perception and unerring skill. Entire novel is accomplished with distinction and is a worthy successor to Middle Mist (1945)." E. P. Nichols
+ Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 80w

"The problem is worked out with the balance, tonal nuance and inner harmony of a sonata. 'North Face' is a novel of vibrant and enduring values. It comprehends the spirit that climbs mountains, and the faith that moves them." George Conrad
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 S 19 '48 410w

"'North Face' is not only a moving book but a reassuring one. These people are so very real, not merely so believable but so believed, that it is impossible not to believe also that, after all, romantic love is a genuine emotion. As general among men and women, if only in the negative way of hunger and frustration, as it is rare among books." Donald Barr
+ N Y Times p5 S 26 '48 750w

San Francisco Chronicle p25 O 10 '48 320w

"This kind of psychological novel, however poetically and sensitively written, inevitably contains some of the grosser aspects of the common mystery story. The villains are the neuroses hiding in the depths of the minds of hero and heroine, to be tracked down and put away safely in a cell like so many criminals. In real life they might eventually escape, larger and more menacing than ever. A part of Miss Renault's art is to convince the reader that there is only happiness in store for her tortured lovers." Harrison Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 S 25 '48 600w

Wis Lib Bul 44:185 N '48

RENAULT-ROULIER, GILBERT. (GILBERT REMY, pseud). Memoirs of a secret agent of Free France; tr. by Lancelot C. Sheppard v.1, The silent company]. (Whittlesey house publication) 406p il $5 McGraw

940.5348144 World war, 1939-1945—France. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, French. World war, 1939-1945—Secret service (48-5253)

The first volume of the memoirs of an officer of the Free French intelligence network in France during World war II. The time covered is from June, 1940 to June, 1942. Index.

"It is fascinating stuff—the more fascinating because of the author's candor." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 181:108 Ap '48 240w

"His style is engaging, but the narrative—which will extend to another volume—is spread a bit thin here and there, and is filled with rather insignificant details, possibly because the rest of the story could not be finished in time for publication at present. The book may be offered unhesitatingly to any reader who loves adventure and admires unselfish idealism." Joseph McSorley
+ — Cath World 167:89 Ap '48 350w

Reviewed by Henry Sowerby
Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 15 '48 750w

"Written as a report and either poorly translated or merely copied from notes in spots, some of both no doubt, it is for this all the more overwhelming and real. It is very great heroism written in an unheroic, matter of fact and modest way. And that is the kind of men they were. As Maurice Schumann says in his introduction, 'there is nothing less French than any claim to exceed the common lot of humankind. There is nothing more French than the determination to be truly human.' This is the great interest of the book, the heroism of these unheroics, these daily citizens. And it makes a much greater impression in its humility than a smooth and better worded tale." Ann Hunter
+ Commonweal 47:622 Ap 9 '48 500w

Kirkus 15:620 N 1 '47 160w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 26 '48 300w

Reviewed by Albert Guerard
Nation 166:420 Ap 17 '48 750w

RENAULT-ROULIER, GILBERT—Continued

"Of all the stories, both journalistic and literary about underground activity against the Nazis, only Jan Karski's 'The Story of a Secret State,' in which he told his experiences with the Polish resistance, can be compared, in its simplicity and devotion to the truth, with Rémy's book. But Rémy's account, partly because of his circumstances and personality, seems more rounded and more spiritually aware." Virgilia Peterson

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 F 1 '48 1350w

"Remy, the pseudonym of one of the first and most successful of General de Gaulle's spies, belongs to the school of memoirists who write historical novels in reverse. Instead of making fiction seem like history, he makes history seem like fiction. Almost every page is packed with dialogue, easy, racy dialogue, fairly well carried over in this translation." Theodore Draper

+ N Y Times p5 F 1 '48 600w

"A story of subjective as well as tactical development, and it seems to me to be a notable book. It lacks literary distinction, but it has humility and fairness and precision, qualities rather more important in an account of a nationwide rising to which hundreds of thousand of individuals contributed their share. . . Renault-Roulier obviously idolizes General de Gaulle, but his complete fairness to the other elements in the Resistance has about it an appeal that makes me eager to read the two subsequent volumes, which Whittlesey House has tentatively scheduled for next year. I want to follow the evolution of the doughty Colonel's political thought." A. J. Liebling

+ New Yorker 23:62 Ja 31 '48 1300w

"It has all the fascination of a novel by E. Phillips Oppenheim." L. G. Blochman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 Mr 6 '48 750w

Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 28 '48 900w

"This book is like the first draft of a wonderful novel by André Malraux. . . For sheer excitement Renault's story of how he got his wife and children into a fishing boat and out to sea in June 1942 (they knew they had only an even chance because the Germans inspected every second boat in the fishing fleet) surpasses the contrived suspense of most fiction."

+ Time 51:100 F 9 '48 1000w

RENDINA, MRS LAURA (JONES) COOPER. Roommates; with il. by Ruth King. 214p $2.50 Little

48-5979

A boarding school story for girls in the middle teens. The roommates were hearty, gay, outgiving Debbie, and Rachele, torn between her loyalties to her father and her mother who were divorced. As the year went on gradually Rachele's shyness gave way to the understanding and wholesomeness that was Debbie, and in the end they were firm friends.

"This boarding-school story has skyrocketed every girl we know to almost speechless enthusiasm. It seems to have every ingredient necessary to endear itself to the junior high school set, and something for their older sisters too." Jane Cobb

+ Atlantic 182:119 N '48 120w

Booklist 44:370 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold

Christian Science Monitor p6 N 11 '48 170w

"There have been so few boarding school stories in recent years that today's lower teens will thoroughly enjoy this one, though they may think it slightly dated in its language."

+ Kirkus 16:145 Mr 15 '48 80w

"Roommates can be broadly recommended. Beneath the glamor of boarding-school life with its escapades and misunderstandings, there lies a warm sympathy and understanding of the adjustments young girls have to face in their growing up." Mary Strang

+ Library J 73:826 My 15 '48 80w

"When you find a good boarding-school story for girls, like this, treasure it: most of them are poor stuff. This begins at once to prove its merit. . . A girl may not realize that this story is giving her studies of character, but she will quite possibly read the book more than once, which she cannot do without learning important things about growing up." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 9 '48 230w

"Really good boarding school stories for girls are few and far between, so this one which has vitality of characterization and an awareness of modern youth in its serious as well as its frivolous moments deserves a special welcome." E. L. B.

+ N Y Times p29 Ap 18 '48 230w

Wis Lib Bul 44:107 My '48

RENNE, ROLAND ROGER. Land economics; principles, problems, and policies in utilizing land resources. 736p il maps $5 Harper

333 Land. Agriculture—Economic aspects 47-12302

"A textbook on the principles, problems and policies in utilizing land resources, by the present president of Montana State College. There are chapters on soil conservation, reclamation and the business side of farming." Current Hist

---

"In this volume Mr. Renne has presented in a very interesting and stimulating manner the uses that are now being made of our land resources and the suggested improvements of those resources in order that they be made to contribute more to the general welfare. . . This is an excellent reference book on the subject of land use, and should be a very valuable text for the student who has the ability to analyze and evaluate the many statements and viewpoints presented." A. F. Vass

+ Ann Am Acad 257:258 My '48 600w

Current Hist 14:175 Mr '48 30w

"Renne's Land Economics can be highly recommended for students in both agricultural and general or business economies." Rainer Schickele

+ J Pol Econ 56:548 D '48 1300w

"A good and necessary book." W. M. T.

+ N Y Times p29 Je 6 '48 500w

RENNIE, THOMAS ALEXANDER CUMMING, and WOODWARD, LUTHER ELLIS. Mental health in modern society. 424p $4 Commonwealth fund

131.3 Mental hygiene. Psychology, Pathological Med47-2505

"Describes how the knowledge acquired from wartime experience in treating and preventing mental illness in the armed forces now may be used in building sound mental health." (School & Society) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"This book . . . is strongly recommended for all public health workers." P. H. Stevenson

+ Am J Pub Health 38:1465 O '48 420w

"This book, published in the year of the International Congress on World Citizenship and Mental Health, is a most timely publication, serving, as probably will the Congress itself, to document simultaneously the ambitions and hopes of mental hygienists, on the one hand, and their competence, on the other. . . One could wish that there had been a clearer perception of those to whom the book was addressed." J. R. Seeley

+ — Am J Soc 54:248 N '48 1800w

"This book is recommended to physicians, nurses, social workers, teachers, clergymen, psychologists, and even to lawyers. It is free from psychoanalytic and other esoteric jargon; it is sober but not dull; it is worth studying rather than reading casually." J. A. Kindwall

+ Ann Am Acad 258:146 Jl '48 420w

Booklist 45:114 D 1 '48

"Dr. Rennie and Dr. Woodward have produced a finely documented study with an outstanding bibliography. They are obviously no beginners in the compilation of data. But there is a tendency to crowd the material in an effort to leave no subject untouched. The authors, one a distinguished teacher of psychiatry, the other an expert in psychiatric social work, have bitten off a great hunk. This reviewer could have stood an added dash of salt. Each chapter, one feels, might be expanded into a volume, for the book has a depth of implication that adds dimension to its wide compass." Carl Binger

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 My 9 '48 800w

" 'Mental Health in Modern Society' is splendidly documented and presents to the reader a wide range of reference on the social significance of mental health and its practical application." E. A. Strecker

N Y Times p17 Ag 1 '48 550w

School & Society 67:222 Mr 20 '48 30w

Reviewed by Joseph Hirsch

Social Forces 27:176 D '48 750w

"The book represents a valuable and a living document concerning our problems in mental health today." R. R. Grinker

+ Survey G 37:322 Je '48 500w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:206 Je '48 300w

REVELL, LOUISA. No pockets in shrouds. 187p $2 Macmillan

48-6536

Detective story.

"Some pretty phony operations before the guilty one is spotted, but the story is entertaining, with a new angle or two."

+ Kirkus 16:96 F 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 My 30 '48 130w

"A spinster sleuth is no novelty to detective fiction, but Miss Julia is one of the best. We shall be greatly disappointed if we do not meet her again." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p24 Ap 25 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 25 '48 90w

REWALD, JOHN. Paul Cézanne, a biography [tr. by Margaret H. Liebman]. 231p $5 Simon & Schuster

B or 92 Cézanne, Paul 48-9248

"Enlarged version of book originally called Cézanne et Zola, published in 1936 as Sorbonne thesis. A second edition appeared in 1939. Now the emphasis is on Cézanne alone. Referring to his History of Impressionism [Book Review Digest 1946] the author states that the present book 'may be considered as a subsequent attempt to detach a single figure from the general background.' " Library J

Reviewed by Dorothy Adlow

Christian Science Monitor p15 D 2 '48 60w

"Readable text on the great man of Aix-en-Provence. Many illustrations of work, photographs of surroundings, and of family and friends. Should prove decidedly useful." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 74:62 Ja 1 '49 80w

Reviewed by Sam Hunter

N Y Times p20 Ja 9 '49 290w

REY, MRS MARGRET ELISABETH (WALDSTEIN), and REY, HANS AUGUSTO. Billy's picture [il. by the authors]. [22p] $1 Harper

48-7929

"As Billy the bunny is drawing a picture of himself, along come his friends, one by one, wanting to help. Each draws ears, feet, or tail to the best of his ability, which is in his own image. The result is a portrait which might be a puppy-goose or a porcuphant but not at all what Billy had in mind. Ages 4-7." Booklist

---

Booklist 45:16 S 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King

Chicago Sun S 25 '48 40w

Kirkus 16:362 Ag 1 '48 80w

"It will make a very expensive picture book for its value to a library collection." N. L. Rathbun

Library J 73:1283 S 15 '48 70w

New Repub 119:32 D 6 '48 50w

Reviewed by V. H. Mathews

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ag 8 '48 110w

"The colors of the pictures are not as sparkling as the imagination which contrived them, but the humor will enchant any youngster with a fondness for animals and a taste for the ridiculous." E. L. B.

N Y Times p12 Ag 15 '48 130w

Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 18 '48 70w

Wis Lib Bul 44:151 S '48

REYBURN, HUGH ADAM, and others. Nietzsche, the story of a human philosopher. 500p $6 Macmillan

B or 92 Nietzsche, Friedrich Wilhelm

"This book is an attempt to see the man and his philosophy together, and to interpret them by one another. It does not primarily seek to judge and appraise, to attack or defend; but merely to understand, and by understanding to make clear on what his appeal to us depends." (Pref) The author is professor of psychology at the University of Cape Town.

"A really admirable biography of Nietzsche, and a good clear analysis of his philosophical ideas. . . This is a valuable book for the historian, who will find in it a good guide to Nietzsche's ideas, and a most temperate and untechnical psychological analysis of Nietzsche's personality." Crane Brinton

+ Am Hist R 54:357 Ja '49 600w

"Exceedingly well-written story of his life recommended especially for those readers who wish to gain over-all views of Nietzsche and his work; will be helpful in college and larger public libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ Library J 73:941 Je 15 '48 140w

"On the assumption that prevention is better than cure, this book is certainly an antidote to Nietzsche's doctrines; for one can hardly imagine anyone wanting to read him who has read Reyburn first. And yet it is a praiseworthy effort 'to see the man and his philosophy together, and to interpret them by one another.' It is conscientious, thorough, painstaking and entirely unobjectionable, and yet it only succeeds in exhibiting a great genius in the light of a great bore. Moreover a further blight has been cast upon the unhappy victim by the unspeakably grisly translations." E. M. Butler

— + New Statesman & Nation 35:358 My 1 '48 850w

"Mr. Reyburn has done an excellent piece of work in recounting Nietzsche's life, in relation to the growth, flowering, and partial decay of his thought."

+ New Yorker 24:75 Je 26 '48 180w

"Although the book contributes nothing new to our knowledge of Nietzsche, the author's careful analysis, his sobriety of judgment, and, curiously, his reluctance to be overly impressed with his subject all contribute to our understanding. Throughout he eschews the jargon of the psychological schools and displays an interest which is much more literary and philosophical than clinical." Robert Bierstedt

+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 Jl 10 '48 550w

"This is not the book for those who wish for an illuminating study of Nietzsche the man. On the other hand, it is admirably the book for those who have resigned themselves never to reading Nietzsche, but who would like to know what it was that he said—what, to put it crudely, all the fuss has been about. Professor Reyburn is a deft conductor through Nietzsche's life, constantly pausing to analyse his more important works. He is a most intelligent and lucid guide, sympathetic to his subject yet wholly frank."

REYBURN, H. A.—Continued
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p418 Jl 24 '48 1050w

REYHER, MRS REBECCA HOURWICH. Zulu woman [the story of a modern woman's rebellion against polygamy]. 282p $3 Columbia univ. press

B or 92 Sibiya, Christina. Women in Zululand 48-6654

An account of the life of Christina, first wife of Solomon, King of the Zulus who reigned from 1913 to 1933. Christina was a Christian and did not believe in polygamy, so when Solomon married other wives she lived thru a period of humiliation, turning to indifference, and ending finally in divorce. Christina told the story to the author, and from her narrative the author has fashioned her book.

Booklist 44:333 Je 1 '48

"Scientific anthropology in an unusual and attractive form—the detailed life story of a Zulu woman as told with utter frankness and great intelligence to an experienced writer who put it into the form of a narrative in the third person, with comments based upon her own residence of more than a year among the Zulus." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:418 My 5 '48 210w

Current Hist 15:40 Jl '48 50w

Kirkus 16:211 Ap 15 '48 170w

"A rare tapestry rich in barbaric color, full of tribal detail, shadowed by primitive cruelty and highlighted by tender humor. . . Highly recommended for its insight, and understanding of a little known culture and of a woman of great strength of character." R. P. Tubby
+ Library J 73:650 Ap 15 '48 100w

"[Christina's] words have the ring of a modern novel, but they are those of a Zulu woman, as far removed as the moon from any so-called feminist influences. Her emotions are those of any woman, in these United States or elsewhere, but her forbearance was beyond that of most women. . . She is a character well worth knowing." M. C. Hubbard
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 My 9 '48 850w

"As recorded so ably by Mrs. Reyher, Christina's life history is an illuminating informal document of personal relations among people whose social history we have heretofore only known in textbooks." Gitel Poznanski
+ N Y Times p10 Je 27 '48 550w

Reviewed by Eleanor Breed
San Francisco Chronicle p20 My 23 '48 600w

"As so often in reading of primitive people, the lay reader is struck by the standards of honesty and decency that prevail among them. Standing bravely up to a demoralized group of blacks, with her chief enemy as the final court of appeal, Christina by sheer moral suasion finally gained justice. It's more than she could have done in South Carolina, or New York, or, for that matter, in two-thirds of the states in our union." Bergen Evans
+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 Je 5 '48 600w

REYMOND, DALTON S. Earthbound. 381p $3 Ziff-Davis

48-613

Louisiana in the late 1880's is the scene of this novel. It traces the story of Eric Baxter, whose love of the land gave him strength to withstand the tragedy of a bad marriage, a vindictive brother, and Mississippi floods.

Reviewed by H. T. Kane
Chicago Sun F 29 '48 290w

Kirkus 15:676 D 15 '47 150w

"'Earthbound' is a considerable achievement even for an author who is, as the publishers tell us, 'the man who injects the authentic flavor into the film epics about the South.'" Coleman Rosenberger
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 F 29 '48 380w

"When 'Earthbound' emerges in its natural habitat, the film palace, its mathematically apportioned helpings of sex will doubtless bring the Legion of Decency to classify the picture as unsuitable for children. But the stereotypes of the plantation hands, the clichés of dialogue and situation, and above all, the relegation of the forces of nature and history to the background of a set of cardboard lovers and haters, would seem to make the novel not altogether suitable for adults, either." Alan Downer
— N Y Times p18 Ja 25 '48 550w

REYNOLDS, DICKSON, pseud. See Dickson, H.

REYNOLDS, JAMES. Andrea Palladio and the winged device. 330p il $10 Creative age

B or 92 Palladio, Andrea. Architecture 48-9101

A study of the life and works of the Italian architect A. Palladio (1518-1580) followed by studies of his influence on the architects of Ireland, England, the continent of Europe, and America. Bibliography. Index.

"An unusually fascinating book. Recommended for reading at leisure or for occasional consultation." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 74:198 F 1 '49 110w

"Mr. Reynolds writes in an engaging style, worthy of his theme. His material is extensive, well organized, and has every appearance of authenticity. His critical estimates are as a rule careful and true. He has written a good book, interesting from cover to cover." Joseph Hudnut
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 D 19 '48 900w

"Because of his many fields of interest (he's the man who wrote that odd and fascinating book 'Ghosts in Irish Houses' a few years ago), Mr. Reynolds seems an ideal man to do such a book as this 'Palladio,' for he can write for the general reader, whereas another man might have produced either an architectural treatise or a straight biography." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 D 20 '48 700w

Reviewed by Sighle Kennedy
Sat R of Lit 32:16 Ja 1 '49 650w

REYNOLDS, JAMES. Ghosts in Irish houses [il. by the author]. 283p $12 Creative age

133.12 Ghosts 47-12407

"The present volume, beautifully produced with dozens of sketches by the author and color reproductions of nine of his paintings, contains twenty-two selected Irish ghost stories from the more than two hundred in the Reynolds collection. . . The tales cover ten centuries of time and reach out through all of Ireland, involving all sorts of people, embracing animals and castles and whole armies of men." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"Any one who likes a good story will like this lovely book. Never have ghosts been so well housed. Should skeptics come upon it, let them read 'The Cerements on the Stairs.' It will either convert them or turn them to stone." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 D 14 '47 1200w

Reviewed by Gerald Sykes
N Y Times p10 F 8 '48 450w

"There could not have been a happier historian of Ireland's ghostly past than the author. He is a painter of remarkable and romantic vision who has set down in nine full-page plates and four colored paintings and numerous drawings an eerie and majestic illustration of castled mountain and lonely keep. . . There is good writing in this book. . . Some of his stories repel me. I do not like to linger long on the story of great suffering or great wrongs. But Mr. Reynolds writes like a poet and sees with a painter's eye. His book is produced sumptuously and is worthy of the writing it contains." O. S. Gogarty
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:15 Ja 10 '48 600w

REYWALL, JOHN, pseud. Trial of Alvin Boaker. 283p $2.50 Random house
48-1038

An account by the presiding judge of the murder trial of his colleague Judge Boaker, accused of the murder of his estranged wife, Margaret Boaker.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Ap 16 '48 50w

"Unique, perhaps but not recommended."
— Kirkus 15:685 D 15 '47 80w

"Uncommonly realistic dialogue and some excellent implicit characterization, especially of the presiding judge and the defendant, who is another judge. The climax is curdling, and the solution satisfactory, though hardly unexpected." E. F. Walbridge
Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 100w

"This tale should be a natural for lawyers and all citizens who like the special background." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 F 29 '48 270w

Reviewed by James MacBride
N Y Times p16 Mr 14 '48 180w

"Letter-perfect in court procedure—which makes it, like most trials, occasionally dull. Invaluable for mysteriographers, solid fare for addicts."
Sat R of Lit 31:30 Mr 6 '48 50w

RHODE, JOHN, pseud. See Street, C. J. C.

RICE, CHARLES S., and SHENK, JOHN B. Meet the Amish; a pictorial study of the Amish people. 21;[96]p $5 Rutgers univ. press
289.7748 Mennonites in Pennsylvania
47-30654

Photographs showing many aspects of life among the Amish of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. Their dress, their great barns, carriages, houses, children, and schools are among the subjects pictured. Brief explanatory text and descriptive captions for the photographs complete the work.

Booklist 44:177 Ja 15 '48
Current Hist 14:104 F '48 50w

"'Meet the Amish' is mostly pictures, but Mr. Shenk's text is not of less importance. Into only tweny-one pages he has compressed exactly what we want to know. . . The Amish will continue confining themselves to the Bible, and hymnal, and Martyr's Mirror. But almost anybody else should enjoy this book." E. H. Smith
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 18 '48 360w

"A third of the book is an informative text by John B. Shenk, an instructor at State Teachers College, Millersville, Pa., and the remainder is an excellent collection of 200 pictures of the hard-to-photograph people by Charles S. Rice, a Lancaster photographer. The text makes clear that Amish religion, which is at the center of Amish life is basically democratic." P. C. Fraley
+ N Y Times p20 F 1 '48 430w

Reviewed by M. H. Kuhn
Social Forces 27:174 D '48 600w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:5 Mr '48 140w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Fourth postman. 243p $2 Simon & Schuster
48-4687

Detective story.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun O 29 '48 130w

"Amiable—A 1."
+ Kirkus 16:456 S 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 10 '48 150w

"Why can't all murders be as funny as those concocted by Craig Rice!" Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p37 O 24 '48 190w

"A rather special formula, expertly worked out."
+ New Yorker 24:132 O 9 '48 120w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p21 O 24 '48 150w

"Fun."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 O 23 '48 40w

"The conversation is as amusing as usual, the plot is pleasantly complicated, and a rare animal introduced as an Australian beer hound is a most admirable addition to the Malone menage. It's a good example of why Mrs. Rice is a top seller."
+ Springf'd Republican p8B O 10 '48 120w

RICE, REBECCA. Creative activities; il. by Verna G. McCulley. 160p $2.75 Pilgrim press
268 Sunday schools 47-12104

"This comprehensive handwork book is intended for workers in Sunday schools or vacation schools. There are suggestions for making different things, for setting up miniature scenes and dramas and for seasonal activities." Horn Bk

"This is the answer to the church school worker's prayers—a 'must' for every church library." M. B.
+ Churchman 161:17 D 1 '47 40w

"The directions are plain and the patterns appear to be helpful, so the book promises to be useful to teachers for different ages." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:49 Ja '48 80w

RICE, WILLIAM BROADHEAD. Los Angeles Star, 1851-1864; the beginnings of journalism in southern California; ed. by John Walton Caughey. 315p $5 Univ. of Calif.
071.9494 Los Angeles Star 47-30598

"The author of this volume was an unusually promising young scholar who had completed his work for the doctorate and received an academic appointment when he met an untimely death at the age of twenty-six while mountain climbing in Wyoming. The book is edited by his former history teacher in the University of California at Los Angeles, who also writes the foreword. The vicissitudes of southern California's earliest newspaper are chronicled with great attention to detail. Considerable light is shed upon numerous issues—transportation, treatment of the Indians, land titles, state division controversy, encouragement of agriculture, and others—in the public mind during the period encompassed (1851-64)." Am Hist R

"Because of the meticulous attention to infinite detail the book inevitably makes rather dull reading. It is painstaking and conscientious to a degree, but it introduces a good many items—always dutifully documented—that must be regarded as inconsequential, often bordering on the trivial." R. D. Hunt
Am Hist R 53:410 Ja '48 360w
School & Society 67:191 Mr 6 '48 20w

RICE, W. B.—Continued

"This scholarly monograph has a dual value. First, it contributes substantially to the curiously neglected study of Pacific Coast journalism. . . Second, Dr. Rice treats a newspaper primarily as a mirror of community growth and temper, and as a result the book illumines much of the early history of Southern California."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:342 D '47 180w

RICH, JACK C. Materials and methods of sculpture. 416p il $7.50 Oxford

731 Sculpture 47-11263

"This book is an attempt to present a comprehensive picture of the anatomy of sculpture, with specific references to the materials used, the properties of these materials, and the methods employed in their use, together with pertinent historical and other notes, and a recording of the trends in contemporary sculpture." (Pref) It is intended for the student and professional sculptor. Contents: The anatomy of sculpture; The plastic earths; Plastic wax; Plaster of Paris; Casting; Metal; Surface treatment of metals; Stone; Sculpture in stone; Wood; Other sculptural materials. Bibliography. Glossary. Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '48

Reviewed by Hubert Buel
San Francisco Chronicle p24 N 30 '47 100w

"Tables of the physical properties of metals, etc., and an extensive bibliography help to make this a valuable handbook and reference for student and professional sculptor."

+ School Arts p12A O '48 100w

RICHARDS, WILLIAM C. Last billionaire, Henry Ford. 422p $3.75 Scribner

B or 92 Ford, Henry 48-5667

Reminiscences of the author and of men who knew Ford "after he became a controversial figure." The biographer is a Detroit newspaperman who gives many accounts of his talks with the industrialist in the period 1917-1946, when he covered the Ford assignment.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:106 Jl '48 100w

Booklist 44:247 Mr 15 '48

Reviewed by R. B. Nye
Chicago Sun F 26 '48 550w

"Mr. Richards knew Henry Ford for some 30 years, and he is not too hard on an old friend. But, even so, Ford away from the automobile emerges as a provincial who tried, almost pathetically, to escape the responsibilities and consequences of a world he was so instrumental in creating." M. M.

Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 9 '48 480w

"A treasurehouse of Ford material, clarifying some conflicting opinions, providing a mobile profile of the motormaker."

+ Kirkus 15:619 N 1 '47 120w

"In no sense a formal biography, the writing is objective, anecdotal, reportorial. . . Interesting but not important. Recommended where such material is needed." J. E. Cross

Library J 73:121 Ja 15 '48 100w

"The picture of Ford as presented leans toward the adulatory but that is understandable. Ford was an adventurer and a spectacular individualist, and as such his personality had a powerful impact on those, like Mr. Richards, with whom he came in contact. The reader, however, gets many glimpses of the man which are not so impressive." H. J. Bresler

N Y Times p7 F 22 '48 650w

"The book is pretty much a grab bag of long-winded anecdotes. The author, who claims to have no particular point of view on Ford, does not overlook his shortcomings, but he tries hard to turn them into hearty laughs. There are some good chapters on the Ford empire."

New Yorker 23:99 F 21 '48 120w

"When historians come to write definitely of Henry Ford and his times, they will most certainly turn to 'The Last Billionaire' as a basic source. Persons who read it in the meantime will find it a vastly entertaining book about a fabulous tycoon, the like of which America had never seen before—and is apt never to see again." Raymond Walters

+ Sat R of Lit 31:31 Ap 3 '48 800w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen
Survey G 37:264 My '48 330w

Wis Lib Bul 44:103 My '48

RICHARDSON, ALAN. Christian apologetics. 256p $3 Harper

239 Christianity—Evidences 48-6013

A study of Christian apologetics. "There is a fresh interpretation of the familiar claim that theology is an 'empirical' science, and there is full recognition of God's initiative in giving man revelation." (Churchman). Index.

"It is clear throughout the book that its author is trying to steer a course between the extreme anti-rationalism of some of Barth's followers and the futile skepticism of many rationalistic contemporaries. And on the whole he makes his point. Some questions are too neatly foreclosed, however. Does it follow that, because the early church produced the Bible, the church today best understands the Bible? Two uses of 'church' seem here to be confused. . . Many such questions arise which cannot be debated here. But the book will amply repay the reader, especially if he is a student embarking upon the subject of theology." E. E. Aubrey

Christian Century 65:1112 O 20 '48 1000w

"Highly recommended to all who are looking for a persuasive defense of the Christian faith." R. C. Miller

+ Churchman 162:17 S 15 '48 120w

"A vigorous but muddled book which deserves a close reading if only because it attempts to deal honestly with problems to which Christian writers must sooner or later give a clear and detailed answer." H. R. Holcomb

+ — Crozer Q 26:60 Ja '49 3000w

RICHARDSON, EDGAR PRESTON. Washington Allston; a study of the romantic artist in America. 233p 59pl $10 Univ. of Chicago press

B or 92 Allston, Washington 48-8917

A study of the work of the first American "imaginative artist." Washington Allston was born in 1779 on a South Carolina plantation; was educated in Newport and at Harvard; and spent four years in Europe as a young man, where he met and made friends with many of the famous men of the day. This study of his painting contains sixty reproductions of his work, and a catalog of existing or recorded paintings. Bibliography. Indexes.

Booklist 45:157 Ja 1 '49

"Though Mr. Richardson has disclaimed any intention to write a biography of Allston, and prefers to have his contribution to our artistic history labeled a critical study, his summary of Allston's life is so rich in insights that many readers will decide that here is a biography in more than one sense of the word. Allston's 'discovery' of color and light is set in the proper historical perspective (he was many years in advance of Delacroix), and his friendship for Coleridge is brilliantly explored. Last but not least, Mr. Richardson reminds us that Allston's 'mist of brooding thought' was strikingly similar to the imaginings of the early Hawthorne." Wayne Andrews

+ Commonweal 49:181 N 26 '48 390w

Reviewed by Benjamin Rowland
Nation 167:697 D 18 '48 1350w

"This is the first full-length study of Allston since Jared B. Flagg's substantial life in 1892. Flagg's book is longer and includes many of Allston's letters, but Mr. Richardson gives a much more mature picture of him as an artist, presents him against his historical background, and adds what no artist biography is complete without—a catalogue of his work, compiled in collaboration with Allston's great-grand-nephew, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana. Mr. Dana is himself writing a biography which will stress Allston's personal life, so Mr. Richardson has concentrated on his career as an artist. . . Mr. Richardson is one of the rare art writers who is at once a scholar and a sensitive critic. His book is a solid, thoroughly documented account of an artist's life and at the same time a poetic interpretation of his art." Lloyd Goodrich

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 D 19 '48 1350w

"Mr. Richardson is eloquent, perceptive and penetrating in his appreciation of Allston, although, to my taste at least, he fails adequately to distinguish between his successes and his failures. . . Mr. Richardson, however, is rather seriously to be criticized for his failure to understand why he has written his own book." Alfred Frankenstein

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p23 D 12 '48 650w

RICHARDSON, HENRY HANDEL, pseud. of ETHEL FLORENCE (LINDESAY RICHARDSON) ROBERTSON (MRS JOHN G. ROBERTSON). Myself when young; together with an essay on the art of Henry Handel Richardson, by J. G. Robertson. 214p $3 Norton

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
48-7575

Autobiographical sketch of the Australian writer who was known as Henry Handel Richardson. It was her intention to cover the years of her childhood in Australia, her student days in Germany, and the early years of her marriage, up to 1903 when her husband was appointed to the chair of German language and literature at London university. However, she had completed only up to 1895, the year of her marriage, when she died. The years to 1903 are sketched in by a friend, and a final chapter is an essay in appreciative criticism of the author's works, by her husband. Bibliography.

Atlantic 182:106 S '48 150w

Booklist 44:381 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Margaret Williamson
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 29 '48 600w

"Written with the leisure, the restraint, the classicism which has distinguished all her writing, this will appeal to many of her followers, but some of her devotees will be disappointed in the paucity of philosophical content."

+ Kirkus 16:326 Jl 1 '48 170w

"In addition to its usefulness for students of the English realistic novel, the collection—in particular, Mrs. Robertson's cool and detached account of her younger self—may serve to interest new readers in an important literary figure." H. W. Hart
Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 140w

Manchester Guardian p3 My 11 '48 210w

"This volume, slight as it is, and variously compounded, is almost another novel, another revelation of character and experience, of special value both to professional writers and to those who may find therapy in writing for themselves, in uncovering their own motives, in accepting the revelation of the depths of their own experience, always at once unique and universal. 'Myself When Young' has the literary quality of the Richardson novels—great clarity, integrity, deep emotion, words used for understanding." Ernestine Evans

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 25 '48 1450w

" 'Myself When Young' is a fascinating and invaluable book for those who regard Henry Handel Richardson's novels as among the greatest in English of her time. They are few, but they are absolutely first-rate. The bibliography at the end of the book shows how little superfluous baggage she left to trouble conscientious students. Read her important books, and her accomplishment is fully measured." C. H. Grattan

+ N Y Times p3 Jl 25 '48 850w

New Yorker 34:72 Ag 7 '48 140w

Reviewed by G. E. Lyon
Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 650w

"This autobiography is not a work of art. The style in which it is written is bluff, pedestrian, it could be the style of some honest, natural person who had not written before. At a first glance the object of the author might seem to be nothing more than to forge forward, at a steady pace, page by page, through time. Almost no passage directly illuminates the imagination of the reader. . . What she must have understood was, that in writing Myself When Young she was not creating, but rather, contemplating what had created her. Her object, now, was not to set up illusion but, rather, to penetrate to its early source. . . The result is, an objectivity rare in autobiography—rarest of all in the autobiography of a novelist, for whom it is exceedingly difficult not to select, place, evaluate, dramatize and, thereby, virtually invent."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p395 Jl 17 '48 2750w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

RICHTER, HERBERT P. Practical electrical wiring; residential, farm and industrial; based on the 1947 National electrical code. 3d ed 574p il $3.75 McGraw

621.328 Electric wiring 47-12156

"This revised edition of a standard book includes . . . extensive changes in chapters dealing with control and overload production of motor installations, layout of branch circuits, and installation of service entrance, residential and farm wiring." (Library J) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1940.

Booklist 44:219 F 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1379 O 1 '47 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:74 O '47

RICHTER, HERBERT P. Practical electricity and house wiring. new ed 287p il $2 Drake, F.J.

621.3282 Electric wiring, Interior 48-19761

"A practical book of instruction covering in detail every branch of electrical work as applied to the wiring of small buildings." Subtitle

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 20w

"A well-known elementary book intended for study by apprentices and students in vocational schools. It covers only the simpler types of wiring systems and devices, but it treats them clearly and adequately for persons who will be concerned only with simple jobs such as residential wiring. This edition has been rather extensively revised so as to make the text conform to the 1947 Code and to describe new wiring devices such as small circuit breakers and service entrance cable."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:52 Jl '48

RICKERT, EDITH, comp. Chaucer's world; ed. by Clair C. Olson and Martin M. Crow; il. sel. by Margaret Rickert [Eng title: Chaucer's England]. 456p $6.75 Columbia univ. press

914.2 Great Britain—Social life and customs
48-6059

A compilation of documents showing all known phases of life in the London of Chaucer's day. The work has been organized so that London itself occupies the center of the picture, but occasionally the scene shifts to small towns or the country nearby. Material is arranged under ten headings: London life; The home; Training and education; Careers; Entertainment; Travel; War; The rich and the poor; Religion; Death and burial. The work was begun by Professor Rickert, and

RICKERT, EDITH—Continued
after her death was edited by Clair C. Olson and Martin M. Crow, two of her pupils who had worked with her. Bibliography. Index

"Among many analogous predecessors of the past seventy or eighty years this volume is distinctive." G. R. Coffman
+ Am Hist R 54:114 O '48 950w
Booklist 44:311 My 15 '48

"The work of gathering together these hundreds of passages was done by the late Prof. Edith Rickert, one of our best-known Chaucerians. Moreover, she left behind her a large part of the accompanying commentary, in which will be found matter both instructive and entertaining. Herself a lover of life (as she is depicted in a brief introductory memoir by her sister), she here succeeded in recreating vividly the life of England in the time of the poet to whom she devoted so many studious years. Two of her former students have done the necessary final editing and have completed the commentary. A large number of illustrations, from manuscripts and other works of art, adorn this handsome volume." C. C. S.
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 Ap 23 '48 600w

"The book is not only instructive but very entertaining. . . All this material, which in other handling might have been mere dry-as-dust fodder, is charmingly arranged to bring that world to life again. . . All this is made the more vivid by the learned but never dull commentary provided by Miss Rickert and her editors. As one reads the thought occurs that here is a rich mine of material for an historical novel of the period of Richard II and Henry IV. But the novelist might merely spoil a picture which is all the better for its simple authenticity." S. C. Chew
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ap 4 '48 850w

"The book will be of greatest value to the Chaucer instructor. He will find in it vivid, human-interest sidelights on life among the rich and the poor—London, the home, education, religion, recreations, etc. One of the finest features is the extensive use of quotations from legal documents which have never appeared in print, and which throw welcome light on the everyday life of Chaucer's contemporaries." Chad Walsh
+ N Y Times p21 Ja 9 '49 400w
San Francisco Chronicle p17 My 16 '48 370w

"It is the note of modernity, largely created by the unique arrangement of the materials by Drs. Crow and Olson, following Professor Rickert's original plan, that is the most striking thing about the book. Along with the more than fifty contemporary illustrations selected by Margaret Rickert, the documents in this volume will not only be useful to the student of Chaucer and the Middle Ages, but will be of great interest to the general reader who wants a vivid picture of a time strangely akin to his own." M. L. Zisowitz
+ Sat R of Lit 31:19 Je 26 '48 800w
School & Society 67:222 Mr 20 '48 20w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:135 Je '48 320w

RIDDELL, JAMES. Animal lore and disorder. [31p] il $1 Harper
48-9594

Fifteen pictures of animals, partly caricatured, have been split in two. By matching the halves correctly a lion, a cheetah, an elephant, etc. appear, but if the halves do not match, strange beasts like the cog, girtoise, domel, and others show up.

"While this book may not be considered library material in some circles, this reviewer considers it a natural as a table book to entertain and entice comic addicts and those children who come to the library not to read but to bait the librarian."
+ Booklist 45:162 Ja 1 '49
Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun D 4 '48 40w

RIDEAL, ERIC KEIGHTLY, and others. Colloid science. See Colloid science

RIDER, JOHN FRANCIS. Television: how it works. 203p il pa $2.70 Rider, J.F.
621.388 Television (48-3909)

"Men already experienced in the maintenance and servicing of radio receivers are the intended audience for this book. The various chapters—written by members of the publisher's staff—are concerned for the most part with general principles and techniques rather than with details of particular receivers, but there are occasional mentions of special circuits in certain receivers. The work's purpose is to provide maintenance men and installers with background knowledge. Because the discussions are detailed and on a practical level, the book should be of interest also to advanced amateurs who can understand the terminology." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1282 S 15 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:62 Jl '48

RIDER, JOHN FRANCIS, and USLAN, SEYMOUR D. FM transmission and reception. 409p il $2.70; pa $1.80 Rider, J.F.
621.384152 Radio frequency modulation
48-6060

Contents: Fundamental considerations; Frequency modulation; Essentials of F-M transmitters; Transmitters of today; The transmission of F-M signals; Receiving antennas; The F-M receiver; Alignment of F-M receivers; Servicing F-M receivers. Appendix. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:295 My 1 '48
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1617 N 15 '47 30w

"The work is suitable for radio amateurs, radio repairmen and others who already have a knowledge of amplitude-modulated radio and of radio technical terminology. A five-page bibliography of literature on frequency modulation is included."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:23 Ja '48

RIDER, JOHN FRANCIS, and USLAN, SEYMOUR D. Understanding vectors and phase. 159p $1.89; pa 99c Rider, J.F.
621.384 Radio. Vector analysis 48-5287

"Contents: What is a vector; The coordinate system; Single vector representation; Multiple vector presentation; Resolution of vectors; Addition of vectors; Subtraction, multiplication, and division of vectors; Radio circuit problems. Bibliography. Index." N Y New Tech Bks

"A knowledge of vectors is necessary to understand the new circuits in frequency modulation and television and it will make easier reading of technical articles." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 60w

"A clear and concise explanation of the theory of vector analysis, and its utilization to indicate phase relationships and to solve radio circuit problems. The book is written for the radio-serviceman, technician or student who does not have an engineering background but is acquainted with standard radio."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:16 Ja '48

RIENOW, LEONA TRAIN. Bewitched caverns; il: Allen Pope. 151p $2 Scribner
48-6252

Story of the adventures of two Cro-Magnon children who explore some "bewitched caverns" and discover the last of the Neanderthal race.

"It is all fine stuff, and from what we know of ethnology we believe Mrs. Rienow's story to be as authoritative as it is interesting." Jane Cobb
+ Atlantic 182:119 N '48 120w

"A well-written original contribution to books for young people between 12 and 15."
+ Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 30w

Kirkus 16:52 F 1 '48 90w

"Author's knowledge of anthropology gives authenticity to the background of the fast-moving mystery. . . Recommended for young people 10-14." Helen Swartz
+ Library J 73:716 My 1 '48 70w

"This story, a thriller as ever was, has coherence and continuity, the people don't confine themselves to grunts in expressing themselves, and in general leave with a young person an impression that need not be corrected when they grow up. . . The pictures are uncommonly good, not only as decorations but in conveying the spirit of the time in the cold dawn of our day." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 My 9 '48 310w

"The book offers vivid glimpses into prehistorical life as it may well have been, unweighted by too obviously imparted information —although one cannot help missing some mention of the Cro-Magnon cave paintings. If Olo and Pigeon seem rather fluent for the period their conversation does give pace to the story—and emphasizes the fact that the Cro-Magnon was among the first of modern men." E. L. Buell
N Y Times p24 My 9 '48 230w
Wis Lib Bul 44:152 S '48

RIESENBERG, FELIX, 1913-. Crimson anchor; a sea mystery. 207p $2.50 Dodd 48-6373

Adventure tale for older boys. Bob Nelson who has figured in other books by the author, is the hero of this story of the activities of the American merchant marine in the postwar period.

Booklist 44:358 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun Jl 10 '48 180w
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 8 '48 300w

"Not vital, but for libraries that want to add to their collections of adventure stories, this will do very well." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 73:717 My 1 '48 60w

"The story stays at sea, the threat of danger never lessens, the mystery is not solved till the last minute, and you believe everything that happens because the details of modern seamanship are so constantly and convincingly described. Indeed, it really should not be read on an ocean liner: if a steward should drop a plate you'd look for a porthole." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 My 9 '48 270w

"The action is breathless: in reading the book, one is rewarded with intimate glimpses of the modern American merchant vessel." H. B. Lent
+ N Y Times p24 My 9 '48 140w
New Yorker 24:135 D 11 '48 50w
Wis Lib Bul 44:136 Je '48

RIESS, CURT. Joseph Goebbels. 367p $3.95 Doubleday

B or 92 Goebbels, Joseph 48-8049

Full length, detailed biography of the Nazi Propaganda minister, based on a wide variety of sources, including interviews with surviving members of his family, his assistants, and with Dr Hans Fritzsche, Goebbels' closest associate.

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

"It frequently happens to biographers that in the course of their intensive study of their hero's life they lose the measure of his real proportions. Though they may have begun their work with rigid objectivity, more often than not they end up by endowing their subject with at least part of their own set of values and giving him a much higher stature than he deserves. This tendency is plainly to be seen in 'Joseph Goebbels,' by Curt Riess." Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p14 O 19 '48 120w

"A substantial contribution to the historical record, not only for its biographical data, but for the analysis of the extraordinary propaganda machine created by Goebbels, and for some newsworthy items of what went on inside Germany."
+ Kirkus 16:209 Ap 15 '48 160w

"Interesting but nightmarish, the book is not pleasant reading." R. P. Breaden
Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 110w

"Mr. Riess is convincing when he presents the young Goebbels as a despairing intellectual who found in Hitler at least one man who had faith. He fails in his appraisal of the older Goebbels because he mistakes the resourcefulness of the machine at Goebbels's command for the resourcefulness of the man himself." Franz Hoellering
Nation 167:266 S 4 '48 1100w

Reviewed by W. L. Shirer
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ag 22 '48 1300w

"In a war, whether hot or cold, there is always a danger of over-estimating the wiles of an enemy. Even before World War II passed into the shooting stage, the legend of Joseph Goebbels as the evil genius behind an irresistible Nazi propaganda apparatus had been well established. This biography brings Goebbels down to size." Martin Ebon
N Y Times p14 Ag 22 '48 750w

"Mr. Riess, a veteran anti-Nazi writer who is occasionally carried away by his own rhetoric and a predilection for easily achieved irony, did most of his fieldwork for this study in Germany, where he interviewed numerous former associates and relatives of the Reichsminister. He has succeeded quite well in explaining the workings of his subject's nihilistic mind and his inverted genius."
New Yorker 24:81 S 4 '48 140w

Reviewed by Ward Moore
San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ag 22 '48 850w

"Bent on turning out a highly readable yarn, Mr. Riess concentrated on personal incident and detail, and thus has managed to produce a brisk, although somewhat choppy, scenario. But there is a good deal more to the full story of Goebbel's demonic role than that, and it seems to me that Mr. Riess has missed even more than he has found." W. H. Hale
Sat R of Lit 31:19 Ag 28 '48 750w

"What Riess has failed to communicate is the color, the dash, the audacity and the timing that made Goebbel's commonplace stuff palatable to gullible Germans. Reading his biography is like reading the dialogue for a W. C. Fields movie without ever having seen Fields."
Time 52:78 Ag 23 '48 500w

RIKER, BEN. Pony wagon town, along U.S. 1890; il. by James MacDonald. 312p $3.50 Bobbs

684 Carriage and wagon making 48-8916

Reminiscences of the author's boyhood in an Ohio town sixty years ago. The story centers in the carriage-building shop run by his father, which specialized in the construction of small vehicles for Shetland ponies.

Booklist 45:116 D 1 '48

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p20 D 3 '48 480w

Reviewed by L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 73:1383 O 1 '48 140w

"The purpose and effect of the book are not merely to entertain but to record one man's achievements and the satisfactory lives that he and some of his neighbors lived. This record glows, though it is not sentimental." Mary Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 O 10 '48 800w

RIKER, BEN—Continued

"There is one clear reason for not placing Ben Riker's book on the endless shelf of gayly tender remembrances of family life and enterprise in a mellower America—and letting it go at that. The reason is that 'Pony Wagon Town' is fit to start a section of its own. It not only has style; it is distinguished by particular content. It is gay and tender and filled with lively humor, but it is also a social-economic case-record." E. B. Davis

+ N Y Times p45 O 24 '48 360w

Wis Lib Bul 45:11 Ja '49

RILKE, RAINER MARIA. Letters, 1910-1926; tr. by Jane Bannard Greene and M. D. Herter Norton. 468p $5 Norton

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

"This second volume of Rilke's letters continues directly from the close of the preceding volume (1892-1910) and covers the years from the completion of the Notebooks of Malte Laurids Brigge to Rilke's death in December 1926, nearly five years after he had written the Duino Elegies and the Sonnets to Orpheus, his last major works." (Publisher's note) List of correspondents. Index. For volume I see Book Review Digest 1945.

Booklist 44:351 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 1 '48 700w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 48:212 Je 11 '48 430w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
Nation 166:247 F 28 '47 1150w

"There is interest in these letters quite independent of any curiosity attaching to Rilke's reputation. Of course, for admirers of his poetry they will have a special kind and degree of fascination, but even from people unfamiliar with that work, these letters claim attention as a great human document. Composed, for the most part, slowly and deliberately in a beautifully elaborated prose, they are more like the musings of the poet with himself." John Farrelly

+ New Repub 118:31 F 9 '48 1200w

"It would be a pity to read these letters only for references to Rilke's lack of health and of physical vitality. They are precious for the evidence they give of what even a non-robust man may attain in his own character through unceasing curiosity, discriminating admiration, sympathy for his fellow man, and wholehearted appreciation of what is beautiful and good." John Erskine

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Mr 21 '48 650w

Reviewed by Robert Hillyer
N Y Times p6 F 1 '48 700w

New Yorker 23:68 Ja 31 '48 130w

"The book will be something of a necessity for students and admirers of Rilke; to the few others who may come upon it by chance it will at least give a pleasantly nostalgic evocation of vanished literary climates." T. M. Purdy

+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ap 24 '48 650w

"The translators are to be congratulated for making available a number of important letters from scattered sources, for full and useful notes and a good index. It is a great and important work that they have done. The reader will find his reward in a closer approach to one of the major poets of any time, who has so much to say to us in these days of deepening darkness." John Derby

+ Yale R n s 37:555 spring '48 800w

RIMBAUD, JEAN NICOLAS ARTHUR. Four poems; tr. by Ben Belitt. 58p $1.75 Alan Swallow, 2679 S. York st, Denver 10

841 48-5751

Translations of four Rimbaud poems: Poets at seven, First communion, The drunken boat, and Memory. Mr Belitt "has supplied literal renderings which appear opposite the French originals. Preceding these are the translations, which Mr. Belitt states 'are to be read in their own right as English poems.'" (Nation) Selective bibliography.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun Je 28 '48 150w

"Unfortunately the English poems are not good enough to be read for themselves. Here and there single lines and stanzas succeed in giving the meaning of the originals and in sounding at the same time like poetry; but as complete poems they fail to do just that. Aside from general imprecision of sound and diction, Mr. Belitt's fatal mistake was to translate the poems into anapestic pentameter—and regular anapests at that—in order to convey Rimbaud's lushness of sound and movement. . . In their total effect the anapests smother and dissolve the tension. They mash Rimbaud's images into a Swinburnean glut, sometimes even whipping them up to a Kiplingesque canter. Moreover, English doesn't take well to anapests; a long lyric in anapests has hardly ever been done successfully." H. P. Lazarus

— Nation 166:583 My 22 '48 450w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 O 17 '48 110w

New Yorker 24:115 My 8 '48 80w

"Mr. Belitt has, at best, actually recreated the poems. He lifts them out of literal flatness by an imaginative distillation of image and compression of meaning. He has, as well, made shifts and substitutions without ever entirely losing the poem's tone or textural brilliance. Only a poet of definite endowment could make so successful a complicated task that in many hands would turn out dull and thankless."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:142 Je '48 280w

RINEHART, MRS MARY (ROBERTS). Light in the window. 348p $2.75 Rinehart

47-30529

Novel of three generations in an American publishing firm, from Matthew Wayne's time, until the time of his grandson, Jeff. The period is from 1919 to the present, and two generations of Waynes had been in two world wars.

Booklist 44:184 Ja 15 '48

Reviewed by Clare Jaynes
Chicago Sun Ja 8 '48 600w

"A wholesome sort of story, despite some straying from accepted standards. But its success will stem largely from the author's established name."

Kirkus 15:608 N 1 '47 220w

"Interesting though a little old fashioned. The picture of the period after the first war is very like the curious situation today. Characterizations are excellent, the story entertaining, the writing smooth. An absorbing, very readable book. Recommended." Anne Whitmore

+ Library J 72:1779 D 15 '47 90w

Reviewed by George Conrad
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p19 F 8 '48 230w

"A readable, entertaining chronicle. . . The prime appeal of 'A Light in the Window' is as a memory book. Readers whose memories run back to 1919 will appreciate the accurate picture of the changing years. And anybody old enough to read at all will recognize the fidelity of the most recent scenes." Barbara Bond

+ N Y Times p10 Ja 25 '48 370w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p10 Mr 28 '48 470w

"'A Light in the Window' is a fine and moving story of believable people in a time which was often fabulous and unbelievable. It is a panorama of a period most of us remember, the story of our own times, and its fictional characters are as real as people we knew in those past years, as people we know today." S. H. Hay

+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 F 21 '48 750w

Wis Lib Bul 44:63 Mr '48

RINEHART, MRS MARY (ROBERTS). My story; a new edition and seventeen new years. 570p $4 Rinehart

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-9313

"A new edition of Mrs. Rinehart's log, brought up to date by the addition of fifty thousand words dealing with her literary and social activities during the past seventeen years." (New Yorker) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1931.

Booklist 45:142 D 15 '48

"It still stands as the kind of personal record that combines sound American principles, a warm and abundant personality, and the kinds of details about what goes on behind the scenes in writing that the American public delights to read."

+ Kirkus 16:499 S 15 '48 130w

"Her literary shop talk will prove valuable to aspirant writers. For all public libraries." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 73:1666 N 15 '48 110w

"A new generation of readers has grown up since 'My Story' was published seventeen years ago. They are as likely as their predecessors to take pleasure in this lively and eventful story of a nurse who, at nineteen, married a young doctor and became a famous Washington hostess as well as a well known author. For the readers to whom Mary Roberts Rinehart's name has been a password for more than forty years, there will be fun both in the rereading and in the added chapters." Mary Ross

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 D 12 '48 650w

"The new section undoubtedly contains any number of fine things that a practiced reader of Mrs. Rinehart's works will take an instant fancy to, but about the only items likely to excite the layman are the author's account of how she stared one of Al Capone's field representatives out of countenance when the wretch suggested that she write Al's biography, and her admission that maybe she isn't America's most highly paid writer after all."

+ New Yorker 24:148 N 13 '48 120w

"Profoundly American, that would be one way to describe Mrs. Rinehart. This new edition of her autobiography, with fresh material, is a confidence-restoring and heartening book." Jane Voiles

+ San Francisco Chronicle p20 D 12 '48 600w

"Mrs. Rinehart does not either distort or overestimate her literary position; she has written to entertain, and the rewards which have come to her give an accurate and long-term picture of how well and how widely she has realized her intention." Pamela Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 32:19 Ja 8 '49 550w

RIPPERGER, MRS HENRIETTA (SPERRY). Household manual. 272p $2.95 Simon & Schuster

640 Home economics 48-4212

Household hints covering advice on all kinds of home problems, from finding a home to tips on buying food, and how to be a hostess. Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

"The angles on the 'five o'clock wife'—how to have a job and be a good housekeeper—will recommend this highly to career girl brides. . . May I register one complaint? I wish she wouldn't talk about 'our hero' and 'the great man'. It isn't done these days."

+ — Kirkus 16:275 Je 1 '48 220w

"If, as in most such guides, some of the advice seems rigidly arbitrary or downright silly (the author appears to feel it is necessary to be oracular about everything from life insurance to Palmetto cocktails), this is, on the whole, a helpful book. There simply must be something Mrs. Ripperger doesn't know about, and after reading her recipes, for instance, you may wish that she had confined herself to keeping the family healthy, clean, and rich without trying to feed it."

+ — New Yorker 24:110 S 11 '48 120w

RISTER, CARL COKE. No man's land. 210p il $3 Univ. of Okla. press

976.612 Oklahoma—History 48-7944

History of what is now called the Oklahoma Panhandle. It is a rectangular strip of land bounded on the north by Colorado and Kansas, on the south by Texas, on the west by New Mexico, and on the east by what was formerly Indian Territory. It was land which was not included in the compromise of 1850, and so was without law for a period of time, and became a haven for bandits. Bibliography. Index.

"Accurate historical reporting, well documented, but written without inspiration." L. R. Etzkorn

+ — Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 140w

"Dr. Rister, research professor of history at the University of Oklahoma, has performed a competent job of digging into the history of this fascinating and often repelling rectangle . . . and has produced a straightforward account of its vicissitudes from the days of Coronado to the latest suitcase farmer who fancies he is going to get rich raising wheat." Stanley Walker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 24 '48 500w

"Mr. Rister's obsession with the deeds of the outlaws does not give true proportion to the history of the Panhandle. . . Although Mr. Rister was able to find a few of the pioneers who could give him many true stories, his deadpan retelling robs them of any interest." A. B. S.

— + San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 26 '48 500w

RITTER, RICHARD HENRY. Arts of the church. 160p il $4 Pilgrim press

246 Christian art and symbolism 47-12103

"[This book] by the president of the Church Arts Guild of the Congregational Christian Churches is symptomatic of the endeavor, now regaining such momentum, to make church worship, its settings, its appurtenances and its every artistry, both culturally noble and sane. . . To this end the author carefully and constructively marshals the best criteria for the art of common worship, architecture, furnishings, Church Music (a needed chapter indeed!), Church Literature, Drama, Painting, Sculpture, etc." Churchman

"A mature and scholarly book which, in spite of brevity, has a solid core of facts and a considerable embroidery of opinions to which varied reactions are possible. For example, not all will follow the recommendation that the minister wear red, green or purple garb to suit the season."

+ Christian Century 65:298 Mr 24 '48 70w

"Attractive, unusually well-illustrated book. . . [The author] is not an archaeological attitudinizer but faces forward, taught by the past but cognizant of a new day and its rights to an artistry for which that new day gropes. Here is sound advice and deep-rooted, realistic, artistic commonsense." P. E. Osgood

+ Churchman 162:17 F 15 '48 190w

RIVETT, EDITH CAROLINE (CAROL CARNAC, E. C. R. LORAC, pseuds). Relative to poison. 192p $2 Doubleday

48-2169

Detective story.

Booklist 44:383 Jl 15 '48

Chicago Sun Ap 16 '48 180w

"Calm, British."

Kirkus 16:129 Mr 1 '48 70w

New Repub 118:33 My 17 '48 90w

"Miss Lorac, appearing under new and favorable auspices, adds another highly readable item to her sizable list of literate chess puzzles, active variety." Will Cuppy

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 Ap 11 '48 180w

New Yorker 24:124 Ap 10 '48 80w

RIVETT, E. C.—Continued
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 My 9 '48 50w

"Convincing detection, expert plotting, vital characters—including two delightfully portrayed young girls—sufficient action, urbane writing, and spectacular denouement. Distinguished."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:52 Ap 17 '48 40w

RIVETT, EDITH CAROLINE (CAROL CARNAC, E. C. R. LORAC, pseuds). Screen for murder. 192p $2 Doubleday
48-8714

Detective story.

"Precise, painstaking."
+ Kirkus 16:380 Ag 1 '48 60w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 N 7 '48 100w

"It is a fascinating story, but it does seem that the murderer went to a lot of unnecessary trouble to accomplish his purpose." I. A.
+ — N Y Times p36 N 28 '48 230w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p26 N 21 '48 50w

"Expertly dull."
Sat R of Lit 31:36 O 30 '48 40w

RIVLIN, HARRY NATHANIEL. Teaching adolescents in secondary schools; the principles of effective teaching in junior and senior high schools. 516p $3 Appleton
373 Education, Secondary 48-6283

A book on teaching methods for new teachers and for those working with new curriculums. Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Booklist 44:332 Je 1 '48
School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 10w

ROARK, GARLAND. Fair wind to Java. 370p $3 Doubleday
48-8114

Novel describing the attempts of two competing ship owners and two sea captains to obtain the jinx ship, Gerrymander. Before ownership is settled they all become involved in the distribution of counterfeit money in the Dutch East Indies. Love interest is supplied in the persons of Harriet Adams, a ship owner, and Kim Kim, a native girl.

"Good adventure, but the interest scatters so that one loses the impetus of climax."
+ — Kirkus 16:316 Jl 1 '48 190w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 29 '48 230w

"Tom Flint, unwilling Boswell to Boll, has a curious style for a sailor boy, coining some pretty fanciful phrases in wood. In spite of all the ahoying and avasting and by-Jupitering, the sea remains practically unsalted." Jane Martin
— N Y Times p12 S 19 '48 360w

Reviewed by Larry Laughlin
San Francisco Chronicle p22 S 12 '48 350w

"Mr. Roark has put everything into the book—a storm at sea, a mutiny, a battle with pirates, a black-hearted villain, a noble young hero and a rich and beautiful heiress with whose picture he falls in love, Oriental potentates, dancing girls, Dutch residents, and ship owners, who parade through a series of actions of a hilarious absurdity seldom equaled in fiction. . . The fun is marred by the book being somewhat too long to maintain the high levels of comedy it occasionally reaches, as well as by a certain straightforwardness in descriptive passages and some of the narrative, which gives rise to the hideous thought that both the author and the publishers intend it to be taken seriously." Fletcher Pratt
Sat R of Lit 31:12 S 4 '48 320w

ROBBINS, HAROLD, pseud. See Rubins, H.

ROBBINS, LIONEL CHARLES. Economic problem in peace and war; some reflections on objectives and mechanisms. 86p $1.50 Macmillan
338.91 Economic policy [48-579]

"This book consists of the Marshall Lectures delivered at Cambridge in the spring of 1947. Its object is a re-appraisal in the light of recent experience of some of the main principles of economic policy. The first lecture discusses the basic objectives of production and distribution; the second, the rationale of the war economy and its applicability to the problems of transition and peace; the third, an approach to the problems of control in peace time which, it is the author's contention, is better suited than the war-time controls to the ultimate requirements of a free society." Publisher's note

"These essays present current issues sharply, cast many old arguments in new light, and bring to bear on current debate important aspects of wartime experience." R. B. Heflebower
Am Econ R 38:445 Je '48 700w

"The three lectures present an acute and, more often than not, persuasive plea for use of the price system for the handling of the relative allocation of resources. They are critical of many attributes of the recent operations of so-called free economies, but other means of handling the inequities of the operation of the price system are suggested, such as taxation and allowances to the low income groups. . . There is a beautiful analysis of the war economy under the all-out conditions of the two recent general wars. . . The volume as a whole is a fine contribution toward a common basis between the right and the left in economic reform." C. B. Hagan
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:608 Je '48 300w

"Professor Robbins is at great pains to display an air of reason and moderation. He certainly has not undergone any drastic conversion, but he is careful to allow points on both sides of every question. War, he admits, is a special case. A rather disproportionate part of this little volume is taken up with arguing the surely rather obvious point that the conduct of a modern war cannot be left to the free play of the market. . . Professor Robbins, of course, is all in favour of a fair and reasonable distribution of 'power to demand'—that is, of wealth and incomes. But, apart from some passing references to taxation and social insurance, he does not give us any guidance as to how that fair distribution is to be brought about." Joan Robinson
New Statesman & Nation 34:375 N 8 '47 800w

Reviewed by Walter Taplin
Spec 179:404 S 26 '47 1000w

"This authoritative recapitulation of the case for individualism by an illustrious economist, with a philosophical background, is most timely."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p530 O 18 '47 850w

ROBERTS, ARTHUR, ed. Radar beacons [prepared under the supervision of] Office of scientific research and development, National defense research committee. 489p il maps $6 McGraw
621.38 Radar 48-5193

"During World War II, radar beacons were used in aircraft identification, aerial navigation, direction from the ground of fighters and bombers, and in communicating from ground to airplane and vice versa. Their peacetime uses have not been fully explored, but they are already employed in both aerial and marine navigation. This is a comprehensive work on the subject. Its various chapters were written by men who were members of the Radiation Laboratory staff, but the material included covers, as well, developments that were originated outside of that laboratory. In general, the subjects are treated for engineers with a knowledge of high-frequency theory and equipment, but parts of the book should be intelligible to operators and maintenance men." (N Y New Tech Bks) Glossary. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:481 Mr 15 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:22 Ja '48

"Although the exposition is technical, the book is readable, and demands a minimum of mathematical background. It is well illustrated with line drawings and with photographs of actual equipment. The material presented should be a valuable aid to workers in the field of radar and of interest to a wide variety of engineers and physicists."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:236 Je '48 220w

ROBERTS, CECIL. Eight for eternity. 273p $3 Doubleday
48-6725

The lives of seven men are traced in this novel, until each meets his death at Monte Cassino in Italy. The time is during World war II, and a brief interlude thereafter.

"Out of his long experience as soldier, journalist, traveler, and prolific writer (this is his twentieth novel), Cecil Roberts has contrived a competently written story. . . The conclusion is not very convincing, but the stories of the seven men have enough interest and suspense to hold the reader's attention."
+ — Cath World 169:286 Je '48 220w

Reviewed by Riley Hughes
Commonweal 48:358 Jl 23 '48 180w
Kirkus 16:126 Mr 1 '48 240w

"Superficial and full of coincidences, the novel's bright spots are contained in descriptions of places and scenes, particularly of the fighting around the famed monastery. Could be popular." H. G. Kelley
Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 80w

"Because the outcome of each sketch is predetermined, Mr. Roberts relies heavily on character and background to sustain his various narratives. However, his situations are too contrived and most of his characters too slightly drawn to counteract successfully his sacrifice of suspense. In his final chapter, he completely abandons reality for the supernatural. . . But this mystical entrance, witnessed by an overstrained and nervous soldier in a graves registration unit, merely serves to emphasize the fact that, except occasionally, the seven men have never really seemed alive." Margaret Clucas
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 My 16 '48 600w

"Cecil Roberts has a competent style and a flair for the sort of landscapes which attract the literary tourist's eye. . . All of these lives (and more) have interesting cross-and-undercurrents which Mr. Roberts handles with practiced ease. But the author is too gentlemanly an observer to inquire closely into the secret motives of his protagonists. . . It is in the final passages that the author touches something that moves him beyond competence. There is a brief infusion of warmth as the after life opens up a new dimension in a novel which badly needs one." Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p17 My 23 '48 500w

Reviewed by Audrey Doughty
San Francisco Chronicle p14 My 11 '48 550w

"Mr. Roberts's imagination plays only on the surfaces of thought and feeling. His book is consequently all exterior strangeness and glitter, a sensationalism which extends to the final scene of theatrical mysticism. Much happens to the bodies and minds of his characters, but none of it really touches their inner lives: their personalities are not fed by their experiences. There is no connection between what they do and say and what they are. They do not become; they are not molded by experience. . . In other words, 'Eight for Eternity' offers conventional excitement only, nothing individual enough to deepen the reader's knowledge and understanding of life." Horace Reynolds
Sat R of Lit 31:27 Je 12 '48 650w

ROBERTS, MRS EDITH (KNEIPPLE). Divorce of Marcia Moore. 249p $2.75 Doubleday
48-6589

Records the experiences of a young woman who divorces her husband at his request, altho she still loves him. Emotionally insecure and with a small son to support, Marcia struggles along, until finally she realizes she has finished forever with her first husband. Her second marriage promises to be a more rational one.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

"Tells its story honestly and with both sensitivity and justice." Clare Jaynes
+ Chicago Sun My 17 '48 550w
Kirkus 16:123 Mr 1 '48 150w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 70w

"Moving from one typical experience to another, Marcia, we are asked to believe, sheds her illusions. When she has completed her course of research she has supposedly arrived at a nice blend of common sense and happiness. But the one clear-cut message which this reader detected in all this is that hurt pride is expensive and silly in a court room." Jane Martin
N Y Times p22 Jl 11 '48 330w

ROBERTS, HOWARD. Big nine; the story of football in the Western conference. 259p il $3 Putnam

796.33 Football. Intercollegiate conference of faculty representatives 48-8953

"Ever since the Rose Bowl Game of 1948 when Michigan ran roughshod over Southern California with a score of 49 to 0, the reputation of the Western Conference's Big 9 (nee Big 10) has been overpowering the supporters of football in other parts of the country. Here is the history of football among the schools that comprise that fabulous conference: Minnesota, Ohio State, Illinois, Purdue, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Chicago. Chicago dropped out in 1940. A story of the teams, coaches and players which made the game so important that one wonders whether scholars were accepted at the colleges involved." Kirkus

Reviewed by Dick Hackenberg
Chicago Sun p9X N 14 '48 180w

"It's all football and real football at that and the names are those of the leaders of the game whose fame is nation-wide. For the persons who enjoy the historical sports story and for those wanting a background for conversation at the next class reunion."
+ Kirkus 16:386 Ag 1 '48 130w

"Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 74:64 Ja 1 '49 20w

"In 'The Big Nine' two chapters or so are devoted to each member of the conference—the good years played up and the bad ones played down. Unfortunately, since this is non-fiction, the rather bleak periods of some schools in the conference can't be ignored entirely; and in these spots, despite an imposing array of statistics to show how hard the battle was fought, a reader's interest is likely to flag. This one's did, anyway." Rex Lardner
N Y Times p36 N 21 '48 360w

ROBERTS, LESLIE. Home from the cold wars. 224p $2.50 Beacon press

940.55 Europe—Politics. Russia—Foreign relations. Russia—Description and travel
48-9106

"Leslie Roberts is a Canadian journalist who visited the Soviet Union and seven other European countries last spring to see for himself how the common people of these nations regard the Cold War. He has returned home, satisfied that the Russian people—and the Kremlin—do not want war, and that the other European peoples are sick and tired of the power politics of both Russia and the United States . . . He found living standards in Moscow somewhat below those in Canada, but far above those most Westerners believe to prevail there. . . In other European countries, Mr. Roberts reports a 'plague on both your houses' attitude toward the Soviet Union and the United States alike." N Y Times

ROBERTS, LESLIE—Continued

Booklist 45:118 D 1 '48

"A well-written book, in the sense that it is extremely easy to read and should be read and recommended to your friends, more particularly political leaders and newspaper editors. If you want unprejudiced, open-minded and courageous observations on the present international situation, Mr. Roberts latest book is a must." M. G. Cohen
+ Canadian Forum 28:211 D '48 280w

"Persuasively and ably written. . . In order to show [a] 'way out,' the author subjects American and Soviet foreign politics to a searching examination. What he has to say about tactical and psychological mistakes committed by American officials and pundits does not often make pleasant reading. But it is precisely for that reason that Mr. Roberts' book should be read." Ernest Pisko
+ — Christian Science Monitor p20 D 9 '48 750w

"The most interesting section of Mr. Roberts' book is his account of life in Moscow. . . Mr. Roberts has a great many sharp things to say, many of them regrettably true, about the rude and ignorant remarks made by many prominent Americans about their friends in western Europe during the long debate over the Marshall Plan." F. S. Adams
N Y Times p26 O 31 '48 600w
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Ja 9 '48 220w

ROBERTS, SYDNEY CASTLE. British universities. (Britain in pictures) 48p il $1.75 Macmillan

378 Colleges and universities—Great Britain

Thirty-one illustrations and a text which describes Oxford and Cambridge in medieval days; the origins, traditions and characteristics of the Scottish universities, the Welsh colleges, London and the provincial universities of England; and the present-day problems of the British university. Short bibliography.

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Sat R of Lit 31:13 S 11 '48 140w
Times [London] Lit Sup p633 D 6 '47 900w

ROBERTS, WALTER ADOLPHE. Creole dusk. 325p $3 Bobbs
48-8337

A novel about Creole society in New Orleans in the 1880's. The hero is young Dr Yvon Olivier, who left his city practice to investigate Panama's yellow fever epidemic.

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

"Bulges with meticulous local color that immobilizes plot. Sequel to Brave Mardi Gras. Did you have readers for that?" F. A. Boyle
Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

"Although this story's romantic focus is Dr. Olivier's enviable dilemma, there is much more to the novel than that. For the young physician is restless and forward-looking, as well as an exemplar of the past, and thus becomes involved in politics, the study of tropical diseases and in the Panama Canal project conceived by De Lesseps. In geographic range and thematic diversity, 'Creole Dusk' should have an appeal even wider than that of 'Royal Street' and 'Brave Mardi Gras.'" Lisle Bell
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 S 19 '48 400w

"Not only are the sights and sounds and manners of New Orleans of the Eighteen Eighties graphically and entertainingly revealed, but an equally vivid picture is given of the yellow-fever-infested city of Panama at the time of the building of the great canal." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p12 N 7 '48 170w

ROBERTS, WALTER ADOLPHE. Lands of the inner sea, the West Indies and Bermuda. (Invitation to travel ser) 301p $4 Coward-McCann

917.29 West Indies—Description and travel. Bermuda islands—Description and travel
48-5048

"This book of advice on Caribbean travel covers all the West Indies, Bermuda, the Bahamas, and the Guianas in South America. For each, the historical background, present politics, hotels, means of transportation, what to buy and range of prices is outlined. Written by a native of Jamaica, it differs from most other guides to the same region by noting the political set-up, the condition of the Negro race, and by describing the smaller islands and the smaller and less known towns of the larger islands." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:182 Ja 15 '48

"I shall never forget the almost-aching charm of an early morning trip on Puerto Rico's narrow-gauge (and only) railroad. . . Nor can I forget the pleasure of my first trolley-ride through San Juan's streets. . . These are the things that I remember; these are the things that the traveler brings home with him to brighten his more prosaic days. And these are precisely the things that Mr. Roberts has all but omitted in 'Lands of the Inner Sea.' However, no travel book can be wholly uninteresting, and Mr. Roberts's book does give, in compact form, a wealth of information with which a prospective tourist to the Caribbean might well fortify himself. Perhaps because the Guianas are so little known, the chapters on British, Dutch, and French Guiana are especially interesting." L. J. Trese
+ — Commonweal 47:570 Mr 19 '48 500w
Kirkus 15:617 N 1 '47 150w

Reviewed by J. L. Ross
Library J 72:1684 D 1 '47 100w

"There are a lot of lands in this 'Inner Sea'. . . There is plenty of tropical foliage, tropical insects, tropical peoples. There is beauty, disease, wealth, poverty. Behind the scenes lie conquests, pirates, slaves, rebellions. Mr. Roberts crowds all of these things between the covers of his book. It is a guide book, but better than its kind." Hubert Herring
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ja 11 '48 550w

"Mr. Roberts eschews the straight guidebook formula. His purely factual material is scattered about, but this increases rather than diminishes the charm and flavor of his writing. He has little time for night clubs, and the like. His principal delight is in pathways branching off from the beaten track." T. R. Ybarra
+ N Y Times p21 F 29 '48 230w

"'Lands of the Inner Sea' is written by a sympathetic author who brings to the Caribbean an unusually observant eye, wide interests, and catholic tastes. . . W. Adolphe Roberts reports factually and honestly. His story is colorful and entertaining. His comments are not always favorable, but all are obviously sincere." O. A. de Lima
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Ja 17 '48 320w

ROBERTSON, CHARLEY. Send for Miss Cora. 302p $3 Harcourt
48-5623

"'Send for Miss Cora' takes its title from the long habit of Bayless Calhoun, a well-to-do tobacco farmer, of calling Miss Cora Andrews to his big log house in times of domestic crisis. Miss Cora, a widow, is attractive and capable, but when her daughter and Calhoun's son elope, a tragic sequence is set under way over which she has no control. This is a subsidiary plot. The central story is that of young Lennie Bogard, who is curiously attracted to Miss Cora, and who is obsessed with the need of identifying—and dealing retribution upon—the Night Rider who had murdered his father." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

Booklist 44:233 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by George Streator
Commonweal 48:660 Ap 23 '48 390w

"Competent story telling, but little to place it above the ordinary."
Kirkus 15:678 D 15 '47 150w

"One leaves the book with the feeling that, for all the movement and incident of their individual lives these people are as quietly enduring as the clay hills in which they live. It is this sustained atmosphere, more than the creation of any single memorable character, which chiefly distinguishes Mr. Robertson's novel." Coleman Rosenberger
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 F 29 '48 340w

"One does not lose sight of the author's skill in creating a character like Lennie. Without the proper touch, without the quiet thread of honesty that runs throughout the story, there would be only mawkishness. But whether Mr. Robertson is describing the dramatic flight of the young lovers who meet their death on the thin ice of the creek, or the day-after-day chores of the tobacco farmer, he shows a fine sense of selectivity and restraint. He writes of a people and a locale he knows intimately, yet does not pile detail on detail to slow his story. Perhaps the highest praise should be reserved for his natural, unforced ending. Mr. Robertson shows he has integrity as a writer as well as a subtle sense of story telling." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p7 Mr 14 '48 450w
Wis Lib Bul 44:83 Ap '48

ROBERTSON, KEITH. Ticktock and Jim; with il. by Wesley Dennis. 240p $2.50 Winston
Horses—Legends and stories 48-5442

A story of mystery, excitement and adventure, written for boys who will understand why, to Jim, the thin, limping, Western cow-pony was infinitely more desirable than the fine old watch that had once been his proudest possession.

Booklist 44:269 Ap 1 '48
Kirkus 16:87 F 15 '48 110w

"A reviewer choosing books for other people's children always keeps an eye out on behalf of ten-year-old boys. If they read at all then, they read anything, and there is too much cheap stuff for them to read. If your boy is being swamped for a series, try this one on him." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Mr 7 '48 340w

"The story is notable for its quiet good humor and refreshingly pleasant cast of characters. Even the horse-trader proves to be an honest man. There is plenty of suspense for boys of 10 and up, and a mystery, happily solved." Frances Smith
+ N Y Times p31 F 22 '48 190w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 31:28 Jl 10 '48 110w

ROBERTSON, LILIAN. Runaway rocking horse; il. by [the author]. [32p] $2 Harcourt
48-9214

Pinto, the rocking horse runs away to a farm, a fox hunt, a city, a ranch and the circus; but finds happiness back in the toy shop. For ages 4-6.

Booklist 45:145 D 15 '48

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 14 '48 100w
Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 20w
Commonweal 49:147 N 19 '48 30w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 25:34 Ja '49 50w
Kirkus 16:571 N 1 '48 90w

"Recommended." K. H. McAlarney
+ Library J 73:1746 D 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by H. A. Martin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 28 '48 140w

"The sense of belonging is not emphasized, but it is implicit in this slight story, which is well told in simple, direct prose. Pinto with his gallon-size ideas will stimulate the imagination and entertain youngsters 4 to 6 years old. They will also find appealing the full page, detailed drawings in color." Lillian Gerard
+ N Y Times p60 D 5 '48 130w

"This is the first book of an unusually promising young artist." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 32:35 Ja 8 '49 100w

ROBERTSON, OLIVIA. Field of the Stranger; with il. by the author. 280p $3 Random house
48-6805

"Episodes in the lives of the people of Mandoran, a town sixty miles from Dublin. Farmer and gentry, clergy and public-house owner, shop-keepers and thinkers all contribute to the bizarre history of the 'big house,' Mount Granite and its Field of the Stranger where the unforgettable half-mad Mr. Hare lived." Library J

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 1 '48 230w
Kirkus 16:152 Mr 15 '48 150w

"For those who like tender humor and a touch of the weird—highly recommended." M. H. Zipprich
+ Library J 73:558 Ap 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Paul Bloomfield
Manchester Guardian p3 F 20 '48 120w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ag 8 '48 360w

"The reader's head may reel as he listens to so many characters take so long to tell so many stories, some of which are not relevant to Miss Robertson's subject. But she can write, and her ear for Irish and English local speech rarely misfires. Those who remember their early Somerville and Ross will probably want to keep this novel beside 'The Real Charlotte' on their shelves." James Stern
+ — N Y Times p4 Je 27 '48 550w

"Miss Robertson's first book, 'St. Malachy's Court,' was, I understand, a series of vignettes of Dublin slum children, and was very well received in Ireland because of its humor, realism, and sincere compassion. Miss Robertson would have been well advised to stick to this more static mode of character presentation." Vivian Mercier
Sat R of Lit 31:16 Je 19 '48 650w

Reviewed by Olivia Manning
Spec 180:566 My 7 '48 40w
Times [London] Lit Sup p89 F 14 '48 70w

ROBINSON, BRADLEY, ed. World's great stories of hunting and adventure. 384p $3.50 Dodd
799.2 Hunting. Adventure and adventurers
47-12408

A collection of twenty-five stories divided into two sections: hunting and exploration. The hunting stories deal with "big game which famous white hunters have considered most dangerous": elephants, buffaloes, rhinos, leopards, wild boars, lions, bears, gorillas and tigers. The adventure stories range from the adventures of Philip Ashton on a desolate island off the coast of Honduras in 1723 to a tale told to an explorer in a Calcutta pharmacy in 1939. There are editorial notes before each section and brief biographies of each author represented.

"This collection is valuable in that many of the stories are by older writers whose books are out of print."
+ Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48

ROBINSON, BRADLEY—Continued

"Incidents are well selected for sustained interest and for giving a complete story in one chapter. Should be popular with boys who like the Johnson and Buck books." Margaret Ward
+ Library J 73:50 Ja 1 '48 100w

ROBINSON, DONALD B. Spotlight on a union. 320p il $3.50 Dial press

331.881874 United hatters, cap and millinery workers international union 48-5574

A history of the United hatters, cap and millinery workers international union. "It tells how the Hatters won an epic struggle to eliminate prison labor; it gives the first full detailed account of the famous Danbury Hatters case, the inside story of how the union ended sweatshops, how it handled searing jurisdictional strife, how it ended chaos in the millinery industry, how it drove 'Tough Jake' and other racketeers out of the industry, how it resisted assaults by the 'Wobblies' and more recently how it handled the bitterly controversial Communist question." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

"The author is frankly an enthusiast, and he tells the union's story in a brisk, journalistic style that makes up in timeliness what it lacks in detachment." A. H. Raskin
N Y Times p18 Mr 14 '48 430w

Reviewed by Louis Burgess
San Francisco Chronicle p13 Mr 14 '48 170w

ROBINSON, EDWIN ARLINGTON. Untriangulated stars; letters to Harry de Forest Smith, 1890-1905; ed. by Denham Sutcliffe. 348p $5 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 47-11410

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Booklist 44:216 F 15 '48

Reviewed by Theodore Maynard
Cath World 168:87 O '48 470w

"The letters are not only a psychograph of Robinson, the poet. They are also another significant testimonial to the struggle of the Artist in America, as they suggest antiphonally Robinson's firm refusal to compromise with the literary fashions of the period, and his resultant long probation. Thus, they are a symbolic unit, not only for Robinson scholars and enthusiasts, but for anyone concerned with the creative effort in a materialistic culture." Louise Dauner
+ New Eng Q 21:111 Mr '48 1050w

"The time is ripe for further disclosures of Robinson's imagination and wit, and if in editing this volume Mr. Sutcliffe has not taken the first step toward revealing Robinson as he should be known he has taken a second step of considerable length. His only step backward has been that awkward (and one wishes one could forget it) title 'Untriangulated Stars.'" Horace Gregory
+ N Y Times p1 F 8 '48 1800w

"This is an extremely important collection, for in Smith, Robinson had an understanding friend and to this friend he told nearly every intellectually exciting event that he experienced for these formative years. Thus the book is a record of the building of Robinson's character and habits, and it is also the record of the making of a major poetic mind. Both are fascinating to watch." H. L. Varley
+ Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 25 '48 420w

Time 51:110 Mr 8 '48 900w

"This collection of Robinson letters, well and carefully edited, provides the most important sort of clues to the poet's youthful and maturing character. . . Behind the tight-lipped New England reticence of these letters is perceivable a strong and stubborn artist's nature seeking out its own substance and its own methods; and finally, with little encouragement, coming to deal with reality in a manner both direct and precise. An introduction and full notes are provided by the editor."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:39 Mr '48 280w

Wis Lib Bul 44:82 Ap '48

ROBINSON, HOWARD. British post office; a history. 467p il maps $7.50 Princeton univ. press

383.4942 Postal service—Great Britain 48-5750

"The first account to trace the growth of the Post Office in all phases of its central position in the life of the British people." U S Quarterly Bkl

"Offers the unusual combination of systematic, meticulous scholarship with the interest of a well-written, intelligently organized travel book." A. G. Dewey
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1031 O '48 400w

"Institutional historians, as well as students of social and economic history, will welcome Howard Robinson's well-documented volume. He has carefully explored the many ramifications of the ever expanding postal system, and has conveyed this useful information by a clearly written and fully illustrated narration." R. G. Cowherd
+ Ann Am Acad 258:155 Jl '48 400w

"Philatelists will quickly see how closely this book is related to their specialty, but it is also a substantial and enjoyable contribution to British social history." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:575 Je 9 '48 170w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 20 '48 240w

"Professor Robinson of Oberlin College has done a valuable service by delineating, in systematic, comprehensive and scholarly fashion, a historical development which had hitherto been cluttered up with antiquarianism, legend and personal controversy." J. B. Brebner
+ Pol Sci Q 63:458 S '48 750w

"A scholarly and comprehensive history."
+ Social Studies 39:192 Ap '48 20w

"An excellent example of the scholarly monograph. . . The materials of this work are intrinsically interesting and important. The illustrations are numerous and well chosen, and there is a full bibliography."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:183 Je '48 320w

ROBINSON, JACOB. Palestine and the United Nations; prelude to solution. 269p $3.25; pa $2.75 Am. council on public affairs

956.9 Palestine—Politics and government. United nations (organization). Palestine—Jewish-Arab problem 47-11828

An account of the first Special session of the General assembly of the United Nations, held from April 28 to May 15, 1947. "The first part of this book is devoted to a summary of the preliminary skirmishes on the subject of Palestine in the United Nations—from San Francisco to the Special Session. In this sense the first part of this book is devoted to a description of the UN background of the Palestine problem, while parts two to five discuss the developments within the Special Session itself. These begin with the first moves at Lake Success and the Battle of the Agenda; to the discussion of the problems of 'outside bodies' in the UN, the Special Committee and its composition and terms of reference; and conclude with the case as it was presented by the Jews and Arabs and a characterization of the attitudes of the various governments, followed by a chapter on the 'interim measures.'" (Pref) Index.

"The extent to which the United Nations has been concerned with the Palestine problem is brought out clearly in Palestine and the United Nations; Prelude to Solution. . . Dr. Robinson's book is almost exclusively a factual record culled from the documents of the United Nations and presented in a form making the information considerably more accessible than in the documents themselves. Only rarely are his own sympathies as head of the Institute of Jewish Affairs of the American and World Jewish Congress discoverable in the use of a word or the turn of a phrase." D. B. McCown

Am Pol Sci R 42:167 F '48 380w

"With commendable thoroughness and accuracy the complicated discussions and negotiations on Palestine that occupied the Special Session of the Assembly are described. The result is a valuable monograph for those interested in a case study of the procedures utilized by the U. N. in endeavoring to solve a serious international dispute. Palestine and the United Nations, however, is much less valuable in throwing light on the complicated pros and cons of the problem under consideration." T. W. Wallbank
+ — Ann Am Acad 256:206 Mr '48 700w
Booklist 44:104 N 15 '47

ROBINSON, JOHN ROOSEVELT. My own story, as told to Wendell Smith; foreword by Branch Rickey. 172p il $2; pa $1 Greenberg
B or 92 Baseball 48-6600

"The personal history of the first Negro player to break into big league baseball." N Y Times

Booklist 44:312 My 15 '48
Library J 73:1031 Jl '48 20w

"The story of Jackie Robinson's life is a thin one because the 'life' of this remarkable Brooklyn infielder had not been in progress very long when the book went to press, and because the inter-racial significance of his position, though of the first importance, has not yet been fully developed. Still, it contains a few interesting and informative passages about Negro baseball teams and some of their white owners." John Lardner
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 140w

"An appealing and a revealing document and Jackie Robinson, with a neat assist from Wendell Smith, makes it a moving story from start to finish." John Kieran
+ N Y Times p33 My 2 '48 380w
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 25 '48 240w

ROBINSON, LURA. It's an old New Orleans custom. (American customs ser) 322p il $3 Vanguard
917.6335 New Orleans—Social life and customs 48-9111

Not a guide book for the tourist, but chapters on the manners and customs, history, biography, of the city of New Orleans, with human interest stories and anecdotes. Partial contents: To hear music in the air; To flirt with Lady Luck; To build and bury above ground; To store heavenly treasures; To concoct fine foods; To live elegantly; To engage in duels.

Booklist 45:119 D 1 '48
Reviewed by Melvin Maddocks
Christian Science Monitor p18 D 6 '48 190w

"Somehow manages not to overlap to any considerable degree the other books on New Orleans which have been published in the year past. . . The most interesting chapter, perhaps, is the one on commerce as it is pursued by the citizens, who prefer to cultivate the art of leisure."
+ Kirkus 16:495 S 15 '48 190w

"New Orleans has had more than its share of books devoted to it and originality cannot be attributed to this new one. Its scholarship may be superficial, its reference value limited—but it is a smooth and fascinating book for popular libraries." G. D. McDonald
+ — Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 70w

"Miss Robinson, who stopped writing vocational guidance books to write about 'the city that care forgot,' deals with this sort of thing smoothly and pleasantly; she is objective as well as affectionate, which is rare when this particular perennial is the subject." E. H. Smith
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 O 24 '48 450w

"As an immediate novelty in books about New Orleans, it is pleasant to note that Miss Robinson has put in some hard hours of research; and that she shows herself unwilling to skim over and rehash, slightly, the same old things that go into the same old books about the yeasty, zesty Creole town. As a result she offers more than a few new pages—new facts, new yarns, new incidents, bizarre or rococo or chucklesome." H. T. Kane
+ N Y Times p55 N 14 '48 240w

"Miss Robinson has written a sprightly and flavorsome addition to the Old Customs Series." J. V.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 N 28 '48 350w

ROBINSON, WILLIAM WILCOX. Land in California; the story of mission lands, ranchos, squatters, mining claims, railroad grants, land scrip, homesteads. (Chronicles of California) 291p il maps $4 Univ. of Calif.
333.3 Land tenure—California 48-10331

"Tells the story of the physical side of California, the land itself, from the days when Indians 'owned' it, straight on down through the times of the missions, the presidios, the great land grants, the mines and so on, taking the reader through the troubles with the squatters, the period of the railroad companies' subsidies and sales of land so acquired, all the way to the problems presented by the growth of cities and the subdivider, the real estate broker and the title company and its work." (San Francisco Chronicle) Bibliography. Index.

"The tree of ownership has roots and branches and the sap of life in Mr. Robinson's treatment. He has written a book that is a genuine and not merely a sentimental addition to Californiana." J. L. Duff
+ Commonweal 49:308 D 31 '48 350w

"Students of California history will find much of absorbing interest in Mr. Robinson's book. . . 'Land in California' is a valuable contribution to Californiana and will be read carefully by everyone who is interested in the state and its development." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p5 N 28 '48 280w

"All this is covered from a background of broad knowledge and careful research, as the bibliography will show. From the viewpoint of the general reader, though, Mr. Robinson's book is so full-packed that it lacks human interest in the degrees that Dr. Caughey's book has this quality. There are anecdotes, to be sure, but most of them do no more than hint at the story-behind-the-story. The difficulty, it seems to me, was that the author had just too much to get in, and decided to sacrifice the many chances for good yarn-spinning." J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p20 N 4 '48 360w

RODGERS, CLEVELAND, and RANKIN, REBECCA BROWNING. New York: the world's capital city; its development and contributions to progress. 398p il $5 Harper
974.71 New York (city) 48-7417

This is not a chronological history of New York city, but a study of the city's development in relation to its historical perspective, with a glance at its future. Most prominence is given to its development during the last few decades. Its authors are a city planning commissioner, and the librarian of the New York Municipal Reference Library. Bibliography. Index.

"This volume is a combination of skill and scholarship. . . The authors have been intimately connected in a civic and scholarly way with the recent history of the city and had at their command the municipal records and library facilities of the city. They have organized their material well and make it tell an interesting story." G. S. F.

RODGERS, CLEVELAND—Continued
+ Am Hist R 54:222 O '48 320w

Reviewed by W. H. Young
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1021 O '48 600w

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

"It's information-crammed pages make it a significant and valuable contribution to the voluminous literature about the city. It is an equally excellent source for the New Yorker who wants to know more about his town and its origins, and for more distant admirers of the new world capital." R. M. Hallett
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Je 25 '48 500w

"The style of the book is pedestrian. A vast amount of detail is included and a good index makes the volume a useful addition to a reference library. But it is not a volume to take along on your vacation. Particularly exasperating is the attempt of the authors to give life to their book by dragging in modern expressions to characterize historical developments of long ago. . . But the most annoying lines in the volume are those which bring each chapter to a close. The language is stilted, affected and pollyannaish." W. J. Marx
— + Commonweal 48:408 Ag 6 '48 900w

"Well written and organized, a competent job, interesting and informative, this should command a good audience, particularly with the visitors."
+ Kirkus 16:208 Ap 15 '48 170w

"Not quite a history text, not quite a guide book but partaking of the characteristics of both this book will help New Yorkers to understand their past and work intelligently toward the future, will prove useful to the prospective tourist, and will reward librarians many times in their search for first facts. The many illustrations add to the attractiveness of the volume and the extensive bibliography points the way to greater knowledge on an almost inexhaustible subject." J. B. Hillingsworth
+ Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 240w

"There is so much good material in this book that it is doubly disappointing that it is not better presented. The organization of data is clear enough but unprovocative, the writing itself is solemn and heavy, and the few pictures are jammed together so as to be completely ineffective."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 8 '48 320w

"Any New Yorker who wants to know how his city grew should have a copy in his library; it is a reasonably painless way to civic understanding." Milton MacKaye
+ N Y Times p5 Jl 25 '48 700w

"This work on New York is not what might be called a guide for tourists. But you will find as did I, that Rodgers and Rankin have provided a simply-styled, easy-to-read chronicle of just how the big city got that way." Grover Whalen
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 Jl 17 '48 440w

Special Libraries 39:326 N '48 140w

RODITI, EDOUARD. Oscar Wilde. (Makers of modern literature) 256p $2 New directions

B or 92 Wilde, Oscar 47-11751

"The purpose of the present study is to indicate the central position that Wilde's works and ideas occupy in the thought and art of his age, and in the shift of English and American literature from established and aging Romanticism to what we now call modernism." (Introd) Appendices include biographical, philological and bibliographical notes. Index.

Booklist 44:186 Ja 15 '48

"A performance of great finesse and perception, free of the jargonized parade of philosophical terminology which so clutters academic criticism." J. C. Garrett
+ Canadian Forum 27:259 F '48 700w

"For literary argument rather than agreement."
Kirkus 15:645 N 15 '48 120w

Reviewed by Carlos Baker
N Y Times p26 My 23 '48 550w

Reviewed by John Gassner
Theatre Arts 32:99 Ag '48 280w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:136 Je '48 280w

RODMAN, OLIVER HAZARD PERRY. Salt-water fisherman's favorite four; il. by Jack Murray. 192p $4 Morrow

799.161 Fishing Agr48-289

"A thorough survey of angling along the Atlantic coast, from Nova Scotia to Florida, focussed on a quartet of game fish—striped bass, weakfish, bluefish, and channel bass. To increase the sport of taking them, the author advocates proved fresh-water techniques, among them casting with a plug, and the use of light tackle, including such up-to-date gear as a glass rod. Color plates and photographs." (New Yorker) No index.

"A most enthusiastic informal how-to book on the four most popular saltwater gamefish of the Atlantic coast."
+ Kirkus 16:467 S 1 '48 130w

"Entertainingly written and nicely illustrated." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 74:64 Ja 1 '49 30w

New Yorker 24:168 N 20 '48 70w

Reviewed by G. S. Arnold
San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 100w

RODMAN, SELDEN. Horace Pippin, a Negro painter in America. 88p il pl $12 Quadrangle press, inc, 15 W. 44th st, N.Y. 18

759.13 Pippin, Horace 47-6932

"Pippin, who died last year, was one of the most talented of the so-called 'modern primitives.' Despite the brevity of his painting career (he never picked up a brush until 1930), he had a range of emotional expression far beyond that of most other unschooled artists. This book provides an account of Pippin's career, along with a catalogue of all his works, and about sixty reproductions." New Yorker

---

"Beautifully designed monograph. . . Pippin's strength lay in his innocence, and it had a strong religious basis. . . I do not accuse Mr. Rodman of sentimentality about the childlike mind, but I think he makes too much of it." S. L. Faison
+ — Nation 166:253 F 28 '48 1000w

Reviewed by B. H. Hayes
+ N Y Times p7 O 26 '47 800w

"An extremely sympathetic and carefully documented account."
+ New Yorker 23:135 O 25 '47 90w

RODMAN, SELDEN. Renaissance in Haiti; popular painters in the Black republic. 134p il col pl $4.50 Pellegrini & Cudahy

759.97294 Painters, Haitian. Painting, Haitian 48-10620

"In another part of the hemisphere a stirring of artistic interest has been taking place within the last decade in impoverished Haiti, the black republic of the Caribbean. Here for centuries the African cultural strain had been dormant, the very crafts seemed sterile, the superficial overlay of Christianity became mixed with voodoo or 'vodun' worship. Yet suddenly there appeared a curious mixture of tribal art, mixed religious and naive popular painting—a story now told by the poet Selden Rodman." (N Y Times) Glossary. No Index.

Booklist 45:133 D 15 '48

"Selden Rodman's name may carry this outside the art market in some degree, but primarily this is for the art market largely."
Kirkus 16:550 O 1 '48 150w

"This flowering of the past decade has produced a rewarding book for any one of modern esthetic sensibility to contemplate, and Selden Rodman, with his mixture of comments from anthropology, psychiatry, sociology, history and esthetics, proves a wonderful guide to a world of wonder." B. D. Wolfe
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ja 2 '49 800w

"Mr. Rodman has told the brief but exciting story in a colorful book that is part snapshot album, part contemporary history, and is enlivened with many illustrations of the paintings, some in color." W. G. Dooley
+ N Y Times p6 D 5 '48 280w

"This [is a] well-produced book. . . The whole book is of great interest."
+ New Yorker 24:150 N 13 '48 170w

RODNICK, DAVID. Postwar Germans; an anthropologist's account. 233p $3.75 Yale univ., press

943.086 Germany—History—Allied occupation, 1945- 48-5854

A report on the people interviewed by the author and his wife on a five months' field trip in Hesse in 1946. Index.

Booklist 44:281 Ap 15 '48

Christian Century 65:352 Ap 21 '48 170w

"A balanced and impressive account." Ernest Pisko
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 15 '48 650w

Reviewed by D. F. Cleary
Commonweal 48:552 S 17 '48 600w

Current Hist 15:228 O '48 70w

Kirkus 16:38 Ja 15 '48 250w

"Essential for university, college and larger public libraries." Kurt Schwerin
Library J 73:196 F 1 '48 130w

"Rodnick is an anthropologist who has done work on American Indians and went to postwar Germany to look into the lives of the Teuton tribes. His book is brief, limited in its sampling, but shrewd in its methods and objective in its results." W. H. Hale
+ New Repub 118:17 Ap 5 '48 310w

Reviewed by David Davidson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ap 11 '48 950w

"The value of David Rodnick's study of present German society is that it is not one more superficial survey but a serious attempt by an anthropologist to fathom the reasons why the mass of Germans think, act, and feel the way they do. . . Mr. Rodnick's account of his experience could hardly be more objective or unbiased." James Stern
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 11 '48 950w

New Yorker 24:126 Mr 13 '48 120w

"Because the questioning was done two years ago, and also because Protestant Hessians have different moral, social, and religious standards than, let us say, Catholic Bavarians, or agnostic Berliners, the results are not conclusive and are sometimes completely outdated. But Dr. Rodnick does not promise more than he can give. He succeeds in giving us an insight into what it feels like to be in Germany today." H. B. Kranz
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Mr 27 '48 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p619 N 6 '48 1450w

Reviewed by Sigmund Neumann
Yale R n s 37:742 summer '48 700w

ROE, WELLINGTON. Juggernaut: American labor in action. 375p $4 Lippincott

331.88 Trade unions—U.S. Labor and laboring classes—U.S. 48-8536

"[The author] who for over twenty-five years has been active in the American trade-union movement as lecturer, official and author, believes the danger to trade unions comes not so much from the assaults of reactionary employers as it does from decay. 'Juggernaut' purports to be a history of unionism in action with the expressed purpose of showing how autocratic labor chiefs are menacing the institution of organized labor by suppressing or disregarding democratic processes. His story is told in terms of personalities: the teamsters' Tobin, the carpenters' Hutcheson, the miners' Lewis, the musicians' Petrillo, and others." (N Y Times) Index.

Reviewed by James Peneff
Chicago Sun D 1 '48 230w

"Probably the center of much controversy upon publication. Recommended." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Elinore Herrick
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 O 17 '48 500w

"He has strung together a series of interesting incidents, most of which made newspaper headlines at the time they occurred. He rates an A-plus in readability. But this is not history. It is largely the unsavory part of labor history, with no attention given to the circumstances that caused autocratic types of leaders to rise. The democratic unions are largely ignored. . . Mr. Roe's expert needling of the bosses may help to promote the democratic process, but his product cannot be rated as either new or comprehensive in its field." J. A. Loftus
+ — N Y Times p6 O 3 '48 330w

Reviewed by Louis Burgess
San Francisco Chronicle p10 O 3 '48 250w

Reviewed by Joseph Rosenfarb
Sat R of Lit 32:48 Ja 22 '49 140w

Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 120w

Reviewed by Beulah Amidon
Survey G 37:475 N '48 150w

ROEDER, RALPH. Juarez and his Mexico; a biographical history. 2v il $10 Viking

B or 92 Juárez, Benito Pablo. Mexico—History 47-11342

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"This competent and scholarly biography, probably the most definitive work on Mexico ever written in English, has many of the austere and massive qualities of the Indian genius the book portrays. . . No mention is made of contemporary periodical literature which was enormous and important and would have provided much intimate color." Carleton Beals
+ — Am Hist R 53:859 Jl '48 800w

"In the opinion of the reviewer, Mr. Roeder has done an excellent job. Not only has he illuminated the character of Juarez, but he has given us a good history of nineteenth-century Mexico. . . While the work is an outstanding contribution, one mild criticism might be made. Although the author includes an excellent bibliography of 247 references at the end of the book, there is no documentation whatsoever accompanying the text. Many quotations are used, but specific references are not given for any of them, and students may experience considerable difficulty in trying to check references in which they are particularly interested." N. L. Whetten
+ — Ann Am Acad 256:237 Mr '48 450w

"Despite the author's imperfect understanding of Indians and of Spaniards, of Catholic thought and of international and Mexican politics, his book has some merits. It contains a wealth of information and illuminating side lights on the Mexican Liberals. He has made a splendid use of the documents compiled by the late W. R. Manning and he brings before the American public a convincing and interesting account of the workings of Manifest Destiny in Mexico." E. R. Pineda
— + Cath World 167:86 Ap '48 700w

"Passing over the lyrical enthusiasm of the author for his hero, and refraining from comment on the author's interpretation of history, one may venture the opinion that this work would be much improved by extensive further cutting and by a more vigorous endeavor to reconstruct the mind and character of the people of Mexico outside the group of Liberal

ROEDER, RALPH—Continued
politicians around Juarez. . . Despite the evidence of patient labor exhibited in this work, it is questionable whether it 'will stand among the literary giants of our time,' as the publishers maintain." J. A. Magner
— + Commonweal 47:500 F 27 '48 650w

Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 700w

"The excellent analysis of men and their motives, ideas, and ideals makes this biographical history an essential title on any shelf of Mexicana, and of abiding interest to historians and political philosophers, as well as general readers."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:39 Mr '48 280w

"Mr. Roeder's writing has charm and force. His work might profitably have been condensed, made a bit leaner. At times, one feels that he is overwriting and straining for effect. But the material is sound and dramatic. One might quarrel over details, such as his use of last names in cases where the last name is not the real name—Gomez Farias, for example, was not Farias, and yet Mr. Roeder so mentions him repeatedly. Yet this is a great biography of a great man." Hubert Herring
+ — Yale R n s 37:563 spring '48 700w

ROEHRENBECK, WILLIAM JOSEPH, ed. Christmastide; a Catholic treasury for young and old. (Stephen Daye bk) 381p $3.75 Ungar

394.268 Christmas stories. Roman Catholic literature—Collections 48-9587

An anthology of Christmas stories and poems, intended for reading aloud. Some are by non-Catholic authors. Some selections are abridged. No index.

Booklist 45:131 D 15 '48

Cath World 168:336 Ja '49 100w

ROETHKE, THEODORE. Lost son, and other poems. 64p $2.50 Doubleday

811 48-5924

A collection of short poems by the author of Open House (Book Review Digest 1941).

Reviewed by Peter Viereck
Atlantic 182:96 N '48 250w

"The present verses have appeared in the best literary weeklies and monthlies, but as a group they seem to lack body and substance, though the grace and precision of the individual poems stand out."
Kirkus 16:78 F 1 '48 130w

"If the long title-poem is the richest in significance, the more accessible short lyrics should not be neglected. They, too, have a delicate music and, what is rarer in contemporary verse, a tenderness that is quite clean of sentimentality. They gain in freshness for having frequently as background, theme, or symbol, the floriculturist's world, one that is as full of stinks as of fragrances and as foreign to most readers as it is fertile for poetry." Babette Deutsch
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Jl 25 '48 550w

Reviewed by Hugh Gibb
N Y Times p14 Ag 1 '48 290w

Reviewed by Louise Bogan
New Yorker 24:117 My 15 '48 360w

"Roethke's first volume, Open House (1941), was praised, deservedly, for its lyric resourcefulness, its technical proficiency, its ordered sensibility. The present collection, by virtue of its indomitable creativeness and audacity, includes much more chaos in its cosmos; it is difficult, heroic, moving, and profoundly disquieting. What Roethke brings us in these pages is news of the root, of the minimal, of the primordial." Stanley Kunitz
+ Poetry 73:222 Ja '49 1150w

"He strikes me as a wise and ancient young man who knows where he's going." T. H. Ferril
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 13 '48 130w

Reviewed by Eugene Davidson
Yale R n s 37:747 summer '48 200w

ROGERS, MATILDA. Flower arrangement, a hobby for all. 72p il $1.50 Womans press

635.9663 Floral decoration Agr48-38

A guide to flower arrangement with emphasis on simple compositions. Partial contents: Fundamentals of design; Holders and other equipment; Containers and accessories; The care of cut flowers; Color; Table centerpieces; Weeds and dried arrangements; Leaves and branches. The book is based on the author's Flower arrangement manual, published in 1942.

"This small book covering most of the essentials of flower arrangement is written in a friendly, informal style. . . The conscientious reader who attempts to follow directions will be troubled by occasional unexplained statements. A wealth of 'helpful tricks and short cuts' are featured. Teachers will need to supplement the material on color and balance or simply use the book as an inspirational one in a classroom library." M. R. Jensen
+ — J Home Econ 40:468 O '48 100w

"The essentials in flower arrangement are given in simple and attractive lessons."
+ School & Society 67:222 Mr 20 '48 10w

Wis Lib Bul 44:102 My '48

ROGERS, MEYRIC REYNOLD. American interior design; the traditions and development of domestic design from colonial times to the present. 309p il $20 Norton

747.21 House decoration. Furniture. Architecture, Domestic 47-12416

Traces the development of American domestic interior decoration from the middle of the seventeenth century to the present day. The text "falls into five periods: the age of settlement, 1630-1730; the age of Colonial achievement, 1730-1790; the age of Federal adolescence, 1790-1850; the age of continental expansion and industrial empire, 1850-1920; and the age of social adjustment, 1920 to the present. For each of these periods [the author] furnishes the historical and economic background—succinct and clearly stated factors which accounted for why people built the sort of houses they did, and furnished them as they did. . . A glossary of furniture terms, biographical notes on architects and furniture makers of the past and a comprehensive bibliography and index." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"When the curator of Decorative and Industrial Arts in the Art Institute of Chicago set himself the task of measuring the tides of taste which washed around the American home from the earliest days to the blistering present, he undertook a survey before which even the best informed might hesitate. That he has brought it off admirably is without question. . . His book is packed full of fascinating furniture history, history of fabrics, lighting fixtures, china, glass, silver, and the various doodads which are our decorative lares and penates. Moreover this is one of the most generously illustrated books on changes in American taste yet to appear." Richardson Wright
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly R p5 Mr 14 '48 800w

"The author has some trouble with the fact that the period rooms in miniature, despite their high standard of excellence, have several anachronisms that are beyond his province to change. And in the earlier part of the book, the value for some collectors is hampered by extremely optimistic dating of seventeenth and eighteenth century furniture. . . On the whole, however, the entire summary is one of the best of its kind. The major monuments of domestic architecture are shown with good interior and exterior views, with a reasoned description of their structure, furnishing and life within them." W. G. Dooley
+ — N Y Times p16 My 2 '48 490w

"Mr. Rogers discusses modern design intelligently and sympathetically, but his tastes are inclined to be conservative, and by far the larger number of the book's handsome color plates illustrate traditional forms that antedate the big stylistic readjustment of the nineteen-twenties. Whether or not you share the author's concern for our decorative past, you will almost certainly find this an extremely effective visual as well as critical presentation of an important subject."

+ New Yorker 23:97 D 20 '47 120w

ROGERS, STANLEY REGINALD HARRY. It took courage; tales of adventurous discovery; charts by Rafaello Busoni. 268p $3 Holiday
910.4 Discoveries (in geography). Adventure and adventurers 48-8899

"Thirteen accounts of explorations in many fields, including important scientific and medical discoveries as well as searches for vanished men and ships, buried cities, and prehistoric monsters." Library J

"An excellent collection of true stories." B. J. Thompson
+ Cath World 168:219 D '48 60w

"Armchair explorers and scientists will find plenty of interest in this uneven but frequently absorbing collection of true stories."
+ Kirkus 16:402 Ag 15 '48 130w

"A stimulating introduction to further reading. Recommended for older boys and girls." R. O. Bostwick
+ Library J 73:1828 D 15 '48 70w

ROGERS, WILLIAM GARLAND. When this you see remember me; Gertrude Stein in person. 247p $3 Rinehart
B or 92 Stein, Gertrude 48-7376

"Recollections of Gertrude Stein by an American newspaperman. Rogers, a soldier in World War I when he first met Miss Stein, was often her guest in France, sharing her principal distractions, automobile tours, the enjoyment of paintings and good food, conversation with Alice Toklas. They corresponded until her death in 1946, and many excerpts from her letters of this thirty-year period are included in the biography." Library J

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48
Canadian Forum 28:239 Ja '49 310w

"A unique portrait. For, though there is a copious literature on Miss Stein as author, Miss Stein's politics, and Miss Stein's sartorial eccentricities, this is as far as I know, the only conscientious, sympathetic study of Miss Stein as a person. . . Much as I have emphasized the personal aspects of this biography, it should not be inferred that it is only chatty, anecdotal reporting. Rogers fully appreciates the controversial position of Miss Stein in the literature of our time and throughout these pages is continually suggesting interpretations which may help in an understanding of her work. Her relationship to Picasso and to the whole modern art movement is also lucidly explained." Emmett Dedmon
+ Chicago Sun p8X Jl 11 '48 550w

"There is always a kindly interpretation of her conduct and costumes; of her need to be conspicuous, springing from unhappy childhood; her unsatisfied desire to be read instead of looked at; her naive vanity; and her acceptance of her claim to genius, which others, less allured, will contest. A biography which will find an audience among her advocates."
Kirkus 16:228 My 1 '48 170w

"Primarily an affectionate memoir of Miss Stein's personal characteristics, Rogers also has many sensible comments on her ambitions and accomplishments as a writer." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 100w

"W. G. Rogers, arts editor of the Associated Press, has written a warm, brightly informal account of his long friendship with Gertrude Stein, and in it he provides an entertaining, candid portrait of a woman who was in herself remarkable, whatever may be said of her as a literary artist." Richard Watts
+ New Repub 119:24 Ag 9 '48 1450w

"The book is the fullest speaking portrait of Miss Stein that has yet appeared and the only one of Miss Toklas with which this reader is acquainted. The latter achievement is of value not only for the picture it offers of a fascinating and brilliant woman but also for that of the genuinely intellectual contribution of Miss Toklas to her friend's intellectual life. . . The memorable quality [of Miss Stein] is always there. Her writing like her person, is unforgetable. Mr. Rogers, a classical scholar and a newspaperman, has described them with love, with perspicacity, convincingly and with a gayety not unlike that of Miss Stein herself expounding grammar and poetry to students or laughing like a clap of thunder among the pressmen." Virgil Thomson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 11 '48 1000w

"Mr. Rogers may be accused of underrating Miss Stein's disingenuousness in some respects, but hardly, under the circumstances, of overrating her charm. His amiable recollections, the letters he reprints and his unpretentious critical comments, make his memoir the best yet of its kind for the general reader." Ralph Thompson
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 1 '48 900w

"Good Steiniana."
+ New Yorker 24:71 Jl 10 '48 170w

"If nothing else, Mr. Rogers' book gives the lie to the inaccuracies and bias expressed by that school of thought in its estimate of Miss Stein's qualities and in its recital of supposed facts about her life. But his book does a good deal more, too. For Mr. Rogers gives the warmest, most human and understanding picture that anyone has yet given of Miss Stein—and Miss Toklas." Carolyn Stull
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ag 29 '48 850w

Reviewed by Peggy Bennett
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 Jl 10 '48 800w
Time 52:96 Ag 16 '48 600w

ROHMER, SAX, pseud (ARTHUR SARSFIELD WADE). Shadow of Fu Manchu. 190p $2 Doubleday
48-7916

Mystery story.

Kirkus 16:293 Je 15 '48 100w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ag 22 '48 140w
Reviewed by E. F. Allen
N Y Times p15 Ag 8 '48 340w
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 3 '48 50w
Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ag 14 '48 40w

ROLLAND, ROMAIN. Essays on music [coll. by David Ewen]. 371p $5 Allen, Towne & Heath
780.4 Music 48-1634

"Selections from three of Rolland's collections of short historical pieces and his Handel and Beethoven, the Creator. Translators are not named. . . The matter consists of twelve biographical essays (from Lully to Saint-Saens) three on the music of the 18th century, and one on 'The Place of Music in General History.' This last shows the key to the high place that Rolland still holds in the world of music." Library J

Booklist 45:28 S 15 '48
Reviewed by Leonard Burkat
+ Library J 73:815 My 15 '48 140w
Reviewed by Wolf Franck
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:372 Je '48 900w

"A welcome volume. Few writers have written about music and musicians with such a creative glow and warmth. Whether in a character of fiction such as 'Jean Christophe,' of biography such as 'Handel,' or in an essay from 'A Musical Tour Through the Land of the Past,' his men become humanly alive and their times vividly portrayed." Victor Prahl
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 18 '48 400w

ROLLINS, HYDER EDWARD, ed. Keats circle; letters and papers, 1816-1878. 2v il $12.50 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Keats, John 49-7086

"Some three hundred and fifty documents concerning Keats and his family and friends, among them basic records relating to his life story. Here is much information about Taylor and Hessey, his publishers, and the various contributors to their highly successful 'London Magazine.' There is much else that concerns the writing and reception of the earliest biography of the poet by Richard Monckton Milnes, first Baron Houghton, and the development of Keats's reputation. . . The material set forth in the present volumes comprises about the most interesting part of the papers contained in the notable Harvard Keats Collection. Though some of the manuscripts now printed are drawn from the scrapbook of Richard Woodhouse owned by the Pierpont Morgan Library and others from the Keatsiana assembled by Amy Lowell and by her bequeathed to Harvard, the greater number of pieces were gathered by Milnes when he was engaged in writing the pioneer life of Keats just a century ago." (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) Indexes.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun Ja 17 '49 500w

"The unfolding drama of Keats's life, his posthumous reputation, and the self-revelation of those closest to him, give this book extraordinary interest. Indispensable for college and reference libraries; desirable for almost any library." G. D. McDonald
+ Library J 73:1664 N 15 '48 110w

"To the student of the subject, all of both volumes will be of inestimable value, and the editing of the texts, annotated with relevant information, is an admirable work of scholarship." John Farrelly
+ New Repub 120:25 Ja 17 '49 900w

"Scholars will find these two volumes the richest source of raw material ever to be placed at their disposal. . . Not the least of Professor Rollins's services consists of his biographical sketches of between twenty and thirty people who were in more or less close relation with Keats. Much information about their origins and subsequent courses is here compiled for the first time." G. F. Whicher
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 D 12 '48 1150w

"The effect of the amassing and rounding out of this evidence in full-bodied context is to give to that which was already known a new value and to throw all in fresh perspective. The book not only sheds light on Keats, but is a valuable commentary upon the social and literary aspects of the period it covers; it helps to illuminate both a life and an age." C. D. Thorpe
+ N Y Times p1 D 19 '48 1500w

Reviewed by David Magee
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ja 23 '49 750w

"Professor Rollins calls his prodigious work a 'source-book.' For plain readers it may well be a source of that pleasure which comes of leisurely browsing among old letters and biographical sketches of the truly great, the adventitiously great and the undeservedly obscure. For Keats scholars, however, the edition will be an indispensable reference work." Carlos Baker
+ Sat R of Lit 31:7 D 25 '48 500w

ROLLINSON, JOHN K. Wyoming cattle trails [history of the migration of Oregon-raised herds to mid-western markets] ed. and arranged by E. A. Brininstool. 366p il maps $5 Caxton printers

917.87 Frontier and pioneer life—Wyoming. Cowboys. Cattle trade 48-1726

"An historical anthology of Oregon cattle, cattlemen, cowboys and the routes into Wyoming and Montana, a collection based on source material, individual experience records, letters, personal records of the 1880's, and so on. There are introductory chapters on the cattle blood lines, on the cowboy, and the cook and wagon boss, the cavvy, the associations, and the individual stories follow these preliminaries. There are adventures on a first trip along the Texas trail into Oregon, from Oregon to Montana, backwards and forwards on the Oregon Trail; there are stories of the cowponies, rangers, rustlers; there is the geography of the cattle trails and the development of the industry in the North." (Kirkus) Bibliography. Index.

Kirkus 16:36 Ja 15 '48 130w

"Generally well organized and well written, the story combines adventurous personal narratives with expository writing to good effect. Perhaps inevitably there is some expendable repetition in the detailing of difficulties overcome by men and cattle while on drives over the various trails in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. The colorfully told variations of history of the area offset the few shortcomings." Clarence Gorchels
+ — Library J 73:197 F 1 '48 100w

ROMANSKI, ANDRZEJ KORBUT. Prisoners of the night; tr. by Walter M. Besterman and Blair Taylor. 260p $2.75 Bobbs

47-12218

Novel based on life and death in a labor camp in the northern part of Russia. The central character is Wolski, a Polish doctor, who has an affair with a beautiful Russian woman doctor, also imprisoned because her father was a landowner. In the end Dr Wolski is released, but the woman has to stay.

Cath World 166:475 F '48 250w

"This book could not be a total work of imagination. Clearly shows what forced labor in Russia does to the human beings concerned, what depths of degradation human beings can be forced to. All of which adds to the full horror of a situation only recently fully realized. Can have a wider audience than Dallin and is therefore recommended." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 72:1686 D 1 '47 90w

"Mr. Romanski's picture of the labor camp is a monotone of suffering, physical and otherwise, and a pervasive disintegration that, for most of the jailors and the jailed, was the condition of survival. It is the more impressive and painful because of the simplicity and restraint with which he writes and his patent sincerity." Mary Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ja 11 '48 430w

"The corrosive effect of the Soviet tyranny, even on those who are a part of it, is an obvious aspect of Mr. Romanski's message. He has been too close to his material to view it with detachment, however, and as a novel his work is not very successful. There is a little about too many characters, not enough about any of them. . . At all events, any reader who wants to know what 'slave labor' really is, can find out right here. He will certainly conclude that the phrase has of late been somewhat carelessly used." N. K. Burger
N Y Times p22 Ja 11 '48 550w

"Mr. Romanski's major purpose . . . is adequately fulfilled, but his point would probably have been made more forcibly if he had written the book as a straight report on modern political imprisonment."
New Yorker 23:80 Ja 10 '48 140w

"By novelizing his experiences, the youth has given his narrative the interest and rich coloring that would be lacking in a factual report. In every chapter he shows himself to be a creative artist of the first rank, for there is genius in his characterizations, brilliance in his dialogue and beauty in his descriptive passages. What he has done in the tragic morning of his life gives his noon high promise." George Creel
+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 Ja 18 '48 700w

ROMIG, EMILY CRAIG. Pioneer woman in Alaska. 140p il $3 Caxton printers

917.98 Frontier and pioneer life—Alaska

48-7653

"Day-to-day account of the difficult journey which Mrs. Craig and her husband made from Chicago to Nome, Alaska, at the turn of the century hoping to find gold." (Booklist) A final chapter describes their life in Alaska, the death of Mr. Craig, Mrs. Craig's nursing experiences and marriage to Dr. Romig, the dog-team doctor. First published in 1945 under title: Life and Travels of a Pioneer Woman in Alaska.

Booklist 44:380 Jl 15 '48

"This is an authentic, detailed and colorful account of life in America's far north."

+ Christian Century 65:855 Ag 25 '48 110w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p26 N 21 '48 140w

"As source material, this book will gratify historians who have long needed a trustworthy account of what happened on that remarkable journey down the Mackenzie River almost to its mouth, then down the Porcupine and up the Yukon. And what befell Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Craig, Chicagoans bitten by the gold bug, was typical." William Gilman

+ N Y Times p39 N 28 '48 270w

"The value of this memoir to the historian will lie in the carefully detailed record of the arduous trip, all of which Mrs. Romig sets down colorfully and well. Mrs. Romig lived in Alaska until the latter 1930's, and it seems too bad that her book could not have continued the story of a life which was so closely bound up with Alaska's beginnings and later developments." J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 25 '48 120w

School & Society 67:342 My 1 '48 20w

ROMM, ALEKSANDR GEORGIEVICH. Matisse; a social critique; tr. by Jack Chen. ltd ed 96p il col pl $3.75 Lear

759.4 Matisse, Henri 47-12150

A "social critique" of the French artist's work written from the point of view of a Soviet-Marxist art critic. "The book is illustrated with black and white reproductions of 60 drawings and paintings from the Museum of Modern Western Art in Moscow, and two color plates which are, unfortunately, very small." (San Francisco Chronicle)

Reviewed by S. L. Faison

Nation 167:238 Ag 28 '48 800w

"Can anything decent come out of the cultural offices of the Soviet Union? We would least of all expect it to be art criticism. Yet here is Alexander Romm's little book on Matisse, which, though not quite decent, is as serious as it can afford to be and contains only the absolutely required minimum of Stalinist vulgarity. Its description of the evolution of Matisse's art is founded on an intimate acquaintance with the latter, and is accurate and intelligent. . . Yet he is not a very original critic and his insights do not reveal much that we did not know before. . . Mr. Romm's book appeared in Russia shortly before the recent war. One doubts whether, in the light of the latest Soviet ukases on literature and art, its publication would be permitted now." Clement Greenberg

+ — N Y Times p7 Ja 25 '48 600w

"Despite the artist's unworldliness and Romm's rather rigid frame of thought, Matisse doesn't come off too badly, and the author says some very acute things about him."

New Yorker 23:139 N 15 '47 120w

Reviewed by Hubert Buel

San Francisco Chronicle p5 N 30 '47 150w

RONALD, JAMES. Angry woman. 250p $2.75 Lippincott

48-7770

Story of an immature girl dominated by a possessive mother and a jealous friend. When illness comes, Fern, unable to come to terms with affliction, makes life extremely difficult for her household until she finds means to escape.

"James Ronald seems to have made a special study of the chemistry of female hatreds, and in this novel he invites you into a laboratory of warped and embittered personalities. He writes with such pace and surface plausibility that you almost take him at his word, but mental reservations slip in before the story is finished. . . The main trouble with Mr. Ronald's narrative is that the good characters, who suffer so long and nobly as innocent victims, seem to be asking for it."

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 29 '48 190w

N Y Times p42 O 17 '48 70w

ROOS, KELLEY, pseud. of AUDREY (KELLEY) ROOS and WILLIAM ROOS. Murder in any language. 216p $2 Wyn

48-8286

Detective story.

Kirkus 16:348 Jl 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p34 N 28 '48 130w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p31 S 19 '48 150w

"Some brisk dialogue, nicely planted evidence, and not too much mystification."

+ New Yorker 24:84 S 4 '48 120w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 3 '48 100w

"Engrossing plot, constant action, some marvelous characters, and plentiful laughter. Gay and good!"

+ Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 11 '48 40w

ROOSEVELT, FRANKLIN DELANO. F.D.R., his personal letters, 1905-1928; foreword by Eleanor Roosevelt; ed. by Elliott Roosevelt, assisted by James N. Rosenau. 674p $5 Duell

B or 92 Statesmen—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. (47-11935)

The second volume of the letters of Franklin Delano Roosevelt spans the years 1905 to 1928. It begins with his honeymoon, covers his years as Assistant Secretary of the navy, his illness, and ends with his election as governor of New York state in 1928. Index.

Booklist 45:157 Ja 1 '49

"Uninspiring as they are individually, these letters and the editor's running comment do add up to quite a picture of the man." E. S. S.

Commonweal 49:382 Ja 21 '49 230w

"Definitely, a book for public libraries."

+ Kirkus 16:564 O 15 '48 210w

Reviewed by Anne Whitmore

Library J 73:1664 N 15 '48 130w

"This second installment of his personal letters . . . embraces the period of FDR's real education. That fact alone is an adequate guarantee of interest. For, in view of the social consequences that it generated, FDR's education can be reckoned as one of the major influences on the life of our times." Lloyd Morris

+ New Repub 119:23 D 27 '48 1450w

"There is a wealth of interesting and enormously valuable material in this book, but most of the letters themselves lack the particular fascination of those in the earlier volume." R. E. Sherwood

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 D 12 '48 1350w

"'Personal Letters' is perhaps not an altogether happy term for these volumes: 'family letters' might be more exact. Almost all the letters are from Roosevelt to his wife, mother or children. Even in an age which leaves so little time for the amenities, Franklin Roosevelt must have carried on more of a 'personal' correspondence with friends. But this question of nomenclature is the only serious complaint to be lodged against the editorial work of Elliott Roosevelt and his assistant, James Rosenau. The notes identifying the people or events mentioned in the correspondence are models of their kind—concise, informative and accurate; and the regularization of spelling and punctuation, though it may dismay the technician, does not distract from the flavor of the letters." A. M. Schlesinger, Jr.

ROOSEVELT, F. D.—Continued

+ N Y Times p3 N 28 '48 1600w

New Yorker 24:58 D 25 '48 120w

ROSE, ARNOLD. The Negro in America. See Myrdal, Gunnar, and others

ROSE, BILLY (WILLIAM SAMUEL ROSENBERG). Wine, women and words; il. by Salvador Dali. 295p $3; pa $1 Simon & Schuster

818 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-9238

Stories about the author's friends, Broadway, running a night club, gangsters, racketeers, and about his own life, and Eleanor Holm, the famous swimmer, who is now Mrs. Rose. Much of the material is from the author's syndicated column, which appeared first in PM, and more recently in the New York Herald Tribune. No index.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 183:83 Ja '49 450w

Booklist 45:117 D 1 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun N 8 '48 450w

"Salvador Dali has illustrated the book with a fine fellow feeling for Mr. Rose's prose. Whoever likes a bit of dreaming with his drawings will find that Dali's are dillies." Rod Nordell

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 9 '48 490w

"Too colorful at times, better take in small doses for appreciation of occasional beauty, emotional quality, poignance. He likes himself, and readers will like him."

+ — Kirkus 16:592 N 1 '48 90w

"Now and then he stops for some serious Thoughts on Life, and they are all right, too; if not one with Pascal's they come from a heart that is in the right place. As a showman and even as a writer, Mr. Barnum's latter-day representative is in a noble tradition; brisk, shrewd, and filled with no more hokum than the law allows. You don't have to believe everything you read in his book, but you are apt to enjoy it all." J. K. Hutchens

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 O 31 '48 600w

"It is a readable affair." Lewis Nichols

+ N Y Times p38 N 7 '48 410w

Reviewed by Paul Speegle
San Francisco Chronicle p11 N 7 '48 750w

"Whether writing soft stories about life with Mr. Baruch, tender tales about his kindly neighbors, or classic anecdotes about showfolk, Billy Rose writes a racy, punchy prose. I don't at all know whether it is reflective of his personality, but he comes over like a fast-talking, wise Broadway guy with a good heart." Horace Sutton

+ Sat R of Lit 31:48 D 4 '48 500w

Reviewed by Robert Garland
Theatre Arts 33:80 Ja '49 180w

"When Billy grabs the spotlight for himself, he falls into the most hoary and outrageous of clichés. . . But when all this is said, it must be added that Billy is almost always readable, which is the prime necessity for a writer."

+ — Time 52:113 N 15 '48 700w

ROSEN, EDWARD. Naming of the telescope; foreword by Harlow Shapley. 110p il $2.50 Schuman

522.2 Telescope 47-11343

An account of the scientific and intellectual life of Renaissance Italy, and an investigation of the origin of the name telescope. The author has based his study on books and correspondence of three and a half centuries ago. Index.

N Y New Tech Bks 33:28 Ja '48

School & Society 66:351 N 1 '47 20w

ROSEN, GEORGE, and ROSEN, BEATE CASPARI, eds. 400 years of a doctor's life. 429p $5 Schuman

926.1 Physicians—Biography Med47-2493

Excerpts from the autobiographies of prominent physicians of the last four hundred years, arranged under the following headings: Early years; School days; The medical student; The practice of medicine; Scientist, scholar, teacher; The doctor marries; The doctor as patient; The doctor goes to war; Writing and politics; Reflections on life and death. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:216 F 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja 1 '48

Kirkus 15:522 S 15 '47 120w

"This book is more than mere excerpts from physicians' lives; it is an insight into the times in which they lived: from the boastings of Paracelsus (whose real name was actually Theophrastus Bombastus von Hohenheim) to the now famous work of Dr. Gordon Seagrave in Burma. . . '400 Years of a Doctor's Life' gives you 'the full figure of a man of medicine' and a swift survey of medical discovery, in itself no small accomplishment." F. G. Slaughter

+ N Y Times p14 Ja 18 '48 550w

"All compilers run the risk of being criticized for what they include and for what they omit. Such criticisms are usually idle, and to the Doctors Rosen one may well be content to remain grateful for an arduous job carried out with taste and discrimination." Bertram Lewin

+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 Ap 10 '48 700w

"The excerpts are brief, as are the introductory paragraphs. Nevertheless it is possible to get a good general idea of medical education during the past four centuries, as well as insight into the other activities of physicians and an inkling of what goes on within their minds. The Rosens' opus has considerable value for the prospective medical student, for the student of education, and for the lay reader." W. W. Brickman

+ School & Society 67:171 F 28 '48 220w

ROSENBERG, JAKOB. Rembrandt. 2v $18.50 Harvard univ. press

759.9492 Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn 48-8285

Volume I contains a brief "life" followed by chapters on Rembrandt's art and works: Portraiture; Landscape; Biblical subjects; Genre, mythology, and history; Rembrandt in his century; Style and technique. Volume I also contains Bibliography, concordance and indices. Volume II contains the plates, black and white reproductions. The author "is a lifelong Rembrandt scholar, former Curator of the Print Room of the Berlin State Museum, and now Professor of Fine Arts and Curator of the Print Department at the Fogg Museum at Harvard University." (N Y Times)

"A very special event for art lovers, perhaps the first comprehensive study of Rembrandt that is both scholarly and readable." O. D. Hormel

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 90w

Reviewed by Dorothy Adlow
Christian Science Monitor p15 D 2 '48 90w

"Definitive; recommended." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 73:1596 N 1 '48 130w

"Mr. Rosenberg, with no intention of competing with the super-erudition of the one and only von Bode, or with Wölfflin, or even Valentiner, and without diluting the fruits of his scholarship for the convenience of sprint-readers, has produced the most satisfactorily rounded and comprehensive work in our language; in fact, the only work of its kind in English. The value of his contribution is not to be sought in the quality of the writing; for stylistically his paragraphs seldom rise above academic competence, even when challenged by situations which lift a more gifted writer into a state of ecstasy. But in general plan, its excellence in all departments, and its intelligent views on every aspect of Rembrandt's life and art, it is certainly a work of distinction." Thomas Craven

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ja 2 '49 1000w

Reviewed by G. P. du Bois

N Y Times p36 O 31 '48 400w

"A masterpiece of lucidity, comprehensiveness and unassuming scholarship." Alfred Frankenstein

+ San Francisco Chronicle p23 O 10 '48 650w

ROSENBERGER, FRANCIS COLEMAN, ed. Virginia reader; a treasury of writings from the first voyages to the present; ed. with an introd. and notes by [the editor]. 576p $5 Dutton

810.8 American literature—Collections. American literature—Virginia 48-9271

First of a projected series of regional readers. The editor has included only material concerned with the state of Virginia. Beginning with some narratives of sixteenth-century explorers, he continues with excerpts from the writings of Virginians such as Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry, down to Woodrow Wilson, and other recent writers. Index of authors.

Booklist 45:119 D 1 '48

"This sets a high standard for subsequent Readers."

+ Kirkus 16:470 S 1 '48 150w

"Recommended." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 73:1593 N 1 '48 70w

"It is a notable reader to be read with as much profit as pleasure." E. H. Smith

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 21 '48 550w

"A good many of the selections are all too little known, out of print, or difficult to obtain. A graduate of the University of Virginia, Mr. Rosenberger is in his own right both a perceptive poet and a discriminating critic. In his 'Virginia Reader' he has struck a happy balance between the familiar and the unfamiliar, between the traditional and the uncommon." William Peden

+ N Y Times p44 N 28 '48 800w

"A good, thoughtful job."

+ New Yorker 24:167 N 20 '48 120w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman

Sat R of Lit 32:31 Ja 15 '49 90w

ROSENFARB, JOSEPH. Freedom and the administrative state. 274p $4 Harper

320.15 State, The. Liberty. Public administration 48-6309

It is the author's thesis that the next phase in our development is a planned economy, and that we can choose whether to make the administrative state dictatorial, or free and democratic. The book is divided into four sections: The genesis and evolution of the administrative state; Freedom and democracy in the administrative state; Labor relations in the administrative state; Law and government in the administrative state. At the end the administrative state is justified on political grounds. Index.

"This volume is not for immature students, and even scientists will need to use it with caution. It does render a useful service in emphasizing the necessity of preventing strikes and lockouts in a highly interdependent economy such as ours; in discussing serious problems concerning mass communications; and, along with many other works, in stressing the need for comprehensive economic planning." Seba Eldridge

Am J Soc 54:268 N '48 1400w

"Mr. Rosenfarb draws conclusions with assurance in a most difficult field... Often he resorts to the word 'should.'.. The experienced reader will want more profound suggestions, to be offered only after wrestling with the manifold forces that operate in our world. Mr. Rosenfarb's opinions are generally interesting, but unconvincing because they are too thinly supported. Still, the whole question of how to adjust with freedom to the administrative state is so significant that it is encouraging to see this book appear. The more discussion of the subject, the better for our understanding of this basic issue of contemporary development in government." J. L. McCamy

+ — Am Pol Sci R 42:985 O '48 850w

Reviewed by Oswald Knauth

Ann Am Acad 259:179 S '48 400w

Booklist 44:332 Je 1 '48

"Comprehensive if one-sided and controversial presentation of an economic idea."

Kirkus 16:39 Ja 15 '48 180w

Reviewed by J. F. Wolpert

Nation 167:240 Ag 28 '48 700w

"Aside from Mr. Rosenfarb's frequently irrelevant outbursts about Russia, he has presented a sound, if derivative, case for a dynamic, democratic administrative state functioning within the framework of private enterprise. The thing is, will it work?" H. J. Bresler

+ — N Y Times p12 My 9 '48 470w

Reviewed by J. D. Millett

Pol Sci Q 63:447 S '48 900w

"Mr. Rosenfarb with this book joins the school of economic and administrative thought led by Herman Finer, Barbara Wooton, and John Maurice Clark. His book has the great merit of posing some of the most significant probems of our day directly and provocatively." M. R. Konvitz

+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ag 28 '48 650w

ROSENTHAL, RUDOLPH, and RATZKA, HELENA L. (WILLIAMS). Story of modern applied art. 208p il $5 Harper

745 Design, Industrial. Art industries and trade 48-9138

Study of the modern art movement in home furnishings, in both Europe and the United States, from the revolt of Ruskin in England (about 1850) to the beginning of World war II. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:154 Ja 1 '49

Kirkus 16:591 N 1 '48 120w

"A most readable, most adequately illustrated book... A joy to one's memory if that is long or a fillip to one's understanding of the dear—fortunately dead—past. Recommended." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 74:62 Ja 1 '49 130w

"A lack of discrimination in the author's appraisal of the work of contemporary designers somewhat mars an informative and well-organized book."

+ — New Yorker 24:183 D 4 '48 80w

"Hundreds of excellent photographs point up this study of functional art design and its 100-year battle with the overly decorative." E. J.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p20 D 5 '48 90w

ROSMOND, BABETTE. Party for grownups. 206p $2.75 Dutton

47-12528

Novel about a doctor married to a dull wife who spends a week in New York with another woman, while his wife takes a home beauty course. Neither is successful.

"For women with worldier tastes, this has a bitter smartness."

Kirkus 15:608 N 1 '47 150w

ROSMOND, BABETTE—Continued
"Author writes a few paragraphs on immaturity in love affairs, but fails to lift book out of run-of-the-mill story." M. P. McKay
— Library J 72:1686 D 1 '47 70w

"A book for grownups with a taste for raffish dialogue and sophisticated situations." Rose Feld
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ja 18 '48 280w

"The book is centered, hinged and joined about [an] amour—and short and objective as it is, it does not quite come off as satire. Miss Rosmond does not poke fun at her principal characters. She describes their tortured reactions without being able to put her finger on the source of their immaturity. Yet her people, morally unattractive, physically passable and mentally vague, command the reader's attention." B. V. W.
— + N Y Times p22 Ja 11 '48 400w

ROSS, ARTHUR MAX. Trade union wage policy. 133p $3; pa $2 Univ. of Calif.
331.2 Trade unions. Wages 48-7683

Study of some of less well-known factors in collective bargaining, written from the viewpoint of the union leader. No index.

"Many economists will look with some disapproval upon Ross's institutional approach, others will disagree with his conclusions. But no economist interested in wages can safely ignore his work. The results of the further investigations which he promises will be awaited with widespread interest." W. S. Hopkins
+ Am Econ R 38:979 D '48 700w

"The book is an exceptionally stimulating and excellent study of one phase of union activity, which may be described as collective bargaining as a means of union survival and status." Witt Bowden
+ Ann Am Acad 260:229 N '48 360w

Booklist 45:6 S 1 '48

ROSS, DIANA, pseud. See Denney, D.

ROSS, MALCOLM HARRISON. All manner of men. 314p $3.50 Reynal
331.11 Discrimination in employment. Negroes—Employment 48-1302

A review of racial prejudice in the United States from 1741 to the present, with emphasis on the President's Fair Employment Practices committee during the last war. The author who was chairman of the F.E.P.C. during its final three war years, is in favor of founding a permanent board. No index.

"In its recourse to historical events, this study unfortunately leaves much to be desired. But as an unemotional, popular account of the struggle for the FEPC, it has little competition in its field." Leonard Stavisky
+ — Am Econ R 38:709 S '48 1200w

Reviewed by E. A. Weber
Am Pol Sci R 42:831 Ag '48 380w

"This book is a moving, human document on the subject of race relations. The author writes with intensity of feeling and a flair for dramatic presentation. Unfortunately, the material is not well organized. As a logical presentation, it lacks continuity and, therefore, loses much of its force. At times the style gives an impression of a jumbled movie script, flash-back technique and all." Paul Pigors
+ — Ann Am Acad 258:167 Jl '48 650w

Booklist 44:263 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by Louis Wirth
Chicago Sun Je 9 '48 650w

"All Manner of Men is not just another in the growing list of books on intergroup relations. For one thing, it has a refreshing, lusty style. Second, it is as timely as this morning's revolt on civil rights. Ross has provided an important document for churchmen who, though pretty much failing to lessen employment discrimination in their own institutions, are perhaps the group, together with labor leaders, most united—on a top level, with the south dissenting—for a federal fair employment practices act." H. A. Jack
+ Christian Century 65:545 Je 2 '48 700w

Reviewed by Roland Sawyer
Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 8 '48 850w

Reviewed by A. W. Taylor
Churchman 162:17 My 1 '48 240w

"It is to be hoped that American Catholics will take the lead in pushing vigorously for effective legislation to eliminate an evil which is at once a serious violation of justice and charity. 'All Manner of Men' will provide them with all the material they need for study clubs and for intelligent letters to their congressmen." G. G. Higgins
+ Commonweal 47:618 Ap 9 '48 600w

Kirkus 16:12 Ja 1 '48 150w

"This readable book should be interesting even to those who disagree with its major premises and conclusions." L. D. Reddick
+ Library J 73:333 F 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Bucklin Moon
Nation 167:135 Jl 31 '48 320w

Reviewed by Bucklin Moon
New Repub 118:19 Ap 12 '48 400w

"An intelligent administrator with a decade of experience in two stormy agencies, the National Labor Relations Board and F.E.P.C., Mr. Ross has some interesting things to say about bureaucracy, the relation of administrative agencies to the Legislature, and American social life. There is much to learn and ponder in this popularly-written and well thought-out book about one phase of civil rights, a problem to which the American people and their government are giving more and more attention." Morroe Berger
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Mr 7 '48 700w

"Malcolm Ross bore the brunt of coarse and brutal attacks for what he was trying to do during the final two hard years of war and one hard year of peace. He might be excused for some bitterness. As a matter of fact this is not a bitter and never an unreasonable book. . . An American who believes fair play is in the American tradition, however long and often violated, will be more hopeful after reading Mr. Ross' book." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p1 F 29 '48 1850w

Reviewed by H. R. Northrup
Sat R of Lit 31:11 Mr 27 '48 800w

School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 10w

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Survey G 37:277 My '48 360w

ROSS, MARGARET ISABEL. Green treasure; il. by Anne Merriman Peck. 173p $2.50 Harper
48-7169

Story for boys about a teen-aged boy who is determined to become a plant explorer. A chance to go as mess boy on an exploration cruise to the Dutch West Indies gives him his start.

Booklist 44:371 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun Ag 21 '48 500w

"I don't know when I have found such a skillful blending of fascinating information and a good story as I did in Green Treasure." H. F. Griswold
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 S 9 '48 210w

"I believe many boys and girls will read the book for its truth to life, its human interest and the hilarity of the situations presented. They are convincing situations because they are natural. . . Green Treasure well deserves a place of honor among recent books for boys and girls of junior high and high school age." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 24:268 Jl '48 240w

"A great deal of fascinating information about food plants may be found in Green Treasure; at the same time it is a stirring story, never dull." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:277 Jl '48 80w

"This is unique, a good story, with sound scientific background. Even the technical footnotes which would slow up the story for some readers provide added value for young scientists. Anne Merriman Peck's illustrations in line haven't quite the pointed quality one associates with her work."
+ Kirkus 16:256 Je 1 '48 170w

"A very readable story with a lot of humor in plot and dialogue. Although its main characters are boys and men, and it is predominantly a boy's book, many girls will like it. The interesting illustrations are by Anne Merriman Peck, who knows these scenes." Irmengarde Eberle
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk p8 Jl 25 '48 300w

"The adventures themselves, usually precipitated by a comedy-relief pet monkey, are pretty heavy sugar-coating for the book's serious purpose. However, plant-loving readers will find much of interest here." N. B. Baker
N Y Times p19 Jl 11 '48 110w
New Yorker 24:135 D 11 '48 90w

ROSS, MRS PATRICIA (FENT). Magic forest; il. by Carlos Mérida. 128p $2.50 Knopf 48-7505

"This is the story of the orphaned Perez twins, Coco and Concha, who were washing vegetables in the market place for Mrs. Gonzalez when a strange little man in green lured them away. In the coolness of a lovely forest the little man became even smaller, as small, in fact, as an elf. And then their adventures with elves and fairies and the animals that lived in this strange forest began." Sat R of Lit

"A disturbing fairy tale for the five and six year olds; older children will find it enjoyable in somewhat the manner of the Wilde tales. Carlos Merida illustrations give a Mexican flavor, with their bold open line technique and gay flat color."
+ — Kirkus 16:307 Jl 1 '48 130w

"This modern fairy tale is original and has charm, but a certain amount of realism about animals eating other animals may be too sad for some sympathetic readers." J. E. Lynch
+ — Library J 74:66 Ja 1 '49 80w

"The 'make-believe' feeling of the text is enhanced by charming color-drawings by Carlos Merida, and the tale itself will appeal greatly to 8- and 9-year-olds, but this reviewer regrets the somewhat cynical 'realism' in the animal associations." M. Z. Brown
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p18 N 28 '48 350w

"There is some charm in this fairy tale with a Mexican background, and some amusing analogies, but it grows a bit dull and monotonous at times. It lacks the roundness and substance of convincing fairy lore." R. H. Viguers
— + Sat R of Lit 31:37 O 16 '48 250w

"Strikes a nice balance between realism and the land of make-believe."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:186 N '48

ROSS, SAM. Someday, boy. 340p $3.50 Farrar, Straus
48-2170

Novel about a tough young man from the slums of Chicago, in the days just before the depression.

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Chicago Sun Ap 11 '48 310w

"Without the hell-and-gunfire of He Ran All The Way [Book Review Digest 1947] but still in that vein and vernacular. . . There's a certain authenticity of character here, if you can bear with it."
Kirkus 16:63 F 1 '48 160w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 60w

"Its too bad that Mr. Ross, having already proved his vitality as a writer, should have fallen back this time on nothing but background. Somehow he has overlooked his theme. It is almost for nothing that Benny's father keeps repeating, like a litany, 'This is your America son.'" Florence Crowther
— N Y Times p21 My 2 '48 490w

"Mr. Ross tells the familiar story competently but hasn't introduced any new departures, unless you regard as an innovation the fact that the hero, after coming off second best in a shady real-estate transaction, decides to marry his childhood sweetheart and get out of town."
New Yorker 24:103 Ap 24 '48 80w

ROSS, ZOLA HELEN. One corpse missing. 236p $2.50 Bobbs
48-5340

Detective story.

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 F 29 '48 100w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 F 15 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Mr 7 '48 80w

"Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 14 '48 50w
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 4 '48 110w

ROSSITER, CLINTON LAWRENCE. Constitutional dictatorship; crisis government in the modern democracies. 332p $5 Princeton univ. press
321.8 War and emergency powers. Dictators
48-7284

"The author believes that democracies must turn to some form of dictatorship in times of crisis to survive. He discusses ancient Roman dictatorship, and then the history of the governments of France, Great Britain, the German Republic of 1919-1933, and the United States, considered in terms of period of stress. In all of the democracies studied there were times in which the head of state approached the status of dictator." Current Hist

"Though it is not the definitive treatise on a fascinating subject, the book, distinguished by learning and considerable ability in handling technically complex material, is a definite enrichment of political literature if for no other reasons than for having assembled the widely scattered legislative and jurisprudential facts. Political scientists will be indebted to the author for assistance both in teaching and in research." Karl Loewenstein
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1006 O '48 1600w

Reviewed by C. W. Shull
Ann Am Acad 260:198 N '48 380w
Booklist 45:45 O 1 '48
Current Hist 15:103 Ag '48 70w

"Rossiter's analysis is not exactly optimistic, for those whose beliefs are rooted deep in the heritage of American ways. But at least he sees a hope that some vestige of our way of life may be preserved—provided we are courageous enough to realize in time that some democratic procedures may have to be sacrificed if the whole fabric of democracy is not to be sundered under the atomic blasts." H. E. Salisbury
N Y Times p3 Ag 8 '48 900w

"This is a valuable contribution to what is perhaps the most important problem of our age. Happily, the presentation is worthy of the subject. The prose is easy, urbane, unpedantic, and the importance of Mr. Rossiter's argument is brought home by its clear, calm, balanced, and thoughtful statement." Garrett Mattingly
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 Ag 28 '48 850w

ROSSITER, C. L.—Continued

"To English eyes the argument must seem unnecessarily complicated. . . However, the greater part of the book is not argumentative but descriptive, reviewing, fairly fully, experience of crisis government in the Roman Republic, Weimar Germany, pre-1940 France, Great Britain and America. There is little here that is new, but each account is well presented and documented, and it is useful to have the information collected under one cover." Wilfrid Harrison

+ — Spec 181:380 S 17 '48 450w

ROSSKAM, EDWIN, and ROSSKAM, LOUISE. Towboat river [with 244 illustrations]. 295p $7.50 Duell

917.7 Mississippi river. Ohio river. Tugboats 48-6014

Documentary book about towboats on the Mississippi, Ohio, and tributary rivers. The authors, who are prize-winning photographers, lived on the towboats for months while they were taking their pictures and notes and making recordings of the rivermen's talk by Soundscriber.

Booklist 44:267 Ap 1 '48

"This is a fine book to look at and to read. It truthfully and beautifully records both the facts and feelings of towboating. It faithfully and suggestively documents one of the many little world's within the big world of modern industrialism." R. H. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p20 Mr 19 '48 600w

Kirkus 16:106 F 15 '48 210w

Reviewed by Walter Havighurst

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Mr 28 '48 950w

"Anyone who has ever ridden a towboat will recognize at once the authenticity as well as the beauty of this documentary book. . . It's all here, from the teeth-shaking vibration of the egg-beaters (propellers to the laymen) to the beauty of sunset, the lonesome time, when a man's thoughts turn to his home on the land, while the bank martins come out to dip and dart after the bugs. . . The authors have edited with skill and written with colloquial eloquence." Horace Reynolds

+ N Y Times p5 Mr 14 '48 1150w

" 'Towboat River' deserves a place on your bookshelf alongside 'Life on the Mississippi.' It is a magnificent bit of Americana, a serious study of a regional way of life carefully documented faithfully produced. The pictures and text are so skillfully knit together that it is impossible to know whether to classify the volume as a perfect example of an illustrated book or a perfect example of a picture book with text. But, at any rate, 'perfect' is the proper adjective." E. V.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 Mr 28 '48 400w

Reviewed by Paul Lorentz

Sat R Lit 31:45 Je 5 '48 600w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 11 '48 90w

ROSTOW, EUGENE VICTOR. National policy for the oil industry. 173p $2.50 Yale univ. press

338.476655 Petroleum industry and trade 48-5315

"The purpose of this study is to investigate the forces which determine the level of prices and output in the petroleum industry; to examine the functioning of the system of law which defines public policy towards that industry which might be pursued in the national interest. . . The concern of the inquiry, moreover, is not only to analyze the petroleum industry for its own sake, but to weigh in this important instance the practical applicability of more general hypotheses about desirable national policy for the organization of industry." (Pref) Table of cases. Index.

Reviewed by M. W. Watkins

Am Econ R 38:697 S '48 850w

"Notwithstanding [some] defects, it is a valuable case-study in public policy. . . The author's sophisticated analysis of the existing system of legal and industrial controls is in sharp contrast with his readiness to accept at face value the theoretical benefits of competition." H. L. Elsbree

+ — Am Pol Sci R 42:577 Je '48 750w

"The pattern set by Dr. Rostov is noteworthy. Every page of his study demonstrates that he has meticulously examined and weighed the voluminous documentary record of the oil industry. But he does not pad his account with erudite exfoliations of detail. Instead, he presents a well-balanced and judicious summary, giving ample footnote references so that those inclined to disagree can verify or disprove the matter in point. He does not straddle academic fences, but comes to definite, incisive conclusions." T. J. Kreps

+ Ann Am Acad 259:189 S '48 650w

"Being technically legal and economic in its analysis of the industry, the study is of primary value to lawyers and economists in the industry itself and in the legislative and judicial branches of the government. But because the objective of the research is the social and political results of industrial organization the study will interest all who are concerned with the security and welfare of the nation and the individual." H. C. Parmelee

+ Chem Eng 55:332 My '48 400w

"The general application of Professor Rostow's proposals to American industry would bring about a revolutionary change in our economic organization, and courts are not easily persuaded to support revolutions. It is appropriate to ask, not as criticism but as speculation, how well Professor Rostow's suggestions fit the temper of our times. This reviewer's guess is that they fit poorly." S. S. Alexander

Harvard Law R 61:1088 Je '48 2250w

ROTH, CECIL. House of Nasi: Doña Gracia. 208p il $3 Jewish pub.

B or 92 Mendesia, Gracia. Maranos 48-2008

"The noted historian, Cecil Roth, presents in this volume the first full-length biography of Dona Gracia in the English language. He traces her career from its beginnings among the Marranos of Portugal and from her rise to financial power in Antwerp, through her wanderings to escape the Inquisition and return to the faith of her fathers, down to her declining years as 'the Crowned Lady,' the dominant personality in Jewish affairs in the Turkish Empire. . . Inevitably, Dr Roth also tells the story of her generation and of the intense struggle which the secret Jews (Marranos) of the 16th century waged for freedom of conscience." (Publisher's note) A later volume will tell of the career of Doña Gracia's nephew, the Duke of Naxos. Bibliography.

"This ably written biography is not only good Jewish history but also good European history from an unfamiliar angle." W. E. G.

+ Christian Century 65:734 Jl 21 '48 80w

"Dr. Roth, an English Jew and an authority in Jewish history in Italy and Spain, is an outstanding historian. He is an engaging writer, master of a swift moving, even dramatic style. His characterizations are excellent. His development of his theme is well organized and clear." M. J. Cohen

+ Crozer Q 26:74 Ja '49 1000w

"Those who like to make history assignments more interesting by focusing on well-written biographies will find Roth's treatment of inestimable value." J. S. Roucek

+ Social Studies 39:373 D '48 360w

ROTHENBERG, IGNAZ. The newspaper; a study in the workings of the daily press and its laws. 351p $5.50 Staples press, inc, 70 E. 45th st, N.Y. 17

351.751 Press law [47-22440]

"Mr. Rothenberg giv[illegible] an exhaustively documented account of the shortcomings of the Press and of the regulations which, in all parts of the world, are designed to check them. His researches roam from China to Peru, and he presents an impressive collection of pains and penalties imposed on journalists who stray from the paths laid down for them in their various countries." Times [London] Lit Sup

---

"This valuable book was first published in London in 1946, and has now been reissued in the United States with some emendations. . . The author's wide familiarity with continental conditions has enabled him to make an excellent comparative study of press laws; so far as I know, there is nothing in English to approach it. Lawyers who act for or against newspapers and laymen who work on newspapers will learn much from its readable pages. . . The real importance of this book, however, lies in the opportunity given to the reader to see the great variety of treatment which the problems raised by the press have received at different times and places. A particular solution familiar to us in the United States is readily assumed to be the only solution, but here we find all sorts of different solutions adopted in other nations." Zechariah Chafee

+ Harvard Law R 61:741 Ap '48 2150w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p9 D 26 '48 180w

"English-language studies of comparative law and comparative journalism are conspicuously few, so that a book which undertakes the study of comparative journalistic law is doubly welcome. [This book] is a pioneer work, and fortunately is broad in its appeal rather than overly specialized. While its primary usefulness is for the student of jurisprudence or journalism, it is at the same time one of the few scholarly investigations we have of the press as a social instrument in various countries of the world." W. F. Swindler

+ Pol Sci Q 62:632 D '47 700w

"This is a publication one would wish to speak well of. It is obviously the fruit of immense industry, and the writer, who is presumably a lawyer—there is no indication that he ever worked on a newspaper—has constructed a slagheap into which many subsequent authors are likely to drive their spades. . . If Dr. Rothenberg's book had been reduced to half its length by the excision of matter of secondary or less than secondary importance, and put into normal English by a competent English collaborator, it would have had much more than doubled its value." H. W. H.

Spec 178:148 Ja 31 '47 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p136 Mr 29 '47 160w

ROTHENSTEIN, MICHAEL. Looking at paintings. 64p il $2.50 Macmillan

750.7 Paintings, English. Art—Study and teaching [47-28522]

Analyses of twenty contemporary English paintings, all of which are reproduced here. Includes some comments by the artists themselves.

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '48

Reviewed by A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:559 Ap 1 '48 90w

"The choice of pictures reveals a taste at once catholic and discriminating; the only fault of the well-written and intelligent analyses is that they are too short; and the book can be warmly recommended to those who are learning to be interested in pictures. The reproductions are in colour, doubtless usefully for the author's purpose, but the results are as usual mostly unfortunate—in the Matthew Smith, quite calumnious. It is curious that Mr. Rothenstein who is so responsive to virtues and vices of composition should have picked, to represent his own often well designed work, a picture that gallops northwest with no regard for equilibrium."

+ — New Statesman & Nation 34:98 Ag 2 '47 120w

"There are two very good paintings in this collection and, if I am right, one that is even better. It comes as no surprise to discover that they are respectively by Wyndham Lewis, Victor Passmore and the late Paul Nash. Mr. Rothenstein's commentaries are as civilised and sensitive as one would expect." Lawrence Gowing

+ Spec 179:602 N 7 '47 650w

"Mr. Rothenstein's little book is full of useful technical information. . . The book is enlivened by a selection of extracts from letters, writings, notebooks and journals by contemporary painters."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p536 O 18 '47 480w

ROTHERY, AGNES EDWARDS (MRS H. P. PRATT). Iceland, new world outpost. 214p il $3.75 Viking

914.91 Iceland 48-7419

The last volume in the author's Scandinavian series. It describes the physical features of the country, the government, the customs, the cities, arts and crafts and the present political and economic trends. Chronological outline of Icelandic history. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:380 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 21 '48 480w

Current Hist 15:227 O '48 80w

Kirkus 16:226 My 1 '48 120w

"Delightful. Recommended." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 18 '48 550w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 19 '48 450w

"It's going to be a long time before Iceland achieves the popularity of, say, Cape Cod, but here is Agnes Rothery all ready with a good, readable travel book just in case."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Ag 21 '48 90w

Springf'd Republican p15A Ag 1 '48 330w

ROTHERY, AGNES EDWARDS (MRS H. R. PRATT) Iceland roundabout; il. by George Gray. 199p maps $2.75 Dodd

914.91 Iceland—Juvenile literature 48-8674

Story of Iceland and its people, stressing the social, economic, and cultural history. Includes translations of some Icelandic folktales. For age ten and older. Index.

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48

"Readable and well presented. . . Recommended for grade five and up." M. J. Meade

+ Library J 73:1674 N 15 '48 70w

"It makes no pretense at inclusiveness or detailed description; but it manages in small space to give the flavor of land and literature and to whet the appetite for more information about this neighbor." M. C. S.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 N 14 '48 200w

"Simple writing and narrative carry-over from chapter to chapter help readers to feel well acquainted with the geography, history, folklore and national attitudes of this interesting country." C. E. Zagat

+ N Y Times p41 N 7 '48 180w

"An interesting and informing story."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:52 N 13 '48 40w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

ROTHFELS, HANS. German opposition to Hitler; an appraisal. 172p $2.50 Regnery

943.086 Germany—Nazi movement. Germany—Politics and government 48-3753

"An analysis of the Resistance movement in Germany that culminated in the attempt on Hitler's life in July, 1944. Professor Rothfels, a German now teaching in the United States, has drawn on the published accounts of the revolt as well as on his own knowledge of its background to reach his conclusion, which is that the plot, far from being a mere palace revolution among disgruntled military men, was a genuine effort, inspired by religious scruples, to destroy Fascism and to restore the dignity of the German people." (New Yorker) Index.

ROTHFELS, HANS—Continued

Reviewed by R. G. Neumann
Am Pol Sci R 42:1032 O '48 400w

"As far as this reviewer knows, this is the first attempt to give a coherent and comprehensive picture of the resistance movement inside Germany. The author acknowledges that he has drawn heavily on sources that are already familiar. One of the best features of this book is the way the author has collected material from many scattered publications and has arranged them coherently with the proper historical background. Even so, the collection is incomplete." W. F. Sollmann
+ Ann Am Acad 259:174 S '48 320w

"Recommended as interesting and instructive chapters of contemporary history." John Fermatt
+ Cath World 167:572 S '48 210w

Reviewed by Henry Sowerby
Christian Science Monitor p16 Jl 10 '48 180w

Current Hist 15:226 O '48 100w

Manchester Guardian p3 D 28 '48 120w

New Yorker 24:72 Je 17 '48 120w

"What we want to know is how the German people managed to put up with Hitler. Dr. Hans Rothfels, formerly of the University of Koenigsberg and now professor of history at the University of Chicago, throws more light on that question than any other writer in the English language. His monograph has all the scholarly virtues: it is comprehensive, detailed, and judicious in the treatment of conflicting materials. It will probably be the most complete narrative of the German resistance for a long time to come." Asher Brynes
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 Ag 7 '48 360w

School & Society 68:64 Jl 24 '48 30w

Reviewed by Donald Derby
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 170w

ROUCEK, JOSEPH SLABEY. Balkan politics; international relations in no man's land. 298p maps $3.50 Stanford univ. press

949.6 Balkan states. Eastern question (Balkan) 48-7087

"History of each of the Balkan countries reviewed to show political currents and events. This is a complete revision of the author's Politics of the Balkans [Book Review Digest 1939] brought up to date. Professor Roucek, (Hofstra), presents facts and deductions to offer a complete picture of the trouble spot of Europe." (Current Hist) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"It is a useful reference work as it provides a very considerable amount of information on the geography, economics, and politics of the Balkan countries. Unfortunately its value is seriously impaired by a multitude of errors apparently due to haste. In the chapter on Greece, for example, the description of the establishment of the Metaxas dictatorship is misleading. . . The book also is marred by an artificial journalese that takes the form at times of awkward, involved sentences and such phrases as 'a terrific beating in the press.' . . The author's interpretations are orthodox and acceptable except for the exaggerated emphasis placed upon the role of personalities. . . Finally the one chapter on Balkan diplomacy is insufficient to do justice to the subject." L. S. Stavrianos
+ — Am Hist R 54:362 Ja '49 600w

Reviewed by E. C. Helmreich
Am Pol Sci R 42:827 Ag '48 450w

"The book is provided with good maps, and each chapter is followed by short critical biographies. The book will continue to serve as a highly useful work of reference, besides being very good reading matter." Emil Lengyel
+ Ann Am Acad 259:175 S '48 400w

Current Hist 15:101 Ag '48 40w

"His treatment, particularly of the period after World War II, suffers seriously from the author's apparent dependence on newspaper stories and secondary sources in English, French and German. Roucek's effort to be fair to all sides, though generally successful, has at times unwittingly led him to be unfair to the reader. . . Still such faults should not obstruct recognition of the fact that Professor Roucek has on the whole fulfilled his introductory promise to present the facts of Balkan politics 'fairly and interestingly'. Though his treatment of the period after World War II is disappointingly sketchy, it does offer a usable synthesis the value of which is enhanced by the rareness of more adequate accounts." M. B. Petrovich
+ — Pol Sci Q 63:615 D '48 1000w

School & Society 67:448 Je 12 '48 20w

ROUCEK, JOSEPH SLABEY, ed. Social control. 584p $5 Van Nostrand

301.1523 Sociology 47-4717

"Designed to serve as an introductory text for courses in social control and in introductory courses to sociology and social psychology." School & Society

---

"Fills a distinct need in the field. . . In general the book is well-organized, although in Part III chapters on language, art, literature and recreation are thrown together with discussion of violent and non-violent means of control, leadership, secret societies, economic and social planning, without any clear systematic arrangement. Some of these topics would be better placed in the last section, which is a catch-all discussion of those contemporary problems of social control involving charismatic leadership and the totalitarian ways of life. As a whole, the book is very useful, being particularly rich in material." G. S. Delatour
+ — Am Soc R 13:238 Ap '48 700w

School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 20w

ROUMAGNAC, ROGER. France: Paris and the provinces. See Ogrizek, D., ed.

ROUNDS, GLEN. Stolen pony; il. by [the author]. 154p $2 Holiday

Horses—Legends and stories. Dogs—Legends and stories 48-8402

Continues the story begun in the author's The Blind Colt (Book Review Digest 1941). When the pony was stolen from the ranch, the dog who had guarded him followed. The thieves turned the pony loose when they discovered he was blind, and together the two animals made their way back to the ranch thru almost incredible hardships.

Booklist 45:145 D 15 '48

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:219 D '48 30w

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun O 9 '48 180w

Kirkus 16:336 Jl 15 '48 90w

"It is just the book to give to the child who demands a story about a horse or a dog, for this is both. It is particularly valuable as a book mature enough in content but simple enough in style to interest the older child who has difficulty in reading." J. M. Smith
+ Library J 74:66 Ja 1 '49 60w

"The dog's faithfulness, cleverness and persistence are fully credible, at each stage of the adventure, for the author treats his creatures with restraint and respect. He writes so well that we hear and smell with the pony, we see and worry and suffer with the dog. The jacket tells us that this is a favorite of the true stories told Mr. Rounds by his father when he was a small boy in the Black Hills of South Dakota. An unusual, excellent book." L. S. B.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 N 14 '48 140w

"This is a fine, simple story, with unsentimental truth about animals and humans. Mr. Rounds' sketches are as free and moving as his story. It is for children and adults from 8 years up." M. F.

+ N Y Times p4 N 14 '48 130w

"The story is written with so much restraint and with such exact knowledge of the West and of the ways of horse and dog that it is convincing and touching."

+ New Yorker 24:140 D 11 '48 90w

"In reading this story and looking at the illustrations one gets the impression that Glen Rounds, in previous incarnations, was both a horse and a dog! How else can he so vividly convey the sensations and the objectives of the two characters that dominate this fine story?"

+ Sat R of Lit 31:40 N 13 '48 230w

ROWE, ALBERT PERCIVAL. One story of radar. 208p il $2.50 Macmillan

621.38 Radar [48-11445]

The author's personal story of the Telecommunications research establishment and how it worked on radar for the Royal navy and the Royal air force from June 1934 to September 1945. Index.

Booklist 45:8 S 1 '48

Manchester Guardian p3 My 28 '48 120w

"In unpretentious and well-written prose this little book tells of the disappointments, triumphs, and the daily lives of the scientists responsible for all this [radar], and as such it is a most valuable chronicle of the war." C. W. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 5 '48 300w

"A plain and succinct account of the way in which radar developed. [Mr. Rowe's] clear style makes the scientific intricacies of the subject comparatively easy of comprehension by the layman."

Times [London] Lit Sup p334 Je 12 '48 600w

ROWE, WILLIAM HUTCHINSON. Maritime history of Maine; three centuries of shipbuilding and seafaring. 333p il $6 Norton

623.8 Shipbuilding. Shipping—Maine 48-9082

The author, a Maine historian, and secretary of the Maine historical society for the past fifteen years, has searched thru old records for much of the material in this book. He covers the history of Maine as a maritime state from pre-Colonial times to the first World war. Bibliography. List of places where Maine clippers were built. List of Maine-built vessels taken by Confederate commerce raiders. Index.

"The volume is beautifully illustrated, bound, and printed. Mr. Rowe tells his story with distinction, and has thus made available a volume that is a pleasure to read and that adds to our understanding of our country's growth." R. A. Brown

+ Christian Science Monitor p20 N 24 '48 420w

"This is a carefully prepared history, from original source material, with 36 illustrations and is highly recommended for its historical values." H. A. Wooster

+ Library J 73:1593 N 1 '48 100w

"The author conveys an excellent sense of what Maine is like and what it must have been like generations ago. He gives a vivid idea of the process of building the great fabrics of wood and iron and canvas. He traces the ways in which the Maine fortunes were made. He talks about such interesting folk as the Maine boy who was 'pressed' at sea by the British, served on Nelson's flagship at Trafalgar and came home to tell about it. There are only two notable drawbacks. First, the index is annoyingly incomplete. Second, it is strange for a 'maritime history' to leave out both World Wars and the commercial building of the last thirty years." C. B. Palmer

+ — N Y Times p8 D 19 '48 470w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter

Springf'd Republican p10B D 19 '48 480w

ROWELL, ADELAIDE CORINNE. On Jordan's stormy banks; a novel of Sam Davis, the Confederate scout. 368p $3 Bobbs

Davis, Samuel—Fiction 48-6913

Historical novel based on the life of a Confederate scout, Sam Davis. In 1863 he became a member of Coleman's Scouts, was captured the same year, and hanged as a spy at the age of twenty-one. The book was written by a former librarian, and is based on much research.

"This historical novel gives evidence of serious research but leaves much to be desired in narrative interest and literary style. Not recommended." G. D. McDonald

— + Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 80w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Jl 25 '48 140w

"Despite its tragic and touching ending, there is a true feeling of the juvenile about this Civil War construction—told once again from the Confederate angle. The history reads as if it were lifted clumsily and amateurishly off the pages of a high-school text. . . Unforgivable coincidence, ludicrous caricature in place of characterization, goody-goody morality, and a positively offensive naiveté all combine to make one wish Miss Rowell had worked less long, and long-windedly to achieve so little." B. V. Winebaum

— N Y Times p34 My 23 '48 180w

ROWLANDS, JOHN J. Cache Lake country; life in the north woods; il. by Henry B. Kane. 272p $3.50 Norton

574.971 Natural history—Canada. Outdoor life 47-11407

Chronicle of life in the great North woods, arranged to show a year's activities and observations. Contains pen and ink sketches of plants, animals, birds. There are also recipes, stories of Indians, and legends. Index.

"In its queer and completely original way, one of the most attractive books of the year. . . Sometimes one tires of fine writing. Mr. Rowlands is no fine writer, but he is a very honest writer; and his intimate, objective account of twelve moons' worth of living in the country north toward Hudson Bay touches subjective poetry in the most unexpected ways." David McCord

+ Atlantic 181:126 Ja '48 420w

Booklist 44:102 N 15 '47

"Mr. Rowlands has a sensitive appreciation of the beauty of scene, but he also gives satisfying details about building and stocking his lone cabin, getting food in the wilderness, about the creatures who live in the woods, about his friend the Indian chief not far away. He shares warmly the secrets of wise and comfortable living far from the city supplies." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:124 Mr '48 200w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

Horn Bk 24:213 My '48 50w

Kirkus 15:416 Ag 1 '47 130w

"Packed with valuable information. Drawings splendid. Recommended." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:43 Ja 1 '48 30w

"Mr. Rowlands writes like the literate timber cruiser he is, in character, but without sacrificing poetic sensitivity. Mr. Kane's drawings run up and down and around the margins, and often take up the whole page. Their style is adapted to every turn of the text, from technical explanation to the expression of the

ROWLANDS, J. J.—Continued
idyllic. . . The publishers deserve special mention here for the way they have handled text and illustrations. They have produced for their two collaborators a beautiful book, as fresh and vivid as snow in your face." L. J. Halle
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 F 1 '48 550w

Reviewed by Stanleigh Arnold
San Francisco Chronicle p18 D 14 '47 170w

"A vivid and faithful chronicle of life in the North woods and a storehouse of valuable information on woodcraft and nature." Leo Marceau
+ Springf'd Republican p7B D 28 '47 240w

ROWLANDSON, THOMAS. Watercolor drawings; from the Albert H. Wiggin collection in the Boston public library; with commentary by Arthur W. Heintzelman. 127p $12.50 Watson-Guptill

751.42 Water color paintings 47-12384

A selection of the watercolor drawings of Thomas Rowlandson, from the collection presented to the Boston Public Library by the late Alfred H. Wiggin. Analytical text and descriptive captions are by Arthur W. Heintzelman, keeper of prints at the library. The reproductions of the fifty-two water color drawings (twenty in full color) "convey the spirit of the eighteenth century, reveal quality of man and draughtsman. Personages and vulgar folk of town and country, dogs, pigs, horses, leafy trees, well-furnished drawing-rooms, thatched cottages, markets, conveyances show an understanding of times." (Library J)

"Important reference book." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:199 F 1 '48 110w

"If Rowlandson was a rather nonchalant gentleman, he was also a very ardent student. His development of the use of line and tone is stressed by Mr. Heintzelman (who describes the technical excellencies of each print as it appears in the book). Rowlandson indeed knew where line should merge into background and where, by accent or pressure, to force the salient factor of his report. There is no stolidity in the majority of his work. His figures, never static, live and breathe and move. The prints are excellent." G. P. Du Bois
+ N Y Times p7 Ja 4 '48 900w

"An admirable selection of Rowlandson drawings. . . The reproductions in color are charming and the introduction and commentary, by Arthur W. Heintzelman, convey an infectious appreciation."
+ New Yorker 24:72 Jl 10 '48 80w

ROWLETT, MARGARET. When Cricket was little; il. by [the author]. [46p] $2 Aladdin
48-10018

Picture book about the everyday life of a little pioneer girl.

Kirkus 16:524 O 1 '48 190w

"Cricket's delight in the simple joys of life, and in the sights and sounds and smells of the country is the key to the book's freshness and charm. . . Children will share Cricket's fun as she picks berries, helps Uncle John in the fields and churns butter, and best of all, they will be able to read the book for themselves." Elizabeth Hodges
+ N Y Times p2 N 14 '48 110w

Reviewed by Ada Cabiale
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 N 28 '48 260w

ROWSE, ALFRED LESLIE. End of an epoch; reflections on contemporary history. 324p $4.50 Macmillan

304 Political science [48-4241]

A collection of the author's occasional writings on "current politics, in particular those dealing with foreign policy and the German problem during the thirties, with Marxist theory and with the internal politics of the Labour Party. Mr Rowse was the first working-class undergraduate to become a Fellow of All Souls. For many years he combined historical research with a Labour constituency, but he gave up his candidature just when the 1945 election would have given him a seat in the Commons. Judging from these essays he had begun to drift away from practical politics some years before, and to assume the role of governess to a Party for whose 'incurably democratic temper' he felt little but hopeless contempt." (New Statesman & Nation) Index.

"It is impossible to agree with Mr. Rowse at every point, but it is impossible not to enjoy his clear and incisive intellect or his trenchant and epigrammatic style." Preston Slosson
+ — Am Hist R 54:178 O '48 400w

"Because of the accuracy of the prevision, the breadth of scholarship from which the judgments are made, the magnitude of the problems undertaken, as well as for the provocative style, these essays were well worth gathering into book form." E. G. Lewis
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:589 Je '48 550w

Reviewed by Preston Slosson
Ann Am Acad 257:205 My '48 420w

Current Hist 15:228 O '48 50w

"Mr. Rowse's essays date more, and one fears that the appetite for pre-Munich polemics is now almost exhausted. The essays on Germany and Communism have most present substance."
Manchester Guardian p3 D 2 '47 30w

"These essays, read in chronological order, are a fascinating case-book of the effect of an Oxford Senior Commonroom—the only oligarchic order surviving here—on a sensitive and ambitious spirit. A native dislike of fools and of muddled thinking crystallises, under the combined influence of Karl Marx and All Souls, into a shrill contempt for the people and an abstract admiration for the politics of power." R. H. S. Crossman
New Statesman & Nation 34:434 N 29 '47 600w

Reviewed by H. B. Parkes
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 F 29 '48 700w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p14 Ag 15 '48 750w

"It is made up of essays and articles written during the last eighteen years, and if the mark of the historian is impartiality, that quality will not be found in these strangely unpersuasive pages. 'The book,' writes the author 'bears its own sincerity and honesty written across it,' and no one would deny Mr. Rowse the virtue of candour. . . Mr. Rowse writes with a practised pen: the first six essays, which include the article that gives its name to the book, are vigorous and incisive. . . But there is, unhappily, another side to the book. It is marked by a curiously strident egotism which accords ill with the objective judgments of its better aspects, and by a partisanship which does not scruple to kick an opponent when he is down."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p24 Ja 10 '48 1350w

ROWSE, ALFRED LESLIE. Use of history. (Teach yourself history lib) 247p $2 Macmillan

907 History A48-10185

"This book is designed as a statement of the case for the study of history, a discussion of its uses and pleasures and as a manual of instruction on how to approach the subject." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Rushton Coulborn
— Am Hist R 54:401 Ja '49 280w

Christian Century 65:944 S 15 '48 380w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 19 '46 430w

"On the whole, his book is lively and stimulating. It will appeal more to British than to American readers, since most of its exemplifications are taken from British history and nearly all of its quotations from British historians. The mention of one work by Allan Nevins and one by Morison and Commager appears rather inadequate, considering the achievements of American historians in recent decades." E. S. P.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 22 '48 480w

Reviewed by Kingsley Martin
New Statesman & Nation 32:230 S 28 '46 650w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p12 Jl 11 '48 150w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes
Sat R of Lit 31:18 Jl 3 '48 550w

School & Society 67:342 My 1 '48 20w

Reviewed by Phoebe Pool
Spec 177:246 S 6 '46 280w

Times [London] Lit Sup p385 Ag 17 '46 1200w

ROYAL, JOHN FRANCIS, ed. Television production problems. 179p il $2.50 McGraw

621.388 Television 48-4422

Reprints of lectures in a television course given at Columbia university by members of the NBC staff, for a television course. Partial contents: Television writing problems, by R. P. McDonagh; Television production facilities, by N. R. Kelly; Settings for television, by R. J. Wade; Opera in television, by Herbert Graf; Legal problems in telecasting, by I. E. Lambert; Television advertising, by Reynold Kraft. Notes on contributors. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 45:61 O 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1670 N 15 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:80 S '48

ROYAL INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS. Atomic energy; its international implications; a discussion by a Chatham House study group [by J. D. Crockcroft, and others]. 128p pa $1.25 The institute

341 Atomic energy 48-3673

"This little book is a compilation of a series of discussions by a Chatham House study group. Each of the 12 chapters was written by an English expert in the field covered. . . The body of the book is in two parts. The first part takes up the whole scientific background, and the second part considers the question of control of atomic energy. Subjects considered are: the scientific and technical backgrounds, raw materials and mining problems, nuclear energy in war, the peaceful uses of atomic energy, plans for international control, the control of nuclear energy and the development of international institutions, international cooperation in the development of atomic energy, and the human element." (Chem & Eng N) Bibliography.

"Special credit should be given to Dr. H. E. Wimperis, who, as rapporteur of the Study Group, prepared these essays for publication. Dr. Wimperis's analysis of World Power and Atomic Energy, published two years ago, is still an important background treatise, and his three contributions to the present report are especially penetrating." N. D. Palmer
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:588 Je '48 410w

"The book is written in such form that it should be entirely comprehensible to any educated layman. It is temperate, logical, and factual in treatment. The reviewer had considerable pleasure in reading the book, which appears to him to be one of the best treatments of its kind among a great number now available. . . The discussion of the scientific background is so good that it could well be added to the library of anyone interested in the field." M. M. Haring
+ Chem & Eng N 26:2716 S 13 '48 420w

Reviewed by S. D. Kirkpatrick
Chem Eng 55:322 My '48 350w

Reviewed by King Gordon
Nation 167:51 Jl 10 '48 600w

ROYCE, JOSIAH. California, from the conquest in 1846 to the second Vigilance committee in San Francisco; a study of American character; introd. by Robert Glass Cleland. 394p $4 Knopf

979.4 California—History 48-8136

"First published in 1886 for the American Commonwealths series and now reissued with an introduction by Robert Glass Cleland in the Western Americana series. Covers a ten-year period in California history from the American conquest in 1846 to the second Vigilance Committee in San Francisco. Written from primary sources by a native Californian, it describes what the author regards as a shameful period. But Royce was, first of all, a philosopher, and his major theme is a revelation of national character and the development, in California, of a true consciousness of itself." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by Horace Reynolds
Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 1250w

Kirkus 16:328 Jl 1 '48 80w

"Still an important book." G. D. McDonald
+ Library J 73:1190 S 1 '48 130w

"Although Royce was a careful scholar, much of his work, now more than sixty years old, is outdated. The book can hardly be called, as of this date, a good introduction to California history." G. R. Stewart
N Y Times p25 S 12 '48 330w

"Royce's volume, according to the pattern of the original series, should have described and analyzed the State of California. However, the philosopher-author did not follow the pattern set him, with the natural result that many reviewers of the period were decidedly sniffy about the book. . . The consequence was and is a badly balanced book." J. H. Jackson
— San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 20 '48 700w

Reviewed by Allan Nevins
Sat R of Lit 31:26 O 23 '48 230w

ROYDEN, AGNES MAUDE (MRS WILLIAM HUDSON SHAW). Threefold cord. 125p il $2 Macmillan

B or 92 Shaw, William Hudson. Shaw, Effie (Mrs William Hudson Shaw) 48-8626

"A brilliant lecturer from Oxford, Hudson Shaw, exponent of Ruskin, Italian culture and whatever came his way, married inadvertently a wife of uncertain mentality, afterwards meeting his real companion in ideas, Maude Royden, daughter of a wealthy shipowner, eloquent preacher and leader of the women's movement who was awarded the Companionship of Honor. For forty-three long years, as Maude Royden quietly narrates, these lovers respected the marriage bond that held them apart, and it was only after the death of the wife, Effie, that, at long last, they were united during a final eight weeks and three days of priceless happiness." N Y Times

"The book remains, quite simply, a love story. Nevertheless, there are evident in it the same qualities which contributed to Maude Royden's great success as a lecturer and preacher: her communicable enthusiasm, her fidelity, courage, simplicity, and honesty—and her readiness at all times to practice what she preached." M. W. S.
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 N 18 '48 500w

"This book has had a wide reading in England and it should have as great an appeal to American readers, for it is a classic story of love sustained on the highest plane."
+ Kirkus 16:619 D 1 '48 220w

"It is a great story told with what, perhaps, is undue restraint." P. W. Wilson
+ N Y Times p30 N 14 '48 200w

Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich
Springf'd Republican p8B O 24 '48 240w

RUARK, ROBERT CHESTER. I didn't know it was loaded; line drawings by R. Taylor. 255p $2.50 Doubleday
817 48-8510

A World Telegram columnist with a caustic wit attacks some of our American idiosyncrasies from perfumes, lipsticks, and charm schools, to Southern cooking and horse racing. Index.

"From his wigwam to the bars and bistros, to hangovers and advice to the lovelorn, he is a heartily abrasive commentator who may be too far gone in the vulgate to appeal to lovers of fine writing but whose way with words is more often than not very, very funny."
+ Kirkus 16:385 Ag 1 '48 130w
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p32 N 14 '48 290w

"Ruark draws his indictments in a hundred different ways, all of them obviously true bills, all of them funny. When he considers Hollywood and New York, for instance, he uses the patois of his victims as his scalpel. When he turns traitor to the South and discourses on the demerits of Dixie cookery, his language is as crisp as the food he describes is soggy. The Army and the Navy fall quickly before his pungent assault, and he predicts, not without reason, that baseball fans will pursue him with drawn bats for his oft-expressed views on the national game. (He likes it as a sport, but decries it as a religion)." D. M. Mankiewicz
+ N Y Times p30 O 24 '48 360w

RUBINS, HAROLD (HAROLD ROBBINS, pseud). Never love a stranger. 443p $3.50 Knopf
48-349

The life story of Frank Kane from his birth in a strange midwife's home, thru his childhood in a Catholic orphanage, his adolescence with Jewish relatives, and his numerous adventures trying to find a place in the world of the thirties to his death in World war II. Told for the most part in the first person, with interpolations of reminiscences by his friends.

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
— Chicago Sun Ap 1 '48 400w
Kirkus 16:90 F 15 '48 170w

"Handling of racial and religious problems excellent. Characters treated understandingly and sympathetically. Book of great promise shamefully ruined through undue emphasis on sex in series of sordid episodes. Definitely unsuitable for public libraries." R. W. Henderson
+ — Library J 73:397 Mr 1 '48 100w

"'Never Love a Stranger' has a style that falters and sometimes falls on its face, but its story keeps moving and the scenery is exciting." Thomas Sugrue
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 F 29 '48 650w

"Perhaps if Frankie Kane, the orphan, had been introspective, his sensational history would have had a more direct appeal. Told in the first person, Kane's life-story is so carefully tough-spirited, so laconic a record of a normal ambition to survive, that it reads almost like a handbook on how to be a gangster. It is left to nice-minded readers, Frankie's friends (who have their interludes) and the book jacket, to figure out the deep inner conflict which propels the boy onward. . . Mr. Robbins has arranged for the boy a sequence which would have kept Pearl White gasping, yet Frankie's account of himself is a masterpiece of stoicism." Isabelle Mallet
+ — N Y Times p26 Mr 7 '48 600w
— New Yorker 24:97 Mr 6 '48 120w
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Mr 28 '48 800w

"Robbins' writing is strong, his pace varied, and his invention admirable. I say his novel isn't realistic or important because it lacks vision and purpose, because it slithers across anything that might turn out to be serious . . . and makes a strong play for such nonsense as the business about Frankie Kane, Enemy Number One, and his duel with the D. A. (his old friend, too!). This is strictly for Alan Ladd." N. L. Rothman
— + Sat R of Lit 31:27 My 22 '48 550w

RUDOLPH, MARGUERITA. Great hope; with an introd. by Pearl S. Buck and drawings by Abbas. 175p $2.75 Day
48-46

The story of the author's Russian-Jewish family from the times of Tsarist Russia to the coming of the Soviet Union. The narrative ends with the migration of three of the children to the United States. An epilogue contains letters from both sides of the family describing their activities in the United States and the U.S.S.R.

Booklist 44:203 F 1 '48
Reviewed by Robert Halsband
Chicago Sun p7X F 15 '48 250w

"Many a trait reported by the author faithfully revives her childhood and renders the family she describes attractive and lovable. However, one cannot help wondering how the victims of the unjust tsarist order of the life forever to be erased, managed to sup (before the great hope arose) on chicken and cinnamon cookies around a table laid on starched white linen and decorated with brass candlesticks, while the father tossed off vodka from a silver tumbler. This must have been a very well-to-do peasant family. The book would better win one over if there were not a flippant and childish approach to these questions which does not necessarily present a true picture of childish thoughts and hopes." Helen Iswolsky
Commonweal 47:525 Mr 5 '48 600w

"Propaganda somewhat Soviet-wise."
Kirkus 15:593 O 15 '47 210w

"Minor masterpiece. . . We need it in small public libraries." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 73:121 Ja 15 '48 70w
Wis Lib Bul 44:83 Ap '48

RUGG, HAROLD ORDWAY. Foundations for American education. 826p $5 World bk.
370 Education 47-6877

"Recognizing that the present disagreement among scholars stems from the three-century-old conflict between the philosophies of authority and those of experience, Dr. Rugg takes his stand with the Men of the Consensus—Peirce, James, Dewey, Veblen, Whitman, and O. W. Holmes—and shows what education can learn from psychology, sociology, esthetics, and ethics. In so doing he ranges over all facets of cultural life in the United States from 1890 to the present." School & Society

Booklist 44:244 Mr 15 '48

"This is a giant of a book in far more than the physical sense. It is spacious and at home in its commodious dimensions. It is hopeful and affirmative. . . It is sufficiently schematic—without dogmatism or rigidity—to help both lay and professional readers to a more cogent orientation to tomorrow's education. Indeed, to the lay reader the final six pages entitled 'A New Yardstick on Which to Design and to Appraise a School,' are worth the price of the book in point of beginning a condensed guide to thought and act and further study." Ordway Tead
+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ja 10 '48 850w

"This 800-page tome is strongly personal in tone, unsparing of its author's opponents (save for the tribute to Bagley in the footnote on page 607), and stylistically reminiscent at times of a Dos Passos novel and of Time. Technically, the work suffers from inexact bibliographical citations, an incomplete index, and license with the spelling of proper names." W. W. Brickman
School & Society 66:426 N 29 '47 550w

"This is a dramatic document throughout. Chapter titles, division headings, paragraph captions, and the prose itself are all colorful, vivid, intriguing. The style is intensely personal and even journalistic—for in a real sense this volume is Rugg's own intellectual autobiography, as well as a tremendous cultural-educational summary and a vital professional challenge. It is hard to see how any educator with imagination and social concern could fail to find in this account both new perspective on his job and a fine inspiration to do it better." E. G. Olson

+ Social Educ 12:235 My '48 750w

RUGGIERO, GUIDO DE. Existentialism; disintegration of man's soul; introd. by Rayner Heppenstall. Am ed 96p $2.50 Social sciences pubs, inc, 41 W. 47th st, N.Y. 19

111 Existentialism 48-5139

An attack on existentialism. The book opens with an introduction by Rayner Heppenstall giving an historical background. The middle section describes the philosophy and deals with the masters of existentialism: Sören Kierkegaard, Martin Heidegger, Karl Jaspers, and Gabriel Marcel. The final section is an evaluation. Index.

Booklist 44:210 F 15 '48

Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 14 '48 150w

Reviewed by W. J. H. Sprott
New Statesman & Nation 33:14 Ja 4 '48 1200w

"Guido de Ruggiero's study, though slight in bulk and almost journalistic in tone, is rich in penetrating insights, just evaluations and illuminating allusions. Mr. Ruggiero is especially successful in tracing historical structure of the existentialist movement." Robert Caponigri
N Y Times p21 Jl 18 '48 900w

San Francisco Chronicle p14 Mr 14 '48 150w

School & Society 67:30 Ja 10 '48 10w

"Mr. Heppenstall might have extended his text [in the introduction]. The brief remarks on Kierkegaard, for example, are frankly inadequate. . . Professor Ruggiero has seen through a great deal of the blarney, he has given some very clear summaries of the philosophical ideas involved, and his criticism is in places well directed; not only is the polemic dispersed, however, but the target is too wide; Professor Ruggiero says too much and too little. . . The middle section of the pamphlet . . . is the most rewarding part of the book. The conclusion tails off, as indeed it could not avoid doing; for Professor Ruggiero has aimed not only at 'existentialism,' but at the philosophy of existence of Professor Heidegger and Jaspers, and the specifically Christian work of Kierkegaard and M. Marcel. This dissipation of energy spoils the effect of the polemic, and is more than the slight framework of any pamphlet could contain."
Times [London] Lit Sup p80 F 8 '47 1000w

RUGGLES, ELEANOR. Journey into faith; the Anglican life of John Henry Newman. 336p $4 Norton

B or 92 Newman, John Henry, cardinal 48-6601

Study of the life and spiritual adventure of John Henry Newman during the years leading up to his conversion to Catholicism. Bibliography .Index.

"A distinguished biography of an extraordinary man."
+ Atlantic 181:120 Je '48 120w

Booklist 45:50 O 1 '48

Reviewed by J. J. Reilly
Cath World 168:251 D '48 180w

"A penetrating, sympathetic and sensitive study. . . The major defect in Miss Ruggles' presentation is the same that hindered her previous and equally excellent study of another convert to Catholicism, Gerard Manley Hopkins. She assumes that the average reader has more of a knowledge of the England of the 19th century than he really has." J. O. Supple
+ — Chicago Sun p9X My 9 '48 310w

"The story is told with insight and skill, and for the ordinary reader no better book has been written." F. J. Moore
+ Churchman 162:15 Ag '48 300w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 48:387 Jl 30 '48 280w

"What Miss Ruggles does superlatively well is to provide this sometimes rather abstract story with a setting. She keeps Newman's family constantly in mind, for example, and sketches each member with deft strokes. . . The story of Newman's journey to the Mediterranean is told far better, I think, than it has ever before been. . . The book is equally effective when it discusses spiritual and religious events." G. N. Shuster
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 4 '48 700w

"Anyone who writes of Newman's conversion from the Anglican to the Roman Catholic Church has to face comparison with Newman's own masterpiece of autobiography, the 'Apologia Pro Vita Sua.' . . This excellently written account of the matter does not compete with Newman, but fills in the background with what was irrelevant to Newman's purpose and so revives the wonder of a drama unique in human annals." P. W. Wilson
+ N Y Times p13 Ag 15 '48 320w

Reviewed by E. M. Tainton
San Francisco Chronicle p11 My 30 '48 650w

"One is grateful to the author of this book for her delicate analysis of her elusive subject." W. L. Sperry
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 Je 26 '48 800w

Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich
Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 18 '48 360w

RUKEYSER, MURIEL. Green wave. 95p $2.50 Doubleday

811 48-5169

Poems by an American poet. There is a section of translations: Six poems by Octavio Paz and Rari (love-chants) from the Marquesas.

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 48:430 Ag 13 '48 390w

"Her verse expresses a kind of natural primitiveness. She has achieved considerable reputation among those to whom lucidity is not a necessary factor."
Kirkus 15:693 D 15 '47 150w

Reviewed by Randall Jarrell
Nation 166:512 My 8 '48 900w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Je 27 '48 600w

"This book displays Miss Rukeyser's art at its mature and authoritative best. . . One of the most remarkable aspects of this book is the strong impression of unity created by a collection so extremely varied. . . The system of integrated imagery which operates throughout the book is one of the chief sources of its disciplined economy and basic unity. Another is the fact that every lyric, no matter how personal, has overtones of social meaning." F. B. McCarthy
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 14 '48 750w

"Miss Rukeyser grows more subjective as time goes on. She is still a devotee of loose, erratic, and disjunctive rhetoric, and since her gift is in no way lyrical, her writing is increasingly complicated and heavy-handed."
— New Yorker 24:115 My 8 '48 80w

Reviewed by Richard Eberhart
Poetry 73:173 D '48 900w

"The [love chants] sound like something to raise your interest and an eyebrow; actually, they are 99 and 44/100th percent pure, with the color and beauty of a Gauguin painting. The works in the book that are Miss Rukeyser's own show that the lady is becoming a deeper thinker and an even better writer." Alfred Kay
+ San Francisco Chronicle p19 F 8 '48 100w

RUKEYSER, MURIEL—Continued

"It is, in manifest content, a very various, even a slightly patchy volume. . . What unity there is, and it is enough for a book of poems, lies chiefly in the poet's way of feeling and saying. It is a distinguished way. I think I hear (with pleasure) faint echoes of Hopkins and Eliot. But these are the enriching overtones of a voice that is compelling and unique. These are passionately firm evaluations." J. R. Caldwell

+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 Mr 20 '48 600w

RUNDELL, E. RALPH. Color of blood. 386p $3 Crowell

48-6738

Historical novel of the Argentine in the 1820s and 1830s, a period of fierce internal unrest and the rise to power of Juan Manuel de Rosas.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

Reviewed by C. W. Roberts

Chicago Sun p6X Je 6 '48 490w

"Good reading for those who like this lusty, often bloody, type of novel."

Kirkus 16:150 Mr 15 '48 250w

"While fairly interesting, not of sufficient historical significance or literary merit to make it a must for purchase. There may be some objections to general tone." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 130w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 80w

"Working only with dusty bones from library shelves, Mr. Rundell has impressively reconstructed the flesh-and-blood shapes of the Argentine people under Rosas. He has been considerably less successful in his use of Argentine Spanish in an otherwise convincing book." V. L. Warren

+ — N Y Times p14 My 23 '48 490w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 8 '48 300w

RUNNING, CORINNE. Garden shower. (Swallow press bk) 186p $2.75 Morrow

48-5349

A settlement on the shore near Seattle is the home of ten families. One householder decides to give a baby shower for her daughter-in-law, with the real purpose of showing off her garden. As the invitations reach each of the ten couples to be included a picture of that marriage is given. In the end they all declined the invitations and the hostess for once had all the sandwiches she craved.

Booklist 44:217 F 15 '48

"Essentially feminine, but with a sharpness of sophistication which gives this a certain superiority."

Kirkus 15:630 N 15 '47 210w

RUNYON, DAMON. Trials and other tribulations. 285p $3 Lippincott

343.1 Trials 48-5610

Six of Damon Runyon's news stories of the twenties and early thirties. Contents: The Hall-Mills case; "Daddy" and "Peaches"; The eternal blonde [the Snyder-Gray trial]; Arnold Rothstein's final payoff; Al Capone; Morgan the mighty.

"You'd better get this one quickly. And if you're a school of reporting, you'd better use it as a textbook. This is Runyon reporting!" E. D. Doyle

+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 Mr 21 '48 220w

"Runyon's reporting is sensationalism cooked to Hearstian taste."

— Time 51:104 F 23 '48 700w

RUPP, ERNEST GORDON. Studies in the making of the English Protestant tradition (mainly in the reign of Henry VIII). 220p $2.75 Macmillan (for the Cambridge university press)

274.2 Reformation—England [48-15338]

"This book delves into the influence of the spiritual leaders of the English Reformation, and pays less attention to the political and ecclesiastical matters. Dealing primarily with events during the reign of Henry VIII, we see here the fundamentally religious reformation which lay under the surface and which in time made the Church of England primarily Protestant." Churchman

"This is an important and significant study." R. C. Miller

+ Churchman 162:15 My 15 '48 90w

"It is a valuable contribution to the history of English Protestantism; and being the primitiae of the author's historical profession, justifies the expectation of a ripe harvest to come. It will be read by all students of English history with appreciation and gratitude; and by Cambridge men especially with pietas, for the contribution of their university was such that the reformation 'might have become known to historians as "the Cambridge movement."' "

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p602 O 23 '48 1300w

RUSH, BENJAMIN, 1745-1813. Autobiography; his Travels through life together with his Commonplace book for 1789-1813; ed. with introd. and notes by George W. Corner. 399p il $6 Am. philosophical soc; Princeton univ. press

B or 92 48-10222

"In the summer of 1800, when Dr. Benjamin Rush began his autobiography, he was 54, America's foremost physician, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and an intimate of many of the great and near great of his day. . . Less than a year after his death (in 1813), his sons were already planning to publish the autobiography. They quarreled about it, and not until 1905 did a small, expurgated edition appear. The present edition, which is complete, also includes two 'commonplace books' in which the good doctor recorded hundreds of experiences, conversations and thoughts." Time

Booklist 45:135 D 15 '48

"He writes plainly about the 'patriotic' motives of many of the supporters of the Revolution; he maintains that he gave the name Common Sense to the influential pamphlet that Tom Paine prepared; he makes some remarks that seem surprisingly modern on price controls; he discusses in an inquiring and very sincere manner his religious convictions. You will not agree with every observation but you will learn much American history from Dr. Rush." Paul Kiniery

+ Commonweal 49:234 D 10 '48 390w

Current Hist 16:34 Ja '49 50w

"This autobiography is always good, often delightful reading. It is not merely one man's story but a social history of the first order. . . Naturally, students will use it, blessing those good footnotes the while; but first and foremost it is a book to read, the life story and unadorned thoughts of a talented, honorable, pig-headed, far-thinking, outspoken good doctor, who has, like all doctors, many a tale to tell." E. H. Smith

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 5 '48 1250w

" 'The Autobiography of Benjamin Rush' is a priceless historical document as well as a vivid picture of a man and his times. Dr. Corner and the American Philosophical Society deserve the thanks of everyone for making public this almost unknown volume." F. G. Slaughter

+ N Y Times p4 N 7 '48 900w

"The manuscript has been particularly well edited and all obscure references are clarified by explanatory footnotes. There are numerous excellent illustrations, and all in all this autobiography is a handsome and valuable work, particularly for students of the Revolutionary period." C. W. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 D 5 '48 450w
School & Society 68:439 D 18 '48 50w
Time 52:115 N 22 '48 850w

RUSH, WILLIAM MARSHALL (MARK LAYTON, pseud). Gold prospector; decorations by Arthur Harper. 232p $2.50 Longmans
48-4142

Adventures of Seth Monroe, who at nineteen in the year 1884, goes West to prospect for gold. For junior and senior high schools.

"There's a mine of interesting local information here for supplementary reading on American expansion. But there's a good chase story too, with a solid ending not draped in gold nuggets!"
+ Kirkus 16:309 Jl 1 '48 90w

"Concisely written, authentic picture of life in the pioneer West. Includes many interesting details of geology and various methods of mining gold. Could be used as suggested reading for history classes, career story, or as sheer adventure. Recommended for junior high and high school boys." Clara Adams
+ Library J 73:1392 O 1 '48 80w

"It is a swift-moving, realistic picture of the rush to find gold."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 N 13 '48 40w

RUSSELL, BERTRAND ARTHUR WILLIAM RUSSELL, 3d earl. Human knowledge; its scope and limits. 524p $5 Simon & Schuster
121 Knowledge, Theory of 48-11754

"The central purpose of this book is to examine the relation between individual experience and the general body of scientific knowledge." (Introd) "[It is] addressed not only or primarily to professional philosophers but to that much larger public which is interested in philosophical questions without being willing or able to devote more than a limited amount of time to coinsidering them." (Pref)

"Perhaps professional philosophers and scientists—some of them—will find the material absorbing. The name of the author and the publishers' well known ability to put over these encyclopedic tabloids of knowledge may push the sales figure beyond the probability of the reading capacity of the public which read Science for the Citizen and Mathematics for the Million. This is infinitely more difficult, and duller."
Kirkus 16:432 Ag 15 '48 150w

"Many will find this difficult reading but reading which offers rewards to those who do not fear discipline." O. G. Lawson
+ Library J 74:60 Ja 1 '49 130w

"Lord Russell here develops his theory of knowledge fully and comprehensively. He is at his very best; penetrating, acute, with a light but firm touch. Nevertheless the subject and the book are not altogether easy. The author claims to write for the ordinary reader rather than for the professional philosopher. The reader who tackles this book seriously will find, by the time he has finished, that he is not so ordinary as he was, and even runs some risk of resembling a professional philosopher." A. D. Ritchie
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 13 '48 330w

Reviewed by Albert Hofstadter
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ja 16 '49 1100w

"By a happy chance, of which newspapers recently carried an account, this monumental treatise on the foundations of human knowledge does not appear as a posthumous work. But it will probably remain as Bertrand Russell's philosophical testament. It is the nearest thing to a systematic philosophy written by one who does not believe in systems of philosophy. Its scope is encyclopedic. All the central issues in contemporary philosophy, from the theory of meaning to the nature of space-time, are discussed with Mr. Russell's characteristic incisiveness, technical skill and imagination." Sidney Hook
+ N Y Times p8 Ja 2 '49 1400w

"Theory and the Principle of Individuation will be a great comfort to anyone who joins Mr. Russell on this flight. There's no need, thanks to the author's generally unclogged style, to feel shy about taking off empty-headed. Besides, it's something just to have been up that high."
New Yorker 24:77 Ja 8 '49 120w

"There is no sign in these fifty-one chapters of any flagging of intellectual energy; all are compactly and lucidly written, and all, with one exception, new." Brand Blanshard
+ Sat R of Lit 32:15 Je 8 '49 850w
School & Society 69:16 Ja 1 '49 50w

Reviewed by Stuart Hampshire
Spec 181:702 N 26 '48 1100w

RUSSELL, MRS CHARLOTTE (MURRAY). Ill met in Mexico. 188p $2 Doubleday
48-2900

Detective story.

"A good enough mystery, plenty of intrigue, gory killings with a machete, and amusing moments."
Kirkus 16:157 Mr 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Je 13 '48 200w

"Jane Amanda's admirers will be glad to learn that nothing can stop her, not even the dilatory methods of the Mexican police." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p32 My 23 '48 90w

"The plot involves a deposit of uranium, a once-wealthy Mexican family, and a great deal of aimless rushing around. Miss Edwards comes out on top, just as her admirers would expect."
New Yorker 24:120 My 22 '48 100w
Sat R of Lit 31:32 Je 12 '48 50w

RUTH, GEORGE HERMAN (BABE RUTH). Babe Ruth story; as told to Bob Considine. 250p il $3; 96p il pa $1 Dutton
B or 92 Baseball 48-6219

Babe Ruth's life story as told to his sportswriter friend, Bob Considine.

Booklist 44:267 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by Dick Hackenberg
Chicago Sun p8X My 9 '48 230w
Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '48
Kirkus 16:77 F 1 '48 130w
Library J 73:1031 Jl '48 20w

"The Ruth story is told clearly, pleasantly and conventionally from his young days . . . to his present middle years, crowded with honors and, unfortunately, with illness." John Lardner
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 100w

"Bob Considine, who wrote the book in the first person, has done much more than describe Ruth's vagaries and exploits. He has captured the team personality of the Yankees of the Twenties and Thirties, and he has lively stories to tell." Rex Lardner
N Y Times p33 My 2 '48 450w
Springf'd Republican p12B My 2 '48 330w

RUTHERFORD, JOHN G. Quality control in industry; methods and systems. 201p il $3.50 Pitman
658.562 Sampling (statistics) [48-7928]

"This volume is not limited to the practical aspects of statistical quality control. Rather, it is text which provides an over-all study of the general principles of quality control, and of the statistical techniques employed. This, together with its discussion of the organization, functions and services of the quality control department, makes the book of value to industrial managers who are considering the installation of statistical quality control methods." (N Y New Tech Bks) Statistical references. Index.

RUTHERFORD, J. G.—Continued

Booklist 45:61 O 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1598 N 1 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:59 Jl '48

RYAN, MRS MILDRED (GRAVES), and PHILLIPS, VELMA. Clothes for you. 546p il $4.75 Appleton

646 Clothing and dress. Beauty, Personal 47-11794

A college textbook for courses on clothing written to give "(1) knowledge of the correct type of clothing to enhance the attractiveness of the individual; (2) ability to buy clothing wisely; and (3) skill in making clothes nicely." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:319 My 15 '48

"This text for college or senior high students is well put together and edited. Its clear type, glossy paper, and interesting style make it easy to read. It is extensive rather than intensive." Elizabeth Birong
J Home Econ 40:211 Ap '48 210w

RYAN, PAUL WILLIAM (ROBERT FINNEGAN, MIKE QUIN, pseuds). Many a monster. 220p $2 Simon & Schuster 48-5618

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 140w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Mr 21 '48 160w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p25 Ap 4 '48 150w

"Fast, fairly tough, and satisfactory."
+ New Yorker 24:92 Mr 27 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p22 Ap 11 '48 50w

"Commendable."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:44 Mr 20 '48 40w

RYAN, THOMAS ARTHUR. Work and effort; the psychology of production. 323p il $4.50 Ronald

658.5 Efficiency, Industrial. Psychology, Applied 47-7071

"The book provides a systematic survey of psychological investigation concerned with the productivity of men and women at work. It attempts to present an evaluated account of the knowledge that has been accumulating for many years, to give a survey of current progress in this field of investigation, and to put the reader in position to realize the need for future development in researches of this character." Special Libraries

"Good book pertaining to industrial psychology, the application of psychology to the problems relating to productivity of men and women at work." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by S. N. Stevens
+ Management R 37:167 Mr '48 320w

Special Libraries 39:22 Ja '48

RYDER, JOHN DOUGLAS. Electronic engineering principles. 397p il $6.65; to schools $5 Prentice-Hall

621.38 Electronics 47-4676

"In the Prentice-Hall Electrical Engineering Series. Explains physical fundamentals needed for an understanding of electron tubes. Covers theories of conduction, simple atomic structure, and generalized circuit analysis with linear and nonlinear circuit elements. Chapter references." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:75 O '47

S

SAARINEN, ELIEL. Search for form; a fundamental approach to art. 354p il $4.50 Reinhold

701.17 Art—Philosophy 48-7790

"Eliel Saarinen's career as architect, city planner and craftsman has spanned half a century, and his 'Search For Form'—a long, detailed, and animated dissertation—epitomizes the principles of art shaped from years of critical reflection and personal experience." Christian Science Monitor

Booklist 45:133 D 15 '48

Reviewed by Dorothy Adlow
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 29 '48 550w

"I opened 'Search for Form' with misgivings; I dreaded to see an artist appear in the guise of a doctrinaire and a pedagogue. My fears were not wholly vain, but they were excessive. I still believe Saarinen owed us a totally different book, but since he had to write this one, I am grateful that he did it so well. There is nothing about him of the 'non-creative-school-book-learned-art-teacher,' to use his own phrase. He has humor, which he pleasantly calls the sunshine of mankind. . . I wish this book had more architecture in it and less philosophy; for in the artistic field Saarinen can write almost as well as he can do." Albert Guerard
+ — Nation 167:376 O 2 '48 1050w

"His book does a thoroughly competent job of demolishing the decadent self-consciousness of the later styles of all periods, and neatly pulls the rug from under current superficial modern fads. Though he occasionally strays into troubled waters, and though he sometimes substitutes optimism for the cynicism which much of our civilization merits, his craft is unusually seaworthy." C. K. Agle
+ N Y Times p30 Ja 16 '49 180w

SABARTES, JAIME. Picasso; an intimate portrait; tr. from the Spanish by Angel Flores; with 8 Picasso reproductions. 230p $5 Prentice-Hall

B or 92 Picasso, Pablo (Pablo Ruys) 48-6774

An account of the author's relationship with Picasso, from the first handshake in Barcelona in 1899 to his position as friend and secretary in the painter's home in Paris in the years before the war. Chronological summary. Index.

Booklist 44:367 Jl 1 '48

Kirkus 16:102 F 15 '48 130w

"If man is no hero to his valet, he may be to his secretary. But daily propinquity does not make for inspiring interpretation of words or works. For large collections of Picasso material." A. S. Plaut
Library J 73:879 Je 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Je 27 '48 500w

"From Sabartés' descriptions of the insecurity, anxiety and excitement of their lives as young men in Barcelona and Paris, one comes to appreciate more vividly the background of the 'Blue' period; and it is tragic that the account breaks off abruptly in 1904 when the two men became separated and we are deprived of Sabartés' commentary on so many years of Picasso's creative activities. But the years 1935 to 1940 are so fully documented that the picture of Picasso, the mature artist, becomes very clear and complete. His dissertations on originality, genius and beauty; his moods, frustrations, habits, methods of work and feverish writings; the genesis and development of certain paintings; all these are described with intuitive insight." Hugh Gibb

N Y Times p15 My 16 '48 400w

"With Spanish delicacy, [Sabartés] refrains from mentioning anything in the artist's life outside the orbit of their mutual relations, which, of course, robs the book of any pretensions of being an extensive study. But as a picture of Picasso en pantoufles—energetic, quick-minded, slightly like a spoiled child at times—the memoir is consistently interesting, and the information it gives about his early years is most welcome."
New Yorker 24:111 Je 5 '48 120w

"In spite of shortcomings, Sabartés's book has a very pleasant flavor and is by no means dull. There are many facts about Picasso's early years in Spain, rather confusingly narrated but neatly assembled in a useful chronological summary at the end." John Rewald
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ag 14 '48 700w

SACHAR, ABRAM LEON. History of the Jews. 3d ed rev & enl. 436p maps $5 Knopf
933 Jews—History 48-7586

A popular history of the Jews from their first entry into Palestine more than three thousand years ago, down to the present day. Bibliography. Index. For first edition see Book Review Digest 1930.

Booklist 45:106 N 15 '48

"The book is shallow and one-sided, but interesting, appealing, useful. It deserves reading and rewards the reader. It is one of the better stories of the glory and tragedy of Judaism." R. H. Markham
+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 22 '48 550w

"This volume is not only a contribution to an understanding of the dramatic history of one people, it is essentially a wise and scholarly exploration of world history." Robert Colodny
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 5 '48 300w

"Dr. Sachar has written . . . with profound learning, liberal objectivity, and a sense of justice that never deserts him." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:27 Ag 21 '48 220w

SACHS, CURT. Our musical heritage; a short history of music. 400p il $5 Prentice-Hall
780.9 Music—History and criticism 48-2677

An outline of music history, designed for both college students and the layman. The author is a well-known musicologist and lecturer, who has been in the United States since 1937. He is musical consultant to the New York public library, and is now an American citizen. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:9 S 1 '48

"Compresses an astonishing amount of information into small space."
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 19 '48 30w

"Comprehensive, though the emphasis seems at times disproportionate; thorough, considering its scope, but rather dull in handling."
+ — Kirkus 16:137 Mr 1 '48 100w

"Essentially an outline aimed at the college sophomore or junior and provided with 'Reading' and 'Listening' lists, it will nevertheless prove to be an excellent introduction to the subject for the general reader. Lively and colorful yet hard reading, it needs the amplification which can be supplied by an able teacher or by following up the bibliographies. A balanced presentation which touches on matters ranging from questions of pitch and tempo to those of musical style and the philosophy of music." C. K. Miller
+ Library J 73:816 My 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Otto Gombosi
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:364 Je '48 1250w

"Sachs's book starts to get interesting and lucid at precisely the point where the living tradition of Western music begins to emerge, that is, about the middle of the fifteenth century. . . In this study he is often acute and provocative. . . Even in the well-worn history of seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth century music, his rapid generalizations are likely to be fresh and revealing. . . His erudition, as a rule, is unassailable. I have come across only one factual error, and I adduce it with pardonable glee, since it proves that even musicologists are human. The author of the dreadful melodrama that Verdi used as the story for 'Il Trovatore' was not Lope de Vega, as Sachs states, but one Antonio Garcia Guiterrez." Winthrop Sargeant
+ N Y Times p11 Je 27 '48 700w

San Francisco Chronicle p21 Jl 18 '48 100w

School & Society 67:431 Je 5 '48 10w

SACKETT, BERT. Everglade gold; il. by Kurt Werth. 249p $2.50 Random house
48-6284

Adventure story for older boys. It concerns the search for oil in the Everglades, and the desperate efforts to keep Jed Strong and his father from winning the $50,000 prize offered by the Florida state legislature for the first producing well found in the state.

Booklist 44:340 Je 1 '48

"Good escape reading."
+ Kirkus 15:52 F 1 '48 110w

"Recommended for older boys interested in engineering and modern methods of drilling for oil." R. O. Bostwick
+ Library J 73:717 My 1 '48 70w

"A real-life thriller for older boys. It keeps you reading." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ap 25 '48 260w

Reviewed by Creighton Peet
N Y Times p31 Je 6 '48 130w

"This is an exciting story of the Everglades which tells a good deal about the locating and tapping of oil wells. Boys who are interested in airplanes, engineering, and adventure will enjoy it." R. A. B.
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Jl 10 '48 230w

SAGENDORPH, KENT. Michigan, the story of the university. (American college and university ser) 384p il $4.50 Dutton
378 Michigan. University 48-7109

Story of the rise and development of the University of Michigan. There are biographical sketches of its famous figures, stories of campus controversies, anecdotes of student life, and accounts of the part the university has played in the nation's history. Index.

"This is a thoroughgoing and competent, but rather pedestrian survey of the first of the state universities, [founded] in 1837."
Kirkus 16:189 Ap 1 '48 130w

"An informal and lively narrative. . . Recommended." G. O. Kelley
+ Library J 73:946 Je 15 '48 90w

"Sagendorph does not deal directly with the issues of educational theory. His concern, as was Horace Coon's in Columbia: Colossus on the Hudson, the preceding book of this series, is with the personalities and actual happenings of Michigan's past and present. As such, his work is both colorful and competent. It also appears, on the surface, superficial and uncritical. . . There is one rather serious omission that should be noted. . . Sagendorph makes a point of listing the contributions Michigan men made to our various wars, especially the last one. . . But where, Mr. Sagendorph, is a comparable list of Michiganders who have contributed to the world-wide promotion of peace?" Luther Nichols
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Jl 11 '48 1250w

Reviewed by Preston Slosson
Sat R of Lit 31:14 S 11 '48 750w

SAHAG, LEON MARR. Kinematics of machines. 249p il $4 Ronald

621.81 Mechanical engineering 48-6537

"Today where high-speed machines are concerned, the matter of obtaining accurate results with respect to velocities and acceleration is of great importance. Adequate training in kinematics is needed for young engineers. This information is not provided in the usual textbook on applied mechanics so this text is written to fill that need before undertaking a course in machine design. Problems. References." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:42 My '48

SAHYUN, MELVILLE, ed. Proteins and amino acids in nutrition. 566p il $7.50 Reinhold

612.01533 Proteins. Amino acids. Nutrition Med48-1136

"The common theme of these papers is the effects of varying amounts of protein (including amino acids and accompanying food components) in the diet of human beings. Many interesting correlations are indicated of the close connection between poor nutrition (especially protein deficiency) and various illnesses. Of the many tables, two in Chapter 10 (Tables 10-10 and 10-11) suggest a direct correlation between the protein diet of pregnant women and the resultant height, weight, and general health of their offspring. Another table, 73 pages long, tabulates the water, protein, fat, carbohydrates, ash, acid and fuel value of a long list of American food materials. The work is designed primarily for professional workers in nutrition and allied fields. Extensive references are given at the end of each chapter." N Y New Tech Bks

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

"One must suspect that the editor did a labor of love in achieving a level of literary quality definitely superior to most compilations of this type. The documentation is fairly voluminous, but the absence of reference titles and author index will limit its use. The subject index is grossly inadequate. The book is well printed but one could wish for a stouter binding. Much of the book should be valuable for years and could be read with profit and more than a modicum of pleasure by chemists, physicians, and graduate students as well as by the nutritionists and physiologists who should certainly invest in personal copies." Ancel Keys
+ — J Phys & Colloid Chem 52:1268 O '48 500w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 100w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:21 Ja '48
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:219 Je '48 290w

ST GEORGE, MRS ELEANOR. Dolls of yesterday. 204p il $6 Scribner

649.55 Dolls 48-6042

A volume of information for the collector of dolls. It contains brief histories of many types of dolls, among them Springfield dolls, wooden, Schoenhut, penny dolls and frozen Charlottes, pre-Greiner and Greiner, milliner's models, fashion dolls, parian or Dresden doll heads, Jumeau and other French bisques, German bisques, Joel Ellis doll carriages, etc. Many plates. Index.

Booklist 44:278 Ap 15 '48

"For the beginner who is interested in collecting dolls, this is an excellent introduction to a hobby that has an astoundingly large number of followers. . . One could wish for a little more technical information to help in recognition of authentic old dolls, as against imitations. But the book, as it stands, fills a very real need."
+ — Kirkus 16:74 F 1 '48 210w

"Many illustrations and a full index will make this book valuable in connection with books on antiques, books on costume and books on local history. Then too, it is a delightful volume for casual inspection and adults will enjoy showing the pictures to the younger generation." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:879 Je 1 '48 100w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p31 O 17 '48 280w

"The treatment of the subject is broad and general. Probably the most valuable sections are the ones giving information on how to identify dolls of various types and discussing their care and repair." R. S. Robbins
+ N Y Times p51 D 5 '48 190w
San Francisco Chronicle p26 My 23 '48 450w

ST JOHN, ROBERT. The silent people speak. 397p $4 Doubleday

914.97 Yugoslavia—Description and travel. Reconstruction (1939-)—Yugoslavia 48-5097

"This sequel to author's From the Land of Silent People (1942) is a favorable report on present-day Jugoslavia, derived chiefly from conversations, through a woman interpreter, with all types of inhabitants, now positively loquacious. . . He was impressed by the spirit of hope among the people, by the Youth Railroad, and by the apparent religious freedom. He even has kind words for Marshal Tito, whom he did not attempt to interview." (Library J) Map on endpapers. No index.

"His book is primarily a collection of 'human interest' stories about Partisan heroes, eloquently interwoven with gruesome tales of Chetnik atrocities, neither of which are cause for canonizing Tito's regime. It is not the Silent People who give tongue, but a set of ventriloquist's dummies rattling off the Party Line."
— Atlantic 181:111 Mr '48 110w
Booklist 44:201 F 1 '48

Reviewed by L. S. Stavrianos
Chicago Sun p34 Ja 22 '48

"If readers of The Churchman want to know what the Yugoslav people are like, what is happening in that small country, what it suffered from war, what the Yugoslavs think of the world situation, including America, and whether or not the American press presents reliable information, I suggest that they buy this book. Robert St. John is a newspaperman of long experience. He is a highly trained and careful observer. Many of the facts which he presents, which run counter to much that is printed in the American press, we know to be true as a result of our own investigation." G. E. Shipler
+ Churchman 162:14 Ap 1 '48 1750w
Foreign Affairs 26:578 Ap '48 50w

"In its very contradictions, this book makes an important contribution to the picture of the Balkans. By the author of From the Land of the Silent People, it is sure of an audience."
Kirkus 15:663 D 1 '47 220w

"Book would benefit from drastic editing and larger type. . . There are many grim pictures of past atrocities and present devastation. Recommended for its view of the other side of the picture." E. F. Walbridge
+ — Library J 73:37 Ja 1 '48 100w

"Already The Silent People Speak has been compared by a hostile critic to the books that enthusiastic travelers returned from the USSR in the late twenties and early thirties used to write, extolling the progress of the Russian people in building their new world. There is a certain justice to the comparison, but the similarity is hardly the author's doing. . . St. John's book is not essentially concerned with political analysis or theory. It does not even contain an interview with Marshal Tito. The author simply traveled all over the country, talked with thousands of people and got their case histories of the war and its aftermath. . . Through their stories an interesting and thoughtful mass account emerges of savage Nazi warfare. . . It is a sympathetic, though by no means always uncritical, report." Richard Watts
New Repub 118:28 F 2 '48 1250w

"If you are interested in the Yugoslavs, their mentality, ambitions and way of life, Mr. Robert St. John is the best man around to tell you all about them and tell you well. Provided you approach his conclusions slightly skeptically and keep in mind the fact that much of his information comes directly from lips that dare to talk today, you stand to gain a great deal." M. W. Fodor

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ja 18 '48 850w

"St. John worked hard and this is, for the most part, an interesting and efficient propaganda job. It is indeed a fascinating book, but one cannot forget its slant. It sounds like an Ehrenburg guide to the United States—in reverse. . . I cannot refrain from complaining of St. John's references to the Chetniks—especially in view of the fact that not only he, but even the Russians, thought they were pretty heroic in 1941. Indeed, they deteriorated vastly through disorganization distress and political stupidity, but the fact remains that they began guerrilla resistance in Europe against the occupying Nazis. . . His hearsay accounts of wartime history in Yugoslavia are frequently somewhat perverted in accordance with what one may call the party line. . . There are other inaccuracies in this book, but the greatest distortion is moral. St. John's account of Yugoslavia to my mind is just as phony in its bias as that of a truly Fascist observer; truth can be warped from the left as well as from the right. Despite this, 'The Silent People Speak' is of immense interest, not only to me as a friend and admirer of Yugoslavia and its people regardless of political regimes but, I think, to anyone." C. L. Sulzberger

— + N Y Times p3 Ja 18 '48 1450w

New Yorker 23:83 Ja 17 '48 240w

Reviewed by E. D. Breed

San Francisco Chronicle p18 F 8 '48 950w

"In domestic policy Yugoslavia is well on its way to becoming a Soviet state; in foreign policy it has already become so; and that very Ales Bebler, Assistant Minister of Foreign Affairs, whom St. John portrays so sympathetically, has been one of the most vehement, bitter, and discourteous opponents of the United States in the meetings of the United Nations. The reader of 'The Silent People Speak' will look in vain for such elementary details. But they are relevant nonetheless, and they answer some of the questions St. John raises. Mr. St. John also shows the usual ignorance of the Balkan background, without which any understanding of present-day Yugoslavia is impossible. . . When all these criticisms have been made, however, one can still recommend 'The Silent People Speak' to readers who will not be taken in by its superficiality and pro-Communist bias. They will gain an unforgettable picture of the courage and humor of the Yugoslavs reconstructing their country, and their incredible savagery to each other during the war." R. L. Wolff

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ja 17 '48 750w

Time 51:85 Ja 12 '48 800w

ST NICHOLAS (magazine). St Nicholas anthology; ed. by Henry Steele Commager with an introd. by May Lamberton Becker. 542p il $5 Random house

810.8 Children's literature—Collections 48-10732

An anthology composed of stories, poems, puzzles, and pictures, selected from the children's magazine, St Nicholas, which ceased publication in 1939.

Booklist 45:134 D 15 '48

Cath World 168:336 Ja '49 190w

Reviewed by M. B. King

Chicago Sun N 27 '48 320w

"If you are one of the fortunate people who, month after month, pored over the Reginald Birch illustrations in Sara Crewe, or suffered the daily ups and downs of Pinkey Perkins, or measured your conduct by The Goops, you belong to the company of those for whom Christmas and St. Nicholas are synonymous this year. I venture to predict that in all the crowds of beautiful children's books that overflow the counters, none will receive a warmer welcome than The St. Nicholas Anthology." A. T. Pennell

+ Christian Science Monitor p15 D 16 '48 550w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

Christian Science Monitor p9 D 21 '48 330w

+ Commonweal 49:152 N 19 '48 130w

"Each of us will pine for unfound favorites. . . In spite of these regrets, I have wholehearted gratitude and admiration for Henry Steele Commager, and only one shocked remonstrance. He speaks, in his engaging preface, of 'St. Nick.' St. Nick, indeed! I would as soon speak of those Shakespearian tragedies, Ham and Mac. We said St. Nicholas." Anne Parrish

+ Horn Bk 25:26 Ja '49 4200w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 25:48 Ja '49 80w

"Christmas and nostalgia go together in the pleasantest way for the parents who were St. Nicholas readers and they will welcome this opportunity to pass along a generous sampling of their favorite reading."

+ Kirkus 16:572 N 1 '48 120w

Reviewed by Margaret Taylor

Library J 73:1745 D 1 '48 90w

Reviewed by Robert Bendiner

Nation 167:704 D 18 '48 550w

"The debate on the comparative value of old and new children's writing will be intensified by Commager's book. It offers an excellent opportunity for comparative study but it also contains splendid entertainment. One thing is certain about this collection: the stories are good."

+ New Repub 119:34 D 6 '48 100w

Reviewed by Emily Kimbrough

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 D 5 '48 700w

"Anthology that includes names like Dorothy Canfield, Joel Chandler Harris, Theodore Roosevelt, Jack London, Alfred Tennyson, Ellis Parker Butler, Longfellow and Lanier, Richard Harding Davis and William Dean Howells, Gladys Hasty Carroll and John Kendrick Bangs is an amazing job of compilation. It is also superbly well illustrated—by such artists as Howard Pyle, Palmer Cox, George Varian, Arthur Rackham, Cruikshank, Remington, Reginald Birch." F. P. Adams

+ N Y Times p6 N 14 '48 650w

New Yorker 24:120 D 11 '48 550w

Reviewed by J. T. Winterich

Sat R of Lit 31:36 D 4 '48 800w

"Henry Steel Commager has, with the assistance of his own children, done a great piece of editing in 'The St. Nicholas Anthology,' which bears an introduction by May Lamberton Becker, long a member and now an alumna of The Saturday Review staff." W. R. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 32:32 Ja 1 '49 550w

SALISBURY, ALBERT P. and SALISBURY, JANE S. Here rolled the covered wagons. [il. with photographs] 256p $6; ltd autog ed $6.75 Superior pub.

979 Northwest—History 48-3934

Photographs and descriptions of places of historic interest in the Pacific Northwest. "[Mr. Salisbury] does not pretend to picture the entire 'covered wagon route' so-called. What served as the basis of his selection was, as he conceived it, the desirability of getting together in one volume something about the historic spots of the region he knew, illustrating the historic facts with his photographs and arranging all the material in the form of a likely tour. This has been done in this volume, the tour beginning at Yellowstone National Park and forming a kind of circle with an alternative beginning at Weister, Idaho. Near each historic landmark the authors have chosen a town as a base point, and distances from towns to the place under discussion are given in tenths of a mile by the route the authors consider best." (San Francisco Chronicle) Selected bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:30 S 15 '48

SALISBURY, A. P.—Continued
"A fine piece of book-making."
+ Kirkus 16:333 Jl 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by L. R. Etzkorn
Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 70w

"A good many of the photographs are of landmark signs and monuments—too many, indeed, for my taste, though many readers will be glad to have these. In general the photographs reflect the viewpoint and technique of the better-than-average amateur, which again may disappoint the reader who knows something of photography but has in its favor the fact that the resulting informality suggests the reader's own approach." J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 30 '48 240w

Sat R of Lit 31:29 S 4 '48 90w

SALTEN, FELIX, comp. Favorite animal stories; il. by Fritz Eichenberg [with introd. by Ana Wyler-Salten]. 243p $3 Messner

Animals, Legends and stories of 48-9045

Fourteen of the animal stories Felix Salten liked best, chosen by his daughter. Contents: A-hunting of the deer, by C. D. Warner; Northwind, by H. R. Sass; Bingo: the story of my dog, by E. T. Seton; A day in one macaw's life, by Gustav Eckstein; Krambambuli, by Marie Von Ebner-Eschenbach; Wilderness orphan, by Dorothy Cottrell; The cat, by M. E. W. Freeman; Mary's little lamb, by W. H. Hudson; Bill Brock's good turn, by Henry Williamson; The cat that walked by himself, by Rudyard Kipling; The story of Verdun Belle, by Alexander Woollcott; The slum cat, by E. T. Seton; The mole, by Alan Devoe; For the love of a man, by Jack London.

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

"This is a superb collection."
+ Commonweal 49:152 N 19 '48 50w

Kirkus 16:343 Jl 15 '48 100w

"Highly recommended for public and high school libraries." J. L. Ross
+ Library J 73:1275 S 15 '48 130w

Sat R of Lit 31:44 N 13 '48 40w

SALTEN, FELIX. Jibby the cat. il. by Fritz Kredel. 177p $2.50 Messner

Cats—Legends and stories 48-7229

At the age of three weeks Jibby was rescued from drowning by a farmer boy. When she realized she was no longer wanted on the farm, she asserted her independence and spent months of wild hunting in the woods. Injured by buckshot, she again sought civilization and found a happy home in a sympathetic schoolmaster's household.

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

Kirkus 16:216 My 1 '48 100w

"The author of Bambi needs no recommendation as a writer of beautiful animal stories. In this one about a cat, he shows a rare understanding of that elusive and often unappreciated animal. . . For children over ten and all cat lovers." E. E. Frank
+ Library J 73:955 Je 15 '48 140w

"The realism and emotional warmth with which Felix Salten has written his earlier books is here in this book about a cat named Jibby; but the story is not as satisfying as 'Bambi.' . . Mr. Salten wrote 'Jibby, the Cat' while in exile in Switzerland during World War II. A man so gently humane, so aware of all living creatures, both animals and men, must have felt deeply the suffering that Nazism and war brought to the people of Europe. Perhaps that is why he shows a little more preoccupation with the hard things of life even in a tale of children and animals than in his other books." Irmengarde Eberle
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 11 '48 350w

"Written by the late Felix Salten during his wartime sojourn in Switzerland, this rueful little case-history of a female feline's coming-of-age seems more notebook than integrated story." Wilbur Watson
— N Y Times p14 Je 6 '48 190w

"As a story it has a touch of both comedy and tragedy. It will probably appeal to anyone, young or old, who is interested in animals." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 Jl 10 '48 70w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 120w

Wis Lib Bul 44:168 O '48

SALTER, SIR JAMES ARTHUR. Personality in politics; studies of contemporary statesmen. 253p $3.50 Macmillan

923.2 Personality. Statesmen

Presents brief portraits of twenty-two outstanding political leaders of contemporary times, all of them known to the author in his career in the British Civil service, as professor at Oxford, and as member of Parliament. Among those included are Balfour, Lloyd George, MacDonald, Neville Chamberlain, Churchill, Bryce, Wilson, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Index.

Reviewed by Paul Knaplund
Ann Am Acad 260:196 N '48 420w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 13 '48 600w

Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:942 Je 15 '48 130w

"The character sketches of some of those figures that are given in this animated book are drawn by a man of independent and penetrating mind with a terse and vivid style. The reflections on politics are all the more interesting because, as the second world crisis followed so quickly on the first, Sir Arthur Salter can judge decisions taken twenty years ago in the light of results." J. L. Hammond
+ Manchester Guardian p3 N 4 '47 650w

Reviewed by R. H. S. Crossman
New Statesman & Nation 34:434 N 29 '47 270w

"This book is in part autobiographical, and has the leisurely flow of recollection and anecdote that is part of such writing. Perhaps Sir Arthur will take heart from the good reception this little book has already had in England, and give us a full autobiography. It may well be true that autobiography is the great literary vice of our time. . . But too few men with Sir Arthur's gifts for the analysis of character—and of ideas—, with his wide acquaintance of people who get things done, and with his great experience of the world, have written autobiographies. The historian, at least, will hope that Sir Arthur will continue in one form or another his contributions." Crane Brinton
+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 Jl 31 '48 650w

"As a whole the book gains charm and point from the large and generous views with which the writer surveys his personalities."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p624 D 6 '47 650w

SALTER, LEONARD AUSTIN. Critical review of research in land economics. 258p $4 Univ. of Minn

333.7 Land. Land utilization 48-2149

"This book is a doctoral dissertation that was published posthumously. It was written, however, by a mature scholar, whose life was tragically ended by a Chicago hotel fire in 1946. . . The first two chapters give a brief, historical account of the growth of land economics as a field of specialization in economics. . . The third chapter gives Salter's position on scientific method and social science. . . Chapters V, VI, and VII give Salter's conclusions from his scrutiny of 500 separate reports of research, of which 125 were singled out for separate analysis and comments. He covered the great bulk of the published researches in the field of land economics. With fewer than ten exceptions, he found them all wanting in terms of the criteria of scientific research that he accepted. The last two chapters trace changes in emphasis in research in land economics and give certain conclusions that he reached in the study." (Am Econ R) Index.

"It is not easy to disentangle from this work just how Salter believed research in land economics should be undertaken. We have no quarrel with the broad outlines of research method which he outlines. But this method is applicable to all scientific research and does not tell us how to tackle research problems in a specific area. . . This book, while largely negative in its tone, should prove worth while to agricultural economists and to individuals interested in urban land utilization. Every important field of social science research needs a painstaking review of its past efforts, such as was provided by Salter. One may hope that a decade hence land economics research will indicate the impact of this book." D. G. Johnson
+ — Am Econ R 38:708 S '48 700w

Reviewed by J. D. Black
Ann Am Acad 260:222 N '48 650w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:164 Je '48 300w

SAMSON, DON, ed. Teen-age aviation stories. 252p $2.50 Lantern press (N Y)
48-8813

"Except for a very short introductory story of Blériot's first landing at Dover, these eighteen stories are all up to date, even including one of a supersonic test flight. There are stories of pilots overcoming fear, of emergencies, of a dog that saved a B-29, and a rabbit's foot that saved a squadron. The stories are set in Ecuador, Labrador, the Pacific and Europe, as well as in the U. S. A. . . Seven are war stories. A few are humorous." N Y Times

Kirkus 16:484 S 15 '48 60w

"Eighteen [stories], all well written by good authors. . . Recommended." M. A. Webb
+ Library J 73:1828 D 15 '48 50w

"Although [the stories] range from the mediocre to the excellent, all are brisk and full of detail." F. C. Smith
N Y Times p49 N 21 '48 140w

SAMUEL, MAURICE. Prince of the ghetto. 294p $3 Knopf
B or 92 Peretz, Isaac Loeb 48-8435

A collection of stories, fantasies, and accounts of the struggles of the Jews in Poland, as mirrored in the writings of Isaac Loeb Peretz. The first chapter is a sketch of Peretz, the man, called the Prince of the Ghetto. There are two chapters on the Yiddish language; and a biographical note on Peretz.

Reviewed by J. J. Weinstein
Chicago Sun p20 N 2 '48 500w

Kirkus 16:385 Ag 1 '48 150w

"In Peretz' best-known tale, 'The Silent Bontsche,' literature achieves one of its triumphs of poignancy. . . But those who prefer life to tidiness will find in 'A Bass Viol' that the combination is heady and the taste it arouses for Peretz intoxicating. I have read it aloud and raised gooseflesh on the kind of person who writes exquisitely for 'The New Yorker.' Perhaps it is well that the second section of the book, which retails a few of the stories revealing the cleft in the souls of men who were partly Jews and partly Europeans, is a let-down. . . Mr. Samuel's concluding essays on the genius of the Yiddish language are delightfully informative to an outsider—and liable to plunge a few experts into a purple rage." Marvin Lowenthal
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 D 19 '48 1350w

"The tales of Peretz show his love of the ancient traditions of his race, the richness of his fancy and gnomic wisdom. In these charming fables, animals talk, people shuttle between this world and the next, and Satan sends his craftiest emissaries to wrestle for possession of unwary souls. . . Peretz' charming stories of the Chassidists are marked by blitheness and humor, by loving-kindness and a simple-hearted pleasure in life." Mary McGrory
+ N Y Times p43 O 17 '48 500w

SAMUELS, ERNEST. Young Henry Adams. 378p $4.50 Harvard univ. press
B or 92 Adams, Henry 48-10525

A factual study of the life of Henry Adams, from 1854 to 1877. It traces his development as a writer and thinker during his earlier years. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:157 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by Theodore Kalem
Christian Science Monitor p11 D 30 '48 1200w

"Well-meant but rather plodding biography. . . Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.
Nation 167:727 D 25 '48 1000w

Reviewed by F. O. Matthiessen
New Repub 119:30 D 6 '48 1350w

"'The Young Henry Adams' is . . . a capital achievement. Mr. Samuels . . . has inquired into the sources of Adams's historical and philosophical theories. He has found at least a partial answer to the question why Adams turned out to be the kind of person he was." H. S. Commager
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 N 21 '48 1550w

"Written in a scholarly, highly restrained manner and shows clearly the results of much painstaking research." H. D. Cater
+ N Y Times p14 D 5 '48 800w

New Yorker 24:59 D 25 '48 230w

Reviewed by R. E. Spiller
Sat R of Lit 31:15 D 18 '48 550w

School & Society 68:312 O 30 '48 40w

SAMUELSON, PAUL ANTHONY. Economics, an introductory analysis. 622p $4.50 McGraw
330 Economics 48-7089

An introductory textbook, designed for a two-semester course, but adaptable also for a one-semester course in economics. The author is professor of economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Index.

"It is addressed primarily to the non-economist who wants to do what he can with the subject in a single course, rather than to the apprentice economist who needs an 'introduction' to open the door to more advanced courses. Consequently, it should also be serviceable to the lay reader who wants to know what economists have to offer. But the level of workmanship is such that the minority of 'principles' students who are already committed to go further with economics will not feel they are being trifled with. . . In presentation, the author has done wonders in steering clear of all avoidable pitfalls. The use of mathematics is held to an irreducible minimum. . . Admitting that we lack a fully matured theory of economic dynamics, surely the dynamic side need not be left so completely blank. Samuelson has no discussion of the planning of future operations within business units. . . The listing of weaknesses should not obscure the virtues of the book." A. G. Hart
+ — Am Econ R 38:910 D '48 2350w

"Samuelson's 'Economics' has a snappy style which may be appreciated by some. It drops to wisecracks at times. The language or use of words is too often shaky and inaccurate. And not unrelated to these characteristics is its glorification of ignorance. . . The book has some good points in theory, such as its treatment of the price system, the recognition that the dollar has no single value and that the quantity theory has some weaknesses, and the statement that social ends must be left to philosophy, 'public opinion,' etc. . . But the main slant is opposed to these good points." L. H. Haney
— + Ann Am Acad 260:221 N '48 550w

SAMUELSON, PAUL ANTHONY. Foundations of economic analysis. 447p $7.50 Harvard univ. press
330.182 Economics, Mathematical 47-11255

"The first part of this study devotes eight chapters to the static theory of consumption

SAMUELSON, P. A.—Continued
and production and of welfare economics. The analysis follows the modern insistence that the Marshallian approach to utility is inadmissible. The second part of the book, containing four chapters, moves toward a dynamic analysis, and provides the logical foundation for modern mathematical business cycle analysis. The main contribution is the generalization and systematization of economic thought which the book achieves." U S Quarterly Bkl

Reviewed by L. A. Metzler
Am Econ R 38:905 D '48 3000w

"An attempt on the part of one of the most brilliant of contemporary young economists to 'unify large sectors of present day economic theory' by bringing to light 'formal uniformities' of analysis in various areas of economic theory. The analysis is largely mathematical and the title of the book should not mislead neophytes into tackling it, since to follow the argument requires at least a knowledge of matrices and difference equations, as well as an intensive grounding in economic theory. The book does much to bring together and unify various propositions that previously have been scattered throughout the literature." L. C. Fitch
+ Pol Sci Q 63:474 S '48 380w

"Most economists are concerned with solving problems and discovering a basis for policy recommendations. Professor Samuelson is concerned chiefly with questions of method, and this work is a wholesome complement to the equally important work of others who are concerned with results."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:47 Mr '48 160w

SANDBURG, CARL. Remembrance rock. 1067p $5 Harcourt
48-8509

Long historical novel which attempts to tell the story of the American dream in terms of some of the people who have been responsible for furthering it. The book is divided into three sections. The first describes the life and times of the Pilgrim fathers; the second is about the north Atlantic seaboard during the Revolutionary period; and the third section is about the Middle West during the 1850's and the Civil war period. The prolog and epilog are set in the America of our own day.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 183:85 Ja '49 480w
Booklist 45:51 O 1 '48

"Let us say at the start that this very long epic novel is a disappointing one and the measure of its disappointment is proportionate to the greatness of its conception. . . On the credit side, this book is noble in intention. Its ideas are developed with a graciousness and a fine tolerance. Yet this does not counterbalance the defects in form and pattern which have been noted." V. A. Hopkins
+ — Cath World 168:330 Ja '49 300w

Reviewed by Lloyd Lewis
Chicago Sun p7X O 3 '48 800w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p8X O 10 '48 1150w

"The book is full of moving and unforgettable passages. What Sandburg is trying to do, it is clear, is to reassure younger Americans, particularly those in the generation that fought the recent war, of their country's greatness, and of the abiding worth of the contribution they have made to its future. Unfortunately, it is doubtful whether many of that generation will read a novel of 1067 pages. But those who do, and their elders likewise, will be richly rewarded." P. H.
+ Christian Century 65:1082 O 13 '48 280w

"Here, for the first time, is an American novel comparable with the greatest—one which should certainly take its place beside Tolstoy's 'War and Peace.' . . 'Remembrance Rock' is a rich and perceptive embodiment of the American dream, a measured epic of the quest for individual freedom and selfrealization that began with the pilgrims in England, four years after the death of Queen Elizabeth. Yet it is as contemporary as the embittered young veteran returning from World War II, who is one of their direct descendants." P. O'D. Hormel
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 500w

Reviewed by O. D. Hormel
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 21 '48 1250w

Reviewed by J. P. Blank
Churchman 162:16 N 15 '48 150w
Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"Carl Sandburg in his hulking new novel is often in the realistic Roberts vein. His impulsion is patriotic. . . To my mind Carl Sandburg's most successful reconstruction is that of the Pilgrim period—the issues were clearer then and the reader (and author) is in the first flurry of enthusiasm. Also Remember Spong is, appropriately, the most memorable of his heroines." E. S. Skillin
+ Commonweal 48:621 O 8 '48 1300w

"A book that rewards one for the desert of inadequate books in recent months—the book one could hope might come from a wise and understanding and tolerant man. . . The book is written as only Sandburg could write it. It is the book of a poet, an historian, a biographer, a storyteller."
+ Kirkus 16:447 S 1 '48 220w

"Rich in the local color, folk speech and folk wisdom of its times, the novel is a prodigious effort to recover the past; and, with the respect and affection it shows for many generations of Americans, a monumental contribution to the literature of patriotism." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:1385 O 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 167:500 O 30 '48 650w

"As a work of art 'Remembrance Rock' stands beside Sandburg's biography of Lincoln, and as a personal expression it is his fullest, ripest tribute to the dreamers and seekers who have followed 'the blood-scarlet thread of America's destiny' that always stretches, as he says, into the Unknown—the people who have remained unswamped by fate and undulled by self-satisfaction." Lloyd Lewis
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 O 10 '48 1450w

"The reiteration of his triangular drama is tedious. The effect is to show, unmistakably, some of the things a Bard falls short of—when he tries to construct a novel out of no more intelligible or dramatic a comprehension of the past than his blind assurance that 'Life goes on.'. . Whether wittingly or unwittingly, Carl Sandburg has written within the conventions of the panoramic film in technicolor. There is no more disheartening comment upon our era than to discover that at this point in his career the author of 'Smoke and Steel' has lent himself to these maudlin devices." Perry Miller
N Y Times p1 O 10 '48 1050w

"The entire performance, complete with an epilogue urging us to be worthy of the heroes of the vignettes, runs for more than a thousand pages, and is sonorous, right-minded, and passing dull."
New Yorker 24:128 O 9 '48 100w

"The Civil War portion most of all, is finely done. The concept is noble; the sweep of the entire work is broad and inclusive; the author has something to say and says it, in general, with Whitmanesque simplicity and scope. At the same time, this being a novel, there are weak bits in it. If a work is planned as a novel there is inescapably the requirement that it should flow steadily, that episodes, interpolations which do not further this flow and do not contribute to the forward movement, should be rigidly excluded. Mr. Sandburg has not applied this rule with sufficient care." J. H. Jackson
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p22 O 10 '48 1500w

"A bare statement of the themes cannot suggest the tremendous detail, the impressive historical research, the endless variety of allegorical personifications of various national traits and characteristics, the song, the high romance, the salty humor, the flights of lyricism, the great folk pattern of each of these panels. At the same time it must be admitted that despite all the fire Mr. Sandburg has breathed into the huge gallery of his people and despite all the efforts he has made to function as a relaxed, human storyteller rather than a definitive historian, his portrayals of each of these periods of American life are somehow static." William Soskin

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:14 O 9 '48 1050w

"Even after realizing that Mr. Sandburg's book has fallen short of its primary goal, what remains is of more than usual validity. The three major parts of the novel are masterpieces of period reconstruction, slowly paced but as delicately colored as ancient parchments, each figure as precise as an old master's, each background a mosaic of perfection. Mr. Sandburg has shown us truly and with great beauty how America has looked, but not why; he has proposed the correct thesis, but has been unable to present all the proof." R. F. H.
+ — Springf'd Republican p9B O 17 '48 550w

Reviewed by Gertrude Springer
Survey G 37:513 D '48 900w

"The novel that Orville Windom's grandchildren find in his strongbox after his death is not a very good novel. In fact, a reader not sharing their family interest might be tempted to say that it is the worst novel he has ever read. It is, however, the sort of novel a distinguished Supreme Court Justice might write. It is an extraordinary mixture of learning and naiveté, of self-conscious poeticizing and shrewd observation, with dim characters wandering about in a grey, dreamlike fog, bumping into ghosts bearing the names of historical personages. . . In its broad outlines, Remembrance Rock seems the sort of book that U.S. critics have always asked for. . . But it is in its attempt to fulfill the epic sweep that Remembrance Rock fails."
— + Time 52:108 O 11 '48 850w
Wis Lib Bul 44:185 N '48

SANDOE, JAMES, ed. Murder: plain and fanciful; with some milder malefactions; written by divers hands. 628p $3.50 Sheridan
364 Murder. Crime and criminals 48-5539

Twenty-eight accounts of crime in England or America. Some of the collection are factual, others fictional. The editor has included a section devoted to fictional treatments of actual crimes, and a bibliography of tales and plays based on some degree on real crimes.

"Mr. Sandoe is the least showy, least egotistical, and most thoroughly learned bibliographer of crime literature in the United States. . . The scholar in murder, as in other things, has a quality of his own. At the end of Mr. Sandoe's book, to make up for anything it may happen to lack, is a strange dossier called the Criminal Clef, such a thing as only a Taine or Sainte-Beuve of criminal literature could have known enough to put together. It is a sort of bibliography or card index of the origins in recorded fact of far too many famous or near-famous fictional stories of murder. To a fiction writer it is fascinating but also a very humbling document." Raymond Chandler
+ Atlantic 181:110 Ap '48 1350w

Reviewed by Anthony Boucher
Chicago Sun p8 F 22 '48 200w
Kirkus 16:129 Mr 1 '48 170w
New Yorker 24:88 F 28 '48 100w

"We'd call this one an absolute necessity for every well-equipped bedside table." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 Mr 21 '48 250w

"Intelligent and interesting collection notable for large amount of good, previously uncollected material and editor's erudite terminal notes."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:35 F 28 '48 40w

"James Sandoe has spotted a number of likely malefactions overlooked by his predecessors in the field. Mr. Sandoe has brought to his book a somewhat more erudite viewpoint. . . Addicts who cringe at the sight of anything paler than gore have no reason to seek redder fields, for Mr. Sandoe has provided plenty of good solid butchery along with his literary excursions." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 14 '48 300w

SANTA'S footprints, and other Christmas stories; il. by Christine Price. 156p $2 Aladdin
Christmas stories 48-10014

Contents: Santa's footprints, by Walter Retan; The Christmas lantern, by Cornelia Spencer; The Pottlebys' Christmas promise, by Gertrude Crampton; At the stroke of Christmas, by Aileen Fisher; The music box, by Winifred Bromhall; Slunkey's Christmas, by E. L. Brock; The Christmas elf, by Elizabeth Yates; A gift for Gramps, by Aileen Fisher; The Christmas tree, by K. B. Shippen; His birthday, by W. R. Brooks; The wonderful mistake, by Barbara Chapman; The wren, by M. R. Walsh.

"First rate reading for parents, teachers and library story hour."
+ Kirkus 16:525 O 1 '48 80w

"Several distinguished writers are represented in this Christmas anthology for younger children. There is a modern feeling in the stories and an original slant to a few that is fresh. . . Unfortunately, the format does not add to the attractiveness of the book. Recommended." H. M. Brogan
+ Library J 73:1601 N 1 '48 70w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 14 '48 140w

SARGENT, JOHN HENRY. 63 popular parables for young folks; with prayers and Bible messages. 139p $1.50 Wilde
252 Parables—Juvenile literature. Children's sermons 48-9008

A collection of the author's talks to the children of his congregation. A prayer and Scriptural selections complete each parable. There is an index of the parable teachings: Character building, Christmas, communion, cooperation, Easter, friendliness, habits, missions, prayer, reliability, right thinking, service, and trustworthiness.

Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 30w

"While [parables'] ethical and spiritual value is discernible, the quality of extemporaneous composition detracts from their value. The style does not lend itself to ready memorization or effective quotation, since the expression so obviously belongs to the author alone. Protestant group leaders may find the topical selections of scriptural passages and prayers of value in planning programs." H. M. Brogan
Library J 73:1826 D 15 '48 100w

SARMIENTO, DOMINGO FAUSTINO. Anthology; tr. from the Spanish by Stuart Edgar Grummon; ed. with introd. and notes, by Allison Williams Bunkley. 336p $5 Princeton univ. press
868.998

"Domingo Faustino Sarmiento (1811-88), Argentine schoolmaster and President, made outstanding educational, political, and literary contributions to his country. He rendered this service despite the fact that much of his life was spent in exile in Chile because of political conditions in Argentina. He is not too well known in this country, hence this volume is designed to familiarize American readers with the man and his achievements. . . The introduction to the volume by Mr. Bunkley gives a brief biography of Sarmiento and portrays his character and achievements. . . The major portion of the book comprises selections from the fifty-two volumes of Sarmiento's published works." Ann Am Acad

"Written for the English reader, the book meets all requirements: a factual and carefully developed introduction, wise selections, and excellent translation." M. V. Campbell
+ Am Hist R 53:914 Jl '48 250w

SARMIENTO, D. F.—Continued
Reviewed by W. S. Stokes
Am Pol Sci R 42:610 Je '48 270w

"The translation by Mr. Grummon is very satisfactory, setting forth in English the ideas which Sarmiento so well expressed in Spanish. In rare instances exception may be taken to a specific rendering. A Sarmiento Anthology serves its purpose of making the great Argentine educator and statesman better known to Americans, and thus contributes to the fuller development of friendly relations between Argentina and the United States." R. R. Hill
\+ Ann Am Acad 257:226 My '48 380w

"The selections in the present volume, together with Mr. Bunkley's 40-page biographical introduction, are enough to give a good picture of the life and work of this admirable man and of the cultural situation with which he dealt, but they leave the reader with an appetite for an even fuller acquaintance with him. . . This forgotten man—if he really has been forgotten —should be remembered." W. E. Garrison
\+ Christian Century 65:274 Mr 3 '48 850w
Current Hist 15:40 Jl '48 60w

Reviewed by R. S. Smith
J Pol Econ 56:551 D '48 600w

Reviewed by Mildred Adams
Nation 166:444 Ap 24 '48 900w

"The 'Anthology' is alike interesting to those who would understand Argentina and those who would understand the United States. And the generous excerpts from the 'Life of Facundo Quiroga' are representative of one of the great romantic historical-sociological works of our hemisphere. . . It is high time that literate North Americans got to know Sarmiento and they could not ask for a better introduction than this 'Sarmiento Anthology'." B. D. Wolfe
\+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ag 8 '48 1100w

"Sarmiento's judgments were not all correct. He saw the United States as the only place on earth where there was room for endless expansion without fear of poverty. . . He makes occasional factual mistakes, but his observations are shrewd, good-humored and fundamentally sound." Milton Bracker
\+ N Y Times p5 Ap 18 '48 600w

"This volume is interesting, but perhaps not as important as the editor seems to think. The trouble is that Mr. Bunkley has claimed too much for his hero, and thereby done him no service. Sarmiento was ambitious, energetic, intellectually alert, industrious, courageous, and versatile. . . But Mr. Bunkley introduces him as a 'universal man' and an 'all-around genius,' and subsequently speaks of him as a 'titan' and 'one of the great geniuses of the nineteenth century.' This is, to say the least, ill-considered. . . Most readers to whom this anthology is addressed will be best pleased, I think, by Sarmiento's pictures of the United States in the 1840's and 1860's. He was a vigorous, observant, adventurous traveler, and a spirited reporter." B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 31:25 Ap 24 '48 1050w

Reviewed by W. W. Brickman
School & Society 67:481 Je 26 '48 360w

SARSFIELD, MAUREEN. Party for Lawty [Eng title: Dinner for none]. 250p $2.50 Coward-McCann
48-6043

Detective story.

"Here's a sort of caricature of The Circular Staircase in modern dress—or undress. Better in the build-up than in the breakdown, but keeps you reading."
Kirkus 16:35 Ja 15 '48 90w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ap 4 '48 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 Mr 28 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p26 My 2 '48 20w

"Entertaining no end is Lawty's 'Party.'" E. D. Doyle
\+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Jl 4 '48 40w

"Crazy—but effective."
Sat R of Lit 31:32 Je 12 '48 40w

"The book is largely a conversation piece, sophisticated and of the English drawing room school." D. F. M.
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 4 '48 110w

SARTON, GEORGE. Introduction to the history of science; v3, Science and learning in the fourteenth century; pub. for the Carnegie inst. of Washington. 2pts 2,155p $20 Williams & Wilkins

509 Science—History. Scientists (27-11418)

"Volume I of this undated monumental work covered two thousand years from Homer to Omar Khayyam. Volume II covered the human scene from Rabbi Ben Ezra to Roger Bacon. The present work is in two parts, comprising 2,155 pages and is concerned with the extremely important fourteenth century. There is presented the development of human knowledge with historical, philosophical and cultural backgrounds; astronomy, physics, geography, natural history, medicine, sociology and philology. The first chapter in each volume is an authoritative essay upon the subject in general." (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) For volume I see Book Review Digest 1928, for volume II, 1932.

"This is the latest addition to a magnificent literary ideal and should hold first place as a supremely readable source book in the minds of men of culture in every walk of life, in every nation." William Beebe
\+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p32 N 14 '48 800w

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
\+ N Y Times p6 N 28 '48 1500w

SARTON, GEORGE. Life of science; essays in the history of civilization; foreword by Max H. Fisch. (Life of science lib) 197p $3 Schuman

504 Science—History. Civilization 48-9147

"Collection of essays in the history of civilization by the world's outstanding historian of science, bringing to life a number of famous scientists or philosophers or historians of science. A keynote volume in 'The Life of Science Library.' Indexed." School & Society

Reviewed by T. L. Rettger
Chem & Eng N 27:102 Ja 10 '49 300w

Reviewed by Herbert Nichols
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 1000w

"These essays show a breadth and depth of scholarship refreshing in these times of narrow specialization. . . Recommended." Walter Hausdorfer
\+ Library J 73:943 Je 15 '48 110w
Nation 167:674 D 11 '48 20w

"Pages so full of charm, accuracy and stimulation as those in this volume almost defy concrete, controlled criticism. Perhaps stimulation is the factor most potent to the reader." William Beebe
\+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 D 5 '48 550w
N Y Times p34 N 14 '48 800w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes
Sat R of Lit 32:15 Ja 1 '49 1050w
School & Society 68:287 O 23 '48 40w

SARTON, MAY. The lion and the rose; poems. 104p $2 Rinehart

811 48-5806

Poems written by the author during the past ten years. They are divided into the following sections: Theme and variations; American landscapes; The work of happiness; Love poems; To the living; Celebrations.

Booklist 44:266 Ap 1 '48

"Miss Sarton's work is marked by a kind of delicate passion, which often makes up for a certain weakness of technique. . . Like so many women poets, her poems are not held together by any ordered continuity of thought, but the individual poems are spontaneous and finely wrought. The title poem is particularly noteworthy."

Kirkus 16:44 Ja 15 '48 230w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Jl 4 '48 360w

"Miss Sarton's poetry is most successful when its content is religious and its method most parsimonious. . . In unfortunate contrast to the achieved tension of the religious poems is the limpness of those in the group entitled 'Work of Happiness'—the task of creating and the delight of enjoying beauty. Like most poems too conscious of 'beauty' and of the necessity for being beautiful, the world they reflect seems that of the ivory tower." Francis McCarthy

+ — N Y Times p18 Ag 15 '48 450w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 13 '48 60w

"One wonders at the extreme simplicity of [Miss Sarton's] statement (for such simplicity needs courage), and the more one wonders the more one is aware of the great gifts set forth in 'The Lion and the Rose.' Here every part of a poem contributes to the whole. . . This book is a fine example of what an exquisite sense of form can give to contemporary verse, for it is full of pure poetry written by one who has not substituted correct ideas and enlightened opinions for a creative talent. . . 'The Lion and the Rose' is an achievement of the first quality. Here is a writer who has let nothing escape her. Whatever life-images Miss Sarton chooses to turn into poetry become poetry. Her work is worth the admiring attention of everyone who considers himself a reader." Martha Bacon

+ Sat R of Lit 31:50 Ap 17 '48 490w

SARTRE, JEAN PAUL. Anti-Semite and Jew; tr. by George J. Becker. [Eng. title: Portrait of the anti-Semite]. 153p $2.75 Schocken

296 Jews. Jews—Political and social conditions 48-9237

"An analysis of anti-Semitism and some tactical advice to its victims. It is [M. Sartre's] opinion that the Jew, instead of trying to accommodate himself to the movements of the Christian crowd, should stand on his Jewishness and strike out at the two root causes of anti-Semitism—a class society and the bourgeois doctrine of private property. In support of his proposed battle plan, M. Sartre points out that no man's freedom is secure while anti-Semitism is abroad." New Yorker

Booklist 45:130 D 15 '48

"[A] fervent and brilliant challenge to anti-Semitism." Alfred Werner

+ N Y Times p46 N 14 '48 500w

"One of this author's most distinguished performances."

+ New Yorker 24:178 D 4 '48 100w

"The founder of Existentialism, and the author of a current Broadway hit 'The Respectful Prostitute,' here examines the problem of anti-Semitism, and after some rather routine and commonly expressed sentiments (clothed in modern psychological jargon) about anti-Semites in general, the author reaches a conclusion which can best be described by saying that it is a conclusion that will greatly please all Marxists." C. W. W.

San Francisco Chronicle p16 D 19 '48 400w

"It would be possible to list exceptions to all M. Sartre's statements, but one grows sick of the whole argument; there is a sort of brassiness that comes out of it, and one longs only for silence. M. Sartre's book is objectionable because it is the vehicle of emotions which are being falsely rationalised and which are, when looked at closely, rather neurotic." Stevie Smith

— Spec 181:772 D 10 '48 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p630 N 6 '48 330w

SARTRE, JEAN PAUL. Chips are down. (Les jeux sont faits) tr. by Louise Varèse. 187p $2.75 Lear

48-10358

Novel based on the author's scenario for a French film. A wealthy woman and a revolutionary fall in love after they have died. Article 140 in the rules for the dead allows them to return to life if after a trial period of twenty-four hours they still love each other completely. Perfect confidence proves impossible as both have other pressing commitments from their former existences. They return to the world of the dead indifferent to each other.

Booklist 45:193 F 1 '49

" 'The Chips Are Down' assaults us—with its vulgar fatalism, its meretricious moral melodrama—as very few screened films have dared to assault us. And it also assaults us with some of the most crude and sentimental of camera tricks." Albert Guerard, Jr.

— + Nation 167:608 N 27 '48 1050w

"This novel was written as the basis for a scenario for a film recently produced in France. This fact may be partial justification for M. Sartre's use of dizzying flash-backs, deus ex machina, newsreel style, and shock devices of a kind not usually associated with the novel per se. But the looser demands of scenario writing seem rather to expose the author's poverty of invention, the muddiness of his philosophical intention and vagueness of characterization." Patricia Blake

— N Y Times p46 N 14 '48 320w

"A tidy little exercise in both Sartrean morality and ingenious movie construction."

+ New Yorker 24:178 D 4 '48 160w

"The trouble with 'The Chips Are Down' is probably one with which we are all too familiar in this country: it was written specifically and primarily as a cinema story, and only secondarily as a novel. . . There is no valid reason why the method shouldn't be as good as any other—except that it is not the story of a very good movie. The book is, in fact, not unlike a well-paced, slickly produced picture, with many moments of excitement or emotion, but basically meretricious." Vance Bourjaily

— + San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 550w

SARTRE, JEAN PAUL. The emotions, outline of a theory; tr. from the French by Bernard Frechtman. 97p $2.75 Philosophical lib.

157 Emotions 48-9080

"In this small volume the eminent French philosopher develops a new theory of psychological interpretation. Delving into the 'magic' of the emotional process, he analyzes the roles which fear, lust, melancholy and anguish play in the life of man, and what is the true reality of conscious life." (Publisher's note) Index.

"There may be difficulties in the translation. There are some awkward and ambiguous sentences; and the vocabulary is so full of undefined Husserlian terms, like 'neomatical,' that part of the text is rough going. . . The illustrations Sartre gives are brilliant and he has illuminated at least one aspect of emotion." D. D. Williams

+ — Christian Century 65:1304 D 1 '48 1200w

Reviewed by Vance Bourjaily

San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 450w

SARTRE, JEAN PAUL. Psychology of imagination. 285p $3.75 Philosophical lib.

155 Imagination 48-7310

Psychological studies on the imagination. The author's thesis is that "our consciousness is able spontaneously to produce mental

SARTRE, J. P.—Continued
images. Consciousness, that is, asserts itself not only in perceiving the real, but in calling forth the imaginary." Sat R of Lit

Reviewed by Arthur Child
Ethics 59:74 O '48 360w

"This book fails, not perhaps because the author has not found the answers to our questions, but because he does not tell us clearly what the answers are. And if he cannot tell us the answers, how can we know that he knows them? No, this is not the book we have been waiting for; but it is a book for which one day we may be grateful. In every chapter the reader may glimpse through the dense verbal thickets flashes of brilliant light. It well may be that with such enticement some other author will be the first to tell us what Sartre was the first to see." C. A. Mace
— + Hibbert J 47:99 O '48 950w

'In places the analysis is very astute, but on the whole, one is reminded of William James' observation that 'there are imaginations, not "The Imagination."' A great many points made depend upon reports Sartre offers about his own imagination, some of which do not check with other people's reports. . . One gets the impression that Sartre undertook these psychological studies not so much in the spirit of fresh inquiry as to confirm metaphysical theses held on other grounds and subsequently elaborated elsewhere." Sidney Hook
N Y Times p16 Jl 11 '48 850w

"The book, naturally, makes considerable demands on the reader, but anyone interested in philosophical psychology should find it instructive."
New Yorker 24:68 Jl 10 '48 120w

San Francisco Chronicle p10 Jl 11 '48 210w

Reviewed by Siegfried Kracauer
Sat R of Lit 31:22 Je 26 '48 900w

SARTRE, JEAN PAUL. The wall, and other stories; tr. by Lloyd Alexander. ltd ed 270p $7.50 New directions
48-9642

A volume of short stories written in 1939 by the French existentialist leader. They are stories of frustration and despair, illustrating the author's philosophy. Contents: The wall; The room; Erostratus; Intimacy; The childhood of a leader.

"The most impressive thing about the book, rising from it like a stench, is a disgust for life, a sense of universal defilement. The insistence on the physical in the stories is indistinguishable from an aversion to it. 'God, how rotten love is.' . . In one of these stories ('The Childhood of a Leader'), the author maintains an ironic detachment from his subject and for this reason it is by far the best in the book. In the others the original impact and final weakness is the immediacy with which we participate in the experience of disgust. At a rare best, this is the disgust of Swift for the Yahoos; more frequently, it is the cloacal obsession of infancy." John Farrelly
New Repub 120:24 Ja 24 '49 320w

"As unpleasant a gallery of sales types as one is likely to meet up with. The only remotely normal people involved are to be found in the title piece."
— + New Yorker 24:107 D 18 '48 140w

"In four out of his five stories the author deals closely, and necessarily, with the details of his characters' sex lives. It is, therefore, perhaps, not a volume which should be circulated indiscriminately, and a limited and expensive edition will bar it much more effectively from the seekers of vicarious excitement than will its inevitable ban in Boston, while making publication financially possible. The stories themselves are uniformly excellent of their kind." Vance Bourjaily
San Francisco Chronicle p12 D 19 '48 800w

"Sartre's style is a thin, derivative brew of Hemingway, Faulkner, Dos Passos and simplified Joyce. It is hard to feel sorry for his gallery of modern misfits, even hard to remember them, probably because he has simply wrenched them out of life's context to illustrate his philosophy of despair. His stories have the effect of leaving the reader temporarily as debilitated as his characters. The feeling doesn't last long. A glance at any familiar living face dissipates it."
— Time 52:66 D 27 '48 500w

SASSOON, SIEGFRIED. Meredith. 269p $3.50 Viking
B or 92 Meredith, George 48-8957

A critical biography of George Meredith, the Victorian poet and novelist, whose work is beginning to come to notice again, forty years after his death. Index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:112 D '48 600w

Booklist 45:177 Ja 15 '49

Reviewed by Eric Forbes-Boyd
Christian Science Monitor p11 D 23 '48 900w

"Mr. Sassoon has written a thoroughly honest biography of George Meredith. There is no doubt as to the genuine affection that prompted it, and it is all the more valuable because of the author's amused detachment and unflinching penetration. Siegfried Sassoon sings no paeans, shouts no admonitions to the reader (legion, in very truth) who has never had the patience nor the desire to finish a Meredith poem, let alone a novel. He is not attempting to sell this British novelist and poet. It is, rather, an exhibition of forgotten, hence tarnished, beauties and truths." Elizabeth Johnson
Commonweal 49:124 N 12 '48 600w

Kirkus 16:429 Ag 15 '48 180w

"Admirable critical biography, treating its subject with clarity, humor, and insight. . . Recommended for most libraries." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:1191 S 1 '48 140w

"Will be read with pleasure by many with whom (like the author) Meredith has never been out of fashion; whether it will make converts is another question. . . One may hope that Mr. Sassoon's story will bring many fresh readers to share his enjoyment of a great mind; and one of them, perhaps, to write a profounder (though not a pleasanter) book than this." P. J. M.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 21 '48 420w

"Mr. Sassoon sees and appreciates Meredith, but he cannot capture him. And though Mr. Sassoon's book is probably the best of the lives, it falls short of its possibilities. For Meredith himself has written the definitive work." Joseph Kraft
+ — Nation 167:526 N 6 '48 950w

Reviewed by V. S. Pritchett
New Statesman & Nation 36:329 O 16 '48 1900w

"Mr. Sassoon . . . in his relaxed and unassuming way gentles the reader into the perception that Meredith was a human being of extraordinary interest, an author with fresh and vigorous ideas trying to gain a hearing from a stodgy Victorian public and winning tardy recognition as a grand old man of letters in spite of his unconciliating literary manner. I do not think that Mr. Sassoon ever encountered George Meredith in the flesh as he did Thomas Hardy, but he has collected so many recollections of him and told so many anecdotes about him that the reader lays the book down with the feeling that a great author has become one of his close neighbors." G. F. Whicher
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 O 24 '48 850w

Reviewed by D. A. Stauffer
N Y Times p4 O 31 '48 850w

"A topflight biography of the nineteenth-century novelist, by a writer whose poetic sensibility and keen, untrammelled mind fit him exactly for the job. Mr. Sassoon extracts the full flavor from Meredith's long and rich life and points it up with passages of fresh and lively literary criticism."
+ New Yorker 24:130 O 9 '48 160w

"You'll find in Mr. Sassoon's book sound biographical criticism and that suave distinction that is a part of all his writing. He never hesitates to call to his aid the opinion of others. It is gratifying to see how frequently he quotes from the 'Letters,' which for lovers of Meredith will always be biography par excellence." J. V.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 D 5 '48 300w

"Some readers, possibly, may be charmed by Mr. Sassoon's humility in the face of his critical problems, while some may be amused by his self-conscious, ostentatious parade of modesty. But others will be gravely disappointed by the whole performance, and will feel that the biographer has done justice neither to his subject nor to himself." B. R. Redman

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:11 N 27 '48 1200w

"This is, one need hardly say, an interesting and even important book about Meredith. But it must be added that Mr. Sassoon has not here done justice to his great literary talents; there is carelessness in the writing and negligence in considering the form. Unless the form is expressive, the idea cannot come through." Bonamy Dobrée

+ — Spec 181:406 S 24 '48 800w

Reviewed by J. W. Bogan

Springf'd Republican p10B N 21 '48 600w

Time 52:108 N 8 '48 950w

"Mr. Sassoon gives us a poet's estimate, considered with intensity of insight, skilfully shaped as biography, and written with the certainty of style. He appears to have taken up the task in a benevolent missionary spirit, feeling the urgency to bring glad tidings to a generation which knows not Meredith."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p526 S 18 '48 3300w

SAUL, LEON JOSEPH. Emotional maturity; the development and dynamics of personality. 338p il $5 Lippincott

616.8 Personality. Neuroses Med48-298

"This book presents an extensive discussion of the principles underlying personality development, and the application of these principles to the understanding and treatment of combat fatigue. . . The material is presented in twenty-two chapters arranged under four headings: The Achievement of Maturity, Emotional Forces in the Development of Personality, The Nature of Neurosis, and The Dynamics of Personality." U S Quarterly Bkl

"The book is overweighted with psychoanalytic reconstructions by comparison with the rich material available from studies of children and their families, observations of behavior difficulties, and the neuroses as they appear in the process of development. This, however, is a minor criticism and does not impair the book's usefulness 'to all who deal with people and strive to make human life more livable.'" L. G. Lowrey

+ — N Y Times p11 Jl 4 '48 400w

School & Society 67:416 My 29 '48 20w

"The author had a wide experience as a psychiatrist in the U.S. Navy, and it is clear that he brought a keen clinical aptitude and an eager research spirit to his military work. . . The book is a valuable addition to the psychiatric literature, and should prove useful, also, to workers in fields related to psychiatry, especially to those who are concerned with helping the disabled veteran."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:96 Mr '48 270w

SAVAGE, THOMAS. Lona Hanson. 306p $3 Simon & Schuster

48-4104

"On a Montana ranch of 20,000 acres which was her heritage, Thomas Savage's nineteen-year-old heroine has more than her fair share of problems—lazy cowhands, strayed cattle, destructive storms and a growing threat of mortgage foreclosures. She has no fun and no real companionship until she meets a young rodeo performer from Idaho and offers him a job as ranch hand. When the hired hand falls in love with his boss there is a brief but bright interlude in the novel, but Mr. Savage does not believe in happy endings." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48

"This reads well enough."

Kirkus 16:415 Ag 15 '48 150w

"The story is chiefly rewarding in its atmosphere and its vivid descriptions of life where your infrequent and expensive beefsteak is still on the hoof."

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 O 17 '48 140w

SAVELLE, MAX. Seeds of liberty; the genesis of the American mind. 587p il $6.50 Knopf

917.3 U.S.—Civilization. U.S.—Intellectual life 48-6861

"Max Savelle, professor of history in the University of Washington, has written [this book] . . . on the components of the 'American Mind' in the generation preceding the American Revolution. He argues that we have concentrated too much upon the fathers of the Revolution and that as a result we have failed to realize that 'it was the fathers of the Revolutionary generation who really formulated the American way of life for which that generation fought.' To establish this refreshing point of view, and accord the grandfathers the credit long due them, Savelle tries to present in its totality and in its own words the thought of the two decades from 1740 to 1760. There, he insists, the 'seeds of liberty' Benjamin Franklin wrote about will be found." (N Y Times) Index.

Reviewed by C. H. Quenzel

Ann Am Acad 259:159 S '48 400w

Booklist 45:65 O 15 '48

"It is a heavy book of more than 600 large, thick pages. It is equally weighty in its contents, methods, and conclusions. This does not mean the book is dull or stodgy. It means the author does not sacrifice good judgment and dignity to superficial scintillation. Such writing is a delight. . . Thoughtful Americans devoted to liberty will be strengthened and steadied by reading this book." R. H. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 9 '48 550w

"Chiefly valuable as a reference work."

Kirkus 16:139 Mr 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by Crane Brinton

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 11 '48 1300w

"An ambitious, well-intentioned and conscientious book. . . Although several of these chapters, notably the ones on religion, science and economic thought, are valuable collections of information not previously corralled into a single study, the book does not achieve the total picture of the American mind that it would create. . . Max Savelle's ideal of relying upon primary sources is an admirable one. However, to attain it would require far vaster scholarship than the author has. . . In spite of these shortcomings, 'Seeds of Liberty' is a serious and sustained inquiry into an important transitional period of the American mind. The author's attempt to present the period in its totality and in its own terms, does give the book a rare and desirable accent of authenticity." Adrienne Koch

+ — N Y Times p6 My 23 '48 1000w

"A particularly valuable feature of the book is the fact that all the great and near-great figures of the mid-eighteenth century speak for themselves, for Professor Savelle has quoted freely from little-known sources contemporary to the period of which he writes. These various quotations are well-integrated and synthesized so that 'Seeds of Liberty' is no mere compendium of other people's thoughts, but it is rather, a professional historian's study of a fascinating and neglected period—a period that in many ways is more important than any other in our short national life." C. W. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p17 Je 6 '48 600w

SAVELLE, MAX—Continued

"In 'Seeds of Liberty' Mr. Savelle missed the high mark he set for himself. But he has produced a comprehensive survey of our pre-Revolutionary culture that is readable, fresh, and rewarding." Raymond Walters

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:16 Jl 3 '48 900w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen

Survey G 37:319 Je '48 600w

SAVERY, CONSTANCE. Dark house on the Moss; decorations by Clifford N. Geary. 216p $2.50 Longmans

48-5342

Mystery story for 10-14 year olds, having a nineteenth century English peat bog as its setting.

Booklist 44:289 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King

Chicago Sun Ag 14 '48 270w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"Though some of the characters are not very real, it is compelling reading." A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:121 Mr '48 120w

Kirkus 16:22 Ja 15 '48 80w

"Mystery . . . is well sustained; there is just enough of the uncanny to give pleasant chills to young readers; charming picture of English social life in period following Trafalgar; characterization very similar to that of other books by this writer. Appeal will be to junior high school ages. Recommended." Katherine Bridges

+ Library J 73:662 Ap 15 '48 100w

"Fails as mystery, period piece, or science story; inadequate treatment of unsatisfactory plot." J. H. Dohm

— Library J 73:662 Ap 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Mr 14 '48 230w

"This is a kind of junior Gothic novel in which period and setting are vividly painted to make a memorable story." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p26 Mr 14 '48 180w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis

Sat R of Lit 31:38 Mr 13 '48 180w

School & Society 67:191 Mr 6 '48 10w

Wis Lib Bul 44:66 Mr '48

SAVETH, EDWARD NORMAN. American historians and European immigrants, 1875-1925. 244p $3 Columbia univ. press

973.07 Historians. U.S.—Emigration and immigration. U.S.—Foreign population

47-7605

"In the years from 1875 to 1925 historians had hardly more than occasional insight into the role of immigration in our national development. When they treated the subject of European immigration at all, they treated it as a side issue to which little attention need be paid. Consequently, a large part of the present study is concerned with the attitudes of the various American historians toward immigrants and immigration, more so than with their constructive approaches or interpretations. . . At the outset, there is some account of background factors shaping historians' attitudes toward immigrants and of the influence of the Teutonic germ theory of institutional development upon late nineteenth century American historians." (Introd) Bibliography. Index.

"This analysis of the writings of the more prominent of American historians of the nineteenth century deserves an honored place beside the notable contributions of Marcus Hansen and Oscar Handlin in the field of immigration historiography. It may well serve as a model of balanced and judicious appraisal, a temperate and careful presentation, and an exceptionally clear exposition of eristic and filiopietistic generalizations, written in a spirit of admirable restraint." J. P. Shalloo

+ Ann Am Acad 260:209 N '48 650w

"Adequately written and remarkably free from typographical errors. All students of immigration, of intercultural or intergroup relations, and of American historiography should peruse this work." R. E. Keohane

+ Social Educ 12:380 D '48 600w

SAVO, JIMMY. Little world, hello! [drawings by A. Birnbaum]. 181p $2.75 Simon & Schuster

914.56 Americans in Italy 47-11304

The popular comedian's account of a vacation spent before the war in the Umbrian hills of Italy where his wife had a thirteenth-century castle.

Booklist 44:199 F 1 '48

"'Little World, Hello' has that mixture of tears and laughter for which Jimmy Savo is so famous. And when Gian-Domenico speaks for the first time in 20 years to bid Jimmy good-bye, he says 'We live for your return.' It is that kind of a book." Emmett Dedmon

+ Chicago Sun Mr 13 '48 500w

"Should appeal to readers who never heard of Jimmy Savo—but who like bits of other ways of life."

+ Kirkus 15:358 Jl 1 '47 130w

"As a writer, Jimmy is as sweet and whimsical as his own delightful self. Even his sentences are little ones, his words are never large, and his tale is like a gesture in his act—a shrug, a downcast eye, a modest smile, and tender pathos for a place lost in the past." Richard Mealand

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p19 N 9 '47 230w

+ N Y Times p40 N 23 '47 470w

Reviewed by William Hogan

San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 13 '47 550w

SAWYER, ROBERT THOMAS. Gas turbine construction; including operation and maintenance. 411p il $7; to schools $5.25 Prentice-Hall

621.433 Gas turbines 47-6551

"A companion volume to the author's Modern Gas Turbine written primarily to meet the needs of turbine construction and maintenance engineers. Covers details on heavy equipment, turbochargers, and aircraft turbine equipment produced by various manufacturers." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 44:197 F 1 '48

"Authoritative presentation on construction and performance of gas turbines." L. A. Eales

+ Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 60w

"Engineers will be particularly interested in the data concerning performance, efficiency, operating costs, and maintenance, but the book as a whole will also appeal to the interested layman."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:12 Ja '48

SAXTON, ALEXANDER PLAISTED. Great Midland. 352p $3 Appleton

48-8993

"Ideological conflict in Chicago, mostly during the years just before the second World War. The focal point is the yards of the Great Midland Railroad, from which most of the people in the book draw their livelihood. The attempts of various labor elements, from Wobblies to Communists, to achieve dominance over the yard workers and to get the better of the railroad are detailed, while in the background there occur racial strife involving Negro car washers, and a lot of talk by some University of Chicago graduate students, one of whom is married to a young Communist rail worker." New Yorker

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Chicago Sun N 16 '48 240w

"A book that marks a distinct advance over his first novel, Grand Crossing, in the maturity of portrayal of a cross section of American life. . . Not always pleasant reading, this answers in human terms many of the questions as to the whys and hows of strikes, race riots, subversive activities. Laymen interested in the facts behind the headlines; railroad men, social workers—these provide the market."

+ — Kirkus 16:450 S 1 '48 170w

"Alexander Saxton has publicly taken a courageous minority position and done so without hemming or hawing. As a statement of the author's stand on one of the great controversial issues of our time, his new book leaves little to be desired. But as a novel, trying to bring real people to life in fictional terms, 'The Great Midland' is something less than successful. That verdict is disappointing in view of the fact that Mr. Saxton's only previous effort, 'Grand Crossing,' was a most interesting first novel." Richard Match

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 N 7 '48 700w

"Straightforward, with some good description, especially of the operations of the railroad."

+ New Yorker 24:131 N 6 '48 180w

"One weakness of the novel is the skipping around in time at the beginning, but once that gets ironed out everything is smooth sailing. Saxton writes cleanly and powerfully and it's that more than anything which will keep the reader rooted to the story in spite of the feeling that he is rereading one of the novelists of the 30s." M. R.

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p11 N 28 '48 300w

Reviewed by Bradford Smith

Sat R of Lit 31:34 D 4 '48 470w

SAYERS, MRS FRANCES (CLARKE). Sally Tait; il. by Eileen Evans. 126p $2 Viking 48-4523

"Sally Tait was a little girl who lived on Oleander Island, Texas, and this is the story of the happenings during her ninth year, 1912-1913. Drawn from the author's recollections of her own childhood. . . There is only one unpleasant occurrence—Sally is stricken with diphtheria and misses Christmas. . . Grades 4-6." Booklist

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48

Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 40w

"The book is a veritable transcript from life and as such should be suggestive to many of the novelists who exact too much of their child characters." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 24:436 N '48 120w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:458 N '48 70w

"Nostalgic looking backward, but lacking the might-be-true identification value which made a book like Roller Skates by Ruth Sawyer a memorable experience in recapturing a time and place. Eileen Evans' drawings in very open line seem thin and insubstantial. A disappointing book from an author who has given us better books."

— Kirkus 16:399 Ag 15 '48 130w

"Charming picture of a devoted family a generation ago." M. A. Herr

+ Library J 73:1746 D 1 '48 70w

"The characters are well drawn, especially those of Mr. Tait and the kindly colored maid, Lorenze, who takes command of the family whenever they appear to be getting out of hand. Little girls who like to read about real children their own age will take Sally to their hearts as their younger sisters have 'Tag-Along-Tooloo.' The spirit of the story and the period are caught by the line drawings which illustrate an inviting book written with integrity and a light touch." H. A. M.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 N 14 '48 180w

"It is a charming story about very charming people. The illustrations are excellent." P. F.

+ N Y Times p57 N 14 '48 110w

"The author, ably supported by her illustrator, gives these slender events a delicate period flavor, yet everything that happens to Sally will surely interest little girls of 1948."

+ New Yorker 24:130 D 11 '48 100w

Reviewed by Ada Cabiale

San Francisco Chronicle p7 N 14 '48 230w

"In spite of the diphtheria, this is an exceptionally happy book. . . All the things that happen to Sally become, in this story, exciting and important. Perhaps it is the warm, serene atmosphere and the grace of wording. Perhaps, it is the humor that sparkles so delightfully. The simple line drawings that illustrate Sally's story suit it perfectly. It is a lucky girl who gets 'Sally Tait' for a Christmas present."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 N 13 '48 270w

Wis Lib Bul 45:15 Ja '49

SAYRE, JOEL. House without a roof. 214p $2.75 Farrar, Straus

940.548 World war, 1939-1945—Germany 48-8889

A true story of a Berlin family's experiences during the war years. Parts of the account appeared in the New Yorker.

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

Reviewed by Edith Fowke

Canadian Forum 28:239 Ja '49 350w

"An inspiring account of one family of 'little people' under a tyrant's rule. It is encouraging reading in a discouraging world." Emmett Dedmon

+ Chicago Sun p9X O 24 '48 140w

Reviewed by Melvin Maddocks

Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 6 '49 550w

Kirkus 16:466 S 1 '48 180w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 167:556 N 13 '48 150w

"It is the way the book is written even more than the story itself that will make it easier and far more rewarding to read than most novels. For it is the story of an American friendship, quiet, humorous and observant of feeling, as well as an account of grotesque adventures which come to light as one member of the Hofmann family after another is stirred to recollection. These are Germans without self-pity or arrogance, with good conscience and humor, merely victims without any special answer for war as a human predicament." Ernestine Evans

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 31 '48 750w

Reviewed by Richard Plant

N Y Times p16 O 31 '48 400w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 D 9 '48 750w

Reviewed by John Woodburn

Sat R of Lit 31:20 O 30 '48 1050w

SAYRE, PAUL LOMBARD. Life of Roscoe Pound. 412p il $4.50 State univ. of Iowa. College of law com. Iowa City, Iowa

B or 92 Pound, Roscoe. Law—Study and teaching 48-1287

Biography of a noted American jurist, for many years Dean of the Harvard Law School. The book contains also an account of his writings and philosophy. Table of cases. Index.

"Professor Sayre gives a well-documented account of Dean Pound's ancestry, boyhood, and teaching career. The book is repetitious in places. There is included some correspondence which might well have been omitted, especially the extracts at the ends of the chapters from letters which, so far as the reader is concerned are anonymous. But my chief source of irritation is the constant feeling that the author, in telling about his subject, is playing the 'romantic knight' described by Holmes. Mechanically, the book is bad. The cover of the reviewer's volume is already loose, although it has been handled carefully. There are many misspelled words, extra leaded lines, and other bookmaking mistakes for which an author cannot be responsible, but for which his publisher should be." H. F. Goodrich

SAYRE, P. L.—Continued
+ — Harvard Law R 61:1268 Jl '48 1050w

"'The Life of Roscoe Pound' is far from an inspired book. Verbose, and unconsciously lionizing, it presents encyclopedic material uninterestingly. Only in rare instances, such as the recounting of a typical session of Pound's famed Thursday afternoon seminar at Harvard, does the biography lose its academic flavor and become a warm and living document." W. M. Kunstler
N Y Times p42 N 28 '48 950w

"Professor Sayre has fascinating material to work with, but his book unfortunately comes nowhere near such living biography as Mason's 'Brandeis, a Free Man's Life.' . . Fortunately, however, Pound's erudition is shown to best advantage. . . Biographies of future bar leaders may disclose more charm, but perhaps not that basic ingredient, a willingness to accept, nay to share, real adventures in democracy." William Coblentz
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p13 Mr 7 '48 750w

SCHAEFER-SIMMERN, HENRY. Unfolding of artistic activity: its basis, processes, and implications; with a foreword by John Dewey. 201p il $5 Univ. of Calif.

701.15 Art—Psychology. Creation (literary, artistic, etc.) 48-2132

"Professor Schaefer-Simmern believes that artistic activity is natural to man, and that it can be developed in accordance with the awakening and strengthening of one's own critical judgment. He has tested this belief" (Publisher's note) in a program of four experiments undertaken and financed by the Russell Sage foundation, 1939-1944. "The four experiments, one for mentally defective persons, made at the Southbury Training School; one for delinquents, made at the New York City Reformatory; one for refugees, and one for business and professional people, are reported on fully. In each case one individual is selected from the group, his or her background described in full detail, a descriptive analysis of progress in class given, and the personality changes effected by the work summed up. Each successive step is illustrated with photographs." (Sat R of Lit)

Booklist 45:62 O 15 '48

Reviewed by W. B. Holther
Nation 167:323 S 18 '48 1450w

"The implications of this book are wide in scope, stimulating, and absorbingly interesting." Pamela Taylor
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 Je 5 '48 650w

School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 20w

School Arts 48:12a S '48 110w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:170 Je '48 280w

SCHAFFNER, BERTRAM HENRY. Father land; a study of authoritarianism in the German family. 203p $3.25 Columbia univ. press

136.4943 National characteristics, German. Authority. Family 48-7427

"This book follows the principal thread in German life, authoritarianism, from its starting point in the family, into the education of the children and the political life of the adult." (p.5) The author obtained his information in 1946 while working as psychiatrist at a consultation center for the selection of German personnel in the United States zone in Germany. Bibliography. Index.

"While the data can scarcely be trusted to represent in its entirety so heterogeneous a society, the discussion of the familial origin of authoritarian and paternalistic values, the reinforcing interaction between the family and other institutions, and the planning for anti-authoritarian re-education, is both suggestive and stimulating. The study of the relationship between culture and personality will gain impetus from this book."
Am Soc R 13:791 D '48 170w

"Valuable and penetrating little book." Clifford Kirkpatrick
+ Ann Am Acad 260:177 N '48 650w

"The elaborate documentation of the book will make it difficult to challenge Mr. Schaffner's findings. Agreement on his conclusions does not, however, necessarily indicate agreement with his explanation. The author's assumption that the exalted and authoritarian position of the German father is the root of National Socialism does not go well with the fact that almost identical father concepts have been preserved in a large number of Germanic, Romanic and Semitic nations without resulting in political absolutism." Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 15 '48 900w

Current Hist 15:228 O '48 70w

Reviewed by Jane Belo
Pol Sci Q 63:610 D '48 950w

"This cool report, I have no hesitation in saying, is far and away the best book on Germany that has been written in many years. And, in its implications, it is perhaps the most important." S. K. Padover
+ Sat R of Lit 32:15 Ja 15 '49 140w

School & Society 68:64 Jl 24 '48 20w

Springf'd Republican p14A Je 11 '48 70w

SCHEINFELD, AMRAM. Postscript to Wendy. 303p $3 McGraw 48-7689

Ten years after the supposed suicide of Wendy, whom he had loved, Jerry Lorris, a free-lance writer, is still thinking of her. The novel follows the course of Jerry's long fight to regain his faith in himself. The scene is New York city and Provincetown at the end of World War II.

"A fairly spurious thesis novel."
— Kirkus 16:314 Jl 1 '48 160w

"Rather laboriously contrived as to plot, with thin suspense." H. S. Taylor
Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

"'Postscript to Wendy' applies psychiatry adroitly and with dramatic suspense."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 S 12 '48 140w

"On the whole, a likable book, by someone with a distinct flair for making language and ideas perform." H. P.
+ N Y Times p15 Jl 25 '48 140w

"Unfortunately, Mr. Scheinfeld is no novelist. 'Postscript to Wendy' just doesn't come off. Indeed, now and then it becomes faintly ridiculous." J. H. Jackson
— San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ag 9 '48 650w

"I should say that Mr. Scheinfeld has sacrificed much of his scientific integrity in going from the essay to the novel, without having come up with any compensatory quality as a creator." N. L. Rothman
— Sat R of Lit 31:14 Jl 24 '48 550w

SCHENK, HANS GEORG ARTUR VIKTOR. Aftermath of the Napoleonic wars; the concert of Europe—an experiment. (Int. lib. of sociology and social reconstruction) 228p il $5 Oxford

940.28 Europe—History. Europe—Politics
48-2286

Study of the Holy Alliance, outlining its historical background and the motives of the different men and nations participating in it. Index.

Reviewed by Garland Downum
Ann Am Acad 257:234 My '48 360w

"Dr. Schenk has not altogether escaped the pitfalls of 'scientific' history and omniscience. But he has, nevertheless, written a book of great interest and value. He is much more successful in the first part of the book than in the last." Leonard Woolf

+ — New Statesman & Nation 35:55 Ja 17 '48 600w

"Dr. Schenk is certainly a man of some learning; he has yet to provide the evidence that he can turn his learning to good purpose."

Times [London] Lit Sup p42 Ja 17 '48 550w

SCHENK, W. Concern for social justice in the Puritan revolution. 180p il $3.25 Longmans

942.06 Justice. Puritans. Great Britain—History—Stuarts, 1603-1714 49-980

Study of the social reformers of the Puritan revolution, especially such radical movements as the Levellers, the Diggers, the Quakers, and the Fifth Monarchy men. The author includes also some individual reformers. Those considered were mostly from the lower or middle classes of society, and the author attempts to show that their type was more that of the medieval reformer than the more modern Paine or Marx. Index.

"A book which deserves a warm welcome for what it gives us, though one may without ingratitude add the qualification, that it would have gained in depth and perspective, if he had sketched with a broader brush the social background in which these writers evolved. He makes them live for us as individuals, but the chief distinction of his book is that he succeeds in tracing, more fully and with more imaginative grasp than any previous student, the connection between social outlook and the religious convictions of these pioneers... The best chapter in Dr. Schenk's book is his study of William Walwyn. . . Dr. Schenk's essay on Winstanley is interesting but controversial." H. N. Brailsford

+ New Statesman & Nation 36:34 Jl 10 '48 1150w

"His book has all the merits and a few of the defects of a sound doctoral thesis. It starts off, as they all do (mine did), with a grand flourish about all the wonderful discoveries that the author is about to make in a virgin field with a new mind and an infinite capacity for reading pamphlets. Then follow a number of interesting and sometimes illuminating quotations, and only at the end when the time has come to draw conclusions does the author begin to falter... Many a writer who has struggled with these fascinating problems himself, and, like Dr. Schenk, waded through the Thomason tracts in search of pieces of silver, congratulate him on a good start and his publishers on an elegant book in these utility times?" Maurice Ashley

+ — Spec 181:24 Jl 2 '48 750w

"An admirable study in an aspect of our history which is full of interest. It will not only give pleasure to many readers and point the way for fuller research; it will help to correct current misapprehensions of the political and social affinities of the Levellers and Diggers, Quakers and Fifth Monarchy men, who expressed themselves in such vivid and forcible language in the decade that followed the First Civil War."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p628 N 6 '48 3550w

SCHERER, PAUL EHRMAN. Plight of freedom. 227p $2.50 Harper

233.7 Liberty. Civilization, Christian 48-7850

"Dr. Scherer is one of those who through lectures, sermons and books do much to mould the thinking of the Protestant ministers of our country, and through them, that of the people of our churches. This book comprises material embodied in lectures and sermons delivered in various parts of the country over the past few years. Dr. Scherer, as always, addresses himself to the contemporary scene and endeavors to bring to bear upon the problems of the day the principles and ideals of the Christian gospel. This volume deals with the plight of freedom upon the earth. The author's thesis is that the deterioration of political and economic freedom is directly traceable to the loss of spiritual freedom. True freedom, he declares, has its roots in the sovereignty of God, the dignity of man, the incarnation, the brotherhood of man, and the eternal purpose of Christ. These are the themes of the successive chapters of the book. Dr. Scherer's arguments are buttressed by copious illustrations from literature and life." (Kirkus) Index.

Booklist 45:58 O 15 '48

"Paul Scherer writes as he preaches—vigorously, imaginatively and effectively. This book is further evidence of his greatness as a preacher." C. L. Willard

+ Churchman 162:16 O 15 '48 120w

"So far as I can see, Professor Scherer's solution for all international problems is for every one the world over to become a neoörthodox Protestant and to serve Jesus in the neoörthodox manner. Just how we could ever come to any kind of agreement with the Russians on this basis is inconceivable. . . It is a generally accepted maxim in educational psychology that better results can be gained by praising people for their merits than by scolding them for their faults. Professor Scherer would have done well to have followed this maxim throughout this book. . . Probably I have overemphasized faults in a book that in many, perhaps most, respects is excellent. The volume is beautifully written, deeply religious in spirit, and full of illustrations and citations that ought to be helpful to ministers in preparing their sermons." W. K. Wright

+ — Crozer Q 26:73 Ja '49 800w

"This is a book for clergymen and thoughtful laymen."

+ Kirkus 16:509 O 1 '48 180w

"Scholarly and brilliantly written. Recommended for any library." R. P. Breaden

+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 100w

SCHERF, CHARLES HENRY. Do your own thinking. (Whittlesey house publication) 368p il $3 McGraw

150.13 Thought and thinking. Psychology, Applied 48-7441

"Advice given to teen-agers in textbook style on such matters as how we learn, fears are mostly mental, good reading and good thinking." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:43 O 1 '48

"Excellent. . . Recommended for all over 12 years of age and for library teen-age collections." G. E. Cartmell

+ Library J 73:1100 Ag '48 50w

School & Society 67:488 Je 26 '48 10w

Survey G 39:288 O '48 20w

SCHERF, MARGARET. Always murder a friend. 188p $2 Doubleday 48-5141

Detective story

Booklist 44:300 My 1 '48

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun p72 F 6 '48 100w

Kirkus 15:633 N 15 '47 70w

"A remarkably cozy tale, replete with chuckles, some homespun, others rather worldly." E. H.

+ New Repub 118:32 F 9 '48 90w

"Recommended item by a whodunit author with a natural bent for rough-house fun." Will Cuppy

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ja 25 '48 150w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p24 F 1 '48 150w

SCHERF, MARGARET—Continued
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 F 22 '48 140w

"Enjoyable."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Ja 24 '48 40w
Wis Lib Bul 44:84 Ap '48

SCHERF, MARGARET. Murder makes me nervous. 190p $2 Doubleday 48-7747

Detective story.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

"A very light, bright touch marks this [and] makes it engagingly degagé."
+ Kirkus 16:245 My 15 '48 80w

"The liveliest mystery we have seen in many a day." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p16 Ag 15 '48 100w

"High-spirited, amusing, and authentically portrayed group of Manhattan apt.-dwellers carry plot over some rough spots to quite unexpected pay-off. Exhilarating."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:36 Ag 7 '48 40w

SCHMIEDELER, EDGAR. Introductory study of the family. rev ed 460p $3 Appleton
392.3 Family 47-31449

Revision of the author's Roman Catholic textbook on the family (Book Review Digest 1931). "Some changes have been made both in content and arrangement of material in the revision. However, both in broad outline and in general substance, the volume remains much the same as in its original form." (Pref) New statistical data and chapter bibliographies have been added. Index.

"Schmiedeler's is a treatise of moral imperatives with a little historical and sociological background." R. F. Winch
— Am J Soc 53:507 My '48 550w

"There are aspects which will meet the approval only of those who share the author's point of view in regard to the authority of the Roman Catholic Church and its relation to the family, the school and the state. Even so, it contains much excellent material." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:146 F 4 '48 130w

"Doctor Schmiedeler writes this textbook from the traditional Christian point of view. The whole value system of the Church is employed by him as a criterion in every aspect of the discussion. This frankly 'judgmental' approach to the sociology of the family will make the book unpalatable to social scientists who want no truck with either values or judgments." J. H. Fichter
Social Forces 26:479 My '48 300w

SCHMITT, MARTIN FERDINAND, and BROWN, DEE. Fighting Indians of the West. 362p $10 Scribner
973.8 Indians of North America—Pictures, illustrations, etc. Indians of North America—Wars 48-9198

A collection of some 270 photographs, paintings, and drawings showing the persons and places involved in the Indian wars of the West. Contains brief explanatory text. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 45:134 D 15 '48
Kirkus 16:592 N 1 '48 100w

"One has the impression that a careful job of printing has been done in order to bring out to best advantage photographs which cannot have been easy to reproduce. This is, however, a pictorial history, not an art book. As a pictorial history it is eminently successful and the interest is great. The simple clear prose would be comprehensible to any child over twelve, the great story is honestly and, dispassionately told." Oliver La Farge
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly R p6 N 21 '48 700w

" 'Fighting Indians of the West' is considerably more than a magnificent collection of illustrations. It is one of the most valuable single contributions to frontier history that has been made in more than a quarter-century." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p5 N 7 '48 700w

"There is an informative, simply written test, but it is the photographs that make the book outstanding. . . Particularly notable are the dozens of full-page portrait studies of the great and lesser chiefs and warriors. . . They are more dramatic than the most flamboyant Frederic Remington painting."
+ New Yorker 24:149 N 13 '48 160w

"Considering today's costs, this volume is moderately priced; in fact, Scribner's must have worked hard, trimming at every possible place excepting where it related to good production, to get the book out at this figure. I've an idea that 'Fighting Indians of the West' will be widely used as a Christmas gift this year. For anyone interested in the old West and its Indian days, you could hardly do better." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 19 '48 750w

"One gets a moving history of episode after episode in our Indian wars, illustrated by faces and actions and scenes taken at the time and on the spot. It is easy to see why the Indian was respected, and why he was feared. And the whole ghastly history of our treatment of the Indians, usually resulting from greed or stupidity, not from policy, is made dramatic by these sad and savage faces." H. S. Canby
+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 O 23 '48 430w

SCHNEIDER, HERMAN, and SCHNEIDER, MRS NINA. Let's look inside your house [a picture-science book about water, heat and electricity] with il. by Barbara Ivins. 39p $1.50 Scott, W.R.
530 Physics—Juvenile literature 48-8436

"A picture-science book about water, heat and electricity designed to guide the young idea along scientific lines by using familiar objects as examples." (Springf'd Republican) For ages 8-14.

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48
Commonweal 49:154 N 19 '48 30w

"I think this is the best of these picture science books. Not perhaps the most original (Let's Find Out [Book Review Digest 1946] still holds that palm), but the one with the widest appeal for the inquiring small boy or girl. . . Safe experiments with equipment every home provides—and a picture quiz at the end—make this a perfect how-to-do-it-at-home book. And a sure favorite with the imaginative teacher. The illustrations in line, by Barbara Ivins, are practical but unimaginative."
+ — Kirkus 16:437 S 1 '48 110w

"This is excellent science material for ages 6-10. Recommended for school and public libraries." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 73:1522 O 15 '48 60w

"This is good basic material for all future home owners to know." Lois Palmer
+ N Y Times p45 O 17 '48 180w
Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 110w
Wis Lib Bul 44:167 O '48

SCHNEIDER, LOUIS. Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. 270p $3.25 King's crown press
301.15 Freud, Sigmund. Veblen, Thorstein Bunde. Psychoanalysis. Social psychology 48-6264

"A study of the theories of the two, Freud and Veblen, with an attempt to relate them for the general advancement of social science. The author, Professor of Sociology at Colgate, makes a clinical examination of sociology and psychiatry." (Current Hist) Index.

"This monograph lays down the broad outline of a strategic approach to socio-psychological analysis. But it is doubtful that the criteria of connection, interdependence, congruence, and reinforcement are sharply enough defined and that the data assembled here are wholly adequate to prove such relationships." O. D. Duncan

Am J Soc 54:253 N '48 750w
Current Hist 15:39 Jl '48 50w

"Dr. Schneider has made a workmanlike contribution toward preserving the valid elements of psychoanalysis for a broadened social theory. Readers will be well rewarded by this scholarly treatment of a major problem in social science." A. K. Davis
+ Social Forces 27:94 O '48 950w

SCHNEIDER, MRS NINA. While Susie sleeps; pictures by Dagmar Wilson. [32p] $1.50 Scott, W.R.
48-5925

Picture book describing what goes on at night "while Susie sleeps."

Booklist 44:289 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun Jl 3 '48 180w

"A bedtime story—and a honey, for it rings true for every little girl going to sleep in an average home in an average community. . . Nice rhythm—a sense of security. Dagmar Wilson's illustrations are not as satisfying as one might wish; her decorative values are nice, but her human figures are too stylized for the simple realism of the text. There is too much blackness in overall impression. But the book, as a whole, gives parents just what they need in this field."
+ — Kirkus 16:46 F 1 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. W. Turpin
Library J 73:562 Ap 1 '48 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 11 '48 250w

"There are warmth and friendliness in this story, told in a companionable style for 3 to 5 year olds. The night scenes are painted in black, with large details in soft gray, and splashes of yellow add brightness, removing all feeling that the night is eerie and scary." Lois Palmer
+ N Y Times p29 Ap 4 '48 160w
Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 40w
Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

SCHNITTKIND, HENRY THOMAS (HENRY THOMAS, pseud), and SCHNITTKIND, DANA ARNOLD (DANA LEE THOMAS, pseud). 50 great Americans, their inspiring lives and achievements. 468p $4 Doubleday
920 U.S.—Biography 48-6370

Short biographical sketches of fifty famous Americans. Arrangement of sketches is chronological. Each is followed by a brief list of important dates in the life of the biographee.

Booklist 44:351 Je 15 '48
Kirkus 16:134 Mr 1 '48 120w

"The anecdotal style provides interesting reading which is often more enjoyable than similar articles in encyclopedias or biographical dictionaries. Will serve as a handy compendium for the beginner in American history." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 73:654 Ap 15 '48 100w

SCHOCH, MAGDALENE, ed. & tr. Jurisprudence of interests: selected writings of Max Rümelin [and others; with an introd. by Lon L. Fuller]. 330p $5 Harvard univ. press
340.8 Jurisprudence 48-6760

"First woman on any German law faculty, now in Department of Justice, has translated and edited seven lectures and articles by six outstanding German authorities of inter-war period. While problem of the role of interests and their consideration in adjudication is as old as any jurisprudence, it has of late years received special attention, particularly by Prof. Heck (represented by two articles) and followers. Presenting both protagonists and critics of the new methods, Dr. Schoch has succeeded admirably in difficult task of translating abstract and sometimes abstruse legal-philosophical language." Library J

Reviewed by E. N. Cahn
Columbia Law R 48:973 S '48 950w

"Recommended mainly for law libraries and very comprehensive public libraries." H. H. Bernt
+ Library J 72:1609 N 15 '47 130w

SCHOENBERNER, ELENORE (ELLEN CAREN, pseud). Mirabelle. 283p $3 Greenberg
48-6296

The story of a love affair between a Russian sculptor and a French actress. The setting is Vienna and Munich in the early days of World war I.

"Sultry, often lyrically flambant, the book, just as the love, consumes itself in its own fire."
— Kirkus 16:33 Ja 15 '48 130w

"The denouement is the most skilfully handled portion of the story. Characterization is uneven; however, Mirabelle and Parin are convincing." E. P. Nichols
Library J 73:395 Mr 1 '48 100w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 50w

"An interesting story of suspense and suspicion, of Mirabelle's struggle to win her lover—a theatrical tale with a convincing psychological basis." Beatrice Sherman
N Y Times p17 My 16 '48 270w

"The author of this unpretentious but convincing novel played leading roles in the Continental theatre for many years. She makes her background of theatrical and bohemian life, against which the intense drama of two creative artists is played, authentic but never intrusive. More than that she develops with real psychological insight the exigencies and compulsions of artistic temperament, and indicates with more subtlety and taste than is sometimes encountered today, that bemused and exclusive world in which love sometimes manages to live for a time." Pamela Taylor
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 Jl 17 '48 400w

SCHOFIELD, WILLIAM GREENOUGH. The deer cry; a novel of Patrick of Eirinn. 307p map $3 Longmans
Patrick, Saint—Fiction 48-8715

"Novelized biography of St. Patrick. . . The traditions of birth and beauty and goodness bound in the essential mystery of life are woven into the pattern of Patrick's intention —the winning of Eirinn to Christianity. It is as often a tale of derring-do in a righteous cause as of the progress into sainthood of a strong, humble, poetical genius." Kirkus

"There is much of beauty, strangeness and inspiration in the material the author has chosen; but he has neither the long term intimacy with the period nor the flair for imaginative writing to do it justice."
Cath World 168:175 N '48 250w

"This is a fictionized life of Saint Patrick, something really special. . . It's colorful. It's bold. It has the dash and vigor, and much of the fine subtlety, of a Western thriller told in a Glories-of-Erin accent." David Marshall
Commonweal 49:46 O 22 '48 100w

Reviewed by R. E. Keighton
Crozer Q 26:93 Ja '49 200w

"Mr. Schofield has steeped himself in the entrancing folk ways of the old Eirinn, and his story is not only pleasant reading, but breathes the spirit of a stirring and glorious period in Irish history."
+ Kirkus 16:510 O 1 '48 170w

"Recommended for general purchase." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 73:1385 O 1 '48 90w

SCHOFIELD, W. G.—Continued

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 21 '48 150w

"Mr. Schofield has written his story in a manner no doubt intended to give the reader a feeling of contemporaneity with Patrick and the pagan kings and poets and peasants he converted. Instead, Patrick is transformed into a mood of contemporaneity with the reader, and the tale becomes an awkward report of pious talk, noble deeds, magical happenings. . . Only when Patrick is allowed to speak in his own words, in the lines he set down in his autobiography, does the real nature of the man and the pulsing story of his accomplishment become observable." Thomas Sugrue

— + N Y Times p48 N 14 '48 450w

"Although 'The Deer Cry' is surely interesting as a chronicle, and the many deeds of derring do are undeniably exciting . . . something very vital is missing from the book. The lack of that someting results in a novel which is not too inspiring. Patrick himself never comes to life as a real person." P. A. S.

— + San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 26 '48 370w

SCHOLES, PERCY ALFRED. Great Dr Burney; his life, his travels, his works, his family and his friends. 2v 410;436p pl $19 Oxford

B or 92 Burney, Charles 48-10001

"Dr. Scholes has [modeled] his work on the leisurely, semi-picaresque 18th century novel. We accompany the author on a journey through the life of the hero and through whatever is conceivably pertinent in the lives of nearly thirty members of his family and of over one hundred friends and acquaintances. In place of the moralizing discursiveness of the novelist, however, Dr. Scholes supplies the meticulous detective work of the scholar. It is a rich cast of characters that passes before us. . . Nor does Dr. Scholes leave it to others to track down any obscure name or custom; the book is an inhaustible mine of curious facts and provocative anecdotes." Music Lib Assn Notes

---

"Even the old conventional label, 'Life and Times,' is not wide enough to include Dr. Scholes's scope. His volumes are an encyclopaedia of music, musicians, and musical opinion in Europe in the eighteenth century clustered around the personal, domestic, and social history of Charles Burney in his encounters with the world and its wife. The result is not a book. It is a library in miniature. But it is also a great joy to the book-lover, an anecdotal close-up of a significant corner of English culture in its own home and habit." H. B. Charlton

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 17 '48 500w

Reviewed by Bernard Stambler

Music Lib Assn Notes 6:151 D '48 1450w

Reviewed by Desmond Shawe-Taylor

New Statesman & Nation 36:241 S 18 '48 1900w

"The present volumes by an eminent musicologist presents the whole story in the form of a vast, sprawling and thoroughly delightful account of the whole tribe. What Mr. Scholes has written is not so much a biography as a sort of Burney encyclopedia, which can be read through with great pleasure by any one to whom the eighteenth century is interesting, and then used thereafter either for dipping into at random or for finding a fact which often would be very difficult to find anywhere else." J. W. Krutch

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ja 2 '49 1000w

"A superb and wholly delightful biography. . . It was Dr. Johnson who said 'I question if there be in the world such another man, altogether, for mind, intelligence, and manners, as Dr. Burney,' and Dr. Burney's devoted biographer has here treated his remarkable subject with fidelity, with the scholarship that over 20 years diligent research produces, and with great skill." C. W. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 N 7 '48 350w

"Ours being an age impatient of discursive writing and indifferent to antiquarian investigation, the biography of Burney by the late Percy Scholes can hardly hope for more in the literary market-place than a succés d'èstime. All the more reason, then, to proclaim it as a work of genial wit, manifold interest, and wide cultural ken. Scholes, who spent twenty years in its compilation, has written a biography in the finest English tradition: replete with allusion and anecdote, delightfully personal in approach, eminently non-pedantic in its rambling contours and agreeable digressions." Roland Gelatt

+ Sat R of Lit 32:28 Ja 15 '49 750w

"Dr. Scholes is ruthless in his exposure of Burney's shortcomings. . . The one point on which all who knew Burney are agreed is that he was the most lovable of men. Dr. Scholes does not seem to love the eighteenth century. . . But Burney triumphs; his lovableness is as irresistible to Dr. Scholes as it was to Dr. Johnson, and the result is a fascinating book which never invites skipping and makes the reader reluctant to lay it down." E. J. Dent

+ Spec 181:52 Jl 9 '48 750w

"The title of the new work is perhaps a little unfortunate. With all his varied excellences, Burney cannot be regarded from any point of view as a great man. . . But the book itself is altogether enjoyable. Dr. Scholes has spent many years in gathering every conceivable fragment of information about Burney's life and activities, his family and connexions; and he has arranged an astonishing collection of illustrations in the manner of a Victorian album, with anything up to six or seven little pictures crammed together on each of his forty-five plates. The result is an immense, leisurely two-volume scrapbook of the most entertaining kind."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p498 S 4 '48 3300w

SCHOLES, PERCY ALFRED. Mirror of music, 1844-1944; a century of musical life in Britain as reflected in the pages of the Musical times. 2v 523;524-964p il pl $25 Oxford

780.942 Music—Great Britain. Musical times (periodical) [A48-7282]

"The 'mirror' is The Musical Times, which celebrated its centenary in 1944, and Dr. Scholes, who is by bent of mind an encyclopaedist, has got his card-indexes into operation and with them assembled into thirty chapters what The Musical Times has said any and every time these last hundred years about the state of choral singing in this country; about opera (with a list of English operas which is not quite such depressing reading as the chronic indisposition of that art-form might lead us to expect); about the visits of great virtuosi; about music in education, and indeed about the hundred and one things that go to the make-up of that curious abstraction which we speak of as the 'musical life of the nation.'" Times [London] Lit Sup

---

"Two of the most entertaining books that have lately come our way." G. A. H.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 23 '47 120w

"As a reference work, the Mirror is extremely valuable for the light it throws on British composers, performers, and institutions during the past century. A comprehensive analytical index makes it quite easy to find desired items. No index, however, is foolproof. Although there is a detailed listing of the contents of the plates at the beginning of each volume, the names on the plates do not appear in the general index. . . On the whole, however, the index is remarkably complete." J. M. Barbour

+ Music Lib Assn Notes 6:150 D '48 1150w

"The practical advantages of the present arrangement are great, and the editor's familiar liveliness of mind is a guarantee against dullness. These well-indexed and well-illustrated volumes have already proved valuable merely as a work of reference; in them one can trace things difficult to discover elsewhere, such as the progress of a given composer's reputation, the growth of the chamber music public, or the fluctuations of our concert-room behavior. Odd and surprising facts pop up on every page."

+ New Statesman & Nation 35:102 Ja 31 '48 240w

"Every conceivable aspect of music in the high romantic and modern periods is touched upon and enlivened with lore and accurate data. Full-page halftone plates to the number of 118 add to the enormous reference value of the book, which is a music historian's dream of a fitting monument to a century. Probably few will read through 'The Mirror of Music.' I can imagine nobody interested in music, British or other, who would not find interest in a large number of its pages." Herbert Weinstock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 N 7 '48 200w

Spec 180:266 F 27 '48 410w

"The strength and weakness of the book both arise directly out of its unique constitution. The wealth of material here made readily accessible to the student, the historian and the mere browser, is very great. The original issues of The Musical Times will have ranged as widely as possible for news and here it all is, marshalled and concentrated. But, as already intimated, the editorial eye was not all-seeing, and so far as criticism goes the opinions expressed are more often those of the individual contributor than of an editorially directed and therefore fairly consistent view. . . But if The Musical Times is not omniscient Dr. Scholes is very nearly so, and it is the book's astonishing wealth of fact rather than its occasional deficiency which should be recognized."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p53 Ja 24 '48 1000w

SCHOLZ, JACKSON VOLNEY. Fielder from nowhere. 222p $2.50 Morrow

48-7837

Baseball story for junior and senior high schools. Ken Holt appears from nowhere to be an outfielder for the Terriers. He plays good baseball; but his chief interest is organizing baseball teams for slum boys. When the story of Ken's past prison sentence comes out, the outfielder almost loses his ability to play, but the boys' and team mates' faith in him pulls him out of his slump.

"Plenty of baseball action, humor, and an unusual social angle make this a top-notch story."
+ Booklist 45:54 O 1 '48

Kirkus 16:337 Jl 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 O 17 '48 270w

"Scholz has a talent for putting plenty of action in the right places and this new diamond story about Ken Holt and his troubles will please boys who live, sleep and eat baseball." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 44:168 O '48

SCHÖNBERG, ARNOLD. Theory of harmony; tr. by Robert D. W. Adams. 336p $7.50 Philosophical lib.

781.3 Harmony 48-6486

"Translation of book of 1911 from the 3rd edition of 1921, with abridgments which omit considerable philosophical and polemical material. Intended as a harmony textbook. Consists of a minute presentation of the chord formations conceivable within the tonal system and in a thorough exploration of the ways to connect them in progression. Rhythmic and structural problems for the most part ignored. Much attention to modulation. Order of material largely theoretical." (Library J) Index.

"Too difficult for beginners. Fertile examples of great value for observation. Many subtle and some overdrawn technical explanations of harmonic process." G. S. Dickinson
Library J 73:816 My 15 '48 130w

"For those to whom the original is inaccessible, the translation, despite its deletions, does provide some glimpse of a great composer's approach to traditional harmony. Therefore it must be recommended, the more so because it is most unlikely that a complete English translation will ever be forthcoming. . . The translation is distressingly literal. Little of the high quality of the original German has been preserved in what appears to have been a deliberate effort to retain intact every involved sentence and every compound word, regardless of English usage. It is an unfair reflection on the acknowledged competence of Schönberg as a writer. The volume is not a model of bookmaking." Luther Noss
+ — Music Lib Assn Notes 5:574 S '48 1000w

Reviewed by Harold Brown
Nation 167:583 N 20 '48 700w

"It would be a pleasure to report that the activity of a creative mind in this academic field has resulted in some sort of a revelation. It is true that Schoenberg has written a useful, modern treatise free of the arbitrary, mechanical approach that used to convert some nineteenth-century harmony exercises into mathematical puzzles only distantly related to music. Its teaching principles, however, involve very little that is new or original. It is in no way comparable, either in scope or clarity, to the monumental work on the subject written long previously by the great German-American theorist Bernhard Ziehn of Chicago." Winthrop Sargeant
N Y Times p10 Ag 8 '48 700w

SCHONFIELD, HUGH JOSEPH. Jew of Tarsus; an unorthodox portrait of Paul. 255p $2.50 Macmillan

B or 92 Paul, Saint 47-7212

A biography of Paul, the Jew, rather than Paul, the saint.

"The book is an important one, but it must be read with discrimination—as its author would surely wish it read. There are arguments, inferences, assumptions on every page, of which the non-expert may not be aware. But the general effect is good." F. C. Grant
Christian Century 65:207 F 18 '48 500w

"At the outset, I felt suspicious of this book, perhaps because the subtitle boldly proclaimed 'an unorthodox portrait of Paul.' But suspicion gradually gave way to approval and admiration. The thesis is not 'queer,' nor is the book so unorthodox. It is a careful and critical reconstruction of Paul's career. Broad knowledge and wise selection of many current critical views have here produced one of the keenest characterizations." K. W. Clark
+ Crozer Q 26:83 Ja '49 550w

"Following Mr. Schonfield or differing from him, we feel that he is everywhere novel and suggestive and it is necessary for all who aim at understanding the New Testament to read his book, which is indeed a noble work, worthy even of its lofty theme." E. E. Kellett
+ New Statesman & Nation 32:426 D 7 '46 900w

"Mr. Schonfield's presentation of Saul will irritate some. To others it will make the figure of the Jew of Tarsus less a figure of myth and more a man of flesh and blood." Edgar Tainton
San Francisco Chronicle p13 Mr 7 '48 470w

"One of Mr. Schonfield's main theses is that Paul, prior to his conversion, believed himself to be the Messiah; a belief for which again there is no real evidence. There is also a great deal of imaginative reconstruction of the inner history of the Jewish-Christian community in Palestine; but, this, too, is largely dependent on the fertile imagination of Mr. Schonfield. The work contains some acute observations on particular points, but as a whole it fails to carry conviction and in detail it lacks the sobriety, accuracy and reliability required in works of scholarship."
— + Times [London] Lit Sup p118 Mr 15 '47 420w

SCHOONOVER, LAWRENCE L. Burnished blade. 371p $3 Macmillan
48-8377

A first novel which is a combination of history, romance, and adventure. The scene is mainly fifteenth century France. The orphaned Pierre, adopted by a famous armorer, witnesses the death of Joan of Arc; enters the service of Jacques Coeur, the renowned financier; rescues a titled lady in plague-stricken Paris; and travels to Byzantium and Trebizond, where he is kidnapped and tortured. But he renders a great service to the ruler of Trebizond and so returns to France a wealthy man, in time to marry his beloved, who had been about to become a nun.

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

Reviewed by F. N. Litten
Chicago Sun O 6 '48 430w

"'The Burnished Blade' is exceptionally well written and organized for a first novel, and, for the reader in search of an absorbing tale of adventure and daring, it will prove entirely satisfactory. It also will satisfy the thoughtful reader who will find in it an accurate account of a fading feudalism, the problems of the new centralized state, and the age-old conflict of East and West." Irene Gulzeth
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 4 '48 550w

"While the writing does not have that come-hither quality which should glue one to an historical novel, the style is straightforward and easy-swinging and the story is told very skilfully." Virginia Bennett
+ Commonweal 49:125 N 12 '48 160w

"Plague, espionage, Oriental torture, blackmail, outlawed operations, all play a part in an historical narrative that is vivid, authentic in tone, a little obvious in synchronization."
+ Kirkus 16:340 Jl 15 '48 170w

"All made quite palatable by a well-told tale, with plenty of incident and just enough romance." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

"Despite occasional awkwardnesses in style, Lawrence Schoonover, a new-comer, has hit the bullseye on the first shot." P. J. Searles
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 O 3 '48 290w

"Three years research preceded the novel's writing, and no small measure of Mr. Schoonover's ability lies in the skill with which that research into the politics and history of half a dozen nations, into arms and the armorer's art, into customs ecclesiastical and secular, into chirurgery and navigation, is woven into the fabric of the tale. At only one or two points, and briefly, does the novelist step aside while the historian explains." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p26 O 3 '48 400w

"Mr. Schoonover's terse, breathless style is admirably suited to his material."
New Yorker 24:133 O 16 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 24 '48 320w

"It reads with excitement, valid atmosphere, period precision, and dramatic tidiness." C. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 31:58 D 4 '48 100w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 190w

SCHORER, MARK, and others, eds. Criticism: the foundations of modern judgment. 553p $7.50; text ed $5 Harcourt
801 Literary criticism 48-3212

"Fifty-five studies in literary criticism, in which various noted critics, living and dead, explore the source of art, its form, and its ultimate object. Among the writers are . . . E. M. Forster, Henry James, Virginia Woolf, S. T. Coleridge, and William Butler Yeats, and there are some early practitioners, such as Aristotle and Plato, too." New Yorker

---

Chicago Sun p8X Ag 8 '48 90w

"Important to students, chiefly."
+ Kirkus 16:251 My 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 118:25 Je 21 '48 330w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 Je 6 '48 130w

"Despite the value of his research and the occasional brilliancy of the performance, some of Hyman's conclusions obviously leave me (as Blake commented on the margins of his books) 'uneasy.' It seems to me, therefore, that this anthology comes at a good time—as a counter-check and balance to Hyman's checks and balances; and, in some of its pages, as tacit criticism of some of Hyman's critical evaluations." Harvey Breit
+ N Y Times p6 Jl 11 '48 200w

"A thoughtfully planned and instructive anthology."
+ New Yorker 24:79 My 29 '48 100w

Reviewed by W. R. White
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Jl 4 '48 470w

School & Society 68:47 Jl 17 '48 20w

SCHRAG, OTTO. Bedrock. 310p $3 Holt
48-5508

Disturbed by thoughts of the atomic bomb, Dr. Sebastian Wendtland left a hospital in the middle of an operation he was performing. His wanderings finally bring him to the desert where he finds peace.

Kirkus 15:659 D 1 '47 170w

"The characterizations are extraordinarily well handled. As a study in evil, Violet is both real and terrifying. The love scenes though more frank than the American public says it likes, evolve rationally, being based on Violet's nature. Libraries had better read this novel before they buy." M. H. McElfresh
Library J 73:123 Ja 15 '48 100w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Jl 11 '48 100w

"The characters, as rigid as a wallflower's smile, read like an analyst's case record and act like the cast of one of Aunt Jenny's stories. . . Perhaps Mr. Schrag is reflecting the poor, muddled world, kindly by instinct but torn in all directions and beset by evil forces. We prefer to think that he is simply panning for gold in a muddy stream." Florence Crowther
— N Y Times p14 Mr 14 '48 500w

"Stated baldly, 'Bedrock' may not sound like much. Actually it is well, if somewhat obscurely, written. And because of the references to Hiroshima it is probably significant." W. R. W.
San Francisco Chronicle p19 My 9 '48 320w

SCHRECKER, PAUL. Work and history; an essay on the structure of civilization. 322p $5 Princeton univ. press
901 Civilization—Philosophy 48-6747

"An advanced study of history and civilization, discussing cultures, religions, institutions, etc., from a philosopher's vantage, to show a certain unity of pattern in all phases of human effort." Current Hist

---

"By the author's own measure, reading Work and History is an act of work. Its form and mode of expression provide resistances which only the expenditure of considerable energy can overcome. The returns are sometimes slight, they frequently inspire a critical response, and on occasion they turn out to be familiar ideas hidden in unfamiliar language. At the same time, however, there can be little doubt about the seriousness and importance of Paul Schrecker's book, for it is the product of an erudite, sophisticated, and fertile mind and it bears directly upon key issues in historical inquiry and thought." Henry David
+ Am Hist R 54:94 O '48 1350w

Current Hist 14:348 Je '48 30w

"One of the exciting things about the book is that in it one finds the harmonization of the provinces which is the book's moral, for Schrecker has brought into an orderly discipline a profound understanding of scientific method, religious insight, a knowledge of the ways of the state and political economy, an appreciation of the arts, and a rare command of and respect for the province of language." M. R. Konvitz

+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 Je 5 '48 450w

School & Society 68:16 Jl 3 '48 10w

SCHRIFTGIESSER, KARL. This was normalcy; an account of party politics during twelve Republican years: 1920-1932. 325p $3 Little

973.914 U.S.—Politics and government—20th century. Republican party 48-5968

"A history of American political activity during the twelve years of Republican dominance from 1920 to 1932, by a member of the staff of Newsweek. . . The scandals of the Harding administration, America's return to isolationism, the concentration of materialism as a national philosophy, and political platforms and personalities during the period of boom and bust are examined. A severe indictment of the doctrine of 'normalcy.' " (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Harvey Wish
Am Hist R 54:170 O '48 400w

Booklist 44:311 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Walter Johnson
Chicago Sun My 27 '48 450w

Christian Science Monitor p18 My 20 '48 360w

"It is vital, lively, pungent reading, and given a chance to serve in a good fight, this book might be an excellent piece of documentation for the opposition to a return to 'normalcy.' "

+ Kirkus 16:159 Mr 15 '48 230w

"Recommended." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 73:650 Ap 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Richard Watts
New Repub 118:24 Je 7 '48 1100w

"It is not exactly judicial in tone; in fact, it is stuffed with moral indignation. Nor is it always accurate in its estimates; for instance, it dismisses John J. Parker as 'a reactionary Republican judge,' whereas he is actually one of the most liberal Republicans on the bench. But its factual material is correct, drawn for the most part from official records and always attested by competent scholars; and the bare facts are enough to establish the author's point." Gerald Johnson

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ap 25 '48 1100w

"A more timely book than this crisp, competent history . . . could not be found. Whether so intended or not, it is an excellent campaign-year tract. It is a tract against drift and complacency, against the easy acceptance of weak, unequipped leaders, and against the selfishness which breeds reaction at home and isolationism in foreign affairs." Allan Nevins

+ N Y Times p3 Ap 25 '48 2050w

New Yorker 24:122 My 15 '48 110w

"This is hardly the sort of book one expects to find bound between hard covers even in an election year. It purports to be an account of party politics and a political history of the United States for the 12 years, 1920-1932, but it is the same sort of thing voters can expect to find in mimeographed broadsides and small pamphlets between now and election day." C. W. W.

— San Francisco Chronicle p19 Ag 1 '48 350w

Reviewed by Duncan Aikman
Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ap 24 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p12B My 16 '48 480w

SCHULLIAN, DOROTHY MAY, and SCHOEN, MAX, eds. Music and medicine. 499p il $6.50 Schuman

780.13 Music, Physical effect of 48-367

A collection of essays on the interdependence of music and medicine. Contents: Music and medicine among primitive peoples, by Paul Radin; The use of music in the treatment of the sick by American Indians, by Frances Densmore; Music and medicine in classical antiquity, by Bruno Meinecke; The story of tarantism, by H. E. Sigerist; Music and medicine in the Renaissance and in the 17th and 18th centuries, by Armen Carapetyan; Rhythm and health, by C. W. Hughes; Medical men who have loved music, by F. H. Garrison; Occupational diseases of musicians, by A. H. Whittaker; Emotional expression in music, by Howard Hanson; A psychiatrist's experience with music as a therapeutic agent, by I. M. Altshuler; The musician's approach to musical therapy, by Arnold Elston; Music in hospitals, by Willem van de Wall; The place of music in military hospitals, by G. W. Ainlay; Music in industry, by R. L. Cardinell; The development of an experimental psychology of music, by C. M. Diserens; Conclusion: Art the healer, by Max Schoen. Selected references Index

Booklist 44:265 Ap 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48

Kirkus 15:591 O 15 '47 120w

"A fascinating book for the serious general reader or the specialist. Has no competitors." C. K. Miller

+ Library J 73:476 Mr 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by C. C. Pratt
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:237 Mr '48 650w

"The widespread use of musical therapy (both for listening and for active participation) in military and naval hospitals during the recent war pointed up the need for some authoritative and scientific study of the interrelationships between music and human ills, particularly in emotional disturbances. This volume goes a long way toward filling that need. . . The book closes with an exhaustive bibliography which should be helpful to those engaged in research on any phase of this interesting subject." F. G. Slaughter

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 4 '48 550w

SCHULTZ, LEONARD PETER, and STERN, MRS EDITH (MENDEL). Ways of fishes. 264p il $4 Van Nostrand

597 Fishes Agr48-209

Studies of the habits of some fish which the author considers interesting. Includes a chapter on keeping home aquaria; and a detailed classification of fishes. Index.

Booklist 44:332 Je 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

N Y New Tech Bks 33:53 Jl '48

"Fascinating stuff." R. de R.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 13 '48 300w

SCHUTT, WILLIAM H. Process engineering. 309p $4 McGraw

658.5 Manufactures—Costs 48-8194

"[A] scientific method for determining direct labor costs and selling price of an article to be manufactured. Author shows how to estimate directly from blueprints; how to estimate quantity and cost of material from which an article is made; how to determine cost of tools, dies, jigs, machines and fixtures used in fabricating the article; and how to judge the overhead which must be included in such estimates. Special attention is given to visualizing the operation involved and time values for all movements in manufacturing of the article are specified. Written for classroom use but will be of value in any time study, estimating, cost of engineering departments." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:61 O 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1281 S 15 '48 130w

Management R 37:535 O '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:76 S '48

SCHWARTZ, ALVIN. Blowtop. 199p $2 Dial press 48-5153

Detective story.

Reviewed by Jack Glick
— N Y Times p24 F 1 '48 140w

"An ambitious effort, rather clumsily carried out."
— New Yorker 23:85 Ja 24 '48 100w
— San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ja 25 '48 150w

"Impressive."
Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 14 '48 40w

SCHWARTZ, DELMORE. The world is a wedding. 196p $2.75 New directions 48-7957

"Collection of short stories reprinted from Partisan Review and The Kenyon Review. Most of them are about middle class Jewish families and friends around the time of the great depression." Library J

"In so far as authenticity means truth, these short stories are the most authentic I have read in a long time. They do not try to avoid the great pressures of the contemporary, but work within it and so mirror it faithfully. . . 'The World is a Wedding' is put together with impressive skill. It builds its patterns carefully and quietly. In a comparatively few pages some of the stories encompass generations of family tensions and frustrations without apparent strain. But the style, though quiet, has a kind of muted eloquence which testifies even more strongly to this author's talent." John Hay
+ Commonweal 48:551 S 17 '48 350w

Reviewed by H. G. Kelley
Library J 73:945 Je 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 27 '48 60w

Reviewed by Ernest Jones
Nation 167:294 S 11 '48 1100w

"These stories are written, for the most part, in a monotonous, even awkward, prose. For a writer with a reputation as a poet, they are surprisingly deficient in imagery or the visual sense. But one soon notices in the explicit themes, in the abstract language, in the political references and in the tone of polite discussion, a deliberate direction halfway between traditional fiction and the philosophical dialogue. In a number of instances Schwartz brings it off beautifully." John Farrelly
New Repub 119:26 Ag 2 '48 1050w

"The best example of what Mr. Schwartz can do is the title piece, an extremely moving description of the griefs and dreams of a half-dozen young people mired in the depression. The other stories aren't up to that one, but with the exception of a commonplace item about a literary party, called 'New Year's Eve,' they're all very well done, too."
+ — New Yorker 24:102 S 11 '48 130w
San Francisco Chronicle p16 O 3 '48 420w
Time 52:86 Ag 9 '48 300w

SCHWARTZ, HARRY. Russia's postwar economy. 119p pa $1 Syracuse univ. press

338.947 Russia—Economic conditions 47-6560

"This booklet covers a wide field. After a brief chapter on the effect of the war on the Russian economy, the author proceeds to describe post-war plans and developments in industry, transportation and agriculture; one chapter treats the manpower situation and is followed by a description of Russia's economic relations with the outside world. In the final chapter an attempt is made to compare Russia's prospective strength with that of the United States." Pol Sci Q

"Anyone who has attempted to work with Soviet statistics cannot but admire this latest performance of the author. The booklet is replete with statistical tables containing most valuable estimates of Russian industrial and agricultural output before the war, as well as in the years immediately following its end, and indeed it supplies a wealth of information available hardly anywhere else. . . Altogether incomprehensible is Professor Schwartz's statement that 'in its trading activities, the USSR has markedly favored bilateral agreements between buyers and sellers, in preference to free multilateral trade favored by the United States'." P. A. Baran
+ — Am Econ R 38:410 Je '48 1350w

"The publication doubtless will prove useful. The writer is an assiduous reader of current Russian newspapers and periodicals and has succeeded in presenting in succinct summary a very considerable amount of factual information, which the general reader should appreciate receiving in a condensed and well-arranged form. Dr. Schwartz supplies a great many quantitative data, and also fills some of the gaps in the official Russian statistics by estimates of his own." Alexander Gerschenkron
+ Pol Sci Q 63:143 Mr '48 1000w

SCHWARZKOPF, PAUL, and others. Powder metallurgy; its physics and production. 379p il $8 Macmillan

669 Metals, Powdered. Metallurgy 47-12147

"This book is, in effect, the revised and expanded notebook and workbook of a man who has been closely associated with powder metallurgy for over 30 years and who has made many major contributions to its development. In the author's own words, it is written 'not only for metallurgists, but also for machine and tool designers, for experts in the electric, magnetic, and electronic fields who are to make use of the products of the powder metallurgist and should get to know the possibilities offered.' . . In a supplement to the book several recent papers, published after completion of the manuscript, are critically reviewed." (Chem & Eng N) Bibliography. Indexes.

Reviewed by R. E. Pollard
Chem & Eng N 26:126 Ja 12 '48 350w

"This book should prove of value as reference material to those already engaged in the field of powder metallurgy and as a source of stimulating orientation to others." M. A. Coler
+ Chem Eng 55:285 Je '48 600w

"It is the most comprehensive up-to-date book on the subject." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:80 O '47

"The book contains a great deal of invaluable information about the industrial processing of metal powders and the products obtainable."
+ Special Libraries 39:22 Ja '48

SCHWEITZER, ALBERT. Albert Schweitzer; an anthology; ed. by Charles R. Joy. 323p $3.75 Harper

208.1 47-12409

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Booklist 44:227 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by Emory Ross
Christian Century 65:9 Ja 7 '48 1500w

Reviewed by H. W. Steiger
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 500w

Reviewed by William Harrison
Churchman 162:17 Ap 15 '48 190w

Reviewed by F. W. Young
Crozer Q 25:266 Jl '48 220w

"When we read the anthology from the beginning to the end, we realize that we have had a wonderful experience. We have not only met a great and profound personality, a rich and original thinker, but here is before us a genuine philosopher, a man who lives up to his teachings and corrects his doctrines according to his experiences and experimentations. There is nothing dogmatic or polemical in Schweitzer, nothing stereotyped or vague in his remarks. Every word is a truthful reflection of life. Existence has been made essential, energy spiritualized, love humanized." Immanuel Lewy
+ J Philos 45:107 F 12 '48 600w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
+ Sat R of Lit 30:11 D 13 '47 650w
Wis Lib Bul 44:38 F '48

"This anthology is most carefully and selectively edited. Quite naturally it fails to give the reader Schweitzer's systematic thought. Nevertheless, it does extraordinarily well in revealing the depths of his thinking among the wide variety of his interests. It makes clear his concepts of rationalism and mysticism, of pessimism and optimism, of decay and restoration. The section called 'The Search for Beauty' reveals his aesthetic philosophy, while his views of Jesus and of Paul are given ample expression." J. C. Schroeder
+ Yale R n s 37:535 spring '48 850w

SCHWEITZER, ALBERT. Goethe; two addresses [tr. by Charles R. Joy and C. T. Campion] with an introd. by Charles R. Joy. 75p $2 Beacon press

B or 92 Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von
48-6487

Two addresses on Goethe, given in the years 1928 and 1932, in the city of Frankfort. The longer, delivered in 1932, is a brief condensation of the ideas the author put forth in his book on Goethe. The shorter address describes what the poet has meant to the author. Index.

Booklist 44:367 Jl 1 '48

"Even the most ardent admirer of the poet is aware that his personal life fell far short of greatness in many respects. Dr. Schweitzer's large charity, however, singles out only the truly noble characteristics of Goethe." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:734 Jl 21 '48 140w

Reviewed by H. W. Steiger
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 500w

Reviewed by C. H. Moelman
Crozer Q 25:374 O '48 200w
J Philos 46:54 Ja 20 '49 90w

"Schweitzer's Memorial Address of 1932 is a passionately candid, interesting, and, I must add, highly controversial speech, suffering from poor translation. . . The shorter address will disarm the most critical reader. For this is the touching confession of one of the great men of our time, telling with genuine modesty what another great man, 200 years ago, has meant to him. Schweitzer's sincerity, honesty, profound love for mankind, are so apparent in this unaffected personal story that it is easy to forego all reservations and simply listen to Schweitzer." Richard Plant
+ — N Y Times p6 Ap 4 '48 650w

"Out of an innate affinity with Goethe, Schweitzer recognizes, and admiringly renders, his profound sincerity, his unique faith in the emanations of nature within and without him, his ingenious way of combining intellectual and practical work, and his untiring eagerness to participate in the life of his time. This is Goethe indeed. Since it is also a self-portrait, certain traits Schweitzer emphasizes indicate his own preoccupations." Siegfried Kracauer
Sat R of Lit 31:9 Jl 3 '48 550w
Times [London] Lit Sup p545 S 25 '48 150w

SCHWEITZER, ALBERT. On the edge of the primeval forest; &, More from the primeval forest; experiences and observations of a doctor in Equatorial Africa [tr. by C. T. Campion]. 2v in 1 222p il $4.50 Macmillan

266 Africa, West. Missions, Medical 48-11435

"Combined in one volume, these two books by Dr. Schweitzer relate his experiences and observations as a doctor in French Equatorial Africa. On the Edge of the Primeval Forest, first published in 1922, had been frequently reprinted. More from the Primeval Forest first appeared in 1931 and was published in this country as The Forest Hospital at Lambaréné." Publisher's note

Booklist 45:142 D 15 '48
Christian Century 66:113 Ja 26 '49 140w

Reviewed by Robert Bierstedt
Sat R of Lit 32:18 Ja 8 '49 500w

SCHWEITZER, ALBERT. Psychiatric study of Jesus; exposition and criticism; tr. and with an introd. by Charles R. Joy; with a foreword by Winfred Overholser. 81p $2 Beacon press

232.9 Jesus Christ 48-6488

The first English translation of the author's doctoral thesis for his M.D., written in 1911 and first published in 1913. In it he attempts to refute the arguments of several critics who claimed that Jesus was a paranoiac. Index.

"It is doubtful whether the book is timely, as there seems to be now no competent psychiatrist who shares the extreme views of these out-dated authors." W. L. Caswell
Churchman 162:18 Je 15 '48 210w

"In the midst of this psychiatric controversy, Emil Rasmussen wrote, 'The lamp of the spirit will smoke if it is turned too high.' Many critics and students, among them some of Schweitzer's most sincere admirers, cannot avoid the impression that in his exclusively eschatological emphasis the lamp is turned too high." W. E. Bundy
Crozer Q 25:351 O '48 950w
J Philos 46:53 Ja 20 '49 120w
School & Society 67:488 Je 26 '48 20w

SCOTFORD, JOHN RYLAND. Church union; why not? 123p $2 Pilgrim press

280 Church unity 48-2641

"The author begins with the premise that the man in the congregation wants church union. The obstacles, which he divides into four groups, are not too much to be overcome, in view of the trend toward more efficient churches and the elimination of competition, once we can redirect the emotional attachment of some church people into more wholesome ecumenical channels. These obstacles are: theological, a factor which is becoming less and less important; organizational, a matter which can be solved as groups become better acquainted and recognize the trend their own development is taking; social, an obstacle which is rapidly disappearing as some congregations move from one side of the tracks to the other; and institutional, which is largely a matter of the transfer of loyalties." Christian Century

"Any book which deals constructively with the cause of church union is welcome, and this little book . . . is helpful to that cause. It has one great fault. It is far too brief and much too elementary to carry a great deal of weight with anyone save the busiest of laymen who wants to get the whole picture literally at a glance. For the minister who is at all literate in the subject with which it deals it has little to offer. For the most part it is well written, although the repetition of the editorial 'we' sometimes becomes tiresome to the point of robbing its excellent style of effectiveness." G. H. Birney
+ — Christian Century 65:687 Jl 7 '48 350w

"This is a book for laymen who are interested in church union. It will, however, prove informative also to the clergy on the denominations in this country and the obstacles to and the possibilities for cooperation and closer unity." F. J. Moore
+ Churchman 162:16 S 1 '48 190w

SCOTT, ERNEST FINDLAY. Paul's Epistle to the Romans. 125p $2 Scribner

227.1 Bible. New Testament—Romans
47-11972

Popularly-written study of the Epistle to the Romans. "It is the aim of the present book to fix attention, not so much on the incidental puzzles of the Epistle, as on its main intention. What are the principles of Christianity as Paul here presents them? How does he apply them to the needs of his time? How can we give effect to them in our world to-day, which is so different from that of Paul and yet, in many respects, so like it?" (Pref) Index.

SCOTT, E. F.—Continued

Reviewed by R. C. Miller
Churchman 162:18 F 1 '48 180w

"This book by Scott is an excellent example of the resources of a top-notch scholar applied to the everyday demands of the minister who desires to preach expository sermons or to the student who needs a first introduction to Paul's masterpiece or to the intelligent layman who would like a study class in a classic of Christian thought. Published originally in England and evidently intended for the average Christian reader, this volume now presented in America deserves a wide reading and appreciation." D. M. Beck
+ Crozer Q 25:173 Ap '48 1200w

"An excellent introduction to the epistle, which can be warmly recommended as a propaedeutic to more elaborate and detailed studies. . . Dr. Scott's exposition is written with his customary vigour and incisiveness. In the main it seizes on the essential points and brings them into sharp focus. . . In his explanation of the doctrine of Justification, on the other hand, one feels that the Apostle gets somewhat less than justice. And cropping up from time to time is Dr. Scott's curious antipathy to 'theology' and 'doctrine,' the more curious in one who himself writes so much sound Biblical theology."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p406 Ag 9 '47 390w

SCOTT, LORD GEORGE. Lucy Walter: wife or mistress; with nine illustrations in halftone. 232p $3 Chanticleer

B or 92 Walter, Lucy [48-4755]

An attempt to clear the name of Lucy Walter, mother of the Duke of Monmouth. Presents all the evidence obtainable to prove that Lucy was much maligned, and that she was really married to Charles II. Bibliography. Index.

Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 16 '48 290w

"To decide the merits of the case is an expert's job, and to follow him from point to point is nearly impossible. He confronts us with a jungle of quotation and argument, reiterations and conjectures and impenetrable family trees. And the fact is, he was making bricks without straw. We know almost nothing definite of Lucy Walter." K. John
New Statesman & Nation 35:400 My 15 '48 700w

"The author makes no claim to being a writer or historian, and his modesty forestalls criticism. It is, however, only fair to warn potential readers that, although the book assembles some interesting evidence, it is repetitive, disorderly and at times irrelevant to a degree; though it is also right to add that a foreword states that the author's death took place before the first proofs came from the printer. . . Lord George shows how some of Lucy's traducers have been inaccurate, but he does not succeed in dispelling doubts that arise in the mind regarding his thesis that she just missed being a saint."
Times [London] Lit Sup p259 My 8 '48 900w

SCOTT, JOHN DICK. Buy it for a song [Eng. title: The cellar]. 248p $2.75 Pellegrini & Cudahy
48-6623

"The hero, who is also the narrator, is an English fighter pilot. . . When he is shot down over France he is hidden by an anti-Nazi schoolmaster in a cellar which he has to share with two other British refugees—Finlayson, a tough, illiterate Scottish soldier, and Virginia, an attractive ambulance driver. . . The schoolmaster's cousin turns out to be an informer and Finlayson kills him; Virginia and Finlayson become lovers and Aubrey [the pilot] is left very much alone in his side of the barrier. This episode assumes the proportions of a nightmare for Aubrey and continues to haunt him long after all three are safely back in England and separated from one another." Times [London] Lit Sup

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset
Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 9 '48 120w

"Telling two stories at once is a difficult trick, and that J. D. Scott so nearly brings it off in 'Buy It for a Song' is a considerable tribute to his resourcefulness as a novelist. . . Mr. Scott tells the stories alternately, by contrasting the flyer's London diary with a manuscript of his life in France. The diary, like most diaries, is of only moderate interest to an outsider, and most of the attractiveness of Mr. Scott's book has to do with his swift story of Aubrey Grey's escape through France." Herbert Kupferberg
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Mr 14 '48 470w

"Has most of the excitement to be found in a more conventional adventure story, although Mr. Scott is so anxious to under-emphasize any suspense which is not psychological that the escape to England seems improbably easy. If no stress is laid on the physical discomfort, however, the mental strain is excellently suggested. The novel is carefully constructed, and written in a style that is simple and pleasant to read. All the characters are convincing and well observed, but they are subsidiary to Aubrey, and the gradual undermining of his self-confidence holds the reader's interest throughout the book."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p33 Ja 17 '48 500w

SCOTT, JUDITH UNGER. Lessons in loveliness; il. by Charles Boland. 208p $2.50 Macrae Smith co.

646.7 Beauty, Personal Med47-2479

Instructions for the teen-age girl on how to be and stay pretty. Partial contents: Good looks and good health; Your beauty routine; Bangs, bobs and curls; The make-up medley; Figure facts; Clothes and camouflage; Your beautiful manner.

"Judith Unger Scott has compiled just about everything that a girl trying to make the best of herself would need to know, and the young lady who couldn't read it with interest and profit can hardly exist." Jane Cobb
+ Atlantic 180:148 D '47 180w
Wis Lib Bul 44:43 F '48

SCOTT, SALLY. Sue Ann's busy day; il. by Madye Lee Chastain. [57p] $1.75 Harcourt
48-8372

"Sue Ann's first vacation day showed her that there were many pleasant ways of occupying her time, even though vacation time looked sad—with her Daddy and best friend gone. In the process of earning money for the flags that she wanted, she discovered that other people are lonely too, and that her street was a fine one to live on. Grades 3-4." Wis Lib Bul

"Warm and tranquil account of a little girl's not too desperate efforts to earn some money." Jane Cobb
+ Atlantic 182:119 N '48 70w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 11 '49 210w
Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 20w

"Not a bit goody goody, and the Madye Lee Chastain line drawings are very charming."
+ Kirkus 16:437 S 1 '48 60w

"Little girls will find here just the happy note they are looking for in their first 'long' books. Recommended." Anne Izard
+ Library J 73:1390 O 1 '48 80w

"Slight story for little girls. The illustrations lack style. Some parents will like the book because of its lesson on how to be a nice child." I. E.
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 N 14 '48 110w
Wis Lib Bul 44:167 O '48

SCOTT, VIRGIL JOSEPH. Hickory stick. (Swallow press bk) 750p $3.95 Morrow
48-8553

A long novel about the trials of a small town school teacher. Doug Harris is the hero; an Ohio town the scene. After long preparation Doug finally gets a job as instructor in the high school, only to find that he must knuckle under to a lot of petty grafters. He rebels, gets fired, loses his chance with one of the women teachers, and finally returns to his estranged wife and his youthful ideals.

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

"It is a hardhitting book, built out of anger and discouragement and hope, written because the author had something to say. . . It is not a sensational expose nor a debunking job, but a swift-moving, honest, and occasionally bitter story that attempts to turn some light into certain dark corners of American educational practice." R. B. Nye
+ Chicago Sun O 26 '48 550w

"Here is a plain speaking, hard-hitting book, well written, interesting, compelling. It's possibly overlong—but it's alive."
+ Kirkus 16:412 Ag 15 '48 170w

"Sensitively perceived and set down with frequent inspiration. Unfortunately the subject is largely smothered in the 750 pages. Of special interest to teachers and parents, individually and in groups, since the situation that concerns Mr. Scott seems not to be unusual. Recommended for those collections aiming to include the bulk of current fiction of serious intent." R. E. Kingery
+ — Library J 73:1511 O 15 '48 100w

"The love story is done with an insight which testifies to Mr. Scott's perceptive gifts and human understanding; there is no lack of freshness, humor and grace in this novel when the situation calls for them. But for the most part, Mr. Scott is otherwise employed—with the utmost energy and often with bludgeoning force." Lisle Bell
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 O 24 '48 340w

"For these, for Americans who are interested in what's wrong with public education, and for those concerned about the continuing fight between idealism and compromise, here is a novel of candor and force." Samuel Withers
+ N Y Times p22 O 31 '48 330w
New Yorker 24:128 O 23 '48 160w
San Francisco Chronicle p8 N 28 '48 650w

"Virgil Scott does not, like most writers with a grudge, forget that his first job is to tell a story. As a result, he has written an emotionally taut, intellectually honest, dramatically conceived novel which deserves—and I think will get—a wide audience." Bradford Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 O 23 '48 700w
School & Society 68:376 N 27 '48 90w

SCOTT, WINFIELD TOWNLEY. Mr Whittier, and other poems. 61p $1.75 Macmillan
811 48-8148

Poems in the New England tradition. Some of the verse has appeared in the Atlantic Monthly, Contemporary Poetry, Poetry, and the University of Kansas City review.

"There is a certain ineptness and insufficiency in these poems, many of which have previously appeared in contemporary journals; and one cannot but wish that this talent would at last mature and take some shape of definite outline. Of note only to readers with a strong interest in current poetic trends."
— Kirkus 16:333 Jl 1 '48 90w

"It is with this book that Mr Scott enters the company of those whose work should be found on the poetry shelves of a good library." Gerald McDonald
Library J 73:1278 S 15 '48 70w

"At a time when all our elder, established poets (save Frost) are in a lean or barren period, when most of those who struck fire in the Thirties seem to be resting their case, and when a new generation appears all too inclined to lean safely on the bleak, metaphysical tradition, it is encouraging to find a real craftsman working the main stream of American poetry—and working it steadily toward mature accomplishment." Selden Rodman
+ N Y Times p43 N 7 '48 800w

"New England needs a young poet with a streak of the satirist, in the tradition of Robinson and Frost, and Mr. Scott has moments when he seems to be continuing this tradition. He does not succeed, however, in bringing to bear enough technical strength or intellectual determination upon his rich material."
+ — New Yorker 24:152 N 13 '48 70w

"Mr. Scott's eye is acute; his powers of observation show to good advantage in a number of poems. In the transcendental mode he finds wide meaning in narrow corners of nature; his landscapes extend infinitely. And certain poems like 'Now That Lost April' do fresh, new things with what has always seemed most familiar. Here, as elsewhere in this poet's work, the wise reader will do well to read with the ear as well as with the eye." G. P. Meyer
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 O 9 '48 320w

SCOVILLE, WARREN CANDLER. Revolution in glassmaking; entrepreneurship and technological change in the American industry, 1880-1920. 398p il $5 Harvard univ. press
666.1 Glass manufacture and trade 48-6964

"Case study of the entrepreneurship and inventive talents of E. D. Libbey and M. J. Owens and revolutionary technological innovations in the change in American glassmaking from 1880 to 1920 from a handicraft to a large-scale production industry. Published under the auspices of the Committee on Research in Economic History, Social Science Council, and the Committee on Technological Change, Massachusetts Institute of Technology." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. W. Oliver
Am Hist R 54:214 O '48 320w
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 70w

"'Revolution in Glassmaking' tells this story in the careful, technical, scholarly method of the industrial economist. Warren C. Scoville is associate professor of economics at the University of California at Los Angeles." R. T.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 O 24 '48 260w

SCRUTINY (periodical). Importance of Scrutiny; selections from Scrutiny: a quarterly review, 1932-1948; ed. by Eric Bentley. 444p $5.75 Stewart
820.4 Literature—History and criticism. Literary criticism 48-9551

A collection of critical essays culled from the pages of the English magazine, Scrutiny. Among the contributors are F. R. Leavis, F. W. Bateson, René Wellek, D. A. Traversi, L. C. Knights, R. G. Cox, Marius Bewley, D. W. Harding, R. C. Churchill, George Santayana, W. H. Mellers, R. G. Lienhardt, H. A. Mason.

"The intellectual level is a demanding one. Of interest only to the chosen few."
Kirkus 16:568 O 15 '48 130w
Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 120:18 Ja 10 '48 1300w
Reviewed by Jerome Salzmann
N Y Times p10 Ja 2 '49 550w
New Yorker 24:108 D 18 '48 140w

SEAGER, ALLAN. Inheritance. 337p $3.50 Simon & Schuster
48-6058

"Set in Michigan town big enough to have two movie theatres, two fairly good restaurants, and a brothel. It is the story of Walter Phelps, the son of a bank president, the last in a line of bankers. . . After the death of both his parents in an automobile accident, Walter finds an astonishing collection of pornography in his father's room. A little later, he overhears some former business associates discussing his father in slanderous terms. He finds, in addition, that his inheritance, financially speaking, is not as large as he had imagined it would be. All these things do nothing to vitiate the image he has created. Walter's real inheritance—the mantle of his father—leads him into a series of defiant acts against the town: he gets in a drunken brawl in a hotel room; he takes a prostitute to a country-club-set party. Ultimately, he is committed for insanity." Sat R of Lit

SEAGER, ALLAN—Continued

"Anyone who wants to read this—on the basis of having liked Equinox perhaps?—can have it. It's out of my class. I found it an unpleasant and worthless mirror held up to all the accumulated unattractiveness of behavior conceivable in one creature."
— Kirkus 16:6 Ja 1 '48 240w

"'The Inheritance' contains the seeds, at least, of an 'autobiographical' novel, and as long as it stays 'autobiographical' it promises to be a very good novel indeed. When the author writes about a small-town banker, an Ann Arbor bootlegger, a fraternity initiation, an Athens funeral home, his writing is pungent and flavorful, sharp with fragments of brilliant characterization. But on the natural pattern of Walter Phelps's young manhood in Michigan Mr. Seager has seen fit to impose a painfully artificial set of private circumstances." Richard Match
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Je 20 '48 490w

"The concluding episode is not quite convincing, for it tries to carry too much for the theme and, with its hint of hope, is not quite in harmony with what has gone before it. That, however, is a minor flaw, in an honest, effective and brilliantly written novel." Robert van Gelder
+ — N Y Times p7 Ap 18 '48 900w

"Seager's gift for character creation is such that his message is made clear long before the book comes to an end. He draws his individuals with striking economy, achieving the difficult feat of making even minor people seem three-dimensional. Thus the reader is shown, not told, the terrifying effect of the small-town upon its residents. The book is an excellent second try, and one can only hope that Seager will not wait too long to give us a third." R. B. Gehman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 Ap 24 '48 550w

SEAGLE, WILLIAM. Men of law, from Hammurabi to Holmes. 391p $5 Macmillan
923.4 Law—History and criticism. Lawyers 47-31211

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The story of the law is told in a simple and attractive style interspersed with significant quotations from literature, anecdotes, and even love affairs which are sometimes made the turning points in the development of the law. The author has displayed considerable genius in stripping the subject of its technicalities and in producing a book which is easily within the understanding of the layman, but which does not provide a dull moment for even the legal eruditionist. In this respect, the author has made a contribution to the literature of the law. Undoubtedly, there was no intention of attempting a contribution to either the law or jurisprudence." C. P. Patterson
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:369 Ap '48 1100w

Reviewed by Johannes Mattern
Ann Am Acad 256:241 Mr '48 400w
Columbia Law R 48:312 Mr '48 100w

"The book may be recommended to all who want a popular but informed introduction to Western legal lights." T. V. S.
+ Ethics 58:231 Ap '48 230w

"The book avoids popularizing the law, but it personalizes the story so that both lawyer and layman can enjoy it. To the layman, some of the structural details may be obscure, but the book will give him an impression of the edifice which he can get readily nowhere else."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:380 D '47 360w

SEARLES, HERBERT LEON. Logic and scientific methods. 326p il $3.50 Ronald 160 Logic. Methodology 48-5890

"An introductory course which attempts to make clear, without oversimplification, the essential elements of critical logical thinking and scientific methods." (School & Society) Glossary. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by A. R. Turquette
Ethics 59:74 O '48 230w
School & Society 67:175 F 28 '48 30w

SEARS, CLARA ENDICOTT. Highlights among the Hudson River artists. 216p pl $5 Houghton
758.1 Artists, American 48-5061

"Straightforward, careful chronicle of some two dozen artists of the 19th century; some well known like Thomas Cole and George Inness; others like Victor de Grailly vaguely within recall; some, like John Casilear, unfamiliar to many, whose canvases have but lately been sought by collectors." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:230 Mr 1 '48

"Information and illustrations will prove useful to all libraries for here in one volume are gathered many elusive personalities. Material for club papers without end." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:398 Mr 1 '48 70w

"Miss Sears loves the art of the Hudson River school and enters into it with a passionate integrity that is as rare as it is estimable. She is not out to destroy or sustain reputations nor does she aspire, she says, 'to compete with the learned writings of the art experts.' She discusses her heroes with disarming artlessness and in the simplest terms possible." Thomas Craven
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Mr 7 '48 1250w

"Miss Sears is chatty and informative about the characters in her book, but it is a pity that her references are not more fully documented, and that her book has no index, but only a list of the principal dramatis personae. The illustrations, being entirely chosen from one collection, cannot hope to give a view of the Hudson River school as a whole and rather belie the ambitious title." Ruthven Todd
+ — N Y Times p5 Mr 7 '48 600w
Wis Lib Bul 44:80 Ap '48

SEARS, ELINOR LATHROP. Pastel painting step-by-step; ed. by Arthur L. Guptill. 123p $6 Watson-Guptill
741.23 Pastel drawing 47-11985

This guide to pastel drawing and painting "illustrated with reproductions in line, halftone, and full color, leads the reader by easy degrees from such elementary matters as line drawing, tone building, and color manipulation through varied applications of pastel in the representation of still life, flowers, landscape, and the human face and figure. Special chapters deal with such subjects as pictorial composition; the combination of pastel with other media; the matting, framing, and preservation of pastels; and pastel diseases, their prevention and cure. Included too, is a brief history of pastel painting." (Introd) Emphasis is on the author's specialty, child portraiture. For the amateur, student, or professional artist.

Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '48

"Useful in art departments of school and public libraries." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:41 Ja 1 '48 100w
School Arts 47:11a Je '48 70w

SEAVER, EDWIN, ed. Cross section, 1948; a collection of new American writing. (V4) 467p $3 Simon & Schuster

810.8 American literature—Collections. Short stories—Collections

"The new 'Cross Section' contains fifteen short stories, two novelettes, a couple of critical essays, a 45,000-word 'satire' by Jessamyn West, and a sample chapter from Norman Mailer's 'The Naked and the Dead.'" N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Chicago Sun Mr 29 '48 380w

"As any cross section does, it contains both good and bad representation. If it did not, it would not be a fair cross section of American writing. . . The absence of poetry in a cross section of literature seems to me to be an appalling absence. One is given to understand that no poetry of enough merit is being written today. Let us rather hope that it was only not presented to the editor for inclusion in this volume." R. B.
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 8 '48 420w

Kirkus 15:632 N 15 '47 100w

"'Cross Section 1948' is as weak as an index as it is as a work of art. As usual when, in a moment of fancied toughness, we decide to let the facts speak for themselves, we find that the facts are numb. If the facts are to make any sense, they must be sensitively and purposefully interpreted, not, as is the case with 'Cross Section,' reproduced in miniature. Indirectly, of course, the book does bear witness. . . Some of the work, to be sure, deserves special mention. Jessamyn West's satire, 'The Pismire Plan,' is certainly not commonplace. The fun is too clean for good satire, but the writing is skilful. Edward McSorley's 'Bring On Your Mike Twin Sullivans' and Nancy Wilson Ross's 'The Never Never Bird' are both good short stories, but the rest of the fiction lacks drama and authentic characterization." Joseph Kraft
— + Nation 166:420 Ap 17 '48 490w

"Though the short-story section is soft in spots, the volume as a whole is more than redeemed by a few extraordinarily robust selections—mainly reflections of the late war. In a 'year of literary drought,' as he calls it, Mr. Seaver has assembled a collection good enough to stand with previous 'Cross Sections,' all of which have been a cut above the average for volumes of this kind." Richard Match
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 Ap 25 '48 750w

"If this collection indeed represents a cross-section of literature today, and Mr. Seaver is determined to stay with this ship, he must be prepared to go down with it." Gertrude Buckman
N Y Times p6 Ap 25 '48 800w

"Except for a long and amusing satirical story called 'The Pismire Plan,' by Jessamyn West, there is little of distinction in this fourth annual collection of 'new American writing.' Another longish story by Robert Lowry, about two American soldiers on an amorous binge in wartime Rome, is satisfactory in spots but takes itself too seriously."
New Yorker 24:90 Mr 27 '48 110w

Reviewed by H. M. Jones
Sat R of Lit 31:19 My 8 '48 650w

SEAVER, EDWIN, ed. Pageant of American humor. 607p $3.95 World pub.

817.08 Humor 48-9297

A collection of examples of American humor selected from the works of more than eighty writers including Washington Irving, Benjamin Franklin, Josh Billings, F. P. Dunne, Mark Twain, George Ade, James Thurber, Ring Lardner, Robert Benchley, and H. A. Smith.

Booklist 45:175 Ja 15 '49

"Many of the pieces chosen, particularly those from the nineteenth century, are of only historical interest (if one can take any interest at all in humor that has gone flat), and even in the case of some of the selections from modern writers it would seem that the editor might have picked better. As is always the case, though, in anthologies of this sort, when it comes to what's funny and what's not, it's dealer's choice."
New Yorker 24:182 D 4 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p8 D 11 '48 600w

SECHRIST, MRS ELIZABETH (HOUGH), comp. Heigh-ho for Halloween! il. by Guy Fry. 240p $2.50 Macrae Smith co.

394.268 Halloween 48-8612

After an explanation of the origin of Halloween, the book is composed of stories, poems, plays, games, parties, and suggestions for making cards, all for Halloween. For grades four to eight.

Booklist 45:54 O 1 '48

Kirkus 16:480 S 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by M. J. Meade
Library J 73:1674 N 15 '48 70w

Wis Lib Bul 44:215 D '48

SEEGER, ELIZABETH. The five brothers. See Mahābhārata

SEEGER, MRS RUTH (CRAWFORD). American folk songs for children in home, school and nursery school; a book for children, parents and teachers; il. by Barbara Cooney. 190p $4 Doubleday

784.4 Children's songs. Folk songs, American 48-9384

"Mrs. Seeger has collected the words and melodies of nearly a hundred traditional American songs, the greater number of them familiar only to folklorists, has given them easy accompaniments, and has added footnotes on how to improvise new words, clap out or make a play of each song. In a foreword, she gives her theories of how the book should be used, and there are several indexes." New Yorker

Booklist 45:145 D 15 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun D 4 '48 80w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 14 '48 190w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Commonweal 49:213 D 3 '48 60w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 25:38 Ja '49 90w

"An exciting new book in the field of creative music for children. It is more than a folk song book, more than a game book,—it is a wonderful combination of both."
+ Kirkus 16:574 N 1 '48 260w

"Splendid in format and valuable in content, this should be in every children's room." Clara Adams
+ Library J 74:66 Ja 1 '49 100w

"Mrs. Seeger has been building this collection for seven years. Because she is a fine musician, a loving mother, and a thoughtful teacher, she has done a splendid job. . . The collection is dependable, since the songs have already been tested with children and found enjoyable. . . The illustrations, in black and white, are the most engaging I have ever seen."
+ Music Lib Assn Notes 6:166 D '48 650w

"A unique collection of old songs which have the vitality of tradition, the wisdom of folk sayings and the imagination, spirit and humor of the people who created and sang them. . . The chapters on singing, improvising new words, using the songs at home, tone play, phrase repetition, nonsense and accompanying the songs are revealing and rewarding." H. A. Masten
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 28 '48 270w

SEAVER, R. C.—Continued
"The author of this book is an experienced teacher, a skilled musician and the mother of four youngsters. She has drawn on the special talents and interests required for these activities to produce an intriguing and ingenious book." W. G. Tyrrell
+ N Y Times p14 D 19 '48 200w

"This big book of simple folk songs will be invaluable for parents and teachers who sing with young children."
+ New Yorker 24:139 D 11 '48 110w

"This is a unique collection. It will probably be the authoritative source for American folk songs for children for many, many years."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:37 D 11 '48 110w

SEELYE, ELWYN EGGLESTON. Data book for civil engineers: v3, Field practice. 306p il $4.50 Wiley

620 Civil engineering (46-25043)

Volumes one and two of this reference work for civil engineers were entered in the Book Review Digest 1945 and 1946 respectively. "The first part of this book provides data and procedure for supervising work done in such jobs as concrete structure, masonry, structural steel, welding, bridges, painting, foundations, pile driving, timber, grading, bituminous paving, sanitary construction, and pipe laying. Sample inspectors' check lists together with forms for time records, payroll and expense records, and general contractor's daily report are included. The latter part of the book treats of surveying problems in pipeline, and airfield stakeouts; formulae and examples in engineering mathematics; hints on adjustments on instruments; transit problems; and mapping." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 44:278 Ap 15 '48

"The small size of this third volume will surprise those who acquired the earlier volumes, both of which have unusually large pages to facilitate the use of charts; but the pocket size of Volume III will add materially to its usefulness because it can be carried into the field conveniently."
+ Eng N 140:111 Ja 8 '48 160w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 70w

"An important work for civil engineers."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 32:72 O '47

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:248 Je '48 290w

SEESHOLTZ, ANNE GROH. Saint Elizabeth; her brother's keeper. 136p $2.75 Philosophical lib.

B or 92 Elizabeth of Hungary, Saint 48-9108

A life of Saint Elizabeth for girls. It is "about the lovely Hungarian princess who married a German prince, lived in Wartburg castle, was (by a slight anachronism) the heroine Elizabeth in Wagner's Tannhäuser, became a mother and a widow, devoted herself wholly to the service of the poor, died at 24, and was canonized only four years later. The emphasis is upon her works of mercy." (Christian Century) Index.

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 65:1337 D 8 '48 150w

"A rather engagingly simple, and often conjectural, life of Saint Elizabeth of Hungary, 'Her Brother's Keeper,' which devotes much attention to her times." E. S. S.
Commonweal 49:262 D 17 '48 40w

SEGALE, SISTER BLANDINA. At the end of the Santa Fe trail. [brought up to date with new prefaces annot and bibl. by Sister Therese Martin]. 298p il $3 Bruce pub.

B or 92 Frontier and pioneer life—Southwest. Missions—Southwest 48-10709

"On Nov. 30, 1872, Sister Blandina Segale set out from Steubenville, Ohio, for what was then the truly wild and untamed West. Only 22 years old, she was going to see history made and to help make it as few women have done. During the twenty years that followed she wrote the journal that comprises this book and from which emerges a story of pioneer courage and ingenuity. Sister Blandina wrote her journal for Sister Justina, who was her own sister as well as a member of the Sisters of Charity. It is to United States Government officials, however, who chanced to see the journal and recognized its historical value, that we are indebted for its having been made a public record. It was first published under the same title in 1932, but is offered in this new edition with additional biographical details." N Y Times

Review by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:214 D '48 90w

"People who wonder what the black-robed Sisters of Charity are like, what they think about, and what they do, would have many of their questions answered by a reading of this book. . . Catholics particularly and others in the southwest would be a natural market."
+ Kirkus 16:594 N 15 '48 180w

"Valuable as Catholic Americana; not too important for public libraries." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 150w

"It is a continuous thriller. For these unstudied pages give intimate glimpses of the Southwest of the '70s, such as readers of today seldom see."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p26 N 28 '48 200w

Reviewed by R. D. Dinsmore
N Y Times p26 N 28 '48 500w

SEIDMAN, JACOB STEWART. Legislative history of excess profits tax laws, 1946-1947. 414p $15; to schools $11.25 Prentice-Hall

336.243 Excess profits tax 48-5019

"As a companion volume to his work on income tax laws [Book Review Digest 1939] this compilation aims to present evidence of congressional intent. Taking up only provisions which have had legislative history, and arranging enactments in reverse time order, the various sections and sub-sections of the acts are noted, with pertinent committee reports, hearings, and congressional debates quoted or abstracted under each. The value of a book of this sort to the accountant, tax lawyer, or reference librarian is extraordinary, if he has need to study legislative intent, and that need in the case of tax laws is apparent." Library J

"As in the case of the previous volume, the book is an indispensable tool in handling excess profits tax problems, which presumably will be with us for many years to come." E. N. Griswold
+ Harvard Law R 61:568 F '48 280w

Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 73:123 Ja 15 '48 180w

SEIFERT, ELIZABETH (MRS JOHN GASPAROTTI). The glass and the trumpet. 344p $2.75 Dodd

48-1039

Character study of a spirited young English woman who marries the elder son of a proud French-American family living somewhere in the region between New Orleans and St Louis. She finds her husband's family dominated by a willful invalid mother, whose code reaches far into the past, altho the time is 1946. After a period of rebellion Cynthia settles down as a true member of the family

" 'The Glass and the Trumpet' is a welcome transfer of emphasis from pathology to psychology, from the hospital to the home, from digestive to domestic disorder. . . The characters are expertly drawn and so are the lines of feminine battle in a highly entertaining story."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 My 16 '48 230w

"Harmless."
New Yorker 23:82 F 14 '48 80w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 170w

SEIFERT, ELIZABETH (MRS JOHN GASPAROTTI). Hospital zone. 361p $2.95 Dodd
48-8223

Novelized study of modern hospital practice as evidenced in the struggles of two young doctors, one an idealist, the other an opportunist, and the wife of one of them.

Booklist 45:51 O 1 '48

"Solidly constructed, entertaining, but quite familiar."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 O 10 '48 130w

Reviewed by C. M. Brown
Sat R of Lit 31:57 D 4 '48 100w

Reviewed by by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 360w

SEIFERT, SHIRLEY. Proud way. 316p $3 Lippincott

Davis, Varina (Howell)—Fiction. Davis, Jefferson—Fiction 48-6091

Historical novel based on two years in the life of Varina Howell, who married Jefferson Davis and became the first lady of the Confederacy. The story covers two years of her life, from the time she met her future husband, when she was seventeen, until she married him two years later.

"At home in her re-creations of the American past, the author has an obvious sympathy for her characters and her scene. Not a Deep Southerner herself, she manages an identification with her people and their ways and attitudes. Some may question one or two passages which seem almost a glorification of slavery—most Southerners of today don't attempt such a thing; but by and large the pages ring true, and nicely so." H. T. Kane
+ — Chicago Sun p7X My 30 '48 320w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:449 N '48 120w

"Miss Seifert writes that she visited with the ladies of Natchez in her search for material and some of the sprightlier touches, like the tale of how little Varina burned down her grandmother's house, probably come right from the ancestral annals. Perhaps with an eye to these ladies, it is an unusually circumspect love story for our time. Not a phrase or an emotion in it could offend the fussiest Howell-Davis kin." C. B.
+ N Y Times p20 Je 20 '48 450w

"Miss Seifert tries to show the traits of character in Varina and Jefferson that bear upon the development of their later life familiar to history. The Natchez background is done with artistry and with a feeling for place but the characters, on the whole, lack the vital spark." J. V.
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 25 '48 300w

SEINWERTH, HERMAN W. Getting results from suggestion plans; a practical handbook of suggestion plan policy and procedure. 223p il $3 McGraw

658.314 Suggestion systems 48-874

"This first up-to-date book on the subject is a manual of suggestion plan administration. It shows sound and unsound practices, ideas for promotion, effecting improvements in procedure and how to develop a sound policy and handle suggestions. Discusses eleven nationally known plans representative of manufacturing, retail selling, financial, public utility and transportation. Supplementary reading for courses in business management." Library J

Booklist 44:228 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 90w

"No one could have written this handbook except a man with Mr. Seinwerth's extensive experience with suggestion systems. Mr. Seinwerth has been manager of Swift & Company's suggestion plan department and president of the National Association of Suggestion Systems. Every major problem related to the administration of a suggestion system is covered in this book." C. C. Gibbons
+ Management R 37:220 Ap '48 210w

SELDES, GEORGE. One thousand Americans. 312p $3 Boni & Gaer

973.91 U.S.—Politics and government. Press—U.S. 48-432

"One thousand Americans to safeguard their own property rights, testified Vermont's Senator Aiken, prevented the development of the St. Lawrence waterway which would benefit millions. Using this text Seldes, with official government documentation identifies the thousand odd who control America, and reveals their policies, activities and methods." (Library J) Index.

"In view of the importance of the book's subject matter, it's regrettable that Seldes didn't take more pains in its writing. Some passages are just slovenly. He might have been more careful, also, to avoid the appearance of sensationalism and over-simplification. But the volume as a whole is quite readable and plainly deserves a wide audience." Ralph Habas
+ — Chicago Sun p5X Ja 11 '48 700w

Christian Century 65:275 Mr 3 '48 310w

Reviewed by F. L. Mott
Foreign Affairs 26:743 Jl '48 50w

Reviewed by Harold Lancour
Library J 72:1684 D 1 '47 130w

"1,000 Americans goes about its task of exposing reaction and its domination of our political and economic life with such zeal and vigor, and frequently with such excellent results, that it is an interesting and valuable experience to watch its author at work. While continuing to approve what he has to say, I must express two regrets. One is that he is not more careful about details. . . The other regret is that the angry Seldes tones are not occasionally altered to a note of more quiet and urbane persuasion." Richard Watts
+ — New Repub 118:26 Ja 5 '48 1200w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 Mr 7 '48 1050w

Reviewed by T. L. Stokes
N Y Times p7 F 15 '48 1000w

"It's a good theme, but others have stated it more ably, accurately, and effectively. Seldes brushes aside as naïve the various suggestions for a better press made by the Hutchins Commission on the Freedom of the Press. But Seldes's own suggestions for solving this problem are no less naïve. . . For convincing proof that the American public, knowing by heart every word of the machinations of the 'big powers,' would behave any differently than it has, it will be necessary to seek elsewhere. Seldes does not furnish that evidence." R. S. Allen
— + Sat R of Lit 31:10 Ja 17 '48 1200w

School & Society 67:127 F 14 '48 10w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 25 '48 700w

SELEKMAN, BENJAMIN MORRIS. Labor relations and human relations. 255p $3 McGraw

331.116 Industrial relations. Trade unions 47-12057

"The author examines the course of influence upon the intricate network of relationships established when a union enters a workplace. He probes the chain of influence and reaction to uncover the problems posed for leaders on both sides who seek earnestly to make the new frame of relationships a sound and effective context for living with collective bargaining. The book also explores the content of such collective bargaining as a social process involving human people, and suggests beginnings in approach and action that seem worthy of further test in improving joint relationships among such people." (Publisher's note) Index.

SELEKMAN, B. M.—Continued

"Criticism should be used sparingly with respect to so timely and satisfactory a book. It is indeed gratifying that labor relations have at last been treated as human relations, ending the monopoly of law and economics over this area of human activity. In the opinion of this reviewer, however, there are aspects of the book which detract from the high quality of the work as a whole. Although the language used is that of clinical psychology and sociology, the frame of reference or general theory of interpersonal relations and group behavior is never stated. Consequently, the reader is required to interject his own conceptual scheme of human behavior in order to get a real understanding of the situations analyzed. . . Since Professor Selekman does not explain his theoretical framework, the reader, while impressed by the keenness of the analysis of a series of situations, cannot fit the behavior process together because he is offered no pattern by which to do so." J. W. McConnell

+ — Am Econ R 38:451 Je '48 1150w

Reviewed by P. R. Hays

Harvard Law R 61:1273 Jl '48 280w

"The present reviewer agrees that multivariate approach is needed in industrial relations. Professor Selekman has attained a new level in his presentation of noneconomic factors. His chapters on shop changes and grievances will long make his book worth while. However, his feeling that industrial relations are in transition and will settle down to relatively fixed conditions may be questioned. . . Whatever is said for or against Professor Selekman's book, his courage and success in approaching the subject from so many angles is uncommon. He differs from those social scientists who, in many cases, are unable to view industrial relations beyond the artificial limits of their ethnocentric disciplines." Melville Dalton

+ — J Pol Econ 56:369 Ag '48 900w

"This book provides a literary vivisection of industry's livest problem. Management executives who are too busy to read books should take time out for this one. . . Dr. Selekman's book, which deals with a momentous subject, is of relatively brief compass. It is not surprising that it should contain generalizations, without due qualification. Such generalizations do appear, and they do tempt debate. Perhaps that is their virtue." Martin Dodge

+ Management R 37:47 Ja '48 700w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Come away! 209p $2.50 Barnes, A.S.

Horses—Legends and stories 48-6374

"Handicapped by a speech defect, Colin was tormented at school, quickly retreated into a private world of fancy shared only by Nicky, a leprechaun. It is his love of a filly, Sylvia, which restores him to reality, but with the filly's accidental death, the leprechaun returns to help him." Kirkus

"Acceptable as a horse story; the portrayal of the boy's development suffers from not giving more of his point of view."

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

"Though not in competition with the Flicka stories, this is gently engaging."

+ Kirkus 16:178 Ap 1 '48 100w

"A sensitively told psychological novel." H. S. N.

+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 100w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Riding simplified. 77p il $1.50 Barnes, A.S.

798 Horsemanship A48-6338

Fundamentals of horsemanship for the beginner.

Booklist 44:250 Mr 15 '48

"Excellent book for young beginners, in simple untechnical language." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 20w

Wis Lib Bul 44:131 Je '48

SELIGMANN, KURT L. Mirror of magic [a history of magic in the western world]. 504p il $8.50 Pantheon bks.

133.4 Magic 48-6044

"A vast survey of the influence that magic has exerted on Western civilization, from the propitiatory rite of ancient Mesopotamia to the Masonic abracadabra of the eighteenth century, covering the whole wonderful framework of mummery that man has constructed to disguise the vital facts of his existence." (New Yorker) Bibliographic résumé. Index.

Reviewed by Robert Parrish

Chicago Sun Jl 29 '48 330w

"The chief value of the work for the ordinary reader will be that of a reference book. The first chapters, which deal with the ancient world, are a more or less unprofitable hodgepodge, because you cannot discuss the mythology, the ritual, and the metaphysics of Judea, Greece, and Rome from a narrowly thaumaturgic point of view and make any real sense of these subjects. But beginning with the section on alchemy the book becomes more satisfactory; and if you want a brief but solid account of the alchemists, of Rosicrucianism, of the career of Nostradamus or the Comte de Saint-Germain, of the Cabala, astrology, palmreading, or the Tarot pack of cards, you probably could not do better than look the subject up in 'The Mirror.' The odd thing about the book, however, as the work of an imaginative artist, is not merely that it is so little surrealist but that it gives so little place to imaginative art." Edmund Wilson

Nation 166:478 My 1 '48 650w

"As a popular catalogue of the magical arts, it is adequate and, in small doses, entertaining. As an account of magic's contribution to scientific and cultural development and of the enduring influence of magic on social ideas and behavior, it is altogether superficial." J. R. Newman

— + New Repub 119:23 Ag 30 '48 2350w

" 'The Mirror of Magic' is a handsome volume which offers enough information to glut the average man and sufficient scholarship to stimulate inquiring minds." Thomas Sugrue

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 25 '48 1000w

"Obviously the book cannot be read at a sitting, but every page holds interest. One regrets that the writing itself lacks fluidity, and is irritated by some non-integrated material. But as an introduction to the subject this survey is a commendable achievement." H. E. Wedeck

+ — N Y Times p19 My 23 '48 400w

"Mr. Seligmann has an odd way with English, but his text is informative, and his book is enlivened by two hundred and fifty unusual illustrations."

New Yorker 24:119 Mr 20 '48 80w

"A mirror gives only a reflection. 'The Mirror Of Magic,' for all its great length and its 225 illustrations, is as unsatisfactory as the mirror that hung upon the wall of Elaine's chamber. Readers will still want to look out directly on the road to Camelot." E. D. D.

— San Francisco Chronicle p20 My 9 '48 170w

"Although this book is encyclopedic it has not the dryness of a work of reference; it deals with a fascinating subject in an entertaining way. . . The erudition of 'The Mirror of Magic' is enormous—even the assembling of two hundred and fifty pictures all relevant to the text is in itself a work of learning." Padriac Colum

+ Sat R of Lit 31:27 Ag 28 '48 950w

SELLARS, IRMA PEIXOTTO (CRIGHTON SELLARS, pseud). Contrary winds. 303p $3 Doubleday

48-6152

Contrary winds drove a brig off course, so instead of actor Hugh Falconer fleeing to London after an Edinburgh stage riot, he landed in the West Indies where he married the heiress of a trading fortune. A year later contrary winds were responsible for his wife's death at sea and a shipwreck ending in rescue by John Paul Jones, who brought him to the American colonies and a new life in the New York theatre.

Booklist 44:299 My 1 '48

"Romantic, historical excitement in unstressed, well-dressed style."
+ Kirkus 16:60 F 1 '48 180w

"A fine tale of adventure with every ingredient necessary for popularity. . . Recommended." Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 80w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 18 '48 150w

" 'Contrary Winds' is an exciting story all the way through, every page of it, and yet there is little excitement in the telling of it. Mrs. Sellars writes slowly and leisurely with great care for the right word and the polished phrase. It isn't a book to race through simply for the story it tells. For all its action, it is a thoughtful book and moves unhurriedly from land to sea, from country to country. Its people are convincingly drawn and even its heroines (there are two) make up in naturalness and plausibility for what they lack in bosomy appeal." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p17 Je 27 '48 800w

SELLE, EARL ALBERT. Donald of China. 374p $3.50 Harper

B or 92 Donald, William Henry. China—History 48-5343

"The remarkable story of the late William Henry Donald, who left his native Australia early in this century to be a newspaperman and soldier of fortune in China, and remained there to become an intimate of Sun Yat-sen, the Young Marshal, and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his wife. Later, he was made unofficial Foreign Minister of the First Chinese revolutionary government and, finally, was put in charge of China's economic warfare against the Japanese. Mr. Selle got his facts from Donald as he lay dying in an American hospital in Hawaii from the effects of having spent four anonymous years in the Santo Tomás University prison in Manila, while the Japs were scouring all East Asia for him." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

"A lively book, it is somewhat marred by mediocre writing, loose organization, and frantic hero-worship." C. J. Rolo
+ — Atlantic 181:110 Mr '48 360w

Booklist 44:232 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by Hallett Abend
Chicago Sun F 25 '48 650w

"A rattling good story, full of adventure, high politics, local color, astounding personalities. One's credulity falters, however, when detailed conversations of 30 or 40 years ago are reproduced with each participants's peculiarities of speech and the exact moment recorded at which he nodded, shrugged, smiled, or gazed off thoughtfully into the twilight." R. P.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 F 20 '48 420w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '48

"Apart from the question of its lasting value, in 'Donald of China' Earl A. Selle has written what might very easily prove to be one of the most interesting books of 1948." J. O. Frederick
Commonweal 47:429 F 6 '48 350w

"A lively, personal biography of a modern mystery man."
+ Kirkus 15:665 D 1 '47 260w

"Donald himself gave most of the information to Selle, who used it to fit together a prejudiced, admittedly fictionized in spots, but still unrivaled account of the career of China's most influential foreign resident. A must for any student of the Far East, interesting and informative to other adults. Recommended for all libraries." Anne Whitmore
+ — Library J 73:38 Ja 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Richard Watts
New Repub 118:22 F 23 '48 1250w

"Mr. Selle put together his materials for this book while Donald was dying of cancer in Hawaii, after the war. He had some written records, and part of Donald's correspondence, to draw on, but not enough. His tone is one of hero-worship, touched with sensationalism. All other figures in the book are puppets, manipulated by the subtle hand of the Great Master. . . Mr. Selle, straining for effect, has achieved too many pages which have a grotesque resemblance to Lawrence of Arabia, redrawn as Dick Tracy and then redrawn again as Fearless Fosdick." Owen Lattimore
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 8 '48 1600w

"Mr. Selle attempts no critical evaluation of Donald's career or his personal limitations and this is a serious lack. But read as a good yarn—and one often gets the feeling that that was Donald's own view of his life—the book entertains and informs." J. J. Espey
+ N Y Times p7 F 29 '48 800w

New Yorker 23:87 F 7 '48 120w

Reviewed by Hallet Abend
Pacific Affairs 21:309 S '48 440w

Reviewed by E. D. Breed
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Mr 7 '48 550w

Wis Lib Bul 44:82 Ap '48

SELLERS, CHARLES COLEMAN. Charles Willson Peale. 2v il ea $5 Am. philosophical soc.

B or 92 Peale, Charles Willson (47-5562)

"These two volumes are loaded with facts and facts and more facts about Charles Willson Peale, his family of three wives and sixteen children, his portraits and acquaintances, his various ventures, and the stirring times in which he lived. . . He was a saddler, a coach builder, a portrait painter of distinction, a repairer of clocks and watches. He practiced dentistry, was a soldier during the Revolutionary War, an inventor, a showman, an educator. He made a collection of portraits of eminent Americans, many of whom were his personal friends, like Washington, whom he painted many times. . . Peale organized the first important natural history museum in America. This he considered his most valuable contribution to knowledge, and he continued to hope that the government would take it over as the beginning of a national museum." (U S Quarterly Bkl) For earlier publication of volume I see Book Review Digest 1939.

Reviewed by St. G. L. Sioussat
+ Am Hist R 53:552 Ap '48 850w

"The two volumes, because they contain so much detailed information, will be valuable as reference books. The information on which they are based—chiefly the Peale-Sellers family papers—has long been known to exist, and its publication is welcome. Fortunately, the volumes contain a good index and bibliography."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:42 Mr '48 360w

SEMMES, RAPHAEL. Rebel raider; being an account of [his] cruise in the C.S.S. Sumter; composed in large part of extracts from [his] Memoirs of service afloat written in the year 1869; selected and supplemented by Harpur Allen Gosnell. 218p il maps $3.75 Univ. of N.C. press

973.757 Sumter (Confederate cruiser). U.S.—History—Civil war—Naval operations 48-3118

"An abridgment of an account by Captain Semmes, Confederate States Navy, of the cruise of the man-of-war Sumter, the blockade runner that was the scourge of Yankee shipping during the early part of the Civil War." (New Yorker) Index.

"Confining himself to the cruise of the Sumter, Mr. Gosnell has pruned away the unessential material and freed a story that has the swift excitement of an adventure classic. Notes and comments have been interpolated to clear up doubtful points. Semmes's early activities are covered in a short chapter, and at the end there is a summary of his later career. The result is a volume of some two hundred pages that the student of history and the general reader will both enjoy." W. A. Roberts

SEMMES, RAPHAEL—Continued
+ Am Hist R 54:165 O '48 480w
Current Hist 15:39 Jl '48 40w
Kirkus 16:252 My 15 '48 150w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 O 24 '48 360w

"Mr. Gosnell has cut out most of the portions which indicate that Semmes harbored some animosity toward the Federal Government—Hamlet, if not without the Prince of Denmark, at least without emotion or motivation. Semmes could be maliciously amusing about the Yankees, too. Mr. Gosnell's chief interest seems to be a legal one. It is therefore surprising that among the passages excised are: Semmes' legal justification for secession, his discussion of the legal positions of the South as a belligerent and of her sailors, and the legal questions arising from the Mason and Slidell affair. An essay on Matthew F. Maury and his oceanography is likewise deleted. Finally, the editor does not always rattle, with a sign of omission, before he strikes at the text." W. B. Hamilton
— N Y Times p21 My 23 '48 450w

"A free-flowing, lively story."
+ New Yorker 24:110 Je 5 '48 100w
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ag 15 '48 100w

SEMON, KURT M., ed. Treasury of old silver. 112p il $5 Dodd
739.23 Silverware 47-12484

Collection of articles by leading authorities, selected from the magazine American Collector. They discuss American, Canadian, English, and other European handmade silver, and some of the men who made the articles. No index, but the American Collector is indexed in Art Index.

"Marks only casually mentioned. . . Pleasant supplementary; not basic library material." A. S. Plaut
Library J 73:398 Mr 1 '48 80w

"The articles, which deal with nearly every phase of silver collecting, are by experts in the field and are for the most part well-written. The photographs, though numerous, run from fair to downright poor." E.V.
San Francisco Chronicle p15 F 1 '48 70w

SEN, MRS GERTRUDE (EMERSON). See Emerson, G.

SENDER, RAMON JOSE. King and the queen; tr. from the Spanish by Mary Low. 231p $3 Vanguard
48-2555

When the Republicans entered her Madrid castle in 1936, the Duchess of Alcanadre took refuge in the tower rooms. Only the gardener Rómulo knew her hiding place. Gradually the Duchess saw Rómulo as king, herself the queen, his ideal ambition.

Kirkus 16:147 Mr 15 '48 130w

"One can be no more certain of the 'meaning' of The King and the Queen than were the first readers of The Trial or The Castle, but this brief, bewildering, tragic book is not capable of the sweeping generalizations that have pursued Kafka: this novel, whatever else it may be, is a book about Madrid in 1936. Its richness derives for the most part from the multiplicity of the levels upon which it can be read." George Mayberry
+ New Repub 118:28 My 31 '48 600w

"As in the case of all of Sender's novels, the simple events are illumined by the soft yet penetrating light of poetic sensibility. Every happening is both an act and a symbol, a symbol not with one but with various overtones and meanings that suggest and struggle to displace each other. It is this struggle of meanings and symbols rather than of men and principles that gives the novel its real interest and tension. . . Such subtle writing as Sender's calls for skilled translation, and it is good to be able to record that Mary Low has done her job ably." B. D. Wolfe
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 My 16 '48 700w

"As a story of the sexual encounter of a haughty noblewoman and a sturdy member of the lower orders . . . the novel has some of the power of D. H. Lawrence. At first blush it seems more a timeless melodrama, with the insurrection as a useful background, than a story of political strife. But as one begins to understand Mr. Sender—a serious young novelist who works on several different levels—one sees that he is, very specifically analyzing the Spanish conflict. . . The novel is smoothly finished, always readable. Amid the facility of Mr. Sender's writing, and the tidiness of his story, who will not forgive—who will not welcome, even—occasional brays on the philosophical trombone and a clash or two of symbols?" Donald Barr
N Y Times p4 Je 27 '48 400w

"Mr. Sender attributes the gardener's extraordinary fidelity, in which he seems to catch glints of some profound psychological-political conflict, to the fact that the man once glimpsed the duchess having a private swim in the nude. The explanation is not entirely satisfactory."
New Yorker 24:77 My 29 '48 150w
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Jl 4 '48 270w

SEREDY, KATE. Chestry oak [il. by the author]. 236p $2.50 Viking
48-4483

The story of a young Hungarian prince who escapes from the German occupation, and reaches America. In his adopted home Michael plants an acorn from the Chestry oak in his homeland, and lives up to his inherited tradition of courage and love of the soil.

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48
Cath World 168:222 D '48 80w
Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun D 18 '48 110w

"This book is a small work of art. Through the story of Michael, Prince of Chestry, Kate Seredy brings home to American children what World War II has meant to Hungarian people, and to European children in general. . . The contrast of the two atmospheres is powerfully rendered by the story itself. It is to be hoped that the fine points on education of mind and heart displayed by young Michael and his Hungarian surroundings will be more than quaint foreign oddities."
+ Commonweal 49:156 N 19 '48 190w
+ Kirkus 16:366 Ag 1 '48 180w

"Sensitively and beautifully told but a bit grim and involved." M. B. Snow
+ — Library J 74:68 Ja 1 '49 80w

"There is a singing quality about Kate Seredy's writing that sets it apart from the hurried, clipped prose that is so often the rule today. In 'The Chestry Oak' there's both beauty of writing and beauty of spirit, and there is an absorbing story for 9-to-12 year-olds that is sometimes sad enough to make you cry (without being sticky-sentimental). The stirring conclusion may make you cry, too—for happiness. . . As always, the Seredy drawings are a delightfully integrated part of the story, beautiful in themselves and as thoroughly a part of the book as only an author-artist could make them." P. A. W.
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 N 14 '48 260w

Reviewed by Alice Taylor
San Francisco Chronicle p20 N 28 '48 170w

"A moving story with fifteen beautiful drawings by the author."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 N 13 '48 50w
Wis Lib Bul 44:215 D '48

SEROFF, VICTOR ILYITCH. Mighty five; the cradle of Russian national music. 280p il $4 Allen, Towne & Heath
927.8 Musicians, Russian 48-6401

A study of five Russian composers. "The Five were Balakireff, Cui, Borodin, Mussorgsky and Rimsky-Korsakoff. They were once dismissed by a belittler as 'just a little heap of musicians,' and Vladimir Stassov, distinguished writer and their champion, replied, 'A little heap—ah, but how mighty.' In Russia they came to be known as Moguchaya Kuchka (The Mighty Little Heap). It was the West that gave them the title of The Five. The author has told the artistic and human story of The Five and the world they lived in." (N Y Times)

Booklist 45:50 O 1 '48

"This book will be useful especially if you do not have the earlier works of Abraham and Calvocoressi. There is limited but fair use made of recent Russian publications. . . It is full of useful information though hampered somewhat by superfluous 'color' and character material that sometimes gets in the way of important content." Leonard Burkat
Library J 73:816 My 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by A. J. Swan
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:369 Je '48 800w

"Victor Seroff has tapped old and new sources, has made generous and illuminating use of letters, diaries and memoirs and has knitted the material with a regard for color and character of the men and their period. He has succeeded in making an artistic movement as exciting as a romance. He has left out detailed, technical discussions of the music and has not concerned himself too strictly with chronological order. This approach helps to give the story fluidity." Howard Taubman
+ N Y Times p6 Ap 4 '48 900w

"The author gives a sympathetic account of each composer and although founded on fact, the whole story of the 'The Mighty Five' reads like a romantic novel." Victor Prahl
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 18 '48 420w

SERVICE, ROBERT WILLIAM. Harper of heaven; a record of radiant living. 452p $4 Dodd
B or 92 48-6128

This second volume of the author's reminiscences (following Ploughman of the Moon, Book Review Digest 1945) ends with his return to his home in France after the war and seven years of "exile" in England and America. The book covers not only his life in pre-war France but also his travels in Europe and the Far East, and in North America.

Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

Reviewed by G. D. McDonald
Library J 73:394 Mr 1 '48 110w

"The book is crowded with anecdotes, some of them pretty tall, and is lively without, however, being very stimulating."
New Yorker 24:90 Mr 27 '48 90w

"The best part of the Service story is when the man is on the move, actually doing and seeing things, meeting people, covering a war, visiting the South seas, driving a Red Cross ambulance. The slumps come when the author is expanding his own ego. Readers who share this reviewer's reverent regard for the epics of McGrew and McGee are warned not to expect too much from the life story of the poet who wrote the famous Yukon ballads." Marvin Sargent
— + San Francisco Chronicle p18 My 20 '48 750w

SETON, ANYA (MRS HAMILTON CHASE). The Hearth and Eagle. 464p $3.50 Houghton
48-9296

Epic novel describing the life of a Marblehead woman who achieved serenity from her three-hundred-year-old home and courage from her ancestors.

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48

"As regional history the book has value. But integration of incident with history seems contrived. . . Cinema techniques are often employed, the confusing chronology, unrelated flashbacks, skipping ahead that are certainly writing faults." F. N. Litten
— + Chicago Sun D 9 '48 410w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p15 D 16 '48 180w

"As an historical novel not burdened with famed persons, The Hearth and Eagle is enjoyable, up to a certain point. Then it falls into a rather dispirited chronicle of children, grandchildren and their romances and troubles. This tedious and overdrawn ending—a suitable end should have been much earlier in the history of Hesper Honeywood—spoils the earlier portion of the novel." E. A. Cooper
+ — Commonweal 49:286 D 24 '48 330w
Kirkus 16:559 O 15 '48 240w

"'The Hearth and Eagle' is a substantial and well-told story that makes real one of the longest and most vigorous strands in the making of our country. The story of the woman is interesting and convincing, but stronger will be the appeal of the town to those who know and love that rocky coast." David Tilden
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 N 28 '48 500w

Reviewed by Richard Match
N Y Times p41 N 21 '48 500w

"Not particularly well documented, but with an ample quota of plot."
New Yorker 24:142 N 27 '48 170w

"Miss Seton handles her clan cleverly. Backward flashes, fragments of letters, a bit of brocade, or a concealed corridor resurrect the dead. There is no ponderous genealogy, no overburdened family tree. In all this the house itself stands as an eloquent reminder of Yankee staunchness." C. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 31:19 D 18 '48 400w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p18A Ja 16 '49 270w
Wis Lib Bul 45:14 Ja '49

SEUSS, DR., pseud. See Geisel, T. S.

SEYMOUR, MRS ALTA HALVERSON. At Snug Harbor inn. 222p il $2.50 Presbyterian bd.
48-5970

Mystery for junior high school girls and boys. The setting is colonial Newport.

Booklist 44:371 Jl 1 '48

"A closely knit, breathless tale of pirates, plunder and pluck in Colonial days."
+ Chicago Sun Ap 17 '48 250w
Kirkus 16:112 Mr 1 '48 80w

"Characterization not outstanding, intrigue trite, but the suspense, the Indian friendship and happy outcome should appeal to boys and girls 10-13." E. A. Groves
+ — Library J 73:562 Ap 1 '48 70w

"Sustained suspense and credible characters, with the possible exception of Consy (who becomes too consistently heroic to be entirely convincing), distinguish this absorbing story for boys and girls of 10 to 14 years." H. K. Lippmann
+ — N Y Times p21 Je 20 '48 170w
Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

SEYMOUR, HAROLD JAMES. Design for giving. 182p $2.50 Harper

940.5477873 National war fund, incorporated. Money raising campaigns. World war, 1939-1945—Civilian relief 47-11965

An account of the National war fund, its origin, philosophy, problems, and results. Index.

Booklist 44:149 D 15 '47

Kirkus 15:529 S 15 '47 160w

"Stirring account of the National War Fund by its able general manager. Fortunately, this book is more than just a vivid record of accomplishment to be read and laid away for reference at some future time of crisis. Rather, it is filled with distilled fund raising experience, bottled and ready, for present day leaders who would utilize its contents, to obtain renewed energy with which to clear new paths to social progress." G. E. Mattison

+ Survey 84:170 My '48 650w

SEYMOUR, MAURICE. On ballet; foreword by Leonide Massine. [8p] 101pl $10 Pellegrini & Cudahy

792.8 Ballet 47-11983

"Full page plates of celebrities in contemporary ballet, with descriptive paragraphs. Many of the photographs have been reproduced in newspapers and magazines. There is a brief Foreword by Leonide Massine and an Introduction by Mr. Seymour." Christian Science Monitor

"Handsomest dance book of the year. . . Seymour does not subscribe to the easy sensationalism of the fast action camera or the pretentious artiness of the 'angle' photographer. His camera technique has produced photographs that are true to the dancer and good to look at." Ann Barzel

+ Chicago Sun p6 O 26 '47 180w

"A handsome addition to the dance-lover's library."

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 N 29 '47 90w

San Francisco Chronicle p26 Ja 18 '48 300w

"The pictures are beautifully reproduced. The fine type, the quality of the cover, binding, and paper likewise contribute their share in making this a handsome volume." Arthur Todd

+ Sat R of Lit 31:27 Ja 24 '48 500w

SHADID, MICHAEL ABRAHAM. Doctors of today and tomorrow. 267p il $2.25 Co-op. league of the U.S.A.

614.2 Medical economics Med47-58

"This volume is essentially a personal history and manifesto arising from the author's experiences while establishing and developing a co-operative hospital and medical insurance plan in Elk City, Oklahoma. The first half of the book describes the story of the Community Hospital which was established in 1931, and which received opposition from state and local societies because of group medical practice and use of the insurance principle. . . Part II, entitled 'Medicine Tomorrow,' analyzes the problems of state medicine and health insurance. The author proposes the development of nonprofit hospitals and clinics supported by voluntary health insurance, subsidized by government agencies to permit service to the unemployed." Ann Am Acad

"Dr. Shadid's four-point program (group protection insurance, prevention and consumer participation) will find general acceptance among thoughtful physicians, hospital people, and welfare administrators. The story loses something in the telling, partly because of a long introduction which tends to canonize the author for his pioneering work, and Dr. Shadid's personal indignation when reciting unhappy experiences with his detractors. However, as a handbook to arouse interest among consumer co-operatives, the volume may serve a useful purpose." C. R. Rorem

Ann Am Acad 256:226 Mr '48 350w

"Dr. Shadid's patterns derive from an individual experience, not from comparative studies of the many—though far too few—experiments combining consumer-sponsored health-insurance plans with the group practice of medicine. His book should stimulate rural people to use the cooperative principle in order to get much-needed doctors and hospitals into their neighborhoods and to support their services." M. M. Davis

+ Nation 166:483 My 1 '48 300w

SHANE, SYLVAN M. Out of this world; anesthetics and what they do to you. 110p il $2 Creative age

615.781 Anesthetics 48-5443

Book written for the layman describing what happens when he undergoes an operation under anesthesia. The last chapter gives the history of anesthesia. Bibliography.

"Probably the poorest of the books that have appeared on the subject of anesthesia, this is also the briefest. . . Not all the disadvantages, dangers, and rather dubious virtues of some of the drugs are indicated, making this of questionable medical as well as popular value."

— Kirkus 16:37 Ja 15 '48 80w

"Informative and interesting, this book should help allay fears of anyone facing any type of operation." A. I. Bryan

+ Library J 73:333 F 15 '48 130w

San Francisco Chronicle p12 My 30 '48 360w

SHAPIRO, IRWIN. Joe Magarac and his U.S.A. citizen papers; pictures by James Daugherty. 64p $2 Messner

48-8613

Joe Magarac, "the greatest steelman that ever was," melted himself into a girder so Congress would have the best steel for its building. When he heard some congressmen voice racial prejudices, he became so angry he melted into hot steel and then cooled off to his original form. With the aid of the entire army the now marauding steelman was brought back to Congress. Apologies were offered and accepted and Joe received his long-desired citizenship papers from the hands of the President.

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold

+ Christian Science Monitor p7 Ja 27 '49 210w

Kirkus 16:364 Ag 1 '48 180w

"I do not think this is the best of the legends; it is quite adult in content. However, it is the best single story for children that I have seen and as such it is recommended for the tall tales section of all children's rooms." M. D. Read

+ Library J 73:1747 D 1 '48 80w

"There are some amusing incidents in this tale . . . but, on the whole, humor and dialect seem forced and the moral so stretched as to be wholly unnecessary to the story. James Daugherty's black-and-white illustrations are full of strength and gaiety." Clara Adams

— + Library J 73:1747 D 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Helen Masten

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 O 3 '48 270w

"As vigorous as its hero, told in a gusty workers' colloquialism and perfectly illustrated by James Daugherty, this story, which won the Julia Ellsworth Ford Foundation award for 1947, will entertain readers of 10 and up and holds a special significance today." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p20 S 26 '48 200w

New Yorker 24:136 D 11 '48 130w

"This is one of the best of Irwin Shapiro's 'tall tales.' James Daugherty's drawings, on every page, are simply superb."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 N 13 '48 270w

Wis Lib Bul 44:187 N '48

SHAPIRO, KARL JAY. Trial of a poet, and other poems. 81p $2 Reynal
811 47-11585

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947

"Not particularly interesting."
Christian Science Monitor p15 F 21 '48 60w

Reviewed by Randall Jarrell
Nation 167:80 Jl 17 '48 390w

Reviewed by Robert Fitzgerald
New Repub 118:26 Ja 5 '48 300w

"Mr. Shapiro is a difficult poet to estimate, because whilst there are elements of technical accomplishment in his poetry which obviously command admiration, there are also elements of crudeness and insensitivity which makes him vulnerable to a purist approach, and his very violence makes one uncertain of his power. Nevertheless he is a poet of rare intellectual strength, he has an exceptional power of being able to think of a poem as a single idea, and he has an interesting and perhaps passionate personality which his poetry at present partly conceals. If he were as preoccupied with the single word as he is with the stanza, he would gain enormously." Stephen Spender
+ — Poetry 71:314 Mr '48 1200w

Reviewed by Raymond Holden
Sat R of Lit 31:16 Mr 20 '48 330w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:142 Je '48 240w

"The final section from which the book is titled is a somewhat tedious inquiry into modern poetry by way of a dramatic form of prose and verse. . . Mr. Shapiro represents here a poetry that immediately justifies itself. It is not the slack prose-like enunciation of certain of his predecessors nor very often the forced secret language of hyper-aestheticism. The contemporary freight of war and peace gets into his poems, and what he says could not be stated with the same accuracy and depth in prose or philosophical discourse." Eugene Davidson
Yale R n s 37:749 summer '48 440w

SHARP, MARGERY (MRS GEOFFREY CASTLE). Foolish gentlewoman. 330p $3 Little 48-2469

Isabel Brocken was the foolish gentlewoman. She was a widow with a large house eight miles from the center of London, and there she had gathered an assorted group of people. There was the caretaker and her daughter, who had a section of the place to themselves; there was Isabel's young companion, and the young captain with whom she was falling in love; and there was Isabel's elderly brother-in-law; and last there was poverty-stricken cousin Tilly. Isabel's efforts to make restitution to Tilly for a long-past slight, sets off the action. The time is shortly after World war II.

"This is light writing by a novelist with a sure sense of order and a deft, dramatic touch. Throughout, the humor is saved from frivolity by scenes which hold the pathos of life." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 182:102 Jl '48 330w

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

"This frothy offering seems to have been designed to satisfy the public's yen for yarns that are light, bright and easy on the mental processes. 'The Foolish Gentlewoman' is certainly light enough—so light, in fact, it might properly be placed in the featherweight class. And it's so relaxing you may have trouble staying awake. But Miss Sharp has a shrewd eye, a sharp wit and an extra-special gift for irony, and these are, as before, much in evidence." Ralph Habas
Chicago Sun p8X Je 13 '48 390w

"This latest novel by Margery Sharp is turned with such deftness, and lit throughout with so many match-flares of shrewdness and wit, that it almost escapes from the category of inconsequential reading. Almost, but not quite."
+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 240w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Kirkus 16:198 Ap 15 '48 250w

"Mrs. Brocken, her relatives and friends, make a story that will appeal to all readers of the novel written for pleasure—not propaganda." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 73:813 My 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 25 '48 240w

"Miss Sharp sees people with an alarmingly penetrating eye, but she sees them, also, as absurd, often a little unpleasant, yet, on the whole, admirable. It would be hard for any writer to handle the joint triumph and collapse of horrible Miss Cuff so as to render it both appropriate and convincing: Miss Sharp actually makes it a tiny bit noble. Even Mr. Brocken has to admit that if Isabel truly is a fool, there is also decorum and tradition in her folly. The tale of her absurd good deed is not only nice, it is cute and, in a chuckling sort of way, also terribly funny." Iris Barry
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 My 30 '48 700w

"Readers who left a lamp in the window for Margery Sharp (when she disappeared into a respectable, serious novel called 'Brittania Mews') will rejoice that she has returned to her lightsome ways, with one of her famous feather-pated females in tow. She's changed, though. The manner may be as sprightly: the matter is slightly subdued. . . Miss Sharp makes all her points with her accustomed light touch, with her deft mixture of froth and rue." Mary McGrory
+ N Y Times p4 My 30 '48 600w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles
San Francisco Chronicle p11 My 30 '48 850w

"Whether we are aware of it or not, we look, in every self-respecting work of fiction, for a 'bulletin from the front,' the front being human life. Other things being equal, the more truthful such a report on reality, the more valuable. But other things are never equal. And to make one's little narrative honestly a part of truth is a big undertaking, rather beyond the ability of many authors. Yet I maintain that the first thing to say about a novel is whether the writer has been able to do just this. In the case of Margery Sharp's odd and delightful new novel, the answer is yes she has." Dorothy Canfield
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 My 29 '48 900w

Reviewed by Olivia Manning
Spec 181:282 Ag 27 '48 90w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p10B Je 20 '48 250w

"About halfway through the novel the reader gets an uneasy suspicion that Miss Sharp is trying to smuggle in a little Heavy Thought with the froth. What's worse, neither the comic nor dramatic possibilities of the clash between Tilly and Simon are fully exploited. In the end, the novel has no more sparkle than decarbonated soda water. But even flat soda can quench a summer day's thirst."
— + Time 51:104 Je 21 '48 600w

"Well constructed, fairly original and often amusing, but [it has] an atmosphere of unreality which is hard to define."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p385 Jl 10 '48 240w

Wis Lib Bul 44:133 Je '48

SHAW, IRWIN. The young lions. 689p $3.95 Random house
48-8508

There are three main characters in this first novel by an American playwright-short story writer. They are Noah, a gentle young Jew, married to a Christian girl named Hope; Michael, also an American, a stage manager; and Christian, an ex-communist and Nazi. Their fortunes are traced from 1938, to 1945, when all three meet in a Bavarian forest. There Noah is killed by Christian, and he in turn is killed by Michael. Between the two dates the lives of all three young men, and their parts in the war, are told.

SHAW, IRWIN—Continued

"The Young Lions has not the depth, the original and complex vision of The Naked and the Dead. Mr. Shaw portrays his characters from the outside, and his brush, though lively enough, paints in bold outline and often in conventional colors. His talent is more dramatic than analytic, but it is a considerable one. He handles the whirling changes of scene and atmosphere with amazing skill. He writes with passion and tremendous punch, and drives the action forward with unfailing inventiveness. . . Shaw's picture of the war from the German side—whether correct or not, which I cannot gauge—is utterly engrossing." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 182:106 N '48 900w

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun p8X O 3 '48 750w

"All of this is rendered vividly and reliably in a prose that combines the cumulative eloquence of certain Biblical passages with the terse, unadorned functionalism of the best contemporary reporting. What makes 'The Young Lions' eminently readable detracts somewhat from its realism. It is so liberally sprinkled with adventurous dramatic climaxes that most of the drab, monotonous drudgery of everyday soldiering has been omitted." Theodore Kalem

+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 S 30 '48 950w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"If not directed at a popular level, this is the outstanding novel to have come out of the war, in the universality of its framework, its thoughtfulness, and its writing which is swift, believable and often brilliant."

+ Kirkus 16:370 Ag 1 '48 380w

"This will undoubtedly prove a best seller and is recommended for pay collections as well as for circulating collections of all kinds." George Freedley

+ Library J 73:1385 O 1 '48 140w

"Although by any firm literary standards Irwin Shaw's 'The Young Lions' is not an arresting performance, I found it a good deal more interesting than either his plays or his much-admired short stories. Indeed, ordinary technical gifts aside, it seems to me to be his first work to carry any significant promise for the future." Diana Trilling

+ — Nation 167:409 O 9 '48 1150w

Reviewed by John Woodburn

New Repub 119:23 O 18 '48 750w

"With the publication of his first novel, Irwin Shaw, dramatist, short-story writer, and ex-scenarist, becomes one of the most important of American novelists. It is almost as if a Di Maggio had cast aside his center fielder's glove one afternoon, turned up that night at Madison Square Garden, and knocked out Joe Louis in the first round. Irwin Shaw's new novel is that impressive." Richard Match

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 O 3 '48 1700w

" 'The Young Lions' deserves to be one of the most widely read books of the year. Reading it is a true emotional experience—and one that is likely to leave the reader with a deeper understanding of the present world. Perhaps, to-day, no novel can be asked to accomplish more than that." Marc Brandel

+ N Y Times p5 O 3 '48 800w

"All but one of the central characters of the novel are vague and 'representative' rather than real, reminding you that in Mr. Shaw's plays, which have been less successful than his stories, he has tended toward solemn abstractions. There is nothing about solemn abstractions, of course, that precludes eloquence. After the first hundred pages or so, in which the various moves in the complex plot are set up, 'The Young Lions' is steadily eloquent. . . The climax is particularly well and movingly written, but there are other scenes, too, that show Mr. Shaw's uncommon ability to create emotional excitement. . . In a work of art like this novel, it's important that the characters be real and recognizable in their surface reactions—in their speech, that is, and their individual mannerisms, which are still, for better or worse, the products of national and local influences. Christian is a German only because of the label Mr. Shaw hangs on his chest." John Lardner

+ — New Yorker 24:94 O 2 '48 1550w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 12 '48 800w

"Shaw has faults as a writer. In 'The Young Lions' there is almost none of the careful sifting of subconscious motivations which we have come to expect from modern novelists. His people seem actorish and thin. . . The dialogue, which is mostly brilliant, occasionally reveals a limitation in range. . . But these are really minor carpings. What counts is that Shaw has turned out a fine, full, intelligent book, packed with wonderful talk and crackling writing. We have waited a long time for this novel of Irwin Shaw's. In 'The Young Lions' he reveals in even greater stature the delicious wit, the dramatic sense of scene-making, and the full hearted compassion of his short stories." Lee Rogow

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:12 O 2 '48 1050w

Reviewed by Martha Foley

Survey G 37:500 D '48 130w

Time 52:114 O 11 '48 500w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 38:383 winter '49 240w

SHAW, LAU, pseud. See Shu, C.

SHAW, SAMUEL IRWIN. Hypnotism can help. 213p $3 McKay

615.851 Hypnotism Med48-36

A Detroit dentist who discovered that hypnotism helped his patients to bear pain, describes his experiences in helping others as well as his own patients. Bibliography.

" 'Hypnotism Can Help' does not qualify as a serious book. It is composed of brief chapters of case histories recorded with sublime disregard for diagnostic questions. If one has not seen many patients shopping around unsuccessfully and with great anguish for relatively simple help and advice, one may be apt to underestimate the harm this type of book can do." Fredric Wertham

— N Y Times p20 Ag 1 '48 270w

"Doctors will probably fume about the possible dangers that hypnotism can have in the hands of such an amateur practitioner; ordinary laymen will be interested and impressed." M. S.

San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 27 '48 500w

Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 14 '48 180w

SHAY, FRANK. American sea songs and chanteys, from the days of iron men and wooden ships; il. by Edward A. Wilson; musical arrangements by Christopher Thomas. 217p $5 Norton

784.4 Sea songs. Chanties 48-8888

"Words and music of 76 chanteys and sea songs, based on an earlier book entitled Iron Men and Wooden Ships [Book Review Digest 1924]." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 45:106 N 15 '48

"The salty texts as given could by no stretch be found shocking, and the illustrations—some in color—of Edward A. Wilson help make the book attractive." P. L. Miller

+ Library J 73:1667 N 15 '48 120w

"Mr. Shay thinks songs are just for singing, and if it's a good song, its source is completely irrelevant. No one could agree with him more heartily than I so far as the ultimate purpose of a song goes, but a few discreet notes of origin ought to be of interest as well. And they would also give the volume some additional value as a reference source. As it is, the new edition will make a good Christmas present for a seafaring friend, but is nothing you will have to add to the reference shelf of your library." R. S. Hill

+ — Music Lib Assn Notes 6:156 D '48 1600w

"The rollicking collection, with its handsome color wood blocks by Mr Wilson and the musical arrangements by Christopher Thomas, must be welcome to readers and singers who have not seen it before or who have, like me, lost track of it."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p32 N 7 '48 110w

"Practically unalloyed pleasure is at hand for those who take up Frank Shay's 'American Sea Songs and Chanteys.' Here is a rich, flavorful and handsome work." C. B. Palmer
+ N Y Times p8 D 19 '48 160w

"Attractive and well-chosen collection."
+ New Yorker 24:137 N 6 '48 80w

SHEA, MRS MARGARET HAMMEL. Tavern in the town; il. by Rebecca Files. 215p $2.50 Washburn

647.95 Restaurants, lunch rooms, etc. 48-6790

Describes the joys and pitfalls of running a tearoom in a small town on the Maine coast. Two women and the brother of one of them convert an ancient shop into an attractive restaurant. After many mishaps and some success, they gave up at the end of the season, for getting the place ready was found to be more fun than the actual running of it.

Booklist 44:308 My 15 '48

"A light book, full of gaiety (which sometimes seems forced), this emphasizes the satisfaction of hard work."
+ Kirkus 16:161 Mr 15 '48 140w

"This is cheerful and refreshing reading." M. A. Johnson
+ Library J 73:556 Ap 1 '48 100w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 8 '48 230w

SHEA, MRS NANCY BRINTON. Army wife. postwar ed. 394p $3 Harper

355.12 U.S. Army—Military life. Home economics 48-6554

"This postwar edition of the Army wife has been extensively revised and now includes information on Army life in the occupied countries and our distant foreign bases. It is a guide to homemaking and social custom in the Service." (Wis Lib Bul) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1941.

"What a book this is! It is Dorothy Dix and Emily Post and the Army Manual rolled into one. Every page overflows with good factual advice. The author obviously knows her Army. But, even more, she knows what the fair sex wants and must know to keep all she touches fair and enduring." R. B.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 My 4 '48 150w

Reviewed by G. E. Lyon
Springf'd Republican p15A Jl 25 '48 250w

Wis Lib Bul 44:130 Je '48

SHEARING, JOSEPH, pseud. See Long, G. M. V. C.

SHEEN, FULTON JOHN. Communism and the conscience of the West. 247p $2.50 Bobbs

335.4 Communism. Christianity and communism 48-1180

"An indictment of the shortcomings and evils of our Western civilization, out of which communism has grown and with which it is akin." (Publisher's note) Bibliographical notes.

"[The author's] main points are strong ones. . . But his picture of liberalism is a vulgar caricature; and the skeptical non-Catholic reader will remain doubtful to the end whether the author's real enemy is not this liberalism rather than the communism which forms part of the title of the book. . . As in most productions of polemical Christianity, there is little evidence here of humble and contrite heart which some people would think the essential test of a man's Christian faith." F. H. U.
— + Canadian Forum 28:118 Ag '48 310w

Reviewed by J. O. Supple
Chicago Sun Mr 21 '48 280w

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 48:81 My 7 '48 650w

"This book deserves a place on the shelves of the library." R. P. Breaden
+ Library J 73:471 Mr 15 '48 170w

Reviewed by C. G. Paulding
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 My 2 '48 750w

"In this book one finds an exceedingly careful and accurate analysis of the philosophy of communism and an equally careful and devastating analysis of historical liberalism. These are presented without hatred, but with a passion which is both refreshing and necessary. The author has read widely and well." B. I. Bell
+ N Y Times p4 Ap 18 '48 1100w

"[Monsignor Sheen's] arraignment of Communist practice and theory includes nearly every stock charge and is rather dishevelled, and his outrage over the godlessness of Western man is less impressive than one might have hoped it would be."
— New Yorker 24:119 Mr 20 '48 120w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Mr 27 '48 800w

SHEEN, FULTON JOHN. Philosophy of religion; the impact of modern knowledge on religion. 409p $5 Appleton

201 Religion—Philosophy 48-8752

"The purpose of this book is to show the relationship between human reason and religion. It suggests that philosophy today has reached a point of irrationalism where it is in utter contempt of lasting truths. In terms of modern knowledge, it restates Saint Thomas' five ways of proving the existence of God and evaluates the impact of modern thought on religion." (Publisher's note) Index.

"A critical evaluation of the major currents of modern thought—an evaluation carried out with professional philosophical competence and tremendous erudition. . . Even though this is strictly a book for the serious reader, the author's style is as lucid and his logic as incisive as ever. He is, in fact deceptively simple. At times his genius for synthesis makes his conclusions seem almost intuitive rather than scholarly. But though the book is not pedantic it is well documented. . . It seems to this reviewer, however, that the underlying theme of the book—the irrationalism of modern thought—would have been clearer if the author had been more explicit in defining irrationalism." J. J. Maguire
+ — Cath World 168:412 F '49 600w

"This is a book for the scholar, the student of philosophy and religion. While other than Catholic scholars will not agree with Msgr. Sheen, they must all respect the lucidity of thought and intellectual sincerity which lies behind this exposition of a Thomist philosophy in terms of modern thought."
+ Kirkus 16:117 Mr 1 '48 220w

"Book is solid and presupposes a liberal education on part of the reader. Recommended highly for university and reference libraries." Richard Breaden
+ Library J 73:1509 O 15 '48 180w

"This author already has won a remarkable audience; the present volume will cultivate and expand that following. The book treats many large, far-reaching ideas: it develops excitement in the intellectual process and the search for knowledge. It leads to a pleasing restlessness with incomplete thinkers. And it builds an urgency for fuller knowledge and appreciation of all philosophers." Philip Burnham
+ N Y Times p4 O 17 '48 1050w

Reviewed by W. S. Lynch
Sat R of Lit 31:27 D 4 '48 670w

SHEERIN, MRS MARIA WARD SKELTON (WILLIAMS). Parson takes a wife. 204p $2.75 Macmillan

B or 92 48-9077

"The record of a happy marriage. . . Mrs. Sheerin is an Episcopal minister's wife. Though she doesn't say so, she has been a very successful minister's wife—just as her husband was a successful pastor and preacher. Their duties took them from Virginia to Waco, Texas, to Chattanooga, Tenn., to New York, and finally to Washington; and rectory after rectory was turned into home for the Sheerin family, thanks to Yankee wit and Southern ingenuity." Christian Science Monitor

Booklist 45:87 N 1 '48

"The capacity to laugh at oneself is a great gift, and one which this author has in abundance. The amusing, and often poignant, episodes connected with rectory life are here delightfully recounted; and the heart searchings that the young Richmond belle had to go through before being willing to be a minister's wife make meaningful reading. The pace of the book is quiet and the profoundly religious feeling that pervades it will no doubt be an inspiration to many readers, whatever their faith." R. B.

+ Christian Science Monitor p18 N 19 '48 240w

"It is a joy to read The Parson Takes a Wife because it is true, and because it is the frank, humorous, intelligent, understanding story of the wife of a clergyman. The only unfavorable criticism which we have heard of this book is really a tribute to the success of its author in fulfilling her purpose. A clergyman's wife objects that it is too full of trivia, and that the author does not reverentially erect a monument to a great man. We believe that this book, or most of it, was written before Dr. Sheerin's death; but, in any case, its frank, humorous simplicity reveals his nobility just because it was not written primarily for that purpose."

+ Churchman 163:6 Ja 1 '49 600w

"Warmth, wit and humor in this account of the lot that is a parson's wife."

+ Kirkus 16:358 Jl 15 '48 100w

"Many well written anecdotes. Picture of a happy family (where all have a saving sense of humor) well integrated personalities, and a gratifying way of life. Certainly there is no stuffiness in the Sheerin rectory or study! Recommended, but probably of limited appeal." L. R. Miller

+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 130w

" 'The Parson Takes a Wife' is written with gayety and candor. It is warmly personal and genuine."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p26 N 21 '48 150w

Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich

Springf'd Republican p10B N 21 '48 250w

SHELDON, HENRY DAVIDSON, il. Northwest corner: Oregon and Washington: the last frontier; phot. by Henry Sheldon; introd. and commentary by Stewart Holbrook. [127p] pl $3.95 Doubleday

917.95 Oregon—Views. Washington (state) —Views 48-7728

Photographs and commentary on the states of Oregon and Washington. "Mr. Sheldon has approached his subject with a dual purpose. He intends to show his reader what the northwest corner used to be and what it is as it looks forward to a dynamic and lively tomorrow." (San Francisco Chronicle)

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

Commonweal 48:529 S 10 '48 230w

"There are a few breath-taking panoramas, especially the final picture, an eerie Grand Coulee landscape; but the unique and spectacular make up only a small portion of the book's hundred-odd scenes. Some of the others look like hasty news shots or tourist folder illustrations. There are inexplicable omissions. . . Portland fares well scenically, but the view of Seattle is unlikely to please the Northwest's metropolis. . . Educational institutions and other cultural agencies are skipped." J. K. Howard

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 8 '48 310w

"This was exactly the right time for Mr. Sheldon to capture the northwest corner as it is and has been. Mr. Sheldon has done the job excellently, too. . . Mr. Holbrook's introduction, an exceptionally tight-packed piece of writing, takes into account the Northwest corner's political complexion." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Jl 30 '48 650w

"Mr. Sheldon's pictures, reproduced in bleed-page offset, are simple, beautiful, outdoorsy. Stewart Holbrook's introduction and subsequent cutlines avoid the commonplace as well as the affected."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 S 4 '48 110w

SHEPHERD, ROBERT HENRY WISHART, and PAVER, B. G. African contrasts: the story of a South African people. 266p il maps $9 Oxford

916.8 South Africa [48-11189]

"Study of the position of the Bantu, or native, in South Africa. . . Here is the Bantu in his tribal past and the Bantu of mines and industry today; his position as wage-earner, his standing before the law, his health and education, his hopes and frustrations and his political standing, or lack of it. This is, however, no dry-as-dust statistical study. The facts and figures are related to the Bantu as a person, not a mere impersonal problem." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"The photographs bring out well the look of the country, the people, and their culture; and there are some interesting particulars of adjustments to contemporary civilisation successfully made. Schools should enjoy this book." P. J. M.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 27 '48 100w

" 'African Contrasts' is a scholarly presentation, in text and in fine photographs, of a subject that arouses much bitterness in South Africa. Yet there the problem is handled in an equitable spirit and with an optimistic hope for the future. However that may develop, the facts are here on which to determine the needs of the future." Margaret Hubbard

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 O 24 '48 290w

SHEPPARD, MRS MURIEL (EARLEY). Cloud by day; the story of coal and coke and people. 266p il $4.25 Univ. of N.C. press

331.762233 Coal miners. Coke. Coal mines and mining—Pennsylvania 47-31364

"As the wife of a mining engineer in the Connellsville region of Pennsylvania Mrs. Sheppard writes understandingly of the history and life of the coke region. Although not a definitive or comprehensive study, book touches on many of the economic and social problems of the industry, sketching as background the early strikes, the golden days of Thompson, and the triumphs of John L. Lewis." (Library J) Bibliography. No index.

"As the book stands, it is neither flesh nor fowl, but an unsavory hash, which satisfies neither the demands of fiction nor those of social enquiry and report." Scott Nearing

— Am Soc R 13:111 F '48 700w

Current Hist 13:356 D '47 40w

"A distinguished human and social documentary. . . And a beautiful piece of book making as well."

+ Kirkus 15:563 O 1 '47 140w

"So many intriguing phases are touched on that the book seems heterogeneous, but its interest and readability are not impaired. Recommended." W. A. Hausdorfer

+ — Library J 72:1467 O 15 '47 110w

"With an inspired title and a flowing style Mrs. Sheppard has turned out that rarest of things, a readable book about coal and the people who mine it. . . The attractive jacket done by Frank Meléga, himself a coal-digger's son, the splendid illustrations, taken above and under ground, and the general good dress of the book must atone in part for the serious lack of an index." McAlister Coleman

+ — Nation 166:20 Ja 3 '48 650w

"Mrs. Sheppard is handsomely equipped. She is a practised research scholar who can write with grace and style. She is at once warm and objective, eager and assured. She is fascinated by her smoke-clothed fire-lit country and its people—old-stock American, British, Italian, Slav—and the interplay of their domestic cultures; but she is not romantic. Wife of a mining engineer, she knows men and management equally well and amiably, and she knows the technical problems of coal mining and coking well enough to make the processes interesting and clear. She exercises a fine talent for selection." E. B. Davis

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 N 9 '47 400w

"Considerable and somewhat tangential attention is given to the personal careers of a few captains of industry; by contrast, workers are not identified—they are stereotypes. On the other hand, the changing fortunes of unionism in the coal fields are treated in detail and with restraint. The book will be of interest to all those seeking the background of recurrent coal crises, and will be especially useful to students of the industrial community and industrial relations generally."

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:199 Je '48 220w

SHER, JACK. Cold companion. 240p $2.50 Rinehart

48-3499

Mystery story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun O 29 '48 140w

"Sharp, scandal angles on 'show biz' accompany tough, sometimes unpalatable manhunting."

Kirkus 16:291 Je 15 '48 150w

"A light, pleasing puzzle told in colloquial wordage that sounds up to date." Will Cuppy

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 S 19 '48 90w

Reviewed by W. J. Glick

N Y Times p15 Ag 22 '48 130w

"A promising, if overelaborate, first mystery."

+ New Yorker 34:80 Ag 21 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p17 S 5 '48 80w

Sat R of Lit 31:30 S 4 '48 40w

SHERMAN, HAROLD MORROW. Call of the land; a novel of high adventure in 4-H club work. 276p $2.50 M. A. Donohue & co, 711 S. Dearborn st, Chicago 5

48-1845

Dave Carson, an Arkansas farm boy, just returned from the war, starts a 4-H club to help the young people in the vicinity. Among the boys is a delinquent city youth who had been sent to the country by the court. His rehabilitation is complete; he even gives up the girl he loves when he finds that she would be happier married to another. A novel for the young adult.

"Not only is 'Call of the Land' a warm, inspiring story of rural life but it also gives an accurate, detailed picture of how 4-H club work helps build better citizens for a more prosperous democracy. At a time when despair is the dominant note in writing it is pleasant to have this picture of active, normal young people."

+ Chicago Sun F 28 '48 110w

"Honesty of feeling is not enough to redeem the fumbling style in a rural story of the Tunis genre. . . The book shows lack of finish in the writing, it is full of sentimental aphorisms, but it is packed with situations, romances, fairs and contests, storms, dances—factors that catch and hold reader interest."

Kirkus 16:24 Ja 15 '48 160w

Wis Lib Bul 44:43 F '48

SHERMAN, HENRY CLAPP. Calcium and phosphorus in foods and nutrition. 176p il $2.75 Columbia univ. press

612.3926 Calcium—Physiological effect. Phosphorus—Physiological effect. Food—Analysis Med47-2458

A survey of current knowledge about calcium and phosphorus in animal nutrition, and a guide to the literature pertaining to the subject. Contents: Background of the calcium and phosphorus problems of nutrition; Calcium in the body; Effects of food and growth upon the calcium content of the body; Chemical forms and nutritional functions of phosphorus in the body; Calcium and phosphorus requirements; The problem of necessary and optimal intakes; Foods as factors in the nutritional provision of calcium and phosphorus; Summary and suggestions. Bibliography. Index.

"The reading of any of Dr. Sherman's contributions to the field of nutrition is an enlightening and gratifying experience. This book is no exception. . . [It] should prove useful to teachers and workers in the field of nutrition and anyone seeking to understand the biological functions of calcium and phosphorus." E. B. McCollum

+ Am J Pub 38:580 Ap '48 150w

"As one would expect from the author, the manuscript is notable for its thoroughness in citing the literature and in the critical manner of appraising the significance of experimental findings. The chemical and physiological aspects of calcium and phosphorus metabolism are interwoven with the broad relationships to health and food economy, as world problems." C. G. King

+ Chem & Eng N 26:1864 Je 21 '48 150w

"It is written in a readable style by an authority and will provide a valuable summary for nutrition students." R. M. Griswold

+ J Home Econ 40:212 Ap '48 120w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:70 O '47

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:220 Je '48 250w

SHERMAN, HOYT LEON, and others. Drawing by seeing. 77p $2.50 Hinds

741.42 Drawing—Instruction. Perception

47-29647

"Subtitled 'a New Development in the Teaching of the Visual Arts Through the Training of Perception,' this book by professor of Fine Arts at Ohio State University seems to prove by novel scientifically tested method that beginners can learn to draw or paint in six weeks. . . Sections are devoted to principles, teaching program, results thereof, implications and applications. There are pointers on arrangement and procedure, descriptions of equipment." Library J

Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '48

"Quite fascinating, but book alone will not teach readers to draw." A. S. Plaut

+ — Library J 73:199 F 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Hubert Buel

San Francisco Chronicle p24 N 30 '47 80w

School & Society 66:431 N 29 '47 10w

SHERRIFF, ROBERT CEDRIC. Another year. 265p $3.50 Macmillan

48-6451

An English country parson leaves his pleasant vicarage for a difficult London district. Against odds he succeeds in making a start at the regeneration of the slum children. Then he is whisked away to Hollywood where he makes a great success on the screen. But when he discovers what has happened to his London parish in his absence he returns to his work.

SHERRIFF, R. C.—Continued

Booklist 44:283 Ap 15 '48

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 170w

Kirkus 16:32 Ja 15 '48 200w

"Pleasant, innocuous story, highly improbable, mediocre. Has roseate description of trip to and sojourn in Hollywood. Apparently candidate for movies." R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 110w

"Although this is not a very distinguished novel, the sort of decent clergyman the elderly hero is intended to be can be discerned pretty well; it was almost certainly a good thing that Archbishop Laud failed to prevent such unfanatical, unfantastical types from emerging in the Establishment." Paul Bloomfield
Manchester Guardian p3 F 20 '48 240w

"R. C. Sherriff, motion-picture writer and author of the memorable war play 'Journey's End,' evinces unhappy signs of Hollywooditis in this latest novel. The first two-thirds of his unpretentious story, built around the experiences of an elderly English country parson in the slums of London, are appealing in their quiet charm and chuckly humor. Then Hollywood literally appears on the scene, and what began with sincerity and sentiment ends in slick but unconvincing contrivance." C. L.
N Y Times p17 My 16 '48 700w

New Yorker 24:105 My 1 '48 160w

San Francisco Chronicle p22 Je 13 '48 170w

Reviewed by N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 31:10 Jl 10 '48 460w

"The main characters in Another Year are as ordinary as one could wish, but the extraordinary things that happen to them only accentuate their lack of distinction. . . The reader, incensed at what looks like the fairy tale evasion of a real-life problem, is just deciding that Mr. Sherriff must be as naïve as some of his dialogue, when the chair is sharply pulled from under him—how, it would be unfair to tell." L. A. G. Strong
Spec 180:264 F 27 '48 180w

Reviewed by O. J. Aldrich
Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 190w

"It is clear that Mr. Sherriff has gone a long way beyond Journey's End. He has lost none of his benevolence or sincerity, but in this book he shows very much less than his former sense of discrimination."
Times [London] Lit Sup p105 F 21 '48 480w

SHERRY, EDNA. Sudden fear. 216p $2.50 Dodd
48-5590

Murder story.

Booklist 44:300 My 1 '48

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun F 20 '48 50w

"Miss Sherry mars her performance by spilling her plot secret too soon, but her story is easy to read and exciting enough, especially where Myra learns the worst. So what will the poor girl do?" Will Cuppy
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 14 '48 200w

"There is no mystery in any of this. It is all implicit in the characters of the persons involved. What is worse, these persons impress one as mere puppets who dance as the author pulls the strings." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p27 F 22 '48 130w

"Very neatly planned."
+ New Yorker 23:100 F 21 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p16 Mr 14 '48 110w

"Good melodrama."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 14 '48 50w

SHERWOOD, ROBERT EMMET. Roosevelt and Hopkins, an intimate history. 979p il map $6 Harper

973.917 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano. Hopkins, Harry Lloyd. U.S.—Politics and government—20th century. World war, 1939-1945—U.S.
48-8936

The author, who was a friend of both Roosevelt and Hopkins, has used some forty filing cases of papers left by the latter as a basis for this study. In it he reconstructs the relationship of Hopkins to Roosevelt, and the part played by Hopkins during the crucial years. "It is a study of FDR himself—in many respects the most intimate and revealing that has yet appeared. It is a study of the development of the New Deal. It is a study of the actual operation of the American political and administrative system. It is, above all, a contribution to the history of the formation of the great coalition and the conduct of the war." (N Y Times) Index.

Reviewed by Raymond Swing
Atlantic 182:87 N '48 4800w

Booklist 45:101 N 15 '48

"No statesman or student can afford to leave this book unread. Citizens generally will profit by a perusal of these pages on which is vividly recorded one of the world's most fascinating dramas of personality acted out in a framework of democratic ideals." C. E. Merriam
+ Chicago Sun p9X O 24 '48 850w

Reviewed by S. R. Davis
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 4 '48 1400w

"The job of putting this book together required a great amount of reading, sorting, traveling, interviewing. Mr. Sherwood is due thanks for bringing off the job well." George Miles
+ Commonweal 49:177 N 26 '48 700w

"For many reasons, all of them worthy, here is the No. 1 non-fiction volume of 1948. . . There is something for every taste in the book, history, character sketching, and signs of the times. Sherwood has accomplished the task of giving Hopkins every conceivable credit, without denying the debits against him. From any angle, it is an outstanding book." Roy Hillbrook
+ Current Hist 15:348 D '48 1200w

"Not only is it a brilliant synthesis of the Harry Hopkins papers, but it is as exciting a history of the story behind the war as we have yet had. . . It is infinitely greater in scope and just as intimate and revealing as the Byrnes' book; and the style is a composite of a first rate dramatist and first rate journalist."
+ Kirkus 16:493 S 15 '48 390w

"One of the most interesting books on the New Deal and the recent war yet written. . . Anecdotal material is lively and worthwhile. Recommended." Donald Wasson
+ Library J 73:1510 O 15 '48 140w

"Mr. Sherwood's book is a triumph in the difficult field of contemporary history. In years to come it will be a basic work for all who seek to understand the age of Roosevelt." Arthur Schlesinger, jr.
+ Nation 167:638 D 4 '48 1350w

Reviewed by R. H. S. Crossman
New Statesman & Nation 36:422 N 13 '48 700w

"This is the longest book yet written about the political strategy of the war. It is also, by all odds, the best. . . It is told in terms of the strange relationship between two men, now dead, who played great but puzzling parts in the shaping. It is told by a third who was their friend, but who has paid debts in this book only to the old and decent business of writing truly and simply about the history which most concerns men who are still alive—the history of their immediate past." Joseph Barnes
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 O 24 '48 1350w

"Of all the narratives and memoirs that have appeared since Roosevelt's death it is the most illuminating and the most valuable. Its richness might well be the despair of the reviewer, as it will be the delight of the journalist and the arsenal of the historian. The value of the book is two-fold. It is, first, in the revelations of politics and war and diplomacy that emerge from the letters and documents, official and semi-official, and from the personal memoranda. It is, second, in the hundreds of little touches that light up great men and events—the anecdotes, the personalia, the intimate glimpses of the great and the near-great that are sprinkled so generously through these vivacious pages." H. S. Commager

+ N Y Times p1 O 24 '48 3050w

"A big, thorough, excellent book." Hamilton Basso

+ New Yorker 24:162 N 20 '48 1150w

"[Mr. Sherwood] saw enough to enable him to read and edit the Hopkins papers with far more intelligence and understanding than anyone known to contemporary literature. He has woven together the disconnected and disjointed bits of manuscript and odd notes . . . of material Hopkins left relating to his war time association with the Government, and he has done it with consummate skill. The whole long book is an exciting, dramatic narrative which never drags and never contains one word too much or too few." C. W. Weinberger

+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 O 31 '48 1500w

"For writing such a dual biography Sherwood is admirably equipped. He was an unofficial member of the White House staff; he writes a book that is a pleasure to read; and not the least of his merits is that being a playwright, professionally concerned with exploring the complexities of character, he knows enough about it to know how much he does not know. He attempts no 'psychograph' of Roosevelt; Hopkins was a far simpler character, but Sherwood does not always explain him; he merely sets down the record—all of the record. Nothing is extenuated." Elmer Davis

+ Sat R of Lit 31:7 O 23 '48 5700w

"This is an amazing book Mr. Sherwood has written. It is intimate, wonderfully intimate, and yet it is history, full-scaled and far-flung. Immediately it takes its place—a high honor—on the same slim shelf with Winston Churchill's 'The Gathering Storm.'" J. M. Brown

+ Sat R of Lit 31:54 N 13 '48 3150w

"This volume is unquestionably the most important American contribution yet made to the history of the war. It goes as far as Pearl Harbour and just beyond. The sequel, which is promised for the spring, will be awaited with intense interest." Harold Butler

+ Spec 181:594 N 5 '48 950w

Reviewed by Donald Derby

Springf'd Republican p10B N 21 '48 1100w

"It is intimate, in that it is packed with anecdotes and glimpses of what went on behind the scenes, so that for the most part of its vast length it is a joy to anyone who likes being taken behind closed doors, into the presence of the great and near-great in a supremely critical period. And it is history in the finest sense: a carefully documented record of some of the most crucial and controversial decisions of the war." Ferdinand Kuhn

+ Survey G 37:472 N '48 1700w

Time 52:110 N 15 '48 1500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p633 N 13 '48 2600w

Wis Lib Bul 45:12 Ja '49

SHINN, CHARLES HOWARD. Mining camps; a study in American frontier government; introd. by Joseph Henry Jackson. 291p $4 Knopf

917.94 Mines and mining—California. Frontier and pioneer life—California 48-5062

Republication of a book first issued in 1885 as Mining Camps: a Study in American Frontier Government. It gives an analysis of the development of mining laws thruout history, especially as it applied to our West, particularly California. Reissued as an anniversary volume in connection with the California centennial. Biographical sketch of the author. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by G. P. Hammond

Am Hist R 54:451 Ja '49 400w

Booklist 44:285 Ap 15 '48

Kirkus 15:637 N 15 '47 160w

"Its chief interest will be in its historical aspects. For university and special libraries." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 73:38 Ja 1 '48 100w

"Shinn's account, though occasionally burdened by the references to German institutionalism essential for success at Hopkins in the '80s, tells the main story with directness, charm, a wealth of entertaining anecdote and a genuine feeling for the miners and their political experiments. His perception of the contributions of the frontier to American institutional development is an interesting anticipation of the great paper published a decade later by Frederick Jackson Turner. It is chastening to think that this lively book was written as a series of undergraduate papers." Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ja 25 '48 600w

Reviewed by J. K. Howard

N Y Times p19 Ap 11 '48 750w

" 'Mining Camps' is not so much the story of the gold rush (though in the nature of things a good deal of that story comes into it), as it is a study of how, during the gold rush, the mining camp developed its forms of law and order. . . Today a good portion of California (and other) mining law derives from just this horse-sense mixture that the citizens of the early mining camps whipped together for themselves. A good deal of California's water law, too, has its derivation in the same source. It is for these reasons, as well as because Shinn was a serious student who wrote easily and well, that 'Mining Camps' was well worth reviving in the Western Americana Series. And I believe that those seriously interested in California's past will find it a book they'll want to own." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ja 5 '48 800w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman

Sat R of Lit 31:38 F 21 '48 240w

SHIPPEY, LEE. It's an old California custom. 292p il $3 Vanguard

917.94 California—Social life and customs 48-5168

Third volume of the American customs series, describing customs and attitudes in California. Contents: To ride forth seeking romance; To gamble on anything; To be grandiosely hospitable; To seek short cuts to heaven; To eat, drink, and be merry; To search for gold; To engage in banditry; To speak in superlatives; To live out of doors; To tell tall tales; To deal in real estate; To believe what isn't true; To throw dignity out the window; To dress dramatically; To tackle the impossible. The author is editorial page columnist on the Los Angeles Times.

Booklist 44:215 F 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmet Dedmon

+ Chicago Sun Ja 28 '48 350w

"California is still a gold mine as subject matter for the professional writer. Mr. Shippey, a noted columnist on a Los Angeles daily newspaper, playwright, and author-in-general, has struck pay dirt in this latest volume in the American Customs series." R. K. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 26 '48 360w

Kirkus 15:687 D 15 '47 110w

"An animated, lifelike portrait of a fabulous state emerges from these pages, and as in the Mitchell volumes, young people's collections and popular collections for adults will want it." G. D. McDonald

+ Library J 73:121 Ja 15 '48 100w

SHIPPEY, LEE—Continued

"A readable and often interesting rewrite of California's more superficial historical aspects, gathered from 'scores of source books' and 'friends who are veritable geysers of knowledge.' " Courtenay Terrett
+ N Y Times p10 F 15 '48 450w

"His book is not history and does not pretend to be. Rather it is an affectionate ramble through early and contemporary records, by means of which Mr. Shippey can draw amusing parallels between the State's yesterday and today, thereby arriving at some reflection of California's general nature and temperament." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ja 29 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 44:81 Ap '48

SHOEMAKER, RICHARD WOOLSEY. Radiant heating. 306p il $4 McGraw
697 Heating 48-1564

A work designed for achitects, engineers, contractors, and homebuilders; furnishing data on application, installation and design of radiant heating. Index.

Booklist 44:364 Jl 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 60w

"Most of the text is intelligible to laymen, but the final chapter is technical and is intended for engineers and others who know calculus. The many illustrations include pictures of installations in process of construction. The author is a consulting engineer and a specialist in radiant heating."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:13 Ja '48

SHOEMAKER, SAMUEL MOOR. Revive thy church beginning with me. 127p $1.50 Harper
248 Evangelistic work 48-5309

"Dr. Shoemaker writes with a strong sense of crisis in human affairs, and calls the roll of those whose fear of world destruction has made the headlines of the public press." Crozer Q

"This is not a profound book, nor can it lay claim to being in any way original, but it is a book to stir men's souls, and that is probably what its author intended." M. C. Westphal
+ Crozer Q 25:365 O '48 600w

Kirkus 16:82 F 1 '48 170w

Wis Lib Bul 44:61 Mr '48

SHOSTAK, ARNOLD AARON. Preparing for federal radio operator examinations. 404p $3.95 Prentice-Hall
621.384 Radio operators 48-1627

Covers in question and answer form material used in the Federal communications commission examinations for six classes of radio operators. Contents: Basic radio laws; Basic theory and practice; Radiotelephony; Advanced radiotelephony; Radiotelegraphy; Advanced radiotelegraphy. Index.

Booklist 44:278 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 30w

SHRYOCK, RICHARD HARRISON. American medical research, past and present. (N.Y. acad. of medicine. Com. on medicine and the changing order. Studies) 350p $2.50 Commonwealth fund
610.72 Medical research Med47-2507

"A historical account of the growth of American medical research from its origin to its present status of leadership. This monograph covers the period from the mid-eighteenth century to the present day emphasizing in particular the developments of the last fifty years, and the present situation." (Publisher's note) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"The book is strictly factual, an invaluable historical summary." G. W. Gray
+ Am Hist R 53:849 Jl '48 480w

"This monograph, one of the studies prepared under the auspices of the Committee on Medicine and the Changing Order of the New York Academy of Medicine, is a very worthy addition to that series." George Rosen
+ Am J Pub Health 38:883 Je '48 320w

"The author's training as a historian rather than a physician has been an advantage in this task, giving him a broader grasp of the general situation of which medical science is a part. His command of medical detail is, however, remarkable; in a few places only will the professional reader notice small inaccuracies or misconceptions (never vitiating the argument) that betray the writer's lack of technical experience. . . These, however, are minor limitations. They do not affect the value of Dr. Shryock's monograph as a sound, thorough study of medical research in its social relations." G. W. Corner
+ — Ann Am Acad 257:230 My '48 460w

Reviewed by A. E. Cohn
Sat R of Lit 31:29 Ap 24 '48 750w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:97 Mr '48 290w

SHU, CH'ING-CH'UN (LAU SHAW, pseud). Quest for love of Lao Lee; tr. from the Chinese by Helena Kuo. 306p $3 Harcourt
48-9236

Novel about a period in the life of a minor Chinese government official in Peiping. Lao Lee brings his peasant wife and two children to the city to live, and regrets it, for his wife shames him in society. In his search for love he gets mixed up in plots and counterplots. When the villain of the piece is disposed of, Lao Lee thankfully takes his family back to the country.

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48

Cath World 168:335 Ja '49 200w

Reviewed by M. W. Stoer
Christian Science Monitor p16 D 18 '48 600w

"It is a pity that the second novel by Lau Shaw to be published in this country should be so inferior to the first, Rickshaw Boy. While the first one had power and beauty, this has neither. The writing is uneven, colorless, and the use of the metaphor is so consistent that the reader finds himself looking warily for each comma to be followed by 'like. . . ' " E. A. Cooper
— Commonweal 49:202 D 3 '48 300w

"Slight story, with little to hold the average American reader."
— Kirkus 16:536 O 1 '48 260w

"Of minor importance." H. R. Forbes
— Library J 73:1665 N 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Richard Watts
New Repub 119:26 D 27 '48 950w

"The novel is more than a witty study of upper middle class corruption and domestic trouble in Chinese government circles. It is also a shrewd investigation of the impact on contemporary Chinese urban life of some Western notions. Lau Shaw examines with deceptive simplicity the effect of such foreign institutions as divorce and romance for all against the traditional pattern of Chinese family life. His observations will both interest and pique the American reader." J. J. Espey
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 14 '48 650w

"The author's prose is unpretentious, almost bare, consonant with the urban existence he describes. Some of the dialogue is unnaturally stiff but that may be due to the difficulties inherent in translation. It is, perhaps, indicative of our times that the prose of this Chinese novel seems to echo the tone we find in the novels of certain young Americans whose preoccupation with the plight of the lonely hero is more conscious and controlled." I. A. Sanes

N Y Times p10 N 14 '48 850w

"Occasional calm humor offsets some of the traditional Eastern slowness of pace."
+ New Yorker 24:145 N 13 '48 80w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles
San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ja 23 '49 500w

"The central plot of Mr. Shaw's novel is actually as simple as any Sunday school story. . . Nevertheless, the story is told with such a wealth of detail and with such good humor that the book is a delight to the reader." Harrison Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 N 13 '48 900w

SHUB, DAVID. Lenin; a biography. 438p $5 Doubleday

B or 92 Lenin, Nikolaĭ 48-6641

"This book is not only an account of the life of Lenin, but an account of the revolutionary movement in Russia from the 19th century to the climax in 1917-18 and to Lenin's death in 1924. Author presents clearly the strength of the dictatorship of the proletariat—the power of its world concept, the doctrine that the end justifies whatever means are employed and the fanatic belief in the absolute liquidation of the opposition." (Library J) Index.

"This enormously useful and readable book falls far short of being a definitive biography. The evaluations of Mirsky and Vernadsky, it seems to me, were closer to truth. But truth is elusive. No ultimate judgment on Lenin is yet possible. Almost all judgments are pro-Leninist or anti-Leninist. Shub's is anti-Leninist, on a relatively high plane of probity. Genuine objectivity will become possible when Leninism and anti-Leninism can both be discussed in a context broader than either. . . David Shub has added much to our knowledge of Lenin's personal life. But his chapters contribute little to the prospects of life for mankind." F. L. Schuman
Am Hist R 54:142 O '48 800w

Booklist 45:30 S 15 '48

"It is apparent from the beginning that the author's sympathy is not with his subject, but nowhere has Mr. Shub permitted his dislike of the man and his methods to distort a fair view of his career. . . Mr. Shub's brilliant biography provides the facts necessary for such understanding and provides them without hysteria and without special pleading. It must be read by everyone who wants to penetrate the minds and analyze the behavior of the men who created the most powerful and dangerous political machine in the world today." L. J. Schweitzer
+ Cath World 167:566 S '48 700w

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p14 My 10 '48 650w

"Mr. Shub's biography of the Bolshevik leader should be read in its entirety. It is vividly instructive, and salutary." John Cournos
+ Commonweal 48:264 Je 25 '48 700w

Kirkus 16:134 Mr 1 '48 180w

"This book is a must for every reader living in this trying period of struggle to the death between monopolistic capitalism and materialistic communism. Recommended for all libraries, large and small." R. P. Breaden
+ Library J 73:653 Ap 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by J. R. Newman
+ New Repub 119:22 Jl 26 '48 1500w

"It is a somber story. Mr. Shub's honest account of his sources makes it as convincing, for the most part, as it is exciting. . . This book is useful for its emphasis on the amoral realism in Lenin's life and character, and it is honest for its clear proof that this grew not out of cynicism or defeat but out of the Russian world in which he lived." Joseph Barnes
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 My 23 '48 750w

"This new biography of Lenin combines meticulous scholarship and fairness of judgment with vivid presentation. It holds the attention through its many pages and through all the details of past years and controversies. This fascination is due partly to Mr. Shub, more to his chosen hero." Hans Kohn
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 25 '48 1200w

"A straightforward and apparently unbiased biography by a man who knew and worked with Lenin in the old Russian Social Democratic Party when Lenin was one of the Party's leaders."
+ New Yorker 24:106 Ap 24 '48 120w

"Mr. Shub's biography is the book you must read if you want to know what Communism is. . . You will learn that Lenin's superiority as a politician lay in the fact that he alone realized that social democracy is not the ulimate stage of liberalism, but its antithesis; and you will learn by that token—though not directly from Mr. Shub, who sticks to his job as the biographer of a doctrine—how to deal with Communism effectively." Asher Brynes
Sat R of Lit 31:11 Ap 24 '48 1800w

Reviewed by F. C. Barghoorn
Yale R n s 38:352 winter '49 550w

SHULMAN, MILTON. Defeat in the west; with an introd. by Sir Ian Jacob. 336p il maps $4.50 Dutton

940.542 World war, 1939-1945—Campaigns and battles. World war, 1939-1945—Germany 47-7255

"The author, who served as a major in the Canadian Army and took part in the planning of the Normandy invasion, was detailed after the armistice to interview the senior German commanders in captivity and was given access to all the top secret German military documents. He, therefore, was in a position to show how Hitler and his General Staff planned their campaigns, how they reacted to Allied moves, what enabled them to score triumph after triumph in the first two years of the war, and why final victory slipped from their hands. . . In these pages, some of the most puzzling events of the war are explained: Why the Germans failed to wipe out the British forces at Dunkirk; why Hitler abandoned his plan to invade England; why they did not exploit their seizure of Crete by advancing farther into the Mediterranean, and why the Afrika Korps was stalled at El Alamein." (Christian Science Monitor) Bibliography. Indexes.

"Major Shulman's text would have gained perspective from a few paragraphs emphasizing that this chronicle of defeat necessarily obscures the high price of victory. Nonetheless, Defeat in the West is a well-organized, informative, and engrossing post-mortem, written from what is perhaps the most fascinating vantage point." C. J. Rolo
+ — Atlantic 181:106 Mr '48 550w

Booklist 44:201 F 1 '48

"It is strange that Mr. Shulman neglects the evidence of Russia's great uneasiness at the prospect of Germany's elimination of all resistance and her consequent mastery of Europe. Further, it is questionable whether Mr. Shulman's analysis really serves his own purposes. . . Mr. Shulman's analysis of the causes of Germany's defeat is followed by an account of the operations of the German Army on the Western front from D-Day to VE-Day. This portion of the book, being factual, and being based upon captured documents and the interrogation of senior prisoners of war, is less open to question; and it abounds in interest." E. Sirluck
— + Canadian Forum 27:115 Ag '47 1050w

"Mr. Shulman's is one of those specialized 'interim studies' which will be welcomed by students of military history until more definitive works become available. The author covers his vast subject in a volume compact enough to appeal to the general reader, yet, despite some inevitable gaps, he has produced a well-balanced, well-written and well-documented account of the German Army's defeat in western Europe. Some of his story has, of course, been told elsewhere, but he bases the greater part of it on sources not available to the public." J. B. Conacher

SHULMAN, MILTON—Continued
+ Canadian Hist R 28:318 S '47 450w

Reviewed by R. E. Merriam
Chicago Sun Ja 13 '48 600w

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 8 '48 700w

Kirkus 15:616 N 1 '47 170w

"This work, complete with illustrations, maps, bibliography and index, should be of great interest to both historian and layman." A. J. Gaines
+ Library J 72:1684 D 1 '47 130w

"The book was well worth publishing, for it contains a mass of fascinating unpublished material, and the author, who interrogated many German generals, introduces one personally, as it were, to them and amplifies our knowledge of the German General Staff's relations with Hitler." Noel Annan
+ New Statesman & Nation 33:278 Ap 19 '47 1100w

"An absorbing history of the war in the west as it looked to the German Army. But it is more than that. For there were times when not only German corps commanders but even the high command and Hitler were completely in the fog as to what was going on. Throughout his account the author rounds out the picture and brings it into proper focus by citing the facts and figures, as the Allies knew them." W. L. Shirer
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 F 22 '48 1350w

"The documents alone would have made a fascinating story. But Mr. Shulman has increased their value by living documentation. . . 'Defeat in the West,' therefore, is a study, based on rich sources, of Germany's military mistakes." Shepard Stone
+ N Y Times p6 Ja 4 '48 1450w

"The most noteworthy section of the book is the author's record of his postwar interviews with a number of Hitler's deflated generals."
+ New Yorker 23:63 Ja 3 '48 170w

San Francisco Chronicle p22 F 29 '48 200w

"The chapter dealing with the anti-Nazi opposition is probably the weakest in the book. Major Shulman apparently is not familiar with such recent publications as those of Dulles, Gisevius, von Schlabrendorff, and the von Hassell diaries, and shoots badly beside the mark in interpreting the motivation of the principal participants. . . This book is indispensable for students of World War II. It not only introduces a good deal of material not yet published elsewhere but tells a clear and straightforward story in masterly style." H. C. Deutsch
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ja 17 '48 1000w

"Even if one feels that Major Shulman, although he was on the alert, has accepted the views of the defeated rather too easily, the picture he presents is on the whole convincing. . . Some fault can be found with his military obiter dicta. It is strange, for instance, to find him stating that Student 'cracked the Maginot Line at Eben Emael'! Rundstedt also, it appears, 'broke it at Sedan.' . . But these are minor criticisms. Many others might be made without disturbing one's conviction that this book was well worth writing. Someone had to do it; and Major Shulman has done it very well. It is not only a book to read, but one to buy and study."
+ — Spec 178:438 Ap 18 '47 800w

Springf'd Republican p7B D 28 '47 90w

"This study of the German point of view is timely. . . This does not mean that, in specific cases, Mr. Shulman is not sometimes wrong. . . There are few major events of the whole war, from the German failure to invade us after Dunkirk to their final capitulation, that are not turned by Mr. Shulman into a startling light from this new angle. It is a fascinating study."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p220 My 10 '47 1600w

SHULTZ, MRS GLADYS (DENNY), and HILL, LEE FORREST. Your baby; the complete baby book for mothers and fathers; photography by Joseph Di Pietro; line drawings by Reisie Lonette. 278p $3.50 Doubleday

649.1 Infants—Care and hygiene. Children—Management 48-8810

A handbook of infant and child care from pregnancy and birth to five years of age. Many photographs. Final section contains pages of forms to be filled in as individual record. Index.

Booklist 45:132 D 15 '48

Kirkus 16:298 Je 15 '48 130w

"In spite of a rather cloying second-person style, it is an accurate, sound handbook." L. L.
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p6 N 28 '48 100w

SHUMAN, RONALD BUSWELL. Management of men. 208p $3 Univ. of Okla. press

658.01 Management. Employment management 48-6818

"An analysis of management that includes suggestions for training and evaluating managers." (School & Society) Index.

"While the utopian hopes of the author, like all other utopian hopes, will—Deo gratias!—not be fulfilled, the book may help business and industrial managers to understand their functions better by seeing them in their generalized forms as 'planning,' 'acts of decision,' and 'transfer'; it may spur them on to seek insight into incentives and motivations and to achieve an understanding of the mechanics and need of compromise. To win the good things that the book offers, however, the reader will need to pay the price of occasional annoyance from statements that lack meaning or significance." M. R. Konvitz
— + Sat R of Lit 31:32 Je 5 '48 500w

School & Society 68:48 Jl 17 '48 10w

SHURCLIFF, WILLIAM. Bombs at Bikini. See United States. Joint task force one

SHURTER, ROBERT LEFEVRE. Effective letters in business; Frederick G. Nichols, consulting editor. 223p $2.75 McGraw

651.75 Commercial correspondence 48-6168

"This book is intended to present the fundamental principles of the major types of business letters and to assist the student or correspondent in learning these principles by numerous examples and exercises." (Pref) Contents: What is an effective letter; The form of the letter; Business jargon; Making letters easy to read; Inquiries, answers to inquiries, orders; Claim and adjustment letters; Credit letters; Collection letters; Sales letters; The application letter. Index.

"The book's best use is as a school text but numerous examples of good and bad letters will enable any reader to use the suggestions effectively."
Booklist 44:364 Jl 1 '48

"Readable and practical."
+ Library J 73:1095 Ag '48 80w

SHURTLEFF, BERTRAND LESLIE. Awol, the rajah; il. by Diana Thorne. 274p $2.50 Bobbs

Dogs—Legends and stories 48-1822

Stanhope in India on a newspaper assignment becomes involved in big-game hunts to protect the natives from marauding animals. So well does Awol, his dog, acquit himself that the natives believe he is the reincarnation of a famous rajah. An unscrupulous fakir kidnaps Awol and the rest of the story tells of the dog's escape and adventures thru the jungle seeking his master.

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun Ag 28 '48 180w

"The atmosphere and suspense is well sustained throughout, and there is plenty of excitement for older boys and girls who enjoy a good dog story." Helen Brogan
+ Library J 73:486 Mr 15 '48 80w

SHUTE, NEVIL, pseud. See Norway, N. S.

SIBIYA, CHRISTINA. Zulu woman. See Reyher, R. H.

SICHEL, PIERRE. Such as we. 629p $3.50 Reynal
48-6312

Novel of the maturing of Elaine Chickering, society girl and matron of the 30's and career woman of the 40's.

"Unpalatable—and worse, for this view of New York and its holiday environs in the 30's and 40's leaves a sense of defeat, frustration, hopelessness, wholly unrelieved. The very fact that it is well-done makes it all the more dangerous, in the wrong hands, where it is likely to end. Certainly a book that few libraries will want."
— Kirkus 16:174 Ap 1 '48 310w

"Although Sichel probably damns Elaine too much and in too clear language for many library collections, this is a serious book, not to be passed over lightly. It has stature, intent and meaning beyond the average in current fiction." R. E. Kingery
Library J 73:651 Ap 15 '48 140w

"It is a pity that Pierre Sichel could not have realized his subject more fully. For despite all his faults of monotony, occasional naivete and two-dimensional characterization he has one important quality; a remarkable fearlessness in his attempt to get at the truth." Marc Brandel
— + N Y Times p16 My 9 '48 600w

"Interesting, but the six hundred and twenty-nine pages that the author has allotted to his distraught heroine and her companions are more than they deserve."
New Yorker 24:114 Ap 17 '48 130w
— San Francisco Chronicle p19 My 16 '48 200w

SIEGEL, DORIS (SUSAN WELLS, pseud). Witches pond. 190p $2 Doubleday
47-30930

Detective story.

"Sympathetically sustained, if without credibility."
Kirkus 15:350 Jl 1 '47 70w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 30:40 N 29 '47 40w

SIEGFRIED, ANDRE. Mediterranean; tr. from the French by Doris Hemming. 221p $3 Duell
914 Mediterranean sea A48-6450

Description of the Mediterranean as a "civilization and also a highway." The author begins with the geological and physical characteristics of the sea, and goes on to the economic aspects of the area and a description of the people. Illustrated with line drawings and outline maps. No index.

Am Hist R 54:180 O '48
Reviewed by J. J. Mathews
Ann Am Acad 260:185 N '48 450w

"Andre Siegfried is one of France's most distinguished geographers. His latest work, 'The Mediterranean' displays his deep understanding of that partly European, partly African and partly Asiatic region, his love for its inhabitants and what may be called the Mediterranean way of life." E. S. P.
+ Christian Science Monitor p20 Je 4 '48 500w

Kirkus 16:211 Ap 15 '48 110w
Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:706 My 1 '48 100w

"M. André Siegfried sets forth his description and comments with his usual vivacity and insight. Introductory chapters on geology, climate, and race are rather unsatisfactory because, again and again, physical facts of vital interest in connection with economic life are passed over and detail that is often less relevant is included. . . When we reach the economic chapters the writer's wisdom and experience light up what hitherto had been a dull succession of pages." H. J. Fleure
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 19 '48 360w

"André Siegfried gives in 221 pages a marvelous epitome of all the Mediterranean questions: geology, climate, race, resources and developments, trade, and health. . . The book is so good that we regret its aristocratic slimness. Siegfried would have done his subject and himself ampler justice in 500 pages. But the thin volume is neither dry nor superficial. Great penetration, the experience and study of fifty years, have made this compendium extraordinarily substantial." Albert Guerard, Sr.
+ Nation 166:723 Je 26 '48 450w
New Statesman & Nation 35:301 Ap 10 '48 130w
Reviewed by Albert Guerard, Sr.
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 4 '48 1150w

"'The Mediterranean,' however readable and admirably compact, is a treatise in economic geography... Mr. Siegfried's greatest distinction is his lucid brevity. He can move from descriptions of landscape to analyses of race, and from trade currents to problems of sanitation, with concise and casual ease... Mr. Siegfried takes both too short and too long a view—so long a view that he can refer to 'a new section of the white race . . . formed in recent years on the other side of the Atlantic.' One is reminded of this absence of the middle view in the chapter on seaports... To write a chapter on Mediterranean ports without mentioning Agde and its ghostly past is to show a certain deficiency in the sense of the recoverable and living past." Albert Guerard, Jr.
N Y Times p3 Je 27 '48 850w
Reviewed by Rene Albrecht-Carrie
Pol Sci Q 63:612 D '48 550w
Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p18 My 5 '48 750w

SIKORSKY, IGOR IVAN. The invisible encounter. 120p $2 Scribner
261 Sociology, Christian 47-11689

"In this swiftly moving little volume, the world's foremost plane designer pleads for spiritual wisdom rather than material power as the great need of our day. Interpreted against the backdrop of the temptations of Jesus, who chose the path of spiritual wisdom rather than radical revolutionary upheaval, he challenges our age to walk the same pathway." Crozer Q

"Those who still believe that Marx-Lenin-Stalin communism can somehow be transformed into a true, free democracy will do well to ponder Mr. Sikorsky's clear pages. Using the Temptations of Christ in astonishingly accurate analogy, he shows how the control of food ('bread'), the combination of all authorities and the infallibility of the leader have already brought about the most inhuman reign of cruelty ever known in this world." M. L. Eglinton
Churchman 162:17 Ja 15 '48 150w

"The student of the New Testament will have difficulty with the layman's use of biblical materials. Statements from the Fourth Gospel are used as having the same historical validity as those from the Synoptics, while II Peter, which most scholars would date a full century after Jesus, is declared to contain material showing Christian opposition to the revolution which ended in the destruction of Jerusalem and the decimation of the Jewish people in A.D. 70. Despite these uncritical usages of Scripture, the book brings a philosophy which Christians generally will applaud and hold necessary for the saving of mankind from dark night and dissolution." G. W. Davis

SIKORSKY, I. I.—Continued
+ — Crozer Q 25:280 Jl '48 500w

SILCOCK, ARNOLD. Introduction to Chinese art and history. Am ed rev & enl 256p il pl $5 Oxford
709.51 Art, Chinese. China—History
48-6372

This is the first American edition of a book published in England in 1935 (Book Review Digest 1936). "The object of this book, which deals with every phase of Chinese art, is to link up its manifestations with the conditions and history of relevant periods." (Publisher's note) The author, an architect and writer on art subjects, has spent many years in China. The book contains chronological tables showing the history of China and concurrent world events. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:317 My 15 '48
Reviewed by David Burnham
Commonweal 48:168 My 28 '48 550w
School Arts 48:12a N '48 150w

"Mr. Silcock knows his intricate subject thoroughly and has been successful in presenting clearly and comprehensively its salient points." R. S. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 420w

SILLER, VAN, pseud. See Van Siller, H.

SILLIMAN, LELAND. The daredevil; il. by Harold Minton. 240p $2.50 Winston 47-12410

"Rusty Pearson, an excellent athlete but reckless and irresponsible, develops character and a worthy goal in life while working as an athletic counselor in a boys' camp." Library J

Reviewed by Jane Cobb
Atlantic 182:120 N '48 120w

"There's some confusion in the lack of clarity over the relation of campers and counsellors, the odd merging of all in the inter-camp contests, etc. But, in the main, it's good storytelling and character building as well."
+ — Kirkus 16:53 F 1 '48 120w

"Well told, with enough sports interest, suspense, and action to keep the moral from being too obvious. There's a dog in it, too. Recommended for boys 12-15." Lillian Morrison
+ Library J 73:400 Mr 1 '48 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 9 '48 230w

"Boys who like summer camps, or baseball or dogs, will find this an interesting story. The characterization is good, and the character-building precepts are not too obvious. The book's make-up has a solid, vigorous quality that immediately catches a boy's eye." Howard Pease
+ N Y Times p34 F 29 '48 150w
Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

SIMKINS, FRANCIS BUTLER. The South, old and new; a history, 1820-1947. 527p il maps $6; text ed $4.50 Knopf
975 South—History
48-5063

This book grew out of the author's conviction that the things which have made the South different from the rest of the United States needed explaining. In his preface he states: "I propose to trace the development of those political and social traits which make the region between the Potomac and the Rio Grande a cultural province conscious of its identity. My narrative begins with the year 1820, when the Negro question, in the form of the slavery controversy, first appeared as a political issue in the full-dress Congressional debate which resulted in the Missouri Compromise. . . About two-thirds of this book is devoted to the New South. The period since 1865 is emphasized because for the most part it has been neglected by historians." Bibliography. Index.

"Simkins has read all the authorities and made himself a master of all the statistics—a job which must have taken him all of four or five years. Unfortunately, perhaps because the author nowhere reveals anything like either originality or imagination, 'The South Old and New' is not the book it might have been. Timid is the word for 'The South Old and New.' "
Commonweal 47:454 F 13 '48 160w
Current Hist 14:105 F '48 50w

"Mr. Simkins has written a sizable, earnest, conscientious, thorough, heavily footnoted, routine history—all in all, I'm sorry to say, about as unexceptionable as it appears uninspired." W. J. Gold
Nation 166:51 Ja 10 '48 500w

"Although Simkins is a liberal who looks with disapproval on the treatment of the Negro, he has no more escaped the marks of the traditions of white supremacy than did the group of Southern intellectuals who recently denounced the idea of doing away with racial segregation in education. His account of slavery, Civil War and Reconstruction is generally fair, and yet his background is always clearly visible. He may hate slavery, but he is none the less biting when he talks about 'the tactlessness and arrogance' of the abolitionists." Richard Watts
+ — New Repub 118:26 Ja 19 '48 1300w

"This book attempts no formal answer to the greatest and gravest of American social problems, but it is distinctly successful as a realistic survey of regional history. It can be read with interest and profit, and there are ample suggestions for further reading. Appreciation of it should also extend to Mr. Alfred A. Knopf. . . From Mr. Knopf's shelf alone a well rounded education can be gained in the history of America's most tragic, most contradictory, most beloved and most derided section." Dumas Malone
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ja 11 '48 1000w

"A serious history of the South as a section is welcome indeed. It is more heartening still to find that the author, Francis Butler Simkins is a Southerner, for much of the tradition of the magnolia-laden South has been perpetuated by Southerners. But the best news of all is the book itself. The text is uniformly clear: the reader always knows what his author is talking about and why. The writer's impartiality is a model of the best type of scholarly judiciousness." J. B. Kraft
+ N Y Times p28 Ja 11 '48 900w

"He ranges over every aspect of Southern life and thought that might bear on the matter, and concludes that the doctrine of white supremacy and a feeling of cultural detachment are mainly responsible for the region's individuality. Generally, he is fair-minded, scholarly, and objective, but in a chapter called 'The Everlasting South' one can almost hear his purr of contentment over things as they are in Dixie."
+ — New Yorker 23:86 Ja 24 '48 100w

"Dr. Simkins should have placed more emphasis than he has done on the actual and potential contribution of the South to American welfare, nationally and as to world peace. And he allows himself to be victimized by his own talent for objectivity, which finally recoils on him leaving him without a message or a moral with which to end his book. As an expert on the South, his failure to offer his own answer or any partial solution, to the Negro problem today is most disappointing." N. H. MacLennan
Sat R of Lit 31:19 F 14 '48 700w

SIMON, ANDRE LOUIS. French cook book; new ed. by Crosby Gaige [il. in color by Nancy Dyer]. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 342p $3 Little

641.5 Cookery, French 48-5969

Menus and recipes "designed to impart the authentic French touch" to American tables. Each menu contains American wine suggestions by Frank Schoonmaker. In this revised edition Crosby Gaige has adapted the material for American use. English and French indexes.

Booklist 44:355 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by Madge Miller
J Home Econ 40:535 N '48 150w

"A revised edition of a work that is as pleasant to read as it is satisfactory to eat by."
+ New Yorker 24:114 My 8 '48 80w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p20 Je 18 '48 100w

SIMON, CHARLIE MAY (HOGUE) (MRS JOHN GOULD FLETCHER). Royal road; il. by Henry C. Pitz. 152p $2.50 Dutton
48-4141

Story of a boy's experiences during the claiming of California by the Spanish in 1769. Pedro arrives at San Diego with Gaspar de Portola's expedition and sees missions established as far as San Francisco. For ages 11-13.

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48

"The book gives an enlightening glimpse of a period in California history that has seldom been touched in books for young people." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:375 S '48 90w

Kirkus 16:365 Ag 1 '48 90w

"Descriptive passages and Pedro's frequent musings impede the progress of the story which is slight and not overly dramatic. Pen and ink sketches by Henry Pitz are not among his best." Claire Nolte
— Library J 73:1285 S 15 '48 100w

Sat R of Lit 31:52 N 13 '48 50w

SIMON, M. RAPHAEL. Glory of Thy people; the story of a conversion; with pref. by Fulton J. Sheen. 139p $2 Macmillan

B or 92 Roman Catholic church—Converts
48-5140

Autobiography describing a Jewish physician's conversion to Catholicism. The book was written at the request of the novice master in the Trappist monastery where the author is spending the rest of his days.

"This is not a popular book. It is a book for thinkers. The material is arranged in outline form, and the paragraphs proceed in logical order without loose ends or diverting tangents: the style is Thomistically concise. In fact I would say that it errs on the side of form. I could wish that Father Simon had opened his heart a little more and had revealed some of the intimacies of grace and of his personal reactions. Nevertheless his is an important book that will prove valuable to inquirers on the higher intelligence levels." J. B. Sheerin
+ — Cath World 166:570 Mr '48 350w

Reviewed by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:213 D '48 190w

"While the book is interesting it disappoints to the extent that it seems primarily the conversion of any well-educated person rather than the struggle of a psychiatrist subject, like all Jewish people of this country, to the traumatic witnessing of the decimation of their people in Europe." J. O. Supple
+ — Chicago Sun Mr 21 '48 180w

Kirkus 15:673 D 1 '47 150w

SIMON, MARON J., ed. Your solar house [prepared with the technical assistance and cooperation of Libbey-Owens-Ford glass company] 125p il pa $1; bds $3 Simon & Schuster

728 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 47-6968

"'A book of practical homes for all parts of the country, by 49 of America's leading architects, containing 49 sets of plans and drawings, together with many suggestions for the home builder.' (Subtitle). The first three chapters are devoted to general information about solar houses, with illustrations of some that have been built, and a series of pertinent questions and answers on the subject. The balance of the book describes and illustrates with drawings plans for a solar home in each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia. The plans are presented by outstanding architects from each state." Booklist

Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48

"A book that shows forty-nine floor plans with elevations and plot plans, a house for each state and the District of Columbia, should be a useful handbook for would-be homeowners; each design by a different architect for his own locality. 'Your Solar House' solves regional problems reasonably if not boldly." W. C. Guenther
Commonweal 47:306 Ja 2 '48 380w

SIMONS, HENRY CALVERT. Economic policy for a free society. 353p $3.75 Univ. of Chicago press

338.973 Economic policy. U.S.—Economic policy 47-7075

'Thirteen essays by the late Professor Simons, giving his views on economic theories, etc., opposed as much to high tariffs as to powerful trade unions. The author was definitely a believer in free competition. There is occasional comment on some of the new economists of the past 16 years." Current Hist

"Their collection into one volume will be welcomed by all who know something of Simons' penetrating thought and vigorous writing. . . The value of the substance of these essays is enhanced by a style which matches the vigorous and incisive ideas. Forthright and energetic, it reveals the clarity of his aims, the depth of indignation which stupidity or confused acceptance of current dogmas aroused in him, and the clean lines of his discriminating thought. At times, particularly in irony, it is choked by an overload of Latin and Greek derivatives. At other times, it is the style of a voluble talker who carries a thread of relevance not always immediately discernible to his audience. But always it is an honest disclosure of the man and a flexible, appropriate vehicle for his thought." W. A. Mackintosh
+ Am Econ R 38:636 S '48 1900w

Current Hist 14:174 Mr '48 90w

"As an economic theorist Simons was far from first-rate; his originality lay in the realm of phrase-making rather than in that of thought; and while his style was vigorous, epigrammatic and witty, it was also interrupted, discursive and often pedantic. . . [But] no one could deny Simons' disinterestedness, or the depth of his desire for a better and freer society. Though many of his ideas were eccentric and crochety, and neither adopted nor expounded with the patient, step-by-step reasoning which mark the work of Adam Smith, Mill, Marshall and most of the others whom he names in the 'intellectual tradition' to which he felt himself to belong, he shared with these great figures their deep concern for freedom and a suspicion everywhere of concentrated power." Henry Hazlitt
N Y Times p15 Ag 1 '48 1100w

SIMPSON, JEAN IRWIN, and TAYLOR, DEMETRIA M. Frozen food cook book. 493p $2.95 Simon & Schuster

641.5 Cookery. Food, Frozen 48-10190

"A complete guide to the preparation, cooking and preservation of frozen foods, together with hundreds of recipes, charts, lists and

SIMPSON, J. I.—Continued
menus, by [the authors] with the technical assistance and cooperation of the Frozen food foundation." Subtitle

"The reader who uses frozen foods extensively will find that this is the only cookbook she needs since basic recipes are included for preparing potatoes, rice, salad dressings, sauces, cakes, biscuit mixtures, and coffee."
+ Booklist 45:132 D 15 '48

"This is a book I must have for my cookbook shelves in the country, where frozen foods are exceedingly important to streamlined housekeeping."
+ Kirkus 16:188 Ap 1 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p8 O 2 '48 200w

SINCLAIR, MRS KATHLEEN HENRIETTA (NASH-WEBBER) (BRIGID KNIGHT, pseud). Valiant lady [Eng title: I struggle and I rise]. 338p $3 Doubleday
48-5167

"The valiant lady" is Anna van Breda who manages to hold her family together during the turbulent times of Holland's wars with Spain to the rise of the Dutch republic.

Booklist 44:234 Mr 1 '48

" 'Valiant Lady' will be welcomed by the inveterate historical novel reader; and it is a privilege, too, for the spasmodic reader. For it not only makes history palatable, but it also makes it inhabited by real people like you and me." R. B.
+ Christian Science Monitor p15 F 21 '48 550w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:213 My '48 60w

Kirkus 15:631 N 15 '47 200w

"History of that day comes vividly alive under this capable pen. Recommended." Katharine Shorey
+ Library J 73:123 Ja 15 '48 60w

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 25 '47 170w

" 'The Valiant Lady' is a swift-moving and persuasive novel." Mary Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Ja 25 '48 290w

SINCLAIR, UPTON BEALL. One clear call. 629p $3.50 Viking
48-8056

The ninth in the series about Lanny Budd follows his experiences from the invasion of Sicily in 1943 to Roosevelt's fourth inauguration.

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p7X S 5 '48 450w

Kirkus 16:313 Jl 1 '48 280w

"Intensely interesting. Follows actual facts closely." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 S 5 '48 1000w

"The style is as corny as ever, Mr. Sinclair having long since settled down to a jog-trot that spares the reader nothing. The emotion is still as ham, the ingenuity as transparent. It is easy to make fun of the books, and the improbabilities of the plot get harder and harder to take, and yet there really is something, to borrow the terms of a movie trailer, 'colossal' about the creaking enterprise. It can be childish, and yet it is a version of modern history, and it is more coherent than most. It is much more on the beam than are several professional historians." Perry Miller
— + N Y Times p5 Ag 29 '48 600w

New Yorker 24:80 S 4 '48 160w

"There are those who profess to find the Lanny Budd books boring. This reviewer is not of that company. The eight earlier novels concerned with the adventures of the scion of Budd-Erling have been a number of things—idealistic and biased, exhaustive and, at times, exhausting, stimulating or soporific. But boring, no. 'One Clear Call' is the ninth novel of the series. It might just as easily have been entitled 'More Of The Same.' You be the judge." E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p19 Ag 29 '48 700w

"After you have accepted the complete absurdity of Mr. Sinclair's narrative, as well as the incredible American dialect, you begin to enjoy it. As a matter of fact, the improbability of the Lanny Budd novels is one of their main virtues; the ordinary reader gets a vigorous adventure story in the best tradition of Superman along with a simple but encyclopedic history of the world today. But the main appeal of the series lies quite clearly in its nineteenth-century American point of view, well-informed, moral, and virtuous, but also large, careless, and generous to the point of extravagance." Maxwell Geismar
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ag 28 '48 850w

Springf'd Republican p7B S 19 '48 150w

Time 52:90 S 6 '48 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 44:166 O '48

SINGER, EDGAR ARTHUR. In search of a way of life. 97p $1.75 Columbia univ. press
104 Life 48-7549

"After more than forty years teaching philosophy in the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Singer delivered these three lectures at Columbia on the foundation established by Franklin Matchette to interest the public in philosophy as a cultural way of life. What does man really want? What sort of life and achievement, what control over events, what freedom from fear and fate? Have these and similar primary questions knowable and realizable answers? . . Is the end or meaning of life out-going from this thought-out philosophy of a way of life? These and other primary questions will be found between the lines." (Churchman) Index.

"Dr. Singer's exposition of philosophy, as a search for a way of life, will be enjoyed in the best tradition of thinkers who regard the principles of scientific inquiry and respect the history of philosophic thought. Dr. Singer's conclusions are in harmony with universal practical principles of religion, except that of course philosophy does not build its structure on mysticism nor on the theology of revelation." A. L. Murray
+ Churchman 162:16 O 15 '48 2400w

Reviewed by R. G. Stephens
Ethics 59:71 O '48 1000w

"The religious will be inclined to judge this a counsel of despair, but perplexed moderns will find in it much suggestion. For larger academic and public libraries. The average library will not require it." G. W. Wakefield
Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 140w

SINGER, KURT D., ed. Three thousand years of espionage; an anthology of the world's greatest spy stories. 384p $3 Prentice-Hall
351.74 Spies 48-9770

An anthology of true spy stories, the oldest of which is about the twelve spies of Moses, taken from the Bible. The story of the "Soviet blueprint for global espionage" is the most recent. Index.

"The collection suffers from careless editing, from lack of a coordinating idea, and from Mr. Singer's failure to distinguish between scouts, spies, and traitors." E. S. P.
— Christian Science Monitor p18 Ja 7 '49 210w

"An absorbingly interesting collection."
+ Kirkus 16:499 S 15 '48 150w

"Of the making of anthologies there is no end, but Mr. Singer has hit on an interesting and (one can for once properly say) intriguing idea. . . Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:1593 N 1 '48 100w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 Ja 16 '49 470w

"A rather sloppy treatment of a timely subject—so hastily got up to all appearances, that it would seem open to the suspicion of opportunism. . . Some of the last chapters, on spies of the Second World War—Admiral Canaris and Laurenti Bera, among them—are pretty good, but Mr. Singer had better have another, more leisurely try."
— + New Yorker 24:59 D 25 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 26 '48 130w

Springf'd Republican p18A Ja 16 '49 210w

SINGLETON, FRANK. Independent means. 177p $2.50 Macmillan
48-1833

Mystery story.

Kirkus 16:156 Mr 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 25 '48 150w

"This may be rank poison for routine or Grade B fans, but a welcome English novelty for those who can face experiments, especially when they are as literate as this one." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 Ap 25 '48 190w

N Y Times p20 My 9 '48 200w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p18 My 16 '48 70w

Reviewed by Sidney Cardozo
Sat R of Lit 31:11 Jl 10 '48 500w

Reviewed by John Garrett
Spec 181:88 Jl 16 '48 60w

Times [London] Lit Sup p341 Je 19 '48 180w

SINGMASTER, ELSIE (MRS HAROLD LEWARS). Isle of Que; decorations by Elmer Hader. 152p $2.25 Longmans
48-7789

When the Yoder brothers left their home on the Susquehanna river to enter the army, they left 15-year-old Tim to take care of their mother and sister and gave specific instructions about what to do in case of flood. Tim was a fearful soul; but when the spring flood came Tim weathered it with his family and even rescued an old riverman.

Booklist 45:17 S 1 '48

"Miss Singmaster has brought the beautiful region and the delightful family into a rewarding story as she has done before with other places and times." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:377 S '48 120w

+ Kirkus 16:337 Jl 15 '48 70w

"Characterizations are outstanding and fine family relationships are skillfully revealed. The suspense resulting from the subtle intimation of impending disaster plus moving plot should make the book interesting for most 12-15-year-old readers, particularly those in flood country. A nice piece of writing." A. B. Weber
+ Library J 73:1100 Ag '48 70w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 N 14 '48 220w

+ N Y Times p58 N 14 '48 140w

"Tim's mother is one of the most convincing characters that Elsie Singmaster has ever drawn. Her humor, her deep understanding, her tolerance, and her courage make her unforgettable. As though she were a real person, we find ourselves waiting to know what she will say and do in each emergency. Old Cousin Mamie is another unforgettable character. This is an unusual story." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 S 18 '48 200w

School & Society 68:128 Ag 21 '48 20w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p5C O 31 '48 180w

SISCO, FRANK THAYER. Modern metallurgy for engineers. 2d ed 499p il $5 Pitman
669 Metallurgy 48-2454

"A comprehensive survey of current ferrous and nonferrous metallurgical practice. It is suitable for engineering students and also for engineers who need a general knowledge of the subject. The use of highly technical phraseology has been kept to a minimum, and emphasis is given to the practical aspects and to descriptions of the structure and properties of metals and alloys rather than to the theories of physical metallurgy. This edition has been revised and enlarged to include material on new techniques and alloys which have been developed since the publication of the first edition in 1941 [Book Review Digest 1941]. Two new chapters dealing with the hardenability of metals have been added, and the 13-page annotated bibliography has been brought up to date and now includes a list of recommended periodicals." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:952 Je 15 '48 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:43 My '48

SITWELL, EDITH. Song of the cold. 113p $2.75 Vanguard
821 48-9292

The latest poems of this English writer are often based on the ideas of life-in-death, tragedy, and horror.

"The English book of the same title, published in 1945, is not identical with this one."
Booklist 45:134 D 15 '48

"This latest volume of Edith Sitwell's work makes her claim as the outstanding woman poet of England incontrovertible."
+ Kirkus 16:541 O 1 '48 190w

"A magnificent selection from a poet who has now attained the full development of her powers. Those who knew her early work and regarded her as the eccentric technician of artificial, highly ornamental verse, may be unprepared for the passion, the prophetic expression and unexpected simplicity to be found in the late flowering of her genius." Gerald McDonald
+ Library J 73:1819 D 15 '48 150w

"Here is a note, dissonant, dissenting from the chorus of praise that seems to be going up over Edith Sitwell's 'The Song of the Cold.' The longer and newer poems in this collection, those near the beginning more so than those toward the end, seem to me prosy, rhetorical, prolix, and shrill; lacking in music, trite in symbol, barren in vocabulary. Disintegration or inflation, the effect is the same, and unpleasant. . . One cannot doubt the genuine quality of Miss Sitwell's new emotions. . . Nobody wants Miss Sitwell to be an old stick-in-the-mud and rest content on those early laurels; poets should be adventurous and try to surpass themselves, but here, this time, it seems to me, Miss Sitwell did not succeed." Rolfe Humphries
— Nation 167:672 D 11 '48 450w

Reviewed by Babette Deutsch
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 D 26 '48 480w

"It is no secret, though American criticism has, with a few brilliant exceptions, treated it as such, that during the last five years Miss Sitwell's poetry has developed in the most extraordinary fashion to the point where it may now be said to stand unabashed with the best of contemporary writing. The rhetoric of the early experimental phase, always willful and somehow verging on heartlessness, has now become organic, made to subserve the profound philosophic vision of these latest poems." Dudley Fitts
+ N Y Times p28 N 14 '48 230w

SITWELL, EDITH—Continued

"Exhibits the prophetess in full panoply, but since she is only sixty-one, she may develop, as time goes on, a less monumental attitude. She has cast a good deal of her poetic bread upon the waters, and it is possible that she will be rewarded for her courage and intransigence by its multiplied return." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 24:56 D 25 '48 50w

"Though Miss Sitwell is writing about man's condition now—with three poems on the atom bomb—she expresses herself in a recurrence of traditional symbols, and not in the topical allusions, the narratives and individual portraits of the poetry of Auden and Spender and Yeats and of most major poets of earlier periods. This limits the explication of her ideas and leads to a certain repetition from poem to poem. Musically, imagistically, and emotionally, nevertheless, these songs are wholly adequate to their awful themes, and oppose disintegration with great spiritual force." R. G. Davis

+ Sat R of Lit 31:8 D 25 '48 330w

"Edith Sitwell has left her enchanted garden and ventured into the streets of terror and the cities of hunger; no longer tweeting little lyrics, she curses and moans, loves and despairs—but never sneers. . . Miss Sitwell is not always successful in her new incantatory style. Sometimes her symbols (the Sun, Gold, and Blood for life; the Moon, the Bone, the Cold for death) become monotonous, and sometimes her apocalyptic tone leads her to speech-making instead of to poetry."

+ — Time 52:108 N 29 '48 250w

SITWELL, SIR OSBERT, 5th bart. Laughter in the next room. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 400p $4 Little

B or 92 Sitwell family. Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-8760

The fourth volume of the author's family reminiscences covers the period from 1918 to the death of Sir George Sitwell in 1944. Index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 182:110 D '48 550w

Booklist 45:102 N 15 '48

"The book, which reveals a mind attuned to beauty and a rare talent of visual description, is at times marred by a cynicism bred of skepticism. In giving us the appearance of things in all their external beauty, the author has not yet penetrated to the spirit which underlies them." Robert Wilberforce

+ — Cath World 168:409 F '49 500w

Reviewed by O. D. Hormel

Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 100w

" 'Laughter in the Next Room' is the story of an aristocratic, literary, obstinate, humorous man in a future that America can avoid by the wise exercise of spiritual insight and political skill, and the proper deployment of vast economic resources. . . It is amusing. It is fantastic. Under the shadow of world events, it is significant. For Americans it may be either a signpost or a warning." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p15 O 28 '48 800w

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt

Commonweal 49:235 D 10 '48 700w

"This will hold interest for the followers of the early books, for those to whom memoirs in literate, emollient English appeal."

+ Kirkus 16:386 Ag 1 '48 150w

"Definitely recommended." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 90w

"The present volume is devoted largely to [Sir Osbert's] introduction to the arts and to artists and to his career as a writer in the years between the wars. The innumerable anecdotes are often very funny and always urbane and apposite. They are part of the plan and never merely casual. The quality of Sir Osbert's recollections is startling. He remembers, as Proust remembered, each smallest detail of how things looked and felt and smelled and sounded. The illusion of total recall is almost perfect. Yet when all the anecdotes have been told and all the careful and beautiful recollections of lights and shadows have been set down, what gives life and meaning to this kind of writing is the convictions the author holds dear." Ernest Jones

+ Nation 168:78 Ja 15 '49 1100w

"Hardly a page of this volume is without portraits of extraordinary people, singly and in groups, speaking portraits. That of Virginia Woolf took my breath away. She was alive again, her biography implicit. . . The greater part of this book is a memorial to art as action, as life, as salvation; and that in its execution the memoirs continue to be not alone remembrance of times gone by in Western civilization, but promise that it will endure. Language outlives men." Ernestine Evans

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 O 10 '48 2700w

"Sir Osbert dares to be witty, leisurely and personal. His long, lithe sentences, pirouetting in periods and eddying in parentheses, perfectly hold the drift of his thoughts without ever losing their own living structures. His writing is almost painting, a miracle of evocation, whether the picture presents the gloomy trenches of the first war or a sun-drenched courtyard in Italy. The pages vibrate with color." D. A. Stauffer

+ N Y Times p3 O 10 '48 2200w

New Yorker 24:130 O 9 '48 100w

+ San Francisco Chronicle p20 Ja 16 '49 450w

" 'Laughter in the Next Room' is the most important contribution in the way of social history he has made thus far—and seems to realize much more clearly Sir Osbert's original plan to illustrate through his own career and sensibilities a family, a background, and an age." Richard McLaughlin

+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 O 9 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p9B N 28 '48 900w

Time 52:108 O 11 '48 800w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

SITWELL, SACHEVERELL. The hunters and the hunted. 314p il $4 Macmillan

828 48-5416

"This book is an outpouring of imagery, fantasy and strange and scattered learning. It has no subject; it is a very elaborated expression of the author's enjoyment of the splendid and the fantastic in art and animals. Byzantine mosaics, Picasso, Mozart, Venice, Hoffmann, Samuel Palmer, falcons, birds of paradise, huntsmen, hounds and many other things and persons, all tumble in front of the reader in a fine profusion. There are invocations, speculations and imaginary scenes; fact and fantasy are intertwined." Spec

"It is a most brilliant and accomplished book, inimitable in its power of evoking visual impressions, in the manner in which it combines critical insight with creative fancy; thereby conveying not merely a superficial concept of the significance or technical value of what it studies, but so much of the richness of the author's aesthetic experience. One is fascinated and absorbed. . . Save in one respect; for there are occasional moments when the book is disconcerting—when there appears that thread of 'interior drama' that, in some way, links the narrative with the 'Tales of Hoffmann.' For the connection is too subtly conceived, and is apt to leave one fumbling unhappily for a clue. Apart from this, and a section of somewhat jejune notes on Birds of Paradise and Humming Birds, the book is a marvel of sustained imaginative, pictorial, and interpretive writing." Eric Forbes-Boyd

+ — Christian Science Monitor p28 My 23 '47 550w

Reviewed by Vivian Mercier

Commonweal 47:547 Mr 12 '48 500w

"Recommended for even small collections if there are a few readers who love beauty." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 73:334 F 15 '48 100w

"It is a kind of ornate writing which Sitwell says he will not attempt again. It may be too rich for some palates, but it is beautifully done." A. L. Goodman

New Repub 118:25 F 23 '48 600w

"One feels a little lost in this magnificently stylised world of costly fabrics and strange customs; the book sprawls and Mr. Sitwell digresses, so that for a hundred pages or so the reader has difficulty in finding his bearings. In the far-off classical world one suddenly finds oneself confronted with Picasso and a brilliant interpretation of his work. Mr. Sitwell is fascinated by the weeping women of Guernica; in that painting he sees a visionary symbol of the sufferings of the present age. Then quite suddenly the rich language becomes sober and Mr. Sitwell reveals his purpose in the few odd pages of autobiographical matter by giving a glimpse of London as it is now." Robin King

New Statesman & Nation 33:460 Je 21 '47 550w

"In a time when appreciation of the arts is written in a semi-academic, semi-scientific jargon, the appearance of 'The Hunters and the Hunted' is an event of first importance. It is little wonder that in England today Sacheverell Sitwell's subterranean influence is felt among the youngest generation of British poets; in the quality of his vision he is their master and guide. Those who are weary of unimaginative studies of art in the twentieth century might turn with relief to his writings." Horace Gregory

+ N Y Times p4 F 15 '48 800w

"Puzzling, but a pretty remarkable feat, just the same."

New Yorker 23:85 F 14 '48 120w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 My 16 '48 390w

"This book, strongly marked by dilettantism, a volume well-nigh incomprehensible to anyone who is not capable of esthetic feeling and a culture broad enough to ferret out at least a portion of the all-too-passing obscure allusions, is at times precious and at times emptier than the beautiful writing leads one to suspect. But it reflects an eager mind of high quality. It is one more garland pleached by a member of what is certainly the most rococo, if not the most remarkable, literary family writing in England today." J. W. Rogers

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:15 F 7 '48 700w

"The intensely individual taste and enthusiasm of the collector is obvious, but one needs more space in which to pause and discriminate; one is given no time to consider one glittering object before another is brought for one's attention. The result is satiety and weariness. There is too much glitter and profusion; 'too much' must be the exclamation of almost every reader before he reaches the 313th and last page. . . There are passages (or 'episodes') of great brilliance and insight, which are not easily forgotten. But there is too much brilliance, too many coloured lights, so that one wants to blink and rest. It is a book to be read slowly and at intervals, like an anthology, not grossly, as I read it, from first page to last. No one can dispute its originality, and it is a vehement escape from everything which is grey and familiar." Stuart Hampshire

+ — Spec 178:308 Mr 21 '47 550w

Time 51:106 F 16 '48 600w

"Whatever the restraints of the present period, we are at least free from one irritating catchword of the recent past. Before the war The Hunters and the Hunted could not have failed to be described by someone as 'escapist literature.' To-day it will be more widely accepted as a very distinguished imaginative work. . . But zeal and knowledge are not without dangers, and at times the author seems to fall short of his intention: he is content to describe, even to catalogue, when he needs, all the time, to recreate. . . His world is compact of splendours and miseries, and we need not be anything but grateful when, to him, the splendours are more real. If, when we close this book, the slot-machines on the pier seem ghostly beneath the eyes of Christ Pantocrator, that is one proof of his achievement."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p212 My 3 '47 1000w

SKAAR, GRACE MARION. All about dogs, dogs, dogs [il. by the author]. [20p] $1 Scott, W.R.

47-30823

A picture book of dogs and companion volume to Nothing But Cats, Cats, Cats (Book Review Digest 1947). For three-year olds.

Reviewed by Martha King

Chicago Sun Book Week p6 S 21 '47 30w

Kirkus 15:463 S 1 '47 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 N 9 '47 70w

Reviewed by Lois Palmer

+ N Y Times p4 N 16 '47 50w

SKILLIN, MARJORIE E., and others. Words into type; a guide in the preparation of manuscripts; for writers, editors, proofreaders and printers. 585p $5 Appleton

029.6 Authorship—Handbooks, manuals, etc. Printing, Practical—Style manuals 48-8409

"This book codifies best current practice regarding manuscript preparation, handling of proofs, editorial and typographic styling, etc. Bulk of the book is given over to stating preferred usage for points of grammar, spelling, punctuation, division of words, etc. It will be of greatest use to persons beginning a career in an editorial office." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 183:88 Ja '49 100w

Booklist 45:43 O 1 '48

Reviewed by J. H. Kuney

Chem & Eng N 27:302 Ja 31 '49 200w

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

Reviewed by C. G. Paulding

Commonweal 49:237 D 10 '48 190w

"An invaluable reference book for any writer who deals with printers, proofreaders, publishers, in that it is an exhaustive compilation, checked and doublechecked, of all phases of manuscript into print."

+ Kirkus 16:355 Jl 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Daniel Melcher

Library J 73:1276 S 15 '48 110w

SKINNER, BURRHUS FREDERIC. Walden Two. 266p $3 Macmillan

48-2440

A novel based on the life at a modern American Utopia. Two college professors, two ex-GI's, and their fiancées, visit the colony for a week, during the course of which the principles of the community are studied thoroly.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

Reviewed by T. M. Longstreth

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 900w

"A readable and meaty novel."

+ Kirkus 16:176 Ap 1 '48 130w

"The plot of this novel is unimportant and serves only as a way of explaining and debating the techniques used to create utopia. Dr. Skinner's characters talk far too much about ethical abstractions and see far too little to show the reader why Walden Two is utopian, nevertheless the author has invented a fascinating—often fascinatingly abhorrent—community."

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Jl 18 '48 300w

"Professor Castle is cast in the hard-working part of finding flaws in everything at Walden Two. Sooner or later Castle calls it sadistic, fascistic and whatnotistic, leaving other critics very little to say and practically relegating reviewers of Mr. Skinner's book to the ranks of the happy idle. Nevertheless, Mr. Skinner makes a good story out of it, and if, at the end, 'Walden Two' still seems curiously sterile, why there's no great harm done." Charles Poore

N Y Times p6 Je 13 '48 850w

SKINNER, B. F.—Continued

"Hardly a novel, but an extremely interesting discourse on the possibilities of social organization."
New Yorker 24:94 Je 12 '48 160w
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Jl 25 '48 200w
School & Society 67:416 My 29 '48 10w

SKINNER, CORNELIA OTIS (MRS ALDEN S. BLODGET). Family circle. 310p il $3.50 Houghton

B or 92 Skinner, Otis. Skinner, Maud (Durbin). Actors and actresses—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-8306

The family circle consisted of the author, and her parents: the famous actor-manager, Otis Skinner, and his lovely actress-wife, Maud Durbin, who retired from the stage shortly after her marriage. The author's reminiscences cover the period of her own early years, up to the time of her first Broadway appearance, and also delve into the family backgrounds of her father and mother.

"Affectionate, uncritical, the chronicle of a talented, uneccentric trio." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 182:104 N '48 750w
Booklist 45:29 S 15 '48
Christian Science Monitor p12 S 14 '48 650w

Reviewed by Florence Codman
Commonweal 49:97 N 5 '48 130w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 25:65 Ja '49 20w

"This repeats the author's deft touches from Their Hearts Were Young and Gay, etc., and adds a certain veneration that is wary of fallibility in her subjects, an eye for the ludicrous as well as the serious, and a feeling for the touchstone of a happy marriage. Family as well as theatrical story, a slight exposure to this is definitely contagious."
+ Kirkus 16:350 Jl 15 '48 240w

"The Skinners were a lively and affectionate family with a highly developed sense of humor. This will make this volume popular in circles which do not follow the theatre. Highly recommended for all libraries, especially circulation departments." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 110w

"Cornelia is a humorist. . . In writing the story of 'Family Circle' she resorts to the lively expedient of making fun of herself as child and gangling adolescent, and depicting the household through the child's eyes. At this she is cleverly adept. Her childhood comes entertainingly to life and her parents dominate it with a radiant cheerfulness." W. P. Eaton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 S 5 '48 1000w

"A very winning book. . . An amiable story it is. It becomes something even better: a wholly justified one, warm and engrossing, as humorous as human, and something which probably could have been composed only by someone with Miss Skinner's dual authority as actress and authoress." G. W. Gabriel
+ N Y Times p7 S 5 '48 700w

"Pleasantly gossipy, and with some exceptionally interesting glimpses into the Augustin Daly era in our theatre."
+ New Yorker 24:104 S 11 '48 170w

"She writes with delightful humor and affection about her family and her own youth. . . Though this unpretentious, friendly book is mostly a daughter's loving account of her parents, it is also a reflection of the colorful years of yesterday's theater." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 S 8 '48 700w

"'Family Circle' is a temperate and refreshing family album contrived by a wise and witty woman who has seen a great deal and took a great deal of pleasure in the seeing." Lucius Beebe
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 S 11 '48 700w

Reviewed by Robert Vetault
Theatre Arts 32:93 O '48 200w
Wis Lib Bul 44:213 D '48

SKOUEN, ARNE. Stokers' mess; tr. from the Norwegian by Jordan Birkeland. 237p $2.75 Knopf

48-6313

A symbolic novel translated from the Norwegian. Its scene is a dreary port in the Indian Ocean and the action takes place on a Scandinavian ship which is loading cargo. The hero is a mess boy. The coming of another ship is the cause for a wild party, during which the boy meets each crisis with courage and finally realizes that growing to maturity is not as difficult as he feared.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48
Kirkus 16:122 Mr 1 '48 120w

"In addition to excellent character studies, there are some wonderful descriptions of a party, and the panic created by fear of plague. Recommended." Donald Wasson
+ Library J 73:558 Ap 1 '48 70w

"With his all-Scandinavia prize-winning novel, Arne Skouen makes a distinguished show to the American reading public. Brutally realistic, though never melodramatically sordid, 'Stokers' Mess' is a tale of adolescence and the harsh life of men who go to sea. . . I suspect the author (who went to sea for years) has mixed in a few sailors' brawls himself. And no one lacking in imagination and understanding could so delicately portray adolescence turning into manhood. The story isn't a pretty one but it has the ring of truth." P. J. Searles
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 18 '48 490w

"The crewmen in 'Stoker's Mess' are sharply differentiated, and their lives put into focus with authentic harshness of detail. . . There is tenderness and understanding too. Though much of the material in 'Stoker's Mess' has the brutal realism of Smollett's novels, it is so seen through the eyes of a naively romantic boy or the author's own nostalgia that Mr. Skouen's work has almost the character of an idyll." R. G. Davis
+ N Y Times p7 My 2 '48 650w

Reviewed by J. M. Lalley
New Yorker 24:104 Ap 1 '48 1300w
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 25 '48 170w

"The framework of this novel may cause some readers to recall James Hanley's 'Boy.' Only I seriously doubt if 'Stokers' Mess' will ever become the cause célèbre that Hanley's novel did in the Thirties. This is to Mr. Skouen's advantage. Already the winner of the All-Scandinavia Novel Prize, 'Stokers' Mess' may reach a wider audience for being so much less stark in its pursuit of evil below deck. . . There is poetic feeling, tenderness, and understanding in the scenes where the author penetrates that delicate web of childhood spun from the fanciful daydreams of a romantic boy." Richard McLaughlin
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:19 My 22 '48 800w

SKREBITSKY, GEORGI. White Birds island; tr. from the Russian by Zina Voynow; il by Henry C. Pitz. 84p $2 Knopf

48-7491

Two boys, vacationing in the country with their mother "discover" an island, which they name White Birds island. They spend a day exploring their find, and are stranded there all night when their raft floats away. In the morning the older rescues the raft and the two tired travelers return home to their anxious mother. For ages 10-12.

"There is strange beauty in their surroundings, mystery in the actions of the birds, fun in the boys' urge for exploration and suspense in their dangerous situation. The book is stirring and dramatic with excellent pictures." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:460 N '48 140w

"Henry Pitz' black and white sketches have caught the tense quality of the story. Not a book for sissies, but red-blooded youngsters will love it."
Kirkus 16:308 Jl 1 '48 100w

"Atmosphere and nature descriptions beautifully done, yet do not impede the story. Good format." M. A. Herr
+ Library J 73:1098 Ag '48 70w

"The book has an eerie quality that will appeal to imaginative children."
+ New Repub 119:34 D 6 '48 60w

"Henry Pitz has drawn enchanting pictures of the birds and the animals."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 29 '48 110w

Sat R of Lit 31:44 N 13 '48 30w

Wis Lib Bul 45:16 Ja '49

SLADE, MRS CAROLINE (BEACH). Mrs. Party's house. 289p $3 Vanguard

48-10355

"Story of a nice little woman, trained for nothing that would support her and her invalid mother, precipitated by circumstances into running a 'house.' . . Chiefly she was busy helping people, girls who were headed for utter depravity, girls who found in her the one sound core of life." Kirkus

"Implicitly, the story is an attack on the hypocrisy of society; occasionally, it gets preachy. But in its fundamentals—in the story telling—it seems to me worth while. Not, perhaps, a book for the conservatives."
+ — Kirkus 16:409 Ag 15 '48 160w

Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 119:26 N 15 '48 700w

"This is not a novel for the die-hard reformer or for the sensation-monger, but a concrete and interesting and briskly told story of an ordinary person in extraordinary circumstances." David Tilden
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 17 '48 400w

"There is no doubting the sincerity or the serious purpose of this book, yet Mrs Slade, after twenty-five years of active social work . . . retired completely from welfare work in 1933. That year marked the beginning of a complete change in the philosophy and application of public assistance, a change that Mrs. Slade possibly has been too busy to explore. Today, Mrs. Party would never have to make a choice between separation from her mother and what used to be called sin." Florence Crowther
N Y Times p41 N 21 '48 500w

"The author, a former professional social worker, combines an authoritative technical knowledge of such matters with a knack for making a story move along, even though she bogs down every now and then in wispy philosophical discussions between Mrs. Party and a local priest. Written with humor, despite the occasional overtones of psychiatry and social welfare."
+ — New Yorker 24:129 O 23 '48 100w

SLATER, HUMPHREY. Conspirator. 184p $2.50 Harcourt

48-6314

Novel describing the complications arising when a British soldier, who is also a Communist spy, marries a loyal English girl.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

"[The book's] political timeliness is unquestionable, but Slater's exotic Communist spy seems to me to lack life and conviction in spite of his author's meticulous battening." James Sandoe
— Chicago Sun Je 25 '48 50w

"A warning story of undemocratic partisanship, peculiarly in the news. Tighter, more finely focussed than The Heretics [Book Review Digest 1947]."
+ Kirkus 16:173 Ap 1 '48 120w

"Mr. Slater's approach is not unlike Graham Greene's, but his style is distinctly his own. . . At the present juncture of the world's affairs, a timely as well as a readable piece of fiction. It's also amusingly audacious. Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:652 Ap 15 '48 100w

"Despite his firm grasp upon his moral case and the fine directness of his style, Mr. Slater lacks Conrad's masterly ability to create fully consistent persons and fully developed situations. A large part of the drama, and therefore of the meaning, of his novel is lost because of the holes in his construction of character, and because he handles his important scenes too hastily. There was the same technical criticism to be made of his previous book: in both 'Conspirator' and 'The Heretics' Mr. Slater has produced something which reads more like a scenario of a first-rate book than a completely realized performance." Diana Trilling
+ — Nation 166:511 My 8 '48 1100w

Reviewed by Walter Allen
New Statesman & Nation 36:445 N 20 '48 240w

"Simply as a narrative, 'The Conspirator' . . . is terse and exciting. As a report on the clandestine operations of Communists agents abroad, it is alarming without being hysterical. Mr. Slater has seen Communists at work in Spain, Germany and Russia, and ought to know what he is talking about. But it seems to this reviewer that Mr. Slater vitiates much of his book's force by turning his Communists —both Russian and British—into such a ludicrous lot of nincompoops that England seems safe from Sovietization for a long time to come." Herbert Kupferberg
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 My 2 '48 450w

"An exciting and expert story it is. Mr. Slater is gifted with dramatic insight, acute observation and a sure-footed literary style—economical, graceful, tinged with satire, and suggestive of a gentler, more political Evelyn Waugh. But as a novel, 'Conspirator' splits down the middle and leaves something lacking. The charm, liveliness and leisure of the book's early pages seems to end with the honeymoon. When Harriet and Desmond return to London from their wedding trip to take up their several domestic, military and subversive lives, Mr. Slater's intention to impale Communist thinking and procedure takes an upper hand—though it is never clear by what steps a model of a modern British major has become a Soviet chauvinist. The warm human interest of personal relations vanishes: instead, we have a dissection of ideology." A. S. Morris
+ — N Y Times p7 Ap 25 '48 470w

"The weaknesses of this novel are certain implausibilities of characterization, which are, it must be confessed, well concealed by the brilliantly melodramatic manipulation of the plot." J. M. Lalley
+ — New Yorker 24:104 Ap 17 '48 1300w

Reviewed by Edith James
San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 2 '48 240w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 My 1 '48 600w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 150w

Time 51:100 Ap 19 '48 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p609 O 30 '48 420w

"Conspirator is neither subtle in its characterization nor particularly dramatic in spite of its dramatic material. But the topical importance of Mr. Slater's theme and the authority with which he writes of it give his story a curious power of its own." Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 37:766 summer '48 360w

SLAUGHTER, FRANK GILL. Sangaree. 306p $3 Doubleday

48-8734

Historical romance of the post-Revolutionary years on a Georgia plantation where Dr Toby Kent was carrying out the orders of his patron, who had made him part of his experiment in land tenantry. Dr Toby won out against all odds, including a devastating epidemic of bubonic plague.

SLAUGHTER, F. G.—Continued

"Utopian ideals, far ahead of their time, and the way they worked, background a fact-packed action story of sword's point love."

Kirkus 16:411 Ag 15 '48 200w

"Executed in Dr. Slaughter's best narrative style, which is often flamboyant but always under control. As usual, surgery and sex are harnessed together and driven at a gallop. . . A good story."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 O 10 '48 170w

Reviewed by Richard Match

N Y Times p18 O 10 '48 500w

Reviewed by C. M. Brown

Sat R of Lit 32:20 Ja 15 '49 140w

SLAVSON, SAMUEL RICHARD, ed. Practice of group therapy [foreword by Nolan D. C. Lewis]. 271p $5 Int. univs. press

616.8 Psychotherapy Med48-4

"Indicates applicability of group therapy to specific cases of emotionally disturbed, socially maladjusted, and mental patients. The three sections deal with general principles, activity group therapy, and interview group therapy. All of the chapters except the first three are based on papers presented at the conferences of the American group therapy association, 1945-47." Booklist

Booklist 44:364 Jl 1 '48

"This book can be recommended to all interested readers as a good survey of group psychotherapy today. It is also a good example of the increasingly fruitful collaboration that is taking place among psychologists, social workers and psychiatrists." Leo Berman

+ Survey 84:316 O '48 500w

"Although not a practice manual for the beginning group therapist, this book does offer excellent discussions of the rationale of group therapy and of its application to a large variety of cases. . . The case material presented as illustrative is rich and unusually informative, and shows, among other things, how the different types of patients react to the group experience. The material is, therefore, of particular interest to the clinical psychologist and to students of dynamic and abnormal psychology. It is regrettable, however, that more attention was not devoted to showing what the therapist actually does to achieve his well-conceived aims."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 4:195 Je '48 320w

SLEEPER, MRS CATHARINE (BAKER), and SLEEPER, HAROLD REEVE. The house for you to build, buy or rent; il. by Henry Diamond and Lombard C. Jones. 313p $5 Wiley

728 Dwellings. Architecture, Domestic 48-5608

"The authors' main theme is that a house will be satisfactory only if it is intelligently planned to suit the needs and preferences of the family—or individual—that will occupy it; their purpose is to point the way to such planning. The thirty pages devoted specifically to the selection and buying of an existing house, describe a practical procedure and cover the chief points. The rest is concerned chiefly with planning and building new houses. As a whole, the book is excellent, but certain subjects—e.g., fireplaces—appear to be treated too briefly; others—e.g., new flooring materials—too optimistically. Also, this reviewer would have liked to see more references to other writings, especially on debatable topics." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 44:245 Mr 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"Valuable advice on danger signals to look for in renting or buying. Emphasis of book is on building—who should build, and how much to spend. Architect's and builder's jobs are analyzed. Witty and graphic illustrations by Lombard Jones and Henry Diamond." L. A. Eales

+ Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 70w

"Not a 'quickie'; this well organized and handsomely produced work must represent two or three years of work on the part of authors and publisher."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:3 Ja '48

Reviewed by Lee Cooper

N Y Times p31 S 12 '48 170w

"The professional skill of the architect is here blended with the practical view of the housekeeper to produce a book for which every house buyer or builder will be grateful." L. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 My 30 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:131 Je '48

SLICHTER, SUMNER HUBER. American economy; its problems and prospects. 214p $2.75 Knopf

330.973 U.S.—Economic conditions 48-8583

An analysis of American economic institutions, by an American economist. "This book is a revision of five lectures given at the Sixth Business Conference at Stanford University in July 1947. The lectures have been substantially revised and expanded. The fifth lecture has been divided into two chapters. Figures have been brought down to date and at some points, where significant new material has become available, it has been incorporated in the text. In substance, however, these chapters are essentially the same as presented at Stanford in the summer of 1947." (Pref) Professor Slichter, a believer in private enterprise, attempts to forecast the American economic future. Index.

Booklist 45:83 N 1 '48

"Many a man in business management is so occupied with problems of his own immediate producing, selling, or financing unit that he has neither time nor opportunity to square off and view our economy as a whole. Instead he judges it as it appears in part to him and at close range. He should find the Slichter book a powerful aid to clarification of his thinking, and much in it that is neither comforting or challenging." S. T. Williamson

+ Management R 37:650 D '48 800w

"On the whole Professor Slichter is pleased with the American economy. He thinks it has done a good job. But unlike some who render the same verdict, he would like to see it better run. A good many of his suggestions to that end will curl the hair of more staid private enterprisers; and almost as many will inspire the impatience of more radical reformers, even some academicians less devoted to orthodox economics. Professor Slichter wants to tinker; he does not want to reconstruct." C. H. Grattan

Nation 167:551 N 13 '48 1100w

Reviewed by H. A. Wolff

New Repub 120:22 Ja 24 '49 900w

"The book, which Mr. Slichter could have made better with more care, presents some of the views that have been adopted by the more intelligent and socially conscious leaders of American business. For this reason, the conscientious citizen will find it worth reading." Lewis Galantiere

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 N 7 '48 1150w

"His favorite thesis that less is saved as a rule than ought to be invested is difficult for many to accept, and there may be serious question of his opinion that a gradual rise in the price level is both probable and desirable. But his book is a solid contribution, based on scholarship and responsible thinking. If we are even halfway to live up to our pretentions as the most advanced democracy in the world, books like this ought to be well and widely read." George Soule

+ N Y Times p6 S 26 '48 1250w

SLOANE, ALVIN. Fundamentals of engineering mechanics. 379p $5.65; to schools $4.25 Prentice-Hall

531 Mechanics, Analytic 47-11690

"This textbook, written for use in engineering college courses taken after introductory college courses in physics and mathematics, offers a thorough course of instruction based on the technique of analyzing complex machines into components that may be segregated and studied as 'free bodies.' Both the text and the problems—of which there are over 500—are designed to encourage the student to develop the power to think as an engineer. The author is Associate Professor of Applied Mechanics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 44:168 Ja 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:47 Ja 1 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:77 O '47

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS. Hustle and Bustle [pictures by the author]. [39p] $1.50 Macmillan
48-7866

Hustle and Bustle, the two hippopotamuses at the zoo were angry at each other. The zoo-keeper, the park commissioner, the chief of police, the mayor, and the police band all appealed to them to patch up their friendship. The next day the two creatures were very good friends again; but no one ever knew why they had been unfriendly. A picture-book for ages 4-6.

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun S 25 '48 50w
Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 20w

"Gay, amusing drawings tell the very slight story of two huge hippopotamuses. . . In spite of author-illustrator, not important." A. M. Wetherell
Library J 73:1390 O 1 '48 80w

"This is the kind of picture story that grown-ups won't mind reading aloud the several dozen times it will be demanded, for it offers a humorous and reassuring commentary on the variability of human temperament and is a good nonsense story as well. Boys and girls of four to six are just the right age to appreciate both elements of the story and enjoy it thoroughly." V. H. M.
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 14 '48 270w
New Yorker 24:125 D 11 '48 100w

"No mere words can convey the humor of these two ridiculous beasts. No one who meets them can ever quite forget them. Their story is a book for all ages and all nationalities. Because the story is told in the lines of the drawings, we would love to send it as a Christmas present to every boy and girl on the face of the globe."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 N 13 '48 330w

SLONIMSKY, JURI and others. Soviet ballet. See Soviet ballet

SLONIMSKY, NICOLAS. Thing or two about music; il. by Maggi Fiedler. 304p $3 Allen, Towne & Heath
780.883 Music 48-6965

Anecdotes of famous musicians, poems, limericks and descriptions of odd musical inventions, collected from newspapers and magazines dating from 1784.

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

"Bound to amuse and sometimes edify musicians of all kinds. Excellent gift book in its field."
+ Kirkus 16:250 My 15 '48 60w

"While definitely not a serious book and one intended for browsing purposes, and nonconsecutive reading, it ably enlists our attention as an engaging book for light reading." H. E. Bush
+ Library J 73:1094 Ag '48 130w

"Mr. Slonimsky's obvious aim is to shock and to impress. In the essay on Modulating Birthdays, he indulges in his favorite sport of chasing wrong dates in music dictionaries. Some of his shots have misfired."
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:564 S '48 750w

"Some of the items are amusing, some are interesting and some, alas, are neither. But a good many of them were new to this reader, who has sat at the feet of Dr. Hans Kindler like the young Saul at those of Gamaliel, and an anecdote about music that is not known and told by the conductor of the Washington orchestra must be a fugitive piece indeed. . . In wading through countless books and periodicals [Mr. Slonimsky] seems to have jotted down everything that amused or interested him which he had not seen before; and he has dumped everything into this volume without much attempt at arrangement or classification and certainly with no idea of guaranteeing the authenticity of any of it. Yet the effect is by no means unpleasant and perhaps is enhanced by the strange juxtapositions that constantly occur." G. W. Johnson
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 S 5 '48 550w

"A flavorsome packet of curious, often informative stories about music and musicians. . . Some of them [are] amusing and others dull, although there are not many of the latter. Sometimes the book attains brilliance, as in the four delightful pages devoted to Charles Ives, the neglected American composer who wrote, among other still unperformed works, a song about the League of Nations. . . The arrangement of the items is a little puzzling, particularly as most of the least interesting anecdotes are placed in the first part of the book, and I think some sort of an index would add to the value of 'A Thing or Two About Music.' Maggi Fiedler's drawings definitely enhance the charm of the volume."
+ — N Y Times p33 S 12 '48 290w
San Francisco Chronicle p22 S 19 '48 110w

Reviewed by Victor Prahl
Springf'd Republican p10B S 5 '48 110w

SMART, LOUIS EDWIN, and ARNOLD, SAM. Practical rules for graphic presentation of business statistics. 89p $2 Ohio state univ. Bur. of business research
311.26 Statistics—Graphic methods

"Rules for charting, illustrated by graphs. Types of charts from simple vertical bar charts to use of three-dimensional graphs and pictorial charts. Includes also examples of charts to fit various size publications." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:481 Mr 15 '48 60w
Management R 37:222 Ap '48 50w

"This volume, which brings together a good deal of the experience of Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research in this field, presents a concise summary of the basic charting rules, each of which is concretely illustrated by pertinent graphs. It should prove useful for college students, as well as for those faced with the practical task of translating business statistics into meaningful charts."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:416 D '47 200w

SMART, WYATT AIKEN. Still the Bible speaks. 171p $1.75 Abingdon-Cokesbury
220 Bible. Whole—About the Bible 48-7232

"Professor Smart points up the relevancy of the Bible to the life of today. . . After dealing with the place of the Bible in modern culture and with certain misconceptions concerning the structure and purpose of the Book, Professor Smart dwells upon four central ideas of the Bible: God and His World, God and His People, The Final Revelation, and The Final Triumph." (Kirkus) The book is based on the Cole lectures delivered by the author at Vanderbilt university in the spring of 1947. Index.

"Although based on scholarly research this little volume interpreting Bible background and history is expressed simply enough for the layman, and will contribute to his pleasure in and understanding of the Bible."
+ Booklist 45:43 O 1 '48

SMART, W. A.—Continued
Reviewed by E. W. K. Mould
Crozer Q 25:281 Jl '48 500w

"It is not the intent of the author to survey the findings of biblical scholarship or to offer new solutions to familiar literary problems. His chosen purpose is to indicate, on the basis of critical study, the ways in which the Bible can speak to contemporary issues. A rich personal background of study and teaching has enabled Dr. Smart to fulfil in convincing fashion the task to which he set himself." H. H. Hutson
+ J Religion 28:304 O '48 350w

"While there is nothing novel about the subject or its treatment in this volume, this is a most readable book and Protestant preachers particularly will be well repaid for the reading of it."
Kirkus 16:284 Je 15 '48 150w

SMELLIE, KINGSLEY BRYCE. History of local government. 192p $2.25 Macmillan (for Allen and Unwin)
352.042 Local government—Great Britain [47-17335]

"Modern English local government has developed from the industrial and the scientific revolution and the growth of political democracy since 1832. The present system is the result of an interplay between political, economic, and scientific factors. . . Mr. Smellie has outlined the essential changes in structure, in areas and in the relations between local and central authorities from 1832 to the Education Act of 1944. There is a separate chapter on London government, and an introductory chapter on the condition of local government between 1689 and 1832." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. No index.

"Both teachers and students of history and of government will find this concise, freshly written volume a pleasure to read and a mine of useful information." Harvey Walker
+ Am Hist R 54:190 O '48 360w

"A remarkably illuminating account. . . Though based largely on the reports of royal commissions, parliamentary enactments, and the work of various central boards and departments, his account presents also a great deal of practical experience." William Anderson
+ Ann Am Acad 259:183 S '48 300w

"This is a book not only worth reading, but worthy of being kept, though part of it (so rapidly do events move) is obsolete in consequence of the passing of the National Health Service Act, 1946. Its value would have been enhanced by an index."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p33 Ja 18 '47 850w

SMITH, A. MERRIMAN. A president is many men. 269p $2.75 Harper
353.03 Presidents (United States) 48-6989

A description of the President's job. "Smith reports on the daily routine, the weekly Cabinet meetings, the inner advisers, the men who write the speeches, the lobbyists and personal publicists, the secretaries, the hired help, formal entertainment and the social bureau, trips abroad and visitors from abroad, the Secret Service, and the almost unobtainable home life. He records the demands and denials, protocol and procedure, which attend the office of the Presidency, the rewards which are few, the burdens which are many, in inside anecdotal style." (Kirkus)

Reviewed by J. E. Kallenbach
Am Pol Sci R 42:1023 O '48 700w
Chicago Sun p6X Je 6 '48 50w
Kirkus 16:187 Ap 1 '48 150w

"An entertaining book in its own right simply for its fund of stories about the inner workings of the White House and its pen pictures of the persons, largely unknown to the public, who keep things running smoothly there. But a better reason for reading it is to gain a realization of how much worry, strain and hard physical labor is laid upon the President to no good purpose whatever." G. W. Johnson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Je 20 '48 700w

"Mr. Smith, the United Press reporter who has been stationed in the White House press room since 1941, has used his spare time and his reportorial skill well in gathering together and putting into this book myriads of details and colorful anecdotes about the people around a President. . . Analysis is lost in anecdote. Conclusions are entirely omitted. And unfortunately, the writing itself has something of the caliber of a not-too-important newspaper story produced under an early deadline. It is perhaps peevish to mention poor grammar, banal phrases and jerky transitions, but there they are. However, since 'A President Is Many Men' is planned more to satisfy the curious than to serve as a historical document, these writing faults are perhaps not too important." N. B. Brown
+ — N Y Times p18 Je 6 '48 410w
New Yorker 24:80 My 29 '48 100w

"A thoroughly entertaining, accurate, informative, nonpartisan book about the Presidency." C. W. Weinberger
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 My 30 '48 800w

"An amusing, informative book and a somewhat sobering one. It has been obvious for years that the presidency has become the hardest job in the nation, and Mr. Smith's book very illuminatingly shows why." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p11B Je 6 '48 120w
Wis Lib Bul 44:146 S '48

SMITH, ABBOT EMERSON. Colonists in bondage; white servitude and convict labor in America, 1607-1776; pub. for the Institute of early American history and culture at Williamsburg, Virginia. 435p $5 Univ. of N.C. press
331.54 Indentured servants. Convict labor 48-5154

An account of the bond servants of the British colonies in North America. Bibliographical note. Index.

"Dr. Smith's enterprise and courage in supplementing his qualitative analysis with quantitative data are to be commended. Unfortunately he has failed to analyze fully the ratios and relationships which can be detected and to provide a closely knit picture in which each fragment of evidence can be used to correct, supplement, or corroborate conclusions drawn from the others. Thus far he has provided the raw material for a statistical picture rather than the picture itself. In view of his wide knowledge of the subject we can only hope that he will undertake this additional task. Meanwhile we should render thanks for the very real contribution he has already made." L. A. Harper
— + Am Hist R 53:826 Jl '48 650w

Reviewed by Max Savelle
+ Ann Am Acad 259:160 S '48 600w

"The facts are taken from the records of the times, and while strictly a study, not for entertainment, the book contains much interesting if not laudatory information about our early days."
Current Hist 14:174 Mr '48 60w

"Dr. Smith has amassed a tremendous store of information regarding these white bond servants and offers it to the reader in a smooth and easy to read narrative that is much more than a document for scholars to study." G. W. Johnson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 8 '48 400w

Reviewed by R. B. Morris
N Y Times p16 Ag 29 '48 550w
New Yorker 23:82 Ja 17 '48 150w

"The main outlines of this story have been known to historians for some time, but Dr. Smith's inquiry serves to illuminate them and to underscore the role of white servitude in the settlement of America."

Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ap 10 '48 310w

Times [London] Lit Sup p695 D 11 '48 850w

"Findings in all three sections of the study—The Trade in Servants, Penal Transportation, and The Servant in the Plantations—will enlighten professional scholars; and the inherent colorfulness of the material and the readable style in which it is presented should interest general readers."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:199 Je '48 340w

SMITH, ALSON JESSE. Brother Van; a biography of William Wesley Van Orsdel. 240p il $2.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

B or 92 Van Orsdel, William Wesley 48-6218

A biography of a pioneer preacher of Montana. It contains "the story of his first sermon preached in a saloon, the tales of his handling of drunkards and gamblers, and of his experiences during the battles with the Indians, and the description of his Methodist associates in the early days of Montana." (Kirkus) Index.

Booklist 44:267 Ap 1 '48

"A most readable book. It is suitable both for those interested in American church history, and for students of the great Northwest."

+ Kirkus 16:116 Mr 1 '48 170w

"Mr. Smith's biography of the courageous and big hearted preacher is the only one in print and thus welcome. One could wish for more perceptive writing and less familiar incident—most of the anecdotes were previously told in the Rev. George Mecklenburg's 'Last of the Old West'—but it will bring many readers their first knowledge of a remarkable pioneer personality. The author tends to discount the importance of the missionary work of Brother Van's predecessors, but on the other hand he does venture upon some moderate critical judgments of his hero." J. K. Howard

N Y Times p16 Mr 28 '48 290w

SMITH, ARTHUR JAMES MARSHALL, ed. Book of Canadian poetry; a critical and historical anthology. 2d ed 487p $5 Univ. of Chicago press

811.08 Canadian poetry—Collections 48-8681

"Mr. Smith presents his poems as documents in the cultural history of Canada, relates them to the development of the country and to literary movements elsewhere, and in general attaches them to various parts of their surrounding environment. For Mr. Smith's purpose it is necessary to collect the important poets and present a coherent piece of their lifework, rather than to seek out the random or occasional poetic surprise, however delightful in itself. The second edition of his book is much more solidly and intelligibly constructed along these lines. He has been greatly aided by the fact that since 1943, when the first edition appeared [Book Review Digest 1943] many of the best younger people have published collected volumes of their verse, so that contemporary poetry is in a far less tentative state than it was then." Canadian Forum

Booklist 45:71 O 15 '48

"It is a considerable improvement on what was already a sufficiently remarkable achievement." N. F.

+ Canadian Forum 28:188 N '48 380w

"Despite the limits within which Mr. Smith can work surely, his anthology is the most useful of the larger collections of Canadian poetry and is improved in the new edition. The editorial apparatus is valuable, although there are a few surprising inaccuracies." E. K. Brown

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:26 N 27 '48 360w

SMITH, AUSTIN EDWARD. Drugs you use; foreword by Morris Fishbein. 243p $3 Revere

615.1 Drugs. Medicines, Patent, proprietary, etc. 48-10640

"Brief general articles on such subjects as laxatives, vitamins, hormones, sleep pills and pep pills, cold cures, and antiseptics designed to warn the public against the use of any medicine without a doctor's orders regardless of its reputation for harmlessness, or what individual found it effective. Some of the articles have appeared in magazines." (Booklist) The author is director of the Division of therapy and research of the American medical association. Index.

Booklist 45:117 D 1 '48

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 270w

SMITH, BETTY (WEHNER) (MRS JOE JONES). Tomorrow will be better. 274p $3 Harper

48-7917

"Tomorrow Will Be Better is the story of Margy Shannon of Maujer Street, the plainly dressed, neatly combed daughter of a factory worker, of her loves, job and marriage, the tragedy of her life (her child is born dead), and the beginning of her separation from her husband." (Time) Through all her difficulties Margy clings to the hope that "tomorrow will be better."

Booklist 45:14 S 1 '48

Cath World 168:174 N '48 240w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun p7X Ag 22 '48 550w

Christian Century 65:913 S 8 '48 140w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48

"Aside from the paucity of Miss Smith's writing powers, the deficiencies of this book are great enough to exclude it from even the most summery of summer readings. The aim to exploit Brooklyn is obvious, but the result fails to communicate any special sense of place." G. E. Miles

— Commonweal 48:503 S 3 '48 500w

"There isn't the poignancy of the earlier book; somehow the humor is less spontaneous, the reflection somewhat blurred. But the warmth of understanding, the note of authenticity are there. And the writing has the same quality of reaching the heart of the story, making the people live and move."

+ — Kirkus 16:287 Je 15 '48 250w

"Warm, moving story of Brooklyn in the 1920's which has the earthy humor, the fondly disillusioned understanding of author's A Tree Grows in Brooklyn [Book Review Digest 1942]. As in most repeat performances—though this is an excellent one—the original impact is lacking, but its setting and characters have charm and reality. A compelling, sympathetic love story that holds interest to the last page . . . Recommended." Anne Whitmore

+ Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

"Miss Smith is primarily a dramatist; her magic is certain wherever two or three are gathered together. . . But she is ill at ease when her characters stop talking and only the footsteps of her prose are audible; her sentences are ungainly; her choice of words suggests a woman reaching into a closet with her mind on something else. She is almost as prone to clichés in description as are her characters in conversation. . . Margy lacks the depth that would give her story significance. Her values are emotional and material; she never penetrates the mental world; she perceives no spiritual fields beyond the fences of morality. Tomorrow may indeed be better for Margy. She needs only to be loved and to be allowed to love. When Miss Smith leaves her she is in a fair way to realizing this situation, though how its accomplishment is to be reconciled with her Catholicism is a problem solved in too simple a way—the book simply ends." Thomas Sugrue

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 22 '48 1250w

SMITH, BETTY—Continued

"'Tomorrow Will Be Better' is not a more serious book than its predecessor; but it is a more deliberate book; and it is also, despite its title, a far less hopeful one. . . The book makes no suggestions, answers no questions, proposes no solutions. Its intention is direct and difficult—to project, honestly and immediately, a moving image of experience. And in that purpose it memorably succeeds." Richard Sullivan

+ N Y Times p1 Ag 22 '48 1100w

New Yorker 34:70 Ag 28 '48 100w

Reviewed by Edith James

San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ag 22 '48 500w

"At every point in her limited experience Margy Shannon appeals to a reader's sympathy . . . But, perhaps because she is so typical, she rarely stirs the imagination. The novel leaves you remembering Brooklyn's folkways more vividly than its people." Walter Havighurst

Sat R of Lit 31:9 Ag 21 '48 850w

"This novel tells a simple but moving tale that sharply pictures every day details of life, and character in and out of the older slum areas in the Brooklyn of a generation ago. It is brightened by a number of humorous touches and episodes, but the more prevalent tone is one of mild pathos and the color is drab, both of which are recurrently relieved by the build-up of the hope that conditions will later improve and that the great American dream may yet come true." E. A. F.

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 360w

"[The book] is so flatly written and so free of melodrama (or even of exciting incidents) that its interest is surprising—without plot and without particular distinction in its prose, with characters who seem merely to have wandered on the scene, it is nevertheless absorbing. . . Betty Smith's failure with the character of Frankie does much to destroy any claim that Tomorrow Will Be Better might make toward being serious fiction, a claim to which its honest portrait of an ordinary American girl might otherwise entitle it."

Time 52:82 Ag 23 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

Reviewed by Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 38:192 autumn '48 180w

SMITH, BRADFORD. Americans from Japan. (Peoples of America ser) 409p il $5 Lippincott

325.252 Japanese in the U.S. 48-7852

A survey of the Japanese Americans, their lives and customs, from the time when they first came to American territory in the Hawiian Islands, to their part in the second World war. Bibliographies. Index.

Booklist 45:6 S 1 '48

Reviewed by T. H. Wright

Chicago Sun Ag 26 '48 650w

Reviewed by Toru Matsumoto

Christian Science Monitor p9 S 2 '48 1100w

"A substantial, decent job. . . Urged for most collections." R. E. Kingery

+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 70w

"A book such as this is an arsenal of information and understanding regarding one of America's most important internal problems, its treatment of its minorities, a problem which is more crucial today than ever before. And 'Americans from Japan,' because of its authority and scrupulous balance, its literary distinction, its warm human quality, will bring to its readers all that such a book can bring—pain, delight and awakening." C. G. Stillman

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 S 26 '48 1100w

Reviewed by Foster Hailey

N Y Times p22 O 17 '48 450w

"'Americans From Japan' will give us an understanding of the Japanese-American, and perhaps that understanding will nurture concern and lead to acceptance. Bradford Smith has written an important book, one that can not be recommended too highly. He rarely resorts to flat statements; his book is carefully documented, there are notes on each chapter and a very extensive bibliography." W. R. White

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 5 '48 950w

"Well over half [this book's] pages are stirring human documents, alive with the everyday struggles, victories, and heartbreaks of the Japanese who came to live among us. . . Bradford Smith's sympathetic, accurate, and, above all, human story of the Japanese-Americans throws light on all current minority and racial issues in the United States, and thus on one of the central problems aggravating contemporary American life." T. A. Bisson

+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 S 4 '48 900w

Wis Lib Bul 44:183 N '48

SMITH, CHARLES THOMAS. Music and reason; the art of listening, appreciating and composing. 158p il $3.25 Social sciences

780.1 Music—Psychology. Composition (music) 48-5937

"An attempt by a practicing English musician, to prove that music is a product of the rational mind and not 'the only one of earth's arts which we know to have originated from Heaven.'" (Library J) Index.

"Written simply and lucidly for the average musician or layman. Not for the scholar who will find it over-simplified and elliptical." C. K. Miller

Library J 73:816 My 15 '48 80w

"A first reading of Music and Reason . . . reminds one of an evening spent in listening to an attempt to prove a 'universal truth' by adducing a multiplicity of historical tidbits. In recollecting the substance of such a 'discussion,' the layman may find it extremely difficult to separate the wheat from the chaff, and to see the facts as merely facts when he encounters them in further exploration of the subject in question." E. E. Colby

Music Lib Assn Notes 5:379 Je '48 480w

School & Society 67:191 Mr 6 '48 20w

"The author is terribly serious and argues convincingly at times. But one becomes suspicious after he claims seven composers as unbelievers and concludes with the sensational statement that 'if the list were completed few composers of great distinction would be excluded.'" Victor Prahl

+ — Springf'd Republican p10B S 5 '48 180w

SMITH, DE COST. Martyrs of the Oblong and Little Nine. 310p il $4 Caxton printers

970.3 Mohegan Indians. Moravian church—Missions 48-7193

"The 'martyrs' were Mohicans of the Hudson river region who were converted by Moravian missionaries and remained true to the faith through many trials. . . Much of their suffering derived from the fact that they were caught between opposing forces, first in the French and Indian war, then in the Revolution, then in the Indian uprisings in Northwest Territory and Anthony Wayne's campaign to subdue it, then in the War of 1812. These Moravian Mohicans were not martyrs in the conventional sense, but their experience during the seventy years after 1745 was a continuous tragedy brightened by only fleeting moments of peace and hope." (Christian Century) No index.

"The author, an artist of distinction, has for many years been intelligently interested in the American Indians. This story, though somewhat confused in the telling, represents much research."

+ Christian Century 65:600 Je 16 '48 280w

"Thoroughgoing, but sharply specialized."

Kirkus 16:162 Mr 15 '48 100w

School & Society 67:416 My 29 '48 20w

SMITH, DOROTHY GLADYS. I capture the castle. 343p il $3 Little 48-4880

Purports to be the notebook of Cassandra Mortmains, describing the life of herself and her family in their ruinous English castle. Her father has written one supremely successful novel, but has suffered a psychological eclipse and has done no work for ten years. The rent on the castle is years overdue and the family almost on the verge of starvation. Then the nearby Scoatney Hall is inherited by two wealthy American brothers, and love and success rescue the Mortmains.

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

"With disarming guile, Dodie Smith captivates her readers. In presenting the complications of young love, she treats the theme with ease and wit, keeping a light touch. Perhaps too romantic to be wholly plausible, still she sustains our interest by her clever invention, by flashes of beauty and unexpected overtones with serious implications." Dorothy Graham
+ Cath World 168:334 Ja '49 230w

"A skillful concoction of ingredients poured into the chafing-dish of the imagination—fantasy, humor, delicious characterization, together with that rare quality sometimes referred to as 'fey'—all deftly blended and seasoned with judicious pinches of irony. . . It is not quite Angela Thirkell, nor Margery Sharp, though slightly reminiscent of both. It is Miss Dodie Smith, which is quite enough in itself." Margaret Williamson
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 2 '48 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"Her characters are alive and interesting. Indeed, the tale must have been lived; it is fresh as a daisy." Ann Hunter
+ Commonweal 49:233 D 10 '48 140w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 25:63 Ja '49 80w

"There's charm here, there's a gay, English spotting of humor that makes the romance and the slight story almost a natural for the Thirkell followers [and] for enthusiasts of the Jane Austen tradition. Literary Guild selection for November will give it the necessary impetus. And the crying need for clean and pleasant romance will find a measure of answer here."
+ Kirkus 16:406 Ag 15 '48 210w

"Fascinatingly written, it will delight a wide audience. Highly recommended for pay collections, and circulating libraries in general." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1385 O 1 '48 140w

"The gayest and sweetest of modern novels. Skirting whimsy by a hair's breadth, Miss Smith saturates with blithe humor her story. . . A quaint and old-fashioned story, as pure as it is pretty. But underneath this champagne-like surface of young romance and middle-aged confusion Miss Smith has fortified her novel with the strong alcoholic content of sound psychological principles. Wherefore 'I Capture the Castle' is set in a wonder world of innocence and wisdom nicely integrated to make a charming whole." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 24 '48 650w

"Miss Smith has achieved a remarkable success in presenting her story through kind-hearted, poetry-writing, adolescent Cassandra. It is a success, naturally, that will not give equal delight to everyone. There is such a thing as art imitating nature too well, and 343 pages of teen-age chatter and heartthrobs are going to strike some readers (perhaps a grumpy minority) as wearisome and superficial. . . Yet no one can say that 'I Capture the Castle' lacks the ups and downs of love in bloom, the unaccountable and often amusing antics of a dozen or so individualistic characters, and good, authentic whiffs of English town and country atmosphere." N. K. Burger
+ — N Y Times p26 N 7 '48 500w

"Neither Mrs. Smith's facile dialogue nor the very romantic scenery within and without the castle is enough to cover up the essential silliness of the story, but the writing is neat and enthusiastic, and there is a communicated sense of excited activity to keep the reader going until the preposterous ending."
New Yorker 24:128 O 23 '48 150w

"Miss Smith's novel just skirts the whimsical. There is a touch of the 'gamboling of lambs' quality but luckily, the lambs are not intoxicated. A vein of satire and a disarming frankness keeps the story sane and reasonable." Jane Voiles
+ San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 500w

"Everything is good fun, mistakes always turn out right, with a little unhappiness perhaps, but also with great gobs of real wholesome goodness, This irrepressible coziness permeates every problem: religion, poverty, hatred, frustration, fear. As a picture—or a reflection—of living people, which is apparently the novel's intention, it is completely unreal and unconvincing; nor is it helped by coyly self-conscious throwbacks to Jane Austen and the Brontës. Yet the story goes through its twists and turns pleasantly enough, teasing our interest without commanding our credence." Robert Halsband
Sat R of Lit 31:15 N 20 '48 550w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 240w
Wis Lib Bul 45:14 Ja '49

SMITH, MRS DOROTHY JOHNSON. Muddy paws; il. by Vera Neville. 216p $2.50 Crowell
48-2108

Story of a brother and sister living in a small town who wanted a dog, even though their parents did not. Their struggles with the little "mut" Punch, who necessitated a good deal of training, finally paid dividends.

Kirkus 16:86 F 15 '48 120w

"Lively, laughable and life-like tale. Any one who has owned a puppy sees in it one of those dear sinners." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Je 13 '48 270w

"Humor, and a real understanding of dogs and children mark this book for intermediate-grade boys and girls." A. N. Fedder
+ N Y Times p22 Jl 18 '48 150w

"An informing and often amusing story." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 Jl 10 '48 50w

SMITH, EUGENE WALDO. Trans-Atlantic passenger ships, past and present. 350p il $3.50 G. H. Dean co, 74 India st, Boston 10
387.5221 Steamboats 47-6048

"A manual of information regarding the principal passenger ships built between 1840 and 1940 which operated in the North Atlantic service. The main section consists of an alphabetical listing of approximately 1,000 ships. In this section date of construction, name of builder and owner, tonnage, dimensions, a brief outline of activities, and final disposition if no longer in operation, are given. Another section contains a listing of the ships' steamship lines; a tabulation of the longest passenger ships in the world from the 'Queen Elizabeth' with 987 ft. 4 in. to the 'Katori Maru' with 500 ft.; a separate listing of the ships over 600 ft., classified by number of funnels and masts. A final section contains pictures of 92 of the ships described in the first section. There is an index of ships' names." N Y New Tech Bks

---

N Y New Tech Bks 32:84 O '47

"Here in many cases are vital facts that may never have been publicized, owing to wartime censorship." D. B. B.
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 480w

SMITH, HARRY ALLEN. Larks in the popcorn; line drawings by Leo Hershfield. 256p $2.50 Doubleday
817 48-9385

Life in Westchester as seen by an exile from New York. Mr Smith decided to raise three crops: watermelons, strawberries, and popcorn.

SMITH, H. A.—Continued
He found out quite a bit about poison ivy and wasps in his new home, and he also found out a good deal about eccentric characters: city and country brands.

Booklist 45:155 Ja 1 '49

Kirkus 16:546 O 1 '48 130w

"It is reminiscent of a Bennett Cerf column, with delightfully daffy diversions—if you are in a mood for foolishness." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:1665 N 15 '48 100w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 D 19 '48 250w

"When Mr. Smith is talking about himself, his family, his friends, his pets, his relatives, his guests—all city eccentrics—he is his old self, and the humor bubbles like home-made charged water. Fortunately this is a good deal of the time. . . [He] mentions every notorious person he has met and makes references to obscure gibes and tabloid scandals as if they were as well known to the general populace as they are to him. All this is a bona fide Smith, and readers who have endured it before will find that the habit hangs on. Otherwise, 'Larks in the Popcorn' will interest Westchesterites, historians and the people mentioned in its pages. Smith fans will put it on the lower shelf, near the parchesi set." Thomas Sugrue
N Y Times p37 N 21 '48 550w

"The book is particularly notable for its lack of weather anecdotes and for some fine pages on the author's country neighbors—a collection of salty, down-to-earth literary people, theatre personalities, and stock-and-bond men."
+ New Yorker 24:166 N 20 '48 130w

Reviewed by Abel Green
Sat R of Lit 32:21 Ja 8 '49 290w

SMITH, IRENE, comp. Santa Claus book; pictures by Hertha Depper. 234p $2.50 Watts, F.

394.268 Christmas stories. Christmas poetry 48-9295

Christmas stories and poems featuring Santa Claus as hero in America and foreign countries. Partial contents: Santa Claus, a wonder story, by Maud Lindsay; A rhyme for Nicholas, by Eleanor Farjeon; The story of Santa Claus, by Eleanor Graham; Before Christmas, by Rachel Field; The Christmas that was nearly lost, by Ruth Sawyer; Kriss Kringle, by T. B. Aldrich; The mouse that didn't believe in Santa Claus, by Eugene Field; Santa Claus and the mouse, by Emilie Poulsson; Christmas at the Hollow Tree inn, by A. B. Paine; Jimmy Scarecrow's Christmas, by M. E. W. Freeman; Santa Claus at the North Pole, by R. E. Byrd; Mikulás, bearer of gifts, by Kate Seredy; The Festival of St. Nicholas, by M. M. Dodge; The Yule elf's Christmas gift, by Nora Burglon.

Booklist 45:124 D 1 '48

"Here's a collection that has been needed to take care of the requests to parents and story tellers for 'more stories about Santa Claus'. Basically sound in selection. . . The editor knows the need, through her experience as head of children's work in the Brooklyn Public Library."
+ Kirkus 16:397 Ag 15 '48 210w

"Recommended." Elizabeth Hodges
+ Library J 74:67 Ja 1 '49 70w

"Will prove useful for storytellers seeking new material, and enjoyable for young readers of the Santa Claus age. Although some of the selections will be familiar (The Night Before Christmas, Is There a Santa Claus? for instance), many of them are less well known." M. B.
+ N Y Times p4 N 14 '48 130w

Wis Lib Bul 45:15 Ja '49

SMITH, MERRIMAN. See Smith, A. M.

SMITH, MILTON MYERS. Play production for little theaters, schools and colleges; il. by William Steinel. 482p lib ed $6; school ed $4.50 Appleton

792 Theater—Production and direction. Amateur theatricals 48-5509

"This book is a revision and an expansion of a similiar one written many years ago. It is based on the same principle, that the first and most important approach to the art of the theater should be one which tries to discover its unity, and that theater practice involves the combining of many elements to make an exciting experience for an audience." (Pref) For earlier book called Book of Play Production for Little Theaters, Schools and Colleges see Book Review Digest 1927. For amateurs and little theaters. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:385 Jl 15 '48

School & Society 67:112 F 7 '48 10w

SMITH, PHILIP HILLYER. Perennial harvest; il. by William Thomas Woodward. 272p $3 Harper

630.1 Country life Agr48-207

In the 1930's the author bought a run down farm near the New York and Connecticut borders. It was remote from civilization and completely without modern improvements. At first it was intended as a week-end hideout, but later the author lived there continuously and alone, doing all his own work. After the first descriptive chapters the author describes the pleasures of solitude and its rewards.

"There are other, and better, books on the market, both ideologically and practically speaking."
Kirkus 16:43 Ja 15 '48 130w

"How all these matters were accomplished covers the greater part of the book, and easy reading it is, too. But these chapters are only a prelude to the last five, which make the book unique. Mr. Smith has written a superbly human chapter on solitude and how to gather its fruits. . . This [is a] worthwhile book." Richardson Wright
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ap 11 '48 500w

"Mr Smith has written a wise and mature book that is all the riper for its long and slow gestation." Thomas Foster
+ N Y Times p12 Ag 29 '48 360w

SMITH, REGINALD ANTHONY LENDON. Collected papers; with a memoir by David Knowles and a foreword by the Master of Trinity. 128p $2.75 Longmans

271 Monasteries A47-5809

"This is a series of scholarly papers dealing with economic and financial innovations of medieval Benedictine monasteries in England, showing among other things their policy of centralization in bookkeeping and agriculture. Also included is a spritely essay on Lord Acton, the intransigeant Catholic historian. . . A memoir by David Knowles precedes the papers." Commonweal

---

"The collection reveals the promise of the young Catholic, fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, who died during the war."
+ Commonweal 47:334 Ja 9 '48 100w

"Every student of mediaeval history will be glad to have these accomplished papers in so handy and attractive a form. Only an index is wanting." K. B. McF.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 24 '47 150w

Spec 179:812 D 26 '47 250w

"The essays here published have all appeared previously in print, but they have been assembled with loving care as a memorial to their writer, and they are prefaced by a sympathetic appreciation by Professor Knowles. . . To re-read these papers as edited by Dr. Knowles is to experience a feeling not only of regret but also of gratitude for a singularly gracious and productive life."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p428 Ag 23 '47 300w

SMITH, ROBERT ALLAN. Radio aids to navigation. 114p pl $2.50 Macmillan

621.38 Radio in aeronautics. Radar 48-2602

"This book outlines the remarkable developments in the application of radio technique to navigation during the war years. It is mainly concerned with the navigation of aircraft; navigation of ships is more briefly discussed. It begins with an account of pre-war systems and their limitations, to show how these were gradually overcome by new techniques, particularly by the development of radar. . . Much of this research was done at Tele-communications Research Establishment in England where the author was himself at work on these lines. The present book is closely based upon material prepared for official use and is now published by permission of the British Ministry of Supply." (Publisher's note) Glossary. Index.

Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 20w

"The book, which can be readily understood by the interested layman, will serve as a key to the navigational systems."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:43 My '48

SMITH, ROBERT ERNEST. Machine woodworking. rev ed 152p il $2.75 McKnight

684 Woodwork 48-11763

"An instruction manual for the guidance of students in vocations schools and industrial arts courses. The common types of power-driven woodworking machines are described, and the operations which may be performed on these machines are clearly outlined step by step. The textual matter is supplemented by many well-reproduced illustrations of typical operations and machines." (N Y New Tech Bks) The publisher calls the book a revised edition of Information and Operation Units in Machine Woodworking (1938). Index.

Booklist 44:385 Jl 15 '48

"The revised edition contains many new pictures of new woodworking equipment." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:953 Je 15 '48 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:62 Jl '48

SMITH, SAMUEL STEPHENSON. How to double your vocabulary. 360p $3 Crowell

423 Vocabulary 47-12481

"Intended for the average person who already uses ten thousand words but wants to use ten thousand more. Largely composed of 'wordplay,' numerous and often ingenuous word games and puzzles, meant to speed the acquisition of the second ten thousand. These have been determined by an analysis of the current language of magazines (chiefly Time) and the radio, with special attention to the vocabulary of science and slang. Commentary on the selection and use of dictionaries, length of words, synonyms and antonyms, meaning shifts, roots, suffixes and prefixes." (Library J) Word index. Subject index.

Booklist 44:167 Ja 1 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '48
Kirkus 15:491 S 1 '47 110w

"Tricky, generally effective, but far too much of it. Might be especially helpful to teachers of adults. Librarians will have a jaundiced eye for the 'word-play' features with blanks inviting readers to use a pencil on the book." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 72:1468 O 15 '47 130w
School & Society 66:464 D 13 '47 20w

SMITH, SARA R. Manchurian crisis, 1931-1932; a tragedy in international relations. 281p $3.75 Columbia univ. press

951.8 International relations. Manchurian question. U.S.—Foreign relations 48-6726

"A detailed study of the events leading to the beginning of the Manchurian 'episode,' based on official documents. The reference to American, British, Chinese and Japanese viewpoints and claims is indicative of some of the underlying problems that still exist in the Orient. The author is Assistant Professor of History at West Virginia University." (Current Hist) Index.

"Well footnoted and extensively indexed, this monograph, although, as its author affirms, not the last word on the subject, strides vigorously and helpfully in the right direction." S. K. Hornbeck
Am Hist R 54:363 Ja '49 550w

"Excellent monograph." G. N. Steiger
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1233 D '48 750w
Current Hist 15:38 Jl '48 50w

Reviewed by S. H. Wang
Pacific Affairs 21:418 D '48 700w
Times [London] Lit Sup p664 N 27 '48 950w

SMITH, SHELLEY. He died of murder. 247p $2.50 Harper

48-5857

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 90w
Kirkus 16:8 Ja 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 14 '48 180w

"It is our painful duty to report that Chaos is not very bright. He misses completely the significance of a clue which any fairly diligent student of detective fiction could have interpreted for him. Both he and the story of his sleuthing move too slowly to hold the interest of the average reader." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p21 Mr 14 '48 140w

"Miss Smith deals with murder in an English colony of religious eccentrics, a tough subject at best, and handles it with skill and charm. . . Highly recommended."
+ New Yorker 24:128 Mr 13 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 18 '48 90w

"Well-written, acceptably plotted, and occasionally tedious puzzler."
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:35 Mr 27 '48 50w

SMITH, SHELLEY. Woman in the sea. 274p $2.50 Harper

48-10786

Murder story.

"Although one might object that the author's prologue is a disagreeable bit of cony-catching, the rest of the novel is far too fine to be limited to a rental library audience." James Sandoe
+ — Chicago Sun p44 O 22 '48 240w

"A deliberate, sometimes derisive portrait of a ludicrously loving woman and the unintentional impetus to crime she created."
Kirkus 16:380 Ag 1 '48 90w
New Repub 119:27 N 1 '48 30w

"Miss Smith's story has the strength of simplicity—no fooling around with that old devil, ingenuity. It's her third straight success and a fine argument for the suspense form." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 17 '48 180w
N Y Times p23 O 31 '48 360w

"Miss Smith retraces, with some variations, the ground covered by F. Tennyson Jesse in her study of the Rattenbury-and-Stoner case. . . It is to be hoped that next time she'll devote her considerable talent to fresher stuff."
New Yorker 24:136 O 16 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 N 7 '48 220w

"Odd and good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 O 23 '48 40w

SMITH, THOMAS LYNN. Population analysis. 421p maps $4.50 McGraw
312 Population 48-7003

"Based on material used in teaching over a period of seventeen years and designed for an introductory college course in population, emphasizing methodology. Explains and illustrates the technique used in population analysis beginning with a presentation of world-wide data and concludes with detailed study of the situation in the United States. Many of author's graphic methods are new and original. Characteristics of population and migration are well covered. Chapter bibliographies." Library J

"It is a decided advantage, of course, to have so full a résumé of population data within a single book, especially for the beginning student. Yet the author's great concern with specific facts, instead of with general principles, impairs the value of his work. . . But while Population Analysis fails to fill a lamentable gap in textual materials on population, it is nevertheless a highly useful book for the introductory course." A. H. Hawley
+ — Am Soc R 13:636 O '48 470w

"Like other textbooks, this one has its strong and its weak points. It is distinctly competent on the technical level. It is frequently ingenious both in analytical method and in chart making. It has indexes; also recommended readings and questions for each chapter. . . This book raises interesting questions in one's mind as to what one should expect of a text in this field. There are at least three different aspects of population study: (1) methods of analysis, (2) factual data, and (3) social, political, and economic significance. . . Competent as it is within its narrow field, both its interest and its value as a text would have benefited by much greater attention to the third aspect." F. H. Hankins
+ — Ann Am Acad 260:205 N '48 550w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 80w

SMITH, WILLIAM GARDNER. Last of the conquerors. 262p $2.75 Farrar, Straus
48-7948

Novel about American Negro occupation troops in Berlin and near Mannheim, Germany. It is mainly the story of Private Dawkins and Ilse, the German girl, who fell in love with him.

"As a social document the book achieves a powerful impact. From the literary standpoint it is strong in structure, weak in style —strong enough all round to suggest that this exceedingly young writer may turn out to have real talent."
+ — Atlantic 182:110 O '48 180w

"Last of the Conquerors has a few internal weaknesses. Some of the characters are oversimplified. Rhetoric occasionally displaces the direct statement of fact. The sexuality which pervades the book is perhaps too strident; although it may be accepted as the inevitable result of a lifetime of rejection in the white society of America. The book, generally, however, has the structure and social dimensions necessary to support the theme and inform it with bitterness and humanity which are the real substance of tragedy." Samuel Roddan
+ — Canadian Forum 28:212 D '48 450w

"The book is marked here and there by the callowness of youth. Profanity for its own sake is gratifyingly scarce. The writing for the most part is strong, simple, and lively. One might be tempted to recommend the excision of some parts which are too hortatory or too biased. but it should be realized these artistic defects usually accompany the novel with a bitter message. They are an almost inescapable by-product of the tempestuous emotion which brings such works into being." Jack Conroy
+ — Chicago Sun Ag 17 '48 600w

Reviewed by Harry Ellis
Christian Science Monitor p11 S 16 '48 600w

"Touchy stuff in intense, subjective presentation."
Kirkus 16:269 Je 1 '48 150w

"An explosive novel that some libraries will hesitate to stock in the face of local tensions. Notable for its depth of feeling and quality of expression. Avoids the usual sterility of most problem fiction. Recommended for all collections." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 130w

"It is a straight-line narrative in the early Hemingway manner. written neither better nor worse than most of the novels by returning veterans. Smith deserves credit for reaching their level of competence at such an early age; but I should chiefly recommend the book as an honest record of what Negro soldiers did and said and felt in occupied Germany." Malcolm Cowley
+ New Repub 119:33 S 27 '48 950w

"The author has illumined his situation with a good story and good characters. Dawkins is a young, pleasant, well-mannered Negro who is bright but not aggressive, courageous but not heroic. The author has drawn him so clearly that his actions seem inevitable. The love story is moving and real. Mr. Smith writes with a single-mindedness that perhaps oversimplifies, but his extreme restraint gives his cruel story a gentleness which is both skillful and effective. This is a very good novel. It is also a book which should be deeply disturbing to white Americans." Joanna Spencer
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ag 22 '48 500w

"Primarily the love story of a Negro GI and a German fraulein. As such, it is palpably idealized. Mr. Smith is only 21, and the course of his hero's true love survives color differences, language barriers and cultural distinctions with romantic disregard of probability. There's no suggestion that the Germans who extend equality to the Negro share the guilt of racial crimes more terrible than any dreamed of in the United States, nor that their equalitarianism is based considerably on the opportunism that always exists between the victors and the losers. The book, furthermore, is a revealing example of the tendency of minority groups . . . to project themselves into a fantasy world in which they enjoy rights that are inherently, if not actually, theirs." David Dempsey
N Y Times p6 S 5 '48 600w

" 'The Last of the Conquerors' will be attacked with considerable venom. It may be entertaining to read what a few Southern critics have to say about it, since it violates certain principles held to be true and indivisible, that white and black are not equal, and so should not have the same opportunities, either in life, or in love, or in hope for the future." Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ag 28 '48 1100w

Reviewed by Martha Foley
Survey G 37:500 D '48 90w

SMITH, WILLIAM JAY. Poems. 31p $2.50 Banyan press
811 47-5614

"Although William Jay Smith's first book contains only twenty-one lyrics it is wide in its range; the poems are realistic, satiric, romantic, even mystical; and they vary in statement from the plain and epigrammatic to the elaborately metaphorical." Poetry

---

"Mr. Smith does not feel that the poet's job is done when he has invented a conceit and set it down in all its pristine, cryptic, private splendor. The work of many of Mr. Smith's contemporaries is strewn with the whitened bones of such conceits. These poems, on the other hand, are concise and sharp, but fully developed and complete within their frames." Milton Crane
+ N Y Times p4 N 30 '47 290w

"William Jay Smith has a quick and cutting way of summing up his material, but it does not always come off." Louise Bogan
New Yorker 23:134 N 15 '47 40w

"The quality that most distinguishes Mr. Smith's work is his sense of style. One sees that he is trying to define his emotion as accurately and as memorably as possible, and it is in this attempt that he reveals his virtues and his faults. There is not a carelessly written line in the book; many of his lines are beautiful but there are also many that are over-wrought and over-elaborate. In Poems there is too much that is strained, consciously contrived, and needlessly ingenious. In trying for the accurate and the memorable he has over-shot his mark; after reading three or four poems one realizes that Mr. Smith can lose sight of his emotion and thought in his devotion to style for its own sake and to unusual imagery." R. L. Lowe
+ — Poetry 73:116 N '48 650w

"This beautifully made little book is an engaging and sometimes impressive contribution to contemporary poetry." Dudley Fitts
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 21 '48 320w

SMOTHERS, FRANK ALBERT, and others. Report on the Greeks. See Twentieth century fund

SNOW, CHARLES PERCY. The light and the dark. 302p $3 Macmillan
48-5417

Cambridge University is the scene of the greater part of this character study of a young Cambridge don. In an attempt to curb his dark moods Roy tries promiscuity, drink, concentration on his studies, and religion. With the outbreak of the war he joins the RAF and is killed in action.

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Chicago Sun p25 F 17 '48 400w

"Good writing and interesting characterizations fail to keep the book from tedious periods."
+ — Kirkus 15:679 D 15 '47 120w

"The story includes interesting comments on English university politics and a segment of British aristocracy, but on the whole, it is vague and has little point." Donald Wasson
Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 90w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset
Manchester Guardian p3 N 7 '47 180w

"It is the description of a lover, in which the emotion always exceeds the given facts: we can be perfectly willing to grant him his raptures on the condition that we aren't expected to share them. This discrepancy is the most striking thing about the book. It is packed with talk and social detail, in an attempt at richness and solidity; but to be effective such detail must be relevant to something." John Farrelly
New Repub 118:21 F 23 '48 310w

"I regret to say that I did not believe a word of it. Mr. Snow writes with great assurance and facility. His extraordinarily garrulous narrator, Lewis Eliot, gives us the inside dope on any number of things. . . Unfortunately, Roy Calvert carries rather less conviction than a Ouida guardsman." Walter Allen
— New Statesman & Nation 34:456 D 6 '47 320w

"Moving as is the story of Calvert and beautifully written, it has certain obscurities which leave the reader restless. Eliot, the narrator, is presented as a man burdened with a personal tragedy, but its nature is deliberately withheld. And if Calvert's sufferings were those of a man approaching madness, as seems implicit in the novel, why did Eliot, his dearest friend, seek no help from a physician? These are questions that get in the way of complete acceptance of Dr. Snow's work." Rose Feld
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 22 '48 750w

"Several of the minor characters come alive; some of the incidents, such as the forming of academic cliques within the college, are vivid. But the dominant characters are essentially sterile. They move like puppets, with the handler behind the platform exhorting us to consider the unique qualities and problems of his actors." J. W. Chase
— + N Y Times p16 F 29 '48 490w
New Yorker 23:98 F 21 '48 120w

"The novel is beautifully written. It is regrettable that Mr. Snow's failure with his principal character will make readers impatient. This reviewer fears that it must do just that." E. D. Doyle
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p11 F 22 '48 500w

"This is the way a novel of university life should be written—slowly, richly, without partisanship, reformatory fanaticism, or that curious chip-on-the-shoulder emotion which ruins most American fiction having to do with the academic world." H. M. Jones
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 Mr 27 '48 550w

"The work of a civilised, sensitive author who writes for readers like himself. His hero is spiritually tormented, highly intelligent and morally maladjusted. Unfortunately he wanders in and out of a mist. Alcoholism and indecision have not blurred his gifts and his scholarship; but they succeed in confusing the reader's perceptions of these qualities." H. W. Chapman
+ — Spec 179:662 N 21 '47 220w

"The Light and the Dark is a painstaking and readable account of university life seen from high table. It would give a foreigner a fair idea of the types he might meet and the opinions that he might hear expressed in such circles. With personal relationships the author is less at home. Rosalind and Joan never come to life, and the Bostocks, after hopeful beginnings, become stylized, and more than a little improbable, picnicking on moselle and strawberries before indulging in archery in the grounds of their palladian mansion facing the sea."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p573 N 8 '47 600w

SNOW, EDWARD ROWE. Mysteries and adventures along the Atlantic coast. 352p il $4 Dodd

910.4 Atlantic ocean. Adventure and adventurers 48-9386

Stories of buried treasure and other mysteries of the Atlantic coast, ranging from Nova Scotia to Florida. The author has flown some 27,000 airplane miles in his efforts to document his stories. Illustrations. Index.

"Good, plain adventure and mystery, with one outstanding chapter."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 D 5 '48 260w

"Whether he deals with facts or uncertainties, Mr. Snow endeavors to shed new light, and he obviously has fun telling about them, in his conversational style, even when they sound fishy." D. B. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7B Ja 2 '49 800w

SNYDER, MARGARET IRENE. Chosen valley; the story of a pioneer town. 376p $4 Norton

977.616 Chatfield, Minnesota. Frontier and pioneer life—Minnesota 48-9113

The history of a Minnesota town, founded ninety-five years ago, which gives in microcosm the picture of the Westward expansion of the United States. The work is based on extensive research among historical archives, and consultation with descendants of early settlers. No index.

Booklist 45:190 F 1 '49

Reviewed by Feike Feikema
Chicago Sun N 22 '48 420w

"Miss Snyder's own book might be only good reporting—conscientiously recorded research—rather than creative writing, were it not for her numerous case histories, name by name, and the living picture of a community that emerges; and for the wider application of its little pattern. Also, she has permitted herself

SNYDER, M. I.—Continued
certain brief interludes, in which she preserves, in imaginative and sentient language, a scene or an emotion quick with the inner life of some nameless one of Chatfield's people, or of millions of other Americans." W. K. Rugg
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 15 '48 480w

Kirkus 16:470 S 1 '48 100w

"An admirable piece of Americana whose usefulness is somewhat impaired by lack of an index."
+ — Nation 167:611 N 27 '48 130w

"An epic research among records, newspapers, letters, diaries, annals of historical societies and much informal conversation with contemporary Chatfieldians underlie this able, lively and appealing piece of 'Americana.' " C. G. Stillman
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p34 N 14 '48 700w

"In a way, it is a capsule history of America; and it is so well done that it often has the color and excitement of first-class fiction. It is a splendid job, of writing as well as research, by an author of compassion, understanding, and belief. It deserves a wide and thoughtful readership." Hal Borland
+ N Y Times p36 N 7 '48 140w

SOHN, MONTE. Flesh and Mary Duncan. 276p $2.75 Dodd
48-8729

Psychological novel describing the effect of the war upon George Trapple, and on his marriage. A new environment, a new job, and a patient, understanding wife finally brought George out of his war neurosis.

"A sympathetic novel but one which doesn't probe deeply enough."
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 24 '48 240w

"The book is written in a lively, humorous fashion that sometimes contrasts oddly with its somber subject-matter. But as a whole this novel offers unaffected drama, warm characterization and frequent kindly glimpses into the minds and the hearts of a well-meaning Midwestern folk, who would prefer to place the war in a pigeonhole of the past and who cannot see its reflection in the eyes of their young." Anne Chamberlain
+ N Y Times p42 O 17 '48 380w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p12C D 12 '48 160w

SOLLER, THEODORE, and others, eds. Cathode ray tube displays [prepared under the supervision of] Office of scientific research and development, Nat. defense research committee. (Mass. inst. of technology. Radiation laboratory. Radiation laboratory ser, v22) 746p il $10 McGraw 621.384132 Cathode ray tubes. Radar
48-3998

"This volume provides a technical account of the fundamental principles, design, construction and operation of devices which employ cathode ray tubes. Specific units, such as focus coils, generators, amplifiers, and specialized circuits used in building up a display system are described in detail. Television displays are only briefly mentioned. As in other volumes of the series, each chapter has been prepared by a different author or group of authors." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1282 S 15 '48 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:66 S '48

SONNENFELD, HERBERT S. Palestine; land of Israel [photographs] introd. by Pierre van Paassen. 128p $5 Ziff-Davis
915.69 Palestine—Views
48-7672

Photographs and text describing Jewish Palestine. Contents: Springtime of a people; Youth; Jerusalem; Worship; Haifa; Tel-Aviv; Working together; Land and the settlements; Police; Arab neighbors; A mighty torrent.

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

"Any record of a people working against the hazards of nature to bring into bloom a barren place will afford always a high measure of inspiration; but neither Mr. van Paassen's text nor Mr. Sonnenfeld's pictures present this achievement dispassionately. The photographs in particular emphasize the black and white of a given situation, and Palestine, in these pages appears—deceptively—as all white."
— Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 22 '48 120w

"A master camera, a master pen, and a master-hand at editing and publishing, have gone into the making of this volume of 150 superb photographs of modern Palestine. . . This book will grace any library, and, what is even more important, it has a huge educational task to perform in the libraries of our schools, churches, and homes throughout the land. It pleads the cause of 'Israel' with mighty fervor and with undeniable persuasion." K. M. Chworosky
+ Churchman 162:16 S 1 '48 150w

"Mr. van Paassen, in his 10,000 word introduction, attacks the problem without a hint of neutrality. He presents an interesting and capable, if somewhat emotional, summation of the Jewish political case. From this standpoint, his outline of the history of Zionism, his argument for the need of a Jewish state and his description of what Jews found in the Holy Land and what they have made of it are probably as telling a short account as has been written." Fitzhugh Turner
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 8 '48 380w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner
N Y Times p5 Ag 1 '48 600w

New Yorker 24:82 S 4 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

SOONG, MAYING HSI (MRS T. L. SOONG). Art of Chinese paper folding for young and old; il. by [the author]. 132p $2.50 Harcourt
793 Paper work
48-6198

Book on how to make things by folding one sheet of paper in various ways. The objects, arranged from the simplest to the elaborate, are under the following headings: Party novelties; Miniatures; Handy to know; Fun to know.

Booklist 44:303 My 1 '48

"Madame Soong explains this Chinese children's art in such clear words and diagrams that anyone can learn it easily. It's fine entertainment for a child alone, for a group, for a family kept indoors by rain." Martha King
+ Chicago Sun Je 26 '48 60w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 26 '48 150w

"Her knowledge of the subject seems to be complete and she gives a diagram, carefully drawn, with plain directions on every page." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:198 My '48 80w

"A good sick-a-bed book for convalescents, for invalids; a rainy-day book; a book that mothers might find useful when invention wears thin."
+ Kirkus 16:171 Ap 1 '48 140w

"Instructions and diagrams clear and easy to follow. Recommended for ages 6-9." Judith Stevenson
+ Library J 73:658 Ap 15 '48 60w

Reviewed by V. H. Mathews
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 1 '48 140w

"Although the diagrams are too difficult for young readers to work out independently, they offer adults and children a source of mutual entertainment and an opportunity of increasing manual skill. Parents and teachers will welcome this book in their work with children of 7 to 10 years in homes, hospitals and schools." H. K. Lippmann

N Y Times p30 Ap 25 '48 180w

"This is a very old art in China. The Western world would gain if it devoted time to it." M. G. Davis

+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Je 12 '48 90w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 11 '48 130w

Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

SORENSON, HERBERT, and MALM, MARGUERITE. Psychology for living. 637p il $3 McGraw

150 Psychology 48-6754

A text for high school students designed to help them in present-day living, and to become well-adjusted adults. Copiously illustrated. Glossary. Bibliography. List of visual aids. Index.

Booklist 44:357 Je 15 '48

School & Society 67:327 Ap 24 '48 20w

"The book is addressed to students and unquestionably will appeal to them. Problems, definitely theirs, are discussed in a direct personal fashion so that the atmosphere is warm and friendly. Illustrations, graphic and textual, are numerous, timely and appropriate to the age-group concerned." Jane McCleary

+ Social Studies 40:43 Ja '49 600w

SOROKIN, PITIRIM ALEKSANDROVICH. Reconstruction of humanity. 247p $3 Beacon press

301 Sociology. Culture. Personality 48-6371

"The Reconstruction of Humanity is the product of a research project being carried out by Professor Pitirim Sorokin and other scholars at Harvard, with the assistance of the Lilly Foundation. This book outlines what must be changed in social institutions, in culture-systems, and in personality—so that new catastrophes can be avoided, and a creative and peaceful world be built." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by E. K. Francis
Am J Soc 54:271 N '48 800w

Reviewed by H. E. Barnes
Am Soc R 13:492 Ag '48 950w

Reviewed by Robert Rockafellow
Ann Am Acad 259:165 S '48 380w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 65:654 Je 30 '48 1700w

"A fundamentally correct thesis is presented in a provocative manner; the tone is often unpleasantly apodictic, and there is hardly a chapter that is not marred by the author's exaggerated subjectivism and a liberal number of paralogisms. Yet these objections would only be relevant if 'Reconstruction of Humanity' were the result of exact sociological research. But the book is something different. It is a religious treatise stimulated by sociological research and, as manifestation of personal religious experience, it stands outside the sphere of rational examination." Ernest Pisko

— Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 29 '48 750w

"The pattern of a 'New Society' wherein righteousness dwells and justice and peace are at home, is in this volume set forth with courage, wisdom, and high consecration to man's finest ideals." K. M. Chworowsky

+ Churchman 162:17 S 15 '48 300w

"Many a page is so self-confident that the perverse reader will surmise that like his predecessor, Irving Babbitt, Sorokin may have succumbed unduly to the charms of his synthesis of all wisdom. But for all that the book is unusually able and challenging, and makes two points extremely well. The first is that every attempt by man to find formulas that will solve his problems must inevitably fail. . . The second point is that man can emancipate himself from evil only through altruism." G. N. Shuster

Commonweal 48:334 Jl 16 '48 500w

Reviewed by J. S. Bixler
Crozer Q 25:280 Jl '48 500w

"Professor Sorokin does us no service by pouring scorn on the beginnings of international institutions in which alone lies our immediate hope. He supports his contentions by the dubious use of dubious statistics." R. M. MacIver

— N Y Times p21 Ap 18 '48 950w

Reviewed by Rushton Coulborn
Sat R of Lit 31:22 My 22 '48 750w

School & Society 67:360 My 8 '48 20w

Reviewed by H. E. Moore
Social Forces 27:92 O '48 1350w

SOULE, GEORGE HENRY. Introduction to economic sciences. 154p $2.50 Viking

330 Economics 48-10337

"An economist and one time editor of the New Republic introduces the reader to economics, not as the theory and precepts of the big names in the field, but as a developing science capable of measuring forces in our actual national economy. First the author reviews the fallacies to be found in theoretical economics,—concealed premises, omitted factors, statistics, assumptions about human behavior—and goes on to study our national income, its makeup and how figures are arrived at, the history of development, our national production, our National Economic Budget, expansion and contraction of the money supply, the relation between our national economy and the world's. He points out the weaknesses of the Keynesian school and classic economists." (Kirkus) Selected references.

Booklist 45:151 Ja 1 '49

"A brief introduction to the science of economics, which bypasses the lingo of the specialist, and makes lucid, informative reading for the layman."

+ Kirkus 16:425 Ag 15 '48 150w

"'Introduction to Economic Science' might be hard going in spots for the absolute beginner, but anyone who knows just a little about economics can learn a lot more by reading it, and he will be learning about the world we live in, instead of a world projected from an ivory tower." C. E. Noyes

+ — Nation 167:609 N 27 '48 470w

"Soule seems blithely unconcerned with the fact that the policies he advocates would drive business to cover and cut private investment to the bone, which would depress the economy indefinitely." H. A. Wolff

New Repub 120:22 Ja 24 '49 900w

"Mr. Soule is quite candid with his readers. We know more. But the 'great unanswered question' is whether 'those who must make decisions pay sufficient attention to organized facts. Will they accept as criteria for action the standards which the new knowledge has begun to provide? We do not know.' . . Mr. Soule has written an admirable 'Introduction' to a new 'Economic Science,' when, as, and if issued; but he does not seem to accept Keynes as the ultimate revelation." R. B. Warren

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 D 5 '48 900w

"This is the book you should read if you want to understand such terms as 'the national income,' 'the national economic budget,' and others of the same general type increasingly bandied about. . . Even if his book fails to budge you an inch from the orthodoxy you learned at your professor's knee a quarter century or more ago, you will certainly derive from it a clearer conception of economic affairs. Mr. Soule strengthens his case by not being dogmatic—except, possibly, when he uses the word 'science' in his title." C. H. Grattan

+ N Y Times p10 N 28 '48 700w

SOULE, GEORGE HENRY. Prosperity decade, from war to depression, 1917-1929 (Economic history of the U.S, v8) 365p il $5.50; text ed $4 Rinehart

330.973 U.S.—Economic conditions 47-5631

Volume eight of the nine volume Economic History of the United States. It deals with the period from America's entry into World war I to the depression of 1929. Bibliography. Index.

SOULE, G. H.—Continued

Reviewed by E. C. Kirkland
Am Hist R 53:855 Jl '48 360w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
Ann Am Acad 256:184 Mr '48 550w

Booklist 44:196 F 1 '48

"Written in the light of the individual author's opinion, but, regardless, offers considerable analysis."
+ Current Hist 14:38 Ja '48 70w

"A prodigious collection of facts has been organized into a smooth-running narrative, and it would be difficult to cite any major omissions. The story is unobtrusively but thoroughly documented, and there is an excellent bibliography." C. E. Noyes
+ Nation 166:103 Ja 24 '48 500w

Reviewed by C. H. Grattan
N Y Times p6 D 14 '47 600w

School & Society 66:520 D 27 '47 10w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen
Survey G 36:699 D '47 700w

"Mr Soule succeeds, in a masterly piece of exposition, in presenting a detailed phenomenology of the economic life of the era, but he can offer no final explanation for the dramatic collapse of 1929."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:184 Je '48 370w

SOUTHWICK, LAWRENCE. Dwarf fruit trees; ed. by Ed Robinson. 126p il $2.50 Macmillan
634 Fruit culture Agr48-23

Author, an expert in this field, gives general background information and definite instruction for those who wish to grow good fruit in a small space. Partial contents: What dwarf trees are; Planning a dwarf orchard; Special directions for planting dwarfs; Pruning the dwarf orchard; Thin for bigger fruit; Soil management and fertilization; A simplified program for pest control; Espaliers, a fascinating hobby; Growing dwarf trees for sale. Index.

Booklist 44:264 Ap 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '48

"A useful addition to the garden bookshelf."
+ Kirkus 15:641 N 15 '47 150w

"Valuable for everyone who wants to get to the bottom of an intriguing subject." R. S. Lemmon
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 My 16 '48 160w

Wis Lib Bul 44:102 My '48

SOVIET ballet, by Juri Slonimsky, and others. 285p il $4.75 Philosophical lib.
792.8 Ballet A48-6407

Anthology of articles on the ballet in Russia since the revolution. Many of the chapters are biographical sketches of principal performers. It also takes up traditions, art, music and training. Index.

Booklist 44:265 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by Margaret Lloyd
Christian Science Monitor p14 D 2 '48 110w

"Rather prejudiced in the tone but is essential for ballet and theatre collections. Recommended." George Freedley
+ — Library J 73:398 Mr 1 '48 30w

"Largely unsuccessful. The biographies are hardly more than vignettes, in the style of journalistic press releases, and they add very little to our knowledge of the dancers. Certain of the ballerinas—particularly Ulanova, Lepeshinskaya, and Semenova—are already familiar names to American ballet enthusiasts from articles in American and European dance periodicals; it would therefore have been most interesting to read about their performances and to learn something of their individual styles, so as to be able to compare them with the dancers currently appearing in America. . . The photographs are not good reproductions, but they do manage to communicate some of the flavor of the Soviet Ballet." Paul Magriel
— + Music Lib Assn Notes 5:247 Mr '48 320w

"A fascinating book for the lover of ballet." K. J. M.
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:38 F '48

SPAETH, SIGMUND GOTTFRIED. History of popular music in America. 729p $5 Random house
784 Music, Popular. Songs. Music—U.S. 48-8954

"The first popular tune Mr. Spaeth discusses is 'Yankee Doodle' and the last stemmed from 1947. He examines the origins of the songs—words and music, tells something about the composers and lyricists and discusses the musical structure of the pieces." (N Y Times) The appendix contains a list of additional popular music from colonial times to the present, a bibliography and an index.

Booklist 45:84 N 1 '48

"Should be an important reference volume for any question on this subject."
+ Kirkus 16:424 Ag 15 '48 150w

"Despite thousands of names [Spaeth] achieves readable narrative and lively lives, faltering only after 1930. Treats evolution of the revue and musical, touches other Americana. Spaeth profusely defends ASCAP, discounts modern serious music, views jazz as 'distortion' (otherwise summarizes its history well), enjoys similarities in tunes, and expends some effort driving home the obvious. But he writes a useful overall survey, indexed to give date, composer, and lyricist of songs and shows." George Hanson
+ — Library J 73:1277 S 15 '48 140w

— Music Lib Assn Notes 6:154 D '48 1950w

"As for the full intention of the work, which is fundamentally a scholar's achievement, it should be said that Mr. Spaeth, for all his diverting side-lights, sticks to the task he has set himself. Much of our popular music has been banal, cheap, commonplace, even absurd. But whatever it is, it has always mirrored its time and Mr. Spaeth shows you exactly how." J. H. Jackson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 N 28 '48 1400w

"Since [Mr Spaeth] confines himself largely to songs with words, paying little attention to a vast area of popular music that has had expression solely via instruments, his history is not really all inclusive. But it is a comprehensive source book none the less." Howard Taubman
N Y Times p30 O 31 '48 150w

New Yorker 24:114 D 18 '48 180w

"Mr. Spaeth comments chattily, often very informatively indeed. His text is full of unexpected nuggets, such as his pinning down the year (1894) when the custom started of illustrating songs with slides thrown on a screen. . . He has half a dozen pages on Stephen Foster, discusses jazz intelligently though briefly, does nicely with the nonsense songs . . . and pays proper complimentary attention to the great line of composers of the last quarter-century. . . Only by looking [the book] over can you realize what an extraordinary job Mr. Spaeth has done. A good musician himself, he never tilts his nose at the popular composers, however banal, cheap, absurd or commonplace some of their songs have been." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 15 '48 700w

Reviewed by Roland Gelatt
Sat R of Lit 32:62 Ja 29 '49 90w

SPALDING, HELEN. White witnesses. 271p $3 Scribner
48-8439

Character study of Lewis Quinton, an English sculptor, in present-day London. Because his beautiful wife whom he had not loved had drowned herself, Lewis finds himself haunted by dreams of her many years after the event. He finds his salvation at last in a new piece of sculpture, and in helping two bewildered and unhappy young people, one of them his own daughter.

Booklist 45:52 O 1 '48

"An indirectly, obliquely holding story of the distortions of human relationships, always restrained in its narration."
+ Kirkus 16:321 Jl 1 '48 150w

"Intelligent novel, well done. Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset
Manchester Guardian p3 D 4 '48 40w

"A sincere and intelligent venture into symbolism, and one must admire Helen Spalding's achievement. She has done everything a writer could to give validity to the invented visions of a fictional character. . . The difficult theme has been perceptively, almost sculpturally, carried through."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 S 19 '48 110w

"The author handles difficult material skillfully and makes of it a novel of unusual merit." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p47 N 14 '48 350w

Reviewed by Olivia Manning
Spec 181:854 D 24 '48 100w

SPANGENBERG, KARL RALPH. Vacuum tubes. 860p il $7.50 McGraw
621.384132 Vacuum tubes 48-1249

"This volume, primarily a text for graduate electrical engineering students, is also a useful reference work for electronic engineers engaged in the design of vacuum tubes, and for radio technicians requiring a detailed knowledge of the characteristics of vacuum tubes. It discusses in terms of electron behavior the basic principles and theories underlying tube operation, and shows how these principles are applied in the design and construction of the wide variety of tubes now in general use. Except in the discussions of ultra-high-frequency tubes, no attempt is made to describe tube application and circuits. Pertinent literature is cited in footnotes. The book is based on courses in vacuum tube design given by the author at Stanford University." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Booklist 44:347 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:30 Ja '48

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:237 Je '48 280w

SPARKS, DOROTHY ELIZABETH. Strong is the current; history of the Illinois congress of parents and teachers, 1900-1947. 284p il $1.50 Ill. congress of parents & teachers, 6 N. Michigan av, Chicago 2
371.103 Illinois congress of parents and teachers. Parents' and teachers' associations 48-3022

The history of the development of the Illinois Congress of parents and teachers from its beginnings in 1900, as a branch of the National congress of mothers, to the year 1947. List of board members. Index.

"An admirable job. . . While letting the historical facts speak pretty much for themselves, [the author] succeeds in giving the reader a feeling of the idealism which has permeated the organization since its inception."
+ Chicago Sun p8X My 30 '48 130w

School & Society 67:327 Ap 24 '48 10w

"Dorothy Sparks' skilful treatment of the historical materials available to her has resulted in a volume which is a major contribution to the field of home-school-community co-operation." R. H. Anderson
+ School R 56:619 D '48 1100w

SPENCER, BERNARD. Aegean islands, and other poems. 60p $2.50 Doubleday
821 48-5274

The poet is an Englishman who was in His Britannic Majesty's service in Italy, Greece, and Egypt during the war. Many of his poems reflect the traditions of the Greek people. A group of poems with an English background is also included.

"It is not so much that these poems say anything new. Their protest against the common enemies, the waste and destruction of war, the worship of money, enslaving industrialism, is normal in poetry. But they have distinction. The poet observes with a fresh vision and records his observations in diction which is, though now and then a little clumsy, unhackneyed and inspired." Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 3 '48 420w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 48:430 Ag 13 '48 390w

"These are the notations of a fine, austerely deep nature; they are pleasing and worth while, if not deeply stirring. They are weakest, perhaps, in technical mastery. If they do not invite a wide audience, which seems unlikely, it is perhaps because simple, fine things get so little chance in the din of the modern world."
+ — Kirkus 16:19 Ja 1 '48 210w

Reviewed by Hugo Manning
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 15 '47 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 D 26 '48 800w

"A sense of history, a clear eye, and a flexible technical equipment put Spencer well in the foreground of those English poets who have drawn upon their experience as soldiers in the Mediterranean Theatre during the war."
+ New Yorker 24:100 Mr 6 '48 60w

"As is proper for one who has wandered Aegean shores, there is often a spareness and austerity about his work, recalling classic style. But though he looks for classic serenity, he fails to find it even in its place of origin; his excavations, seeking 'things which have . . . less of the earth's weight,' turn up only 'Stubble of conquests.' " G. P. Meyer
Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 21 '48 500w

SPENCER, CORNELIA, pseud. See Yaukey, G. S.

SPENCER, ELIZABETH. Fire in the morning. 275p $3 Dodd
48-8392

A novel describing the antagonism between two families of a Mississippi town. "The predatory Gerrards founded a family on fraud and perjury. The wronged submit to save exposing a woman to public shame. But Dan Armstrong's son early tangles with the Gerrard heir, starting a chain of hate that unlooses the past and leads to tragic developments." (Library J)

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48

"This is an interesting novel in a certain narrowly defined way, and it stirs speculations on the nature of talent. It is a first novel, and many warm and even fulsome things are being said about the power and vigor of the writing. Much of this praise is deserved." Henrietta Buckmaster
Christian Science Monitor p20 O 28 '48 700w

"Subtle, three-dimensional character drawing and narrative, from which the district emerges with clarity. A promising first novel. Recommended." J. E. Cross
+ Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 70w

"As Miss Welty observes on the jacket, Miss Spencer seems completely at home in the world of her novel. But, at this point in her writing, she is heavily influenced by Carson McCullers, by Eudora Welty, perhaps by

SPENCER, ELIZABETH—Continued
Truman Capote. Southern Gothic may, I suspect, be as bad an influence for young writers as Kafka is or as Hemingway used to be. The book, however, is entertaining, sensitive, and skilful; and if one were ignorant of the younger Southern school, it would appear startlingly original." Ernest Jones
+ — Nation 167:353 S 25 '48 180w

"Moving now with the speed and hoof-clomping of an early Western, violence in the saddle, now as still and deep as the willowed swimming pool, 'Fire in the Morning' is refreshingly pre-Freudian in treatment though not in intuitive insight. The shifting point of view, the biographical cutbacks and the resolution of each character in the final chapters are so charmingly reminiscent of the glass-front bookcase with its nineteenth century classics that one seems to catch a reflection of the child, Elizabeth Spencer, curled up in a chair with a big red volume. But for discrimination in choice of material, economy in its use, poetic feeling and keen, unpredictable flashes of humor Miss Spencer is indebted to no predecessor in her mastery of the novel's technique." W. T. Hedden
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 S 5 '48 800w

"A fine picture—evenly balanced, perceptive and barely tinged with romanticism—of life in the late Eighteen Hundreds. . . The book is not, however, without weaknesses—many of them embodied in those things most admirable about it. Principally, the contemporary story of Kinloch. Ruth and the exposure of the Gerrards does not coalesce well enough with past history in the first half of the book." Hubert Creekmore
+ — N Y Times p14 S 12 '48 550w

"Miss Spencer's men and women speak and act with high intelligence, and their story, right up to its explosive dénouement, is convincing. The author, when she is not self-consciously taking time off to turn out an ornate paragraph, writes very well."
+ New Yorker 24:110 O 30 '48 70w

"If the author's pattern of Southern violence had been less stylized, and the denouement less fortunate for the virtuous and less destructive for the corrupt, the cause of realism would have been better served. As it stands, Miss Spencer's novel is an exciting story, well told. It is her manner of writing it that reveals her true talent. If her next novel is as admirable in delineation of character and in dialogue, she can afford to drop the complications of an involved and conventional plot." Harrison Smith
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:30 N 6 '48 400w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 130w
Time 52:100 S 27 '48 350w

SPENCER, THEODORE. Poems, 1940-47. 117p $2.75 Harvard univ. press
811 48-5098

"This collection includes many of the poems first published in The Paradox of the Circle and An Act of Life, together with the poet's more recent work. Some of it is written in the rhythms of natural speech, dramatic pieces with philosophic overtones. The best are the lyrics suggesting rondeaux and rondels where patterns, refrains and cumulative meanings are given unique expression." Library J

Reviewed by Peter Viereck
Atlantic 182:95 N '48 460w

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun p36 F 16 '48 80w

"One of the best books of recent poetry." Gerald McDonald
+ Library J 73:475 Mr 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Rosenthal
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Jl 4 '48 280w

"Of the longer poems in the book, I find much to praise in 'The Alumni,' especially the dramatic vignettes, but Mr. Spender is not nearly so successful with extended forms and unmetrical verse as he is in his lyrics. It is for these that we are most richly in his debt, both the general man and the personal man." Dudley Fitts
+ — N Y Times p16 F 1 '48 750w

Reviewed by William Poster
Poetry 72:273 Ag '48 750w

Reviewed by Robert Hillyer
Sat R of Lit 31:21 Mr 20 '48 600w

"The 'ideas' with which most of these poems are concerned are stated as ideas rather than as dramatic situations; the scholar's eye is on the world, but the poet's eye is only intermittently on the dramatic situation in which the world lives. The technical skill of the poems, however, together with the sense of literary and philosophical tradition which they express, should please many readers who believe that modern poetry is too 'difficult.'"
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:143 Je '48 280w

SPENDER, STEPHEN. Returning to Vienna 1947; nine sketches [poem]. ltd autog ed [19p] $4 Banyan press
821

"The appearance of Stephen Spender's 'Returning to Vienna' gives occasion for a rereading of his 'Vienna,' which appeared in 1934. . . In the new poem, sub-titled 'Nine Sketches,' each poem is short and the whole—a slim sheaf of pages—is only a third as long as the former work. The poems are for the most part subdued in tone, expertly controlled, each a highly fashioned and realized lyric. They tend to a speech of generalization in contrast to the earlier particularizations. They present privacies of reminiscence . . . as against evocations of public agony. Now the responsibility of the poet is principally subjective and long contemplation tries for resolution." N Y Times

"The new work is artistically better than the poem of 1934, due, in one respect, to the detachment which allows integrity of meaning not confounded by a chaotic rush of events. 'Returning to Vienna 1947' speaks in Spender's purest power, which is personal, and in his purest lyrical language. I would not hazard a guess, however, as to the qualitative value thirteen years hence." Richard Eberhart
+ N Y Times p4 F 8 '48 600w
New Yorker 24:127 Mr 13 '48 70w

SPEWACK, SAMUEL. Busy busy people. 280p $3 Houghton
48-9047

The scene is Moscow in war time. A can of peaches stolen from the supply at the U.S. embassy sets off the train of action, involving minor Soviet officials, American newspapermen, army officers, and diplomatic officials. The consequences are near-disastrous, with changes in position for several Americans, and death for one of them.

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48

Reviewed by Melvin Maddocks
Christian Science Monitor p11 D 23 '48 650w
Kirkus 16:489 S 15 '48 170w

"His novel has the brisk pace and neat plot of a competent stage farce; a lively satire on certain Russian and American types, it also makes some sharp observations on the international crisis." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:1512 O 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 167:556 N 13 '48 150w

"While the The Busy Busy People is not an integrated or completely successful novel, it has the unusual virtue in any sort of book about Russia of not only putting honest and searching questions but of putting them sympathetically and for the purpose of finding out the truth, not for the malicious joy of denouncing an enemy social system. The tone may be scornful and frivolous and the final result superficial, but the issues raised are serious and only too sadly to the point." Richard Watts, jr.
New Repub 119:25 N 22 '48 800w

"On the whole [the book] is a pretty uneven performance—too much melodrama and didactics haphazardly injected into a framework of stolen peaches and farce." J. D. Ross
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 31 '48 550w

"It is a light, bright satire which uses the comic spirit to illuminate a situation made dark by stupid egotism, childish idealism, casual greed and bureaucratic ineptness. . . It is all so human that it seems more like reporting than fiction, and this is probably what it is." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Times p33 N 7 '48 650w

"'The Busy Busy People' is a bitter, bitter book. It is neither pro- nor anti-Russian. It is just anti-people. Aside from Bunin there is not one endearing character. Mr. Spewack presents one or two wooden people and a whole pail-full of slugs. But in spite of that, he shows very clearly indeed what's going on in a small, busy section of the vast USSR." Oriana Atkinson
Sat R of Lit 31:19 N 6 '48 700w

SPILLER, ROBERT ERNEST, and others, eds. Literary history of the United States. 3v v 1 and v2, 1422p; v3 (bibliography) 817p $20 Macmillan

810.9 American literature—History and criticism 48-11370

"The combined efforts of fifty-odd writers and critics, including all but one of the editors. The work, in three volumes (the last one is a bibliography), considers the development of American literature from both the critical and the historical vantage point, and is written to read like a prolonged and freely flowing narrative. Every conceivable form that literature with a small 'l' can take—pamphleteering, journalism, oratory, and folk humor, as well as poetry and fiction—is correlated with the cultural and political evolution of the American people." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 183:88 Ja '49 30w

Booklist 45:175 Ja 15 '49

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p9X N 28 '48 500w

"Millions of Americans will be grateful for those who made this historical and critical record possible. . . The third volume, given up to biography, is a mine of information in the field of our American culture." James van Zandt
+ Churchman 163:16 Ja 15 '49 210w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 16:31 Ja '49 650w

Kirkus 16:430 Ag 15 '48 260w

"The set offers an authoritative summary of American literary history, and a series of fresh evaluations of our major and minor writers, in a unified and readable narrative. Designed to provide for the contemporary audience a work equivalent to the Cambridge History of American Literature, this would seem to be equally indispensable in all general libraries." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:1276 S 15 '48 200w

"By banishing by-lines without going in for sufficiently sharp and unsparing editing, the designers of the Literary History have sacrificed what advantages there may be to a frank miscellany without achieving the impact of a homogeneous work. . . The 'Literary History of the United States' has, of course, replaced the laissez faire collaboration of the Cambridge History, with its streamlined apparatus of principles, outlines, and conferences. It corrects the errors of the latter in many points; and it registers the devaluation that has overcome such once-honored names as Lowell, Holmes, and Longfellow." Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.
— + Nation 168:103 Ja 22 '49 1950w

"It is too soon to attempt a definitive evaluation of a work of this scope. . . It is safe to say that the coverage of the field has been expert; up to the very recent past no important phase of American writing has been neglected. . . The unimpeachable merits of the book are already evident: in particular the background chapters on our colonial literature and the writers on the early Republic." George Mayberry
+ New Repub 119:25 D 27 '48 800w

"Many of the chapters devoted to individual writers will prove greatly rewarding to the general reader. . . Although the general level of this history is high, it is not entirely lacking in defects. For example, a chapter on 'The Emergence of the Modern Drama' by Sculley Bradley contains about as much academic nonsense as could conceivably be condensed into so short a space. . . The third volume of the history is given over to a splendid bibliography by Thomas H. Johnson, in many respects one of its most valuable features. In the opinion of the reviewer, its value would have been notably increased had Mr. Johnson, in his bibliographies of individual authors, named the publishers as well as indicated the year and place of publication of their first editions." Lloyd Morris
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 N 28 '48 1600w

"The work accomplishes what the 'Cambridge History' foreshadowed, and whatever its virtues or defects, it is a basic document for our age. It is the consolidation of a discipline that rapidly—one might even say too rapidly—arrived at maturity. This achievement has become possible not only because the editors have rigorously adhered to a communal sense of proportion, but because the scholarship and criticism of the last generation created that sense. Despite large differences, a broad agreement upon the main lines of development and the relative importance of writers has been established. These volumes owe their perfection of scheme to more than the fifty-five contributors. . . Volume III is the most exciting portion of the enterprise. This presents the bibliography not as a brute list but as a treatise with the groupings of titles formed into chapters and paragraphs." Perry Miller
+ N Y Times p4 D 5 '48 1700w

"The entire roster of those responsible for the work deserves commendation."
+ New Yorker 24:181 D 4 '48 160w

Reviewed by George Snell
San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ja 9 '49 750w

"Nothing so good in the general presentation of American literary history has yet appeared. Inclusive in its scope, and judicious in its acumen, the history is a landmark and itself becomes a part of our growing tradition and an influence for the future. We have waited a long time for such a book; now that it has come, there can be nothing but gratification, congratulation, and a sense of indebtedness to the group who are responsible for this highly significant work of criticism and scholarship." N. H. Pearson
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 N 27 '48 1800w

School & Society 68:359 N 20 '48 50w

Springf'd Republican p12C D 5 '48 90w

"As a source book, it is a success. . . Only occasionally slipping into literary jargon, the authors have written short essays—a few brilliant, the rest solidly competent—that are good introductions for the ordinary reader, and quick once-overs for lazy students."
+ Time 52:118 D 13 '48 280w

SPOELSTRA, CORNELIUS (A. DEN DOOLAARD, pseud). Roll Back the sea; tr. from the Dutch by Barrows Mussey; il. by Kees Bantzinger. 437p $2.95 Simon & Schuster 48-3298

"In the autumn of 1944, the British bombed the dikes of Walcheren Island, in Holland, thereby washing the mouth of the Scheldt clean of Germans and hastening the Allied capture of Antwerp. This blow at the enemy also had the effect of bringing the civil population of Walcheren into direct contact with the North Sea, whose cold waters poured through the breached dikes into their parlors. [The author] who was posted to Walcheren by the Dutch government-in-exile shortly after the bombing, stayed there for fifteen months, maintaining liaison between the Royal Engineers and the Dutch government while the dikes were being repaired. This is [his novelized] account of those fifteen months, with special emphasis on the resourcefulness, brawn, and beauty of character that the men of Walcheren brought to the job of rebuilding the dikes." New Yorker

SPOELSTRA, CORNELIUS—Continued

Reviewed by Feike Feikema
Chicago Sun p50 Ag 11 '48 500w
Christian Science Monitor p11 S 30 '48 420w
Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48
+ Eng N 141:111 N 11 '48 300w

"Not always easy reading, and perhaps primarily a book for men. But somehow it holds as you read, and stays with you. Don't overlook it."
+ Kirkus 16:265 Je 1 '48 250w

"Though the book has a distinct Dutch flavor, its appeal is universal. Dutch ingenuity here comes to full bloom and the struggle of man against the sea attains vast proportions and a dogged nobility. Roll Back the Sea also provides a welcome change in a world where the story of man pitted against man is the universal theme, and the struggle of man against the elements has become of secondary importance. It is a book of peacetime achievement in a war-weary world." A. V. A. Van Duym
+ New Repub 119:23 S 20 '48 800w

"There is not a dull page. On the contrary, the reader finds himself following the successive stages of the operation with genuine excitement. The suspense he feels is a tribute to the author's brilliant style and exposition. Walcheren was reclaimed—that you know before you read the book; but you follow every mishap, every failure, every engineering gamble, as though the outcome were not known." J. D. Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ag 15 '48 1300w

"If a reader of 'Roll Back the Sea' cannot himself build a dike across a flooded area when he has finished the book, he will certainly be informed as to how the Royal Waterstaat got it done. . . Indeed, in the end, some readers may feel that they know too well how each gap in the dikes of Walcheren was sealed; for there are four large gaps as the book opens and the author is so thorough in his telling and retelling of the details of the filling of each, that the heroic and dramatic qualities of the fight are buried beneath the endless blowing of sand, the dropping of the buckets of clay, and the angry rushing of the waters. Had he intensified the human narrative (which is but a quaint parallel to the factual accounts of the closing of the four gaps), he might have given us a novel comparable to 'Germinal.'" Lawrence Lee
+ — N Y Times p13 Ag 22 '48 550w

"It isn't much as a novel, but it's an interesting exposition of the heady pleasures of hydraulic engineering."
New Yorker 24:74 Ag 21 '48 190w

"The author, a Hollander who writes under the pen-name of A. Den Doolaard, manages to build a novel around a true story and yet keep it moving as a novel should move. The drama involved is tremendous, involving the life of a whole nation. And Den Doolaard makes the most of it in this long, yet always powerful tale." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ag 12 '48 650w

"There is a great warmth and surge to this book, and the people in it rise up and shake off the pages in the way that they shake the salt water from themselves: they are brave, very Dutch, and very human. . . A final, admiring bow to the publishers of this good book, who have bound it handsomely, priced it mercifully, arranged a sensitive translation by Mr. Barrows Mussey, and frequently lighted its pages with beautiful line-drawings by Kees Bantzinger." John Woodburn
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ag 14 '48 1050w

"Roll Back the Sea never quite becomes either a dramatic novel or an authoritative document, though it has some of the quality of both. The characterizations of the engineers and contractors and dike workers are not in themselves of sufficient interest to carry the story, and the de-personalized project, impressive as an example of courage and tenacity, turned out in detail to be just hard work. But some of the processes of the water workers . . . make absorbing reading. And some of the glimpses of daily life in the occupation and after the liberation have a matter-of-fact, unexciting acceptance of hazard and horror that evokes war more vividly than more pretentious efforts."
+ — Time 52:80 Ag 23 '48 500w

SPRING, HARRY MORTIMER. Pressure vessels for industry; construction, design, inspection, and safety practices with the important pressure vessels of many industries. 259p $3.50 McGraw

621.184 Pressure vessels 47-31358

"First book specializing in pressure vessels. . . Covers pressure, vessel design, construction, operation, maintenance, causes of defects and their repairs. Chapters include fabrication of pressure vessels and what determines the maximum working pressure, appliances for safety and economy of operation. Vessels developed during war years for processing synthetic rubber are described." (Library J) Index.

"A handy little reference book intended 'to aid the engineer or master mechanic as well as the student, to tie in parallel problems in boilers and pressure vessels.' . . While this does not represent all that is known or written on this subject (and the many corollary aspects of the several industries) it does assemble in a useful form most of the material that about 95 percent of the practicing engineers will need to know about pressure vessels. Mechanically and pictorially the book is excellent (exactly one photograph or drawing per page)." D. F. Othmer
+ Chem Eng 55:320 My '48 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:643 Ap 15 '47 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:80 O '47

SPURR, STEPHEN HOPKINS. Aerial photographs in forestry. 340p il $6 Ronald

634.928 Forests and forestry. Photography, Aerial 48-1573

"Aerial Photographs in Forestry is an effort to bring together in one place existing information concerning the use of photographs in forest mapping, inventory, and other phases of forest management. The book is written with the hope that it will find use both as a text and as a manual. It is, in addition, a report on research. . . The present volume is, in part, the outgrowth of a series of short courses in the subject given at the Harvard Forest in 1945 and 1946." (Pref) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"This book is most timely and meets a definite need in technical forestry literature."
+ Geog R 38:517 Jl '48 850w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:20 Ja '48

STAFFORD, GEORGE THOMAS. Exercise during convalescence; a manual of adapted exercises; with 36 il; drawings by William S. Pusey. 281p $4 Barnes, A.S.

613.7 Exercise. Convalescence Med48-1570

"Introductory chapters on theory of physical therapy, as practiced in rehabilitation, postoperative and general convalescence, with exercises adapted to various conditions and diseases." (Library J) Suggested readings at end of many of the chapters. Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

"Extremely valuable. Well illustrated." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 30w

STAFFORD, GEORGE THOMAS. Sports for the handicapped. 2d ed 334p il $5; to schools $3.75 Prentice-Hall

371.73 Physical education and training. Sports. Disabled—Rehabilitation, etc.
47-6122

Second edition of a book designed to solve the problem of the selection of safe sports for handicapped boys and girls. "The present edition contains an elaboration of the principles of recreational therapy that were used successfully in the armed forces' hospitals and that are being used today in the Veteran's Administration and civilian hospitals. Chapters dealing with the more common types of handicaps have been revised to bring the reader up to date on the newer principles of recreational therapy." (Pref) Bibliographies. Index.

"This second edition presents excellent material for use with the personality or psychologically handicapped, the amputee, the deaf, the paralyzed, those with faulty body mechanics, malnutrition, circulatory misbalances, and spinal deviations. There are useful suggestions throughout for physicians and physical educationists. It should be read, and used widely." Delbert Oberteuffer

+ Am J Pub Health 38:731 My '48 270w

Booklist 44:154 D 15 '47

STAFFORD, HARRY EARL. Troubles of electrical equipment; their symptoms, causes, and remedy. rev 3d ed 455p il $4.50 McGraw

621.313 Electric engineering. Electric motors—Repairing
48-6

"Based on practical experience of author's 40 years as an erecting and maintenance engineer. A standard maintenance handbook on electrical machinery covering the faults of technical equipment and from the symptoms tells how to determine the cause and remedy the fault. Two new chapters are on relays and storage battery maintenance. Chapters on transformers and voltage and current regulations enlarged." (Library J) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1937.

Booklist 44:285 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:73 O '47

STALEY, HOWARD RAYMOND. Semi-fireproof construction. (Technical series on building construction) 327p il $6 Van Nostrand

693.8 Fireproof construction 48-8956

"Third in a technical series on building construction ed. by Walter C. Voss. Construction details and methods of erection of wood or frame buildings. Book includes foundations, interior and special masonry work, framing, roofs and industrial buildings. Treatment of lifting, tackle and capacities is given in chapter on rigging and derricks." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:189 F 1 '49

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1599 N 1 '48 70w

"The language is quite technical and the many formula, tables and diagrams are addressed to the architect and expert workman rather than the amateur."

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 180w

STANDISH, ROBERT, pseud. See Gerahty, D. G.

STANFORD short stories, nineteen forty-eight [by] Maxwell Arnold [and others; ed. by Wallace Stegner] 154p $3 Stanford univ. press

Short stories—Collections (47-5367)

Fourteen short stories written during the last academic year by students of Wallace Stegner at Stanford University. Contents: Never hit a cripple, by Maxwell Arnold; A problem in creation, by R. K. Arnold; Two cages, by Eugene Burdick; End of May, by Jean Byers; New man, by Carl Heintze; Down the road a piece, by Boris Ilyin; The heirs to the earth, by Oliver Lawrence; The grapefruit thinker, by Maxwell Arnold; A small parcel of fish, by Donald MacInnis; Tomorrow is another day, by Harry Muheim; The white road, by Clay Putnam; Mi pais, by Robert Sellers; The haunted rider, by Christine Tapley; The plexiglas heart, by Allan Wendt.

"If there is anything that is common to all the stories in the collection, it is perhaps a sense of lonely frustration. Yet, the stories reflect this in varying degrees and some manage to be quite gay about it all. 'Stanford Short Stories 1948' is such a uniformly good book that it is hazardous and unfair, to single out a particular group of efforts or a particular writer. However, Maxwell Arnold has contributed two such dissimilar stories, the bitter 'Never Hit a Cripple,' and the hilarious 'The Grapefruit Thinker' that he must be mentioned." W. R. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 23 '48 380w

Reviewed by Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:30 Je 5 '48 400w

Times [London] Lit Sup p425 Jl 31 '48 170w

STAPLES, FRANK A. Water-color painting is fun [il. by the author] prepared for the National recreation association. (Whittlesey house publication) 127p $3.50 McGraw

751.42 Water-color painting 48-9424

"Basic facts about landscape water-color painting. Each step in instruction is explained with more than a hundred black and white illustrations by the author. This is the book to stimulate the amateur artist who wants to make water-color painting his hobby." (Publisher's note) Index.

"Yes, water-color painting 'is fun.' On reading this breezy, practical book you can see that it would be. Frank Staples, by making it seem so fascinating and possible to anyone interested in doing it, will doubtless start many of us on Winston Churchill's delightful and rewarding hobby. And who knows, some of us may find ourselves real painters." Millicent Taylor

+ Christian Science Monitor p7 D 18 '48 480w

"Frank Staples, in his new book, 'Water-Color Painting Is Fun,' reveals himself to be a competent professional practitioner, and his position as head of Arts and Crafts for the National Recreation Association has given him a seasoned approach." W. G. Dooley

+ N Y Times p10 D 19 '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ja 23 '49 60w

STAPP, ARTHUR D. Mountain tamer. 220p $2.50 Morrow
48-6422

Boys' story about Bob Moore who tamed a mountain despite his fear of high places.

Booklist 44:340 Je 1 '48

"It's a long, exhausting, tense, and highly plausible adventure. The errors in judgment are natural, the recoveries intelligent. The boys have nerve and common sense and humor that can't be suppressed when a grim moment is passed." Martha King

+ Chicago Sun My 29 '48 360w

"This is stimulating reading for young people." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:377 S '48 80w

"A thoughtful, sympathetic account of a boy's conquest of a gripping fear."

+ Kirkus 16:89 F 15 '48 90w

"A story about modern high school boys that will be liked by young people. Recommended." M. M. Smith

+ Library J 73:826 My 15 '48 70w

STAPP, A. D.—Continued
"This is a good book for summer, because it concerns itself with one of the more exciting outdoor activities. But there is certainly no reason why it should be limited to that time. Mr. Stapp knows boys, men and mountains well, and the story is going to be good reading for many boys the year around." Irmengarde Eberle
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 18 '48 400w

"Not a Boy Scout narrative, and perhaps not a book for the reader who demands a plotted story, but an original and fascinating tale of high endeavor and great beauty." Howard Pease
N Y Times p27 My 16 '48 160w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 44:107 My '48

STARK, BERNICE SUTHERLAND. Adventure in Peru; il. by Addison Burbank. 191p $2.50 Messner
Children in Peru 48-8476

"One of a series of 'adventures' in different countries, this takes a little Peruvian boy and girl around their country, bringing in the native Indians and a visit to a rubber plantation." Sat R of Lit

"Of tremendous general interest."
+ Kirkus 16:365 Ag 1 '48 160w

"Recommended." Elizabeth Burr
+ Library J 74:67 Ja 1 '49 80w

"One might wish for a little about the Bolivar-San Martin epoch, but that is the only lack. Americans from 10 to 14 will understand and like Peru better for this book." N. B. B.
+ — N Y Times p59 N 14 '48 130w

"Illustrated with excellent black and white drawings."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:53 N 13 '48 40w

STARK, IRWIN. The invisible island. 377p $3 Viking
48-7461

A first novel, based on a short story which appeared originally in the Antioch Review. It is the story of a young New York school teacher who leaves the quiet ways of life in a polite Long Island school, and goes to teach in a Negro school in Harlem. He does it to avoid "guilt of safety" because he was 4-F in a war year, and because of the death of his best friend overseas. His experiences which led up to his decision and his troubles in the Harlem school make up the novel.

"Analytical, presumably self-analytical writing, this has both honesty and vision, but lacks concentrated dramatic action."
+ — Kirkus 16:221 My 1 '48 170w

"Account of his education in civics and sex is reminiscent of other novels with this theme, but the world of the Harlem school is carefully observed and forcefully presented." H. W. Hart
Library J 73:945 Je 15 '48 60w

"This first novel by Irwin Stark, a young New York school teacher, is an encouraging performance. Decidedly it has its faults. It is too long . . . because the extent of its preoccupation with the sex life of its hero and its record of his spiritual adventures among the liberal and radical ideas of the thirties has a way of overpowering its central theme of a white teacher in a Harlem school. . . Such faults, however, are only momentarily annoying in comparison to the very solid virtue of a work that is always alive and is most of the time dramatically absorbing. . . The characters in Stark's novel do not always come to life, but even when he fails with them, they are the outlines of real men and women, not figures in papier-maché. . . The novel does not tip the scale to its purpose: it presents the underprivileged Negro with candor." Richard Watts, Jr.
+ — New Repub 119:26 Jl 26 '48 1250w

"Without the smoldering drama of the Blackbelt to bring it to life, Stratton's story would be no more than an earnest variation on a familiar theme. But in the Blackbelt it comes to life with a vengeance. Mr. Stark's arresting fictional treatment of two of America's most urgent responsibilities—education and the 'Negro problem'—makes this a novel well worth any reader's time." Richard Match
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 11 '48 650w

"Mr. Stark has been prodigal with characters, with events and with themes in his writing; and, with however great a respect a reader may appraise the lavishness of the work, the novel at last must be considered as a tree on which too great an abundance of fruit has been permitted to remain. . . The effect is in the end a discouraging one, from which this first novel need not have suffered." L. L.
N Y Times p4 Jl 11 '48 600w

"Familiar elements, restated with such vigor, common sense, and authenticity that they are practically as good as new."
+ New Yorker 24:67 Jl 10 '48 180w

San Francisco Chronicle p22 S 19 '48 600w

" 'The Invisible Island' is a novel written from within, and not around or about, New York. It could not be as vivid as it is, or as sincere in its devotion to the emotions that stir the man who dreams in the midst of confusion of a perfect society, if it were not autobiographical. . . Altogether, 'The Invisible Island' is a grim enough story, with few moments of youthful exuberance or happiness. It is rewarding to read since it reveals the evils gnawing at the heart of city life, but it is utterly serious and furrowed with care from beginning to end. The people in it have a way of making speeches at each other—eloquent speeches they are to be sure, but sadly lacking in humor or the inconsequential charm of quite ordinary human conversation." Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:11 Jl 31 '48 650w

School & Society 67:464 Je 19 '48 30w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p15A Ag 1 '48 360w

STARK, SUTHERLAND. See Stark, B. S.

STARR, JOHN CALVIN. Black Dinah; il. by L. D. Cram. 214p $3.50 Caxton printers
636.1 Horses—Legends and stories
Agr48-401

Story of the author's horse. "Black Dinah's loyalty to her master was amazing proof of her unusual intelligence, intuition, and strength. She found a wife for him; she served him daily in the cultivation of his first citrus grove; together they endured the terrors of a Florida hurricane, and her last heroic act was to save the life of his small daughter." (Publisher's note)

"Skip this. It isn't even a good horse-and-boy-into-man story. Told in the vernacular, and with more than its due of class and race innuendoes."
— Kirkus 16:145 Mr 15 '48 30w

Reviewed by B. W. Bell
Library J 73:660 Ap 15 '48 110w

Wis Lib Bul 44:136 Je '48

STARRETT, VINCENT. Books and bipeds. 268p $3.50 Argus
804 Books and reading 47-11330

A collection of short articles, often only a paragraph or two, reprinted from the author's column "Books Alive" in the Chicago Sunday Tribune. In his foreword the author says: "These are the notes and queries, the miscellaneous browsings, the little journeys and occasional discoveries, in a word, the private satisfactions of an incurable bibliofool. They are addressed to people who like books and talk of books, whether collectors or simple readers, purchasers or patrons of libraries."

"Every page contains pleasant reading, many of the stories cast new lights on well-known characters, and all add happily to our information." E. M. Sowerby
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 10 '48 750w

"As you'd expect, what you get here is a miscellany. But it's a miscellany of the most delightful and useful kind, for each selection is likely to set you haring off in some direction you might not otherwise have thought of taking." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 20 '47 750w

"Column material rarely merits preservation in more substantial form. These salty, urbane, informative, shrewd, pungent, witty, thoroughly readable paragraphs do." J. T. Winterich
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 F 28 '48 380w

STEAD, CHRISTINA. A little tea, a little chat. 394p $3.75 Harcourt
48-8364

"Portrait of a modern libertine, Wall Street variety, living on the shady fringe of the financial world. Robert Grant cannot touch anything without making a profit, but he has curious ways of doing this. He deceives every friend, both honest and dishonest; the dishonest of course deceive him too; and he prefers this, it puts him at ease. Finally, however, his many intrigues and lying promises trip him up." Publisher's note

— Kirkus 16:455 S 1 '48 90w

Reviewed by Ernest Jones
Nation 167:353 S 25 '48 110w

Reviewed by John Farrelly
— New Repub 119:25 S 13 '48 320w

"A meandering story full of fuss and flummery though good intentions, a mawkish novel on a theme that is old hat in popular American fiction. In short, Christina Stead has brewed a bit of stale tea." Bennell Braunstein
— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 O 17 '48 500w

"A long and tedious story dealing with the most unsavory group of characters this reader has ever encountered in fiction. There is a wealth of material in the book, which, owing to the lack of organization and the endless repetition, not only fails to make its point but actually succeeds in alienating the reader." Robert Knittel
— N Y Times p13 Ag 22 '48 400w

"It is hard to believe that Miss Stead couldn't have held this down to a short story."
— New Yorker 24:108 S 18 '48 120w

San Francisco Chronicle p25 O 10 '48 350w

Sat R of Lit 31:32 N 27 '48 90w

"Miss Stead shows all her old talents: her sure knowledge of financial intrigue, her talent for making distasteful characters come distastefully alive, and her needling, admirably unsentimental prose. Yet A Little Tea, a Little Chat is no pleasure to read. . . By ruthlessly eliminating any suggestion of decency or honor in her money-crazed and lecherous characters, Miss Stead deprives herself of all possibilities for moral contrasts and dramatic conflicts; the total absence of white makes it impossible to recognize the black in the dark."
— + Time 52:113 S 13 '48 550w

STEARNS, RAYMOND PHINEAS, ed. Pageant of Europe; sources and selections from the renaissance to the present day. 1032p $6.75; text ed $5 Harcourt

940.2 Europe—History—Sources. History, Modern—Sources
47-31231

Excerpts from original texts of the important historical documents from the renaissance to the present. The arrangement is topical, and chronological within the topics. "This book is designed primarily for college survey courses in modern European history." Index.

Booklist 44:335 Je 1 '48

"Designed to be used in conjunction with standard college history text books, the volume is also useful as a reference book in smaller collections." Donald Wasson
+ Library J 73:713 My 1 '48 140w

School & Society 67:287 Ap 10 '48 20w

"That Professor Stearns has accomplished his intent in providing interpretative and explanatory materials to supplement the chronological text book treatment of the pageant of Europe's history from the Renaissance to the present day, there can be no doubt. . . Perhaps the author is modest in declaring that the book is 'not for the research scholar.' His careful citations of selections and concise prefatory remarks to each section would provide the research student with a reliable digest of expository comments to help him develop an interpretation of that era." A. R. Brinkman
+ Social Studies 39:135 Mr '48 430w

STEBBINS, HENRY M. Small game and varmint rifles. (Sportman's lib) 234p il $3.75 Barnes, A.S.

623.442 Rifles
Agr48-162

"Information on low-power arms, ammunition, and equipment, most of it of U.S. manufacture. Some suggestions on care, repair, readjustments, and use. For young or amateur sportsmen." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 44:198 F 1 '48

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 10w

"Even those who take the most heated issue with Mr Stebbins will find his book a mine of information on rifles and ammunition." Hoffman Birney
N Y Times p29 F 8 '48 220w

STEDMAN, MURRAY SALISBURY. Exporting arms; the federal arms exports administration, 1935-1945. 150p $3 King's crown press

338.476234 Munitions industry and trade. U.S. National munitions control board
48-5036

"A detailed and technical analysis of the Munitions Control Section of the State Department from its inception in 1935 until VJ Day. Drawing upon his experience in the Section and utilizing official documents, the author concentrates upon examining the administrative tendencies within the Section and the entire Department. The critique concludes with a set of principles which the author considers fundamental for efficient administration: harmony of policymaking and operations; stability in organization; and establishment of high authority which will enforce co-ordination. Appendix includes excerpts from pertinent statutes and proclamations." Library J

Reviewed by Henry Reiff
Am Pol Sci R 42:576 Je '48 550w

Foreign Affairs 26:741 Jl '48 20w

"Material should be of interest to specialists in government and administration." A. J. Gaines
+ Library J 73:124 Ja 15 '48 130w

STEEDS, WILLIAM. Involute gears. 193p il $4.50 Longmans

621.83 Gearing

"British book dealing with theoretical and practical aspects of involute tooth fears. Fundamental principles of the action of involute gears are stated with discussions of gear cutting, finishing and inspection methods." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1599 N 1 '48 30w

"The book is intended for such persons as draftsmen and machine designers rather than for practical machinists, hence familiarity with geometry, trigonometry and college algebra is assumed. The exposition is clearly expressed and there is a generous number of illustrations."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:54 Jl '48

STEEL, BYRON. Let's visit Canada. 496p il maps $3.75 McBride

917.1 Canada—Description and travel 48-3335

Practical guide to Canada for vacationists, tourists, and sportsmen. Information given includes history, the sights, trips, shopping places, hotels, restaurants, time to allow for trips, available transportation, etc, for each city listed. Index.

Booklist 44:381 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by P. J. C. Friedlander
N Y Times p18 Ag 1 '48 50w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 25 '48 60w

"It is not quite clear whether Mr. Steel has visited Canada himself but if he has, someone took him for an awful ride on native foods. Food is not one of Canada's great distinctions, but it is not as bad as someone has led Mr. Steel to imagine—and report." Merrill Denison
Sat R of Lit 31:33 Jl 31 '48 140w

"Steel will be found to be at his best as an investigator and compiler of information which is concise and accurate." L. S. M.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Je 27 '48 360w

STEIGER, HENRY WILLIAM. Christian Science and philosophy. 234p $3.75 Philosophical lib.

289.5 Christian Science 48-9109

"The author, who has a Ph.D. in philosophy from Boston University, makes what the publisher calls 'the first attempt to present Christian Science as a philosophical system.' . . The discussion of the relation of Mrs. Eddy's metaphysics to Hegelianism and to personalism is especially to be noted." (Christian Century) Bibliography. Index.

Christian Century 65:1273 N 24 '48 280w

"After reading this remarkable study, no academic critic could ever dismiss Mrs. Eddy as a negligible thinker. He may well be startled by the coherence of her metaphysical system as it emerges from Dr. Steiger's close examination. He can hardly fail to be challenged by the author's conclusion that the great contribution of Christian Science in the history of human culture is its introduction of practical metaphysics—a term sufficiently provocative to pragmatist and metaphysician alike." R. P.
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 S 9 '48 480w

STEIGLEMAN, WALTER A. Horseracing. 279p $3.50 Prentice-Hall

798.4 Horse racing Agr47-392

"A racing history, which covers not only the sport but the rackets behind it. . . Here [are included] the history of horse racing in America, the breeding of horses, the techniques of trainers and jockeys, the personalities (two and four-footed) of the racing world, and the incidents that colored it. This pictures too the organization and running of race tracks, stables, betting methods, bookies and the Jockey Club." (Kirkus) Glossary.

"It is brimming over with incidents, excitements, anecdotes, and complements the more technical books on this sport. Often very funny, and followers of the track will find it highly entertaining reading."
+ Kirkus 15:489 S 1 '47 120w

"An amusing collection of anecdotes. . . The book is often, unfortunately, not accurate."
+ — New Yorker 23:147 D 13 '47 100w

STEIN, AARON MARC (GEORGE A. BAGBY, pseud). The cradle and the grave. 187p $2 Doubleday 48-7576

Detective story.

"Solider on situation and character than most."
+ Kirkus 16:224 My 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 25 '48 90w

"Just another adventure in detecting, with all the usual trimmings." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p18 Jl 11 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p25 S 12 '48 100w

"Good enough."
Sat R of Lit 31:24 Jl 24 '48 40w

STEIN, AARON MARC (GEORGE A. BAGBY, pseud). In cold blood. 187p $2 Doubleday 48-9009

Detective story.

"Habituees only."
— Kirkus 16:456 S 1 '48 80w

"Puzzle is fine, but the trick lies, we think, in the Bagby manner—literate, edged with natural comedy, just right for the brutal material, and none of the synthetic stuff." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 N 7 '48 220w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p54 N 14 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p26 N 21 '48 160w

"Good, actionful, straightforward detective tale."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:36 O 30 '48 30w

STEIN, AARON MARC (GEORGE A. BAGBY, pseud). Starting gun. 185p $2 Doubleday 48-2625

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun My 7 '48 70w

Kirkus 16:130 Mr 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p32 My 23 '48 130w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p21 Je 13 '48 40w

"Background will interest sports-fans; plot capably constructed and harassed double-killer's doom satisfactorily encompassed—but pace breaks no records. Readable."
Sat R of Lit 31:28 My 29 '48 40w

STEIN, GERTRUDE. First reader, and three plays; decorated by Francis Rose. 83p $3 Houghton

818 48-5860

"Gertrude Stein's ultimate book is a thin, pretty little thing with the voice of a child, a child babbling to himself as he moves about in the world of his imagination, erecting kingdoms, endowing toys with life, murdering his puppets and raising them from the dead. Read aloud the twenty lessons in 'First Reader' have the sound of a verbal brook—words tumbling over small ideas, nibbling at the fancies which border their banks like meadow grass. Children are apt to think the book quite sensible. Adults will like its music." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"The volume as a whole has considerable charm and all of the much discussed and celebrated Stein style. Recommended for literature rather than drama or theatre collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:653 Ap 15 '48 60w

"In these last fragments of her work Miss Stein is concerned almost wholly with the joyful sound of Anglo-Saxon words, with the rhythm of thought as it breaks and spills into speech, with the lovely patterns of sound and idea which cluster around the edges of awareness. The joy of the writer is obvious in every matching pair of words, and it is a joy which finds easy access to a reader's mind." Thomas Sugrue
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Mr 7 '48 550w

"These last stories for children are examples of Miss Stein's full-blown later ingenuity. She has long been the mistress of two manners, the one that made sense and the one that didn't. Late in life she learned how to mingle both, to the best advantage. . . Any culture can be thankful for the enrichment brought to it by a sibyl who can turn into a Great-aunt at will. Miss Stein was particularly good for the American culture, as she very well knew." Louise Bogan

+ N Y Times p6 Mr 28 '48 900w

— New Yorker 24:100 Mr 6 '48 70w

San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 23 '48 150w

STEINBECK, JOHN. Russian journal; with pictures by Robert Capa. 220p $3.75 Viking

914.7 Russia—Description and travel. Russia—Social conditions 48-6505

Illustrated account of a brief tour to Moscow, Stalingrad, Kiev, Tiflis, Batum and their surrounding countrysides taken by the author and photographer Robert Capa for the New York Herald Tribune.

Booklist 44:311 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Irving Pflaum
Chicago Sun p48 Ap 26 '48 400w

"Steinbeck has the gift of seeing and sharing what he sees. This is a very simple, straightforward book, without political implications. It is a personal experience book, with some of the hardships and problems but with almost nothing of censorship, except as indirectly applied by difficulties sometimes put in the way."

+ Kirkus 16:132 Mr 1 '48 180w

"An impressionistic survey in which the camera has some advantages over the typewriter. Nonpolitical and unpretentious (neither Steinbeck nor Capa speaks Russian), the Journal is sympathetic to Russians as individuals. It will supply a limited but intimate understanding of the customs, ideas and ideals of Soviet workers." Scott Adams

+ Library J 73:650 Ap 15 '48 100w

"Steinbeck frankly prefers the unregulated confusion of American life to the austere and moralistic Russian planning. But he is a warm and friendly man, as well as a charming writer, and he loved the exuberance and vitality, the expansive hospitality and the hopeful dreams of the Russian people. His book is filled with genuine, if far from uncritical, affection for them and a complete belief in their essential goodwill and desire for peace." Richard Watts

+ New Repub 118:22 Ap 19 '48 1300w

"A delightfully unpretentious and sprightly report." Iris Barry

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ap 18 '48 750w

"As a reporting job the book is superb. What they saw, they have presented simply and honestly. Nobody can say that they carried chips on their shoulders. But they did find it a little difficult always to remain calm when they met simon-pure examples of Russian bureaucracy; and before they left the U. S. S. R., like everybody else who gets the opportunity they visited the Kremlin. This book could only have been written by an American. Although it bears throughout the stamp of Mr. Steinbeck's sincerity, he sometimes breaks into the irrepressible American nonsense that always completely baffles the Russians. . . As far as this book goes, it is forthright, simple and direct. There is, however, a reverse side to the medal which Mr. Steinbeck did not examine." Oriana Atkinson

+ — N Y Times p3 My 9 '48 1300w

"The two journalists went to Moscow, ate and drank Russian, talked English, visited collective farms and the ruined Ukraine but never got out of the vacuum customarily provided by the Soviets for aliens in their midst. Both of them thought there was little likelihood of their getting any new or significant material on Russia, and they were proved right. It is, therefore, the quality of the text and pictures that recommends this work."

New Yorker 24:107 My 1 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 18 '48 1800w

"I am inclined to think that this volume should have been suppressed by Steinbeck. Or perhaps he should have surrendered all the excellent heavy paper to Capa's marvelous photographs (one would have liked three hundred instead of only seventy) and limited himself to a few lines of text for each picture. . . 'A Russian Journal' is not a portrait of the Russian people. It is merely a portrait of the American artist turned police reporter in a police state. The only thing added is the daily banquet." Louis Fischer

— + Sat R of Lit 31:13 My 15 '48 800w

Springf'd Republican p12B My 16 '48 850w

STEINBERG, SAMUEL, and KNOWLTON, DANIEL CHAUNCEY. American way in community life. 408p il $1.92 Heath

342.73 U.S.—Politics and government. Community life 48-5878

A young people's introduction to the social sciences by way of a presentation of their local community—its geographic, economic, cultural and political aspects. The text also includes material on character building, intercultural education, family relationships and vocational guidance to aid students in becoming good citizens. Chapter bibliographies. Lists of visual aids. Index.

School & Society 67:176 F 28 '48 20w

"All in all the book promises to be a helpful aid in teaching civics. The type is large, the text is readable, and a number of pictures and graphs illustrate the ideas. . . This is a good book to stimulate activity in education for living in the American way." Ira Kreider

+ Social Studies 39:332 N '48 650w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE. Lulu's play school [il. by the author]. [32p] $1.25 Doubleday

48-8222

Lonely for her city play school, Lulu started her own school on her grandmother's farm. First the cat and dog were pupils, then happily two farm children joined the group. Picture book for ages 2-5.

Booklist 45:54 O 1 '48

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p4 N 16 '48 160w

"Children get lots of laughs out of Lulu, so this ought to be popular."

+ Kirkus 16:435 S 1 '48 60w

Reviewed by M. M. Smith
Library J 73:1522 O 15 '48 70w

STEINER, LUKE EBY. Introduction to chemical thermodynamics. 2d ed 510p $6 McGraw

541.36 Thermodynamics 48-4195

"Standard text rewritten with new material on real gases and thermodynamics of the hydrocarbons. Deals with basic laws in thermodynamics and their application both to relatively simple chemical systems and to nonideal systems where the concepts of partial model quantities and activities are useful." (Library J) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1942.

Reviewed by C. D. Luke
Chem & Eng N 27:178 Ja 17 '49 270w

"The reviewer has used the first edition of this text for five years and has reviewed the present edition from the standpoint of its improvement over the earlier work. There appear to be no other texts which cover the subject matter in the elementary manner treated in the second edition. But it is still the same weak text as the first edition, having failed to rectify its major defects."

— Chem Eng 55:294 D '48 200w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1599 N 1 '48 50w

STEINER, M. J. Inside Pan-Arabia. 237p $3 Farrar, Straus

953 Arabs. Palestine—Jewish-Arab problem. Panislamism. Levant—Politics 47-6554

"A brief history of Arab peoples in northern Africa and the Near East and their role in European history. The account is unsympathetic on the whole and scornful of Pan-Arabism which the author considers an artificial movement." (Booklist) Selected bibliography. Index.

"The book has a distinct propagandist flavor, cunningly playing down the Arabs at a hundred points, and deftly working in favor of making Palestine, enlarged to include Transjordan, into an independent Jewish state. A reader who is forewarned can, however, find much that is interesting and valuable about the actively complicated Middle Eastern political, economic, and social situation." A. H. Lybyer

Am Pol Sci R 42:364 Ap '48 750w

Booklist 44:132 D 1 '47

Foreign Affairs 26:580 Ap '48 30w

STEPANOFF, ALEXEY JOAKIM. Centrifugal and axial flow pumps; theory, design, and application. 428p $7.50 Wiley

621.67 Pumping machinery 48-1712

"Consolidates the rapid technical gains in this field and discusses theory, design and applications. Descriptions of typical designs and installations were selected to illustrate type of problems involved in several applications of centrifugal pumps." (Library J) References at end of most of the chapters. Index.

Booklist 44:347 Je 15 '48

"The book is an excellent contribution to our technical literature and should prove useful to both designers and users of centrifugal pumps." Paul Diserens

+ Chem & Eng N 26:3442 N 15 '48 270w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:21 Ja '48

"The book will be valuable as a reference work to pump designers and to engineers."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:237 Je '48 160w

STERN, DAVID (PETER STIRLING, pseud). Francis goes to Washington. 243p $2.50 Farrar, Straus

48-8440

A sequel to Francis (Book Review Digest 1946). In this story the talking mule returns from the dead to help his friend in a Congressional campaign.

Booklist 45:52 O 1 '48

"In this election year of '48 Mr. Stern has written what might have been called in Elizabethan times, 'A Mirror for Magistrates.' Only here we do not have a Richard II showing, mostly by inversion, what a king should be: we have a well-meaning but simple candidate finding the right paths only when led by a talented jackass, who almost never makes a human of himself." Rod Nordell

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 360w

Kirkus 16:268 Je 1 '48 90w

"Francis, the talking mule, may have been funny on his first appearance last year in a book bearing his name as the title, but his reappearance would seem to be merely an excuse for his creator, David Stern, to exercise a few righteously indignant opinions about politics and politicians. . . Francis has no very startling knowledge to expound; the plot is negligible, the characters flimsy, and the dialogue is not only excessively padded but loaded with dots. What remains is a mild bit of whimsy which tells how Peter Stirling, dope, was elected to Congress by following the advice of a mule. The advice is honest, sound and occasionally interesting." Richard Mealand

— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 S 26 '48 140w

Reviewed by Rex Lardner

N Y Times p26 S 26 '48 400w

STERN, GLADYS BRONWYN (MRS G. L. HOLDSWORTH). No son of mine. 328p $3.50 Macmillan

Stevenson, Robert Louis—Fiction 48-6860

While tramping thru Scotland a vagrant is taken for the son of Robert Louis Stevenson. The idea strikes Robert as pay dirt and he reads all the works of his supposed father and plays up to those who take him for Stevenson's son. Gradually his views change as he reads the courageous words of the author; instead of arrogance he begins to assume humbleness. Instead of demanding money, he works for his living. The time is several years after the death of Stevenson. The novel contains much material quoted from Stevenson's works.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 14 '48 550w

"Bit by bit, the portrait of R. L. S. is built, for the reader as well as for Robert; but it is Robert himself, with his conflicts and contradictions, who dominates a story that exerts a strange compulsion on the reader."

Kirkus 16:219 My 1 '48 290w

"The plot is an original idea but marred by excessive use of coincidence, stilted dialogue and complete lack of humor." Patricia Slingo

Library J 73:814 My 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse

Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 30 '48 300w

"Certainly 'No Son of Mine' is neither flippant nor trivial; it is however, in one reviewer's opinion, the fruit of an idea that wasn't quite worth the considerable amount of devotion, skill, and scholarship lavished upon it. The best things in the story are naturally about Stevenson, whom Miss Stern understands so well that it is a pity she did not write a straightforward biography." James Hilton

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 My 23 '48 650w

"One trouble with writing literary criticism in the guise of fiction is that the result challenges judgment according to its fictional qualities and merits, over and above the judgment invoked by its critical content. Miss Stern has set out to say her say about Robert Louis Stevenson by indirection in a fearfully ingenious full-length novel. But she makes an absolutely persuasive and very eloquent critical tribute stagger under the load of a not-so-persuasive fable. A fable that she would scrutinize with much skepticism in her long-established capacity as novelist—and almost certainly reject, if she could not provide it with a more nearly plausible main character." Wilson Follett

+ — N Y Times p10 Je 6 '48 1000w

"More successful than most attempts to combine biography with fiction."

New Yorker 24:113 My 22 '48 180w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles

San Francisco Chronicle p16 My 18 '48 900w

Reviewed by Robert Kee

Spec 180:626 My 21 '48 180w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 450w

"The copious and brilliant extracts from the letters and works of Tusitala, which are found in almost every chapter of No Son of Mine, do more than delay the action of this novel. They threaten, at times, to swamp it altogether. This is a pity, for Miss Stern's central idea is ingenious. . . No Son of Mine will make its appeal chiefly to those who admire Stevenson not only as a novelist, but even more as a man."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p245 My 1 '48 470w

STERNBERG, FRITZ. How to stop the Russians without war [tr. from the German by Ralph Manheim]. 146p $2 Day

940.55 World politics. Russia—Foreign relations. U.S.—Foreign relations 48-5716

"Starting with the thesis that the world is in danger of war, Sternberg places responsibility for this danger on the conflicting interests of the United States and the Soviet Union, these being the only two powers capable of war on a scale great enough to involve the world. After describing political and economic conditions in present-day Europe and Asia, he compares the policies of the two countries in those areas, showing where they conflict, and explaining the terrible results of such a war. As an alternative, author believes that American encouragement of economic and political reform in Europe and Asia can win a successful political war against the Russians, assuring peace for many years." Library J

Reviewed by J. W. Robinson
Am Pol Sci R 42:603 Je '48 380w

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

"The author exaggerates the vitality of social democracy in western Europe and also the collapse of the middle classes. Since the book is a highly oversimplified analysis—it is not a distortion of the facts—it would be more effective if boiled down to the size of a pamphlet; it contains too much repetition in its present form." F. H. U.
Canadian Forum 28:119 Ag '48 280w

Reviewed by R. E. Lauterbach
Chicago Sun Ap 22 '48 350w

Reviewed by Henry Sowerby
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 13 '48 600w

"There are less than 150 pages in the book, but Mr. Sternberg contrives to go with some thoroughness into the precise military and economic weight that Russia, plus its satellites, can throw into the scale. He concludes that America's enormous lead would secure the ultimate victory if a military showdown came, but at the cost of reducing the rest of the world to barbarism. But Russia can be stopped short of war, he maintains, by a well-conceived American foreign policy that can outbid the Soviet in attracting European workers and Asiatic serfs." Henry Sowerby
+ Christian Science Monitor p28 My 21 '48 750w

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '48

"Recommended generally." Donald Wasson
+ Library J 73:197 F 1 '48 140w

"Sternberg's major recommendations coincide with the views of most 'liberals' in this country. This reviewer, for one, has advocated much the same change, without, however, feeling quite so certain that the solution of the present world crisis is essentially or solely a matter of stopping Soviet expansion. . . One could wish he had applied the same analysis to the motivations for Russian expansionism that he has applied to the aspirations of Europe and Asia. . . Sternberg's inescapable conclusion, that war is no longer an acceptable alternative—that victory in war would mean defeat—is a brilliant essay which could well stand alone and which deserves wider attention than it is likely to receive as a middle chapter in this book." J. P. Warburg
New Repub 118:22 Mr 15 '48 850w

Reviewed by Joseph Barnes
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Mr 28 '48 300w

Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Mr 14 '48 350w

"It is useful because Mr. Sternberg, in simple if repetitive language, punctures current facile generalizations about the necessity and feasibility of a preventive war against Russia—whatever is meant by that self-contradictory phrase. It is encouraging because Mr. Sternberg believes that the United States has it in its power to check Russia in a constructive way which, in his opinion, would ultimately benefit not only this country and our friends in Europe and Asia, but even Russia itself." V. M. Dean
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 F 28 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Donald Derby
Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 420w

Times [London] Lit Sup p648 N 20 '48 650w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:191 Je '48 290w

Wis Lib Bul 44:164 O '48

STETSON, HARLAN TRUE. Sunspots in action; with a foreword by Sir Edward V. Appleton. 252p il $3.50 Ronald

551.5 Sun spots 47-6692

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Booklist 44:197 F 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '48

"The sun and sunspots, the moon and cosmic rays, are shown as certainly or possibly influencing radio transmission and reception, auroral displays, weather, the growth of trees, the onset of infectious diseases and other biological matters, and even the business cycle. Some of these relations are presented as well established, many are indicated as speculative; but all are interesting to open-minded people. The kind of general reader who is likely to dip into this book will find it well written and intelligible." J. Q. Stewart
+ Geog R 38:347 Ap '48 380w

New Repub 118:29 Ja 5 '48 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:84 O '47

STEVENS, MRS FRANCES MOYER (ROSS) (CHRISTOPHER HALE, pseud). Deadly ditto. 222p $2 Doubleday 48-5861

Detective story.

"Good entertainment."
+ Kirkus 16:8 Ja 1 '48 90w

"Action is the word." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Mr 28 '48 150w

"Utter confusion is the keynote of the story and the solution does not by any means clear up all the problems posed in it." I. A.
N Y Times p24 Mr 14 '48 180w

"Standard stuff."
New Yorker 24:128 Mr 13 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 25 '48 10w

"With exception of agile seventy-year head of wealthy Midwestern (?) clan, most of people are stereotypes. But there's gore aplenty."
Sat R of Lit 31:43 Ap 24 '48 50w

STEVENS, JAMES. Big Jim Turner. 275p $3 Doubleday 48-8419

"Novel of the West in the early 1900s when the country was opening up, railroads being laid, and lumbering at its height. That also was the period of labor agitations, rise of the International Workers of the World, faint stirrings of socialism under Eugene Debs and others. Panorama of this novel is as extensive as the West; its hero, Big Jim, wanders more or less aimlessly through Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington, working at a variety of tasks, but dashing off to the public library at every opportunity to write poetry." Library J

Booklist 45:67 O 15 '48

Reviewed by Feike Feikema
Chicago Sun D 23 '48 450w

"If the background of the pioneering west and the labor struggle is authentically defined, the balance is not, the characterization, even that of Big Jim, fuzzy to the point of futility."
— + Kirkus 16:343 Jl 15 '48 130w

STEVENS, JAMES—Continued

"Probably autobiographical. Told in the first person. Not too important. (Good publicity for the public library)." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 110w

"Mr. Stevens's record of these men and their time is honest and vivid. If the new book lacks some of the earlier work's gusto and humor . . . it more than makes up for them in the deeper significance of its characters' experience and the greater perceptiveness of its narrator." J. K. Howard

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 O 17 '48 1200w

"The book wanders among several moods. There are dreamy chapters in which the poet is left to find himself unmolested; flamboyant Wild West incidents with rich, powerful ranchers taking vengeance on the defenseless poor; scenes of homely Americans which have the honest ring of familiarity. The whole saga seems enclosed in a chant, unable to break through to the five senses of the reader. Drama, general or personal, has become a legend by the time it escapes from the style of its presentation." Jane Martin

N Y Times p34 N 28 '48 490w

"Stevens has succeeded beautifully. There is in 'Big Jim Turner' a kind of tragic intensity which the Greeks would have understood very well; Jim Turner is Man Against Fate, and this novel about him and his struggle against forces too big for him to grasp wholly is done with warm sympathy and full knowledge. In creating Big Jim, 'half poet and half horse,' Stevens has added a memorable figure to the gallery of American fictional heroes, and in his reflection of the labor struggle in the Northwest of four decades ago, he has recorded an important aspect of our social history." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 S 29 '48 750w

STEVENS, JAMES. Paul Bunyan; woodcuts by Allen Lewis. 2d ed 245p $3 Knopf

398.21 Bunyan, Paul 48-5064

"A 1925 book with a new chapter telling of a fabulous log run up the Columbia river with tame whales doing the work." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1925.

Booklist 44:251 Mr 15 '48

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 Ja 25 '48 130w

STEVENS, LOUIS. Days of promise. 614p $3.50 Prentice-Hall

48-1558

A novel of "four generations of the MacAllister family—farmers, journalists, adventurers, doctors and soldiers—each testing his democratic heritage against such powerful forces of his time as slavery, communism, fascism, and racial persecution." (Publisher's note)

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

"The narrative holds the reader's attention, but there is many an inconclusive episode and many a narrative thread which leads nowhere." J. T. Flanagan

Chicago Sun Ap 29 '48 170w

"Another attempt at the 'great American Novel' which rates as a far above average rental."

+ Kirkus 16:31 Ja 15 '48 110w

"A firm faith in America and the American way is upheld and the reader's interest is maintained. Recommended." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 73:397 Mr 1 '48 90w

"With its profusion of characters and incidents, 'Days of Promise' is engaging as a story, and it is a painstaking and provocative view of varieties of life in the United States." Mary Ross

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 My 16 '48 500w

"All of Mr. Stevens' characters, even the most minor ones, have the little touches that make them individuals. Some twists of his intricate labyrinth of plot are melodramatic and contrived, yet there is never a dull page. . . The author came to this country from Russia in 1906, when he was just 7. Perhaps it is because he has not taken the workings of our democracy for granted that he has been able to picture so successfully the development of an American pioneer family and the growing pains of a nation moving toward greatness." Andrea Parke

+ — N Y Times p15 Ap 25 '48 500w

San Francisco Chronicle p20 Je 6 '48 350w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn

Springf'd Republican p10B My 23 '48 150w

STEVENS, WALLACE. Transport to summer. 148p $2.50 Knopf

811 47-2382

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"Wallace Stevens' work evinces a largely philosophical attitude to both experience as the matter of poetry, and to poetry as the best issue of experience (he has also written as a critic). This attitude can be read into, and accounts for, the abstract and reflective manner of his work. It also accounts for the freedom and conviction with which he creates inasmuch as in his critical statements he has taken, as the justification of his use of metaphor, an explicitly realistic epistomological position." Victor Tejera

J Philos 45:137 F 26 '48 650w

Reviewed by R. P. Blackmur

Poetry 71:271 F '48 850w

"The best single poem is Esthétique du Mal, a sequence at times mannered and fragmentary, but held together, and hardly inferior to Yeats and Eliot in its subtlety and grandeur. The versification is remarkable that can so shift, vary, and combine the rhetorical with the conversational, the abstract with the concrete. But there is more than technique; there is wisdom, pathos, newness, and urbanity. Although not up to Esthétique du Mal, many other poems in Transport to Summer have great power and charm."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:345 D '47 280w

"The new volume by Wallace Stevens may well stand as another landmark in American literature, along with his first volume, 'Harmonium' (1923). It is true that, unlike this early volume, 'Transport to Summer' is marred by a number of labored and muddy pieces. But this is not because Stevens has declined as an artist in his later years (he is now sixty-eight); it is because, having mastered one mode, he has tried to develop in new directions, impelled by a growing vision and by the cataclysmic events of the last twenty years." L. L. Martz

+ — Yale R n s 37:339 winter '48 950w

STEVENSON, AUGUSTA. Buffalo Bill, boy of the plains; il. by Paul Laune. 189p $1.75 Bobbs

B or 92 Cody, William Frederick—Juvenile literature 48-5748

A biography for young readers, emphasizing the boyhood of Buffalo Bill.

Booklist 44:269 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King

Chicago Sun Ag 7 '48 30w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p9 Je 29 '48 70w

"Good material for young readers who are not ready for hard books. . . Recommended for libraries that are using this series." Elizabeth Johnson

+ Library J 73:485 Mr 15 '48 40w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Mr 7 '48 130w

STEVENSON, BURTON EGBERT, ed. Home book of proverbs, maxims and familiar phrases. 2957p $20 Macmillan

398.9 Proverbs. Maxims. Quotations
48-8717

"This 3,000-page reference work includes sayings which range from the Greeks and Hebrews of 800 and 700 B.C. down to the present. Whereas Bartlett groups its quotations under the author, the Bible, etc., this new compendium is arranged by subject straight through. And additional sayings on a subject can be found in the voluminous index." Commonweal

"This is going to be invaluable in the editorial reference library. On the very first test it gave the source of a quotation which could not be found in Bartlett." P. H.
+ Christian Century 65:1145 O 27 '48 310w

Reviewed by James van Zandt
Churchman 163:16 Ja 1 '49 270w
Commonweal 49:78 O 29 '48 100w
Current Hist 15:351 D '48 70w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 D 5 '48 400w

"The excellent arrangement has many uses and dividends. It makes it easy to see, for example, how such an institution as the cat has fared in folk phrase. If a reader has occasion to explain such a proverbial phrase as 'hoist on his own petard,' he can find a proverbial gloss for it in 'caught in his own trap,' or 'dose of his own medicine'—all under the subject of 'retribution.' All this constitutes a superb work of reference with an index at the end which makes it easy to put one's finger quickly on any given phrase." Horace Reynolds
+ N Y Times p14 N 7 '48 550w

STEVENSON, ISABELLE, ed. Greystone book of gifts you can make yourself. 344p $3.25; de luxe ed $4.25 Greystone

746.4 Needlework. Crocheting. Knitting
48-36

Gifts for men, women and children, and the householder, handmade by knitting, crocheting, and needlework. Full directions profusely illustrated. A final section contains instructions in paper craft, gift wrapping, and brush-up courses in embroidery stitches, knitting and crocheting.

"This volume is undoubtedly one of the most complete books of its type to be found on the market today." R. S. Robbins
+ N Y Times p23 My 16 '48 110w

Reviewed by James Eden
San Francisco Chronicle p13 F 1 '48 80w

STEWART, MRS CATHERINE (POMEROY). Three roads to Valhalla. 307p $3 Scribner
48-8080

Jacksonville, Florida, in the Reconstruction days is the background for this novel. Young Kate Rider and her weak, ineffectual father left Hartford for Florida, where Mr. Rider was to head the Freedman's bureau. The new life they had planned ended in tragedy, for Kate married the wrong man, and her father was murdered. But the end brings a note of promise for Kate.

"A gripping and unpalatable story of a shameful period, when people on both sides were blinded by hate. A readable tale, well told, and with consistently sustained objectivity."
+ Kirkus 16:269 Je 1 '48 190w

"The various characters are vividly portrayed and plot moves along to a violent crisis. A book which should be popular." M. A. Johnson
+ Library J 73:1091 Ag '48 80w

"A very neat job indeed. Against a fascinatingly glamorous yet not too remote historical background . . . Mrs. Stewart has developed a credible enough plot filled with exciting, sensational action. . . In the end virtue triumphs very quickly over vice, and at the happy conclusion of the novel the bad have all died violent deaths and the good are in happy possession of the field of glory. But 'Three Roads to Valhalla' is a good story and well deserves the popular success which it will probably achieve." F. H. Bullock
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 29 '48 550w

"In its balance of fact and fiction, it strikes an agreeable compromise. The carefully plotted story rarely drags; if the actors are occasionally maudlin, the action remains compelling." Anne Chamberlin
+ — N Y Times p6 S 5 '48 330w

STEWART, GEORGE RIPPEY. Fire. 336p $3 Random house
48-6247

This new novel by the author of Storm (Book Review Digest 1941) relates the life history of a forest fire, from its birth as the result of a lightning stroke, thru its obscure, puny infancy, to the days of its might and terror, and its final defeat. Against this story of the fire itself are set glimpses of the lives, hopes, fears and sorrows of the men and women who are called upon to fight it.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 181:110 My '48 700w
Booklist 44:283 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmet Dedmon
Chicago Sun Ap 14 '48 400w

"The writing is superb—hard, lean, expressive prose. The feelings of the men as they work, eat, sleep, talk, are eloquently set forth. It's an exciting story, all told, and so real it's hard to believe that the Spitcat never existed, never burnt a tree, so magnificently has Stewart imagined and circumstantially created it." Horace Reynolds
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 Ap 22 '48 650w
Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:292 Jl '48 80w

"This should equal—or exceed, George Stewart's first major success, Storm."
+ Kirkus 16:56 F 1 '48 220w

"Enthusiastically recommended." J. E. Cross
+ Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 130w

"Some years ago, 'Fire's' author wrote 'Storm,' a memorable account of the life and works of a tempest. In his new, taut story of the birth, rapacious existence and final slaughter of a forest fire, he has done a still better book, which is about as much praise as can be accorded any such volume." F. F. Van de Water
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ap 11 '48 850w

"The author of the memorable novel 'Storm' tells another story on the weather. . . His monstrous blaze is an offscouring of weather, an evil spilled from movement of wind, water and light upon trees and men. 'Fire' is also a story of a man's soul, its struggles and its inevitable defeat. . . John Bentley was fire boss until the ninth day of the fire's life—the fourth day of the fight against it. He saw the cedar glen consumed and the rich stand of pines turn black. When he was 'relieved of his duties'—then the weather turned against the enemy. John Bentley makes 'Fire' an unforgettable novel." James Stevens
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 11 '48 700w

"Quite well done, if something of a tour de force."
New Yorker 24:121 Ap 10 '48 150w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 11 '48 1750w

"Mr. Stewart in 'Fire' is a reporter who believes that his work will be enhanced if he gives it the appearance of fiction. This works out very well, so long as he confines himself to rendering more palatable his extensive research into the habits of fires and the techniques of fire-fighting. . . On a lower plane of invention, Mr. Stewart introduces a . . . quite idiotic girl look-out who becomes romantically involved with a young meteorologist in a red jeep, and who belongs solely to the comic strips. None the less, when Mr. Stewart writes about the conflagration itself he is direct and dramatic. . . It is effective popular education, and if it is called a novel, no great harm will be done." George Dangerfield

STEWART, G. R.—Continued
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:18 Ap 24 '48 650w

STEWART, IRVIN. Organizing scientific research for war; the administrative history of the Office of scientific research and development; foreword by Vannevar Bush. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 358p $5 Little 507.2 World war, 1939-1945—Science. U.S. Scientific research and development, Office of 48-505

"Dramatic story of how Dr. Vannevar Bush and his aids set up the OSRD to mobilize America's scientific resources. Describes the administrative framework of the organization that developed, improved, and brought into use certain new weapons. Tells the workings of each of the principal activities of the administrative office. Author also surveys the process of demobilization." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by A. H. Waitt
Chem & Eng N 26:2386 Ag 9 '48 300w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 70w

"There are no thrills in Dr. Stewart's record. Few readers are likely to drink in every line of this careful, sober, detailed account of the NDRC and OSRD as organizations. Dr. Stewart could have written a thriller had he so intended, but he had to restrain himself and set down facts that the historian of the future will need. . . Dr. Stewart's volume is bound to be used for reference by any scholar who will write on the war. It should have been provided with a highly analytical subject index. All that the publishers gave it is a defective name index." Waldemar Kaempffert
+ N Y Times p4 Mr 14 '48 1550w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:185 Je '48 290w

STEWART, JEFFREY R. National paint dictionary; a handy reference volume, containing definitions of terms and scientific materials used in the paint and allied industries; assisted by Eugene F. Hickson and Raymond B. Seymour. 3d ed 704p $7.50 Stewart research laboratory, box 173, Benjamin Franklin station, Washington, D.C.
667.6 Paint—Dictionaries 48-5243

"The purpose of [this dictionary] is to provide concise and practical information to manufacturers, distributors and industrial consumers of protective and decorative coatings; it is not intended to be an exhaustive scientific manual of encyclopedic nature. Terms included cover six categories: (1) industrial raw materials; (2) trade names of raw materials and finished products; (3) names of processes and methods; (4) terms denoting scientific instruments used primarily for evaluation purposes; (5) terms denoting quality, such as colors, textures and optical effects; (6) miscellaneous, including trade jargon." (Chem Eng) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1940.

Chem & Eng N 26:1314 My 3 '48 120w

"For the paint technologist, as well as for other technical persons concerned or interested in the products of the paint and allied industries, frequent reference to this work should be helpful. A supplement contains useful charts, tables and statistics." J. R. Callaham
+ Chem Eng 55:285 F '48 270w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:8 Ja '48

STEWART, PATRICK DOUGLAS. Handling horses; hints and principles for the training and education of horses and their riders; il. by G. D. Tidmarsh; foreword by Sir Beauvoir de Lisle. 186p $3 Ziff-Davis
798 Horse training. Horsemanship Agr48-228

An English army officer with fifty years' experience explains his system of training horses, which is based on kindness. His book is enlivened with reminiscences of racing, foxhunting, etc. Illustrated with photographs and drawings. Index.

Booklist 45:29 S 15 '48
Library J 73:1031 Jl '48 30w

STEWART, RANDALL. Nathaniel Hawthorne. 279p $4 Yale univ. press
B or 92 Hawthorne, Nathaniel 48-8441

A new biography of Hawthorne, by a member of the Brown university faculty. It is based on original research, and is largely of a factual nature. There is only one chapter devoted to Hawthorne as a writer. Chief bibliographical sources. Index.

Booklist 45:102 N 15 '48

Reviewed by Marvin Laser
Chicago Sun Ja 13 '49 360w

"His book is a pleasant, but not a very penetrating, account of Hawthorne's life—a clearer book than Mr. Cantwell's but not nearly so meaty, stimulating, or thought-provoking." H. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 21 '48 120w

Reviewed by W. P. Sears
Churchman 162:16 D 15 '48 90w

"Professor Stewart's repudiation of the familiar interpretation of Hawthorne as an essentially solitary man haunted by his Puritan ancestors rests on three points: Hawthorne had, throughout his life, many friends and a normal social life; he had a happy marriage; and he was a successful and extremely practical politician. Stewart has, through his extensive research, dug out a mass of data which more than suffices to prove these three points, and that is, no doubt, an important contribution to our knowledge of Hawthorne. But that is the most that can be said of this book, for as an attempt to describe Hawthorne the whole man, it is hopelessly superficial and quite inadequate." J. E. Newman
— + Commonweal 49:125 N 12 '48 550w

"A scholarly, conventional biography. . . For the general reader as well as the student."
+ Kirkus 16:387 Ag 1 '48 130w

"Not directed to a popular audience, the biography is likely to be recognized as the best single volume for students seeking an accurate, objective and orderly account of Hawthorne's life." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:1383 O 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by H. P. Lazarus
Nation 167:645 D 4 '48 1250w

"It is a narrative, not a scholarly treatise; but scholars will turn to it for the answers to many disputed questions. It tells what Hawthorne did, whom he met and how much he earned; and it gives these facts with the assurance of a student who dug them out one by one and fitted them together. There is only one critical chapter, which is a good one." Malcolm Cowley
+ New Repub 119:21 N 8 '48 650w

"Mr. Stewart's biography is based, in part, upon manuscript material not yet published. It is an important contribution to scholarship because it adds materially, at certain points, to our factual information about Hawthorne. But it has a very real interest for the general reader because it also proposes some radical changes in the interpretation of Hawthorne's personality." Lloyd Morris
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 N 7 '48 1200w

Reviewed by Ralph Thompson
N Y Times p41 O 17 '48 330w

+ New Yorker 24:131 O 23 '48 90w

San Francisco Chronicle p9 D 26 '48 280w

Reviewed by R. E. Spiller

+ Sat R of Lit 31:14 N 6 '48 480w

Reviewed by H. L. Varley

Springf'd Republican p5C O 31 '48 230w

Reviewed by Odell Shepard

Yale R n s 38:360 winter '49 750w

STILWELL, HART. Fishing in Mexico. 296p $4.50 Knopf

799.12 Fishing—Mexico 48-11070

"An exhaustive exploration of the fishing resources of Mexico, which, according to the author, are stupendous and for the most part untouched. The book covers not only the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts but the lakes and streams between, pointing out the most likely spots for salt-water marlin, tarpon, sailfish, and snook, and fresh-water trout and bass, all of which, it seems, are available in large numbers no more than a few hours by air from this country. Hotel and boat accommodations are also discussed." (New Yorker) Glossary, Index.

Booklist 45:133 D 15 '48

"A new setting for another of this excellent sportsman's series, in a book that anglers will find absorbing."

+ Kirkus 16:566 O 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson

Library J 74:64 Ja 1 '49 40w

"It is the descriptions of the people he has met as well as of the fish he has caught that makes Mr. Stilwell's such an appealing book for the sportsman. The author seems to have found humor in everything he has done. . . He has included valuable advice, a good index and a glossary of Mexican fish names, with a few of the more necessary Spanish words." T. S. Sweedy

+ N Y Times p27 Ja 30 '49 230w

New Yorker 24:183 D 4 '48 90w

"A highly intriguing work. . . Mexico apparently is a fisherman's paradise. The author's enthusiasm for it is as great as his appreciation of his angling companions." G. S. Arnold

+ San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 50w

STILWELL, JOSEPH WARREN. Stilwell papers; arranged and ed. by Theodore H. White. 357p $4 Sloane

940.548173 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939-1945—China 48-6966

These writings cover a period from December 8, 1941, thru October 1944 when General Stilwell was relieved of his command. They are based on three sources: the General's private field diaries; the "black notebook" in which he wrote his thoughts and reflections; and excerpts from his letters to his wife. The arrangement is chronological and Theodore White has arranged and edited the whole. A postscript by Mrs Stilwell describes the General's reception in his own country after his return from China. Index.

"Few commanders had a more heartbreaking assignment than Stilwell's; his devotion to the task, his leadership in combat, were superb. But it must be said that the Papers suggest a one-track mind, irremediably convinced that its own way is the only way; a bitter, uncoöperative personality. . . The general's insulting verdict on almost everyone he had to deal with—Wavell, Mountbatten, Roosevelt, and others—his venomous hostility to the British fighting alongside of him, make pretty sorry reading." C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 181:117 Je '48 550w

Booklist 44:335 Je 1 '48

Reviewed by F. S. Marquardt

Chicago Sun p7X My 30 '48 310p

"This book is absorbing, colorful, biting, vitriolic, tender, philosophical, musing, harsh, jerky, fluent, stirring—all at the same time. Most of all, it is lively, as lively a record as Stilwell was himself a lively personality. . . The reader's judgment will be, I think, entirely on Stilwell's side, with some sober reservations. In fact, I don't see why the book is presented as an apologia. I don't think the General has ever been considered, in America, as anything but a great and heroic figure, just as much for his honesty as for his military achievement. This book only confirms what many of us have always felt—the truly grandscale hero is a human being, in defeat and victory." T. E. Cassidy

+ Commonweal 48:287 Jl 2 '48 500w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook

Current Hist 15:35 Jl '48 1000w

"His letters to Mrs. Stilwell show that the man had an intensely warm, human side, and his rather caustic humor is evident throughout the papers. Theodore White has done an interesting and creative job of editing, supplying the connecting links that set the background. Of lasting value."

+ Kirkus 16:182 Ap 1 '48 370w

"Written in an honest, forthright style, frequently employing good earthy G.I. vocabulary, this is very interesting reading. . . An important book not only as history of part of the war, but also in the study of present-day affairs in China." Donald Wasson

+ Library J 73:650 Ap 15 '48 140w

"A lesser man than Stilwell might have taken the easier way, magnified Chinese virtues, excused vices, and compromised in order to get at least half results. Stilwell's moral fiber made this difficult. When he saw evil, he refused to call it 'quaint.' The result is that his private diary, sprinkled with a G. I.-type of alimentary profanity, is the most comprehensive and pungent indictment of a Chinese potentate ever set on paper." J. K. Fairbank

Nation 166:608 My 29 '48 1900w

"In these essentially angry and disillusioned diaries, Stilwell undoubtedly emerges as a brusque and tactless soldier who was extremely difficult to get on with and who liked few of the upper brass with whom he was associated. . . While it is no more possible to deny the flaws in Stilwell's character than those in the personality of FDR, Stilwell was essentially a wise and lovable man, a great and good friend of the Chinese people, and a notable American soldier and hero. In White's skillful editing of his journals, Stilwell's story is a living, racy and important chapter in contemporary history. And Stilwell's advice about China is today more timely than ever." Richard Watts

+ New Repub 118:30 My 31 '48 1500w

"General Stilwell died last year before he could make his own use of this material. His widow gave the editing job to Theodore White, former 'Time-Life' correspondent in China, who whittled it down to about half its original bulk, edited out some of Stilwell's less printable language, and deleted some names and references which seemed to him inappropriate for publication even now. . . As far as one can judge, he has done an adequate job with extremely difficult materials. It is a little regrettable that it had to be done this way, for the diaries and notes consist largely of scanty, elliptical references, often scribbled while in flight across the vast distances of China, Burma and India that lay within Stilwell's theater, or written in some jungle command post. . On the other hand, these papers gives us Stilwell in the raw. They add up to a self-portrait of a remarkable man who faced an impossible task and grappled with it pugnaciously until it beat him down." H. R. Isaacs

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 My 30 '48 1750w

"This book, as Mrs. Stilwell notes in an Afterword, 'is, in a sense, [Stilwell's] first public report.' It is an important story. Its lessons for today are unmistakable, for, of the leaders who fought the wily, devious, desperate backstairs battle of China, most are still alive and what he has to tell of his 'colleagues' is an authoritative frame of reference for the present activities of some of them. But what the

STILWELL, J. W.—Continued
general reader may be particularly thankful for is that the story is told readably. . . What truly makes the book a success is its evocation of tragedy. Tragedy stalks every paragraph here." Ira Wolfert
+ N Y Times p1 My 23 '48 1900w

"The publisher suggests that 'The Stilwell Papers' is 'also an autobiography, a self-portrait of moving, perhaps heroic, proportions.' I'm afraid it is not quite that. What it is, I'd say, is a series of reactions, under pressure, of a career soldier of deep integrity, high emotional vigor for one of his age (his sixtieth birthday came in 1943), and strong prejudices. . . Theodore H. White, who arranged Stilwell's papers with the help of Mrs. Stilwell and supplied a sympathetic, well-written summary of the background of Stilwell's activities, points out that the bulk of the material in the book was set down 'in the sharp, hard language of command and bitterness,' that it does not show the warmer, more generous sides of the General's character. That is worth bearing in mind. . . [Stilwell] died with his public reputation intact, and I do not think the simple, proud, stubborn, irascible words of 'The Stilwell Papers' will do anything to damage it." John Lardner
+ New Yorker 24:70 My 29 '48 2400w

Reviewed by Marvin Sargent
San Francisco Chronicle p11 My 30 '48 470w

"The leaders of World War II and of its aftermath are already filing their briefs before the bar of history. . . Many truths lie just around the corner, but in all the impressive array of high-echelon confessions there will surely be nothing comparable in form of frankness to the acerbate and profane 'The Stilwell Papers.' . . It may also be safe to add that there has never been any memoir just like 'The Stilwell Papers' and perhaps there will never be again. Not a line of it was written with an eye on posterity. Not a sentence has been glossed or tempered to outside reactions, because not a page was ever meant to be published. 'The Stilwell Papers' are the clear and lonely thoughts of a brave and embittered man of action who never lost his sense of humor. They are couched in scorching GI language. . . They ring with high courage, selflessness, discipline, and steely determination. They are, in the end, however one may react to them, the words of a great soldier who gave all that was best in him and in the end his life for his country." J. P. Marquand
+ Sat R of Lit 31:8 My 29 '48 1400w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p10B Je 27 '48 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 44:148 S '48

Reviewed by P. M. A. Linebarger
Yale R n s 38:170 autumn '48 850w

STIMPSON, GEORGE WILLIAM. Information roundup. 587p $3.95 Harper

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 48-6728

"A massive collection of odd data. . . You can find out what animal bears its young in litters all of one sex (the armadillo), whether Nero fiddled while Rome burned (couldn't have, says Mr. Stimpson—must have either harped or luted), and how Samuel Pepys pronounced his name. . . The material is arranged in question-and-answer form." New Yorker

---

"A bit of everything for everyone's taste, that is usefully indexed."
+ Kirkus 16:102 F 15 '48 70w

"Most information anthologies are good for looking up specific items in which the reader is interested: George Stimpson seems to be the only snapper-up of unconsidered trifles whose books may be read straight ahead for sheer pleasure. . . His treatment of superstitions is good, especially when they involve an element of scientific truth; when he explodes a popular belief it makes a neat pop."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ag 15 '48 240w

New Yorker 24:113 My 8 '48 120w

STIMSON, HENRY LEWIS, and BUNDY, MCGEORGE. On active service in peace and war. 698p $5 Harper

B or 92 Statesmen—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. U.S.—Foreign policy. World war, 1939-1945—U.S. 48-6427

This biography of "active service in peace and war" is based on the diaries, correspondence, speeches and other papers of Henry L. Stimson, who has held public office under every president of the United States, from Theodore Roosevelt to Truman, with the exception of Harding. Over half of the long book deals with World war II. Chronology of World war II. Index.

Reviewed by G. C. Osborn
Ann Am Acad 260:197 N '48 500w

Reviewed by J. H. Powers
Atlantic 181:95 Je '48 1150w

Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

Reviewed by Quincy Wright
Chicago Sun p8X My 2 '48 1200w

"Few Americans have been closer to the core of American history in the twentieth century than Henry L. Stimson. To have a biography of him is a major event. To have within it wartime memoirs, which are unlikely to be surpassed by any except Winston Churchill's, is an added boon to every student of the period." D. M. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 16 '48 950w

"One of the most important biographical works of our generation."
+ Foreign Affairs 26:741 Jl '48 130w

"An absorbing and revealing survey of a great segment of contemporary history, not so news-worthy as some recent books, but sound, objective, reasoned, the record of a great and simple man."
+ Kirkus 16:97 F 15 '48 450w

"A valuable, authoritative record which all libraries should get as soon as possible." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 73:650 Ap 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.
Nation 166:635 Je 5 '48 800w

"A personal chronicle covering so broad a span of thought and action could hardly fail to be interesting. But Stimson's memoirs . . . are even more than interesting. As set down by his collaborator, McGeorge Bundy, on the basis of diaries, papers and recollections of key ideas and salient men, they constitute a central document of our times." W. H. Hale
+ New Repub 118:22 My 10 '48 1550w

"I believe there are few surprisingly new disclosures in this account of the war years, and now and then (especially in the immediate pre-war period) one wonders if it is not more reticent than it needed to have been, but as a whole it is a judicious, modest and balanced addition to our understanding of this great passage in our history. Moreover, I must confess to a real liking for the other, the first half of this fairly massive volume. That long career, which had reached an honorable twilight eight years ago, instinct with strength, probity, a strong sense of public duty, at once a conservative and reformist and lit with the optimism and courage of the first decade of our century, says much about pre-war America." Walter Millis
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Ap 18 '48 1250w

"The section of the book dealing with the period from 1920 to 1933 is to this reader by far the most significant part of the work. But some people, perhaps most people, will find it less absorbing than the behind-the-scenes narrative of World War II. . . 'To himself he seemed adventurous'—well, we can understand that, but some of us would step it up a bit. To us he seems magnificent." G. W. Johnson
+ N Y Times p1 Ap 18 '48 1650w

New Yorker 24:105 Ap 24 '48 170w

Reviewed by Luther Nichols
San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 2 '48 1950w

"This volume is a truly notable personal history. It is the record of a man of high honor and integrity, told with meticulous fairness and honesty. The honesty of this book stands out on every page. This honesty and gentlemanliness are particularly striking in contrast to the shabby egotism, pompous infallibility, and malodorous backbiting that characterize so many of the personal records now pouring forth from the presses." R. S. Allen

+ Sat R of Lit 31:20 Ap 17 '48 1850w

"McGeorge Bundy has made an excellent Boswell. He enters the great tradition of the secretaries of famous men (typified perhaps by John Morley) who have had the great privilege of writing the biography and editing the papers of a top-flight figure under the personal direction of the hero-historian. His job is well done; and the resulting record must find a place in the library of every student of our own times." A. A. Berle

+ Survey G 37:265 My '48 750w

Reviewed by C. E. Clark

Yale R n s 37:727 summer '48 1500w

STITT, GEORGE. Prince of Arabia: the emir shereef Ali Haider. 314p il $4.50 Macmillan (for Allen)

B or 92 Ali Haider, emir shereef

A biography of the shereef Ali Haider, compiled largely from his translated diaries. The author knew the former emir of Mecca in his declining years. Bibliography.

"Unfortunately, the Emir's diaries were reserved to the point of banality, but every now and then we are rewarded by a scene which lights up a corner of this remote world." Edward Hodgkin

Spec 180:772 Je 25 '48 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p396 Jl 17 '48 900w

STIX, THOMAS LOUIS, ed. Say it ain't so, Joe. 342p $3 Boni & Gaer

796 Sports. Short stories—Collections 48-5099

A collection of stories, some fact and some fiction, about the seamy side of sports. Partial contents: Remember the Black Sox? by John Lardner; A story goes with it, by Damon Runyon; The mother of a champion, by J. R. Tunis; Champion, by Ring Lardner; Death in the afternoon, by Ernest Hemingway; The other side, by Ring Lardner; Gamecocks don't surrender, by E. J. Vogeler; Gamblers, hustlers, and cheats, by John Scarne with Clayton Rawson; The notorious jumping frog of Calaveras county, by Mark Twain; Rackety Rax, by Joel Sayre.

"A much needed purgative. Should be widely read." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 30w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 Mr 7 '48 110w

"They're all about heels and phonies, but most sports fans will devour them, though they make unsavory, if required, reading." D. B. B.

Springf'd Republican p10B F 1 '48 300w

STOCKING, GEORGE WARD, and WATKINS, MYRON WEBSTER. Cartels or competition? the economics of international controls by business and government; with the report and recommendations of the Committee on cartels and monopoly. 516p $4 Twentieth century fund

338.883 Trusts, Industrial—International trusts. Commercial policy. Monopolies 48-7225

"Appraises the effect of the cartel movement on U.S. markets, industrial stability, employment, technological improvements, investments, and policies suggested for handling the problems. The last chapter contains a program recommended by a Special committee on cartels and monopoly." (Booklist) A sequel to the author's Cartels in Action (Book Review Digest 1947). Bibliography. Index.

"A comprehensive and scholarly treatise . . . one which not only scholars, but also legislators and administrative officials, might profitably read." F. P. Hall

+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1237 D '48 600w

"This penetrating, tightly written volume furnishes grist for intelligent consideration of such thorny questions as how can America maintain an economy based on free enterprise and competitive markets when most of its prospective export customers and import suppliers are state trading monopolies. This book should be prominently featured on the reading lists of many economics courses." M. L. Hoch

+ Ann Am Acad 260:226 N '48 600w

Booklist 44:376 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by C. C. Concannon

Chem & Eng N 26:3050 O 11 '48 650w

Management R 37:535 O '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ag 22 '48 350w

"A book which no student of modern economic society can afford to be without. Furthermore, it is a book which is so clearly written that any reasonably intelligent citizen can read it and learn a great deal from it." P. M. O'Leary

+ Sat R of Lit 32:46 Ja 22 '49 900w

STODDARD, HENRY LUTHER. Presidential sweepstakes; the story of political conventions and campaigns; ed. by Francis W. Leary. 224p $3 Putnam

329.01 Presidents (U.S.)—Election. Political conventions 48-7420

An explanation of American political conventions and campaigns, with the stories of some romantic lost causes of both the Republican and Democratic parties. The author attended many conventions himself, and was a political reporter from 1885. After his death in 1947, the book was edited by Francis W. Leary. Bibliography. No Index.

"Only the first two chapters can be considered analytical. . . While almost entirely descriptive the latter part presents many shrewd and interesting side lights on the men who wanted to be president and the methods by which they sought to gratify their ambition. . . Apart from the Progressive party convention of 1912, the book almost entirely ignores third-party conventions." D. M. Dozer

Am Hist R 54:443 Ja '49 400w

Booklist 44:376 Jl 15 '48

"Since there is no better schoolmaster than experience, Mr. Stoddard's book with its simple, direct and generally impartial style, makes a good textbook on American political parties. Unfortunately its lack of an index to supplement its tables of election returns from 1789 onwards detracts from its value as a reference book." Mary Hornaday

+ — Christian Science Monitor p18 Je 18 '48 650w

"'Presidential Sweepstakes' is not a pretentious book, nor does it go very far beneath the surface of American political life. But within its limitations, it is timely, entertaining and informative." H. W. Baehr

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Jl 4 '48 500w

"Considering the circumstances of its composition, Henry Luther Stoddard's 'Presidential Sweepstakes' is a remarkable document. . . He started this book in his own tired mid-eighties. . . He died before he could complete the book or even make an initial stab at a final chapter on the 1944 conventions and campaign, but all that he left for Editor Francis W. Leary to put into shape is amazingly fresh. Even the story of the Bull Moose year of 1912, which Mr. Stoddard considered poor writing, is done with sprightliness and a good sense of dramatic proportion. The thinking behind the book, however, is a trifle naive." John Chamberlain

+ N Y Times p3 Je 20 '48 800w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 27 '48 240w

STOLPER, GUSTAV. German realities. 341p $3.75 Reynal

940.5343 Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany 48-6048

An analysis of the German problem and a criticism of American policy in Germany. Index.

"Despite a number of errors of fact which the author would certainly have corrected had he lived to read the proof sheets of this book and despite what seems to the reviewer a faulty appreciation of the limits within which American policy could have influenced the course of events, this is perhaps, the best study that has appeared on the problem of Germany." E. S. Mason

+ — Am Econ R 38:922 D '48 1050w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn

Am Pol Sci R 42:806 Ag '48 800w

Reviewed by T. J. Kreps

Ann Am Acad 259:173 S '48 500w

Booklist 44:297 My 1 '48

Christian Century 65:384 Ap 28 '48 140w

"Gustav Stolper's 'German Realities' will either be hailed as the non-plus-ultra of political wisdom or denounced as a bunch of dangerous half-truths, arbitrary distortions, and sweeping generalities. This reviewer feels compelled to say with some regret that he cannot join the hailing crowd. The regret is due to the fact that he not only respects the author for his courage to advocate a radical change in the treatment of Germany, but also because he must admit that Mr. Stolper's criticism of Yalta, Potsdam, and the quadripartite Level-of-Industry Plan scores a number of good points." Ernest Pisko

— + Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 1 '48 650w

"On certain crucial details—e.g. the Yalta Conference and Roosevelt's Soviet policy—[Dr. Stolper's] facts are wide of the mark."

Foreign Affairs 26:744 Jl '48 110w

"The author displays a keen political insight at many points. Thus, for example, he foretold quite accurately, several months in advance, the ultimate fate of Czechoslovakia, and his analysis of Soviet tactics is keen and penetrating. The aspect of the German problem which this book presents is one which the American people should consider. It is unfortunate that an otherwise good presentation is weakened by the errors and biases of the author." B. U. Ratchford

+ — J Pol Econ 56:355 Ag '48 850w

Kirkus 16:71 F 1 '48 210w

"Wealth of pertinent information and courage of critical analysis make volume indispensable in public and academic libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ Library J 73:394 Mr 1 '48 140w

"'German Realities' is factual and systematic, a knowing book with an undertone of profound sadness. It was written by a reasonable man, but a man who was a friend of the past, a liberal conservative, a European who must have suffered very much from the terrible upheaval of our times. He touches upon many matters which are not likely to receive attention in this country, but which are nevertheless significant for the future of our civilization." Golo Mann

+ Nation 167:191 Ag 14 '48 1250w

Reviewed by W. H. Hale

New Repub 118:17 Ap 5 '48 1150w

"Apart from . . . a few questionable statements, the author of 'German Realities' does respect both the historical and the economic realities that are pertinent to an understanding of Germany today. He also advances some new ideas on what is likely to happen there and what should be done. While this reviewer does not happen to agree with all of them, they are at least challenging. 'German Realities' has value for every serious student of American foreign policy." Russell Hill

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Mr 28 '48 1100w

"It is unfortunate that the terms challenging and provocative are so badly overworked. They are needed for this book. Nothing that has been written about Germany since the end of the war has challenged so many popular attitudes and no book has been more likely to provoke the reader. This was almost certainly as the author intended. . . He brings to his side of the case a feeling for history, an exceptional capacity for marshaling and using facts as distinct from puerile, labor-saving generalization, and a rare faculty for expression. . . Mistakes notwithstanding, this is a book of substance. If the reader finds himself disagreeing with Dr. Stolper—and to be quite candid about it, I hope he will—he will also find him a man well worth disagreeing with." J. K. Galbraith

+ N Y Times p5 Mr 21 '48 1650w

"Some of his contentions seem to this reviewer sound and the facts they rest upon solid and well presented. . . Other of his contentions this reviewer cannot accept." Sherman Kent

+ — Pol Sci Q 63:609 D '48 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p523 S 18 '48 950w

"The late Dr. Stolper's broad knowledge of German history, and, especially, of conditions obtaining in that misery-laden land prior to and since its collapse, has led him to bitterness, indeed, to such bitterness as has vitiated the strength of a number of otherwise sound criticisms."

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:191 Je '48 320w

STONE, EUGENIA. Secret of the bog; il. by Christine Price. 217p $2.25 Holiday

48-8890

In 1812 the village of Killieslaw in Ireland lost its last able-bodied man to the English press gang. Micky, only medium sized, was left to care for the village. Micky might have failed when the village was faced with starvation if it had not been for Timmy, the wild goose. Timmy showed the way across the bog to a lost village, and Killieslaw was saved. For ages eight to twelve.

Booklist 45:162 Ja 1 '49

"'The Secret of the Bog' is a broth of a story. The whole family will love it, and if you really do need an escape mechanism, this is it." B. J. Thompson

+ Cath World 168:217 D '48 270w

"The story interest is lively and full of suspense. Christine Price has made the drawings in complete accord." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 25:40 Ja '49 90w

"The author conveys the whimsical spirit of Irish story telling and its fun and sensitivity."

+ Kirkus 16:398 Ag 15 '48 160w

"The story is full of adventure, fine, good-natured people, the ups-and-downs that happen in any time and give truth to a tale. Best of all is the lovely language, rarely found in a book for any age, which seems to be on the tongues of all the Irish, whatever blight may seize the 'taties.' The illustrations have a warmth and kindness which fit the story." Marjorie Fischer

+ N Y Times p3 N 14 '48 140w

"In its wording and its atmosphere, in its people with their courage, their patience, their warm humor this is a story that stands out by itself. It sounds true, every word of it. It has in it the beauty and the sadness of Ireland. Many attractive drawings in black and white illustrate it."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 N 13 '48 270w

STONE, MRS GRACE (ZARING) (ETHEL VANCE, pseud). Secret thread. 261p $2.75 Harper

48-8230

Novel describing what happens to Cass Terhune when he visits his boyhood home in New York, and finds it a distributing point for stolen goods.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun O 8 '48 170w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 170w

"A novel successful neither as a story of adventure, nor as a seeking of a man for his own soul. It is a fuzzy mixture of the two, with the philosophical aspects pretty phony."
— Kirkus 16:317 Jl 1 '48 240w

"Not recommended but Vance fans probably will want it." Anne Whitmore
— Library J 73:1092 Ag '48 100w

"With originality and freshness of perception Miss Vance probes the deeper psychological levels." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 S 5 '48 850w

"It is suggestive that one tends to discuss 'The Secret Thread' on a pretty exalted esthetic plane as a novel of action and on a plane of low realism as a novel of introspection. . . In fine the reader is apt to take 'The Secret Thread' more seriously for its incidental machinery than he will manage to take it for its ostensible primary purpose." Wilson Follett
N Y Times p20 S 19 '48 600w

"Written admirably . . . the book provides the taut action for which Ethel Vance is noted plus the perception of character and motive which readers have found in the novels of Grace Zaring Stone." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ag 30 '48 330w

Reviewed by Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:10 S 4 '48 550w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter
Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 240w

"The opening chapters of Miss Vance's book are curiously exciting, both in their revelations and their reticence, but their promise remains unfulfilled as The Secret Thread develops into a competent but unexciting thriller, heavily shadowed by the work of Mr. Graham."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p497 S 4 '48 300w

STONE, HAMPTON. Corpse in the corner saloon. 248p $2 Simon & Schuster
48-10157

Detective story.

Kirkus 16:492 S 15 '48 70w

"Hampton Stone is the pseudonym of an experienced baffler whose identity the reader is invited to guess. Anyway, he's good, in and out of saloons, swinging a line of straightforward prose without any of that horrible synthetic jargon one sometimes meets in hard-boiled works. This has an ingenious interwoven plot built for those who want detection and more detection. Positively not a 'suspense novel.'" Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p30 N 14 '48 220w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p52 D 5 '48 200w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p23 D 5 '48 110w

Sat R of Lit 31:36 N 20 '48 50w

STONE, IRVING. Earl Warren; a great American story. 176p $2 Prentice-Hall
B or 92 Warren, Earl. Campaign literature, 1948
48-8282

A campaign biography of the 1948 Republican vice presidential nominee. Index.

Booklist 45:31 S 15 '48

Reviewed by R. E. Kennedy
Chicago Sun S 7 '48 550w

"I suppose it is unfair to apply ordinary standards of truth-telling to a flashy job of this kind, but even by the relaxed standards of campaign biographies this performance must be given an all-time-record low score." Carey McWilliams
— Nation 167:351 S 25 '48 950w

"'A Great American Story' is in the tradition. It is superficial, adulatory and ecstatic, and even its author's experience as a popularizer of such figures as Debs, Van Gogh, Clarence Darrow, Jack London and General Fremont's wife fails to make it interesting reading for its own sake. Yet the nature of the presidential campaign of 1948 and its candidates lends the book a curiosity value that makes it worth the attention of those who don't ordinarily bother with campaign biographies." Richard Watts
— + New Repub 119:22 S 13 '48 1250w

"A distinct improvement over the routine campaign biography. It tells the story of the Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency simply and engagingly, with no attempt to manufacture heroics for its subject." H. W. Baehr
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 O 3 '48 400w

Reviewed by Warren Moscow
N Y Times p11 Ag 29 '48 500w

"The book has the virtues and weaknesses of its type. In general, however, it reflects rather well Governor Warren's pleasant, easy personality, his career so far, and his notable success as a first-rate servant of the public. . . Mr. Stone covers all this in an informal style which occasionally becomes faintly silly. . . Perhaps the most significant part of the book—and one which might have been developed a bit more broadly, it seems to me—is near the close, when Mr. Stone discusses what Governor Dewey describes as the office of 'Assistant President.'" J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p20 Ag 20 '48 600w

Reviewed by R. S. Allen
Sat R of Lit 31:13 O 16 '48 900w
Springf'd Republican p10B S 26 '48 420w

STONE, ISIDOR F. This is Israel; foreword by Bartley C. Crum; photographs by Robert Capa, Jerry Cooke and Tim Gidal. 128p maps $2.75 Boni & Gaer
956.9 Israel. Jews in Palestine 48-9519

"Story of the Jewish war of independence and the birth of Israel, embodying the author's own observations and travels in Palestine during the fighting." (Publisher's note) Most of the text first appeared in PM, later the New York Star.

Booklist 45:156 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by P. S. Bernstein
+ Nation 168:132 Ja 29 '49 550w

"In attacking a very controversial subject, it should be noted, Mr. Stone has been able to retain accuracy and balance without losing any of the drama. Detail is observed at close range, with the larger picture never lost to view. The story of the creation of the modern Jewish state by an old and shattered people, suddenly become young and virile, is one that will hold attention for a long time to come, and Mr. Stone, here, has caught its full meaning." Fitzhugh Turner
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ja 2 '49 370w

Reviewed by Thomas Lask
N Y Times p4 N 28 '48 550w

"The book's general tone is further proof that it is apparently impossible for even the most seasoned journalist to write calmly about Palestine. The photographs of the Israeli in peace and in war are by Robert Capa, Jerry Cooke, and Tim Gidal; they are reproduced in large dimensions and are magnificent."
New Yorker 24:111 D 18 '48 100w

"'This Is Israel' is a big, profusely illustrated propaganda picture book which presents an overall view of the new Jewish state. It is fairly described as a 'propaganda book' because it is vigorously one-sided in its history of the formation and objectives of Israel, and in its description of the war with the Arabs. . . 'This Is Israel' is not entirely without merit. It contains some excellent photographs. . . Much that is moving and exciting is happening in the Levant, but unadorned propaganda has rarely enhanced any story, and it cannot be said that this book is any exception. Bartley C. Crum contributes a brief preface, in the same vein as the rest of the volume." C. W. W.

STONE, I. F.—Continued

— + San Francisco Chronicle p14 D 19 '48 550w

Springf'd Republican p18A Ja 16 '49 360w

STONE, WELDON. Devil take a whittler. 252p $2.75 Rinehart

48-5862

Fanciful tale of the Ozark hills, and of Lem Skaggs, a whittler, and his friend Old Nick, the devil. Lem wins Myra, the school teacher's religious daughter by whittling out a whole house and furniture for it. Their wedding is celebrated on the top of a hill with Old Nick present, playing his flute.

Booklist 44:268 Ap 1 '48

"Strikingly and refreshingly different, happily combining, with a lilting humor and an earthy lustiness, folklore, fact and fantasy. . . Even though unconventional, at times frank for certain tastes, it should find a special market."

+ Kirkus 16:32 Ja 15 '48 160w

"To my own mind all the business about the rivalry of Myra and Kat for Lem's abiding affection, somehow recalls Li'l Abner and Dasy Mae and Moonbeam McSwine, and their saga of Dogpatch rather than the Ozarks. The sex-element here—which Mr. Stone dwells upon with great gusto—does not ring true to Ozark folk-life as far as I have understood it. I am also not sure whether making a comic character the person who finally marries Lem and Myra is true to the Ozark tradition. As for the Devil . . . I feel that Mr. Stone is on firmer ground. But whether the Devil's flute, borrowed from the Greek Pan, really does appear in some Ozark folk-tale, I do not know." J. G. Fletcher

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 25 '48 750w

STORK, CHARLES WHARTON. On board Old Ironsides, 1812-1815, a rope-yarn epic. 92p $2.50 Wings

811 48-6341

"In that curious struggle known as the War of 1812, America's mediocre record in land battles was offset by the brilliant performance of her small navy. Charles Wharton Stork retells the epic narrative of the Constitution, affectionately dubbed Old Ironsides, in a combination of blank pentameter and rhymed tetrameter." Sat R of Lit

Reviewed by Thomas Ferril

San Francisco Chronicle p19 D 5 '48 40w

"Mr. Stork is a robust story teller, and he weaves the love interest of Tim Carty and Sara Trent through the battle scenes. The absence of any historical notes or source credits is disturbing to the reader who would like to know where facts end and fiction begins. The poet's technique has greater vigor than finesse, and while bardic freedom is expected in the narrative poem, some of the lines have the adjectival weakness of the 'luscious roar' of the guns." A. M. Sullivan

+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 Je 19 '48 550w

"If you like adventure, don't forget that some of the greatest tales and romances are to be found in poetry. 'On Board Old Ironsides' is a recent one not to be overlooked. . . Of course the poem contains some philosophizing on war and its needlessness, but the poem's power lies in its dramatic movement and in its descriptive scenes of action." J. W. Bogan

+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 140w

STORM, HANS OTTO. Of good family; stories and observations about Spanish America; collected and ed. by David Greenhood. (Swallow press bk) 308p $3 Morrow

818 South America—Description and travel 48-6912

"A posthumous collection, this includes the novel, Pity the Tyrant [Book Review Digest 1937] two short stories, essays, letters to David Greenwood, notes on a trip to South America." (Kirkus) Biographical note and writings.

Booklist 45:48 O 1 '48

Kirkus 16:186 Ap 1 '48 150w

"Those interested in Peruvian life, particularly in the 1930s, will not want to miss the very penetrating notebook selections. Hardly of general interest." Joseph Borome

Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Ernest Jones

Nation 167:164 Ag 7 '48 800w

" 'Pity the Tyrant,' is a faintly comical examination of Peru's moribund aristocracy, with emphasis on the sacred institution of 'Good Family.' Storm's letters are an extraordinarily interesting supplement to the novel. . . It's easy to see that Hans Otto Storm will never be Peru's favorite author, less easy to understand why he isn't more widely read in his own country." Richard Match

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Je 6 '48 800w

"The short stories are of relatively small importance, but the essays and lectures, as well as the extracts from the notebooks, are valuable for the depth of their insight, and for the unfailing intelligence of their author." H. B.

+ — N Y Times p18 Jl 25 '48 550w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 9 '48 800w

STORM, JOHN. Faraway tree; il. by George McVicker. 70p $2 Lothrop

48-6057

Under the shade of Miss Julia, Grandfather Oglethorpe's peach tree, half of the Ohio town of Whistle found solutions to pressing problems. When irritable Miss Peckham demanded that Miss Julia be cut down, the tree insisted on returning to Georgia. However Miss Peckham became ill and requested that the tree be brought back and all ends well with Miss Peckham serene and Miss Julia blooming at the age of sixty.

"Intended for the eight to 12 year olds, the writing of this story gives it a too strong adult slant. It's too wordy and too roundabout for youngsters who like to get on with the story. But the situation is excellent and there's a lot of humor and good philosophy which we all need badly." Martha King

— + Chicago Sun Ap 3 '48 260w

"A disappointment after the same author's Malcolm MacBeth, which had a certain intensity that made it superior fantasy. In comparison, this seems contrived and thoroughly adult in execution."

— Kirkus 16:144 Mr 15 '48 110w

"A story that is not particularly juvenile, but older children will certainly get the implications and will enjoy the humor of the story and drawings." E. F. Clift

Library J 73:718 My 1 '48 80w

"A disappointing venture into fantasy." M. J. Meade

— Library J 73:718 My 1 '48 60w

"One of the best stories of the season. It is not an allegory—it is a story moving right along, about people who keep you laughing because they are so funny." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ap 4 '48 340w

"Both text and pictures attempt a fanciful humor which does not quite come off, perhaps because of too much dependence upon exaggeration and sentimentality." Elizabeth Hodges

— N Y Times p22 Jl 18 '48 140w

STOUT, GEORGE LESLIE. Care of pictures. 125p pl $3.75 Columbia univ. press

751.6 Pictures. Paintings—Conservation and restoration 48-7791

"The director of the Worcester Art Museum gives information on the construction of paintings, the various types of support, ground, pigment and surface coating. It describes the kinds of damage and deterioration which may occur in the different parts. The X-ray, used in diagnosing ills of the body, is one of the many interesting techniques used in the care of pictures and radiography has been employed to determine whether the larvae of beetles are active in the panel of a picture." (Springf'd Republican) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:47 O 1 '48

"Recommended." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:1597 N 1 '48 130w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 8 '48 100w

STOUT, REX. And be a villain. 216p $2.50 Viking 48-8378

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun O 1 '48 310w

Kirkus 16:322 Jl 1 '48 90w

"Fast and funny."
+ New Repub 119:27 N 1 '48 100w

"Nero's investigations leave his laurels intact for top-flight brainwork bounded on all sides by fine story interest, with anonymous letters, blackmail and further casualties in the picture. Archie Goodwin, leg man extraordinary, serves as amusing narrator." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 O 3 '48 230w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p31 S 26 '48 320w

"Satisfactory, if the Wolfe mannerisms don't pall on you."
New Yorker 24:119 S 25 '48 110w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 O 10 '48 90w

"Better-grade Wolfe."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:56 O 9 '48 40w

Springf'd Republican p8B O 10 '48 120w

STRANGE, JOHN STEPHEN, pseud. See Tillett, D. S.

STRATEMEYER, FLORENCE BARBARA, and others. Developing a curriculum for modern living [prepared by the authors] and cooperating members of the Childhood-youth education committee. 558p $3.75 Teachers college

375 Education—Curricula 47-5044

"The results of a cooperative attack on the problems of the curriculum as a whole are presented in this volume. After reviewing the fundamental issues that have emerged in curriculum studies, the volume devotes more than a third of its text to the chief points of the authors' emphasis; namely, that learners should be educated to enable them to cope with persistent life situations extending from childhood to adulthood. The situations are classified under such headings as health needs, intellectual power, moral choices, esthetic expression, social participation, and environmental forces. Each of these is then broken down into a large number of specific activities or situations that learners meet or may be introduced to as they pass from childhood to adulthood. The latter part of the volume includes a number of practical illustrations suggesting how the principles advocated may be put into effect." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

"The book is designed for both elementary and secondary schools. Teachers, supervisors, administrators, parents, and other persons interested in good educational programs for children and youth, as well as for adults, will find this book a stimulating source of suggestions." O. P. Sand
+ El School J 48:344 F '48 900w

"It is bound, in the first instance, to have wide influence in Progressive circles. The emphasis on the need for co-operation and mutual respect, embracing noninstructional personnel as well, will undoubtedly please many others, too." W. W. Brickman
+ School & Society 67:90 Ja 31 '48 320w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
Social Educ 12:382 D 48 450w

"The volume is unusual in the elaborate detail with which the life situations are analyzed, and the wealth of concrete suggestions enumerated under each. It points the way to applying in practice a philosophy of education, curriculum theory, and principles of teaching; it should be invaluable as a reference work."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:359 D '47 220w

STRATTON, ARTHUR MILLS P. Lord love us. 320p $3 Scribner 48-9114

"The principals of this first novel are a pair of Boston twins—boy and girl—and two half-brothers from the South. But its most arresting character is a gentle, useless, effeminate old Back Bay bachelor whose hobby is collecting clocks and who presumably finds hell in the posthumous reflection that his treasures ticked on after his heart stopped. His 'lost-generation' spirit hovers over the also-lost young principals as they engage in disputes and love affairs, fight the 'phony war' together in France, and return to their homeland, where one finds contentment in marriage, two find misery in illicit love, and the fourth goes to tragic death after a bewildered fling at abnormal living." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"The hopelessness, degeneration, of a lost generation, at its most lost."
— Kirkus 16:376 Ag 1 '48 130w

"There are moments of rare humor, but they tend to be lost in a running dialogue badly in need of pruning. Idea crowds idea, leaving too little room for their adequate development, so that what should be invigorating talk—in view of the author's well stocked mind—more often becomes irritating."
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 21 '48 180w

"There is a good lot of glittering writing, particularly in the dialogue; characterizations are on the whole perceptive and convincing; a genuine immediacy is achieved—through talk and action—in several scenes. But too often the drama is dimmed by a cloud of tumultous exposition." Richard Sullivan
— + N Y Times p43 N 7 '48 150w

New Yorker 24:110 O 30 '48 120w

"Mr. Stratton achieves a stunningly realistic view of the Fall of France in 1940. In doing this, he is helped along no end by a flexible prose style and an acute sense of symbolical detail. He isn't yet a finished writer, for the dramatic interest sometimes bogs down in too much talkiness, too much philosophizing, too many literary allusions. But there is a sort of hard, glittering quality to what he has produced, and it is nice to find a new postwar novelist who not only has some sound tools for his art, but a good, inquiring mind with which to put them to work." Hollis Alpert
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:28 N 20 '48 600w

STRAUSS, L. HARRY, and KIDD, J. ROBY. Look, listen and learn; a manual on the use of audio-visual materials in informal education. 235p il $3.50 Assn. press

371.335 Visual instruction A48-97

"This is the first manual on the use of audio-visual materials to be addressed to nonprofessional and nonschool groups; namely, churches, clubs, public libraries, adult education agencies, social agencies, community councils, labor unions, farm groups, and similar organizations. It discusses briefly such audio-visual tools as motion pictures, slides and slidefilms, recordings and transcriptions,

STRAUSS, L. H.—Continued
radio, public address and sound systems, television and FM. Describes types of projectors, tells how to utilize the various kinds of audio-visual aids, and devotes a chapter each to the special applications for religion, camps, health and physical education, public affairs, entertainment and public relations, and to the production of amateur films." (Booklist) Selected bibliography.

Booklist 44:211 F 15 '48

Reviewed by A. B. Channon
Sat R of Lit 31:45 S 11 '48 90w

"The manual has much material of reference value on various phases of the subject and a 20-page, well-annotated bibliography. The style is nontechnical, but there are inclusions of an obvious and elementary nature." W. W. Brickman
School & Society 67:323 Ap 24 '48 180w

Wis Lib Bul 44:78 Ap '48

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). Death of an author. 244p $2.50 Dodd 48-1230

Detective story.

"Mr. Rhode provides one of those satisfying British stories in the old tradition, full of mystery meat and brain-work." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 Mr 7 '48 220w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 Mr 28 '48 150w

"Rather pleasant, in a ponderous fashion."
New Yorker 24:88 F 28 '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p17 Mr 7 '48 100w

"Sinuous plot worked out with familiar Rhodesian finesse—and more action than usual. Priestley-Hanslet-Waghorn combo works smoothly and well."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 F 21 '48 40w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). The links in the chain. 250p $2.50 Dodd
48-7775

Detective story.

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48

Chicago Sun p10 Ag 6 '48 140w

"Admirable detective tale, properly so-called." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ag 1 '48 180w

N Y Times p16 Jl 25 '48 150w

"Very neatly plotted."
+ New Yorker 24:64 Jl 31 '48 90w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ag 22 '48 100w

"Satisfactorily solid."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ag 14 '48 40w

"Leisurely going, but satisfying." D. F. M.
+ Springf'd Republican p7B Ag 29 '48 120w

STREET, ELWOOD. Handbook for social agency administration. 434p $5 Harper
361.8 Charity organization 48-5252

"The author of this handbook is an experienced social work executive who has served as director of the Community Chest and Council in Washington, D.C., Richmond and Houston. . . . He has also taught at George Washington University and at the New York School of Social Work. Originally published in 1931 [Book Review Digest 1931] under the title "Social Work Administration," the work represents a complete revision and reflects the tremendous expansion of the social work profession in the interim. Mr. Street discusses in systematic fashion the various ways in which competent administration may be achieved in social agencies. He does not deal at all with techniques or programs of social work, but only with procedures and practices designed to result in efficiency and economy in administration. His underlying theory is that the social agency which is most businesslike is usually most effective in performing the social service to which it is dedicated." Springf'd Republican

Booklist 44:251 Mr 15 '48

"A handbook which should prove of constructive value for reference in social agencies, where matters of organization are undergoing evolution into the more businesslike setup demanded now by foundations, businesses, big donors and so on."
+ Kirkus 15:618 N 1 '47 140w

"Will prove exceedingly useful as a guide to efficient and economical operation." Ephraim Fischoff
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 4 '48 900w

"The material throughout the book is detailed and specific. The experienced executive will skim some of it rapidly, but will frequently find himself slowed down by some thought-provoking idea or viewpoint. He will also use it as a handbook for reference, as its title indicates. The book should be read carefully by students and persons newly occupying administrative positions in social agencies." E. F. Reed
+ Survey 84:223 Je '48 310w

STRINGER, ARTHUR JOHN ARBUTHNOTT. Red wine of youth; a life of Rupert Brooke. 287p il $4 Bobbs
B or 92 Brooke, Rupert 48-7792

A biography of the English poet, Rupert Brooke. The author, a Canadian novelist and poet, based his work in part upon the materials gathered by Richard Halliburton. Before his death in 1939 Halliburton had succeeded in the difficult task of breaking down the reticence of Brooke's mother, and had collected much information about the life of his idol. Index.

Booklist 45:31 S 15 '48

"The legend of the perfect knight may suffer from this first full scale biography but Brooke's character, though moody and wayward, will continue to exert its great attraction. Recommended." G. D. McDonald
+ Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 140w

"Mr. Halliburton meant to make the first half of his unwritten book 'gay and vivid,' and the second half 'scholarly and interpretative,' Mr. Stringer has made no effort at all to do that second half, and 'gay and vivid' are not the adjectives which best describe the greater part of his narrative. Brooke's youth blazes more vitally in Edward Marsh's few pages than it does in this biography." DeLancey Ferguson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 8 '48 700w

"The excellent and carefully balanced life is free of hero-worship yet full of proper sympathy, shot with color but not killed by too much cannonading, paternalistic without being patronizing, retrospective in tone yet unhampered by nostalgia." Carlos Baker
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 8 '48 1400w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles
San Francisco Chronicle p10 Ag 15 '48 500w

"This vivid book is in no sense an appraisal of his work as an artist; it is the rapid record of a life lived rapidly and for the most part joyously. My only stricture concerning Mr. Stringer's work would be in regard to the chapter heads, which are not inspired and might have been omitted." W. R. Benét
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:14 S 4 '48 700w

Time 52:100 Ag 16 '48 800w

STROCK, CLIFFORD, ed. See Heating and ventilating (periodical). Engineering databook

STROHM, RUFUS TRACY, and DE GROOT, ARCHIBALD. Slide rule, how to use it. 2d ed 95p il $2 Int. textbook

510.78 Slide rule 48-6997

"The purpose of this book is to present the information required to enable the average person to learn how to use the slide rule for making calculations involving multiplication, division, proportion, finding powers and roots, and so on." (Pref) Contents: Construction of slide rules; Usual operations with Mannheim slide rules; Special uses of Mannheim slide rules; Slide rules with folded scales and log scales; Circular slide rule. Index.

Booklist 44:356 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:953 Je 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:47 My '48

Wis Lib Bul 44:147 S '48

STRONG, CHARLES STANLEY. Ranger, sea dog of the Royal mounted; il. by Kurt Wiese. 247p $2.50 Winston

Dogs—Legends and stories 48-1780

The crew of a Canadian Mounted police patrol boat discover a six months old puppy adrift in an Eskimo kayak. They rescue him and in time, after many adventures in the company of teen-age Roger, Ranger proves his worth and becomes eligible for special training.

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun My 15 '48 200w

Kirkus 16:88 F 15 '48 110w

"There are better dog stories than this; Ranger never comes alive as Lassie did. . . However, as an odyssey of the Arctic it is excellent. Anyone who reads it with a map of Canada and the Arctic before him sails the Northwest Passage himself with the Royal Mounted." J. M. Smith
+ — Library J 73:563 Ap 1 '48 100w

"Strong in setting and situation, the story deserved better treatment." Frances Smith
+ — N Y Times p33 Mr 28 '48 200w

STRONG, JOANNA, pseud. See Horowitz, C.

STRONG, MRS MARY HOLBROOK (WILSON), ed. Letters of the scattered brotherhood. 192p $2 Harper

149.3 Mysticism 48-5452

Anonymous letters, probably written by religious in Anglican Communities, giving spiritual guidance. The letters originally appeared in the Churchman.

"The letters have been arranged with fine discrimination and have been interpolated with arresting quotations from widely varying sources." T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 162:17 My 1 '48 210w

"It may be said emphatically that this book will be of help to many in need of a word of balance—and who isn't? Because the language used is lean and many ever-changing vagaries of the spirit are freshly approached with the aim unerringly upon the reader, this book deserves rank with other excellent modern and ancient works of devotion, such as Thomas Kelly's Testament of Devotion or Brother Lawrence's The Practice of the Presence of God." H. M. Gehr
+ Crozer Q 25:285 Jl '48 150w

Kirkus 16:82 F 1 '48 110w

"The tone of the letters is fervent and it is also manly. . . They give us assurance. . . 'Letters of the Scattered Brotherhood' is finely edited by Mary Strong, who makes a contribution of her own: it is in passages of vision and experience drawn from various religions, from philosophers and poets, placed beside the letters; these passages are like candles lighting the matter of the different letters." Padraic Colum
+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 My 8 '48 550w

STRUIK, DIRK JAN. Yankee science in the making. 430p $5 Little

509 Science—History 48-819

"A history of growth of the natural, physical and engineering sciences in New England, from the time of the Pilgrim Fathers to the beginning of the Civil War. Author, in tracing the developments of each field of science, exhibits a wide and varied acquaintance with scientific writings of the period. He is interested also in the industrial and commercial progress resulting from the application of these scientific principles." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Herbert Nichols
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 480w

Current Hist 15:227 O '48 50w

"Taken in small doses, the material is fascinating; perhaps not intended for straight ahead reading. The author has obviously done an extraordinarily painstaking labor of research, but has no sense of relative importance or editing his material, and bogs down in detail."
+ — Kirkus 16:326 Jl 1 '48 130w

"Scholarly and well documented. . . Book is rich in biographical sketches, and although many readers will find it too much an enumeration of facts, events and dates, it constitutes a valuable addition to the history of American science in this early period." J. E. Brown
+ Library J 73:1086 Ag '48 200w

"There is only one criticism to be made of this admirable book, and it concerns its mechanism rather than its substance. There is much to be said for footnote references on every page; there is something to be said for eliminating references altogether. There is nothing to be said for a complicated system which requires the reader to guess at references, sends him to a sort of code, and from there to a bibliography—a time-consuming and frustrating business." H. S. Commager
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 S 12 '48 1950w

"Professor Struik writes clearly and compactly, not contenting himself with a mere catalogue of inventions and gimcracks but always keeping his eye on the big pattern of scientific development, as it formed through the years, and on its sociological implications. The book might well have been illustrated."
+ New Yorker 24:117 S 25 '48 170w

"This is no merely popular study, but a solid contribution in a new field—what might be called the 'sociology of science.' At the same time, the author writes simply and well; he is never difficult, never jargon-bound. Best of all, he understands the meaningful interrelationships of science, literature, social and political ideas, and their overlapping significance in the general culture of the period and place. His book can help you know your America's nature as perhaps you may never have known it before." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 S 6 '48 700w

"Any shortcomings are generously outweighed by Professor Struik's achievement. Historians of the sociology of our time will note that barely one month after Aldous Huxley's 'Ape and Essence' sounded the ultimate note of despair for the atomic age ahead, Professor Struik affirmed the faith that the cure for crises provoked by new knowledge is still newer knowledge." Eliot Janeway
+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 S 18 '48 1600w

Reviewed by H. M. Davis
Springf'd Republican p18A Ja 16 '49 390w

STRUTT, MAXIMILIAN JULIUS OTTO. Ultra- and extreme- short wave reception; principles, operation, and design. 387p $7.50 Van Nostrand

621.384151 Radio—Short wave. Radio receivers 47-12482

"Contains information needed in the design of radio receivers based upon the experiences

STRUTT, M. J. O.—Continued
of one of the world's foremost electrical engineers who has worked for twenty years in this field with the Philips' Manufacturing Co. of the Netherlands. It shows the range of peace time applications of high frequency, very high frequency, extra-high frequency, and super high-frequency (microwave) radiations. Radio engineers and students will find it covers all the up-to-date and fundamental aspects of short-wave reception. References." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1617 N 15 '47 80w

"Some of the information has not been published elsewhere. The work will be of interest to professional radio engineers as well as to advanced students."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:46 My '48

STUART, WILLIAM L. Night cry. 208p $2.50 Dial press
48-5155

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Ja 23 '48 230w
New Repub 118:33 My 17 '48 70w

"Treats include natural dialogue, simple narrative, likeable police work and touches of romance. These help atone for an unsympathetic main character. Or do you like Mr. Tough?" Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 F 15 '48 160w

"Representative of the hard-boiled school of fiction, 'Night Cry' tells the simple, starkly brutal story of homicide at the hands of a police detective. Though the story has the usual romantic trappings, Stuart never lets them get out of hand. His story of the New York police scene is strictly Hollywood, but Grade-A Hollywood." Jack Glick
+ N Y Times p26 Ja 18 '48 270w

"Excellently planned, tense, and hard-bitten."
+ New Yorker 23:87 Ja 24 '48 80w

"This is a good one." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p22 F 29 '48 40w

"Grim and good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Ja 24 '48 50w

STUBER, STANLEY IRWIN. How we got our denominations; a primer on church history. [rev ed] 224p $2.50 Assn. press
280 Church history. Sects 48-7141

"A primer on church history, providing a record of the Christian Church from its beginning down to the present. Starting with Jesus' ministry and the formation by his followers of a new religious group, Dr. Stuber describes the period of persecution of the Christians, the development of churches and creeds, the middle ages and the crusades, the Reformation, and defines the many branches of the church today." (Publisher's note) Reference list. Index.

Booklist 45:98 N 15 '48

"The documentation and bibliographies are of variable quality, including many books now antiquated. The work of eliminating and condensing to get so much material into so little space, and to produce a brief conspectus without excessive dryness, has been, on the whole, skillfully done." W. E. G.
+ — Christian Century 65:806 Ag 11 '48 140w

"A general study of this book would enable all Christians to understand each other's churches better—and, I believe, tend to prove that there is more ground for unity in Christ than is generally recognized." T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 163:16 Ja 1 '49 210w

Reviewed by Alexander Mackie
Crozer Q 26:92 Ja '49 200w

"This book might be useful in teaching a Sunday school class of about junior high school age." E. M. T.
San Francisco Chronicle p22 S 19 '48 40w

STUNTZ, ALBERT EDWARD. To make the people strong. 298p $3.50 Macmillan
918 Latin America—Description and travel. U.S.—Relations (general) with Latin America. Latin America—Relations (general) with the U.S. 48-10985

"The author takes a long trip through our neighbor republics to the South to learn how we are co-operating on some important enterprises: better health conditions, improving transportation, increasing food yields, and promoting education." (School & Society) Index.

Booklist 45:156 Ja 1 '49
Kirkus 16:358 Jl 15 '48 110w

"His report is favorable, his book somewhat dull; but those interested in health problems will be repaid on looking into it." Joseph Borome
Library J 73:1191 S 1 '48 130w
Nation 167:674 D 11 '48 50w

"It is a report on an important subject. Its effect is weakened by its obviously official character. Mr. Stuntz's brief would have been more convincing had he shared his knowledge of the fantastic bureaucratic confusion which impeded the task, of the greed and double-crossing by Latin-American agencies which were supposed to co-operate." Hubert Herring
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 D 5 '48 550w

"The book is vividly written, journalistic in style, as might be expected, and unrestrainedly enthusiastic." Herschel Brickell
+ N Y Times p21 Ja 23 '49 700w

"Mr. Stuntz's book is mainly a reporter's lively travelogue. . . He takes his readers to points where all sorts of mysterious and occasionally familiar diseases are under attack in cooperative health centers conducted by yanqui and Latin-American physicians and nurses. . . He introduces us to scores of very real and extremely enthusiastic men and women working for such objectives as better drainage and water supply, good sewage disposal. . . Mostly, the writing is deliberately a bit on the superficial side—a hedge in favor of popular appeal, no doubt. . . But it is an effective method." Duncan Aikman
+ Sat R of Lit 32:13 Ja 1 '49 650w
School & Society 68:344 N 13 '48 40w

STUNTZ, HUGH CLARK. United nations challenge to the church. 169p $1.75 Abingdon-Cokesbury
341.13 United nations (organization). Peace. Church and social problems 48-1925

"Here is a study of the highest purposes of the United Nations as they are related to the Church and as they challenge the Church to go beyond them. The author has chosen five principal objectives announced in the preamble and referred to frequently in the Charter. After examining some of their implications for society he has evaluated each of these purposes and then has indicated what issues from each as a challenge to the Church." (Publisher's note) The material in this book was used originally for the Fondren lectures of Southern Methodist university in February 1947. Index.

Booklist 44:307 My 15 '48

"A book which displays a valid belief in both the churches and the U.N. but which really doesn't have anything particularly new to say about either. Dr. Stuntz is also given to the sweeping statement—as when, for instance, he says without qualification, that unions 'have become gigantic power-blocs manipulated by politically-minded bosses.' " J. O. Supple
— Chicago Sun Mr 21 '48 140w

"This book, meaty and factual, invites careful reading and will repay study."
+ Christian Century 65:855 Ag 25 '48 160w

"This is an excellent popular presentation of the reasons why every church and every individual Christian should give wholehearted support to the United Nations in every possible manner." W. K. Wright
+ Crozer Q 25:283 Jl '48 250w

STURGES-JONES, MARION. Heart has reasons. 250p $2.75 Putnam
48-4787

A gentle satire on Chestnut Hill snobbery. Miss Pheny, a respectable, elderly spinster, runs a boarding house on the wrong side of Philadelphia's tracks. The story is of Miss Pheny's attractive niece who almost marries into high society, and the niece's young daughter who marries the right man without getting into trouble with Chestnut Hill.

"Mildly malicious and a quietly entertaining family story."
+ Kirkus 16:410 Ag 15 '48 160w

"A contrived but amiable novel."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 O 17 '48 180w

Reviewed by Andrea Parke
N Y Times p16 Ja 16 '49 200w

San Francisco Chronicle p29 N 21 '48 110w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p8B O 10 '48 120w

SUGRUE, THOMAS. Stranger in the earth; the story of a search. 371p $4 Holt
B or 92 48-6191

"Autobiography, emphasizing author's search for a religious philosophy. Sugrue recalls his youth in Connecticut and at Washington and Lee University; his experience as a writer in New York; and his work with Edgar Cayce the psychic whose life he reported in There is a River [Book Review Digest 1943]. A heretic with regard to most current orthodoxies, Sugrue conducts, in several chapters, a lively debate with an opponent he calls The Professor; their subjects include love and marriage, the theology of the New Deal, baseball, and the origins and destiny of Christianity." Library J

Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

"This unorthodox spiritual autobiography by a former newspaperman and free-lance writer is ingenious in its method of development and engaging style. . . The dialogues are witty and learned, even when they are at bottom intellectually frivolous. . . The author decants at great length on mysticism but his own mystical theories are closer to Walt Whitman and Thomas Wolfe than they are to St. Bernard or St. Teresa. . . All this is a very puzzling mixture of genuine religious aspiration, poetic posturing, messianic democracy, pseudo-mysticism and quarts of sentimental Irish moonshine, with more than a dash of sex." F. X. Connolly
+ — Cath World 167:475 Ag '48 460w

Reviewed by H. T. Kane
Chicago Sun Ap 21 '48 420w

"There is something of everything in this book—and it is presented brilliantly by a clever and widely informed analyst." T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 162:16 O 15 '48 180w

"This is not an easy book to read or to review, but it repays the effort it requires. In the autobiographical sections, Sugrue is a more tender Joyce writing 'The portrait of the Artist as a Young Man' in terms of a New England Irish Catholic. In the philosophical sections he is less successful, skirting the brink of a pretentious but somewhat callow intellectualism. But anyone who knows Sugrue only as the ghost of Starling of the White House and of Eddie Condon will be surprised by the substance of the spirit here revealed." Mason Wade
+ — Commonweal 48:237 Je 18 '48 550w

"This is a difficult book, demanding much of the reader; yet it is beautifully written, stimulating, sensitive. Its integrity and its timeliness will find it its audience, if a specialized one."
+ Kirkus 16:99 F 15 '48 130w

"A stimulating imaginary conversation, as well as a candid and thoughtful autobiography." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:556 Ap 1 '48 110w

'The plan of the book provides space for all of Mr. Sugrue's interests. In other words the story tends to be crowded and breathless. It would have been easier for the reader if part of this full stream of ideas had been controlled. There is never too much, however, of the purely factual account of Mr. Sugrue's life. . . I liked what may be called the religious passages in this book more than the scientific. Whenever the talk turns to faith and hope and brotherly love, the spirit of the book is magnificent." John Erskine
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ap 11 '48 900w

"[The book] is beautifully, movingly, whimsically written. Youth packs it to the brim, and there is also a kind of adult tenderness in it which simply will not be forgotten. . . The book is fundamentally sound as well as exciting. If it does not profess faith from the housetops, it at least does so while tumbling down from the chimney. . . But the quality which really moves one is a singular and ardent purity. . . Quite a number of people might have written Sugrue's book. But only he has done so." G. N. Shuster
+ N Y Times p3 Ap 11 '48 1200w

New Yorker 24:106 My 1 '48 110w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p22 Ap 22 '48 950w

"This is one of the most perplexing, at times confusing, books to appear in some time; also, it is one of the most interesting. . . It is possible that this book, with all its frequent charm of writing and challenge to action, will leave certain readers unsatisfied. The author's elusiveness may at times be construed, no matter how unfairly, as evasiveness. On rare occasions, Mr. Sugrue has a distracting habit of presenting material that is not inaccurate in itself but lends itself to confusion or possible misinterpretation by the reader. . . But despite these and other possible blemishes, it is this reviewer's opinion that if the reader will only meet Mr. Sugrue with the charity and sympathy that lie in the author's heart, he will discover a rich and often stimulating mind." J. W. Chase
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:10 My 22 '48 1250w

SULLIVAN, ALOYSIUS MICHAEL. Tim Murphy, Morgan rifleman, and other ballads; il. by Howard S. Zoll. 219p $3.75 McMullen
811 Murphy, Timothy—Poetry 48-5251

"Narrative poems based on real people and actual events in the American past. Among them are the stories of Tim Murphy (whose exploits as a sharpshooter in the Revolution have become legendary while the man himself has become a regional folk hero), John Castner (who hauled cannon balls for Washington), and Nicholas Van Zandt (a pre-Revolutionary ironmonger who gave his word to the Indians and kept it)." Library J

Reviewed by Gerald McDonald
Library J 73:475 Mr 15 '48 80w

"Mr. Sullivan is a highly competent verse writer rather than a greatly gifted one, but he has magnificent material to work with and wonderful adventures to relate. And though some of his rhymes seem forced, and his verse sometimes has about it a certain pedestrian monotony—he manages to sustain on a pretty high level a narrative of considerable complexity and length. This is no mean achievement." Martha Keller
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:28 Mr 20 '48 360w

SULLIVAN, RICHARD. First citizen. 209p $3 Holt
48-8550

Novel of the rise and downfall of the ruthless "first citizen" of a small town.

Booklist 45:89 N 1 '48

Reviewed by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:212 D '48 30w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Chicago Sun p57 O 13 '48 450w

"The construction of this story speaks for Mr. Sullivan's ability as a writer. The flashbacks bolster, rather than disturb, the continuity. And he is able to do the usually disastrous trick of changing viewpoint from one character to another with little more than a momentary hitch in the reader's mind. The success of this is due almost entirely to Mr. Sullivan's truly superb understanding of human beings." J. O. Frederick
+ Commonweal 49:41 O 22 '48 550w

"This has been done before—and better."
— Kirkus 16:376 Ag 1 '48 120w

"While this misses full credibility it is a good try at setting down on paper the great evil in little persons. . . Recommended for those collections aiming to include the bulk of serious current fiction." R. E. Kingery
Library J 73:1386 O 1 '48 100w

"Mr. Sullivan has done a thorough job, but with a certain lack of sympathy in the writing. You are sorry for Kingsley Bond's victims, but not deeply stirred." George Conrad
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 3 '48 260w

"Kingsley Bond's viciousness would have been heightened if there were, somewhere in the book, a strong affirmative contrast to him. There isn't. He stands, unrelieved, as a personification of evil, and his story rises to an almost unbearably stark climax." Hal Borland
N Y Times p20 O 10 '48 500w

"Flamboyance has obscured good writing. Mr. Sullivan should for his own sake as well as ours, have stopped this side of the guignol." C. M. Brown
— + Sat R of Lit 31:58 D 4 '48 160w

SUMMERS, HOLLIS SPURGEON. City limit. 275p $2.75 Houghton
48-7902

A first novel in which the locality is the Kentucky side of the Ohio river. It is the love story of a high school boy and girl who are driven into marriage by the pressure brought to bear upon them by censorious and repressed adults.

Booklist 45:193 F 1 '49

"By no means offering a high school marriage as a general model, the author creates understanding of the dilemma of young love." W. K. Rugg
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ag 12 '48 250w

"A sometimes poignant, not always pleasant contrast drawn between the idealism of the young, the rigidity of their elders, but rather questionable betters."
Kirkus 16:289 Je 15 '48 140w

"Mr. Summers attempts to show in his first novel that the love of young people can be the kind of love that brings strength and erases fear. Though his theme is interesting and his writing is capable, his point would be better proved with stronger characters. Harriet remains fuzzy and Ed seems unlovable. Though set out with some subtle adornments, the dean herself is a typical embittered spinster type."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ag 15 '48 220w

"It is correct to say this is a psychological novel, but it is the reviewer's glad impression that the story was written not following after Freud no matter where, but out of observation and intuition and study of behavior down to its smallest manifestations, and a conception of it on the general scale. It succeeds because of the author's honesty and care for his work." Eudora Welty
+ N Y Times p16 S 19 '48 950w
San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 26 '48 200w
Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

SUMMERS, RICHARD ALDRICH. Craft of the short story. 527p $5.50; college ed $4 Rinehart

808.3 Short stories—Collections. Short story
48-8183

Textbook on short story writing giving twenty-six examples of commercial and literary types. The appendix includes lists of literary agents, magazine markets, and book publishers, and a page of proofreaders' marks. Index.

Booklist 45:29 S 15 '48

"It is heartening to find a book on short-story writing which does not declare that anyone can do it. Happily, too, Mr. Summers uses a domestic and workmanlike style in place of the semi-literate breeziness by which so many writers on this subject seem to imply, and most certainly insure, that only the near moronic will read their work." B. W. Jackson
+ Canadian Forum 28:212 D '48 420w

Reviewed by Nelson Olmstead
Chicago Sun Ag 30 '48 260w
Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

"Mr. Summers' approach to creative writing is superficial. . . The treatise, chief original contribution yet only 125 pages of a lengthy, high-priced textbook, does manage to say a good deal that should be said to would-be writers; but its manner is glib and vague, its matter now and then downright misleading. . . [The author's] use of terms is baffling: technique, style, successful, episodic and others are seldom exactly defined. . . The stories are well chosen, each expert at its level, nearly all based on material that might lie within a student's experience; and Mr. Summers has added statements about writing from their authors that could be of great help to students. Since, however, he has divided these stories arbitrarily into hard-and-fast literary and popular groups, for lack of sound argument preceding he is often in critical difficulty and is finally forced to admit that the line between the two kinds is uncertain. All the appended information is available elsewhere." K. P. Kempton
— + N Y Times p9 Ag 22 '48 500w

Reviewed by W. R. White
San Francisco Chronicle p11 O 3 '48 270w

SUMMERS, ROBERT EDWARD, comp. Economic aid to Europe: the Marshall plan. (Reference shelf) 271p $1.50 Wilson, H.W.

330.94 Europe—Economic conditions. Reconstruction (1939-)—Europe. U.S.—Economic policy
48-6438

Collection of articles relating to all phases of the Marshall plan, and containing data and arguments, pro and con. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:315 My 15 '48
Christian Century 65:758 Jl 28 '48 40w

SUMMERSBY, KATHLEEN (MCCARTHY-MORROGH) Eisenhower was my boss; ed. by Michael Kearns. 302p $2.75 Prentice-Hall

B or 92 Eisenhower, Dwight David. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 48-8891

An account of the experiences of the young British WAC captain who was at first General Eisenhower's driver during his African and European campaigns. From driver, Captain Summersby advanced to secretary and military aide. Index.

Booklist 45:64 O 15 '48

"There is little new in her commendation of General Eisenhower, the man, though she had the advantage of seeing him under all the strains, jealousies, and hardships of war. What distinguishes the book is the sense of loyalty, reliability, and doggedness under fire that Miss Summersby herself expressed and here, indirectly and modestly, transmits to the reader. It is easy to see why General Eisenhower kept her three and a half years on his unbeatable British-American team." Mary Hornaday

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 O 20 '48 600w

"Approaching the script with a certain amount of prejudice, I found it surprisingly interesting and revealing. . . There are many light touches that reveal the humanness of General Eisenhower, at work, at play (and what a bridge player he turned out to be!) Her defense of women in military life is vehement and it is refreshing to have one of them show their value in the military scene, remote from the camp follower conception fostered in some quarters. Both Captain Summersby and her boss come out as good soldiers."

+ Kirkus 16:502 S 15 '48 240w

"Recommended." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 100w

"She writes briskly and entertainingly and modestly and withal, seriously about both the events and the people. . . This is an unpretentious and informal book. It might have been a better book if some of its detail had been eliminated. Yet it is some of that very detail, given by a girl who saw a lot and is content to write only about what she saw, that helps to give it the interest and credibility of a letter from some one who was there." Mary Ross

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly R p9 O 31 '48 550w

Reviewed by David Dempsey

N Y Times p16 O 31 '48 500w

New Yorker 24:179 D 4 '48 110w

"Kay Summersby tells us her book is no attempt at preserving history or analysing strategy. Yet, as in a painting the observer looks for some focal point, so the reader looks in vain in this book for a unity that will pull the book together. The eye wanders through insignificant detail, which, though pleasing, is not totally satisfying. The end result is an impression rather than an emotion." P. H. Mezey

San Francisco Chronicle p15 O 17 '48 800w

"Obviously, it is for her portrait of her boss that her book is important; the simplicity, the ability to get on with everyone, the untiring, tremendous capacity for work, the quick, intelligent curiosity, the thoughtfulness for others, the complete fairness but quick temper, all are noted. Superficially, this seems merely a highly readable account of a most unusual war experience; but future years may find it, just possibly, a milestone in the changing status of woman in a changing world." Pamela Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 N 6 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p8B O 24 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 45:12 Ja '49

SUMNER, MRS CID RICKETTS. Tammy out of time. 277p $2.75 Bobbs

48-5640

"After the law caught up with her grandfather, Tammy, who had spent her seventeen years on a Mississippi houseboat, sought shelter at Peter Brent's plantation home near Natchez. There she found a different life and love." Cleveland Open Shelf

---

Booklist 44:234 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by H. T. Kane

Chicago Sun My 2 '48 410w

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48

"Nothing original in this 'poor, uneducated girl meets and catches college educated son of a snobbish family' theme, but the conversation is original. . . Recommended."' Anne Whitmore

Library J 73:198 F 1 '48 70w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 80w

Wis Lib Bul 44:134 Je '48

SUTTON, HORACE. Footloose in France; with photographs mostly by the author. 382p maps $4 Rinehart

914.4 France—Description and travel 48-9547

Guidebook to postwar France. It covers Paris and its surrounding country, Normandy, Brittany, the Chateau country, the Pyrenees, Provence, the Riviera, Burgundy, and Alsace, Corsica, and the Alps. Includes maps and many photographs. List of hotels and restaurants. Index.

Booklist 45:176 Ja 15 '49

Kirkus 16:500 S 15 '48 150w

"An up-to-the-minute guide book written in a light and merry vein, as fascinating to reminisce with as for planning a new tour. Concise, yet thorough on the highlights and beauty spots of France. . . Recommended." M. H. Zipprich

+ Library J 73:1665 N 15 '48 100w

"The American who plans to travel through France in the way that many Americans did after the earlier war, hitting the high spots and not staying long in any of them, will find much to interest him in this up-to-date travel guide and a great deal to help."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p50 D 5 '48 190w

"Precisely the kind of guidebook that many of us have been looking for. It agreeably fills the bill, for the oldtime nostalgic 'exile' and for the eager first-time tourist. . . Don't leave Mr. Sutton out of your transoceanic luggage. And if you can't visit or revisit France, reading him is about the next best thing." Samuel Putnam

+ N Y Times p36 D 5 '48 350w

"An enthusiastically written, sensibly organized and altogether very useful postwar guide to [France]." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 D 14 '48 650w

"This is the first guide book, strictly postwar France, that I have not wanted to throw out of the window. . . All I can say about Mr. Sutton's book is that, having read it, I am applying for a passport, a visa to France, and as soon as they come through, will be on my way." Elliot Paul

+ Sat R of Lit 31:70 D 4 '48 750w

SVOBODA, ANTONIN. Computing mechanisms and linkages; ed. by Hubert M. James [under the supervision of the] Office of scientific research and development, National defense research committee. 359p il $4.50 McGraw

681.14 Calculating machines 48-7[illegible]6

"Guide for engineers, technicians, scientists and those interested in the latest developments in radar, dealing with computing mechanisms and a detailed study of the design of bar linkages for use in computers. Includes an account of novel methods for the design of bar linkages serving as generators of functions of one and two independent variables, with special attention given to design of bar linkages multipliers." (Library J) Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:4 Ja '48

"This volume is, without doubt, an important addition to the literature on computing devices, and merits the attention of all engineers and scientists whose activities require familiarity with this specialized field."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:238 Je '48 360w

SWAIN, RALPH BROWNLEE. The insect guide; orders and major families of North American insects; il by SuZan N. Swain. 261p $3 Doubleday

595.7 Insects 48-7228

Handbook on the major insects of North America. The explanations are in nontechnical language, and typical species of each family are illustrated. The author is an entomologist in the Department of Agriculture. Index.

"An easy book to use."
+ Booklist 44:377 Jl 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48
+ Kirkus 16:187 Ap 1 '48 80w
Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 50w

"A readable and well-planned handbook."
+ New Yorker 24:72 Jl 10 '48 80w
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ag 8 '48 60w
Wis Lib Bul 44:147 S '48

SWANSON, WILLIAM ELMER. Log cabins. 207p il $2.95 Macmillan

728.74 Log cabins 48-6701

A book on methods of log cabin construction. Partial contents: Selecting a location; Tools; Clearing the site; Foundations; Walls; Roofs; Floors; Windows and doors; Porch and garage; Fireplaces; Water and sewerage; Furniture. Index.

Booklist 44:334 Je 1 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"Travelers through the national parks and northern and southern woods, with this manual in hand, and so many examples to behold, might, with zest, get going on next summer's 'house of our own.' "
+ Commonweal 48:681 Ap 30 '48 130w

"I found [the book] oddly abrupt in its opening sections—with the assumption of so much basic knowledge on the part of the builder, but ultimately all the salient facts were assembled. . . A useful book for people with some fundamental knowledge."
Kirkus 16:100 F 15 '48 150w

"Mr. Swanson wastes no words on board-and-batten or frame construction so popular for summer cabins in California, nor does he mention the use of redwood which may also hurt local pride. Otherwise the volume is a complete, and worthwhile handbook." C. R.
San Francisco Chronicle p21 Je 13 '48 150w

SWARD, KEITH THEODORE. Legend of Henry Ford. 550p $5 Rinehart

B or 92 Ford, Henry 48-2546

"A large-scale history of Ford and the Ford industrial empire, which was literally an empire, with a nearly autonomous capital in Dearborn and a full-fledged colony, with its own police powers, in Fordlandia, Brazil. Mr. Sward, a practicing psychologist, was attracted to Henry Ford and his complex, contradictory personality as an ideal subject for a psychiatric study of the American Dream, but somewhere along the way he apparently lost sight of his purpose . . . and produced instead a . . . biography of the man." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by G. C. Osborn
Ann Am Acad 260:207 N '48 270w
Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:105 Jl '48 550w
Booklist 44:367 Jl 1 '48
Reviewed by R. B. Nye
Chicago Sun Jl 7 '48 450w

"Studious, controversial, but pointed in evaluation. Of business interest, chiefly."
+ Kirkus 16:188 Ap 1 '48 160w

"Dr. Sward taught at Univ. of Minn. and Western Reserve then became public relations councillor with C. I. O. unions. He is now a practicing clinical psychologist. Valuable contribution to industrial history." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:706 My 1 '48 210w

"Mr. Sward, far from joining the swooning chorus once led by W. J. Cameron of 'Ford hour' fame, strikes a succession of sour notes calculated to upset the harmony of the popular legend. His work is scholarly, however, and he avoids hymns of hate. Coming to his subject as a mid-western Ph.D. who has been both a C. I. O. public relations man and a clinical psychologist and psychotherapist, Mr. Sward is bent on getting as deep under the surface as possible. His method is as thorough as that of the late Gustavus Myers at his best; and his conclusions, if you accept them, are just as devastating." W. H. Hale
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Je 13 '48 1450w

"In preparation for this book, Dr. Sward, a clinical psychologist, former public relations counsel for several CIO unions and teacher at the University of Minnesota and Western Reserve University, spent ten years of research, including a year of field work in Detroit. Thanks to his special qualifications as a social psychologist, it is not only a definitive biography of Henry Ford and his motor empire, it is a perceptive interpretation of certain aspects of the relationship between a section of 'big business' and the economy and the culture patterns of our society." H. J. Bresler
N Y Times p4 Je 13 '48 800w

"Probably the most thoughtful work on Ford and his company yet published."
+ New Yorker 24:98 Je 12 '48 140w

"Excellent study." Marvin Sargent
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ag 1 '48 600w

SWARTSFAGER, VERN. Bell ringers. 212p il $3 Macmillan

362.7 Juvenile delinquency. Children—Charities, protection, etc. 48-3147

A true story of a gang of Dallas boys who were won over from their acts of juvenile vandalism by an understanding Episcopal priest. Illustrated with photographs.

"This is a book which should be of interest to all those concerned with the problem of juvenile delinquency, and it should be encouraging to church people to read the story of a churchman really making his Christianity work. It is also a book full of human interest."
+ Kirkus 16:286 Je 15 '48 170w

"For the reference shelf." J. E. Cross
Library J 73:943 Je 15 '48 90w

"A lively, inspiring history."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 3 '48 150w
School & Society 68:287 O 23 '48 50w

SWEET, WILLIAM WARREN. The American churches; an interpretation. 153p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

277.3 U.S.—Religion. U.S.—Church history 48-7227

"Considers that religious freedom, westward migration, and unrestricted immigration are responsible for the emphasis on the social gospel in U.S. religion and includes chapters on Roman Catholicism and the Negro's religion." (Booklist) The book has been rewritten from the author's Beckly lecture given at the British Methodist conference in 1946. Index.

"For humanitarians both within and without the churches this book will provide heart-warming reading; for historians it offers a stimulating interpretation of the basic trends in American church history." R. A. Billington
+ Am Hist R 54:438 Ja '49 200w
Booklist 44:345 Je 15 '48
Reviewed by R. A. Preston
Canadian Hist R 29:418 D '48 500w

"Laymen, as well as ministers and students, can read this little book with pleasure and understanding." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:481 My 19 '48 210w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 162:17 O 1 '48 180w

"There is only one point in Professor Sweet's thesis that is open to serious question: his emphasis on the importance of left-wing Protestantism in American religious development. . . Left-wing Protestantism, using his own definition of the term, was not as prevalent in the colonies as he assumes. . . The major intellectual current among the colonial religious groups was distinctively 'right-wing' in terms of the Reformation movements. . . It is true, to be sure, that the development of certain left-wing characteristics did begin to modify the patterns of classical Protestantism during the colonial period and that by the time of the Second Great Awakening of the early nineteenth century these new patterns had won a complete victory. . . In spite of these objections to Professor Sweet's thesis with regard to the influence of left-wing Protestantism, his contention will undoubtedly result in a more balanced appraisal of our American religious heritage. As always, he is provocative and stimulating, and once again through this brief interpretation of the American churches he has placed us profoundly in his debt." W. S. Hudson
+ — Crozer Q 25:358 O '48 1000w

"With his Methodist background, Professor Sweet speaks for a large section of American Protestantism. His book is a clear exposition of what it is like and how it came to be that way." E. M. T.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 15 '48 400w

SWEZEY, KENNETH M. After-dinner science; phot. by author. (Whittlesey house publication) 182p $3 McGraw
793.8 Scientific recreations 48-8356

A book of scientific experiments demonstrating principles of physics and chemistry by means of kitchen chemicals and household equipment. Photographs illustrate each experiment. Index.

"Good library material."
+ Booklist 45:62 O 15 '48

"Should be of plus sale to boys."
+ Kirkus 16:473 S 1 '48 100w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 S 26 '48 160w

SWIFT, JONATHAN. Portable Swift; ed. and with an introd. by Carl Van Doren. (Viking portable lib) 601p $2 Viking
828 48-6990

A selection of Swift's essays, poems, letters, journals, and the complete Motte-Ford text of Gulliver's travels.

Booklist 44:354 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by Vivian Mercier
Commonweal 48:362 Jl 23 '48 70w

"A creative piece of editing, in that it brings to general awareness, much that is forgotten, not known, or ignored, written by 'the greatest satirist in our language.' A superb introduction paints a pen portrait of Swift and his age, with the contradictions, his prejudices, his brilliance, his loves and hates and friendships. . . One of the best of this excellent series."
+ Kirkus 16:253 My 15 '48 90w

Reviewed by John Farrelly
New Repub 119:25 Ag 9 '48 1100w

"'The Portable Swift' is a reader's, not a student's work, and it does not hesitate to print the text, except for the poems, as Swift would himself print it if he were now alive. At the same time, the 'Portable' undertakes to give a sound text carefully printed."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 My 23 '48 190w

Time 52:78 Jl 5 '48 330w

SWINNERTON, FRANK ARTHUR. The cats and Rosemary; il. by Zhenya Gay. 182p $2.50 Knopf 48-7507

Story of a summer in Surrey with seven-year-old Rosemary, her cats, guinea pigs and hens. For ages 7-10.

Kirkus 16:396 Ag 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. E. Frank
Library J 73:1390 O 1 '48 80w

"Small girls will like having it read to them and adult cat lovers will find the reading aloud enjoyable. The black-and-white drawings of the cats are realistic and delightfully true to cat nature." Siri Andrews
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ja 2 '49 70w

"Mr. Swinnerton seems to have confused the childish with the childlike. Much of the book consists of conversation among Rosemary and her pets, which is all very well if one wishes to show the sympathy which exists between the young and animals, but when the conversation is extended to adults the point is blunted. The humor is strained, and though there is one charming cat, Bogey, the most sharply defined character, Buchie, an elderly feline with a speech impediment, is so very egregious that she is more irritating than amusing." E. L. B.
— N Y Times p35 O 31 '48 150w

"In spite of some clever dialogue and amusing ideas, the book is not wholly satisfying. This reviewer did not warm up to it, perhaps because the story does not move on its own." B. W. Shaffer
— + Sat R of Lit 31:25 N 13 '48 180w

SWINNERTON, FRANK ARTHUR. Faithful company; a winter's tale. 310p $3 Doubleday
48-7140

Novel describing the last days of the London publishing company of Faithful House.

Booklist 44:368 Jl 1 '48

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 1 '48 240w

"A strange and unpleasant book. . . Swinnerton's name will give it the mark of distinction, but it is hard to think of the book's being read for entertainment."
— Kirkus 16:199 Ap 15 '48 190w

"Suave, competent, cunning, this novel is clearly a winner." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 30 '48 120w

"The plot of 'Faithful Company' is deftly managed, with all the finesse of an old and skilled hand at novel-building. In it virtue triumphs pleasantly and persuasively, and villainy—especially the villainy of the Goodlebys—gets its proper come-uppance. Dickensian as it is in method, 'Faithful Company' is nevertheless modern enough in feeling, presenting a good contemporary love story and some realistic insight into a backwater of Fleet Street publishing." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Je 13 '48 600w

"Frank Swinnerton has attained ripeness without weariness. Nothing that he has ever signed outdoes this novel in respect of unfailing gusto; and it is his gusto, even more than his wit, that we have to thank for a novel longer than most by the comptometer, and shorter than most by the reader's sensations. . . George is the chief and the most interesting of half a dozen variously loathsome beings, male and female, whom their creator skins alive. . . It is, in fact, a long generation since fiction of the first order has permitted itself an equal violence in the characterization of human detestableness. . . Not one of the handful of truly good persons, offered to us with the slightly tart affection that is the author's invariable tone toward them, is ever for an instant dull." Wilson Follett
+ N Y Times p5 Je 20 '48 950w

SWINNERTON, F. A.—Continued

"Written with a certain amount of dawdling charm but set in a type so small as to practically preclude the book's being read through."
New Yorker 24:97 Je 12 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 27 '48 250w

"In spite of its melodramatic and somewhat obvious plot, 'Faithful Company' managed to be an absorbingly entertaining novel. . . Mr. Swinnerton [has the] gift for creating the dank kind of atmosphere necessary for his story. His characters, whether they are out of Dickens, or not, emerge as human beings, and in some way the worthy and the noble are neither mawkish nor silly. Even the villains, sly or devilish, have a kind of dignity and pathos about them. And then there is the comforting assurance from the very beginning that everything will turn out all right in the end." Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Je 12 '48 800w

Reviewed by L. A. G. Strong
Spec 180:746 Je 18 '48 470w

"The book has economy and humour. These, with the author's ironic style and sense of scene, give his creatures reality and motion. Unfortunately, the important George Goodleby benefits least from these gifts. He is never so terrible as the other characters insist that he is. Even so, the later stages of the book are grim enough, and only Mr. Swinnerton's residual share of Victorianism strikes out an ending in which the good get happiness at the expense of the bad."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p301 My 29 '48 230w

SYDNOR, CHARLES SACKETT. Development of southern sectionalism, 1819-1848. (History of the south) 400p pl $6 La. state univ. press
975 South—History. Sectionalism (U.S.)
48-7627

Volume five in this ten-volume series on the history of the Southern states covers the years 1819 to 1848. It is concerned with the internal development of the South during those years, and the deterioration of the section in relation to the nation. The author is professor of history at Duke university. The book contains a critical essay on authorities, and an index.

"Authenticated with an excellent critical essay on source materials, this is an outstanding piece of Southern historical scholarship; written in good literary style, it can be enjoyed by the lay as well as the academic reader." M. D. Irish
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1041 O '48 300w

Reviewed by J. F. Rippy
Ann Am Acad 260:215 N '48 490w

Booklist 45:11 S 1 '48

Christian Century 65:945 S 15 '48 200w

"Professor Sydnor's The Development of Southern Sectionalism is an admirable example of moderation in expression and good sense in judgment." Arthur Schlesinger, jr.
+ Columbia Law R 48:1264 D '48 650w

Current Hist 15:165 S '48 70w

"The period dealt with by Mr. Sydnor is highly controversial, but most people would have supposed that the field was well worked. He is becomingly modest about his own venture into it, but he need have no fears about the reception of his sound, thoughtful, and clearly-written book. The tone is restrained but the treatment is fresh; the author is deeply sympathetic with the people he writes about but never descends to partisanship." Dumas Malone
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 15 '48 1450w

"Mr. Sydnor of Duke University has written a revealing book with a commendable freedom from bias. He understands the basic forces in molding behavior. Most fortunately he is able to create a synthesis which brings these forces into a coherent narrative. As a result of his labors we can advance a long step forward toward a better understanding of the South of today." R. F. Nichols
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 1 '48 600w

School & Society 68:16 Jl 3 '48 30w

Social Studies 39:335 N '48 40w

Springf'd Republican p15A Ag 1 '48 750w

SYKES, CHRISTOPHER. Answer to question 33. 278p $3.50 Sloane
48-8584

A first novel by the author of Four Studies in Loyalty. The hero, Kirkby, is called by a friend to a session in the House of Commons concerning an Italian woman, Donna Isabella, who was broadcasting anti-British propaganda from Moscow. Kirkby then tells the story of his own life, his love for Lady Caroline Medlam, and the part played in both their lives by Donna Isabella, once an ardent admirer of all things British, whose love had turned to hatred and bitterness. The scene is England and the Near East.

Booklist 45:103 N 15 '48

"Mr. Sykes writes with distinction: his witty turn of phrase gives his book a high entertainment value, though the style is more brilliant than the content." Dorothy Graham
+ Cath World 168:252 D '48 200w

"Mr. Sykes' style is commendably clear, simple, and lacking in affectations. He has a good story to tell, but at half its length it would be better, just as with twice its intensity, either moral or historical, it would be more original." Florence Codman
+ — Commonweal 49:78 O 29 '48 190w

"There is a special feeling in the younger days of Kirkby and Caroline that reflects the tempo and background of the period; there is acute observation and concern with people's minds as well as their emotions; and the whole, in spite of some weakness in characters that lack complete reality, in a lack of balance in the unities of time, place and action, is a novel for the reader who does not wish his intelligence insulted."
+ Kirkus 16:449 S 1 '48 240w

"Brilliant, provocative story by master storyteller, rich in detail, arresting in its ethical problems, and sane in its philosophy." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:1386 O 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 30 '48 150w

Reviewed by Ernest Jones
Nation 167:527 N 6 '48 360w

"Anyone attracted to the present Christopher Sykes novel by his last book, Four Studies in Loyalty, will be disappointed. . . Many of the virtues of the earlier book are present in this one, but they vitiate rather than support a novel." John Farrelly
— New Repub 119:25 O 11 '48 700w

"Though not, I think, successful as a novel, Answer to Question 33 is a most agreeable and civilised piece of writing. . . And throughout the novel one has the sense of being in the company of a man at ease with life, an amateur of more than one art, who has seen many countries and enjoyed rich experiences. It is not the commonest feeling one has when reading contemporary fiction." Walter Allen
+ — New Statesman & Nation 35:464 Je 5 '48 170w

" 'Answer to Question 33' is a civilized book, if ever there was one. The publishers suggest it will be compared with the work of Evelyn Waugh and Aldous Huxley; but to me it is much more like the novels of Maurice Baring, who also wrote of civilized people and of the Catholic and diplomatic world. The chief difference, perhaps, is, in the state of the cherry orchard—in Baring's time the trees were only threatened, but Mr. Sykes's latter-day Hamlet saw some of them toppling even in victory." James Hilton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 O 10 '48 900w

" 'Answer to Question 33' will have to be charged with both padding and ill construction. For the most part, happily, Mr. Sykes's offhand way with a plot—or rather two plots—is neither noticeable nor annoying. As 'Four Studies' demonstrated, he is an uncommonly urbane and observant writer, with a gift for ironic comedy that is merely facile." Herbert Lyons

+ — N Y Times p4 O 10 '48 800w

New Yorker 24:109 O 30 '48 200w

Reviewed by Vance Bourjaily

San Francisco Chronicle p11 O 3 '48 470w

Reviewed by Harrison Smith

Sat R of Lit 31:17 O 9 '48 1000w

"It holds the interest (after an excessively genealogical passage early on), and it engages the full powers of the reader. The writing is intelligent and humane, the characters are well observed and, what is rarer, understood, and the whole story gives that feeling of inevitability which means that the writer's imagination has been deeply stirred and has made sense of its disturbance." L. A. G. Strong

+ — Spec 180:536 Ap 30 '48 550w

Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 480w

"Answer to Question 33 is well above the average for observation, and its discursive, unpretentious method fits the author's mood of cool but invincible romanticism."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p245 My 1 '48 650w

SYKES, CHRISTOPHER. Four studies in loyalty. 240p $3 Sloane

920 48-6127

Four long essays picturing different types of loyalty. The first sketch is of the author's great-uncle, of the same name, who was an intimate friend of Edward VII, and whose loyalty to his king survived countless jokes played on him and the loss of his fortune (spent in entertaining the king). The second sketch is of a Persian, whose adoration for England and especially Oxford, which he fancied he had attended dominated his life. At a time when denial of England would have won him Nazi favor and a comfortable life, he refused to betray England. The third portrait is of the author's friend, the English writer Robert Byron. The fourth is a picture of the members of the French resistance movement, living in a small town near where the author himself landed by parachute during the war.

"For sheer virtuosity as a writer, Mr. Sykes takes a lot of beating. He fingers all the emotional chords with a sure touch; he has the gift of narrative and character drawing, and he is clever without parading it. One regrets, however, that in explaining the psychology of the Persians, he should have referred gaily to Christian Scientists in a remark that does not appear even to make sense." Eric Forbes-Boyd

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 15 '47 750w

"Of these people Mr. Sykes writes with dignity. The book is the product of a scholarly, well traveled Englishman who writes with a perceptive eye in a studied, graceful prose. . . A flaw in the work perhaps is a lack of warmth or a certain formality of approach. This is apt to be a characteristic of the essay, however; it gives the book a slight Victorian manner." Ann Hunter

+ — Commonweal 48:143 My 21 '48 390w

"Distinguished by aesthetic artistry, an incandescence of style and sentiment, these four studies of personalities, and secondarily of place, have a private and literary attraction, a charm communicated by their handling beyond the limitations of their subjects."

+ Kirkus 16:133 Mr 1 '48 180w

"Recommended especially to readers who like Harold Nicolson's Some People." E. F. Walbridge

Library J 73:471 Mr 15 '48 110w

"In any other hands the subject matter might easily have come to seem merely trivial and even as it is one may possibly protest that the grouping of the four pieces as 'studies in loyalty' is just a trifle far fetched. But as Mr. Sykes presents his portraits they become the source of a pure and restful delight." J. W. Krutch

+ Nation 166:400 Ap 10 '48 600w

"In the last two studies the author is imposed upon by his subjects. He is constrained in the one case by public sentiment, in the other by private emotions. But in the first two studies the author is detached from his subject: he warms to them as an artist; his wit is released; his prose derives a life from the figures of Christopher and Bahram; he grasps them imaginatively as a whole. Loyalty, in those characters, is a grotesque determinant of the personality, like a 'humor' of classical comedy; in the persons of the other studies it is a sacred virtue." John Farrelly

+ — New Repub 118:25 Ap 19 '48 1100w

"The second study is, in my opinion, the best of the four, a masterpiece of miniature portrait-painting. . . The sitter is a Persian, a delightful, clever, affectionate, pathetic old reprobate, so romantically and altruistically devoted to England that, rather than work against us, he sacrificed all the pleasures that he enjoyed to excess. . . The fourth study of loyalty is an account of the French population in the Vosges among which Mr. Sykes dropped in August, 1944, with a small force of parachutists. No more generous or more sincere tribute has been paid to the courage of the resistant French." Raymond Mortimer

+ New Statesman & Nation 32:364 N 16 '46 1050w

"The concluding fifty pages [of the book] are devoted to the portrait of a small French town during the difficult days of autumn 1944. . . This challenging analysis of French temperament, devoid of adulation was written with an honesty that may well have been painful to achieve, furnishes one of the most convincing tributes to the virtue of France, to the particular 'clear French spirit,' that has been paid. Here, even more than in the preceding essays, Mr. Sykes has gone beyond portraiture and recontage in the manner of another Horace Walpole or Aubrey, to direct penetrating beams of torchlight on contemporary men." Iris Barry

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ap 11 '48 700w

Reviewed by Herbert Lyons

N Y Times p6 Ap 18 '48 550w

"As a biographer of the fantastic, Sykes establishes himself in a field the English have made singularly their own. As a scholar, he writes without pedantry and with emotion. He appears able, even, to apostrophize the heroic without dehumanizing it." S. N. Behrman

+ New Yorker 24:79 Mr 27 '48 2700w

"Sykes is witty, casual, and disarming in his writing, and his essays—laid out in a mounting crescendo from the delightful profile of his namesake and uncle, the bewildered but loyal butt of Prince Edward's practical jokes, to the essay on the French resistance which closes the book—are all eminently readable." Courtlandt Canby

+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 My 1 '48 1100w

Reviewed by H. L. Varley

Springf'd Republican p12B My 2 '48 240w

"This little book, a worthy counterpoise to Rebecca West's The Meaning of Treason, is one of the pleasures of the season."

+ Time 51:100 Ap 5 '48 900w

"This is a book of rare and delicate discrimination."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p572 N 23 '46 750w

SYLVESTER, HARRY. All your idols. 245p $3.50 Holt

48-8357

A collection of fourteen short stories, all of which have appeared in periodicals: five in Collier's; three in Esquire; and one each in Commonweal, Story, Scribner's, Good Housekeeping, Columbia, and Western Review. Contents: This thing the spirit; The Swede; An evening hawk; The crazy guy; Tribute to Taxco; Beautifully and bravely; Come of age;

SYLVESTER, HARRY—Continued
The return of Grande Williams; The halls of Montezuma; The dark hunters; A sense of participation; Going to run all night; Journey south; All your idols.

Reviewed by Samuel Roddan
Canadian Forum 28:213 D '48 420w

Reviewed by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:212 D '48 60w

"There's something about Harry Sylvester that's eternally right; and as far as that something goes, I'm for him. There's also something about him that annoys me. I hasten to admit, however, that the annoyance is probably all my fault. . . Here, for example, are fourteen of his short stories. Two have appeared in Catholic magazines. . . They have gone beyond the cathedral precinct, beyond the convent school; they have penetrated to the market place, they have reached the crowded street-corners, of this materialistic world. And all alike, though in varying degree, have carried into that world an awareness of, almost a preoccupation with, spiritual values; so much so that the story turns upon some concept of the spiritual desires of man." David Marshall
+ — Commonweal 48:550 S 17 '48 600w

Reviewed by Isabel Paterson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 S 5 '48 700w

"There are fourteen stories in this book, and only a fire-bell or a scream in the next room would make you stop reading at least ten of them. After this it is a pleasure to say that 'All Your Idols' is also an honest and serious book." Allan Seager
+ N Y Times p5 S 19 '48 600w

San Francisco Chronicle p23 O 10 '48 300w

"Harry Sylvester has been writing successfully for our popular magazines (and also for some of the more literary ones) over a stretch of fifteen years or so. . . 'All Our Idols' gathers together fourteen of his stories. The selection shows him to be a craftsman of considerable facility, certainly above the run-of-the-mill magazine writer. . . But all too often there is something missing, something that technique alone cannot cover up, the lack of poignant verifiable truth, an emotion and discovery which last long after the story has been put aside." Hollis Alpert
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:30 S 18 '48 600w

SYLVESTER, ROBERT. Rough sketch. 302p $3 Dial press
48-5156

"The story of big-shot Tony Fenner, seen through the eyes of four people who knew him as a man and not as a power." Chicago Sun

Chicago Sun Ja 27 '48 50w

"It would be pleasant to report that Mr. Sylvester's novel, as a whole, is equal to the sum of its often engrossing parts. The bitter fact remains that 'Rough Sketch' begins to betray itself after one has covered less than half the distance; the break-up is rapid, thereafter, as though the novelist could never recapture his earlier drive, yet went on banging his typewriter for the distance. Perhaps the best pages have to do with Jarman and the salad days of jazz. Here, the author's own wide knowledge of old-fashioned jive, and the men that made it, produces an instant air of authority that nails the reader to his chair. Later, however, particularly in the long Havana section, melodrama begins to pinch-hit for character, and tub-thumping for dialogue. Mr. Sylvester's Cubanos, observed very much from the outside, never rise above wood pulp level; and his final section, exploring a by now standard perversion, is as false as the big-rich décor of the first flashback." C. V. Terry
— + N Y Times p20 F 15 '48 500w

"Author Sylvester is good at projecting sharp backgrounds, and working out short-term dramas in front of them. When he devotes himself to examining a character . . . he does a good, rounded job. The biggest disappointment of all in the book is the Current reporter, who is rather falsely represented throughout his investigations as a keen, able journalist. It seems hard to believe that in the beginning Sylvester planned to let him conclude his study of Fenner as stupidly as he does." M. S.
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p16 Mr 7 '48 300w

SZE, MAI-MAI. Silent children. 189p $2.50 Harcourt
48-5864

"Novel about a band of present-day displaced children who establish their own furtive, scavenging society on the outskirts of a large Oriental city." New Yorker

Booklist 44:268 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by Richard Watts
+ New Repub 118:29 Mr 22 '48 1100w

"This book, so obviously the work of a painter, imprints many sharp images upon the mind. . . Most memorable of all in this little, unpretentious book which attacks so large a theme, are Mai Mai Sze's undertones of wisdom. . . It is a humble, but solid contribution to the story of humanity uprooted; a profession of faith that, though man can be physically uprooted, his spirit will continue to grow." Virgilia Peterson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Mr 21 '48 750w

Reviewed by John Bicknell
N Y Times p14 Ap 18 '48 500w

"Even when measured against the most accommodating literary standards, this novel . . . doesn't stand up very well. Miss Sze's story is, however, a disturbing reminder of yet another dark sociological bloom that was nurtured by the second World War."
New Yorker 24:117 Mr 20 '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 25 '48 250w

"Mai Mai Sze tells her heartbreaking story so dispassionately that we sometimes wonder what it is that prevents us from crying aloud at all the pain and suffering in these pages. There can be few books today which have such emotional impact on the reader and yet are written with such a cool detachment. . . Perhaps the urgency of the ideas expressed in this allegorical novel may dwarf the story which Mai Mai Sze unfolds for us, but even on this level she shows extreme feeling for dramatic incident and a firm grasp of the art of keeping a narrative moving with suspense, color, and pace." Richard McLaughlin
Sat R of Lit 31:36 Ap 17 '48 800w

"Silent Children might have packed as much punch as the Italian movie on a somewhat similar subject, Shoeshine, if Author Sze had been content to present the stark facts of her matter. As it is, she pads out her story by bringing refugee adults into the camp—boring adults who try to explain, in the hackneyed, childish language of pseudo-philosophy, the desperate situation which the children have already expressed with such matureness."
Time 51:106 Mr 22 '48 440w

"The abstractions of the characters and the undefined locale within which they live somewhat handicap the author; the children occasionally lack the dimensions of flesh and blood and the background becomes misty and unreal. But as a whole, the novel succeeds admirably in carrying its message."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:139 Je '48 320w

T

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Book of Stillmeadow; il. by Edward Shenton. 273p $3 Macrae Smith co.
630.1 Country life 48-1953

A round-the-year account of life on the author's Connecticut farm, based on her diary. Contains much of her personal philosophy of life.

Booklist 44:308 My 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48

"There is a sense of discovery, a quiet charm, a wholesome philosophy of living to be found in this 'almanac' of Stillmeadow—a round-the-calendar record of things happening, of moods, of the relation of Stillmeadow to the outside world. A book to recommend to people who need—for the space of a few hours —to find peace."
+ Kirkus 16:74 F 1 '48 120w

"Mrs. Taber writes enthusiastically about cocker spaniels and poetry, food and music, or whatever sentiments and events make up her day. Fortunately, the division of the book into monthly chapters and Edward Shenton's restful illustrations give the reader a chance to draw his breath." Thomas Foster
+ N Y Times p12 Ag 29 '48 90w

"Recommended."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:102 My '48

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Stillmeadow kitchen. 285p $2.75 Macrae Smith co.
641.5 Cookery 47-31342

"An appetizing collection, chattily written, of recipes which appear to be well within the capabilities of the average cook and require only easy-to-get ingredients. Many handy kitchen tricks are included, but lack of an index makes them hard to locate. No clues are given as to the number of servings." Booklist

---

Booklist 44:180 Ja 15 '48

"This is one of those cookbooks you start out to sample and soon find yourself reading just for the joy of it. . . There's no index, and the very detailed Table of Contents is still not a substitute."
+ — Kirkus 15:622 N 1 '47 100w
Wis Lib Bul 43:148 N '47

TABOUROT, JEHAN (THOINOT ARBEAU, pseud). Orchesography; a treatise in the form of a dialogue, whereby all may easily learn and practice the honourable exercise of dancing; tr. by Mary Stewart Evans. 212p il $10 Kamin
793.3 Dancing 48-7038

"Jehan Tabourot, the Canon of Langres . . . was the author of the most important book on dancing of the 16th century. . . Arbeau's book, first published at Langres in 1588 or 1589, describes in the most vivid and graphic way the dances of his time: basses danses, branles, galliardes, pavanes, allemandes, canaries, morescas, gavottes, courantes, and a number of other forms. In addition, he provides the curious reader and the ambitious student of dancing with the 'tablature' of each dance—that is, a tune and a description of the corresponding steps. Thus the book (written in the form of a dialog) is an important source in the history of dance music as well as in the field of the dance itself, and its dual significance has been recognized down through the centuries." (Music Lib Assn Notes) Index.

"The dialogue between the retired dancing master of Langres and his would-be pupil, Capriol, teems with information, not only about the dances of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, but about the people. Different as were their elaborate manners and speech, amusing analogies can be drawn relating their dance times to ours. . . The quaint drawings of the original are reproduced, and drum rhythms and dance melodies are set forth in the archaic notation."
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 D 2 '48 250w

"The present edition should be welcomed equally by dancers and musicians, therefore, as reducing still more the rarity of one of the outstanding sourcebooks in their common field. . . The comments, unfortunately, are hardly adequate. . . A comparison of Arbeau with other treatises of the time would have been useful, as would a more thorough explanation of certain dance forms, such as the Trihory and Lavolta. Arbeau did not, as a young man, see the Morris but rather the Morisque, a term covering more territory than the English word and not adequately translated by it. Such minor flaws do not, however, impair the over-all usefulness of the volume." Paul Nettl
+ — Music Lib Assn Notes 6:164 D '48 600w

Reviewed by Victor Prahl
Springf'd Republican p15A Jl 25 '48 650w

TALLANT, ROBERT. Angel in the wardrobe. 271p $3 Doubleday
48-8507

Recounts the experiences of a New Orleans lady of the old school, who tries to make her children and her grandchild adhere to the old rules of New Orleans society. They are all for breaking the silver cord, and poor Mattie Lou has to go for help and solace to the angel who resided in her beautiful mahogany armoire.

Booklist 45:52 O 1 '48
Kirkus 16:373 Ag 1 '48 180w

"Robert Tallant's New Orleans stories exude a nostalgia and charm which saturate the reader. Immediately one is immersed in an exotic, indefinable atmosphere—part old-world, part modern—so utterly pleasant to the reader. . . The characters lack vitality and the story almost bogs down. But mood of an antebellum New Orleans society, tenacious, yet crumbling under today's standards, is masterfully sustained. Recommended." E. P. Nichols
+ — Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 80w

"Mr. Tallant has written a bright and entertaining story, threaded through with gentle satire." Peggy Thomson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 O 10 '48 320w

"The satire isn't deep enough nor is the characterization rich enough for a master work of social comedy. But that was perhaps not Mr. Tallant's intention. With the lightly interwoven conflicts of class vs. class, family vs. individual, money vs. aristocracy, tradition vs. modernity, deceit vs. honesty, effeteness vs. virility, he has told two love stories of youth and of middle age. And for lagniappe, he has given a delightful panorama of the social battles of Mardi Gras and sketched a constellation of New Orleans characters." Hubert Creekmore
+ N Y Times p4 S 19 '48 600w

"Mr. Tallant writes well about his home city. If you have a fondness for New Orleans, you will relish the whiff from the French quarter that Mr. Tallant gets into his pages and the nostalgic glimpses of the Garden District and Mardi Gras festivities. But he is writing about people as well as about a place. His characters are enchantingly alive." J. V.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ja 2 '49 300w

Sat R of Lit 31:32 N 27 '48 140w

TALLANT, ROBERT. Mardi gras. 269p il $3.50 Doubleday
976.335 New Orleans—Carnival 48-5068

"[An] account of the Carnival and Mardi Gras of New Orleans. . . In the first section, author gives us a detailed description of a typical Carnival period and the climax of all the festivity—the day of Mardi Gras. He brings in the themes of prewar festivals and compares them with that of 1947. Second part gives the history of the custom from ancient times, drawing upon such material as Frazer's Golden Bough. The final section covers the history of the Carnival in New Orleans." (Library J) Lists of the kings and queens of Mardi Gras in New Orleans. Mardi Gras calendar to the year 2000. Bibliography. No index.

Reviewed by H. T. Kane
Chicago Sun p7X F 8 '48 260w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Commonweal 47:451 F 13 '48 420w

TALLANT, ROBERT—Continued

"A handbook on the Mardi Gras which does not want for coverage but lacks the communicative charm of Lyle Saxon or Harnett Kane on the fascinating New Orleans."

Kirkus 15:618 N 1 '47 120w

"While the material is well put together and easy reading, in all probability it will have a limited audience." C. W. Roth

Library J 73:38 Ja 1 '48 110w

" 'Mardi Gras' should prove really useful to carnival visitors past and future. Its usefulness could have been enhanced by an index—which the product of much study also deserves—and by captions under the pictures. Mr. Tallant's illustrations are designated only by the names of the photographers who took them." E. H. Smith

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ja 25 '48 380w

"[Mr Tallant] tells things that are pretty well known about the historical and mythological sources, but he colors his writing warmly, injecting appealing comments and zestful sidelights. The result is an entertaining vade mecum, packed with informational nuggets." H. E. Wedeck

+ N Y Times p26 F 8 '48 320w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles

San Francisco Chronicle p18 F 8 '48 220w

TANGNEY, MARY E. Diabetes and the diabetic in the community. 259p il $2.75 Saunders

616.63 Diabetes Med47-2489

"[The book] lays stress not on the hospital care of the patient, but on teaching the diabetic person to become a useful member of his community. The first chapter, Diabetes in the National Picture, is introductory. The following ten chapters discuss the subjects indicated by their titles: Etiology and Prevention of Diabetes, Endogenous Insulin, Examination of Urine, Exogenous Insulin, The Diabetic Diet, Diabetic Coma, Arteriosclerosis and Diabetes, Other Complications Associated with Diabetes, Diabetes in Childhood and Adolescence, and Diabetes and Pregnancy. The final chapter deals with The Diabetic in the Community." U S Quarterly Bkl

"The book has many desirable features which deserve emphasis. First, the author possesses an intimate knowledge of the personal problems of diabetics, having known diabetes as a patient since childhood, and has had long experience with large groups of diabetic patients, first at the New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston and during later years as a nurse instructor for diabetic patients at the Hartford Hospital in Hartford, Conn. . . It will help the student and graduate nurse immeasurably. The volume represents a heroic effort under great handicaps." H. F. Root

+ Am J Pub Health 38:437 Mr '48 700w

"The need for a book on the subject of nursing the diabetic patient is well met by the present volume. . . The sixth chapter, The Diabetic Diet, is especially well arranged. . . The style of the book is simple and clear, and is well suited for the instruction of nurses, members of the patient's family, or even the patient himself. References to the literature on the subject are well chosen and pertinent. The book should be of interest to medical students and general practitioners as well as nurses."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:91 Mr '48 270w

TARBOUX, JOSEPH GALLUCHAT. Alternating-current machinery. 652p il $6 Int. textbook

621.3133 Electric machinery. Electric currents, Alternating 47-11699

"Textbook for senior classes in engineering schools covering electrical machinery grouped as follows: transformers, induction machines, synchronous machines and conversion equipment. Presupposes an adequate preparation in mathematics. The book in mimeographed form was a basis of a course in A.C. machinery for ten years at the University of Tennessee." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:47 Ja 1 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:73 O '47

TARN, WILLIAM WOODTHORPE. Alexander the Great. 2v 162;478p v 1 $3.50; v2 $6.50 Macmillan (for the Cambridge univ. press)

B or 92 Alexander the Great [48-10280]

A two-volume study of Alexander the Great. Volume 1 is an enlargement of the author's chapters in volume 6 of the Cambridge Ancient history. Volume 2 includes essays on the problems and sources of the Alexander story. Indexes.

Reviewed by C. A. Robinson, Jr.

+ Am Hist R 54:340 Ja '49 650w

"The last of [the author's] twenty-five appendices is entitled 'Brotherhood and Unity'; in this he pleads that Alexander was the author of three interconnected ideas: the brotherhood of man, the unity of mankind, and the idea that the various peoples of his empire might be partners in the realm rather than subjects. To the present reviewer he seems to underestimate the part that earlier thinkers played in the formation of those ideas, but this does not detract from the value of this detailed consideration of the evidence and of Alexander's relation to Cynics, Stoics, and Peripatetics. As a discussion of the life and career of Alexander, the book is of first-rate importance." T. B. L. W.

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 13 '48 230w

"The first and smaller volume, which gives a straightforward biography of Alexander, will appeal rather to the general reader than to the professional scholar, who will already be familiar with most of it in The Cambridge Ancient History. The second and larger volume, which contains a critical discussion of the sources and evidence in a series of essays and appendices, will be indispensable to the professional scholar; the general reader may find it heavy going, though it will give him plenty of interesting detail." C. M. Woodhouse

Spec 181:114 Jl 23 '48 850w

"Dr. Tarn's Alexander is his own Alexander. The portrait is so individual that one may here and there disagree. But ancient sources and modern views are always quoted, and therefore the reader has the means of argument, as he proceeds happily through appendix after appendix, swept along by vigorous and breezy style. The first volume of narrative is pure joy."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p488 Ag 28 '48 1400w

TATE, ALLEN. On the limits of poetry; selected essays, 1928-1948. (Swallow press bk) 379p $4 Morrow

808.1 Poetry 48-8822

"A selection from Mr. Tate's earlier volumes—'Reactionary Essays on Poetry and Ideas' (1936) and 'Reason in Madness' (1941)—together with five later pieces, soon to be published collectively under the title 'The Hovering Fly,' by the Cummington Press." (New Yorker) Index.

Booklist 45:118 D 1 '48

"Mr. Tate is a literary diagnostician of premier quality and rank and has the added gifts of imagination and scholarship. His method is precise and clear; his contentions are boldly conceived and buttressed by concise argument."

+ Kirkus 16:290 Ag 1 '48 160w

"Opinion, from an intelligence as keen and informed as this, is a very good 'best,' and a consistent point of view produces a surprising unity among his scattered subjects." John Farrelly

+ New Repub 119:24 O 18 '48 1200w

New Yorker 24:150 N 13 '48 110w

"Mr. Tate is at his best as a critic of poetry, and probably best of all in reporting on his specific perceptions rather than in discussing general principles—but it is only fair to add that I make this latter point because I find myself in disagreement with a number of his general principles, while I find his specific perceptions almost always illuminating. All in all one must salute Mr. Tate for the consistently high level of his critical discussion and for his insistence on distinguishing literary effect and values from others with which they are so often and so easily confused." David Daiches

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:10 D 25 '48 410w

TATE, ALLEN. Poems, 1922-1947. 208p $2.50 Scribner

811 48-5674

Collection of those poems which this contemporary poet wishes to preserve. The book contains all of "Winter Sea" [Book Review Digest 1945], most of "Selected Poems" [Book Review Digest 1937] and the translation of "The Vigil of Venus" (Pervigilium Veneris).

Reviewed by Peter Viereck

Atlantic 182:95 N '48 460w

"The trouble with Tate is a deep lack of emotional impact and a corresponding obscurity. With the finest taste, he too often involves himself with words that carry no moving quality. He is doubtless a better critic than poet; one can be grateful for his all too rare standards and ideals while deploring that he has not more important substance for them to carry. There are in poetic circles and in the literary world many who admire Tate and will be glad to have his collected poems. One doubts that he will be 'popular.'"

Kirkus 15:692 D 15 '47 200w

Reviewed by Gerald McDonald

Library J 73:475 Mr 15 '48 60w

"Allen Tate's poems are beautiful examples of what a hard, select intelligence can press out of rather deathly insights—but insights that are self-consistent and profound." Robert Fitzgerald

New Repub 118:31 Ap 26 '48 1150w

Reviewed by G. F. Whicher

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Mr 7 '48 1050w

"Publication of Allen Tate's new book of poems is a literary event of the first importance. . . The greater number of [the poems] have undergone changes—radical sometimes. . . In general, the revisions are improvements; and even when they are dubious, they repay the closest kind of study." Dudley Fitts

N Y Times p4 Mr 7 '48 850w

New Yorker 24:100 Mr 6 '48 90w

"Hardly a line of Tate's is not informed by passionate sincerity, though it may be controlled by a fine irony or educed by emotions which many readers outside the South of his fathers find inexplicable. . . Of the newer poems, 'Seasons of the Soul' though uneven, has already made the greatest impact; this is its first appearance between book covers. I like best the second section of this poem, probably because it seems to bring me closest to the experience frozen in it." G. P. Meyer

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Mr 20 '48 450w

Times [London] Lit Sup p404 Jl 17 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Eugene Davidson

Yale R n s 37:749 summer '48 350w

TATE, MARGUERITE L. (GAYLORD) (MRS RALPH HAMILTON TATE). Twelve walked away. 150p $2.50 Harcourt

629.13255 Survival (after airplane accidents, shipwrecks, etc.) Aeronautics—Accidents 48-6110

A woman passenger, who is also the pilot's mother, describes an airplane crash and the days following it until all "twelve walked away" from the Alpine glacier with their rescue party.

Booklist 44:264 Ap 1 '48

"A story with considerable curiosity and dramatic values, this is handled with simplicity, sincerity."

+ Kirkus 16:159 Mr 15 '48 170w

"Here is a pulse quickening story of luck, courage and level-headedness. Once started, you are not likely to lay it down until the end." Mary Ross

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ap 11 '48 550w

San Francisco Chronicle p16 Je 6 '48 300w

Reviewed by G. E. Lyon

Springf'd Republican p15A Ag 1 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:103 My '48

TATE, MERZE. The United States and armaments. 312p $6 Harvard univ. press

341.6 Disarmament. U.S.—Defenses 48-5607

A monograph summarizing American participation in disarmament conferences and schemes from the early nineteenth century to 1947. Part I includes much of the material already published in the author's work The Disarmament Illusion (Book Review Digest 1942).

"This is a timely volume. . . It has long been needed, since the only comparable study appeared in 1931, prior to The World Disarmament Conference (B. H. Williams, The United States and Disarmament)." Elton Atwater

+ Ann Am Acad 258:141 Jl '48 500w

Booklist 44:294 My 1 '48

Current Hist 14:234 Ap '48 60w

Foreign Affairs 26:741 Jl '48 20w

"Subject and treatment transcend mere historic interest and deserve to reach as wide an audience as possible." A. J. Gaines

+ Library J 73:334 F 15 '48 100w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:192 Je '48 300w

TATHAM, CAMPBELL. First book of trains; pictures by Jeanne Bendick. [42p] $1.50 Watts, F.

656 Railroads—Juvenile literature 48-10581

"Facts about trains and railroads. . . The material is presented through stories of railroad personnel at work and different kinds of cars and engines in action. . . Ages 5-8." Booklist

Booklist 45:145 D 15 '48

"The wide choice of basic facts and bits of colorful specialized knowledge and human interest makes this a new and good idea successfully carried out."

+ Kirkus 16:553 O 15 '48 150w

"While facts are presented in simple terms, the vocabulary requires some reading ability. Small listeners will enjoy the details which the nine- to eleven-year-old readers will discover for themselves. Jeanne Bendick's many sketches in black and white and colors illustrate all the fascinating features of railroading." A. M. Wetherell

+ Library J 73:1826 D 15 '48 80w

"Practically everything a small boy asks about them is here, in little colored pictures at every point of a cheerful text." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ja 2 '49 90w

TAUBER, HERBERT. Franz Kafka; an interpretation of his works [tr. by G. Humphreys Roberts and Roger Senhouse]. 252p $3.75 Yale univ. press

833 Kafka, Franz A48-6475

An interpretation of Kafka's entire work: novels, stories, diaries, letters, etc. It was published originally in German. It is the author's assumption that there can be no essential contradictions in the work of a great writer, and that under the seeming contradictions there can be discerned the real sense of the material expressed in symbols. Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 45:85 N 1 '48

TAUBER, HERBERT—Continued
Current Hist 15:350 D '48 70w
Manchester Guardian p3 N 1 '48 70w
Reviewed by Edward Sackville West
New Statesman & Nation 36:527 D 11 '48 1400w

"Gradually, over the past few years, Kafka has, in a manner of speaking, become an important writer while no one was looking. Like some other significant writers of this century, one needs a key to his work, and, so far, this book seems the best."
+ New Yorker 24:116 S 25 '48 140w
Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 31:42 D 4 '48 400w
Reviewed by Nigel Balchin
Spec 181:374 S 17 '48 450w
Reviewed by Angel Flores
Yale R n s 38:365 winter '49 310w

TAUBES, FREDERIC. Painter's question & answer book; with contributions by Thomas Hart Benton [and others]. 209p il $5 Watson-Guptill
751 Painting 48-6737

Questions asked by the readers of the author's column in the American Artist. The questions are answered by the author with assists on special topics by Thomas Hart Benton (oil painting on methyl cellulose); Jacob Getlar Smith (water color); Aaron Bohrod (gouache); and Henry Varnum Poor (fresco bueno). Appendixes include notes on chemistry of paint; where to buy materials; and a glossary. Index.

Booklist 44:334 Je 1 '48

"Information easily available to the student; ample index and marginal legends facilitate location of helpful hints. . . Surprisingly few illustrations and those in black and white. Will probably prove useful." A. S. Plaut
+ — Library J 73:1029 Jl '48 130w
School Arts 48:7a D '48 90w

TAVENNER, BLAIR. Seeing California; a guide to the state. 494p il $3.50 Little 917.94 California—Description and travel 48-2576

A guidebook to California, which considers history, climate, scenery, and routes to travel. Lists hotels and prices, although prices are of September, 1947, and therefore not guaranteed. Brief bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:381 Jl 15 '48

"For those who plan a first trip, no matter from what direction they approach the state, this is that best of all guides, practical, matter-of-fact, when it comes to routes, places to stay, things to do, but inspired, too, with the sense of knowing and loving the places."
+ Kirkus 16:231 My 1 '48 140w

"Mr. Tavenner has written 'Seeing California' with the contagious enthusiasm and insidious superlatives of the Hollywood press agent. . . Not as brash as Mr. Fielding, he probably will wear better as a traveling companion." P. J. C. Friedlander
N Y Times p18 Ag 1 '48 70w
Wis Lib Bul 44:132 Je '48

TAYLOR, ANGELINE. Black Jade. 313p $3 McBride
47-12121

Historical novel with Haiti in the late 18th and early 19th centuries as locale. It is the story of an illegitimate son of an English nobleman and his beautiful slave-mistress, Black Jade. When he plans to return to England with his white wife Black Jade kills herself. Henri Christophe and others are among the historical characters.

"Others besides devotees of historical fiction will find this absorbing reading. Recommended." H. R. Forbes
+ Library J 72:1540 N 1 '47 70w
Springf'd Republican p10B Ja 11 '48 130w

TAYLOR, ANNA MARJORIE, comp. Language of World war II; abbreviations, captions, quotations, slogans, titles and other terms and phrases. rev & enl ed 265p $3 Wilson, H.W.
940.53014 World war, 1939-1945—Language. English language—Terms and phrases 48-8265

Revised and enlarged edition of this word list. The first edition in pamphlet form appeared in 1944 (Book Review Digest 1945). Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:35 S 15 '48

"The great effort Miss Taylor undertook to achieve accuracy is clearly illustrated in many instances, and at least two are noteworthy. One is her determined work with the Kilroy myth. Another neat job is done with Lili Marlene. Some of the explanations are not quite complete or correct. . . The importance of this volume probably ranges from one of great value as a source of reference, to one of merely enjoyable browsing. Surely, a more complete record of the changes and growth of the language during the course of the war would require years of study and research, and even then some things would still be missed. Miss Taylor, however, has missed very little." R. D. Goldburgh
+ N Y Times p52 O 17 '48 550w

"A comprehensive and interesting dictionary."
+ New Yorker 24:147 N 27 '48 90w

"Fifty years from now, or perhaps only five, this manual will almost certainly have been superseded, but at the moment we are in 1948, and it is still quite safe to regard 'The Language of World War II' as the latest, if not the last word on the subject, and to call it an excellent book." J. T. Winterich
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 Ag 14 '48 850w

TAYLOR, CARL CLEVELAND. Rural life in Argentina. 464p $6 La. state univ. press
918.2 Argentina—Social conditions. Sociology, Rural 48-6217

A study of rural life in Argentina based on field work done there by the author between March 1942 and April 1943. Partial contents: Immigrants and their influence; History and evolution of Argentine agriculture and rural life; Rural isolation and communication; Levels and standards of living; The farm home and family; Programs of colonization and resettlement; Agricultural enlightenment and reform; Farmer's organizations and farmers' publics in Argentina; The farmers' place in Argentine culture. Bibliographical note. Index.

"There can be no doubt that this is the most comprehensive report on rural Argentina in print. It should have a marked influence on our understanding of the country. But more important will be its influence upon Argentina, in helping its people to understand themselves. It will be a standard work on our southern neighbor for a long time to come." Lowry Nelson
+ Am Soc R 13:637 O '48 700w
Christian Century 65:600 Je 16 '48 80w
Current Hist 14:296 My '48 30w

"The whole body of information was supplemented by a thorough study of statistical and other records and by interviews with numerous persons from all walks of life familiar with, and interested in, rural conditions. It is somewhat to be regretted that so comprehensive a treatise on the historical background, present circumstances, and prospects of Argentina's rural population had to depend for its statistics largely on estimates. . If there is any criticism to be made of this excellent piece of work, it is in the matter of maps: although sufficient in number, they are in general on much too small a scale for easy legibility."

+ — Geog R 38:678 O '48 1250w

"[The book] is substantially documented, being weighed down in parts by statistical tables, and is extremely thorough. It could, however, have benefited by better organization of materials and more 'literary' English. Analysis is too sparse. This is a volume for the researcher and the scholar." Joseph Borome

Library J 72:1610 N 15 '47 100w

Pol Sci Q 63:475 S '48 700w

Reviewed by C. P. Loomis

Social Forces 27:164 D '48 1100w

"Well-conceived and organized, this objective study in rural sociology is replete with maps, photographs, and tables directly related to and supporting the text. . . The Bibliographical Note is not as comprehensive as it could be."

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:200 Je '48 400w

TAYLOR, DANIEL, pseud. They move with the sun. (Man, a many-sided mirror, v 1) 278p $2.75 Farrar, Straus

48-8506

In a moment of boredom, a patient in a psychiatrist's office asks the doctor if he has a better story to tell. The novel then takes the form of an account of the doctor's own life: his humble Jewish home in an Indiana industrial town; his difficult years of growing up; his love affairs; his graduation from medical school; and finally internship at Bellevue.

"A conscientious, consistent study, but one questions the publishers' hopes for a wide market."

Kirkus 16:375 Ag 1 '48 170w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p31 O 17 '48 230w

"As a novel complete in itself 'They Move With The Sun' is not satisfying. It is a faithful enough account of the adolescence and young manhood of an American Jew who becomes a successful psychoanalyst but it has the fidelity of biography rather than fiction. One feels the inclusion of material in the novel was motivated by biographical rather than esthetic criteria. As a result of this, the novel has no real form." Seymour Krim

— + N Y Times p24 O 10 '48 320w

New Yorker 24:100 O 2 '48 200w

"It is sensitively done, with a full and nostalgic re-creation of a succession of dream states that made up Hank Leher's youth. And yet it is not in any special sense illuminating, by which I mean that it sheds no revelatory light upon either the world of Leher's youth or Leher himself. . . Despite its occasional bursts of imaginative writing it seems all too often pointless and tedious. It occurs to me that this is the kind of book writers ought to do, not first, as they usually do, but last, when they are most competent to do it well." N. L. Rothman

— + Sat R of Lit 31:30 O 2 '48 360w

TAYLOR, DONALD WOOD. Fundamentals of soil mechanics. 700p il $6 Wiley

620.19 Soils (engineering) 48-6906

"Presents the important aspects of soil mechanics, such as strength and deformation characteristics of soils, seeping through soils and fundamental soil tests for engineering purposes and discusses the applications of this data to the common soil engineering problems. For graduate students and undergraduates who have working knowledge of fundamental mechanics." (Library J) Index.

Eng N 141:115 O 14 '48 80w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:953 Je 15 '48 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:48 My '48

TAYLOR, MRS FLORENCE MARIAN (TOMPKINS). Thine is the glory; il. by Mary Royt. 49p 65c Presbyterian bd.

226.9 Lord's prayer—Juvenile literature

48-5929

An interpretation of the Lord's prayer in every-day terms. For pre-school and kindergarten age.

"Every home could be enriched by this unforgettable interpretation of the Lord's Prayer. The definition of heaven is alone worth ten times the price." E. R. J.

+ Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 30w

Reviewed by D. M. MacDonald

Library J 73:560 Ap 1 '48 30w

"Public libraries will want to buy for church school and parents, interested in this type of material. Will need pre-binding."

+ Wis Lib Bul 44:134 Je '48 20w

TAYLOR, FRANCIS HENRY. Taste of angels; a history of art collecting from Rameses to Napoleon. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 661p il col pl $10 Little

708.051 Art—History. Collectors and collecting. Art objects 48-4034

A combination of biography, history, and appreciation of art, written by the director of the Metropolitan museum of art. "It runs to six hundred pages divided into ten 'books': on the early collections, from the ancients through the Middle Ages; the Italian Renaissance; the Hapsburgs; France, England, and the Netherlands in the sixteenth century; Spain and the Low Countries in the seventeenth century; Baroque Rome; France from Louis XIV to the Revolution; England from the Georgians to Waterloo; the German courts of the eighteenth century; and the Napoleonic age. There are chapters on the great personages and the stirring episodes of collecting. Mr. Taylor inquires into the instincts and motives of a galaxy of amateurs, and peers attentively into their purses and politics." (Atlantic) Bibliography. Index.

"Mr. Taylor's documentation is thorough and ordered. Upon a scholarly foundation he has superimposed a rewarding layer of lively history, written with a sure, human touch and with personal appreciation of the qualities and deeds of men who have prized art through the ages. . . The Taste of Angels is popular history in the best sense. It has a warm message for the patron of princely aspirations and for the modest young collector." J. S. Plaut

+ Atlantic 182:90 O '48 2500w

Reviewed by Dorothy Adlow

Christian Science Monitor p15 D 2 '48 270w

"Highly recommended." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 73:1387 O 1 '48 100w

"Mr. Taylor has a vivid historical style and he keeps his eye always upon the concrete and telling detail. He takes the reader up many a byway, but none in which the art impulse has not manifested itself. He shows, as successfully as it has ever been done, the connections between the social structure and art." Huntington Cairns

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 N 21 '48 1000w

"The book is handsomely, often wittily illustrated. Even despite its generous size, however, it is tantalizing not to be able to read more of such worthies as Horace Walpole the perfect gentleman collector, or Grolier the gilded bookworm, or Madame Pompadour, or Margaret of Austria, Christina of Sweden, Colbert the connoisseur or scores of others. Yet the broad sweep of the work and the skillful arrangement of the narrative make this a most important book in its field." W. G. Dooley

+ — N Y Times p6 O 31 '48 1150w

"It is a fascinating study because Mr. Taylor does not limit himself to detailing the art collections of the world. In fact, he gives the reader only a general idea of the contents of the great collections, for his book is not esoteric. His approach to his subject is as much sociological as it is historical." Carolyn Stull

TAYLOR, F. H.—Continued
+ San Francisco Chronicle p11 N 7 '48 950w
Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 330w

TAYLOR, JEANNE. Child's book of carpentry; il. by [the author]. 96p $2.50 Greenberg
684 Carpentry—Juvenile literature 48-5504

A book for boys and girls, aged 8-12, "who want to do carpentry." Tools and their uses are described, and directions are given for building a toy boat, a bookcase, a footstool, a chest, a picture frame and a chair.

Booklist 44:236 Mr 1 '48

"Gay, colorful illustrations and large, well-spaced print give this book a most attractive appearance. . . Recommended for ages 7-10." Judith Stevenson
+ Library J 73:659 Ap 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Mr 7 '48 150w

"This book should make an excellent introduction to carpentry for 8 to 12-year-olds—and it has some useful hints for adults, too." Marjorie Burger
+ N Y Times p31 Mr 7 '48 140w
Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 14 '48 150w

TAYLOR, PETER HILLSMAN. A long Fourth, and other stories [introd. by Robert Penn Warren]. 166p $3 Harcourt
48-1781

Seven stories about urban, middle-class life in the upper South of today. The stories appeared originally in the Partisan, Sewanee, Southern and Kenyon reviews.

Booklist 44:299 My 1 '48

Reviewed by J. F. Powers
Commonweal 48:262 Je 25 '48 800w

"Though naturally uneven, since they have been written over the first ten years of the writer's career, these stories are unusually fine. They include a variety of character and incident in a unity of well rendered background. In the prevailing tone of the stories, there is something of the nostalgia, something of the precariousness, and something of cruelty." John Farrelly
+ New Repub 118:25 Mr 8 '48 400w

"These seven short stories by Peter Taylor are a little island of excellence in the flood of books from the South. They have the qualities of permanence: a fine craftsmanship, integrity, and the imprint of a subtle and original intelligence." Coleman Rosenberger
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Mr 14 '48 800w

"No doubt Mr. Taylor's future work will reach a wide audience—to its delight and profit—for at 30 he has produced a book at once entertaining, perceptive and well written. He has a traditional, but rewarding, style, resembling conversation or the 'atmosphere of family tale-telling,' as Robert Penn Warren notes in his excellent introduction." Hubert Creekmore
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 21 '48 1000w

"An excellent collection, particularly notable for a vein of unobtrusive humor and for a complete lack of the regional chauvinism that Southern authors so frequently exhibit when writing about their own."
+ New Yorker 24:124 Mr 13 '48 120w

"Mr. Taylor writes, with limpid sobriety, of undramatic incidents. . . On the surface, his material is not very complex. . . What Mr. Taylor is really doing, with honesty and sureness and beauty, is to experiment, both technically and psychologically, with very difficult approaches to extremely difficult definitions. . . Mr. Taylor is inquiring into those relations through which things take on their meaning, and he makes his inquiry, not in unfamiliar language, but through connections so unfamiliar that he shakes the reader into emotional insecurity. . . The strangeness, and the remarkable effectiveness, of Mr. Taylor's writing comes, never from distortion of reality, but from considered and questioning rearrangement. His is a thoughtfully unpretentious and original talent." Marjorie Brace
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 Mr 27 '48 650w

TAYLOR, RICHARD DENISON. Introduction to cartooning. 159p il $5 Watson-Guptill
741.5 Caricatures and cartoons 48-491

A textbook on humorous drawing, by a popular cartoonist. In his preface the author states: "Part of the object of this book is to . . . outline the actual preparation for a career in humorous art, as I know it to be. The other part of my object in producing this book is to provide a practical guide for the student who seriously intends to become a professional humorous artist." There is a biographical introduction by Ernest W. Watson and a bibliography.

Booklist 44:365 Jl 1 '48

"Excellent text and diagrams on perspective, technique, humor, marketing, equipment and on the practical and imaginative approach to the funny side of life. Ernest W. Watson's biographical sketch of Richard Taylor is a welcome addition to this better than most how-to-do-it volume. Cartoons are popular; the book is bound to be in demand." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:559 Ap 1 '48 110w

"Mr. Taylor carefully avoids making any extravagant claims. He looks upon the 'learn to draw in ten easy lessons' and 'advanced' art schools that substitute non-objectivity for the fundamentals with equally jaundiced eyes. However, he is careful to point out that hard work and a sincere love for drawing are two of the foundations for a successful career in cartooning. Equipment, techniques, composition, humor and marketing all come in for intelligent treatment in this book." R. S. Robbins
+ N Y Times p23 My 16 '48 230w

"A highly intelligent illustrated textbook on the art of drawing funny pictures. . . Mr Taylor makes many practical suggestions based on his long experience, and what he has to say should be a valuable guide to the student."
+ New Yorker 23:88 F 7 '48 70w
School Arts 48:7a D '48 100w

TAYLOR, ROBERT LEWIS. Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief. 305p $3 Doubleday
920 48-5344

"Most of the biographies, or Profiles, in this collection appeared in 'The New Yorker.' They are interspersed with brief sketches, known in the office jargon of the magazine as 'casuals.' " (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) Some of the people represented in the profiles are: Henry Morgan, Charles Atlas, Joe Falcaro, Grantland Rice, and Carol of Rumania.

Booklist 44:246 Mr 15 '48

"An intense absorption in picking up the odd and unusual in their lives and characters, these have some feeling of the past tense, because of the changes since they were written, and although they do not have the sharp bite of the Margaret Case Harriman reporting, they do convey a not dissimilar delight in the different kinds of people the author has known."
+ — Kirkus 15:666 D 1 '47 160w

Reviewed by Stanley Walker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 F 29 '48 360w

"So zestful and gusty is the Taylor work that it is the regret of at least one reader that he hasn't found time to bring all his subjects up to date." Richard Maney
+ — N Y Times p28 F 29 '48 650w

"A book that is extremely entertaining and one that has a good deal more staying power than most books composed of magazine pieces. . . To these diverse personalities [presented here] Mr. Taylor brings a very genuine enthusiasm and a really eclectic intelligence." H. W. Wind
+ Sat R of Lit 31:19 F 28 '48 800w

TAYLOR, SAMUEL WOOLLEY. Heaven knows why. 213p $2.50 Wyn
48-2720

Fanciful story of a present-day Mormon town in Utah. Up in heaven old Moroni Skinner looks down on his lazy grandson and decides the last of the Skinners needs to be prodded. Grandfather succeeds in his mission: Jackson gets back the money he had been cheated out of, and marries the bishop's daughter.

"A whimsical novel which doesn't quite come off, though it has its moments."
Kirkus 16:129 Mr 1 '48 90w

Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:652 Ap 15 '48 70w

"Though far from reverent, it is rich in story content and free from venom; and, if you look behind its humor, you will discover some salutary philosophy."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 70w

Reviewed by Edith James
San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 2 '48 150w

TAYLOR, SAMUEL WOOLLEY. Man with my face. 254p $2.50 Wyn
48-8442

Mystery story.

"'The Man with My Face' is a zany refresher. It's as bad a book as I've read in months but so spectacularly silly that it kept me reading through its lunatic improvisations." James Sandoe
— Chicago Sun S 24 '48 90w

Kirkus 16:416 Ag 15 '48 90w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 D 5 '48 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p48 N 21 '48 150w

"The idea is good for plenty of suspense, even though the presentation is often uncomfortably rollicking."
+ New Yorker 24:112 S 18 '48 90w

"Here's the book that gets this reviewer's unqualified vote as the best suspense story of the year." E. J.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p25 O 10 '48 100w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 O 23 '48 50w

TEAL, MRS MARION PEDERSEN. The earth is ours; il. by Stephen J. Voorhies. 205p $2.75 Crowell
630.1 Farm life Agr48-205

An account of a city family's operation of a 230 acre ancestral farm in Illinois.

Booklist 44:245 Mr 15 '48

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
+ Chicago Sun Ap 4 '48 290w

"No clergyman who presumes to minister in towns, villages or the countryside should fail to read this book for a deeper insight into rural America. The Earth Is Ours should be on the list of required reading for all rural conference courses." F. H. O. Bowman
+ Churchman 162:3 Je 1 '48 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

+ Kirkus 16:72 F 1 '48 220w

"[Mrs Teal's] serene responses to the disappointments and difficulties of the new life indicate a more mature personality than is sometimes evident in books of this type. Add gentle humor, family happiness, wise understanding of neighbors, love of animals, reverence for crop and weather cycles, eager willingness for hard work, and a sane, deeply rooted philosophy of life; the sum totals a delightfully rewarding little book." L. R. Miller
+ Library J 73:471 Mr 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by G. E. Lyon
Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 4 '48 300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:80 Ap '48

TEAL, MRS VALENTINE. It was not what I expected. 255p $2.75 Duell
818 Children—Management 48-8196

Recollections of the experiences of bringing up four children. A condensation of the book appeared in the Woman's Home Companion.

"Steering away from sentimentality, she produces a vivacious, gaily turned account of modern parenthood."
+ Kirkus 16:229 My 1 '48 170w

"Readers of Mrs. Teal's stories of her youngsters and her home in Woman's Home Companion will be delighted and thoroughly entertained by her own story of her motherhood. . . She writes easily and with a lightness which is refreshing. Her wit is spontaneous; in fact the total effort is so unlabored that the effect on the reader is one of relaxation." Elizabeth Nichols
+ Library J 73:943 Je 15 '48 100w

"A pleasant book, written with a simple, secure pride in the job of being a mother."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 15 '48 250w

San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 3 '48 400w

TEALE, EDWIN WAY. Days without time; adventures of a naturalist. 283p il $6 Dodd
574 Nature 48-8718

Chapters on various aspects of nature study, from the story of the swimming cat of Long Island, and the discovery of a series of forgotten letters by W. H. Hudson, to the ways of birds, animals, and insects. Illustrated with 144 photographs. Index.

Booklist 45:84 N 1 '48

"Mr. Teale writes with poetic insight, with knowledge, sympathy, wisdom, and humor . . . For the fortunate susceptible 'Days Without Time' should prove a restorative of perspective, an experience to be valued." Townsend Scudder
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 21 '48 650w

"Earlier books of Edwin Way Teale's have had more cohesiveness than this one. 'Days Without Time' has only such unity as the author's personality gives it, and as is conferred upon the chapters by their common quality of being the products of peculiarly happy clockless days, given to nature-seeking. But no book of Mr. Teale's has excelled this one in quality. The journalist of outdoors here achieves his best." Alan Devoe
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 17 '48 600w

"It is an uneven book, and the unevenness is probably exaggerated by the high quality of certain chapters. The chapter on the robin, for instance, seems disappointing when sandwiched between 'Trees That I Remember' and 'Wonder Eggs,' the first some of the best writing Teale has ever done, the second a splendid presentation of unusual material. The point is that almost any adequate writer could have produced the robin chapter, whereas the tree chapter is Edwin Teale at his thoughtful best and the insect egg chapter is Teale presenting unusual material in his own colorful, precise way." Hal Borland
+ — N Y Times p40 O 17 '48 450w

San Francisco Chronicle p17 D 19 '48 150w

Reviewed by L. J. Halle
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:18 D 11 '48 650w

TEBBEL, JOHN WILLIAM. George Horace Lorimer and The Saturday evening post. 335p $4 Doubleday

B or 92 Saturday evening post (periodical). Lorimer, George Horace 48-6490

Records the professional career of George Horace Lorimer, editor of The Saturday Evening Post from 1898 to 1936. Describes the development of the magazine under Lorimer's leadership and its chronicling of and contribution to the American way of life. There are many anecdotes about Post contributors. Bibliography. Index.

"A judicious, accurate, and fairly complete portrait of America's greatest popular magazine editor." A. W. Atwood
+ Am Hist R 54:218 O '48 320w

Booklist 44:312 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun My 2 '48 200w

Kirkus 16:135 Mr 1 '48 240w

"Strongly recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:557 Ap 1 '48 100w

"Tebbel as a whole has done an excellent job, telling of Lorimer's errors and failures as well as of his peculiar genius. The book, moreover, is an important piece of documentary history. It is an informative presentation of the inner workings of a major publishing achievement and its editor, a stimulating account of an era in American life." J. C. Long
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ap 25 '48 1050w

"Other times, other Posts. That gay, swashbuckling Lorimer Movement is as dead as Diocletian; its ethical and literary values retain merely antiquarian interest. Nevertheless, capitalizing commercial and political gusto, it did thoroughly represent a long and sunny day. No serious chronicler of the last stages of America's adolescence may neglect a study of the S.E.P. from 1899 to 1936. For the amateur, the next best device will be a reading of Mr. Tebbel's evocative pages." R. W. Kauffman
N Y Times p4 Ap 25 '48 1250w

"Mr. Tebbel, who argues that Lorimer was one of the country's greatest editors, could have been equally convincing—and would have written a better book—if he had been a little more restrained and critical. He does manage to convey, however—mostly on the testimony of writers and reporters who worked for Lorimer— a good idea of the man's talent and personality."
+ — New Yorker 24:108 My 8 '48 140w

Reviewed by Duncan Aikman
Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ap 24 '48 1100w

TEDLOCK, ERNEST WARNOCK. Frieda Lawrence collection of D. H. Lawrence manuscripts; a descriptive bibliography. 333p $3.50 Univ. of N.Mex. press

012 Lawrence, David Herbert—Bibliography 48-6497

"Description of the Lawrence manuscripts preserved by Mrs. Lawrence in Taos. Includes a detailed statement of each manuscript's physical characteristics, a history of the text, and a comparison of the text with any publication in book form. Manuscripts which have never been published are summarized and quoted from; published here for the first time is a diary kept by Lawrence from 1920 to 1924. Most detailed analysis is that given to the three versions of Lady Chatterley's Lover, one of which has never been published." (Library J) Index.

"Only serious students of Lawrence's work will be interested, but they will regard this as basic to their study." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:575 Je 9 '48 130w

Kirkus 16:203 Ap 15 '48 160w

"Besides its special interest for students of Lawrence, Mr. Tedlock's report is valuable as a careful study of a novelist's working habits." H. W. Hart
+ Library J 73:707 My 1 '48 110w

"This is a remarkable bibliography. Not only does it examine, with the cool painstaking labor of scholarship, the 193 manuscripts in Mrs. Lawrence's collection—and nine others thrown in for good measure—but also it is informed with warmth, a growing sympathy, admiration, understanding of its subject, never forgetting that that subject was a man, never seeking to claim him as a literary property, as so often tends to be the case when scholars figure they have learned more facts about somebody than anybody else." Rolfe Humphries
+ Nation 166:724 Je 26 '48 230w

Reviewed by Maxwell Geismar
N Y Times p18 Ag 22 '48 270w

"Mr. Tedlock's study will chiefly interest those well versed in Lawrence, though many students of contemporary literature in general will find this book a valuable revelation of a modern writer's working methods. . . Mr. Tedlock's listing of the Lawrence manuscripts does not strictly follow a chronological pattern, and his explanations in regard to them will be best understood by readers having a wide knowledge of Lawrence's works, most of which are at present unobtainable. . . Because he approached this project from the outside, Mr. Tedlock was also handicapped in other ways: he was not sufficiently steeped in Lawrenciana to be completely equipped for his task, and his errors of omission and commission are numerous enough to be at times vexing." H. T. Moore
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:17 Je 5 '48 800w

TEILHET, DARWIN (CYRUS T. FISHER, pseud). Ab Carmody's treasure; or, The adventures of Absolute Carmody, written by Absolute Carmody, with a few editorial odds and ends attended to by Cyrus T. Fisher, and some pictures by Lou Block. 280p $3 Holt 48-4956

"Fourteen-year-old Ab Carmody tells his own story in blunt, boylike language. . . He runs away from a California school to his Guatemalan great-uncle, only to find the old general dying on his ruined plantation. With the clue to Uncle's treasure in his hands, he manages to keep one jump ahead of an excitingly sinister villain. His travels with a Mexican circus bring him friends, and an appreciation of new values." N Y Times

Booklist 45:109 N 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '48

"An unusual combination of long loved features such as treasure hunt and circus and new elements, planes and mathematics. At the end a dose of beautiful strong wisdom."
+ Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 40w

"Written with humor and a trustworthy knowledge of Central America and its circuses, this story will entertain readers of the middle age group." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 25:41 Ja '49 120w

"A good crackling story with plenty of local color."
+ Kirkus 16:440 S 1 '48 90w

"The story is skillfully plotted, amusingly written, with real people and convincing character development. Readers of 12 and upward will love it, gaining incidentally through an ingenious use of Spanish phrases an introduction to the language." N. B. B.
+ N Y Times p59 N 14 '48 140w

"[There] is an unexpected and a very clever ending to an exceptionally good story. A crisp, effortless humor runs all through it like a golden thread."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 N 13 '48 250w

TELEKY, LUDWIG. History of factory and mine hygiene. 342p $4.50 Columbia univ. press

331.822 Hygiene, Industrial 48-7548

"Poisons, dust, skin diseases and other occupational diseases are treated. Dr. Teleky traces the development of industrial hygiene and believes that factory inspection and mine safety measures in Europe surpass those in the United States." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"The reviewer is of the opinion that more credit might have been given deservedly to the industrial hygiene work done and being done by the many state and local health departments. Furthermore, hardly any mention was made of the contribution made by industrial hygiene engineers in the prevention of occupational diseases by effectuating improvements in the working environment. The foregoing is due, no doubt, to the author's limited experience in this field in this country. The book provides otherwise good and informative material and should be a valuable addition to one's reference shelf." H. G. Dyktor

+ — Am J Pub Health 38:1701 D '48 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1282 S 15 '48 40w

TENGGREN, GUSTAF, il. Cowboys and Indians. See Jackson, K. and B.

TENNEY, HORACE KENT. Let's talk about your baby. 3d ed 115p $1.50 Univ. of Minn.
649.1 Infants—Care and hygiene Med47-2469

A revision of a book of advice on baby's first year, written by a pediatrician. For second edition see Book Review Digest 1940. Index.

"This small book with weight charts and immunization records is a good supplement to the physician's personal contact with the father and mother of his infant patients. It is written in talkative, entertaining, and yet serious style. . . Of course, in such a short book some aspects of child development are omitted or only slightly touched upon. . . It would have been helpful to have more suggestions regarding preventive orthopedic measures. . . This book should be of value not only to parents but to physicians who are beginning the practice of pediatrics." M. L. Clifford
+ — Am J Pub Health 38:434 Mr '48 270w
Booklist 44:154 D 15 '47

TENNYSON, HALLAM. Wall of dust, and other stories. 188p $2.50 Viking
48-5591

Six stories of the effects of transplanting people to foreign lands. Contents: Home leave; The wall of dust; In the desert; Appendicitis; Armistice; Land of my fathers. The author is the great-grandson of the poet.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48
Kirkus 15:680 D 15 '47 160w

Reviewed by Charles Marriott
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 16 '48 50w

"The author has an excellent sense of place for his locales in Italy, Palestine and North Africa. But he tells us too literally what he's about: the 'problem' is too intellectual, and the characters have the story too well in hand, like a competent committee. We are attentive, but seldom intrigued." John Farrelly
New Repub 118:26 Mr 8 '48 250w

" 'The Wall of Dust' should be read for its thoughtful approach to problems that are nowadays in fiction developing their own set of cliché treatments. Of these Mr. Tennyson offers none, and if the result is without dramatic highlights, it is nevertheless warmed by the quiet integrity of its purpose." James Hilton
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 29 '48 800w

"Accomplished and entertaining stories." Nona Balakian
+ N Y Times p5 F 29 '48 700w

"The title story, about a unit of American Negro troops forgotten by the Army and left to themselves in a remote Italian village far behind the lines, is probably the best piece in the collection. The one less than good is a somewhat confused attempt to set down the emotions of an English Jew in postwar Palestine."
New Yorker 24:85 F 28 '48 140w

"The best of Mr. Hallam Tennyson's six stories in The Wall of Dust (the story that gives its name to the book, for instance, and the terrifying In the Desert) are very good indeed. If he lapses, as he does once or twice, our enjoyment of the good stories, is not affected." Robert Kee
+ — Spec 180:476 Ap 16 '48 180w
Times [London] Lit Sup p301 My 29 '48 270w

TENSEN, RUTH MARJORIE. Come to the zoo! 23p $1.75 Reilly & Lee
48-7245

A pre-primer introducing the beginning reader to twenty-one zoo animals thru photographs and brief captions made up of a 43-word vocabulary. The more difficult names of the animals are found only on the last pages. A contents page contains small drawings of the animals and the page numbers on which they appear.

Reviewed by Martha King
+ Chicago Sun Jl 10 '48 90w

"A wonderful book for children who are just starting to read, for the pictures help the child to guess what the words should be." V. H. Mathews
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 1 '48 100w
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:135 Je '48

TERMAN, LEWIS MADISON, and others. Gifted child grows up; twenty-five years' follow-up of a superior group. 448p $6 Stanford univ. press
136.765 Genius. Children, Gifted

This is the fourth volume resulting from the Stanford studies of gifted children. The present volume is a report of work done with the California group of gifted subjects over a period of years from 1921 to 1946. "Dr. Lewis Terman proves conclusively that 1418 gifted adults—the famous Terman children of twenty-five years ago—are taller, happier, healthier, better adjusted, more happily married, and more successful vocationally than the generality. Now thirty-five years old, with IQ's ranging from 135 to 200, they are exceptionally well-balanced, normal people." (Atlantic) Bibliographies. Index.

Reviewed by R. E. L. Faris
Am J Soc 54:169 S '48 550w

"The Gifted Child Grows Up, written in a straightforward style, peppered with 140 tables, and documented in every possible way ever conceived by a battery of psychologists, summarily destroys the old wives' tales that exceptional brilliance is coupled with eccentricity, deformity, or perversion." Elizabeth Farrar
+ Atlantic 180:177 N '47 500w
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '48

Reviewed by Marvin Sargent
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ja 30 '48 500w
School & Society 66:520 D 27 '47 10w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:79 Mr '48 280w

TERRAL, RUFUS. Missouri valley; land of drouth, flood, and promise. 274p $3.75 Yale univ. press
330.978 Missouri valley 47-31366

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The Missouri Valley is an excellent piece of reporting, though some may differ with the author's conclusions." R. V. Shumate
+ — Am Pol Sci R 42:157 F '48 300w

Reviewed by A. F. Vass
Ann Am Acad 256:193 Mr '48 450w
Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '48

"Mr. Terral lays bare the whole situation with the direct and rugged skill of a master anatomist performing a clinical dissection. The backwardness and impoverishment caused by the waste of the valley's limited natural resources induce him to support the development of a program comparable to the TVA. And he buttresses his judgments with evidence as a good demonstrator should."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:83 Mr '48 200w
Wis Lib Bul 44:18 Ja '48

TERRALL, ROBERT. A killer is loose among us. 192p $2.50 Duell 48-8934

Mystery story.

Chicago Sun D 3 '48 100w

Kirkus 16:536 O 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p40 N 7 '48 160w

"Confusingly plotted at times, but written with a bleak ferocity that is entirely suited to the material."
+ — New Yorker 24:112 O 30 '48 100w

"Details of cultures that might write finis to civilization are interesting. Characters are mainly unpleasant and finish, tho' surprising, fails to shock."
— Sat R of Lit 31:36 O 30 '48 50w

TERZAGHI, KARL VON, and PECK, RALPH BRAZELTON. Soil mechanics in engineering practice. 566p il $5.50 Wiley

620.19 Soils (engineering) 48-1711

"Contains information necessary for the successful application of soil mechanics to the design and construction of foundations, retaining walls and earth structures. Written primarily for engineers rather than for specialists in soil mechanics." (Library J) Indexes.

Booklist 44:295 My 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:26 Ja '48

"The authors have combined their very extensive knowledge of both theory and practice into a concise description of physical properties of soils, elementary theoretical soil mechanics, and problems of design and construction. The latest information on, and ideas concerning, soil exploration, earth pressure and stability, and foundations are ably presented. . . At times, the authors emphasize so strongly the difficulties encountered in the application of advanced theory that the student or practical engineer may become biased against the very studies which will eventually provide the solution to his problem or, at least, the means of interpreting field information properly. . . As a whole, the book seems better suited to the needs of engineers than of students, although it would be valuable as a reference text in a graduate course.
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:238 Je '48 280w

TEXTILE BOOK PUBLISHERS, INCORPORATED, NEW YORK. Textile brand names dictionary [comp. from Rayon textile monthly. 377p il $6; thumb indexed $6.50; outside U S & Canada $7 Textile bk.

608 Textile fabrics 48-1463

"The information concerning the 4,000 brand names and trademarks listed in this book came originally from the Official Gazette of the U.S. Patent Office for the period 1934 to early 1947. The alphabetical list includes a reproduction of the trademark, and data concerning serial number, registration date, owners, length of time used, and a list of products for which use is claimed. The classified list uses headings based on the products specified in the patent applications. Company names are listed as they appeared in the Official Gazette." N Y New Tech Bks

J Home Econ 40:212 Ap '48 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:30 Ja '48

TEY, JOSEPHINE, pseud. See Mackintosh, E.

THANE, ELSWYTH, pseud. See Beebe, E. T. R.

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Out, brief candle! 242p $2.50 Dodd 48-7995

Detective story.

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p32 S 12 '48 150w

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 70w

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Pig in a poke. 232p $2.50 Dodd 48-776

Detective story.

"Standard brand with pleasing Thayer treatment." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 F 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 Mr 7 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p16 F 1 '48 70w

Sat R of Lit 31:30 Ja 31 '48 50w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter
Springf'd Republican p15A F 22 '48 110w

THEILHEIMER, WILHELM. Synthetic methods of organic chemistry; a thesaurus; v. 1, 1942-1944; with a foreword by T. Reichstein; tr. from the German by Hans Wynberg. 264p $5 Interscience

545.9 Chemistry, Organic—Synthesis

"Critical review of current literature on new methods of synthesis of organic compounds, presenting the improvement of known and tested older methods reported in the literature from 1942 to 1944. This first volume of a reference series contains 793 entries. Volume 2 will cover the years 1945-6 and following 1946 an annual volume is planned. Complete and specific index and includes suggested synthetic methods of preparation, name-reactions, chemical reagents, reactants and resultants in chemical transformations." Library J

"The reviewer, having had nearly a decade of experience in building his 'working files,' was fortunate enough to discuss some matters with Dr. Theilheimer, and finds good reason to endorse the system with considerable enthusiasm. The classification of synthetic methods has been based upon bond-formation during reactions, and symbols are employed to distinguish between transformations involved. Only in the matter of ring transitions does the reviewer find reason for exception with the scheme used." E. A. Steck
+ — Chem Eng 55:316 S '48 450w

Reviewed by L. I. Smith
J Phys & Colloid Chem 52:1273 O '48 350w

Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:68 S '48

THEODORSEN, THEODORE. Theory of propellers. 164p il $3.50 McGraw

629.13436 Propellers 48-6676

Contents: The optimum distribution of circulation along the propeller blade; Solution of optimum distribution problem; The propeller mass co-efficient—exact thrust, torque, and efficiency formulas—the loss factor; Electrical method for measuring the loading function and the mass coefficient; Design relations and procedure for single and dual propellers; Slipstream contraction; Propeller selection problems; Body interference problems; Elements of fluid dynamics as related to the propeller theory; The actuator disk; Standard symbols. References. List of charts. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 70w

"The author of this work is credited with several important contributions to the engineering techniques of propeller design. His own work and the work of others are embodied in this book. Most of the exposition is mathematical and of interest chiefly to advanced students and professional aeronautical engineers."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:45 My '48

THERE is another China [essays and articles for Chang Poling of Nankai by Hu Shih, and others]. 178p $2.75 King's crown press
951 Chang, Poling. China 48-2323

"This book grew out of a collection of personal tributes which were written to commemorate the seventieth birthday of Chang Poling. . . The writers, American friends of Dr. Chang, knew him in China during his fight against illiteracy and ignorance. It is hoped that the book will offer a picture of China which will take its legitimate place beside the somewhat grimmer, somewhat more topical, books about China which have recently appeared." (Publisher's note) Contents: Introduction, by J. L. Stuart; Chang Poling: educator, by Hu Shih; Fifty years of history, by H. M. Vinacke; The development of the Chinese republic, by A. N. Holcombe; International relations, by Quincy Wright; The Nankai institute of economics, by J. B. Condliffe; An economy in transition, by J. E. Orchard and D. J. Orchard; Aspects of science education, by R. S. Greene; Contributions to western agriculture, by J. L. Buck; Doctors old and new, by E. H. Hume; Portrait of a scholar, by A. W. Hummel; Old and new in moral philosophy, by W. E. Hocking

"This remarkably interesting collection of essays is probably the first Western book to be published in homage to a Chinese scholar. As such, it testifies to the cultural interpenetration which occurs beneath the melodramatic surface of present world politics and to the benign approach which Americans and Chinese have made to one another's ways of living during the past fifty years. As a gesture, it is noble; as a collection of readable, authoritative essays on modern China, it is extremely stimulating." P. M. A. Linebarger
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1236 D '48 600w

Current Hist 15:228 O '48 40w

"The most original essays seemed to this reviewer to be Dr. and Mrs. Orchard's analysis of China's economy in transition, and Professor Hocking's 'Old and New in Moral Philosophy'. Dr. Hu Shih's informal and warm-hearted biography of Dr. Chang throws interesting light on the modernizing of China's education during the past fifty years. On the whole, however, this collection is more for the specialist and library than the general public." C. M. Wilbur
+ Pol Sci Q 63:620 D '48 180w

Reviewed by Eleanor Breed
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 27 '48 900w

THERESE, SISTER, ed. I sing of a Maiden; the Mary book of verse. 459p $4.50 Macmillan
232.931 Mary, Virgin—Poetry 47-6923
For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Booklist 44:195 F 1 '48

"This anthology of Mary-poems is superb. Sister Thérèse has spanned the centuries in her quest for the quintessence of Marian poetry, and these 459 pages are not only representative of the religious fervor of each era but also indicative of the literary genius of the time." J. B. Sheerin
+ Cath World 167:91 Ap '48 350w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '48

"Sister Thérèse seems to have done her best to include everybody, and this, in fact, tends to shadow the latter half of the book with disappointment. After the great names of the Middle Ages, decently scattered with representative selections from each, there is a much fuller representation of the less great names of our own age and nation. The result is a lack of balance that divides the book into what one necessarily must regard as two anthologies of varying quality and scope." Thomas Merton
+ — Commonweal 47:477 F 20 '48 550w

"Sister Thérèse has searched with reasonable diligence into the sources, and despite the danger that hangs over the anthology that is limited to a single idea, she has given us variety along with good poetry." A. M. Sullivan
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 F 28 '48 500w

THIRKELL, MRS ANGELA (MACKAIL). Love among the ruins. 340p $3 Knopf
48-8852

Another of the author's chronicles of modern "Barsetshire" with its picture of an English county family trying to adapt themselves to present day conditions. The romance of Susan Dean and Captain Belton is the main theme of the novel.

Booklist 45:89 N 1 '48

Reviewed by Ruth Chapin
Christian Science Monitor p15 O 28 '48 650w

Reviewed by Paul Bloomfield
Manchester Guardian p3 S 23 '48 40w

"Mrs. Thirkell writes with an asperity and wit and gracious clowning that are all her own. 'Love Among the Ruins' is a delightful novel." Frances Lindley
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 O 17 '48 700w

N Y Times p33 O 24 '48 500w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 N 14 '48 280w

"Her ideal reader would appear to be someone who is willing to mistake activity for action; who does not object to being deafened by some of the shrillest conversation ever to get into print; who derives entertainment from the sight of syntax and punctuation dropping from the dialogue like hairpins from an untidy coiffure. . . That a little of this can be amusing, I would be the last to deny; and there was a time when, taken in swift small doses, Mrs. Thirkell seemed to me to be an agreeable writer. But that was before she decided to become the champion of the British Tory Party, an exacting task for which she is by no means fully equipped." George Dangerfield
— Sat R of Lit 32:18 Ja 15 '49 550w

Reviewed by L. A. G. Strong
Spec 181:712 N 26 '48 90w

"As usual with Mrs. Thirkell, much of the satire is a good deal more subtle and less strongly partisan than it appears to be on the surface. Her observation remains acute. Her talent for easy, light characterization shows no sign of tiring. Nor does her persistent refusal to admit the existence, in her fictional world, of anybody or anything remotely unpleasant."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p553 O 2 '48 480w

THIRKELL, MRS ANGELA (MACKAIL). Private enterprise. 405p $3 Knopf
48-5137

The time is the second summer of the so-called peace; the place is Barsetshire. Many of the characters from the author's earlier books appear, the Brandons and the Deans among others. The plot revolves around the arrival of an attractive war widow and her effect upon the settled families and her progress toward a second husband.

Booklist 44:185 Ja 15 '48

"More than a corner of Trollope's mantle has descended upon her. In addition she has a glorious perception of the comic that is entirely her own; and where Trollope would have been content to arouse a chuckle, she is constantly provoking us to hilarious laughter. . . To read her is to get the feeling of knowing these Barsetshire folk as well as if one had been born and bred in the County. And in this book there is something more—a touch of sadness that comes from a suspicion that Barsetshire, which represents, fundamentally, so fine a tradition of English County life, is fighting what may be a losing battle for its existence." Eric Forbes-Boyd

THIRKELL, A. M.—Continued
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 13 '48 550w
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48
Kirkus 15:654 D 1 '47 170w

"Recommended for those who like the light and the pure approach to life." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 73:40 Ja 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Paul Bloomfield
Manchester Guardian p3 O 24 '47 250w

"A slight but perceptible increase in acerbity characterizes this new tale of Mrs. Thirkell's. A note of irritability, almost of ill-temper, breaks in now and then. And while one of her especial qualities, her humor and charm, has always lain in a wicked aptitude for innocently revealing that snobbery which is apparently endemic to the English character, here the deft caricature is at moments less smiling and apt, more trenchant than before. . . 'Private Enterprise' is a delectable, funny, acute comedy of manners." Iris Barry
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ja 18 '48 650w

"Tidings of considerable joy will come to the stanch band of devoted Thirkellites with the notice of the new novel, 'Private Enterprise.' It is as gay and delightfully disgruntled as any Thirkell book about Barsetshire. In that list it should probably have top honors. . In Mrs. Thirkell's delicately humorous, delightfully allusive and entertaining style, 'Private Enterprise' displays the debonair attitude of an upper middle class watching itself squeezed to the vanishing point." Beatrice Sherman
+ — N Y Times p10 Ja 25 '48 500w

"Generally amusing."
+ New Yorker 23:82 Ja 24 '48 70w

"I am sure that 'Private Enterprise,' beneath its surface froth, contains much truth regarding the lives and thoughts of many Englishmen who now find themselves under a socialistic government. What I miss is a good story, for I have been used to meeting up with good stories whenever I journeyed into Barsetshire. In view of Mrs. Thirkell's reputation, I can only assume that she has told far better tales than this one." B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 31:10 F 7 '48 950w

"Private Enterprise is the only book of Miss Thirkell's that I have read; it left me with a desire to read at least two of her seventeen other novels. I seem to remember that she has a large public, but has received 'a bad Press' from the more esoteric reviewers; these two factors alone give her work a certain interest. . . I find it difficult to understand the point of view of those whom this author has irritated, as I recall it, to madness. The Labour Government seems to worry her a bit, and every now and then there is a nostalgic reference to Mr. Churchill and his days of power (Ah! those were the times, when we were all killing one another), while foreigners, intellectuals and working-class folk are treated as figures of fun. But what of it? . . My own criticism of Miss Thirkell's work is that to bring on a great many personages in a confined space, as she does, requires a more highly developed technique than she at present possesses. Not all the characters are sufficiently defined. . . In spite of all these faults Miss Thirkell remains readable, because she has a point of view. Varying between the crude and the naïve, with passages of perfectly forthright and simple description, her book makes an impression, and a memorable one." H. W. Chapman
+ — Spec 179:722 D 5 '47 1000w

"Less attentive than usual to character and plot, Mrs. Thirkell has allowed the ladies and gentlemen of High Rising, Pomfret Madrigal and Northbridge to develop their grievances against the Government and the times rather at the expense of their personalities. It is natural that all the inhabitants of this once smiling and prosperous little world should be dissatisfied, but we are entitled to expect that each should be dissatisfied in his own particular way. . . Even if Mrs. Thirkell's admirers are disappointed this time by a surprising poverty of invention and monotony of tone, they will enjoy the incursion of the fascinating widow, Mrs Arbuthnot, into the quiet town of Southbridge and her fairly unobtrusive search for a second husband."
Times [London] Lit Sup p601 N 22 '47 430w
Wis Lib Bul 44:64 Mr '48

THOMAS, EDITH LOVELL, comp. Martin and Judy songs; il. by Charlotte Ware [and others]. 99p $2.50 Beacon press
784 Children's songs 48-4826

A volume of songs complementing the Martin and Judy stories, and containing many illustrations from that series. The lyrics emphasize the goodness of life; the music is largely folk songs of many countries. For group singing of children five years old and under. Index of first lines.

"The music seems suitable for home use and for religious schools." A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:283 Jl '48 100w
Kirkus 16:238 My 15 '48 120w

"Illustrations by Charlotte Ware, Charlotte Becker, and Eleanor Masden are appealing and artistic. Recommended for preschool age to eight years. Must book for every school." S. J. Robinson
+ Library J 73:954 Je 15 '48 100w

THOMAS, GEORGE BROWN. What shall I preach; selected texts and suggestive titles for 2200 sermons. 239p $2.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury
251 Homiletical illustrations 48-1507

A collection of Bible texts that the author has used in seeking sermon themes during his forty years of preaching. The texts are arranged in their order in the Bible and are from the King James version, with occasional quotations from the American standard and the Revised standard versions. There is a subject index to the texts.

"Should be suggestive to any preacher in search of a theme." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:240 F 25 '48 180w

Reviewed by T. F. Opie
Churchman 162:15 My 15 '48 110w

THOMAS, GEORGE ERNEST. How to live your faith. 189p $2 Revell
252 Sermons 48-5805

Addresses on problems of Christians, by the pastor of the Haddonfield (N.J.) Methodist church. Contents: How to know God; How to pray; How to face the unforseen; How to read the Bible; How to be happy; How to get the most out of worship; How to conquer fear; How to overcome bad habits; How to handle worry; How to take care of defeat; How to overcome personal handicaps; How to get along with people; How to get rid of prejudice; How to decide between right and wrong; How to make use of leisure time; How to face death. References and acknowledgments.

"The illustrations are effective; the style is direct; the points are never dulled by ecclesiastical jargon. This book will enthuse and inform any minister wanting to be of positive help to people trying to conquer the unworthy attitudes and unwholesome habits that plague the everyday." Wilson Bennett

+ Churchman 162:3 Je 1 '48 110w

"A practical book on religious techniques like this one has a wide appeal and its speaks to needs. Yet it needs to be undergirded by books which plumb deeper. A profound assurance of the reality of a personal God makes lessons on how to appropriate Him needless." H H. Wagner

Springf'd Republican p14a Je 11 '48 240w

THOMAS, GWYN. Venus and the voters [Eng title: Alone to the alone]. 254p $2.50 Little 47-12527

The scene is a bleak section of the Rhondda Valley among the Welsh mountains, where the chief business (in prosperous times) is mining coal. The time is just before the war when unemployment has left a grey film of despair over the whole section. The efforts of a philandering bus driver to win a lady love, and the efforts of a grocery-chain owner to outdo him, provide some of the activity. A grim sense of humor underlies the whole novel.

Booklist 44:234 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by Nelson Algren

Chicago Sun Ja 7 '48 550w

"A story like this will startle; it ought to shock. Its antic tone is a way, perhaps the best way, of expressing the author's protest against everything that blocks the road to decent, intelligent, hopeful living. It is certainly the way to express his people—Celtic, lyric, humorous, and immemorially sad." W. K. R.

Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 7 '48 550w

Kirkus 15:676 D 15 '47 140w

"Subtle, leftist protest against servile submission of workers. Poetic, folk-tale type. Appeal limited." R. W. Henderson

Library J 73:40 Ja 1 '48 100w

"Except perhaps for a few of Shakespeare's, it would be hard to think of any plot more contrived. And for all its concern with fleshly temptation, the Venus in it does not get beyond the title. . . The real merit of Mr. Thomas's writing, here as before, is the evidence it gives of an unquenchable comic spirit. He writes of some one as having 'the stock face of the Terraces, dark, pensive, lined with wrath,' but his own lines of wrath are wrinkled with humor, ironic humor, but good humor also." James Hilton

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ja 11 '48 700w

"Gwyn Thomas' fantasy is confined to a delightful turn of speech. His stories are made of bleak reality; his philosophy based on a wisdom bred of unremitting calamity. His setting is a Welsh mining community. The Terraces, hemmed in by tall blue hills and taller man-made towers of unemployment, starvation and despair. Yet from these materials he extracts an uproarious humor; something that elicits not only a polite nod of recognition from the intellect, but a spontaneous response from the solar plexus." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 11 '48 500w

"Mr. Thomas's fanciful way of telling the story can probably be excused on the ground that he is a Celt and can't help himself."

New Yorker 23:82 Ja 10 '48 140w

"The ideas of the novel are not, as we generally say in a case like this, so important as the way they are set forth. This is obvious from Mr. Thomas's enchantment with his metaphors, going as he does on the assumption that if you labor a point long enough it will succeed in being humorous. If he had confined this material to a short story, there might have been a chance to avoid such tediousness, but how he does run on." E. L. M. Kitrick

Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ja 17 '48 310w

Reviewed by D. S. Savage

Spec 179:90 Jl 18 '47 320w

Springf'd Republican p7B S 19 '48 70w

THOMAS, HENRY, pseud. See Schnittkind, H. T.

THOMASON, CALVIN CORNELIUS. Human relations in action. 225p $2.65; to schools $2 Prentice-Hall

150.13 Psychology, Applied. Employment management 48-608

Guide book for individuals and discussion groups, giving problems and cases in dealing with people. Index.

"This well-written presentation of multiple-case method of practical applications of psychology will be of value to personnel and employment officials for better understanding of human capabilities." L. A. Eales

+ Library J 73:953 Je 15 '48 50w

Reviewed by H. G. Kenagy

Management R 37:378 Jl '48 280w

School & Society 67:255 Mr 27 '48 10w

THOMPSON, ALPHEUS BASIL. China trade days in California; sel. letters from the Thompson papers, 1832-1863; ed. by D. Mackenzie Brown; with a foreword by Robert Glass Cleland. 94p $3 Univ. of Calif.

979.4 California—History—Sources. U.S.—Commerce—China

"A group of twenty-five letters from a larger collection of early California business correspondence now owned by the Santa Barbara Historical Society and known as the Thompson papers. . . All but two of the twenty-five published letters were written by or to Alpheus Thompson, a native of Maine and one of the group of Yankee traders who settled in California during the decades immediately before the Gold Rush. . . The letters cover the years from 1832 to 1863, with the greater number of them dealing with the period before the country passed under the control of the United States. . . They are mostly concerned with the details of frontier trade, with the buying and selling of goods and with recurring difficulties with the Mexican officials, who were doing their best to carry out their country's policy of discouraging foreign merchants from gaining too firm a foothold in the province." (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) Bibliography. Index of persons.

"Although the [letters] make no large contribution to the history of the period, they do succeed in filling certain details in the commercial life of California during the 1830s and early 1840s, and for that reason their publication will be welcome. They are welcome, too, for another and perhaps irrelevant reason. Anyone who imagines that the distressingly flat and prosy style of most present-day business correspondence is the result of dictating to a stenographer or into the mouthpiece of a recording machine has but to dip into this book to find convincing evidence to the contrary." Oscar Lewis

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ag 8 '48 600w

"Value of this excellently designed and printed little book is the light it throws on the relationship of early California to the Pacific area, especially in connection with the seaotter trade, but the letters contain many a pleasantly human touch." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 31 '47 360w

THOMPSON, E. A. Historical work of Ammianus Marcellinus. 145p $2.50 Macmillan (for Cambridge univ. press)

878 Ammianus Marcellinus [47-30769]

"[An] estimate in English of Ammianus, the late Roman historian so highly valued by Gibbon, and largely neglected since. A devoted son of Antioch, he became a staff officer under Ursicinus in his Gallic and Oriental campaigns, was with Julian in Gaul and Persia, and apparently with Constantius at Bezabde; after retirement he joined in Rome the circle of Libanius and Symmachus, to write a sequel to Tacitus' history; of it we possess

THOMPSON, E. A.—Continued
only the extensive account of the period of his active life (353-378A.D.). Professor Thompson sketches his career and probes into the problem of his sources and methods, utilizing an enviable acquaintance with contemporary writers, Greek and Latin." Am Hist R

"The author deplores the fact that the only available text is Rolfe's in the Loeb Series, whose stock was mangled by bombing, and the absence of any commentary since Wagner's in 1808. Such a text and commentary would be a noble ambition for a young student of Roman history; this admirable little book would prove an excellent initial guide." C. U. Clark

+ Am Hist R 53:314 Ja '48 480w

"Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, an institution that has a long and distinguished history as a fautrix of classical studies. In this his first book he maintains the high standards of scholarship that one has learned to expect from its alumni, and one looks with pleasurable anticipation to future books from his pen." M. L. W. Laistner

+ Class Philol 43:205 Jl '48 1150w

THOMPSON, EDWARD. See Thompson, J. E.

THOMPSON, FAITH. Magna carta; its role in the making of the English constitution, 1300-1629. 410p $6.50 Univ. of Minn.

342.42 Magna carta. Great Britain—Constitutional history 48-11540

A history of the Magna Carta from the close of the reign of Edward I to the completion of Coke's Second Institute (1300 to 1629). In it the author, associate professor of history at the University of Minnesota, attempts to trace "the varied uses and increasingly significant interpretations of the famous document" (preface) thru these three centuries. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:151 Ja 1 '49

"Admirably successful. A great variety of sources has been explored in a way that reveals the continuing importance of the Charter. . . The work is by no means to be regarded as a dull history book dealing with matters of merely antiquarian interest. It introduces many interesting, diverting and even ludicrous personages. Whether or not these figures are familiar, each has his particular contribution to make. . . A study of Magna Carta at this particular time assumes special significance, for it serves to reemphasize certain basic concepts of freedom, law and government." E. D. Re

+ N Y Times p21 Ja 9 '49 900w

School & Society 68:464 D 25 '48 60w

THOMPSON, FLORA. Still glides the stream. 233p $3.50 Oxford

914.2 England—Social life and customs 48-4897

"[A] picture of an English village in the 1880's. Charity Finch, a successful, middle-aged school teacher, has come back to stay for a few days in the little Oxfordshire village where she was born. Her own family have all died, or moved away, and there are not as many familiar faces as she had expected, but the cottages, some of them in ruins, the meadows, and the little brook to whose conversation she had listened winter and summer, as a child, are still there. As she looks at them again she recalls the two families—her own and her Uncle Reuben Truman's—and all that happened to them in a halcyon, long-ago time." Sat R of Lit

"Although the writer does not disguise the nostalgia that the scene wakes in her, distance is never allowed to lend a false enchantment to her view. For all its charm, her book is no flimsy pastoral nor halcyon vision of a Merrie England that was, but a completely honest picture of that yeoman and peasant society . . . that has been so often romanticized. To this merit must be added a literary quality: a simple, spontaneous manner of writing, an artistry in the choice of significant detail and an economy in the handling of it that, within the scope of the book, is very nearly perfect." Eric Forbes-Boyd

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 15 '48 600w

"This is a book that would be worth reading for its descriptions alone; what makes it especially important, however, is that, like 'Lark Rise to Candleford,' it depicts an age and a way of life that have passed away and seemed in danger of having no one to chronicle them faithfully." J. K. A.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 4 '48 150w

"The scene is beautifully set. There are passages of village drama, the familiar class lines drawn by the gentry, the forlorn love affairs of the bumpkin, even a poison pen. . . Restharrow must find modern times lewd and wasteful and even ugly; but the fact remains that the villages today do not hold their own. What is boded for English earth and English folk is still to write. Miss Thompson, in a changing world, beholds much held steadfast and she cuts in marble her memorial art." Ernestine Evans

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ag 1 '48 600w

"Nostalgia is the adjective to describe all this. Gracefully written, 'Still Glides the Stream' evokes a bitter-sweet mood similar to that evoked by the best of Louisa Alcott's 'Little Women,' which it resembles to a certain degree." W. R. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Jl 11 '48 200w

" 'Still Glides the Stream' achieves a bouquet of its own, such as might rise from an apronful of herbs freshly gathered, or from old box trees in the sun. Sensitive in its human portraits, brilliantly alive and often unexpected in its descriptions of countryside and hamlet, and written with a delicacy as distinguished as it is rare, this is a book to savor on leisurely summer days, and cherish thereafter." Pamela Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 Jl 24 '48 550w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter

Springf'd Republican p7B N 7 '48 210w

"Miss Thompson's picture, perhaps because the eye strains backward to envisage it, is, for all its lucid workmanship and happy descriptive touches, a little sweet and pallid, like a fresco by Puvis de Chavannes."

Times [London] Lit Sup p284 My 22 '48 900w

THOMPSON, FRANCIS. Literary criticisms; newly discovered and collected by Terence L. Connolly. 617p $12.50 Dutton

804 Literary criticism 48-1442

"That the poet who wrote 'The Hound of Heaven' was also a writer of beautiful prose has long been realized. . . The variety and extent of the critical papers and book reviews produced by Thompson during the last decade of his life were hardly appreciated, however, until Father Connolly using notebooks, letters and other memorabilia in Mr. Meynell's possession or in the notable Francis Thompson collection at Boston College, identified the many unsigned contributions to such periodicals as 'The Academy,' 'The Athenaeum' and 'Merry England.' The present volume, which is intended solely to illustrate Thompson's work as a critic and which contains nothing that has already appeared in the Meynell edition, is drawn from the best of these rediscovered papers. The editor has included a valuable bibliographical check list of the materials from which he has made this selection." N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R

"The number of subjects treated and the breadth of Thompson's knowledge are astonishing; so too are the catholicity of his taste, his freedom from acerbity, and the virtual flawlessness of his prose written so often under pressure. There are, finally, passages which soar as if on the wings of poetry to heights which justify Father Connolly's word, 'sublime.' This is one of the golden books of our day." J. J. Reilly

+ Cath World 168:88 O '48 500w

"This is a book to love and treasure and turn to through the years. It's a large, beautiful book; and the work of a large, exceptionally beautiful mind. And it's also a great surprise; for nobody had known much about the work of Francis Thompson during the last ten years or so of his life. . . There's liveliness and wit, and solid learning gracefully carried and beautifully expressed, in all these many essays; and between them all they form a respectable history of literature." David Marshall

+ Commonweal 48:242 Je 18 '48 480w

"As a book reviewer Thompson showed the patient industry and firm grasp of essentials characteristic of a born scholar. He had also a scholar's delight in tracing literary borrowings and a scholar's courteous respect for his opponents and for views that he could not share. His criticism attained a more than temporary value by virtue of being based on a thoroughly assimilated philosophy, the systematic thought of a Catholic Christian. . . The range of Francis Thompson's interests, as this book reveals them, was exceptionally wide." G. F. Whicher

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 My 9 '48 800w

Reviewed by Claire McGlinchee

N Y Times p20 Jl 11 '48 490w

New Yorker 24:86 F 28 '48 120w

"Father Connolly, who put us in his debt a few years ago with a well-annotated edition of Francis Thompson's poetry, has now increased our obligation to him with this interesting volume of Thompson's previously uncollected literary criticisms." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Jl 31 '48 850w

THOMPSON, JAMES ALDEN. Scenes of my childhood [introd. by Kathleen Norris]. 128p $5 Doubleday

B or 92 Thompson, Josephine Elizabeth (Moroney) 48-4935

The life of Josephine Moroney Thompson from 1895 to 1899 as constructed from her diaries by the author, her youngest child. The book was written originally as a family memoir and given to Kathleen Norris, the author's sister, as a birthday present in 1946.

Kirkus 16:329 Jl 1 '48 110w

"Scenes of My Childhood is dull and uninspired. The writing lacks distinction and the things remembered by the author have a limited appeal. Not recommended." H. P. Bolman

— Library J 73:1191 S 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by Mary Parton

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p25 O 17 '48 700w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles

San Francisco Chronicle p19 S 26 '48 700w

THOMPSON, JOHN EDWARD. Seed in spring. 371p $3 Macrae Smith Co.

48-2353

Novel describing an Arkansas planter's efforts to make his older son a cotton king. Fate willed otherwise and it is the younger son, a lawyer, who takes over the family plantation.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

Kirkus 16:149 Mr 15 '48 190w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 8 '48 70w

THOMPSON, ROBERT LUTHER. Wiring a continent; the history of the telegraph industry in the United States, 1832-1866. 544p il maps $7.50 Princeton univ. press

384.1 Telegraph 47-12502

"Readers of business history will welcome this authenticated inside history of America's first great monopoly, the telegraph industry during its first thirty years, from the time when a portrait painter built his canvas stretchers into a crude invention called the 'magic wire' to the time when Western Union's great wave of consolidation swept over the last of the independent telegraph companies. Its economic implications reveal the general pattern of industry in the United States in the nineteenth century and give fresh insight into the problems of private versus government enterprises." Library J

"Dr. Thompson is to be commended for his well-organized, scholarly, and readable history. The Princeton University Press also is to be commended for the excellence of the book's format. . . Particular attention is called to the fifteen appendixes, mainly copies of business contracts, which provide an illuminating insight into the intra- and inter-corporate relationships of the telegraph industry." H. H. Goldin

+ Am Hist R 53:853 Jl '48 600w

"Mr. Thompson has written a definitive economic and business history of the telegraph industry in its early years. His book is the product of long and scholarly research in the papers and letters of the businessmen who were prominent in the development of the telegraph." D. L. Kemmerer

+ Ann Am Acad 257:256 My '48 550w

Current Hist 14:297 My '48 50w

Reviewed by C. W. Wright

J Pol Econ 56:352 Ag '48 750w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 72:1617 N 15 '47 90w

"The original research that went into the preparation of this book staggers the imagination, for Mr. Thompson recounts the careers—literally—of the hundreds of small enterprisers and companies, all of whom sought to pioneer in the telegraph field. . . One must follow them all carefully to catch the essential pattern. Thanks to Mr. Thompson, the student is able to do so; and what emerges—despite the meannesses, the dirty work, the cupidity and avarice—is a great story of achievement, written with very real skill." L. M. Hacker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 F 29 '48 1350w

"The author enlivens his narrative by revealing characterizations of the principal protagonists in the building of the industry. . . The story is enhanced by the careful attention paid to the impact of the telegraph on the life of the times. There is a skillful massing of fact and a wealth of illustration in the handling of this significant aspect of the study. To it all, Mr. Thompson has brought the findings of diligent research in hitherto unexploited sources, especially such an important collection as the Henry O'Reilly Papers." S. I. Pomerantz

+ N Y Times p28 Ja 11 '48 650w

"Mr. Thompson has drawn upon a wide range of materials for this study and has given a detailed account of particularly the business and economic aspects of the telegraph's early period. The reader who wants history to read like a novel will not be diverted by 'Wiring a Continent.' But the reader who wants facts will find them here." Ruth Teiser

San Francisco Chronicle p12 F 22 '48 500w

"To say that Mr. Thompson has written an outstandingly good study of the first twenty-five years of the telegraph industry, but that he has failed to exhaust his subject, involves no contradiction. . . The book slights the business history of the individual companies, and any analysis of the nature and effects of telegraphic communication. These weaknesses may be partly due to the fact that Mr. Thompson's material was gathered from the personal letters and papers of the leading entrepreneurs, but not from the business records of the companies involved. Since the account is a dramatic narrative of men and events rather than a business or economic analysis, it will hold the interest of the general reader."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 4:65 Mr '48 260w

THOMPSON, SYLVIA. People opposite. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 281p $2.75 Little 48-10682

"A novel of the interchange of lives on two sides of a post-war London street. On one side are the rich and unhappy Quendons:—Sally in love with Simon who loves nobody, both of them accepting as the norm a succession of love affairs; on the other side, the Hawkins, happily married, linking their lives with those of their tenants, the impecunious but sound Frenchman, Paul Delauney, his niece, Francoise, briefly from Paris to visit Rose Hawkins's mother, Charlotte Graham, and to a lesser extent other minor characters. Charlotte, a flighty but, the author tells us, charming busybody, is living at Belgate with her invalided nephew, Richard Lindsay, at loose ends after the long post-war hospitalization. . . The major thread involves Richard in amatory problems which Charlotte solves; and Sally captures her errant husband's attention." Kirkus

Reviewed by Ruth Chapin
Christian Science Monitor p15 D 16 '48 360w

Kirkus 16:453 S 1 '48 180w

"Miss Thompson develops her story of these varied English individuals on a slightly forced and silly plot, and she has shown an unseemly haste at the end to finish it off and be rid of it. But on this too sleazy thread she has strung some pearls of sensitive and shrewd observation." F. H. Bullock
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 N 21 '48 450w

"'The People Opposite' is a book to warm the cockles of the hearts of those many women who will find themselves falling, at some point, into the pattern of one of the book's several heroines, and I fear, to freeze the blood of almost everyone else." A. S. Morris
+ — N Y Times p23 D 12 '48 650w

"Sharp imagery and dialogue make up somewhat for the stereotyped plot."
+ — New Yorker 24:146 N 13 '48 50w

"As a novel, the book is somewhat tenuous and slight, its main plot a rather well-worn and familiar idea. It is really a panorama of a number of emotional situations, and its great charm lies in Miss Thompson's sensitive and perceptive character portrayal, and her limpid and beautiful prose style." S. H. Hay
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 D 4 '48 450w

Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 100w

THOMPSON, THOMAS. Crompton way. 224p $2.50 Macmillan

Crompton, Samuel—Fiction 47-12483

Novel based on the life of Samuel Crompton, the Lancashire spinner who invented the spinning mule and played a part in the early years of the industrial revolution in England.

"Every short sentence written by Mr. T. Thompson carries full cargo of meaning, and in Crompton Way his laconic style proves itself well fitted to tell the life story of the hapless inventor of the spinning mule." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 26 '47 90w

"Crompton Way is not one of those florid pieces of historical fiction written with one and a half eyes on the cinema rights. It is the scrupulously documented study of a remarkable man by a writer who is able, without striking a false note, to bring the background to life and to salt his dialogue with the authentic Lancashire wit."
Times [London] Lit Sup p505 O 4 '47 480w

THOMPSON, VIRGINIA MCLEAN (MRS RICHARD ADLOFF). Labor problems in southeast Asia; with a pref. by Wilfrid Benson. 283p $4 Yale univ. press

331 Labor and laboring classes—Asia, Southeast 48-5100

"In this study, emphasis is placed on the description and explanation of present-day labor problems in Burma, Malaya, Indonesia, Indochina, and Siam. A section is devoted to each area, and the six topics discussed in each section are almost identical. Those in the section on Burma are typical: General Labor Situation, Types of Labor, Immigrant Labor, Labor Legislation and Working Conditions, Organized Labor, and Postwar Developments." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Mills
Am Pol Sci R 42:825 Ag '48 400w

"The author was limited in her work by the scarcity of data, and by the disturbances attending military operations. Her book makes a good beginning in a little studied and little known field. Readers who are interested in background material will find the Preface, written by Wilfred Benson, Director of the Division of Non-Self-Governing Territories of the United Nations Secretariat, one of the most noteworthy portions of the book." Scott Nearing
+ — Am Soc R 13:495 Ag '48 550w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker
Ann Am Acad 257:223 My '48 500w

Foreign Affairs 26:751 Jl '48 20w

"Miss Thompson is to my mind penetrating and accurate in her studies of this area; fair and objective in her conclusions. I believe she would agree that it would be unwise for impatient Western friends to expect rapid or revolutionary changes in the labor situation in Siam. The trend of Siamese effort in education and in the regulation of social problems is in the right direction. They must, however proceed at their own pace." Frederic Dolbeare
+ Survey G 37:375 Ag '48 400w

"Students of population, sociology, economics, and the labor force will find particularly interesting the descriptions the volume contains of the various social structures, and the relationships of these to the problems posed by modern industrialization. Mistakes made by European colonizing powers in attempting to commercialize this area without taking fully into account the native social structures are treated more implicitly than explicitly."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:83 Mr '48 200w

THOMSON, VIRGIL. The art of judging music. 318p $4.25 Knopf

780.4 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation. Music—New York (city) 48-5511

A companion volume to The Musical Scene (Book Review Digest 1945) containing selections from the author's New York Herald Tribune columns from September 1944 to August 1947. The title is taken from the first article in the book, a revised version of the speech Mr Thomson made in May 1947 at the Harvard symposium on music criticism. Index.

"Wise, often witty, and always to the point."
+ Atlantic 181:119 Ap '48 60w

Booklist 44:230 Mr 1 '48

Kirkus 16:13 Ja 1 '48 210w

"Represents the most thought-provoking music criticism of recent years in this country. Includes three well-known essays on musical content and the useful one on French rhythm." C. K. Miller
+ Library J 73:476 Mr 15 '48 100w

"Thomson remains the most knowledgeable, perceptive, and (in the best sense of the phrase) serious-minded music critic this country has ever produced. You never feel that he writes simply because a concert has to be reviewed (his assistants can cover concerts of that kind) but he is always deeply concerned with the thing in hand, and usually he comes up with some sidelight on it which goes considerably beyond the immediate journalistic moment. Consequently a collection of his reviews and Sunday articles makes a warm, thought-provoking book, as broad in its range of subjects as it is high in its standards of quality." Alfred Frankenstein
+ Music Lib Assn Notes 5:235 Mr '48 700w

"Whether in or out of season, Virgil Thomson's work is warm, deeply concerned, serious minded without ponderosity, extremely broad in its interests and acceptances, and, as pointed out above, the envy of all his colleagues in its capacity to bring forth the precise and differentiating phrase. He still uses the word 'pretty' too often, but this is about all that is left of the glittering vocabulary of shock which he formerly exploited. He is no less brilliant than he ever was; he is just a little sounder and more thoroughly human." Alfred Frankenstein

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ap 11 '48 1050w

"This is not, at first glance, an inviting prospect—a book of daily newspaper pieces. . . Those previously unacquainted with Mr. Thomson's journalistic activities will be the more surprised at the extraordinary high level of sheer literary competence, to say nothing of his brilliance, wit, keen judgment, and knowledge of his subject. . . Thomson has his faults. He has made some fantastic mistakes in judgment, especially during his first year or two on the job. He is often inconsistent. The present volume, for example, contains both an eloquent testimonial to Toscanini (for whom Thomson's regard has risen since his first years on the job) and the absurd statement elsewhere that Toscanini was not a great orchestra builder." Moses Smith

+ — N Y Times p22 Mr 21 '48 600w

"Paste-up collections of old reviews usually make dreary reading, but Mr. Thomson's book is an exception, because he can discuss even the most ephemeral musical event in relation to the whole art. He is also, of course, a very witty and astringent writer."

+ New Yorker 23:100 F 21 '48 70w

Reviewed by Alfred Frankenstein

+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 F 15 '48 800w

"For the most part this is a book of out and out enthusiasms and it is highly entertaining to read about the orchestras, conductors, recitalists, the opera (he loves to write about the Met) and composers collectively. In the evaluations of his fellow composers he is particularly penetrating and illuminating. His paragraphs about Roger Sessions, Howard Hanson, Marc Blitzstein and Ernst Bacon, to mention but a few, are critical estimates of the utmost value. For those reading Mr. Thomson for the first time, I suggest that they read the opening chapter, from which the book's title is taken, last. For while it is psychologically sound, it is not in the author's most personal idiom, and the reader will discover that it is not the measuring rod that has been used consistently throughout the book." Victor Prahl

+ Springf'd Republican p15A F 22 '48 480w

THOREK, MAX. Camera art as a means of self-expression; with 41 original illustrations. 246p $5 Lippincott

770 Photography, Artistic 47-11999

A book for the amateur on the theories and methods of photography. All the steps in the making of a creative photograph are described, from the selection of equipment to instructions on mounting. Partial contents: Composition and posing; Lighting; Exposure meters; The negative; Enlarging; Portraiture; Nudes versus nakedness; Outdoor pictorial photography; Judges and judging; Camera clubs; Formulary.

Booklist 44:198 F 1 '48

"Throughout the book [Dr Thorek's] thorough knowledge of painting and creative expression is evident and he has done an excellent job of showing the strong bonds that connect photography with the arts." M. A. Braye

+ Chicago Sun p6A D 3 '47 220w

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '48

Reviewed by R. S. Robbins

N Y Times p23 My 16 '48 150w

THORNDIKE, LYNN. Short history of civilization. 2d ed 751p il maps $6.50; text ed $5 Appleton

901 History, Universal. Civilization—History 48-7724

"Cultural rather than political aspects are emphasized in this college textbook, first published in 1926 [Book Review Digest 1926, 1927], and now revised and brought up-to-date with several new chapters, and additional illustrations and maps." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:107 N 15 '48

"As a textbook, it is a sound, readable piece of work. As reading for the more mature student, it races and skips at too high a speed for comfortable literary digestion. There is, throughout, the suspicion that any given sentence was inserted not for the educational value involved but because it makes a nice question on examinations. There are occasions, too, when Professor Thorndike forgets he is a historian and goes completely overboard with enthusiasm for something he personally likes, such as Gothic architecture. His deviations from facts give the reader an uneasy feeling that some essays were left lying around quite by accident." L. L.

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p13 O 3 '48 200w

School & Society 68:111 Ag 14 '48 10w

"An excellent text."

+ Social Studies 39:380 D '48 20w

THORNE-THOMSEN, MRS GUDRUN. In Norway; il. by Eyvind Earle. 159p $3 Viking

914.81 Norway—Civilization 48-1304

A native of Norway, now a United States citizen, describes briefly the history and customs of the land of her birth. She includes traditions, folklore, sports, cultural interests, and the government.

Booklist 44:289 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 My 13 '48 310w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

"Excellent woodcuts by Eyvind Earle will make 'home-sick' all who ever traveled in that beautiful and civilized small country."

+ Commonweal 48:84 My 7 '48 80w

"The style is easy and direct and the chapter titles inviting. Striking illustrations intensify the vivid impression of a book that will attract young people and widen their horizons." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:200 My '48 120w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 24:267 Jl '48 240w

"Her book has the authenticity of true knowledge, the sincerity of love for both countries and a storyteller's skill in giving the combined history, description and very atmosphere of Norway." Siri Andrews

+ Horn Bk 24:476 N '48 170w

"Excellent factual material on Norway, geographically fascinating."

+ Kirkus 16:53 F 1 '48 70w

"Through the magic of the written word, Mrs. Thorne-Thomsen has given a vivid picture of Norway and its people. . . Recommended for older boys and girls and adults." C. W. Field

+ Library J 73:660 Ap 15 '48 70w

"It is a richly interesting, factual story written with affection and knowledge, and with a clear style. The many line drawings have vigor and beauty, and they too interpret for us something of the quality of Norway." Irmengarde Eberle

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 25 '48 230w

"The spirit of a great nation shines through this valuable book." R. A. Gordon

+ N Y Times p11 My 30 '48 140w

"A sensible and interesting book on Norway. . . The volume is exceptionally good in design and typography, and the strong black-and-white illustrations are beautiful."

+ New Yorker 24:145 D 11 '48 60w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis

Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 8 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:86 Ap '48

THORNTON, FRANCIS BEAUCHESNE, ed. Return to tradition, a directive anthology. 926p $8.50 Bruce pub.

808.8 Roman Catholic literature—Collections 48-7110

"[An] anthology of the literature of the Catholic Revival. More than nine hundred large pages, clearly printed in double columns, hold prose and poetry selected from the work of the Catholic writers, of the last century, done in England, France, Ireland, and the United States; and a final section, addressed to a more special audience, devoted to revival and reform." Sat R of Lit

"The scholar's breadth of vision and critical perception are here; the concise biographies that head the chapters are excellent; the selections are superb as to choice, but so fragmentary and abbreviated as to be irritating to the browser and delver for pure pleasure, hence the appeal is limited. Recommended for Catholic reference libraries and where there is student demand." M. H. Zipprich

+ — Library J 73:814 My 15 '48 130w

"It is an excellent introduction to the ever growing body of literature that is written in the Catholic tradition. Father Thornton has chosen his authors well, and more important, he has selected from their works pieces that indicate each author's style and purpose so that the reader can decide with fair accuracy which writer will please him most, which he will read more of." W. R. W.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 27 '48 270w

"A richly interesting, informative, enjoyable, and impressive anthology." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:27 Jl 3 '48 470w

"Designed chiefly for those of Catholic faith or tendencies, this book can be highly recommended to all intelligent readers. My own experience was that I picked it up with only moderate interest, but did not put it down until I had read most of its 900 pages." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 D 18 '48 480w

THORNTON, WILLIS. Nine lives of citizen Train. 327p il $3.50 Greenberg

B or 92 Train, George Francis 48-9048

Biography of George Francis Train, an American eccentric who died in 1904 at a New York Mills hotel. During his life of seventy-five years he sampled many careers and activities. He was instrumental in building the last of the great clipper ships; in building the first tramways in England; and in promoting the Union Pacific railroad. At one time he almost became president of the Australian Five-Star Republic. In 1872 he ran for President of the United States and the next year changed to become a candidate for dictator. At the end of his life he became a friend to New York's children and spent his days talking to them. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:157 Ja 1 '49

"An odd slice of American portraiture, which merits reading as sheer entertainment, but needs salesmanship to put it over."

+ Kirkus 16:494 S 15 '48 170w

"Recommended." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 73:1384 O 1 '48 130w

"Mr. Thornton has written an amusing book. He rightfully considers Train a sort of modern Don Quixote and makes the most of his tiltings in a well illustrated volume." Stewart Holbrook

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 O 31 '48 650w

Reviewed by H. J. Bresler

N Y Times p36 N 14 '48 270w

"Mr. Thornton is probably far too kind to Citizen Train, but it is admittedly easy to become fond of this 19th century Don Quixote, who exulted in the title of 'champion crank' and who was both mountebank and businessman." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p5C O 31 '48 360w

THORP, RAYMOND W. Bowie knife. 167p il $3 Univ. of N.Mex. press

978 Bowie, James. Knives 48-8446

Traces the real story of the Bowie knife. A chapter is devoted to James Black, the Arkansas blacksmith who made the first knives to fit the requirements of Colonel James Bowie. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:134 D 15 '48

"A well-planned and organized rebuttal to accepted versions, this is authentic frontier stuff that should have some interest for a wild west devotee audience."

+ Kirkus 16:495 S 15 '48 120w

"Rupert Hughes, in a foreword to the Thorp book, unequivocally calls it a classic; this may be a shade extravagant, but certainly it is a striking work in its field, a model of research and reasoning and a collector's item for all who are interested in deadly hand-to-hand combat." Stanley Walker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p36 N 14 '48 400w

N Y Times p55 N 14 '48 180w

THURBER, JAMES. The beast in me and other animals. 340p $3 Harcourt

817 48-8733

A collection of Thurber's short pieces and drawings; including four short stories, a long report on soap opera, and articles from the New Yorker's "Talk of the Town" department.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 183:82 Ja '49 300w

Booklist 45:85 N 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

+ Kirkus 16:539 O 1 '48 150w

"Thurber's reportorial days on 'The New Yorker' of twenty years ago are represented in the present volume by selections from his contributions to Talk of the Town for that period. Each of them is delightful still to read; and together they are indicative of the developing Thurber. . . Soapland, though it firmly reestablishes the reputation of Reporter Thurber, may make admirers of his other talents restless. They may even skip a few pages, since reading about soap opera is almost as painful as listening to it, and straight reporting by Mr. Thurber, however excellent, is like a prose reading by Mme. Traubel. Mme. Traubel and Mr. Thurber do other things much better. . . There is a piece in the prose section purporting to explain the various categories of cartoonery which the artist has committed. It is completely unenlightening, and throws immediate suspicion on Mr. Thurber's reportorial powers." Thomas Sugrue

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 O 3 '48 850w

"Some of [the] drawings look as if they had been done with a busted pencil, even though—as the critic's idiom goes—they jar us delicately out of the world of reality. The New Yorker's Harold Ross referred to him once, Thurber writes, as a third-rate artist, but in a section devoted to well-known animals like the lion and the gorilla, he has drawn the most malevolent-looking platypus you ever saw. . . All but one of the short stories are done with typical craftsmanship, and the essays are consistently trenchant and funny." Rex Lardner

+ — N Y Times p20 O 3 '48 650w

"Those who delight in good writing will hardly have allowed these essays and sketches to go unread until now, but they will be glad all the same, to have them collected in book form." Bergen Evans

+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 O 9 '48 800w

Time 52:116 O 11 '48 220w

THURMAN, HOWARD. Negro spiritual speaks of life and death. 55p $1 Harper

784.756 Negro spirituals. Immortality 47-12396

"In this brief lecture, Professor Thurman reexamines the great spirituals in an attempt to discover their contribution to man's thought on immortality and concludes that the slave singers can rightfully take their place alongside the great creative religious thinkers of the human race because they succeeded in making 'a worthless life worth living.'" Library J

"Howard Thurman brings to his lecture a simple and yet profound wisdom." W. P. Sears
+ Churchman 162:18 F 1 '48 70w

"Dr. Thurman has done much more than just print some new songs. He has helped us to see that the spirituals as a whole present a point of view that is not limited by race or condition. Their insight rests back on experiences that all human beings share. For the slave they gave an intolerable lot spiritual significance. For him and for the rest of us they not only express a hope but help to build a philosophy." J. S. Bixler
+ Crozer Q 25:188 Ap '48 350w

"Valuable though small contribution to the subject which should be purchased by libraries specializing in religious and Negro subjects, but not essential for general libraries." G. W. Wakefield
Library J 72:1687 D 1 '47 100w

TILLETT, MRS DOROTHY (STOCKBRIDGE) (JOHN STEPHEN STRANGE, pseud). All men are liars. 191p $2 Doubleday
48-9110

Detective story.

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48

"Well done."
+ Kirkus 16:492 S 15 '48 70w

"This is a painstaking, sober-sided item with clever police activity." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 N 21 '48 180w

"Excellent courtroom stuff, dealing, in what sounds like an authentic manner, with the trial of a New York sportsman accused of shooting a young man he had hired to drive him about town one rainy night. . . A nicely balanced job."
+ New Yorker 24:139 N 6 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p23 D 5 '48 150w

"Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 D 18 '48 40w

TILLETT, MRS DOROTHY (STOCKBRIDGE) (JOHN STEPHEN STRANGE, pseud). Make my bed soon. 191p $2 Doubleday
47-12513

Detective story

"The tale is tight and careful and very ably set down." James Sandoe
+ Chicago Sun Ja 9 '48 90w

Kirkus 15:633 N 15 '47 70w

New Repub 118:26 Mr 8 '48 20w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ja 25 '48 140w

"The story is as notable for its deft character delineation as for its mystery and suspense." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p26 Ja 18 '48 200w

"Well worked out and plausible."
+ New Yorker 23:83 Ja 10 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ja 25 '48 80w

"Worth while."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ja 10 '48 40w

TILLICH, PAUL JOHANNES. Protestant era; tr. and with a concluding essay by James Luther Adams. 323p $4 Univ. of Chicago press
284 Protestantism. Christianity—Philosophy
48-6650

Essays written during the past two decades, by the professor of philosophical theology at Union theological seminary. The articles attempt to answer the question: "Will the Protestant era come to an end?" Index.

Reviewed by William Johnson
Canadian Forum 28:236 Ja '49 1150w

"Despite the fact that many fresh and profound things are said about the positive meaning of Protestant Christianity, especially in the essays 'Nature and Sacrament' and 'The Formative Power of Protestantism,' this reviewer feels uncomfortable with Tillich's treatment of revelation, Christ, the visible church and the sacraments. But a large scale systematic theology is promised us. And here is more than one could justly ask." J. H. Nichols
Christian Century 65:709 Jl 14 '48 1350w

"The Protestant principle is always relevant to its culture, although not always at peace with it. This book will help many readers to understand one of the profounder theologians of the present day." R. C. Miller
+ Churchman 162:17 S 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by E. E. Aubrey
Crozer Q 25:348 O '48 550w

Current Hist 15:39 Jl '48 50w

"All in all, the book is one of the more successful attempts to collect material written over a long period (twenty years) into a single volume. . . Professor Tillich is an impressive thinker with great analytical gifts as well as a powerful and uneasy conscience. I suspect that he is one of the few modern theologians who can find intellectual companions, if not followers, among contemporary philosophers. Professor Adams has performed a real service in translating this volume and in writing a useful explanatory essay." J. R. Everett
+ J Philos 45:610 O 21 '48 1200w

"As far as a book of this sort has a life of its own apart from its author's personal influence, it will undoubtedly be recognized as the most important work of religious apologetics to appear on American bookstands since Reinhold Niebuhr's 'The Nature and Destiny of Man.' Eventually, it may stand with the best of Karl Barth and Emil Brunner as one of the most provocative applications of religious wisdom to modern life. . . Certainly, this book represents one of the most successful cultural exchanges of modern times. Speculative theology may wait generations for another comparable synthetic effort. Prof. James Luther Adams of Chicago deserves high praise for his translations, revisions and his illuminating explanatory essay." R. W. Flint
+ N Y Times p6 Je 27 '48 750w

"This is no book of religious sentiments for the lay reader. It is theology for theologians." E. M. T.
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Je 20 '48 230w

TILLYARD, EUSTACE MANDEVILLE WETENHALL. Five poems, 1470-1870; an elementary essay on the background of English literature. 135p il $2.75 Macmillan
821.09 English poetry—History and criticism

"The five poems that are the subject of Dr. Tillyard's 'elementary essay on the background of English literature' are Henryson's The Testament of Cresseid (1470?), Sir John Davies's Orchestra (1594), Dryden's Ode on Anne Killegrew (1686), Coleridge's Ancient Mariner (1798), and Swinburne's Hertha (1870) The relationship of these works is not obvious at a glance; but it is the relationship of these poems to the thought and general beliefs current in the times in which each was written that concerns Dr. Tillyard in this contribution to history and literary criticism." Times [London] Lit Sup

Reviewed by J. W. Krutch
Nation 168:49 Ja 8 '49 500w

"All is well, if we recognise that Five Poems is a piece of our modern scholiasm, artless, entertaining, and natural to a time in which one may take a degree in English literature, and then become a 'specialist' so as to enable

TILLYARD, E. M. W.—Continued
others to take the same degree. All is well if we do not think that such writers of the magnified footnote are at all related to the great critics, and if we realise that, while they may increase our knowledge, such writings have nothing at all in them to refine our living." Geoffrey Grigson
New Statesman & Nation 36:159 Ag 21 '48 700w

New Yorker 24:137 N 6 '48 130w

"Few contemporary critics write with as much wisdom and as little pedantry as E. M. W. Tillyard, the Master of Jesus College, Cambridge. . . His breadth is academic in the best sense of the word. Too many poets and novelists use criticism as a platter on which to serve their own works, unduly enlarging upon the principles behind them. Tillyard is lively and discerning without disproportion or distortion." H. W. Wells
+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 Ag 21 '48 360w

Reviewed by John Bryson
Spec 181:408 S 24 '48 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p484 Ag 28 '48 3350w

TILMAN, HAROLD WILLIAM. Mount Everest, 1938. 160p il maps $3.75 Macmillan (for the Cambridge univ. press)

915.42 Everest, Mount. Mountaineering [48-4589]

In 1938 the author led an expedition in an attempt to climb Mount Everest. The party met extremely bad weather, and altho two efforts were made to reach the summit, the highest camp was at 27,200 feet. This is the story of the expedition. It is illustrated with many photographs. Short bibliography. Index.

"Mr. Tilman's narrative is a straightforward, concise account, which is particularly enlightening on the problems that came into the province of 'staff work.' He sees to it that we get on friendly terms with the climbers and with many of the 'tigers,' or Tibetan porters; and he gives us a clear day-to-day record of the proceedings—though one does feel that, when it comes to description of the actual climbing, he is rather prone to modest understatement. One likes his dry humor, which is perhaps best seen in the amusing appendix, where he puts the case for those 'Abominable Snowmen.' " Eric Forbes-Boyd
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 12 '48 650w

Library J 73:1031 Jl '48 30w

"Here is a book that will interest climbers on Shasta as well as on Everest." A. K.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 Je 20 '48 220w

TIMES, LONDON. History of the Times [4v; v. 3] The twentieth century test. 862p il $6.50 Macmillan

072 Times, London (35-27067)

This third volume in the history of The Times of London covers the period from 1884 to 1912. It deals not only with the politics of the great newspaper itself, but also with the international history of those years. Index. For earlier volumes see Book Review Digest 1935 and 1939.

"This volume represents high scholarship, fair and balanced judgments, and the presentation of the full record with 'unconditional candour.' " O. J. Hale
+ Am Hist R 53:806 Jl '48 850w

Reviewed by D. J. McDougall
Canadian Hist R 29:297 S '48 1550w

"Characters are summed up for us with telling effect; the narrative is invariably clear, and notable for its complete candor; and, since this is the work of members of 'The Times' staff, the style is, of course, irreproachable." Eric Forbes-Boyd
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 F 25 '48 700w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 14:232 Ap '48 1000w

Reviewed by J. L. Hammond
New Statesman & Nation 35:13 Ja 3 '48 1900w

Reviewed by P. W. Wilson
N Y Times p14 F 8 '48 900w

"The history of The Times is the history of England—and of much else besides. . . The length of the book is immense, its contents for the most part fascinating—for the most part, for the tortuosities of Hungarian politics as seen by Wickham Steed, or of Balkan intrigues as interpreted by Bourchier, tend frankly to become a little tedious. But there is no escaping them, for the purpose of the writers of this third, and presumably penultimate, instalment of the Thunderer's history . . . is to depict The Times as an unofficial (and therefore untrammelled) Foreign Office, often better and earlier informed than the institution in Whitehall, with its hierarchy installed in Printing House Square and its correspondents posted like ambassadors at all the key-points in Europe and beyond, both reporting current events and helping to mould them." Wilson Harris
+ — Spec 179:714 D 5 '47 1250w

Reviewed by L. B. Namier
Times [London] Lit Sup p621 D 6 '47 6050w

TIMMONS, BASCOM NOLLY. Garner of Texas; a personal history. 294p il $3 Harper

B or 92 Garner, John Nance 48-8585

Biography of John Nance Garner, by a Washington journalist who is one of his closest friends.

Booklist 45:102 N 15 '48

"An interesting, highly readable view of Garner's political life and an inside view of activities in the House and at the White House, but one questions too wide an interest in the man today."
+ — Kirkus 16:359 Jl 15 '48 190w

"A warmly affectionate story of the life of one of the best loved but most controversial figures in recent American political life." R. D. Dinsmore
+ N Y Times p14 O 10 '48 650w

"Timmons tries to make a serious point of Garner's objections to Roosevelt's recognition of Russia. But to criticize the book on this level is unfair to it as Americana, which it authentically and entertainingly is." Eliot Janeway
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 N 20 '48 1050w

"Mr. Timmons has written a most engaging book about his old friend, an invigorating biography of a grass-roots American politician as well as an often penetrating analysis of Garner's era in the national scene." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p8B O 24 '48 360w

TINKER, CHAUNCEY BREWSTER. Essays in retrospect; collected articles and addresses. 161p $2.50 Yale univ. press

820.4 English literature—History and criticism 48-6109

A collection of essays and addresses, dealing mainly with English writers, and their works. Partial contents: The great diarist, and some others; Samuel Johnson; Joel Barlow's vision of Columbus; Shelley once more; The poetry of the Brontës; William Morris as poet; The amusing pre-Raphaelites; Meredith's poetry; The poetry of A. E. Housman; Trollope; Ancestor worship, with some remarks about the sea worm. Index.

"The author has no startling literary notions to contribute, but he does have what all good essayists have—a highly civilized point of view. Whether it be his candid discernment of the Brontë sisters, or a delicate de-boning of the Pre-Raphaelites, Mr. Tinker is ever deliberate and polished. His 'Great Diarist' and 'The Vision of Columbus' are especially sharp in their analysis. For the rest of the pieces, one cannot easily see the outlines; all are highly readable if one wants to be soothed, for the author writes like a weary and humorous 'vieux.' The net result is soporific. Despite my carping, I would not accuse Mr. Tinker's essays of inducing boredom. Does opium bore?—but I should advise small, carefully-directed doses." Elizabeth Johnson

+ — Commonweal 48:335 Jl 16 '48 200w

"I am told by former students of Mr. Tinker at Yale that undergraduates, diagnosing his vivid presentation of the immortals in English literature, were given to saying: 'Tinker brings 'em up alive!' He does that very thing in these essays, and happily, as well, infuses his readers with new life." M. E. Chase

+ N Y Times p6 Ap 25 '48 800w

"For the most part literary, these papers are intelligent without profundity, instructive without pedantry. Uncommon commonsense, based on learning that is lightly carried, informs them all, and their writer controls a style that is distinguished not only by colloquial ease, but also by what may be called colloquial elegance. His wit is keen, his temper urbane." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Jl 31 '48 550w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:125 Je '48 240w

"The largest group of essays is concerned with poetry. There are genial papers on Pepys, Dr. Johnson, and Trollope, but even when Mr. Tinker writes of the Brontës and Meredith, he deals with them as poets, not as novelists. He makes no concessions to the 'moderns,' except that he has a good word for the later work of T. S. Eliot. He has the courage to defend Matthew Arnold's view of Shelley. He is at his best, I think, in his comments on Emily Brontë and A. E. Housman, in which both the power and the limitations of these poets are sharply defined." H. E. Woodbridge

+ Yale R n s 37:733 summer '48 350w

TIREMAN, LOYD SPENCER. Big Fat; adapted by Evelyn Yrisarri; il. by Ralph Douglas. (Mesaland ser) 48p $1.25 Univ. of N.Mex. press

A48-6375

"The game [in this series] was to acquaint the children of the Southwest with local flora and fauna, to make up some stories out of the bin of scientific facts stored in faculty PhDs and entertain and excite the children, let the University trickle down to the primary schools. Big Fat is a Prairie Dog and now joins Cocky the Road Runner, Dumbee, Baby Jack and Jumping Rabbit." Commonweal

"Ralph Douglas on a still page can make more animated goings on than Disney on a screen."

+ Commonweal 47:150 N 21 '47 130w

Kirkus 15:647 D 1 '47 110w

"This fifth book of the Mesaland Series will be of interest to those making regional collections because of its layout. The little stories are strained, however." Mary Strang

Library J 72:1784 D 15 '47 40w

TITTLE, WALTER. Roosevelt as an artist saw him; with por. and il. by the author. 191p $3 McBride

B or 92 Roosevelt, Franklin Delano 48-7155

Impressions of the late President Roosevelt by the artist who sketched him in the winter of 1942-43. The book contains etchings and little drawings made at that time, descriptions of the manor and library at Hyde Park, and an explanation of the process of drypoint etching.

Chicago Sun p8X Ag 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:1196 S 1 '48 100w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 220w

TOBEY, JAMES ALNER. Your diet for longer life. 280p $3.50 Funk, W.

613.2 Diet. Nutrition 48-4733

"Popular articles on eating to maintain maximum bodily efficiency in addition to corrective diets. Written by a public health specialist and based on current medical practices." (Booklist) Contents: One way to prolong life; The rules for right eating; Energy and strength from foods; Vitamins for vigor and vitality; A guide to good digestion; The truth about acidosis; The right way to reduce; How to put on weight; Keeping the body regular; Foods that feed your blood; Nutrition for nerves and fatigue; Diet and reproduction; Building better teeth; Eating for personal beauty; When your child won't eat; Food fads and follies; Foods of animal origin; Foods of vegetable origin; Making the best use of foods. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:61 O 15 '48

"Mr. Tobey here covers ground that has already been rather thoroughly gone over. . . His information is usually accurate, but not always up to date, and if he had used the latest editions of some of his bibliography he would see this for himself. Almost no scientific journals were consulted or if they were, they were not specified. Even the references used were not put to full advantage. . . Mr. Tobey should also be careful about repeating himself. . . He should be lauded, however, for poking holes in the many food fads and fallacies that follow us everywhere, and he has pointed out items otherwise skipped over lightly or ignored altogether. . . The layman can learn a lot from this book, despite its drawbacks." D. H. T.

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p19 O 24 '48 350w

TOBIN, RICHARD LARDNER. Golden opinions. 254p $3 Dutton

818 48-10167

Collection of autobiographical sketches, by an American news commentator and head of the New York Herald Tribune radio-television-facsimile department. He records incidents of his school days; describes his struggle to finance a college education; and includes a fishing trip with his father; a trip to Bermuda; and stories of his experiences in wartime England.

"Stories for pickup reading, for humor, for human interest. Not important but pleasant."

+ Kirkus 16:425 Ag 15 '48 130w

"Richard L. Tobin has found life full of flavor, and these chapters strive for a happy balance between astringency and sentiment." George Conrad

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 17 '48 450w

"Sketches in the English manner of reminiscence—intense affection for geography and people and the small, dear things of living; gentle shyness mixed with sudden shafts of frank and casual confession; wonder and delight in the simple, small-town tangents to routine existence; well-mannered restraint when such ill-bred things as native fascism or a foreign country's bureaucracy cast snares at mental comfort. . . All of the situations are treated with the touch of a tongue in cheek and the almost imperceptible lift of an eyebrow which give detachment to the most intimate revelations." Thomas Haynes

+ N Y Times p51 N 14 '48 800w

TOCH, ERNST. Shaping forces in music; an inquiry into harmony, melody, counterpoint, form. 245p $5 Criterion music corp.

781 Music—Theory 48-3971

Essays on harmony, melody, counterpoint, and form in music. The author is a Viennese composer and teacher, who writes from years of personal experience. Brief biographical sketch. Index of names.

"Well-informed readers will find much of interest and stimulation in his varied assaults; others, however, might best be warned away lest they believe everything they see. . . All of this is expressed in non-idiomatic English of often baffling complexity, but the reader is compensated by the wealth of excellent musical examples, carefully selected and well-printed. . . As a record of an important contemporary composer's thoughts on the problems of his craft, the book is recommended." Luther Noss

TOCH, ERNST—Continued
+ — Music Lib Assn Notes 6:161 D '48 800w

"A word should be said about the fine organization of the details of each section and the clarity of the literary style. Here and there some usages betray the foreign antecedents of the author. . . Two common words appear in a hyphenated form for no ostensible reason: 'professor,' on page 141 and 'composer,' on page 173. There is the familiar misuse of 'principle' where 'principal' is intended. These, however, are minor blemishes in a book which is an important contribution to the understanding and appreciation of the musical processes found in living music of the past and present. It is recommended for teacher, student, and musical amateur." V. H. Talley
+ School R 56:620 D '48 1400w

TODAY'S WOMAN (periodical). What today's woman should know about marriage. 307p $3 Farrar, Straus
173.1 Marriage 48-7826

Articles about marriage from the pages of Today's Woman magazine. Partial contents: The only career in which a woman can be the boss, by C. B. Luce; How sound is your marriage? by C. R. Adams; How it feels to have a baby, by Grace Hughes; Miscarriage can be avoided, by Lawrence Galton; Housework made easy, by Harry Brown; What kind of mother are you? by Marguerite Barze; The baby sitter problem, by Genevieve Parkhurst; The menstrual cycle, by Aiken Welch; Help your husband get ahead, by Helen Worden; Money is a wife's business, by George Gallup; How much insurance does the young family need? by Jim Bishop; If I were a bride today, by M. D. Eisenhower.

Booklist 45:4 S 1 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

"Something for everybody; good hostess gift."
+ Kirkus 16:295 Je 15 '48 130w

"Exceptionally sane and well balanced collection of chapters on the different facets of married life. Good on the usual problems of psychological adjustment but includes a great deal more on practical problems that have a bearing on harmonious relationships—housekeeping and financial problems, legal aspects and child care, practical and emotional steps in making marriage a partnership, and a sane and fear-dispelling chapter on having a baby. Altogether a remarkable collection of sound information that could be a foundation for any home. For all libraries." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 73:1024 Jl '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p15 S 5 '48 50w

TODD, JOSEPH P. Tricks every boy can do. 189p il $2 Hart
791.8 Tricks. Conjuring 48-10083

"The tricks are the kind boys can do without being specialists or acrobats. The equipment is home-made, and the tricks are of the sort that do not demand extensive practice, danger, and are reasonably sure of success on public try. Tricks with coins and bills, checkers, cards, numbers, matchsticks, parlor stunts, mind reading tricks, scientific oddities, and so on." Kirkus

---

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48

"From ten up, boys will enjoy this excellent book of simple tricks, with its unusually clear text and fool-proof, good looking diagram drawings. Sturdy binding that will stand up under hard use."
+ Kirkus 16:556 O 15 '48 100w

"Recommended." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 73:1601 N 1 '48 50w

Springf'd Republican p14A Ja 23 '49 120w

TODRIN, BORIS. The plundered heart. 318p $3 Dutton
48-7793

The story of Nick Gordon, newspaperman, poet, and idealist, who worked on TAB, a Metropolitan newspaper. With the coming of the war TAB's founder, O'Neill, was called up and the paper never recovered from the blow, succumbing eventually to commercialism. Along with the story of TAB, is told that of Nick and his young wife, Jerry, who died in childbirth, and of Ellen who took over where Jerry left off.

"Only a few memorable writers have combined the chronicle of an institution with a probing of personal events. In his latest novel, Boris Todrin has tried his hand at this often fruitful combination, but he never quite achieves a significant merger of history and poetry." Leslie Waller
Chicago Sun Ag 3 '48 330w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p11 Ag 12 '48 210w

Kirkus 16:267 Je 1 '48 170w

"A character portrayal notable for its completeness, its sense of wholeness. Mr. Todrin writes with deep feeling and sincerity and his fiction merits consideration." E. P. Nichols
+ Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 80w

"Many newspaper people may want to read 'The Plundered Heart' to read about the down fall of a 'People's Newspaper;' others can find in it a sensitive and tragic personal story as well." Herbert Kupferberg
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 8 '48 500w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 19 '48 250w

"Seldom has even a seasoned novelist of late so beautifully caught the essence of young love, and been able to picture it with no maudlin sentimentality, but a genuine expression of happiness. It is with rare skill that the author carries the memory of this mood over to the tragedy which comes to the young couple so quickly. The real power of Mr. Todrin's novel is in the story of Nick's long journey back to normal living, after his tremendous emotional reaction to his bereavement, and in the delineation of his response to second love when Ellen Swan comes into his life." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 270w

TOKSVIG, SIGNE (MRS FRANCIS HACKETT). Emanuel Swedenborg, scientist and mystic. 389p pl $5 Yale univ. press
B or 92 Swedenborg, Emanuel 48-6174

A biography of the Swedish scientist, emphasizing the reasons for his interest in psychical research. Index.

"An interesting, highly sympathetic study of a great scientist and mystic." O. F. Ander
+ Am Hist R 54:100 O '48 750w

"Signe Toksvig has given as a very graphic illustration of Swedenborg's religious outlook, his criticism of the prevailing Lutheran theology and a new interpretation of a much deeper religious conception. And she has very adequately explained why Swedenborg has become the founder of a new church movement which has quite an important place in our American life. Her book is freshly written throughout, interesting from cover to cover, and is in my opinion one of the leading biographies of our present age." R. M. Jones
+ Ann Am Acad 258:172 Jl '48 410w

Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

"If this scholarly and judicious life of the great Swede does not get a Pulitzer or some other kind of prize for biography, it will be either a miscarriage of justice or the result of a decision that Swedenborg is outside the main current of popular interest." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 65:383 Ap 28 '48 900w

Current Hist 14:348 Je '48 50w

"Careful, painstaking, slightly heavy-handed as this biography is, it still has something for those seeking fresh insight."
Kirkus 16:73 F 1 '48 250w

"This biography will be welcomed by members of the New Jerusalem Church whose theology is based on Swedenborg's writings. Theologians, psychologists, and other students of man's relationships will find it interesting and profitable reading." O. G. Lawson
+ Library J 73:394 Mr 1 '48 140w

"A wholly admirable study of the life and intellectual adventures of Emanuel Swedenborg." C. H. Grattan
+ N Y Times p4 Mr 28 '48 1100w

Reviewed by E. M. Tainton
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Je 6 '48 300w

"Books on encyclopedists must be written by encyclopedists if they are to light up all the corners or even to seem uniformly sensible. Unfortunately there are few minds (carnate or discarnate) up to this kind of job, so that Miss Toksvig may be excused for not writing the book on Swedenborg that Leibnitz could have written. But in all the fields in which she is not expert she wisely and generously cites those whom she respects." M. G. White
Sat R of Lit 31:26 S 11 '48 650w

"In this objective but sympathetic view of Swedenborg, Miss Toksvig has endeavored to give a picture of the whole man in all the phases of his varied life. . . Unfortunately, the author is unequipped to make the necessary analysis of Swedenborg's scientific and technological contributions, to place them in proper perspective to one another, or to evaluate them properly. To have done so would have required the collaboration of several experts. . . Swedenborg, emerges somewhat the faded sepia wash of a figure. Its defects of interpretation notwithstanding, this impressively documented volume offers the results of a great deal of original research; the reader who wishes to know something of the life of this remarkable man will find here all the facts."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:156 Je '48 300w

TOMPKINS, JANE F. (MRS B. M. MCCONNELL). Two pennies overboard; a story of Nantucket Island; il. by Natalie Norton. 176p $2.25 Lippincott
48-3293

Story of the summer spent by a brother and sister on Nantucket. For ages 8-10.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:458 N '48 90w

"Recommended as a wholesome vacation story." A. M. Wetherell
+ Library J 73:1391 O 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter
Springf'd Republican p7B Ag 29 '48 330w

TOPP, MRS MILDRED (SPURRIER). Smile please. 280p $3 Houghton
818 Mississippi—Social life and customs
48-8197

Stories of the author's childhood in a small Mississippi town where her mother was the best photographer. Mildred's favorite defense mechanism was her ability to bite. It got her out of many a tough situation—and into a lot more. Her stories are of school, a revival meeting, weddings, love affairs of her elders, the arrival of the showboat; all told with humor.

Booklist 45:48 O 1 '48

Reviewed by Ben Kartman
Chicago Sun p8X S 26 '48 310w

"An exuberant, practically ebullient return to other days, other ways, which is at times suspect of adult reconditioning."
+ — Kirkus 16:328 Jl 1 '48 150w

"Not too well written, humor seems forced to this reviewer." M. P. McKay
Library J 73:1087 Ag '48 80w

"This is a lively book of a sturdy, independent, courageous child—her mother's own daughter." Emily Kimbrough
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 S 12 '48 550w

Reviewed by D. M. Mankiewicz
N Y Times p37 O 10 '48 320w

"There are pleasant bits in it. . . You'll find incidents that ring some bells, too, especially if you're getting on to middle age. . . But there are a good many things wrong with the book. One is that the author never seems to make up her mind exactly who she is. . . As for the laughs—well, as I've noted, some laugh more easily than others." J. H. Jackson
— + San Francisco Chronicle p20 S 10 '48 650w

"It appears to be unfashionable now to have had a happy childhood; but Mrs. Topp is not ashamed to admit that, unrepressed and uninhibited, she had just that. Her book is a hilarious excursion into a delightful past." Pamela Taylor
+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 S 11 '48 650w
Wis Lib Bul 44:183 N '48

TORPEY, WILLIAM GEORGE. Judicial doctrines of religious rights in America. 376p $5 Univ. of N.C. press
348 Religious liberty. Ecclesiastical law
48-8404

"The book begins with an historical summary, showing the part played in the formation of our law in this area by Spanish, French and English legal traditions. . . Ten chapters then follow which describe various categories of law in its relation to religion. They include police powers as limitations upon religious freedom, the rights of individuals in the formation and termination of religious societies, and the finality of administrative decisions of religious societies. . . The concluding section briefly outlines 18 proposed changes in the law which are aimed to strengthen the exercise of religious freedom." (Christian Century) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:151 Ja 1 '49

"As a well packed summary of legislation, enriched with adequate references, his book has real value whether or not one agrees with his comments and generalizations—which, on the whole, however, are few."
+ Cath World 168:256 D '48 120w

Reviewed by H. E. Fey
Christian Century 65:1175 N 3 '48 850w
Columbia Law R 48:1273 D '48 70w

TORRENCE, FREDERIC RIDGELY. Story of John Hope. 398p $5 Macmillan
B or 92 Hope, John 48-7880

A biography of the Negro educator, by the winner of the 1947 fellowship of the Academy of American poets. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

Reviewed by Margaret Hubbard
Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 30 '48 700w

Reviewed by A. W. Taylor
Churchman 162:16 N 1 '48 190w
Kirkus 16:206 Ap 15 '48 130w

"[Dr. Hope's] reputation is international and he rightly deserves this reverent, able and most readable biography written by a highly esteemed American poet. Recommended." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 73:1025 Jl '48 140w

"Ridgely Torrence, the poet and dramatist, has done a beautiful job of understanding and portraying this significant American and the backdrop of history behind his life and career. The author of 'Plays for a Negro Theatre' (1917), probably the first serious dramas about Negroes by an American writer and the first to be acted by a Negro cast, Mr. Torrence also touched a Negro theme poignantly in his frequently quoted poem about lynching, 'The

TORRENCE, F. R.—Continued
Bird and the Tree.' To his biography of John Hope he has brought poetry and drama as well as maturity. The fact that the work is meticulous and rich in detail, in a manner more traditional than contemporary, should trouble few, please many." Arna Bontemps
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 8 '48 600w

"The author's skill in selecting only the pertinent material from the vast sources available to him is altogether extraordinary; in fact, so well does he keep his own presence inconspicuous that we are in danger of thinking of 'The Story of John Hope' as an autobiography rather than as a rousing biography. To those who are specialists in the field of Negro relations, this book is, of course, indispensable; but it might be suggested that the average layman is the person to whom the volume should in these times have an even more profound appeal." J. W. Chase
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 15 '48 900w

"In this powerful narrative Ridgely Torrence has given us the full story of a most interesting and worthy man. The book is a product of scholarship of the highest order. But it is also more than that. It is a blending of the poet's skill and devotion with the hard facts of a noble life." R. E. Clement
+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ag 7 '48 800w
School & Society 68:48 Jl 17 '48 10w
Reviewed by Carlos de Zafra
Social Studies 39:374 D '48 950w

TORREY, HENRY CUTLER, and WHITMER, CHARLES AUSTIN. Crystal rectifiers; ed. by S. A. Goudsmit [and others, under the supervision of the] Office of scientific research and development, Nat. defense research committee. (Mass. inst. of technology. Radiation laboratory. Radiation laboratory ser) 443p il $6 McGraw

621.3841362 Radio rectifiers 48-5551

"One of the oldest detecting devices in radio has now been converted into one so modern that its performance in the microwave range has not been equaled by any other. The point-contact crystal rectifier has emerged as a component as important to microwave technique and radar as the magnetron, klystron, and other components. The present volume is the only one devoted to this subject covering the modern developments. It publishes for the first time much original material heretofore available only in reports of limited circulation." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:22 Ja '48

"The status of the theory and extent of experimental confirmation are presented so that unsolved problems are exposed as targets for future research. The material should be of interest to every worker in the microwave field, and to those designing television and other wide-band receivers which could profitably use crystal diodes instead of conventional vacuum tubes."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:239 Je '48 380w

TOULMIN, HARRY. Western country in 1793: reports on Kentucky and Virginia; ed. by Marion Tinling and Godfrey Davies. 141p $3.75 Huntington lib.

917.69 Frontier and pioneer life—Kentucky. Frontier and pioneer life—Virginia 48-6977

"Toulmin, a young English Unitarian minister, came to America in 1793 in company with Priestley. His purpose was not only to find a place of opportunity for himself and his family but also to report to his parishioners in England as to the prospects for colonization. With introductions from Madison and Jefferson, he went to western Virginia and then to Kentucky. Toulmin was a conscientious and competent investigator. He traveled extensively, observed carefully, asked questions relentlessly, and even sent out questionnaires. His report, never printed until now, gives information about almost every aspect of life in the frontier state of Kentucky." Christian Century

"In addition to furnishing concrete information for prospective immigrants, Toulmin's report contains some penetrating observations on the society and mental outlook of the western country. . . A well-balanced and critical introduction is provided by the editors. . . The value of this publication is enhanced by the fact that it fills a gap in the literature of the period and that it is a down-to-earth report relatively free from unsupported generalizations." Clement Eaton
+ Am Hist R 54:211 O '48 400w

"Toulmin has a place in any study of religious liberalism on the American frontier. In this long-buried report he has left valuable source material for the student of economic history." W. E. G.
+ Christian Century 65:884 S 1 '48 350w

"I'm aware that this is a very special book, but because of the scholarship that has gone into its preparation and because, special as it is, it will, nevertheless, interest very greatly those who are interested at all, it is worth mention. The book is excellently designed and printed by Grant Dahlstrom at the Castle Press, Pasadena." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 Je 12 '48 350w
Reviewed by Allan Nevin
Sat R of Lit 31:21 O 9 '48 160w

TOULMIN, HARRY AUBREY. Diary of democracy; the Senate war investigating committee; introd. by Harley M. Kilgore. 277p il $3.50 Smith, Richard R.

355.2 U.S. Congress. Senate. Special committee investigating the national defense program. U.S.—Defenses. World war, 1939-1945—Economic aspects 47-6667

The story of the Truman-Mead committee and its investigations. Bibliography. Index.

"The author lavishes praise on Senator Truman and his colleagues in some of the most extravagant language one can find outside a campaign book, a sponsored biography, or a love letter. Mr. Toulmin blows on a clarinet with no stops. Even those who know nothing of the committee and its work will be aware of the overstatement and the sometimes subtle exaggeration of the committee's role." M. L. Hoch
— Ann Am Acad 256:190 Mr '48 650w

"If, at times, the author seems too fulsome in his praise and commendation of Mr. Truman and the committee, he nevertheless has a mass of evidence to support his views." H. C. Parmelee
Chem Eng 55:301 Mr '48 700w

"The reader who is willing to accept Colonel Toulmin's analysis of the running of the two-front war gets the impression that it was definitely private enterprise co-operating with the Truman Committee, rather than the Army and Navy that won the war. Out of 50,000 subjects that the Truman Committee considered in its lifetime, Colonel Toulmin is able to give details on only about a dozen." Mary Hornaday
— Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 26 '48 800w
Foreign Affairs 26:742 Jl '48 20w

TOWSTER, JULIAN. Political power in the U.S.S.R, 1917-1947; the theory and structure of government in the Soviet state; with an introd. by Quincy Wright. 443p $6 Oxford

342.47 Russia—Politics and government. Russia—Constitutional law 48-8933

"This is a study of the nature of political power in the Soviet, whose aim is threefold: to stress the theory behind it; to trace that theory in terms of its evolution, and indicate the changing character thereof; to give ample detail and documentation, based on extensive study of official Soviet documents and pronouncements. An analysis follows of the concept of state and law; the development of the constitution, the principles of class, of nationality; the inception of the party and its structure, of the Soviets and the structure; the judicial system; the forces, social, political, ideological, and the nature of the policy. Although no conclusions are drawn, Mr. Towster indicates in closing that the prospect for peace between the Soviet and the democracies of the West depends on 'whether their conceptions of political power and economic welfare can be adjusted' in time—and that given substantial external security and internal prosperity, the Soviet, with a certain capacity for accommodation, may indulge in more liberal practices." (Kirkus) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:116 D 1 '48

Reviewed by F. L. Schuman
Chicago Sun N 4 '48 470w

Kirkus 16:568 O 15 '48 180w

"Will be of great value to the specialist. With infinite care, and great precision, he has drawn a picture of Russian political institutions and their evolution; dealing, first, with the formal structure, then with the party and its relation to the legal edifice, and seeking, finally, to assess the implications of the whole. No one who knows the jungle through which he has traveled can fail to be grateful to him for the clear path he has driven." H. J. Laski
+ New Repub 119:24 D 6 '48 360w

"This book will appeal especially to teachers and librarians with its mass of data and charts. The general reader will find a reward in the final chapters on social and political forces. It is safe to say that not for a long time will a single volume contain so much material with which to document study of the Government of the U.S.S.R." J. N. Hazard
+ N Y Times p22 N 7 '48 700w

"This book belongs to the small group of scholarly works on the Soviet Union which combined a high degree of erudition with uncompromising objectivity. Professor Towster has examined a vast array of documentary evidence. But, what is more important, he has succeeded in thoroughly digesting this mass of material and in avoiding the pitfall . . . of accepting at its face value the verbiage of Soviet state documents." D. F. White
+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 N 6 '48 600w

"The present book should prove an indispensable vade mecum for all advanced students of the Soviet system. . . The arrangement is orderly and clear, the index adequate. . . Mr. Towster is rather less satisfactory when he embarks on the Soviet theory of government, partly because this cannot be so effectively dealt with by a mere accumulation of texts, and partly because he rarely goes back beyond 1917 and, if he does so, accepts uncritically the conventional Bolshevist version of what was said and believed in the pre-revolutionary period."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p20 Ja 8 '49 420w

TOYE, FRANCIS. For what we have received; an autobiography. 313p il $4 Knopf
B or 92 48-8261

Anecdotal autobiography of an Englishman whose varied career has covered positions as journalist, music critic, composer, biographer, and even business man. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 45:102 N 15 '48

Reviewed by Felix Borowski
Chicago Sun D 15 '48 140w

Kirkus 16:353 Jl 15 '48 170w

"Because the emphasis is always personal with little serious reflection on changing times and customs, and the book is so cluttered with hundreds of names unknown to Americans, Mr. Toye's life story has very little to offer of interest or value to readers in this country. For large libraries only." G. W. Hill
Library J 73:1087 Ag '48 110w

"He has a way of describing domestic entanglements, and his own in particular, with only a faint suggestion of private misery, and a mild conviction that manners are more important than morals, and an assurance that fragments can be stitched into a lasting quilt. To read this book is to nibble on many a good houseparty long, long ago. . . Francis Toye himself is some one to be grateful for; and now I shall seek out his volume on Rossini, wishing him well in the Cultural Relations game, and as a connoisseur of simple and savory snacks and banquets." Ernestine Evans
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 S 26 '48 1200w

"Those who like this sort of personal chitchat will perhaps take pleasure in meeting so many well-known and once well-known people at second hand." J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 8 '48 650w

"Superficial and planless as they are, these reminiscences have a certain spontaneous conversational charm. . . Mr. Toye has grown up only in spots. Conflicts arising from his early background and from the falseness of the values by which he was generally surrounded have kept him from maturing with his own talent. . . But since he makes no great claim of distinction, and indeed writes his story as that of a tiny cross section of England in transition, we may let it go at that and be grateful." Harry Bull
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:17 S 25 '48 600w

TOYNBEE, ARNOLD JOSEPH. Civilization on trial. 263p $3.50 Oxford
901 Civilization. History—Philosophy
48-6355

Thirteen essays and lectures, written over a period of years, dealing with many problems, but all contributing to his own view of history, and to a clarification of moot points in his book A Study of History.

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
Am Hist R 54:90 O '48 800w

Reviewed by Heinrich Hauser
Am J Soc 54:171 S '48 1400w

Reviewed by Felix Oppenheim
Am Pol Sci R 42:814 Ag '48 700w

Reviewed by H. E. Barnes
Am Soc R 13:493 Ag '48 850w

Reviewed by John Lindberg
Ann Am Acad 258:145 Jl '48 490w

"Toynbee's consummate mastery of history coupled with his literary gifts makes Civilization on Trial—easier reading and less ambitious than the Study—a vastly important and illuminating piece of work, irrespective of agreement with the over-all viewpoint." C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 181:114 My '48 1050w

Booklist 44:297 My 1 '48

Reviewed by O. Halecki
Cath World 167:372 Jl '48 750w

Reviewed by R. J. Hooker
Chicago Sun p48 My 10 '48 400w

Reviewed by C. C. Gillispie
Christian Century 65:684 Jl 7 '48 1000w

"In this volume, Mr. Toynbee ceases to be strictly the historian. He becomes the essayist —in a historical mood. And remarkable essays they are—challenging and disturbing. Some of them may well take their place among the classics, along with Emerson's revelatory discourse on 'History.'" Henry Sowerby
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 My 8 '48 900w

"The continued popularity of A Study of History will give this a wider sale than a volume of essays would ordinarily command."
Kirkus 16:182 Ap 1 '48 260w

"Although one might disagree with him about details, his books are herewith wholeheartedly recommended for every college and public library in the United States." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 73:557 Ap 1 '48 150w

Reviewed by Erich Kahler
Nation 166:694 Je 19 '48 1700w

Reviewed by R. H. S. Crossman
New Repub 118:28 My 17 '48 2200w

TOYNBEE, A. J.—Continued
Reviewed by Albert Guerard
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 My 2 '48 1400w

"The essays in 'Civilization on Trial' are lesser expressions of the vision that illuminates 'A Study of History,' but they have a special value because they focus Toynbee's perceptions so directly and cogently upon the problems that most concern us today. They might also serve as an admirable introduction to his great work, especially for those who bought 'A Study of History' and promised themselves that they would read it but somehow never managed to." Granville Hicks
N Y Times p1 My 2 '48 2150w
New Yorker 24:107 My 1 '48 140w
Reviewed by Louis Wasserman
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 1 '48 900w

"The whole book is vitiated for the present reviewer by the bland assumptions, assuredly regarding argument rather than mere aphoristic dogma, that to understand history and our destiny we must 'relegate economic and political history to a subordinate place and give religious history the primacy.' And, apparently, Christianity the primacy among religions. This pagan reviewer stands unconvinced. If Mr. Toynbee is reminding us of the neglected importance of 'spiritual' or moral values in history, well and good. But surely it is unhistorical to treat other high religions as 'inferior' forms of Christianity, and to leave out altogether those notable attempts of many thinkers as various as Spinoza, John Stuart Mill, John Dewey, and Santayana to read the course of events and to define moral and spiritual values without resort to the supernatural." Irwin Edman
Sat R of Lit 31:9 My 1 '48 1300w
School & Society 67:391 My 22 '48 20w
Reviewed by T. K. Meyer
Social Studies 39:370 D '48 700w
Reviewed by Ernest Barker
Spec 181:810 D 17 '48 1000w

"Toynbee is an impressive and stimulating writer, even when he stimulates to flat disagreement." W. H. H.
Springf'd Republican p12B My 2 '48 700w
Time 51:96 My 3 '48 700w
Times [London] Lit Sup p4 Ja 1 '49 1450w
Reviewed by H. C. F. Bell
Yale R n s 38:142 autumn '48 900w

TRACEY, MRS JEANNE LENTON. Fun, incorporated; the handbook for teen centers; drawings by Jay Norwood. 248p $2.50 Bobbs
790 Community centers. Youth—Societies and clubs
48-8720

A handbook for teen-agers on how to plan, organize, and operate a successful teen center. Specimen constitution and by-laws. Bibliography. Index.

"Suggestions are concrete, practical, and detailed."
+ Booklist 45:84 N 1 '48

"Recommended for YP collections." Eleanor Kidder
+ Library J 73:1828 D 15 '48 100w

TREAT, LAWRENCE (LAWRENCE ARTHUR GOLDSTONE). F as in flight. 248p $2.50 Morrow
48-5879

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 100w

"The practised technique, sustained interest give this its superiority."
+ Kirkus 16:35 Ja 15 '48 80w

"This completely absorbing story is, in our opinion the best that Mr. Treat has given us up to this time." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p20 My 9 '48 180w
New Yorker 24:92 Mr 27 '48 80w
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 18 '48 50w

"Satisfactory."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:44 Mr 20 '48 40w
+ Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 120w

TREAT, LAWRENCE (LAWRENCE ARTHUR GOLDSTONE). Over the edge. 250p $2.50 Morrow
48-3776

Detective story.

Booklist 45:138 D 15 '48
Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun S 3 '48 200w

"In its intensity, its psychopathic provocativeness, this hits a high mark in a high class career."
+ Kirkus 16:294 Je 15 '48 90w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 O 17 '48 50w

"An absorbing study in the workings of the human mind under certain conditions." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p20 Ag 29 '48 180w
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p23 S 26 '48 70w

"Opening 'stopper' followed by sequence of high-suspense situations, considerable emotional tensity, and efficient detecting both physical and scientific. High grade."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 S 25 '48 40w

TREAT, ROGER L. Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers; il. by Robert S. Robison. 192p $2.75 Messner
B or 92 Baseball. Johnson, Walter Perry
48-6190

A biography of Walter Johnson, written by a sports columnist who knew him as a great baseball player and an honorable man.

Booklist 44:319 My 15 '48

"Treat is a sports writer for the Chicago Herald American, and has that sentimental touch characteristic of the best of sports writing. . . This is not only good baseball, but a story of a good man and a good American."
+ Kirkus 16:98 F 15 '48 140w

"Brief, dramatic story of the career of one of baseball's greatest pitchers, in best sporting-page tradition. Nostalgic for older fans; apple-pie for young people." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 30w
Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Je 6 '48 110w

"The dialogue is stilted and the players are represented for the most part as being more sentimental than seems probable. The author's descriptions of ball games are well done and authoritative, but Johnson deserves better than this." Rex Lardner
+ N Y Times p33 My 2 '48 160w

"This edition is marred by a distressing number of careless errors in names and editing. Chapters on the two world series in which the 'Big Train' pitched heroically in the twilight of his long career could have been transcribed from score books and the list of his most illustrious feats is in the records, but the affectionate word portrait of the man himself will help preserve something precious, for the late Walter Perry Johnson was more than a great pitcher. He was an ideal still respected by players and spectators." D. B. B.
+ — Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 4 '48 340w
Wis Lib Bul 44:136 Je '48

TREND, JOHN BRANDE. Bolívar and the independence of Spanish America. (Teach yourself history lib) 287p $2 Macmillan

B or 92 Bolívar, Simón. Latin America—History 49-1428

"An account and an interpretation of Bolívar in the light of the large number of documents which have been printed since the last English biography was written in 1910." (Pref) The author is professor of Spanish at the University of Cambridge.

Christian Science Monitor p18 N 4 '48 550w

"A really superb job. . . It is written very simply, but out of a full mind, and it raises an appetite for further reading. For its specific purpose, as an introduction, it cannot be too highly recommended." Asher Brynes
+ Sat R of Lit 31:19 Jl 3 '48 80w

TRENT, ROBBIE. First Christmas; pictures by Marc Simont. [31p] $1 Harper

232.9 Jesus Christ—Birth—Juvenile literature 48-8892

A picture book of the first Christmas. "The text, which consists of a sentence to each page, enumerating the characters of the Nativity before the arrival of the Wisemen, follows somewhat the same pattern as 'This is the house that Jack built.' Following the story is the lovely old hymn 'Away in a Manger.'" (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R) For ages 3-6.

Booklist 45:125 D 1 '48

"Christmas stocking book of exceptional distinction."
+ Kirkus 16:552 O 15 '48 70w

"There is charm and a very real appeal in these simple verses and pictures of the Nativity for very young children." H. M. Brogan
+ Library J 73:1674 N 15 '48 40w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 19 '48 130w

Reviewed by Marjorie Burger
+ N Y Times p24 D 12 '48 30w

"The atmosphere is reverent and quiet. The fourteen full-page drawings in color make the background of the stable in Bethlehem and the fields where the shepherds watched beautiful and convincing."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:37 D 11 '48 50w

Wis Lib Bul 45:15 Ja '49

TRESSELT, ALVIN R. Johnny Maple-Leaf; il. by Roger Duvoisin. 28p $2 Lothrop 48-9592

A nature book for first readers. In large pictures and simple text the story is told of what went on above, below and around Johnny Maple-Leaf from early spring when he broke out from his brown bud until late fall when clad in gold and orange he floated down to the ground.

Booklist 45:162 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 14 '48 100w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 25:34 Ja '49 70w

"Author's gently rhythmic story and Roger Duvoisin's brilliantly imaginative pictures complement each other perfectly, one suggesting the poetry of nature, the other supplying details of the teeming life of the deep woods. A beautiful and satisfying book for younger children. Recommended." Elizabeth Hodges
+ Library J 74:67 Ja 1 '49 70w

"Although the subject is more passive than those of Mr. Tresselt's other books of wind and weather and, therefore, the story has less dynamic thrust, one sees with Johnny Maple-Leaf that 'there was always something happening beneath the tree' and the poetic child of picture-book age will sense the inevitable rightness of the changing year." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p11 D 20 '48 140w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 32:35 Ja 8 '49 40w

TRESSELT, ALVIN R. Wind and Peter; pictures by Garry MacKenzie. [32p] $1 Oxford 48-5536

Story of Peter and his friend, the wind, who made his sailboat go. One hot day Peter went out to look for the wind. He felt a breeze, then a gale came, and the little boy realized that you could feel, but not see the wind. For ages 4-7.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:274 Jl '48 80w

Kirkus 16:86 F 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by M. B. Snow
Library J 73:485 Mr 15 '48 70w

"A dear little book to read aloud to a small child." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 F 29 '48 140w

"The tempo of the prose changes sensitively with the temper of the wind. In Garry Mackenzie's illustrations there is missing the vitality of the subject, but the lacy, intricate patterns are appealing and children will enjoy picking out the many details, besides observing which way the wind blows." E. L. B.
+ — N Y Times p31 F 22 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:65 Mr '48

TREUENFELS, RUDOLPH L., ed. See Eisenhower, D. D. Eisenhower speaks

TREVOR, ELLESTON. Heather hill; il. by Stephen J. Voorhies. 261p $2.50 Longmans 48-7219

Continues the story of the small animals who first appeared in Deep Wood (Book Review Digest 1947). For sixth grade readers.

"A gentle, kind, restful book." C. H. B.
+ Commonweal 49:149 N 19 '48 40w

Kirkus 16:335 Jl 15 '48 90w

"Author seems to have been unconsciously influenced by Milne, Lawson and Grahame. For good sixth grade readers. Recommended but will have a limited audience." M. M. Smith
+ Library J 73:1098 Ag '48 70w

"There is rather too much conversation in this chronicle of the Deep Wood. It is a rare reader who will follow the long-winded and sometimes rather pointless discussion over the Book of Woo. But a very real love for the woods and its small native creatures, a sense of humor, and a grace in wording make both these stories valuable. The black and white drawings that illustrate them have the spirit and humor of the text."
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:40 N 13 '48 320w

Springf'd Republican p7B O 3 '48 120w

"For the reader who likes Wind in the Willows, and a good title to read aloud."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:152 S '48

TRUEBLOOD, DAVID ELTON. Alternative to futility. 124p $1 Harper

248 Civilization, Christian 48-5318

A companion volume to the author's Predicament of Modern Man (Book Review Digest, 1944) and Foundations for Reconstruction (Book Review Digest, 1946). The present volume, the 1948 Scarbrough lectures, presents "redemptive fellowship" as the "alternative to futility."

Booklist 44:362 Jl 1 '48

"Thoughtful and suggestive little book." A. C. Garnett
+ Christian Century 65:480 My 19 '48 450w

TRUEBLOOD, D. E.—Continued
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"Recommended very highly for Lenten reading and distribution."
+ Kirkus 16:83 F 1 '48 240w

"I believe that many readers will welcome Dr. Trueblood's practical approach to a vital issue. His solution is presented with humility but with conviction. Heartily recommended for all types of libraries." O. G. Lawson
+ Library J 73:121 Ja 15 '48 100w

"This book is full of spiritual fervor and hope and inspiration; and Dr. Trueblood is truly open-minded and hopeful that others will bring valuable additions to his experimental proposals." K. N. Rhoades
+ Survey G 37:272 My '48 450w

TRUNDLE, GEORGE T., ed. Managerial control of business; associate ed, S. A. Peck; contributing eds, W. E. Savage [and others]. 408p $5 Wiley

658 Business management 48-9116

"The material is based on an extensive and practical experience covering 29 years of management engineering service to every type and size of enterprise. . . The text is divided into five sections. The first section, 'Analyzing the Company Operation,' deals in a condensed form with the over-all study to determine the kind and degree of existing problems. . . Later sections cover in more detail the solutions of problems uncovered by the study outlined in Section 1, and, as is noted in Section 1, are cross-indexed by chapter to the specific chapters in this section. In Section 4, particularly, the chapters on maintenance, production control, and labor control spell out in detail their application to a manufacturing enterprise. Owing to their importance in any plant producing goods for sale to the American consumer, the treatment of these subjects has been as specific and explicit as it is possible to be on such matters." (Foreword) Index.

Booklist 45:152 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1671 N 15 '48 20w

TRUSS, SELDON. Where's Mr. Chumley? 191p $2.25 Doubleday
48-9591

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun D 17 '48 90w

Kirkus 16:561 O 15 '48 70w

New Repub 120:19 Ja 10 '49 90w

"This is a pleasing British import except for its Grade B prose." Will Cuppy
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 D 12 '48 140w

"Were it not for the comic interludes provided by the amateurs, the story would be a rather routine tale of sleuthing with a surprise ending. As it is, it is a lively comedy of errors, replete with the sort of lampoons that made Wodehouse famous." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p11 D 26 '48 230w

"Very funny in some spots, taxing in others."
New Yorker 24:119 D 18 '48 90w

"An agreeable British trifle with which to while away a chill evening." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 D 19 '48 80w

"High-grade British."
+ Sat R of Lit 32:32 Ja 1 '49 40w

TRUXAL, ANDREW GEHR, and MERRILL, FRANCIS ELLSWORTH. The family in American culture. 780p $5.65; to schools $4.25 Prentice-Hall

392.3 Family. U.S.—Social conditions 47-6148

A sociology textbook emphasizing "the reciprocity of family and society." Chapter bibliographies. Indexes.

"Like many textbooks, the volume is a mosaic of facts and ideas carefully documented but not new and not fused into a more meaningful configuration. . . The more original and distinctive contributions of the book include, aside from the cultural emphasis, a good analysis of romantic and conjugal love, effective use of governmental and insurance sources of family statistics, and some good insights on war effects. There is an interesting account of attempts to predict trends. There is, above all, a demonstration of family instability as a result of an individualistic institutional pattern in the process of developing new social norms. A careful reading of the book reveals many minor flaws. Definitions are not rigorously stated and followed through. . . The figures concerning the number of married women in the labor force (pp. 340 and 341) do not agree. . . The authors have achieved a good book as textbooks go. No student could read this book without benefit." Clifford Kirkpatrick
+ — Am J Soc 53:506 My '48 800w

Reviewed by R. J. R. Kennedy
+ Am Soc R 13:784 D '48 600w

"The thirty chapters are organized under four parts: (I) The Family in the American Pattern, (II) The Family as a Social Institution, (III) The Family and its Relationships, and (IV) The Family and Social Change. On the whole, this organization is logical, though difficult to maintain, as is shown by the overlapping treatment of certain topics in several of the four parts. . . The text is sociologically sound. It shows wide reading and a skillful use of concepts and materials from related fields. The latest literature has been sifted for findings, and the tables are up to date. Also, the style is to be commended. Most of the sentences are short and direct, models of clarity, with many a well-turned phrase. In general, the treatment of specific topics is good, though the chapter dealing with the American ethos seems to get rather far afield in places. . . In a book of so much merit it is regrettable that the subject index is not better. There are only 76 subject headings (under only 13 letters of the alphabet) instead of the 400 to 500 usually found in such books." R. E. Baber
+ — Ann Am Acad 255:222 Ja '48 440w

School & Society 66:254 S 27 '47 10w

"For text and reference The Family in American Culture will have wide usefulness. The digest of books, research, and periodicals dealing with various aspects of the subject is comprehensive and gives the reader an excellent basis for understanding the structure, functions, and values of the contemporary family." Ruth Lindquist
+ Social Forces 26:478 My '48 800w

TUCKER, WILSON. The Dove. 218p $2 Rinehart
48-2476

Detective story.

"Far-fetched and erratic doings."
— Kirkus 16:201 Ap 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 25 '48 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p15 Je 20 '48 140w

"Passable."
Sat R of Lit 31:25 Jl 3 '48 40w

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. Highpockets. 189p $2.50 Morrow
48-5418

"Highpockets, naive young fielder from the bush leagues, is an unpopular member of the Dodgers team because of his selfish and self-centered attitude. How he is straightened out by an automobile accident involving a young boy forms the main plot." Library J

Reviewed by Jane Cobb
Atlantic 182:120 N '48 90w

Booklist 44:235 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun Mr 6 '48 250w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 24 '48 240w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:197 My '48 130w

"Plenty of baseball, solid workings out of personal and social problems in relation to teams, good yarn."
+ Kirkus 16:23 Ja 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by Dorotha Dawson
Library J 73:486 Mr 15 '48 80w

"It isn't a bit like a movie, though it would make one. It's real—and by the time Highpockets gets his first cheerful slap with the end of a wet towel the boy can quote you batting averages." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 My 9 '48 380w

"Perhaps because of the very tempo of Mr. Tunis' slashing, telegraphic style Highpockets doesn't emerge as a deeply realized personality; nevertheless this outwardly unsympathetic character wins one's sympathy and understanding, and the baseball sequences are, as one expects, as good as a lower grandstand seat right back of home plate." E. L. Buell
N Y Times p29 F 15 '48 230w

"This is an exciting tale and one that will be long remembered for its analysis of a sportsman who learns through adversity to adjust himself to his team and to his world." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:36 Mr 13 '48 250w
Wis Lib Bul 44:66 Mr '48

TUNNICLIFFE, CHARLES FREDERICK. How to draw farm animals. (How to do it ser) 63p il $1 Studio

743.6 Animal painting and illustration
48-4721

Pictures and text showing how to draw horses, cattle, pigs, sheep and the farm dog and cat.

Library J 73:1092 Ag '48 50w

"The artist grew up among animals and his affection for them is discernible in the thoughtful treatment he gives each subject. . . The friendly commentary accompanying his sketches gives a shrewd analysis of the character of the large and small animals that dwell on English farms."
+ School Arts 48:14a N '48 70w

TURGENEV, IVAN SERGIEEVICH. First love [tr. by Constance Garnett]. 352p $3.50 Lear

Three short novels, with appreciations of the author by Henry James, Joseph Conrad, and Prosper Merimee. The novels are: First love; The diary of a superfluous man; Acia.

"The first of the three short novels collected in this volume—'First Love'—give us Turgenev at his most romantic; the second—'The Diary of a Superfluous Man'—at his most ironic; the third—'Acia'—lies midway between. But all three illustrate Turgenev's rare gift of successfully fusing acute realistic observation with poetic charm. His eye and his heart are always in balance; each always assists, never betrays the other." David Burnham
+ Commonweal 48:434 Ag 13 '48 200w

"It would be a mistake to conclude that these pieces are slight, or vague, or wistful impressionist exercises. The stories (particularly the first two) are substantial; the characterization is brilliant; the lively critical intelligence braces the narrative with such astringent insights as 'Falsehood is just as living as truth, if not more so.' Finally, there is the incidental but incalculable interest of Turgenev's nationalism." John Farrelly
+ New Repub 119:26 Jl 19 '48 500w
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 1 '48 170w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 31:32 O 2 '48 110w

TURLINGTON, CATHERINE ISABEL (HACKETT). Three to make ready; il. by Leonard Shortall. 303p $3 Vanguard
48-8807

Reminiscences of one year in the life of a family of five, composed of the father and mother, and three teen-aged daughters. The oldest teen-ager is going to college, and the next in line is preparing to follow her. The mother is the narrator and her bewilderment and confusion over modern youth is brought out in her story.

Booklist 45:159 Ja 1 '49

"To read this book is to buy a ticket to a light, delightful comedy—full of laughter and moments of absurdity and sudden poignancies that pass almost as soon as they are felt. Anyone who is in any way part of a collection of teen agers will recognize here all the ingredients for that incomparable thing—The Family." E. Y.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 23 '48 650w

"Just barely escaping a coy tone, this is easy entertainment for the family."
Kirkus 16:421 Ag 15 '48 170w

"Perhaps this reader missed certain subtleties or is completely lacking in a sense of humor, but the escapades of these three teenage girls are, on the whole, boring. The girls never become individuals, thus it's difficult to feel any emotion toward their activities. I think the movie will be less monotonous than the book." E. P. Nichols
Library J 73:1271 S 15 '48 130w

"A pleasantly written little book. And the illustrations by Leonard Shortall catch the author's mood excellently."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 7 '48 200w

"Here is an immensely satisfying book for mothers of any age or state of mind. Possibly fathers will read it too—and find their experiences well matched by the F.P.'s (Family Provider's) lot in this hilarious household. But this is primarily a book about the job of being a mother." L. G. Carson
+ N Y Times p45 O 24 '48 470w
School & Society 68:376 N 27 '48 40w
Wis Lib Bul 44:212 D '48

TURNELL, MARTIN. Classical moment; studies of Corneille, Molière and Racine. 253p il $4.50 New directions

842.09 Corneille, Pierre. Molière, Jean Baptiste Poquelin. Racine, Jean Baptiste

In these studies of three French dramatists of the age of Louis XIV the author combines literary criticism with historical and biographical background, and relates the achievements of his subjects to the current of French literature, philosophy and life. Bibliographical note. Index.

"Recommended for drama, theatre, and literature collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1030 Jl '48 60w
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 1 '48 300w

"The Classical Moment is to my mind one of the most stimulating and valuable works of criticism published in recent years." Goronwy Rees
+ Spec 180:170 F 6 '48 650w

"Here is writing that commands respect not only for its easy familiarity with the impressive literature of the subject but also for the sensitivity with which the writer has entered into the minds of his three poets."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p643 D 13 '47 950w

TURNER, ARTHUR WILLIAM, and JOHNSON, ELMER JOHN. Machines for the farm, ranch and plantation. 793p il $6; text ed $4.80 McGraw

631.3 Agricultural machinery Agr48-273

'A comprehensive guide to the selection, operation, care, general maintenance and stor-

TURNER, A. W.—Continued
age of agricultural machinery. . . The more common types of machines, such as ploughs, drills, harvesters, and tractors are discussed in detail, but attention is also given to less-well-known machines such as hemp cutters, tung-nut hullers and transplanters. Numerous illustrations depicting practical operations in the use and repair of specific machines are included." (N Y New Tech Bks) List of visual aids. Index.

Booklist 45:132 D 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1282 S 15 '48 80w

"Will be of practical value to agricultural students, farm machinery dealers and farmers."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:65 S '48

TURNER, FRANCIS CHARLES. James II. 544p il $5 Macmillan

B or 92 James II, king of England
A49-2056

Biography of James II of England, brother of Charles II, and the last of the Stuart kings. The book is in two sections, the first devoted to James' life while still Duke of York, and the second to James as King. Index.

Reviewed by Roger Shaw
Churchman 162:15 D 15 '48 210w

"The overall effect is heavy. Scholarly and thorough, the book is somehow unassimilated. At the end, one wishes Mr. Turner had known less about James, or that one could remember more. It is a pity that the last Stuart king should never have come off, in life or in literature, but only from his throne." A. F.
Commonweal 49:358 Ja 14 '49 100w

Reviewed by H. R. Trevor-Roper
New Statesman & Nation 36:286 O 2 '48 700w

"A biography of a very high order of literary excellence. . . Mr. Turner concedes that his man was otiose, stubborn, and worthless as a ruler and statesman, he does not revile him, as has been the habit of other historians. He tries to understand James in the context of his time. . . The resulting character is three-dimensional and alive, if no king."
+ New Yorker 24:118 S 25 '48 230w

"If his book does not reach the high-water mark of being 'definitive,' as the publishers claim, at least it is so thorough, solid, and extremely long that it may be called virtually 'exhaustive.'"
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p473 Ag 21 '48 900w

TWAIN, MARK, pseud. See Clemens, S. L.

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INCORPORATED. Rebuilding the world economy. See Buchanan, N. S., ed.

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INCORPORATED. Report on the Greeks; findings of a team which surveyed conditions in Greece in 1947, by Frank Smothers [and others]. 226p il $2.50 The fund

949.5 Greece, Modern—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—Greece
48-8573

"The Fund asked the survey group to write as unbiased a report as humanly possible which would give the reader a personal feeling of acquaintance with the Greeks—who they are, what they are like, how they make their living, their conditions of life and, most especially, their attitudes and opinions. The investigators were also asked to sketch briefly the physical environment in which the people are living. . . The Fund's survey team arrived in Greece early in February 1947 and departed in April. During these months its members interviewed many Greeks of all walks of life, and consulted various American, British and other foreign officials, and numerous Americans with nongovernment roles in Greece. . . It has been impossible to alter the book in the light of events subsequent to June 1947. It contains no account, therefore, of the American aid program and its effects." (Pref) No index.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 182:114 N '48 1050w

Booklist 45:86 N 1 '48

Reviewed by Helen Garrett
Canadian Forum 28:188 N '48 600w

"Various errors and misinterpretations reflect the authors' unfamiliarity with certain aspects of their subject. But on the whole they carried out their assignment well, and their report is by all odds the best available account of Greece today." L. S. Stavrianos
+ Chicago Sun p50 O 15 '48 600w

"An eyewitness report that is published on unusually fine paper, in beautiful print, and with the addition of some excellent photographs. The text is very informative, but in no wise sensational, and in some respects already a little outdated. About most questions the authors agree with each other, but on some political questions Mr. Smothers and Mr. McNeill are in basic disagreement and have stated so plainly in two dozen polemical footnotes and counter-footnotes which are thought-provoking fun. They make much better reading than the usual lengthy 'minority report.'" Max Fischer
+ Commonweal 49:44 O 22 '48 350w

Current Hist 15:293 N '48 130w

"Various errors and misinterpretations reflect the authors' unfamiliarity with the language and with certain aspects of the subject. The names of some Greek political leaders and parties are given incorrectly. The account of British actions in occupied Greece might have been different if the authors had read the book of General Seraphis. . . Despite these shortcomings, the report is interesting, valuable, and comprehensive." L. S. Stavrianos
+ — Nation 167:406 O 9 '48 1000w

"The team has done a good, if not a definitive, job; and the book is worth reading. Vigorous opponents of the Greek government may find it objectionable instead of objective. It is certainly not pro-Markos. If anything, it is pro-survival—not only for the Greeks but for ourselves. Unless we understand the heavy responsibilities we have assumed, Greece can expect nothing but more overpopulation, and with it famine, pestilence and war." R. E. Lauterbach
+ New Repub 119:22 O 18 '48 850w

"As it has, in many of its parts, not been compiled in the manner of social scientific research, the book must be judged by the standards of journalism and commercial publishing. By these standards, it suffers seriously from an eighteen-month gap between fact-finding and publication, and from a failure to bring the book up-to-date shortly before it was published. Thus, one would never know from this book that a Populist-Liberal coalition government was formed on Sept. 7, 1947, under the Premiership of Liberal party leader Themistokles Sophoulis; there surely was sufficient time to rewrite parts of the book to bring it in line with this historical event." Martin Ebon
N Y Times p16 S 26 '48 800w

Reviewed by Georgiana Stevens
San Francisco Chronicle p15 O 17 '48 500w

TYLER, CHAPLIN, ed. Chemical engineering economics. new 3d ed 321p maps $4 McGraw

660 Chemical industries. Chemical engineering
48-7440

"The third edition is directed toward assisting the chemical engineer in dealing with the economic aspects of his work, as were the first [Book Review Digest 1927] and second edition. Particular emphasis is put on topics that readers of previous editions have stressed over the past twenty-two years; for example, the objectives, organization, and administration of research and development; the evaluation of new products and processes in terms of cost, price, investment, and financial return; the fundamentals of plant design and the achievement of low-cost plant facilities; the role of the chemical engineer in production; the evaluation of markets and the mechanism of industrial and consumer-products marketing; the principle of economic balance in design and operation; the essentials of cost accounting; pertinent aspects of patent law; and certain aspects of management relating to the chemical engineer's work." (Pref) Bibliographies. Index.

Booklist 45:107 N 15 '48

"It is [the reviewer's] opinion that this third edition of Chaplin Tyler's book will be of even greater use to the younger chemical engineer in industry and to the chemical engineering student and professor who realize the importance of chemical engineering economics." D. B. Keyes

+ Chem Eng 55:315 S '48 900w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:67 S '48

TYLER, PARKER. Chaplin, last of the clowns. 180p il $3 Vanguard

B or 92 Chaplin, Charles Spencer 48-2907

A psychological study of Charles Chaplin.

"For the intelligentsia who go for the involuted approach to interpretation."

Kirkus 16:160 Mr 15 '48 170w

"Frankly I think this book adds nothing to Mr. Chaplin's reputation and is no great addition to his biographia critica. Recommended only for large cinema and theatre collections." George Freedley

— Library J 73:557 Ap 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Nathan Glick

Nation 167:77 Jl 17 '48 1150w

"Parker Tyler's Chaplin, Last of the Clowns, has all the virtues and weaknesses of his earlier books. It is an inextricable blend of real depth and false glamor. Reading this book is like riding on a seesaw: at one moment you are fascinated by the author and at the next exceedingly irritated." Siegfried Kracauer

+ — New Repub 119:24 Jl 26 '48 1100w

"The wryly humorous and gently paternalistic ghost of Sigmund Freud might possibly delight in this provoking book more than will the living Charlie Chaplin; it is indeed rather a Freudian product than a panegyric to the great artist which Chaplin is. Nevertheless, it is one of the most stimulating—and recently almost the only—study on film topics to emanate from an intelligent writer." Iris Barry

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 25 '48 400w

Reviewed by Eric Bentley

N Y Times p7 Jl 4 '48 1000w

— New Yorker 24:110 Je 5 '48 170w

TYLER, PAUL MCINTOSH. From the ground up, facts and figures of the mineral industries of the United States. 248p il $3.50 McGraw

338.2 Mines and mineral resources—U.S. Mineral industries 48-6777

"This book presents a brief survey of the mining industries and their relation to the national economy of the United States."(Foreward) Contents: The role of minerals in our American economy; High lights of a great industry; Production and consumption; Wages up, prices down; The miners need tools; Our energy supply; Common metals; Minor metals; Industrial minerals; Some fallacies and misconceptions about mining; Factors influencing future trends; National policies dealing with minerals. Index.

Booklist 45:27 S 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:953 Je 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:57 Jl '48

U

UHLIG, HERBERT HENRY, ed. Corrosion handbook; sponsored by the Electrochemical society, inc, New York. 1188p il $12 Wiley

620.1122 Corrosion and anti-corrosives 48-1628

"This handbook is the project of the Corrosion Division of the Electrochemical Society and is the work of 102 leading scientists and engineers. Basic theory; corrosion behavior of metals and alloys—aqueous and atmospheric behavior as well as behavior at ordinary and high temperature, protection against corrosion and corrosion testing. It stresses quantitative information for easier practical application. Extensive glossary of terms." (Library J) Index.

"Professor Uhlig must be very proud. He has shepherded his flock of experts through an unmapped territory and delivered them sound of wind and limb between the covers of his book. This is the first handbook ever compiled for corrosion engineers. It is hard to see how any corrosion engineer can afford to be without one. It is comprehensive; it is authoritative, it is carefully edited and printed." E. C. Fetter

+ Chem Eng 55:285 Ap '48 1100w

Eng N 140:95 My 13 '48 120w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:17 Ja '48

"The data are largely quantitative and are thoroughly indexed. A glossary of terms used in corrosion, and nineteen general tables, in addition to a large number of detailed tables, diagrams, and photographs, make this handbook comprehensive and useful to investigators, designers, and operators of equipment subject to corrosion."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:240 Je '48 280w

ULANOV, BARRY. Incredible Crosby. (Whittlesey house publication) 336p il $3.50 McGraw

B or 92 Crosby, Bing 48-6776

An anecdotal biography of Bing Crosby, showing him from his school days in Spokane, Washington, to his present successful career in the entertainment world. Includes a list of his recordings. Index.

Booklist 44:312 My 15 '48

"Critically unimpressive, but none the less a warm picture of an American figure."

Kirkus 16:137 Mr 1 '48 200w

"Although the style of writing is informal and chatty, the author presents a character worthy of the Crosby legend. For all Crosby fans who wish to know not only the vicissitudes but the outstanding successes of their hero from childhood days down to the present year, this book will be a must." H. E. Bush

+ Library J 73:557 Ap 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by Lewis Nichols

N Y Times p14 Je 20 '48 600w

ULICH, ROBERT, ed. Three thousand years of educational wisdom; selections from great documents. 614p $6.50; text ed $5 Harvard univ. press

370.9 Education—History—Sources 47-2956

"This volume of important source material on education was originally intended as a companion piece to Dr. Ulich's illuminating 'History of Educational Thought.' . . We have here large extracts of the educational writings of such men as Confucius, Plato, Aristotle, medieval theologians, Luther, Erasmus, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Jefferson, Froebel and others." Christian Science Monitor

---

"The statement of purpose, unfortunately, is somewhat misleading. It may be granted without cavil that the documents selected are of historical importance, and also that a collection of this kind may have considerable usefulness. The intimation, however, that it portrays 'a long-enduring process of cultural self-evolution' (preface) hardly corresponds to the facts. Basically it is a source book and not much more." B. H. Bode

ULICH, ROBERT—Continued

Am Hist R 53:78 O '47 800w

+ Christian Science Monitor p4 N 22 '47 210w

"All in all, this is a useful anthology and is much better suited for classroom use than the collections of fragmentary quotations made by Kilpatrick, Kuehner, and Fitzpatrick. It is a worthy attempt at correcting the sorry situation described in the Preface: 'We are fumbling around in education because we know so little about the future and do not bother enough about the past.'" W. W. Brickman

+ School & Society 66:425 N 29 '47 450w

ULLMAN, ALLAN. Sorry, wrong number; a novelization from the screen play by Lucille Fletcher. 184p $2 Random house

48-6056

Murder story based on the screen and radio play of the same name.

Booklist 44:300 My 1 '48

Kirkus 16:91 F 15 '48 140w

"One of the most exciting psychological thrillers written in recent years." George Freedley

+ Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ap 4 '48 120w

"This tightly built, artfully written guignol is worth two hours of any addict's reading time." Wilbur Watson

+ N Y Times p25 Mr 21 '48 270w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p22 Ap 11 '48 100w

Sat R of Lit 31:32 Ap 3 '48 40w

ULRICH, HOMER. Chamber music; the growth and practice of an intimate art. 430p il $6; text ed $4.25 Columbia univ. press

785.7 Chamber music 48-7609

A history of the growth of the art of chamber music from the sixteenth to the twentieth century, with emphasis on the earlier phases. Contents: Backgrounds; From chanson to canzone; Chamber music begins; The dance suite; Sonata da chiesa and sonata da camera; The trio sonata; The emergence of classical style; Franz Joseph Haydn; Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart; Ludwig Van Beethoven; Schubert and the romantic period; Brahms and the decline of romanticism; The contemporary world. The author is associate professor of chamber music at the University of Texas. Bibliography. Chamber music publications and recordings. Index.

Booklist 45:47 O 1 '48

"His analyses of the music will prove more useful than will the introductory and background treatment where he handicaps himself with a narrow definition of the field and a tendency to write down in an effort to make hard reading more palatable. Students will appreciate the many charts and tables." C. K. Miller

+ Library J 73:1094 Ag '48 120w

"Mr. Ulrich writes well and his descriptions of the master works are interesting, albeit occasionally opinionated. It is to be hoped that he will continue his researches in the field and eventually give us the definitive book on chamber music which is still badly needed." Harold Spivacke

+ Music Lib Assn Notes 5:572 S '48 550w

Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 18 120w

ULRICH'S periodicals directory [1947] a classified guide to a selected list of current periodicals foreign and domestic; including a list of Clandestine periodicals of World war II, by Adrienne Florence Muzzy. (V5) postwar ed 399p $15 Bowker

016.05 Periodicals—Bibliography. Periodicals—Directories (43-51023)

"Since the publication of the first edition in 1932, Ulrich's Periodicals Directory has been one of the basic library tools and stands alone in its particular field. . . The new postwar edition emphasizes the publications of North and South America and the British Empire, but 'when from any country, a foreign magazine of 1944 or later has been found it has been included.' The edition states that the general purpose of the Directory is to present a 'selective, labor-saving guide to current periodical materials.' Arrangement is still classified and titles are listed alphabetically under about 135 subjects. Entries give date of founding, frequency, size, price, publisher, supplements, if any, and note special features, e.g., bibliographies, book reviews, cumulative index, illustrations, etc. Indexing services and abstracts which include a given periodical are also indicated in the entry. . . An extremely valuable and interesting feature of this edition is the section on 'Clandestine Periodicals of World War II.'" Subscription Bks Bul

"The appearance of a new edition of a standard reference work is an occasion for relief and satisfaction. Certainly the public which, contrary to popular belief, includes persons engaged in the profession of librarianship, are under particularly heavy obligations to Miss Ulrich . . . for her valiant and generally successful efforts to tame the most refractory form of literature to a point of domestic usefulness. She has done it before. She has done it again." D. C. Mearns

+ Library Q 17:320 O '47 1600w

"Ulrich's Periodicals Directory is recommended for college and university libraries and for all but the smallest public libraries."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:12 Ja '48 850w

UNGER, LEONARD, ed. T. S. Eliot: a selected critique. 478p $5; college ed $3.75 Rinehart

811 Eliot, Thomas Stearns 48-7063

A collection of critical essays on T. S. Eliot by thirty-one writers. Among the critics represented are: Conrad Aiken, Richard Aldington, E. M. Forster, Ezra Pound, Mark Van Doren, Malcolm Cowley, Granville Hicks, H. J. Laski, Yvor Winters, Van Wyck Brooks, Karl Shapiro, Edmund Wilson, I. A. Richards, Stephen Spender, W. B. Yeats, Cleanth Brooks. Bibliography.

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

"A valuable addition is the 16 page bibliography of articles on Eliot that didn't make this most excellent book." Leo Kennedy

+ Chicago Sun Je 14 '48 500w

Christian Science Monitor p20 Jl 3 '48 480w

Kirkus 16:190 Ap 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by G. D. McDonald

Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 130w

"'This well-edited volume surveys Eliot from many angles and represents a variety of critical procedures ranging from earnest scholarship to simple diatribe. . . In any case no fresh estimate of him emerges from Mr. Unger's book, although some of the more ambitious contributors appear to have been trying." F. W. Dupee

Nation 166:696 Je 19 '48 1000w

"There is an inevitable overlapping; also, many points that would be included in a comprehensive survey of Eliot's work are not touched upon. These deficiencies are not the fault of the editor. Unger has made good use of material available." John Farrelly

New Repub 118:25 Je 21 '48 400w

"Mr. Unger's attractive volume will at least make it easier for readers to determine the nature of the area in which Eliot operates as cultural hero (or villain). Its contribution is perhaps more to the intellectual history of our times than to the evaluation of T. S. Eliot as poet and critic. The great critical work on Eliot remains to be written; but in the meantime we must be grateful for this sparkling collection of essays that at least take some aspect of Eliot's work as their starting point and at their most relevant give us detailed play-by-play accounts of the meaning of his more obscure poems." David Daiches

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Je 20 '48 1200w

"One reads Mr. Unger's volume with uncomfortable questions knocking for attention. It is, for example, hard to see what principles guided the selection and arrangement. Some of the essays are far less revealing of Eliot than they are (a fact Mr. Unger himself mentions in his introduction) of the people who wrote them. . . But Mr. Unger's volume, though it has various uncritical aspects, is nevertheless of considerable value to students of Eliot and to students of contemporary culture." Theodore Spencer
N Y Times p5 Je 13 '48 850w

New Yorker 24:64 Jl 31 '48 70w

Reviewed by Marjorie Brace
Sat R of Lit 31:17 Je 19 '48 750w

UNITED NATIONS (ORGANIZATION). Educational scientific and cultural organization. Commission on fundamental education. Fundamental education; common ground for all peoples; report of a special committee to the Preparatory commission [Henry W. Holmes, editor]. 325p $2.50 Macmillan

370.19 Education

"'Report of a special committee to the Preparatory commission of the United nations educational, scientific and cultural organization, Paris 1946.' (Subtitle) This document considers the problems of illiteracy in various parts of the world, the meaning of fundamental education, possible approaches to mass education, and some of the practical and immediate problems. Methods used in some countries are described as examples." (Booklist) Sources. Index.

Booklist 44:196 F 1 '48

"This is not an exhaustive treatise of the subject, but is a working document. . . Teachers and others who are interested and concerned about the important role education must play in creating peace within the hearts and minds of people the world over will find this a fascinating report. . . The book is also carefully indexed." R. H. McFeely
+ Social Studies 39:182 Ap '48 750w

"Probably it should not be held against this book, since it is a preliminary report of an international committee and the work of many hands, but the fact remains it gives the impression of being assembled rather than written." Donald Derby
Springf'd Republican p10B N 30 '47 210w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:49 Mr '48 320w

UNITED STATES. Air force, Department of. Office of air force history. Army air forces in World war II; v. 1, Plans and early operations, Jan. 1939 to Aug. 1942; prepared under the editorship of Wesley Frank Craven [and] James Lea Cate. 788p il maps $5 Univ. of Chicago press

940.544973 U. S. Army air forces. World war, 1939-1945—Aerial operations
(48-3657)

"When completed in seven large volumes, with many pictures, maps and diagrams, this will be the official record of the army's activities in the air in World War II. It is sponsored by the Office of Air Force History, but written by a group of trained historians who testify that they were commissioned to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, rather than to propagandize for the glory and expansion of the air force. The materials for this history were carefully collected and classified during the progress of events recorded. The foundations of the story are laid by a brief account of aviation in World War I and its slow development . . . between the two wars." (Christian Century) Glossary. Index.

"Many readers may find this exhaustive history too thorough for their interest. But for anyone interested in America's air policy or in the facts of America's preparations for war and conduct of the war in its early phases, it is an invaluable record." Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun Jl 5 '48 330w

Christian Century 65:806 Ag 11 '48 150w

Current Hist 15:101 Ag '48 70w

Reviewed by H. B. Hinton
N Y Times p3 Jl 11 '48 1000w

"Happily the authors saw fit to name names and detail bits of good solid warfare here and there. The personal elements make it a very readable book as well as a titanic documentary record." Larry Laughlin
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Jl 4 '48 500w

Reviewed by E. P. Curtis
Sat R of Lit 31:11 N 20 '48 650w

Reviewed by T. C. Mendenhall
Yale R n s 38:376 winter '49 280w

UNITED STATES. Joint task force one. Bombs at Bikini; the official report of Operation Crossroads; prepared under the direction of the Commander of Joint task force I, by W. A. Shurcliff. 221p il $3.50 Wise

623.45 Atomic bomb. Bikini island 47-29158

"A description of the two tests directed by the Joint (Army and Navy) Chiefs of Staff, in the summer of 1946, to evaluate the damage resulting from atomic detonation (1) in the air and (2) in underwater explosion. . . There are numerous photographs; also such supplementary material in the appendixes as organization charts, names of participating officials and observers, and the list of target and support vessels." N Y New Tech Bks

---

"The book is filled with items and descriptions which leave a deep impression upon the reader. The fact that it is written in the sober objective style of an official report, without any unbalanced emphasis, makes its effect even more profound." S. A. Goudsmit
+ Chem & Eng N 26:1656 My 31 '48 360w

Foreign Affairs 26:738 Jl '48 10w

"Numerous photographs and written in a readable clear style. Will appeal to the layman." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:46 Ja 1 '48 70w

"This account is presented with a vividness and simplicity that will engage the interest of the lay reader."
+ N Y New Tech Bks 32:68 O '47

UNITED STATES. PRESIDENT, 1945- (HARRY S. TRUMAN). Economic reports of the president, as transmitted to the Congress, January, 1948, January, 1947, July 1947; with an introd. by the Council of economic advisers. (Reynal & Hitchcock bk) 171p $2.50 Harcourt

330.973 U.S.—Economic conditions

"The official presidential views on the state of our economy, over the signatures of Edwin G. Nourse, Leon H. Keyserling and John D. Clark. A large part is statistics and records in support of those views; interspersed are the opinions and recommendations of the administration." (Current Hist) No index.

Reviewed by J. H. Ferguson
Am Pol Sci R 42:595 Je '48 300w

Booklist 44:244 Mr 15 '48

Current Hist 14:173 Mr '48 50w

UNITED STATES. PRESIDENT—Continued

"An excellent source of current economic information and statistics. It should be noted, however that the reports are available separately from the Superintendent of Documents for about 25 cents each." Donald Wasson

+ Library J 73:713 My 1 '48 150w

Reviewed by George Soule

N Y Times p3 F 1 '48 1750w

UNITED STATES. President's commission on higher education. Higher education for American democracy; a report of the Commission [George F. Zook, chairman]. 6v in 1 $3.75 Harper

378 Education, Higher 48-8248

"Volume one defines the problem; volume two considers the barriers to equal opportunity for higher education and means of removing them. Volume three analyzes the organization of higher education and recommends changes, while volume four gives proposals on expansion and improvement of college and university staffs, and volume five discusses fiscal needs and policies necessary for the recommended program. Volume six gives the more important historic and statistical data used in arriving at the recommendations." (Booklist) No index.

Booklist 45:6 S 1 '48

Christian Science Monitor p6 Ag 7 '48 120w

Current Hist 15:166 S '48 60w

"Here is a report that can serve higher education for a generation to come. It can prove of inestimable value to educators and laymen alike as a blueprint for the future development of our colleges and universities. This report may well become one of the most important educational documents of recent years." Benjamin Fine

+ N Y Times p15 Ag 29 '48 1050w

"The report reflects the educational system with which it deals. It is big and booming. It is confused, confusing, and contradictory. It has something for everybody. It is generous, ignoble, bold, timid, naive, and optimistic. It is filled with the spirit of universal brotherhood and the sense of American superiority. It has great faith in money. It has great faith in courses. It is anti-humanistic and anti-intellectual. It is confident that vices can be turned into virtues by making them larger. Its heart is in the right place; its head does not work very well." R. M. Hutchins

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:7 Jl 17 '48 2800w

School & Society 68:47 Jl 17 '48 10w

UNITED STATES. PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON CIVIL RIGHTS. To secure these rights [with an introd. by Charles E. Wilson]. 178p pa $1 Simon & Schuster

323.4 Civil rights A48-51

"The Committee appointed in December 1946 has reexamined the American heritage of freedom and equality and has directed attention to shortcomings and mistakes by reviewing cases of discrimination, segregation, denial of civil liberties, and disregard of individual and group rights. Government responsibility through laws, court, government services, and education are also reviewed and the committee program of action consists of specific recommendations based on moral, economic, and international reasons." Booklist

Reviewed by C. W. Shull

Ann Am Acad 256:186 Mr '48 400w

Booklist 44:128 D 1 '47

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja 1 '48

"Despite its defects, To Secure These Rights is at once a brave and effective attack on Jim Crowism, and a compelling demand that the power of government be fully used in that offensive. It will serve as a blueprint for some years to come, assuming, of course, that Mr. Truman's message has no more effect on Congress than his other messages concerning domestic policy have had. The Committee did a courageous job, and to its members much credit is due." T. H. Eliot

+ — Harvard Law R 61:899 My '48 1550w

"Magnificent report. 'To Secure These Rights' is a mirror for Americans, a mirror which reveals without distortion what we are and what we yet can be. . . Here is a program loftily conceived and brilliantly set forth."

+ New Repub 117:24 N 17 '47 3150w

"The publishers have taken their chance and brought out this report in the hope that enough Americans will read its sharp, excellently journalistic statement of conditions and recommendations so that it will have effect. At $1, there is no excuse for any American missing it." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 N 24 '47 1000w

School & Society 66:464 D 13 '47 10w

"The Committee's Recommendations, contained in the last twenty-three pages of the report, should be a charter for years to come; already it is bearing fruit in the President's recent recommendations to Congress. The language of the report is in the best tradition of American political writing, and should gain attention from a wide variety of readers."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:77 Mr '48 280w

UNITED STATES. STRATEGIC SERVICES, OFFICE OF. Assessment Staff. Assessment of men; selection of personnel for the Office of strategic services. 541p il $6.50; text ed $5 Rinehart

151.2 Ability—Testing

"Describes in detail one of the most important group experiments ever conducted—the psychological analysis of the aptitudes and abilities of recruits for OSS (the Office of Strategic Services)." (Survey G) Index.

Reviewed by J. R. Newman

New Repub 119:23 S 6 '48 1850w

"This thoroughly conscientious, honest volume describes the OSS assessment program in complete detail. . . The report itself is permeated with statistics, as indeed it would have to be. But the writing sparkles with the urbane wisdom and wit of Dr. Murray, and it always concentrates upon the exciting problem at hand, the predicting of behavior. The program, moreover, is not an historical curiosity. It offers suggestions to any organization employing large numbers of people which seeks to select fewer square pegs for round holes. In fact, it is tempting to say that the volume is a breach of national security since it is potentially so useful." L. W. Doob

+ Sat R of Lit 31:10 My 29 '48 700w

"It is to be hoped that similar effort may eventually be devoted to selection of candidates for Annapolis and West Point, for various governmental agencies, and for certain types of business enterprises. This volume points the way to better utilization of realistic test situations." S. H. Britt

+ Survey G 37:325 Je '48 500w

UNITED STATES cumulative book auction records, 1940-45; ed. by G. R. Shapiro. 2080p $40; discount to libraries, 10% Want list

655.56 Books—Prices

"This volume, a five-year cumulation of book auction prices, supersedes a total of twenty-four serial and four bound issues. The 1940-44 issues were reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, January 1945. The superseded volumes may be returned to the publishers for credit. The 1940-45 cumulation is similar in plan to the previous issues. . . Arrangement is alphabetical by author, by title when there is no known author, and by corporate entry. Joint authors and pseudonyms are cross-referenced. A complete description of each item is given including edition, binding, illustrations, issue, incunabula number or reference to bibliographies, and condition of volume and price. Additional descriptive information is included when necessary, particularly in the case of letters and manuscripts. Under author, autographed documents and letters are listed first, then single titles, followed by collective works." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"The same high standard of editing has been maintained in this cumulative volume as in the single issues. The U.S. Cumulative Book Auction Records is a valuable tool for libraries that buy many second-hand books and for use with library patrons who are interested in rare and second-hand items. It is recommended. Note: Since this review was prepared a supplement for 1945-47 has appeared."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:14 Ja '48 400w

UNTERMEYER, LOUIS, ed. An anthology of the New England poets from colonial times to the present day; with biographical and critical commentaries. 636p $3.95 Random house

811.08 American poetry—Collections. American literature—New England 48-7220

Anthology made up of selections from the writings of thirty-three New England poets, from Anne Bradstreet to Robert Lowell. Indexes of authors, titles, and first lines.

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun Ag 23 '48 430w

Reviewed by P. J. Stephens
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 600w

"The 19th century finds variant treatment, Untermeyer including thirty three of Longfellow while Williams includes only one. Untermeyer's prose passages on the poets of his anthologies have always been of value to librarians and those in New England Poets are particularly good." Gerald McDonald
+ Library J 73:1278 S 15 '48 130w

"I find very few poems here that I have not encountered often before in anthologies as well as out of them."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ag 15 '48 170w

New Yorker 24:84 S 4 '48 120w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p12 N 7 '48 50w

Reviewed by N. H. Pearson
Sat R of Lit 31:32 S 25 '48 440w

UPDEGRAFF, MRS FLORENCE MAULE. Blue dowry; il. by Robert Doremus. 271p $2.75 Harcourt
48-6049

Novel for teen-age girls. The scene is a Connecticut farm just before the Revolution. Elizabeth Brandons' father was an Englishman and an Advocate of the Crown in Massachusetts, but her mother was a Harlow from Connecticut. When Mr Brandon was recalled to England, Elizabeth was left with her maternal grandparents. The struggle of the girl to reconcile her warring loyalties, ended in romance and happiness for all.

Booklist 44:301 My 1 '48

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:218 D '48 60w

Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 60w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:197 My '48 120w

"Vivid, personable people, romance, a spinning contest and much excellent detail make this a fresh fund of source material, and a reaffirmation of the main concepts on which this country was founded."
+ Kirkus 16:113 Mr 1 '48 130w

"Strong on historical detail with a hint of romance. Recommended for teen-age girls." M. F. Cox
+ Library J 73:660 Ap 15 '48 80w

"Like Mrs. Updegraff's 'Coat for a Soldier,' it is a pleasant change from stereotyped costume-romances so often representing the Revolution to young girls." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 My 16 '48 320w

"Older girls will enjoy the step-by-step progress of her prize-winning linen dress, and be charmed by the delicately-handled love story." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p33 Mr 28 '48 160w

"This is good reading. The background of Colonial politics and the busy, satisfying life on a Colonial farm are always interesting." R. H. Viguers
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Je 12 '48 220w

Wis Lib Bul 44:86 Ap '48

UPDIKE: American printer and his Merrymount press; notes on the press and its work by Daniel Berkeley Updike; with a gathering of essays by Stanley Morison [and others] and a gallery of Merrymount title-pages and types. 156p $3.50 Am. inst. of graphic arts, 115 E. 40th st, N.Y. 16

B or 92 Updike, Daniel Berkeley. Merrymount press, Boston 48-600

"A memorial volume containing the story of Updike's career, written by himself, appreciative essays on the man and his work by eight of his friends and colleagues, a collection of 34 title pages designed by Updike, and eight pages of type used at the Merrymount press." (Booklist) This is the first of a series on the graphic arts and the arts of the book, published by the American institute of graphic arts.

"A distinguished piece of bookmaking."
+ Booklist 44:216 F 15 '48

"Fascinating book for anyone who enjoys beautiful lettering, who indulges in nostalgia for late-19th century New England or who knows the scene and its personalities and enjoys the pleasure of recollection." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:559 Ap 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
+ N Y Times p33 Mr 7 '48 230w

Reviewed by J. W. Elliott
San Francisco Chronicle p13 F 1 '48 800w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Author bites the dust. 191p $2 Doubleday
48-5562

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun F 27 '47 20w

Kirkus 15:684 D 15 '47 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 14 '48 200w

"Whether or not murder could actually be done in the manner described here is something for the experts to decide. Why spoil your enjoyment of a good story by worrying about such a trifling matter?" Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p30 Mr 7 '48 200w

"A trifle disappointing compared to some of [Bonaparte's] cases."
New Yorker 24:88 F 28 '48 110w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p22 Ap 11 '48 20w

"Shows that Boney can function as well among literary savages as with aborigines. In some ways best of his cases to date. Top-rank."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Mr 6 '48 50w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Mountains have a secret. 188p $2 Doubleday
48-4482

Detective story.

Kirkus 16:294 Je 15 '48 60w

UPFIELD, A. W.—Continued

"Inspector Napoleon Bonaparte and Australian scenery stand a good deal of pushing around before Mr. Upfield gets to his main treat, a melodramatic sequence that may or may not strike you as following from the rest." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 S 5 '48 140w
N Y Times p13 S 5 '48 230w

"Not up to the standard set in this author's earlier work."
— New Yorker 34:72 Ag 28 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p21 O 24 '48 50w

"Grade-B Upfield."
Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 18 '48 40w

UPJOHN INSTITUTE FOR COMMUNITY RESEARCH. Full employment in your community; a report of the Institute: Samuel V. Bennett [and others]. 119p $2.75 Public adm.

331.137 Unemployment

"This is the first major publication of the W. E. Upjohn Institute, a privately sponsored, nonprofit research organization, established some three years ago for the purpose of carrying on research in the problems of full employment and unemployment 'at the community level, as distinguished from the national or international level.' As Harold C. Taylor, the director of the Institute and one of the authors of the report, explains in the Preface: 'It is the purpose of this book to bring together in one place all the major suggestions that have been made which look toward the achievement and maintenance of full employment, insofar as these proposals relate to action which can be taken at the local level.'" (J Pol Econ) Chapter bibliographies. No index.

"This reviewer must confess to some disappointment in this book. It contains a very useful compendium of suggestions for stabilizing industrial employment within a community, and recommended programs for individual companies. . . Unfortunately, the material relating to local government measures to promote full employment, and the discussion of problems of agriculture, labor organizations, and community programs in relation to full employment, do not seem equally adequate." W. H. Stead
+ — Ann Am Acad 257:254 My '48 480w

"In limiting themselves to a presentation of specific measures of a (supposedly) local nature, [the authors] combine strength and weakness, the latter unfortunately predominating. On the one side, the report is effective in highlighting the responsibility of each community for setting its own house in order. On the other side, lacking a theoretical framework, the report becomes a mere catalogue of suggestions." H. S. Perloff
+ — J Pol Econ 56:364 Ag '48 1200w

URIS, AUREN. Improved foremanship. 280p $3.50 Macmillan

658.3124 Foremen 48-6817

"Talks between 'Phil Starr' a foreman in the making and other members of his organization show problems which occur daily. He incidentally hears about plant organization, cost and quality control, labor relations, personnel management, safety, grievances and other matters. Based on practical experience by the author, [who is] a foreman, plant manager and consultant." Library J

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

"Presented in conversational style, this book is practical and easy to read."
+ Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 70w

"Improved Foremanship falls short of its goal of putting you in the supervisor's place because it does not employ the language or [illegible] the thinking of the average, first-line supervisor. . . However, commingled with the superior wisdom and exceptional abilities of almost everyone but Phil Starr and the contemptible Mr. Al Raung, there are some good tips for handling people and their grievances, dealing with difficult situations, interviewing, safety, etc. The title of the book is persuasive, and some foremen may be able to read it and keep calm until the last page. But most supervisors will read only parts of the text and will then have to 'cool off' before continuing. I doubt that too many will ever reach the last page, but if they do the final section, 'You're on Your Own,' will probably make them resolve to think twice before reading another book on foremanship." Louis Lerda
— + Management R 37:652 D '48 600w

URQUHART, MRS CLARA, ed. Last chance; 11 questions on issues determining our destiny: answered by 26 leaders of thought of 14 nations. 182p $2.50 Beacon press

940.55 Peace. Social problems. World politics 48-9062

Twenty-six people from fourteen countries express their views on how western civilization may utilize its "last chance" to save the world. Among those queried were: Benedetto Croce, Toyohiko Kagawa, Lin Yutang, Archibald MacLeish, Max Picard, George Santayana, Luigi Sturzo, Pearl Buck, J. B. S. Haldane, Trygve Lie, Bertrand Russell. The subjects were in part: "about the prospect of 'one world'; about American-Russian relations; about a middle way between the Russian and American ways of life; about unbiased teaching of history as a means to peace; about using science for the benefit of all peoples; about overpopulation, education, and spiritual regeneration." (Crozer Q)

"The book goads one into thinking about the 'last chance' too, and should have wide distribution and thoughtful reading—especially by policymakers who probably won't." E. W. Harris
+ Churchman 162:15 D 15 '48 70w

"An uninspiring collection of brief remarks that are either clichés or special pleading for a peculiar personal view, or simple negatives, as when Bertrand Russell, asked about the fruits of science for the peoples of the world, says, 'I have nothing to say on this head.' The only common conclusion to which the editor can point is 'that the most pressing problems are no longer a matter for philosophical elucidation, but for conscious effort on the part of individuals and governments.' Someone may find a few 'quotable quotes' here." E. E. Aubrey
Crozer Q 26:92 Ja '49 200w

"Discrete, uneven in quality of matter and attitude. So not smooth reading, but contains nuggets worth mining." J. E. Cross
Library J 73:1593 N 1 '48 140w

UTLEY, FREDA. Lost illusion. 288p $3 Fireside press

914.7 Communism—Russia. Russia—Politics and government 48-5745

The author has rewritten her book The Dream We Lost (Book Review Digest 1940) and now calls it Lost Illusion. It is "her account of herself as an English communist who was converted romantically, she now believes, to the Russian version of communism, lived for years in Russia, was progressively disillusioned by the change from original communism to ruthless industrialization, and got away to the United States." (N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R)

Booklist 44:356 Je 15 '48

"Life stories of renegades have to be read with caution and are often filled with self-pity and bitterness. Freda Utley's book is relatively free from these defects because the author was never a romantic, and was trained to face economic and social facts and therefore writes her story with more soberness and common sense than the ordinary, disillusioned half-baked communist. The matter-of-factness of her book may disappoint those who read an autobiography as a substitute for fiction, but it should make impressive and wholesome reading for those fellow-travelers in our country who still hold on to the illusions Freda Utley held before her encounter with Soviet reality." Max Fischer

+ Commonweal 48:480 Ag 27 '48 500w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Mr 21 '48 90w

"A book like Miss Utley's is a powerful educational instrument for democracy because of its honesty, its humility, its information, and above all for the unescapable moral issues it places before the intellectuals of the West." Sidney Hook

+ N Y Times p1 My 16 '48 2000w

"Few will agree that the book is written with detachment. The story of Miss Utley's disenchantment with Communism and Soviet Russia is intertwined with her own love story. One cannot be written without the other. . . Miss Utley left Russia, never to return, in 1936. It is possible that some things she writes about have improved. American journalists and UNRRA officials who have visited collective farms in the Ukraine within the last year or two have reported conditions better than Miss Utley found when she was in Russia. Yet her descriptions of the 'chaos' in political circles and of the poverty and despair of the workers in Moscow are known to more recent observers to be much the same today." Oriana Atkinson

Sat R of Lit 31:15 My 1 '48 900w

V

VAILLAND, ROGER. Playing for keeps; tr. by Gerard Hopkins [Eng title: Playing with fire]. 271p $3 Houghton

48-8549

Novel describing the activities of a small group of workers in the French Resistance during five days in the spring of 1944. The scene is Paris.

Booklist 45:159 Ja 1 '49

"A concentrated story of lives of external danger, inner tension, this is harsh, taut, effective. (The translation by Gerard Hopkins is excellent.)"

+ Kirkus 16:371 Ag 1 '48 100w

"Not an historical novel of the Resistance, nor a political polemic, certainly not a romance. Rather, a re-creation of the sense of urgency that pervades the lives of all men in a time of disturbance and stress and which strips the most complex of human relationships of their heroics and passion. Setting is realistic (as is the handling of sex)." Harold Lancour

Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Charles Marriott

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 9 '48 180w

"When this book was first published in France it met with instant critical acclaim. Roger Vailland was found brimming with fresh ideas and painfully honest and captivating with his prodigious gift for irreverence. American readers will probably add that the book has a bad title and is more a polemic chronicle than a novel, but they will not fail to succumb to its verve and prancing vitality. . . It is a story told in the best traditions of French prose." Bennell Braunstein

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 S 19 '48 600w

"Its a cut above the Aragon and Triolet books, both poorly received here: but, despite occasional intellectual sparkle, it leaves one with a dreary sense of overfamiliarity." C. J. Rolo

N Y Times p21 S 26 '48 900w

New Yorker 24:99 O 2 '48 230w

"Paris, during the occupation, comes alive in 'Playing for Keeps.' This is the important thing. . . Awkwardness, talkativeness, reader-teasing—how unimportant such faults when a book lives." Vance Bourjaily

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p9 D 26 '48 700w

"Vailland's cold-blooded, critical detachment can work against the general reading appeal of his thriller. For whether his characters are trying to elude the Gestapo or maneuver their way into some boudoir or parlor game, they seldom, if ever, arouse our sympathy. And yet Vailland manages effectively to recapture the spirit of Paris in the spring of 1944." Richard McLaughlin

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:10 S 25 '48 850w

"It is refreshing to meet heroes of the resistance as ordinary men and women for a change—tough, cynical, selfish even, but unmistakably flesh and blood. Also, incidentally, none the less heroes for being like that. . . The 'stream of consciousness' technique can be wearying at any time but especially when there is an exciting story going on above at the same time." Robert Kee

+ — Spec 181:122 Jl 23 '48 180w

VALERY, PAUL. Degas dance drawing [tr. by Helen Burlin; with 4 hand-colored plates] 70p $5 Lear

B or 92 Degas, Hilaire Germain Edgar

"Despite its title, this small book mentions almost everything about Degas except his dance drawings. It is, in fact, a sort of album of anecdotes, fragments of conversations, and other random recollections of the artist as Valéry knew him." New Yorker

"Somewhat sour comment on so-called friend. . . Book high-priced for small compass." A. S. Plaut

Library J 74:63 Ja 1 '49 130w

"A good many of the items are frankly trivial, but there is the warmth of old friendship about the book, and, in its easygoing way, it does help to illuminate the artist's strange, crotchety character."

+ New Yorker 24:118 D 18 '48 90w

VALERY, PAUL. Monsieur Teste [tr. with a note on Valéry by Jackson Mathews]. 94p $5 Knopf

848 47-11600

"A translation of one of the most curious and impressive works of modern French literature. It is a brief study of an imaginary man who arrives at such mastery of his intelligence and such clarity of thought that he enters into a state of being in which he is all mentality and has nothing more to think about because he has thought of everything, already." New Yorker

Reviewed by Rene Blanc-Roos

Nation 167:269 S 4 '48 700w

Reviewed by Lloyd Morris

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 F 8 '48 650w

"It is a good thing to have this little work, one of the most curious in modern literature, added at last to the small store of Valéry's writings available in English. The translation, by Jackson Mathews, is excellent, and his prefatory note is adequate to the occasion. . . This book is no doubt the product of that phase of Valéry's career when he became so intoxicated with the plentitude of his own intelligence that he was tempted to think of the expression of it in any public medium as superfluous and perhaps, too, as a debasement of its functions and a fruitless disclosure of its secrets. The invention of M. Teste, a sterile monster, can thus be understood as an act of exorcising this temptation and finally breaking through to the living world of men and history." Philip Rahv

N Y Times p4 Ja 18 '48 800w

"The book is a distillation of Valéry's philosophy and is, of course, much more than a playful exercise in irony. It is not easy reading, but it is very stimulating if you are willing to do some of the work."

+ — New Yorker 23:137 N 22 '47 110w

VALERY, PAUL—Continued

"'Teste' is described on the jacket as 'a kind of novel,' and it might as well be that as anything else. Actually, it is composed of random thoughts and philosophy, presented with little transition. These thoughts (life, love and literature a la Gide) are interesting but not profound, plodding but not poetical. The man has done better, so you might just as well wait for the next piece of Valery to cross the barrier of language and space." A. K.

San Francisco Chronicle p29 N 23 '47 200w

VALERY, PAUL. Reflections on the world today; tr. by Francis Scarfe. 199p $3.50 Pantheon bks.

904 World politics 48-2921

"A book of essays and random writings written between 1895 and 1939. M. Valéry's musings on things like dictatorship, history, progress, war, and liberty seem to reaffirm the fact that the poet often perceives more clearly than the sociologist and political scientist what man is all about and what he is up to." New Yorker

Reviewed by Warren Ramsey
Commonweal 48:478 Ag 27 '48 1550w

"One questions whether his name carries beyond a limited sphere of intellectuals."
Kirkus 16:252 My 15 '48 140w

"The pretensions are determinedly 'amateur,' the manner is tentative, personal, and in the form of collected pensées rather than of sustained argument. The tone is pessimistic because the conditions Valéry investigates warrant nothing else. But the irony and the passionate affection of the man beautifully place the tone: 'Happily, these prophecies are idle. I am doing exactly what I explained the vanity of a few moments ago. I am looking head, therefore I am wrong.'" John Farrelly
New Repub 118:31 My 31 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Justin O'Brien
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Jl 25 '48 500w

"The volume is disappointing. . . We perceive that Valéry is at his best when impressionistic and that he is not as adept at close analysis or as intellectually athletic as he pretends to be. It is the effort to live up to this pretension that makes his prose so wordy and so empty at times—in this book and elsewhere—and stimulates him to go on endlessly explicating notions that have been common property since he was born. He was not an intellect, he was a sensibility; he was not a philosopher, he was a poet; it is too bad he could not reconcile himself to the difference." Clement Greenberg
— + N Y Times p8 Jl 4 '48 600w
New Yorker 24:119 My 22 '48 80w

"Paul Valery, one of the most respected of contemporary men of French letters, probably had the great historian, Jacob Burckhart, in mind when he titled these essays. And perhaps he consciously expressed some of the pessimism of Spengler when he placed at the head of the volume a piece titled 'Notes on the Greatness and Decadence of Europe.' . . Valery possessed the sensitiveness of a great poet and the penetrating intellect of a philosopher at home with Pascal or Voltaire." R. G. C.
San Francisco Chronicle p22 Je 13 '48 320w

VALLENTIN, ANTONINA (MME JULIEN LUCHAIRE). Mirabeau; tr. by E. W. Dickes. 542p il $5 Viking

B or 92 Mirabeau, Honoré Gabriel Riquetti, comte de 48-5446

Biography of the eighteenth-century French writer and statesman who was influential during the French Revolution. Both his private life and public career are described. Bibliography. Index.

"If one may judge adequately on the basis of a translation, the story is told vividly, albeit verbosely. But it lacks continuity (and hence becomes tedious), it suffers from lack of balance (more than three fifths of the book is devoted to Mirabeau's career before 1789), and it fails to give a clear picture of the French revolution (apart from which movement Mirabeau's life would be relatively inconsequential). Of the numerous popular biographies of the Revolutionary leader this is doubtless as good as any, perhaps better than most; and as such it will probably be widely read. Yet it will not be read for the reasons which should prompt readers to study the life of Mirabeau. It will be read partly because it stresses the sensational rather than the substantial aspects of Mirabeau's life. It will be read partly because the general reading public is usually interested in biography. It will be read partly because there is not much else for the average reader to read. It is for this last reason that Mme Vallentin's study assumes an importance quite disproportionate to its inherent worth—as a challenge to professional historians." J. H. Stewart
Am Hist R 53:811 Jl '48 480w

"Though lacking stylistic distinction, it is industriously researched and packed with fascinating material."
+ — Atlantic 181:112 Mr '48 120w
Booklist 44:247 Mr 15 '48
Christian Century 65:275 Mr 3 '48 280w

"From one point of view, Mme. Vallentin's book might have profited from some of the geometrical alignment common in the eighteenth century. As a guide through the intricacies of Mirabeau's acts and pronouncements, it lacks the lucid ordering and the hard gemlike glow of Louis Barthou's 'Mirabeau.' Nor, naturally, does this biography show the general grasp of Ortega y Gasset's 'Mirabeau o el politico,' which sets up el magnifico provenzal as a perfected type of the political man. On the other hand, this book has notable qualities of its own [and] . . . is a worthy companion piece to Barthou's book and Ortega's essay." Warren Ramsay
+ — Commonweal 48:237 Je 18 '48 800w

"A literary, authentic biography marked by painstaking scholarship, and a sympathetic handling of the subject."
+ Kirkus 15:690 D 15 '48 120w

"Absorbing as a novel. Strongly recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:121 Ja 15 '48 140w

"It is hard to be sure why this book is not a complete success. It has none of the obvious faults of a really bad biography. It has, save for touches of strain in Mme Vallentin's style, few of the marks of the biographie romanceé. It neither worships nor debunks its hero. Mme Vallentin, as a good disciple of the late Stefan Zweig, works hard as a psychologist; but here too are no marks of the doctrinaire. Perhaps the chief weakness of the book is the obvious one, it is so crammed with details." Crane Brinton
+ — Nation 166:248 F 28 '48 950w

"Madame Vallentine has the most essential gift of the biographer, sympathy. Mirabeau is evidently a hero in her eyes. But she does not slur or twist the facts: if she cannot bring herself to condemn, she does not condone. The one trace of bias is found in her treatment of Lafayette. ... Madame Vallentin does not attempt to simplify a story which is torrential and turbid. Through her five hundred compact and at times confusing pages, we breathlessly follow the rush of events, eager to know 'how it will end.'" Albert Guerard
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Mr 21 '48 1400w

"Like many books of our age her work is too long. Many details on family and love affairs, marriages, lawsuits could have been omitted to real advantage. But this is a labor of love, as well as of diligent historical research." Henri Peyre
+ — N Y Times p6 Mr 7 '48 1250w

"A superior biography. . . Literary competence and careful research are evident throughout the book, particularly in the illuminating chapters on Mirabeau's stormy private affairs."
+ New Yorker 23:98 F 21 '48 70w

"Good as it is, the book is still not as good as it should be. There is enough of narrative, but there should be more analysis and diagnosis. Mme. Vallentin obviously knows all of Mirabeau's inner processes, and she flatters us by assuming that we know them too. . . It seems to me that the writer of a biography should assume that his reader knows nothing about either the subject or the era he lives in. Mme. Vallentin has not made this assumption." T. C. Chubb

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:20 Mr 6 '48 800w
Time 51:88 Mr 1 '48 1050w
Wis Lib Bul 44:103 My '48

VALLEY, ASTRID E. Marching bonnet. 148p $2.50 Macmillan
48-1652

Story of the narrator's Swedish mother, her work in the Salvation Army in Sweden and New York, her marriage, and her unsuccessful attempts to make Salvationists of her two daughters.

Booklist 44:283 Ap 15 '48

"A fairly good picture of family life, of the hardships and altruisms of Army life, and a heterogeneous background of Swedish and American customs, but aside from that the book has nothing much to offer."
Kirkus 16:93 F 15 '48 160w

Reviewed by L. R. Miller
Library J 73:654 Ap 15 '48 130w

"A story that has many moving moments and a singular charm all its own." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p18 Je 20 '48 180w

VANCE, ETHEL, pseud. See Stone, G. Z.

VANCE, MRS MARGUERITE. Patsy Jefferson of Monticello; il. by Nedda Walker. 154p $2.50 Dutton
B or 92 Randolph, Martha (Jefferson)—Juvenile literature 48-4837

Biographical story for older girls. It is the story of the eldest daughter of Thomas Jefferson, from 1784 when she went to France with her father, thru her years in school in Paris, and at the French embassy; her return to America, and her happy marriage. The book ends with Jefferson's inauguration as president.

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun N 20 '48 90w
Kirkus 16:531 O 1 '48 220w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Burr
Library J 73:1746 D 1 '48 110w

"Girls will enjoy the romance of this fictionized biography of Thomas Jefferson's eldest daughter. . . Charming and sensitive drawings by Nedda Walker have received some of the best reproduction this artist has enjoyed." Helen Masten
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 O 3 '48 180w

"Has warmth and liveliness as well as authenticity and dignity." E. H.
+ N Y Times p5 N 14 '48 140w

"A well-told story with especially fine drawings, beautifully reproduced."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:38 N 13 '48 40w

VAN DEN BROEK, JOHN ABRAHAM. Theory of limit design. 144p $3.50 Wiley
624.17 Strains and stresses. Elasticity
48-622

"Dr. Van den Broek says that the elastic limit stress is not a sound discussion of strength and describes his book as 'a reversion to type' since it discusses limit performance as a standard of strength. He gives his reasons and evaluates limit design. One important feature of the book is the extensive treatment of column action. For advanced students in aeronautics, civil and mechanical engineering. Problems. References." (Library J) Index.

"The arguments presented in this book for using limit design wherever the method is applicable and whenever sufficient data are available appear to be sound. In many cases, engineers who read the book may find that they have on occasion rationalized designs in a similar manner when elastic-theory stress analyses were impracticable."
Eng N 140:95 My 13 '48 270w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 80w

"As a scientific treatise, this book displays numerous and serious faults of commission and omission. It is important, however, that the point of view advanced here be known and discussed."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:240 Je '48 240w

VAN DER MEERSCH, MAXENCE. See Meersch, M. van der

VANDERSCHMIDT, FRED. What the English think of us. 213p $3 McBride
917.3 Public opinion—Great Britain. National characteristics, American 48-9517

The results of the author's investigation of Anglo-American relations, which ended in the conclusion that "in the year 1947 one out of three Englishmen were more or less antagonistic to anything that came from America." British attitudes to the Marshall plan, the cold war, the G.I., the American movies, plays, magazines, books and fashions are described. The writer is chief of Newsweek magazine's London bureau.

"I must confess to disappointment in this book. It contains some useful information and a few acute observations, but the treatment is too shallow for so important a subject. Mr. Vanderschmidt has once again proved that the easy-breezy reportage of the news magazines wilts sadly when transposed to a more permanent medium." Keith Hutchison
— + Nation 168:22 Ja 1 '49 700w

"[Mr Vanderschmidt's] report is temperate and judicious. He presents his findings more in sorrow than in anger, and only occasionally do exasperation and impatience break through. His conclusions are a bit discouraging. . . Yet it may be doubted that he is justified in his discouragement. For it is proper to object both to his findings and to his conclusions. It is proper to argue that the facts are not as bad as they seem, and that even if they were the conclusions are not sound. . . It is a proper objection, too, that Mr. Vanderschmidt has not here made any attempt to explore what may be called upper-class and intellectual opinion. . . It is suggestive that Mr. Vanderschmidt does not quote any of Mr. Churchill's numerous expressions of admiration and affection, nor does he draw on the findings of such Englishmen as Denis Brogan or Alastair Cooke or Max Beloff, to name merely three of the many publicists who give the United States a very good press, indeed." H. S. Commager
+ — N Y Times p3 D 12 '48 1350w

"A sprightly, informative and intensely interesting analysis.'" W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p9B N 28 '48 450w

VAN DE WATER, FREDERIC FRANKLYN. Reluctant rebel. 442p $3.50 Duell
Allen, Ethan—Fiction 48-1940

Historical novel about Ethan Allen and his Green Mountain boys who were fighting for possession of the land they had cleared in the "New Hampshire Grants" in 1771 when the story opens. The reluctant rebel of the title was Adam Corlaer of Albany who owned land in the "grants." Adam's adventures in love and war are chronicled up to the capture of Fort Ticonderoga by Allen.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p8X Mr 28 '48 330w
Christian Science Monitor p12 My 29 '48 650w
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48
Kirkus 16:30 Ja 15 '48 180w

VAN DE WATER, F. F.—Continued

"No better nor worse than other fiction of this type that has been turned out recently. Good for young people." C. W. Roth

Library J 73:474 Mr 15 '48 110w

"From Ethan Allen down to the humblest stableboy, these characters speak and act with the naturalness of living human beings. Possessing a healthy, earthy sense of humor himself, Mr. Van de Water is particularly successful in capturing the dry wit and the full-bodied laughter of men who relished nothing better than a practical joke, particularly if it could be had at the expense of their political enemies." Rose Feld

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Mr 28 '48 550w

"This is a good solid tale of love and war along an Iron Curtain long since dissolved." Richard Match

+ N Y Times p5 Ap 4 '48 600w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 My 9 '48 250w

"Far and away Mr. Van de Water's best novel, and it is also in the top rank of American historical fiction. It is excellently written, confines itself to a geographical area small enough to remain clear in the reader's mind, and expertly climbs through the tangle of facts and legend concerning the New Hampshire Grants to present an historically valid and fictionally exciting account of what happened when 'the Bennington Mobb' decided that New York state was getting a mite too uppity." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 4 '48 440w

VAN DOREN, CARL CLINTON. Great rehearsal; the story of the making and ratifying of the Constitution of the United States. 336p il $3.75 Viking

342.73 U.S. Constitution 48-657

The history of the secret sessions of the Constitutional convention which met during the summer of 1787 in Philadelphia. No formal record of the conferences was kept, but the author has pieced together his account from personal notes, shorthand diaries kept by some of the members, and other original sources. Index.

"This book is not written for and is unlikely to be consulted by the student of history or of the American Constitution. . . In the account of the convention itself, rather undue emphasis is placed upon what is termed 'The Federal Compromise,'. . . Dr. Van Doren seems to have overemphasized the decisions of the convention as paralleling the present world situation." Charles Warren

Am Hist R 53:835 Jl '48 850w

"The authorship of this work is sufficient guarantee that the presentation of the subject-matter lacks neither in excellent style nor historical accuracy. The drama of the story, while not over-done, is well underlined. The character delineations have never been better done." J. G. Kerwin

Am Pol Sci R 42:563 Je '48 490w

Booklist 44:196 F 1 '48

Reviewed by R. A. Preston

Canadian Hist R 29:416 D '48 100w

Reviewed by Walter Johnson

Chicago Sun Ja 20 '48 550w

"Carl Van Doren has done a splendid book on the making and ratification of the American Constitution, but readers who habitually skip prefaces will never know where he got his title. . . The book itself is a lively, informative account of the Philadelphia Convention and of the debates over ratification in the year that followed." D. M. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 19 '48 850w

"Though the story of the framing of our Constitution has long been embalmed in textbooks, it is not a dull story, nor does it need to be told in a dreary style. As narrated by Carl Van Doren in 'The Great Rehearsal,' it is not only entertaining but even enlightening." Wayne Andrews

+ Commonweal 47:450 F 13 '48 550w

Current Hist 14:173 Mr '48 100w

"Once again, Carl Van Doren has presented one facet of our history with such an intimate quality of an inside seat at proceedings, that he makes what might have been heavy going, wonderful entertainment and sound history as well."

+ Kirkus 15:634 N 15 '47 450w

"The personalities and diverse and complicated problems of a crucial period in our history come vividly to life. An exciting story, offering our present troubled world, as Van Doren suggests, an object lesson in the art of honorable compromise for mutual benefits. Deserves to stand with Max Farrand and Beard. Appendices trace the evolution of the Constitution from the Virginia Plan through to its final form. Highly recommended." J. H. Berthel

+ Library J 72:1777 D 15 '47 110w

Manchester Guardian p3 Je 22 '48 120w

"Mr. Van Doren has proved himself a master at letting a story tell itself. I would never have believed that this story, as sheer narrative, could be so engrossing." Perry Miller

+ Nation 166:159 F 7 '48 850w

"Van Doren merely tells his story with an attractive combination of warmth and detachment, of human interest and scholarship, and leaves any application for our time to the intelligent imagination of the reader. It is a method that is of great assistance to his implied case. . . There is no end of valuable information in The Great Rehearsal, down to the trivial but fascinating detail that, even in 1788, Americans referred to eccentrics as 'characters.'" Richard Watts

+ New Repub 118:27 Ja 26 '48 1000w

"'The Great Rehearsal,' like Emery Reves's 'The Anatomy of Peace,' should be printed in every language. For the problems it poses are for the several nations, not for this country alone. It presents an exact account of the most creative political achievement in the recorded chronicles of government. It will challenge and summon men of good will in every land. And the story it tells cannot help inspiring those architects of government who at some future time assemble to work out the instruments of government which will substitute law for war in the international field." W. O. Douglas

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Ja 18 '48 1550w

"In his fresh story of these great events, great men, and great arguments, told from the records themselves with an effectiveness which no one has matched in comparable space, Carl Van Doren—whose historical writing has included 'The Secret History of the American Revolution' and a Pulitzer prize-winning biography of Franklin—has made both the actors and the issues come alive. To become acquainted with them is a political education now, and one which no American should miss." Dumas Malone

+ N Y Times p1 Ja 18 '48 1750w

"Carl Van Doren has made a brave effort to relieve his book of the inherent dullness of his grimly abstract materials, but it would be too much to say that he has succeeded. It seems to me that his story is no more informative, and not much easier to follow, than the 'Notes,' or at any rate no easier than the ingenious rearrangement of the 'Notes' made by Professor Arthur Taylor Prescott in his 'Drafting the Federal Constitution.' . . Mr. Van Doren's story becomes considerably livelier when he deals with the great polemical battles that preceded the ratification of the Constitution." J. M. Lalley

New Yorker 23:79 Ja 17 '48 1450w

Reviewed by E. C. Rozwenc

Pol Sci Q 63:287 Je '48 1000w

Reviewed by Luther Nichols

San Francisco Chronicle p12 F 1 '48 1000w

"Mr. Van Doren deliberately performed two separate and successive acts. First, he chose to record a series of human actions, a history of which would be useful to his readers: he thereby guaranteed his book against triviality or irrelevance. Second, he devoted himself single-heartedly to recording those events faithfully, judiciously, and vividly: he thereby guaranteed his book against moralizing propaganda. By these two acts he placed his book in the great tradition of historical writing." Stringfellow Barr

+ Sat R of Lit 31:7 Ja 17 '48 1000w

Springf'd Republican p7B D 28 '47 110w

"It is a fine book, well told without striving to reach the 'popular' taste, and besides being a comforting thesis at this point in history, a compact and well organized exposition of the framing of the Constitution is of considerable permanent value." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p8B F 15 '48 650w

"Mr. Van Doren's careful, deliberate style does not unduly stress the colorful events or personalities. . . But this unobtrusive, solid writing brings home the essentials of the great saga. Until now I looked upon 'The Making of the Constitution' by Charles Warren as the best account of the convention. But Mr. Van Doren has amplified the record, going to sources farther afield, so that he has been able to make a full report for certain days that Mr. Warren treats only sketchily." Harry Hansen

+ Survey G 37:80 F '48 1300w

"The Great Rehearsal is a day-by-day account of the convention; it is cool and unexcited. Deliberately, it seems, Author Van Doren has restrained himself from paying tribute to the magnitude of the accomplishment that he records. The book's drama is not in the telling, but in the event. For the miracle of the Constitutional Convention was not that the delegates organized a nation; it was the kind of nation they created, one that has grown and prospered beyond any in history, and will so continue, as long as it remains faithful to its origins."

+ Time 51:98 Ja 26 '48 1150w

Times [London] Lit Sup p411 Jl 24 '48 1300w

Wis Lib Bul 44:79 Ap '48

VAN DOREN, MARK. New poems. 135p $2.50 Sloane

811 48-5717

"The book contains over a hundred poems grouped in nine sections. These range from the cosmic meditations of the first part to the incantations and lullabies at the end." N Y Times

Reviewed by Peter Viereck

Atlantic 182:95 N '48 460w

Booklist 44:246 Mr 15 '48

"Quiet poems, well constructed, on a variety of subjects, reflecting a variety of moods. Delicately aware of the less tangible, more enduring aspects of life."

+ Christian Science Monitor p15 My 1 '48 150w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48

"The whole output is too grey, too monotoned, too unselected. Little will be added to or subtracted from Van Doren's reputation by this volume for he has his following to whom this book will appeal. But it will win no new friends nor influence many people."

Kirkus 16:44 Ja 15 '48 180w

"Some of the best things this poet has done appear here." Gerald McDonald

Library J 73:475 Mr 15 '48 40w

Reviewed by David Daiches

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Mr 7 '48 600w

Reviewed by Robert Hillyer

N Y Times p6 Mr 14 '48 700w

New Yorker 24:115 My 8 '48 60w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 13 '48 100w

"Despite the skill with language the reader comes across an occasional ambiguity due less to verbal ellipsis than to an unwarranted chamois-leap of thought. Here and there an end stanza that should clearly taper off is allowed vaguely to trail off, a fault of which the book itself may be accused, for it ends with a group of insignificant lullabies. A perfunctoriness mars the Emily Dickinson poem. For the most part these poems give the impression—as all good art should—of having been completely expelled through the instrument. A finality adorns them. A counted width of words. In its strict limits each poem holds and imparts its distinctive grace." Howard Griffin

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:21 Mr 20 '48 450w

Reviewed by Eugene Davidson

Yale R n s 37:745 summer '48 280w

VAN EVERY, DALE. Shining mountains. 407p $3 Messner

48-8359

Historical novel about the time of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Matt Morgan, a powerful young trader, who dreamed of the Shining mountains, is the hero. His friend Baptiste, a Frenchman, who first betrayed and then saved Matt, and the girl Nora, whom both loved, are the other main characters in this tale of pioneer life west of the Mississippi.

Booklist 45:32 S 15 '48

Chicago Sun p9X N 7 '48 140w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg

Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 150w

"First rate novel of the men who pushed our frontiers west."

+ Kirkus 16:319 Jl 1 '48 170w

"Recommended for clarity of detail and an unusual approach to familiar material." R. P. Tubby

+ Library J 73:1092 Ag '48 70w

"The novelist cites his many sources of 'local color and background material of the period,' but he hasn't quickened them with the imaginative touch."

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 S 19 '48 270w

"One can find only praise for the historical backgrounds of this long novel. The various Indian tribes are correctly placed, the dances and other ceremonies and customs are those of the period and are substantiated by contemporaneous observation. . . Where the book falls short, to this reviewer, is in the effort to combine a romance with a saga of a womanless frontier." Hoffman Birney

+ — N Y Times p24 S 26 '48 360w

"Occasionally the language of the book grows clumsy. . . [But] 'The Shining Mountains' is an exciting, easy-to-read saga of the early days of America." A. C. Fields

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:35 S 25 '48 700w

VAN GELDER, ROBERT. Important people. 339p $3 Doubleday

48-7626

Satirical novel of a group of New Yorkers with inherited wealth, fearful of losing their positions to the newcomers and the managers of their concerns. The main character, Dixon West, just returned from the war finds himself involved with a childhood sweetheart, a Harlem hit-and-run accident, and the management of the family magazine empire. Six months later, his personal troubles solved, Dixon sets forth to take his grandfather's place in the world.

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun p8x Jl 25 '48 500w

"The novel does not hang together. Mr. Van Gelder's concern with the Negroes' plight is real, and he sets it forth in some brilliant passages. He writes from close knowledge of the publishing business, and he succeeds—especially in short sketches—in capturing the frenetic and febrile qualities of some aspects of American life. His narrative is swift, and his dialogue real. Nevertheless, a reader is forced to wonder what this big novel is really about and whether, at the end, the situation is very different from what it was at the beginning." D. S.

— + Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 26 '48 250w

VAN GELDER, ROBERT—Continued

"As satire, this is sharp rather than subtle, glossed with sensationalism and some sex, and the whole achieves an entertainment rather than an intellectual level."
Kirkus 16:242 My 15 '48 200w

"Vicious portraits of society types and tense scenes of brutality do not make pleasant reading, but both sides of question are given unusually fair treatment." H. G. Kelley
Library J 73:1027 Jl '48 90w

Reviewed by Ernest Jones
Nation 167:212 Ag 21 '48 100w

Reviewed by John Woodburn
New Repub 119:23 Ag 9 '48 1000w

"Oddly enough, when he has given you the background story of what [the leading characters] all are and how they got that way, he somehow loses his grip on them, so that when he undertakes to carry on from this point, to make them speak and act believably for themselves, he frequently falls into melodramatic sensationalism on the one hand or brittle ineptness on the other. And this gives the story, and along with it some of the ideas which it espouses, the unfortunate effect of seeming both immature and a little synthetic." F. H. Bullock
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Jl 25 '48 800w

"Van Gelder's satire has enough humor to vary the general tone, but his distaste for his human material has posed a technical problem he has not quite solved. How keep the attention of the reader fixed for 300 pages upon a book which contains no sympathetic character? . . Though Mr. van Gelder's Harlem of terror is, in a sense, powerful, it has not the right power because it lacks the right penetration. . . Yet 'Important People' is a compelling as well as an ambitious first novel. Its people are ugly, but its author explores their life histories with care. A clear distinction is kept between major and minor figures: we are seldom in doubt as to whose story we are following—or the reason for its inclusion. One reads this work with respect aroused by the gravity of design evident in the whole." H. M. Jones
+ — N Y Times p3 Jl 18 '48 750w

New Yorker 24:61 Jl 31 '48 200w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Jl 19 '48 650w

"Van Gelder has divertingly captured the amusing surface glitter of the world he is depicting. And he has been exceptionally skilful in reproducing the conversation through which a large part of the story is told. Even when his characters use approximately the same language, he has subtly suggested the different rhythms of the different people who are speaking. The editor, Boykin, for instance, and his wife have a flavor of speech that could never be confused with the West family talking among themselves. It is perhaps in this sensitive ear for contemporary talk that the writing of 'Important People' is most distinguished." J. W. Rogers
+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 Jl 17 '48 650w

"Van Gelder simply hasn't the satirist's spark, nor even a malicious ear for dialogue, without which good satire is impossible."
— Time 52:116 Jl 19 '48 270w

"Mr. Van Gelder writes smoothly and occasionally with wit. But he lays his satire on with a trowel and his melodrama on with a shovel." Orville Prescott
+ — Yale R n s 38:190 autumn '48 150w

VAN NOSTRAND, MRS JEANNE (SKINNER), and COULTER, EDITH MARGARET. California pictorial; a history in contemporary pictures, 1786 to 1859; with descriptive notes on pictures and artists. (Chronicles of California) 161p $10 Univ. of Calif.

979.4 California—History—Pictorial works
48-11448

"This volume reproduces 69 paintings and engravings dated from the reception of La Perouse, the French scientist, at Carmel Mission in 1786 to views of Stockton and Sacramento in 1856 and 1857. Ten are in full color and each is accompanied by a history of the picture, of the artist, and descriptive notes on the subject." (N Y Times) Index of artists.

"A welcome addition to the shelves of collectors of Western Americana." Oscar Lewis
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 D 26 '48 500w

"Many of the prints are exceedingly rare and are here reproduced for the first time. Typography and color work are magnificent and the book is as impressive as any which has been printed in connection with the centennial celebration." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p5 N 28 '48 240w

"A book of this kind depends for its success not only upon the accurate work of the authors, but upon the quality of reproduction and the general design and manufacture that go into it. It is a pleasure to report that in this respect the University of California Press has done itself proud with 'California Pictorial.' It is one of the finest examples of manufacture in its field ever turned out on the Pacific Coast, and well worth the price. It will come close to being top choice among this year's gift-Californiana." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p22 D 2 '48 750w

VAN PAASEN, PIERRE. Palestine: land of Israel. See Sonnenfeld, H. S.

VAN PAASSEN, PIERRE. Tower of Terzel. 352p $3 Dial press
48-8721

"[A] first novel [which] treats of some late-nineteenth-century intrigue around an old Flemish family's seignorial holdings. . . Guido Govaerts, the aging proprietor of the place, takes a tempting young wife, who almost at once falls into dalliance with the village blacksmith and with Guido's son Rudolph, just returned from the Transvaal possessed of some thoroughly sadistic impulses and with a good bit of blood on his hands. Rudolph's malevolence toward the peasants, plus rumblings of Flemish nationalism, try Guido's leonine strength for a while, but with the help of two other sons, one of them a young priest well on his way to duplicating the career of Saint Francis of Assisi, Rudolph is put in his place in a violent climax appropriate to the Gothic setting." New Yorker

Booklist 45:104 N 15 '48

Reviewed by Melvin Maddocks
Christian Science Monitor p14 N 1 '48 480w

"The story itself creaks, the characters are two dimensional, but Van Paassen has a faculty of conveying in atmosphere and mood and tempo, the conviction of deep knowledge and love for the Flemish countryside."
+ — Kirkus 16:534 O 1 '48 210w

" 'The Tower of Terzel' is rich with varied and vigorous characters which, if they rarely emerge from the typical into the individual, nevertheless serve Mr. van Paassen's purpose the better for that. The novel has narrative interest and a fresh and carefully wrought setting. Its mood is humane, sometimes religiously exalted, but Mr. van Paassen, propagandist though he may be, is a skilled craftsman, and he demonstrates here that a novel, whatever its ulterior purpose, must first tell a good story. 'The Tower of Terzel' does just that." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 O 17 '48 750w

"Mr. Van Paassen was not infrequently suspected of mixing a little fiction with his facts. Now that he has turned to pure fiction, he is naturally taking full advantage of his story-telling gifts, but it is again the urgency of his moral convictions which earmarks his writing. His carefully plotted first novel may be read as a kind of abstraction of his belief in goodness through individual choice. . . [He] knows his native Flanders well and writes with full appreciation of its little-nation problems.

Unfortunately the colorful national traits of his characters are somehow in conflict with the solemn moral tone of his story." Nona Balakian

+ — N Y Times p6 O 17 '48 650w

"The historical and geographical details are more skillfully handled than the overly cinematic action is."

New Yorker 24:133 O 16 '48 200w

"A story that is part social text, part lurid melodrama, and altogether pedestrian in its telling." N. L. Rothman

— Sat R of Lit 31:29 N 20 '48 320w

VAN RENSSELAER, ALEXANDER. Complete party book. 317p il $3.50 Sheridan

793 Entertaining 48-7292

"Etiquette, party plans, menus, recipes, decorations, games and stunts." (Subtitle) Contains some unusual suggestions for decorations, games, and refreshments, and brief histories of the holidays, not always available. Index.

"Maintains a higher standard of taste than many party books."

+ Booklist 44:349 Je 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p21 D '48

"Good merchandise tie-up for stores which have party favors, decorations, and so on. But useful for public library reference shelves too."

+ Kirkus 16:212 Ap 15 '48 160w

"Recommended to any library."

+ Wis Lib Bul 44:147 S '48

VAN SILLER, HILDA (VAN SILLER, pseud). Paul's apartment. 187p $2 Doubleday 48-7278

Detective story.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun Je 25 '48 130w

Kirkus 16:201 Ap 15 '48 90w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Jl 11 '48 160w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p16 Je 27 '48 180w

"Exciting, if not too sensible."

New Yorker 24:76 Je 26 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 27 '48 60w

"Femme fatale and her puzzled consort interestingly drawn and story pops with suspense—but solution calls for great deal of believing."

Sat R of Lit 31:30 Je 26 '48 40w

VAN STOCKUM, HILDA. Angels' alphabet [il. by the author]. [60p] $1.50 Viking

811 Alphabet books. Religious poetry 48-8360

"A book about the hierarchy of the angels made familiar to the child, without any saccharine talk or pictures. Quite a feat. Some of the well-known angels are brought out singly. Big problems such as Immortality constitute the subject of reverent simple poems. The drawings are in keeping with the text." Commonweal

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson

Cath World 168:222 D '48 70w

"This book is a sparkling jewel of faith most suitably enshrined by the publisher. The feeling of companionship familiar to all readers of Mrs. van Stockum is present here too. Though the book may primarily appeal to Catholic children because of the poem on the Queen of Heaven, yet all Christian children between 4 and 8 should have the privilege of owning it."

+ Commonweal 49:149 N 19 '48 130w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:454 N '48 110w

— Kirkus 16:397 Ag 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 19 '48 200w

Sat R of Lit 31:34 N 13 '48 40w

VAN STOCKUM, HILDA (MRS ERVIN MARLIN). Canadian summer; il. by [the author]. 190p $2.50 Viking 48-1372

After their father returned from war the Mitchells had to go to Montreal, where Mr Mitchell had a job. But no home could be found except a primitive house, meant for summer living, and into it moved the six little Mitchells, with their mother and grandmother. There they spent the most delightful summer, and the end of it brought a solution to their housing problem.

Booklist 44:289 Ap 15 '48

Reviewed by Martha King

Chicago Sun Je 5 '48 240w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold

Christian Science Monitor p4 Jl 29 '48 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 70w

"Hilda van Stockum's zest for daily living as a perpetual adventure in which children and grown-ups mingle on equal terms is as evident in her illustrations as in her writing. Real children and real animals look out from these pages in beautiful settings of Canadian woods and lakes." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 24:173 My '48 120w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:194 My '48 120w

Kirkus 16:49 F 1 '48 90w

"Well written story with a loosely woven, mildly interesting plot. A nice feeling for the out-of-doors and the simple life give the book its real value. Pleasant format. Recommended for ages 9-11." Claire Nolte

+ Library J 73:659 Ap 15 '48 70w

"When Grannie's telling a story, Peter begs 'Please don't get educational.' He has the right idea; so has Mrs. Van Stockum. You do not learn about French-Canadian country life in this story, you just live it, heels over head." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 My 16 '48 270w

"To an adult reader who loves and admires this author's Irish books the American stories seem less beautiful and less interesting. But the children of the middle years who love family stories will probably enjoy the Mitchells every bit as much as the O'Sullivans. The many black and white drawings by the author add to the interest of the book." Phyllis Fenner

+ N Y Times p30 Ap 11 '48 180w

New Yorker 24:134 D 11 '48 80w

"It is fun to read a book like this about attractive people who do the most unexpected things. Graceful drawings serve as chapter headings and full-page illustrations." M. G. Davis

+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 My 8 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:86 Ap '48

VAN STRAATEN, JAN, pseud. See Fles, B.

VAN TASSEL, RAYMOND. Woodworking crafts. 194p il $2.75 Van Nostrand

684 Woodwork 47-12271

"This book presents instructional handicraft material concisely in one volume to appeal to those people who want to begin working with wood by exploring various phases of the art. The reader can choose whittling, coping saw work, inlaying and veneering, wood carving, elementary joinery, or wood turning and find the information in this book that will allow him to gain proficiency. With the exception of the chapter on Wood Turning, only hand tools and hand-tool operations are discussed. A series of basic projects is presented to give the handicraft worker an opportunity to become acquainted with a minimum number of tools and operations. . . The making of a simple basic project is described in each chapter. Only a minimum amount of information regarding the tools and materials is given at the time the tool or material is to be used in order not to obscure the final objective." (Pref) Index.

VAN TASSEL, RAYMOND—Continued

Booklist 44:213 F 15 '48

"For manual training courses and handicraftees. Woodworking operations, and use of tools with excellent illustrations are discussed." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:47 Ja 1 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:85 O '47

"An authoritative book for the home workshop hobbyist covering the elementary phases of woodworking has long been needed; and this volume . . . fills the need more than adequately. The simple step-by-step instructions, coupled with excellent diagrams and designs, will aid the beginning handicrafter to become proficient in each of the basic woodworking operations and enable him to work out his own designs with confidence." R. S. Robbins
+ N Y Times p15 D 28 '47 180w

VAN VOGT, ALFRED E. World of Ā. 246p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
48-1232

"Interplanetary skulduggery in the year 2650. A fellow named Gilbert Gosseyn finds that there is a superplot afoot to overthrow the Galactic League, which keeps peace among the planets. Gosseyn is bumped off, comes to life again, falls in love with a Miss Patricia Hardie, traipses around in space ships, and has a pretty startling time of it before he gets to the root of things." New Yorker

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 50w
Kirkus 16:35 Ja 15 '48 110w

"The story is packed with Hitchcockian action. The average reader, as he learns how Gosseyn finds out his true identity and defeats the galactic plotters, may find some of this a little hard to follow; the science-fiction fan, whose name has become legion in recent years, will probably hail it as the classic of the year." R. B. Gehman
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Mr 21 '48 230w

"Fine for addicts of science fiction but hardly likely to convert the rest of the public to it."
New Yorker 24:92 Mr 27 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p26 My 2 '48 150w

VAN VOORHIS, STANLEY NICHOLS, ed. Microwave receivers [prepared under the supervision of the] Office of scientific research and development, Nat. defense research committee. (Mass. inst. of technology. Radiation laboratory. Radiation laboratory ser) 618p il $8 McGraw 621.384136 Radio receivers. Radio—Short wave
48-1801

"Covers all the elements making up a wideband receiver. Deals with individual circuit types, the assembly, testing, and maintenance of microwave receivers. Description of receivers, typical of the combination of circuits." (Library J) Index.

"Excellent, but limited use."
+ Booklist 44:347 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 50w
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:241 Je '48 290w

VATICAN. BIBLIOTECA apostolica vaticana. Rules for the catalog of printed books; tr. from the 2d Italian ed. by Thomas J. Shanahan [and others] ed. by Wyllis E. Wright. 426p $18 A.L.A.
025.3 Cataloging
48-7079

"First edition in English of this cataloging code which represents the joint efforts of librarians of different countries. There is a chapter of definitions, followed by sections on author and subject entries, description of the book, and filing. Appendixes give suggestions for handling fifteenth- and sixteenth-century books, approved abbreviations, glossary of 309 bibliographical terms in Italian, English, French, German, and Spanish, rules for transliteration, and sample cards." Booklist

Booklist 44:331 Je 1 '48

"The Vatican Code stands as much more than a record of practice in a major library of international importance. It is a substantial contribution to the philosophy of cataloging and the basic principles of subject entry for which all those concerned with the future of the catalog as a bibliographical instrument must be grateful." J. H. Shera
+ Library Q 18:299 O '48 2700w

VAUGHAN, WAYLAND FARRIES. Social psychology; the science and the art of living together. 956p il $5 Odyssey
370.15 Social psychology 48-2439

A text for undergraduate courses in social psychology, by an American professor who has taught psychology for twenty years at Boston University. "Running through the volume are two basic themes: (1) that social psychology is not only a science but an art by which the quality of human social relationships may be improved, and (2) that the values which would have the greatest meliorative effect on modern man are those generally called 'liberal' or 'progressive.' In line with these basic points of view, Professor Vaughan insists that social psychology must attend especially to values and must evaluate these values with an eye toward social betterment." (Ann Am Acad) Index.

"This book has much to commend it: its style is readable and clear; it is richly packed with examples and illustrations chosen from the everyday social scene; it is a fearless book, dealing straightforwardly with crucial contemporary social issues. . . Social Psychology is a mine of interesting information and wholesome argument that should provoke student enthusiasm for the matter of the social sciences. But the hard-won power of social science qua science, a tool for the explanation of behavior, will have to be elucidated by instructors who adopt the text for its richness of down-to-earth illustration and relevant example." E. J. Shoben
+ — Ann Am Acad 260:204 N '48 420w

"This book is not just for people enrolled in a course of the same name: it has a great deal to offer anyone." A. D.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p19 Je 27 '48 170w

VEBLEN, THORSTEIN BUNDE. Portable Veblen; ed. and with an introd. by Max Lerner. (Viking portable lib) 632p $2 Viking
330.1 Veblen, Thorstein Bunde. Economics
48-6993

Contains the first seven chapters of the Theory of the Leisure Class, large selections from The Place of Science and Absentee Ownership, and articles from six other books. In his note on selections the editor says his purpose has been "to pick enough selections to give a sense of Veblen's variety, flavor, power; to do justice to his academic economic and social theory, but to give the greater emphasis to his commentaries on social institutions and current practices—in short, to keep in mind the lay reader rather than the technical one; to give as many as possible of his classic passages around which legends have grown up; to show both Veblen the elusive ironist and Veblen the explicit radical; and finally—and perhaps most to the point—to give the selections I happen to like and remember best, which means those that shook up my own thinking and left scars on it." (Note) List of Veblen's books. Further reading on Veblen.

Booklist 44:354 Je 15 '48

"Recommended reading for everyone not familiar with at least half of Veblen's dozen books. Anyone who hasn't read the American Voltaire at all is given a wonderful opportunity to start now." Vivian Mercier
+ Commonweal 48:362 Jl 23 '48 70w

"Veblen is a solid and standard author. But I imagine that this 'Portable' selection will both widen and consolidate his audience to the point where he is perceived to be, not merely another economist, but an important modern writer, and one who has suffered little from the passage of time."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 4 '48 750w

New Yorker 24:131 O 23 '48 140w

"The editor's selections are excellent and ample, while his introduction is informative, comprehensive, and judiciously critical." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Jl 10 '48 230w

Time 51:112 My 24 '48 1000w

VEINUS, ABRAHAM. Victor book of concertos. 450p $3.95 Simon & Schuster

785.6 Concerto. Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 48-6816

"Analysis of some 130 concerti for violin, piano, cello, organ and full orchestra, as well as the most famous concerti for wind instruments. . . The author's plan is to give a short note about the composer covering only facts relevant to the detailed, and sometimes technical discussion of the music that follows. Each of the major themes is then illustrated, explained and discussed in relation to the concerto as a whole." (San Francisco Chronicle) Glossary. Discography.

"Excellent as is the information concerning this literature, it could have been made more so by giving dates of production more frequently." Felix Borowski
+ — Chicago Sun My 24 '48 140w

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

Kirkus 16:104 F 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Lee Fairley
Music Lib Assn Notes 5:376 Je '48 550w

Reviewed by M. C. Hastings
N Y Times p33 S 12 '48 80w

"A valuable reference work for the student, and a most entertaining book for the layman. . . An extremely well-written glossary is furnished, thus rendering the task of the lay reader considerably easier and at the same time permitting the author the freedom of technical expression necessary for the very able critical evaluation which has been made of the most frequently played examples of concerti." C. W. W.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p11 Je 20 '48 190w

"[The discography is] ill-balanced in that it is arbitrarily confined to those concertos available on RCA Victor records. Aside from this difficulty (which excludes numerous works that without question should have and would have been included on any other basis) the book is in no sense meant as a trade or publicity volume for Radio Corp. of America. Granted, then, that this is a serious, scholarly, well-written account, and yet the Veinus treatment, in common with much fine writing about music in the literary tradition to which it belongs, is dangerously false to the more fundamental concepts of musical form as understood by musicians and composers." E. T. Canby
— + Sat R of Lit 31:27 Ag 7 '48 1050w

VENABLE, WILLIAM MAYO. Interpretation of spectra. 200p $6 Reinhold

535.84 Spectrum analysis 48-6230

"For many years, the author of this book has been investigating spectra, particularly the relationships between primary and secondary lines, and examining critically the accepted theories about atomic structure and the origins of spectral lines. In his opinion the accepted theories fall short of explaining many spectral phenomena that can be readily observed. Accordingly, he has evolved a theory of atomic structure which he published first in 1933 in his The Sub-atoms; an Interpretation of Spectra in Conformity with the Principles of Mechanics [Book Review Digest 1934]. In the present work, many additional data are presented and interpretations of them on the basis of this theory are offered. The book will be of interest chiefly to physicists concerned with atomic structure." N Y New Tech Bks

"Anyone who turns to this book with the expectation that it is an authoritative reference on the interpretation of spectra will be sadly misled. This will be particularly unfortunate in the case of students without sufficient background to place this book in its proper category. In fact, it is a mystery to this reviewer that a reputable firm would publish this book under so broad and inclusive a title." E. J. Rosenbaum
— Chem & Eng N 26:2457 Ag 16 '48 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:26 Ja '48

VERCEL, ROGER. Northern lights; tr. from the French by Katherine Woods. 251p $2.75 Random house

48-3219

In order to satisfy his mother and Commander Brohal, his deceased father's best friend, Jacques Fertray consented to go on a two-year Arctic expedition. Before leaving France, Jacques falls in and out of love with Brohal's wife, learns a great deal about the father he had feared, and finally sets sail hoping the voyage to the North will mean his own coming-of-age.

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

"Nicety of psychological motivation and a sense of unravelling threads of past history put this above the average fiction output. . . A feeling for the Breton country of Merlin, the plausibility of the psychological conflicts, add significance to this story of France between the wars, of the glory and honor of the field of exploration."
+ Kirkus 16:319 Jl 1 '48 190w

"Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 73:1028 Jl '48 100w

"The dramatic accounts, told in retrospect, of the finding of the distant archipelago remind one of those absorbing diaries of Scott and other great explorers. But these are less important in the story than M. Vercel's masterful laying bare of the conflicts within the human heart." Virgilia Peterson
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 S 12 '48 750w

"Mr. Vercel's theme is potentially a moving one, but he has peopled it with deadheads; the cards for young Jacques' conversion are stacked; and wit and irony are there none." A. S. Morris
N Y Times p44 N 21 '48 650w

New Yorker 24:113 S 25 '48 120w

San Francisco Chronicle p20 O 31 '48 170w

" 'Northern Lights' is a model of economy, and of the kind of eloquence that draws its fierceness and its strength out of just this restraint." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:31 S 18 '48 550w

VERDIER, EDWARD. Sun and the barrow. 490p $3.75 Ziff-Davis

48-5244

Novel describing the rise of a successful artist from his miserable childhood with his stepmother who wanted to get rid of him, to his triumphant return home to San Francisco as a successful portrait painter.

Kirkus 16:27 Ja 15 '48 100w

"The story is presented for the most part with vitality and a reportorial ease that sparks the dialogue and situations with everyday reality. . . The melodramatic fireworks at the end, the grade-B episode of the injury to Paul's hand along with an operation scene, are depressingly familiar." Anne Richards

VERDIER, EDWARD—Continued
+ — N Y Times p27 F 8 '48 380w

"A painstaking performance, but not a very scintillating one."
New Yorker 23:82 F 14 '48 80w

"Principal weakness of the novel is that its machinery is too plain; its best quality is the earnestness and sincerity with which the author approaches his subject. Mr. Verdier, himself once a painter, intends to write more fiction, and will very likely write better." Edith James
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ap 4 '48 200w

VERLAINE, PAUL MARIE. Selected poems; tr. by C. F. MacIntyre. 228p il $3.75 Univ. of Calif.
841 48-9157

Eighty poems, chosen from Verlaine's first six books. French originals and translations are on facing pages. Contains a preface by the translator. Bibliography.

"Translator MacIntyre has done Verlaine a gracious courtesy, and American readers a great kindness. The charm, verbal fireworks, sympathy and nostalgia of this major French poet are Englished with color and convictions." Leo Kennedy
+ Chicago Sun p38 Jl 26 '48 550w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p12 N 7 '48 100w

"Unfortunately for the translator, the synthesis which is pure Verlaine, is also pure sensibility and, as such, essentially uncapturable in any accents but the poet's own. Nevertheless, Mr. MacIntyre has frequently come as close to achieving the impossible as any translator could hope to come." F. B. McCarthy
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:24 N 27 '48 550w

VERNADSKY, GEORGE. Kievan Russia. (History of Russia, v2) 412p $5 Yale univ. press
947 Russia—History (A43-1903)

The second volume in a projected ten volume history of Russia. The present work describes the period from the coming of the Varangians to the Mongol invasion (878-1237 A.D.). Bibliography. Indexes. For volume I, Ancient Russia, see Book Review Digest 1943.

"Professor Vernadsky . . . has covered the history of the period with thoroughness and a many-sidedness which leave little, if anything, of importance out. Also, in the period under discussion, the wealth of available material offers ground for more solid erudition; hence his judgments are surer and more positive than in the earlier period where much had to remain hypothetical. These judgments are a credit to the scientific objectivity of a writer whose views are carefully balanced. However, Professor Vernadsky suffers somewhat from an excess of cautiousness and objectivity." A. Lobanov-Rostovsky
+ — Am Hist R 54:137 O '48 480w

"When all is said, Vernadsky's volume represents a superb job of scholarship, filling a definite gap in American historical literature." C. G. Anthon
+ Ann Am Acad 259:172 S '48 700w
Christian Century 65:883 S 1 '48 330w
Current Hist 15:38 Jl '48 50w

"In this monograph the chronological narrative with its tangle of princes, constant wars, and revolts will prove quite involved for the general reader. . . The book should be found in college and university libraries beside its companion Ancient Russia and in the reference library of general scope." R. P. Braeden
Library J 73:651 Ap 15 '48 150w

"A welcome contribution to the literature in English on the subject. It aims at an evaluation of a land and a time too long left in obscurity. Dealing with the period from the coming of the Varangians up to the Mongol invasion, Prof. George Vernadsky of Yale sustains high scholarly standards. . . Moreover, he presents the material in a compact yet lucid manner." Walter Dushnyck
+ N Y Times p13 Ag 29 '48 500w

"This volume is an outstanding contribution to the understanding of an important period of Russian history." D. F. White
+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 Je 5 '48 600w

VERNIER, PHILIPPE. Not as the world giveth; a book of meditations; tr. by Edith Lovejoy Pierce. 96p $1.50 Fellowship of reconciliation (N Y)
242 Devotional exercises 48-2034

Eighty meditations by a French minister on the virtues of love, faith, grace, humility, obedience, holiness and joy. Most of the selections were first published in Brussels during the war.

"Here is interpretation of profound personal experience—not the echo of other men's—as pure and perhaps as permanent as anything published in our generation. What we have is commentaries on Scripture, each covering most of a page—simple, beautiful, strong, from the center, utterly alive. If genius is the power to communicate what is genuine, this is genius. . . The translator with sensitive accuracy has caught the rhythm of this young Protestant saint's epic witness. Her vivid foreword helps us understand the man who smuggled out of prison, among some old letters, these meditations that make his Master so real." A. A. Hunter
+ Christian Century 65:270 Mr 3 '48 650w

"The purpose of these passages is to instruct the reader rather than to disclose the mind of the writer, for they are pedantic rather than inspirational, and savor not a little of conscious superiority." M. C. Westphal
Crozer Q 25:188 Ap '48 250w

VERRILL, ALPHEUS HYATT. Strange prehistoric animals and their stories; il. by the author. 262p $3.75 Page
560 Paleontology. Animals, Mythical 48-6403

Stories of prehistoric animals and the hunt for their skeletons. There is also material on mythological animals. Index.

"The book is most unattractive in format but the text is quite readable; the material on mythological and legendary creatures is especially interesting and may be useful for reference."
Booklist 44:321 My 15 '48

"Highly recommended for young people's shelf in school and public libraries." J. F. Kennedy
+ Library J 73:826 My 15 '48 100w

VERRILL, ALPHEUS HYATT. Young collector's handbook. 308p il $2.75 McBride
579 Collectors and collecting. Natural history 48-9291

"Practical guide to collecting—why and what to collect, where to find specimens, and how best to preserve and display them. Includes natural objects, such as rocks and minerals, fossils, plant and vegetable specimens; the use of the camera and microscope; and man-made objects, such as Indian relics, stamps, fingerprints, autographs, and timetables." (Booklist) No index.

"Useful information, but unattractive format and badly reproduced photographs."
Booklist 45:145 D 15 '48

"An excellent book for youngsters from 10 to 15 years old. . . Recommended for school libraries and club libraries for young people." J. F. Kennedy
+ Library J 74:68 Ja 1 '49 50w

VERTANES, CHARLES AZNAKIAN. Armenia reborn; with an introd. by Robert W. Searle. 216p il map $3 Armenian nat. council of America, 144 E. 24th st, N.Y. 10

956.6 Armenia A48-6370

"This book is . . . intended to document fully the memorandum of the Armenian National Council of America to the San Francisco conference of the United Nations, entitled The Case of the Armenian People. The author is a Presbyterian minister and executive secretary of the Council, as well as being secretary of the American Church Committee for Armenia. . . The purpose of [his] book is to promote the reunion of the Armenian lands and to reopen them for all Armenians who wish to return." Churchman

Reviewed by N. H. Sonne
Churchman 162:17 Mr '48 310w
Foreign Affairs 26:747 Jl '48 10w

VESEY-FITZGERALD, BRIAN SEYMOUR, ed. Book of the horse. 879p il $12.50 Borden publishing co, 3077 Wabash av, Los Angeles 33

636.1 Horses [A48-5257]

"Handsome volume, printed in England from plates of 1946 London edition. Symposium by 36 authorities, such as Lady Wentworth, Sir Beauvoir De Lisle, Lionel Edwards. Over 200 illustrations, many full-page in color. Series of longish articles, encyclopedic in range. Includes history; development of horse in various countries; Haut Ecole; horse in war; horse [fox] hunting; driving; coaching; various forms of racing in England and America; breeds of ponies and horses from Shetlands to Percherons; principles of breeding with special reference to U.S.S.R.; horse in literature; horse in art. Final section on practical matters: buying a horse; saddlery; stabling; glossary of equine terms, etc." Library J

"Excellent bibliography on hunting (mostly fox-hunting). Good general reference book, but of special interest to fox hunters and breeders. Index in several sections—one alphabet would be preferable." R. W. Henderson
+ — Library J 73:559 Ap 1 '48 150w

"The book has a vivid jacket that will attract the eye of anyone with a fondness for hunting prints. Inside are colored plates beautifully reproduced. Some of the black and white halftones such as the ones on page 740 are muddy reproductions of what appear to be amateur snapshots thoughtlessly taken. The book is a potpourri of information on almost anything anybody might want to know about a horse." A. M. Harbinson
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Mr 28 '48 450w

VESTAL, STANLEY, pseud. See Campbell, W. S.

VIDAL, GORE. The city and the pillar. 314p $3.50 Dutton

47-12503

"Author here explores the road to homosexuality. Follows the chief character in specific detail from an initial, spontaneous experience until he finally murders the man who shared that experience with him." Library J

Kirkus 15:608 N 1 '47 190w

"Serious, discerning, and obviously courageous novel having no counterpart in the recent rash of similarly concerned novels. One goes back to Gide and Proust for anything comparable. Recommended, but each library must consider whether this subject in its specific detail is locally admissable." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 72:1686 D 1 '47 130w

"It is frank, shocking, sensational and often embarrassing, but it is also extremely sympathetic, penetrating and exhortive. It might have been a much better book if it had been written with more care, edited with more taste, cut with more discretion and perhaps allowed to age to maturity. . . Yet the carelessness of the writing, the often stylized and unreal dialogue and a narrative effect that is almost a monotone, keep Mr. Vidal from giving us a really superior job. The ideas he presents are big enough, fortunately, to surmount the handicap of his style, but they struggle into the reader's consciousness only with considerable heaving and tugging." R. B. Gehman
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ja 18 '48 400w

"Presented as the case history of a standard homosexual, this novel adds little that is new to a groaning shelf. Mr. Vidal's approach is coldly clinical: there is no real attempt to involve the reader's emotions. . . Mr. Vidal's 'Williwaw' was more than merely promising: this time, he has produced a novel as sterile as its protagonist." C. V. Terry
— N Y Times p22 Ja 11 '48 190w

"Sociologically, the book amounts to an amazingly thorough compendium of the kind of dreary information that accumulates on a metropolitan police blotter; artistically, it represents the latest, and possibly ultimate, stage in the decline of the literature of homosexuality to the level of unadorned tabloid writing, a decline that has been in progress ever since Thomas Mann wrote 'Death in Venice.' "
New Yorker 23:81 Ja 10 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 2 '48 550w

"Gore Vidal has written his problem novel in a singularly flat, naturalistic style. . . Since he chooses to sacrifice, as he has done here, any possibility of his novel being hailed as a distinguished literary work in order to put over his message, perhaps it would be wiser to judge Mr. Vidal's novel mostly on its merits as a social tract. On this score Vidal is quite successful." Richard McLaughlin
Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ja 10 '48 1400w

VIDLER, ALEXANDER ROPER. Witness to the light; F. D. Maurice's message for today. 238p $3 Scribner

B or 92 Maurice, Frederick Denison
48-6189

An appraisal of the beliefs of Frederick Denison Maurice, a nineteenth century English theologian. He was a priest of the Church of England, and an individualist ahead of his time. Dr Vidler has studied his writings to discover the message of Maurice for the present generation. Bibliography of Maurice's works. Index.

"Dr. Vidler does an excellent job on an almost legendary figure of the Anglican communion whose real thoughts are too seldom known." J. H. Titus
+ Churchman 162:17 O 1 '48 120w

"This is much more than an Anglican study. It has general theological significance, and its more hopeful view of society cannot be dismissed as an outworn Victorian optimism. . . And while this is in no sense a biography, the reader cannot escape in the copious (sometimes too copious) quotations the personality of the man of whom five men once wrote independently that they would prefer his company to that of any other man in the last hours of life." E. E. Aubrey
+ Crozer Q 25:345 O '48 1000w
Kirkus 16:120 Mr 1 '48 220w

"Maurice is not a well-known theologian. In the nature of things there cannot be a Maurician party, although the three parties Maurice faced are still active, especially today's heirs of the Tractarians. In preparing and publishing this study, which was delivered as the Hale lectures at Seabury Western (Episcopal) Theological Seminary at Evanston, Dr. Vidler has done his church a service." E. M. Tainton
+ San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ag 1 '48 550w

VIERECK, PETER ROBERT EDWIN. Terror and decorum; poems, 1940-1948. 121p $3 Scribner

811 48-8754

"This volume of poems is by Peter Viereck, instructor at Smith, winner of a Guggenheim Fellowship and occasional critic for the New York Times Book Review. Most of these poems refer to war experiences, but are filtered through a strong, academic background which lends depth without taking from their freshness. . . This is the first collected volume of his verse." Kirkus

Booklist 45:86 N 1 '48

"A new poet, who bears watching."
+ Kirkus 16:392 Ag 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by Gerald McDonald
Library J 73:1819 D 15 '48 110w

"Mr. Viereck has, I hope he knows, a good deal to learn. His temperament and talent incline him toward satire, but his performance is marred by the way he gives it too much of the old college try, shows off, I think, an awful lot; parades his information, sometimes his cleverness; offends against detachment sometimes against taste, as in his poem on Hart Crane." Rolfe Humphries
— + Nation 167:556 N 13 '48 320w

"Those who have followed Peter Viereck's poetry in magazines and periodicals will not need to be persuaded of the genuineness of his poetic ability or the exciting promise of his work. Much in this volume is still promise, but a considerable amount also is impressive achievement." David Daiches
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 N 21 '48 700w

"As a new poet Peter Viereck is neither cynical nor melancholy. He is this-worldly, not other-worldly in the sense of one who attempts to penetrate hidden reaches of the soul. He is concerned with the problem of the formalizing of knowledge. We see the play of his mind shining from and glancing from invented shields of tempered form." Richard Eberhart
N Y Times p5 N 21 '48 600w

New Yorker 24:87 Ja 22 '49 70w

"In ten years of reviewing verse, I have gone overboard, as they say, for only two first books—Shapiro's 'Person, Place and Thing' and Lowell's 'Lord Weary's Castle'—as I intend to go for this one. . . Peter Viereck is harder to classify than Shapiro or Lowell. His style is much less 'finished.' He has written no single poem that is as impressive as the best of the other two. . . Yet his book as a whole is so rich in experimental vigor, so full of new poetic attitudes toward civilization and its discontents, so fresh and earthy in its reanimation of the American spirit, that it seems to offer endless possibilities of development—both for Viereck himself, and for other young poets who are certain to take the cue." Selden Rodman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 O 9 '48 1200w

Reviewed by J. W. Bogan
Springf'd Republican p9B N 28 '48 130w

VILLA, JOSE GARCIA, ed. Celebration for Edith Sitwell. 144p pa $1.50 New directions

B or 92 Sitwell, Edith 48-9389

"These dozen or more brief tributes to Miss Sitwell offer a friendly, discerning criticism of her work. Published in honor of the author's current visit to the U.S., the collection contains essays by such critics as Maurice Bowra, Horace Gregory, Charles Morgan, Arthur Waley, and Richard Church, and nine poems by Miss Sitwell." Booklist

Booklist 45:133 D 15 '48

Reviewed by Babette Deutsch
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 D 26 '48 480w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts
N Y Times p28 N 14 '48 270w

"The fact that so many of her distinguished contemporaries believe in [her] makes the book a very touching tribute indeed." Louise Bogan
+ New Yorker 24:56 D 25 '48 80w

San Francisco Chronicle p22 D 12 '48 170w

Reviewed by R. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 31:8 D 25 '48 330w

Time 52:108 N 29 '48 50w

VILLARD, OSWALD GARRISON. Free trade—free world. 278p $3 Schalkenbach

337 Tariff—U.S. Free trade and protection 47-12215

An attack on the evils of the tariff system and a plea for the removal of trade barriers. Partial contents: The immorality of the tariff; Radical changes in international trade; International trade organization; Tariffs and the British crisis; European tariff union a necessity; Free trade with Canada; The farmer and the tariff robbery; How the tariff hampers the automobile industry; The United States Tariff Commission; Our tariff history. Index.

"Although the author of this volume 'is well aware that freedom of trade alone will not insure world peace,' he is thoroughly convinced that 'there can be no lasting peace unless there is freedom of trade.' His arguments are the familiar ones but clearly and vigorously stated. The history of protectionism is a disheartening one. Most of the arguments advanced in its support can be convincingly answered and Mr. Villard in his customary vigorous way has done so. His style is readable and much of his illustrative material is up-to-date." E. M. Patterson
+ Am Econ R 38:696 S '48 490w

Reviewed by J. D. Larkin
Am Pol Sci R 42:373 Ap '48 500w

Reviewed by H. R. Enslow
Ann Am Acad 257:210 My '48 400w

Booklist 44:228 Mr 1 '48

Canadian Forum 28:22 Ap '48 280w

Christian Century 65:630 Je 23 '48 180w

Current Hist 14:175 Mr '48 90w

Foreign Affairs 26:739 Jl '48 20w

"In presenting this timely restatement of the case for free trade Mr. Villard 'makes no claim to economic originality.'. Nevertheless there is a place for a book which summarizes the arguments for free trade, supports them with up-to-date facts and figures, and reviews the efforts now being made to clear international trade channels of nationalist obstacles. This is just what Mr. Villard has provided. In vigorous, non-technical language he exposes the vulgar fallacies of protectism." Keith Hutchinson
Nation 166:310 Mr 13 '48 750w

Reviewed by Frances Witherspoon
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p19 Mr 7 '48 550w

"Frankly a tract for the times addressed to the layman, [the book] makes no claim to economic originality, but it skillfully digests past events and current facts and canvasses future prospects in lucid, non-technical language. . . It is regrettable that Mr. Villard oversimplifies the problem and fails to take full account of the realities of the current situation." A. D. Gayer
+ — N Y Times p10 F 22 '48 850w

Special Libraries 39:23 Ja '48 80w

"Mr. Villard is a good fighter and he writes effectively. What he says is right, in the main. It is important to get rid of trade barriers. There will be no health in the economic world as long as we pile artificialities upon pretense. But is it enough in these complex questions to be on the side of the angels? . . His book is lively. Not more than a minute fraction of the democratic electorate is ever likely to read it, or any other such book on a serious subject, however lively it may be. But the student will find many unqualified statements that are too strong and too simple." J. B. Condliffe
+ — Survey G 37:270 My '48 550w

"Although this self-styled 'tract for the times' makes no claim to originality, it penetrates fresh territory in several discussions, some of which might profitably have been extended. For instance, the recent changes in American attitudes toward the tariff might have been analyzed in greater detail; and the short, pointed, and very critical account of the role played by the U.S. Tariff Commission in the nineteen-twenties could well have been expanded. Like most of its kind, this popularization suffers somewhat from oversimplification. Many readers will feel moreover, that its equation of free trade with peace is carried entirely too far. But the book does present, interestingly and understandably, a wide range of material on an extremely complex subject."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:168 Je '48 290w

VILMORIN, MME LOUISE DE. Erica's return; tr. from the French by Sarah Fisher Scott. 152p $2.50 Random house
48-4966

A novel of devotion. Divided between love of her father and her lover, Erica committed suicide in a fit of despair. Her return to her father enabled him to die happy and gave the village itself an atmosphere of love.

Booklist 45:194 F 1 '49

Reviewed by Irene Gulzeth
Christian Science Monitor p14 N 8 '48 290w

Kirkus 16:413 Ag 15 '48 150w

Reviewed by M. C. Manley
Library J 73:1275 S 15 '48 40w

"Those who search in their reading for some further revelation of the reality they know themselves will probably find this poetic, slender volume too elusive and slight. But those who like bibelots, carefully fashioned little objects of artistic value, will want to add 'Erica's Return' to their collection. Its lines are delicate, its concept sensitive." Virgilia Peterson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p19 N 7 '48 600w

New Yorker 24:128 O 23 '48 150w

Reviewed by Pamela Taylor
Sat R of Lit 31:14 N 20 '48 550w

VINCENT, EDWARD THOMAS. Supercharging the internal combustion engine. 315p il $5 McGraw

621.43 Gas and oil engines 48-6905

"The purpose of the book is to present the simple nature of thermodynamics and mathematics involved in handling centrifugal compressors, exhaust gas turbines, etc., as applied to the supercharging problem. It contains fundamental theory of various forms of superchargers and turbo-superchargers, with a treatment of their effects on engine cycles, power outputs, and thermal efficiencies. For practicing engineers in aircraft, diesel, and automotive fields." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 80w

"It is intended chiefly as a first book for persons with a practical interest in the subject. However, some familiarity with graphical methods and elementary engineering mathematics is necessary to understand the exposition. There is a four-page bibliography."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:48 My '48

VISSER, HERMAN FLORIS EDUARD. Asiatic art [in private collections of Holland and Belgium]. 511p pl $30 Beechhurst press

709.5 Art, Oriental. Art—Belgium. Art—Netherlands 48-10621

"The Dutch and, to a certain extent, the Belgians, because of their colonial activities, have for many years been ardent collectors of Eastern art, and this book, by the curator of the Museum of Asiatic Art in Amsterdam, is a survey of the major examples to be found in the Low Countries." New Yorker

"The introductory essay is, unfortunately, fairly pedantic, but the catalogue notes are more informative, and the four hundred-odd illustrations are reproduced with a truly admirable clarity and sensitiveness."
+ — New Yorker 24:138 N 6 '48 80w

Reviewed by C. M. Fleischner
San Francisco Chronicle p22 D 5 '48 750w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 20 '48 180w

VISSER 'T HOOFT, WILLEM ADOLPH. Kingship of Christ; an interpretation of recent European theology. 158p $1.75 Harper

232 Jesus Christ—Royal office 48-820

The Stone lectures for 1947, delivered at Princeton Theological seminary. They consider the recent European conception of Christ as king, rather than as prophet or priest. Contents: The kingship of Christ in Protestant theology; The proclamation of the kingship of Christ in the years of struggle; The kingship of Christ in the Bible; The kingship of Christ in the church; The kingship of Christ in the world. Index.

Booklist 44:362 Jl 1 '48

"These Stone Lectures at Princeton Theological Seminary perpetuate generally the strong Calvinistic approach to Christianity, though there are minor signs of the author's awareness and possibly ajarness to a more pliant view. . . The authority of the book is also too much of a narrow biblicism rather than the full gamut of the Christian faith that is needed to meet the demands of the day when there is more time even in Europe to build. What is needed is surely authority and motivation, but we cannot be saved by any return to external authority. Fortunately the author rejects mere realized eschatology as being either biblical or adequate." N. F. S. Ferré
Crozer Q 25:257 Jl '48 750w

VISSON, ANDRE. As others see us. 252p $3 Doubleday

917.3 National characteristics, American. Public opinion—Europe. U.S.—Foreign relations 48-9390

A Russian born American citizen who has traveled widely, and was organizer of the Eastern European department of the OWI attempts to analyze the attitudes toward America and Americans held by Europeans. No index.

"It is as well not to write such juvenile and ultra-nationalistic books. . . This mischievous book is clearly another of those acts of Penitente-ism so fashionable nowadays: Mr. Visson is an ex-European and an ex-intellectual." C. J. Rolo
— Atlantic 183:87 Ja '49 420w

Booklist 45:156 Ja 1 '49

Reviewed by Irving Pflaum
Chicago Sun p9X D 26 '48 180w

Reviewed by Henry Sowerby
— Christian Science Monitor p11 D 23 '48 600w

"In this book Mr. Visson has constructed a rather interesting, and relatively appetizing literary sandwich. The unusual part of it is, however, that he followed the reverse of the accepted procedure. That is the real meat of the book lies at the beginning and end, while the middle part is filled with rather fluffy generalizations and repetitions. For all of that, Mr. Visson has attacked one of the more paradoxical, and in its way highly important, problems facing the American people. And he has made some quite wise and penetrating observations concerning it. . . In spite of limitations which Mr. Visson has set for himself, As Others See Us contains much that is well worth pondering." J. O. Frederick
+ — Commonweal 49:232 D 10 '48 500w

VISSON, ANDRE—Continued

"Somewhat padded and repetitious, but an infectious conversation piece on the Sunday supplement level."

Kirkus 16:428 Ag 15 '48 150w

"While marked by the superficiality of journalistic reporting, his comments are insightful and frequently penetrating. . . Reading difficulty average, interest range wide, suitable for any general collection." Harold Lancour

+ Library J 73:1191 S 1 '48 140w

Nation 168:24 Ja 1 '49 50w

Reviewed by August Heckscher

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 28 '48 950w

"This is a book on an important and highly contemporary theme. For the American people are faced with an irritating paradox. They are conscious that they have immense power and that they have not abused that power. . . And the American people, conscious of the proved merits of 'the American way of life,' are puzzled that the world doesn't adopt it and doesn't even seem to want to adopt it. Here is the visibly better mouse trap; why are no crowds beating a path to the door? To these questions Mr. Visson . . . has given an answer, an able and convincing answer as far as it goes. . . Despite excursuses on England and Italy, the main theme of Mr. Visson's book is the reaction of the French intellectual to the American phenomenon." D. W. Brogan

+ — N Y Times p3 O 31 '48 1300w

"A charming and witty book but one which, nevertheless, occasionally lapses into philistine complacencies in regard to this, his adopted country." D. H.

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ja 16 '49 120w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes

Sat R of Lit 31:17 D 11 '48 750w

VOGT, WILLIAM. Road to survival; with an introd. by Bernard M. Baruch; il. by Stuart I. Freeman. 335p $4 Sloane

333.72 Natural resources. Man—Influence of environment. Food supply 48-7819

"The revelation of the fact that the earth, as abused by man, is unable to support the human race in terms of its most basic need—food. . . Man's so-called conquest of nature is shown to be a suicidal process whereby the world, a sanctuary without exits for a fast-breeding human race, is rapidly being made uninhabitable." (Publisher's note) There are suggestions for population control and land conservation. Reading list. Index.

Reviewed by W. V. Badger

Am Hist R 54:403 Ja '49 360w

Reviewed by Conrad Taeuber

Am Soc R 13:777 D '48 550w

Booklist 45:6 S 1 '48

Reviewed by Ben Kartman

Chicago Sun p8X Ag 8 '48 650w

Reviewed by H. B. Ellis

Christian Science Monitor p18 Ag 7 '48 1050w

Reviewed by Emerson Hynes

Commonweal 49:120 N 12 '48 900w

Eng N 141:111 N 11 '48 210w

Kirkus 16:296 Je 15 '48 420w

"Stimulating book. . . A thought provoking book, though a rather depressing one, in spite of the hope the author holds out for the U.S." Joseph Borome

+ Library J 73:1087 Ag '48 100w

"One may not accept all of Mr. Vogt's conclusions, one may even doubt some of his statistics, or be irritated occasionally by perhaps inadvertently cynical overtones or false political notes. But one cannot put this book away and forget it. . . It points out the inevitability of fatal, world-wide catastrophes if man does not mend his ways, and it shows at least the direction toward survival." Franz Hoellering

Nation 167:164 Ag 7 '48 1400w

Reviewed by Angus McDonald

New Repub 119:25 S 6 '48 700w

"'Road to Survival' is by far the best book so far in this literature. It is more basic, more comprehensive, more thoroughgoing than any of its predecessors. It has the authority of its author, a scientist who has spent his lifetime working with the problems it discusses. It is written with marked brilliance and drama. Its amazing combination of knowledge, understanding, skill, and urgency could make it, if it should get the breaks, one of the most influential books of our time. . . Anyone who picks it up is certain to read it with fascination and certain to be scared. . . There are, I think, some tactical mistakes. Mr. Vogt's expert semantic passage was necessary, but phrasing it in the terminology that has now become a cult may alienate some of the support he needs most. His realism about Russia and certain New Deal experiments should defend him from the charge of authoritarianism always brought against conservationists, but he might have phrased more tactfully some of the passages that invoke a curse on both houses." Bernard De Voto

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Ag 8 '48 1600w

"'Road to Survival' pulls no punches. It is eloquent, sometimes grim, but always vivid. It combines literary excellence with sound scholarship. There are detailed references to the technical literature, and an excellent index." R. C. Cook

+ N Y Times p1 Ag 8 '48 2300w

New Yorker 34:78 Ag 21 '48 280w

"Here is an extraordinary thought-provoking book. William Vogt is an eminent scientist. . . He has documented his book as a scientist might be expected to do, but he has also brought to it a happy gift of expression which makes 'Road to Survival' as readable as a good novel. He hits hard and boldly and his scorn for 'ecological incompetents,' as he describes some of the big lumber companies and the Western ranchmen, is magnificent." Vance Johnson

+ San Francsico Chronicle p10 Ag 8 '48 1350w

"I should call his book a challenge to every American. In fact, if I could afford it I'd buy a copy for every member of Congress and then spend the next few months arguing each member into reading it." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ag 16 '48 600w

"The most eloquent, provocative, and informative book that has been written thus far in the United States on conservation—or the lack of it." Russell Lord

+ Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ag 7 '48 600w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 900w

"A book that every reader of Survey Graphic would do well to buy, read, and lend around. It is strong medicine, good for people who have the nerve to face the hard facts of life." D. C. Coyle

+ Survey G 37:402 S '48 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 44:162 O '48

"Many books have been written on the problem of the conservation of our natural resources; and on the relationship between the carrying capacity of the land, the size of the population, and the level of living of that population. There are few, however, that are as stimulating and provocative as 'Road to Survival.'" W. H. Carter, Jr.

+ Yale R n s 38:370 winter '49 800w

VOGUE (periodical). Book of etiquette [ed. by Millicent Fenwick; diagrams and drawings by Charles Rieger; derivations and monograms by Edward R. Collins]. 658p $5 Simon & Schuster

395 Etiquet 48-9229

"A complete guide to traditional forms and modern usage." (Subtitle) Mrs Fenwick is associate editor of Vogue. Index.

Reviewed by Evelyn Waugh

Atlantic 183:79 Ja '49 1500w

Booklist 45:180 Ja 15 '49

"There's a tendency to direct a good deal of the text to the monied classes. But the facts are there, in friendly, readable, practical form."

Kirkus 16:429 Ag 15 '48 180w

"Due to Millicent Fenwick's long research and careful writing, it is so complete a guide to traditional forms and modern usage that, ten to one, it will make Emily Post look to her fourchettes. . . I have no way of knowing how other readers of 'Vogue's Book of Etiquette' will feel about this or that of its manifold entries. Many will doubtless accept it as Gideon; others as a companion volume to Bennett Cerf's 'Shake Well Before Using.' But I do know that, in this well-nigh mannerless world, I have a list—not a little list, a long one—of people who would benefit from mastering Mrs. Fenwick's book, particularly her chapters on the responsibilities of hosts and guests and good manners in general. Come to think of it, I could name some nations that could also read it to advantage." J. M. Brown

+ Sat R of Lit 31:54 D 4 '48 1600w

"Vogue's contribution to democratic amity makes Emily Post look like an aborigine. Four years in the making it pronounces the last, unquestionable Word on subjects ranging from table manners and cookery to the knottier intricacies of proper behavior for divorcees and the correct way to address a letter to an Archimandrite of the Greek Orthodox Church."

Time 52:116 N 15 '48 500w

VON BERGEN, WERNER, and MAUERSBERGER, HERBERT RICHARD. American wool handbook; a practical text and reference book for the entire wool industry. 2d enl ed 1055p il $8; outside U.S. $9 Textile bk.

677.3 Wool. Wool trade 48-6169

"This new edition covers technical phases, wool growing, marketing, grading and production techniques of the American wool and worsted industry. Chapters cover sheep raising, physical and chemical properties of wool spinning, weaving, wet and dry finishing and testing. Attention is paid to manufacture of carpets and rugs, woven and non-woven felts, and description of new machines and continuous processing. The labelling act and the new wool tariff schedules are included. Glossary. Bibliography." Library J

Booklist 45:35 S 15 '48

"This handbook is sufficiently well organized and clear-cut to warrant use as a text for students in technological courses. At the same time, it is comprehensive enough to serve as an invaluable reference for general textile classes or for others desiring information on the production, manufacturing properties, and distribution of wool and related fiber products." J. S. Lee

+ J Home Econ 41:39 Ja '49 100w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:822 My 15 '48 80w

"The work, designed primarily for use in the raw wool and textile industries, is useful for reference in libraries."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:32 Ja '48

VON HAGEN, VICTOR WOLFGANG, ed. Green world of the naturalists; a treasury of five centuries of natural history in South America; annotated with biographical sketches and introduction. 392p $5 Greenberg

574.98 Natural history—South America 48-6126

"Chronologically arranged anthology, beginning with sixteenth-century writings, which tells of observations of most of the outstanding phenomena of South America by navigators, courtiers, chroniclers, pirates, engineers, and writers, as well as naturalists. Biographical data for each author, but no index." Booklist

Booklist 44:297 My 1 '48

Christian Science Monitor p18 My 7 '48 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 D '48

"English translations of their period, may deter readers unfamiliar with archaic words and flavorful spelling. Recommended for discriminating adults." D. F. Lucas

+ — Library J 73:395 Mr 1 '48 130w

"Mr. Von Hagen is entirely correct in saying that the very subject of South America is filled with excitement. To read his selections, which are, almost without exception, lively and colorful, is to recapture something of the thrill that ran through the Old World when it first began to receive true reports of the New." Herschel Brickell

+ N Y Times p5 Ap 18 '48 700w

"Mr. von Hagen covers a lot of ground and succeeds in reflecting exceptionally well the extraordinary teeming life of the great continent in which he is interested. This is for a rather special audience, as is indicated by the fact that it has been selected for members by the Natural History Book Club. Just the same, there must be many for whom the fascination of the great drama of exploration and learning can never fade, and these will find 'The Green World of the Naturalists' right up their alley." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 Mr 31 '48 600w

"The compilation is scholarly, extremely interesting, and the biographical and background material enhance the value of a book that should appeal to all interested in South America." Norman Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 31:21 Jl 24 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 600w

VON HENTIG, HANS. See Hentig, H. von

VON MURALT, LEONARD. See Muralt, L. von

VON WAHL, KARIN. See Wahl, K. von

VORONKOVA, L. Little girl from the city; tr. from the Russian by Josef Berger; il. by Ruth Steed. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 165p $2 Little

48-2721

Story of a little girl from the city, a war orphan, adopted by a Russian country family. At first only the kindly mother loves her, but soon she becomes "our Valentina" to the whole family. For ages 8-12.

Booklist 45:54 O 1 '48

"Told with beautiful economy of words, a healthy absence of sentimentality and a vigorous directness of feeling."

+ Commonweal 49:157 N 19 '48 130w

"This realistic story with its well-drawn characters turns from sadness to lively activities and some exciting incidents. It shows a certain type of Russian family life in a friendly way that will interest girls of the middle age group." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:460 N '48 120w

"Very well written, this book could be of help in understanding rural Russians and their way of life. Recommended." M. F. Cox

+ Library J 73:1098 Ag '48 130w

Reviewed by Margaret Ernst

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 29 '48 270w

"This book has a kind of tough wisdom which any child will recognize and which all but the utterly lost adult will enjoy." Marjorie Fischer

+ N Y Times p19 Ag 29 '48 170w

New Yorker 24:133 D 11 '48 100w

"It is a story that presents, without sentimentality, a good picture of Russian country life."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:28 N 13 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 45:16 Ja '49

VOSS, WALTER CHARLES. Fireproof construction. 286p il $6; text ed $4.50 Van Nostrand

693.8 Fireproof construction 48-3572

"Second volume in A Technical Series in Building and Construction ed. by Walter C. Voss. The book covers rock excavations, foundations, structural frame, floor systems, erection of the structure, fire-proofing and partitions, interior finish, roofing and sheet metal and building services." (Library J) Index.

Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 50w

"This volume will serve as a manual of good practice for the construction of fire resistant buildings, rather than as a comprehensive text on the subject."

N Y New Tech Bks 33:50 Jl '48

VOYCE, ARTHUR. Russian architecture; trends in nationalism and modernism. 282p il maps $5.75 Philosophical lib.

720.947 Architecture—Russia 48-6354

A critical study of Russian architecture. "Hoover Institute Fellow of Slavic Studies acknowledges aid given by Stanford University. In foreword, from San Francisco, author states need to 'examine not only the recent art currents and tendencies, but . . . the sources which have fed and nourished the countless generations of Russian builders and architects.' Antecedents, Byzantine churches, wood architecture of past centuries are discussed as the foundation and inspiration which led to present-day subways, military projects and the Palace of the Soviets. Book ends with beginning of this decade." (Library J) References.

Booklist 45:29 S 15 '48

"Many plates; reproductions of photographs rather mediocre. One of very few books on the subject." A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:1196 S 1 '48 110w

School & Society 67:254 Mr 27 '48 20w

VYSHINSKII, ANDREI IANUAREVICH, ed. Law of the Soviet state; tr. from the Russian by Hugh W. Babb; introd. by John N. Hazard [prepared by members of the Institute of the Acad. of sciences]. (Am. council of learned societies. Russian tr. project) 749p $15 Macmillan

342.47 Law—Russia. Russia—Constitutional law 48-9744

"One of Russia's outstanding legal minds, now Deputy Foreign Minister, published this fundamental work in 1936. American council of Learned Societies now makes it accessible in good, unabridged translation. Work has wider scope than reader might expect, the 'Law' being regarded as an expression of the prevailing social order, thus requiring a discussion of its social setting and historical development." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 45:188 F 1 '49

"It is hardly holiday reading. For the serious student of Soviet institutions it is, however, extremely useful, if not indispensable. But it is a book that needs more than a translation. Otherwise, one misses the significance of this restoration of law which has been going on in Soviet Russia during the last 12 years." H. J. Berman

+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 6 '49 850w

"Comrade Vyshinsky gives us words, words, words." John Cournos

— Commonweal 49:404 Ja 28 '49 390w

"It is vital to the understanding of the Soviet habit of thought. . . It should be must reading for diplomats and all people who are committed to working with the Russians in matters economic, social, military, political. John Hazard's excellent introduction places its value as an essential book for the informed citizen."

+ Kirkus 16:470 S 1 '48 180w

"Slightly dated, book's main value lies less in new information than in characteristic and forceful presentation of Soviet Russian approach. Hardly a best-seller type, it ought to be read not only by jurists, but by every serious student of Soviet Russia. Recommended for education and larger public libraries." H. H. Bernt

+ Library J 73:1594 N 1 '48 140w

"Vyshinsky is so passionately, if not venomously, the advocate and his mind is so utterly in bondage to the current orthodoxies of his faith that he doesn't discuss legal and political theory with penetration or understanding or insight. . . Despite its blatant limitations from our point of view, in fact because of them, 'The Law of the Soviet State' is a work of considerable interest." M. D. Howe

— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ja 30 '49 1500w

"Not the least interesting aspect of this book is the opportunity which it offers to study the style of a Soviet virtuoso as he manipulates two contrapuntal themes: the evils of capitalist society and the glories of Soviet communism. . . Vishinsky's familiarity with the flow of history outside the Soviet Union is somewhat less than impressive." Merle Fainsod

+ — N Y Times p3 D 19 '48 1250w

"An instructive and even valuable work, considering the source. There is nothing jejune about Mr. Vyshinsky's writing; he has a rich vocabulary of abuse, and he shoulders his way through arguments by a kind of forensic bulldozing, which is not hindered by any qualifications of logic."

New Yorker 24:79 Ja 8 '49 210w

"This volume presents a splendid chance to examine what it is that Russians want Russians to believe and, consequently, an unusual chance for Americans to discover what ideas are taking form behind the Russian veil. The most unfortunate thing about the volume is that it was first published in 1938 and is translated without any later revision or modification. Undoubtedly there have been changes in the approach as a result of 10 more years and one war." Larry Laughlin

+ — San Francisco Chronicle p8 D 26 '48 1450w

W

WADDINGTON, RICHARD. Salmon fishing; a new philosophy; with il. from phot, also diagrams. 199p $4.50 Scribner

799.1755 Salmon fishing Agr48-254

Discusses fly fishing for salmon in different seasons. This is an American issue of a British book, and is based on experience in Scotland. Illustrated with photographs and diagrams. No index.

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson

Library J 73:1197 S 1 '48 60w

"Much better written and fuller in every way than the usual sporting book turned out in this country, being, in fact, little less than an authority on natural history in addition to a manual on fishing."

+ New Yorker 24:110 S 11 '48 100w

Reviewed by G. S. Arnold

San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 70w

WADE, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S., pseud.

WADE, BOB, and MILLER, BILL (WADE MILLER, pseud). Fatal step. 215p $2.50 Farrar, Straus

48-5401

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun p63 F 13 '48 180w

Kirkus 15:685 D 15 '47 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 F 15 '48 140w

"There is plenty of swift action and crackling dialogue in this hard-boiled mystery." W. J. Glick
N Y Times p27 Ap 28 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 15 '48 120w

"Pace brisk, solution explosive, people effective—especially hard-boiled newspaper gal. High-bracket toughun."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 F 14 '48 40w

WADE, BOB, and MILLER, BILL (WADE MILLER, pseud). Uneasy street. 240p $2.50 Farrar, Straus 48-7954

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun S 3 '48 190w

Kirkus 16:270 Je 1 '48 50w

"Good-natured hard item." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 S 19 '48 130w

Reviewed by E. F. Allen
N Y Times p16 Ag 15 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 S 5 '48 50w

"Forthright, streamlined detecting; incessant action from start to end; neat puzzle, and much lively wit-matching by Thursday and girl."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ag 14 '48 40w

WADE, IRA OWEN. Studies on Voltaire; with some unpublished papers of Mme du Châtelet. 244p $3 Princeton univ. press

848 Voltaire, François Marie Arouet de. Du Châtelet-Lomont, Gabrielle Emile (Le Tonnelier de Breteuil) marquise 47-2982

"Intended primarily to extend and supplement Professor Wade's Voltaire and Madame du Châtelet, 1941, [Book Review Digest 1942] the present volume goes much farther than the previous work in illuminating Voltaire's philosophical development. The papers of Madame du Châtelet, which form a little less than half of the volume, are a translation of Mandeville's Fable of the Bees, an essay on optics, and part of her Grammaire Raisonnée. . . The essays on Voltaire touch on both the ethical and metaphysical problems which confronted the philosophers in the eighteenth century and, although concerned to some extent with technical problems of relative dates and other details, suggest a synthesis which has never been quite adequately made." U S Quarterly Bkl

Reviewed by Charles Frankel
J Philos 45:105 F 12 '48 600w

"While primarily addressed to the specialist, the book will be of interest to all who believe that Voltaire was a thinker of greater stature than tradition and even some of his admirers have believed him to be."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:337 D '47 200w

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES, ed. Fireside book of romance. 589p $4 Bobbs

Short stories—Collections 48-5723

Forty-two romantic stories arranged under the following headings: Far away and long ago; Tales of adventure; The world within; Fantasy and the supernatural; The romance of curious incident; Aspects of the American dream; The way of a man with a maid; Romance still lives.

Booklist 44:283 Ap 15 '48

"An excellent selection ranging from Chaucer's Wife of Bath's tale to a spy story by Eric Ambler."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 Mr 7 '48 170w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 My 2 '48 200w

"This anthology holds much entertaining reading; preceded, one must add, by an introduction that is both undistinguished and untidy." B. R. Redman
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:25 Je 12 '48 110w

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES, ed. Fireside book of Yuletide tales; il. by Warren Chappell. 553p $4 Bobbs

394.268 Christmas stories 48-9261

"A companion to the compiler's The Fireside Book of Christmas Stories [Book Review Digest 1945], containing 51 selections by old and new authors. Includes legends, short stories, and chapters of novels." Booklist

Booklist 45:99 N 15 '48

"This is not a book for young children; but adults, particularly teachers of higher grades, members of reading groups, and all who want a change from the traditional will find here a generous (51 selections) source of material." Frances Sawyer
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 D 22 '48 270w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p5 D 5 '48 140w

"There is something for every taste here, and with few exceptions, the standard of prose is uniformly high. Mr. Wagenknecht fortunately has accomplished the rather rare achievement of a sequel that fully lives up to the first volume." C. W. W.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 D 12 '48 400w

Wis Lib Bul 45:14 Ja '49

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES, ed. Joan of Arc. 421p $4.50 Creative age

B or 92 Jeanne d'Arc, Saint 48-8731

"An anthology of history and literature." It is composed of selections from the works of 52 of those who have written about Joan, edited into a continuous story of her life. The book is divided into six sections, beginning with her childhood, progressing thru the story of the Voices, her military career, and finally imprisonment and death. Section four has short tributes and some essays, showing how many have been inspired by her life. Part five contains the text of Edward Garnett's play: The Trial of Jeanne d'Arc.

Cath World 168:417 F '49 80w

"For the amateur, the book is richly and vividly informative; for the student, it lacks one most important feature, an index." Neil Martin
+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 O 14 '48 850w

"An interesting, consecutive life-story. . . I have two complaints about this anthology: (1) The military section is too long and tends to be boring. (2) Omitted but not ignored—G. B. S.'s Saint Joan. Mr. W takes a few pot shots at Shaw in his introduction, and includes an essay by Blankenagle comparing Schiller's Die Jungfrau von Orleans with Shaw's work. But why not let Shaw speak for himself?" M. E. Jones
+ — Commonweal 49:332 Ja 7 '49 330w

"Mr. Wagenknecht is a servant of the legend of Joan of Arc, and it is this that gives the book both its strength and its weakness. His is a collection of panegyrics. It is a reasonably complete one. . . But except for a bow to the 'skeptical view,' as expressed by Milton Waldman, the detractors and even the 'realists' are missing. This should not be. The book would have been stronger if we had Shakespeare (even though this 'English nationalist' did call Joan 'an ugly witch') and Voltaire, for all his cynicism, and Bernard Shaw. Quite a few pages of mediocre poetry could be spared to find room." T. C. Chubb
+ — N Y Times p7 D 26 '48 360w

WAGENKNECHT, E. C.—Continued

"Mr. Wagenknecht's purpose has been, not to prove or to disprove anything, but 'to make a book that would be interesting to read' and in this he has certainly succeeded, whatever criticism there may be of some of the individual attempts to do justice to Joan of Arc." W. H. H.

+ — Springf'd Republican p8B O 10 '48 420w

WAHL, JEAN ANDRE. Philosopher's way. 334p $5 Oxford

100 Philosophy 48-7050

"Considers the problems of philosophy 'in relation to the present revolution in thought and to the historical background against which they developed.'" School & Society

J Philos 45:475 Ag 12 '48 90w

"To the student of metaphysics well versed in the concepts of substance, being, cause, quantity, quality, etc., as propounded by philosophers from the early Greeks to the Moderns, the reading of The Philosopher's Way will prove a profoundly stimulating experience. . . Suitable for college and large public libraries." H. R. Forbes

+ Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 110w

"The book is the work of a mind, wide ranging, speculative and lyrical. It contains much sound criticism; its admixture of romantic poetry is moving—if not always clarifying and exact." Irwin Edman

+ N Y Times p12 Jl 25 '48 1100w

San Francisco Chronicle p17 S 5 '48 400w

School & Society 68:48 Jl 17 '48 20w

WAHL, KARIN VON. Threshold. 245p $3 Houghton

48-6775

Novel describing the lives, past and present, of a group of girl deportees on Ellis island.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

Kirkus 16:153 Mr 15 '48 100w

"Not sentimental, but deeply moving. Perhaps too stark for popularity." R. W. Henderson

Library J 73:708 My 1 '48 110w

"By telescoping the events of a longer period into a few hot summer weeks, Miss von Wahl has been able to give her narrative force and pace as well as pathos." Catharine Brody

+ N Y Times p22 Jl 11 '48 400w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal

Springf'd Republican p11B Je 6 '48 290w

WAKEFIELD, HAROLD. New paths for Japan; introd. by Sir Paul Butler. 223p $3.75 Oxford

952 Japan—Civilization. Japan—History—Allied occupation, 1945- 48-8262

"The first page is devoted to a general survey of the evolution of modern Japan, and contains material on social, economic, and political aspects of Japanese life. . . The second part of the book is devoted to an account of Japan at war and in defeat; and it ends with a chapter on her future." Manchester Guardian

Reviewed by P. S. Dull

Am Pol Sci R 42:1243 D '48 230w

"This is a useful short book which furnishes the kind of information needed for an understanding of recent Japanese history and of the problem of Japan's future. . . It is a clear and pleasantly written study, critical, even at times severe, but based upon sympathetic understanding of the Japanese national character." George Sansom

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 6 '48 500w

Reviewed by Nathaniel Peffer

Nation 167:500 O 30 '48 110w

"'New Paths for Japan' is not recommended for light reading. It cannot be skimmed through in an hour or two with any profit. It is worth reading only if you are prepared to give some careful thought to the facts it presents. In those circumstances, the book is invaluable. . . It is an excellent summary of Nippon's rise and fall as a modern empire. The important events are there. The protagonists are named. The extraneous details are avoided. The result is a solid body of fact on a subject that all too often is handled as an exercise in emotional writing." Stuart Lillico

+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 O 16 '48 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p550 O 2 '48 1000w

WALDECK, COUNTESS. See Graefenberg, R. G.

WALDEN, AMELIA ELIZABETH (MRS J. W. HARMON). Sunnycove. 256p $2.50 Morrow

48-7686

A novel for older girls telling the story of Vicky, aged eighteen, who left her native West Virginia mining town, to study in a Connecticut summer theater, and finally to go to a theater on Broadway.

"The story has many of the stock situations and some novel ones; there's a good deal of behind the scenes data that will fascinate stage-struck girls. And there's a blaze of glory ending, and a good start towards happy young romance. Slick but eminently readable."

+ Kirkus 16:310 Jl 1 '48 130w

"Girls, stage-struck or otherwise, will read eagerly of Vicky's incredible bitter-sweet success—and of Peter who named his sloop the Vicky. Conventional pattern but interesting. Recommended." Roumelle Lundeen

+ Library J 73:1200 S 1 '48 70w

"This is good writing and easy reading, for it has more substance than many girls' stories. Girls in their early teens will enjoy it as much as they have Amelia Walden's earlier book." M. C. Scoggin

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 O 31 '48 300w

"The background of a summer theatre is interesting and well-drawn. In addition there is a refreshing quality to the little seaside town. Vicky's friendship with Peter Bradford, a native and one of a seafaring family, gives balance to her summer and adds interest to the story. It has all the requisites of an absorbing novel for older girls." R. H. V.

+ Sat R of Lit 31:37 O 16 '48 240w

Wis Lib Bul 44:152 S '48

WALDEN, HOWARD TALBOT, ed. Angler's choice; an anthology of American trout fishing. 326p $3.75 Macmillan

799.1755 Trout fishing 48-20

An anthology of American trout fishing literature. Partial contents: The value of observation, by G. M. La Branche; The eye for an eye, by Curtis Zahn; Pocono shot, by J. T. Foote; Feller in the creek, by Ferris Greenslet; In the tail of the flat, by E. V. Connett; Nymph fly fishing, by E. R. Hewitt; Nymphs, by P. J. Jennings; Fishing is a vice, by F. F. Van de Water; The gentle life, by Henry Van Dyke; Vision—Striking—rise types, by Ray Bergman; Ghost trout, by Nash Buckingham.

"An appetizing bedside book." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 181:112 My '48 210w

Booklist 44:198 F 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '48

"Definitely a man's book, for men, but good as such."

+ Kirkus 15:421 Ag 1 '47 80w

"Well selected." R. W. Henderson

+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 20w

"You may not be especially interested in angling, but if you like good, honest writing, 'Angler's Choice' will appeal to you. Its selections cover a broad field. Charming, human interest tales are included, along with excerpts from the writings of master anglers. . . 'Angler's Choice' is a singularly attractive introduction to the broad field of fishing literature."

+ N Y Times p18 Ag 1 '48 130w

WALDO, CLIFFORD DWIGHT. Administrative state; a study of the political theory of American public administration. 227p $3.25 Ronald

350 Public administration. Political science 48-6082

"Development of public administration in American history from the point of view of political science, which the author teaches at the University of California." (Current Hist) Selected bibliography. Indexes.

"A major contribution to the literature of public administration. Whether the administration student spends his waking hours preaching the merit system, counting manhole covers, or delightedly tearing up the administrative 'principles' enunciated by his seniors, he is acting on premises that need to be exposed and tested. Waldo has articulated and appraised these largely inarticulate premises." J. W. Fesler

+ Am Pol Sci R 42:782 Ag '48 950w

Reviewed by J. C. Charlesworth

Ann Am Acad 260:206 N '48 440w

Columbia Law R 48:982 S '48 140w

Current Hist 15:103 Ag '48 30w

Reviewed by J. D. Millett

Pol Sci Q 63:447 S '48 900w

WALKER, EDWARD RONALD. Australian economy in war and reconstruction; issued under the auspices of the Royal inst. of int. affairs. 426p $6 Oxford

338.994 Australia—Economic conditions. Australia—Economic policy 47-4091

"A comprehensive exposition of Australia's contribution to the common war effort and of the changes it brought about in her economic life. The author was Deputy Director General of the Australian Department of War Organization of Industry." Foreign Affairs

"His facility in organizing the material out of which he shaped his book, and the clarity with which he presents his analysis, are admirable. If, in certain chapters, the American reader may find his interest flagging, let it not be charged to the author; he is addressing his book to Australian readers first. They went through these experiences, and face a future which must reckon with the results. No part of the book will lack interest for them." J. P. Troxell

+ Am Soc R 13:112 F '48 700w

Foreign Affairs 26:406 Ja '48 40w

Reviewed by A. F. W. Plumptre

Pacific Affairs 21:326 S '48 1000w

"Dr. Walker was, at different times, a Lecturer in Economics in the University of Sydney and Professor of Economics in the University of Tasmania, and he has occupied Australian governmental posts of an advisory or administrative nature. Opportunities have been afforded him, in this way, for studying the Australian economy in both its theoretical and practical aspects, and he has turned these opportunities to advantage in the preparation of his book. Very wisely he enlisted the assistance of others—not overlooking academic colleagues—in the compilation of a publication the subject of which is so wide in its scope. . . In the result an informative piece of work has been produced, which should prove of value particularly to those not familiar with the details of events of recent years in Australia." O. D. Foenander

+ Pol Sci Q 63:621 D '48 750w

Times [London] Lit Sup p619 N 6 '48 180w

WALKER, GERTRUDE. So deadly fair. 250p $2.50 Putnam

48-1541

Story of a woman named Elizabeth and the men whom she charms. One of these, the narrator, is accused of her murder and serves a prison term for it. When he gets out he goes in search of Elizabeth, because he is sure she is not dead. The localities are as widely separated as Minnesota, California, and Westchester.

Kirkus 16:223 My 1 '48 110w

"Strong stuff about the seamy side." Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 My 16 '48 80w

Reviewed by James MacBride

N Y Times p24 Je 13 '48 230w

"A story of murder and illicit love that should establish the author as the American woman novelist who writes most like James M. Cain. . . All recounted in a rudimentary style that harmonizes splendidly with the elemental English spoken by the principals."

New Yorker 24:107 My 8 '48 200w

Reviewed by Edith James

San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 2 '48 80w

"A compelling, unusual story." M. L. C.

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 25 '48 90w

WALKER, MANNIX. Thinly veiled; il. by Martin Herbstman. 244p $2.75 Dodd

48-8722

The Christmas holiday seemed to be ruined for Peter, a prosperous young bachelor, because an insidious rumor was disrupting the lives of most of his friends. Peter's attempts to stem the tide of discontent by starting a happy counter-rumor are overwhelmingly successful.

Booklist 45:104 N 15 '48

"This is a perfectly pleasant little satire, containing an occasional mild laugh, and a gently critical comment on society. Unfortunately it is all so mild and so gentle and so inconsequential that it is hard for the reader to become really interested."

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p32 N 14 '48 200w

"It is so slow in getting under way you may be tempted to hunt something livelier, but patience brings a reward."

+ Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 90w

WALKER, STANLEY. Journey toward the sunlight; a story of the Dominican Republic and its people. 226p il $2.75 Caribbean lib, 730 5th av, N.Y. 19

917.293 Dominican Republic 48-2934

A travel book and history of the Dominican Republic. Partial contents: The Dominican character; The Dominican and Uncle Sam; Education and the arts; Sons of the soil; Women and the business of living; On running the country. No index.

Current Hist 15:103 Ag '48 30w

Foreign Affairs 26:752 Jl '48 30w

Reviewed by Paul Blanshard

N Y Times p24 F 29 '48 750w

Social Studies 39:144 Mr '48 10w

"Not the usual superficial travel book . . . but a carefully thought-out description of the Dominican Republic, its people and its politics, its land, and its economy." Alfred Hasbrouck

+ Social Studies 39:280 O '48 750w

WALL, ERNEST ARTHUR. Sovereign emblem. 117p $1.25 Abingdon-Cokesbury

232.3 Jesus Christ—Crucifixion 48-1889

"The author discusses the meaning of the Crucifixion and the significance of the Lord's Supper as a demonstration of this meaning.

WALL, E. A.—Continued
The theme of the supremacy of the Cross runs through the entire book, with particular emphasis on Paul's relationship to the Cross as an example to us." (Publisher's note) The author is the pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Richmond Hill, New York city.

"The sovereign emblem is the Cross, and this little book is like many others on the same subject. It does not add much to understanding, and appreciation of this type is hardly needed. It seems pointless and wordy." H. M. Gehr
— Crozer Q 25:190 Ap '48 110w

"Recommended for Lenten reading and study by ministers and theologically-minded laymen."
+ Kirkus 16:116 Mr 1 '48 60w

WALL, ROY. Contemplative angler. 215p il $3.50 Putnam
799.12 Fishing Agr48-277

Essays on the adventures and pleasures of angling by an experienced sportsman, who has fished for many types of fish in all parts of the United States.

"On the whole instructive, interesting for both novice and veteran."
+ Kirkus 16:391 Ag 1 '48 60w

"Delightful essays. . . Nicely decorated with small cuts. Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:1515 O 15 '48 20w

"Roy Wall is a student not only of the philosophy of fishing but of the techniques as well. And he has studied the art carefully. But he reaches his best as a teller of yarns." G. S. Arnold
+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 D 12 '48 150w

WALLACE, HENRY AGARD. Toward world peace. 121p $1.75 Reynal
327.73 Peace. World politics. U.S.—Foreign policy. Campaign literature, 1948 48-6583

"A statement of Mr. Wallace's beliefs on the important issues of the day—the future of the United Nations, inflation, civil liberties, and the crisis in international affairs—to which is added a program for attaining 'peace without appeasement.' " New Yorker

Reviewed by C. E. Pickett
Ann Am Acad 260:196 N '48 400w
Booklist 44:276 Ap 15 '48
Christian Century 65:710 Jl 14 '48 350w

"[Wallace's] weakness lies in his reluctance to place its share of blame for today's debacle on Russia, though he states unequivocally the points where he is out of sympathy with Russia. A further weakness lies in his failure to indicate how he would achieve those goals which most men of good will would agree are admirable and desirable. But he is a staunch advocate—compelling—challenging. His book should be studied by voters of all stripes."
+ — Kirkus 16:202 Ap 15 '48 210w

"I do not see how anyone who regards liberalism as a practical way of dealing with important issues, and not as a way of escaping them, can respect, let alone vote for, Henry Wallace." Margaret Marshall
— Nation 166:719 Je 26 '48 650w

"Henry Wallace writes pretty much as he speaks. He likes to ramble. . . In his present campaign tract, he covers the whole range of his current views on domestic and foreign affairs. You can read it in an hour. But you may have trouble getting to the bottom of it in an hour. You will have to act as your own editor in piecing together out of Mr. Wallace's hurried chapters the proper sequence of his ideas. Unless you look sharply, some of his meanings may escape you." W. H. Hale
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ap 18 '48 1350w

"Mr. Wallace says he is fighting against the extremes, but he is the most extreme man in the field. He argues against the emotional approach to these questions, but he is more emotional than Bette Davis. He rails against the inaccuracies of those who write for the papers, but he has elevated inaccuracy into a political cult. He argues for the Golden Rule, but does not apply it to his political opponents." James Reston
— N Y Times p3 Ap 18 '48 1850w

"A simply written, sometimes eloquent, statement."
+ New Yorker 24:106 Ap 24 '48 90w

Reviewed by Allan Temko
San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ap 25 '48 1050w

"It is a matter of regret, though it has long since ceased to be a matter of surprise, to find Henry Wallace echoing so faithfully the editorial column of the Daily Worker. He presents a totally distorted picture of the American scene. . . His program for peace is little more than a plea for capitulation to the most extreme Soviet demands." Frank Altschul
— Sat R of Lit 31:28 Ap 17 '48 900w

"I have rarely read a book that is so quotable, so glowing with a righteous cause. It is packed with true observations and frequently rises to heights of eloquence. Much in 'Toward World Peace' is in the great tradition of American political writing." S. K. Padover
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Ap 17 '48 1000w
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 25 '48 750w

WALLACE, MRS KATHLEEN. Reunion at Meads; a novel of time and many women [Eng title: Time changes the tune]. 243p $2.75 Putnam
47-7150

Novel describing a post-war reunion at a woman's college of Cambridge. "With the brief reunion as an introduction, Miss Wallace has then gone back in time and shown why and how these women are what they are—how the shy blue-stocking Mavis turned into the brilliant, elegant assured head of a famous girls' school, why eager, beautiful Nora became the haggard and cynical Lady Perriman, what caused Daphne's dissatisfaction with life, how happy-go-lucky Fran managed to shed experience, how plain little Annette made a good life of her marriage to the most exclusive dress designer in London, and what constituted the full-rounded, satisfied home life of Lynd." (Christian Science Monitor)

Booklist 44:299 My 1 '48
Christian Science Monitor p14 F 4 '48 480w
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48
Kirkus 15:606 N 1 '47 150w

"This sounds like a story for women only but all men who have known 'old grads' will enjoy it for they themselves are not neglected! Recommended for light reading and especially for reunion enthusiasts." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 72:1779 D 15 '47 140w

"Miss Wallace finds real values in all her flash-backs—and a novel that makes its points logically, compassionately, with no mawkish overtones." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p10 F 1 '48 180w
Times [London] Lit Sup p201 Ap 10 '48 240w

WALLACE, MRS LILLIAN PARKER. The papacy and European diplomacy, 1869-1878. 349p $6 Univ. of N.C. press
940.28 Roman Catholic church—Relations (diplomatic). Europe—Politics. Europe—History. Papacy 48-6405

"History of a critical period in Europe. The aftermath of the Franco-Prussian war [and] Bismarck's attitude toward the Pope, form the background for this study. The author is associate Professor of History at Meredith College, North Carolina." (Current Hist) Bibliography. Index.

"This book will be very useful to students of modern Church history and should stimulate the writing of further studies in English, including some from the strictly Catholic viewpoint. The latter are necessary because even the most unbiased non-Catholic has difficulty in understanding the universal outlook of the Vatican, of which its diplomacy is only one expression, and can all too easily make the mistake of confusing the instrument with the policy it exists to serve." F. D. Cohalan

+ Commonweal 48:146 My 21 '48 290w
Current Hist 14:347 Je '48 50w

WALLBANK, THOMAS WALTER. India: a survey of the heritage and growth of Indian nationalism. (Berkshire studies in European hist) 118p maps $1.40 Holt
954 India—Nationality 48-1694

A brief survey of the growth of Indian nationalism, intended for supplementary reading for a European history course. Bibliography. Index.

"Mr. Wallbank has made good use of the very limited space at his disposal. But it may perhaps be doubted whether Indian nationalism, with all the background necessary to make it intelligible, is a topic suited to this kind of volume. . . Those of us who would like to see more Indian history taught in America will welcome Mr. Wallbank's little book; but the real need is for a substantial historical text that could form the basis of a course." D. H. Willson
+ — Am Hist R 54:207 O '48 330w
School & Society 68:32 Je 10 '48 10w

"The wide generalizations necessary in a small survey book are backed up with historical detail and important current statistics wherever necessary. Good organization and style make the book easy to read." R. L. Anderson
+ Social Studies 39:332 N '48 450w

WALLING, ROBERT ALFRED JOHN. Late unlamented. 274p $2.50 Morrow
48-3713

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun S 3 '48 100w
Kirkus 16:293 Je 15 '48 50w

"Mr. Walling is a little cagier and more complex in his narrative method these days, but Tolefree is back and all's well." Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ag 22 '48 140w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p 32 S 12 '48 130w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 3 '48 90w

"Worthwhile."
Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 18 '48 40w
Springf'd Republican p7B S 19 '48 90w

WALPOLE, MRS ELLEN (WALES). Tell me; il. by Douglas Anderson. 160p $2.75 Hinds
500 Science—Juvenile literature 47-6658

A book containing about three hundred questions that children ask. Each chapter has questions on one subject arranged to form an outline of the topic. The subjects are animals, plants, myself, people, places, words, things, machines, the sky and God.

Churchman 161:17 D 1 '47 50w

"It is attractive and stimulating, a volume as valuable for its approach to the problem of children's questions as for the wealth of information presented. . . Except for an occasional inaccuracy and some rather unorthodox ideas in the chapter on God, 'Tell Me' is an excellent first reference book for home and school." Elizabeth Hodges
+ — N Y Times p29 F 15 '48 180w
School & Society 66:335 O 25 '47 10w
School Arts p13A O '48 60w

WALPOLE, HORACE, 4th earl of Orford. Correspondence with Thomas Gray, Richard West and Thomas Ashton; ed. by W. S. Lewis [and others] (Yale ed. of Horace Walpole's correspondence, v13-14) 2v in 1 250;315p il $20 Yale univ. press
B or 92 48-10826

Volumes thirteen and fourteen of the fifty volume set of Walpole's correspondence have been issued as one volume. Volume thirteen covers Walpole's letters to and from Thomas Gray, Richard West, and Thomas Ashton. Volume fourteen covers the second period of Walpole's friendship with Thomas Gray. Index.

"The notes . . . seem models of what they should be. There is no annotating of what does not need to be annotated, no personal chitchat, and no stuffing with the irrelevant or commonplace. . . With very few exceptions every quotation—and they are often such that only diligent search in more or less obscure places could locate them—every name, place, and allusion is briefly explained. In the case of letters as full of reference as those of Walpole and his friends the undertaking is prodigious, and the value is, of course, not merely that these letters are made clear but that the information will be used by other students of the period, who will find the indexed volumes a great storehouse of out-of-the-way information. . . The correspondence is an unusually interesting one." J. W. Krutch
+ Nation 168:136 Ja 29 '49 750w

"Practically all the letters contained in this installment have already appeared in print. In particular the admirable edition of Gray's 'Correspondence,' published by Paget Toynbee and Leonard Whibley only thirteen years ago, takes the bloom off this new edition, but though the scholarly labors of those editors have greatly lightened the task of the Yale team a considerable amount of new information has been brought together in the commentary, which, as no one acquainted with this great edition needs to be informed, is both illuminating and entertaining." S. C. Chew
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ja 2 '49 1050w

"It is impossible even to quibble with the impeccable editorial scope of Yale University's vast and definitive Walpole project. When it is completed in more than fifty stately volumes, Walpole will undoubtedly emerge as the greatest memoirist of English literature. Mr. Lewis, the editor-in-chief, considers this an edition for the scholar. But the lay reader, if his wallet and bookshelves are capacious enough, should not deprive himself of such delectable letters. The text, though it may be cushioned by detailed annotations, is always readable. Even Macaulay, who detested Walpole's personality, had to yield to the 'irresistible charm' of his writing." Robert Halsband
+ N Y Times p11 Ja 2 '49 700w

WALRAVEN, MRS MARGARET KESSLER, and HALL-QUEST, ALFRED LAWRENCE. Teaching through the elementary school library. 183p il $3 Wilson, H.W.
027.8222 School libraries 48-1382

"Written by an educator and an experienced school librarian and teacher of library science, the book deals with library materials, how to select them, how to use them in teaching, how to teach their effective use, and most important of all, how to develop the reading and library habit in boys and girls." (Wis Lib Bul) Bibliographies. Index.

"Covers much of the material in the author's Library guidance for teachers [Book Review Digest 1941] but organizes it differently."
Booklist 44:275 Ap 15 '48

"[The book] is intended to serve as a text for use in college and university classes which stress library use with children, as well as an aid to the classroom teacher in teaching with books and other materials and in guiding children in the use of the library and its collections. With respect to these purposes as stated, it may be said that the book realizes

WALRAVEN, M. K.—Continued
them to some degree. The extent to which it is successful would seem uncertain. To an inexperienced instructor who might attempt to train a class in how to teach through the elementary-school library with this text as a guide or to the inexperienced classroom teacher who uses it, the book might possibly seem adequate. Conversely, to one who has been an elementary-school librarian as well as a teacher, the work would not seem a desirable guide to choose for the intended purposes—the main reason being that there are better sources available." Marion Grady
Library Q 19:68 Ja '49 1000w

School & Society 67:127 F 14 '48 10w

Wis Lib Bul 44:66 Mr '48

WALSH, EDMUND ALOYSIUS. Total power; a footnote to history. 373p $5 Doubleday

321.6 Totalitarianism. Geopolitics. Germany—Nazi movement 48-6923

"Rector of Georgetown University returns to familiar subject of geopolitics. In three broad sections he describes his interviews with Karl Haushofer, original geopolitician; the anatomy of power as represented by revolution, Humanism and Hitlerism; and the new geopolitics in Europe and Asia as represented by Soviet Russia. An appendix includes Haushofer's defense of German geopolitics and observations on Japanese geopolitics. Father Walsh sees America as destined to preserve world justice based on eternal laws." (Library J) Index.

"Perhaps this could have been a better organized book, but it is certainly a powerful and comprehensive searchlight into the jungle of our post-war problems." Valentina de Balla
+ — Cath World 167:469 Ag '48 700w

"The book is not entirely concerned with European problems. A chapter on 'Responsibilities of America in the Atomic Age' will benefit every reader. It is simply packed with good history and good sense. This book deserves a place in every library." Paul Kiniery
+ Commonweal 48:335 Jl 16 '48 450w

"An exhaustive, academic report that is of importance to studious readers of current events."
+ Kirkus 16:136 Mr 1 '48 180w

"Encyclopedic knowledge, trenchant and clear writing, provocative thinking should insure popular reception." R. J. Hurley
+ Library J 73:472 Mr 15 '48 130w

"Unquestionably the best part of the book is a long chapter on contemporary American responsibilities. Even those who do not agree with it must, I believe, feel that the weaknesses of our great people are as carefully exposed as its virtues are recognized. . . Indeed, I find myself wishing that Father Walsh had turned his book around, and had written the rest of it to elucidate this chapter. It would then manifestly be what it now too covertly is—a charting of the perilous seas which we shall sail, perforce, together." G. N. Shuster
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p 11 Ag 15 '48 800w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p3 Je 27 '48 950w

Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p14 My 31 '48 750w

Reviewed by Garrett Mattingly
Sat R of Lit 31:15 Jl 17 '48 800w

Reviewed by W. V. Badger
Social Studies 39:329 N '48 1050w

WALSH, HELEN. Starting right with milk goats; ed. by Ed Robinson. 138p il $3 Macmillan

636.3913 Goats Agr47-42

"A leading breeder of modern dairy goats gives practical advice for anyone considering them as a commercial or domestic project. The advantages of goat milk, breeds and choosing which to buy, quarters and their care, feeding and grooming, milking, are the early chapters, later ones discuss breeding, the care and feeding of kids, de-horning, the handling of the milk, making butter and cheese, goats as food. Everything the beginner should know in competent, concise but detailed form. Over 100 illustrations." (Kirkus) Index.

Booklist 44:129 D 1 '47

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '48

Kirkus 15:387 Jl 15 '47 90w

WALSH, MAURICE. Damsel debonaire [Eng title: Castle Gillian] 254p $2.75 Lippincott 48-6787

Novel of present-day Ireland. It describes the trials of two pairs of lovers in their efforts to save a rundown but beautiful estate in Northern Ireland. The men are weak and purposeless at first, but the women are strong enough to hold the balance.

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

Cath World 167:477 Ag '48 190w

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

"Good horses and stable talk, an exciting race and vividly described fight between hero and villain—altogether the sort of romance that many people find solace in." M. H. Zipprich
+ Library J 73:709 My 1 '48 60w

"Mr. Walsh is an engaging interpreter of his people, with ironic flavor in his writing."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Je 13 '48 130w

Reviewed by Florence Crowther
N Y Times p6 Je 6 '48 600w

WALSH, WILLIAM THOMAS. Saint Peter, the apostle. 307p $3.50 Macmillan

B or 92 Peter, Saint 48-10557

An attempt at a biography of St Peter. It is based on legends and traditions, as well as Biblical material. Written from the Roman Catholic viewpoint.

"Combining faith, literary skill and a judicious use of the imagination anchored in the historical events of the New Testament, Dr. Walsh presents us with a life-size portrait of Simon Bar-Jona that is both sensitive and compelling. Tracing Peter's psychological and spiritual development from the erratic instability of a small pebble on the shores of Genesareth to the firm, sound stature of the Rock on the banks of the Tiber, the author delineates a rich and rewarding characterization of the first Vicar of Christ." J. T. Clune
+ Cath World 168:332 Ja '49 450w

"The writing is fresh and clear, the construction is fictionalized to appeal to the widest possible audience. . . Some readers will think this life of St. Peter is inferior to that by Lloyd C. Douglas but, on the other hand, many, particularly Catholics, will find this volume more to their liking because it evolves around the concept of Peter as the first Pope of the Roman Catholic Church." J. O. Supple
+ Chicago Sun p9X D 26 '48 140w

Reviewed by H. G. J. Beck
Commonweal 49:356 Ja 14 '49 320w

"This is an ambitious attempt to give to us a biography of St. Peter. The author is not primarily a biographer nor a historian, but a defender of the Catholic faith. . . Admittedly, the book is filled with conjecture concerning the early life of Peter, his relations to the Christ and to the other apostles and his position in the Church. This would appeal only to Catholics, and not to Church historians among them, for the book is not scholarly."
Kirkus 16:513 O 1 '48 160w

"A highly readable book. . . The book is imaginative in the best sense of the word. Making use of the New Testament accounts of the origin and development of the Church,

Mr. Walsh supplements these with information supplied by historians, and produces a careful study of the impetuous, affectionate, stalwart man who became an unwavering witness to Christ." G. R. Stephenson
+ N Y Times p5 N 21 '48 500w

WALTERS, ANNE MARIE. Moondrop to Gascony. 297p $2.50 Macmillan

940.5486 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, British [A48-10]

Records the experiences of a twenty-year-old girl, the daughter of an English father and a French mother. She parachuted into occupied France a few months before D-day to become a courier for a British officer acting with the resistance in southeastern France.

Booklist 44:204 F 1 '48

"Good reading for teen-agers and elders, but rather dated." G. E. Cartmell
+ — Library J 73:50 Ja 1 '48 70w

"This is a highly exciting and enjoyable book. . . Most modestly and soberly she described her experiences, many of which were so sensational that they might figure in a novel by Sapper."
+ New Statesman & Nation 32:429 D 7 '46 180w

"A documentary, then; at the least, a personal document completely and often painfully authentic. But to be accurately documentary is not everything, even when the story covers matter so intrinsically exciting and important as this. The discriminating eye is needed, and the gift of recollecting emotion, and other things, in tranquillity; and for choice, behind the seeing eye and the selective and interpreting memory, a personality in itself worthy of record. Miss Walters has all these things. Her writing has no literary pretensions, which does not prevent it from having literary quality, a Gallic sharpness of outline and directness of expression." Honor Croome
+ Spec 177:552 N 22 '46 900w

"The chief merit of this book is that it helps to place in true perspective the story of 'resistance' in France. There is no attempt to achieve this by extending the story beyond Gascony; it comes from the simple, straightforward way in which the author recounts her experiences and brings vividly to life the people and places about whom she writes."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p589 N 30 '46 210w

WALTERS, GEORGE. Steam shovel that wouldn't eat dirt; il. by Roger Duvoisin. [31p] $1.50 Aladdin bks, 554 Madison av, N.Y. 22

48-10017

Story of a steam shovel on a rampage. It all started when "Steve" heard a little boy say that steam shovels were dirty old things because they ate dirt. Steve then left his work and went in search of apples, oranges, and bread, upsetting the whole town as he lumbered along. All ended well when Steve heard the little boy's grandmother say that "boys eat bread and butter and apples, but steam shovels eat dirt". For ages 7-9.

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 24:436 N '48 80w

"What happened when Steve, the Steam Shovel, decided to eat apples, oranges and bread and butter instead of dirt will seem very funny to small children. The Duvoisin pictures are just right for the text." J. D. L.
+ Horn Bk 24:454 N '48 70w

"There are lots of laughs here for small boys, who love to watch steam shovels at work. . . An original story of a popular machine, done in gay cross-the-page pictures by Roger Duvoisin."
+ Kirkus 16:524 O 1 '48 120w

Reviewed by M. M. Smith
+ Library J 73:1522 O 15 '48 60w

Reviewed by Helen Masten
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 O 3 '48 190w

Sat R of Lit 31:23 N 13 '48 50w

WALWORTH, ARTHUR CLARENCE. Cape Breton, isle of romance. 172p il $3.50 Longmans

917.169 Cape Breton island A48-6438

Travel book describing the author's trip by automobile around the Cape Breton island area of Nova Scotia. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:351 Je 15 '48

Commonweal 48:290 Jl 2 '48 60w

"Excellent combination of personal experience, bits of history, legend, practical information, something of the people, the cooperative industries, the life, the land, geographically, geologically, economically. . . Fine photographs."
+ Kirkus 16:251 My 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by P. J. C. Friedlander
N Y Times p18 Ag 1 '48 90w

"Arthur Walworth obviously has a lot of friends who come to him for travel advice and who come back after they've made the trip to register complaints, because he has carefully pointed out disadvantages as well as the pleasure possibilities of the Isle of Romance that is part of Canada's province of Nova Scotia. This careful dampening of the author's enthusiasm likely makes the work more useful, but its best bits come when the writer forgets hard-to-please people and tells of his own personal joys and his own delight at the escape from modernism that is found in this most interesting land." Larry Nixon
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Jl 31 '48 230w

Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 18 '48 460w

WANOUS, SAMUEL JAMES, and ERICKSON, L. W. Secretary's book; a complete reference manual. rev ed 597p il $4 Ronald

651 Secretaries, Private 48-2031

"A practical office manual appears revised and expanded." Booklist

Booklist 45:35 S 15 '48

"Presents information which is reliable and representative of accepted convention and usage."
+ Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 60w

WARBASSE, JAMES PETER. Co-operative democracy through voluntary association of the people as consumers. 5th ed 324p $3 Harper

334 Cooperation 47-11741

"A revised edition, brought up to date of this well-known history of the consumer's cooperative movement in theory and practice." (Kirkus) For third edition see Book Review Digest 1936.

"This is the fifth edition of a book which has long been important in the field of consumer co-operation. It has become a standard reference work on the movement and one with which everyone interested in the co-operative field should be acquainted. It should be assigned reading for that considerable group among us for whom the words 'co-operation' and 'communism' are still synonymous. . . The book richly deserves its continuance through five editions." W. C. Waite
+ Ann Am Acad 257:206 My '48 360w

"If this is the bible of the cooperative movement, the cooperative movement is a false religion. . . I believe in cooperatives, and I believe that they ought to be tax-exempt. I believe that they are an important part of any sound program of social reconstruction,

WARBASSE, J. P.—Continued
but only a part. And so on, and so forth. I also believe, however, that political society has its origin in the nature of man and that the state, while obliged to abide by the principle of subsidiarity, is the supreme authority in the temporal order. If I understand him correctly, Dr. Warbasse holds precisely the opposite theory. . . Dr. Warbasse is admittedly an expert guide in tracing the history of the co-op movement at home and abroad and in outlining the essentials of successful cooperation. This part of his book is instructive and thoroughly satisfactory. However, one wonders if the Doctor's very enthusiasm for the movement may not be the principal weakness of his book. Is it true, for example, that the co-op movement is the only substitute for statism? If it is, all of us had better prepare to go underground." G. G. Higgins
— + Commonweal 47:283 D 26 '47 1200w

Kirkus 15:154 Ag 15 '47 20w

"The book is an effective manual and reference work for the co-operative movement. As such it is a valuable book for the use of high school and college social science classes studying the co-operative way." C. C. Qualey
+ Social Educ 12:234 My '48 300w

WARBURG, JAMES PAUL. Germany, bridge or battleground. 386p maps $3.50 Harcourt
943.086 Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany. Germany—History—Allied occupation, 1945- 47-30757

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The most valuable feature of Warburg's Germany—Bridge or Battleground? are the fifteen appendices which comprise one-third of the book. . . The first three parts of the book are historical and trace the sequence of events from January, 1943, to the end of 1946. Mr. Warburg incorporates into the account his own criticisms, which, on the whole, are well founded." R. H. Wells
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:133 F '48 800w

"Mr. Warburg seems to have the rare gift of handling a great body of factual details and at the same time surveying that material from a detached vantage point. One may not agree with every conclusion which he reaches—here and there in presenting the organization and activities of the occupational forces he seems to be in error, and perhaps he would have been wise to cut the book loose from the Moscow Conference of Foreign Ministers in 1947; but these are minor matters which do not seriously mar the value of the book." Harold Zink
+ Ann Am Acad 256:231 Mr '48 450w

Foreign Affairs 26:402 Ja '48 60w

Reviewed by L. L. Snyder
Pol Sci Q 63:295 Je '48 1050w

U S Quarterly Bkl 3:381 D '47 290w

WARBURG, JAMES PAUL. Put yourself in Marshall's place. 93p $1 Simon & Schuster
327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations—Russia. Russia—Foreign relations—U.S. Reconstruction (1939-)—Europe 48-1475

This study consists of a collection of the most important documents on American foreign policy during 1947, and a review of the international scene during Secretary Marshall's first year in office. No index.

Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 29 '48 480w

Current Hist 14:234 Ap '48 40w

"A first rate study of Secretary Marshall's inheritance."
+ Kirkus 16:106 F 15 '48 260w

"An admirable history of the events which have led to the deep trouble of the postwar world. It will help readers to understand what has happened, and why, much better than they can by relying on their memories or on day-to-day speeches or editorials." George Soule
+ New Repub 118:23 Mr 15 '48 650w

"Secretary Marshall, fighting for the integrity of his European recovery plan, will like this tract. Some of the more cautious and conservative backers of the committee for the Marshall plan, however, will not. Liberal and Leftist readers will find themselves divided over it. Henry Wallace and Senator Taft, if they get around to looking at it, will undoubtedly snort. The assorted noises will arise because Mr. Warburg is both a supporter and a critic of the Administration and a seeker for a middle way." W. H. Hale
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Mr 7 '48 1250w

"As a comprehensive guide to the adjustment of the conflicts which contain the risk of war—and that is what Mr. Warburg has attempted to write—the book falls short of its object. . . Most of 'Put Yourself in Marshall's Place,' is devoted to a review of the conduct of American foreign policy since Secretary Marshall took office in January, 1947. These sections are lively and perceptive narrative. For the author comments freely and boldly on the ideas and actions of the participants. His account of the conduct of the great powers in their recent meetings is in the main allowable despite some troubling tendencies." Herbert Feis
+ — N Y Times p3 Mr 14 '48 1100w

"In assessing the blame for the current situation, Mr. Warburg is often sharply critical of Moscow. Nevertheless, he considers that American policies have given the USSR good reason to be fearful and that a new effort must be made to remove the causes of that fear. As a start, he suggests a reexamination of our 'present largely emotional attitude,' admittedly a difficult job since the Russians 'seem almost deliberately determined to be disagreeable.' This piece of understatement makes me wonder whether Mr. Warburg fully understands the appalling dynamics of the totalitarian state." Keith Hutchison
Sat R of Lit 31:13 Mr 27 '48 800w

WARCOLLIER, RENE. Mind to mind; with an introd. by Gardner Murphy; ed. by Emanuel K. Schwartz [tr. by Josephine B. Gridley and E. de P. Matthews]. 109p $2.50 Creative age
133.82 Thought transference 48-1849

A presentation of the author's experiments in the telepathic transmission of drawings, based on a lecture given at the Sorbonne in June 1946. Glossary. Bibliography. Index.

"Not specifically for the layman, 'Mind to Mind' is still a subtle and provocative work for those who already have some knowledge of these frontier provinces of psychology." Signe Toksvig
N Y Times p12 Ap 11 '48 500w

"The demonstration drawings are highly interesting and certainly suggest likenesses between the original conceptions and the telepathically received results. There are not enough, however, to buttress the author's theories as to the mechanism of the telepathic process. Many more examples than this little book could hold would be necessary for that." M. S.
San Francisco Chronicle p20 Jl 18 '48 70w

Reviewed by Signe Toksvig
Sat R of Lit 31:28 Ap 24 '48 400w

WARD, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S., pseud.

WARD, BARBARA. West at bay. 288p $3.50 Norton
940.55 Europe—Politics. Europe—Economic conditions. U.S.—Foreign relations. International cooperation 48-8504

An assistant editor of The [London] Economist studies the situation in Western Europe and attempts to analyze the present crisis. She describes the collapse of the old order in Europe, takes stock of America's role in the reconstruction program under the Marshall plan, and tells of the "Western union" movement, an alliance of Western European countries. Miss Ward believes that unity can be established, and that America must help. Index.

"The whole book is a very able, clever, and readable defense of a thesis; but the thesis itself, based upon a number of political factors which, fortunately perhaps, are fleeting and uncertain and subject to frequent change, does not receive a sufficiently analytical treatment." Bart Landheer
+ — Am Soc R 13:777 D '48 500w

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:102 O '48 700w

Booklist 45:86 N 1 '48

Reviewed by J. T. Flynn
Cath World 168:329 Ja '49 700w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun O 5 '48 600w

Christian Century 65:1295 D 1 '48 1400w

Reviewed by D. M. Richardson
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 4 '48 1400w

"Barbara Ward . . . has not the 'long breath' needed for writing a deep and penetrating book. This book (her first, at least in this country) is full of the most clever remarks, but it reads more like a collection of intelligent essays than as the development of some new inspiration. Barbara Ward is best in her proper field, economics; her political and philosophical reflections, though mostly on the right track, lack vitality. This is not so much a book to open up new vistas as a very competent thought-provoking analysis of the current problems facing the Western world, an excellent starting point for a group discussion of these problems." Max Fischer
Commonweal 49:17 O 15 '48 650w

"I found this exciting reading—and would like to make it imperative reading for all intelligent world citizens. There's much in it that is unpalatable, straight from the shoulder; but even in her indictments she is so logical, so free of scareheads, so constructive, that her book should help clarify our thinking and formulate the direction of our action."
+ Kirkus 16:419 Ag 15 '48 450w

"The book somewhat hastily written, yet not without brilliance, will be useful guide for students of international affairs. Strongly recommended for college and larger public libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 73:1272 S 15 '48 210w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison
Nation 167:435 O 16 '48 1200w

"Along recent writings for the general public on current European problems this book is outstanding. It has been compared with Keynes's Economic Consequences of the Peace. It does not detract at all from Miss Ward's achievement to say that the comparison is hardly warranted. It is to be hoped that she is just as widely read." Abram Bergson
+ New Repub 119:24 N 29 '49 1500w

Reviewed by Maurice Edelman
New Statesman & Nation 36:530 D 11 '48 1200w

"The timeliness of the book hits one in the face. Here is a careful, thorough discussion of the exact problems which are the center of debate in London and Paris today." Geoffrey Parsons
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 S 26 '48 1450w

"Miss Ward's prescription is less satisfying than her diagnosis. To parallel the revolutionary dynamic of Eastern Europe and to counterbalance the economic power of the United States she wants a 'Western Association'—an economic and military union of the free governments of Western Europe. . . Nothing else may be practical at a time when nearly all Western European statesmen admit the necessity for an effective European Union but seem not to want it soon. But it leaves the West still at bay." J. K. Galbraith
N Y Times p1 S 26 '48 1800w

"The author is specific and hardheaded about the details of this blueprint, and has anticipated many of the objections that might be made on the ground of practicability. Altogether, a pretty strong argument."
+ New Yorker 24:130 O 23 '48 200w

Reviewed by Stephen George
San Francisco Chronicle p18 S 26 '48 800w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes
Sat R of Lit 31:13 S 25 '48 1100w

"No better report on current events could have been written than this neat volume by Miss Ward. The author seems to have been endowed by Nature with all the gifts required for such a task." Salvador De Madariaga
+ Spec 180:466 O 8 '48 800w

Reviewed by D. C. Coyle
Survey G 37:474 N '48 650w

"Miss Barbara Ward's new book is really a tract for our times. . . Her book is not easy reading. It is not that her style, so much as her matter is disjointed by its intricacies and interdependences. . . Miss Ward has achieved wonders in writing her tract in little more than six weeks, so that it could be placed in our hands to-day. She is too modest in saying that it is 'a hasty attempt made without any research or detailed study to present a few of the major issues' forming 'some background to the related topics of the Marshall Plan and of Western Union.' It does all that, and more, much more."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p551 O 2 '48 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 44:211 D '48

Reviewed by Klaus Knorr
Yale R n s 38:363 winter '49 1050w

WARD, MAISIE (MRS FRANCIS JOSEPH SHEED). Young Mr. Newman. 477p il $4.50 Sheed

B or 92 Newman, John Henry, cardinal 48-8100

Portrait of Newman as a child and a young man, drawn from his diary and family letters. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:119 D 1 '48

"Miss Ward's Newman comes to life and his era with him. That is a real achievement and the books' chief merit in the face of which a number of minor faults are forgotten." J. J. Reilly
+ — Cath World 168:251 D '48 180w

Christian Century 66:21 Ja 5 '49 180w

"A superb piece of objective biography, a worthy companion piece to her father's definitive work on the same subject. But where the earlier book could deal only briefly with the formative years of Newman, this book is devoted exclusively to those years. We come to know Newman's family as well as we know the Oxford Movement itself. We meet the boy as well as the man, and we begin to understand, as few Catholics of his time could understand, the power and the drive which lay behind the genius who was so many things to so many people." Emmet Lavery
+ Commonweal 49:18 O 15 '48 700w

"The author has consciously endeavored to be objective in her treatment of the Evangelical and Anglican phases of Newman's life and with considerable success. However, the reader is always conscious that this is a Catholic writing about an outstanding convert to Catholicism for Catholic readers."
Kirkus 16:597 N 15 '48 180w

"This book breaks fresh ground, and much in it, more especially the information about the relationships of Newman with his own family, has never been printed before. It will, therefore, be necessary to all subsequent serious students of Newman. . . Miss Ward's book, however, is not for specialists only. She has thoroughly digested her discoveries, and she writes very well, and any ordinary reader will find pleasure and interest in her biography." R. L.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 18 '48 240w

WARD, MAISIE—Continued
Reviewed by Raymond Mortimer
New Statesman & Nation 35:481 Je 12 '48 800w

"Miss Ward has read bundles of forgotten and perhaps never carefully considered letters, and is no doubt as familiar as need be with the religious issues which stirred Oxford a hundred years ago. In addition she writes temperately, often judiciously, even when the trees somewhat obscure the wood. . . The best part of the book, I think, is that which sketches the complex ties which bound Newman to Littlemore, ultimately the scene of his poignant departure from Anglicanism to the Church of Rome." George Shuster
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 N 28 '48 950w

"This book, the best of many recent publications on Newman (doubtless inspired by the centennial of his conversion), surrounds the theological and controversial figure with familial and personal experiences that lend charm to the ascetic and understanding to the obscurity of genius. . . Some few lapses into fine writing mar this study, obviously written with admiration and affection for the shy young Fellow of Oriel." G. R. Stephenson
+ — N Y Times p18 S 12 '48 600w

"The author's independence of mind gives the book a curious flavor: one minute she is all objectivity, and the next she is absent-mindedly personal. Once she says she would like to 'shake' Newman for his moodiness; sometimes she finds him 'tiresome,' and occasionally she contradicts him as though they were facing one another in the parlor at Edgbaston. Her scorn of 'a rash of footnotes' is irritating, and she is blandly uncommunicative about her special sources. For all that, her book, though it lacks the ambience of Eleanor Ruggles's evocative essay on the same period of Newman's life, is a highly effective blend of fair-mindedness, shrewd analysis of intellectual currents, and warmth of portrayal." Riley Hughes
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:20 S 18 '48 650w

"Miss Ward's aim is not to provide a critical estimate of Newman but to trace objectively 'the development of this child into that man.' It is in this detailed, uncritical presentation that the value of her book lies. . . It would be wrong to suggest that Miss Ward has done no more than give us some new documents. She has sought to reconstruct the contemporary scene, and has brought to this task an admirable, if somewhat breathless, enthusiasm. Her obiter dicta are sometimes acute. . . Miss Ward has not written a bad book. It would have been better than it is if she had been less given to the use of such irritating expressions as 'Poor worried Dr. Pusey!' . . But there is also much excellently vivid description." Geoffrey Faber
+ — Spec 180:590 My 14 '48 650w

"Miss Ward says that it 'is not a student's book.' But students will have to use it. . . It is to be regretted that she did not see her way to giving the exact dates of all the letters she quotes. . . This well-informed, widely conceived and discerning narrative of the first half of Newman's life is likely to hold the field for a long time to come."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p353 Je 26 '48 2700w

WARD, MARY JANE (MRS EDWARD QUAYLE). Professor's umbrella. 313p $3 Random house

48-348

Novel of life in a midwestern college town. Gregory Kitner, English instructor, is fired on a trumped up morals charge. When he answers back he learns that the actual reason is the anti-semitism of the university president.

Booklist 44:234 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p7X F 15 '48 450w

"Miss Ward . . . lends her weight, commendably, to the effort some of our best writers are making to expose the 'gentlemen's agreement' type of Jew-baiting. The book, however, as a novel doesn't quite 'come off.' Nobody in it seems real. And fiction, no matter how imaginative, should make its characters and situations seem real. The reader gets the impression that this is a 'made' book." P. P. S.
— + Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 6 '48 550w

Kirkus 15:606 N 1 '47 340w

"Certain fundamentals are imperilled—discrimination, academic freedom, and intellectual integrity—and it is most unfortunate that the author does not point these up with more force and emphasis. Reader is led to anticipate decisive action from the faculty because of its convictions, yet nothing happens and the story expires on a weak, romantic note." E. P. Nichols
Library J 72:1686 D 1 '47 70w

"Miss Ward has done a thoroughly competent and, I should think, accurate job of presenting in fiction form what is a too common situation in our higher educational institutions at this moment. As a novel per se, 'The Professor's Umbrella' is unimportant. That it is briskly written and generally convincing is the best that can be said of it. But as a circumstantial report on still one more area where the gentleman's agreement operates effectively in democratic America it is cogent and valuable." F. H. Bullock
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 F 15 '48 450w

"The structure of the novel is full of a queer irresolution, as if the novelist had not made up her mind about what she wanted to have happen. The real theme is not alluded to until about a quarter of the way through. Then, abruptly, the hero turns out to be a Jew and the book jumps on to the growing shelf of novels about racial hatred. . . If Miss Ward has not succeeded in writing a good problem novel, she has certainly not altogether failed. In the characterization of Tom Dawson, for instance, she approaches the ideal to which the serious writer on serious issues must continuously address himself, neither the lifelike tale, nor the neat tract, nor one alternating with the other, but both fused throughout." Donald Barr
+ — N Y Times p24 Ja 11 '48 800w

"A rather tedious exposition of some extremely relevant problems."
New Yorker 23:98 F 21 '48 120w

Reviewed by Eleanor Breed
San Francisco Chronicle p21 Mr 21 '48 500w

Reviewed by H. M. Jones
Sat R of Lit 31:12 F 21 '48 550w

WARE, HARLAN. Wonderful Mrs. Ingram. (Whittlesey house publication) 264p $3 McGraw

48-8548

"The exposure of the human frailties of beautiful Mary Ingram by Dr. Gertrude Hanna. . . Mary, the writer of best sellers, and Pulitzer prize winner, is thought by all, including her family and herself, to be a perfect wife and mother. The eye-opening reveals neglected children, husband and home, and a vain, selfish, ambitious Mary. But all ends well with Mary in Hollywood and the children lovingly cared for by the father and Dr. Hanna." Library J

Booklist 45:68 O 15 '48

"The long-suffering husband and the other men involved are well delineated; and most of the characters are as natural as breathing. Small criticisms aside, this is a sparkling and quietly caustic tale." W. K. R.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 D 30 '48 180w

"Feminine fiction which is diverting, discerning."
+ Kirkus 16:347 Jl 15 '48 120w

"Well-written, intelligent novel. Recommended." Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 90w

"Mr. Ware tells his story capably and with professional finish. But he lacks the insight or the sense of satire which would make it a truly effective picture of female hypocrite."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p33 N 21 '48 150w

Reviewed by Florence Crowther
N Y Times p28 O 3 '48 360w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7B Ja 2 '49 240w

WARE, LEON. Shifting winds; il. by Frederick T. Chapman. (Whittlesey house publication) 186p $2 McGraw 48-6493

Story describing twelve-year-old Johnny's summer at a California beach with his father, just returned from the navy. Johnny becomes a sailing enthusiast and the high point of his vacation comes when he wins the "Flight of the snowbirds" race.

Booklist 44:321 My 15 '48

"Light touch, well done, and a good racing story into the bargain."
+ Kirkus 16:50 F 1 '48 130w

"There is a nice relationship between father and son. Recommended." Anne Izard
+ Library J 73:824 My 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 My 30 '48 250w

"Under all the fun, the new friendships, the vanquishing of the yacht club bully, there runs a poignant undercurrent, his dread that his widowed father will re-marry. The latter handles that problem with a sensitive understanding which brings warmth to an expertly written story, for 8 to 12 year olds." E. L. B.
+ N Y Times p31 Je 6 '48 140w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 120w

WAREN, HELEN. The buried are screaming; foreword by Bartley Crum. 186p $3 Beechhurst press
296 Jews—Persecutions. World war, 1939-1945—Jews 48-5537

The Jewish problem in Germany and Italy as seen by an American actress on a USO tour; and an account of her activities aiding displaced persons in Germany and seeking further support for them in the United States.

Booklist 44:276 Ap 15 '48

"Not a literary masterpiece, but burningly sincere. Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
Library J 73:334 F 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner
+ N Y Times p21 Ap 25 '48 470w

"Helen Waren relates the story of her crusade with simplicity and an occasional outburst of passion which heightens its tragic background. There are also a large number of exciting stories of war heroes and war victims in this moving, and occasionally amusing, book." H. B. Kranz
+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 Ap 17 '48 750w

"'The Buried Are Screaming' is as high-pitched and as strident in its style and subject matter as it is in its title. Miss Waren merely touches on things like the underground movement, and tells only enough to make one wish she had been more informative. Most of her book is like a clarion call for a rapid solution to the Jewish 'problem' of Europe, and gives little attention either to the immensity of the work to be done or to the difficulties that have beset civilian and military officials who have probably done the best they could to work out a complicated assignment." Donald Derby
— Springf'd Republican p12B Mr 21 '48 500w

WARFIELD, FRANCES (MRS JOHN THOMAS HACKETT). Cotton in my ears [decorations by Eileen Evans]. 152p $2.75 Viking
B or 92 Deafness 48-6249

Deafened, yet unwilling to admit it to others, the author lived in fear of the words: "What's the matter—cotton in your ears?" This state of affairs continued thru her school years and her two trips to Europe, but finally ended when at the age of 24, she realized the advantages of surrendering to a hearing aid.

Booklist 44:314 My 15 '48

Kirkus 16:40 Ja 15 '48 170w

"All interested in the deaf should read. Recommended for adults and especially for young people for the romance, the approach to life, and the understanding of the effect of deafness on character." G. E. Cartmell
+ Library J 73:826 My 15 '48 100w

"'Cotton in My Ears' is an amusing and sometimes touching record of what it means to hear badly. Miss Warfield asks and wants no sympathy for herself; she has had the grit she needed, and also the humor and charm, to make her own way. She does want to debunk in fellow sufferers the fear of having others realize that one is deaf and the folly of trying to keep that fact from them; and she wants, and has succeeded, in giving the thoughtless easy-of-hearing a pointed picture of what deafness is like." Mary Ross
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Jl 18 '48 500w

Reviewed by Florence Crowther
+ N Y Times p15 Je 20 '48 470w

"Miss Warfield narrates her experience with gaiety but, at the same time, she gives you more than an inkling of what it is like to have a physical handicap and the mental suffering it entails." J. V.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 2 '48 170w

+ Springf'd Republican p10B My 9 '48 350w

Wis Lib Bul 44:102 My '48

WARING, GILCHRIST. Three ships come sailing; a child's story of our country's birthplace, Jamestown in Virginia; pictures by Elmo Jones. 34p $2 Dietz
975.5425 Jamestown, Virginia—Juvenile literature 48-7871

A history of the colony of Jamestown. Grades 5-6.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:376 S '48 70w

"Useful introduction to the history of our country." M. F. Cox
+ Library J 73:1099 Ag '48 60w

WARING, PINCKNEY ALSTON. Peacock country; decorated by Vera Bock. 100p $3 Day
48-5319

Twenty-one stories of India, most of them from the Peacock state (Orissa). The theme of the tales is the unusual bond between animals and people, from the maharajah down to the farmer.

"The tales make his point. And they have a grave, direct quality that makes them most re-readable. Perception, honesty and clarity are Waring's more obvious assets." Leo Kennedy
+ Chicago Sun Mr 7 '48 180w

"A beautiful piece of bookmaking, with exquisite decorative drawings by Vera Bock. Not a book for a wide general market, but a book for the discriminating, who are interested in India, and the folk tales of people today."
+ Kirkus 16:54 F 1 '48 170w

"These tales could be retold to children—who probably would like them more than adults—but they are a bit too difficult for children to read. Enjoyable and beautifully illustrated." Anne Whitmore
Library J 73:337 F 15 '48 70w

WARING, P. A.—Continued

"These simple, totally artless sketches of men and animals trying to live together are sustained more by a quiet spirit of devotion and wonder than by a love of plot; they do not, like Kipling's jungle tales, attempt to create an exotic world out of prosaic fundamentals. They are fresh and true, and charm by their unpretentiousness. . . Vera Bock's sketches and decorations are delightful and seem to reflect much the same partiality for Indian form and rhythms which is at the root of Mr. Waring's reminiscences. This book is for adults, but I cannot escape the impression that 'The Peacock Country' would also make an excellent and entirely suitable juvenile offering." J. G. Hitrec

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 29 '48 320w

"In New England this small volume would be said to be 'choice,' and I can find no country-wide equivalent for that adjective to convey the rare and delicate beauty of 'The Peacock Country.' . . Vera Bock's highly stylized illustrations add enormously to the beauty of the book." Pamela Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 31:21 Ap 3 '48 500w

WARNER, ESTHER SIETMANN. New song in a strange land; with decorations by Jo Dendel. 302p $3.50 Houghton

916.66 Liberia—Social life and customs

48-7157

When the author went to Liberia she decided "to find deep beauty and song in daily living in this country. It was not a ready-made happiness; it had to be discovered. For myself and my household I would have to find the way to make a new song in a strange land." (p.50) This is the story of how she lived up to her resolution during her sojourn among the natives on a rubber plantation. The author is a sculptress and Liberian native handicraft is the object of many of her pursuits described in the book.

"Mrs. Warner writes with a true ear for lingo and with a sense of humor that made her easily at home. . . Her prose is graphic and objective, and although her emotions are seldom deeply involved, she leaves no doubt of 'the intrinsic fineness and the amazing culture of the native tribesmen.'" Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 181:108 Je '48 550w

Booklist 44:351 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by Ralph Habas

Chicago Sun p8X Je 27 '48 400w

Reviewed by E. D. Canham

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 700w

"Mrs. Warner, the dust-cover says, is a 'professional hobbyist' and she has a wonderful ear, and Jo Bendel, who has done the illustrations, has a great facility for catching the liveliness of Liberia in the feat. But a certain smugness informs this book, a certain see-how-near-the-native-I-can-get." Anne Fremantle

+ — Commonweal 48:384 Jl 30 '48 390w

+ Kirkus 16:192 Ap 1 '48 130w

"Book is full of enchanting pigeon English conversations with lovable houseboys, crafty traders and simple villagers. These delightfully related experiences engender respect not only for the innate worth of native peoples, but also for an author who successfully disregards house-keeping limitations, dangerous surroundings and tropical discomforts. Unusually worthwhile." L. R. Miller

+ Library J 73:707 My 1 '48 140w

"When man or woman gets under the skin of a land and people and writes of them truly and with a beauty that comes, not merely from a facility with words, but from sensitiveness, knowledge and real passion, that is an experience. 'New Song in a Strange Land' belongs with the few." M. C. Hubbard

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Je 6 '48 1150w

Reviewed by Ray Pierre

+ N Y Times p10 Je 27 '48 260w

San Francisco Chronicle p18 Jl 4 '48 500w

"[Mrs Warner's] account is refreshingly feminine and unfailingly cheerful. Unfortunately, it isn't always easy to understand. In her zeal to brighten her story with dialogue, Mrs. Warner has spattered about half of it with Liberian pidgin talk like this: 'Boy-part nice fini' or 'It be sweet soap you dash me yesterday.' There should have been an Engliberian glossary." John Barkham

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:12 Je 19 '48 550w

Wis Lib Bul 44:148 S '48

WARNER, SYLVIA TOWNSEND. Corner that held them. 367p $3 Viking

48-8895

A novel relating the events, small and large, tragic and trivial, which were the history of the Convent of Oby in England during the period from the Black Death (1349) to the Peasant Uprising (1382).

Booklist 45:104 N 15 '48

"It is a pity that Miss Warner's active imagination, flexible pen and knowledge of fourteenth century England were not put to better use than the writing of this dreary book."

— Cath World 168:334 Ja '49 150w

Reviewed by Dorothy Sparks

Chicago Sun p9X N 28 '48 200w

"The whole book is mosaic, is tapestry, is the most colorful weaving. And the details are exquisite as capitals in illuminated manuscripts, the curl of a B's loops or the filigree of an M: sardonic humor peppering the whole. . . Superb writing: it has a digested, masticated majesty that gives an ache of pleasure." Anne Fremantle

+ Commonweal 49:178 N 26 '48 1200w

"Here is an effective re-creation of a phase of medieval England, complete as to atmosphere, mood and pace, but for this reader at any rate, wholly lacking in that deep emotional quality which made Peter Abelard and Kristin Lavransdatter timeless classics. There is humor, ribaldry, uniquely detailed; more like a tapestry than a novel."

+ — Kirkus 16:449 S 1 '48 180w

"Many readers prefer history as history, but those who read Helen Waddell with pleasure will revel in this story of abbey life in 14th century England. Miss Warner's story is like the gold embroidered altar cloth that plays a fascinating part in this novel. There is endless beautiful detail, warm good humor, a great deal of scheming, lusty life that belongs to the Canterbury pilgrim days." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 73:1194 S 1 '48 110w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset

Manchester Guardian p3 D 4 '48 180w

Reviewed by Iris Barry

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 N 7 '48 600w

"'The Corner That Held Them' is a remarkable feat of living into another period, of making it immediately present to all the physical senses and to common sense as well. Miss Warner is not exploiting the past for romance or quaintness, to escape something or find something or sell us medievalism, but rather to deepen our sense of the common human lot, its limits and possibilities." R. G. Davis

+ N Y Times p5 O 31 '48 850w

"A lucid and minute dissection of fourteenth-century English convent life, executed in a remarkably fine-grained and precise prose."

+ New Yorker 24:145 N 13 '48 140w

"Much of the appeal of the novel may be traced to Miss Warner's masterful resuscitation of medieval times, for she has not only recaptured the gusty full-bloodedness of that age but has positively drawn life-size figures which might have sprung from the pages of Balzac's 'Droll Stories.' Still there is no pandering toward the sensational in this book." Richard McLaughlin

+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 D 4 '48 650w

"As far as period details are concerned I do not know whether the novel is accurate or not, but it is something more—it is entertaining. Miss Warner's survey of thirty-three years of life in the convent of Oby is from start to finish a mild, sustained delight, never during its three hundred and ten pages jarring one by any obvious error in the drawing of her long pageant of characters." Olivia Manning

+ Spec 181:744 D 3 '48 600w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn

Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 9 '49 240w

"The form of the novel is outwardly as ramshackle as the convent buildings; the story meanders over two generations and need never have stopped, but this is a licence that may be allowed to the charm, the wit and the speculation which make the book very remarkable."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p709 D 18 '48 270w

WARREN, AUSTIN. Rage for order; essays in criticism. 165p $3 Univ. of Chicago press

804 Literature—History and criticism 48-5447

Essays on the works of nine metaphysical poets and novelists. Contents: Edward Taylor; George Herbert; Alexander Pope; Gerard Manley Hopkins; William Butler Yeats; Nathaniel Hawthorne; Franz Kafka; E. M. Forster; Henry James. Index.

"Perhaps it is possible to string such disparate beads as Herbert, Pope, Yeats, Kafka, and Henry James on an imaginary thread which Professor Warren calls 'the metaphysical tradition,' but he fails to convince his reader that these figures were animated to an unusual degree by what he calls a 'rage for order.' Their critic, in this case, seems clearly in love with word-catching. Bizarre phrases, erudition, meticulous analysis of the prosody of poets and the plots of novelists, obviously fill his soul with zeal. For the teacher of literature and his students, there is much of value in this little book of nine essays; for the writer too and the would-be novelist. If, however, one is seeking great ideas, or even the evidences of what the publisher's fanfare calls 'an agonizing spiritual search for meaning in an apparently chaotic universe,' one's money may be spent to better advantage." J. L. Davis

— + Christian Century 65:543 Je 2 '48 500w

Reviewed by Paul Dinkins

Commonweal 48:361 Jl 23 '48 480w

Current Hist 15:227 O '48 40w

"These essays are in themselves the product of a coherent and civilized intelligence. Both instructive and brilliant, they more than repay that debt to their magazine sources, which Mr. Warren acknowledges. They do honor, indeed, to contemporary criticism, no less than contemporary education, and it is gratifying to observe how intimately these two have come together." Mark Schorer

+ N Y Times p6 Mr 14 '48 700w

"It is to be hoped, and with some fervor, that these essays will come to the attention of many of the toiling critics and reviewers who are currently loosing their labored and uncouth studies upon the literary magazine. For it is fast becoming remarkable that the writer's constant adversaries, pedantry and bad prose, have escaped the compounds of academic publications and have blundered upon the field of the little magazine and the literary press. If contemporary literature is to be saved the disaster of complete devaluation, it must be by the efforts of such thoughtful and unaffected critics as Austin Warren." H. C.

+ Poetry 72:318 S '48 1100w

"Mr. Warren displays a remarkable versatility both in subject matter and in critical technique. He utilizes the traditional scholarly equipment of history of ideas and biography, but he reveals also a devoted interest in the close reading of texts. More important, Mr. Warren's conception of the rage for order provides a justification for literary criticism that is absent from most recent critical writing." Henry Popkin

+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 Jl 31 '48 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p542 S 25 '48 1100w

"The range of subjects in these essays is wide, from the seventeenth century to a living author. Studies of five poets, Herbert, Pope, Hopkins, Yeats, and the 'Baroque Primitive' seventeenth-century American Edward Taylor are included, and of four novelists, Hawthorne, Kafka, E. M. Forster, and Henry James. Yet the essays, written over a ten-year span—1936-46—are unified by the title theme and the temperament of a sensitive and thoughtful critic."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:136 Je '48 260w

Reviewed by C. A. Smart

Yale R n s 38:164 autumn '48 550w

WARREN, CARL NELSON. Radio news writing and editing. 439p $4 Harper

070.4 Radio news 48-240

"The preparation of news to be broadcast and the work of the staff who are writing and editing news copy are explained in this book for radio writers." (Cleveland Open Shelf) Radio news glossary. Five-minute newscast script. Index.

"The author takes his readers through the routines of a typical imaginary radio newsroom, demonstrating thoroughly and realistically the purposes and techniques involved in the work of each member of the news staff."

Booklist 44:194 F 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48

Wis Lib Bul 44:211 D '48

WARREN, CHARLES MARQUIS. Valley of the shadow. 255p $2.75 Doubleday 48-8339

"Lieut. John Reardon, Cavalry, U. S. A., fought the Apache chieftain Deesohay for four years. Some day, the young officer swore, he would decoy the wily Indian into a position where B Company could annihilate the red outlaws with charge and counter-charge. 'Valley of the Shadow' tells of that feud and of the men whom Reardon led, not to victory but to a crushing defeat." N Y Times

"A dramatically, masculinely toned tale, competently handled."

+ Kirkus 16:318 Jl 1 '48 160w

"Mr. Warren writes a hard-bitten prose, and has created some striking characters. . . If you are allergic to scalping, burnings, and similar campfire orgies, this is not your story."

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 S 19 '48 240w

"Mr. Warren writes with brutal strength, but is at his best in the portrayal of his minor characters, the men of B Company. . . The lack of basic research, however, is painfully apparent. . . The Apache Indians did not wear feathered bonnets or war-paint, scalping was not one of their customs, and an alliance between the Apaches and the Sioux—would have been preposterous." Hoffman Birney

— + N Y Times p47 N 14 '48 450w

WARREN, JOHN RUSSELL. This inward horror. 256p $2.75 Dutton 48-3435

Mystery story.

"Experimental, exploratory, this pursues the tangent of transmigration with speculative suspense."

Kirkus 16:242 My 15 '48 130w

"A neatly adventurous story." Donald Wasson

+ Library J 73:945 Je 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 25 '48 70w

WARREN, J. R.—Continued

"The author has told his story with such consummate skill that the reader is prepared to believe almost anything." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p20 Ag 29 '48 180w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ag 22 '48 20w

"Readable fantasy."
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ag 14 '48 40w

WARREN, ROBERT PENN. Circus in the attic, and other stories. 276p $3 Harcourt
48-5123

Fourteen stories by the author of All the King's Men (Book Review Digest 1946). All but the title piece have been published earlier, some dating back to the early 1930's. Contents: The circus in the attic; Blackberry winter; When the light gets green; Christmas gift; Goodwood comes back; The patented gate and the mean hamburger; A Christian education; The love of Elsie Barton: a chronicle; Testament of flood; The confession of Brother Grimes; Her own people; The life and work of Professor Roy Millen; The unvexed isles; Prime leaf.

Booklist 44:217 F 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p5X Ja 25 '48 470w

"Surely and deliberately, he creates atmosphere. Its tone is one of quietness. Trees hang heavy, dust is thick, air is still, creeks are sluggish, voices are slow and low. The mood is one of sober disillusionment, but, all the same, life is worth while, for there are decency and honor. The reader is always impressed with that sense of continuity. Some of the stories have sudden, violent endings, but these, too, are only episodes in the continuity of life. Most of the stories are like bits chipped out of a cycle." W. K. R.
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 30 '48 350w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle
Commonweal 47:547 Mr 12 '48 550w

Kirkus 16:34 Ja 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by Margaret Marshall
Nation 166:216 F 21 '48 800w

"The variety of the stories and the range of character are proof of a strong inventive imagination. . . The stories have a kind of delayed-action effect; they are written with a skill that first of all effaces itself, and the ironic detachment of the prose belies the intensity of its subjects." John Farrelly
+ New Repub 118:32 Ja 26 '48 150w

"One story in this book, 'Goodwood Comes Back,' has—believe it or not—a faint flavor of Ring Lardner. . . At least one other sounds almost, if not quite, like O. Henry, revealing a sneaking fondness for that surprise-ending technique which once beguiled a generation of young short-story writers. . . The evidence at hand would seem to indicate that Mr. Warren is more at home in the novelette than in the short story proper. It makes one wonder why he failed to include in this collection his excellent novelette 'Cass Mastern's Wedding Ring,' which appeared in Martha Foley's 'Best American Short Stories' for 1945." Richard Match
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ja 25 '48 750w

"One feels, especially in some of the later stories, that Warren is trying too hard. When he wrote 'Prime Leaf,' he was content to tell a straightforward story, and he told it extraordinarily well. Now, under his compulsion to bring out larger implications, he winds into his tales. His convolutions are invariably interesting, but one misses the clarity and drive of 'Prime Leaf.' On the other hand, he has become adroit in handling the devices that he seems to find necessary and he has developed a colloquial style that is just about as good as anything one can find in contemporary literature. He has also acquired greater and greater subtlety in his explorations of personality." Granville Hicks
+ — N Y Times p5 Ja 25 '48 1100w

"The title piece . . . is easily the most finished item in a group of stories that illustrate Mr. Warren's ability to handle various narrative methods with almost equal facility and to transform the tribulations of such dissimilar people as tobacco farmers and college professors into uniformly satisfactory fiction."
New Yorker 23:80 Ja 24 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 3 '48 600w

"Despite the occasional triumphs of the earlier pieces, none of them, is an entirely satisfactory thing-in-itself. They suggest, in fact, that Mr. Warren is a novelist rather than a short-story writer. . . 'The Circus in the Attic' confirms the impression left by 'All the King's Men' that within the past couple of years Mr. Warren has raised himself to a new command over his materials and by that fact has entered the first rank of American writers." H. N. Smith
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:14 Ja 31 '48 800w

"Each story has a rural or small-town setting and is marked by a notebook quality of careful, detailed observation. But with the exception of the novelette Prime Leaf—in which Warren dramatically illustrates the varying extremes of behavior shown by tobacco-growers when they are driven into a corner by ruthless buyers—there is not one story that rises from notebook level to finished fiction."
Time 51:101 Ja 26 '48 350w

"There are a number of capabilities apparent in this collection, among them an ear for the characteristic rhythms and homely idioms of Southern rural speech, a strong sense of the uses and beauties of tangible things which gives a factual authority, an ability to discern and to depict those subtleties of balance and imbalance by which inward character is revealed, with, at the same time, a readiness to deal in straight action when the development of a story requires it."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:140 Je '48 250w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 37:575 spring '48 400w

WARREN, WILLIAM STEPHEN. Saddles up! ride 'em high; pictures by the author. 224p $2.50 McKay
48-8281

"Picture of the fall roundup on a large western ranch. Story tells of young Danny Barton, a sure-enough cowboy and his part in some exciting adventures including the capture of a grizzly bear." Library J

"There is a satisfying authenticity all through the book. But then, the author is an old cowhand and has a knack of concentrating the highlights of his memories into a spicy tale." M. B. King
+ Chicago Sun O 9 '48 140w

"A real western, written by one who grew up on a ranch. . . Pictures are full of action and atmosphere." L. S. B.
+ Commonweal 49:158 N 19 '48 50w

Kirkus 16:440 S 1 '48 80w

"Recommended for younger readers in children's rooms." M. D. Read
+ Library J 73:1391 O 1 '48 50w

WARRINER, DOREEN. Land and poverty in the Middle East. 149p maps pa $2.50 Royal inst. of int. affairs

333.3 East (Near East)—Economic conditions. Land tenure—East (Near East)
[48-3636]

An attempt to present up-to-date information on economic conditions and social problems in Egypt, Palestine, Transjordan, Syria, Lebanon, and Iraq. This is the first of a series of studies on Middle East economic and social conditions to be sponsored by the Royal Institute. Bibliography. Index. Maps.

"This pleasantly readable book is a rare novelty in the field of Middle Eastern economics, as the materials hitherto available have dealt mainly with Palestine and have usually been limited to official British reports and Zionist publications." George Lenczowski
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:829 Ag '48 290w

Am Soc R 13:648 O '48 150w

"Miss Warriner's monograph is the first in a series planned by the Royal Institute to cover the various aspects of the economy of the Middle East. If the remaining volumes reach the same level, the series will prove to be one of the most useful of its kind." Charles Issawi
+ N Y Times p20 N 28 '48 380w

"A scholarly and well-documented study." Ali Aghassi
+ Pol Sci Q 63:618 D '48 480w

"Particularly relevant at this time, when further attempts to raise food production levels are in prospect under international auspices, are Miss Warriner's clear explanations of what can and cannot be done under the prevailing systems of land use in the Middle East; her discussion of water rights and of the differences between the problems of cultivation in the Nile basin, say, and those in the arid spaces of the Syrian plain." G. G. Stevens
+ Survey G 37:273 My '48 420w

WARTH, ALBIN HENRY. Chemistry and technology of waxes. 519p il $10 Reinhold
665.2 Waxes 47-7188

"The chapters include Chemical Components of Waxes, The Natural Waxes, Fossil Waxes, Earth Waxes, and Lignite Paraffins, Petroleum Waxes, Synthetic Waxes and Wax Compounds, Emulsifiable Waxes, Waxy Acids and Metallic Soaps, Methods for Determining the Constants of Waxes, and Wax Technology—Uses in Industry. The last chapter comprises one quarter of the book and is on industrial application of waxes." Library J

"The unreliability of the chemical sections of this book is augmented by a fusion of meaningless, inaccurate, and loose statements. . . Incomplete references and clumsy sentence structure throughout the book and to the annoyance of the reader. However, modern wax technology is adequately presented. The chapters on petroleum waxes, synthetic compounds, and the newer modified waxes, together with the final chapter on the use of waxes in industry, should be useful to the practical man." J. Fitelson
+ — Chem & Eng N 26:1246 Ap 26 '48 370w

"The reviewer finds a minor disagreement in the discussion of waxes from gum resins in that the author classifies damar wax as a wax, while it is actually a resene, and such a classification should cause him to include waxes from materials like batu and the related semi-fossil resinous materials. . . Considering the complexity of the job, the author has brought forth a comprehensive detailed addition to the literature which will be welcomed by those interested in this field. A difficult, exhaustive, and time-consuming job has been very well done and has resulted in a very readable and informative book." C. L. Mantell
+ — Chem Eng 55:328 My '48 600w

"The most up-to-date complete technical book on the chemistry and description of waxes and their uses in the arts and in industry. . . Many valuable tables and formulas. The book is replete with references." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 73:124 Ja 15 '48 100w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:222 Je '48 220w

WASHINGTON, GEORGE. Basic writings; ed. with an introd. and notes, by Saxe Commins. 697p $4.50 Random house
973.41 U.S.—History—Sources 48-7853

A selection of Washington's writings describing his participation in the events of his nation's history, from the age of twenty-one to his will written in 1799. The 242 items included are taken from the Bicentennial commission's thirty-nine volume edition of the Writings of George Washington. Index.

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

Chicago Sun p7X S 19 '48 50w

"A book for students, for schools, colleges and public libraries."
+ Kirkus 16:299 Je 15 '48 160w

"Nothing new is offered. . . Not meant for the serious research worker, the volume certainly will do much to explain Washington, the military man and the President, and will throw light on his times. For larger libraries." P. R. Bartolini
Library J 73:1021 Jl '48 100w

Reviewed by D. J. Boorstin
Nation 168:48 Ja 8 '49 180w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 S 12 '48 360w

"[Mr. Commins's] selections are judicious and intelligent. His connecting tissue of explanatory headnotes presents facts necessary to an understanding of individual selections without burying them beneath a mass of detail. . . One might wish that Mr. Commins had included just a few more selections which presented Washington the man rather than the Statesman or the Man-on-Horseback." William Peden
+ — N Y Times p3 Ag 29 '48 1250w

"Valuable material, both for the general reader and for the student."
+ New Yorker 24:81 S 4 '48 150w

Reviewed by Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:19 S 18 '48 800w

WATKINS, ALEX (J. LANE LINKLATER, pseud). And she had a little knife. 250p $2.50 Mill 48-8340

Detective story.

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
Kirkus 16:348 Jl 15 '48 70w

N Y Times p33 O 10 '48 160w

"Not much fuss, but a nice economy of presentation."
New Yorker 24:108 O 2 '48 90w

WATKINS, ALEX (J. LANE LINKLATER, pseud). Bishop's cap. 220p $2.50 Mill 48-6170

Detective story.

"Slightly irregular, slightly off-center Perry Masonish, Booth ties up his case with no liabilities as he pins the crimes where they should be. For the unexacting."
Kirkus 16:35 Ja 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 My 9 '48 90w

"Despite Booth's unethical procedure, employed as it is only against malefactors, one cannot help admiring the man." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p20 Ap 18 '48 130w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 23 '48 50w

"Can't hand much to any of people in yarn, but Booth & Co.'s impudent, wise-cracking detecting is clever and amusing. Middlin.'"
Sat R of Lit 31:43 Ap 24 '48 60w

WATKINS, FREDERICK MUNDELL. Political tradition of the West; a study in the development of modern liberalism. 368p $5 Harvard univ. press
323.4 Political science—History. Liberalism
48-8502

"An analysis is made of the problems of modern liberalism with a survey of the problems to be faced in the crisis of the present day." (School & Society) No index.

Booklist 45:86 N 1 '48

WATKINS, F. M.—Continued

"Here is a book that well deserves the attention of every thoughtful citizen. It is meant for the intelligent public, not particularly for the scholar." R. M. MacIver

+ N Y Times p38 N 14 '48 1000w

School & Society 68:240 O 2 '48 30w

WATKINS, JOHN VERTREES. ABC of orchid growing. 134p il $3 Ziff-Davis

635.93415 Orchids Agr48-417

Handbook on orchid culture for amateur or commercial grower. Contains a section on general culture, and one on special culture of the genera. Glossary of terms used by orchidists. Index.

Booklist 45:28 S 15 '48

"John Watkins knows his orchids, and into this small volume he has packed the essence of that knowledge with a thoroughness that leaves no excuse for uncertainties. If the book has a fault, it is in the assumption of more familiarity with technical terms than many non-professional readers are likely to possess."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ja 2 '49 110w

WATKINS, VERNON. Selected poems. 92p $3 New directions

821

Selections from the poet's two books published in England: The Ballad of the Mari Lwyd and The Lamp and the Veil. "Watkins is a Welshman. In his verse he draws to some extent upon Welsh legend, but he is essentially an English poet in the great tradition." (Publisher's note)

"Introduces to Americans a new, young Welsh poet of distinction and character." Leo Kennedy

+ Chicago Sun Jl 12 '48 50w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries

Nation 167:471 O 23 '48 600w

"The book begins somewhat unpromisingly, but rises to powerful instances of verbal and conceptual splendor." Richard Eberhart

+ — N Y Times p12 Ag 8 '48 350w

"Watkins' lyrics and imagery, although melodious and colorful, are thin, and incongruously stiffened here and there with implications of the later Yeats."

New Yorker 24:84 S 4 '48 20w

"His meaning is sometimes obscure, but becomes less so as more poems are read, for Watkins' associations are not hidden or arbitrary, and there are no erudite mystifications. Where the difficulties are not intrinsic, they are largely a matter of syntax, which is sacrificed to the poetry." R. G. Davis

Poetry 73:170 D '48 800w

Reviewed by Thomas Ferril

San Francisco Chronicle p19 D 5 '48 70w

Reviewed by G. P. Meyer

Sat R of Lit 31:32 O 9 '48 280w

WATKINS-PITCHFORD, DENYS JAMES (B. B. pseud), comp. Shooting man's bedside book; il. by [the compiler]. 479p $5 Scribner

799.2 English literature—Collections. Hunting. Nature 48-11357

A collection of stories, essays, and poems by famous writers on nature and the joys of hunting. The editor is also the compiler and illustrator of The Fisherman's Bedside Book (Book Review Digest 1946).

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson

Library J 74:63 Ja 1 '49 50w

"A one-book library for the sportsman, this tremendous collection of good things manages to get into portable form any amount of delight."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 D 12 '48 140w

"A collection of extremely readable and adult British pieces of writing about the outdoors of woods and fields. . . All in all, a delightful pot-pourri."

+ New Yorker 24:183 D 4 '48 120w

WATSON, MRS HELEN (ORR). White Boots; il. by Marie C. Nichols. 180p $2.50 Houghton

Dogs—Legends and stories 48-8676

The story of a thorobred Boston bull terrier named White Boots. Boots was stolen from her master in Puerto Rico, and before she found him again she had covered a good bit of the island, and helped both humans and animals out of some tight spots.

Booklist 45:125 D 1 '48

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson

Cath World 168:220 D '48 130w

"Good factual background of the island (where, incidentally, the author lives with her own Boston terrier) gives this additional value, and White Boots seems a very real small dog."

+ Kirkus 16:528 O 1 '48 100w

"It is for this picture of Puerto Rican life that the book is particularly good." M. B. Snow

+ Library J 73:1746 D 1 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 O 24 '48 180w

"A good dog story."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:42 N 13 '48 30w

WATSON, MRS LILLIAN (EICHLER). Standard book of letter writing. 626p $5 Prentice-Hall

395 Letter writing 48-6584

"This handbook is based on ten year's study and analysis of ideas that worked. . . There's reading matter on famous letter writers, on etiquette of when and why to write, as well as how; on personality in letter writing; on being well groomed as well as well mannered in your letters. The main body of the text follows the routine outline, with perhaps more on the choice of paper, on spelling, grammar, punctuation, construction than in some of the old handbooks. The material is divided into various classifications: social, personal, business, club, children's letters." (Kirkus) Index.

Booklist 44:346 Je 15 '48

"Stream-lined, without sacrifice of standards—a good job and a useful one. . . Excellent—both in form and content."

+ Kirkus 16:43 Ja 15 '48 170w

New Eng Q 21:287 Je '48 20w

WATSON, VIRGINIA CRUSE. Trail of courage; a story of New Amsterdam; il. by Marcia Brown. 181p $2.50 Coward-McCann

48-4402

"It was in the days of Peter Stuyvesant that a young girl, orphaned on the voyage from Holland, came to the little town hoping to find a home there. Through the adventures that befell Ulrica in an unkind household, later with friendly Indians and generous townsfolk, Virginia Watson brings to life some of the early history of New Amsterdam and its people. Ulrica is a brave, resourceful girl determined to lead an independent life; she will interest young people by the way she meets her difficulties. The story reveals how life went on in the old Dutch colony." Horn Bk

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:375 S '48 90w

"Excellent supplementary reading for sixth and seventh grades."

+ Kirkus 16:309 Jl 1 '48 120w

"Rather stodgy writing, but a good picture of the day." G. E. Cartmell

Library J 73:1391 O 1 '48 60w

"There is always room, especially for New York children, for another good tale about New Amsterdam, and this is it. The writing is a little stiff, and the use of the archaic 'thee' and 'thou,' which children dislike, adds little. But there are believable adventures enough to keep any boy or girl alert." Margaret Ernst

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 S 5 '48 270w

"Girls from 10 upward will enjoy the vivid pictures of Indian and Colonial life, and will find Ulrica's story an absorbing one." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p11 S 5 '48 150w

"The writing has both vigor and restraint."
+ New Yorker 24:130 D 11 '48 90w

WATTS, ALAN WILSON. Behold the spirit; a study in the necessity of mystical religion. 254p $3.25 Pantheon bks.

149.3 Mysticism 47-11186

"The essence of the Christian religion, as Mr. Watts sees it, is what the mystics call 'the practice of the presence of God.' Christianity exists to open the eyes of men to the presence of God, not to involve them in social movements nor to correct their morality, nor even to assure them of immortality predicated on the orthodoxy of their beliefs. He buttresses this presentation of Christianity with the prologue of St. John's gospel, wherein the Christ is the divine logos, immanent in creative activity and the light that enlightens all men and not merely those who chance to have knowledge of the vocables that go to form the name 'Jesus.' He does not advocate discarding the forms of traditional Christianity. He, himself, is an Episcopalian minister and chaplain to the Episcopal students at Northwestern University. In the ritual and verbal forms of Christianity he finds the best available expression of what he calls 'incarnational mysticism'; that is, the awakening of the soul to understand that the earth is not so contemptible that God will not wear it for his robe." (San Francisco Chronicle) Bibliography. No index.

Reviewed by Graham Hunter
Christian Century 65:273 Mr 3 '48 550w

"There is no doubt that this book was written with some kind of inspiration and a deep and loving passion for the things of the Spirit. The joy of discovery and the imagery of a creative thinker is all over it. That it is repetitious, that it is prone to simplification, that it often jars by substituting a word or a concept to bridge chasms of facts are shortcomings which the enthusiasm of discovery will excuse. . . The vast field plowed up by Mr. Watts makes it impossible through sheer extent for this reviewer to do him justice. . . Mr. Watts has created work for a whole school of scholars, inside and outside our walls. We owe him prayers and thanks for his courage, skill, and diligence." H. A. Reinhold
Commonweal 48:454 Ag 20 '48 1400w

Reviewed by E. M. Tainton
San Francisco Chronicle p8 N 30 '47 350w

WAUGH, ALEC. Unclouded summer; a love story. 289p $3 Farrar, Straus 48-5604

The love story of an American artist, and the young wife of an elderly English diplomat. The background is England and the French Riviera in 1926, with a brief closing chapter in England during the second World war.

"A conventional lightweight romance, recommended for a spring vacation in Bermuda or as antidote to the Kinsey Report."
Atlantic 181:120 Ap '48 110w

Booklist 44:268 Ap 1 '48

"With a sophistication of handling which includes a certain amount of dalliance, physical as well as sentimental, this is for women, but not all public libraries."
Kirkus 15:658 D 1 '47 170w

"Light conventional love story with little to offer library readers." J. E. Cross
Library J 73:338 F 15 '48 80w

"It is to Mr. Waugh's credit that he recreates without making antique his slight people and his stock situation. Yet it is a plot that never thickens." B. V. Winebaum
N Y Times p18 F 29 '48 600w

"To judge by this novel, Alec Waugh shares his brother Evelyn's enthusiasm for acreage and big country houses but lacks his talent for transmitting that admiration to a wage-earning public."
New Yorker 24:97 Mr 6 '48 120w

"It's all pretty conventional. . . Never once does sincerity touch the narrative into credibility, not even in the coda, in which the two lovers, now both middle-aged, recapitulate the days of their passion, like Mimi and Rudolphe resinging their memories in La Bohème. It all reads like the sound track of an indifferent Hollywood movie. It is what in some places it intends to satirize." Horace Reynolds
Sat R of Lit 31:12 F 28 '48 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p5 Ja 1 '49 180w

WAUGH, EVELYN. Loved one. 164p $2.50 Little 48-7279

Satirical novel describing the tragic love affair of Dennis Barlow, a worker in a Hollywood pet cemetery, and Aimée Thanatogenos, a cosmetician in a de luxe mortuary.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:104 Jl '48 700w

Booklist 44:368 Jl 1 '48

"Obviously this is no story of human passions and problems, but rather what its author describes as a literary nightmare. It is true that no one unconscious of ideals betrayed can be a true satirist. But there is a fascination in imaginative irony for its own sake, which Rabelais and Swift and Wilde found and Waugh is finding. As a quondam magazine article this diatribe had a devastating effect. Whether it was worth further time and energy from one of our most artistic and perceptive Catholic novelists is another question." Katherine Brégy
Cath World 167:570 S '48 360w

Reviewed by J. S. Kennedy
Cath World 168:212 D '48 90w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p6X Jl 4 '48 400w

Reviewed by J. F. Powers
Commonweal 48:326 Jl 16 '48 1850w

— Kirkus 16:220 My 1 '48 180w

"High satirical humor that gets into the macabre—and probably too much of both for collections. . . Needed only in comprehensive fiction collections." R. E. Kingery
— Library J 73:946 Je 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Alistair Cooke
Manchester Guardian p3 N 19 '48 480w

"This novel brings up sharply the whole subject of hate in literature and its debilitating effect on the creative intelligence. To compare it with Christopher Isherwood's 'Prater Violet,' which, among other things, is a satirical account of the English motion-picture industry, is to clarify Waugh's failure. Ultimately Isherwood dislikes his subject quite as much as Waugh does. His picture is more devastating because he is everywhere in control. His comprehension of what he is writing about is complete. In 'The Loved One' there is no comprehension or control, only a calculated series of shocks." Ernest Jones
— Nation 167:132 Jl 31 '48 700w

"While this satire of the California (and hence presumably American) mentality is written with more than Waugh's customary precision and economy, he reveals himself in the end as lacking that imaginative compassion which throws the most savage satire into still bolder relief. This failure of constructive insight shows itself even in his choice of subject—the elaborate and prettifying burial customs of upper-middle-class California society. . . It is really more an exposure of Waugh's own weaknesses as a novelist, Waugh

WAUGH, EVELYN—Continued
presents the satire in skeletal form without taking the trouble to vitalize or flesh his jerky caricatures." W. S. Graham
— + New Repub 118:28 Ap 26 '48 400w

"As a piece of writing it is nearly faultless; as satire it is an act of devastation, an angry, important, moral effort that does not fail. The Loved One is not outrageous but outraged; sickened but not sickening; its macabre humor is the shocked, protective laughter of the civilized man confronted with the unassimilable horror that permits no other means of rejection." John Woodburn
+ New Repub 119:24 Jl 26 '48 1000w

Reviewed by R. D. Smith
New Statesman & Nation 36:528 D 11 '48 1100w

Reviewed by Iris Barry
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Je 27 '48 700w

Reviewed by A. S. Morris
+ N Y Times p1 Je 27 '48 1400w

"Never before that I can remember has a talent of such austere and classic design been applied to such monstrous vulgarities; never before have the majestic themes of love and death been so delicately perverted to absurdity. 'The Loved One' represents the perfection of an attitude that was first expressed in 'Decline and Fall' and 'Vile Bodies.' . . It is certainly a work of art, as rich and subtle and unnerving as anything its author has ever done." Wolcott Gibbs
+ New Yorker 24:71 Je 26 '48 1750w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 22 '48 950w

"A clever trifle, which will be enjoyed by many readers, and condemned by others as being in the worst of taste." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 Je 26 '48 1100w

"If there are a few dull moments they concern perhaps the Guru Brahmin—who though funny has been done in one form or another before—and the (prose) wooing by Dennis of Aimee Thanatogenos. But the wooing of Aimee by Mr. Joyboy, the chief embalmer, Mr. Joyboy's relationship with his Mom and the final solution of the Dennis-Aimee-Joyboy triangle form, together with Sir Ambrose Abercrombie and the early touching portrait of Sir Francis Hinsley, the decaying Georgian hack, one of the funniest pieces of writing that Mr. Waugh has ever done. . . No one should let himself be put off by squeamishness from reading this macabre farce, for it is in fact a moral tale bringing us face to face with the full fatuousness and bankruptcy of our own civilisation. If we are horrified by this story it is something in ourselves that horrifies us, and that is just. . . It is, Mr. Waugh's greatness as a satirist that, although his characters are in themselves completely improbable, they are not impossible, for they are merely logical extensions of all too real human beings." Robert Lee
+ Spec 180:296 Mr 5 '48 450w
Time 52:86 Jl 12 '48 3250w
Times [London] Lit Sup p652 N 20 '48 3350w

"A trivial but brilliantly amusing satire. Gruesome and revolting though it is, this short and virulent book is unquestionably funny, unquestionably clever." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 38:190 autumn '48 180w

WAUGH, HILLARY. Hope to die. 188p $2 Coward-McCann
48-6729

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun My 7 '48 130w

"Lively action, thrills a-plenty, and corpses galore—what more do you want?" Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p26 My 16 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p25 My 23 '48 50w

"Sutton Place apts., 2nd Ave. dives, and other dainty spots for deviltry are backgrounds for capably plotted, quick-triggered tale."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 8 '48 50w
Springf'd Republican p10B My 23 '48 120w

WAUGH, SIDNEY. Making of fine glass; il. by John Dreves. 95p $3 Dodd

666.1 Glass blowing and working 47-12214

Book on the basic processes of hand-glass-making. Contents: Design; Material; On blowing glass; Furnace and shop layout; Tools; Basic manipulations; Making a goblet; Making a decorative bowl; Gaffered forms; Cutting; Engraving; Typical pieces. Bibliography.

Booklist 44:213 F 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '48

WAXMAN, MEYER. Handbook of Judaism, as professed and practiced through the ages. 195p $3.50 Bloch

296 Jews—Religion 47-11302

"In [this book] Dr. Meyer Waxman, an eminent scholar in the field of Jewish literature and religion, has attempted 'to provide a succinct statement of the traditional Jewish pattern of life and thought for the average Jew, and non-Jew as well.' The book begins with an introductory discussion on the nature and character of Judaism. Here the author seeks to answer the question, What is Judaism? . . Part II of the book is devoted to a presentation of the principal views of Judaism. In three chapters the author deals with God and the world; man and Israel in relation to God; ethical and social ideals." J Religion

Christian Century 65:481 My 19 '48 270w

"While it is simply written and the subjects treated are limited to those things which are really fundamental to Jewish life, the book aims to be more adequate than the usual elementary introductions to Judaism. . . The effort is to present the basic aspects of Judaism as they have been held by a majority of Jews through the ages. This aim has been achieved in a very satisfactory way. Technicalities of scholarship have been omitted." S. V. McCasland
+ Crozer Q 25:186 Ap '48 650w

"The solid scholarship underlying this brief statement of Judaism 'as professed and practiced through the ages' should prove of great value to all who are interested in a more precise than popular discussion of the traditional Jewish beliefs and practices. . . It should be added that A Handbook of Judaism is, to use the words of the author, 'rather close to the orthodox viewpoint.' " M. B. Pekarsky
+ J Religion 28:232 Jl '48 370w

WEAVER, JOHN DOWNEY. Another such victory. 250p $2.75 Viking
48-6248

Novel describing the summer of 1932 spent by one family in a Washington encampment of the Bonus army.

Reviewed by Ben Kartman
Chicago Sun p58 My 26 '48 450w
Kirkus 16:65 F 1 '48 170w

Reviewed by David Tilden
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Je 6 '48 400w

"Mr. John D. Weaver has recreated his turbulent little incident from the American past in an exciting, honestly written and persuasively documented book that is at once good fiction and good history. He writes the kind of tough, prosy prose that was a hallmark of the Thirties, but without the meretricious glorification of the 'oppressed' which so often marred the work of that decade." D. D.
+ N Y Times p17 Ap 18 '48 500w

"A generally successful novel. . . One of the liveliest parts of the story is a sketch of Douglas MacArthur."

+ New Yorker 24:97 Ap 3 '48 120w

"A good well-paced bit of fiction." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 6 '48 700w

"Mr Weaver is an angry man telling of a mass injustice, but in spite of the fact that he focuses sharply on certain individuals, they are individuals who are part of a crowd, and individuals whom you never really come to have a feeling for except in the crowd." J. W. Rogers

Sat R of Lit 31:19 Ap 3 '48 650w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 25 '48 440w

WEAVER, RICHARD M. Ideas have consequences. 189p $2.75 Univ. of Chicago press

901 Civilization 48-5448

An analysis of the historical, social, and moral conditions leading up to the breakdown in our present civilization. No index.

"This is in some respects a brilliant analysis and a pointed and potent criticism of present-day American society; there is in it much that one must grant and a number of things that one definitely applauds. But the continual resort to 'Hutchinesque' and 'Adleresque' clichés and assumptions, and the nostalgia for and flight to the ideas and 'conditions' of the Middle Ages, leave one cold. . . Ideas do have consequences—sometimes in the form of a feeling of frustration on the part of those exposed to them." J. O. Hertzler

— + Ann Am Acad 258:144 Jl '48 650w

"One of the most exasperating human types of our time, aside from the totalitarian barbarian, is the worshipper of progress, who expects science to solve all problems for him and make him happy forever. . . It takes courage and philosophical integrity to challenge this trend and expose its devastating consequences for mankind, as Richard M. Weaver does in this book with unanswerable logic and lucidity." John Fermatt

+ Cath World 167:278 Je '48 460w

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun Mr 3 '48 600w

"My criticism of Mr. Weaver's book does not rest upon a niggling preoccupation with trifling details but upon a profound distrust of any writer who disregards the facts of history while professing to delve deeply into its meaning; and also a distrust of one who under cover of what seems superficially to be a crusade for a return to God, is actually a propagandist for a return to the medieval papacy and to the ways of life and thought and the kind of God that are consistent with that institution." W. E. Garrison

— Christian Century 65:415 My 5 '48 1450w

"No tinkering with details could assure this book against attack. It will be violently and scornfully assaulted by two kinds of readers: First, those whose sentimental optimism renders them unwilling to face disagreeable realities. They will answer by citing another set of facts to discredit those cited by the author. But their facts will be selected from the surface, while his have their roots in the deep soil of our characteristic mentality. The other kind of opponents will be those whose minds have been molded by the philosophy which Mr. Weaver serenely but pitilessly exposes." C. C. Morrison

Christian Century 65:414 My 5 '48 1600w

Reviewed by J. H. Titus

Churchman 162:17 S 1 '48 270w

"One welcomes this book, not only because of the merit of its appraisals, but because of the company it keeps. It is one of that growing number of books that are quietly circulating among thoughtful people who are aware of the fragility of our civilization and the threat to all its values. That is a goodly company, engaged upon a godly work." W. A. Orton

+ Commonweal 48:119 My 14 '48 600w

Current Hist 14:295 My '48 70w

"This story is told briefly and schematically, as it should be. It lacks the dramatic force and credibility of the story of the Garden of Eden; but, given the author's necessity of using the modern idiom and of working with such fragments of doctrine as have some current vogue, it is an interesting solution of a difficult technical problem. At any rate, it serves its purpose, which is to bring the author quickly but not too abruptly to sin and the miserable condition of the sinner. . . In judging such a literary sermon, criticism of what may be called the ideology of the book is irrelevant. Teachers may be tempted to estimate the possible use of the book in shocking men into examining the conventions and conventional beliefs forming the fabric of their lives. That the author's prejudices run counter to much of modern taste is helpful." Charner Perry

+ Ethics 58:227 Ap '48 850w

"Philosophers will find the historical and logical confusions of this book irritating, but the point of view represented is becoming increasingly important in the life of our nation. It should therefore be read, and read with care." J. R. E.

+ — J Philos 45:585 O 7 '48 500w

"A thoughtful, disturbed, and disturbing analysis, which cannot be taken lightly."

+ Kirkus 16:106 F 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Charles Frankel

Nation 166:609 My 29 '48 1200w

"It is pleasant to find an attitude so clearly defined. I much prefer a firm opponent to a loose sympathizer. Of course, I must consider Weaver as an opponent. I shall not argue about details, for, oddly enough in details I mostly agree with him. Historically, he makes the usual error of confounding, as forms of radical optimism, the Enlightenment, Rousseauism, and Romanticism. The truth is far more complex. . . At times, Weaver endangers his case through overstatement." Albert Guerard

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Mr 14 '48 950w

"A sincere, fanatical, and, for my money, irresponsible piece of writing." H. M. Jones

N Y Times p4 F 22 '48 1250w

Discussion by the author

N Y Times p29 Mr 21 '48 270w

School & Society 67:127 F 14 '48 10w

Reviewed by M. H. Williams

Social Forces 27:100 O '48 650w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:146 Je '48 400w

WEAVER, ROBERT CLIFTON. The Negro ghetto. 404p maps $3.75 Harcourt

325.26 Housing. Negroes—Moral and social conditions. U.S.—Race question 48-7373

"This book is about residential segregation in the North. It is not limited to a description of the present situation and its evolution but attempts to indicate the economic factors that have constantly operated and the costs that have resulted. Attention is given also to specific measures and techniques proposed to meet the problem of housing colored Americans decently in a democracy." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"Weaver has produced an authoritative report on Negro housing. . . In an effort to present as current a story as possible, Weaver has incorporated, in numerous footnotes, materials which came to his attention after the original manuscript was completed. This has resulted in much unnecessary repetition, confusion, and, at times, discrepancies between main text and footnote commentary. It is questionable whether the gain in up-to-dateness outweighs the serious losses in clarity and coherence." Harry Alpert

+ — Am Soc R 13:779 D '48 650w

Booklist 44:376 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun Jl 6 '48 500w

WEAVER, R. C.—Continued

Reviewed by H. A. Jack
Christian Century 65:1176 N 3 '48 310w

Reviewed by Henrietta Buckmaster
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 1 '48 170w

"It is a scholarly book, but by no means heavy reading. Footnotes are held to a minimum, and helpful charts and tables vivify the text." L. J. Trese
+ Commonweal 48:434 Ag 13 '48 500w

Kirkus 16:301 Je 15 '48 90w

"By far the most extensive study of the Negro housing situation in this country ever made. Of great value to all concerned with the Negro in American life and with the success of American democracy. Highly recommended." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 73:812 My 15 '48 130w

Reviewed by W. T. Hedden
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 11 '48 700w

"The Negro Ghetto is a comprehensive, authentic survey of an acute social problem. Though full of technical data, it is written in a highly readable style. Mr. Weaver is objective in presenting the evidence, but he is not too finicky to 'take sides' unequivocally and persuasively." Morroe Berger
+ N Y Times p11 Ag 8 '48 430w

Reviewed by Daniel James
Nation 167:210 Ag 21 '48 950w

San Francisco Chronicle p19 Jl 18 '48 220w

"This book is itself a social phenomenon. It is the sort of thing that could only have happened in times like ours when old complacencies are passing away and a world of new convictions is a-coming. The book dares to hold up a mirror to the North. . . It is a simple, ugly, and apparently hopeless story, told with the passion of unimpassioned maps and figures. Indeed, it is so simple a story that it seems to leave us helpless to do anything. . . After more than 300 pages that leave us accurately informed but pretty hopeless, Dr. Weaver presents a chapter entitled 'Occupancy Standards.' I dare say it will be a revelation to most readers." H. A. Overstreet
+ Sat R of Lit 31:10 Jl 17 '48 750w

School & Society 68:32 Je 10 '48 10w

Reviewed by Alain Locke
Survey 85:60 Ja '49 500w

WEAVER, ROBERT WARREN, and MERRILL, ANTHONY FRENCH. Camping can be fun. 241p il $3 Harper

796.54 Camping 48-5163

Book describing how to camp with minimum physical effort. Partial contents: Our million acre playgrounds; The well-planned trip is best; Camp shelters; And so to bed; Good campsites are a matter of choice; Tent pitching—a brief encounter; The camper's kitchen; The campfire, its care and feeding; Into each life. . .; Things that go bump in the night; Fun with the wildlife. Index.

Booklist 44:230 Mr 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '48

"Humorous and helpful. Plus sale for boys."
+ Kirkus 15:639 N 15 '47 130w

"Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 30w

Springf'd Republican p10B My 23 '48 150w

Wis Lib Bul 44:80 Ap '48

WEAVER, WARREN, ed. The scientists speak. 369p $3.75 Boni & Gaer

504 Science 47-11199

"Eighty-one American scientists present modern science to the layman. Originally given during intermissions in the New York Philharmonic Symphony broadcasts. Essays range from the science of the earth and sky, through new materials and discoveries to science and the war. Bibliography." Library J

Booklist 44:146 D 15 '47

"The articles are necessarily brief and elementary in their description of technology, but a supplemental bibliography is included for those wanting more detailed information. In the book itself the chemist or chemical engineer will find no scientific baby talk to distract him. On the contrary, reading it engenders an appreciation for the far-reaching advances being made in fields other than our own specialty and a renewed respect for the contributions science is making in advancing man's mastery over nature." D. O. Myatt
+ Chem & Eng N 26:896 Mr 22 '48 350w

"Though intricate technicalities and extended expositions are avoided, scrappiness is escaped by the excellent organization of the volume. The material deals chiefly with the newer discoveries in the physical, chemical, biological and medical sciences."
+ Christian Century 64:1585 D 24 '47 210w

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1618 N 15 '47 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:83 O '47

"It is a matter of extraordinary interest and importance to the education of the people of the United States to have this series of broadcasts covering the whole range of science in printed and inexpensive form for the benefit of the whole population. In no other way can the public obtain such an extraordinarily authoritative and up-to-date picture of the present status of science in our country." R. A. Millikan
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ja 25 '48 450w

"They are better as reading matter than they were as radio material. While all the speakers on this series were highly distinguished authorities in their own fields, only a few possessed the powers of oral delivery needed to overcome the distractions of a living room on a Sunday afternoon. In print, however, the talks become valuable and illuminating little essays—clear, simple, human, enriched with images, examples and anecdotes. . . Of course, these essays only hit the high spots in each area of science. There are no formulas, diagrams, or pictorial illustrations. For those readers whose interest is stimulated to further reading, the authors have provided an excellent bibliography for more detailed exploration." H. M. Davis
N Y Times p6 D 28 '47 500w

School & Society 67:30 Ja 10 '48 20w

Springf'd Republican p10B Ja 4 '48 300w

"That the book is not a tabloid encyclopedia of current scientific knowledge does not mean that it is not worthwhile and certainly a desirable addition to the bookshelves of those interested in science. There is no question that the authors speak with the weight of authority. Eight are Nobel Prize winners and all of the rest are outstanding specialists of their particular fields. Some, such as Earnest A. Hooton of Harvard, have been able to inject the flavor of their personality as well as the factual information of their specialty." Hillier Krieghbaum
+ Survey G 37:171 Mr '48 550w

"The papers attain a clarity of style rare in modern exposition, and the skillful grouping under general subjects enables the reader to follow the pattern made by the papers as a whole."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:102 Mr '48 190w

WEBB, BEATRICE (POTTER) (MRS SIDNEY WEBB). Our partnership; ed. by Barbara Drake and Margaret I. Cole. 544p $5 Longmans

B or 92 Webb, Sidney. Great Britain—Social conditions 48-1844

"This book, which is a sequel to My Apprenticeship, first published in 1926, relates to the earlier years of Beatrice Webb's marriage, 1892-1911, and was originally intended by her, had she lived, as a first instalment of other volumes to follow. The plan of the book, like that of My Apprenticeship, was to interweave extracts from her contemporary diaries with the narrative of events. The work was actually begun in 1926. . . The main lines and arrangement of the book were settled at the beginning and maintained; additions and alterations were made at intervals almost up to her death in April 1943, but the text was never finally revised." (Pref) Index.

Reviewed by C. F. Brand
Ann Am Acad 259:186 S '48 340w

Reviewed by F. H. Underhill
Canadian Forum 28:60 Je '48 2300w

Reviewed by G. K. Lewis
Chicago Sun Je 17 '48 230w

Reviewed by Henry Sowerby
Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 19 '48 1100w

"It would be easy to exaggerate the interest of this book for the average reader. . . Much that is here related will appear dry unless one comes to the book with a special interest in the spadework of social reform. There is one respect, however, in which it should bring delight to any reader of normal sensitivity, for it carries one back to that era of sanity ending in 1914 when it seemed that the patient collecting of fact, the writing of solid books, and the making of enlightened speeches might early bring about the millenium. We have had to revise our estimates since then, but it gives one the pleasant sense of innocence regained to return even for a night to a period in which such optimism seemed justified." R. M. Weaver
+ — Commonweal 48:166 My 28 '48 600w

Reviewed by M. A. Hamilton
Nation 166:380 Ap 3 '48 1650w

Reviewed by R. S. Lynd
+ New Repub 118:21 My 24 '48 2050w

Reviewed by Kingsley Martin
New Statesman & Nation 35:395 My 15 '48 1850w

"There is an immense amount of sheer reader's pleasure in this second volume of Beatrice Webb's memoirs. All who ever tried to work on a committee or promote a cause, all who ever voted can find strong meat and bitter beer and honey in 'Our Partnership.' Its detailed, candid pages describe some thirty years of hard work, consummate political wangling and a remarkable marriage partnership." Ernestine Evans
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ap 11 '48 1100w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison
N Y Times p1 Mr 28 '48 2350w

"A good many of the topical matters discussed have, of course, long since lost their urgency, but the book is a rich and full memoir just the same."
+ New Yorker 24:114 Ap 17 '48 160w

"This is the sweetest-tempered book of the current publishing season; Mrs. Webb is not mad at anybody, and the Webbs move through it smoothly to achieve what they aimed at in the beginning. Meanwhile the reader is entertained with memories of the glitter and bustle of three generations of political, poetical, and philosophical Englishmen." Asher Brynes
+ Sat R of Lit 31:14 My 8 '48 850w

School & Society 69:16 Ja 1 '49 40w

"Perhaps this portrait of a perfect partnership will remain the most lasting interest of the book. After its facts have been absorbed into the social histories of England, after its brilliant, if sometimes slap-dash, portraits of celebrities have been decanted into the appropriate biographies, this picture of secular saintliness à deux will remain half inspiration and half prodigy for future generations." Margery Fry
+ Spec 180:558 My 7 '48 700w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker
Survey G 37:356 Jl '48 650w

Time 51:108 Ap 12 '48 1300w

Times [London] Lit Sup p309 Je 5 '48 2550w

Reviewed by C. H. Driver
Yale R n s 38:187 autumn '48 270w

WEBB, JON EDGAR. Four steps to the wall. 272p $3 Dial press
48-1459

A novel describing one day in the life of John Ditto, who is serving a life term in prison.

Booklist 44:300 My 1 '48

Chicago Sun Mr 5 '48 90w

"Yet it is hard, for me impossible, to recall anything in American prison fiction which matches this book for excitement. Mr. Webb succeeds in communicating the convict's feelings of confinement, aggressiveness and subjugation with such force and freshness that one might imagine him to be the first writer to take up such materials. . . Mr. Webb's writing style, both in narrative and dialogue, is as hard, spare and economical as a prison cell, though every now and then his commendable passion for understatement results in some confusion for the reader. Sometimes he uses prison argot which fails to make itself clear, and there are even one or two turns of plot where the reader is left to guess for himself, and guess hard. But these flaws are minor. 'Four Steps to the Wall' is the work of a serious craftsman who has made a distinguished contribution to current American writing." David Davidson
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Mr 14 '48 800w

"Bitter, penetrating and entirely absorbing novel of prison life, written with much power and from first-hand knowledge. Impressive."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:35 F 28 '48 40w

WEBB, RICHARD WILSON, and WHEELER, HUGH CALLINGHAM (PATRICK QUENTIN, pseud). Run to death. 243p $2 Simon & Schuster
48-2893

Detective story.

Chicago Sun S 10 '48 90w

"Enterprising and engaging."
+ Kirkus 16:323 Jl 1 '48 80w

New Repub 119:27 N 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by Ralph Partridge
New Statesman & Nation 36:331 O 16 '48 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 O 31 '48 100w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p31 S 19 '48 200w

"Plenty of carefully applied Mexican atmosphere, most of it around the more expensive tourist spots, and no dearth of action."
+ New Yorker 24:111 S 11 '48 100w

"Mr. Quentin has ever been a sharp hand at fashioning a murder-mystery. We'd call this one of his very best ones." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 O 17 '48 150w

"Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 S 25 '48 40w

WEBBER, EVERETT, and WEBBER, OLGA. Rampart street. 318p $3 Dutton
48-8723

New Orleans in the early 1800's is the setting. The hero is Captain John Carrick, a Bostonian who left Harvard "by request." The story is of Carrick's adventures at sea and with three New Orleans women who loved him.

Kirkus 16:317 Ag 1 '48 160w

"Plenty of action holds reader's attention. Recommended only for libraries with large fiction collections, whose patrons want amusement and are willing to overlook incidents hard to believe." M. A. Johnson
Library J 73:1386 O 1 '48 80w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p29 N 21 '48 140w

WEBBER, EVERETT—Continued
"The Webbers create atmosphere and supply melodramatic situations for their somewhat stereotyped characters." J. V.
San Francisco Chronicle p13 N 7 '48 130w

WEBER, ALFRED. Farewell to European history; or, The conquest of nihilism; tr. from the German by R. F. C. Hull. 204p $3.75 Yale univ. press

901 Civilization—History. Europe—Civilization. Philosophy—History. Nihilism 48-6494

"Present book was finished shortly before second World war ended. Weber foresaw then impending disaster not only of Hitler-Germany whose upright opponent he had been but also precarious state of whole European cultural and political order. In his book he reviews rise of Western civilization since Middle Ages, analyzes growth of nihilism under Nietzsche's influence, and outlines great tasks for the future." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by S. B. Clough
Ann Am Acad 258:127 Jl '48 650w

"German idealism at its best speak from the pages of Alfred Weber's 'Farewell to European History.' Though the title is somewhat reminiscent of Spengler's 'Decline of the West,' Professor Weber's vigorous affirmation of the transcendental values of Freedom and Humanity are very different from the pseudo-heroic pessimism of the earlier work." Ernest Pisko
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 21 '48 450w

Current Hist 15:39 Jl '48 50w

"Slender volume (rather well translated by R. F. C. Hill), full of deep reflections, indispensable in any scholarly library and desirable in all public libraries in which Toynbee is widely read." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 73:813 My 15 '48 160w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p14 Ag 22 '48 410w

WEBER, BROM. Hart Crane; a biographical and critical study. 452p $4.50 Bodley press, 104 5th av, N.Y. 11

B or 92 Crane, Hart 48-6081

A study of Hart Crane's life and work. An appendix contains his uncollected poetry and prose and worksheets of Atlantis. Selected bibliography. Indexes.

"The intentions of Mr. Weber's 'biographical and critical study' seem pretty unclear. He does go in for samplings of a number of things but follows nothing down a long straight line. So his book is no considerable addition to what we have known thus far about Hart Crane. The psychological problem of Crane is simply blurred. . . The same goes for Mr. Weber's reading of Crane's poetry. . . If Mr. Weber hopes to establish some relationships between the personality and the work, he is successful in a spotty kind of way; but in the chief problem of Crane's determination to discover or create a 'myth' the great diligence which Mr. Weber expends has very little reward. Despite all his attention, the subtleties of the problem are left unexplored. . . The book is, in fact, not really held together, and the general result is very lumpy reading." Henry Rago
— Commonweal 48:638 Ap 16 '48 450w

"The book is chiefly valuable for the new source material that it includes, especially the hitherto unpublished verse and some of Crane's work sheets. Mr. Weber also declares that Crane was familiar with the poetry of Hopkins before it received book publication in 1918. This is sufficiently startling to warrant substantiation, which Mr. Weber does not offer, though his statement is a flat contradiction of Philip Horton's to the effect that Crane first read Hopkins in 1928 and was excited by the discovery. Although there is a good deal of material here that was not available to Mr. Horton, this volume supplements rather than supersedes his admirable study." Babette Deutsch
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 My 2 '48 1050w

"Weber wields with mature skill the tools of criticism, historical and esthetic. . . He never falls into dry pedantry and does not affect scientific detachment from his subject. He eschews all critical jargon and does not, like too many young interpreters of literature today, deem it necessary to write with the pseudo-profundity of one who has only lately learned to deal with abstract concepts. His style is fluent, unpretentious, and has the rare virtue of clarity. . . One might wish he had added a chapter of synthesis on Crane's imagination, sensibility, and art and on his place among the poets of his age—Eliot, Stevens, Auden, Dylan Thomas." Henri Peyre
+ N Y Times p4 Ap 4 '48 700w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 13 '48 150w

"Mr. Weber has dug deep into Crane's sources and correlations, and displays a talent for analysis and synthesis, rarely brightened by much originality, however. But neither profundity nor devotion can excuse the way in which, for the most part, he out-jargons the worst literary-scientific jargon of the more deadpan journals of our time." G. P. Meyer
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ap 24 '48 400w

"Weber's study, more critical than Philip Horton's Hart Crane [Book Review Digest 1937], includes new material made available by Crane's mother. Critic Weber is lucid, levelheaded, candid, and seems likely to become a very welcome addition to the small list of serious U.S. critics."
+ Time 51:102 Mr 22 '48 1000w

WEBER, MRS LENORA (MATTINGLY). Beany Malone. 186p $2.50 Crowell 48-1943

Sequel to Meet the Malones (Book Review Digest 1943). Beany is the youngest of the motherless family of three girls and one boy. She goes thru some weary times in her efforts to grow up, but gradually she learns the value of "sticking your neck out." For ages twelve to sixteen.

"A hearty and delightful story." Jane Cobb
+ Atlantic 182:120 N '48 50w

Booklist 44:358 Je 15 '48

"Good solid stuff with real values."
+ Kirkus 16:88 F 15 '48 180w

"Story emphasizes real values in living and is lively, interesting, and worth while. There is one improbability in the conclusion but this does not spoil the whole." E. E. Frank
+ Library J 73:486 Mr 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 My 9 '48 360w

Reviewed by A. N. Fedder
N Y Times p12 Jl 4 '48 150w

"A fine novel, well written, convincing and alive." R. H. Viguers
+ Sat R of Lit 31:36 Ag 14 '48 230w

WEBER, MAX, 1864-1920. Theory of social and economic organization; tr. by A. M. Henderson and Talcott Parsons; ed. with an introd. by Talcott Parsons. 436p $6 Oxford

330.1 Economics. Sociology 47-5841

"Here is a translation of a major part of Weber's writing, comprising the whole of Part I of Wirtschaft und Gesellschaft. It contains Weber's discussion of the fundamental concepts of sociology, of sociological categories of economic action, and of types of authority." Ann Am Acad

"In these days of rapid economic change, it should be evident that Weber's approach is a fruitful one, and it is a reasonable assumption that his name will find its way with greater and greater frequency into the literature of American scholarship. Professor Parsons has thus performed a signal service in making available in English the work of a man who heretofore has been known almost exclusively through The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism." Hilden Gibson

+ Am Pol Sci R 41:1258 D '47 370w

Reviewed by G. S. Delatour

Am Soc R 13:349 Je '48 1600w

"Parsons has succeeded in giving us a superb rendition of Weber's thoughts. His translation is not only accurate, but it is faithful in the sense that he has not given literal equivalents of terms but has translated into English the meaning intended by the author. This translation is so superior that it should become the standard reference for future translators of Weber's writing." Theodore Abel

+ Ann Am Acad 255:204 Ja '48 360w

Christian Century 65:831 Ag 18 '48 110w

"The translation itself is beyond reproach, as was to be expected from a writer like Professor Parsons, whose own style shows a deep affinity to German ways of thought and expression. It is, however, impossible to render fully certain crucial terms of Weber's . . . because of their latent implications and undertones. Nevertheless, by making accessible to the English-speaking world one of the greatest German contributions to the social sciences, this translation performs an invaluable service." W. A. Weisskopf

+ — J Pol Econ 56:348 Ag '48 1950w

Reviewed by Joachim Wach

J Religion 28:77 Ja '48 400w

Reviewed by Philip Weintraub

Social Forces 27:91 O '48 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p475 S 20 '47 900w

Reviewed by O. K. Flechtheim

Yale R n s 38:184 autumn '48 1150w

WEBSTER, HAROLD TUCKER. How to torture your husband [cartoons] text by Cowell Adams. 64p $1.50 Winston

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons 48-7057

Text and cartoons showing ways in which wives unconsciously annoy their husbands.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 18 '48 100w

Reviewed by D. M. Mankiewicz

N Y Times p24 Jl 18 '48 180w

WEBSTER, HAROLD TUCKER. How to torture your wife [cartoons]; text by Caswell Adams. 64p $1.50 Winston

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons 48-7065

A companion volume to the author's book of cartoons on "How to torture your husband." The present book lists twenty-nine methods of "spouse-torture."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Jl 18 '48 100w

Reviewed by D. M. Mankiewicz

N Y Times p24 Jl 18 '48 110w

WEBSTER, HAROLD TUCKER. Who dealt this mess? [cartoons; with commentary by] Philo Calhoun [with a foreword by Charles H. Goren] 174p $2.50 Doubleday

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons 48-6592

H. T. Webster's cartoons of bridge players, with commentaries by Philo Calhoun. Contents: Some people don't play bridge; Bridge from birth; The fourth; 'Neither snow nor rain'; Married bridge; Holiday bridge; Train bridge; Duplicate bridge; Fishing trips; Systems and conventions; The Webster double; Kibitzers; Playing for stakes; And so forth. Glossary. All of the cartoons have appeared in the New York Herald Tribune.

"The commentary adds little to the enjoyment of the book."

Booklist 44:309 My 15 '48

"Bridge players will love it."

+ Kirkus 16:161 Mr 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by D. M. Mankiewicz

N Y Times p24 Jl 18 '48 80w

San Francisco Chronicle p22 Jl 18 '48 120w

WEBSTER, HARVEY CURTIS. On a darkling plain; the art and thought of Thomas Hardy. 240p $3.50 Univ. of Chicago press

823 Handy, Thomas 47-11720

A study, based on the author's Ph.D. thesis, presenting Hardy as a thinker and artist. It challenges the view of Hardy as an unconditioned pessimist. It is the author's judgment that: "Hardy is not the greatest thinker of modern times or the greatest artist. But no man of letters of our period, with the exception of Thomas Mann, has so well combined the function of the thinker with the function of the artist." (p.215) Index.

Booklist 44:199 F 1 '48

Reviewed by H. P. Vincent

Chicago Sun N 24 '47 550w

"The book suggests a desire to tread a middle ground between popular and scholarly; one might wish this were not so. One might wish, too, that more attention were paid to Hardy the poet. But there are obvious limitations as to time and space. Certainly, the book is an entirely successful study of philosophical evolution and melioration." T. P. Haviland

+ — Christian Century 65:272 Mr 3 '48 900w

Reviewed by Helen Singer

Ethics 58:225 Ap '48 950w

"Thomas Hardy merits study not only as a good novelist and a fine poet but as an individual whose struggle to achieve an understanding of reality mirrored much of our modern dilemma. This study, by a member of the English Department at the Illinois Institute of Technology, succeeds admirably in summarizing many of the virtues and some of the defects in Hardy's various works. As an appraisal of the outlook and philosophy underlying those works, it is, however, less successful in making an adequate evaluation than in tracing influences and lines of development." Fleming MacLiesh

+ — N Y Times p6 Mr 28 '48 950w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:17 Mr '48 280w

WEBSTER, NOAH. New international dictionary of the English language; William Allan Neilson, editor-in-chief. 2d ed rev. and enl. 3210p buckram $25; fabrikoid $30; 2v buckram $30; India-paper styles: buckram $32.50; lea $40; 10% discount to schools and libraries Merriam

423 English language—Dictionaries 48-20910

"The second edition of Webster's New International Dictionary was reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin for October 1934. For the general features of the work the reader is referred to this earlier review. . . Since the Merriam Company has followed the policy of completely revising Webster's New International Dictionary about every twenty to twenty-five years, this may be considered an inter-edition review. Perhaps the most obvious change is the addition in the 1945 printing of a sixteen-page list of 'New Words' immediately preceeding the main vocabulary. . . An estimate based on the number of words on a page confirms the publishers' claim that it includes about 1700 new words and additional meanings. Many of them are of a scientific or technical character and many of them likewise reflect the social, political and economic conditions of the war years." Subscription Bks Bul

"The Merriam Company makes no claim to a new edition or its equivalent, but maintains that its dictionary is reasonably up to date in view of the section of new words, the continual small revisions made with each printing, the changes in plates, addition of census figures,

WEBSTER, NOAH—Continued
etc. Investigation has shown that the main vocabulary and the 'New Words' section preceding it, are as adequate and recent as one can reasonably expect them to be. Though the gazetteer might profit by the addition of certain new place names, it cannot be considered seriously outmoded. . . Webster's New International Dictionary remains highly recommended to all libraries, especially to those which do not have the second edition and to those which are in need of replacements or additional copies. Libraries having early printings of the second edition should at least purchase the latest 'New Words' section, and should consider seriously the purchase of the latest printing."
Subscription Bks Bul 19:51 Jl '48 1300w

WEBSTER, NOAH. New international dictionary of the English language, with reference history; new words section. 2d ed 3210;360p 3v buckram and 1 v. fabrikoid $39.50; India-paper styles: 1 v. fabrikoid $45.50, 1 v lea $51.50; 10% discount to schools and libraries Merriam

423 English language—Dictionaries

"This Reference History edition of Webster's New International is not sold in book stores, but only by subscription, direct to customers, and on monthly payments if desired, for a small additional carrying charge. Except for the history supplement of 403 pages it is identical with the 1948 printing of the regular trade edition. The Reference History edition was reviewed in the October 1934 issue of the Subscription Books Bulletin and the description given in that issue is still generally applicable though certain changes have been made in order to bring the history to date. . . The supplementary material seems to have been carefully compiled and edited and its arrangement is such as to make it a useful supplement to both the world and national history sections. The history of each year from 1934 through 1945 is separately treated, each annual history beginning with a general discussion of the international situation followed by sections dealing with the history of each of the important nations and empires of the world during that year." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"The index is the same as in the 1934 edition. It does not include entries for the new material and a separate index for Chapter VII is not supplied. The objections which most libraries make to the combination of a reference history and an unabridged dictionary in one volume have been well stated in the 1934 review and are still valid. It is, however, worth noting that the publishers now issue a reference history edition in three handy volumes, bound in stout red buckram, which is less subject to the criticism formerly made of this edition. . . In libraries well supplied with annuals, historical outlines and historical reference books, this historical summary is unnecessary. Homes, schools and small libraries in need of such material may well consider this edition and weigh the advantages of buying it against those of purchasing separate reference works on history. Though the material is excellent and arranged in a thoroughly usable manner, the extra cost seems somewhat high and will discourage many prospective purchasers. Again the decision must be that the Reference History edition is recommended only where it is believed that its use will thoroughly justify its cost."
Subscription Bks Bul 19:54 Jl '48 650w

WECHSBERG, JOSEPH. Continental touch. 323p $2.75 Houghton

48-5119

The story of Louis Dellinick (later Dr. Delinc-Matous, Lieut. Col. de Linc) whose philosophy of life in Europe and America was "take-and-take." The book ends on Louis' supreme sacrifice while avenging his father's death at the hands of a vindictive Nazi actress.

"Unrelenting, but often effective portraiture."
Kirkus 15:609 N 1 '47 190w

"Strongly recalls Briffault's Europa in its concern with moral rottenness, not only in Louis, but in his sorry times. A substantial picture of that sad rottenness, but little more. . . However, can probably be skipped in most collections." R. E. Kingery
Library J 72:1779 D 15 '47 70w

"'Continental Touch,' both in its materials and in Mr. Wechsberg's handling of them, is rather on the cheap side, but captivating nevertheless for the open-handed lavishness with which the author has tossed in his many ingredients, and for the gusto with which he deploys them." F. H. Bullock
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 F 29 '48 800w

"Joseph Wechsberg, whose 'Looking for a Bluebird' dealt with the adventures of a European ship's musician, has tried to be as amusing in this, his first full-length novel, as he was in those shorter pieces. He almost succeeds, but not quite. There are several chapters in his book which are sheer delight. And the surprising, the admirable thing is that Czech-born Wechsberg, who has become an American citizen, satirizes America's foibles just as brilliantly as he satirized those of Europe." Richard Plant
N Y Times p19 F 1 '48 500w
New Yorker 23:97 F 21 '48 160w

"You can call this a preposterous novel if you like, and in a way it is. But Louis was operating in a preposterous kind of half-world, and that half-world of the international rich-and-silly exists, as does that other half-world he shows you—the Paris of Place Pigalle and the maison of Madame Soulanges. For the time you're reading, Mr. Wechsberg makes the whole affair come alive on both levels. That, plus the fact that he writes with both wit and charm, should be reason enough why you shouldn't miss 'The Continental Touch.'" J. H. Jackson
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p18 Mr 2 '48 800w

Reviewed by F. C. Weiskopf
Sat R of Lit 31:27 Mr 6 '48 600w

WECHSBERG, JOSEPH. Sweet and sour. 268p $2.75 Houghton

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-11284

Stories about life in Czechoslovakia in the 20's, and about the author's wanderings thru Europe in his youth. Many of the sketches have appeared in the New Yorker.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 183:87 Ja '49 450w
Booklist 45:136 D 15 '48
Chicago Sun p8X Ja 9 '49 110w

"The substantial success of the first [book]. . . should assure a market for a repeat performance which is captivating."
+ Kirkus 16:539 O 1 '48 170w

"If there is one thing not completely satisfactory about 'Sweet and Sour,' Joseph Wechsberg's collection of stories, it is the title. Mr. Wechsberg writes about himself with too much incisiveness and too little sentiment ever to be sweet and he writes about others with too much sympathy and compassion to be sour. Best of all, he writes about music and some of its more obscure practitioners with the love of an amateur, in the best possible sense, and the result can be described by what has now become an over used and underrated word, 'charming.'" Richard Rodgers
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 31 '48 450w

"Read in the mass, the humor seems sharper, though at the same time there emerges a clear picture—and not at all a pretty one—of what middle-class European life was like just before the war and what it must be like today. . . But a perusal of the entire book is proof that Mr. Wechsberg laughs that he may not weep." D. M. Mankiewicz
+ N Y Times p6 N 7 '48 410w

"As Mr. Wechsberg goes on turning out his stories with a deceptively nimble pen, it becomes clear that he is at his best—and this, mind you, means that he is very good indeed—in portraying the world of his boyhood and student days, a world that is as dead as Pompeii today." Robert Pick
+ Sat R of Lit 31:12 D 11 '48 600w

WECTER, DIXON. The age of the great depression, 1929-1941. 362p il $5 Macmillan
973.917 U.S.—Economic conditions. U.S.—History—20th century 48-7583

A description of life in the United States from the stock market crash of 1929 to the attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by H. U. Faulkner
Am Hist R 54:380 Ja '49 750w

"The book is a masterpiece of condensation, betraying no sign that the author felt cramped at putting so much on so few pages. Mastery of his material and facility of expression doubtless explain this triumph. Other commendable features of the book are dispassion and fairness. The general public may read this volume with pleasure and profit; social scientists with admiration and perhaps a little envy." C. O. Johnson
+ Am Pol Sci R 42:1024 O '48 300w

"[Wecter] crowds so much material into his brief pages that he is forced to be sketchy, but he achieves an integrated, if somber, account. A useful critical essay on bibliography is included."
+ Am Soc R 13:648 O '48 100w

Reviewed by M. M. Willey
Ann Am Acad 260:218 N '48 500w

Booklist 45:11 S 1 '48

"A volume which is both dull and unimportant but which, we may be sure, will be industriously pushed into the hands of young college students as a faithful picture of the Great Depression, mother of the Great War." J. T. Flynn
— Cath World 168:92 O '48 300w

Reviewed by Ben Kartman
Chicago Sun p36 Jl 20 '48 550w

Christian Century 65:784 Ag 4 '48 250w

Christian Science Monitor p16 Jl 23 '48 490w

Reviewed by E. S. Skillin
Commonweal 48:381 Jl 30 '48 1500w

"An ambitious piece of work, on the whole well done."
+ Current Hist 15:227 O '48 50w

Kirkus 16:207 Ap 15 '48 160w

"The story, extremely difficult to recount since many of its economic and political developments bulk large in our present inheritance, is told clearly yet with a sharp consciousness of its complexity. . . Highly recommended." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 73:943 Je 15 '48 150w

"Even from a telescoped synopsis it is apparent that Wecter's book is comprehensive, and that the author is a man of abundant common sense. The book is also well organized, authoritatively documented, and clearly if not brilliantly written. What it lacks is depth of historical perspective and philosophic insight. 'The Great Depression' is too much a narrative and too little an inquiry." Joseph Kraft
+ — Nation 167:104 Jl 24 '48 1350w

Reviewed by Richard Watts, jr.
New Repub 119:24 Jl 19 '48 1700w

"For all its virtues, Mr. Wecter's book suffers from that defect to which social history is so peculiarly susceptible: the tendency to substitute description for reflection and interpretation." H. S. Commager
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Jl 18 '48 1450w

"As a source book on the depression under Hoover and Roosevelt, what it did to America physically and spiritually, 'The Age of the Great Depression' will long be used by students. A tendency toward academic stuffiness is more than balanced by its solid factual contribution: its critical essay on authorities is fair and complete. And its social implications, are too profound for any American of voting age to ignore." Karl Schriftgiesser
N Y Times p1 Jl 18 '48 1100w

"Mr. Wecter is a very able social historian and his evaluation of the New Deal's peaceful revolutionary processes that transformed the country in the thirties is one of the fairest and most mature we have had yet."
+ New Yorker 24:62 Jl 31 '48 90w

"This is the best single-volume general account now available of those crowded and confused years between the crash of 1929 and Pearl Harbor." A. R. Foley
+ Pol Sci Q 63:627 D '48 850w

Reviewed by D. W. Brogan
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ag 22 '48 1000w

"Most readers will applaud Mr. Wecter for his sustained effort to be cautious in statement and fair in judgment. . . Social historians usually lose the individual in the mass. Not so Mr. Wecter. . . He manages to fill his pages with vivid personal vignettes . . . Dr. Francis Townsend, easily resolving the problems of monetary theory and crusading for Old Age Revolving Pensions, Limited; and 'the perpetually angry' Westbrook Pegler." J. A. Krout
Sat R of Lit 31:9 Jl 17 '48 1150w

School & Society 68:32 Je 10 '48 20w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 500w

"The style has both color and depth; many readers will discover for the first time that scholarly history can be exciting and dramatic. This is an important addition to twentieth-century Americana." R. A. Brown
+ Survey G 37:480 N '48 450w

" 'The Age of the Great Depression' is lively. The decade of the 1930's was so crowded with important events that a competent narrator can always make it exciting, and Mr. Wecter is more than just competent. He is witty and perspicacious. If the reader is searching for a full story of the period or for a careful discussion of its problems, he will do well to read separate books on each of the topics to which Mr. Wecter, confined as he is to a short volume, devotes but brief chapters." Howard Penniman
+ Yale R n s 38:169 autumn '48 700w

WEIL, BENJAMIN HENRY, and LANE, JOHN C. Synthetic petroleum from the synthine process. 303p il $6.75 Chemical pub. co.
665.5 Petroleum 48-6699

"A pioneer book on the synthine process, known as the Fischer-Tropsch and the hydrocol process—the preparation of oil from natural gas, coal and oil shale. Presents a detailed account of the technical and economic phases. The headings are production and purification of the synthesis gas; catalytic synthesis reactions; products; by-products and derivatives, basic economics and current developments. Documented with patent references, technical articles and government reports. Bibliography." Library J

"This book takes the reader through every phase of the synthesis of oil and gasoline and a wide variety of by-products from carbon monoxide and hydrogen. To the reviewer's mind it is a most essential part of any present library on synthetic liquid fuels. Not the least of its many good features is the careful bibliography covering all phases of the synthine operations." H. H. Power
+ Chem & Eng N 26:2918 S 27 '48 260w

Chem Eng 56:300 Ja '49 200w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:823 My 15 '48 80w

"This book is essentially a summary of the information about the process that was published to about the end of 1946, and of the progress in applying it up to about the same time. It is written primarily for persons who have technical interests in the subject."
N Y New Tech Bks 33:43 My '48

WEIL, JOSEPH R. "Yellow Kid" Weil; the autobiography of America's master swindler as told to W. T. Brannon. 297p il $3 Ziff-Davis

B or 92 Swindlers and swindling 48-1924

The exploits of a mid-western confidence man.

Reviewed by Jack Griffin
Chicago Sun Je 30 '48 500w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ag 22 '48 190w

"'Yellow Kid" Weil' is pure entertainment. It is a lively, bubbling, behind-the-scenes account of a misspent life which was a lot of fun. . . One essential element of the con is missing from the Yellow's memoirs—there is a large policeman-shaped hole in the story. . . Also Mr. Weil's account, with its detailed explanation of how he worked the various dodges, will hardly keep a real mark from being trimmed; if some expert roper ties into him the build-up will be entirely different from the one he has read about." W. L. Gresham
N Y Times p16 Jl 25 '48 650w

WEIL, LISL. Bill, the brave; pictures by [the author]. 32p $1.50 Houghton

48-5721

Story told in verse about the dog, Bill, who nearly lost his courage when he went to the dentist.

Kirkus 16:108 Mr 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. F. Clift
Library J 73:485 Mr 15 '48 60w

"The pictures are great fun; they should be useful to little children who have to go to the dentist." M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 My 23 '48 90w

"Lisl Weil, whose rhymed account of Bill's bravery runs under her comical drawings, puts in true touches that tickle a 4-to-8-year-old no less than an adult reader." S. C. Gross
+ N Y Times p32 Mr 21 '48 170w

WEINBACH, MENDELL PENCO. Electric power transmission. 362p $5.50 Macmillan

621.319 Electric lines 48-5880

"For electrical engineering students who have had the requisite training in mathematics and electrical theory. Based on courses given by the author at the University of Missouri. Treatment of the electrical problem of transmission with explanation of the theory and mathematical methods used in the solution of transmission problems. The chapters illustrate methods of analyzing and solving problems. Chapter references." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:823 My 15 '48 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:9 Ja '48

WEINBERG, JULIUS RUDOLPH. Nicolaus of Autrecourt; a study in 14th century thought [pub. for the] Univ. of Cincinnati. 242p $3.75 Princeton univ. press

189.4 Nicolaus de Autricuria 48-6316

"Nicolaus of Autrecourt was perhaps the leading critical philosopher of the fourteenth century. This book presents the most detailed analysis yet made of his ideas and is the only study of Nicolaus in English based on all the extant texts. The work is divided into two parts. The first gives an account of Nicolaus' theory of evidence and the use which he made of it. . . The second part of the work is an exposition of Nicolaus' atomism, based on the hypothesis that all things which exist are good and that each contributes to the good of the whole." Am Hist R

Reviewed by B. J. Diggs
Am Hist R 54:186 O '48 320w
School & Society 67:432 Je 5 '48 10w

"Profesor Weinberg's intense enthusiasm for the project of annihilating Aristotle leads him to an estimate of Nicolaus' originality, importance, and ability, which scarcely seems warranted by the evidence exhibited in this exposition. The book is nevertheless a valuable contribution to the history of ideas, and stimulating and provocative in its interpretations and discussions. It will interest specialists in logical and philosophical analysis, as well as students of the history of philosophy."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 4:147 Je '48 280w

WEINER, EDWARD HORACE. Damon Runyon story. 258p $3 Longmans

B or 92 Runyon, Damon 48-4048

A biography of Damon Runyon. His early life is told in narrative scenes; the rest is straight biography.

Kirkus 16:460 S 1 '48 180w

"This is a lively account and can be credited with good appraisal of Runyon's writings and a ringside view of the days and nights of a Broadway newsman. In Runyon's stories the easy sentiment and false values of Broadway were elements of a comic fable. They are not so easy to take in a book about real people, nor are the imaginary conversations of the first hundred pages, 'to give the book interest.' For limited purchase." G. D. McDonald
— + Library J 73:1272 S 15 '48 90w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p15 O 3 '48 270w

"Runyon fans will probably feel that though Damon has been dead now for almost two years, he has never been so dead as he is in this book." G. V.
— San Francisco Chronicle p16 O 17 '48 200w

WEINSTEIN, ALFRED ABRAHAM. Barbed-wire surgeon. 310p $3 Macmillan

940.547252 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939-1945—Prisoners and prisons, Japanese
Med48-71

"A surgeon tells of his service in the Army Medical Corps in Manila, on Bataan, in Philippine prison camps, finally in Japan; of his release, and of the romance which made him want to live." Library J

"Barbed-Wire Surgeon is of sociological importance, since it depicts the actions of a degenerate military caste which brought an entire nation to ruin. . . The book is recommended as interesting reading." E. L. Bortz
+ Ann Am Acad 258:148 Jl '48 450w
Booklist 44:297 My 1 '48
Kirkus 16:69 F 1 '48 170w

"Writing is not expert, and many details of operations, diseases, and tortures will overcome the squeamish. But [Dr Weinstein's] account of the almost unbelievable endurance and ingenuity of imprisoned, starved Americans is, at best, almost inspirational, and at worst, frank, vivid, interesting. This is not literature; it is, however, a valuable human record. Recommended." Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:334 F 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p23 My 9 '48 430w

"Dr. Weinstein's account carries all the greater impact for its quiet understatement. The authenticity of suffering, and the will to rise above it, are implicit on every page, though the point is never labored. There is much in the book for all who are interested in things medical (and that means almost everybody)." I. V.
+ N Y Times p24 My 2 '48 430w
+ New Yorker 24:118 Mr 20 '48 200w

"The book is slow reading, but an emotional experience that will repay the effort, particularly for those who are able to bear a bit of reality." B. D. Lewin
+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 Je 26 '48 320w

WEISGARD, LEONARD. Pelican here, pelican there [pictures by the author]. [30p] $2 Scribner

48-9503

Picture-story book for ages 3-6. Blown by a big wind a pelican travelled from Florida to Canada, New England, New York City and Washington, D.C., arriving home in time to see his two new little baby pelicans.

Booklist 45:163 Ja 1 '49

"Leonard Weisgard must have spent many days studying pelicans to make such varied sketches. His paintings are some of the most brilliant he has made." M. B. King

+ Chicago Sun D 11 '48 140w

"This is a distinguished picture book." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 25:34 Ja '49 80w

Kirkus 16:570 N 1 '48 90w

Reviewed by Marian Herr

Library J 74:67 Ja 1 '49 70w

"There is a rhythm to Leonard Weisgard's prose that makes for good out-loud reading. The bright color of the double-page illustrations and their fascinating and informative detail make this a picture book which will be turned to a great many times." P. A. Whitney

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 26 '48 230w

"The rhythmic prose will keep the child constantly involved in the action while the story is being read, and he will follow it, too, by means of the beautiful illustrations." V. H. Mathews

+ N Y Times p2 N 14 '48 130w

"Bold, effective drawings, filled with detail of places familiar to many small boys and girls. Out of the bright pages they will select the familiar scenes and will long to see the ones that are strange to them."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:37 D 11 '48 140w

WEISKOPF, FRANZ CARL. Children of their time [tr. by H. Norden and I. R. Sues]. 252p $3 Knopf

48-8448

The second in a series of novels about the members of an old patrician family of Prague. The first novel was Twilight on the Danube (Book Review Digest 1946). In the present book the Reithers have lived thru the three years which saw the decline of the Hapsburg Empire, the beginning of Czech nationalism, and the first onslaught of the Russians. In Prague they are reasonably safe from war, but not from fear and unrest.

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko

Christian Science Monitor p16 O 27 '48 270w

Kirkus 16:344 Jl 15 '48 180w

"One seldom meets such disagreeable, lifeless characters in fiction. Author's use of letters and diaries between chapters of straight narrative result in a series of episodes, rather than a continuing story. Tiresome reading. Not recommended." H. R. Forbes

— Library J 73:1275 S 15 '48 100w

"'Children of Their Time' has perspective and an authentic bite. If it lacks design—because its final shape is still to be determined in a later book—its purpose is clear. Though far narrower in scope than Jules Romains's 'Men of Good Will,' which deals with the same period in France, comparison between these two works is reasonable. While Romains's objectivity might give future historians a more accurate photograph of our times, the righteous indignation of a Weiskopf would give them an insight into our hearts. For Weiskopf believes in humanity, and suffers to see it fail." Virgilia Peterson

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 S 19 '48 750w

"[Has] the makings of a good story, I suppose, but it somehow misses getting told. The narrative bogs down in an episodic hodgepodge, with most of the important action recounted off-stage in snatches of diary and in letters which Mr. Weiskopf's very literate characters are interminably mailing to one another. The reader who hangs on doggedly until the end will be likely to ask himself: 'So what?'" Hal Lehrman

— + Sat R of Lit 31:12 S 25 '48 750w

WEISMAN, ABNER IRVING. The engaged couple has a right to know; a modern guide to happy marriage; foreword by Dr Abraham Stone. 256p il $3 Renbayle house, pubs, inc, 1163 Broadway, N.Y. 1

392.5 Marriage 48-7547

A guide book to married life, by a practicing gynecologist. Suggested reading. Index.

Booklist 45:27 S 15 '48

Christian Century 65:784 Ag 4 '48 70w

"While much of the material is found in other good books on the subject, this is especially well arranged, up-to-date and includes an excellent list of supplementary reading. Recommended for all libraries." M. C. Manley

+ Library J 73:1025 Jl '48 80w

San Francisco Chronicle p15 S 5 '48 150w

School & Society 68:144 Ag 28 '48 20w

Reviewed by W. R. Manchester

— Springf'd Republican p7B S 12 '48 190w

WEISSENSTEIN, HELEN. We four together; il. by Egon Weiniger. 191p $2 McKay

47-12207

"The Vienna of lovely pastries and charming buildings and old gardens is recaptured in this story of little quadruplets who have an infinite capacity for getting in and out of mischief. Maxel and Poldi, Ferdel and Lisel, three boys and a girl, are fourfold fun and warmth and reward to their family." Kirkus

"No attempt has been made to revamp the book for its American audience. Like Emil and the Detectives, the foreign air is a large part of the charm. There is a birthday cake too, not four cakes, mind you, a wonderful one with forty candles. The plot is jolly, so sustained that there is not a dull page."

+ Kirkus 15:395 Ag 1 '47 120w

"This fast-moving story with its old world atmosphere, pleasant humor, and genuine understanding of children is a welcome addition to international goodwill stories." B. W. Bell

+ Library J 73:126 Ja 15 '48 100w

WELCH, JEAN LOUISE. Animals came first; pictures by Ruth Carroll. [30p] $1.50 Oxford

48-8028

Illustrated story for the very young, telling how the animals came first to see the infant Jesus.

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

Christian Science Monitor p9 D 21 '48 150w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:454 N '48 120w

"The story is told in the manner of an old folk tale. . . Delicate tender drawings by Ruth Carroll make this an attractive looking book."

+ Kirkus 16:435 S 1 '48 90w

"Delightful drawings by Ruth Carroll, exceptionally well produced, illustrate this little Christmas story. . . An attractive Christmas gift for little children. Recommended." H. M. Brogan

+ Library J 73:1601 N 1 '48 70w

"There are gentleness and reverence in the telling of this brief story as well as in the pencil drawings. The drawings have been given fine reproduction in a well-designed book which small children will enjoy for its clarity and simplicity." H. A. Masten

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 19 '48 190w

Reviewed by Marjorie Burger

N Y Times p24 D 12 '48 100w

Wis Lib Bul 44:186 N '48

WELDON, MARTIN. Babe Ruth. 280p il $2.50 Crowell

B or 92 Ruth, George Herman (Babe Ruth) 48-1996

An idealized biography of Babe Ruth beginning with his early days in parochial school and bringing the record down to 1947. Lists his 54 major league records. Index.

Booklist 44:319 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun Ap 24 '48 70w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p10 S 30 '48 240w

Kirkus 16:55 F 1 '48 90w

"Well written biography. . . More detailed than Meany's Babe Ruth, and designed for older readers." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:478 Mr 15 '48 40w

"This book will be enjoyed by baseball fans and admirers of Babe Ruth, young and old." Irmengarde Eberle
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 11 '48 330w

Reviewed by H. B. Lent
N Y Times p31 Je 6 '48 230w

WELLES, SAMUEL GARDNER. Profile of Europe. 386p $3.50 Harper

940.55 Europe—Politics. Russia—Foreign policy. U.S.—Foreign policy. Europe—Description and travel 48-8420

"Recently returned from Europe, an associate editor of Time describes political and economic conditions in that area. Prefacing his remarks with the familiar idea that Europe is situated between two great magnets, the United States and Russia, he devotes half the book to Russia, and the remainder to the western European and satellite countries. The most impressive conclusion is that war can be avoided for probably fifteen years if America maintains a firm, intelligent, and consistent foreign policy vis-a-vis Russia." (Library J) No index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:102 O '48 300w

Booklist 45:64 O 15 '48

Reviewed by Irving Pflaum
Chicago Sun O 7 '48 80w

Current Hist 15:350 D '48 120w

Kirkus 16:384 Ag 1 '48 160w

"Superficial, interesting." Donald Wasson
+ — Library J 73:1272 S 15 '48 110w

Reviewed by Richard Lauterbach
New Repub 119:24 N 15 '48 1000w

"Sam Welles is an editor of 'Time' who, so far as his own confessions or the researches of the Thomas committee show, has never been a Communist. He can write about Russia without disillusionment and with humor, vividness, understanding and detachment." August Heckscher
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 O 3 '48 800w

"A study of the substance and shadow of Russian power in Europe, compiled by an honest and intelligent observer on the basis of ten carefully chaperoned weeks in Russia and the conscientious use of the standard reference works on Russia now available in English. Its style is that of a reporter's notes, edited but not recast. Mr. Welles presents accounts of what he saw, heard and read with such concrete detail that the only possible question of his results rests on grounds of the breadth of his experience. His work achieves an authority actually beyond any reasonable relation to his technical qualifications for the job for though a distinguished reporter and a man of patent good will Mr Welles . . . worked entirely through interpreters." E. W. Fox
+ N Y Times p3 S 26 '48 850w

"The events and statistics of recent and current European history, spiced by numerous first-hand observation and filtered through an ambitious amount of reading on the author's part, are gathered and collated, for the most part skilfully, into a servicable compendium to go with the day's news. Nevertheless, as might have been expected, the weight of documentation is such that it often bogs down in endless recitals of facts, figures, and observations given over to the establishment of a point long ago dinned into the heads of the newspaper-newsmagazine-reading public. In the end, we do have Europe's profile, but it is a profile plotted on a graph with America and Russia as the coordinates; the picture is a good likeness but very little that is new, very little of the inner character of the subject has been revealed." Sidney Sulkin
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:16 S 18 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Donald Derby
Springf'd Republican p5C O 31 '48 490w

+ Time 52:102 S 27 '48 1150w

WELLES, SUMNER. We need not fail. 143p $2.50 Houghton

956.9 Palestine—Politics and government. United nations (organization) 48-7272

Palestine described as a crisis in the future of the United Nations. Index.

Booklist 44:366 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by B. C. Crum
Chicago Sun Je 21 '48 490w

"Carefully and comprehensively, but with some partisanship, Mr. Welles builds his case: Partition and establishment of the Jewish state are morally just. . . Despite one or two inconsistencies of argument—and whatever one may think of the merits of partition—Mr. Welles has presented a powerful and lucid appeal for strong action instead of timorous words. He is a valiant spokesman for his viewpoint. With his rich diplomatic background, he selects with great skill the materials which serve to illustrate his view. But in urging forthright action, and also in providing a comprehensive factual analysis of the essential issues in Palestine, he has performed a timely and constructive service to American public opinion." DeWitt John
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Je 10 '48 800w

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '48

Current Hist 15:102 Ag '48 70w

"An important book for immediate reading. . . Dispassionate assessment, cogent reasoning; passionate challenge to action—now."
+ Kirkus 16:272 Je 1 '48 330w

Reviewed by Donald Wasson
Library J 73:946 Je 15 '48 130w

" 'We Need Not Fail' has a unique value because it is a completely honest book honestly recording both British and American policy." R. H. S. Crossman
+ Nation 166:721 Je 26 '48 1450w

"Sumner Welles has written a short, angry and impressive book which he optimistically calls We Need Not Fail. . . The book is valuable for its complete survey of the issue it contemplates, and it is particularly useful for the average reader in its account of the background of the Zionist case." Richard Watts
+ New Repub 118:23 Je 14 '48 1400w

"In an area of debate which has understandably been dominated by emotion, Mr. Welles writes without passion. He states the case for a United Nations solution to the problem—and specifically for the partition plan evolved by the General Assembly—simply, clearly and logically. The arguments of the opposition are reviewed courteously and without polemics. But the structure of his own reasoning is so firm and complete that it has an impact greater than fine words and unsupported noble sentiments could possibly convey. And when, in his conclusion, he looks beyond the specific issues in Palestine to the effect of the unchecked war there upon the system of collective security which the world needs so urgently and has tried so desperately to create, his simple but incisive language has a high emotional quality of its own." H. W. Baehr
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Je 13 '48 800w

Reviewed by Crane Brinton
+ N Y Times p1 Je 13 '48 1600w
New Yorker 24:75 Je 26 '48 140w

"This is an admirable, a sobering, a frightening book." Bartley Crum
+ Sat R of Lit 31:8 Je 12 '48 1000w

"There is ground for doubt that all the conclusions reached in Mr. Welles' latest book can remain valid, after having been written, apparently on a hurry-up assignment, at a time when developments in Palestine are changing even faster than some of the developments he condemns in American foreign policy. . . While some of its forecasts thus seem to have prospects of being happily upset by the course of later events this little volume should fill an important place on current history shelf. It is a timely contribution to a clearer understanding of a special regional phase of world transition." E. A. F.
+ Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 550w
Wis Lib Bul 44:148 S '48

Reviewed by Bernard Brodie
Yale R n s 38:178 autumn '48 1200w

WELLMAN, MANLY WADE. Mystery of Lost Valley; il. by Arthur Harper. 176p $2.50 Nelson
48-8918

Mystery story for young readers.

Kirkus 16:557 O 15 '48 70w

"Quite improbable but highly readable." Ruth McEvoy
Library J 73:1747 D 1 '48 70w

"This rates as good outdoor adventure as well as mystery." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ja 9 '49 180w

"Younger boys will enjoy the outdoor scenes, which come alive even when the writing is awkward with the many, many synonyms of the word 'said.'" Felix Riesenberg
+ — N Y Times p58 N 14 '48 130w

WELLMAN, WILLIAM R. Elementary industrial electronics. 371p il $4 Van Nostrand
621.38 Electronics 48-6555

Explains the principles of electronics in modern industry. Contents: Alternating current fundamentals; Basic principles of vacuum tubes; Basic principles of gas-filled tubes; Electronic symbols and terms; Industrial applications of kenotrons; Applications of hot-cathode gas-type rectifiers; Mercury-pool rectifiers; Vacuum tube amplifiers; Industrial high-frequency heating; Electronic control of motors and generators; Electronic control of resistance welding; Photoelectric devices; Electronic lamps. For beginners. Chapter references. Index.

Booklist 44:347 Je 15 '48
Library J 73:1096 Ag '48 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:10 Ja '48

WELLNER, JESSICA. Time for laughter. 182p $2.75 Simon & Schuster
48-1190

"A tale of the childhood of the daughter of Russian-American citizens in a small Wisconsin town. It has comedy, tragedy, tenderness and undercurrents of seriousness." Wis Lib Bul

Kirkus 16:64 F 1 '48 160w

"With humor, with tenderness, with a warm feeling for the personal and national vagaries which made her family different, Mrs. Wellner depicts the life of an Americanized Russian household." Rose Feld
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 My 9 '48 600w

"Will be popular in all libraries."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

WELLS, ANNA MARY. Sin of angels. 248p $2 Simon & Schuster
48-6814

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun My 28 '48 130w
Kirkus 16:156 Mr 15 '48 70w

"Dr. Owen's successful unraveling of some mighty tangled threads furnishes passable entertainment."
New Repub 118:33 My 17 '48 90w

"Miss Wells has done herself proud with a flowery, somewhat lurid opus that can be enjoyed by anybody with time on his hands." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Je 6 '48 170w

"The story is a mixture of psychiatry, straight police work and romance, but the ingredients do not blend so well as one could wish." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p26 My 16 '48 140w

"Not very plausible, but smoothly presented."
New Yorker 24:124 My 15 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p13 My 30 '48 40w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 15 '48 50w

WELLS, SUSAN, pseud. See Siegel, D.

WENDT, LLOYD, and KOGAN, HERMAN. Bet a million: the story of John W. Gates. 357p il $3.50 Bobbs
B or 92 Gates, John Warne 48-9117

Biography of John Warne Gates, known as "Bet A Million" Gates. He was "a Wall Street buccaneer who ran a flair for stock manipulation into fifty million dollars. To newspaper readers of a half century ago he was 'Bet a Million Gates,' who bet $1,000 to $10,000 on the speed of raindrops on window panes, who was known to drop close to a cool million at a poker game and who once cleaned up a sum almost as large on a single horse race." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:136 D 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon
Chicago Sun p9X O 31 '48 500w

"A straightforward and often amusing story of a monumental faker—or was he altogether faker?" Stanley Walker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p28 N 21 '48 550w

Reviewed by H. J. Bresler
N Y Times p36 N 14 '48 150w

WENHAM, EDWARD GORDON. Antique furniture for modern rooms. 128p il $5 Dodd
749.222 Furniture 48-3017

"This volume deals with antique furniture for every-day use rather than as collectors' items. It has been prepared to simplify the buying and use of antiques and to clarify the historical and practical aspects of the subject." (Publisher's note) Partial contents: What to seek, and where; Some characteristics of different periods; Chairs and stools; Chests of drawers and wardrobes; Day-beds, settees, and sofas; Mirrors, and looking-glasses; Dressers, sideboard tables, and sideboards; Tables; Some of the faker's tricks. First published in London, 1939, with title Old Furniture for Modern Rooms. Glossary. No index.

Booklist 45:29 S 15 '48

"Of average merit and for the average library patron." A. S. Plaut
Library J 73:1029 Jl '48 80w
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Jl 25 '48 70w
Springf'd Republican p10B Je 27 '48 150w

WENTWORTH, EDWARD NORRIS. America's sheep trails; history, personalities. 667p il maps $7 Iowa state college press

338.1763 Sheep. Frontier and pioneer life—U.S. Ranch life Agr48-212

"A complete record of the sheep industry in the United States, by an expert in livestock who for twenty-five years was director of Armour's Livestock Bureau. This large volume offers a record and expresses an appreciation of the part sheep have played in building the United States. Beginning with the dim age of history, the author traces development of sheep for mutton and wool, their spread through the United States, diseases, cattle-sheep wars, breeding and countless other phases of the industry. Illustrated with photographs, drawings and maps. Biographical appendix. Index." Library J

"The author has painstakingly probed all sources for reliable information on his subject. Many who are fairly conversant with the history of the sheep industry will find in this volume material that is new to them... I know of no other book in which so much care has been taken to give the origins, types, and breeds of sheep used in establishing sheep raising in different parts of the country. Even the seasoned animal breeder cannot help being amazed by the extensive array of types and breeds that have been tried at one time or another. Perhaps this fact of sheep history is a reflection of the individualistic attitude characteristic of the American pastoralist and farmer." W. C. Coffey

+ Am Hist R 54:216 O '48 320w

"For the specialized library only." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 73:878 Je 1 '48 140w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O. TURNBULL). Case of William Smith. 251p $2.50 Lippincott

48-7958

Detective story.

"More concerned with romance than with crime or detection, this begins ingratiatingly but cloys before the injections of coincidence, whimsy and magazine-love have been completed." James Sandoe

— + Chicago Sun O 8 '48 70w

"Fine stuff for the less bloodthirsty fans, with financial skulduggery and lots of love." Will Cuppy

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 10 '48 160w

"There is more excitement in this than in most of Patricia Wentworth's stories, but Miss Silver remains serenely efficient throughout." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p54 N 14 '48 230w

"Not quite up to some of [Miss Silver's] previous adventures."

New Yorker 24:120 S 25 '48 120w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p21 O 24 '48 70w

"Placidly diabolic English rural scene, ample violence, satisfactory Silver shrewdness and outcome which ties up everything neatly, including Miss Silver's knitting. Commendable."

+ Sat R of Lit 31:56 O 9 '48 50w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O. TURNBULL). Eternity ring. 256p $2.50 Lippincott

48-6429

Detective story.

"The tale saunters along with a rather garrulous ease." James Sandoe

Chicago Sun Ap 16 '48 50w

"Spinster Maud Silver gives you your money's worth of deducing in this wellknit puzzle of love and double murder, even if she does accept quite a bit of help from Inspector Lamb and Sergeant Abbott." Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 My 30 '48 130w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p32 My 2 '48 130w

"Sound and somewhat dull."

New Yorker 24:116 Ap 17 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle

San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ag 15 '48 50w

"Slightly plot-heavy, but otherwise serviceable Silver item, mixing homicide, romance, acceptable spinster sleuthing, and dry British humor quite enjoyably. Good."

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:43 Ap 24 '48 40w

WERKMEISTER, WILLIAM HENRY. Basis and structure of knowledge. 451p $5 Harper

121 Knowledge, Theory of. Science—Philosophy 48-6340

"This book is an expansion and systematic reformulation of the conceptions concerning the nature of knowledge contained in the author's earlier A Philosophy of Science [Book Review Digest 1940]. [The author's] interpretation of science draws its inspiration from Kant and the neo-Kantians; and in the present volume he attempts to work out in coherent fashion the fundamental thesis that the ideal of all intellectual effort is an integrated and closed system of internally related ideas, which comprehend all experience and constitute the ultimate conditions for objectivity and intelligibility." (J Philos) Bibliography. Index.

"The remarks on symbolic logic would be of little interest to present-day workers in the field. They center around the early studies of Russell and Lewis. No serious attention is given to levels of language; no rule of inference is recognized except substitution and it is used improperly... One learns nothing of the work of Gödel and Church; the principle of mathematical induction is carelessly stated and illustrated (p 207), and one would gather that a system of multivalued logic is the same as a multivalued matrix. In spite of all this, however, the book is not entirely without merit. The sections on scientific method in physics and chemistry contain suggestions that are worthy of further consideration." A. R. Turquette

— + Ethics 59:72 O '48 900w

"Professor Werkmeister is no slavish disciple of his acknowledged master: he develops his argument in terms of an analysis of a wide variety of findings of modern formal and empirical sciences, rather than on the basis of the Kantian apparatus of assumptions. Moreover, while his discussion is frequently directed against contemporary positivistic and pragmatic views, he has not failed to profit from the critiques made by these philosophies of older theories of knowledge... The range of materials included and the large number of central issues that are discussed help to make it an interesting and useful presentation of a point of view that continues to command current attention." Ernest Nagel

J Philos 45:605 O 21 '48 850w

WERNER, EARL F. Aircraft instrument maintenance. 466p il $7.50 McGraw

629.1351 Aeronautical instruments 48-3521

"Primarily, this book is designed for the beginning aircraft mechanic but it contains much information that will be useful to advanced mechanics and also to pilots. It covers the purposes, mechanical constructions, methods of installation, and the simpler servicing operations for all types of instruments now used on airplanes. Detailed procedures for routine inspections are given. Maintenance operations that involve bench testing, calibration and internal repair of instruments are not covered." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 45:8 S 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:49 Jl '48

WERNER, HAZEN GRAFF. Real living takes time. 184p $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury

248 Christian life 48-3973

"Lessons in living by a former Methodist minister, now professor of practical theology at Drew University. Much of the material in the widely varying chapters was drawn from the author's experience as director of a Personal Trouble Clinic in a Detroit church." Churchman

"While preachers will find many useful suggestions and illustrations, it is evident that Dr. Werner is more directly concerned with telling laymen how to order their lives to best advantage than with telling preachers how to tell the people." W. E. G.

+ Christian Century 65:883 S 1 '48 100w

"Readable, quotable, throws helpful light on modern problems." Adelaide Hawley

+ Churchman 162:17 O 1 '48 70w

"Heartily recommended for all types of libraries." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 73:1025 Jl '48 100w

WERNHER, HILDA. Story of Induraja. 251p $2.75 Doubleday

48-8586

Novel telling the life story of a beautiful young princess of India. After the death of her husband, Induraja kept on with the reforms they had planned together; and eventually broke all rules when she, a Hindu, was married again, and to a Muslim.

Booklist 45:52 O 1 '48

"The book has great beauty of spirit, although, as a novel, it is primarily a tract, using the dialogue to inform the reader of nearly all developments and aspects of Indian life. These in themselves are fascinating, for Miss Wernher knows Indian life with meticulous concern for details and interpretation." Henrietta Buckmaster

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 14 '48 750w

"It is a superficial book, of the depth and quality of a woman's magazine article, but it is well done, does not bite off more than it can chew, and gives a valid view of a changing civilization in terms of the four C's—church, children, cooking and clothes." A. F.

Commonweal 49:101 N 5 '48 130w

Kirkus 16:372 Ag 1 '48 130w

"Rhythmic writing, excellent characterizations, poetic vocabulary. Recommended to augment books on India and possible world events as well as the fiction collection of most libraries." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 73:1195 S 1 '48 130w

"I should have liked to report that 'The Story of Induraja' is a gracious parting bow to feudal India. . . But I cannot, in all honesty. Miss Wernher's palette is too modest for the enormous canvas she has set on her easel; the characters sound like dragomans needlessly explaining their customs to each other; the heroine deports herself so loftily that she fails to come alive beyond a decorative glassiness; the repetitious catechism of Indo-British relations seldom surpasses the level of a Sunday school." Joseph Hitrec

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 S 19 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 45:14 Ja '49

WERTENBAKER, GREEN PEYTON (GREEN PEYTON, pseud). America's heartland; the Southwest. 285p pl maps $3.75 Univ. of Okla. press

917.6 Southwest 48-10982

This book contains the author's impressions "of the Southwest . . . with some observations on its past and its future." "The Southwest which this book defines is the historical Southwest. It is so called in the first place because it lay southwest of the colonies which were the beginning of the United States. It starts at the Mississippi. . . It reaches to the Continental Divide, and . . . covers the states of Arkansas and Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico." (p.4) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:176 Ja 15 '49

"This volume, with its grandiose and inaccurate title, is obviously no work of profound research. It is informative on a limited scale when it presents statistics, but most of its facts have appeared elsewhere, and in better surroundings. For, scattered through the pages are some wonderfully meaningless generalities and some thoroughly superficial conclusions." Elliot Arnold

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p33 N 28 '48 1100w

"No one can say that it isn't a pretty inclusive survey that Mr. Peyton provides, and he sets it all down in the rapid and readable prose that Americans have come to recognize as the hallmark of the topnotch magazine writer." J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p22 D 15 '48 650w

WERTENBAKER, THOMAS JEFFERSON. Father Knickerbocker rebels; New York city during the Revolution. 308p il $4.50 Scribner

974.71 U.S.—History—Revolution—New York (city). New York (city)—History 48-11329

History of the part played by New York city in the American Revolution. It opens with a description of New York on November 1, 1765, the day the Stamp Act went into effect. It covers the seven years of British occupation of the city, detailing the lives of the British officers and men and the Tories who catered to them, as well as the Loyalists who did not. It ends with the dispersal of the British and Tories to seek refuge in Nova Scotia or the West Indies. Index.

Booklist 45:190 F 1 '49

"The author is supremely at ease with his material in every aspect. With all that, the illustrations alone are worth the price of the book." W. K. Rugg

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 D 28 '48 600w

Kirkus 16:332 Jl 1 '48 200w

"Mr. Wertenbaker's style of presentation of life in an occupied city is fresh, vivid, and fully as exciting as any historical novel of the same period (Ford's Janice Meredith excepted, perhaps). . . Recommended." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 73:1594 N 1 '48 110w

"The book abounds with brilliant personality sketches. Many readers will enjoy the comparisons with events of the last decade. . . The organization of this book is excellent, the style clear and direct, and the descriptions superb. The transition between chapters is unusually well handled. There are numerous reproductions of contemporary portraits, prints and maps. There are, of course, weaknesses. The author is perhaps less than just in his appraisal of Rivington, at least in the early years of the period. But such criticisms are minor." R. A. Brown

+ — N Y Times p51 N 21 '48 800w

+ New Yorker 24:180 D 4 '48 160w

"Mr. Wertenbaker makes the record entertaining as well as instructive; and he deserves high praise for his refusal to force an analogy between military occupation then and now." J. A. Krout

+ Sat R of Lit 32:13 Ja 8 '49 750w

WEST, DOROTHY. Living is easy. 347p $3.50 Houghton

48-6871

Novel describing life in the household of Boston's ex-slave "Banana King" in the period between the two world wars.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

Reviewed by E. B. Thompson

Chicago Sun p8X Je 20 '48 200w

WEST, DOROTHY—Continued

"In Cleo Judson, Miss West has created a woman smitten by the virus of Agrippinas of all races, the predatory female on the loose, a wholly plausible, tantalizing creature. There are some loose places in the framework of the book, but the style has a professional, ready grace, and there is nothing 'stock' about the characters. Indeed, in her first novel, Miss West displays all the talents of a highly competent writer." Florence Codman

+ Commonweal 48:264 Je 25 '48 210w

Kirkus 16:149 Mr 15 '48 180w

"Expert handling of fresh material in this fine novel. Heartily recommended." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 73:709 My 1 '48 80w

"Dorothy West's novel is of course a chronicle of twisted lives, but an honestly written one in which the sociological implications are only a small part of the author's full intention." Arna Bontemps

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 Je 13 '48 430w

"The novel is a woman's book to the hilt. Its insights and people are all seen with woman's special, pineal eye. Some of the writing as writing is loose—but the important thing about the book is its abundant and special woman's energy and beat. The beat is a deep one, and it often makes a man's seem puny." Seymour Krim

N Y Times p5 My 16 '48 430w

New Yorker 24:122 My 15 '48 140w

WEST, EDITH, and others. Contemporary problems, here and abroad; units in the social studies. 598p il maps $2.28 Heath

300 Social sciences 47-1297

"A collection of selected units designed for use in classes in problems of democracy, world history, and American history, also for commercial geography, government, and economics." (School & Society) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

School & Society 66:224 S 20 '47 30w

"The need for this type of textbook is real, and the trend it represents toward the study of world, instead of narrowly American, problems should be encouraged. . . The information presented is placed in proper perspective, is concrete, and does not include too much abstract or theoretical material. Since this volume contains much pertinent and useful material not inexpensively or readily available elsewhere, several copies added to any high school or classroom library would represent a sound investment. But as a basal text around which a course might be built, the book is apt to be successful primarily with the more academic type of student." M. V. Jennings

+ Social Educ 12:91 F '48 1500w

Social Studies 38:379 D '47 30w

WEST, JESSAMYN. Mirror for the sky; an opera based on an original conception of Raoul Pène DuBois for portraying the life of Audubon in a musical drama; costume sketches by Raoul Pène DuBois. 155p $3.75 Harcourt

812 Audubon, John James—Drama 48-5865

Opera script based on the life of Audubon, from the time he moved West with his wife with the purpose of painting every bird in the United States, to the publication of his Elephant folio some thirty years later.

Booklist 44:266 Ap 1 '48

"Characterization, dialogue, lyrics, even the stage directions, show the author's affection for her subject, and her intuitive conception of the traditions of American custom and folklore. With tenderness and vigor and good salty humor, she has composed a colorful, dramatic script, which has definite theatrical possibilities, provided it receives the musical score worthy of it. There need not be too much quarrel about certain liberties taken with the facts concerning Audubon's life, for there are biographies aplenty to which the scholar may refer if it is facts he wishes. It is important that Miss West is most scrupulous in her characterization of the man himself, and it would be quibbling to criticize her particular adjustment of the known facts of his life to suit her script, or her embroidery of the customary rumors to fit the demands of operatic extravagances." M. W. Stoer

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 6 '48 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '48

"This has some of the qualities of Oklahoma, more thoughtful, superior in writing, but with the same fresh feel."

+ Kirkus 16:142 Mr 1 '48 130w

"A moving and touching drama which will interest the myriad admirers of the artist and will find a home in drama and music collections alike. Recommended." George Freedley

+ Library J 73:653 Ap 15 '48 60w

"So much of the play has the air of a pageant that in spite of the charm of many of the lyrics and the charm of Audubon himself and his patient wife, one fears that the reader will have to imagine what a stage performance would be like." W. P. Eaton

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Je 13 '48 140w

" 'Mirror for the Sky' cannot even be dismissed as competent. Striving to recreate the career of Audubon in strange, valentine prose (and lyrics that belong on a sampler rather than on music-staves), Miss West reveals no knowledge of the theatre whatsoever. Mr. du Bois' sketches for costumes, by the way, are of a piece with the mincing dialogue. Daniel Boone's get-up, to name just one, is outlandish enough to send that honest trail-blazer spinning in his grave." James MacBride

— N Y Times p30 Je 6 '48 90w

"[The] songs, simple and naturally poetic, are extraordinarily fine. Along with the drama of Audubon's effort to paint the birds he loved —an effort engaged in with the direct single-mindedness of the artist in any period—goes the drama of his wife, Lucy, and her faithful support of the husband she loved. Miss West has made of this something both true and touching. Best of all she has managed to avoid the oversimplification this form seems too often to bring about. Her interpretation is singularly rich and full, though she stays rigidly within the framework set by the nature of the work. Privately, that's the thing I most admire about this beautifully executed play—the strict control over the chosen form that Miss West is able to exercise. It's as though she'd been doing it for years; her virtuosity is something to observe wide-eyed." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Mr 3 '48 550w

WEST, RICHARD SEDGEWICK. Admirals of American empire. 354p il maps $4 Bobbs

973 Dewey, George. Mahan, Alfred Thayer. Schley, Winfield Scott. Sampson, William Thomas. U.S.—History, Naval 48-5963

The combined biographies of four American admirals: George Dewey, Alfred Thayer Mahan, Winfield Scott Schley, and William Thomas Sampson. These four from very different backgrounds were all cadets in Annapolis at the same time. The lives of these four men are followed during a long period of our naval decline, rebirth, and final emergence in the "New navy." Index.

"Recommended for historical, biographical material, some trivial details." H. A. Wooster

+ Library J 73:395 Mr 1 '48 100w

"The merit of this excellent biography lies in the manner in which the lives of the four are revealed as complementing each other during the birth struggles of the American empire." R. A. Brown

+ N Y Times p18 Ap 25 '48 600w

Reviewed by Ruth Teiser

San Francisco Chronicle p11 Jl 25 '48 600w

"The most interesting thing about the book is that these four add up to something more than an exercise in the study of personality.

The brief flash of American imperialism that reached its peak at the close of the Spanish War lacked any such commanding figure as Cecil Rhodes or Bismarck, and as a result has been wildly misinterpreted. Mr. West shows it here as more of a mass movement and less of a villainy; and his picture is the truer one. To be sure, Mr. West tells the story only from the Naval point of view. (One of the minor merits of the book is that it constitutes a particularly clear and accurate history of the American Navy during thirty crucial years.) But the Navy was the major instrument of the United States's temporary adventure in imperialism; and unless one understands what went into and came out of the Service at that time, the whole episode will remain a mystery." Fletcher Pratt

+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 My 1 '48 500w

"Displaying a judicious blend of factual reporting and interpretative analysis, Professor West has written an interesting account of the lives of the four naval officers who combined with Theodore Roosevelt to transform the United States from a potentially powerful isolationist state into a world power. . . The book has two climaxes, the Battles of Manila Bay and of Santiago. Both are clearly and even thrillingly described in this outstanding piece of historical writing."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:157 Je '48 270w

WESTCOTT, MRS JAN (VLACHOS). Captain for Elizabeth. 358p $3 Crown

Cavendish, Thomas—Fiction 48-9027

The adventures in love and piracy of an English captain, who sailed the seas under a commission from Queen Elizabeth, and waged private wars against the Spaniards in the Pacific.

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48

Reviewed by Jex Martin

Chicago Sun N 23 '48 180w

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg

Christian Science Monitor p11 N 24 '48 160w

"The tale follows the main course of an unsavory career (though Cavendish was hardly worse than Magellan or Hawkins) but is so cluttered with details, largely spurious, of duels, hangings and other bloody affairs, and so compounded with the different varieties of love in capital letters as to be just another historical melodrama."

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p25 O 24 '48 180w

N Y Times p36 O 24 '48 130w

WESTHEIMER, DAVID. Summer on the water. 273p $3 Macmillan

48-6911

The scene is a summer colony near Houston, Texas. The chief characters are a wealthy business man, his good-natured, lazy wife, their beautiful colored maid, and the latter's son. When the mistress begins to study on the subject of the paternity of the maid's son, tragedy strikes the small community.

Booklist 44:353 Je 15 '48

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '48 150w

Kirkus 16:93 F 15 '48 260w

"Not recommended." R. P. Tubby

— Library J 73:652 Ap 15 '48 80w

"There are points of characterization that one might question but in its total impact, 'Summer on the Water' is a highly effective work, and a first novel of far more than ordinary achievement. Mr. Westheimer is a new novelist who has earned serious attention." Coleman Rosenberger

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Je 6 '48 700w

"Worth while."

+ New Yorker 24:75 Je 26 '48 140w

"Once in a while you read a novel so good you feel that its characters are people you have actually known and that its setting is a place you have actually seen. Unfortunately, it doesn't happen very often, but when it does, it is the most rewarding experience a reader can have. This is such a novel. And to make it even more remarkable, it is the first novel by this 30-year-old veteran." Audrey Doughty

+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Je 6 '48 750w

"Mr. Westheimer's Pine Creek is Clear Creek, which empties into Galveston Bay near Houston. The weather, the colors, the foliage and nature's sultry summer moods in the Galveston Bay area, through which Clear Creek flows, are described with undeniable talent. The modulations and variations in these subjects seem to have been discerned. But when the inhabitants are examined, no grays are found in Mr. Westheimer's lexicon. This fact tends to make his entire story somewhat unconvincing." D. Anderson

— + Sat R of Lit 31:26 My 29 '48 600w

WESTMACOTT, MARY, pseud. See Christie, A. M.

WESTON, OTHETO. Mother Lode album. 177p il $5 Stanford univ. press

917.94 California—Views. California—Gold discoveries 48-1338

Photographs showing the ruins of the California gold rush towns, with enough descriptive and historical text to enable the reader to picture the life of the heyday of the Mother Lode.

"I can't think of a better all-around book for the purpose. And I'm quite sure that thousands of visitors to California—not to mention many Californians who have still to see the Mother Lode country—will find it ideal for their purpose for a good many years to come." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p13 F 15 '48 1000w

Sat R of Lit 31:28 Ag 21 '48 100w

WETHERELL, JUNE PAT (MRS DANIEL FRAME). Run, sheep, run. 287p $3 Dutton

47-31389

A novel based on the fifteen years from the depression to World war II. The "story revolves around three people: Ken Morrison, who should have been a musician but who is forced to work at anything just to live; Pat Reed, who, loving Ken but not having the courage to face poverty with him, chooses a safe marriage; and Suzie McGill, shy, sensitive, who marries Ken and learns to fight loneliness and the fear of losing her husband." (N Y Times)

Kirkus 15:404 Ag 1 '47 170w

"An interesting and disturbingly reminiscent novel. Knowing the generation that graduated from college into hopelessness and economic insecurity, [the author] writes of them with penetrating sympathy." Anne Richards

+ N Y Times p28 N 16 '47 230w

WHEELER, OPAL (MRS JOHN MACRAE). Frederic Chopin, son of Poland; early years; il. by Christine Price. 156p $2.75 Dutton

B or 92 Chopin, Frédéric François—Juvenile literature 48-10153

The first of two volumes of a juvenile biography of Frederic Chopin. The present book traces his life from his babyhood struggle to live thru a cold Polish winter to his successful piano concert at Vienna. Includes the music of some of his preludes, waltzes, and mazurkas.

Booklist 45:125 D 1 '48

"There has never been a book printed in English about this great musician so dashing and full of life. The text is that of a real story-teller, the illustrations sparkling, and the gems from Chopin's own music in large print are a joy to the eye. . . There are some academic errors: confusion of places with manors, of royalty with nobility. The first teacher of the little Chopinek was Zywny, not Zwyny." Tadensz Jarecki

WHEELER, OPAL—Continued
+ — Commonweal 49:155 N 19 '48 250w
Kirkus 16:555 O 15 '48 120w

"The warm family life, the encouragement of masters and patrons and all the boyish successes add up to a bright, cheerful tale that amuses as well as instructs. Miss Price's delightful drawings are exactly right for it." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p31 Ja 16 '49 140w

"The author succeeds in conveying the alternately gay and grave atmosphere of feudal Poland. The book contains excerpts from some of Chopin's earlier compositions, and there are many spirited black-and-white illustrations."
+ New Yorker 24:145 D 11 '48 120w

WHEELER-BENNETT, JOHN WHEELER. Munich: prologue to tragedy. 507p il maps $5 Duell

943.7 Munich four power agreement, 1938. Czechoslovakia—History—German occupation, 1939-1945. Great Britain—Foreign relations—Germany 48-8501

A study and an interpretation of the Munich agreement, by an historian who has had access to the Nuremberg documents and the Czechoslovak state archives. There is an analysis of the five-year period previous to Munich and the five months which followed the agreement. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:64 O 15 '48

Reviewed by Irving Pflaum
Chicago Sun O 7 '48 80w
Christian Science Monitor p18 S 16 '48 650w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 15:292 N '48 850w

"Interesting, well documented political history of 1933-1942. . . Recommended for students and adult readers who should be interested in world problems." D. F. Lucas
+ Library J 73:1191 S 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison
Nation 167:404 O 9 '48 1050w

"During the war Mr. Wheeler-Bennett worked under Lord Halifax in Washington, and even the casual reader will observe how sympathetically Neville Chamberlain's Foreign Secretary is treated. . . If he had sacrificed even a few hours of his chats with Lord Halifax and Brendan Bracken to have a talk with Mr. Attlee or Mr. Bevin, his picture of the British political scene in 1938 would have been better composed and achieved a finer balance. . . The important issues of the Generals' Plot and of the extent of the opposition inside the German Civil Service are only mentioned in footnotes. . . He fails to appreciate the part which ideology played and, even more important, the change in the status of France and Britain as world powers which was the objective basis of their betrayal of the Czechs. So he still looks forward to Munich from the 'thirties instead of backward from the 'forties, and reflects not on the past but in the past." R. H. S. Crossman
New Statesman & Nation 35:485 Je 12 '48 600w

"An admirable study of the immediate causes of the last world war. It is written—very well written—in the frame of reference of classic diplomatic history." Crane Brinton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 S 26 '48 850w

Reviewed by E. W. Fox
N Y Times p14 O 3 '48 1200w
New Yorker 24:110 S 18 '48 140w

"An honest and just statement of a great many difficult things which it is of the utmost importance that we should not forget. . . The searching critic may regret the repetition involved in this book by the analysis of the history of the five previous years after the analysis of the events most closely associated with the Munich Agreement. He cannot fail, however, to admire Mr. Wheeler-Bennett's handling of the puzzling problems of modern historians who find themselves called upon, for instance, to judge between the veracity of a Ribbentrop and that of a Georges Bonnet." Elizabeth Wiskemann
+ — Spec 180:620 My 21 '48 800w

Reviewed by J. P. C. Carey
Survey G 37:515 D '48 470w

"Written in a vivid, and at times brilliant, narrative, [the book] provides future historians with indispensable material and will enrich both the enjoyment and the knowledge of the ordinary reader."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p325 Je 12 '48 4000w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
Yale R n s 38:344 winter '49 1150w

WHEELWRIGHT, JERE HUNGERFORD. Gentlemen, hush! il. by Ralph Ray. 193p $2.50 Scribner
48-9118

Novel for young readers. It is the story of the Civil war and reconstruction in the South. There are three heroes, all under twenty, who return to the ruined home of one of them to carry thru Lee's order to "go home and help to build up the shattered fortunes of the South."

Booklist 45:181 Ja 15 '49

"A fresh, mature treatment of the difficulties faced by the Confederacy at the end of the Civil War."
+ Kirkus 16:368 Ag 1 '48 130w

"Plenty of action, a slight romance, humorous situations, and plenty of good hard work. Excellent characterizations; black-and-white drawings. Recommended for older boys and girls." C. W. Field
+ Library J 73:1676 N 15 '48 60w

"A story full of humor, fortitude and excitement." M. E.
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 N 14 '48 360w

"Any teen-ager should enjoy the humor, atmosphere and nicely accelerated plot of Mr. Wheelwright's 'Gentlemen Hush!'. Mr. Wheelwright's story has all the ingredients of a real novel, though tailored for younger readers." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p2 N 14 '48 160w

"A rattling good story, for older children. . . The book covers a period seldom touched on in juvenile fiction."
+ New Yorker 24:132 D 11 '48 130w

"In a year rich with good stories for older boys and girls, this is one of the best. . . It is a story rich in value for adults as well as for boys and girls. Ralph Ray has made some fine drawings to illustrate it."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:31 N 13 '48 360w

WHEELWRIGHT, JERE HUNGERFORD. Strong room. 302p $3 Scribner
48-5264

Historical novel about Tudor England. The hero is a young aristocrat who had been imprisoned in the Tower of London by Henry VIII, because he was too closely related to the royal family. When Queen Mary came to the throne she pardoned John Aumarle. He became involved in the plots and court intrigues to prevent the queen's marriage to Philip II of Spain and finally found himself once more in the Tower. His rescue came just in time to save him from execution.

Booklist 44:217 F 15 '48

"Two features that are rather unusual in contemporary fiction distinguish this novel. It has a good, although slightly melodramatic, plot, cleverly woven into the historical events of the period. And it has as its principal character a hero with really admirable qualities, who wins the sympathy and holds the rapt interest of the reader." Bonaventure Schwinn
+ Commonweal 48:117 My 14 '48 350w

"All the elements of successful historical romance are here, and it is too bad that awkward dialog and some confusion slow the pace. Better than average."
+ — Kirkus 15:659 D 1 '47 150w

Reviewed by R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:198 F 1 '48 70w

"Mr. Wheelwright has written a 'swashbuckler' which just doesn't swashbuckle." Richard Match
— N Y Times p26 Mr 7 '48 410w

" 'The Strong Room' is exciting reading and a fairly palatable way of brushing up on one of the more confusing periods of English history." W. R. W.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p21 My 9 '48 160w

"An incredibly stiff and artificial historical novel. . . Even Spanish conspirators and plenty of bloodshed and moral treacheries are thrown in for good measure, but it is all as uninteresting as a cold suet pudding." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p8B F 15 '48 170w

WHELTON, PAUL. Women are skin deep. 255p $2.50 Lippincott
48-5067

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Ja 30 '48 140w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ja 18 '48 90w

"There is action aplenty with no holds barred." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p33 F 8 '48 180w

"Recommended." E. D. Doyle
+ San Francisco Chronicle p20 F 8 '48 70w

"More veracious than most tales of Capital crime—both amateurs and pros are believable. Fast action, brittle chatter, unforeseen solution."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ja 17 '48 40w

WHERRY, EDGAR THEODORE. Wild flower guide, northeastern and midland United States; il. by Tabea Hofmann; sponsored by The wild flower preservation society, Washington, D.C. 202p $3 Doubleday
582.13 Flowers Agr48-30

Pocket-size manual giving about five hundred of the common wild flowers of northeastern and midland United States. Information includes scientific and common names, description, range, habitat, and culture. Illustrated in color and in black and white. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:278 Ap 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48
Commonweal 48:661 Ap 23 '48 50w

"A book scientific enough for the professional botanist, and practical enough for the average man who wants to know what that orange flower picked in the meadow is called."
+ Kirkus 16:15 Ja 1 '48 150w

"Something new and very welcome has been added to our plant literature by this compact and adequately illustrated handbook of Dr. Wherry's. . . One need not be a botanist to understand and follow Dr. Wherry's system of identification. Actually, the book contains only the necessary minimum of botanical terms, and these are so well explained in a brief glossary that no interested reader need be puzzled by their application." R. S. Lemmon
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 My 16 '48 270w
New Yorker 24:127 Mr 13 '48 30w

WHETTEN, NATHAN LASELLE. Rural Mexico; with a foreword by Manuel Gamio. 671p il maps $10 Univ. of Chicago press
323.354 Mexico—Social conditions. Sociology, Rural. Peasantry—Mexico 48-8023

"An over-all study of rural Mexico. . . Like most social students of Mexico the author takes serious account of the geography of the land, reminding us that Mexico is high, dry and mountainous; that its natives are doomed to extreme isolation. Next, the author relates the people to the land and to themselves. . . The chapter on small private land holdings is a presentation of a little-known subject and includes a brief account of the foreign colonies in Mexico—Mennonite, Mormon, Russian and Spanish refugee. And his estimate of the Sinarchist movement is perhaps the best to appear in English." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by N. S. Hayner
+ Am Soc R 13:782 D '48 1150w

"It is excellently done, with much material made interesting for the student."
+ Current Hist 15:166 S '48 90w

"The author, although dean of a graduate school in an Eastern university, was born in Mexico of American parents and as Manuel Gamio observes in the preface, feels a sincere, disinterested and abiding affection for that country and its people. Furthermore, he is an experienced and tenacious sociologist who knows how to look for, find and relate significant facts. The study occupied nearly five full years. In the opinion of this reviewer the results more than justify the effort." H. W. Bentley
+ N Y Times p5 N 7 '48 900w

WHIFFEN, MARCUS. Stuart and Georgian churches; the architecture of the Church of England outside London, 1603-1837. 118p $6 Batsford
726 Church architecture. Churches—Great Britain

Study of some of the buildings erected by the Church of England, excluding London, between the years 1603-1837. The book is largely chronological in arrangement. A final chapter is devoted to the artists and craftsmen who were employed to decorate these churches. Contains a list of Stuart and Georgian churches arranged by counties. Index.

Reviewed by Fiske Kimball
Am Hist R 54:191 O '48 250w

"This is a very worthy and a very interesting book which amply proves that this mildly critical comment should not be applied too sweepingly to the churches of the period with which it deals." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 65:1401 D 22 '48 400w

"This volume, compact with information and anecdote, richly illustrated with photographs, drawings, and diagrams should prove useful for many an author writing of life and death in the County. . . Wanderers in literary bypaths will be most enthusiastic." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:1196 S 1 '48 80w

"Mr. Whiffen's study of a subject that must have meant unceasing travel and library research backed by sure, alert scholarship is fine pioneer work." J. B.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 16 '48 100w

"This book is a disappointment. The author makes no claim to completeness, and London, rich in churches of the period (1603-1837) is deliberately omitted. But he conveys the impression that he has made a selection from much material. This may account for the omission from his text of much more than half the examples known to exist. But it does not explain why those that he does mention and illustrate, often somewhat dully, are preferred to many equally and more distinguished churches which he omits. . . It is only of superficial value as a survey of the period."
— Times [London] Lit Sup p147 Mr 13 '48 420w

WHITAKER, ARTHUR PRESTON. United States and South America, the northern republics. (Am. foreign policy lib) 280p maps $3.50 Harvard univ. press
980 Latin America—Foreign relations—U.S. U.S.—Foreign relations—Latin America
48-6353

Study of the northern republics of South America: Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Venezuela. The first section deals with geography, physical properties, and people. The second section is a history of wartime development in both the political and economic fields. The remaining sections deal more specifically with economic and political conditions and relations between United States and the Latin Americans in wartime, before 1939 and in the possible future.

WHITAKER, A. P.—Continued

Reviewed by Gerhard Masur
Am Hist R 54:175 O '48 750w

Reviewed by A. C. Wilgus
Ann Am Acad 259:177 S '48 450w

Booklist 44:366 Jl 1 '48

Current Hist 15:227 O '48 40w

Foreign Affairs 26:741 Jl '48 40w

Kirkus 16:18 Ja 1 '48 160w

"Early chapters are written in a thoroughly turgid style, which, happily soon improves. Most of the material covered is available nowhere else; the chapters on Peru are particularly welcome." Joseph Borome
+ — Library J 73:334 F 15 '48 130w

"Arthur P. Whitaker's volume, the latest in the illuminating American Foreign Policy Library series, edited by Sumner Welles, does not require headlines to give it merit; of its own right it is an objective and quietly intelligent survey of political, social and economic conditions in the so-called 'Bolivarian' countries of Colombia, Venezuela, Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia. But the background it provides to the latest journalistic sensation from our 'Caribbean defense zone' makes it especially useful at this moment." Richard Watts
+ New Repub 118:24 My 3 '48 1100w

"Here is a surefooted book for those who would understand the recent news from Bogota, news to come, perhaps, from Quito or Lima or la Paz. It is a book for every thoughtful secretary of state, to be read prayerfully before delivering all the credit to Moscow for chaos in Latin America." Hubert Herring
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Jl 4 '48 950w

Reviewed by Duncan Aikman
N Y Times p21 My 9 '48 400w

Reviewed by C. C. Griffin
Pol Sci Q 63:434 S '48 550w

"Mr. Whitaker's short treatise is chiefly admirable for its simple if not always lucid condensation, and he should not be criticized for any lack of profundity or completeness, but should be praised for so well carrying out his purpose of providing a small handbook and for having filled up his all too limited space with such an extraordinary wealth of material. However issue must be taken with him for recommending El Comercio of Lima as one of 'the best' newspapers for 'good news coverage.' If he had stated that this is by far the worst of the big Latin American dailies, that in spite of its exceedingly poor and distorted coverage of Latin American and Peruvian news, it is valuable to students as a reflection of the 'Creole Fascist' mind and a sort of house organ for a small feudal and snobbish clique, we should have hailed its inclusion." Carleton Beals
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:12 My 1 '48 850w

WHITE, CHARLES WILLIAM (MAX WHITE, pseud). Midnight gardener; a novel about Baudelaire. 367p $3.50 Harper

Baudelaire, Charles Pierre—Fiction 48-7807

Novel based on the life of the French poet, Charles Baudelaire. It begins on the day of his coming of age, and closes as he wanders thru Paris at night, on the eve of his departure for Brussels, where he died in 1867.

"The book lacks the precision, range, and insights of a good critical biography, but it will have a broader appeal to those more interested in Baudelaire's exotic personality than in his work."
+ — Atlantic 182:106 S '48 120w

Booklist 45:52 O 1 '48

"A striking example of fictionized biography which will reward literary readers with sufficient stamina to stay by through White's torrent of verbiage."
+ Kirkus 16:288 Je 15 '48 250w

"Much careful research skilfully interwoven into story. Appeal, however, limited to those interested in this strange, controversial, enigmatic personality." R. W. Henderson
Library J 73:1092 Ag '48 80w

"Mr. White's novel suffers from the very richness of his material. It is often repetitious, its dialogue is occasionally over-long and stilted, its descriptive passages fulsome. But despite these flaws it is noteworthy for its success in recreating Baudelaire as a living, suffering person." Ray Pierre
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 8 '48 500w

"In every overly deliberate gesture and attitude Mr. White sees the conscious externalization of Baudelaire's irremediable internal needs. Sometimes, however, this biographer is psychologically unsubtle as in the scene between mother, step-father and son, where even Freud would have been less ham-handed." Anne Fremantle
+ — N Y Times p22 S 12 '48 450w

"Mr. White, who has already turned out a commendable fictionalized biography of Goya, now takes us inside Baudelaire. The splendors he reveals there are not, of course, markedly gay or hygienic, but they are entirely credible and are presented in good journeyman prose."
+ New Yorker 24:71 Ag 7 '48 130w

"Many readers will enjoy this book. They will learn a great deal about Baudelaire, about French literature, and about Paris; they will enjoy the learning process though few will retain it, and still fewer will be impelled to read more than a few of the poems because of it. But many others will find that they are not completely carried away." Vance Bourjaily
+ — San Francisco Chronicle p15 S 5 '48 800w

"All too often the eager reader suffers from the cramping frustration that comes from unrealized expectations, and the disappointing knowledge that as a novel 'the Midnight Gardener' is impotent. Even so, it is well worth reading because it is a sincere effort to bring Charles Baudelaire, his work and his era, before the modern reader in an understanding and unsensational manner." L. S. Munn
+ — Springf'd Republican p7B Ag 29 '48 360w

WHITE, ERIC WALTER. Stravinsky; a critical survey. 192p il $3.75 Philosophical lib.

B or 92 Stravinskiĭ, Igor' Fedorovich 48-5718

The purpose of this biography of Stravinsky "is to survey and comment on the evolution of his work so as to help readers and listeners to appreciate the issues involved and to increase their enjoyment of his music." (Pref) The appendices contain lists of his works, recordings, and a bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:31 S 15 '48

"Mr. White's book, the second he has written on Stravinsky, seems to be little more than a set of program notes for all of Stravinsky's works, and, like most program notes, it treats with caution or disregard the more interesting problems, while, at the same time, it provides a great deal of useful information. Stravinsky the man who does not receive close scrutiny, and only a casual attempt is made to compare him musically with his contemporaries or place him historically, although something is said briefly of his predecessors. Two short chapters treat his retreat into neo-classicism (the 'sacrifice to Apollo') and his historical method of composing. So short are they, however, that Mr. White is reduced to flat generalizations which are hard to swallow without further proof. . . Useful as Mr. White's book is, it fails to take a hold on its subject, and the absence of musical examples reduces its value considerably." Milton Wilson
Canadian Forum 27:190 N '47 280w

"American issue of English sheets of an excellent work. Into the biographical web are woven analyses and criticism of each composition. Illustrations are excellent and there is a good list of works. The book's chief shortcomings for the American public will be found in the Briticisms of the musical vocabulary and of the list of phonograph records." Leonard Burkat

Library J 73:476 Mr 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Gilbert Chase

Music Lib Assn Notes 5:371 Je '48 480w

"This excellent study of Stravinsky . . . is a small but definite landmark in contemporary music criticism. In it a man naturally receptive to Stravinsky's music . . . has told brilliantly, succinctly, the story thus far of the foremost composer of our time." Herbert Weinstock

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 My 2 '48 550w

"Pretty technical in spots, but sensitive and informative."

+ New Yorker 24:125 Mr 13 '48 120w

"Mr. White's study is a modest and readable essay composed (to borrow a phrase from Schumann) ten paces away from his subject in order not to praise him too warmly to his face. The modicum of critical evaluation with which Mr. White leavens his admiration for an acknowledged master is all to the good; and the lay reader, at least, will find his summary of Stravinsky's work (musical and literary) a convenience. It is unfortunate, however, that Mr. White is sometimes content with merely a summary of material already more fully and as readily available elsewhere." Abraham Veinus

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:28 My 22 '48 750w

"An excellent guide to all of Stravinsky that does not fall behind the composer's private iron curtain." Martin Cooper

+ Spec 179:84 Jl 18 '47 600w

Reviewed by Victor Prahl

Springf'd Republican p10C D 19 '48 390w

"Careful, thorough and authoritative book."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p392 Ag 2 '47 850w

WHITE, JOHN MARION. The farmers' handbook. 440p il maps $4.95 Univ. of Okla. press

630.2 Agriculture—Encyclopedias and dictionaries Agr48-424

Encyclopedia of agricultural information for farmers and gardeners. Material is arranged under twenty-one headings: Grain crops; Legumes and grasses; Fiber and oil crops; Other field crops; Sugar and sirup crops; Garden and truck crops; The orchard; Trees on the farm; Berries; Beef cattle; Dairy cattle; Hogs; Horses, mules, asses, ponies; Sheep and goats; Poultry and rabbits; Feeds and feeding; Soil conservation; Fish and wildlife; Farm engineering; A little about a lot. Index.

Booklist 45:28 S 15 '48

Reviewed by Emerson Hynes

Commonweal 49:121 N 12 '48 200w

"Whether you are working a one-acre 'ranch' in Marin county or whether your property stretches as far as you can see, you'll get more from your land if you keep this volume handy. It is well-arranged in encyclopedia form and is meant to be dog-eared by city farmers, stock raisers and county agents." E. J.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p22 Jl 18 '48 120w

+ Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 4 '48 180w

Wis Lib Bul 44:212 D '48

WHITE, LEONARD DUPEE. The Federalists; a study in administrative history. 538p $6 Macmillan

973.41 U.S.—Politics and government—1783-1865. Federal party. Public administration 48-7016

"'This volume begins a systematic study of American ideas about public administration.' It shows that the Federalists from 1789-1801 faced, on a smaller scale, many of the operational problems confronting public administrators today." (Library J) Index.

"Masterly in concept, painstaking in detail, based upon a thorough examination of the source materials yet written with simplicity and restraint, this account of public administration under the Federalists must inevitably command the attention and respect of historians as well as administrators. As a 'first' in a new field it sets a high standard of scholarship and of modesty in generalization." William Anderson

+ Am Hist R 54:152 O '48 480w

Reviewed by A. H. Kelly

Ann Am Acad 260:207 N '48 500w

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

"Professor White, a recognized authority on public administration, recounts Hamilton's imposing contributions as the administrative architect of the new American government and gives Washington new stature as an administrator. The author's style adds flavor to what is usually an uncommonly dry subject." J. B. Parrish

+ Churchman 162:17 S 1 '48 110w

Current Hist 15:102 Ag '48 60w

"This remarkably careful and competent study in an area of American history hitherto without a recorder serves several purposes well. . . The Federalists is a book which well repays the reading: Professor White should be encouraged to continue and complete his historical survey of American administrative theory and practice of which this volume marks the beginning." J. L. B.

+ J Philos 45:615 O 21 '48 250w

Kirkus 16:139 Mr 1 '48 150w

"An important volume on the early history of American government. . . Recommended." J. H. Berthel

+ Library J 73:557 Ap 1 '48 110w

"The reader might possibly have benefited from a grouping of the forty chapters under four or five major headings. This would have made the organization of the material a bit more obvious. Serious criticism, however, would be hard to make. The author has done far too sound and thorough a job." W. R. Waterman

+ — Pol Sci Q 63:431 S '48 1150w

San Francisco Chronicle p17 Je 6 '48 600w

School & Society 67:416 My 29 '48 10w

WHITE, MAX, pseud. See White, C. W.

WHITE, MRS NELIA (GARDNER). No trumpet before him. 344p $3 Presbyterian bd. 48-5990

Novel describing the difficulties endured and overcome by a country minister whose bishop placed him in a wealthy church that did not want "a young inexperienced man."

Booklist 44:249 Mr 15 '48

"'No Trumpet Before Him' is a good, well-told novel. The minister in a situation like this might easily have been unbelievably virtuous and sweet. Paul Phillips, however, is well characterized, a modest likeable man, strong in his convictions, but humbly uncertain of his ability to live as he knows he should live." Dorothy Sparks

+ Chicago Sun Mr 26 '48 470w

"A well contrived, well written story with adult, intelligent values."

+ Kirkus 16:155 Mr 15 '48 230w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 My 23 '48 400w

"Winner of the 1947 Westminster Press Fiction Award, this is a richly satisfying novel." Paul Ramsey

+ N Y Times p10 Mr 21 '48 500w

"Mrs. White has complete mastery of the formula novel. She holds your interest even though you know, more or less, what is going to happen. 'The impact for good' is admirable

WHITE, N. G.—Continued
and commendable but, at the same time, the fact remains that the great novels that really broaden our measure of living do it by indirection." Jane Voiles
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ap 4 '48 450w
Wis Lib Bul 44:83 Ap '48

WHITE, PATRICK. Aunt's story. 281p $3 Viking
48-5103

Character study of a plain woman, whose instincts are greater than her adaptability to life. After the death of her possessive mother Theodora wanders from her native Australia to the French Riviera and on to America, growing more and more out of touch with actuality.

Booklist 44:217 F 15 '48

Reviewed by Feike Feikema
Chicago Sun Ja 6 '48 410w

"The period of her childhood had a certain poignancy, but for this reader the novel loses flavor and interest as the bitter end approaches."
Kirkus 15:607 N 1 '47 210w

"Patrick White dissects and analyzes character and emotion with perception, creating an unforgettable heroine and many lesser personalities. His description of Australia is delightful. He is a philosopher and writer of exceptional ability and this book will be an important addition to current lists." E. H. Kennedy
+ Library J 72:1686 D 1 '47 80w

"I found it pretty dull going, and totally unconvincing to boot; although I'm sure Mr. White thought he was documenting his case very fully and clinically. . . Just as a writing performance, however, Mr. White's novel cannot be dismissed as merely pretentious and 'literary.' It has some striking visual moments; and the last scene . . . is superb." Diana Trilling
— + Nation 166:219 F 21 '48 180w

Reviewed by John Woodburn
New Repub 118:27 F 16 '48 1300w

"A contemporary exercise in the picturesque style, this exceedingly brilliant and likable novel is written with an almost miraculous liveliness. Its character-drawing is at once incisive and profound, though it concerns itself chiefly with the emotional and spiritual adventures, as well as with the travels and dreams, of a plain woman. . . The oddly unusual and delicious book ripples with gaiety and a razor-edged love of life. It is as bright and as poignant as the sound of a brass band." Iris Barry
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ja 4 '48 550w

"Patrick White's third novel is a brilliant, original and highly intelligent piece of work. It is also, thank heaven, gay and witty—as well as tragic, sometimes profound. . . Like Flaubert, Mr. White believes that good literature, like good wine, should be sipped. The reader who drains the last drop from 'The Aunt's Story' will feel he's had a full bottle chosen by a connoisseur." James Stern
+ N Y Times p5 Ja 11 '48 750w

"The end is done so skillfully, and is so much Mr. White's story, that no one else should try to tell it. Not that Mr. White's novel depends on it. It depends for its distinguished success upon the two things that every novelist must depend upon—an understanding of human beings and a knowledge of how to write. Mr. White's prose is as much a delight as the story he tells with it." Hamilton Basso
+ New Yorker 23:80 Ja 10 '48 280w

" 'The Aunt's Story' is an acrid, astringent novel in which illusion offers a refuge from reality. . . The first part of the novel seems to me the best. It conveys childhood poignancies and realizations and it presents a very real passing of time. . . The second part of the novel grows increasingly subjective and dreamlike. . . Here the writing becomes oblique and elliptic, with a good many pages that resist comprehension." Walter Havighurst
+ Sat R of Lit 31:11 Ja 3 '48 650w
Times [London] Lit Sup p553 O 2 '48 180w

WHITE, ROBB. Sail away; il. by Dorothy Bayley Morse. 243p $2.25 Doubleday
48-8771

A mystery story for the early teens.

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:220 D '48 60w
Kirkus 16:438 S 1 '48 70w

"Recommended." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 73:1827 D 15 '48 70w

"An exciting book that will doubtless please boys and girls as a good detective story pleases some of their elders."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:32 N 13 '48 130w

WHITE, STEWART EDWARD. Job of living [with biographical introd. by Mrs Leslie F. Kinnell]. 196p $2.75 Dutton
133.93 Spiritualism 48-7164

The last in the series of psychical books by this author, of which The Betty Book (Book Review Digest 1937) was the first. This is a philosophy of life based on messages from the "invisibles" of the spirit world. Index.

Kirkus 16:189 Ap 1 '48 160w

"Will receive attention and respect from similarly inclined thinkers but little notice from others. Minor, too, compared with some of author's earlier works." G. W. Wakefield
Library J 73:877 Je 1 '48 140w

"Whether one accepts psychic sources or not, the material itself is interesting."
+ Wis Lib Bul 44:145 S '48

WHITE, WALTER FRANCIS. A man called White. 382p $3.75 Viking
B or 92 Negroes. U.S.—Race question
48-8621

Autobiography of the general secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, whose whole adult life has been spent in battling for the rights of Negroes. Altho he is a Negro, Mr. White could easily pass for a white man, which fact has had both advantages and disadvantages. In telling the story of his own life he has told also the history of the American Negro since 1906. Index.

Booklist 45:65 O 15 '48

Reviewed by T. H. Wright
Chicago Sun O 14 '48 420w

"This is an autobiography in the most indigenous tradition of American hope, action, and idealism." Henrietta Buckmaster
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 O 7 '48 1350w

"Any parson who thinks he is doing a courageous and difficult job had better read this book—and recommend it to every member of his congregation." Frederick Johnston
+ Churchman 163:16 Ja 1 '49 180w

"This book is an eloquent record, and should be read by all interested in inter-racial problems." John Cournos
+ Commonweal 49:98 N 5 '48 800w
Kirkus 16:357 Jl 15 '48 180w

"Though book contains evidence of having been hastily written and of incompleteness, it is nevertheless highly recommended for all libraries, North and South." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 73:1272 S 15 '48 200w

Reviewed by A. L. Goodman
New Repub 119:23 O 18 '48 900w

"In general this important book is smoothly written. If Walter White has a keen eye and ear for the ironies both of his own situation and that of his race, he is militantly and justifiably hopeful, as is the great Negro movement which he leads. This minority might fit into one of Arnold Toynbee's pigeon holes as part of the dissatisfied 'internal proletariat' of the North American branch of our Western civilization." W. L. White

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 O 3 '48 1900w

"This book is more than personal history. It is part of the history of twentieth century America, a vivid account of the efforts to save democracy by widening its scope and securing its benefits to an increasing number of Americans." Morroe Berger
+ N Y Times p6 S 26 '48 800w

New Yorker 24:130 O 23 '48 120w

"As rapid, as alive as an adventure story. Indeed in many ways it is just that. White risked his life time and again, getting evidence on lynchings and on barring of Negroes from the polls, in the midst of riots. . . Yet in the end this is not wholly a heartening book. For although much has been accomplished, the reader cannot but see how much remains to be done." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 5 '48 700w

"The book should be read by every white man who cares about human dignity. Here are the terrible facts. Here names are named: Southern names and Northern names; names of those high in power. . . This is a book on which to cut our social, political, and moral eye teeth. We have lived long enough under the illusion of our unimpeachable democratic virtue. It is time we learned the facts of life." H. O. Overstreet
+ Sat R of Lit 31:9 O 2 '48 850w

Springf'd Republican p8B O 24 '48 360w

"Autobiography at its best, the personal narrative of a man who has led a rich life and who puts it to paper with charm and insight." Bucklin Moon
+ Survey G 37:477 N '48 450w

Wis Lib Bul 44:213 D '48

WHITE, WILBUR WALLACE. Political dictionary. 378p $3.50 World pub.

320.3 World politics—Dictionaries. Political science—Dictionaries 47-30518

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

Foreign Affairs 26:396 Ja '48 10w

"The definitions are clear and easily understood by the average reader. In many cases the explanation is very full. . . It is difficult to compare this volume with other political dictionaries, since most of the existing ones are limited in scope to one country or go beyond the dictionary class. With its international scope it contains many terms not found in Smith and Zurcher's Dictionary of American Politics. The latter on the other hand contains numerous legal and economic terms. Despite its faulty arrangement, White's Political Dictionary will be extremely useful because of its accurate and concise definitions. Its coverage of present-day terms should shortly give it considerable historic value. It is recommended for home use and for all types of libraries."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:14 Ja '48 750w

WHITE, WILLIAM ALLEN, and WILSON, GILBERT BROWN. Letters of William Allen White and a young man; ed. and arr. by Gil Wilson. 116p il $2.25 Day

B or 92 48-5450

Correspondence between the famous editor and a young mural painter, Gil Wilson. The letters date from 1935 to 1943.

Kirkus 15:691 D 15 '47 110w

"The letters disclose a thoughtful, if egocentric, young man in revolt against a world he never made; a young man who took himself almost too seriously. And yet, these letters are worth reading for they recreate some of the tensions and conflicts, that growing out of world-wide depression, burst into the violence of World War II and its aftermath." J. H. Berthel
Library J 73:197 F 1 '48 110w

Reviewed by G. W. Johnson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 F 29 '48 500w

"What seems to be proved is that William Allen White was, as everybody knows, a kindly thoughtful man and that Gilbert Wilson, in spite of his extremism and his bursts of temper, was an appealing youth. Now he is a writer, not a painter, and he is 40 years old. Between the two of them, they have produced a book which has some of the qualities of a carefully studied minor novel." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p14 Mr 21 '48 700w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p14 F 26 '48 950w

Reviewed by H. L. Varley
Springf'd Republican p10A Jl 4 '48 150w

WHITE, WILLIAM LINDSAY. Lost boundaries. 91p $1.50 Harcourt

325.26 Negroes. Johnston family 48-6112

True story of the "passing" of a Negro family, and the effect it had on the oldest child when he discovered he was not white.

Reviewed by J. P. Shalloo
Ann Am Acad 258:170 Jl '48 600w

Booklist 44:263 Ap 1 '48

Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 9 '48 450w

"The tragedy of Albert Johnston's story is that it is a true story. W. L. White has told the story without embellishment, without rhetoric. He points no morals, draws no conclusions. He does not have to. The story speaks for itself and is a crushing indictment of the pattern of prejudice which does such murderous things to the human spirit." G. H. Dunne
+ Commonweal 48:144 My 21 '48 600w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:450 N '48 80w

Kirkus 16:166 Mr 15 '48 150w

"Lost Boundaries is a short book, but within that brief space White has written a masterpiece of insight, intelligence and unsentimental compassion. . . There have been innumerable plays and novels on race prejudice in America, but none has possessed the emotional impact, honesty and analytical depth of White's book." Richard Watts
+ New Repub 118:18 Ap 5 '48 1000w

Reviewed by Morroe Berger
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ap 4 '48 450w

Reviewed by Walter White
N Y Times p4 Mr 28 '48 800w

San Francisco Chronicle p20 Je 13 '48 300w

"Mr. White has avoided the theatrical, the over-wrought drama that has marked most of the fiction on this subject. There is no sensationalism here. It is straight reporting and excellent reporting, of what happens to a young man, to a whole family, when the minority problem comes down out of the realm of theory to possess one as a person. . . Perhaps in writing this brief, simple account of one family, with so much to be read beyond the statement of the words, Mr. White has contributed a great deal to eventual understanding." Hal Borland
+ Sat R of Lit 31:26 Ap 17 '48 650w

Reviewed by G. E. Lyon
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 360w

Wis Lib Bul 44:79 Ap '48

WHITEHEAD, ALFRED NORTH. Wit and wisdom; ed. with an introductory essay by A. H. Johnson. 102p $2.50 Beacon press

192.9 Philosophy 47-11376

A compilation of quotations from the writings of Alfred North Whitehead designed to help

WHITEHEAD, A. N.—Continued
readers locate his aphorisms. There is also a sketch of his life and character by the editor.

"My final suggestion would be to follow this anthology by reading the volume of his Essays in Science and Philosophy, which was published last summer. That is a front hall to the mansion of his mind, and to it, this admirable, brief anthology is a vestibule." Lucien Price
+ Atlantic 181:104 Mr '48 900w

"The subject matter—advanced mathematics and philosophy—probably limits it to large and university libraries."
Booklist 44:210 F 15 '48

Christian Century 65:83 Ja 21 '48 200w

"The cream of Whitehead's wit and wisdom has been fairly well skimmed in this 'careful selection from the tremendous volume of the total Whitehead writings,' but a second and even a third skimming would produce very good results. However, Whitehead is here revealed to a larger public as a wise and witty writer and as a very human and charming personality. This is clearly the author's main purpose and, let it be said at once, he has succeeded." S. P. Whitehouse
Hibbert J 47:100 O '48 1000w

Reviewed by M. W. Gross
J Philos 45:214 Ap 8 '48 850w

WHITEHILL, CLAYTON. Moods of type. 112p il $5 Barnes & Noble
655.24 Type and type founding 47-6531

"The thesis presented in this book, that all aspects of creative expression are related and that for a given period they present a recognizable accord, is sound but not new. To the accepted list of art forms, however, Mr. Whitehill adds a new item—the design of type faces, or, as he calls them, 'letterforms.' . . Type is shown to be, in itself, an epitome of period design. Together with their derivatives, four basic letterforms are identified and classified according to origin. They are Caslon Oldstyle, the essence of the Roman; Bodoni, the combination of Roman and Gothic; Girder, informed with the spirit of modern skeletal building construction; and Futura, inspired by the Greek alphabet." U S Quarterly Bkl

---

Reviewed by Hubert Buel
San Francisco Chronicle p13 Ja 25 '48 100w

"This is a book certainly for those who deal with type, but any general reader whose curiosity extends to the philosophy of communication will be rewarded." Kathleen Sproul
+ Survey G 37:326 Je '48 180w

"Large portions of the initial chapters, which form a philosophical essay on art, are both subjective and debatable. . . The following discussion of type faces is on much surer ground."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 4:2 Mr '48 270w

WHITEMAN, PAUL. Records for the millions [a guide to record collecting] ed. by David A. Stein [foreword by Deems Taylor]. 331p $3.50 Hermitage press, inc, 8 E. 61st N.Y. 21
789.9 Phonograph records 48-7285

"In part one Whiteman reminisces about the history of the phonograph record and its recording artists, with particular emphasis on Whiteman alumni, and gives basic classic and popular titles and suggestions for starting a record collection. Part two contains lists of popular, classical, dramatic, and children's records arranged by title. There are no prices and no index, and very few annotations." Booklist

---

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 D '48

"An important feature of this helpful catalog is the large, clear type, a welcome change from the tiny letters ordinarily employed for such lists. . . The chapters leading up to the comprehensive catalog deal in a light and readable fashion with early adventures in the record industry, personal recollections of Bing Crosby and other characters, problems of acoustics in relation to the phonograph and radio, and general advice to collectors of records. . . Records for the Millions should appeal to a large percentage of the lovers of recorded music and will prove helpful also to libraries equipped with record collections." Sigmund Spaeth
+ Music Lib Assn Notes 5:564 S '48 650w

WHITING, PERCY H. Five great rules of selling. 261p $3.50 McGraw
658.8 Salesmanship 47-12058

Presents five basic practical rules for retail selling. Considers how to get the prospect interested, how to present facts, how to make people want to buy, how to answer objections, and how to close a sale. List of visual aids. Index.

Booklist 44:213 F 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1618 N 15 '47 60w

WHITMAN, WILLIAM. Pueblo Indians of San Ildefonso; a changing culture [ed. by Marjorie W. Whitman] 164p $2.75 Columbia univ. press
970.3 Pueblo Indians 47-3200

"This anthropological study was made at San Ildefonso, a Pueblo village in New Mexico of some 130 people, in 1936-37 and 1939. It is one of many ethnographic monographs on the twenty-eight Pueblo Indian villages in the American Southwest, and covers standard anthropological subject matter: village organization, the individual's development from birth to adulthood, family structure and function, economic activities, religious organization, dances and games, and modern cultural trends." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

Reviewed by Fred Eggan
Am Soc R 13:364 Je '48 550w

"One wishes for the documentation, detail, and elaboration of conclusions which the author would doubtless have provided had he been spared. It is hoped that some other student may be able to carry on the investigation which he so ably began." John Gillin
Social Forces 26:354 Mr '48 330w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:85 Mr '48 250w

WHITMAN, WILLSON. David Lilienthal, public servant in a power age. 245p $3 Holt
B or 92 Lilienthal, David Eli. Tennessee Valley authority 48-5066

"While touching lightly on other aspects of his work and life it is on David Lilienthal in relation to TVA and the Atomic Energy Commission that the author concentrates. Enlightening, objective and factual record of important issues and arguments. Brings out significance of both in light of current political, economic and social trends." (Library J) No index.

Booklist 44:183 Ja 15 '48

Reviewed by Herman Pritchett
Chicago Sun p5X Ja 25 '48 420w

Reviewed by Mary Hornaday
Christian Science Monitor p14 F 21 '48 650w

"A biography that gives one confidence in the man."
+ Kirkus 15:619 N 1 '47 210w

"Selective and well balanced. For most libraries." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 72:1374 O 1 '47 80w

Reviewed by Ernest Kirschten
Nation 166:421 Ap 17 '48 320w

"A good non-partisan study of the career of David Lilienthal, if it could be written, would be extremely valuable. We need to know more than we do about this remarkable man. . . But probably the controversies still give out too much political heat for that book to be written, and the complexities of the power age, wrapped up as they are in formidable technicalities, will daunt most writers. Miss Willson Whitman is not daunted, to be sure. But her book, whatever its merits, is not the book described." Donald Davidson

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 Ja 25 '48 900w

"Even the reporters who had to capture the mood and the moment for fast-rolling presses have reported this incident more feelingly and dramatically than Miss Whitman. Nevertheless, Miss Whitman has made a most useful record of Lilienthal as the head of TVA and of the disagreeable but stirring fight to have him confirmed for the position he now holds. Her story, smoothly written, and told with obvious admiration of the man, stops at the door of the Atomic Commission." Anthony Leviero
+ — N Y Times p4 F 1 '48 800w

"A sober and admiring biography."
+ New Yorker 23:86 Ja 24 '48 100w

"This is the first biography about the man who carries this fearful responsibility for the American people. It is almost entirely a record of his public life, documented with his public utterances. As a result, it is not a colorful story." R. S. Allen
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:11 Ja 31 '48 1000w
Wis Lib Bul 44:103 My '48

WHITNEY, PHYLLIS AYAME. Ever after. 279p $2.50 Houghton
48-8587

"Tells of the beginning months of a marriage that almost goes on the rocks but is rescued when the girl learns the importance of facing issues realistically and compromising with her diverse ambitions and hopes. Marel, a small town girl comes to New York determined to be a career girl, finds her scope enlarged when a nice young man comes along who is struggling with a writing career. Full of confidence, Marel is certain she can manage short funds, crowded quarters, job as illustrator and husband—and so is he. The difficulties loom large with a series of conflicts; there's a sudden violent flare-up, and the marriage seems finished. But Marel thinks it over and decides to go slower at her career and give more attention to being a wife." Kirkus

Booklist 45:122 D 1 '48

"It is refreshing and rewarding to have a honest approach to a modern problem, even if some career girls will question the conclusions. Thoughtful and good romance, with people of all inclinations adding their viewpoints. This ought not to be confined to young people as many slightly older married women with jobs will find it provocative reading."
+ Kirkus 16:443 S 1 '48 190w

"Recommended for girls in grades 9-11." Eleanor Kidder
+ Library J 73:1828 D 15 '48 110w

"A real problem handled realistically. It will be interesting to hear what the girls say." M. C. Scoggin
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R O 10 '48 230w

"This is one of the most interesting books written so far for the teen-age girl who has outgrown most 'girl's books' and is ready to graduate to more adult fiction." V. H. M.
+ N Y Times p4 N 14 '48 150w

"A skilful and understanding story. . . Good background and excellent characterization make this an absorbing novel." R. H. V.
+ Sat R of Lit 31:33 N 13 '48 40w
Wis Lib Bul 44:216 D '48

WHITTAKER, ROLAND MAPES. Rudiments of chemistry; the chemist's view of the nature of matter. 310p il $3 Ronald
540 Chemistry 48-688

"An attempt to expound concisely the basic chemical laws, theories and phenomena without cluttering the text with accounts of chemical industries and other descriptive material. Special emphasis is placed on modern theories of atomic structure. Other topics considered are the kinds and properties of matter, the meaning of symbols, formulas and equations, solutions, and ionization and electrolysis. The book is suitable for use in cultural or survey-type college courses in chemistry and may also be studied with profit and enjoyment by the lay reader. The author is Associate Professor of Chemistry at Queens College, New York." N Y New Tech Bks

"When asked to review 'Rudiments of Chemistry' I was not too pleased at the prospect of spending time reading one of those innumerable creditable but dull books with which chemical literature abounds. However, after reading the book I arrived at the conclusion that, in this case, my time was well spent. Dr. Whittaker's book is excellently composed and interestingly written." V. I. Komarewsky
+ Chem & Eng N 26:1478 My 17 '48 220w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:204 F 1 '48 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 32:70 O '47

WHITTON, MRS MARY ORMSBEE. First ladies, 1789-1865; a study of the wives of the early presidents. 341p il $5 Hastings house
920.7 Presidents (U.S.). Woman—Biography
48-9615

Biographical sketches of the wives of the presidents of the United States from Martha Washington to Mary Todd Lincoln. Included is a sketch of Harriet Lane, the niece of the bachelor president, James Buchanan, who acted as hostess in the White House during her uncle's term of office. Illustrated with portraits. Index.

Reviewed by Henrietta Buckmaster
Christian Science Monitor p11 D 30 '48 750w

"Mary Ormsbee Whitton has undertaken to assemble such material as exists and to present it in a volume that fills an obvious gap in American historiography. Her work is not designed as a chronicle but rather as a series of literary portraits, presenting not items in a catalogue but beings recognizably human. It may be said at once that she has made a good job of it. . . The author has presented seventeen distinct individuals, which is a literary feat of very respectable proportions. More than that, the author has done her level best by them all. . . As a biographer the author is within her rights in making the best case possible for her subjects, but she is a somewhat happy-go-lucky historian." G. W. Johnson
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 D 19 '48 1400w

"The author has certainly cast about widely for biographical data on her ladies. Her findings are set down in remarkable prose, in which the historical present, always difficult to use, slips into the future tense, the past, and back again. Clichés are as common as phrases set off by periods. Occasionally, editorial flights leave the reader bewildered. . . The author is sympathetic in her treatment of all her subjects, as she should be." W. B. Hamilton
N Y Times p10 D 5 '48 1000w
New Yorker 24:112 D 18 '48 160w

"A delightful book. . . The direct quotations and the letters included in the book bear witness to the author's research and the book is as pleasant as it is scholarly." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p12C D 12 '48 300w

WHO'S important; in every field in all countries (a monthly service of biographies of world leaders assembled for the annual editions of the Biographical Encyclopedia of the World). pa $7.50 per year Inst. for research in biography
920

"This monthly biographical index is international in scope and its sketches of living persons give information comparable to that of other 'who's who' publications. Most of the articles are one-third to one-half column in length. The arrangement is alphabetical. Pro-

WHO'S important—Continued
nunciation of foreign names is not given. . . The useful list of 63 Principal Countries of the World and the Heads of Their Governments has been brought up to date in each issue, with one surprising exception—in August, Viscount Wavell continues to appear as Viceroy of India." Subscription Bks Bul

"So much of the material in this service is not readily available elsewhere, except in very condensed form in such works as the Europa publications, that it is difficult to give an absolute judgment of its accuracy. However, for a work brought out quickly and frequently Who's Important seems reasonably accurate and authoritative. The world-wide coverage of Who's Important and the inclusion of so many biographies not found in other sources, make it a useful reference work. It is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 18:56 O '47 700w

WHO'S who in the East; a biographical dictionary of noteworthy men and women of the eastern United States [1948]. (V2) 1824p $15.25 Marquis

920 U.S.—Biography (43-18522)

"In form, this is an alphabetically arranged biographical dictionary, which, according to the preface, contains a list of 'over twenty-seven thousand biographies.' Examination of the volume substantiates this figure. The individual biographies contain no narrative but only compact lists of dates, positions, publications, memberships, honors, etc. Checking of the B and K sections reveals that the area covered includes New England, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, and District of Columbia." Subscription Bks Bul

"Some biographical entries include only the occupation of the individual followed by a dagger symbol, e.g., Derick, Clarence George, Chemist†. A single dagger refers to Who's Who in America and a double dagger indicates that current data about the biographee may be found in Who's Who in Commerce and Industry, both published by the A. N. Marquis Company. If this dagger system had been used consistently throughout the volume, there would be no duplication of biographies, space could have been saved, the size reduced, and more new biographies could have been included. . . The librarian who has Who's Who in America will find on purchasing Who's Who in the East that much of the material is already available to him; however, this is a useful supplement to other Marquis publications for additional biographical material. In spite of minor shortcomings in its system of references and of the over-lapping with other publications of this firm, Who's Who in the East is a useful contribution to the collection of biographical dictionaries. It is recommended for large reference collections and for all those who need the regional material."
+ — Subscription Bks Bul 19:66 O '48 1050w

WHO'S who on the Pacific Coast; a biographical dictionary of leading men and women of the Pacific coast states; a compilation of distinctive reference people; augmented beyond restricted section-wide scope by integration of selected biographies to encompass areas contiguous or otherwise appropriate under contemporary regionalism. v 1 1084p $15 Marquis

920

"This is a companion volume to Who's Who in the Central States. . . Biographical sketches follow the customary pattern for 'who's who' material. The arrangement is nonalphabetic, making it necessary to consult the name index to locate a particular individual. The Pacific Coast States are Washington, Oregon and California. The 'contiguous' area would include Idaho, Nevada and Arizona, and possibly Montana, Wyoming and Utah. Therefore it is evidently under very liberal interpretation of the phrase 'appropriate under contemporary regionalism' that the publishers would justify the inclusion of persons living in Texas, Florida, Georgia, and all of the other southern states in much larger numbers than those of the title area. California has a fair representation, but Washington and Oregon are given comparatively few entries." Subscription Bks Bul

"As in the case of the Central States volume, selection of names for inclusion shows marked lack of balance between outstanding citizens and persons of lesser importance. . . Libraries that make a practice of collecting all available biographical material, national and local, may perhaps find it necessary to buy Who's Who on the Pacific Coast, but it is not recommended for general purchase."
— + Subscription Bks Bul 18:56 O '47 320w

WHYTE, LANCELOT LAW. Everyman looks forward. 78p $2 Holt

341 International cooperation. Russia—Foreign relations 48-4456

"Describes an attitude that must be developed to establish a world order within the next twenty years." School & Society

Booklist 45:83 N 1 '48

"An intelligent, original essay that offers an optimistic, constructive plan, but it is not easily read."
+ Kirkus 16:354 Jl 15 '48 170w

"Recommended for those readers who enjoy the speculative." R. P. Breaden
Library J 73:1192 S 1 '48 100w

"The most concise, the sanest, the most penetrating analysis of our present situation that I have read, and a stirring prognosis of man's future." Martin Gumpert
+ Nation 167:470 O 23 '48 1050w

School & Society 68:176 S 11 '48 20w

"The author moves almost jauntily through realms of broad generalization and high abstraction. At times I get the disturbing sense that there is here a slight intoxication with one's own pet language. This is my major reservation. But having expressed it, I hasten to add that this volume is rich and rewarding. It is on the beam of the most pressing contemporary intellectual and moral issues. They are approached with candor, wide knowledge, and deep human sympathy." Ordway Tead
+ — Survey G 37:476 N '48 370w

WHYTE, LANCELOT LAW. Next development in man. U.S. ed. 322p $3.50 Holt

901 Civilization—Philosophy 48-5419

"This book, by a noted British physicist, sets out to formulate a new system of thought to supplant Platonism, Christianity, Marxism, and other concepts, which, the author declares, have been unable to prevent the self-destructive disorganization of mankind. Mr. Whyte seeks to show, by an analysis of Western thought during the past twenty-five hundred years, as exemplified by the philosophies of nine men, from Heraclitus to Freud, that analytical processes of thought are now bankrupt and are responsible for the fundamental sickness of the world. . . The author then outlines a philosophy, based on the assumption that 'nature is a unity of process in a diversity of structures,' which he calls the 'unitary postulate.' He maintains that it 'provides the basis of a complete system of thought, not of static categories abstracted from nature, but in conformity with the system of natural processes of which thought itself is part.'" (New Yorker) Index.

"A volume closely woven, hard to master, but well worth the intense effort it demands." H. J. Bridges
+ Chicago Sun Mr 9 '48 380w

Kirkus 15:668 D 1 '47 170w

"This is a remarkable feat in abstract thinking applied to man in the human situation. Among the spate of books which we have had on this subject in recent years the present work stands out like a brilliant beacon. . . There is a fair chance that this work may prove to be epoch-making." F. Ashley-Montagu
+ Library J 73:197 F 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr
Nation 166:328 Mr 20 '48 550w

Reviewed by Albert Guerard
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ap 25 '48 1450w

"We have here an excellent example of the reinterpretation of nature, man, time and history in terms of organic process and organic unity. The author writes with a passion born of the conviction that 'Europe and the West, in spite of all their failings hold the clue to the further development of man,' but with the rare perspective of a man persuaded that his own age is already at an end." Paul Ramsey
+ N Y Times p19 Ap 25 '48 360w

"It is no book for weekend reading. But for its astonishing intellectual vitality, toughmindedness, and ability to stimulate the imagination, it is worth a lot of effort."
+ New Yorker 24:98 Mr 6 '48 240w

Reviewed by Audrey Doughty
San Francisco Chronicle p12 Ap 4 '48 1300w

"Though I found myself at odds at various points with the author's philosophy, I read his book with unwavering admiration; and that admiration has survived a second and even more critical reading. . . This book is not, any more than Toynbee's work is, a shortcut to salvation: but it is a challenge to build the long difficult road that will take us toward that ever-receding goal." Lewis Mumford
+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 Ap 24 '48 2450w

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Survey G 37:476 N '48 380w

"Albert Einstein says that this book is 'stimulating, original and full of understanding for the pressing problems of our time.' It is. Professor Einstein does not say that the book is clear, or well-written, or lucid. It is not."
Time 51:114 Mr 8 '48 1300w

WICKENDEN, DAN. Tobias Brandywine. 366p $3 Morrow
48-6542

In the early twenties a shy gentlemanly little beggar stopped at the back door of ex-Senator Windrow's house. He was taken in and fed and that was the beginning of nine years' residence. During the years all the snarls in the Senator's family straightened out, for despite his shyness Tobias was an understanding soul.

Booklist 44:274 Ap 15 '48

"Lovable, understanding, wise, Tobias weaves in and out of the tale as it moves to its inevitable climax, and we close the book with regret as he finally returns to his own world with the blessings of the Windrows following him. The author has drawn a finely sympathetic character without sacrificing reality, and Tobias is to be read without hesitation, and, in these days, with gratitude."
+ Cath World 167:285 Je '48 170w

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Chicago Sun My 13 '48 450w

"Mr. Wickenden is excellent at portraying the authentic details, the intimate bits of color, which make his setting come to life. He also has a good ear for dialogue, and an obvious liking for people. The whole narrative is leisurely drawn and should be read in like manner, for its subtlety and humor will reward the reader who takes plenty of time to savor them." M. W. Stoer
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 My 8 '48 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '48

Reviewed by Riley Hughes
Commonweal 48:265 Je 25 '48 260w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 24:292 Jl '48 130w

"A beguiling sort of story. . . There's humor and charm here, and a wholly fresh vein for Dan Wickenden, a fey quality that is new to the author of The Wayfarers."
+ Kirkus 16:124 Mr 1 '48 130w

"This novel has a wholesome charm which will appeal to most readers. Recommended." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 73:558 Ap 1 '48 70w

"The story holds the interest and engages the sympathies, and the study of the growth and development of a young writer is particularly good." James Hilton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 My 2 '48 600w

"This is Dan Wickenden's fifth novel. Apart from its entertainment value and its technical skill, it has a quality of reassurance, which alone would make it worthwhile. Mr. Wickenden demonstrates quite conclusively that it is possible to be warm-hearted without being mawkish, and wholesome without being insipid." Mary McGrory
+ N Y Times p7 My 2 '48 410w

New Yorker 24:105 My 1 '48 130w

"Mr. Wickenden keeps you in suspense about Tobias until pretty much the end of the story when you do find out all about him. You can't call this rather absurd little man quaint or amusing or any of the 'down-looking' words. Dan Wickenden never for a moment allows it. He always treats him with dignity and courtesy. The servant-in-the house situation has been used countless times in novels and short stories but not in the way that you will find it used here." Jane Voiles
+ San Francisco Chronicle p14 My 16 '48 800w

"A book of very great charm. A conscientious reviewer should hesitate to use that word. To his ear it carries the distressing overtone of shrill, insistent, spinsterish laughter. Professional charm is often nervous, unstable, and unapologetically mendacious. . . Wisely, Dan Wickenden subjects himself to no such strain. What he has done is to write a solid novel of American family life, covering nine years of challenge, change, and crisis, during the Depression, and then to impose upon that material the filagree design of whimsicality. His flourishes of fantasy are ingenious, but he does not use them as a justification for telling amiable, irritating lies about human psychology." James Gray
+ Sat R of Lit 31:17 My 15 '48 800w

Reviewed by Robert Kee
Spec 181:676 N 19 '48 100w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p10B My 30 '48 300w

Times [London] Lit Sup p593 O 23 '48 190w

"An engaging and likable book, written with great dexterity." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 37:767 summer '48 230w

WICKISER, RALPH LEWANDA. Introduction to art activities. 275p il $3.75 Holt
707 Art—Study and teaching 47-31179

"Presents a course in which fundamental art problems have been arranged in an ascending order of difficulty. Glossary of terms and index." School & Society

"It will serve well as a guide on the long and lovely road to discovery. Unfortunately this guide uses too many words, which takes some of the fun out of it. The book is illustrated with sample problems and examples of art in industry and the motion picture." Hubert Buel
+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 N 30 '47 100w

School & Society 66:208 S 13 '47 30w

WICKISER, RALPH LEWANDA. Mardi gras day [with 30 drawings and lithographs] by Ralph Wickiser, Caroline Durieux and John McGrady. 87p $3 Holt
976.335 New Orleans—Carnival. Drawings
48-5065

Thirty pictures of the activities of Mardi Gras day by three Southern artists. The last quarter of the book contains a short history of the carnival by Ralph L. Wickiser, head of the Fine arts department of Louisiana state university.

WICKISER, R. L.—Continued

"Like everything else in the book, the written passages have point and brevity. . . . There's humor on practically every page." H. T. Kane

+ Chicago Sun p8X F 15 '48 360w

Reviewed by A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:560 Ap 1 '48 140w

Reviewed by E. H. Smith

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p2 Ja 25 '48 380w

"'Mardi Gras Day' is sadly pedestrian. The trio who have compounded their efforts have striven hard, but the drawings, almost without exception, lack vision and the sweeping, tumultuous spirit of carnival. In some instances they are startlingly static and amateurish in conception. . . The accompanying legends describing Mardi Gras Day are—to state the case softly—disappointingly apathetic." H. E. Wedeck

— N Y Times p26 F 8 '48 180w

Reviewed by Jane Voiles

San Francisco Chronicle p18 F 8 '48 150w

WICKWARE, FRANCIS SILL. Tuesday to bed. 275p $2.75 Bobbs

48-1105

Novel describing the week-end of an architect who has just discovered his wife's affair with an actor.

"The action has a sort of magnetized urgency, timely and ingenious." Lisle Bell

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Mr 7 '48 290w

"Those who enjoyed the romantic sections of 'The Hucksters' will enjoy this, too."

New Yorker 24:86 F 28 '48 100w

"It is axiomatic that dust-jacket blurbs tend to be overly enthusiastic about the books they so staunchly protect from dust. Too frequently they make better reading than the books themselves. With 'Tuesday to Bed' the axiom doesn't hold; the blurb is not nearly so good as the novel itself, in fact it does it a disservice." W. R. White

+ San Francisco Chronicle p10 Mr 28 '48 320w

WIDDEMER, MRS MABEL (CLELAND). Aleck Bell, ingenious boy; il. by Charles V. John. 194p $1.75 Bobbs

B or 92 Bell, Alexander Graham—Juvenile literature 47-30856

A life of Alexander Graham Bell emphasizing his ingenuity from the time he made his terrier talk by manipulating the dog's throat muscles up to the year 1915 when he was responsible for the first coast-to-coast telephone call.

"The narrative is spirited but not over-fictionalized. The less-expert readers will find this story of real life interesting and within their capability." A. T. Eaton

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 10 '48 250w

"This is another useful volume in the series of biographies of the great told in short, simple words for readers under ten." B. W. Bell

+ Library J 72:1279 S 15 '47 70w

WIDDEMER, MARGARET. Lani. 276p $2.75 Doubleday

48-5603

Story of Hawaii, Australia, and some of the small Pacific islands in 1889. The heroine is the beautiful young daughter of missionaries who loving one man, marries another, and lives to regret it bitterly. But after terrible experiences in a native uprising, she is finally rescued by the right man.

"Lots of love here, possibly overblown, by stricter standards, but still rentable."

Kirkus 15:679 D 15 '47 120w

"Superb material gone to waste. Limited fiction budgets need not consider this one." F. A. Boyle

— Library J 73:338 F 15 '48 70w

WIECHERT, ERNST EMIL. Poet and his time; three addresses; tr. by Irene Taeuber; introd. by George N. Shuster. (Humanist lib) 78p $2 Regnery

835 Germany—Politics and government 48-7517

Addresses by a German poet attacking Nazism and discussing the problem of German guilt. Contents: Address to the youth of Germany, given at Munich, 1945; The poet and his time, a speech given April 16, 1935, at the University of Munich; Address to my Swiss friends, 1947.

Reviewed by Erik von Kuehnelt-Leddihn

Cath World 168:172 N '48 200w

Reviewed by John Hay

Commonweal 48:407 Ag 6 '48 390w

"There is more than a trace of the familiar German self-pity, of personal vanity, latent snobbery and distrust of the 'proletarians' sprinkled through these pages. But there is also some soul-searching and development of new ideas." A. L. Goodman

New Repub 119:24 Ag 23 '48 400w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner

N Y Times p24 Jl 11 '48 600w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes

Sat R of Lit 31:15 Ag 7 '48 30w

WIENER, LOUIS. Hand made jewelry; a manual of techniques; il. by the author. 210p $2.75 Van Nostrand

739.27 Jewelry 48-6093

Handbook covering the techniques and tools used in jewelry making. Contents: The jeweler's saw; Transferring the design to the metal; Files, filing, and abrasive tools; Soft-soldering; Hard-soldering; Pickling, pickling solutions, and annealing; Buffing, polishing and lacquering; Dips and oxidizing or coloring solutions; Domes and shot; Chasing and repoussé, with a note on tool making; Using miscellaneous small tools; Casting jewelry; Stone setting; Wire working; Miscellaneous constructions; Etching; Enameling. Index.

Booklist 44:296 My 1 '48

"The third volume in the Home Craftsman's Library and like the others is well illustrated. Clear directions for making a wide variety of ornamental and professionally finished pieces of jewelry by hand." L. A. Eales

+ Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:14 Ja '48

'Jewelry making by the amateur is no easy task. Here is a manual by an authority that will improve the work of novice and expert alike."

+ N Y Times p19 Ag 15 '48 110w

WIENER, NORBERT. Cybernetics; or, Control and communication in the animal and the machine. 194p $3 Wiley

311.2 Statistical mechanics. Control equipment. Communication and traffic. Nervous system 48-11017

"Author's theory represents the meeting point of control and communications engineering, neurophysiology, and psychology. The book treats the application of statistical mechanics methods to communication engineering and deals with the problems of communications, control, and statistical mechanics in living tissue as well as in the machine." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:1600 N 1 '48 70w

"In describing the new machines and their implication for engineers, psychiatrists and sociologists, Dr. Wiener, of necessity, uses some equations that will floor the mathematically untrained, but his writing itself is clear and popular in tone. Fortunately, the highly technical parts are not too frequent and may be skipped without missing the most interesting points and speculations. The book is a provocative analysis of some of the most exciting developments in modern science." J. E. Pfeiffer

+ N Y Times p27 Ja 23 '49 1150w

Sat R of Lit 32:22 Ja 8 '49 1150w

WIESE, KURT. Fish in the air; pictures by [the author]. [32p] $2 Viking

48-1656

Picture book describing the adventure of the little Chinese boy, Fish, who was blown away with his fish-shaped kite.

Booklist 44:321 My 15 '48

Reviewed by Martha King
Chicago Sun My 29 '48 40w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 10 '48 260w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '48

"With great simplicity, Kurt Wiese draws what he has seen and invests it with that quality children never fail to recognize, 'He makes it real,' they say." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 24:267 Jl '48 90w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:274 Jl '48 60w

"A delightfully silly book, with action pictures reproduced in gay flat colors, and with running story captions."

+ Kirkus 16:194 Ap 15 '48 100w

"Recommended for grades 1-3." Helen Kremer

+ Library J 73:881 Je 1 '48 60w

New Repub 119:32 D 6 '48 120w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 My 9 '48 190w

"Full color pictures, as merry as any Kurt Wiese has ever drawn, and a brief, easy reading text tell a slight but highly amusing story for 5 to 8 year olds." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p30 Ap 25 '48 140w

New Yorker 24:124 D 11 '48 30w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 8 '48 70w

Wis Lib Bul 44:106 My '48

WIGGAM, ALBERT EDWARD. New techniques of happiness. 352p $3.75 Funk, W.

171.4 Happiness. Personality 48-8131

Suggestions and tests on the scientific measuring of happiness, and techniques for achieving a well-balanced personality. Index.

Booklist 45:27 S 15 '48

Kirkus 16:418 Ag 15 '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p23 O 24 '48 110w

Wis Lib Bul 44:182 N '48

WIGNER, EUGENE PAUL, ed. Physical science and human values; a symposium. 189p $3 Princeton univ. press

504 Science 48-413

"A symposium of some of the nation's leading scientists. Social responsibilities of science in this atomic age. A discussion of a group of distinguished physical scientists who met at Princeton in 1946 in a conference on physical science and human values. Some of the questions discussed were 'How do the discoveries of modern science affect our ideas of human values?' 'Will government-imposed secrecy tend to stifle the development of science?' and 'What is the philosophical basis of freedom in science?'" Library J

Reviewed by Ethel Shanas
Am J Soc 54:93 Jl '48 240w

"Most of the editorial work has been done by Dr. K. K. Darrow of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Readers will be grateful to him for the way in which these materials have been brought together and made available to the average layman. The value of the book includes something more than a permanent record of what took place at this conference of distinguished physical scientists. It provides an opportunity for any interested person to know what the leading scientists of our day think about the way in which their work should be carried on, and also their understanding of the social and moral implications of the work they are doing." C. H. Patterson

+ Christian Century 65:546 Je 2 '48 700w

Current Hist 14:105 F '48 30w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1616 N 15 '47 100w

Reviewed by Rudolph Hirsch
Library J 73:200 F 1 '48 110w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:25 Ja '48

Reviewed by I. B. Cohen
N Y Times p27 Ap 4 '48 850w

"To judge by this book, the scientists are united in their desire for the uncontrolled exchange of technical information but have very dissimilar notions about most of the other postwar problems of their profession, including the best way to halt the growing estrangement between science and the humanities. They seem fairly cheerful about the difficulties ahead of them, though."

New Yorker 23:59 D 27 '47 140w

"Altogether, this is a very interesting little book, and the points it raises are well worth pondering. The reader must not expect to find the answers; the representation of scientists at the meeting was too small and unrepresentative for that. But the questions are well posed, and there is interesting comment." L. N. Ridenour.

+ Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ja 24 '48 1200w

School & Society 66:463 D 13 '47 20w

"A considerable portion of the value of the book lies not in the papers themselves, but in the informal discussions and comments on them, also presented here, that were elicited from the attending scientists."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:222 Je '48 250w

WILBER, EDWIN L., and SCHOENHOLTZ, ESTELLE R. Silver wings; true action stories of the United States air force; il. by Milton A. Caniff; authorized by the U.S. air force. 281p $2.50 Appleton

940.544973 U.S. Army air forces—Juvenile literature 48-1448

"Actual air adventures of World War II illustrating the gallantry of the Air Force as told by a group of flyers to a young badly wounded veteran in an attempt to restore his will to live." Library J

"Good lively stuff, occasionally too journalese in style. But the authors have justified the collection through the device of restoring to sanity a psychoneurotic flier by telling him these stories. The device gives unreality to the achievements of some very real human beings."

+ — Kirkus 15:507 S 15 '47 80w

"The stories are briefly told, in a lively style. Drawings by Milton Caniff will attract teen-age readers. Recommended for libraries which need more personal experience stories about the war." Margaret Ward

+ Library J 73:400 Mr 1 '48 60w

Springf'd Republican p10B Mr 28 '48 270w

WILCOX, MRS RUTH TURNER. Mode in footwear [il. by the author]. 190p $5 Scribner

391.4 Shoes 48-1300

A record of the footgear of the world, from ancient times to the present. Glossary of shoe leathers. Bibliography.

Booklist 44:264 Ap 1 '48

— Kirkus 16:68 F 1 '48 210w

"A stupendous amount of information is pointed up by innumerable pen drawings carefully detailed. . . Indispensable for shelves on costume." A. S. Plaut

+ Library J 73:710 My 1 '48 100w

WILDER, ROBERT. Bright feather. 408p $3 Putnam

48-6793

A historical novel about Florida in the 1830's. Clay Hammond, heir to a great plantation, is the hero. As a boy Clay and the Indian Asseola were friends and Clay kept up this friendship later when the movement to shove the Seminoles out of the choice lands of northern Florida began. Nevertheless he is drawn into the struggle and plays a part in the bloody war, not as a soldier, but as a civilian. The book ends with Clay about to go back to his ruined plantation to start over again, and with Asseola in prison.

Booklist 44:337 Je 1 '48

"Seldom has the story of the white man's treatment of the American Indians been told with the graphic honesty of this fine novel. . . Robert Wilder's skill as a novelist is obviously born of an intimate knowledge of the land about which he writes and a real sympathy for the people of his story." Emmett Dedmon

+ Chicago Sun My 16 '48 550w

"A good story in the hands of a good story teller, which will make even those allergic to historical romance sit in on the whole performance."

+ Kirkus 16:219 My 1 '48 340w

"The interplay of wealthy landowners, land speculators, white settlers, Negro slaves, the Indian Agency, and the United States Army, is skillfully treated, producing an excellent reconstruction of the times, and clearly pointing to the causes of conflict. Frankness concerning sex may deter some readers. Recommended." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 73:814 My 15 '48 130w

"Mr. Wilder has written 'Bright Feather' with vigor and gusto, incorporating a great deal of authentic history and social background material, made palatable for easy consumption with a lot of high-flavored synthetic romance. It is good entertainment." F. H. Bullock

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 My 16 '48 750w

"Mr. Wilder clarifies the issues in an adult manner, showing with what valor the Seminoles fought and with what bumbling ferocity they were hunted down. . . That's fine. It gives his novel a rugged air of authenticity, as though it were—and, for that matter, probably was—written right on the spot by a man who had relived the events he chronicles. But it must ungratefully be said that some of the characters he uses to give those events life are somewhat battered, somewhat tarnished puppets." Charles Poore

+ — N Y Times p5 My 16 '48 650w

"Better-than-average historical novel."

+ New Yorker 24:117 My 22 '48 150w

Reviewed by W. R. White

San Francisco Chronicle p16 My 27 '48 950w

"Here at last Robert Wilder has a story and a background worthy of the living qualities of his prose. The story of Asseola demanded a painstaking historical exactitude, a balanced judgment, and a warm and flexible style. Mr. Wilder has met that challenge with full emotional and literary maturity. He has not only dealt justly with one of the greatest of our Indian heroes but he has brought to turbulent and boiling life one of the least known periods in Southern, as well as American, history." M. S. Douglas

+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 My 22 '48 700w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 130w

WILDER, THORNTON NIVEN. Ides of March. 246p $2.75 Harper

Caesar, Caius Julius—Fiction 48-647

Historical novel or fantasy which portrays the life of Julius Caesar and some other Romans during the months preceding Caesar's assassination. The narrative device consists of a series of imaginary documents: private letters; entries in journals; and reports of Caesar's secret police. Altho part of the events are historical the author has tampered with history to the extent of transposing some happenings of 62 B.C. to the year 45 B.C.

"Mr. Wilder has brought to his character the warmth which was totally lacking in the Caesar of schoolbooks and Shakespeare, and in his hero's destruction there is the true catharsis." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 181:100 Mr '48 950w

Booklist 44:234 Mr 1 '48

Reviewed by E. G. Clark

Cath World 167:280 Je '48 500w

"My only criticism is of the fact that the arrangement of the documents is not chronological. I wish that Wilder had not yielded to the temptation to take part in the assault on the logic of time which is so much a part of contemporary fiction. The writing itself is superb. It is marked by a graceful wit rarely encountered in these matter-of-fact times and by an inventive genius that lends verisimilitude to documents that are products of Wilder's own imagination. Surely neither the ghosts of Caesar nor of Rome have need for a better biographer." Emmett Dedmon

+ — Chicago Sun p8 F 22 '48 650w

" 'The Ides of March' is an amusing game, and it is professionally executed. It is like a series of brilliant mimicries: We marvel at their cleverness, at how closely they approach the originals. But when the act is finished, we find that our thoughts and our emotions have been curiously untouched." Melvin Maddocks

Christian Science Monitor p14 F 18 '48 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '48

"The prose is studiedly literary. The suave and vaguely archaic style smells rather of the lamp than of the neon sign. There is an air of scholarliness and a conscious academic standoffishness. This furnishes directly a piquancy, and it leads a reader to look for added values and ideas and philosophic speculations." Philip Burnham

Commonweal 48:682 Ap 30 '48 750w

"An interesting and original bit of creative writing—a tour de force, perhaps, but provocative."

Kirkus 15:675 D 15 '47 200w

"The characters and events come to life with extraordinary clarity. . . The curious technique will appeal to discriminating readers." H. R. Forbes

+ Library J 73:338 F 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 30 '48 210w

Reviewed by Richard Watts, Jr.

New Repub 118:22 Mr 1 '48 1150w

Reviewed by Simon Harcourt-Smith

New Statesman & Nation 36:224 S 11 '48 480w

"No one but a boldly imaginative writer would have ventured to do this, and no one without Mr. Wilder's extraordinary literary power and his adequate scholarship would have succeeded so brilliantly. 'The Ides of March' is a fascinating book, and while it owes some of its fascination to the period with which it deals, perhaps the most exciting of our history, a great deal of its charm is entirely the author's, who manages to depict with high effectiveness a number of vivid, glowing and powerful personalities who meet in crowded conflict in the last few months of a great man's life." Max Radin

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 F 22 '48 1400w

"Mr. Wilder writes simply and clearly without ostentation and without emotion save for a raised eyebrow now and then and the trace of a Jove-like smile. As a reflective philosopher, bookish at heart, Mr. Wilder enjoys mulling over the motives and manifestations of human beings. He walks through ancient Rome, as he walks through life today—observing, enjoying, wondering but not participating. If he has the sympathies of a gentleman, he has also a gentleman's narrowness of interest. . . What distinguishes it is a rich, shrewd and glowing characterization of Caesar's restless mind." Brooks Atkinson
+ N Y Times p1 F 22 '48 1700w

"There is some overlapping of the chronology of [the] story, which confounds the confusion caused by [the author's] historical bow-knots. The method, however, has the advantage of permitting Mr. Wilder to substitute philosophical reflection for action, to exercise his admirable essay prose, and to indulge in a highly refined form of satire, as, for example, in his burlesques of the correspondence of the Roman matrons and of the elegant after-dinner conversation of M. T. Cicero. It is also a method that makes for tedium, and on the whole the tedium exceeds the wit. The longest, dullest, and most numerous letters are those of Caesar." J. M. Lalley
New Yorker 23:91 F 21 '48 1600w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p10 F 22 '48 1700w

"Mr. Wilder does not claim to be writing history; he does successfully the novelist's job of creating characters consistent with themselves and with their setting. And few readers will be disturbed by the fact that these characters bear the names of historical personalities who in some cases were quite different." Elmer Davis
Sat R of Lit 31:11 F 21 '48 900w

"The characters seem to be observed without sympathy, and the narrative is depressed by the fits-and-starts method of letter and document; worst of all one cannot damn even the heaviest passages without a bad conscience—an effect which I take to be the final achievement of didactic writing. Having ungraciously said so much, let me call attention to the book's triumphs. First among them I put the character of Lucius Mamilius Turrinus. Mutilated, silent, never appearing save as the recipient of letters from Caesar and from Cytheris, he is the clearest figure in the book. Caesar himself stands out, unloved, portentous, trying to be human yet somehow desiccated; the indulgences, the decisive actions, the child mistresses, remain a rumour. There is no place for them in the life as here revealed. But the portrait is a real achievement." L. A. G. Strong
+ — Spec 181:154 Jl 30 '48 290w

"An amusing book, or, more exactly, a very clever book based on an amusing idea. . . The main trouble with The Ides of March is that the satire on intelligence accounts, given in the laborious accumulation of imagined documents, interferes with the story, while the story is too interesting to be burdened with them. Had he written it as straight narrative, it might well have been a brief comic masterpiece. Even so, his documents have an authentic ring: Wilder has mastered the kind of English that appears in translations of Latin classics."
+ — Time 51:102 F 23 '48 950w

"Not only the stature of Caesar but also his tragedy is suggested, and the tragedy is the more impressive because it is never stated. It arises from the total impression of this short, witty and extremely serious book."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p425 Jl 31 '48 480w
Wis Lib Bul 44:64 Mr '48

"Mr. Wilder's artful craftmanship, his delight in casting his material in novel forms, and the contemplative spirit with which he can be counted upon to consider the affairs of men insure that all his works are interesting. This his first novel in thirteen years, is extremely interesting and is as well an absolutely brilliant technical tour de force." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 37:576 spring '48 300w

WILDER, WALTER BEEBE. Grandfather vs. Peru. 273p $2.75 Doubleday
918.5 Peru—Description and travel 48-7584

Humorous account of the author's travels in Peru with his eccentric grandfather.

Booklist 44:381 Jl 15 '48
Kirkus 16:247 My 15 '48 140w

"Recommended for small libraries." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 73:1025 Jl '48 70w

"What this country needs is more rugged individuals like Mr. Wilder's grandfather and more genuinely wise and spontaneously humorous books like 'Grandfather vs. Peru,' which does more for the Good Neighbor policy than visiting emissaries in striped trousers or military tunics, and is about the best thing that has happened to Peru since the highly civilized Incas tasted the bitter fruit of Spanish invasion." Lisle Bell
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Ag 8 '48 350w
Sat R of Lit 31:29 S 4 '48 140w

WILENSKI, REGINALD HOWARD. Outline of English painting. 133p il $3.75 Philosophical lib.
759.2 Painting, British 48-7142

A description of English painting from medieval times to the present. The book is a companion volume to the author's larger work, Masters of English Painting (Book Review Digest 1934). Index.

"Picturesque detail included in biographical notes in spite of economy of writing. Useable discussion of pictures and artists of six centuries. . . Recommended." A. S. Plaut
Library J 73:710 My 1 '48 80w

"Although hardly more than an essay by comparison with the author's monumental 'Modern French Painters,' [Book Review Digest 1940] this book nevertheless packs into its hundred-odd pages a surprising amount of information, coupled with brisk, incisive critical commentary."
New Yorker 24:72 Jl 10 '48 80w

"His analyses of the personalities of the artists through their productions makes interesting reading and the book is a good chronological reference for English painters."
+ School Arts p13A O '48 50w
Springf'd Republican p10B Je 27 '48 120w

WILEY, ALEXANDER. Laughing with Congress; il. by Leo Manso. 228p $3 Crown
328.73 U.S. Congress. Humor 47-6461

A compilation of stories, jokes, and repartee, culled from the Congressional Record and other political sources to show that Congress has its lighter moments. The compiler is the senior senator from Wisconsin.

"On the whole, the Senator's laugh average is about the same as that of other joke books—ten baddies to one goodie—and fifty light years behind the standards of a Bennett Cerf job. The most revealing portions of the book are those dealing with jokes made by members of Congress on the floor." Lee Rogow
— + Sat R of Lit 30:36 N 22 '47 750w

"Much of the repartee is naturally caustic. The cartoon illustrations are also amusing."
+ Wis Lib Bul 43:172 D '47

WILKENS, EMILY. Here's looking at . . . you! the modern slant on smartness for the junior miss! il. by Sara Little; ed. by Dorothy Roe Lewis. 83p $2.75 Putnam

646 Clothing and dress 48-8677

"A 'new philosophy of good looks for the young' by a fashion designer and stylist who contributes from her experience for the awkward adolescents in need of assurance and re-doing. Clothes, and the importance of lines, fit and accessories; hair and skin, its proper care; the right shape which almost any youngster can achieve by dieting; planning your wardrobe, instead of acquiring it hit or miss; the swap sale she organized for her kid sister whereby her mistakes and misfits were exchanged with friends; a clothes chart of what goes with what and when it's to be worn, etc." Kirkus

"All important, agonizing issues for this age group, given astringent advice."
+ Kirkus 16:369 Ag 1 '48 120w

"A cleverly written book. . . Recommended." M. A. Webb
+ Library J 73:1603 N 1 '48 70w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 N 14 '48 50w

WILKINSON, BONARO (MRS HARRY ALLEN OVERSTREET). How to think about ourselves. 205p $3 Harper

137 Self 48-7451

Discussion of the everyday problems which all must face in our changing civilization. It is in the main a study of the self: its importance and development, and the influence upon it of heredity, tradition, culture, habits, etc. No index.

Booklist 44:375 Jl 15 '48

Christian Science Monitor p11 D 9 '48 240w

"Her text is studded with apt illustrations drawn from wide reading, deep thinking, and rich experience." C. H. Voss
+ Churchman 162:15 D 1 '48 240w

"With perceptive psychological insight, this provides beneficial, contemplative counsel."
+ Kirkus 16:208 Ap 15 '48 140w

"This book abounds in sound common sense, it is timely and reads easily. Recommended for all public libraries." J. L. Ross
+ Library J 73:941 Je 15 '48 70w

"Lucid, warmly human book." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ag 3 '48 900w

"It is of a rather good, sound sort of earth. One might call 'How to Think About Ourselves' an inspirational work grounded on current sociology. . . Here we have the views, and the suggestions of a thoroughly normal, healthy, alert, and highly intelligent woman with solid literary training to large groups of hearers, themselves likewise of sturdy, if not always well-trained or well-informed mentalities. . . 'How To Think About Ourselves' is worth two readings." Drew Bond
+ Sat R of Lit 31:15 Ag 14 '48 650w

Wis Lib Bul 44:182 N '48

WILKINSON, BURKE. Proceed at will. 310p $2.75 Little

48-1892

"A thriller about a young Englishman with a hyperthyroid appetite for danger who, a few days before the Allied invasion of Normandy, does his bit toward making the operation a success by venturing forth in a midget submarine and personally blowing up a German battleship." New Yorker

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p15 S 23 '48 120w

Kirkus 16:253 My 15 '48 70w

"Within the flexible boundaries of a novel which has substance, style and a firm grip on psychological forces that control the behavior of a special group of fighting men, Burke Wilkinson finds an answer to some of the questions so brilliantly raised and analyzed in Rebecca West's 'The Meaning of Treason.' The answers are not spelled out and there is nothing dogmatic in the conclusions which the author reaches. His material is screened and weighed, leaving the reader to choose from the given facts and arrive at his own interpretation." Lisle Bell
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ap 18 '48 500w

"Long before the thundering finale, one has the distinct impression of having read it all before, in another vacation hammock." W. J. Glick
N Y Times p24 My 16 '48 90w

"Diverting if you have the time."
New Yorker 24:104 Ap 24 '48 120w

Reviewed by Edith James
San Francisco Chronicle p22 My 2 '48 150w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 13 '48 90w

Wis Lib Bul 44:150 S '48

WILLCOCKS, MARY PATRICIA. True-born Englishman; being the life of Henry Fielding. 288p il $4 Macmillan

B or 92 Fielding, Henry [A48-4533]

"This new life of [Henry Fielding] is an attempt to show him as a living man in his writings, in his struggles against poverty and defamation, in his idyllic love-story and his heroic death." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Eric Forbes-Boyd
Christian Science Monitor p12 F 28 '48 400w

"If [the author] is diffuse and cannot be said to replace Fielding's earlier biographers, [she] says many things that are worth saying. The friendship with Hogarth is brought out and [she] notes acutely that if Fielding had been Hogarth, he would have been the Hogarth of Marriage à la Mode and not the moralist of the Industrious Apprentice." V. S. Pritchett
New Statesman & Nation 34:472 D 13 '47 900w

"With such a subject one might suppose it hard for any experienced biographer to misfire, but [the author] is all thumbs in [her] presentation of Henry Fielding. The result, even though the energetic spirit of the subject everywhere gleams under the surface, is invertebrate and weak as no book on Fielding has a right to be." Carlos Baker
N Y Times p6 Mr 7 '48 700w

New Yorker 23:85 F 14 '48 100w

San Francisco Chronicle p15 My 16 '48 240w

Sat R of Lit p50 Ja 24 '48 950w

"Fielding never quite emerges as a human being and a genius from this welter of rather sentimentalized material. The author is too anxious at all points to underline the fact that Fielding was a genius, that he was human, that the smallest item about him reveals something." H. M. Jones
Sat R of Lit 31:29 Ap 3 '48 480w

"As a biography this book is a failure, because [the author] is busy, not showing us Fielding, but showing us that Fielding was something in particular—a true-born Englishman. But those who are not put off by the rollicking tone, and the suspicion that they are really being shown our island genius in Henry Fielding's clothing, will find this book readable and entertaining in spite of its many faults. A quantity of miscellaneous information gives it a merit quite independent of the subject, conjuring up a vivid picture of the early eighteenth century." Philip Trower
+ — Spec 179:720 D 5 '47 750w

WILLEMS, J. DANIEL. Gem cutting. 224p il $3.50 Manual arts

739.274 Gems 48-2792

An amateur gem cutter describes his own experiences as a collector and cutter of stones, for beginners. He gives advice on simple equipment, planning, marking, sawing, and polishing. Illustrations and diagrams. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:349 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:823 My 15 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:54 Jl '48
School Arts 48:12a S '48 100w

WILLEY, ROY DEVERL, and YOUNG, HELEN ANN. Radio in elementary education. 450p il $3.50 Heath

371.333 Radio in education 48-6421

"Accepts the fact that children approve highly of radio as a source of information and as a method of presentation, and suggests courses of study based on radio programs within and without the schools. Chapters on techniques of teaching by radio and administration of radio education. There are many good ideas but to the non-teacher, at least, the authors seem to be straining to see more assistance in radio than may be there." (Booklist) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Booklist 44:307 My 15 '48

"The lack of a well-conceived theory of curriculum to give unity and meaning to the practical aspects of radio utilization is the most serious defect of the book. However, the teacher who wishes to do something constructive about the deficiencies in learning experiences in American schools today will find Radio in Elementary Education to be one useful source of suggestions." O. P. Sand
+ — El School J 49:55 S '48 550w

WILLIAMS, AMES W., and STARRETT, VINCENT. Stephen Crane; a bibliography. 165p il $7.50 John Valentine, pub, 1556 Puebla drive, Glendale 7, Calif.

012 Crane, Stephen—Bibliography

"Here are not merely Crane's books, with notes about various editions but a long list of miscellanea and curiosa, a list of Crane's writings alphabetically arranged by title (the books are arranged in chronological order), a list of writings, biographical and bibliographical, about Crane, and a careful chronological listing of contemporary reviews of all Crane's books. Over and above this, Starrett's brief introduction briefs the facts of Crane's life as far as these are known." San Francisco Chronicle

"Crane is a relatively neglected writer at the present moment, and it is particularly useful to have an accurate description of his writings. . . He opened new fields for the American writing of his time and set a tone for much of our later writing. The present bibliography, which reminds us, incidentally, of many obscure or forgotten works of Crane, should encourage new studies of both the legend and the actuality." Maxwell Geismar
+ N Y Times p18 Ag 22 '48 320w

"Mr. Ames W. Williams and Vincent Starrett, the latter one of the great bibliographers of our time, have done the monumental job of sifting and collating, and Starrett has written the introduction. . . The student in this field will find the book invaluable to him, just as students of Ambrose Bierce, for example, have found Starrett's classic bibliography invaluable for years." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Je 17 '48 700w

"An author-bibliography, if it is to be of any account, must be largely biography. It should give almost as good a picture of the man as the formal biography does, without, of course, trying to usurp the function of the latter. Biography, in general, would be better if more biographers were, in addition, competent bibliographers. Here the thing is done which makes this an admirable monograph to study in order to see how it is done." J. T. Winterich
+ Sat R of Lit 31:25 O 2 '48 320w

WILLIAMS, BERYL (MRS SAMUEL EPSTEIN). Lillian Wald: angel of Henry street; il. by Edd Ashe. 216p $2.75 Messner

B or 92 Wald, Lillian 48-9302

The life story of Lillian Wald, who in the 1890's gave up her easy life in a wealthy home to live and work among the poor in New York's East Side. She was the founder of the Henry Street settlement and organized the Visiting Nurses association, and devoted most of the years of her life to social work. Index.

Booklist 45:143 D 15 '48

"This is a first rate introduction to social work in the contemporary scene. A girl's book, anybody's book, to be grateful for."
Commonweal 49:154 N 19 '48 230w

"A bit slow in spots, but interesting. Double value on career book shelf."
+ Kirkus 16:442 S 1 '48 160w

"Highly recommended for all older boys and girls and for young people's collections." M. D. Read
+ Library J 74:69 Ja 1 '49 60w

"This biography of a remarkable woman should be an inspiration to all young people, and of interest also to adults who have known her mainly through her 'The House on Henry Street.' " Siri Andrews
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 12 '48 230w

"Her story, sympathetically and realistically told here, will inspire readers from 10 upward with a vision of the wonder-working power of dauntless courage and good-will." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p60 D 5 '48 160w

WILLIAMS, CHARLES. All Hallows' eve; introd. by T. S. Eliot. 273p $2.75 Pellegrini & Cudahy

48-8932

"Two young women, killed in an accident, find themselves in a world that is their familiar London, and at the same time the 'shadowy rooms of the world of the newly dead.' Here they become gradually initiated into 'that great schism in identity which is death,' and begin to understand the motives and disposition of their lives. One of them is saved by her love for her husband. The other is lost because through sheer triviality she surrenders to evil. . . Involved with both of the women, and a central figure in the book, is the magician, Simon." New Repub

Atlantic 183:89 Ja '49 210w

Reviewed by Dorothy Graham
Cath World 168:252 D '48 220w

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun p48 N 5 '48 230w

Reviewed by M. W. Stoer
Christian Science Monitor p11 N 11 '48 750w

"A motley of incredible characters, presented for the most part in a style that is confused and obscure. When Williams writes simply, which is rare, he merits the comparison made to Kafka; he can handle the unreal in a realistic manner. This, plus the introduction by T. S. Eliot, may persuade an intellectual audience that this is their meat."
Kirkus 16:454 S 1 '48 180w

"Obviously Mr. Williams must appeal strongly to people whose experiences match his own, as witness Eliot, Dorothy Sayers, and C. S. Lewis, but to the average person who knows All Hallows' Eve from the standpoint of burnt cork and the pumpkin, he is likely to prove both a puzzle and a bore." Anthony Bower
Nation 167:551 N 13 '48 950w

WILLIAMS, CHARLES—Continued

"The most immediately striking thing about the book is the vivid imaginative force by which the author creates totally alien states and experiences and imposes them on the reader's conviction. But this is more than a merely effective apparatus for producing the creeps. What is achieved is a kind of vision of Good and Evil which embodies the attractive power of the one and the repulsion of the other. . . But I wouldn't want to suggest that the book is abstract and argumentative. It is substantially poetic, and it has wisdom from a knowledge that is not information, but experience." John Farrelly
+ New Repub 119:25 N 8 '48 750w

"It is an arresting story, slowed down somewhat by Mr. Williams's awkward and sometimes confusing prose. It is a plot reminiscent of the struggle of the early saints with pagan magicians and wandering demons. Its morality, as Mr. Eliot says, is from the Gospels. Its picture of after-life is grim, though orthodox theologians will agree with it." Thomas Sugrue
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 O 31 '48 750w

"All the ingredients of a supernatural horror tale are here. And yet—the final impression is more as if the three books of the 'Divine Comedy' had been compressed into one novel. The theme is not horror for horror's sake, but salvation and damnation. The characters are not puppets but disturbingly real and ordinary men and women, each progressing toward a vision of absolute good or absolute evil. . . Clearly this is a strange story, but it is told with a psychological insight and spiritual sensitivity that engulfs unbelief and bridges the visible and invisible worlds. No one chapter or paragraph is memorable in itself, but the total effect of the book is one of poignant beauty such as prose fiction rarely achieves." Chad Walsh
+ N Y Times p47 O 17 '48 600w

"The book is not so much frightening—though it has its dreadful moments—as it is intensely interesting, particularly as it exemplifies Mr. Williams' extraordinary gift for making concrete the patterns of existence." V. B.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p17 N 14 '48 340w

"The work of Charles Williams, 'All Hallows' Eve' in particular, proves that one can write about the supernatural, and project the weird and fantastic, in such a compelling manner as to appeal to any reader of modern novels. Moreover, such vivid imaginative writing as is found in Charles Williams's novels stands quite alone today; for try as we may to compare him to Poe, Henry James, A. E. Coppard, Arthur Machen, Algernon Blackwood, G. K. Chesterton, or M. R. James—whose ghosts have somewhat the same liveliness as Williams's wandering spirits—we cannot ignore the peculiar qualities of Williams's genius. As T. S. Eliot suggests in his glowing introduction, reading Charles Williams is an unforgetable experience on more than one count." Richard McLaughlin
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 O 23 '48 950w

WILLIAMS, DONALD CARY. Ground of induction. 213p $3 Harvard univ. press

160 Logic 47-2121

"The hope of supplying a 'rational justification' for inductive inferences in general, where induction is defined as any inference from observed cases to unexamined ones, continues to leaven philosophic reflection. . . Professor Williams's book reopens these much debated issues, and reaffirms the belief that the ground of induction is more than 'irrational belief' or 'pragmatic postulation.' It is in effect a vigorous protest against what he regards as the 'scepticism' concerning the powers of reason displayed by current positivistic and pragmatic doctrines. The central thesis of his book is that the validity of ampliative inferences can be certified by purely analytical, a priori means, without using a single assumption concerning contingent matters of fact." J Philos

---

Reviewed by Ernest Nagel
J Philos 44:685 D 4 '47 3700w
U S Quarterly Bkl 3:143 Je '47 320w

WILLIAMS, HENRY LIONEL. Stories in rocks; il. by [the author]. 151p maps $3 Holt

550 Geology—Juvenile literature 48-4830

An introduction to geology for ages twelve to sixteen or for adults new to the subject. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 45:109 N 15 '48

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p14 D 9 '48 190w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 25:46 Ja '49 70w

"Although there is nothing strikingly new in this, the clear, simple organization and straightforward exposition make it readable, and there has long been a need of a book of this type, for this age."
+ Kirkus 16:532 O 1 '48 130w

"A simple, interestingly written book. . . Recommended for school libraries."
+ Library J 73:1603 N 1 '48 70w

"Illuminating, even exciting, reading for anyone of junior-high-school age or more."
+ New Yorker 24:141 D 11 '48 70w
Sat R of Lit 31:46 N 13 '48 40w

WILLIAMS, HENRY LIONEL, and WILLIAMS, OTTALIE K. Modernizing old houses; il. by the authors. 269p $4.95 Doubleday

728 Building—Repair and reconstruction. Architecture, Domestic 48-7654

A companion volume to Old American Houses and How to Restore Them (Book Review Digest 1946). In this book the authors concern themselves chiefly with modernizing the mechanical equipment. Partial contents: Weatherproofing methods; The heatproof house; Heating the house; Registers, radiators, fuels, and controls; Hot, soft, and neutral water; Modern old-time kitchens; Today's bathroom in yesterday's house; Termites and borers; Fire hazards. Index.

Booklist 44:378 Jl 15 '48

"A practical handbook of research and study; not a how-to-do-it-yourself book, but one that gives you the necessary know-how to deal with experts, and charts the course of what to do and when. . . A book valuable for constant reference, for those who plan to modernize an old house."
+ Kirkus 16:209 Ap 15 '48 160w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:1671 N 15 '48 100w

Reviewed by Lee Cooper
N Y Times p31 S 12 '48 250w

WILLIAMS, JAY. Good yeomen. 299p $3 Appleton

48-6708

A retelling for adults of the story of Robin Hood and his outlaws in Sherwood Forest. It is the author's contention that Little John and Friar Tuck were more serious political thinkers than the leader of their band.

Booklist 44:368 Jl 1 '48

"Not a very satisfactory version for the average reader."
Kirkus 16:127 Mr 1 '48 170w

"Coarse humor and frank language prevent general recommendation." H. G. Kelley
Library J 73:709 My 1 '48 80w

"In writing his book, Mr. Williams is a little self-conscious in his use of 14th century language, but he tells a lively, often bawdy, and very reasonable version of the familiar story."
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 My 16 '48 220w

"Credit Jay Williams with adding a provocative revolutionary fillip to a legend older than the modern world." Richard Match
N Y Times p4 My 30 '48 500w

"Nicely done."
+ New Yorker 24:107 My 8 '48 180w

"The story is nicely paced and Mr. Williams' recreation of Little John is a remarkable one. . . This latest chronicler of the saga of Robin Hood is in no sense a debunker. His outlaw chief is no less likeable than the legendary one, but the manner in which he is presented makes him immensely believable and at the same time quite as romantic as the children's hero." Edith James
+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ap 30 '48 600w

WILLIAMS, JAY. Roman moon mystery. 200p $2.50 Oxford
48-1893

Mystery story in an historical setting, written for young readers.

"The story has more than suspense and action. It adds authentic and vivid descriptions of an historical city in everyday dress. . . There is good sociological comment to sharpen a reader's thoughts about contemporary problems."
+ Chicago Sun Ap 10 '48 300w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 24:377 S '48 150w

"Good story-telling, and an excellent suggestion for supplementary reading in ancient history."
+ Kirkus 16:170 Ap 1 '48 150w

Reviewed by Irmengarde Eberle
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Jl 25 '48 350w

"Some older critics may object to modern slang in the mouths of Roman G.I.'s. But boys and girls from 12 up will find the natural-sounding dialogue a help in understanding that the men of olden times were people, and very like ourselves." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p29 Ap 4 '48 220w
Wis Lib Bul 44:107 My '48

WILLIAMS, OSCAR, ed. A little treasury of American poetry. 876p $3.75 Scribner
811.08 American poetry—Collections 48-7673

An anthology of American poetry which begins with a few selections from the American Indian, translated into English. The second section covers the chief poets from Colonial times to the present day; arrangement here is chronological. The third part of the book containing the most recent poetry is called "poetry of the forties." Portraits of many of the poets are included. Index of authors and titles.

Booklist 45:10 S 1 '48

"The 'Little Treasury' gives an excellent picture of modern American poetry. And its portrait gallery at the back shows what most of our poets look like. Compact for the hand, and stoutly bound in buckram, it's a splendid gift book." Leo Kennedy
+ Chicago Sun Jl 12 '48 500w
Christian Century 65:1177 N 3 '48 280w

"An enlightening and controversial introduction, in addition to a representative yet fresh selection from the modern poets, ranks this anthology high among those appearing in recent years." Russell Lord
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 3 '48 650w

"Mr. Williams is a very discerning and intelligent anthologist. His selections do reveal each poet at his best—in most cases with several examples—so that the reader may not only have an adequate idea of native poetry but also not a little pleasure into the bargain." John Cournos
+ Commonweal 48:431 Ag 13 '48 500w

"A collection of which Americans can be proud."
+ Kirkus 16:248 My 15 '48 170w

Reviewed by Gerald McDonald
Library J 73:1278 S 15 '48 150w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p13 Ag 15 '48 250w

"It is hard to see where Mr. Williams draws the line unless we say that he follows exuberantly the curves of his own temperament. He does not appear to care much for The New Yorker verse and rather plunges for the obscure fancifulness of budding poets. But he is fresh and unexpected, and his anthology is exciting. A good anthologist must have a generous spirit, and Oscar Williams has." Gorham Munson
+ N Y Times p10 Jl 18 '48 360w
New Yorker 24:84 S 4 '48 120w

Reviewed by John Bradbury
Poetry 72:337 S '48 360w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p12 N 7 '48 150w

"Oscar Williams has labored well in behalf of his predilections by giving us whole gamuts of verse through which we may view and enjoy each of his favorite poets on a scale reflecting more than one side of that poet's art. The volume also contains book-length poems and, in more than one instance, space is devoted to poets whose work merits the broad recognition they had not received from former anthologists. . . American poetry as a whole is a wonderful weapon against the recurrent threats of Mars and may be recommended as a decidedly salient arm in the cause of peace on earth now and hereafter." Alfred Kreymborg
Sat R of Lit 31:28 S 25 '48 1000w

WILLIAMS, RICHARD TECWYN. Detoxication mechanisms; the metabolism of drugs and allied organic compounds. 288p $5.50 Wiley
615.3 Chemistry, Medical and pharmaceutical. Drugs. Metabolism A48-96

"Gathers together the available information on the chemical changes that foreign organic compounds undergo in the animal body. It covers the metabolism of: aliphatic compounds; cyclohexane derivatives; aromatic hydrocarbons; halogenated aromatic hydrocarbons; phenols; aromatic alcohols, ethers, aldehydes, ketones, amides; aromatic acids; organic cyanides; aromatic nitro, amino and azo compounds; sulphones, sulphonic acids, sulphonamides; terpenes, camphors, heterocyclic compounds of arsenic." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"Excellent reference text." H. J. Creech
+ Am Chem Soc J 70:3969 N '48 280w
Booklist 44:309 My 15 '48

"As a reference book in pharmacology, in biochemistry, and particularly in graduate research, this will be very helpful. It serves to focus attention on what is known and to guide thinking toward decreasing our ignorance in the entire field of metabolism of drugs." J. C. Munch
+ Chem & Eng N 26:3366 N 8 '48 470w

"Written not only for specialists but also for students, research men, and others." L. A. Eales
Library J 73:823 My 15 '48 100w

WILLIAMS, TENNESSEE. Streetcar named Desire. 171p $2.75 New directions
812 48-5556

Text of this play now running on Broadway. It is a character study describing the road to collapse traveled by a Southern belle who goes to visit her sister in the "Quarter" of New Orleans.

Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48

"In view of all [its] excellence, it will seem graceless to admit to some puzzles. The first of these has to do with theme. At first glance, it seems that Mr. Williams has conjured nothing more (nor less) than a melodrama, an especial Freudian case-history with all on stage only more or less diseased, the conflict

WILLIAMS, TENNESSEE—Continued
being one of degree. . . [The heroine's] teariness is too often. Moreover, it is not psychopathically apt: a woman strung to this pitch could never, I think, find this relief." Dramatic criticism by Kappo Phelan
+ — Commonweal 47:254 D 19 '47 1000w

Reviewed by George Freedley
Library J 73:399 Mr 1 '48 30w

Dramatic criticism by J. W. Krutch
Nation 165:686 D 20 '47 1200w

Dramatic criticism by Irwin Shaw
New Repub 117:34 D 22 '47 1350w

"A remarkably well constructed, remarkably moving, and deeply compassionate drama." W. P. Eaton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 F 29 '48 290w

"Like all true drama, 'Streetcar' is as simple as a figure in geometry, and follows the same ruthless line from the up beat of its first crescendo. . . In 'The Glass Menagerie' Mr. Williams was guilty of an occasional moony passage—most of which ironed out smoothly enough in an expert production. This time, his excesses are on the side of the angels." C. V. Terry
+ N Y Times p17 F 1 '48 380w

San Francisco Chronicle p23 F 8 '48 270w

"Although no one is apt to describe Mr. Williams's new play as pleasant, its power is incontestable. It could stand cutting, and certain of its scenes, such as its final one, might be bettered by rewriting. But both as written and as staged, one thing is certain. 'A Streetcar Named Desire' is more than a work of promise. It is an achievement of unusual and exciting distinction." Dramatic criticism by J. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 30:22 D 27 '47 2350w

WILLIAMS, WETHERBY (MARGARET ERSKINE, pseud). I knew Macbean. 219p $2 Doubleday
48-5143

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun p72 F 6 '48 190w

Kirkus 15:633 N 15 '47 60w

"A nicely balanced job that rates high for atmosphere, suspense and general reader interest." E. H.
+ New Repub 118:32 F 9 '48 30w

"There are more sinister characters in this story than you could shake a stick at. Make it a good, heavy stick, or preferably something more lethal." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 Ja 25 '48 180w

"Exasperating."
Sat R of Lit 31:34 Ja 24 '48 40w

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM CARLOS. Paterson (book two). [49p] $3 New directions
811 Paterson, New Jersey—Poetry (46-5910)

"An interior monologue. A man spends Sunday in the park at Paterson, New Jersey. He thinks and looks about him; his mind contemplates, describes, comments, associates, stops, stutters, and shifts like a firefly, bound only by it milieu. The man is Williams, anyone living in Paterson, the American, the masculine principle—a sort of Everyman. His monologue is interrupted by chunks of prose: paragraphs from old newspapers, textbooks, and the letters of a lacerated and lacerating poetess. This material is merely selected by the author." Nation

"'Paterson' is Whitman's America, grown pathetic and tragic, brutalized by inequality, disorganized by industrial chaos, and faced with annihilation. No poet has written of it with such a combination of brilliance, sympathy, and experience, with such alertness and energy. Because he has tried to understand rather than excoriate, and because in his maturity he has been occupied with the 'raw' and the universal, his 'Paterson' is not the tragedy of the outcast but the tragedy of our civilization. It is a book in which the best readers, as well as the simple reader, are likely to find everything." Robert Lowell
+ Nation 166:692 Je 19 '48 1350w

"'Paterson, Book II' continues Dr. Williams' superbly alive and fluid grasp of the contemporary American scene, with finely balanced irony and sympathy, the whole given depth and perspective through expert technical handling." Ruth Lechlitner
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Je 27 '48 550w

"This second book is longer and even more exciting than the first. Readers will anticipate with eagerness the pleasure in future of studying the work in its entirety. The sense of energy, movement and reality is everywhere present." Richard Eberhart
+ N Y Times p4 Je 20 '48 600w

New Yorker 24:83 S 4 '48 100w

Reviewed by T. H. Ferril
San Francisco Chronicle p12 N 7 '48 120w

Reviewed by W. V. O'Connor
Sat R of Lit 31:30 S 25 '48 800w

Reviewed by L. L. Martz
Yale R n s 38:148 autumn '48 450w

WILLIAMSON, SAMUEL THURSTON. Imprint of a publisher; the story of Frank Gannett and his independent newspapers. 308p $3 McBride
B or 92 Gannett, Frank Ernest 48-6995

"The life story of Frank Gannett and his chain of 21 newspapers, how he acquired them, what he is doing with them and what he believes about things in general." Springf'd Republican

"This book is a good reflection of Mr. Gannett. It is honest, candid, factual. It is not a biography which glosses over criticisms or mistakes. This newspaper publisher has a right to be proud of his achievements, and Mr. Williamson has told the story well, with perspective and with many salty phrases." C. McD. Puckette
+ N Y Times p16 Jl 18 '48 550w

"[Frank Gannett's] rags-to-riches story should shape up into a fascinating book. But unfortunately his biographer evidently worshipped too long and too devoutly at the Horatio Alger shrine and his hero is a paragon of everything that an Alger hero should be a paragon of. This volume is merely a larger and therefore more unpalatable dose of the same sticky concoction the author whipped up in haste for the Republican National Convention of 1940 and now there's another." E. J.
— San Francisco Chronicle p21 Je 13 '48 120w

Springf'd Republican p10B Je 20 '48 180w

WILLIAMSON, SCOTT GRAHAM. Convoy through the dream. 272p $3.50 Macmillan 48-10566

"Eric Clark, OWI employee during the war, decides that he must find out for himself who the 'enemy' he has been writing about at his desk job really is. His quest takes him into the merchant marine. The story is then on two levels: what happens to his ship and what goes on inside Eric. Climax is the death of Eric and his shipmates when their boat is employed as a decoy for enemy fire." Library J

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Chicago Sun D 6 '48 450w

"An agonizing odyssey, in sensitive perception, whose characters have an inner as well as an outer reality, and make for a drama of self within the drama of war."
Kirkus 16:413 Ag 15 '48 190w

"Rather on the special side. Recommended for those collections serving readers with a conscious interest in the literary and sensitive writing." R. E. Kingery
+ Library J 73:1595 N 1 '48 110w

"Whatever his shortcomings, and some of them are plain, Scott Graham Williamson must now be recognized as an important serious American writer. His latest novel . . . bids well to establish him in the eyes of the reading public as an energetic writer with a lofty conception of the purpose of the novels and a narrative technique that carries him far beyond the restrictions of realism. . . Though Mr. Williamson has overdone some of the personal anguish, he has done so with artistry and intelligence." Bennell Braunstein

+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 N 14 '48 800w

"Mr. Williamson is genuinely determined to impose a sort of vision of the absolute, a sense of the beauty, pain and mystery of it all, as he might put it, upon his material. The result, however, is war between his notebook—full of earthly observation, some of it excellent—and his cosmic vision. Such a battle, even when short, is always untidy: unless one side surrenders meekly and at once, the novel gets badly pitted. But Mr. Williamson's notebook, though sluggish, is strong, and his cosmic vision, though puny, is resolute. So puny, in fact, that we cannot see it, only the damage it inflicts on its bulky opponent." Donald Barr

— + N Y Times p49 N 14 '48 450w

"Mr. Williamson has strung together some plausible—and at times witty—seafaring types, and his treatment of port and shipboard life is colorful, but the hero's soul-searching follows as roundabout and wearisome a course as the convoy itself."

+ — New Yorker 24:131 N 6 '48 120w

"'A Convoy Through the Dream' has a decided list, and it is a pity, for there are many fine passages in it, here and there, passages which are a great deal better than the book. Mr. Williamson can create vivid, original characters, and he can make them talk well and sometimes wittily, and his descriptive passages are sharply drawn and stereopticon. It is Eric Clark's confused and cloudy quest which blurs and impedes the narrative." John Woodburn

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:16 N 27 '48 600w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal

Springf'd Republican p10C D 19 '48 120w

WILLIAMSON, THAMES ROSS. The gladiator. 344p $3 Coward-McCann

48-9050

Novel of Rome in the time of the Emperor Nero. The hero is a gladiator, Faljan, who is tricked into coming to Rome. The story is of his problems, of the corrupt court, of his conversion to Christianity, and of his escape from the burning of Rome.

"An excellent historical novel."

+ Kirkus 16:414 Ag 15 '48 130w

"The penetrating portraits of Julius Caesar by Wilder and of Claudius by Robert Graves show up Mr. Williamson's characters for what they are: foils for the swift paced action of an adventure story wrapped in a toga. But everything contributes expertly to make for light, readable fare." Henry James, jr.

N Y Times p30 N 7 '48 220w

"At no time does Faljan display the slightest resemblance to mortal man, but the story explodes like fireworks for three hundred and forty-four pages and has a certain brash vitality that lifts it above the absurd."

— + New Yorker 24:128 N 6 '48 120w

"'The Gladiator' is about as static as a comic strip and throws no light at all on anything but the methods of confecting a lending-library lulu." Fletcher Pratt

— Sat R of Lit 31:33 N 6 '48 140w

WILLIS, GEORGE WILLIAM. Little boy blues. 223p $2.75 Dutton

47-5794

The story of Lou Carey, a trumpeter who loved jazz and longed to have his own band. He started his career playing in Kansas City dives. Later he met a woman who put up the money for a band of his own. But it was another woman who nearly wrecked his career. The volume is the last of a trilogy; Three Musicians, preceded by Tanglewood and The Wild Faun (Book Review Digest 1943, 1945).

"Effective enough—but only temporarily so, and it's a little difficult to designate a market."

Kirkus 15:376 Jl 15 '47 150w

"Since a novel about a musician must be judged by the same standards which apply to fiction involving heroes more normally employed, it must be reported that 'Little Boy Blues,' after a good start, bogs down rapidly and stays that way to the end, wet and sticky and full of lumps." Thomas Sugrue

— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 26 '47 450w

WILLOUGHBY, HAROLD RIDEOUT, ed. Study of the Bible today and tomorrow [by members and guests of the Chicago society for biblical research]. 436p $6 Univ. of Chicago press

220 Bible. Whole

Essays on biblical problems, sponsored by the Chicago society for biblical research. Partial contents: The present state of biblical archeology, by G. E. Wright; Contemporary trends in Jewish Bible study, by F. A. Levy; Current trends in Catholic biblical research, by J. H. Cobb; Current progress and problems in septuagint research, by H. M. Orlinsky; The war in Europe and the future of biblical studies, by W. F. Albright; The future of intertestamental studies, by Ralph Marcus; The relevance of apocalyptic for ancient and modern situations, by P. E. Davies; The teachings of Jesus and first-century Jewish ethics, by F. C. Grant; Reassessing the religious importance of Paul, by D. W. Riddle; The emergence of the Christian church in the pre-Catholic period, by S. E. Johnson; The role of the Bible in the Reformation, by A. A. Hays.

"This is, by a wide margin, the most substantial and varied corpus of biblical scholarship that has recently appeared." W. E. G.

Christian Century 64:1585 D 24 '47 350w

Reviewed by G. B. King

Crozer Q 25:253 Jl '48 1950w

Reviewed by H. J. Cadbury

J Religion 28:209 Jl '48 1300w

School & Society 67:302 Ap 17 '48 20w

U S Quarterly Bkl 4:148 Je '48 330w

WILLSON, MEREDITH. And there I stood with my piccolo. 255p $2.75 Doubleday

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 48-8588

A musician describes his career from his boyhood flute lessons to his big network radio shows.

Booklist 45:122 D 1 '48

"An attractive, amusing recall of several decades in music which is more personality-conscious than personal."

+ Kirkus 16:355 Jl 15 '48 180w

"Anecdotes of people known and unknown, fondly sentimental recollections of a barely bygone day, easy-going fun-poking at matters musical and otherwise—regardless of which you prefer, you should have a good time reading this catchily-contrived concoction, though what you read will hardly strike you as being of great consequence." Charlotte Villanyi

+ Music Lib Assn Notes 6:166 D '48 160w

"Mr. Willson tells a flock of good stories, doffs his homburg to San Francisco and pays his respects to radio, mildly biting the hand that feeds him."

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 O 3 '48 180w

"A gay, unforced, astonishingly readable little memoir, and one which will charm its many readers." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 S 17 '48 650w

WILSON, CHARLES EDWARD, ed. See United States. President's committee on civil rights. To secure these rights

WILSON, CHARLES MORROW. Liberia. 226p il $3.75 Sloane

916.66 Liberia 47-12514

Liberia, the only Negro republic, celebrated its centenary in 1947. This volume is a popular summary of the main historical and social facts about that country. Illustrated with photographs. No bibliography. Index.

"Introductory chapters summarize Liberian geography, history, and anthropology, while three final chapters discuss medical developments, and give scanty treatment to current Liberian politics and to Liberia's neighbors. The book is marred by factual inaccuracy and journalistic exaggeration." Vernon McKay
Am Hist R 53:799 Jl '48 490w

Booklist 44:182 Ja 15 '47

"The entire book is written in a careful and authoritative manner and is more than a tabulation of facts; it is the inspirational story of a free nation which has existed for over a hundred years without revolution or foreign wars." W. L. Semon
+ Chem & Eng N 26:2838 S 20 '48 200w

Reviewed by Ned Munger
Chicago Sun D 31 '47 320w

"Mr. Wilson's book is evidently in the nature of public relations for Liberia, not a critical estimate; but in its class it is competently done, pleasantly illustrated, and with many excellent passages on the picturesque diversity of African life. . . 'Liberia' is recommended for any working bookself on Africa." John Lafarge
+ Commonweal 47:620 Ap 9 '48 600w

Current Hist 15:228 O '48 40w

Foreign Affairs 26:581 Ap '48 20w

"Value chiefly as a reference book on a country on which little is available."
+ Kirkus 15:570 O 1 '47 120w

"Will not satisfy scholars or partisans, but the average citizen may find it interesting and instructive." L. D. Reddick
Library J 72:1539 N 1 '47 90w

"The language discussion is rather meager, while the tribal mores should have received more attention. A bibliography would have been useful. It is rather startling to find mention only of Sir Harry Johnston's great history, published, however, in 1906. The excellent photographs of occupational groups add a sense of topical reality to this rapidly up-to-date survey." H. E. Wedeck
+ — N Y Times p7 D 28 '47 700w

"A thorough and carefully written progress report on Africa's only republic."
+ New Yorker 23:64 Ja 3 '48 140w

Wis Lib Bul 44:39 F '48

WILSON, HELEN VAN PELT. African violet; saintpaulia; drawings by Léonie Hagerty. 191p $2.50 Barrows

635.93383 African violets Agr48-29

The first book devoted entirely to the culture of this flower which has been called "America's number one house plant." The study is complete, from historical background to descriptions of known varieties. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 44:264 Ap 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '48

"Miss Wilson's knack for readable, workmanlike writing, is well demonstrated in this latest of her gardening books. . . Ably supported by Leonie Hagerty's excellent drawings, Miss Wilson's text will be received with hearty approval by all who have fallen under the spell of what has been aptly called 'America's Number One House Plant.'" R. S. Lemmon
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p21 My 16 '48 100w

WILSON, JOHN DOUGLAS, and WERNER, SCHURER O. Simplified roof framing. 2d ed 160p $1.80 McGraw

694.2 Roofs 48-1271

"New short-cut methods have been added as have two new chapters, one on the steel square and one summarizing basic roof information and layout principles." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1927.

Booklist 45:71 O 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1618 N 15 '47 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:24 Ja '48

WILSON, JOHN HAROLD. Court wits of the restoration; an introduction. 264p il $4 Princeton univ. press

820.9 English literature—History and criticism 48-4835

An introduction to the literary rakes of the court of Charles II; their lives and literary activities. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Chicago Sun N 15 '48 40w

"Recommended for theatre, drama, and literature collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1513 O 15 '48 50w

"Mr. Wilson has obviously dug long and hard, and he has, among other things, succeeded here and there in throwing some new light on old scandals. His book is for scholars, not for the old-fashioned amateurs of 'court memoirs,' but it achieves its purpose admirably. Probably no more realistic or more detailed picture has ever been drawn of this society." J. W. Krutch
+ Nation 167:470 O 23 '48 550w

WILSON, JOHN WALTER. High John, the conqueror. 165p $2.50 Macmillan

48-10609

"First novel which projects the struggle of Cleveland Webster, a Negro cotton farmer, against the elements which threaten his destruction—the river which constantly menaces his land, the weather and the white man. When the crop is lost to the river and the rain 'High John', the white plantation owner, becomes master over the land but not over Webster's soul." Library J

"The story is told in chapters that do not always keep a continuity but is a fine portrayal of the psychology of a cotton plantation personnel." A. W. Taylor
+ Churchman 163:16 Ja 1 '49 240w

Kirkus 16:412 Ag 15 '48 130w

"Set in Brazos County, Texas, the author surveys the land and its people with a sympathetic realism which lifts the plight of the uneducated southern Negro to tragic heights." A. J. Gaines
Library J 73:1275 S 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by Coleman Rosenberger
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 D 5 '48 240w

"Mr. Wilson has an effective, economical style and the events of his simple but rather moving story flow smoothly. As a regional writer with a social sympathy that for the purposes of a successful novel is well tempered, his accomplishment lies in his having made believable both the buried dignity in his Negro workers and the queer driving loneliness of the white man, John Chaney." Robert Shaplen
+ N Y Times p17 Ja 9 '49 360w

"This short, first novel is admirable as regional writing, for it recreates the countryside that lies along the Brazos River in southeast Texas. . . With all [its] abundant excellences, the novel has serious technical faults. It is too much a succession of fragments. Although each part is fine by itself, the whole (at least in a novel) is less than the sum of its parts. The lack of cohesion is the confusion in chronology, of blurred cause of erratic changes in pace, of focus of attention, and of interruptions by long, irrelevant flashbacks. Such flaws, perhaps intended as stylistic stunts, hinder the narrative." Robert Halsband

— + Sat R of Lit 31:13 N 20 '48 550w

WILSON, KATHERINE. Golden Gate, the park of a thousand vistas; with il. by the author. 143p $3.50 Caxton printers

917.9461 San Francisco. Golden Gate Park 48-5183

"The name of John McLaren and Golden Gate Park are closely linked in the minds of Californians and the account of his superintendency for a half century is told [here]. The volume will serve as a guide to the park itself and to the many cultural centers which have become a unique part of it, such as the Conservatory, De Young Museum, Kezar Stadium and the Temple of Music." Library J

Kirkus 15:593 O 15 '47 90w

"Recommended." H. P. Holman
+ Library J 72:1685 D 1 '47 140w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
San Francisco Chronicle p10 D 31 '47 360w

Wis Lib Bul 44:81 Ap '48

WILSON, PHILIP WHITWELL. General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation army. 264p $3.50 Scribner

B or 92 Booth, Evangeline Cory. Salvation army 48-3749

This history of the origin of the Salvation Army, founded in 1865, is also a biography of Evangeline Booth, who was born in the same year. The author, who was born and educated in England, was on the staff of the London Daily News for twenty-one years, and is now on the staff of the New York Times, has had an opportunity to know his subject on both sides of the Atlantic. Index.

Booklist 45:12 S 1 '48

Reviewed by S. R. Harlow
Christian Century 66:145 F 2 '49 950w

"This reviewer is hoping that a longer, more careful, and more detailed work will be written; based, if possible, on the correspondence of all the members of the family. In the meantime many will find Mr. Wilson's book very readable and highly informative, giving a quick acquaintance with a highly colorful person who was mightily used of God. It is, as the jacket says, 'a human document about an extraordinary personality.'" J. H. Scammon
Crozer Q 26:88 Ja '49 550w

Kirkus 16:248 My 15 '48 170w

"Author portrays with equal success a dynamic personality and a seldom publicized but far reaching Christian movement. Recommended." L. R. Miller
+ Library J 73:943 Je 15 '48 140w

Reviewed by McAlister Coleman
Nation 167:324 S 18 '48 600w

"Mr. Wilson's book is as frankly inspirational as a 'War Cry' sometimes as emotional, but sincere, competent, and convincing. If he lets himself go about the Army and General Evangeline Booth, it is because he knows them both so well." E. H. Smith
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Ag 1 '48 800w

"This biography makes little effort to follow the modern vogue and to penetrate into the subtleties of Evangeline's character. She remains more a historical character than a woman of flesh and blood; her privacy is kept inviolate." J. W. Chase
+ N Y Times p6 Jl 25 '48 1000w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 19 '48 400w

WILSON, RICHARD ALBERT. Miraculous birth of language; pref. by George Bernard Shaw. 256p $3.75 Philosophical lib.

401.1 Language and languages 48-8755

A book on the theory and philosophy of language by the professor emeritus of English language and literature in the University of Saskatchewan. The book contains a long, argumentative preface by G. B. Shaw.

"This book is perhaps not as important as it is considered by Bernard Shaw, who has written a long preface dealing with evolution and the necessity for a phonetic alphabet in English, but its effect is morally bracing, because it tries, with some plausibility, to restore to the human race a dignity and stature in the universe which have lately come to seem a little doubtful."
New Yorker 24:146 N 27 '48 90w

"Dr. Wilson's book, in itself, is a very satisfying piece of work. Old enough to be a Professor Emeritus (of the University of Saskatchewan), he has applied the technique of graceful simplification without vulgarization which a philosophy teacher must learn in order to lecture, in presenting his ideas. Hence there is no ponderousness of sentence structure or obscurity of vocabulary with which the layreader must struggle to follow his development." V. B.
+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 N 28 '48 500w

Time 52:102 N 1 '48 650w

WIND, EDGAR. Bellini's Feast of the gods; a study in Venetian humanism; pub. for the Harvard college library. 81p il $7.50 Harvard univ. press

759.5 Bellini, Giovanni

An analysis of Bellini's Feast of the gods: its mythological ancestry, its relation to the period in which it was painted, and the personages involved. Bibliographical index of sources. Index.

Kirkus 16:183 Ap 1 '48 170w

"Whether he deals with Homeric laughter, or Isabella d'Este's patronage of art, 'dictatorical, fanciful and pedantic,' Mr. Wind's text is extraordinarily stimulating. . . A must for the reference collection; casual art lover also may enjoy." A. S. Plaut
+ Library J 73:879 Je 1 '48 110w

"The argument is irrefutable, compact, reasoned, hard; few contributions to art history in recent years have been more brilliant, more utterly convincing or more charmingly expressed. The plates are worthy of the text." F. H. Taylor
+ N Y Times p5 My 9 '48 500w

"I found it both illuminating and sprightly." J. T. Soby
Sat R of Lit 31:44 O 9 '48 50w

WIND, HERBERT WARREN. The story of American golf; its champions and its championships. 502p il $15 Farrar, Straus

796.352 Golf 48-9823

"A long consideration of this country's amateur and professional golf champions and championships, both men's and women's, since the game was first played here, sixty years ago. Although it is primarily a history, it is thoroughly seasoned with engaging anecdotes. Profusely illustrated." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Herb Graffis
Chicago Sun p9X D 19 '48 650w

"This is the sort of expensive specialized book that golfers and their galleries—in the upper luxury brackets—will want. Golf clubs with sporting libraries should buy it. But the man in the street, to whom golf is a weekend game on a public course, or an evening on a miniature course, or a snatched afternoon in the suburbs now and then, will find it too broad in scope for his interest."
Kirkus 16:501 S 15 '48 230w

WIND, H. W.—Continued
"Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 74:64 Ja 1 '49 40w

"This is a massive book, as decorative as it is informative. Furthermore, it is written with a graceful, easy, authoritative and frequently amusing style which matches the typographical excellence of the volume. Its price may be beyond the reach of the chap who searches for an hour after a lost ball. But it is within the reach of the fellow who can afford to break his favorite golf club against a tree in a fit of petulance." Arthur Daley
+ N Y Times p12 D 19 '48 700w

New Yorker 24:148 N 27 '48 70w

"Without wasting any words, this is a very good book. Wind, a member of the New Yorker staff, is a good writer, who knows his golf history thoroughly. . . Any golfer, or golf spectator, will be lucky to have this volume on his shelves." Scott Newhall
+ San Francisco Chronicle p12 D 19 '48 220w

WINFIELD, GERALD FREEMAN. China; the land and the people; issued in cooperation with the American institute of Pacific relations 437p il $5 Sloane

951.042 China—Civilization. Reconstruction (1939-)—China 48-9514

"Winfield is an agricultural scientist of long experience in grass-roots China. He has an unexcelled knowledge of the vital processes that maintain life in the Chinese countryside. Issued in cooperation with the American Institute of Pacific Relations [the book] is a study of why China is so very poor—and what might be done about it. The book points out, incidentally, the fallacies of Chinese Communist economic doctrine: redistribution of the crowded Chinese land, in the traditional fashion of peasant rebellions, is more likely to lower than to increase farm production. Yet this picture of the disease-ridden, ignorant, hard-pushed Shantung farmer makes recent Communist victories in North China more understandable." (N Y Times) Index.

Booklist 45:135 D 15 '48

Reviewed by F. S. Marquardt
Chicago Sun p7X D 5 '48 100w

"This book is not comforting. But it tends to inspire one to avoid noisy sloganeering, to place China's problems in a world setting, and to understand that no basic transformation can be wrought except through a reasonable, moral, spiritual awakening." R. H. Markham
Christian Science Monitor p14 D 30 '48 550w

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 49:402 Ja 28 '49 750w

"A factual, easy-to-read study of China, based on 13 years of research and issued in cooperation with the American Institute of Pacific Relations, and of special interest to the ecclesiastical field."
+ Kirkus 16:608 N 15 '48 210w

"Excellent, broad, nontechnical survey of China. . . Highly recommended for understanding China's 'good earth.'" Anne Whitmore
+ Library J 73:1818 D 15 '48 70w

Reviewed by E. D. Hawkins
Nation 168:104 Ja 22 '49 1400w

Reviewed by Richard Watts, jr.
New Repub 120:26 Ja 17 '49 900w

"As a professional biologist, Dr. Winfield has something useful to say about the problems of health and the working of China's soil. As an amateur political scientist he understands much less about the social structure of China and the meaning of the contending forces that are today tearing the country apart. So long as he sticks to the technical matters he is illuminating and informative." H. R. Isaacs
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 D 26 '48 1200w

"One of this author's particular merits is that he, almost alone of American writers on China, knows intimately many aspects of China's prescientific farm technology and is able to describe every move and procedure (aided by some excellent photographs) with scientific understanding." J. K. Fairbank
+ N Y Times p1 D 12 '48 1650w

"Americans who are sure that there is nothing wrong with China that a billion dollars and a few divisions of Marines can't cure—and, conversely, those who expect a victorious Communist regime to set things right—will do well to read carefully Dr. Gerald F. Winfield's remarkable new book. 'China: The Land and the People' is guaranteed to shake the convictions of even the most plausible commentator. . . His experience—and the profound respect for the humblest Chinese which it generated—gives his writing an authenticity that is unique." Stuart Lillico
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 D 11 '48 900w

Reviewed by J. W. Culver
Springf'd Republican p7B Ja 2 '49 600w

Wis Lib Bul 45:13 Ja '49

WINNER, PERCY. Mote and the beam. 366p $3 Harcourt
48-6124

"'The Mote and the Beam' begins in 1938 when [the] hero, an American named Finn, was writing a book to be called 'The Sick Soul of Europe.' He flees from an indescribable orgy in the Paris house of a rich and evil Spaniard, only to discover a remorselessly sexual woman, one of the leaders of a gang of powerful Fascists. Recognizing Finn's value to them as a man of principle, the gang starts an insidious battle for his soul and body. A patriotic and aristocratic Frenchman, masquerading as a panderer to the vices of the wealthy, becomes Finn's friend and mentor." Sat R of Lit

---

Cath World 167:286 Je '48 150w

"The excesses here, physical to metaphysical, the prolonged, personal agony, are all a little hard to take."
Kirkus 16:148 Mr 15 '48 150w

"Little general appeal. Not recommended." J. E. Cross
— Library J 73:558 Ap 1 '48 100w

New Yorker 24:118 Ap 10 '48 200w

"At its best it is a brilliant accomplishment; at its worst, the reader may feel that for most of the long journey he is far out at sea without compass or sextant." Harrison Smith
Sat R of Lit 31:13 Ap 10 '48 1000w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p12B My 2 '48 300w

WINSLOW, EARLE MICAJAH. The pattern of imperialism, a study in the theories of power. 278p $3.75 Columbia univ. press

321.03 Imperialism. International relations 48-2443

"Presents a strong case for the thesis that imperialism is the result of a way of political thinking rather than of a particular economic system and that consequently imperialism may occur under socialism as well as under capitalism." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. W. Pratt
Am Hist R 54:330 Ja '49 550w

"A thought-provoking and well-documented book." Hans Kohn
+ Ann Am Acad 260:225 N '48 600w

Booklist 44:376 Jl 15 '48

"The reviewer accepts substantially all the conclusions of this scholarly and well written study, except for the final point. It is not clear why having eighty nations united in a world state is any more undemocratic than it is to have our forty-eight states united in our federal government. Much as I respect the many fine qualities and great deeds of the Friends, I must confess, after carefully rereading the discussion of this point, that such things are too wonderful for me, a man of grosser clay. But almost any reader should find the body of the book thoroughly sound." Marshall Knappen
+ — Christian Century 65:1081 O 13 '48 800w

Reviewed by Ernest Pisko
Christian Science Monitor p16 Jl 14 '48 70w
Current Hist 15:165 S '48 90w
Reviewed by H. J. Morgenthau
J Pol Econ 56:543 D '48 600w
Reviewed by J. F. Wolpert
Nation 167:240 Ag 28 '48 700w
Reviewed by Leonard Woolf
New Statesman & Nation 36:355 O 23 '48 600w
Reviewed by H. E. Salisbury
N Y Times p8 S 5 '48 900w
Reviewed by M. M. Knight
Pol Sci Q 63:603 D '48 900w
Reviewed by R. G. Colodny
San Francisco Chronicle p19 Jl 18 '48 600w

"Mr. Winslow set out to strip away the century-old layers of theory and prejudices that today obscure the basic pattern of imperialism. He has done this well, and the study does credit to his power of examination, his fair-mindedness, and his desire to re-think an idea that has deteriorated into little more than a propagandistic tool. But the author is trapped by his material. His conclusions are not conclusions. They are a summary of current confusions, illusions, and of the hapless-helpless meanderings in the field of politico-economic thought." Martin Ebon
Sat R of Lit 31:23 Je 26 '48 550w
School & Society 68:48 Jl 17 '48 10w

WINTERTON, PAUL (ROGER BAX, pseud). The trouble with murder [Eng title: Blueprint for murder]. 247p $2.50 Harper
48-7511

Murder story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Jl 16 '48 230w
Kirkus 16:222 My 1 '48 130w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Jl 25 '48 250w
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p25 Jl 18 '48 130w

"Disappointing, compared to the author's recent mystery 'Disposing of Henry.' "
— New Yorker 24:64 Jl 31 '48 80w
Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ag 1 '48 100w

"Planning and enactment of crime coldly horrible; water-borne chase and struggle that climax tale thrill-packed. Writing excellent, people prime. Superfine—in its class."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:30 Jl 17 '48 30w
Wis Lib Bul 44:166 O '48

WINTHER, OSCAR OSBURN. Great Northwest; a history. 383p $4.50 Knopf
979.5 Northwest, Pacific 47-31178
For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The book achieves its purpose. For a distant reader there may be too many names and too many incidents but it is precisely this wealth of detail which the reader on the Pacific Coast will value. Such a reader is naturally curious about what has happened in his part of the world during the last 150 years. But he should remember that the historical background that has made him what he is, must be sought elsewhere and that the Industrial Revolution had greater significance than the fur trade. He will, of course, notice minor inaccuracies. . . The writing is at times slipshod." H. F. Angus
+ — Am Hist R 53:561 Ap '48 550w

"The author is to be congratulated on the publication of what would seem to be the best one-volume history of the Pacific Northwest. His bibliography is excellent and is noteworthy for the number of citations from Canadian sources." W. N. Sage
+ Canadian Hist R 29:86 Mr '48 260w
Reviewed by J. P. Pritchett
Pol Sci Q 63:473 S '48 550w

" 'The Great Northwest' is a work of considerable magnitude. It is the most readable economic history of the Columbia Basin yet written. For these reasons it is discouraging to find Dr. Winther making errors which the most superficial proofreading should have revealed." R. L. Neuberger
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:31 My 15 '48 550w

"The book appeals to the general reader and has already won its place as a text. The Great Northwest, however, would be the better for a careful rewriting." J. F. Santee
+ — Social Studies 39:235 My '48 500w

"Although there might have been better coverage of individual topics—more investigation, for example, of the political progressivism which has been so distinctive and unpredictable a factor in the Northwest's history—the author has, on the whole, succeeded in compressing a large body of facts into a panoramic volume of well-selected and judiciously treated material. A useful Bibliography is included in the book, which, though its chief value will be as a reference tool, is designed, also, for the industrious general reader."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 3:370 D '47 240w
Wis Lib Bul 44:20 Ja '48

WINWAR, FRANCES. Saint and the devil; Joan of Arc and Gilles de Rais; a biographical study in good and evil. 303p il $3.75 Harper
B or 92 Jeanne d'Arc, Saint. Rais, Gilles de Laval, seigneur de 48-5211

"A linking of two figures of the 15th century—Joan of Arc and Gilles de Rais. The greater part of the book follows in detail the dramatic story of the Maid. . . The last quarter of the book picks up the thread of Gilles de Rais' story, from his stepping out of the drama which was Joan's . . . into strange paths of cruelty, perversion, abnormalities." (Kirkus) Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 44:246 Mr 15 '48

"The author's scholarship is impressive and she has used her material with discrimination. She has given a fine picture of the background of the times, life in the country, in towns, at court and throughout the kingdom of France. . . Even for a reader acquainted with several of the other and famous biographies of Joan, Frances Winwar's book still captures the attention. Closing the book I wondered why it did. And I found that I had gone on reading steadily in the hope that sometime or other the author would step out of her orderly narrative into the unchartered path which was Joan's path, which was Joan herself. . . Why is it that her account leaves us unsatisfied? . . Irrespective of our belief or disbelief, saints are unpredictable, scandalous, all are highly disproportionate human beings. . . With Frances Winwar we have none of this, and consequently she fails to convey Joan's message." C. H. Bishop
Commonweal 47:474 F 20 '48 650w
Kirkus 15:636 N 15 '47 180w
Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 6 '49 180w

"Joan's story fills four-fifths of the volume, but this latest recapitulation adds nothing, unique or otherwise, to the facts previously established concerning her life and death. The implication that there was any 'dramatic relationship' between her and Gilles de Rais is not warranted by the records and the use of the term 'story' for 'stories' in the subtitle is misleading. . . It is romanticized biography, for popular consumption, by a writer adept at the genre. The characters are projected with plausible dexterity, but remain full of unresolved contradictions. The atmosphere is more important than the plot, and the stock elements of humorless medieval romance are all utilized. . . This study dulls Joan's vitality and almost (though unintentionally) makes her appear ridiculous and a poseuse, which she was not. The narrative is written in a vigorous, rhetorical prose. . . But despite the ardent language, all the people, scenes and images

WINWAR, FRANCES—Continued
remain unreal and insubstantial." Geoffrey Bruun
— + N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 Ja 25 '48 700w

"One of the best-informed and most readable, biographies of Joan. . . Miss Winwar writes a colorful style, with a rich and concrete vocabulary and a strong ear for cadence. An almost monotonous smoothness occasionally fails to set off the episodes of the story in bold enough relief. . . Fidelity to history is on the whole scrupulously preserved. . . With a little more boldness in probing into the recesses of souls, devilish and saintly, with a narrative less fluently smooth but with deeper insight into the mysteries of the human spirit and senses, Miss Winwar might have written the truly powerful book which she just falls short of achieving. The excellent presentation of the book would also have been enhanced by illustrations drawn from fifteenth-century miniatures, instead of the conventional picture of Joan of Arc given in the last century by Ingres and Delaroche." Henri Peyre
+ — N Y Times p7 F 1 '48 1900w

Reviewed by Edith James
San Francisco Chronicle p13 F 1 '48 900w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 31:14 F 21 '48 850w

Reviewed by L. A. G. Strong
Spec 181:712 N 26 '48 220w

"If Frances Winwar intended her 'The Saint and the Devil' as a representation of antitheses in parallel lives, she has failed both historically and critically in coupling the stories of Joan of Arc and Gilles de Rais. No authenticated documentation subscribes to the theory that the lives of these two touched each other intimately. . . Miss Winwar writes in the same ecstatic, Ouida-like style which has colored her earlier biographies, employing an elaborately embroidered rodomontade, crammed with rhetorical asides and perorations, and the result is quite unhappy." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p8B F 15 '48 450w

Wis Lib Bul 44:82 Ap '48

WIRE, HAROLD CHANNING. North to the promised land. 187p $2.25 Presbyterian bd.
48-1415

Story of the last huge cattle drive from Texas to Montana, told in the first person by a young boy who travels with the cowboys over the trail.

Booklist 44:371 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun Ag 7 '48 110w

"A romantic phase of American history in the West is recalled in this vigorous story. . . Harold Wire has detailed knowledge of the country, having been over much of it on foot for the U.S. Geological Survey. He makes vivid the hostility of the cattlemen toward the men with plow and hoe who wanted the land for homes and farms, and his strong story is told with informed understanding of both points of view." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:279 Jl '48 100w

"Sincere, warm writing, with a strong sense of the country and the people and the pangs of a country's growing pains toward civilization."
+ Kirkus 16:113 Mr 1 '48 80w

"An exciting and well-told story. . . The author has caught the feel of this long trek so well that cattle, horses, men, and boys fairly come alive, and the countryside seems very real. Highly recommended for children's rooms and young people's collections." M. D. Read
+ Library J 73:718 My 1 '48 80w

"A fine historical story rather than a plotted Western, this junior novel gives an authentic picture of the losing fight waged by the early cattle barons against the farmers who pushed westward with barbed-wire fences and winter wheat. Splendidly written, with real characters and atmosphere, the book will have a special appeal for boys and girls who like to read about horses and cowboys." Howard Pease
+ N Y Times p21 Je 13 '48 180w

Wis Lib Bul 44:86 Ap '48

WISE, JAMES WATERMAN. Meet Henry Wallace. 91p il pa $1 Boni & Gaer

B or 92 Wallace, Henry Agard. Campaign literature, 1948 48-7915

A campaign biography of Henry Wallace.

"This is frankly a campaign document, written by a confessed disciple of Henry Wallace, devoid of any semblance of objectivity. . . There is, of course, nothing wrong about such a book. They are a common quadrennial phenomenon of the publishing business and of politics. This one is little better or little worse than others of its genre. . . In the best tradition of the political pamphleteer, Mr. Wise selects what will advance his theme and discards the rest." Cabell Phillips
N Y Times p4 Jl 25 '48 900w

"Its main virtue is that it quotes extensively from Wallace's own writings and speeches. Its overwhelming defect is that it fails altogether to tackle, let alone explain, what makes Henry Wallace think and act as he does. It makes no contribution toward solving the riddle of the Progressive Party's candidate." Frank Kingdon
— + Sat R of Lit 31:16 Ag 21 '48 1300w

"Rather frankly a presidential campaign document setting forth the virtues of the third party candidate as estimated by his most ardent followers. It provides a nonetheless interesting and informative biographical record." E. A. F.
Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 8 '48 150w

WISLICENUS, GEORGE FRIEDRICH. Fluid mechanics of turbomachinery. 613p $7.50 McGraw

621.24 Hydraulics. Turbines 48-255

"Treatment of flow problems encountered in the design of water, gas and steam turbines, centrifugal or azial-flow pump and compressors, propellers, hydraulic torque convertors and couplings. The treatment of the three dimensional theory of turbomachinery, the treatment of the problem of fluid friction in turbomachinery and the presentation of similarity of the problem of fluid friction in turbomachinery is new in this book. Designed for mechanical, automotive and aeronautical engineers." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:11 Ja '48

"Although in textbook form, the book will probably be most useful to practicing engineers wishing to become more familiar with the theoretical aspects of their problems."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:242 Je '48 400w

WISTER, JOHN CASPAR. Bulbs for home gardens. 270p il $5 Oxford

635.944 Bulbs Agr48-270

A revised and partly rewritten version of Bulbs for American Gardens (Book Review Digest 1930). In his preface the author says: "I have been amazed at two things as I have gone about this revision; first: at how many chapters seemed to need no revision, being as true and to the point as the day they were originally written; and second, at the many other chapters that had in the space of less than twenty years become completely out of date if not misleading." Index.

Booklist 45:71 O 15 '48

"A valuable book for all gardeners, particularly those who wish to extend and expand their bulb culture."
+ Kirkus 16:352 Jl 15 '48 140w

San Francisco Chronicle p14 O 3 '48 90w

WITHERS, CARL, comp. Rocket in my pocket; the rhymes and chants of young Americans; il. by Susanne Suba. 214p $3.50 Holt

398.8 Children's poetry. Folklore—U.S. 48-4881

Collection of rhymes, chants, game songs, riddles, tongue-twisters, etc. used among children in various parts of the United States. There is an essay on this type of folklore and an index of first lines.

"Will be of more interest, probably to folklorists and to adults concerned with the social growth and development of children than to children themselves. Rather sophisticated line drawings."

Booklist 45:93 N 1 '48

"Suba's line drawings catch the deadpan eagerness with which children join games, the animation of dogs, cows, horses, and cats. Here's fun for the young and a true collector's item for those of voting age." M. B. King

+ Chicago Sun O 30 '48 110w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans

Commonweal 49:213 D 3 '48 110w

"The book makes hilarious group reading and will open ears and eyes to a new interest available around us. The delightful illustrations by Susanne Suba are a perfect combination of naïveté and sophistication. Another valuable feature of the book is the charming essay by Mr. Withers about this kind of folklore and its significance." Siri Andrews

+ Horn Bk 24:475 N '48 280w

"Tops in its field, this is engaging nonsense."

+ Kirkus 16:525 O 1 '48 90w

"The illustrations by Susanne Suba are simple and delightful and catch to perfection the spirit of childhood in these rhymes. A must for large children's rooms." Lillian Morrison

+ Library J 73:1602 N 1 '48 70w

"The editor, who is an anthropologist, has made a real contribution to American folklore. His note on the sources and social significance of the rhymes, as well as the rhymes themselves, will be of interest to educators, parents, psychologists and students of folklore. Amusing and charming line drawings by Susanne Suba illustrate this well-designed and printed book. It should prove to be a favorite of the whole family." H. A. M.

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 N 14 '48 240w

"This is a rich vein of fun for any youngster old enough to read, amusingly illustrated by Susanne Suba." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p22 Ja 9 '49 190w

New Yorker 24:136 D 11 '48 60w

Reviewed by E. M. Bradway

San Francisco Chronicle p8 N 14 '48 100w

Sat R of Lit 31:34 N 13 '48 50w

WITTENBERG, RUDOLPH M. So you want to help people; a mental hygiene primer for group leaders; with a foreword by Russell Dicks. 174p $3 Assn. press

131.32 Mental hygiene Med48-384

"The author has acquired his knowledge of human beings through the experience accumulated during twelve years of professional social work. . . In the first part of the book, the spotlight is on the relationships between the worker and the group. . . There are illuminating chapters in the second part of the book which are devoted to those matters of discipline which often result in the complete disillusionment of the worker. One of them, under the caption, 'Boy Meets Girl' discusses that important phase in the development of the adolescent in which he attempts to enter into relationship with the other sex. The suggestion is made, as a part of the education of boys and girls, that the establishment of the sexual life be made the subject of group discussions. . . The final section deals with some of the typical settings in which leaders operate." Survey

School & Society 67:64 Ja 24 '48 10w

"Although this book was not written exclusively for teachers but for all 'the great army of people who work with youngsters in this country, especially youngsters between eight and eighteen years of age,' it seems of particular value for teachers engaged in developing citizenship and who, therefore, need to be aware of and skilled in the processes of group leadership. It would seem wise for such groups to read through and discuss parts if not all of this little book." M. R. Brown

+ Social Studies 39:183 Ap '48 1250w

"It should prove a desirable handbook for teachers, parents, social workers, and professional group leaders." E. T. Burr

+ Survey 84:129 Ap '48 700w

WITTMANN, ERNO. History: a guide to peace. 423p maps $5.50 Columbia univ. press

327 International relations. Balance of power. World politics 48-3732

"An organic theory of history which contends that the political path traversed by Great Britain had already been followed by Rome and is being taken today by the U.S., and that by observing the mistakes of such empires we should be able to avoid them for ourselves. Specifically suggests as a means of maintaining peace that we build up Great Britain as a power balancer instead of deliberately helping to dismantle her." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:6 S 1 '48

"Hard going, but rewarding to the serious-minded."

Current Hist 15:226 O '48 60w

Reviewed by G. A. Craig

N Y Times p8 S 5 '48 850w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes

Sat R of Lit 31:38 N 6 '48 330w

WITTY, PAUL ANDREW, and KOHLER, JULILLY. You and the Constitution of the United States; pictures by Lois Fisher. 57p $1.50 Childrens press

342.73 U.S. Constitution—Juvenile literature 48-4202

"Presents a prize-winning essay, What America means to me, by a Connecticut high school senior; events leading up to the making of the Constitution of the U.S.; the substance of the seven original articles and the Bill of Rights; and the full text of the Constitution." Booklist

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48

"The skillful combination of words and pictures makes this book not only instantly appealing but of lasting value. Lois Fisher deserves high praise for the completely American character of her drawings." M. B. King

+ Chicago Sun S 18 '48 320w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

Christian Science Monitor p18 D 16 '48 210w

"Lois Fisher's amusingly meaningful illustrations, an over-all inviting appearance, and easily readable print should attract young people to this significant and useful little book." Claire Nolte

+ Library J 73:1524 O 15 '48 90w

"Going out after the Constitution and bringing it back alive to young people, this little book will evidently have the large circulation it deserves. One might ask whether the gayety of the pictures, addressed to an audience nine and up, may not make the 'over nines' think the text must be 'kid stuff'; but they are provocative enough to make the chance worth taking." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 D 19 '48 430w

Wis Lib Bul 44:168 O '48

WODEHOUSE, PELHAM GRENVILLE. Spring fever; il. by Paul Galdone. 223p $2.44 Doubleday

48-6922

Hilarious doings at Beevor Castle in the county of Kent. Involved among others are

WODEHOUSE, P. G.—Continued
the fifth Earl of Shortlands, called Shorty at times; his three daughters, of very differing types; two young men from America; and two servants with lurid pasts.

Booklist 44:368 Jl 1 '48

"Master of the fouled up manoeuver, Wodehouse lightly sparkles again in the story of the complications arising from Lord Shortlands' possession of a valued stamp, and an invaluable daughter. . . Not to be excited about, merely entertained."
Kirkus 16:151 Mr 15 '48 80w

"The conversation reaches heights unreached since the last Wodehouse book. In a word, here's Wodehouse in the groove, a love letter to the Wodehouse Forever Club, to which all right-thinking persons belong. Accept no substitute." Will Cuppy
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 My 23 '48 340w

Reviewed by Rex Lardner
N Y Times p16 Je 20 '48 410w

" 'Spring Fever' demonstrates a decline—it has been demonstrated once or twice before, lately—in the comic powers of this noted novelist and poet." John Lardner
New Yorker 24:111 My 22 '48 1200w

Reviewed by Larry Laughlin
San Francisco Chronicle p20 My 21 '48 370w

Reviewed by Robert Kee
Spec 181:26 Jl 2 '48 90w

"Mr. Wodehouse's new novel [is as] light, fast and elegant as ever."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p285 My 22 '48 500w

WODEHOUSE, PELHAM GRENVILLE. Uncle Dynamite. 312p il $2.95 Didier pubs.
49-7050

Another novel about the mildly insane actions of the English upper classes with an American sculptress also involved.

Booklist 45:194 F 1 '49

Reviewed by Rod Nordell
Christian Science Monitor p18 Ja 8 '49 390w

Kirkus 16:535 O 1 '48 120w

"To say that he writes in the vernacular is to undervalue his powers: he takes it violently by the throat, wrings out of it every hackneyed phrase and verbal ineptitude, yet only to make the trite become comically fresh, sometimes eloquent. No characters utter more revealing monosyllables, more endearing banalities than do his. And while they are figures of fun even to the point of caricature, one does not doubt that their creator loves them or that they are recognizably, if absurdly, like real people." Iris Barry
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 D 12 '48 800w

"A college professor regarding this latest effort with academic disinterestedness would give it a 'B minus' grade among Wodehouses. 'Uncle Dynamite' does not rise to the heights of 'Leave it to Psmith.' Neither does it sink to the abysmal depths of 'Laughing Gas.' This is by no means to join the ranks of those critics who shake the head and mutter 'Ichabod! Ichabod!' Wodehouse has not lost his grip." J. D. Forbes
+ — N Y Times p10 N 14 '48 600w

"Mr. Wodehouse can still turn a funny phrase, but both plot and characters remind one nostalgically that the author was once more sprightly."
New Yorker 24:58 D 23 '48 120w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 9 '49 210w

"Chapters show an awkward tendency to overlap, but the whole is sustained without trace of effort. The dialogue flows, and Mr. Wodehouse is always sure of his effects when he sets his characters talking."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p665 N 27 '48 250w

WOLDMAN, NORMAN EMME. Metal process engineering. 291p il $5 Reinhold
669 Metal work 48-1388

Contents: Casting; The mechanical working of metals and alloys; Forging; Powder metallurgy; Joining of metals; Castings versus forgings versus welds; Heat treatment; Surface hardening; Machining of metals; Tool steels. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:715 My 1 '48 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:17 Ja '48

"Although the volume is intended primarily for students and professional engineers, it will also be found of value by the physical metallurgist desiring a broad perspective of metallurgical processes. A valuable amount of specific information on the treatment of both ferrous and nonferrous alloys is given in each chapter."
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:242 Je '48 280w

WOLF, CHARLES. Indonesian story; the birth, growth and structure of the Indonesian republic; issued under the auspices of the Am inst. of Pacific relations. 201p $3 Day
992 Netherlands Indies—Politics 48-7301

"The author, as American Vice-consul at Batavia during the critical days of 1946-1947, watched the birth and growth of the Indonesian Republic. He tells of its structure, and gives consideration to economic problems and political organization." (Current Hist) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Mills
Ann Am Acad 260:187 N '48 450w

Booklist 45:30 S 15 '48

Current Hist 15:101 Ag '48 40w

"Mr. Wolf has had to deal with a delicate and complicated situation. His account may not please any of the groups involved, but he has obviously made a sincere effort to be objective, and to present the viewpoints of both the Indonesians and the Dutch. His book provides an excellent introduction to the new nation of southwestern Asia." Younghill Kang
+ Nation 167:212 Ag 21 '48 550w

Reviewed by Richard Watts
New Repub 118:24 Je 28 '48 800w

Reviewed by G. G. Stevens
N Y Times p11 Ag 22 '48 550w

WOLF, FREDERICK ADOLPH, and WOLF, FREDERICK TAYLOR. Fungi. v 1-2 438;538p il v 1 $6; v2 $6.50 Wiley
589.2 Fungi (47-4634)

"This two volume treatise is intended as a reference and textbook. Volume I is devoted to a consideration of developmental morphology and taxonomy of fungi. . . The second volume, divided into 22 chapters, deals more specifically with the biology, chemistry, and activity of fungi, including pathogenicity for plants and animals." Am J Pub Health

"While these volumes will be found to be valuable reference books on the fundamentals of mycology of public health laboratories and workers specifically interested in mycology, they will find little use by other public health workers." M. H. Merrill
+ — Am J Pub Health 38:289 F '48 450w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1618 N 15 '47 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 32:31 Ap '47 (Review of v 1)

N Y New Tech Bks 32:49 Jl '47 (Review of v 2)

U S Quarterly Bkl 3:393 D '47 480w

WOLFE, BERNARD, and ROSENTHAL, RAYMOND B. Hypnotism comes of age; its progress from Mesmer to psychoanalysis. 272p $3 Bobbs
134.8 Hypnotism. Psychoanalysis Med48-27

"This book is a survey of the development of hypnotism as a tool of modern medicine, with special emphasis on the new techniques which were created under the exigencies of the recent war and which have since become a permanent contribution to psychiatric knowledge." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"[The authors] have made it easy for themselves by giving little more than a digest version of recent scientific and semi-scientific books and monographs with a bearing on the subject, frequently relying on long quotations. They give the unaware reader a wrong slant, chiefly through their lack of critique. . . They mistake experimental work for 'a permanent contribution to psychiatric knowledge.' Indulging in sweeping generalizations, they convey a far too mechanical view of mental suffering, its causation and cure." Fredric Wertham
— N Y Times p20 Ag 1 '48 270w

New Yorker 24:110 My 8 '48 160w

WOLFE, BERTRAM DAVID. Three who made a revolution; a biographical history. 661p il $5 Dial press

923.247 Russia—History—Revolution. Lenin, Nikolai. Trotský, Leon. Stalin, Iosif 48-8725

Studies of Lenin, Trotsky, and Stalin. "It is a study of a program for revolution, a book that fills in the plots and counterplots of all the important figures surrounding the 'Red Three', participating in planning revolution." (Kirkus) Index.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo
Atlantic 182:116 D '48 1100w

Booklist 45:119 D 1 '48

Reviewed by F. L. Schuman
Chicago Sun N 4 '48 300w

"The book of a scholar and eminent authority on Russia. It contains much important and hitherto unpublicized material, and a few of its 30 chapters are so brilliantly written that they cannot fail to make a lasting impression upon the reader." Ernest Pisko
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 D 23 '48 500w

"As an American, Wolfe never gets lost in the labyrinth of Communist intrigues and party struggles. He looks at the events from a distance and never loses the thread of historical continuity. Despite the many critical details, the 650 pages of his book make fascinating reading, full of tension and useful stimulus." Max Fischer
+ Commonweal 49:202 D 3 '48 700w

"Fascinating reading and important to understanding of the Russian enigma. . . It should find a permanent place in the works revealing the three who made a revolution."
+ Kirkus 16:549 O 1 '48 170w

"Mr. Wolfe has a rich and fascinating story to tell, and he does full justice to it." Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.
+ Nation 167:525 N 6 '48 1050w

"It is a good kind of history. . . Though Mr. Wolfe has been trained in the school of practical Marxist politics, though he clearly respects Marx as the profoundest of modern sociologists, he does not write what is commonly called Marxist history." Crane Brinton
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 O 17 '48 1350w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p3 O 3 '48 1750w

"'Three Who Made a Revolution' is, I believe, at the present time the best book in its field in any language. The whole work may well be a classic." Edmund Wilson
+ New Yorker 24:104 D 18 '48 1400w

"This is one of those rare books which are obviously destined from the moment of publication to become a source and authority for the guidance of all later writers on the subject. It is to be hoped that 'Three Who Made a Revolution' will also be discovered and widely studied by a general public which earnestly wants to understand why the Soviets behave the way they do." Hal Lehrman
+ Sat R of Lit 31:16 N 6 '48 900w

WOLFE, DON MARION, ed. American vanguard. (New school for social research. Publication) 323p $3.50 Cornell univ. press

Short stories—Collections 48-7128

A collection of stories and sketches selected from work done in the Writers Workshops at the New School for Social Research. Thirty-eight authors are represented, most of whom have never before had anything published. Contains biographical notes on the authors.

"Except for a few obscure or contrived stories, the level of the anthology is extremely high. There are, in fact, at least a dozen individual stories, which are original, sensitive, fully realized pieces of fiction. The section of war stories, none of which, incidentally, has anything to do with combat, is perhaps the high spot of the book, with one story after another of professional quality. . . Don M. Wolfe, the editor of this anthology, calls the general tone of 'American Vanguard' one of 'grey sadness.' This seems too bleak a description for anything as honest, as unpretentious, as mature, as gently satiric, as gay, or as tragic, as the stories in this book. It is truly exciting to find all at once so many promising writers whose careers have just begun."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Jl 25 '48 320w

"[There is] excessive sentimentality in two or three stories of misunderstood or lonely or bereaved children; the crudity or banality of a few other experiments. Yet the application of fairly rigorous standards would not require elimination of more than a quarter of the forty-five. What is most remarkable in this era of fictional depravity is that several of the stories genuinely succeed." Carlos Baker
+ N Y Times p4 Je 27 '48 850w

Times [London] Lit Sup p565 O 9 '48 480w

WOLFE, THOMAS. Mannerhouse; a play in a prologue and three acts. 183p $3 Harper

812 48-11890

This is Thomas Wolfe's only full-length play, and here appears in book form for the first time. It was probably written in 1926. It is an allegorical tragedy about the South in Civil war days.

Booklist 45:189 F 1 '49

"In spite of a certain mystical obscurity, the work has much of fire, sweep and poetic insight, characteristic of Wolfe. It is virtually his sole use of non-autobiographical material."
+ Kirkus 16:548 O 1 '48 100w

"Recommended for literature as well as drama collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 74:129 Ja 15 '49 30w

"Wolfe's stamp is on this play, there is no doubt about it—the excitement, the energy, the eloquence and the kind of shine that is in his writing is here, on every page, and the play lies beneath them, secondary and shadowed. No doubt that is why, as I read a play as reading something by Thomas Wolfe." John Woodburn
it, I felt that I was not so much reading
+ New Repub 120:24 Ja 17 '49 950w

"An obvious failing of the play is found in the stage directions, where Wolfe attempts by the written word to achieve dramatic effects which could be achieved in actual production only with the utmost difficulty, and sometimes not at all. . . A greater failing is a lack of clarity. . . But whatever meanings one reads into the play, and in spite of substitutions of 'fine writing' for objective drama, 'Mannerhouse' is a fascinating and at times moving work which no admirer of Thomas Wolfe will want to miss." W. P. Eaton
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p20 Ja 30 '49 650w

"As a dramatic composition it is rarely a better-than-average sophomoric philosophical melodrama, but coming from a future novelist of great reputation it has its points of interest. . . The play's chief fault lies neither in its formlessness nor in its uneven writing, but rather in Mr. Wolfe's neglect to bring his characters to life. Instead, they move grotesquely through a series of scenes, engaging in the most preposterous dialogue." T. Q. C.

WOLFE, THOMAS—Continued
N Y Times p9 D 19 '48 750w

"A three-act play, written two or three years before the publication of the author's first novel, that suggests strongly that we lost a playwright of much imagination and talent in Thomas Wolfe. Although the work shows marks of immaturity, this tragedy . . . sustains a tense and sombre mood and has some fine and moving speeches; its prose, because of the exigencies of the dramatic form, is devoid of the hyperbole encountered so frequently in his novels, and if there is a certain absurdity in some of the symbolism, it is absurdity on a grand scale."
+ — New Yorker 24:180 D 4 '48 120w

Reviewed by J. W. Bogan
Springf'd Republican p18A Ja 16 '49 270w

WOLFSON, HARRY AUSTRYN. Philo: foundations of religious philosophy in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. 2v 462;531p $10 Harvard univ. press
181.3 Philo Judaeus 47-30635

"A new and corrective interpretation of the forces at work in Western philosophy from the close of the classical Greek period to the end of medieval thought with Spinoza is the purpose of a projected series of studies by Professor Wolfson. The first study, a general introduction to the series, is yet to appear, but two studies in later periods, one on Crescas and the other on Spinoza, have been published. Philo is the key study of the series, since it presents the Alexandrian thinker as the creator of the philosophical outlook which dominated Western thought for seventeen centuries, and which was overthrown by Spinoza." U S Quarterly Bkl

---

"We have here not only by far the best and most detailed treatise on Philo that has ever appeared but also an invaluable presentation of the subject matter of the philosophy of religion. It contains exactly what the author says it does, the foundations of religious philosophy in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam; and the challenging thesis it presents is one which will have to be taken into account by all medievalists. Professor Wolfson has made a unique contribution, which no theologian or student of intellectual history can afford to neglect." M. V. Anastos
+ Am Hist R 53:525 Ap '48 480w

"The author, who is Littauer professor of Hebrew literature and philosophy at Harvard University, should not be classified, on the strength of his academic title, as merely a specialist in Hebrew and Judeo-Arabic philosophy. Although he happens to be one of the two or three most competent authorities in that field, he is also a master of the whole philosophic tradition from antiquity to modern times. By virtue of his deep and wide learning, his knowledge of the original sources, his astonishing insight, his uncanny skill in clarifying involved problems and, above all, his creative imagination, he has been privileged to produce a masterly book on Philo, just as he was able, by the same combination of rare intellectual gifts, to produce a masterly book on Spinoza [Book Review Digest 1934]." Ralph Marcus
+ Christian Century 64:1484 D 3 '47 950w

Reviewed by A. G. Widgery
Ethics 58:147 Ja '48 1950w

Reviewed by W. R. Inge
Hibbert J 46:371 Jl '48 1250w

Reviewed by G. R. Stephenson
N Y Times p33 F 29 '48 490w

Reviewed by H. W. Kallen
+ Sat R of Lit 31:18 F 21 '48 900w

Times [London] Lit Sup p269 My 15 '48 2100w

"Students of Philo, of Pauline and Johannine theology, historians of philosophy—and especially those who have a special concern with the so-called medieval synthesis as it matured in Thomism—will find this study invaluable, illuminating, and provocative."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:346 D '47 550w

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION (periodical). Garden book for all sections of the United States and Canada; written by fifty horticultural specialists; ed. by John C. Wister; assisted by Harry Wood [and others]. 1024p il pl maps $4.95 Doubleday
635.9 Gardening

A comprehensive handbook on gardening in the United States and Canada, written by fifty horticultural specialists. Includes bibliographies, a glossary, brief biographical material on the authors, and an index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '48

"The most informative and smoothly flowing unit of its type that has come to this reviewer's notice in a long, long time. It is doubtful if any prior attempt to treat within two covers the whole field of gardening in all parts of North America has been nearly so adequately planned and executed. Certainly none has been as well balanced, helpful and easy to use." R. S. Lemmon
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p14 F 15 '48 270w

"The Woman's Home Companion Garden Book has much general, practical, concise information on cultural practices which would be of use to gardeners all over the country. However, its emphasis on plants suitable for the eastern and midwestern states will limit its usefulness except in those areas. For this reason it is recommended for general library use in the Middle West and eastern states only."
+ — Subscription Bks Bul 19:55 Jl '48 650w

WONDERLAND of knowledge; the new pictorial encyclopedia; Gordon J. Laing, chairman, editorial board; Harry O. Gillet and Roderick M. Grant, associate editors. 14v $62.95; to libraries and schools $52.95 for v. 1-12. v. 13 and 14 optional for $10.50 Publishers productions, 6 N. Michigan blvd, Chicago
031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries

"The Wonderland of Knowledge was first published in 1937-38 and was reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, July 1939. The publishers have revised the set with each of several printings. . . The first twelve volumes are arranged alphabetically and cover the whole field of knowledge from the standpoint of a child of elementary school age, or a little older. In addition, a thirteenth volume devoted to Hobbies and a fourteenth, entitled Guideposts to Knowledge, are optional purchases. Pronunciation of difficult entry words is given with about one word in five respelled. These pronunciations follow Webster closely. Articles are brief but not too condensed." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"A lack of consistent editorial supervision is apparent throughout the work. . . Some articles contain misinformation. . . The allotment of space to the various subject fields may be questioned. . . Revisions in this edition have been spotty, owing largely to the offset printing process which makes it necessary to replate an entire printing form consisting of several pages whenever one small change is made. . . Volume 13, the Hobbies volume, is essentially unchanged from the earlier edition. . . The guide book (volume 14) entitled Guideposts to Knowledge, is in no sense an index, though it does contain many cross references and all the bibliographies the set affords. . . Such maps as are to be found are few, small, and difficult to locate. . . The set badly needs an index, and more and better cross references. . . The inadequate revisions, lack of consistent editorial supervision, maps and cross references, poor paper and binding, make this 1947 printing of The Wonderland of Knowledge a doubtful purchase. It is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 19:35 Ap '48 1800w

WOOD, BENJAMIN DE KALBE, and HAEFNER, RALPH. Measuring and guiding individual growth; il. by Joseph Paige. 535p $4.60 Silver

371.42 Educational measurements. Personnel service in education 48-748

Presents in the form of fictionalized dialog and a progressive slant "three interrelated phases of education: individual differences, measuring instruments, and guidance." Index.

"The authors are well aware of the shortcomings of presenting the material through discussions and admit the possibility of oversimplification and the omission of scientific facts. Despite these shortcomings both the classroom teacher and the student teacher will find much of the material applicable to their particular situations. Measuring and Guiding Individual Growth is an interesting and valuable volume for the teacher, administrator, and layman. The guidance specialist will find it a useful reference in emphasizing the need for individual guidance with teachers, parents, and others." Gertrude Boyd

+ — El School J 49:304 Ja '49 380w

"A sugar-coated approach to some phases of educational psychology. . . The factual content may be relied upon for accuracy, since the senior author has been active for more than two decades in one aspect of measurement or the other. For those interested in using the book in classes in tests and measurements, let it be remarked that it appears too easy for college students and too difficult for high-school pupils. Perhaps it may be best utilized for reading by parents or school-board members who would like to know what all this 'education business' is about, without having to wade through reams of professional double-talk." W. W. Brickman

+ — School & Society 68:221 S 25 '48 190w

"A useful publication for the average classroom teacher and student teacher. It is less useful for the specialist in the field of guidance." Eleanor Volberding

+ — School R 56:492 O '48 1050w

WOOD, JAMES PLAYSTED, ed. One hundred years ago; American writing of 1848. (Centenary ser. in American literature) 596p il $5 Funk

810.8 American literature—Collections

Second volume in the Centenary Series in American Literature. It is an anthology of excerpts from the American literature of the year 1848, chosen to show the trends of American writing and thinking just a century ago. Partial contents: Civil disobedience, by H. D. Thoreau; The revolutions in Europe, by C. A. Dana; Crockett's 1848 Almanac; The vision of Sir Launfal, by J. R. Lowell; Twelfth annual report of the Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education, by Horace Mann; The poetic principle, by E. A. Poe; The mysteries and miseries of New York, by Ned Buntline; Fourth annual message to Congress, 1848, by J. K. Polk.

"A book for study groups and colleges."

Kirkus 16:471 S 1 '48 150w

"Readers with a liking for historical reflection will find this a useful anthology for the study of creative activity and popular taste a century ago." H. W. Hart

+ Library J 73:1594 N 1 '48 100w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

San Francisco Chronicle p22 N 25 '48 750w

WOOD, LAURA NEWBOLD (MRS CROSBY ROPER). Louis Pasteur. 218p il $2.75 Messner

B or 92 Pasteur, Louis 48-6495

Biography of Louis Pasteur, written for older boys and girls. The study emphasizes his contribution to medical and industrial research. Brief bibliography. Index.

Booklist 44:357 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:282 Jl '48 110w

"Compact, solid, in the main absorbing, with just enough fictionalization to fill out the bare spots without being presumptuous about it."

+ Kirkus 16:112 Mr 1 '48 120w

"Recommended." Mary Strang

+ Library J 73:660 Ap 15 '48 100w

"This is a carefully written book. Pasteur's scientific work is described in detail—so much so that those who are unfamiliar with or little interested in chemistry may find parts of the book difficult reading. But for those young people who are truly interested in science this book will be a real find." R. A. Brown

+ — N Y Times p31 Je 6 '48 200w

Wis Lib Bul 44:136 Je '48

WOOD, SALLY CALKINS. Death in Lord Byron's room. 247p $2.50 Morrow

48-6730

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe

Chicago Sun Je 25 '48 90w

Kirkus 16:157 Mr 15 '48 70w

"Miss Wood, author of 'Murder of a Novelist' and translator of French Resistance poetry, swings a neat Secret Service tale, polite and exciting in the right places." Will Cuppy

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 My 23 '48 170w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p32 My 23 '48 130w

"Rewardingly plush and plushly rewarding." E. D. Doyle

+ San Francisco Chronicle p24 Je 6 '48 100w

"Average."

Sat R of Lit 31:32 My 22 '48 40w

WOODBURY, DAVID OAKES. Battlefronts of industry; Westinghouse in World war II. 342p il $3.50 Wiley

355.26 Industrial mobilization (for war). Westinghouse electric corporation 48-7725

"Dramatic story of Westinghouse at war. Tells of the ingenuity of engineers and scientists in overcoming great problems, of the application of mass production techniques to war machines, and the wartime speed used for the completion of the work." (Library J) Index.

"The writer has succeeded in giving a live and impressive picture of the accomplishments during World War II of just one representative of the Goliath of American industry. We can sum up our review in simply stating 'Well done.'" A. V. Grosse

+ Chem & Eng N 26:3514 N 22 '48 470w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:1282 S 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:61 Jl '48

WOODBURY, GEORGE. John Goffe's mill; il. by Arthur Conrad. 245p $3 Norton

917.428 Country life. Water mills 48-7546

At the beginning of their married life Mr. Woodbury and his wife were both working at the Peabody Museum at Harvard, as anthropologist and statistician respectively. But then circumstances forced them to retire to ancestral properties in New Hampshire and there they built on the site of the old mill, a water mill first for sawing wood, then for milling grain.

"There is a simple, natural quality in his miller's career which every hard-driven pavement-thumper will envy. He works hard and his prose shows it, but the point is he's happy." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 182:102 S '48 240w

Booklist 44:379 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Chicago Sun p6X Ag 29 '48 450w

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 24 '48 410w

WOODBURY, GEORGE—Continued

Commonweal 48:482 Ag 27 '48 130w

+ Kirkus 16:327 Jl 1 '48 120w

"Good writing serves as a fine medium for expressing author's thoughts on living by one's own initiative and to delineate the high regard in which he holds the native craftsmen who showed him the way. Recommended." M. P. McKay

+ Library J 73:1088 Ag '48 140w

"It is the manner of telling which sets this book head and shoulders above the general run of 'We Fled to the Country' accounts that have been spilling from the presses. Mr. Woodbury has a deep respect for old machines and tools and is skilled in restoring them to work. He has a high regard for the power of the hands. His valiant and sane approach to deep country living, his mastery of words and quick humor find their closest counterpart in the writings of H. J. Massingham, the brilliant defender of England's rural past. Without apology 'John Goffe's Mill' can be set beside Massingham's 'The Wisdom of the Fields.' And that is as high a compliment as one countryman writer can pay to another." Richardson Wright

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p1 Ag 22 '48 800w

"This is a very pleasant and readable book, a sort of 'Garretson Chronicle' taken from real life, every bit as interesting in its way as its imaginative counterpart." E. B. Garside

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 29 '48 500w

"A clear and candid account, stressing the technical aspects of running a mill and avoiding the archly humorous."

+ New Yorker 34:71 Ag 28 '48 160w

San Francisco Chronicle p24 S 26 '48 320w

"A good book—a very good book indeed. . . His book is, in short, the maturely considered, excellently written record of the accomplishments and reflections of one man who became his own boss and is glad he did. All he is after in his book is to tell the story of what he calls his 'industrial counterrevolution' and tell it as well as he can." J. H. Jackson

+ San Francisco Chronicle p18 O 6 '48 750w

"This is a sound, honest, and humorous book; and any deficiency in literary finish is compensated for by its integrity. There isn't a false note in it. There is no sentimentality, no reference to the mill's past or present usefulness which is not the result of good common sense." C. P. Rollins

+ Sat R of Lit 31:20 Ag 28 '48 450w

Reviewed by E. H. Dexter

Springf'd Republican p10B N 21 '48 350w

Wis Lib Bul 44:184 N '48

WOODCOCK, FREDERIC LINCOLN. Design of metal cutting tools. 406p $5 McGraw

621.9 Metal cutting. Tools 48-6798

"Rules, formulas, and general information for the engineer, tool designer, and draftsman on the design of metal-cutting tools, covering punches, drills, hobs, dies, reamers and broaches. Practical point of view." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 44:364 Jl 1 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 73:482 Mr 15 '48 60w

"Many years of experience in tool design are evident in this new manual. The expected descriptions of types and uses of tools are here, but there are in addition many bits of practical information that are invaluable but usually must be learned by experience."

+ N Y New Tech Bks 33:42 My '48

WOODS, WILLIAM HOWARD. Street of Seven Monks. 309p $2.75 Little

48-903

Novel describing a French composer's travels from a German concentration camp near Dresden to his home on the Street of Seven Monks in a town of the Haute-Savoie. The scene shifts from time to time to his home describing events taking place there after the German surrender.

Booklist 44:249 Mr 15 '48

Reviewed by Emmett Dedmon

Chicago Sun F 19 '48 500w

"There's terror and violence and hate and fear—and beauty too. Wonderful story telling—perceptive creation."

+ Kirkus 15:682 D 15 '47 180w

" 'The Street of Seven Monks' is Mr. Woods's second novel and enhances the reputation he won with 'The Edge of Darkness' as a writer of unusual literary and human perception. To many readers it will convey in a very real sense not merely the suffering of war, but the anguish of humanity." Herbert Kupferberg

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 F 15 '48 700w

"It is a temptation to praise this second novel by William Woods beyond its weight, there is so much good in it. The powerful but not hasty pace it keeps; its well lit characters; its tempered prose; its solid texture; and the sense it holds of the dilemmas, apathies and disasters that, on the heels of war, invade the peace. 'The Street of Seven Monks' is good reading, but not at the level one is led to anticipate from the first ten pages." A. S. M.

+ — N Y Times p14 F 29 '48 600w

"An absorbing novel, turned out with craftsmanship of a high order."

+ New Yorker 23:97 F 21 '48 120w

"Despite a tendency toward verbosity, Mr. Woods does have a facility for writing which becomes apparent when he is describing action. . . [He] could conceivably write an exciting, fast-moving adventure story, but when he ventures into subtleties of human motivation and questions of deep philosophical portent, he goes too deep—and the deeper he goes, the darker his novel becomes." Gilman Ostrander

San Francisco Chronicle p12 Mr 7 '48 500w

"Mr. Woods has a sure sense of the dramatic; the events of his novel are well-paced and expertly controlled. . . He is an experienced craftsman; he tells a good story and one that doesn't dawdle by the wayside. This may, in fact, be a confining specialty, for as a moralist Mr. Woods is nothing if not confusing." E. L. McKitrick

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:28 F 21 '48 700w

Wis Lib Bul 44:83 Ap '48

WOODWARD, STANLEY WINGATE. Adventure in marine painting. 100p il $6 Watson-Guptill

758.2 Painting 48-520

"Contributor to American Artist, noted painter of Rockport, Mass., explains methods, and demonstrates in five steps, the painting of turbulent surf and rugged rocks of Massachusetts shore. Discussion of tools, sketching, moonlight, hurricane, skies, waves, and rocks; black and white reproductions of famous paintings by Winslow Homer, Paul Dougherty, Frederick Waugh and Charles Woodbury supplement the author-artist's words and pictures." Library J

Booklist 44:365 Jl 1 '48

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '48

"Useful for those who want the how-to-do-it books." A. S. Plaut

Library J 73:710 My 1 '48 80w

WOOLF, VIRGINIA (STEPHEN) (MRS LEONARD SIDNEY WOOLF). Common reader; first and second series. combined ed 332,295p $4 Harcourt

824 English literature—History and criticism 48-6113

A collection of literary essays, published first as two books: one in 1925, the other in 1932.

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 181:112 Mr '48 360w

Booklist 44:317 My 15 '48

"Two volumes whose luster seems not at all to have dimmed since they were first published." Denham Sutcliffe

+ Christian Science Monitor p15 O 28 '48 410w

Reviewed by Vivian Mercier

+ Commonweal 48:266 Je 25 '48 130w

Reviewed by John Farrelly

New Repub 118:20 Ap 26 '48 900w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

N Y Times p1 Mr 21 '48 750w

"The republication of the two series of 'The Common Reader' will be welcomed by Virginia Woolf's admirers. The common reader, Mrs. Woolf maintains, differs from the scholar and the critic. He reads for his pleasure, creating for himself 'out of whatever odds and ends he can come by,' the portrait of a man or of an age or even a theory of the art of writing."

+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ap 18 '48 200w

"'The Common Reader' is pleasantly full of intelligent, stimulating, and loving talk about writers, books, and readers, and pleasantly empty of the sort of pseudo-scientific criticism that is, in our unhappy generation, being produced so solemnly by writers who have no more genuine affection for literature than vivisectionists have for white mice." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Ap 10 '48 200w

Time 51:104 Ap 5 '48 170w

WOOLF, VIRGINIA (STEPHEN) (MRS LEONARD SIDNEY WOOLF). The moment, and other essays. 240p $3 Harcourt

824 48-6114

"This book is a collection of miscellaneous literary essays, including a number of reviews, consisting of both published and unpublished material gathered together after the author's death." Canadian Forum

Reviewed by C. J. Rolo

Atlantic 181:112 My '48 360w

Booklist 44:279 Ap 15 '48

"It makes very agreeable reading, but indicates that Virginia Woolf was as minor a figure in criticism as she was a major one in the novel. . . Although words like 'subtlety' and 'delicacy' spring to mind first in connection with her, these qualities are, as they should be, the results of a great imaginative energy and vigorous craftsmanship. But in these essays the subtlety and delicacy exist by themselves, and so, one is rather disconcerted to note, they often have exactly the qualities that a reader who disliked her novels would expect to find." Northrop Frye

+ — Canadian Forum 27:284 Mr '48 600w

Reviewed by Eric Forbes-Boyd

Christian Science Monitor p13 F 21 '48 600w

Christian Science Monitor p13 My 1 '48 700w

Reviewed by Vivian Mercier

Commonweal 48:265 Je 25 '48 300w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 30 '48 100w

Reviewed by John Farrelly

New Repub 118:20 Ap 26 '48 900w

Reviewed by V. S. Pritchett

New Statesman & Nation 34:511 D 27 '47 1900w

"The pieces included were not taken in the order in which they were written, nor for likeness of subject matter, but 'as representing the different types' of her shorter works. They fill that specification admirably, with subjects ranging over several centuries in time, from Spenser's 'Faery Queen' to American fiction of the nineteen twenties, and personalities as widely different as Harriette Wilson, Lewis Carroll, Edmund Gosse and Ellen Terry. . . In effect, she shows the reader through a library and picture gallery in a stately English country seat, pointing out with easy courtesy the more notable portraits, the most attractive landscapes, with just enough information to 'place' them." Isabel Paterson

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p3 Mr 28 '48 950w

"It has often been remarked of Virginia Woolf that she was a commentator on literature rather than a critic, more an antiquarian than a literary analyst. Now, as we read not only the old essays with which we are already familiar but also the majority of the new ones in 'The Moment,' this judgment is firmly supported. There is no question but that Mrs. Woolf was at her best, and that her best was superlative of its kind, when she was dealing with little-known figures of the past whom she could re-create out of scraps of letter and journal, out of a remembered morsel of talk here and a flash of scene there, rather than when she attempted to take the full meaning of the work of an established author." Diana Trilling

+ N Y Times p1 Mr 21 '48 1450w

"If the novels of Virginia Woolf may have to rest a few years before we can settle down to their reënjoyment, this is not the case with her essays and criticism. These are lighter and easier than her fiction, and they exude information and pleasure rather than tragedy and distress." Cyril Connolly

+ New Yorker 24:116 Ap 10 '48 1450w

San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ap 18 '48 300w

"There is no severe classicism in Virginia Woolf's writing. It is very intimate. But it is writing; and, if critical 'writing' may be separated from 'perception,' as good as critical writing can be. No one living has equaled it, has so made the prose of criticism into luminescent art." Marjorie Brace

+ Sat R of Lit 31:22 Mr 27 '48 700w

Reviewed by D. S. Savage

Spec 179:778 D 19 '47 380w

"Unlike so many American critics who seem intent on smothering the readers with erudition, Virginia Woolf wrote as if she were conversing with friends. To read her essays at one sitting is too much of a good thing; they then seem a bit boneless and soft, their smoothness too consistently stylized. But taken one at a time, as they were written to be read, they are rare works of art, and establish one of the most pleasurable of human relationships: warm kinship between civilized writer and reader."

+ Time 51:104 Ap 5 '48 240w

"It is pleasant indeed that a writer who was so much admired during her lifetime, and who died so prematurely, should still have unpublished works for our delight and should still excite the interest and curiosity of intelligent critics. . . It was improbable that a new volume of essays should alter our conception of Virginia Woolf's talent; it provides a simple addition to the total pleasure she has given us, and not a new element in it. Most of all, perhaps, it recalls to us that she was among the wittiest writers of our time, with a wit which was all perception and never mere verbal felicity."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p80 F 7 '48 600w

"Some of Mrs. Woolf's tastes are old-fashioned, she admires Stevenson's style, for instance, and a good many of her essays suggest that she has been influenced by his rather self-conscious and labored felicity. 'On Being Ill' is as Stevensonian an essay as one could find outside of Stevenson. But the longest and probably the most penetrating of the critical essays, 'The Leaning Tower,' being a paper written for a popular audience, is entirely free from this self-conscious phrasing. It offers a shrewd historical explanation, along with a judgment which may well anticipate that of posterity, of some of the poets of the last twenty years." H. E. Woodbridge

+ — Yale R n s 37:732 summer '48 550w

WOOLLEY, CATHERINE. Ginnie and Geneva; il. by Iris Beatty Johnson. 191p $2 Morrow

48-3295

Story of two little girls in grade 4B, from the first day of school until the end of the winter term.

Booklist 45:17 S 1 '48

WOOLLEY, CATHERINE—Continued

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p4 N 16 '48 130w

"The writing is simple and sincere and the children are natural and well drawn with suitable and lifelike pictures." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:370 S '48 90w

Kirkus 16:281 Je 15 '48 90w

"Book is slight but charming and the happy family and school relationships will appeal to girls between 8 and 10." Judith Stevenson
Library J 73:1099 Ag '48 80w

"Planting moral views (excessive teasing is bad; consideration for others is good) and practical advice (how to open a book, how to pursue a hobby) in short sentences of simplest vocabulary, the author produces a story which the 7-to-9-year-old can read, enjoy and apply with no trouble." S. C. Gross
+ N Y Times p17 Ag 22 '48 150w

"A charming, instructive and sometimes amusing story. . . The book is attractively illustrated with sketches by Iris Beatty Johnson." E. A. F.
+ Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 22 '48 180w

Wis Lib Bul 44:151 S '48

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (GEORGE HOPLEY, WILLIAM IRISH, pseuds). Dead man blues. 224p $2.50 Lippincott
48-5760

Collection of stories about murders and gangsters and one straight detective story.

"I'd guess that only the most devoted admirers would read all of it." James Sandoe
— Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 My 2 '48 120w

"The short stories in this collection are all of such superlative quality that one hesitates to select any one of them as the best. Our own favorite is 'Fire Escape.'" Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p21 Mr 14 '48 150w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 25 '48 40w

"Good collection."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:34 Mr 13 '48 40w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (GEORGE HOPLEY, WILLIAM IRISH, pseuds). I married a dead man. (Story press bk) 254p $2.75 Lippincott
48-7768

Detective story.

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 Ag 29 '48 170w

"Mr. Irish has given another happy demonstration, as in 'The Phantom Lady,' that a good, dramatic idea can exist for its own sake in a book, and not just as a come-on to the big movie money. This work of his is a fascinating experience." H. B. P.
+ N Y Times p27 S 26 '48 140w

"Probably only loyal admirers of Mr. Irish's work will think much of the dénouement."
New Yorker 24:112 S 11 '48 110w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p23 S 26 '48 110w

Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 11 '48 40w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (GEORGE HOPLEY, WILLIAM IRISH, pseuds). Rendezvous in black. 273p $2 Rinehart
48-241

Detective story.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Chicago Sun Mr 19 '48 110w

"For sensational rather than stricter tastes in crime fiction."
Kirkus 16:35 Ja 15 '48 80w

"Highest marks for a gripping, intelligent and beautifully plotted job." E. H.
+ New Repub 118:33 My 17 '48 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p24 My 9 '48 50w

"As macabre a story as it has ever been our privilege to read." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p30 Mr 28 '48 270w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p17 Ap 18 '48 20w

"Absorbing tour de force."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:44 Mr 20 '48 40w

WORLD book encyclopedia; ed. by J. Morris Jones. 19v 1947 ed il pl maps $102 Quarrie
031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries
47-1542

"The last previous Subscription Books Bulletin review of the World Book appeared in the October 1943 issue [Book Review Digest 1943]. The 1943 printing was compared with the 1947 printing in the preparation of the present review. The current printing of the World Book incorporates extensive revisions in subject matter and illustrative material, necessitated by the tremendous changes brought about by World War II. In planning this revision the publishers report that they have made extensive educational surveys and have examined current school courses of study to determine students' reference needs. The reflection of present-day educational trends and the close correlation with the school curricula in the subject matter of the set seem to substantiate this statement. Many outstanding educators, scientists and writers are included among the contributors and advisers listed in volume one. . . There is a strong reflection of our changing interests in the new material. . . Material has been brought up to date in many fields. . . The frequent bibliographies are well chosen and up to date and include short descriptive annotations." Subscription Bks Bul

"Although it is planned as a source of information for youngsters in school, it can be, and often is, consulted by grown-up citizens, among whom I range myself." D. C. Fisher
+ Atlantic 180:122 Ag '47 2650w

"If you have children in whose development you are interested, it will pay you to take the trouble to look through one of these sets. We believe you will be impressed not only by the way it has utilized the advances in mechanical reproduction and visual organization of material, but also in the way it reflects psychological progress—its manner of presenting with a beautiful clarity information you have always considered distressingly complex. Aside from the real contribution which it is bound to make in the education of the coming generation, as a sustained ideal of the human intellect brought to a reality, it is likely to give you fresh courage about the possibilities that can lie ahead for your boys and girls in the difficult world they are destined to face." J. W. Rogers
+ Chicago Sun p8 Je 29 '47 750w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Commonweal 49:285 D 24 '48 400w

"In preparation for this edition the World Book staff made exceptionally complete studies of school curricula all over the nation as a basis on which to build anew. From such studies they selected the subjects most often needed by elementary school pupils, such as nature study, and wrote them with the simplest vocabulary and sentence structure. Other material, which seldom enters courses of study until the upper high school grades, literary biographies, for example, are written with a much more mature vocabulary and sentence structure. . . Another thing I like about the new World Book is the complete and easily usable key to authors. Incidentally the greatly increased list of contributors contains names of the highest authority." E. I. Hill

+ Horn Bk 23:348 S '47 1450w

"The scientific detail necessary for thorough presentation of such topics as food and nutrition has been reported in a nontechnical style. The material is easily understandable by the general reader who may not have had home economics training. The volumes are printed in clear and readable type on good quality paper. They are freely illustrated with excellent pictures and drawings." Ata Lee

+ J Home Econ 39:658 D '47 270w

"The editors cannot be too highly praised for the high caliber of the revision, research and writing that have gone into making the 1947 World Book an excellent encyclopedia for young and old alike." E. A. Groves

+ Library J 72:1770 D 15 '47 1700w

"It is practically impossible for an older member of the family to read one item and stop. As for school children or high school student the information is so briskly and swiftly furnished and so freely pictured that looking things up is exciting. There is an extra guide volume that is a sort of super-index." M. L. Becker

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Je 20 '48 190w

"The sum of $2,000,000 ought to be able to give any book, or any set of books, the new look. Apparently, that is what the publishers of The World Book Encyclopedia intended—to give the 1947 edition a brand-new form and a brand-new content—and have remarkably succeeded. Of the 18,000 illustrations, for example 16,000 are new. The extent of the revision, and the addition of new subjects, is considerable too. Above all, it has not permitted the Britannica a monopoly on first-rate writers and authorities. . . The editors have done a neat job of allowing personal textures to appear within the impersonal structures of the articles, and yet have managed to avoid (or suppress) those polysyllabic terms typical of encyclopedists." Harvey Breit

+ N Y Times p11 D 21 '47 600w

"The World Book Encyclopedia is excellent for libraries, whether public, school or home. Fortunate the parent as well as the child who has so modern and up-to-the minute a source to turn to, to answer Whys, Hows and Whats. Many a father whose field is other than nuclear physics will be relieved to have an authority like John J. O'Neill, science editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, explain atomic energy to Jimmie." Eleanor Breed

+ San Francisco Chronicle p13 D 19 '48 850w

Sat R of Lit 31:20 Ag 14 '48 320w

"For children this set is a veritable illustrated treasure chest and for the grown-up it contains many an hour of entertaining and beneficial reading." W. H. Rudkin

+ Springf'd Republican p8B D 21 '47 650w

"The World Book is a family encyclopedia and while especially geared to the upper elementary and high school level, many articles will also interest adults. The material is presented in simple, factual manner and the reading level is adapted to the grade at which the subject is likely to be taught. A policy has been followed of writing the early part of a long article on a low reading level and introducing the more difficult concepts later. . . The format of the set is excellent. The paper is durable, the print clear and well spaced and the margins adequate. The World Book follows its established pattern with many improvements on the features of the 1943 printing. Outstanding are the format, the excellent illustrative material and the thoroughness of revision. Other important changes are the adaptation of reading level to anticipated grade use and the increased stress on correlation with school curricula. The World Book is recommended for the home, for public libraries, and for school libraries. The current revision will be a useful replacement in libraries having the 1943 or earlier printings."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 18:57 O '47 1100w

WORLD flag encyclopedia. 128p $2; pa $1 United Nations honor flag comm, 703 Albee bldg, Washington 5, D.C.

929.9 Flags 48-3416

"A description of all world and regional flags. The proceeds are dedicated to the promotion of international good will." School & Society

School & Society 68:160 S 4 '48 20w

Springf'd Republican p7B S 19 '48 130w

WORLD-SCOPE encyclopedia; the new universal encyclopedia of the world [ed-in-chief: William Hendelson] 12v il maps $59.90 Universal educ.

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 48-19214

"The 1947 edition of this set was reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, October 1947 and July 1947. In April 1932 the Progressive Reference Library, on which the earlier edition was based, was reviewed. Though it is not customary for the Subscription Books Committee to review editions of encyclopedias at less than five year intervals, the very extensive revisions claimed for this 1948 edition have caused the committee to reconsider it at this time. World Scope Encyclopedia, edited by William H. Hendelson, is planned as a moderate-priced home reference work to serve high-school students and mature readers. It is written in popular style and has emphasized inclusion of recent information. Articles are unsigned, but the publisher states that major ones are written by experts in special fields. A lengthy list of 'Editors, Contributors and Consultants, Sources of Information and Correspondents' includes officials of chambers of commerce and other organizations from whom information was obtained as well as from professors and other experts." Subscription Bks Bul

"Newest of the 'popular' encyclopedias that manage to be both reasonably inclusive and reasonably close to the average reader's literary budget, 'World Scope Encyclopedia' is a happy blend of erudition and readability, a sound buy for that same reader's money. . . More than a word should be said for the format of this reference work: it is easy on both the eye and hand and its pictorial layouts, though grainy here and there (a failing shared by more expensive encyclopedias) are admirable comment on the text. . . 'World Scope' is frankly intended for general reference work, with especial value to students of high school age. No less frankly, the editors have slanted their material, and especially their art layouts, for wide appeal." James MacBride

+ — N Y Times p20 F 22 '48 750w

"Much readable up-to-date information is to be found in the World Scope. New articles have been written on the Atomic Theory and Atomic Energy, DDT, biographies of Oppenheimer, Urey and others. There are good articles on the International Labour Organization, International Monetary Fund, and United Nations (though the latter states that 'the Trusteeship Council is the only organ of the United Nations not yet set up'; actually, it held its first session March 23, 1947). A good many entries for authors have been added and others rewritten to make them more readable and informative. . . Inaccurate and inadequate articles still appear, though many of the ones criticized in the earlier reviews have been corrected. . . Several mistakes appear in the table of Nobel prize winners. . . Rather important information is omitted from some articles; for example . . . under Ocean there is no mention of the Antarctic but Oceania, in another article, is defined as 'lying between Asia, the Indian Ocean, the Antarctic Ocean, and North and South America.' . . The 1948 edition includes an article on World War II which covers very well the events leading up to the war and carries the narrative to Pearl Harbor. The textual account of the progress of the war ends there and the story is continued only in a section of pictures, chronologically arranged to illustrate outstanding events. These pictures are selected from the larger pictorial section of 1947. . . Comparison of the 1948 with the 1947 edition shows that a great deal of revision has been done. . . The rewritten or added scientific articles are more thorough and complete than those in the earlier edition. However, a great many entries for plants, minerals, and other natural phenomena are still no more than dictionary definitions. In many cases dictionary coverage, with accompanying line drawings, are actually better than those in World Scope. . . The 1948 edition of World Scope is a great improvement over the 1947 edition. It shows evidence of care in preparation of new articles and in revision of others, but so much was needed to make it accurate and up-to-date that errors and many inadequacies still exist. The publisher says that continuous revision is in progress and that each new printing will include changes. . . It has much material to make it helpful for casual, quick reference in a home where a more complete encyclopedia cannot be afforded, but would-be home purchasers should be sure they would be satisfied with its rather sketchy coverage before investing. It is not thorough or complete enough for library use and cannot be recommended for that purpose."

WORLD-SCOPE encyclopedia—Continued
— + Subscription Bks Bul 19:67 O '48 1650w

WORLEY, WILLIAM. My dead wife. 248p $2 Simon & Schuster
48-4957

Detective story.

"Terrance's persisting affection for the corpse and his rapid conquest of two other ladies strains credibility two ways. But the adventure is active enough to keep on at it to the final thud and clinch." James Sandoe
+ — Chicago Sun D 10 '48 160w

Kirkus 16:561 O 15 '48 70w

"Frank, who spins the tale, does not always practice what he preaches as a former teacher of English, 'Just say what you have to say, the simplest way you can.' His use of rubber-stamp whodunit prose mars an otherwise promising riddle." Will Cuppy
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 D 26 '48 180w

"It is an absorbing tale of a man's fumbling efforts to free himself from a peril which does not actually exist." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p11 D 26 '48 180w

"Neatly assembled."
+ New Yorker 24:120 D 18 '48 80w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p24 D 12 '48 210w

Sat R of Lit 31:30 D 18 '48 40w

Springf'd Republican p8B Ja 9 '49 100w

WORTH, KATHRYN (MRS W. C. CURRY). Sea change [il. by Marguerite de Angeli]. 240p $2.25 Doubleday
48-7578

"The story of a sensitive, imaginative girl who is a misfit in a family that is ultra-conservative, limited in outlook, and definitely snobbish. The scene is the coast of the Carolinas and the time the latter half of the nineteenth century." (Sat R of Lit) For girls of 12-16.

Reviewed by B. J. Thompson
Cath World 168:218 D '48 110w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold
Christian Science Monitor p7 Ja 27 '49 210w

"There are excellent descriptions of sea and shore, marred now and again by irritating artificialities of style, stilted dialogue. But not a book to be ignored. The author has attempted a difficult job and almost succeeded."
+ — Kirkus 16:256 Je 1 '48 210w

"The problem of religious prejudice has been introduced as a background for this story, but the approach seems sentimental and adds very little to religious tolerance. Writing, characterization and plot structure are weak and artificial. . . Limited appeal." H. M. Brogan
Library J 73:1100 Ag '48 80w

"The author handles the question of religious and social prejudice interestingly and, without moralizing, points up the bitter and baseless intolerances tight around us today. There is a lot of fine background, too." Margaret Ernst
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 29 '48 190w

Reviewed by V. H. Mathews
N Y Times p12 Ag 1 '48 180w

"The theme of religious prejudice is 'dragged in.' But the social atmosphere is real, and Kristy's love story is an appealing one."
+ — Sat R of Lit 31:37 Ag 14 '48 90w

Wis Lib Bul 44:168 O '48

WOSTREL, JOHN FRANK, and PRAETZ, JOHN GEORGE. Household electric refrigeration; including gas absorption system. 2d ed 458p $4.50 McGraw

621.56 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 48-1390

"This edition is expanded to include details and service information on machines introduced since the first edition in 1938. Includes information on installation, testing, servicing, adjusting, and the construction of many of the most popular makes. Also covers basic principles of electric refrigerators. Should be useful in most libraries." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest 1938.

Booklist 44:356 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 72:1618 N 15 '47 40w

WOUK, HERMAN. City boy; the adventures of Herbie Bookbinder and his cousin, Cliff. 306p $2.95 Simon & Schuster
48-3810

The story of an eleven-year-old Bronx school boy, named Herbie Bookbinder. Herbie's adventures in public school, at home, and at summer camp are recounted for adults.

Reviewed by W. K. Rugg
Christian Science Monitor p9 S 2 '48 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 D '48

"A tragi-comedy of youngsters, understandingly, amusingly, entertainingly presented, with enough bite in the interpolations of the adult world against which they carry on incessant warfare, to keep it from a too humorous approach."
+ Kirkus 16:291 Je 15 '48 200w

"Mr. Wouk was born in New York and obviously in much of 'The City Boy' he is writing from memory. It is an excellent memory, and, combined with a mature sense of humor, builds a sharp, light-hearted picture of public school life in the Bronx twenty years ago." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ag 29 '48 750w

"In his new novel, 'The City Boy,' Herman Wouk looks back before the war and with gentle humor conjures up the last summer of the Coolidge era as it was spent by a small, fat and thoroughly likable little boy from the Bronx. His book makes delightful reading. . . For the most part Mr. Wouk has written a refreshing and thoroughly readable book." Marc Brandel
+ N Y Times p10 Ag 29 '48 470w

"Affectionately written, enormously entertaining story of a Bronx-raised kid and his adventures. And it has exactly what 'Tom Sawyer' had, with allowances for time, place and customs." J. H. Jackson
+ San Francisco Chronicle p16 Ag 25 '48 700w

"In 'The City Boy' Mr. Wouk seems to be a sort of composite of Booth Tarkington and Sinclair Lewis, more the former than the latter, and combining the worst features, in style and in thought, of both. He is not writing parody; he is deliberately using others' materials, and imitating them. In all of Herbie Bookbinder's adventures, joys, and sorrows . . . there is not one incident that has not been done before, and with more success, by the two writers mentioned above. . . There is another point, perhaps even more important. Tarkington was writing of a boyhood in an age of innocence. . . A great deal occurred between the boyhoods of Baxter and of Bookbinder. . . That Herbie's attitudes, actions, and store of information are little different from those of Penrod would indicate either that Mr. Wouk has progressed no further than Mr. Tarkington, or that he has fallen prey, willingly, to certain concepts which have no meaning, these days, save to characters in B-movies and hack fiction." R. B. Gehman

— Sat R of Lit 31:10 Ag 21 '48 800w

WRIGHT, C. W. Better speeches for all occasions. 250p $2.75 Crown
808.5 Public speaking 48-6094

"The suggestions in this book are practical, useful and suitable as the title promises for many occasions. Each type, of the twenty-four considered, has been treated in the light of several occasions. Advice is given as to the manner in which the talk may be developed. Should be very useful in many libraries." Wis Lib Bul

Booklist 44:349 Je 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '48
Wis Lib Bul 44:80 Ap '48

WRIGHT, DAVID MCCORD. Democracy and progress. 220p $3.50 Macmillan
330.15 Democracy. Economic policy 48-1365

"Outlines the general political and social standards considered essential for democratic progress, offers criticisms and suggestions regarding specific economic problems and, in conclusion, examines current economic policies in the United States in the light of these findings. Agreeing that the basic problem may be one of morals, Mr. Wright, strikes out at certain cherished beliefs of both conservatives and liberals. Fearing that an exaggerated concern for security may lead to tyranny, author decides that although the competitive economic market may not be a sufficient condition for democratic progress, it is, none the less, a necessary one." (Library J) No index.

"Although much of the volume's substance seems to the reviewer dubious, and its method of pronouncement without demonstration is far from scientific, it is eminently readable. Moreover, it provokes thought. In reading it, one writes innumerable marginal comments besides statements which it would be a pleasure to debate with the author." M. E. Oatman
+ — Am Pol Sci R 42:815 Ag '48 600w

"Well worth careful consideration by students and laymen alike. The consideration of economic principles in the light of social ideals is very welcome." Frank Paddock
+ Ann Am Acad 259:163 S '48 220w
Booklist 44:294 My 1 '48

"Throughout the book Mr. Wright manifests a reasonableness and a clarity of thinking that are disarming and convincing. He is not blind to the evils of capitalism, but while admitting the growth of cartels points out that partial private monopoly is not cured by complete governmental monopoly. That was the mistake of English capitalism." L. H. Carlson
Christian Century 65:734 Jl 21 '48 560w
Current Hist 15:103 Ag '48 30w

"A scholarly, idealistic analysis."
+ Kirkus 16:12 Ja 1 '48 130w

"An interesting controversial discursion. Recommended." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 73:335 F 15 '48 110w

"Dr. Wright's tract for the times is much more than a technical study of economic problems. It is an acute and often brilliant discussion of the political and social values involved in the ideal of a democratic society. . . But while his dissent is a salutary reminder of the complexity of the issues involved, the reasons he advances for his judgment are hardly strong enough to carry general conviction." Ernest Nagel
+ — N Y Times p3 Mr 7 '48 1000w

Reviewed by S. A. Levitan
Pol Sci Q 63:471 S '48 650w
School & Society 67:176 F 28 '48 30w

Reviewed by J. S. Schapiro
Yale R n s 38:165 autumn '48 700w

WRIGHT, MRS FRANCES (FITZPATRICK). Your loving sister, Pat Downing; il. by Suzanne C. Dodge. 206p $2.25 Rinehart
48-1036

A continuation of the story of the Downing family in the form of letters from thirteen-year-old Pat to her newly-married sister, Lucy Ellen.

"A light-headed book, amusing enough, but too, too cute; foolish, slapdash stuff by an author who has done better."
— + Kirkus 16:52 F 1 '48 130w

"Recommended as 'just for fun' reading, it might prove to be the sort of book that makes a good bridge from series books and mysteries to richer reading material." V. H. Mathews
+ N Y Times p30 Ap 25 '48 200w

WRIGHT, GORDON. Reshaping of French democracy; introd. by Paul Birdsall. 277p $3.50 Reynal
944 France—Politics and government
48-2163

"Gordon Wright, Professor of history at the University of Oregon, served in the State Department during the war and then for two years in the American Embassy in Paris. There, with an historian's objectivity, he watched at close range France's tortuous attempt to reemerge as a strong power. This book is the story of her postwar constitutional development and the birth of the Fourth Republic." (Library J) Bibliographical note. Index.

Reviewed by J. E. Sawyer
Am Hist R 54:196 O '48 360w

"A study of current events is bound to suffer from a certain lack of perspective, and the cautious historian can hardly be blamed for avoiding dangerous generalizations. Still, it is unfortunate that an otherwise excellent narrative of the postwar crisis in France should lack the scope and depth of first-rate historical writing. . . In spite of its drawbacks, perhaps inevitable in the circumstances, Dr. Wright's book is a most useful contribution to the understanding of the Fourth Republic." C. A. Micaud
+ — Am Pol Sci R 42:789 Ag '48 850w

Reviewed by R. K. Gooch
Ann Am Acad 260:181 N '48 380w
Booklist 44:335 Je 1 '48

"Mr. Wright appears somewhat over-sympathetic to De Gaulle. Although he never explicitly says so, he seems to favor for France the brand of presidential democracy which has proved itself in America but which French people would not accept. . .Nevertheless, Mr. Wright's book reveals a deep study of the problem and a sound objectivity. . . Not limiting himself to the mere study of the constitutional problem, the author shows in what atmosphere and among what difficulties the Fourth Republic was born. Viewing it in this light, he is sure that the present Constitution 'offers a framework within which the nation can work out its problems.' " C. N. Julien
+ — Cath World 167:568 S '48 740w

Reviewed by S. B. Barnes
Christian Century 65:782 Ag 4 '48 900w

WRIGHT, GORDON—Continued

"Well written and with grasp of the situation, it is absorbing to the merest amateur." Ann Hutter

+ Commonweal 48:217 Je 11 '48 160w

Current Hist 15:102 Ag '48 50w

Foreign Affairs 26:743 Jl '48 40w

"Not easy reading, but worthwhile. Some knowledge of French history is a prerequisite."

+ Kirkus 16:159 Mr 15 '48 300w

Reviewed by Harold Lancour

Library J 73:335 F 15 '48 100w

"The story of the present French Constitution—the fifteenth adopted since 1789—has been told by Professor Wright with knowledge and skill. . . To his observation of passing events he brought an understanding of French history, a comprehension of political principles, and a lively narrative style. The result is a book which deals authoritatively with a brief but significant episode of recent history. . . Professor Wright, though not incapable of irony and wit, resists the temptation, and gives to the proceedings their true meaning and much of their excitement." August Heckscher

+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p4 Ap 25 '48 700w

"Mr. Wright has written a definitely readable book and one liberally provided with epigrams in the best French tradition." D. C. McKay

+ N Y Times p5 Ap 11 '48 900w

Reviewed by S. B. Clough

Pol Sci Q 63:466 S '48 550w

"Mr. Wright who shows on every page a sympathetic understanding of the French, has wisely set his own limits. The result is a very clear analysis of the last eight years of French political history focused on the making of the constitution under which the Fourth Republic has begun life. Mr. Wright threads his way deftly through the complexities of French politics carrying even the most uninformed reader along with him. He never shows off his knowledge, never indulges in the unexplained allusion. As personalities appear, he places them neatly, summarizes their background, makes them come alive. And all this is accompanied with an unobtrusive irony which is as good-natured as irony can ever be." Crane Brinton

+ Sat R of Lit 31:23 Ap 17 '48 750w

School & Society 67:327 Ap 24 '48 10w

Reviewed by Leo Gershoy

Yale R n s 37:737 summer '48 700w

WRIGHT, JOHN KIRTLAND, and PLATT, ELIZABETH TOWER. Aids to geographical research; bibliographies, periodicals, atlases, gazetteers and other reference books. (Am geographical soc. Research ser) 2d ed rev 331p $4.50 Columbia univ. press

016.91 Geography—Bibliography 47-30449

"First published in 1923 as one of the American geographical society research series. This revised edition includes atlases and other geographical reference books and brings all the material up to date." Booklist

---

Booklist 44:251 Mr 15 '48

J Geol 56:495 S '48 130w

School & Society 66:176 Ag 30 '47 20w

"The annotations and brief explanatory notes to the items listed are unusually helpful guides, and the work provides answers to most of the general problems the serious student encounters."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 4:115 Mr '48 380w

WRIGHT, LOUIS BOOKER. Atlantic frontier; colonial American civilization, 1607-1763. 354p il $4.50; text ed $3.40 Knopf

973 U.S.—History—Colonial period. U.S.—Civilization 47-11320

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The work is remarkably free from factual misstatement of any real significance. The meticulous critic, in search of mistakes, might, however, note a few inaccuracies or inadequacies of statement. . . A fuller treatment of Roger Williams would have left the picture of his persecutors not quite so dark. If the sixth volume of L. H. Gipson's The British Empire before the American Revolution had come out a few months earlier, Dr. Wright would doubtless have modified his statement to the effect that the latest authority on Braddock's defeat (meaning Stanley Pargellis) put the blame for this disaster on Braddock's incompetence; for Gipson's account is less severe on Braddock than is Pargellis'. These inadequacies are, however, only minor shortcomings in a scholarly, well-written work of real merit." O. P. Chitwood

+ — Am Hist R 53:545 Ap '48 650w

Booklist 44:215 F 15 '48

Reviewed by R. A. Preston

Canadian Hist R 29:412 D '48 310w

"It is news of major importance when a top-flight historian prepares a history of the nation's youth for the general reader. Such a book is 'The Atlantic Frontier,' and such a historian is Louis B. Wright, Research Professor at the Huntington Library." R. A. Brown

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 22 '48 600w

Reviewed by George Soule

New Repub 117:27 D 1 '47 90w

"Because of the limitations in the approach, certain shortcomings are inevitable. One of these is the failure to explain American colonial policy in terms of world-wide imperial undertakings. To the author's credit, however, he has presented a substantial quantity of information on the important aspects of colonial history. His presentation, besides being illuminating, is also engaging. A selection of contemporary maps and scenes from the Huntington Library collection adds to the book's value for teaching purposes." W. G. Tyrrell

+ — Social Educ 12:138 Mr '48 500w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown

Social Studies 39:88 F '48 650w

"An excellent and most readable account of the founding and early vicissitudes of the North Atlantic colonies." H. T. Manning

+ Yale R n s 37:537 spring '48 1050w

WRIGHT, LYLE HENRY. American fiction, 1774-1850; a contribution toward a bibliography. rev ed 355p $6 Huntington lib.

016.813 Fiction—Bibliography 48-7773

"A list of American editions of prose fiction, including 2,772 entries, and intended as a guide rather than a complete bibliographical description. Chronological and title indexes. For large or special collections. The first edition was published in 1939 [Book Review Digest 1939]. The scope has been broadened to include fictitious biographies, travels and sketches, allegories and tract-like tales." (Booklist) Indexes.

Booklist 45:71 O 15 '48

"The changes and additions add to the usefulness of a work accepted by scholars as a detailed and accurate guide to the first seventy-five years of American fiction." H. W. Hart

+ Library J 73:1092 Ag '48 100w

WRIGHT, QUINCY, ed. World community [by] Louis Wirth [and others]. (Harris foundation lectures, 1947) 323p $5 Univ. of Chicago press

321.04 International cooperation. International relations 48-10564

"A compendium of the papers and discussion materials presented before the Twenty-Third Institute sponsored by the Harris Memorial Foundation at the University of Chicago. The main contributors to the symposium are Louis Wirth, Margaret Mead, Kenneth Boulding, Robert Angell, Harold Lasswell, and Pitman Potter. In addition, some forty other scholars and experts representing the several social science disciplines participated in the discussions." (Survey G) Index.

Booklist 45:130 D 15 '48

Current Hist 16:35 Ja '49 30w

"An excessively academic and dull symposium. . . The volume will undoubtedly be of interest to those who participated in the institute, but it is questionable whether it can have any appeal outside extremely academic circles, or whether it will further its worthy cause." C. W. W.
— + San Francisco Chronicle p17 N 28 '48 220w

"One of the most striking features of the symposium is the high seriousness and humility with which the participants confronted their task. There is a clear recognition and admission of the limitations of the various disciplines, an awareness of the contributions to the subject to be made by natural scientists, a confession of the pitfalls created by professional jargon, and a pervading sense of social as well as of professional responsibility." H. W. Hintz
+ Survey G 37:515 D '48 450w

WRIGHT, WENDELL WILLIAM. Rainbow dictionary; assisted by Helene Laird; il. by Joseph Low. 433p $3 World pub.
423 English language—Dictionaries 47-30929
For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"The Rainbow Dictionary should be a welcome addition to your bookshelf. . . This book is fun to use, just as all good reference books—be they for young or old—should be fun and stimulating as well as helpful." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p5 Ja 27 '48 180w

"The Rainbow Dictionary is not only excellent in the choice of words, but also in the definitions which are usually very skillfully handled. . . No pronunciation is indicated, but the child has heard these words constantly and perhaps needs little help in this respect. Indication of accent, however, might have been easily added, and helpful. Occasionally a definition seems unsatisfactory. . . The more than one thousand pictures by Joseph Low frequently show the meaning at a glance. . . It should be popular in children's rooms for browsing and circulation as well as for reference work with the young child. The Rainbow Dictionary is recommended for home purchase, for elementary school libraries and for children's rooms in public libraries."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 19:8 Ja '48 800w

WRITERS' CONFERENCE ON THE NORTHWEST, PORTLAND, OREGON. See Chittick, V. L. O., ed.

WUORINEN, JOHN HENRY, ed. See Finland and World war II

WYATT, MRS GERALDINE (TOLMAN). Buffalo gold; il. by E. A. Furman. 184p $2.25 Longmans
48-7374

Story of the Hull family's first years of homesteading on the Kansas Prairie in the 70's. Fifteen-year-old Anson is responsible for their success thru his friendship with the Indians, his handling of unfriendly cattle drivers and his experiment in the planting of winter wheat. For ages 8-14.

Booklist 45:38 S 15 '48

"Boys and girls who like to read about the settlement of the Midwest will enjoy the book." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:375 S '48 110w

"Interesting in content, and of particular interest to farm area readers."
+ Kirkus 16:337 Jl 15 '48 130w

"Sketchy plot and a few confusing references are helped by swift movement and good illustrations. Worthwhile for boys and girls, 8-14, who like fiction of this nature." Helen Swartz
+ — Library J 73:1097 Ag '48 70w

"This is a fine story of the American pioneer and of the good American earth." M. G. Davis
+ Sat R of Lit 31:37 O 16 '48 140w
School & Society 68:128 Ag 21 '48 20w

WYLIE, PHILIP. Crunch and Des; stories of Florida fishing. 250p $2.50 Rinehart
48-9263

Eight short stories of fishing adventures on Crunch and Des's charter boat, Poseidon. A novelette, Key Jinx, describes the two partners' difficulties in operating a fishing camp.

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48
Kirkus 16:491 S 15 '48 80w

"Highly entertaining. Excellent light reading. Recommended." R. W. Henderson
+ Library J 73:1595 N 1 '48 80w
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Ja 16 '49 130w

"Crunch and Des are old characters of Mr. Wylie. The years have not destroyed their flavor. . . It's all good fun for the reader and for those who follow game fish in waters north and south." W. B. Hayward
+ N Y Times p14 D 12 '48 420w

"Should please followers of the sport."
+ New Yorker 24:143 N 27 '48 80w

"Smooth-flowing and realistic yarns." G. S. Arnold
+ San Francisco Chronicle p3 N 28 '48 70w

WYND, OSWALD. Red sun south. 276p $3 Doubleday
48-7674

"Novel of the Japanese occupation of Singapore and its impact on two Eurasian sisters and their brother. Follows the brother to his early execution made inevitable by his weakness; Elizabeth Rennforth through her successful matronage of a civilian hospital under patronage of a Eurasian officer of the Japanese Army; and Mary in her activities as a member of a Malayan guerilla band." Library J

"Provocative, as far as it goes, but achieves less than the material might have provided in other hands. Needed in collections that aim to include the bulk of new serious fiction; otherwise skip." R. E. Kingery
Library J 73:946 Je 15 '48 140w

"Long before the end the reader will have decided that Oswald Wynd has squandered his intimate knowledge of the Japanese on a foolish, trite and rather poorly written novel."
— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 22 '48 230w

"Mr. Wynd does a brilliant job of expressing the tragic position of the Eurasian in the modern world. . . But he seems so afraid of betraying any enthusiasm or conviction about anything that there is a deadness to his book. He writes like an intelligent and over-polite visitor from another planet, or perhaps simply like an extremely reserved Englishman." M. B.
+ — N Y Times p24 S 12 '48 500w
New Yorker 34:77 Ag 21 '48 180w

"The flaw in 'Red Sun South' is that it explains instead of creating. The difficulty is sensed first in the dialogue, where people seem to be explaining things to the reader instead of talking from within. Another symptom is the way the story fails to fill up the nearly four years of history in which it is set. The total effect is as if Mr. Wynd could not quite make up his mind whether he wanted to write a fast-paced and superficial adventure story, a penetrating portrayal of the Eurasian dilemma, or a journal of life under Japanese occupation. Yet when all these things have been said the book does succeed in recreating the nightmare quality of the years of occupation, and in rendering a picture of what we were fighting in the Orient." Bradford Smith
— + Sat R of Lit 31:28 Jl 24 '48 650w

WYNNE, JOHN PETER. Philosophies of education from the standpoint of the philosophy of experimentalism. 427p $5; to schools $3.75 Prentice-Hall
370.1 Education—Philosophy 47-11027

'Inscribed to Dewey, Kilpatrick, and Bode as the most effective experimentalists in educational theory, this volume is designed to clarify the predominant issues over which the authoritarians, laissez-faire theorists, and experimentalists are in conflict. It is intended for quite a large and diversified audience—the first part for the general reader in the school, the home, the state, the church, business, or industry, or 'anywhere else;' the second part for teachers, administrators, and supervisors within the profession, while the entire work is presented as a text for students, graduate and undergraduate alike." (J Philos) Index.

WYNNE, J. P.—Continued

Reviewed by Benjamin Wolstein
J Philos 45:220 Ap 8 '48 950w

Reviewed by W. W. Brickman
School & Society 66:425 N 29 '47 550w

"One of the chief virtues of this textbook is the consistency with which the author clings to his purpose to expound, illustrate, and apply authoritarianism, laissez faire, and experimentalism at every point in his general presentation. The student will terminate his reading and pursuit of a workable philosophy of education with a perfectly clear-cut knowledge and understanding of the differences in meaning, historical background, and practical value of these fundamental philosophies of education. No contemporary writer in this field has stated his purpose more sharply or realized his aim more conclusively than has the painstaking author of the present volume." C. D. Champlin
+ School R 56:181 Mr '48 1200w

Y

YARAY, HANS. One page missing; tr. from the German by Elizabeth Reynolds Hapgood. 248p $3 Holt
48-5719

Novel of an Austrian boy's struggle for security after enduring unhappy experiences resulting from a broken home.

"An unpleasant little item."
— Kirkus 15:681 D 15 '47 190w

Reviewed by M. L. Barrett
Library J 73:123 Ja 15 '48 80w

"Dr. Vernon, an Alsatian pedagogue with the same catch-in-the-throat appeal as the famous Mr. Chips, is, for all his recognizable outline, the most endearing character in the book. In fact, he and his young pupil Matthias are the only figures who stand out round and full. More interesting than the people are the scenes. With a fidelity and an impact all his own, the author recreates the atmosphere of Austria, Germany and Alsatia during and after the first world war." Virgilia Peterson
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p22 My 16 '46 600w

"The novel reads at times rather like a case history, which yet manages to be tensely dramatic." Herma Briffault
N Y Times p10 Mr 14 '48 500w

"If he had cared to, the author might have fused the two dominant currents of his tale into a lecture on modern social breakdown that would have been the making of him as a moralist. His restraint marks him as a commendable novelist, a designation he probably values more highly."
+ New Yorker 24:121 Ap 10 '48 140w

"Mr. Yaray has written a human, delightfully unsentimental, and psychologically sound novel of childhood." Henry Kranz
+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Jl 31 '48 650w

YATES, DORNFORD, pseud. See Mercer, C. W.

YATES, ELIZABETH (MRS WILLIAM MCGREAL). Beloved bondage. 275p $2.75 Coward-McCann
48-8756

John Bennet, a furniture salesman, married beautiful Althea Trainer, the daughter of a wealthy family, and almost at once discovered that Althea was subject to some psychopathic block which made her unwilling to consummate the marriage. For years he cared for her patiently, until thru her desire to help a crippled friend, Althea was cured. John's own salvation was in the hands of an understanding, elderly librarian.

"Elizabeth Yates tells her story with clarity and grace, and without sentimentality. Her particular gift is that of quiet penetration into character; and the portrait of the middle-aged librarian, intelligent, witty, willing to give herself—able to choose the best among the goods—is a sound piece of work." W. K. Rugg
+ Christian Science Monitor p18 O 13 '48 480w

Kirkus 16:414 Ag 15 '48 120w

"Elizabeth Yates has spun an unlikely story far beyond its frail possibilities."
— N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p38 N 14 '48 140w

"At times, particularly near the end of the story, the book achieves moments of real poignancy. More frequently, however, the authoress becomes engrossed in the solace John gains from his contact with Louisa Frazer, an elderly librarian, and from the books she recommends. 'Gentle' is perhaps as good a word as any to describe Miss Yates' book. Nothing malignant, save Althea's mental aberration, lies between its covers." James Nelson
+ N Y Times p24 N 14 '48 270w

Reviewed by S. M. Neal
Springf'd Republican p7C N 14 '48 130w

"A not too convincing story."
Wis Lib Bul 44:185 N '48

YATES, MARGARET POLK, and BRAMLETTE, PAULA. Death casts a vote. 223p $2.50 Dutton 47-12526

Detective story.

"[The authors] commit the sin of suppressing evidence until they have to shoot their murderer out of hand. Otherwise this wry romp in party politics is competent and pretty exciting, a minor triumph of enthusiasm and zeal over familiar materials." James Sandoe
+ — Chicago Sun Ja 9 '48 80w

"Intelligent writing."
+ Kirkus 15:611 N 1 '47 90w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 F 22 '48 60w

"The plot is unnecessarily complicated, but it does give us some interesting side lights on certain aspects of the oil business." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p26 Ja 11 '48 230w

"Much color and movement and much mediocre writing." E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p14 Ja 11 '48 100w

"Blackmail, 'hot oil,' power politics, and fatal ambition speed suavely told tale to satisfactory, if slightly obvious, solution. Agreeable."
Sat R of Lit 31:24 Ja 3 '48 40w

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. How to restore antiques. 228p il $4 Harper
749 Antiques. Furniture—Repairing 48-7585

"The author is concerned altogether with restoring usefulness and beauty to old furniture, rather than suggesting amateur repairs on antiques of great value. With more than 100 photographs and drawings and clearly stated start-to-finish directions, the volume covers, in addition to the restoration and refinishing of furniture, clock mending, joining of metals, gilding with gold leaf, electroplating, stenciling and just about everything else you might want to try your hand at around the house." (San Francisco Chronicle) Index.

Booklist 45:10 S 1 '48

"An excellent basic book, but not the final word on any phase of the restoration of antiques."

+ — Kirkus 16:361 Jl 15 '48 60w

"This useful and unusual volume will unquestionably delight that curious breed of home thinkers that derives solid satisfaction from a broken clock or a sagging sofa."

+ New Yorker 24:106 O 2 '48 100w

"An excellent and useful book." E. J.

+ San Francisco Chronicle p22 Ag 29 '48 120w

YAUKEY, MRS GRACE (SYDENSTRICKER) (CORNELIA SPENCER, pseud). Japan; il. by Rafaello Busoni. (Lands & peoples) 24p $1.75; bds $1.25 Holiday

952 Japan—Juvenile literature 48-4931

Brief survey of the history, economics, geography, and culture of Japan for grades six to eight.

Booklist 45:144 D 15 '48

Kirkus 16:481 S 15 '48 40w

"Recommended." C. W. Field

+ Library J 74:67 Ja 1 '49 70w

Reviewed by Marion Conger

Sat R of Lit 31:40 O 2 '48 70w

Wis Lib Bul 44:216 D '48

YAUKEY, MRS GRACE (SYDENSTRICKER) (CORNELIA SPENCER, pseud). Nehru of India. 184p il $2.50 Day

B or 92 Nehru, Jawaharlal—Juvenile literature 48-7162

A biography of the prime minister of free India's new government, which is drawn in part from his autobiography. The author has given some explanation of India's history, along with the facts of Nehru's life. For ages eleven to fifteen or over. No index.

Booklist 44:386 Jl 15 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King

Chicago Sun Ag 7 '48 90w

Reviewed by H. F. Griswold

Christian Science Monitor p7 Ja 27 '49 650w

Reviewed by Anne Fremantle

Commonweal 48:383 Jl 30 '48 70w

"Cornelia Spencer is an admirable biographer to set forth the personality of one of the most important figures living today. . . This is a valuable book for young and old, illuminating to those who would understand some of India's problems. It is not in story form and is well documented." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 24:282 Jl '48 120w

Reviewed by Margaret Ernst

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p7 Ag 29 '48 230w

"A biography of Nehru for 11-to-15-year-old Americans fills a real need. This one is informative and useful but not really easy reading. . . Too often Miss Spencer must drop Nehru while she explains Indian history, British colonial policy, the passive resistance movement, the rift between Hindu and Moslem, the All-India Congress, etc. Considering all the difficulties she has managed very well to put much necessary information about India and Nehru briefly and clearly." M. C. Scoggin

+ — N Y Times p17 Jl 25 '48 320w

"An inspiring story, beautifully told. . . Full-page photographs of Nehru and his family add to the interest of this timely book." B. W. Shaffer

+ Sat R of Lit 31:29 Jl 10 '48 290w

YAVNO, MAX, il. San Francisco book. See Caen, H. E.

YEAR in American music, 1946-1947 [ed. by Julius Bloom]. 571p $5 Allen, Towne & Heath

780.973 Music—U.S. (48-1002)

"A day-to-day record of the main American musical events from September 1946 through May 1947, stressing concert music, its new developments and personalities. There are appendixes on composers, orchestras, opera companies, books, music and records issued during the year, awards, and obituaries. Entries for the books and music are annotated. A new annual, chiefly for reference use." Booklist

Booklist 44:214 F 15 '48

"A highly laudable attempt. . . Well indexed." H. E. Bush

+ Library J 73:338 F 15 '48 80w

"The Year in American Music is unlike any yearbook I have ever seen, and yet comes closer to what one might deduce would be in a yearbook from the term alone. . .With the teeming musical life in this country now, there are bound to be important omissions, but it is amazing to find how much Mr. Bloom has packed into these pages." R. S. Hill

Music Lib Assn Notes 5:98 D '47 330w

YEOMANS, HENRY AARON. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, 1856-1943. 564p $6 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Lowell, Abbott Lawrence 48-6859

A biography of this American educator who was president of Harvard from 1909 to 1933. The book is based on Dr Lowell's private papers and on the archives of Harvard university, and is largely an account of the university during his presidency. Index.

Reviewed by W. R. Castle

Am Hist R 54:378 Ja '49 650w

"The book has an 'official' quality that will annoy some readers; it is almost too apologetic too greatly adulatory. Yet in spite of all this, it is a biography of distinguished quality, and one that is provocative and stimulating in its presentation of educational developments in this country, as seen in the lifework of a distinguished man and a truly great educator." M. M. Willey

+ — Ann Am Acad 259:197 S '48 440w

Kirkus 16:165 Mr 15 '48 160w

"A solid, formal contribution to educational history, essential for scholarly collections and particularly college and university libraries." G. D. McDonald

+ Library J 73:813 My 15 '48 130w

Manchester Guardian p3 S 21 '48 300w

"To the majority of Harvard men, Lowell was no mere mortal, and this work will bear out their already formed opinion of one who frankly announced when he took over the presidency of Harvard that it was the most important office in the United States. . . Lowell as a mortal man, however, is less successfully treated." Cleveland Amory

+ — N Y Times p6 My 30 '48 900w

"Professor Yeomans' biography is too honest and complete to be stigmatized by the term 'authorized biography,' but his access to all of the original source material for this first history of President Lowell and his administration give the study an authenticity seldom achieved." Casper Weinberger

+ San Francisco Chronicle p15 Ag 1 '48 550w

"This is not a volume of eulogy and panegyric. Lowell was a man, with human faults. . . Yeomans pronounces no judgments. He has been content to sift the evidence, reconstruct the record, and let it speak for itself. And in large measure he achieves what he set out to do in this book. . . One may criticize Yeomans's organization of his material, the topical treatment and consequent lack of chronological order, the occasional repetitions. These are relatively minor faults. More serious is the fact that throughout this impressive account of a life well and fully lived one catches only an occasional glimpse of the living man who made the record what it is." E. C. Aswell

+ — Sat R of Lit 31:19 Je 5 '48 900w

School & Society 67:343 My 1 '48 20w

YERBY, FRANK GARVIN. Golden hawk. 346p $3 Dial press
48-6428

"The time is the late 17th century; the place the waters of the Caribbean, the islands now French, now Spanish, now English. . . The central character [is] a nameless master of the Seaflower, beloved of many women, but desiring only one, Rouge, mysterious woman pirate driven by her hate of men." Kirkus

---

Reviewed by Clinton Textor
Chicago Sun p8X Ap 25 '48 350w

"Grand entertainment in a picaresque novel of the days of buccaneers and pirates."
+ Kirkus 16:198 Ap 15 '48 190w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p10 My 30 '48 70w

"To label 'The Golden Hawk' a shilling shocker would understate the case. To say that it is aimed at the reader who enjoys 'Terry and the Pirates' would be more than accurate—though such a classification does malign a popular comic-strip. Certainly Mr. Yerby's roaring prose belongs in a cartoon balloon, rather than between the covers of a full-price novel." Wilbur Watson
— N Y Times p22 My 2 '48 140w

New Yorker 24:105 Ap 24 '48 70w

"I feel that the enormous popularity of printed material of this kind constitutes a case for the sociologist rather than for the book reviewer. If, as a book reviewer, I am asked whether—all literary judgment put aside—I had at least some fun with 'The Golden Hawk,' I must confess I had none. But as it happens, I don't particularly enjoy the 'romantic' species of comics either." Robert Pick
— Sat R of Lit 31:25 My 8 '48 400w

YODER, AUDREY. Animal analogy in Shakespeare's character portrayal. 150p pa $2.50 King's crown press
822.33 Shakespeare, William—Characters
47-12487

"A survey and analysis of Shakespeare's use of animal comparisons in character portrayal. This study represents part of a large investigation involving Shakespeare's numerous animal references, their background, and the reason for their use." (Pref) Bibliography.

"Animal Analogy does not seek to make Shakespeare unique in his use of imagery, since the method was in frequent current use and persists even to the present time. It does, however, show his method and purpose in using it, and, as such, is both a contribution to the information of his audience and readers, as well as a suggestion to further searchers among the pages of his plays." R. E. Keighton
Crozer Q 25:183 Ap '48 550w

"This is a straight Ph.D. thesis which is of interest only to advanced Shakespearean students and theatre scholars. Recommended for Shakespearean and larger theatre collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:199 F 1 '48 30w

Reviewed by H. L. Varley
Springf'd Republican p8B F 8 '48 210w

YORCK, RUTH (LANDSHOFF). So cold the night. 244p $2.50 Harper
48-8341

"A murder confession, in the form of an autobiographical memoir, by a psychotically snobbish middle-aged recluse who has turned from the bibelots in his New York house long enough to kill a couple of women." New Yorker

---

"The first half is an absorbing, near-normal picture of pressures, later verges on the hysterical, implausible. Of interest to the followers of this new trend in fiction, but not altogether satisfying."
+ — Kirkus 16:342 Jl 15 '48 120w

"Customers who find the erotic tantrums of Phineas and Berenice hard to bear are advised to carry on for the sake of a later revelation. Miss Yorck's performance is a model of its odd kind, recommended to all who wish to be astonished by slick, new talent in the mystery field." Will Cuppy
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p17 O 3 '48 150w

"Those who are interested in abnormal psychology may find this book to their liking. Others are likely to bog down long before the end." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p33 O 10 '48 180w

"The man tends to be an unbearable prig, and the deaths are rather incidental, despite the psychological buildup, but the case history is treated with some acuteness and style."
+ — New Yorker 24:112 S 18 '48 100w

Reviewed by E. D. Doyle
San Francisco Chronicle p24 O 31 '48 140w

Sat R of Lit 31:39 S 18 '48 50w

YOSELOFF, MARTIN. Family members. 221p $2.75 Dutton
48-10065

A novel of family life in an Iowa town. It tells how the religious Hollenbachs reacted to the birth of their daughter's illegitimate child.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Chicago Sun N 16 '48 240w

"Opposing small town morality without shame, this is a pointed but never malicious miniature of character and situation."
Kirkus 16:412 Ag 15 '48 150w

"While the author portrays with understanding the problems of a young girl in the beginning, the story and characterizations gradually lose reality and color. . . Too idealistic, too story-bookish, but style is smooth and easy. A book with literary flavor and sincerity." C. W. Roth
+ — Library J 73:1386 O 1 '48 100w

"For some reasons—perhaps the deadpan simplicity of the narrative—'The Family Members' does not continuously achieve the necessary lift from verisimilitude to life, though its most complicated character, Lorraine's father, leaves one satisfyingly curious." James Hilton
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p18 O 24 '48 600w

"The best thing about Mr. Yoseloff's book is his implicit belief in the importance and dignity of people like Lorraine and her mother and brother. His gentle philosophy that everything happened for the best in l'affaire Lorraine and that Providence or their own simplicity watches over people like the Hollenbachs is somehow very soothing. Unfortunately, the artlessness of his style, while occasionally achieving a certain realism, too often tends to trail off into mediocrity. As a result the characters, although interesting in conception, fail to come fully alive." M. S. Hurst
— + N Y Times p31 O 24 '48 360w

"Mr. Yoseloff approaches his original and sweet morality with a tender, somewhat tentative timidity. He writes with sympathy, with keen perception, and with a warm understanding of frustration. These yearning souls, so typical and so touching, can achieve salvation only through the simplest acts of living. The way is here pointed lovingly and with care." C. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 32:20 Ja 15 '49 150w

Wis Lib Bul 45:15 Ja '49

YOST, EDNA. American women of nursing. 197p $2.50 Lippincott
926.1 Nurses and nursing. Woman—Biography
Med47-2474

Short biographical sketches of ten nurses outstanding in their special fields of pediatrics, public health, nursing education, visiting nursing, and physiotherapy. They are: M. Adelaide Nutting, Lillian Wald, Annie W. Goodrich, Isabel M. Stewart, Sister M. Olivia Gowan, Estelle Massey Riddle, Florence G. Blake, Anne Prochazka, Theodora A. Floyd, Lucile Petry. The foreword gives a brief history of nursing in America. No index.

Booklist 44:188 Ja 15 '48
Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '48
Kirkus 15:598 Ag 1 '47 60w

"From personal interviews and careful research she has painted a clear picture and shown how these women overcame the many obstacles confronting them; by their actions they have made nursing an outstanding profession today. Especially suitable for teenagers (12-16) who are thinking of this profession as a career." S. J. Robinson
+ Library J 72:1786 D 15 '47 70w

"Only to tell why each one of these is eminent would overrun the space of this review. Besides, to do so would not indicate the warm human interest pervading the record, or the sense of excitement it rouses as fields are opened and recognition established for the 'oldest of the arts but youngest of the professions.'" M. L. Becker
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p5 Ja 11 '48 280w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
N Y Times p31 Ja 25 '48 360w
Wis Lib Bul 43:180 D '47

YOUNG, AGNES (BROOKS). Light in the sky, by Agatha Young [pseud]. 437p $3 Random house
48-7685

Novel describing a year in the management of the Fenno iron company of Cleveland. John Fenno emphasized the financial and business aspects of his industry; but times changed and in the Panic of 1873 he lost his business to his ex-manager who understood tough competition and labor problems. Along with this account of financial tragedy is told the love stories of Fenno's two daughters.

Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 22 '48 240w
Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48

"Reasonably promising first novel."
+ Kirkus 16:266 Je 1 '48 130w

Reviewed by M. A. Johnson
Library J 73:946 Je 15 '48 100w

"Structurally solid and dramatically projected story."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p11 Ag 29 '48 140w

"A cheerful diversion compounded of a few serious economic overtones, a good deal of old-fashioned romance, and a generous portion of gaslit nostalgia revolving about the décor and decorum of nineteenth-century Cleveland." Richard Match
+ N Y Times p10 Ag 1 '48 440w
San Francisco Chronicle p11 Ag 8 '48 150w

YOUNG, HAZEL. Working girl's own cook book. 227p $2.50 Little 641.5 Cookery. Menus 48-2604

This book has the same purpose and plan as the author's previous cook book: The Working Girl Must Eat (Book Review Digest 1938). Some of the menus are from the earlier work. New features include; shopping tips, cooking methods, and suggestions in quantities, economy, and treatment of leftovers. (Adapted from publisher's note) Index.

"The recipes are very clearly and concisely presented, taking nothing for granted in the way of previous experience."
+ Kirkus 16:231 My 1 '48 90w

"Many women who work like to cook, and the perfect cook book for them is 'The Working Girl's Own Cook Book.' . . It is far simpler than most basic cook books, and thus far more valuable for the beginner." H. L. Mason
+ N Y Times p39 N 28 '48 100w

Reviewed by H. S. Neal
Springf'd Republican p11B Je 6 '48 240w
Wis Lib Bul 44:131 Je '48

YOUNG, KLYDE H., and MIDDLETON, LAMAR. Heirs apparent; the vice presidents of the United States. 314p $3.75 Prentice-Hall
923.273 Vice-presidents (U.S.). U.S.—Biography 48-6188

"A collection of brief biographies, with an emphasis on the political, of the thirty-four American vice-presidents, from Adams to Truman. Primarily of reference value, the book outlines in bare detail the lives of these 'heirs apparent.' . . Main concern is given to their tenure of office of vice-president, their contribution, their distinction, their part in shaping the office to what it is today." (Kirkus) Bibliography. Index.

"The authors, one a journalist and the other an economist and explorer, have leaned heavily upon odd bits of information such as a quiz program or a believe-it-or-not column might feature. . . What goes for an index is almost worthless. All in all, the book is a good example of how history should not be written." D. M. Robinson
— Am Hist R 54:219 O '48 280w

"Not a single statement is footnoted, and only a very limited bibliography is presented. The essays are interestingly written, however, and the book must be considered of value to the extent that it directs greater attention to the neglected office of vice-president." C. L. Larsen
Am Pol Sci R 42:824 Ag '48 150w

"Popular style but, unfortunately, somewhat frank about personal relations of such people as Aaron Burr."
Booklist 44:298 My 1 '48

"An excellent roll call of the vice presidents of the United States. . . In some instances the authors make appraisals which would be better omitted, since they are personal opinions only."
+ — Current Hist 14:348 Je '48 50w
Kirkus 16:39 Ja 15 '48 100w

"The chapters are most entertaining for the average reader when they deal with such shadowy figures—shadowy to the present generation—as Daniel D. Tompkins, George M. Dallas, Hannibal Hamlin and Henry C. Wilson. Men like Adams, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt, to whom the Vice-Presidency was just an episode, are likely to suffer when their careers are compressed into a dozen pages or so. The book would have been better for a little more detail on the office of Vice-President, its duties and the methods of selection, constitutional and political, whereby it has been filled. In particular, the transition from the original system of giving the Vice-Presidency to the runner-up in the Presidential race should have been more explicitly outlined. But for anyone who is curious about the personalities whom history has slighted because they were second-string Presidents, never called into the game, 'Heirs Apparent' will provide lively and instructive reading." Harry Baehr
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p6 Jl 25 '48 550w
New Yorker 24:122 Ap 10 '48 120w

Reviewed by H. C. Syrett
Pol Sci Q 63:480 S '48 150w

"Although it is not a remarkably distinguished book, a thoughtful reading of it by an individual with a great deal of time and power on his hands might lead to a re-writing of certain sections of the Constitution." R. T.
San Francisco Chronicle p18 Ag 1 '48 250w

"The book is based on a very good idea, and could have been very much better had not the authors been content with an apparently hasty rewrite job." R. F. H.
Springf'd Republican p10B Ap 11 '48 450w

YOUNG, MRS MIRIAM (BURT). Heaven faces west. 275p $3 Appleton
48-4965

"San Francisco, 1896, are the place and time. Linda, an attractive girl, is saddled to a fanatical evangelist who wants to convert a rat-infested tannery into a dormitory for sinners,

YOUNG, M. B.—Continued
but, much to the reader's relief, she leaves with her two children and gets a divorce." N Y Times

Booklist 45:121 D 1 '48
Kirkus 16:411 Ag 15 '48 160w

"A lively and amusing story."
+ N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p36 N 14 '48 140w

" 'Heaven Faces West' has perhaps a little too much in it of Grandmother, whose only vanity was to bring the Limoges china across the prairie, and whose nobility sometimes approaches the grotesque. On the whole, the book, with its pure female sentiment, is good entertainment." H. B. P.
+ — N Y Times p14 O 31 '48 160w

YOUNG, STARK. Immortal shadows; a book of dramatic criticism. 290p $3 Scribner

792 Theater. Drama—History and criticism 48-11512

"Stark Young was a professional first nighter at the theatre from the early Twenties until the late Forties. As drama reviewer for The New Republic, a member of the editorial board of Theatre Arts Magazine and, for the season of 1924-25, the critic for [the New York Times], he watched the stage through a period he considers one of remarkable movement. In 1947 he withdrew from drama criticism, and in a foreword to 'Immortal Shadows' he remarks that it constitutes the last writing he will do on the subject of the theatre. This last writing is a collection of critical essays, reprinted from the publications on which he served. In their original form they were a part of the day-to-day report on the theatre, and Mr. Young does not consider his volume as a chronicle, but as a selection of reviews." (N Y Times) Index.

"This is professional appraisal without the braggadocio cutting of George Jean Nathan, with more severity than John Mason Brown, and provides a review, not only of the theater, but of its art. For drama courses and study groups first, and perhaps for re-reading by ardent theater-goers."
+ Kirkus 16:421 Ag 15 '48 100w

"There is no living person who has written so beautifully and understandingly about acting in this country. Though I wish that [the author] . . . had either done a thorough overhauling of his essays to bring them in line with his own present thinking, or had provided us with a full introduction which would have brought us up to date; it would have improved the book. Beautifully written and highly recommended to all drama and theatre collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 73:1821 D 15 '48 100w

"Stark Young declares that he will write about the theater no more. . . One can only hope that a critic's farewell appearance is like that of most actors, for it is a great pity that so keen a mind as Mr. Young's, so catholic a taste and so civilized and wide-ranging a background for appreciation, should no longer contribute to the pitifully small body of drama criticism seriously concerned with our current theater. . . His reviews are well worth reprinting. . . Mr. Young is not always free from a touch of the verbal cant which is the bane of too much modern literary criticism." W. P. Eaton
+ — N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p16 N 28 '48 550w

Reviewed by Lewis Nichols
N Y Times p26 N 28 '48 650w

"Stark Young's dramatic criticism is illuminating, cultured, penetrating and constructive. He brings a vast background to play on every element of the theater, and this collection of pieces written over the past quarter century is a must for any self-respecting theatrical library." William Hawkins
+ Theatre Arts 33:79 Ja '49 270w

Z

ZABRISKIE, ALEXANDER CLINTON. Bishop Brent, crusader for Christian unity. 217p $3.75 Presbyterian bd.

B or 92 Brent, Charles Henry 48-6678

A life of Bishop Brent based largely on the late Dr. Remsen Brinkerhoff Ogilby's unfinished biography. The present author is dean of Virginia seminary. Includes a list of books by Bishop Brent.

"This carefully written life covers important phases of the ecumenical movement, to the rise and growth of which Bishop Brent made a unique contribution." W. E. G.
Christian Century 65:481 My 19 '48 80w

"Dean Zabriskie has rendered the church a great service, for this is the first full and complete story of Charles Henry Brent's vivid life to be written. The sections dealing with Brent's role in the church unity movement are most valuable. But it is the final chapters in which the author sums up Brent's matured thought and the elements of his religion that Dean Zabriskie's pen catches fire." F. W. Kates
+ Churchman 162:15 Ag '48 140w

Reviewed by J. T. Addison
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p12 Jl 18 '48 650w

ZACK, SAMUEL R. Arbitration of labor disputes; cases from an arbitrator's files. 240p $2.50 Doniger & Raughley, inc, Great Neck, N.Y.

331.155 Arbitration, Industrial 47-1439

"The author is well known for his radio program on which for many years he has handled arbitration cases. He is also considered a fair and just arbitrator having handled hundreds of labor arbitration cases. In this book he gives the skeleton outlines of many of the cases he has arbitrated and his recommendations. There is an introduction on his philosophy of arbitration which should be helpful to arbitrators as well as to labor and management." Kirkus

Kirkus 15:48 Ja 15 '47 110w

"By and large, this book will prove most useful as a demonstration of the value of arbitration in preventing strikes and as an introduction to the nature of the arbitration process. Mr. Zack's delightful style and his keen understanding of human nature combine to give the reader real enjoyment while he learns something about a highly complex subject." Douglas McGregor
+ Management R 37:51 Ja '48 240w

ZAHARIAS, MRS MILDRED BABE (DIDRIKSON). Championship golf. 125p il $2.75 Barnes, A.S.

796.352 Golf 48-6689

"Comment and instruction based largely on a series of photographs of the holder of the Women's Championships of United States and Great Britain." (Library J) Contents: Importance of right equipment; Practice and concentration; The grip; Different stances and the address; Playing the irons; Playing the woods; Pitching and chipping; Shots from traps; Four main factors in putting; Hooking, slicing, playing various lies; Instruction tips for teachers.

"The author's name may create a demand for this book but it is not recommended as the best book on golf. Directions are meager as compared with those in other books by champions."
— Booklist 44:309 My 15 '48
Kirkus 16:210 Ap 15 '48 40w
Library J 73:1031 Jl '48 30w

"The book is profusely illustrated, and generally presented in a form as easy to understand and assimilate." Maureen Orcutt
+ N Y Times p23 Ag 29 '48 230w

ZAKI, ABD-EL-HAMID. Study of child welfare in a rural New York county. 225p $2.90 Teachers college

362.7 Children—Charities, protection, etc. 48-5451

A study of children and child welfare in the rural county of Rockland in New York state in the years 1930-1940. Programs studied included home relief agencies, aid to dependent children, the children's court and other child welfare services. No index.

School & Society 67:112 F 7 '48 20w

"The author writes with refreshing lucidity, with words which carry their original meaning. . . The book is very critical, but the evaluation of the negative aspects is given with painstaking care. . . As a result of a concept of casework that is neither as clear nor as logical as his concept of community organization and the relationship between the state, the parent, and the child, his conclusions are thrown out of line with the principles set forth in the first chapters. I place a high value on the first 150 pages of the book. I find more to question in the last part of it." E. M. Gane

+ — Survey 84:283 S '48 500w

ZARCHY, HARRY. Let's make a lot of things; crafts for home, school and camp; il. by [the author; entire text written in a calligraphic hand by Robert W. Galvin]. 156p $2.50 Knopf

680 Handicraft 48-6271

An illustrated book on crafts which includes the steps in making articles out of clay, metal and leather. The book begins with a discussion of materials used: metal; iron and steel; clay and leather. Some of these may be used at home, others in school or camp workshops. Then the tools needed are listed and described. The rest of the book is devoted to the making of specific articles. Index.

Booklist 44:289 Ap 15 '48

"The book will be useful in homes, schools or camps." A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 24:283 Jl '48 50w

"A competent and attractive little craft book. . . A fine piece of bookmaking on all scores."

+ Kirkus 16:171 Ap 1 '48 220w

"Welcome addition to handicraft collections. Recommended for ages 8-12." Judith Stevenson

+ Library J 73:659 Ap 15 '48 50w

Reviewed by Helen Masten

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 S 19 '48 120w

"Any young craftsman who likes to create with his own hands things that are attractive as well as useful will find much helpful information for doing just that in Mr. Zarchy's new book. The tools and skills called for make this a volume with interest and usefulness chiefly for teen agers." Marjorie Burger

+ N Y Times p30 Ap 11 '48 200w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis

Sat R of Lit 31:34 Je 12 '48 60w

Wis Lib Bul 44:108 My '48

ZBINDEN, HANS. Whither Germany? reflections of a Swiss on the future of Germany and Europe; tr. by Mary Hottinger. (Humanist lib) 90p $2 Regnery

943 Germany 48-7518

A Swiss publisher's views on the problem of Germany today. He attempts to answer the question; "What has been done, what has been attempted, what can still be done?"

"Herr Zbinden's views are remarkably clear and his eyes are not befogged by the Nuremberg spirit." Erik von Kuehnelt-Leddihn

+ Cath World 168:172 N '48 270w

"Another able translation (by May Hottinger) and a thought-provoking little volume."

+ Current Hist 15:226 O '48 60w

Reviewed by Asher Brynes

Sat R of Lit 31:15 Ag 7 '48 150w

Reviewed by Donald Derby

Springf'd Republican p8B Ag 15 '48 170w

ZEEVELD, WILLIAM GORDON. Foundations of Tudor policy. 291p il $5 Harvard univ. press

942.05 Humanism. Great Britain—Politics and government. Learning and scholarship 48-7421

"[This book] deals in the main with two rather obscure Tudor figures who played some part in the propaganda campaign directed by Thomas Cromwell against the old church and in favor of the new. The two men in question are Thomas Starkey and Richard Morison. A third figure, that of John Ponet, is dragged in toward the last, but his connection with the other two is rather tenuous. The integrating factor seems to have been not so much a communion of ideas but rather the more or less fortuitous circumstance that Starkey and Morison at least were scholars together in Wolsey's college at Oxford and were later of the group which gathered around Reginald Pole at Padua." (Pol Sci Q) Check list of works cited. Index.

"This is a serviceable book, but its title is much too pretentious. . . It is a pity that Dr. Zeeveld did not content himself with dealing with these rather obscure figures, about whom he has found many interesting facts, without enlarging them to major proportions. The extravagant claims he has made for them—to wit: that they were the first to sound the consciously nationalistic note; that they laid deep enough the foundations for the state church to last beyond the Commonwealth; that they made the most significant and enduring contributions to intellectual history in the Tudor period—he certainly has not substantiated." Conyers Read

— + Pol Sci Q 63:622 D '48 1200w

San Francisco Chronicle p25 S 26 '48 300w

ZEISEL, HANS. Say it with figures; with an introd. by Paul F. Lazarsfeld. 250p $3 Harper

311.2 Statistics 47-4845

"A manual for statisticians in the field of consumer and opinion research. It is an introduction to the whole science of assembling and using social statistics showing various procedures. Examples are chosen from many fields including market research, sociology and psychology and is a first presentation of the whole panel technique. The correct use of percentage figures is discussed and methods of preparing tables and indices are explained." Library J

"While this is primarily a manual for statisticians in the field of consumer and opinion research, it is a valuable text on the science of assembling and using social statistics of many kinds." H. N. Calver

+ Am J Pub Health 38:1289 S '48 360w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 72:1114 Ag '47 70w

"The jacket of this book characterizes it as 'a manual for statisticians in the field of consumer and opinion research.' It doubtless will be of interest to people in these fields, but the reviewer hardly feels that it can be classed as a manual. The most important contribution of the book is probably the last chapter on the use of the panel technique. In spite of the value of the last chapter, the omissions and errors in the rest of the book may make it very misleading to students not already familiar with statistical methods." D. O. Price

— + Social Forces 27:103 O '48 440w

"A major limitation is the lack of any consideration of sampling, a crucial subject for these fields. Unlike many popularizations of technical subjects, the book achieves readability without unduly sacrificing technical adequacy."

— + U S Quarterly Bkl 4:112 Mr '48 140w

ZELUFF, VIN, and MARKUS, JOHN. What electronics does. 306p il $3 McGraw

621.38 Electronics 48-5641

"Easy-to-read descriptions of many jobs that electronic tubes are doing in the industrial field. Commercial applications are explained, including cooking and defrosting foods, spray painting, seeing through fog, detecting flaws in metal objects, locating minerals, and navigating airplanes and ships. Illustrated with diagrams and photographs which provide basic information in simplified form and show how a complete machine works." Library J

Booklist 44:347 Je 15 '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:125 Ja 15 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:39 My '48

ZIELKE, MONI HANS, and BEEZLEY, FRANKLIN G. How to take industrial photographs. 113p il $5 McGraw

778 Photography, Commercial 48-1314

"More than 100 photographs of machines and the men or women operating them are presented here as examples of good illustrations for advertising layouts, sales-promotional bulletins, publicity releases, and instruction aids. Notes and diagrams explain camera placement, lighting, exposure, lens and film for each picture. Some additional suggestions for photographic procedures are provided in a brief text." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '48

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:125 Ja 15 '48 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:20 Ja '48

ZIGROSSER, CARL. Book of fine prints; an anthology of printed pictures and introduction to the study of graphic art in the West and the East. rev ed 499p 555pl il $5 Crown

769 Engravings 48-9410

"A revision and expansion of his 'Six Centuries of Fine Prints' [Book Review Digest 1937] published eleven years ago. The long and very informative introduction has been extended to include the most recent developments in Mr. Zigrosser's field, and a much-needed chapter on Oriental prints has been added, broadening the scope of the work considerably. There are nearly six hundred illustrations, ranging from early-Gothic examples to contemporary ones." (New Yorker) The author has been for some years Curator of Prints, Drawings, and Illustrated Books at the Philadelphia museum of art.

"To have published this comprehensive, profusely illustrated, and handsomely produced history of prints and printmaking for the price of five dollars is an economic tour de force in this day of inflated costs. . . The text is followed by 600 admirable reproductions of great prints in private and public collections. An outstanding art book."
+ Atlantic 183:89 Ja '49 180w

Booklist 45:142 D 15 '48

Nation 168:79 Ja 15 '49 140w

+ New Yorker 24:183 D 4 '48 120w

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER. Codes and secret writing. 154p il $2 Morrow

652 Ciphers 48-8623

Introduction to the hobby of cryptography. Includes practice exercises, with answers. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 45:75 O 15 '48

"Young people will get much fun out of this book." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 25:46 Ja '49 80w

"The qualities of simplicity, directness and logical organization that have made Zim's previous books so readable are present here, and should make this book a welcome addition to libraries, both public and school, for upper grades and high school."
+ Kirkus 16:311 Jl 1 '48 70w

"Recommended for hobby collections." Nelle McCalla
+ Library J 73:1675 N 15 '48 80w

"Any boy who has important secret messages to transmit to a friend in the next block will be delighted with this simple account of how he can make his own codes, and decipher messages from the enemy, which he intercepts. The book also has valuable information on secret writing and invisible inks concocted from such sinister ingredients as apple juice, coca cola and vinegar." C. P.
+ N Y Times p60 N 14 '48 160w

Reviewed by Barbara Stevens
San Francisco Chronicle p19 N 28 '48 90w

"This is a book that will fascinate everyone, young and old, who is a detective story fan."
+ Sat R of Lit 31:47 N 13 '48 50w

Wis Lib Bul 44:187 N '48

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER. Rabbits; pictures by Joy Buba. [63p] $2 Morrow

636.9 Rabbits—Juvenile literature 48-1294

This book about rabbits written for young people contains general information about various types of rabbits and their habits of life, and also specific directions for the care and feeding of rabbits as pets.

Booklist 44:269 Ap 1 '48

Reviewed by M. B. King
Chicago Sun Mr 20 '48 70w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 My 25 '48 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '48

"Schools and libraries, as well as many homes, will find Mr. Zim's book both useful and interesting." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 24:195 My '48 100w

Kirkus 16:109 Mr 1 '48 70w

"Excellent informational book. . . The drawings by Joy Buba are an important part of the book. Appealing, humorous, and natural poses of the many rabbits discussed endear them to children as well as impart the distinguishing marks of the various types. Recommended for hobby or nature shelves." J. F. Kennedy
+ Library J 73:562 Ap 1 '48 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p8 Ap 18 '48 180w

Reviewed by Lois Palmer
N Y Times p14 Ag 8 '48 130w

New Yorker 24:140 D 11 '48 70w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 31:31 My 8 '48 50w

Springf'd Republican p12C D 12 '48 40w

Wis Lib Bul 44:85 Ap '48

ZIMMER, HEINRICH ROBERT. The king and the corpse; tales of the soul's conquest of evil; ed. by Joseph Campbell. 316p il $3.75 Pantheon bks.

398.2 Folklore. Legends. Mythology 48-6544

"This volume of essays . . . is the yield of what can be called an Indologian's holiday. Zimmer was not only a scholar versed in Sanskrit texts, but a profoundly agitated mind living in the present as well as in the past. . . Edited by Joseph Campbell, these essays rest upon Zimmer's belief—a belief which he shares with Jung and others—that the spiritual heritage of archaic man still survives in 'the deeper unconscious layers of our soul.' His meditations are a compound of psychology and mythology. . . Zimmer ambles between Orient and Occident, antiquity and the Middle Ages, leisurely recounting each story he picks up en route. . . Zimmer expounds an Irish fairy tale, a medieval German legend, four sagas from the cycle of King Arthur, the Sanskrit story of the King and the Corpse, and several Indian myths which, incidentally, have never before been translated into a European language. The stories are so arranged that they compose a sort of psychological epic." Sat R of Lit

---

"Zimmer has no patience with the 'pampered, modern reader of the West,' who is a patronizer and wants to approach knowledge through the gates of beauty and youth. He prefers the 'over-painted, tired out old beauty' of India. . . But he feels that such 'long-overripe old beauties' are the best tellers of ancient tales—just stop shuddering when you look at them, and listen. This is a strange gospel indeed, that rather listens to collective dreams of the past, interprets the subconscious of by-gone ages and prefers the intoxication of a mythos to Judeo-Christian revelation. This is doubly strange, because its message sounds strangely akin to the neo-pagan ones we heard in Nazi days. . . A strange thing, to find Christianity, Orthodox Judaism and Marxism—the object of Nazi hatred—now on the defense of a common front of reason, of meaning in history, of direction, against the chaos of mythological psychoanalysis, of existentialism, of the racial myth." H. A. Reinhold

Commonweal 48:356 Jl 23 '48 1700w

"Amiable as the book is, it lacks strength and precision. Zimmer is right in calling himself a dilettante. His exuberant language, visibly influenced by oriental narratives, reminds one less of these than of layers of tropical vegetation. There is a certain confusion in him which contaminates his psychological concepts and makes him undiscriminatingly endorse both genuine myths and Wagner's counterfeits. And his undialectical reveling in the old teachings reveals him to be an incorrigible romantic. But whatever its weaknesses, Zimmer's book will captivate those who, like himself, are homesick for meanings." Siegfried Kracauer

— + Sat R of Lit 31:15 Jl 24 '48 1050w

ZIMMERMAN, CARLE CLARK. Family and civilization. 829p $6 Harper

392.3 Family. Civilization. Sociology 47-6503

"Zimmerman's approach is primarily sociological, but the greater part of his text deals with the history of the family as a social institution. The modern trend away from 'familism' toward individualistic 'atomism' is evident. To most historians of culture and philosophers of history, this trend seems irreversible and bodes no good. Zimmerman deplores alike the defeatism of those who think disaster looms and the pollyannaism of those who say that the present omens are propitious. He is hopeful that the disintegration of society into irresponsible units can be averted, though not by tightened techniques of forbidding and punishing. The remedy, he thinks, must be found in a heightend sense of social responsibility." (Christian Century) Index.

"This reviewer's evaluation is that Zimmerman has written a treatise which is both good and bad but that the good considerably outweighs the bad. . . To the unsophisticated reader this book will appear to be a very strong argument for turning back the clock and returning to the pious faith of our ancestors. . . To the wary reader, however, one who is capable of appreciating conceptual structure and historical content rather than special pleading, this work is highly suggestive, stimulating, and worth while." R. F. Winch

+ — Am J Soc 53:513 My '48 900w

"The primary values of this book are: (1) the description of the characteristics of familism, and (2) the emphasis on the continuity between present and past family patterns. Its limitations far outweigh its values. Its criticisms of other theories are, for the most part, superficial. Its claim for historical evidence is subject to question in a day when historical experts limit themselves to a relatively few years of a single area and would never attempt to become an expert on Western civilization over a period of 6,000 years. An effort to arrive at valid generalizations through philosophical speculation is out of tune with contemporary social science with its emphasis on empirical research. Finally, the cautious sociologist would be critical of causal explanations, particularly when derived by methods such as presented in this book." H. J. Locke

— + Ann Am Acad 258:166 Jl '48 370w

Reviewed by J. H. Fichter

Cath World 167:184 My '48 600w

"Zimmerman's work on the family ranks with Westermarck's in the depth and solidity of its scholarship and the acuteness of its analysis."

+ Christian Century 65:18 Ja 7 '48 210w

"A scholarly study. . . Dr. Zimmerman is Associate Professor of Sociology, Harvard, and adds interest to his analysis by frankness and simplicity of style."

+ Current Hist 14:37 Ja '48 60w

"This will probably become a highly controversial book—and understandably so. It is really two books, the one an excellent painstaking résumé of a vast amount of historical material, the other a presentation of the author's biases and prejudices with respect to the present (atomistic) family system in America and his fervent pleas for a return to a familistic pattern." J. F. Cuber

Social Educ 12:238 My '48 600w

"Family and Civilization tends at times to be more philosophical than scientific, especially in its use of such vague expressions as 'eternal desire of man,' 'natural infinite beliefs,' 'human nature,' 'basic human relations.' But the proposed causal relationship between family and civilization, namely that 'civilization grows out of familism,' gives food for thought. The author is to be praised for fearlessly launching out into the difficult realm of causal analysis and constructing a complete theory of the family, a theory that merits testing and careful consideration by all students of family sociology." J. K. Moreland

+ — Social Forces 26:347 Mr '48 1100w

"This weighty propaganda volume evidences much erudition, but is not likely to be credited with an equal amount of objectivity. Yet Zimmerman's analysis of the historic family into three types (trustee, domestic, and atomistic) seems to be essentially correct. . . He never gets to the bottom of the causes of current family disintegration, which are the same as the causes of modern political and ecclesiastical disintegration." L. L. Bernard

+ — Survey 84:128 Ap '48 650w

ZIMMERMAN, OSWALD THEODORE, and LAVINE, IRVIN. Scientific and technical abbreviations, signs and symbols. 476p $7.50 Industrial res. service

501.48 Science—Abbreviations. Technology—Abbreviations 48-7244

"Presents thousands of abbreviations, signs, letters and graphical symbols in numerous fields in science and engineering, machine and tool shops, mapping and drawing. Other fields covered are statistics, business abbreviations and symbols for foreign money, proofreaders' signs, abbreviations of the United States and possessions, and abbreviations of technical journals." (Library J) Index.

"Because it brings together abbreviations and symbols in such diversified fields. . . the book should exert a beneficial force in the direction of general acceptance of recommended abbreviations by authors who otherwise would not have occasion to consult lists in pamphlet form. It should also serve to indicate the need that still exists for coordinating and integrating the work of groups that have given attention to this field of standardization. . . The engineering profession has much to gain by standardizing on the use of abbreviations. This book is a welcome addition to the literature not only because it will encourage uniformity but because it is a useful tool in itself for readers and writers in science and engineering." A. F. Bochenek

ZIMMERMAN, O. T.—Continued

+ Chem & Eng N 26:3051 O 11 '48 320w

"This book is probably the most complete compilation yet made of abbreviations and symbols used in engineering and scientific literature."

+ Eng N 141:112 D 9 '48 110w

"A much needed time saving book." L. A. Eales

+ Library J 73:823 My 15 '48 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 33:33 My '48

ZINBERG, LEN. Hold with the hares. 310p $3 Doubleday

48-8533

Chronicles thirteen years in the life of Steve Anderson: from 1932 when he is dismissed from college because of his radical ideas, until 1945 when he decides to quit compromising with his own idealism and become a decent newspaper owner. In the years between he has been a New York newspaperman and managed to behave like a heel most of the time.

"Basic Anglo-Saxon and basic instincts recorded with a plausibility often unpleasant, if, in this genre, competently handled."

Kirkus 16:343 Jl 15 '48 160w

"Plot is interesting and well-handled. It is, however, extremely modern in language and tone, with much vulgarity, drinking and immorality. It is unfortunate that the author, who has ability, should have besmirched an otherwise entertaining novel with so much that will be offensive to many readers. Recommend further checking before purchase." L. R. Etzkorn

+ — Library J 73:1195 S 1 '48 150w

N Y Herald Tribune Wkly Bk R p9 S 26 '48 170w

"Mr. Zinberg's book is well observed and well recorded. It is interesting and intelligent. But there is a curiously archaic quality about its idealism. Even the most enthusiastic reader may feel that he would like to take this author by the arm at times and say, 'Look, by all means, you may be absolutely right. But it is much, much later than you think.' " M. B.

+ — N Y Times p22 O 3 '48 500w

"Suggested reading for first-year students of the hardboiled novel."

— New Yorker 24:100 O 2 '48 180w

ZINK, HAROLD. American military government in Germany. 272p maps $4 Macmillan
940.5343 Germany—History—Allied occupation, 1945- 47-3558

For descriptive note see Annual for 1947.

"Professor Zink's timely account of the evolution and growth of military government should furnish background for an intelligent understanding of current military government policies and problems in Germany." O. S. Stonesifer

+ Am Hist R 53:366 Ja '48 400w

"American Military Government in Germany deserves wide circulation, not only among those most directly concerned but also among American citizens who realize that we have a bear by the tail and can't let go." Howard Becker

+ Am Soc R 13:232 Ap '48 850w

Foreign Affairs 26:574 Ap '48 60w

Reviewed by Arthur Schweitzer

Pol Sci Q 63:318 Je '48 450w

"Despite its lack of documentation, this book is authoritative and of permanent value, and merits the attention of the general reader as well as the student of government and military history."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 3:382 D '47 340w

"What is the much-debated and little-known record of the American military government in Germany? What are its problems and policies, its failures and achievements? Harold Zink, who played an important role in the preparation and the field work of the A.M.G. (as the American editor of the Handbook of Military Government and as consultant to the Berlin Control Council), has presented an excellent guide to the issues involved and a concise history of this much neglected field of our political activities." Sigmund Neumann

+ Yale R n s 37:363 winter '48 340w

ZISTEL, ERA (MRS ERIC POSSETT), ed. Golden book of dog stories. 318p $3.75 Ziff-Davis

Dogs—Legends and stories 47-12029

"Short stories about many varieties of dogs and dog characteristics. Some of the authors included are Terhune, Milne, Foote, Marquis, Curwood, Galsworthy, Tarkington, Twain, Grey, London, Turgeniev, and Seton." Booklist

Booklist 44:152 D 15 '47

"Lacks the diversity of angle and approach as well as the general excellence of Jack Goodman's Fireside Book of Dog Stories. . . Not top drawer."

Kirkus 15:587 O 15 '47 130w

ZORACH, WILLIAM. Zorach explains sculpture; what it means and how it is made. 302p il $7.50 Am. artists

731 Sculpture 47-12115

A handbook for the person who wants to work in sculpture. In his first chapter the author says: "In this book I will discuss the materials of art and the meanings of art, starting simply and returning again and again to each subject until I have covered the final technical phases which sculptors eventually need to know, but which merely confuse and hamper a beginner. I will explain how to model and carve freely small things in clay for beginners and discuss how to learn to observe form, how to organize relationships and how to achieve rhythms, how to see planes and fundamental structure. This, I will try to do in such a way that it will give a foundation for further work with clay, and for the making of sculpture in stone and wood." Contains a list of supply houses and an index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '48

Kirkus 15:572 O 1 '47 120w

"In his title, Mr. Zorach states that he explains what sculpture means. The parts of his book where he tries to do this are the least satisfactory. The historical outline is spotty and incomplete. . . As a guide to the techniques (he even includes a directory of places where the various materials can be obtained), Mr. Zorach's book can be recommended, but it is a pity that the attempt to make it more comprehensive necessitated the publication of the scattered notes on esthetics." Ruthven Todd

+ — N Y Times p18 Ap 11 '48 600w

"William Zorach, one of America's outstanding sculptors, has produced an outstanding book on his art. In Zorach Explains Sculpture he tells vividly what it is and how it is made. . . His chapters on the techniques of carving, modeling, and casting are clear and authoritative, equally helpful for the beginner or professional." Hubert Buel

+ San Francisco Chronicle p5 N 30 '47 200w
+ Springf'd Republican p10B N 23 '47 360w

ZUCROW, MAURICE JOSEPH. Principles of jet propulsion and gas turbines. 563p $6.50 Wiley

621.4 Jet propulsion. Gas turbines 48-1389

"An authoritative treatment of the fundamental theories and basic principles underlying the design and characteristics of gas turbines and jet propulsion engines. It was developed for use in ESMWT courses given during 1943 and 1944 to graduate engineers working in aircraft plants in the Los Angeles area. Certain data have had to be omitted for reasons of security; nevertheless, the book should be useful both to aeronautical engineering students and graduates. The references given at the end of each chapter constitute an extensive bibliography of the subject." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 73:205 F 1 '48 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 33:14 Ja '48
U S Quarterly Bkl 4:243 Je '48 300w

ZWILGMEYER, DIKKEN. Johnny Blossom; tr. by Emilie Poulsson; il. by Ingri and Edgar Parin d'Aulaire. 157p $2.50 Pilgrim press 48-8188

"A favorite story in Norway and in America for many years with new and appealing illustrations and a foreword by Ingri and Edgar Parin d'Aulaire." Sat R of Lit

Booklist 45:38 S 15 '48
Churchman 162:17 N 15 '48 10w
+ Commonweal 49:151 N 19 '48 40w

"The book deserves its fine new format." B. E. M.
+ Horn Bk 24:380 S '48 80w
Sat R of Lit 31:49 N 13 '48 20w

Subject and Title Index

To Author Entries, March 1948-February, 1949

Owing to the fact that the Book Review Digest year does not correspond to the calendar year, running instead from March to March, index entries for January and February of each year refer to the volume dated the previous year; i.e., January and February 1949 will be found in the 1948 Annual. These entries are thus indicated in the index; (Ja '49) (1948 Annual); (F '49) (1948 Annual).

A la carte. Berger, O. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
AAF against Japan. Haugland, V. (N '48)
ABC of orchid growing. Watkins, J. V. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
ASCAP biographical dictionary. American Society of composers, authors, and publishers. (My '48)
Ab Carmody's treasure. Teilhet, D. (D '48)
Abide with me. Belfrage, C. (Ag '48)

Ability

Testing

  Broadley, C. V. and M. E. Know your real abilities. (S '48)
  Lawshe, C. H. Principles of personnel testing. (O '48)
  United States. Strategic services, office of. Assessment staff. Assessment of men. (S '48)

About Boston. McCord, D. T. W. (D '48)
About Los Angeles. Alderman, F. L., and Wilson, A. M. (S '48)

Abraham, the patriarch

Fiction

  Bauer, F. A. M. Abram, son of Terah. (Je '48)

Abram, son of Terah. Bauer, F. A. M. (Je '48)
Abuse of learning. Lilge, F. (Ap '48)

Acids, Fatty
  Ralston, A. W. Fatty acids and their derivatives. (S '48)

Actfive. MacLeish, A. (O '48)

Acting
  Cole, T., comp. Acting. (Mr '48)
  James, H. Scenic art. (Ag '48)

Acting as a profession
  Denis, P. Your career in show business. (Je '48)

Action at Three Peaks. O'Rourke, F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Actors and actresses

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

  Chase, I. Free admission. (My '48)
  Menjou, A. It took nine tailors. (Ap '48)
  Skinner, C. O. Family circle. (O '48)

Adam, Robert
  Lees-Milne, J. Age of Adam. (Je '48)

Adam family
  Lees-Milne, J. Age of Adam. (Je '48)

Adams, Henry
  Samuels, E. Young Henry Adams. (D '48)

Adam's rib. Herschberger, R. (My '48)
Adequacy of workmen's compensation. Reede, A. H. (Ag '48)
Administration of group work. Blumenthal, L. H. (S '48)
Administration of the modern camp. Dimock, H. S., ed. (N '48)
Administrative reflections from World war II. Gulick, L. H. (O '48)
Administrative state. Waldo, C. D. (O '48)
Admirals of American empire. West, R. S. (Je '48)

Adolescence
  Crawford, J. E., and Woodward, L. E. Better ways of growing up. (Je '48)
  Fedder, R. Girl grows up [new ed rev & enl]. (N '48)

Adoption
  Barley, A. L. Patrick calls me mother. (Ag '48)

Adventure and adventurers
  Pretorius, P. J. Jungle man. (O '48)
  Robinson, B., ed. World's great stories of hunting and adventure. (Ap '48)
  Rogers, S. R. H. It took courage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Snow, E. R. Mysteries and adventures along the Atlantic coast. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Adventure in bluejeans. Jacobs, H. H. (Mr '48)
Adventure in drawing. Morang, A. (S '48)
Adventure in marine painting. Woodward, S. W. (Ag '48)
Adventure in Peru. Stark, B. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Adventure of the blue carbuncle. Doyle, A. C. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Adventures with plastics. Newkirk, L. V., and others. (Mr '48)

Advertising
  Bird, H. L. This fascinating advertising business. (Je '48)
  Printers' Ink (periodical). Cutting advertising and printing costs. (Je '48)

Colleges and universities

  Reck, W. E., ed. College publicity manual. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Libraries

  Nunmaker, F. G. Library broadcasts. (N '48)

Schools

  Horn, G. Public-school publicity. (D '48)

Advertising as a profession
  McBride, M. M., ed. How to be a successful advertising woman. (Je '48)

Aegean islands. Spencer, B. (Ap '48)
Aerial photography in forestry. Spurr, S. H. (Ag '48)

Aeronautical instruments
  Werner, E. F. Aircraft instrument maintenance. (O '48)

Aeronautics
  Gray, G. W. Frontiers of flight. (S '48)
  Moe, H. G. Flight engineering and cruise control. (Ap '48)

Accidents

  Tate, M. L. G. Twelve walked away. (Je '48)

History

  Ingells, D. J. They tamed the sky. (Ap '48)

Aesop's foibles. Berger, O., ed. (Mr '48)
Aesthetics and history in the visual arts. Berenson, B. (D '48)
Affair of state. Frank, P. (O '48)
Affair of the sixth button. Knight, C. (Ap '48)
Affairs of Dame Rumor. Jacobson, D. J. (D '48)

Africa

Description and travel

  Reeve, A. Africa, I presume? (Ap '48)

Africa, West
  Schweitzer, A. On the edge of the primeval forest. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Africa, I presume? Reeve, A. (Ap '48)
Africa of Albert Schweitzer. Joy, C. R., and Arnold, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
African aristocracy. Kuper, H. (Je '48)
African contrasts. Shepherd, R. H. W., and Paver, R. G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

African violets
  Wilson, H. V. African violet. (Ag '48)

After-dinner science. Swezey, K. M. (D '48)
Aftermath of the Napoleonic wars. Schenk, H. G. (My '48)

Age of Adam. Lees-Milne, J. (Je '48)

Age of the great depression. Wecter, D. (S '48)

Agricultural engineering

Popular mechanics magazine. Farm manual. (S '48)

Agricultural machinery

Popular mechanics magazine. Farm manual. (S '48)

Turner, A. W., and Johnson, E. J. Machines for the farm, ranch and plantation. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Agriculture

Economic aspects

Chew, A. P. Plowshares into swords. (D '48)

Johnson, D. G. Forward prices for agriculture. (My '48)

Renne, R. R. Land economics. (Ag '48)

Encyclopedias and dictionaries

White, J. M. Farmers' handbook. (S '48)

United States

Chew, A. P. Plowshares into swords. (D '48)

Haystead, L. Squires can take it. (S '48)

Aids to geographical research. Wright, J. K., and Platt, E. T. (Je '48)

Air conditioning

Heating and ventilating (periodical). Engineering databook. (Ag '48)

Herkimer, H. and H. Air conditioning. (Ap '48)

Air turbines

Putnam, P. C. Power from the wind. (O '48)

Air victory. Hinton, H. B. (S '48)

Airbrush illustration. Harris, B. J. (O '48)

Aircraft basic science. Northrop aeronautical institute. (N '48)

Aircraft engines. Drake, R. H. (S '48)

Aircraft instrument maintenance. Werner, E. F. (O '48)

Aircraft structural analysis. Mangurian, G. N., and Johnston, N. M., eds. (Je '48)

Airplane engines

Drake, R. H. Aircraft engines. (S '48)

Northrop aeronautical institute. Aircraft basic science. (N '48)

Airplanes

Design and construction

Mangurian, G. N., and Johnston, N. M., eds. Aircraft structural analysis. (Je '48)

Northrop aeronautical institute. Aircraft basic science. (N '48)

Piloting

Moe, H. G. Flight engineering and cruise control. (Ap '48)

Reeder, F. M. Safe for solo. (Je '48)

Alabama

Social life and customs

Liddell, V. G. With a southern accent. (Je '48)

Alamo

Juvenile literature

Hall-Quest, O. W. Shrine of liberty, the Alamo. (N '48)

Siege, 1836

Myers, J. M. Alamo. (Ap '48)

Alaska

Description and travel

Helmericks, C. and H. Our summer with the Eskimos. (N '48)

Hilscher, H. H. Alaska now. (Ag '48)

Alaska now. Hilscher, H. H. (Ag '48)

Album of American history: v4, End of an era. Adams, J. T., and others, eds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Alcohols

Johnson, A. W. Chemistry of the acetylenic compounds; v 1, The acetylenic alcohols. (My '48)

Aleck Bell, ingenious boy. Widdemer, M. C. (Ag '48)

Aleko's island. Fenton, E. (D '48)

Aleksieev, Konstantin Sergieevich (Constantin Stanislavski, pseud)

Cole, T., comp. Acting. (Mr '48)

Alexander, the Great

Burn, A. R. Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic empire. (S '48)

Tarn, W. W. Alexander the Great, 2v. (O '48)

Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic empire. Burn, A. R. (S '48)

Ali Haider, emir shereef

Stitt, G. Prince of Arabia. (O '48)

Alice's family. Beim, L. L. (D '48)

Alkanes. See Paraffins

Alkylation of alkanes; v 1, Patents on alkylation of alkanes. Egloff, G., and Hulla, G. (D '48)

All about dogs, dogs, dogs. Skaar, G. M. (Ap '48)

All about modern decorating [rev & enl ed]. Gillies, M. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

All around the town. McGinley, P. (N '48)

All Hallows' eve. Williams, C. (D '48)

All manner of men. Ross, M. H. (Ap '48)

All men are liars. Tillett, D. S. (D '48)

All our years. Lovett, R. M. (Ag '48)

All the best in England. Clark, S. A. (Je '48)

All the best in the Caribbean. Clark, S. A. (Ap '48)

All the girls we loved. De Pereda, P. (Mr '48)

All things considered. O'Brien, H. V. (Je '48)

All trivial fond records. Harper, A. (My '48)

All your idols. Sylvester, H. (O '48)

Allen, Ethan

Fiction

Van de Water, F. F. Reluctant rebel. (My '48)

Allied military government

Holborn, H. American military government. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Alloys

Boas, W. M. Introduction to the physics of metals and alloys. (S '48)

Harrington, R. H. Modern metallurgy of alloys. (S '48)

Mason, C. W. Introductory physical metallurgy. (My '48)

Allston, Washington

Richardson, E. P. Washington Allston. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Almae matres. Malim, F. B. (My '48)

Alone to the alone. Eng title of: Venus and the voters. Thomas, G. (Mr '48)

Along Yosemite trails. Muench, J. (N '48)

Alphabet

History

Diringer, D. Alphabet. (N '48)

Ogg, O. 26 letters. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Alphabet. Diringer, D. (N '48)

Alphabet books

Van Stockum, H. Angels' alphabet. (D '48)

Alsos. Goudsmit, S. A. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Alternating-current machinery. Tarboux, J. G. (Ap '48)

Alternative to futility. Trueblood, D. E. (Ag '48)

Alternative to serfdom. Clark, J. M. (My '48)

Aluminum

Brown, H., and others. Aluminum and its applications. (Ag '48)

Hobbs, D. B. Working with aluminum. (Ap '48)

Juvenile literature

Metcalfe, J. M. Aluminum from mine to sky. (Ap '48)

Aluminum alloys

Brown, H., and others. Aluminum and its applications. (Ag '48)

Aluminum and its applications. Brown, H., and others. (Ag '48)

Aluminum from mine to sky. Metcalfe, J. M. (Ap '48)

Always murder a friend. Scherf, M. (Mr '48)

Always the need. Keith, J. J. (S '48)

Amanda said the grass was green. Bunker, R. M. (My '48)

Amateur naturalist's handbook. Brown, V. (N '48)

Amateur theatricals

Davis, E. C., ed. 8 popular plays for amateurs in prompt book style. (My '48)

Smith, M. M. Play production. (O '48)

America
Description and travel
Juvenile literature
Elms, F. R. Stories of neighbor nations. (Je '48)
Discovery and exploration
Coleman, R. V. First frontier. (Ap '48)
America and war. French, M. O. (My '48)
America through British eyes [new rev ed]. Nevins, A., ed. (O '48)
American book of days [rev ed]. Douglas, G. W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
American building. Fitch, J. M. (My '48)
American children through their books. Kiefer, M. (S '48)
American churches. Sweet, W. W. (Ag '48)
American college dictionary; ed. by Clarence L. Barnhart. (Mr '48)
American Constitution. Kelly, A. H., and Harbison, W. A. (O '48)
American democracy. Laski, H. J. (Ag '48)
American democracy and the World war, v3; Paxson, F. L. (S '48)
American diplomacy and the War of the Pacific. Millington, H. (O '48)
American diplomacy in the international community. Graham, M. W. (O '48)
American drama
Collections
Davis, E. C., ed. 8 popular plays for amateurs in prompt book style. (My '48)
American dreams. Parrington, V. L. (My '48)
American economic history. Mitchell, B. and L. P. (Je '48)
American economy. Flink, S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
American economy. Slichter, S. H. (D '48)
American educational directory. Patterson, H. L., ed. (Je '48)
American fiction
History and criticism
Cowie, A. Rise of the American novel. (Ag '48)
Gloster, H. M. Negro voices in American fiction. (Ag '48)
Parrington, V. L. American dreams. (My '48)
American fiction, 1774-1850. Wright, L. H. (D '48)
American folk art. Lipman, J. H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
American folk songs for children. Seeger, R. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
American foreign policy. Chamberlain, L. H., and Snyder, R. C., eds. (S '48)
American foreign service. Childs, J. R. (Ap '48)
American foundations and their fields, sixth survey. (O '48)
American historians and European immigrants. Saveth, E. N. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
American interior design. Rogers, M. R. (My '48)
American landscape painting. Born, W. (D '48)
American language; suppl. II. Mencken, H. L. (My '48)
American Legion
Gray, J., and Bernstein, V. H. Inside story of the Legion. (N '48)
American literature
Collections
Brady, C. A., ed. Catholic reader. (My '48)
Greene, W., ed. Star reporters. (S '48)
Linscott, R. N. State of mind. (S '48)
Rosenberger, F. C., ed. Virginia reader. (D '48)
Seaver, E., ed. Cross section, 1948. (Je '48)
Wood, J. P., ed. One hundred years ago. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
Hart, J. D. Oxford companion to American literature [2d ed rev & enl]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
History and criticism
Mott, F. L. Golden multitudes. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Spiller, R. E., and others, eds. Literary history of the United States. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Alabama
Ellison, R. C. Early Alabama publications. (My '48)
New England
Untermeyer, L., ed. Anthology of the New England poets. (S '48)
Virginia
Rosenberger, F. C., ed. Virginia reader. (D '48)
American me. Griffith, B. W. (D '48)
American medical research, past and present. Shryock, R. H. (Je '48)
American memoir. Canby, H. S. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
American military government. Holborn, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
American military government in Germany. Zink, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
American municipal government and administration. MacCorkle, S. A. (O '48)
American names. Gannett, H. (Je '48)
American opinion on world affairs in the atomic age. Cottrell, L. S., and Eberhart, S. (D '48)
American overture. Goodman, A. V. (Ap '48)
American painting: first flowers of our wilderness. Flexner, J. T. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
American people. Gorer, G. (My '48)
American poetry
Collections
Adshead, G. L., and Duff, A., eds. Inheritance of poetry. (O '48)
Untermeyer, L., ed. Anthology of the New England poets. (S '48)
Williams, O., ed. Little treasury of American poetry. (S '48)
History and criticism
Poets at work. (Ap '48)
American political tradition and the men who made it. Hofstadter, R. (O '48)
American presidency in action, 1789. Hart, J. (N '48)
American public education. Douglass, H. R., and Grieder, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
American sea songs and chanteys. Shay, F. (D '48)
American sexual behavior and the Kinsey report. Ernst, M. L., and Loth, D. G. (Ag '48)
American spiritual autobiographies. Finkelstein, L., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual) American sporting dogs. Connett, E. V., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
American vanguard. Wolfe, D. M., ed. (S '48)
American way in community life. Steinberg, S., and Knowlton, D. C. (Je '48)
American women of nursing. Yost, E. (Mr '48)
American wool handbook [2d enl ed]. Von Bergen, W., and Mauersberger, H. R. (Ag '48)
Americanisms
Mallery, R. D. Our American language. (Mr '48)
Mencken, H. L. American language; suppl. II. (My '48)
Americans. Eng title of: American people. Gorer, G. (My '48)
Americans from Holland. Mulder, A. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Americans from Hungary. Lengyel, E. (Je '48)
Americans from Japan. Smith, B. (O '48)
Americans in Italy
Savo, J. Little world, hello! (Mr '48)
America's destiny. Finer, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
America's fifty foremost business leaders. Forbes, B. C., ed. (D '48)
America's heartland. Wertenbaker, G. P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
America's sheep trails. Wentworth, E. N. (D '48)
Amik, the life story of a beaver. Henderson, L. M. (Je '48)
Amino acids
Sahyun, M., ed. Proteins and amino acids in nutrition. (S '48)
Ammianus Marcellinus
Thompson, E. A. Historical work of Ammianus Marcellinus. (N '48)
Among the nations. Lewisohn, L., ed. (My '48)
Among those absent. Coles, M. (S '48)

Amos and the moon. Balet, J. B. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Analysis of political behaviour. Lasswell, H. D. (N '48)
Anatomy, Artistic
Anderson, C. W. Sketchbook. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Anatomy of paradise. Furnas, J. C. (N '48)
Ancestor worship
Hsü, F. L. K. Under the ancestor's shadow. (O '48)
Ancient Egyptian religion. Frankfort, H. (N '48)
Ancient plants, and the world they lived in. Andrews, H. N. (Ag '48)
And be a villain. Stout, R. (N '48)
And let us reason together. Gordon, G. A. (My '48)
And she had a little knife. Watkins, A. (N '48)
And then came fear. Cumberland, M. (O '48)
And there I stood with my piccolo. Willson, M. (N '48)
Anesthetics
Shane, S. M. Out of this world. (Je '48)
Angel in the wardrobe. Tallant, R. (O '48)
Angelo's wife. Myers, V. (N '48)
Angels' alphabet. Van Stockum, H. (D '48)
Anglers all. Foote, J. T. (Mr '48)
Angler's choice. Walden, H. T., ed. (My '48)
Anglican communion
Haselmayer, L. A. Lambeth and unity. (S '48)
Angry woman. Ronald, J. (N '48)
Animal analogy in Shakespeare's character portrayal. Yoder, A. (My '48)
Animal facts and fallacies. Breland, O. P. (D '48)
Animal lore
Ley, W. Lungfish, the dodo, and the unicorn [new ed rev & enl]. (D '48)
Animal lore and disorder. Riddell, J. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Animal painting and illustration
Tunnicliffe, C. F. How to draw farm animals. (D '48)
Animal sounds. Mason, G. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Animals, Habits and behavior of Breland, O. P. Animal facts and fallacies. (D '48)
Bridges, W. True zoo stories. (N '48)
Campbell, S. A. On wings of cheer. (O '48)
Clark, A. H. Animals alive. (O '48)
Devoe, A. Speaking of animals. (Mr '48)
Eckstein, G. Everyday miracle. (S '48)
Animals, Legends and stories of
Clewes, D. Wild wood (Ag '48)
Fenton, C. L. Wild folk at the pond. (N '48)
Salten, F., comp. Favorite animal stories. (D '48)
Animals, Mythical
Verrill, A. H. Strange prehistoric animals and their stories. (S '48)
Animals alive. Clark, A. H. (O '48)
Animals came first. Welch, J. L. (D '48)
Anne Boleyn, consort of Henry VIII, king of England
Drama
Anderson, M. Anne of the thousand days. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Anne of Brittany, consort of Louis XII, king of France
Juvenile literature
Brock, E. L. Little duchess, Anne of Brittany. (O '48)
Anne of the thousand days. Anderson, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Anne Snow, mountain nurse. Deming, D. (Ap '48)
Annie Jordan. Post, M. B. (Ag '48)
Anniversary. Lewisohn, L. (Mr '48)
Another such victory. Weaver, J. D. (My '48)
Another year. Sherriff, R. C. (My '48)
Answer to question 33. Sykes, C. (N '48)
Ant hill odyssey. Mann, W. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Anthology. Sarmiento, D. F. (S '48)
Anthology of contemporary Latin-American poetry. Fitts, D., ed. (S '48)
Anthology of Irish verse. Colum, P., ed. (Ag '48)
Anthology of the New England poets. Untermeyer, L., ed. (S '48)
Anthropology
Coon, C. S., ed. Reader in general anthropology. (D '48)
Gillin, J. P. Ways of men. (S '48)
Herskovits, M. J. Man and his works. (O '48)
Malinowski, B. Magic, science and religion. (O '48)
Antipathies and prejudices
MacIver, R. M. More perfect union. (Ag '48)
Antique furniture for modern rooms. Wenham, E. G. (S '48)
Antiques
Drepperd, C. W., and Guild, L. V. New geography of American antiques. (Je '48)
Ormsbee, T. H., ed. Prime antiques and their current prices. (Ap '48)
Yates, R. F. How to restore antiques. (O '48)
Anti-Semite and Jew. Sartre, J. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Anything but love. Hawes, E. (O '48)
Ape and essence. Huxley, A. L. (O '48)
Apologetics. See Christianity—Evidences
Apostolic fathers. (Ap '48)
Appleseed farm. Douglas, E. T. (My '48)
Appointment on the Hill. Detzer, D. (My '48)
Approach to modern painting. Davidson, M. (S '48)
Approach to the ballet. Franks, A. H. (D '48)
Approved history of the Olympic games. Henry, W. M. (S '48)
April showers. Love, K. I., comp. (Je '48)
Arab lands. Brittain, M. Z. (Ap '48)
Arabesque. Household, G. (Je '48)
Arabia
Juvenile literature
Brittain, M. Z. Arab lands. (Ap '48)
Arabian bird. Fitz Gibbon, C. (Je '48)
Arabs
Steiner, M. J. Inside Pan-Arabia. (Ag '48)
Arbitration, Industrial
Copelof, M. Management-union arbitration. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Kennedy, T. Effective labor arbitration. (N '48)
Zack, S. R. Arbitration of labor disputes. (Je '48)
Arbitration of labor disputes. Zack, S. R. (Je '48)
Archaeology
Lothrop, E. B. Throw me a bone. (My '48)
Architects of the Republic. Kingdon, F. (Ap '48)
Architectural construction. Crane, T. (Ap '48)
Architecture
Pevsner, N. Outline of European architecture. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Reynolds, J. Andrea Palladio. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
England
Lees-Milne, J. Age of Adam. (Je '48)
Pilcher, D. E. Regency style. (N '48)
Mexico
Kubler, G. Mexican architecture of the sixteenth century, 2v. (N '48)
Russia
Voyce, A. Russian architecture. (N '48)
United States
Fitch, J. M. American building. (My '48)
Architecture, Domestic
Laughlin, C. J. Ghosts along the Mississippi. (My '48)
Pilcher, D. E. Regency style. (N '48)
Rogers, M. R. American interior design. (My '48)
Sleeper, C. B. and H. R. House for you to build, buy or rent. (Je '48)
Williams, H. L. and O. K. Modernizing old houses. (O '48)
Designs and plans
Duncan, K. Home builder's handbook. (D '48)
Hawkins, R. R., and Abbe, C. H. New houses from old. (S '48)
Prize homes. (N '48)
Progressive architecture (periodical). Homes. (My '48)
Simon, M. J., ed. Your solar house. (Ap '48)

Architecture, Modern
  Hitchcock, H. R. Painting toward architecture. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. New world of space. (Je '48)
Arctic regions
  MacMillan, M. L. Green seas and white ice. (N '48)
  Mirsky, J. To the Arctic [rev & expanded ed]. (My '48)
    Juvenile literature
  McCracken, H. Toughy: bulldog in the Arctic. (N '48)
Ardennes, Battle of the, 1944-1945
  Merriam, R. E. Dark December. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Argentina
    Social conditions
  Taylor, C. C. Rural life in Argentina. (O '48)
Armchair in hell. Kane, H. (Mr '48)
Armed vision. Hyman, S. E. (Ag '48)
Armenia
  Vertanes, C. A. Armenia reborn. (S '48)
Armenia reborn. Vertanes, C. A. (S '48)
Arms makers of the Connecticut valley. Deyrup, F. J. (N '48)
Army air forces in World war II; v. 1. United States. Air force, Department of. Office of air force history. (O '48)
Army wife. Shea, N. B. (S '48)
Arnold, Matthew
  Brown, E. K. Matthew Arnold. (Je '48)
Aroostook county, Maine
  Hamlin, H. Pine, potatoes and people. (Ag '48)
Art
  Greenough, H. Form and function. (My '48)
    History
  Berenson, B. Aesthetics and history in the visual arts. (D '48)
  Gardner, H. Art through the ages [3d ed]. (D '48)
  Taylor, F. H. Taste of angels. (N '48)
    Philosophy
  Berman, E. D. Thomas Jefferson among the arts. (My '48)
  Gotshalk, D. W. Art and the social order. (Mr '48)
  Saarinen, E. Search for form. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
    Psychology
  Schaefer-Simmern, H. Unfolding of artistic activity. (Ag '48)
    Study and teaching
  Bethers, R. Pictures, painters, and you. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Kainz, L. C., and Riley, O. L. Exploring art. (My '48)
  Rothenstein, M. Looking at paintings. (Mr '48)
  Wickiser, R. L. Introduction to art activities. (Mr '48)
    Belgium
  Visser, H. F. E. Asiatic art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
    England
  Harvey, J. H. Gothic England. (Mr '48)
    Netherlands
  Visser, H. F. E. Asiatic art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
    United States
  Berman, E. D. Thomas Jefferson among the arts. (My '48)
  Kouwenhoven, J. A. Made in America. (D '48)
Art, Abstract
  Hitchcock, H. R. Painting toward architecture. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Art, Chinese
  Carter, D. O. Four thousand years of China's art. (Ag '48)
  Silcock, A. Introduction to Chinese art and history. (Ag '48)
Art, Commercial
  Brosnac, E. How to make money in commercial art. (S '48)
  Harris, B. J. Airbrush illustration. (O '48)
Art, Gothic
  Harvey, J. H. Gothic England. (Mr '48)
Art, Oriental
  Visser, H. F. E. Asiatic art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Art, Persian
  Persian art and design influences from the Near and Middle East. (N '48)
Art and faith. Maritain, J., and Cocteau, J. (Ag '48)
Art and society
  Finkelstein, S. Art and society. (Je '48)
  Gotshalk, D. W. Art and the social order. (Mr '48)
Art and the social order. Gotshalk, D. W. (Mr '48)
Art in the early church. Lowrie, W. (Mr '48)
Art industries and trade
  Lipman, J. H. American folk art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Rosenthal, R., and Ratzka, H. L. W. Story of modern applied art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Art objects
  Taylor, F. H. Taste of angels. (N '48)
Art of adventure. Linklater, E. (S '48)
Art of being happy. Kling, S. G. and E. B., eds. (D '48)
Art of Chinese paper folding for young and old. Soong, M. H. (Je '48)
Art of detection. Fisher, J. (My '48)
Art of fiction. James, H. (Je '48)
Art of happy marriage. Magner, J. A. (Ap '48)
Art of hooked-rug making. Batchelder, M. R. (Mr '48)
Art of Italian cooking. Lo Pinto, M. (Je '48)
Art of judging music. Thomson, V. (Ap '48)
Art of knotting and splicing. Day, C. L. (Ap '48)
Art of the film. Lindgren, E. (S '48)
Art through the ages [3d ed]. Gardner, H. (D '48)
Article writing and marketing. Bird, G. L. (Ag '48)
Artists
    Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Barjansky, C., and Denniston, E. Portraits with backgrounds. (Mr '48)
  Delacroix, E. Journal. (Ag '48)
  Grosser, M. R. Painting in public. (Ap '48)
Artists, American
  Sears, C. E. Highlights among the Hudson River artists. (My '48)
Arts and crafts
  Leeming, J. Money-making hobbies. (O '48)
  Plath, I. Decorative arts of Sweden. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Arts of the church. Ritter, R. H. (My '48)
As luck would have it. Eisenschiml, O., and Long, E. B. (N '48)
As others see us. Visson, A. (D '48)
As we see Russia. Overseas press club of America. (N '48)
Ashes and fire. Pat, J. (Ag '48)
Asia
    Politics
  Park, N. White man's peace. (S '48)
Asiatic art. Visser, H. F. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Assessment of men. United States. Strategic services, office of. Assessment staff. (S '48)
Astronomy, Spherical and practical
  Nassau, J. J. Practical astronomy. (D '48)
Asylum for the queen. Jordan, M. A. (Ag '48)
At Snug Harbor inn. Seymour, A. H. (Je '48)
At the end of the Santa Fe trail. Segale, B. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway company
  Armitage, M. Operations Santa Fé. (S '48)
Atlantic frontier. Wright, L. B. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Atlantic ocean
  Snow, E. R. Mysteries and adventures along the Atlantic coast. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Atlases
  Hammond's new world atlas. (O '48)
Atomic bomb
  Cottrell, L. S., and Eberhart, S. American opinion on world affairs in the atomic age. (D '48)

Goudsmit, S. A. Alsos. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Lang, D. Early tales of the atomic age. (O '48)
United States. Joint task force one. Bombs at Bikini. (Ag '48)

Physiological effect
Bradley, D. J. No place to hide. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Atomic energy
Bradley, D. J. No place to hide. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Darrow, K. K. Atomic energy. (D '48)
Davis, H. M. Energy unlimited. (Ap '48)
Lang, D. Early tales of the atomic age. (O '48)
Moore, H. H., ed. Survival or suicide. (O '48)
Newman, J. R., and Miller, B. S. Control of atomic energy. (Je '48)
Royal institute of international affairs. Atomic energy. (N '48)
Atomic energy. Royal institute of international affairs. (N '48)
Atonement
Baillie, D. M. God was in Christ. (D '48)
Auctions
Bean, G. H. Yankee auctioneer. (N '48)
Audiovisual aids to instruction. Exton, W. (Je '48)
Audubon, John James

Drama
West, J. Mirror for the sky. (My '48)

Augustus, emperor of Rome

Juvenile literature
Foster, G. S. Augustus Caesar's world. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Augustus and the desert. Henderson, Le G. (D '48)
Augustus Caesar's world. Foster, G. S. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Aunt's story. White, P. (Mr '48)
Australia

Economic conditions
Walker, E. R. Australian economy in war and reconstruction. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Economic policy
Walker, E. R. Australian economy in war and reconstruction. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

History
Grattan, C. H., ed. Australia. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Australian bird life. Barrett, C. L. (Je '48)
Australian economy in war and reconstruction. Walker, E. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

History
Gulick, C. A. Austria from Habsburg to Hitler. (Je '48)

Austria

Politics and government
Gulick, C. A. Austria from Habsburg to Hitler. (Je '48)

Austria from Habsburg to Hitler. Gulick, C. A. (Je '48)
Author bites the dust. Upfield, A. W. (Ap '48)
Authority
Schaffner, B. H. Father land. (S '48)
Authors

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Bellah, J. W. Irregular gentleman. (Je '48)
Bottome, P. Search for a soul. (N '48)
Brittain, V. M. On being an author. (O '48)
Bromfield, L. Malabar Farm. (Je '48)
Brooks, V. Chilmark miscellany. (D '48)
Canby, H. S. American memoir. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Chekhov, A. P. Personal papers. (Ag '48)
Coatsworth, E. J. South Shore town. (D '48)
Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v 1. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v2. (Ag '48)
Guérard, A. L. Personal equation. (Je '48)
Maurois, A. From my journal. (Ap '48)
Paul, E. H. Ghost town on the Yellowstone. (S '48)
Richardson, H. H. Myself when young. (S '48)
Rilke, R. M. Letters, 1910-1926. (Ap '48)
Rinehart, M. R. My story. (D '48)
Robinson, E. A. Untriangulated stars. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Sitwell, O. Laughter in the next room. (N '48)

Authors, Roman Catholic
Hoehn, M. A., ed. Catholic authors. (S '48)
Authorship
Bird, G. L. Article writing and marketing. (Ag '48)
Brittain, V. M. On being an author. (O '48)
Hogrefe, P. Process of creative writing. (Je '48)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Skillin, M. E., and others. Words into type. (N '48)

Autobiography. Bloom, S. (N '48)
Autobiography. Gandhi, M. K. (O '48)
Automobiles

Driving
American automobile association. Sportsmanlike driving. (Je '48)

Autumn comes to Meadow Brook farm. Keeler, K. S. (N '48)
Avenue of stone. Johnson, P. H. (My '48)
Aviators
Ingells, D. J. They tamed the sky. (Ap '48)
Awol, the rajah. Shurtleff, B. L. (N '48)
Azor. Crowley, M. (O '48)

Babar's cousin. Brunhoff, L. de. (D '48)
Babe Ruth. Meany, T. (Mr '48)
Babe Ruth. Weldon, M. (Je '48)
Babe Ruth story. Ruth, G. H. (Je '48)
Baby book of knitting and crochet. Mathieson, E. L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Baby care from birth to birthday. Lawler, E. G. (Ag '48)
Baby lamb. Boley, J. (My '48)
Bachelor seals. Dibner, M. (Mr '48)
Bacteriophage
Northrop, J. H., and others. Crystalline enzymes. (D '48)
Bait for murder. Knight, K. M. (O '48)
Baited blonde. MacLean, R. (N '48)
Balance of power
Wittmann, E. History. (O '48)
Balance of power. Moon, H. L. (Ag '48)
Balkan politics. Roucek, J. S. (O '48)
Balkan states
Roucek, J. S. Balkan politics. (O '48)
Ballads
Lomax, J. A. and A., eds. 111 best American ballads: Folk song, U.S.A. (Je '48)
Ballet
Franks, A. H. Approach to the ballet. (D '48)
Seymour, M. On ballet. (Mr '48)
Soviet ballet, by Juri Slonimsky, and others. (Je '48)
Banks, Nathaniel Prentice
Harrington, F. H. Fighting politician. (D '48)
Banks and banking
Madden, J. T., and others. Money market primer. (S '48)

Great Britain
Balogh, T. A. Studies in financial organization. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Barbed-wire surgeon. Weinstein, A. A. (My '48)
Barberi, Domenico
Gwynn, D. R. Father Dominic Barberi. (O '48)
Baring, Maurice
Lovat, L. L. F. Maurice Baring. (S '48)
Baritone. Laufferty, L. (S '48)
Barjansky, Catherine
Barjansky, C., and Denniston, E. Portraits with backgrounds. (Mr '48)
Barkingtons. Palmer, R. (Ag '48)
Barnyard family. Hogner, D. C. (N '48)
Barrios, Justo Rufino

Juvenile literature
Raine, A. Eagle of Guatemala. (Ap '48)

Baseball
Allen, L. Cincinnati Reds. (Je '48)
DiMaggio, J. P. Baseball for everyone. (Ag '48)
Feller, R. W. A. How to pitch. (O '48)
Garreau, G. Bat boy of the Giants. (Je '48)
Robinson, J. R. My own story. (Je '48)
Juvenile literature
Treat, R. L. Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers. (My '48)
Baseball for everyone. DiMaggio, J. P. (Ag '48)
Bases and empire. Marion, G. (S '48)
Basic constitutional cases. Post, C. G., and others, eds. (D '48)
Basic issues of American democracy. Bishop, H. M., and Hendel, S. eds. (S '48)
Basic tools for woodworking. Frankl, L. (D '48)
Basic writings. Washington, G. (O '48)
Basis and structure of knowledge. Werkmeister, W. H. (D '48)
Basketball
Hobson, H. A. Basketball illustrated. (Je '48)
Basketball illustrated. Hobson, H. A. (Je '48)
Bass bug fishing. Brooks, J. (Mr '48)
Bass fishing
Brooks, J. Bass bug fishing. (Mr '48)
Bat boy of the Giants. Garreau, G. (Je '48)
Battle of the conscience. Bergler, E. (O '48)
Battle report, v4. Karig, W., and others. (Ag '48)
Battlefronts of industry. Woodbury, D. O. (N '48)
Baudelaire, Charles Pierre
Fiction
White, C. W. Midnight gardener. (O '48)
Bauer, Harold
Bauer, H. Harold Bauer, his book. (O '48)
Baxter, Richard
Kemp, C. F. Pastoral triumph. (O '48)
Bean, George H.
Bean, G. H. Yankee auctioneer. (N '48)
Beany Malone. Weber, L. M. (Je '48)
Bears
Legends and stories
Franklin, G. C. Monte. (Ag '48)
Hamilton, E. Go West, young bear. (Ag '48)
Ogston, H. Piney bear. (My '48)
Bears. Krauss, R. (D '48)
Beast in me and other animals. Thurber, J. (N '48)
Beauty, Personal
Daly, S. J. Pretty, please. (D '48)
Ryan, M. G., and Phillips, V. Clothes for you. (Ag '48)
Scott, J. U. Lessons in loveliness. (Ap '48)
Beavers
Legends and stories
Henderson, L. M. Amik, the life story of a beaver. (Je '48)
Beckoning trails. Loring, E. B. (Mr '48)
Bedrock. Schrag, O. (My '48)
Bees
Curtis, G. DeC. Bees' ways. (Ag '48)
Bees' ways. Curtis, G. DeC. (Ag '48)
Beethoven, Ludwig van
Quartets
Mason, D. G. Quartets of Beethoven. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Beginner's guide to wild flowers. Hausman, E. H. (O '48)
Beginning. Horan, R. (Ag '48)
Behind the log. Pratt, E. J. (Ag '48)
Behind the silver shield. Floherty, J. J. (N '48)
Behold the spirit. Watts, A. W. (Ap '48)
Being an American. Douglas, W. O. (S '48)
Belinda and the magic journey. Gee, H. and S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bell, Alexander Graham
Juvenile literature
Widdemer, M. C. Aleck Bell, ingenious boy. (Ag '48)
Bell ringers. Swartsfager, V. (N '48)
Bellah, James Warner
Bellah, J. W. Irregular gentleman. (Je '48)
Bellevue story. Cooper, P. (D '48)
Bellini, Giovanni
Wind, E. Bellini's Feast of the gods. (S '48)
Bellini's Feast of the gods. Wind, E. (S '48)
Beloved bondage. Yates, E. (D '48)
Ben-Hur Wallace. McKee, I. (Mr '48)
Beneath the shadow. Bertram, J. M. (Mr '48)
Benjamin, Judah Philip
Fiction
Abrahams, R. D. Mr. Benjamin's sword. (O '48)
Benjamin, Park
Hoover, M. M. Park Benjamin, poet and editor. (S '48)
Benjamin Lawless. Gann, E. K. (D '48)
Bennett place. De Capite, M. (Mr '48)
Beno, the Riverburg mayor. Blough, G. O. (My '48)
Berchmans, Mother Marie. See Marie Berchmans, Mother
Berkshire hills
Peattie, R., ed. Berkshires. (Ag '48)
Berkshires. Peattie, R., ed. (Ag '48)
Berlin reparations assignment. Ratchford, B. U., and Ross, W. D. (Mr '48)
Bermuda islands
Description and travel
Roberts, W. A. Lands of the inner sea. (Mr '48)
Bernheimer, Charles Seligman
Bernheimer, C. S. Half a century in community service. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Berry scene. Mercer, C. W. (Je '48)
Berryman, George Carroll
Berryman, O. L. Pioneer preacher. (D '48)
Bertie takes care. Felsen, G. (N '48)
Best American short stories, 1948. Foley, M., ed. (N '48)
Best books of the decade, 1936 to 1945. Dickinson, A. D., comp. (S '48)
Best cartoons of the year 1948. Lariar, L., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Best detective stories of the year, 1948. Cooke, D. C., ed. (O '48)
Best is none too good. Martin, R. G. (Ap '48)
Best of art. Genauer, E. (Ap '48)
Best of Clarence Day. Day, C. S. (Ag '48)
Best of times. Bemelmans, L. (D '48)
Best one-act plays. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (S '48)
Best sermons, 1947-48. Butler, G. P., ed. (Ap '48)
Best short stories. Dickens, C. (Mr '48)
Best sport stories, 1948. Marsh, I. T., and Ehre, E., eds. (Ag '48)
Bet a million. Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. (D '48)
Betsy and Joe. Lovelace, M. H. (N '48)
Better speeches for all occasions. Wright, C. W. (Ag '48)
Better ways of growing up. Crawford, J. E., and Woodward, L. E. (Je '48)
Between man and man. Buber, M. (D '48)
Between you and me. Nizer, L. (S '48)
Beverages, Alcoholic
Embury, D. A. Fine art of mixing drinks. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Beveridge, Annette (Akroyd)
Beveridge of Tuggal, W. H. B. India called them. (Je '48)
Beveridge, Henry
Beveridge of Tuggal, W. H. B. India called them. (Je '48))
Bewitched caverns. Rienow, L. T. (Ag '48)
Beyond the forest. Engstrand, S. D. (N '48)
Bible. Whole
About the Bible
Smart, W. A. Still the Bible speaks. (N '48)
Willoughby, H. R., ed. Study of the Bible today and tomorrow. (Je '48)
Criticism, interpretation, etc.
Grant, R. M. Bible in the church. (Ap '48)
Bible. Old Testament
About the Old Testament
Goldman, S. Book of books: an introduction. (S '48)

Commentaries

Alleman, H. C., and Flack, E. E., eds. Old Testament commentary. (S '48)

History of biblical events

Matthews, I. G. Religious pilgrimage of Israel. (Ap '48)

Prophecies

Baker, G. P. Witness of the prophets. (O '48)

Parts of the Old Testament

Prophetical books

Paterson, J. Goodly fellowship of the prophets. (Ag '48)

Bible. New Testament

About the New Testament

Bibliography

Lyons, W. N., and Parvis, M. M., eds. New Testament literature. (S '48)

Parts of the New Testament

Epistles

Easton, B. S. Pastoral Epistles. (N '48)

Gospels—Pictorial illustrations

Bible. New Testament. Selections. Scenes from the life of Jesus in woodcuts. (Mr '48)

Single books

Romans

Scott, E. F. Paul's Epistle to the Romans. (Ap '48)

Bible in the church. Grant, R. M. (Ap '48)

Bible in the schools

Johnson, A. W., and Yost, F. H. Separation of church and state in the United States. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Bible stories

Hartman, G. In Bible days. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Bibliography

Best books

Dickinson, A. D. comp. Best books of the decade, 1936 to 1945. (S '48)

Graham, B. Bookman's manual [6th ed rev & enl]. (N '48)

Mott, F. L. Golden multitudes. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Bicycles

McFarlane, J. W. It's easy to fix your bike. (Je '48)

Big Divide. Lavender, D. S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Big farmer Big. Jackson, K. and B. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Big Fat. Tireman, L. S. (Mr '48)

Big fisherman. Douglas, L. C. (D '48)

Big freeze. Partridge, B. (O '48)

Big game hunting. Keith, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Big Jim Turner. Stevens, J. (N '48)

Big nine. Roberts, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Big shark. Dickson, H. (D '48)

Big snow. Hader, B. H. and E. (D '48)

Big wave. Buck, P. S. (My '48)

Bikini island

United States. Joint task force one. Bombs at Bikini. (Ag '48)

Bill, the brave. Weil, L. (My '48)

Billy Budd. Melville, H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Billy's picture. Rey, M. E. W. and H. A. (O '48)

Biography

Indexes

Biography index. (My '48)

Biography (individual)

Abraham, G. E. H., ed. Music of Sibelius. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Acland, A. Caroline Norton. (O '48)

Adams, A. S. New letters, 1788-1801. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Alden, J. R. General Gage in America. (S '48)

Allan, H. S. John Hancock, patriot in purple. (S '48)

Ames, V. M. André Gide. (Mr '48)

Andrews, H. Westminster retrospect. (O '48)

Barjansky, C., and Denniston, E. Portraits with backgrounds. (Mr '48)

Bauer, H. Harold Bauer, his book. (O '48)

Bean, G. H. Yankee auctioneer. (N '48)

Bellah, J. W. Irregular gentleman. (Je '48)

Berman, E. D. Thomas Jefferson among the arts. (My '48)

Bernanos, G. Sanctity will out. (Ap '48)

Bernheimer, C. S. Half a century in community service. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Berryman, O. L. Pioneer preacher. (D '48)

Beveridge of Tuggal, W. H. B. India called them. (Je '48)

Bishop, M. G. Champlain. (D '48)

Bloom, S. Autobiography. (N '48)

Bolitho, H. Reign of Queen Victoria. (D '48)

Bonn, M. J. Wandering scholar. (D '48)

Bottome, P. Search for a soul. (N '48)

Brant, I. James Madison [v2] The nationalist. (Ap '48)

Brittain, F. Arthur Quiller-Couch. (D '48)

Broekman, D. H. Shoestring symphony. (N '48)

Brown, E. K. Matthew Arnold. (Je '48)

Buaken, M. I have lived with the American people. (Ag '48)

Bullett, G. W. George Eliot. (My '48)

Burn, A. R. Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic empire. (S '48)

Canby, H. S. American memoir. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Cantwell, R. Nathaniel Hawthorne; the American years. (N '48)

Casey, R. J. Mr. Clutch. (S '48)

Chaplin, R. Wobbly. (N '48)

Chase, I. Free admission. (My '48)

Chase, M. E. Jonathan Fisher. (D '48)

Cochran, B. W. Without halos. (Ap '48)

Cole, G. D. H. Samuel Butler. (D '48)

Cooper, L. U. Robert Louis Stevenson. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Corle, E. John Studebaker. (D '48)

Cove, J. W. Sheridan. (N '48)

Cowell, F. R. Cicero and the Roman republic. (O '48)

Criss, M. Jefferson's daughter. (Ag '48)

Cromwell, O. Writings and speeches, v4. (Je '48)

Crumbine, S. J. Frontier doctor. (D '48)

Davies, D. R. Reinhold Niebuhr. (S '48)

Degas, H. G. E. Letters. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Delacroix, E. Journal. (Ag '48)

Denholm-Young, N. Richard of Cornwall. (Je '48))

Dent, E. J. Handel. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

De Tolnay, C. Medici chapel. (N '48)

Deutsch, O. E., ed. Schubert reader. (Ap '48)

Doan, E. N. La Follettes and the Wisconsin idea. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Doherty, E. J. Tumbleweed. (N '48)

Donald, D. H. Lincoln's Herndon. (O '48)

Doty, S. Life of Sile Doty. (O '48)

Douthit, D. Nobody owns us. (S '48)

Drake, C. Mr Aladdin. (Mr '48)

Duus, O. F. Frontier parsonage. (S '48)

Eastman, M. Enjoyment of living. (My '48)

Edge, W. E. Jerseyman's journal. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Edison, T. A. Diary and sundry observations. (Je '48)

Ellmann, R. Yeats, the man and the masks. (D '48)

Ernst, M. L. So far so good. (N '48)

Erskine, J. My life as a teacher. (Je '48)

Fairley, B. Study of Goethe. (Ap '48)

Farber, M. Blackstone and White rock. (O '48)

Farley, J. A. Jim Farley's story. (Ap '48)

Flexner, J. T. John Singleton Copley. (D '48)

Flower, N. George Frideric Handel. (Ag '48)

Fowler, G. B. Intellectual interests of Engelbert of Admont. (Je '48)

Frear, W. F. Mark Twain and Hawaii. (Ap '48)

Freeman, D. S. George Washington, v 1-2. (N '48)

Freidel, F. Francis Lieber. (Ag '48)

Friede, D. Mechanical angel. (Je '48)

Frisbie, F. Miss Ulysses from Puka-Puka. (My '48)

Gade, J. A. Life and times of Tycho Brahe. (Ap '48)

Gaige, C. Footlights and highlights. (D '48)

Gambrell, H. P. Anson Jones. (Ap '48)

Gandhi, M. K. Autobiography. (O '48)

Geiringer, K. Brahms: his life and work [2d ed rev & enl]. (Ap '48)

Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v 1. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Biography (individual)—Continued
Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v2. (Ag '48)
Gill, E. Letters. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Godwin, E. and S. Warrior bard. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Goebbels, J. Goebbels diaries. (Je '48)
Goodrich, L. Yasuo Kuniyoshi. (O '48)
Goodspeed, E. J. Paul. (Ap '48)
Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)
Grant, B. Isaac Hull, captain of Old Ironsides. (Mr '48)
Green, A. With much love. (Je '48)
Gregory, A. Day is gone. (My '48)
Guérard, A. L. Personal equation. (Je '48)
Gwynn, D. R. Father Dominic Barberi. (O '48)
Haberly, L. Pursuit of the horizon. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hadley, M. Arthur Twining Hadley. (O '48)
Hagedorn, H. Prophet in the wilderness. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Haley, J. E. Jeff Milton. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Harper, A. All trivial fond records. (My '48)
Harrington, F. H. Fighting politician. (D '48)
Helm, M. John Marin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hill, R. Brahms. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hine, R. L. Confessions of an un-common attorney. (Ap '48)
Hirsch, M. D. William C. Whitney, modern Warwick. (N '48)
Hodgin, E. S. Confessions of an agnostic clergyman. (N '48)
Hodgkin, L. V. Gulielma. (Mr '48)
Holberg, R. L. Gilbert Stuart. (N '48)
Hole, M. C. Bartolomé Mitre. (My '48)
Hoover, M. M. Park Benjamin, poet and editor. (S '48)
Hughes, A. P. Music is my life. (Ap '48)
Hull, C. Memoirs. (Je '48)
Hutchings, A. J. B. Delius. (Ag '48)
Infeld, L. Whom the gods love. (Ap '48)
Iremonger, F. A. William Temple. (D '48)
Ives, B. Wayfaring stranger. (D '48)
Jayne, M. S.-R. Hugo Gurgeny. (S '48)
Jenkins, E. Henry Fielding. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Johnson, G. W. Liberal's progress. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Johnson, W. William Allen White's America (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Jones, E. D. Lincoln and the preachers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Jones, E. S. Mahatma Gandhi. (N '48)
Joy, C. R., and Arnold, M. Africa of Albert Schweitzer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Kafka, F. Diaries, 1910-1913. (Je '48)
Kahnweiler, D. H. Juan Gris. (Ag '48)
Karr, J. Grace Livingston Hill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Kemp, C. F. Pastoral triumph. (O '48)
Kiely, B. Poor scholar. (S '48)
Koriakov, M. I'll never go back. (Ag '48)
Krutch, J. W. Henry David Thoreau. (N '48)
Kuz'minskai͡a, T. A. B. Tolstoy as I knew him. (O '48)
La Guardia, F. H. Making of an insurgent. (Ag '48)
Landreth, H. Pursuit of Robert Emmet. (Ap '48)
Lang, L. F. R. Tomorrow is beautiful. (D '48)
Laval, P. Diary. (N '48)
La Vergne, Y., de. Madame Elisabeth of France. (S '48)
Lavrin, J. Pushkin and Russian literature. (Ag '48)
Lees-Milne, J. Age of Adam. (Je '48)
Lehmann, L. My many lives. (Ag '48)
Lehmann-Hartleben, K. Thomas Jefferson. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Lincoln, A. Autobiography. (Ap '48)
Littlehales, L. Pablo Casals [2d ed rev & enl]. (D '48)
Lovat, L. L. F. Maurice Baring. (S '48)
Lovett, R. M. All our years. (Ag '48)
Lubac, H. de. Un-Marxian socialist. (O '48)
Lyon, S. Life and times of Prosper Mérimée. (O '48)
Lyons, E. Our unknown ex-president. (Ag '48)
McGurrin, J. Bourke Cockran. (Ap '48)
McKee, I. Ben-Hur Wallace. (Mr '48)
McLean, J. E. William Rufus Day. (Ag '48)
McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. Harry Truman, president. (Ag '48)
Madelin, L. Talleyrand. (Ag '48)
Maimon, S. Autobiography. (Mr '48)
Malone, D. Jefferson and his time; v 1, Jefferson the Virginian. (My '48)
Mann, W. M. Ant hill odyssey. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
March, H. Two worlds of Marcel Proust. (Ag '48)
Martynov, I. I. Shostakovich. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mathews, B. J. Booker T. Washington. (N '48)
Maurer, H. Great soul. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mauriac, F. Saint Margaret of Cortona. (O '48)
Maurois, A. From my journal. (Ap '48)
Maynard, T. Fire was lighted. (Je '48)
Maynard, T. Humanist as hero. (Mr '48)
Maynard, T. Richest of the poor. (Je '48)
Meany, T. Babe Ruth. (Mr '48)
Mellquist, J., and Wiese, L., eds. Paul Rosenfeld. (Je '48)
Melville, H. Journal of a visit to London and the Continent. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Menjou, A. It took nine tailors. (Ap '48)
Merton, T. Exile ends in glory. (N '48)
Merton, T. Seven storey mountain. (N '48)
Middleton, R. D. Newman and Bloxam. (S '48)
Morais, H. M., and Cahn, W. Gene Debs. (D '48)
More, T. Correspondence. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Morrow, J. Scientist with Perry in Japan. (Mr '48)
Muller, H. J. Thomas Wolfe. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Murphy, E. F. Mademoiselle Lavallière. (S '48)
Neff, E. E. Edwin Arlington Robinson. (D '48)
Nehru, J. Nehru on Gandhi. (Ag '48)
Neider, C., ed. Stature of Thomas Mann. (My '48)
Nowell-Smith, S., comp. Legend of the master: Henry James. (Je '48)
O'Connor, R. Thomas, Rock of Chickamauga. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Olivier, S. H. O. Letters and selected writings. (Ag '48)
Palmer, F. John J. Pershing. (N '48)
Pares, B. Wandering student. (Ap '48)
Pease, H. L. Singing rails. (O '48)
Peckham, H. H. Pontiac and the Indian uprising. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Perry, R. B. Thought and character of William James. (My '48)
Pinchot, G. Breaking new ground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Poe, E. A. Letters. (D '48)
Pretorius, P. J. Jungle man. (O '48)
Pye, E. Biography of a mind. (N '48)
Quarles, B. Frederick Douglass. (O '48)
Rees, J. R., ed. Case of Rudolf Hess. (Ap '48)
Rewald, J. Paul Cézanne. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Reyburn, H. A., and others. Nietzsche, the story of a human philosopher. (S '48)
Reyher, R. H. Zulu woman. (Je '48)
Reynolds, J. Andrea Palladio. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Richards, W. C. Last billionaire, Henry Ford. (Ap '48)
Richardson, E. P. Washington Allston. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Richardson, H. H. Myself when young. (S '48)
Riess, C. Joseph Goebbels. (O '48)
Rilke, R. M. Letters, 1910-1926. (Ap '48)
Rinehart, M. R. My story. (D '48)
Robinson, E. A. Untriangulated stars. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Robinson, J. R. My own story. (Je '48)
Roditi, E. Oscar Wilde. (Ap '48)
Rodman, S. Horace Pippin, a Negro painter in America. (Mr '48)
Roeder, R. Juarez and his Mexico. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Rogers, W. G. When this you see remember me. (S '48)
Rollins, H. E., ed. Keats circle. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Roosevelt, F. D. F.D.R., his personal letters, 1905-1928. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Roth, C. House of Nasi: Doña Gracia. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Royden, A. M. Threefold cord. (D '48)
Ruggles, E. Journey into faith. (Ag '48)
Rush, B. Autobiography. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ruth, G. H. Babe Ruth story. (Je '48)
Sabartes, J. Picasso. (Ag '48)
Samuel, M. Prince of the ghetto. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Samuels, E. Young Henry Adams. (D '48)
Sassoon, S. Meredith. (N '48)
Sayre, P. L. Life of Roscoe Pound. (D '48)
Scholes, P. A. Great Dr Burney. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Schonfield, H. J. Jew of Tarsus. (My '48)
Schweitzer, A. Goethe. (S '48)
Scott, G. Lucy Walter. (N '48)
Seesholtz, A. G. Saint Elizabeth. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Segale, B. At the end of the Santa Fe trail. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Selle, E. A. Donald of China. (Ap '48)
Sellers, C. C. Charles Willson Peale. (Ag '48)
Service, R. W. Harper of heaven. (My '48)
Sheerin, M. W. S. W. Parson takes a wife. (D '48)
Shub, D. Lenin. (Je '48)
Simon, M. R. Glory of Thy people. (My '48)
Sitwell, O. Laughter in the next room. (N '48)
Skinner, C. O. Family circle. (O '48)
Smith, A. J. Brother Van. (Je '48)
Stewart, R. Nathaniel Hawthorne. (D '48)
Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. On active service in peace and war. (Je '48)
Stitt, G. Prince of Arabia. (O '48)
Stone, I. Earl Warren. (O '48)
Stringer, A. J. A. Red wine of youth. (S '48)
Sugrue, T. Stranger in the earth. (My '48)
Summersby, K. Eisenhower was my boss. (N '48)
Sward, K. T. Legend of Henry Ford. (Ag '48)
Tarn, W. W. Alexander the Great, 2v. (O '48)
Tebbel, J. W. George Horace Lorimer and The Saturday evening post. (Je '48)
Thompson, J. A. Scenes of my childhood. (N '48)
Thornton, W. Nine lives of citizen Train. (D '48)
Timmons, B. N. Garner of Texas. (D '48)
Tittle, W. Roosevelt as an artist saw him. (O '48)
Toksvig, S. Emanuel Swedenborg. (My '48)
Torrence, F. R. Story of John Hope. (S '48)
Toye, F. For what we have received. (N '48)
Trend, J. B. Bolivar and the independence of Spanish America. (D '48)
Turner, F. C. James II. (N '48)
Tyler, P. Chaplin, last of the clowns. (Ag '48)
Ulanov, B. Incredible Crosby. (Je '48)
Updike: American printer and his Merrymount press. (Ap '48)
Valéry, P. Degas dance drawing. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Vallentin, A. Mirabeau. (Ap '48)
Vidler, A. R. Witness to the light. (N '48)
Villa, J. G., ed. Celebration for Edith Sitwell. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Joan of Arc. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Walpole, H. Correspondence with Thomas Gray, Richard West and Thomas Ashton, v13-14. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Walsh, W. T. Saint Peter, the apostle. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Ward, M. Young Mr Newman. (O '48)
Warfield, F. Cotton in my ears. (Ag '48)
Webb, B. P. Our partnership. (My '48)
Weber, B. Hart Crane. (My '48)
Wechsberg, J. Sweet and sour. (D '48)
Weil, J. R. "Yellow Kid" Weil. (S '48)
Weiner, E. H. Damon Runyon story. (N '48)
Weldon, M. Babe Ruth. (Je '48)
Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. Bet a million. (D '48)
White, E. W. Stravinsky. (Ap '48)
White, W. A., and Wilson, G. B. Letters of William Allen White and a young man. (Ap '48)
White, W. F. Man called White. (N '48)
Whitman, W. David Lilienthal. (Mr '48)
Willcocks, M. P. True-born Englishman. (Ap '48)
Williamson, S. T. Imprint of a publisher. (Ag '48)
Willson, M. And there I stood with my piccolo. (N '48)
Wilson, P. W. General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation army. (S '48)
Winwar, F. Saint and the devil. (Ap '48)
Wise, J. W. Meet Henry Wallace. (N '48)
Wood, L. N. Louis Pasteur. (Je '48)
Yeomans, H. A. Abbott Lawrence Lowell. (Ag '48)
Zabriskie, A. C. Bishop Brent. (S '48)

Juvenile literature

Bakeless, J. E. Fighting frontiersman. (N '48)
Baker, N. B. Robert Bruce: king of Scots. (O '48)
Bartlett, R. M. Sky pioneer. (Mr '48)
Brock, E. L. Little duchess, Anne of Brittany. (O '48)
Burt, O. W. Luther Burbank. (My '48)
Caldwell, C. C. Henry Ford. (Ap '48)
Duvoisin, R. A. Four corners of the world. (D '48)
Eaton, J. That lively man, Ben Franklin. (D '48)
Fles, B. Slavonic rhapsody. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Garst, D. S. Buffalo Bill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harvey, H. B. Claude of France. (D '48)
Humphreys, D. Verdi. (D '48)
Judson, C. I. Reaper man. (O '48)
Lowe, C. Gentle warrior. (D '48)
Newcomb, C. Running waters. (Mr '48)
Raine, A. Eagle of Guatemala. (Ap '48)
Stevenson, A. Buffalo Bill. (My '48)
Treat, R. L. Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers. (My '48)
Vance, M. Patsy Jefferson of Monticello. (D '48)
Wheeler, O. Frederic Chopin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Widdemer, M. C. Aleck Bell, ingenious boy. (Ag '48)
Williams, B. Lillian Wald. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Yaukey, G. S. Nehru of India. (S '48)

Biography (collective)
  American Society of composers, authors, and publishers. ASCAP biographical dictionary. (My '48)
  Barton, R. C. Witnesses for freedom. (S '48)
  Burton, K. K. Three generations. (Mr '48)
  Bychowski, G. Dictators and disciples from Caesar to Stalin. (N '48)
  Cecil, D. Two quiet lives. (Ap '48)
  Dictionnaire de biographie Française. (O '48)
  Elwin, M. First romantics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Finkelstein, L., ed. American spiritual autobiographies. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Finn, B. A. Twenty-four American cardinals. (D '48)
  Forbes, B. C., ed. America's fifty foremost business leaders. (D '48)
  Hoehn, M. A., ed. Catholic authors. (S '48)
  Holbrook, S. H. Little Annie Oakley. (D '48)
  International who's who, 1948. (O '48)
  International world who's who, 1947. (My '48)
  Kingdon, F. Architects of the Republic. (Ap '48)
  Levin, P. R. Seven by chance. (S '48)
  Linklater, E. Art of adventure. (S '48)
  Mathews, W. Dauntless women. (S '48)
  Matthiessen, F. O. James family. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Milhollen, H. D., and Kaplan, M. Presidents on parade. (Je '48)
  Rosen, G. and B. C., eds. 400 years of a doctor's life. (My '48)
  Salter, J. A. Personality in politics. (O '48)
  Schnittkind, H. T. and D. A. 50 great Americans. (Je '48)
  Seagle, W. Men of law. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Seroff, V. I. Mighty five. (Ag '48)
  Sykes, C. Four studies in loyalty. (Je '48)
  Taylor, R. L. Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief. (Ap '48)
  Whitton, M. O. First First ladies, 1789-1865. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Who's important. (My '48)
  Who's who in the East. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Who's who on the Pacific Coast. (My '48)

Biography (collective)—Continued
Yost, E. American women of nursing. (Mr '48)
Young, K. H., and Middleton, L. Heirs apparent. (My '48)
Juvenile literature
Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
McKean, E. Up hill. (Ap '48)
Biography index. (My '48)
Biography of a mind. Pye, E. (N '48)
Biological chemistry
Baldwin, E. J. Dynamic aspects of biochemistry. (Ap '48)
Bird dogs
Davis, H. P. Training your own bird dog. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bird dogs. Holland, R. P. (S '48)
Bird hiking. Hausman, L. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Birds
Green, R. Wing-tips. (S '48)
Lemmon, R. S. How to attract the birds. (Mr '48)
Study and teaching
Hausman, L. A. Bird hiking. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Australia
Barrett, C. L. Australian bird life. (Je '48)
Florida
Cruickshank, H. G. Flight into sunshine. (D '48)
Great Britain
Park, A. F. Making friends with birds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
North America
Peterson, R. T. Birds over America. (D '48)
Birds of ill omen. Knight, K. M. (Je '48)
Birds over America. Peterson, R. T. (D '48)
Birth of Israel. Garcia-Granados, J. (D '48)
Birth of the Christian religion. Loisy, A. F. (N '48)
Birthday party. Milne, A. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bishop Brent. Zabriskie, A. C. (S '48)
Bishop's cap. Watkins, A. (Je '48)
Bittersweet. Harper, M. R. B. (Ap '48)
Black coat. Little, C. and G. (D '48)
Black Cypress. Crane, F. K. (D '48)
Black Dinah. Starr, J. C. (Ag '48)
Black ivory. Collins, N. (O '48)
Black Jade. Taylor, A. (Mr '48)
Black laurel. Jameson, S. (Je '48)
Black odyssey. Ottley, R. (D '48)
Black piano. Little, C. and G. (Ap '48)
Black sail. Anderson, F. M. B. (Ag '48)
Black wings. Lippincott, J. W. (Ap '48)
Blackjack. Kelleam, J. E. (My '48)
Blackstone, William
Poetry
Aiken, C. P. The Kid. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Blackstone and White rock. Farber, M. (O '48)
Bleeding scissors. Fischer, B. (Ag '48)
Blondie Iscariot. Lustgarten, E. M. (O '48)
Blood of others. Beauvoir, S. D. (S '48)
Blood of the martyrs. Mitchison, N. M. H. (N '48)
Blood on the Bosom Devine. Kyd, T. (Ap '48)
Blood on the stars. Dresser, D. (Ag '48)
Bloom, Sol
Bloom, S. Autobiography. (N '48)
Blowtop. Schwartz, A. (Ap '48)
Bloxam, John Rouse
Middleton, R. D. Newman and Bloxam. (S '48)
Blue dowry. Updegraff, F. M. (Je '48)
Blue hour. Freedgood, M. (Je '48)
Blue Spring Farm. Bishop, C. H. (Je '48)
Blueberries for Sal. McCloskey, R. (N '48)
Blueprint for murder. Eng title of: Trouble with murder. Winterton, P. (S '48)
Board of directors and business management. Copeland, M. T., and Towl, A. R. (Ap '48)
Boats and boating
Barnes, H. Your boat. (Je '48)
Bodies and souls. Meersch, M. van der. (My '48)
Body in the bed. Ballinger, W. S. (O '48)
Boiling point. Brooks, R. (Mr '48)
Bold Galilean. Blythe, L. (N '48)
Bolivar, Simon
Trend, J. B. Bolívar and the independence of Spanish America. (D '48)
Bolívar and the independence of Spanish America. Trend, J. B. (D '48)
Bombs at Bikini. United States. Joint task force one. (Ag '48)
Bonn, Moritz Julius
Bonn, M. J. Wandering scholar. (D '48)
Boo, who used to be scared of the dark. Leaf, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Book collecting
Carter, J. Taste and technique in book-collecting. (O '48)
Book of books: an introduction. Goldman, S. (S '48)
Book of Canadian poetry [2d ed]. Smith, A. J. M., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Book of etiquette. Vogue (periodical). (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Book of fine prints [rev ed]. Zigrosser, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Book of great conversations. Biancolli, L. L., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Book of nature hobbies. Pettit, T. (Mr '48)
Book of Stillmeadow. Taber, G. B. (Ag '48)
Book of the horse. Vesey-Fitzgerald, B. S., ed. (Ag '48)
Book of the lion. Daly, E. (Ag '48)
Book of the short story [new enl ed]. Canby, H. S., and Bailey, R., eds. (D '48)
Book of three festivals. Lillie, A. M. (My '48)
Bookman's manual [6th ed rev & enl]. Graham, B. (N '48)
Books
Examinations, questions, etc.
Harshaw, R. H., and MacBean, D. W. What book is that? (D '48)
Prices
United States cumulative book auction records, 1940-45. (Je '48)
Books and bipeds. Starrett, V. (My '48)
Books and reading
Dickinson, A. D., comp. Best books of the decade, 1936-1945. (S '48)
Starrett, V. Books and bipeds. (My '48)
Books of faith and power. McNeill, J. T. (Ap '48)
Booksellers and bookselling
Graham, B. Bookman's manual [6th ed rev & enl]. (N '48)
Boom town boy. Lenski, L. (O '48)
Boone, Daniel
Juvenile literature
Bakeless, J. E. Fighting frontiersman. (N '48)
Booth, Evangeline Cory
Wilson, P. W. General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation army. (S '48)
Boots. Meek, S. St P. (D '48)
Boppet, please stop it. Binney, I. (Je '48)
Bordeaux and the Gironde. Brace, R. M. (S '48)
Borderline murder. Knight, K. M. (Mr '48)
Borg, George William
Casey, R. J. Mr. Clutch. (S '48)
Bosch, Hieronymus (Hieronymus van Aeken)
Combe, J. Hieronimus Bosch. (My '48)
Boston
Description
McCord, D. T. W. About Boston. (D '48)
Social life and customs
Linscott, R. N. State of mind. (S '48)
Boston. Baseball club (American league)
Hirshberg, A. Red Sox. (Mr '48)
Boston. Baseball club (National league)
Kaese, H. Boston Braves. (Je '48)
Boston Braves. Kaese, H. (Je '48)
Boston college, Boston
Dunigan, D. R. History of Boston college. (S '48)
Boston murders. Makris, J. N., ed. (N '48)
Bosworth, Edward Increase
Pye, E. Biography of a mind. (N '48)

Botany
Asch, J. Story of plants. (O '48)

Juvenile literature

McClintock, M. Leaf, fruit and flower. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Bottome, Phyllis
Bottome, P. Search for a soul. (N '48)
Bound for Singapore. Pease, H. (D '48)

Bowdoin (ship)
MacMillan, M. L. Green seas and white ice. (N '48)

Bowie, James
Thorp, R. W. Bowie knife. (D '48)
Bowie knife. Thorp, R. W. (D '48)
Bowl of light. Liston, E. (S '48)
Boy's book of rifles. Chapel, C. E. (D '48)
Boy's book of snakes. Morris, P. A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Boys' prayers. Bartlett, R. M. (Mr '48)

Brahe, Tyge
Gade, J. A. Life and times of Tycho Brahe. (Ap '48)

Brahms, Johannes
Geiringer, K. Brahms: his life and work [2d ed rev & enl]. (Ap '48)
Hill, R. Brahms. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Brain
Halstead, W. C. Brain and intelligence. (My '48)
Brain and intelligence. Halstead, W. C. (My '48)
Bramble. McCarthy, M. S. (Je '48)
Bramble bush. Duncan, D. (S '48)
Brandy for a hero. O'Farrell, W. (Ap '48)

Brazil
Hill, L. F., ed. Brazil. (Ap '48)

Description and travel

Harding, B. L. Southern empire: Brazil. (D '48)

Brazilian literature
Putnam, S. Marvelous journey. (Ag '48)

Collections

Onis, H. de., ed & tr. Golden land. (D '48)

Bread

Juvenile literature

Hollos, C. Story of your bread. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Bread for the living. Lasswell, M. (S '48)
Breaking new ground. Pinchot, G. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Brensham village. Moore, J. C. (My '48)

Brent, Charles Henry
Zabriskie, A. C. Bishop Brent. (S '48)
Bride of fortune. Kane, H. T. (N '48)
Bridge at Branfield. Greene, J. E. (Je '48
Bridie Steen. Crone, A. (O '48)
Bright feather. Wilder, R. (Ag '48)
Bright leaf. Fitz-Simons, F. (N '48)
Bright with silver. Pinkerton, K. S. G. (Mr '48)

Brighton, England
Dale, A. Fashionable Brighton. (N '48)
Britain in wonderland. Eng title of: You can't turn the clock back. Mackay, R. W. G. (O '48)
Britannica junior. (O '48)
British post office. Robinson, H. (S '48)
British universities. Roberts, S. C. (O '48)
Broadcast operators handbook. Ennes, H. E. (Ag '48)

Broekman, David Hendrines
Broekman, D. H. Shoestring symphony. (N '48)

Bronte family
Bentley, P. E. Brontës. (D '48)
Brontës. Bentley, P. E. (D '48)

Brooke, Rupert
Stringer, A. J. A. Red wine of youth. (S '48)

Brooklyn. Baseball club (National league)
Durant, J. Dodgers. (Ag '48)
Durocher, L. E. Dodgers and me. (Ag '48)
Brother Van. Smith, A. J. (Je '48)
Brown fox mystery. Queen, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bruce Benson, son of fame. Neilson, F. F. J. and W. (D '48)

Buaken, Manuel
Buaken, M. I have lived with the American people. (Ag '48)

Bucket boy. Meyer, E. L. (Ag '48)

Buddha and Buddhism

Fiction

Payne, P. S. R. Yellow robe. (Je '48)
Buffalo Bill. Garst, D. S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Buffalo Bill. Stevenson, A. (My '48)
Buffalo gold. Wyatt, G. T. (O '48)
Builders of the Old World. Hartman, G., and Saunders, L. S. (Ag '48)

Building
Burbank, N. L., comp. Practical job pointers [2d rev ed]. (Mr '48)
Crane, T. Architectural construction. (Ap '48)
Duncan, K. Home builder's handbook. (D '48)
Durbahn, W. E. Fundamentals of carpentry. (Je '48)
Fitch, J. M. American building. (My '48)
Hansen, H. J., ed. Timber engineers' handbook. (Je '48)

Repair and reconstruction

Crouse, W. H. Home guide to repair, upkeep and remodeling. (My '48)
Hawkins, R. R., and Abbe, C. H. New houses from old. (S '48)
Williams, H. L. and O. K. Modernizing old houses. (O '48)

Tables, calculations, etc.

Hansen, H. J., ed. Timber engineers' handbook. (Je '48)

Building materials
Moore, H. F. Textbook of the materials of engineering [7th ed]. (Ap '48)

Bulbs
Mueller, C. H. Bulbs for beauty. (Ag '48)
Wister, J. C. Bulbs for home gardens. (D '48)
Bulbs for beauty. Mueller, C. H. (Ag '48)
Bulbs for home gardens. Wister, J. C. (D '48)

Bull, Ole Bornemann

Juvenile literature

Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bullivant and the Lambs. Compton-Burnett, I. (Ag '48)

Bunyan, Paul
Stevens, J. Paul Bunyan [2d ed]. (Ag '48)

Burbank, Luther

Juvenile literature

Burt, O. W. Luther Burbank. (My '48)
Buried are screaming. Waren, H. (My '48)

Burma

Economic conditions

Andrus, J. R. Burmese economic life. (O '48)
Burmese economic life. Andrus, J. R. (O '48)

Burney, Charles
Scholes, P. A. Great Dr Burney. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Burnished blade. Schoonover, L. L. (N '48)

Burns, Robert

Fiction

Barke, J. Song in the green thorn tree. (Ag '48)
Burns Mantle best plays of 1947-48. Chapman, J. A., ed. (D '48)
Burr Oaks. Eberhart, R. (Ag '48)

Business
Kaplan, A. D. H. Small business. (D '48)

Business education
Pierce, J. A. Negro business and business education. (Ap '48)
Business, legal, and ethical phases of engineering. Canfield, D. T., and Bowman, J. H. (D '48)

Business management
Copeland, M. T., and Towl, A. R. Board of directors and business management (Ap '48)
Trundle, G. T., ed. Managerial control of business. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Business men
Forbes, B. C., ed. America's fifty foremost business leaders. (D '48)

Business of farming. Degraff, H. F., and Haystead, L. (S '48)
Busy busy people. Spewack, S. (D '48)
But death runs faster. McGivern, W. P. (Je '48)
But the patient died. Macqueen, J. W. (N '48)
Butler, Samuel
  Cole, G. D. H. Samuel Butler. (D '48)
Buy it for a song. Scott, J. D. (Je '48)
Buying
  Heinritz, S. F. Purchasing. (My '48)
  Margolius, S. How to buy more for your money. (Je '48)
Buying country property. Moral, H. R. (Je '48)
By firelight. Eng title of: By this strange fire. Pargeter, E. (My '48)
By secret railway. Meadowcroft, E. L. (D '48)
By sun and star. Oakes, V. A. (D '48)
By this strange fire. Pargeter, E. (My '48)

Cache Lake country. Rowlands, J. J. (Mr '48)
Caesar, Caius Julius
  Fiction
  Balderston, J. L., and Bolitho, S. Goddess to a god. (D '48)
  Wilder, T. N. Ides of March. (Ap '48)
Calcium
  Physiological effect
  Sherman, H. C. Calcium and phosphorus in foods and nutrition. (My '48)
Calcium and phosphorus in foods and nutrition. Sherman, H. C. (My '48)
Calculated risk. Armstrong, H. F. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Calculating machines
  Svoboda, A. Computing mechanisms and linkages. (S '48)
Calculus
  Murnaghan, F. D. Introduction to applied mathematics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
California
  Fitzell, L. County lines. (Je '48)
  Description and travel
  Helper, H. R. Dreadful California. (N '48)
  Hoover, M. B., and others. Historic spots in California. (N '48)
  Tavenner, B. Seeing California. (S '48)
  Gold discoveries
  Caughey, J. W. Gold is the cornerstone. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Weston, O. Mother Lode album. (O '48)
  History
  Royce, J. California. (O '48)
  Juvenile literature
  Buell, R. K. California stepping-stones. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Pictorial works
  Van Nostrand, J. S., and Coulter, E. M. California pictorial. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Sources
  Thompson, A. B. China trade days in California. (O '48)
  Social life and customs
  Shippey, L. It's an old California custom. (Ap '48)
  Views
  Weston, O. Mother Lode album. (O '48)
California, Lower
  Description and travel
  Gardner, E. S. Land of shorter shadows. (Je '48)
California pictorial. Van Nostrand, J. S., and Coulter, E. M. (F '49) (1948 Annual) California stepping-stones. Buell, R. K. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Caligula; and Cross purpose. Camus, A. (S '48)
Call for the Saint. Charteris, L. (Ap '48)
Call of the land. Sherman, H. M. (My '48)
Call to what is vital. Jones, R. M. (D '48)
Camera art as a means of self-expression. Thorek, M. (Ap '48)
Campaign literature, 1948
  Macdonald, D. Henry Wallace. (Ap '48)
  McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. Harry Truman, president. (Ag '48)
  Stone, I. Earl Warren. (O '48)
  Wallace, H. A. Toward world peace. (Je '48)
  Wise, J. W. Meet Henry Wallace. (N '48)
Campaign of Princeton. Bill, A. H. (S '48)
Campbell, Archibald
  Fiction
  Porteus, S. D. Restless voyage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Camping
  Dimock, H. S., ed. Administration of the modern camp. (N '48)
  Halsted, H. B. How to live in the woods. (S '48)
  Weaver, R. W., and Merrill, A. F. Camping can be fun. (Je '48)
Camping can be fun. Weaver, R. W., and Merrill, A. F. (Je '48)
Can you name them? Bethers, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Canada
  Description and travel
  Steel, B. Let's visit Canada. (S '48)
Canadian poetry
  Collections
  Smith, A. J. M., ed. Book of Canadian poetry [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Canadian summer. Van Stockum, H. (Je '48)
Candle for St. Jude. Godden, R. (S '48)
Canny Mr. Glencannon. Gilpatric, G. (Ag '48)
Cantos. Pound, E. L. (O '48)
Cape Breton island
  MacNeil, N. Highland heart in Nova Scotia. (S '48)
  Walworth, A. C. Cape Breton. (S '48)
Capitalism
  Clark, F. G., and Rimanoczy, R. S. How to be popular though conservative. (O '48)
Captain comes home. Eng title of: Lost captain. Ashton, H. (My '48)
Captain for Elizabeth. Westcott, J. V. (D '48)
Captain Juniper. Hubbard, M. A. (Ap '48)
Caravan of music stories. Fabricant, N. D., and Werner, H., eds. (My '48)
Card tricks
  Hugard, J., and Braue, F. Royal road to card magic. (Je '48)
Cardinals
  Finn, B. A. Twenty-four American cardinals. (D '48)
Cards
  Morehead, A. H., and Mott-Smith, G. Games for two. (Ap '48)
Care of pictures. Stout, G. L. (N '48)
Caribbean cruise. Bertram, K. and R. H. (Je '48)
Caribbean sea
  Blanshard, P. Democracy and empire in the Caribbean. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Clark, S. A. All the best in the Caribbean. (Ap '48)
  Mitchell, C. Islands to windward. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Perkins, D. United States and the Caribbean. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Caricatures and cartoons
  Auerbach-Levy, W., and Von Wien, F. Is that me? (Mr '48)
  Berger, O. A la carte. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Clark, F. G., and Rimanoczy, R. S. How to be popular though conservative. (O '48)
  Dean, A. What am I doing here? (Mr '48)
  Dunn, A. East of Fifth. (My '48)
  Dunn, A. Last lath. (Mr '48)
  Hokinson, H. E. When were you built? (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Lariar, L., ed. Best cartoons of the year 1948. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Taylor, R. D. Introduction to cartooning. (My '48)
  Webster, H. T. How to torture your husband. (S '48)
  Webster, H. T. How to torture your wife. (O '48)
  Webster, H. T. Who dealt this mess? (S '48)
Carleton, William
  Kiely, B. Poor scholar. (S '48)
Carnacki. Hodgson, W. H. (My '48)

Carola. Linebarger, P. M. A. (Mr '48)
Caroline, Mother
Juvenile literature
Newcomb, C. Running waters. (Mr '48)
Carpentry
Burbank, N. L., comp. Practical job pointers [2d rev ed]. (Mr '48)
Durbahn, W. E. Fundamentals of carpentry. (Je '48)
Frankl, L. Basic tools for woodworking. (D '48)
Juvenile literature
Taylor, J. Child's book of carpentry. (Ap '48)
Carriage and wagon making
Riker, B. Pony wagon town, along U.S. 1890. (N '48)
Carroll, Anna Ella
Fiction
Noble, H. Woman with a sword. (S '48)
Cartels or competition? Stocking, G. W., and Watkins, M. W. (N '48)
Casals, Pablo
Littlehales, L. Pablo Casals [2d ed rev & enl]. (D '48)
Case for De Gaulle. Malraux, A., and Burnham, J. (Je '48)
Case history of Japan. Lyell, T. R. G. (O '48)
Case of Rudolf Hess. Rees, J. R., ed. (Ap '48)
Case of the curious client. Bush, C. (S '48)
Case of the eight brothers. Heberden, M. V. (N '48)
Case of the lonely heiress. Gardner, E. S. (Ap '48)
Case of the Nazarene reopened. Goldin, H. E. (N '48)
Case of the seven whistlers. Bellairs, G. (S '48)
Case of the vagabond virgin. Gardner, E. S. (S '48)
Case of William Smith. Wentworth, P. (N '48)
Caste
Cox, O. C. Caste, class and race. (Ap '48)
Caste, class and race. Cox, O. C. (Ap '48)
Castle Gillian. Eng title of: Damsel debonaire. Walsh, M. (Ag '48)
Castle in the swamp. Marshall, E. (D '48)
Castle of Grumpy Grouch. Donahey, M. A. D. (Ag '48)
Catalina. Maugham, W. S. (N '48)
Cataloging
Vatican. Biblioteca apostolic vaticana. Rules for the catalog of printed books. (D '48)
Catalogue of Rembrandt's selected drawings. Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn. (N '48)
Catch me if you can. McGerr, P. (D '48)
Cathedrals
France
Clark, S. A. Today in cathedral France [rev ed]. (S '48)
Cathode ray tube displays. Soller, T., and others. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Cathode ray tubes
Soller, T., and others, eds. Cathode ray tube displays. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Catholic action
Keller, J. G. You can change the world! (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Catholic authors. Hoehn, M. A., ed. (S '48)
Catholic library practice. Martin, D., ed. (Ap '48)
Catholic picture dictionary. Pfeiffer, H. A. (Je '48)
Catholic reader. Brady, C. A., ed. (My '48)
Cathy Carlisle. Lansing, E. C. H. (Ag '48)
Catlin, George
Haberly, L. Pursuit of the horizon. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Cats
Legends and stories
Salten, F. Jibby the cat. (S '48)
Cats and Rosemary. Swinnerton, F. A. (D '48)
Cats for Kansas. Henderson, Le G. (N '48)
Cats have tall shadows. Hitchens, D. B. (Je '48)
Cattle trade
Rollinson, J. K. Wyoming cattle trails. (Je '48)
Causes of catastrophe. Leet, L. D. (Ap '48)
Causeway. Lear Heap, W. (O '48)
Cavendish, Thomas
Fiction
Westcott, J. V. Captain for Elizabeth. (D '48)
Caves
Perry, C. W. Underground empire. (O '48)
Celebration for Edith Sitwell. Villa, J. G., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
The cellar. Eng title of: Buy it for a song. Scott, J. D. (Je '48)
Centrifugal and axial flow pumps. Stepanoff, A. J. (Ag '48)
Centrifugal pumps. See Pumping machinery
Century of British painters. Redgrave, R. and S. (D '48)
Ceramic sculpture. Randall, R. H. (S '48)
Cervantes Saavedra, Miguel de
Flores, A., and Benardete, M. J., eds. Cervantes across the centuries. (D '48)
Cervantes across the centuries. Flores, A., and Benardete, M. J., eds. (D '48)
Cezanne, Paul
Rewald, J. Paul Cézanne. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chagres river
Minter, J. E. The Chagres. (O '48)
Chairs
Drepperd, C. W. Handbook of antique chairs. (O '48)
Challenge of democracy [rev ed]. Blaich, T. P., and Baumgartner, J. C. (My '48)
Challenge of parenthood. Dreikurs, R. (My '48)
Challenge of the American know-how. Clark, P. F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chamber music
Ulrich, H. Chamber music. (O '48)
Chamber's mineralogical dictionary [new ed]. (N '48)
Championship golf. Zaharias, M. B. D. (O '48)
Champlain, Samuel de
Bishop, M. G. Champlain. (D '48)
Champlin encyclopedia. Champlin, J. D. (O '48)
Chang, Poling
There is another China. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Change and crisis in European government. Pollock, J. K., ed. (Ap '48)
Changing China. Forman, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chanties
Shay, F. American sea songs and chanteys. (D '48)
Chaplin, Charles Spencer
Tyler, P. Chaplin, last of the clowns. (Ag '48)
Chaplin, Ralph
Chaplin, R. Wobbly. (N '48)
Chaplin, last of the clowns. Tyler, P. (Ag '48)
Chapman, John
Juvenile literature
Douglas, E. T. Appleseed farm. (My '48)
Character education
Kuhn, A. L. Mother's role in childhood education. (Ap '48)
Character of England. Barker, E., ed. (Mr '48)
Charade. Morris, E. (O '48)
Charities
Lasser, J. K. How tax laws make giving to charity easy. (D '48)
Charity organization
King, C. Organizing for community action. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Street, E. Handbook for social agency administration. (Je '48)
Charles W. Morgan (ship)
Haley, N. C. Whale hunt. (Ag '48)
Chase, Ilka
Chase, I. Free admission. (My '48)
Chatfield, Minnesota
Snyder, M. I. Chosen valley. (D '48)
Chaucer, Geoffrey
Bennett, H. S. Chaucer and the fifteenth century. (N '48)
Canterbury tales
Bowden, M. A. Commentary on the general prologue to the Canterbury tales. (N '48)
Chaucer and the fifteenth century. Bennett, H. S. (N '48)

Chaucer's England. Eng title of: Chaucer's world. Rickert, E., comp. (Je '48)
Chaucer's world. Rickert, E., comp. (Je '48)
Chautauquas
Case, V. and R. O. We called it culture. (Ap '48)
Checklist of fantastic literature. Bleiler, E. F., ed. (S '48)
Chef's guide to quantity cookery. Breland, J. H. (Ap '48)
Chekhov, Anton Pavlovich
Bruford, W. H. Chekhov and his Russia. (N '48)
Chekhov, A. P. Personal papers. (Ag '48)
Chekhov and his Russia. Bruford, W. H. (N '48)
Chemical architecture. Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. (Ag '48)
Chemical constitution of natural fats [2d ed rev]. Hilditch, T. P. (O '48)
Chemical engineering
Kirkbride, C. G. Chemical engineering fundamentals. (My '48)
Tyler, C., ed. Chemical engineering economics [3d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Problems, exercises, etc.

Kowalke, O. L. Fundamentals in chemical process calculations. (My '48)
Chemical engineering economics [3d ed]. Tyler, C., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemical engineering fundamentals. Kirkbride, C. G. (My '48)
Chemical industries
Kobe, K. A. Inorganic process industries. (N '48)
Tyler, C., ed. Chemical engineering economics [3d ed]. (Ja '49 (1948 Annual)
Chemical insect attractants and repellents. Dethier, V. G. (S '48)
Chemicals, humus, and the soil. Hopkins, D. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry
Currier, A. J., and Rose, A. General and applied chemistry. (N '48)
Elder, A. L., and others. Textbook of chemistry [rev ed]. (S '48)
Hildebrand, J. H. Principles of chemistry [5th ed]. (Je '48)
Masson, L. T. Chemistry made easy. (Ag '48)
Neal, R. E. Chemistry in nursing. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Whittaker, R. M. Rudiments of chemistry. (Ag '48)

Tables, etc.

Kaye, G. W. C., and Laby, T. H. Tables of physical and chemical constants [10th ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry, Medical and pharmaceutical
Williams, R. T. Detoxication mechanisms. (S '48)
Chemistry, Organic
Bergmann, E. D. Isomerism and isomerization of organic compounds. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Brewster, R. Q. Organic chemistry. (S '48)
Conant, J. B., and Blatt, A. H. Chemistry of organic compounds [3d ed]. (Mr '48)
Huntress, E. H. Preparation, properties, chemical behavior, and identification of organic chlorine compounds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Newer methods of preparative organic chemistry. (D '48)

Synthesis

Theilheimer, W. Synthetic methods of organic chemistry. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry, Physical and theoretical
Bikerman, J. J. Surface chemistry for industrial research. (S '48)
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical architecture. (Ag '48)
Daniels, F. Outlines of physical chemistry. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Tables, etc.

Kaye, G. W. C., and Laby, T. H. Tables of physical and chemical constants [10th ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry, Technical
Bikerman, J. J. Surface chemistry for industrial research. (S '48)
Chemistry. Noyes, W. A., ed. (O '48)
Chemistry and technology of waxes. Warth, A. H. (Je '48)
Chemistry in nursing. Neal, R. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry made easy. Masson, L. T. (Ag '48)
Chemistry of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides [2d ed]. Frear, D. E. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chemistry of organic compounds [3d ed]. Conant, J. B., and Blatt, A. H. (Mr '48)
Chemistry of organic cyanogen compounds. Migrdichian, V. (Ap '48)
Chemistry of the acetylenic compounds; v 1, The acetylenic alcohols. Johnson, A. W. (My '48)
Chemistry of the polysaccharides. McIlroy, R. J. (N '48)
Chess
Chernev, I., and Reinfeld, F. Winning chess. (Ag '48)
Fine, R. Practical chess openings. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hanauer, M. L. Chess for you and me. (O '48)
Chess for you and me. Hanauer, M. L. (O '48)
Chestry oak. Seredy, K. (D '48)
Chicago

Economic conditions

Belcher, W. W. Economic rivalry between St. Louis and Chicago. (S '48)

Views

Haug, A. E. Chicago. (O '48)
Chicago and North Western railway
Casey, R. J., and Douglas, W. A. S. Pioneer railroad. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chicago, Milwaukee, St Paul and Pacific Railroad
Derleth, A. W. Milwaukee road. (Je '48)
Child and his welfare. Fredericksen, H. (N '48)
Child is right. Hemming, J., and Balls, J. (S '48)
Child offenders. Goldberg, H. L. (Ag '48)
Child study
Bossard, J. H. S. Sociology of child development. (S '48)
Dreikurs, R. Challenge of parenthood. (My '48)
Gesell, A. L. Studies in child development. (O '48)
Hamilton, G. Psychotherapy in child guidance. (S '48)
Hemming, J., and Balls, J. Child is right. (S '48)
Meyer, G. E., ed. Studies of children. (Je '48)
Patri, A. How to help your child grow up. (Ag '48)
Children

Charities, protection, etc.

Fredericksen, H. Child and his welfare. (N '48)
Meyer, G. E., ed. Studies of children. (Je '48)
Swartsfager, V. Bell ringers. (N '48)
Zaki, A. Study of child welfare in a rural New York county. (O '48)

Management

Dreikurs, R. Challenge of parenthood. (My '48)
Ellenwood, J. L. Just and durable parents. (O '48)
Hemming, J., and Balls, J. Child is right. (S '48)
Patri, A. How to help your child grow up. (Ag '48)
Shultz, G. D., and Hill, L. F. Your baby. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Teal, V. It was not what I expected. (O '48)
Children, Gifted
Terman, L. M., and others. Gifted child grows up. (Mr '48)
Children and books. Arbuthnot, M. H. (Mr '48)
Children and religion. Chaplin, D. P. (S '48)
Children in Bali
McPhee, C. Club of small men. (My '48)
Children in Korea
Fairfax, V., and Buie, H. Ke Sooni. (Je '48)
Children in Peru
Stark, B. S. Adventure in Peru. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Children in the United States
Kiefer, M. American children through their books. (S '48)
Children of the people. Leighton, D. C., and Kluckholm, C. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Children of their time. Weiskopf, F. C. (N '48)
Children's literature (books about)
Harshaw, R. H., and MacBean, D. W. What book is that? (D '48)

History and criticism
Arbuthnot, M. H. Children and books. (Mr '48)
Jordan, A. M. From Rollo to Tom Sawyer. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Kiefer, M. American children through their books. (S '48)
Montgomery, E. R. Story behind great stories. (Ap '48)
Children's literature (individual titles)
Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Adams, K. Prince of Paris. (My '48)
Adshead, G. L., and Duff, A., eds. Inheritance of poetry. (O '48)
Alderman, F. L., and Wilson, A. M. About Los Angeles. (S '48)
Alsop, R. F. George and his horse, Bill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ames, M. M. Fork in the trail. (S '48)
Aulaire, I. M. d', and E. P. d'. Nils. (N '48)
Austin, M. Gabriel Churchkitten and the moths. (O '48)
Averill, E. Jenny's first party. (My '48)
Bailey, F. L. Summer at Yellow Singer's. (O '48)
Bailey, R. E. Sea hawks of empire. (D '48)
Bain, E. U. S-O-S helicopter. (Je '48)
Bakeless, J. E. Fighting frontiersman. (N '48)
Baker, C. House on the river. (D '48)
Baker, G. E. Paris of Troy. (My '48)
Balch, G. Wild horse. (Ag '48)
Balet, J. B. Amos and the moon. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bannon, L. M. Watchdog. (Ag '48)
Bartlett, R. M. Sky pioneer. (Mr '48)
Bascom, P. B. From crocus to snowman. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bechdolt, J. E. Going up. (D '48)
Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. Dulcie and the gypsies. (D '48)
Beck, M. I. Tai-Lee's precious seed. (N '48)
Bedier, M. J. My book about God. (Ag '48)
Beim, J. Country fireman. (O '48)
Beim, L. L. Alice's family. (D '48)
Bennett, R. Mick and Mack and Mary Jane. (D '48)
Bentley, E. R. Bernard Shaw. (Mr '48)
Best, A. C. Seven beaver skins. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Best, H. Long portage. (D '48)
Bethers, R. Can you name them? (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bialk, E. Horse called Pete. (Je '48)
Bianco, P. Playtime in Cherry street. (N '48)
Bill, A. H. Ring of danger. (D '48)
Binney, I. Boppet, please stop it. (Je '48)
Bishop, C. H. Blue Spring Farm. (Je '48)
Black, I. S. Spoodles. (My '48)
Black, I. S. Toby, a curious cat. (S '48)
Blackstock, J. Rue plays the game. (My '48)
Blanck, J. Jonathan and the rainbow. (D '48)
Blanton, C. Pedro's choice. (D '48)
Blough, G. O. Beno, the Riverburg mayor. (My '48)
Bolton, I. M. Wayfaring lad. (Je '48)
Bontemps, A. W. Story of the Negro. (Ag '48)
Bothwell, J. Empty tower. (N '48)
Bowen, R. S. Winning pitch. (Ag '48)
Bowen, V. Lazy beaver. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Brann, E. Five puppies for sale. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Breckenfeld, V. G. High trail. (D '48)
Bridges, W. True zoo stories. (N '48)
Brier, H. M. Phantom backfield. (D '48)
Brittain, M. Z. Arab lands. (Ap '48)
Brock, E. L. Little duchess, Anne of Brittany. (O '48)
Bromhall, W. Mary Ann's first picture. (My '48)
Bronson, W. S. Pinto's journey. (Je '48)
Bronson, W. S. Starlings. (Je '48)
Brown, M. W. Little farmer. (Je '48)
Brown, M. W. Wait till the moon is full. (D '48)
Brown, M. W. Wonderful story book. (Ag '48)
Brown, P. Pony farm. (N '48)
Brunhoff, L. de. Babar's cousin. (D '48)
Bryant, B. M. Trudy Terrill. (Ag '48)
Buck, P. S. Big wave. (My '48)
Buell, R. K. California stepping-stones. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bulla, C. R. Riding the pony express. (O '48)
Caire, H. Señor Castillo. (Je '48)
Caldwell, C. C. Henry Ford. (Ap '48)
Callaghan, M. Luke Baldwin's vow. (D '48)
Campbell, A. Tales my father told. (D '48)
Carleton, P. D. Hawk, the white Indian. (Mr '48)
Carmer, C. L. Eagle in the wind. (D '48)
Carter, R. G. Teen-age historical stories. (Ag '48)
Caudill, R. Happy little family. (Mr '48)
Cavanna, B. Girl can dream. (Je '48)
Ceder, G. D. Ethan, the shepherd boy. (My '48)
Chalmers, A. Mr Topple's wish. (D '48)
Chase, R., ed. Grandfather tales. (O '48)
Christ, K. D. Willow Brook farm. (N '48)
Claxton, E. E. Child's grace. (D '48)
Clewes, D. Wild wood. (Ag '48)
Clymer, E. L. Country kittens. (Ap '48)
Colby, J. P. Peter paints the U.S.A. (Je '48)
Colver, A. M. R. Joan, free lance writer. (Je '48)
Conger, M. Rosie the rhino. (My '48)
Cook, C. From the ground up. (D '48)
Coombs, C. I. Teen-age treasure chest of sports stories. (O '48)
Corey, P. Corn gold farm. (D '48)
Cormack, M., and Bytovetzski, P. L. Swamp boy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Credle, E. My pet, Peepelo. (Ag '48)
Cross, G. Little heroes of Hartford. (Ag '48)
Crouse, W. H. Understanding science. (O '48)
Crowell, P. First horseman. (D '48)
Crowley, M. Azor. (O '48)
Dale, N. Exciting journey. (O '48)
Dalgliesh, A. Davenports are at dinner. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Daringer, H. F. Mary Montgomery, rebel. (My '48)
Davis, R. France. (Ap '48)
Davis, R. Padre Porko. (O '48)
Davis, R. That girl of Pierre's. (D '48)
Dean, G. M. Dusty of the Double Seven. (Je '48)
Dean, L. W. Red man's trail. (My '48)
Decker, D. W. Starting pitcher. (Ag '48)
De Leeuw, A. L. Clay fingers. (N '48)
Deming, D. Anne Snow, mountain nurse. (Ap '48)
Denison, C. What every young rabbit should know. (D '48)
Denney, D. Little red engine goes to market. (Ap '48)
Dickson, H. Big shark. (D '48)
Dickson, M. S. Roof over our heads. (O '48)
Dolbier, M. Half-pint Jinni. (O '48)
Donahey, M. A. D. Castle of Grumpy Grouch. (Ag '48)
Doorly, E. Story of France. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Douglas, E. T. Appleseed farm. (My '48)
Downey, F. D. Seventh's staghound. (D '48)
Dunsing, D. M. Swamp shadows. (O '48)
Duvoisin, R. A. Four corners of the world. (D '48)
Eberle, I. Circus of our own. (D '48)
Eberle, I. Steam shovel family. (Ag '48)
Eberle, I. Story of cloth. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Edwards, M. Hobo hound. (S '48)
Eells, M. W. Touch of parsley. (O '48)
Ehrlich, B. Cocolo [new ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Eisenberg, P., and Krasno, H. Guide to children's records. (D '48)
Elting, M., and Gossett, M. Patch. (O '48)
Emblen, D. L. and B. J. M. Palomino boy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Emery, A. Mountain Laurel. (D '48)
Engebretson, B. L. What happened to George? (Ap '48)
Erickson, P. Slip, the story of a little fox. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Estes, E. Sleeping giant. (D '48)
Ets, M. H. Little old automobile. (N '48)
Evans, E. B. Scandinavia. (N '48)

Children's literature (individual titles)—Cont.
Evans, K. Flowers for mother. (Je '48)
Evers, H. and A. Moonymouse. (Ag '48)
Fairfax, V., and Buie, H. Ke Sooni. (Je '48)
Farley, W. Island stallion. (D '48)
Farnam, H., and Wheeler, B. Let's make a puppet! (Ag '48)
Felsen, G. Bertie takes care. (N '48)
Fenton, E. Aleko's island. (D '48)
Fitzgerald, E. Turning point. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Flexner, H. Puzzle pond. (D '48)
Flood, R. T. Pass that puck. (D '48)
Ford, E. Jeff Roberts, railroader. (S '48)
Foster, G. S. Augustus Caesar's world. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Frankel, E. G. Teen-age blues. (Je '48)
Franklin, G. C. Monte. (Ag '48)
Frost, F. M. Sleigh bells for Windy Foot. (D '48)
Fuller, H. K. Manuel goes to sea. (My '48)
Fulton, R. Stevedore. (S '48)
Gannett, R. S. My father's dragon. (Je '48)
Garrett, H. Mr Flip Flop. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Garst, D. S. Buffalo Bill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Garst, D. S. Wish on an apple. (D '48)
Gates, D. My brother Mike. (D '48)
Gatti, A. Here is the veld. (N '48)
Gee, H. and S. Belinda and the magic journey. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Geisel, T. S. Thidwick, the big-hearted moose. (N '48)
George, J. L. and J. Vulpes, the red fox. (Je '48)
Geralton, J. Story of sound. (D '48)
Gilbert, H. E. Dr Trotter and his big gold watch. (D '48)
Gipson, M. Hello Peter. (O '48)
Glenn, E. and M. Dumblebum. (Mr '48)
Glick, C. Mickey wins his feathers. (Ag '48)
Godden, R. Dolls' house. (O '48)
Gordon, P. Witch of Scrapfaggot Green. (My '48)
Gramatky, H. Creeper's jeep. (N '48)
Green, M. M. Is it hard? is it easy? (D '48)
Grew, D. Whitepaw goes north. (S '48)
Grey, E. Elsa's secret. (D '48)
Hader, B. H. and E. Big snow. (D '48)
Hager, A. R. Janice, air line hostess. (Je '48)
Haig-Brown, R. L. H. Saltwater summer. (O '48)
Hall, A. Like father, like fun. (My '48)
Hall, W. N. Christmas pony. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hall-Quest, O. W. Shrine of liberty, the Alamo. (N '48)
Hamilton, E. Go West, young bear. (Ag '48)
Harkins, P. Southpaw from San Francisco. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harper, M. R. B. Bittersweet. (Ap '48)
Hartman, G. In Bible days. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Harvey, H. B. Claude of France. (D '48)
Hayes, F. S. Skid. (N '48)
Haywood, C. Penny goes to camp. (O '48)
Heinlein, R. A. Space cadet. (D '48)
Henderson, L. M. Amik, the life story of a beaver. (Je '48)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus and the desert. (D '48)
Henderson, Le G. Cats for Kansas. (N '48)
Henry, M. King of the wind. (D '48)
Hills, V. Here, Suzy! (N '48)
Hillyer, V. M. Child's history of the world [rev & enl. ed]. (Ap '48)
Hogan, I. Giraffe twins. (O '48)
Hogan, I. Read to me about Peter Platypus. (Ap '48)
Hogeboom, A. Horses and how to draw them. (D '48)
Hogeboom, A., ed. Tales from the high seas. (D '48)
Hogner, D. C. Barnyard family. (N '48)
Holberg, R. L. Gilbert Stuart. (N '48)
Holling, H. C. Seabird. (O '48)
Hollister, M. B. Dike against the sea. (O '48)
Hollos, C. Story of your bread. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hooke, H. M. Thunder in the mountains. (My '48)
Horowitz, C., and Hart, H., eds. Treasury of laughs for boys & girls. (O '48)
Hubbard, M. A. Captain Juniper. (Ap '48)
Huggins, A. M. Red chair waits. (D '48)
Humphreys, D. Verdi. (D '48)
Hungerford, E. B. Fighting frigate. (My '48)
Hunt, M. L. Matilda's buttons. (N '48)
Hurd, E. T. Toughy and his trailer truck. (N '48)
Jackson, C. P. Tournament forward. (D '48)
Jackson, K. and B. Big farmer Big. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Jackson, K. and B. Tenggren's cowboys and Indians. (D '48)
Jacobs, H. H. Adventure in bluejeans. (Mr '48)
Jagendorf, M. A. New England bean-pot. (D '48)
Johnson, M. S. Gay, a Shetland sheepdog. (Ag '48)
Johnson, S. J. Susan's year. (O '48)
Jones, L. C. Spooks of the valley. (Ag '48)
Jones, M. A. Jesus and his friends. (Ap '48)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about prayer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Judson, C. I. Reaper man. (O '48)
Justus, M. Susie. (Ag '48)
Karsavina, J. Tree by the waters. (Ag '48)
Keeler, K. S. Autumn comes to Meadow Brook farm. (N '48)
Kelsey, A. G. Ricardo's white horse. (N '48)
Kelsey, R. I. Goodenough Gismo. (Je '48)
King, M. Young King David. (O '48)
Kiser, M. G. Rainbow for me. (D '48)
Kjelgaard, J. A. Snow dog. (D '48)
Klemin, A. Helicopter adventure. (Mr '48)
Krauss, R. Bears. (D '48)
Kunhardt, D. M. Tiny animal stories. (Je '48)
Lambert, J. Where the heart is. (Ag '48)
Lampman, E. S. Crazy creek. (N '48)
Lane, C. D. River dragon. (My '48)
Lange, A. Eskimo store. (D '48)
Langford, N. F. King nobody wanted. (Je '48)
Lansing, E. C. H. Cathy Carlisle. (Ag '48)
Lattimore, E. F. Three little Chinese girls. (O '48)
Lawrence, I. Theft of the golden ring. (Ag '48)
Lawrence, M. Peachtree island. (D '48)
Lawson, R. Robbut. (D '48)
Leaf, M. Boo, who used to be scared of the dark. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Leaf, M. Sam and the Superdroop. (D '48)
Leighton, M. C. Judith of France. (Ap '48)
Lenski, L. Boom town boy. (O '48)
Lenski, L. Mr and Mrs Noah. (My '48)
Lenski, L. Now it's fall. (O '48)
Lewiton, M. Cup of courage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
L'Hommedieu, D. K. Leo, the little St Bernard. (O '48)
Lillie, A. M. Book of three festivals. (My '48)
Lim, Sian-tek. More folk tales from China. (Ag '48)
Lindman, M. J. Fire Eye. (Je '48)
Linwood, J. Peg-a-leg. (Je '48)
Lippincott, J. W. Black wings. (Ap '48)
Lofting, H. Doctor Dolittle and the secret lake. (N '48)
Logan, D. Pete the great magician. (S '48)
Longstreth, T. M. Great venture. (D '48)
Lovelace, M. H. Betsy and Joe. (N '48)
Low, E. High harvest. (N '48)
Lowe, C. Gentle warrior. (D '48)
Lowe, F. Somebody else's shoes. (Ag '48)
Lyons, D. Red Embers. (D '48)
McCabe, L., and Fagan, N. I'll take Cappy. (N '48)
McCarthy, M. S. Bramble. (Je '48)
McClintock, M. Leaf, fruit and flower. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
McClintock, M. Let's learn the flowers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
McCloskey, R. Blueberries for Sal. (N '48)
McClung, R. M. Wings in the woods. (N '48)
McCormick, W. Legion tourney. (O '48)
McCormick, W. Three-two pitch. (Je '48)
McCracken, H. Toughy: bulldog in the Arctic. (N '48)
McCullough, J. G. Good work! (F '49) (1948 Annual)
McGinley, P. All around the town. (N '48)
MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. Far distant bugle. (N '48)
McKean, E. Up hill. (Ap '48)
McLelland, I. C. Ten Beaver road. (My '48)
McNeer, M. Y. Story of Florida. (Mr '48)
McNeer, M. Y. Story of the Southwest. (D '48)
McPhee, C. Club of small men. (My '48)

Magoon, M. A. W. Little Dusty Foot. (O '48)
Malvern, G. Your kind indulgence. (Je '48)
Mansfield, J. C. Dawn of creation. (Ap '48)
Marriott, A. L. Indians on horseback. (D '48)
Marshak, S. I. Postman. (D '48)
Marshall, D. Invisible island. (D '48)
Martin, C. M. Once a cowboy. (D '48)
Martin, D. L. Munya, the lion. (My '48)
Mason, M. E. Pony called Lightning. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Meader, S. W. River of the Wolves. (D '48)
Meadowcroft, E. L. By secret railway. (D '48)
Meek, S. St P. Boots. (D '48)
Meigs, E. B. White winter. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Melton, E. J. Towboat pilot. (Ap '48)
Metcalfe, J. M. Aluminum from mine to sky. (Ap '48)
Meyers, J. S. Picture book of the weather. (D '48)
Miller, J. D. Wish for tomorrow. (Ag '48)
Moran, M. O. Red Eagle, Buffalo Bill's adopted son. (D '48)
Morris, P. A. Boy's book of snakes. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Mother Goose. Golden Mother Goose. (D '48)
Mother Goose. Toni Frissell's Mother Goose. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mowery, W. B. Long arm of the Mounted. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Neilson, F. F. J. and W. Bruce Benson, son of fame. (D '48)
Newberry, C. T. Smudge. (N '48)
Newcomb, C. Running waters. (Mr '48)
Newcomb, E. Window on the sea. (D '48)
Newell, A. Fly-by-nights. (Je '48)
Norling, J. S. Pogo's farm adventure. (Je '48)
Norton, A. M. Scarface. (N '48)
Oakes, V. A. By sun and star. (D '48)
Ogston, H. Piney bear. (My '48)
Olds, E. Riding the rails. (D '48)
O'Neill, H. Picture story of the Philippines. (Je '48)
O'Neill, H. Young patriots. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
O'Rourke, F. Flashing spikes. (D '48)
Owen, F. Teen-age baseball stories. (N '48)
Owen, F., ed. Teen-age football stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Owen, F., ed. Teen-age stories of action. (N '48)
Palmer, R. Barkingtons. (Ag '48)
Parkin, R. Red carpet. (Je '48)
Payne, E. Johnny Groundhog's shadow. (Je '48)
Payne, S. Teen-age stories of the West. (My '48)
Pease, H. Bound for Singapore. (D '48)
Pelus, M. J. Opera ballerina. (O '48)
Petersham, M. F. and M. My very first book. (My '48)
Phelps, M. Regular cowboy. (N '48)
Pickard, V. Mr Hobbs can fix it. (N '48)
Pinkerton, K. S. G. Good partner. (N '48)
Politi, L. Juanita. (My '48)
Powers, A. Prisoners of the Redwoods. (D '48)
Price, O. M. Three golden rivers. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Quinn, V. Pageant of the seven seas. (D '48)
Raine, A. Eagle of Guatemala. (Ap '48)
Rankin, L. Daughter of the mountains. (Je '48)
Ransome, A. Great Northern? (Ag '48)
Reilly, F. A. Hideout club. (Ag '48)
Reinherz, N. Trumpets at the crossroads. (D '48)
Rendina, L. J. C. Roommates. (Je '48)
Rey, M. E. W. and H. A. Billy's picture. (O '48)
Riddell, J. Animal lore and disorder. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Rienow, L. T. Bewitched caverns. (Ag '48)
Riesenberg, F. Crimson anchor. (Je '48)
Robertson, K. Ticktock and Jim. (Ap '48)
Robertson, L. Runaway rocking horse. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ross, M. I. Green treasure. (S '48)
Ross, P. F. Magic forest. (D '48)
Rothery, A. E. Iceland roundabout. (D '48)
Rounds, G. Stolen pony. (D '48)
Rowlett, M. When Cricket was little. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Rudolph, M. Great hope. (Ap '48)
Rush, W. M. Gold prospector. (D '48)
Sackett, B. Everglade gold. (Je '48)
Samson, D., ed. Teen-age aviation stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Santa's footprints. (D '48)
Sargent, J. H. 63 popular parables for young folks. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sayers, F. C. Sally Tait. (D '48)
Schneider, H. and N. Let's look inside your house. (N '48)
Schneider, N. While Susie sleeps. (My '48)
Scholz, J. V. Fielder from nowhere. (N '48)
Scott, S. Sue Ann's busy day. (D '48)
Sechrist, E. H., comp. Heigh-ho for Halloween! (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Seredy, K. Chestry oak. (D '48)
Shapiro, I. Joe Magarac and his U.S.A. citizen papers. (N '48)
Shurtleff, B. L. Awol, the rajah. (N '48)
Silliman, L. Daredevil. (Ap '48)
Simon, C. M. H. Royal road. (N '48)
Singmaster, E. Isle of Que. (O '48)
Skaar, G. M. All about dogs, dogs, dogs. (Ap '48)
Skrebitsky, G. White Birds island. (O '48)
Slobodkin, L. Hustle and Bustle. (N '48)
Smith, D. J. Muddy paws. (S '48)
Smith, I., comp. Santa Claus book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Stapp, A. D. Mountain tamer. (Ag '48)
Stark, B. S. Adventure in Peru. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Steiner, C. Lulu's play school. (D '48)
Stevenson, A. Buffalo Bill. (My '48)
Stone, E. Secret of the bog. (D '48)
Storm, J. Faraway tree. (My '48)
Strong, C. S. Ranger, sea dog of the Royal mounted. (My '48)
Swinnerton, F. A. Cats and Rosemary. (D '48)
Tatham, C. First book of trains. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Taylor, F. M. T. Thine is the glory. (D '48)
Taylor, J. Child's book of carpentry. (Ap '48)
Teilhet, D. Ab Carmody's treasure. (D '48)
Tensen, R. M. Come to the zoo! (D '48)
Tireman, L. S. Big Fat. (Mr '48)
Tompkins, J. F. Two pennies overboard. (N '48)
Treat, R. L. Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers. (My '48)
Trent, R. First Christmas. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tresselt, A. R. Johnny Maple-Leaf. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Tresselt, A. R. Wind and Peter. (Ap '48)
Trevor, E. Heather hill. (O '48)
Tunis, J. R. Highpockets. (My '48)
Updegraff, F. M. Blue dowry. (Je '48)
Vance, M. Patsy Jefferson of Monticello. (D '48)
Van Stockum, H. Angels' alphabet. (D '48)
Van Stockum, H. Canadian summer. (Je '48)
Voronkova, L. Little girl from the city. (O '48)
Walden, A. E. Sunnycove. (O '48)
Walpole, E. W. Tell me. (Ap '48)
Walters, G. Steam shovel that wouldn't eat dirt. (N '48)
Ware, L. Shifting winds. (Ag '48)
Waring, G. Three ships come sailing. (N '48)
Warren, W. S. Saddles up! ride 'em high. (D '48)
Watson, H. O. White Boots. (D '48)
Watson, V. C. Trail of courage. (N '48)
Weber, L. M. Beany Malone. (Je '48)
Weil, L. Bill, the brave. (My '48)
Weisgard, L. Pelican here, pelican there. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Weissenstein, H. We four together. (Je '48)
Welch, J. L. Animals came first. (D '48)
Wheelwright, J. H. Gentlemen, hush! (D '48)
Whitney, P. A. Ever after. (D '48)
Widdemer, M. C. Aleck Bell, ingenious boy. (Ag '48)
Wiese, K. Fish in the air. (Je '48)
Wilber, E. L., and Schoenholtz, E. R. Silver wings. (Je '48)
Wilkens, E. Here's looking at you! (D '48)
Williams, H. L. Stories in rocks. (D '48)
Wire, H. C. North to the promised land. (Ag '48)
Witty, P. A., and Kohler, J. You and the Constitution of the United States. (N '48)
Woolley, C. Ginnie and Geneva. (O '48)
Worth, K. Sea change. (O '48)
Wright, F. F. Your loving sister, Pat Downing. (Je '48)
Wyatt, G. T. Buffalo gold. (O '48)

Children's literature (individual titles)—Cont.
Yaukey, G. S. Japan. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Zim, H. S. Rabbits. (My '48)
Zwilgmeyer, D. Johnny Blossom. (D '48)

Mystery stories

Anderson, E. T. Scarlet bird. (S '48)
Blyton, E. Sea of adventure. (N '48)
Brooks, W. R. Freddy goes camping. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Coatsworth, E. J. House of the Swan. (Je '48)
Crofts, F. W. Young Robin Brand, detective. (Ap '48)
Dunlop, A. M. R. Lost Karin. (O '48)
Hubbard, M. A. Pennyweather luck. (D '48)
Kingman, L. Rocky summer. (N '48)
Knight, C. Secret of the buried tomb. (My '48)
Owen, F., ed. Teen-age mystery stories. (Je '48)
Queen, E. Brown fox mystery. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Savery, C. Dark house on the Moss. (My '48)
Seymour, A. H. At Snug Harbor inn. (Je '48)
Wellman, M. W. Mystery of Lost Valley. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
White, R. Sail away. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Williams, J. Roman moon mystery. (Je '48)

Children's literature (collective)
Association for childhood education. Literature committee. Told under the Christmas tree. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fenner, P. R., ed. With might and main. (D '48)
Gruenberg, S. M., ed. More favorite stories old and new. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Harper, W., comp. Down in Dixie. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Herzberg, M. J., comp. Treasure chest of sea stories. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
My weekly reader (periodical). Weekly reader parade. (My '48)
St Nicholas (periodical). St Nicholas anthology. (D '48)

Children's poetry
Coatsworth, E. J. Summer green. (D '48)
Doane, P., comp. Small child's book of verse. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Love, K. I., comp. April showers. (Je '48)
Withers, C., comp. Rocket in my pocket. (D '48)

Children's prayers
Claxton, E. E. Child's grace. (D '48)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about prayer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Children's record book. Barbour, H. B., and Freeman, W. S. (Ap '48)

Children's sermons
Sargent, J. H. 63 popular parables for young folks. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Children's songs
Seeger, R. C. American folk songs for children. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Thomas, E. L., comp. Martin and Judy songs. (O '48)
Child's book of carpentry. Taylor, J. (Ap '48)
Child's grace. Claxton, E. E. (D '48)
Child's history of the world [rev & enl ed]. Hillyer, V. M. (Ap '48)

Chile

History

War with Peru, 1879-1882

Millington, H. American diplomacy and the War of the Pacific. (O '48)
Chilmark miscellany. Brooks, V. (D '48)

China
China. Ministry of information. China handbook, 1937-1945. (O '48)
Fairbank, J. K. United States and China. (S '48)
Forman, H. Changing China. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
There is another China. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Civilization

Carter, D. O. Four thousand years of China's art. (Ag '48)
Ennis, T. E. Eastern Asia. (N '48)
Winfield, G. F. China, the land and its people. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Economic conditions

Lieu, D. K. China's economic stabilization and reconstruction. (O '48)

Economic policy

Lieu, D. K. China's economic stabilization and reconstruction. (O '48)

Foreign relations

Great Britain

Pelcovits, N. A. Old China hands. (Ap '48)

History

Band, C. and W. Two years with the Chinese communists. (My '48)
Kiang, W. Chinese student movement. (D '48)
Selle, E. A. Donald of China. (Ap '48)
Silcock, A. Introduction to Chinese art and history. (Ag '48)

Religion

Collis, M. First holy one. (N '48)

Social life and customs

Hsü, F. L. K. Under the ancestor's shadow. (O '48)
China handbook, 1937-1945. China. Ministry of information. (O '48)
China, the land and its people. Winfield, G. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
China trade days in California. Thompson, A. B. (O '48)
China's economic stabilization and reconstruction. Lieu, D. K. (O '48)
Chinatown family. Lin, Yu-t'ang. (N '48)
Chinese household furniture. Kates, G. N. (S '48)

Chinese in Malaya
Purcell, V. W. W. S. Chinese in Malaya. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chinese painting. Cohn, W. (O '48)
Chinese student movement. Kiang, W. (D '48)
Chips are down. Sartre, J. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Chlorine compounds
Huntress, E. H. Preparation, properties, chemical behavior, and identification of organic chlorine compounds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chocolate cobweb. Armstrong, C. (Ag '48)
Choice is always ours. Phillips, D. B., and others, eds. (Ag '48)

Choirs (music)
Kettring, D. D. Steps toward a singing church. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chokecherry tree. Feikema, F. F. (My '48)

Chopin, Frederick François

Juvenile literature

Wheeler, O. Frederic Chopin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chosen valley. Snyder, M. I. (D '48)
Christ and his gospel in recent art. Bailey, A. E. (Je '48)
Christ of Catholicism. Graham, A. (My '48)
Christ of the poets. Mims, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Christiaan Huygens and the development of science in the seventeenth century. Bell, A. E. (My '48)

Christian antiquities
Lowrie, W. Art in the early church. (Mr '48)
Christian apologetics. Richardson, A. (N '48)

Christian art and symbolism
Lowrie, W. Art in the early church. (Mr '48)
Ritter, R. H. Arts of the church. (My '48)
Christian doctrine of grace. Hardman, O. (Mr '48)

Christian life
Law, W. Serious call to a devout and holy life. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Newton, J. F. One great church. (O '48)
Werner, H. G. Real living takes time. (N '48)

Christian literature, Early
Apostolic fathers. (Ap '48)
Christian outlook. Latourette, K. S. (O '48)
Christian religion and human progress. Bosworth, E. I. (N '48)

Christian Science
Steiger, H. W. Christian Science and philosophy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Christian Science and philosophy. Steiger, H. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Christian union. See Church unity
Christian way in race relations. Nelson, W. S., ed. (S '48)
Christianity
  Bosley, H. A. Main issues confronting Christendom. (N '48)
  Bowman, J. W. Religion of maturity. (S '48)
  Chalmers, A. K. High wind at noon. (D '48)
  Coffin, H. S. God confronts man in history. (Mr '48)
  Farmer, H. H. God and men. (S '48)
  Ferré, N. F. S. Pillars of faith. (O '48)
  Jones, R. M. Call to what is vital. (D '48)
  Latourette, K. S. Christian outlook. (O '48)
  Muste, A. J. Not by might. (Ap '48)

Evidences
  Heard, G. Is God evident? (O '48)
  Murray, R. Forsaken fountain. (S '48)
  Richardson, A. Christian apologetics. (N '48)

Philosophy
  Murray, R. Good pagan's failure. (My '48)
  Tillich, P. J. Protestant era. (S '48)
Christianity and communism
  Sheen, F. J. Communism and the conscience of the West. (My '48)
Christianity and other religions
  Latourette, K. S. Christian outlook. (O '48)

Judaism
  Danniel, B. Jesus, Jews and gentiles. (My '48)
  Eckardt, A. R. Christianity and the children of Israel. (My '48)
  Parkes, J. W. Judaism and Christianity. (N '48)
Christianity and property. Fletcher, J. F., ed. (Ap '48)
Christianity and the children of Israel. Eckardt, A. R. (My '48)
Christmas
  Count, E. W. 4000 years of Christmas. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Christmas book. Luther, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Christmas is shaped like stars. Frost, F. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Christmas plays
  Bradford, R. How come Christmas. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Christmas poetry
  Frost, F. M. Christmas is shaped like stars. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Smith, I., comp. Santa Claus book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Christmas pony. Hall, W. N. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Christmas stories
  Association for childhood education. Literature committee. Told under the Christmas tree. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Roehrenbeck, W. J., ed. Christmastide. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Santa's footprints. (D '48)
  Smith, I., comp. Santa Claus book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Fireside book of Yuletide tales. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Christmastide. Roehrenbeck, W. J., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Christophers, incorporated
  Keller, J. G. You can change the world! (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chronicles of the American dance. Magriel, P. D., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Chrysantha. Drake, M. E. (S '48)
Church
  Latourette, K. S., and Hogg, W. R. Tomorrow is here. (D '48)
Church and education
  Johnson, A. W., and Yost, F. H. Separation of church and state in the United States. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Church and social problems
  Aulén, G. Church, law and society. (O '48)
  Loescher, F. S. Protestant church and the Negro. (O '48)
  Nelson, W. S., ed. Christian way in race relations. (S '48)
  Papini, G. Letters of Pope Celestine VI to all mankind. (Mr '48)
  Stuntz, H. C. United nations challenge to the church. (S '48)
Church and state. Greene, E. B. (Je '48)
Church and state in Japan
  Baker, R. T. Darkness of the sun. (My '48)
Church and state in the United States
  Greene, E. B. Church and state. (Je '48)
  Johnson, A. W., and Yost, F. H. Separation of church and state in the United States. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Parsons, W. First freedom. (S '48)
Church architecture
  Leach, W. H. Protestant church building. (Ag '48)
  Lowrie, W. Art in the early church. (Mr '48)
  Whiffen, M. Stuart and Georgian churches. (Je '48)
Church history
  Stuber, S. I. How we got our denominations. (N '48)

Primitive and early church
  Loisy, A. F. Birth of the Christian religion. (N '48)

Middle ages
  Burns, C. D. First Europe. (My '48)
Church, law and society. Aulén, G. (O '48)
Church music
  Nettl, P. Luther and music. (O '48)
Church of England

Clergy
  Addison, W. English country parson. (Ap '48)
Church, the gospel and war. Jones, R. M., ed. (O '48)
Church union; why not? Scotford, J. R. (O '48)
Church unity
  Dun, A. Prospecting for a united church. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Haselmayer, L. A. Lambeth and unity. (S '48)
  Scotford, J. R. Church union; why not? (O '48)
Church work
  Hockman, W. S. Projected visual aids in the church. (Mr '48)
Churches

Great Britain
  Whiffen, M. Stuart and Georgian churches. (Je '48)
Cicero, Marcus Tullius
  Cowell, F. R. Cicero and the Roman republic. (O '48)
Cicero and the Roman republic. Cowell, F. R. (O '48)
Cincinnati. Baseball club (National league)
  Allen, L. Cincinnati Reds. (Je '48)
Cincinnati Reds. Allen, L. (Je '48)
Ciphers
  Zim, H. S. Codes and secret writing. (D '48)
Circus in the attic. Warren, R. P. (Mr '48)
Circus of our own. Eberle, I. (D '48)
Cities and towns
  Dickinson, R. E. City region and regionalism. (Je '48)
Citizenship
  Aldrich, J. C., and Markert, M. A. We, the citizens. (Je '48)

Study and teaching
  Peters, C. C. Teaching high school history and social studies for citizenship training. (S '48)
City and the cathedral. Anderson, R. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
City and the pillar. Vidal, G. (Mr '48)
City and the Tsar. Lamb, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
City boy. Wouk, H. (O '48)
City limit. Summers, H. S. (O '48)
City planning
  Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. Concerning town planning. (O '48)
City region and regionalism. Dickinson, R. E. (Je '48)
Civil engineering
  Seelye, E. E. Data book for civil engineering: v3, Field practice. (My '48)

Civil-military relationships in American life. Kerwin, J. G., ed. (S '48)
Civil rights
Andrews, B. Washington witch hunt. (S '48)
Carr, R. K. Federal protection of civil rights. (My '48)
Kahn, G. Hollywood on trial. (My '48)
Labor research association. Palmer raids. (O '48)
United States. President's committee on civil rights. To secure these rights. (My '48)
Civil war letters. Andrus, O. (Je '48)
Civilization
Anshen, R. N., ed. Our emergent civilization. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Moore, H. H., ed. Survival or suicide. (O '48)
Sarton, G. Life of science. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Toynbee, A. J. Civilization on trial. (Je '48)
Weaver, R. M. Ideas have consequences. (Ap '48)
Zimmerman, C. C. Family and civilization. (Mr '48)
History
Barnes, H. E. Survey of western civilization. (Ap '48)
Thorndike, L. Short history of civilization [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Weber, A. Farewell to European history. (S '48)
Philosophy
Schrecker, P. Work and history. (Ag '48)
Whyte, L. L. Next development in man. (Ap '48)
Civilization, Ancient
Frankfort, H. Kingship and the gods. (Ag '48)
Jenison, M. Roads. (S '48)
Civilization, Christian
Davies, D. R. Sin of our age. (My '48)
Hendel, C. W. Civilization and religion. (S '48)
Scherer, P. E. Plight of freedom. (N '48)
Trueblood, D. E. Alternative to futility. (Ag '48)
Civilization, Greco-Roman
Juvenile literature
Foster, G. S. Augustus Caesar's world. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Civilization, Hindu
Emerson, G. Pageant of India's history. (D '48)
Civilization, Medieval
Boas, G. Essays on primitivism. (D '48)
Burns, C. D. First Europe. (My '48)
Civilization, Occidental
Murray, R. Good pagan's failure. (My '48)
Civilization and religion. Hendel, C. W. (S '48)
Civilization on trial. Toynbee, A. J. (Je '48)
Class distinction
Cox, O. C. Caste, class and race. (Ap '48)
Classical moment. Turnell, M. (O '48)
Claude of France. Harvey, H. B. (D '48)
Clay fingers. De Leeuw, A. L. (N '48)
Cleft rock. Hobart, A. T. N. (O '48)
Clemenceau, Georges Eugene Benjamin
Jackson, J. H. Clemenceau and the Third republic. (N '48)
Clemenceau and the Third republic. Jackson, J. H. (N '48)
Clemens, Samuel Langhorne (Mark Twain, pseud)
Clemens, S. L. Mark Twain at your fingertips. (My '48)
Frear, W. F. Mark Twain and Hawaii. (Ap '48)
Cleopatra, queen of Egypt
Fiction
Balderston, J. L., and Bolitho, S. Goddess to a god. (D '48)
Clergy
Gebhard, A. L. M. Rural parish. (Ap '48)
Jones, E. D. Lincoln and the preachers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Duus, O. F. Frontier parsonage. (S '48)
Hodgin, E. S. Confessions of an agnostic clergyman. (N '48)
Clocks and watches
Rawlings, A. L. Science of clocks and watches [2d ed]. (S '48)
Repairing
Fletcher, D. W. Watch repairing as a hobby. (S '48)
Clothes for you. Ryan, M. G., and Phillips, V. (Ag '48)
Clothing and dress
Hardy, K. Costume design. (Je '48)
Ryan, M. G., and Phillips, V. Clothes for you. (Ag '48)
Wilkens, E. Here's looking at you! (D '48)
Clothing trade
Braun, K. Union-management co-operation. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Cloud by day. Sheppard, M. E. (Mr '48)
Cloud of unknowing; a version in modern English. (Ag '48)
Clouded star. Parrish, A. (O '48)
Clovis. Fessier, M. (My '48)
Club of small men. McPhee, C. (My '48)
Coal miners
Sheppard, M. E. Cloud by day. (Mr '48)
Coal mines and mining
Pennsylvania
Sheppard, M. E. Cloud by day. (Mr '48)
Cochran, Mrs Bess (White)
Cochran, B. W. Without halos. (Ap '48)
Cockran, William Bourke
McGurrin, J. Bourke Cockran. (Ap '48)
Cocolo [new ed]. Ehrlich, B. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Coconut wireless. Kauffman, R. F. (Ag '48)
Cocteau, Jean
Maritain, J., and Cocteau, J. Art and faith. (Je '48)
Codes and secret writing. Zim, H. S. (D '48)
Cody, William Frederick
Juvenile literature
Garst, D. S. Buffalo Bill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Moran, M. O. Red Eagle, Buffalo Bill's adopted son. (D '48)
Stevenson, A. Buffalo Bill. (My '48)
Coke
Sheppard, M. E. Cloud by day. (Mr '48)
Cold companion. Sher, J. (O '48)
Cold heaven. Murphy, D. (Ap '48)
Coleridge, Samuel Taylor
Elwin, M. First romantics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Collected essays. Bishop, J. P. (N '48)
Collected papers. Smith, R. A. L. (Mr '48)
Collected poems. Bishop, J. P. (N '48)
Collected poems. Bowes-Lyon, L. H. (D '48)
Collected tales. Coppard, A. E. (My '48)
Collection of travel in America. Bradshaw, G., ed. (Je '48)
Collectors and collecting
Taylor, F. H. Taste of angels. (N '48)
Verrill, A. H. Young collector's handbook. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
College education, Value of Livingstone, R. W. Some thoughts on university education. (S '48)
College publicity manual. Reck, W. E., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
College reading and religion. (S '48)
College seeks religion. Cuninggim, M. (My '48)
Colleges and universities
Cowling, D. J., and Davidson, C. Colleges for freedom. (Ap '48)
Graduate work
Pierson, M. B. H. Graduate work in the South. (Ag '48)
Religion
Cuninggim, M. College seeks religion. (My '48)
Germany
Lilge, F. Abuse of learning. (Ap '48)
Great Britain
Roberts, S. C. British universities. (O '48)
South
Pierson, M. B. H. Graduate work in the South. (Ag '48)

United States

- Lovejoy, C. E. Complete guide to American colleges and universities (D '48)

- Colleges for freedom. Cowling, D. J., and Davidson, C. (Ap '48)
- Colloid science. (Mr '48)

Colloids
- Colloid science. (Mr '48)
- Dean, R. B. Modern colloids. (Ag '48)

- Colonial policy and practice. Furnivall, J. S. (Je '48)

Colonies
- Goshal, K. People in colonies. (N '48)

- Colonists in bondage. Smith, A. E. (My '48)

Color
- Evans, R. M. Introduction to color. (S '48)

- Color of blood. Rundell, E. R. (Ag '48)

Color photography
- Henney, K. Color photography for the amateur [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

- Color photography for the amateur [rev ed]. Henney, K. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Columbia book of musical masterworks. Lieberson, G., ed. (My '48)

Columbia university. School of engineering
- Finch, J. K. Trends in engineering education. (D '48)

Combustion
- De Lorenzi, O., ed. Combustion engineering. (Ag '48)

- Combustion engineering. De Lorenzi, O., ed. (Ag '48)
- Come away! Self, M. C. (S '48)
- Come to the zoo! Tensen, R. M. (D '48)

Comedy
- Baum, H. W. Satiric and the didactic in Ben Jonson's comedy. (Ap '48)

- Coming after. Barnouw, A. J., ed. (S '48)
- Coming of the French revolution. Lefebvre, G. (Ap '48)
- Command decision. Haines, W. W. (Je '48)
- Commentary on the general prologue to the Canterbury tales. Bowden, M. A. (N '48)

Commerce
- Buchanan, N. S., and Lutz, F. A. Rebuilding the world economy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
- Hickman, C. A., and others. World economic problems. (Ap '48)

History

- Isaacs, A. International trade: tariff and commercial policies. (N '48)
- Jenison, M. Roads. (S '48)

Commercial correspondence
- Shurter, R. L. Effective letters in business. (O '48)

- Commercial photographic lightings. Abel, C. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Commercial policy
- Isaacs, A. International trade: tariff and commercial policies. (N '48)
- Stocking, G. W., and Watkins, M. W. Cartels or competition? (N '48)

- Common chord. O'Donovan, M. (Ap '48)
- Common glory. Green, P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Common reader. Woolf, V. S. (D '48)

Communicable diseases. See Infection and infectious diseases

Communication and traffic
- Bryson, L., ed. Communication of ideas. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Commission on freedom of the press. Government and mass communications. (Mr '48)
- Jenison, M. Roads. (S '48)
- Wiener, N. Cybernetics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

- Communication of ideas. Bryson, L., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Communism
- Ebon, M. World communism today. (Ap '48)
- Sheen, F. J. Communism and the conscience of the West. (My '48)

China

- Band, C. and W. Two years with the Chinese communists. (My '48)

Germany

- Fischer, R. Stalin and German communism. (O '48)

Russia

- Utley, F. Lost illusion. (Je '48)

United States

- Andrews, B. Washington witch hunt. (S '48)
- Gitlow, B. Whole of their lives. (D '48)
- Kahn, G. Hollywood on trial. (My '48)
- Labor research association. Palmer raids. (O '48)

- Communism and the conscience of the West. Sheen, F. J. (My '48)

Communist party of America
- Gitlow, B. Whole of their lives. (D '48)

Community centers
- Tracey, J. L. Fun, incorporated. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

- Community in American society. Kinneman, J. A. (Ag '48)

Community life
- Kinneman, J. A. Community in American society. (Ag '48)
- Steinberg, S., and Knowlton, D. C. American way in community life. (Je '48)

- Complete book of interior decorating. Derieux, M., and Stevenson, I. (Ag '48)
- Complete fly fisherman. Gordon, T. (Mr '48)
- Complete guide to American colleges and universities. Lovejoy, C. E. (D '48)
- Complete party book. Van Rensselaer, A. (O '48)

Composition (music)
- Graf, M. From Beethoven to Shostakovich. (Ap '48)
- Smith, C. T. Music and reason. (S '48)

- Compton's pictured encyclopedia. (My '48)
- Computing mechanisms and linkages. Svoboda, A. (S '48)
- Concern for social justice in the Puritan revolution. Schenk, W. (D '48)
- Concerning town planning. Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. (O '48)
- Concert companion. Bagar, R. C., and Biancolli, L. L. (Ap '48)

Concerto
- Veinus, A. Victor book of concertos. (O '48)

Concrete
- Moore, H. F. Textbook of the materials of engineering [7th ed]. (Ap '48)

Concrete construction
- Hunter, L. E. Concrete waterproofing. (S '48)

- Concrete waterproofing. Hunter, L. E. (S '48)

Conduct of life
- Nichols, W. I., ed. Words to live by. (Ag '48)

- Confessions of an agnostic clergyman. Hodgin, E. S. (N '48)
- Confessions of an un-common attorney. Hine, R. L. (Ap '48)
- Conflict in Christology. Lawton, J. S. (My '48)

Confucius
- Collis, M. First holy one. (N '48)

Congo. See Kongo

Congresses and conventions
- Koo, W. Voting procedures in international political organizations. (My '48)

- Congressional elections, 1896-1944. Ewing, C. A. M. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Conjuring
- Elliott, B. Magic as a hobby. (S '48)
- Leeming, J. More fun with magic. (O '48)
- Todd, J. P. Tricks every boy can do. (D '48)

- Conquest of the West. McCaleb, W. F. (Mr '48)

Conscience
- Bergler, E. Battle of the conscience. (O '48)

Conservation of resources
- Osborn, F. Our plundered planet. (My '48)
- Pinchot, G. Breaking new ground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

- Conspirator. Slater, H. (Je '48)

Constitution (frigate)
- Grant, B. Isaac Hull, captain of Old Ironsides. (Mr '48)

- Constitutional dictatorship. Rossiter, C. L. (N '48)

Constitutions
- Fitzgibbon, R. H., and others, eds. Constitutions of the Americas. (O '48)

- Constitutions of the Americas. Fitzgibbon, R. H., and others, eds. (O '48)
- Constructive design. Osburn, B. N. (D '48)

Contagious diseases. See Infection and infectious diseases
Contemplative angler. Wall, R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Contemporary American family. Groves, E. R. and G. H. (Ap '48)
Contemporary American sculpture. Brummé, C. L., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Contemporary problems, here and abroad. West, E., and others. (Ap '48)
Continental journey. Lerner, L. A. (My '48)
Continental touch. Wechsberg, J. (Ap '48)
Contract bridge
- Culbertson, E. Contract bridge for everyone. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Osborn, F. How's your bridge game? (D '48)

Contract bridge for everyone. Culbertson, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Contrary winds. Sellars, I. P. (Je '48)
Control equipment
- Feller, E. W. F. Instrument and control manual for operating engineers. (Je '48)
- Heumann, G. W. Magnetic control of industrial motors. (My '48)
- Wiener, N. Cybernetics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Control of atomic energy. Newman, J. R., and Miller, B. S. (Je '48)
Controlled atmospheres in heat-treatment. Dunkley, G. T. (My '48)
Convalescence
- Stafford, G. T. Exercise during convalescence. (N '48)

Converts, Catholic. See Roman Catholic church —Converts
Convict labor
- Smith, A. E. Colonists in bondage. (My '48)

Russia
- Gliksman, J. Tell the West. (Je '48)

Convoy through the dream. Williamson, S. G. (D '48)
Cookbook for brides. Malone, D. (Mr '48)
Cookery
- Corbett, L. and S. Long windows. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Glass, M. L. Recipes for two. (Mr '48)
- Gossett, M., and Elting, M. Now you're cookin'. (D '48)
- Hutchison, R. S. Pennsylvania Dutch cook book. (S '48)
- Malone, D. Cookbook for brides. (Mr '48)
- Pellegrini, A. M. Unprejudiced palate. (D '48)
- Simpson, J. I., and Taylor, D. M. Frozen food cook book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Taber, G. B. Stillmeadow kitchen. (Je '48)
- Young, H. Working girl's own cook book. (S '48)

Cookery, French
- Simon, A. L. French cook book. (Ag '48)

Cookery, Italian
- Lo Pinto, M. Art of Italian cooking. (Je '48)

Cookery, Negro
- De Knight, F. Date with a dish. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Cookery, New England
- Bowles, E. S., and Towle, D. S. Secrets of New England cooking. (My '48)

Cookery, Scandinavian
- Brobeck, F. R., and Kjellberg, M. Scandinavian cookery for Americans. (Je '48)

Cookery for institutions, etc.
- Breland, J. H. Chef's guide to quantity cookery. (Ap '48)

Cooperation
- Warbasse, J. P. Co-operative democracy [5th ed]. (Je '48)

Cooperation in general education. Cooperative study in general education. (Ap '48)
Co-operative democracy [5th ed]. Warbasse, J. P. (Je '48)
Copley, John Singleton
- Flexner, J. T. John Singleton Copley. (D '48)

Copper alloys
- Lorig, C. H., and Adams, R. R. Copper as an alloying element in steel and cast iron. (O '48)

Copper as an alloying element in steel and cast iron. Lorig, C. H., and Adams, R. R. (O '48) Corean pottery. Honey, W. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Corn (maize)
- Crabb, A. R. Hybrid-corn makers. (Ap '48)

Corn gold farm. Corey, P. (D '48)
Corneille, Pierre
- Turnell, M. Classical moment. (O '48)

Cornelia. Kuhn, R. L. (Ag '48)
Corner that held them. Warner, S. T. (D '48)
Cornstalk fiddle. Bangs, J. N. (Ag '48)
Cornwall, Richard, earl of
- Denholm-Young, N. Richard of Cornwall. (Je '48)

Corporal punishment
- Caldwell, R. G. Red Hannah. (My '48)

Corporate reorganizations. Holzman, R. S. (D '48)
Corporations
- Knauth, O. W. Managerial enterprise. (S '48)

Taxation
- Holzman, R. S. Corporate reorganizations. (D '48)

Corpse in the corner saloon. Stone, H. (D '48)
Correspondence. More, T. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Correspondence with Thomas Gray, Richard West and Thomas Ashton, v13-14. Walpole, H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Corrosion and anti-corrosives
- Uhlig, H. H., ed. Corrosion handbook. (Je '48)

Corrosion handbook. Uhlig, H. H., ed. (Je '48)
Cosmetics
- Harry, R. G. Modern cosmeticology [3d rev ed]. (Ag '48)

Costume design
- Hardy, K. Costume design. (Je '48)
- Link, N. W. Precision draping. (S '48)
- Pepin, H. Fundamentals of apparel design. (N '48)

Costume design. Hardy, K. (Je '48)
Cotton in my ears. Warfield, F. (Ag '48)
Cotton seed oil
- Bailey, A. E., ed. Cottonseed and cottonseed products. (Ag '48)

Cottonseed and cottonseed products. Bailey, A. E., ed. (Ag '48)
Counseling
- Cuber, J. F. Marriage counseling practice. (D '48)

Country fireman. Beim, J. (O '48)
Country kittens. Clymer, E. L. (Ap '48)
Country life
- Corbett, L. and S. Long windows. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Hamlin, H. Pine, potatoes and people. (Ag '48)
- Merrick, E. Green Mountain farm. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Smith, P. H. Perennial harvest. (Je '48)
- Taber, G. B. Book of Stillmeadow. (Ag '48)
- Woodbury, G. John Goffe's mill. (O '48)

County lines. Fitzell, L. (Je '48)
Course of Irish verse in English. Farren, R. (My '48)
Court of common pleas in fifteenth century England. Hastings, M. (Ag '48)
Court wits of the restoration. Wilson, J. H (D '48)
Cowboys
- Rollinson, J. K. Wyoming cattle trails. (Je '48)

Cradle and the grave. Stein, A. M. (S '48)
Craft of the short story. Summers, R. A. (N '48)
Crane, Hart
- Weber, B. Hart Crane. (My '48)

Crane, Stephen

Bibliography
- Williams, A. W., and Starrett, V. Stephen Crane. (N '48)

Crazy creek. Lampman, E. S. (N '48)
Creation (literary, artistic, etc.)
- Heywood, R. B., ed. Works of the mind. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
- Osborn, A. F. Your creative power. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Poets at work. (Ap '48)
- Schaefer-Simmern, H. Unfolding of artistic activity. (Ag '48)

Creative activities. Rice, R. (Ag '48)
Creative ceramics. Lester, K. M. (N '48)
Creative critic. Grabo, C. H. (S '48)

Creeper's jeep. Gramatky, H. (N '48)
Creole dusk. Roberts, W. A. (N '48)
Creole folk tales. Ballowe, H. L. (N '48)

Crime and criminals
  Cott, T., and others. Isn't it a crime? (Ap '48)
  Hentig, H. von. Crime: causes and conditions. (My '48)
  Hentig, H. von. Criminal and his victim. (N '48)
  Sandoe, J., ed. Murder: plain and fanciful. (My '48)

Identification
  Fisher, J. Art of detection. (My '48)

United States
  Irey, E. L. Tax dodgers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Crime and punishment, Dostoievsky's; dramatised. Ackland, R. (Ag '48)
Crime: causes and conditions. Hentig, H. von. (My '48)
Criminal and his victim. Hentig, H. von. (N '48)
Criminal investigation
  Fisher, J. Art of detection. (My '48)
Criminal psychology
  Hentig, H. von. Criminal and his victim. (N '48)
Crimson anchor. Riesenberg, F. (Je '48)
Critical review of research in land economics. Salter, L. A. (N '48)
Critical theology of Theodore Parker. Dirks, J. E. (D '48)
Criticism. Schorer, M., and others, eds. (Ag '48)
Crocheting
  Mathieson, E. L. Baby book of knitting and crochet. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Stevenson, I., ed. Greystone book of gifts you can make yourself. (S '48)

Crompton, Samuel

Fiction
  Thompson, T. Crompton way. (Mr '48)
Crompton way. Thompson, T. (Mr '48)
Cromwell, Oliver
  Cromwell, O. Writings and speeches, v4. (Je '48)
Crosby, Bing
  Ulanov, B. Incredible Crosby. (Je '48)
Cross section, 1948. Seaver, E., ed. (Je '48)
Crossroads of America. Garwood, D. (N '48)
Crosswinds. Cheavens, M. L. (N '48)

Crows
Legends and stories
  Lippincott, J. W. Black wings. (Ap '48)

Crumbine, Samuel Jay
  Crumbine, S. J. Frontier doctor. (D '48)
Crunch and Des. Wylie, P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Crusade in Europe. Eisenhower, D. D. (D '48)
Crusaders. Heym, S. (O '48)
Cry of Dolores. Gorman, H. S. (Ap '48)
Cry, the beloved country. Paton, A. (Ap '48)
Crystal girl. Longstreet. S. (D '48)
Crystal rectifiers. Torrey, H. C., and Whitmer, C. A. (S '48)
Crystalline enzymes. Northrop, J. H., and others. (D '48)
Crystallography
  Moore, H. F. Textbook of the materials of engineering [7th ed]. (Ap '48)
Cultural approach. McMurry, R. E., and Lee, M. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual) Culture
  Sorokin, P. A. Reconstruction of humanity. (Je '48)
Cumberland road. See National road
Cunninghams. Ballantyne, D. W. (D '48)
Cup of courage. Lewiton, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Curious wine. Bradbury, B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Cutting advertising and printing costs. Printers' Ink (periodical) (Je '48)
Cyanogen compounds
  Migrdichian, V. Chemistry of organic cyanogen compounds. (Ap '48)
Cybernetics. Wiener, N. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Czechoslovakia
History
German occupation, 1939-1945
  Wheeler-Bennett, J. W. Munich. (O '48)

D.A. takes a chance. Gardner, E. S. (D '48)
Dairy manufacturing processes. Fouts, E. L., and Freeman, T. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dairy products
  Fouts, E. L., and Freeman, T. R. Dairy manufacturing processes. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Damon Runyon story. Weiner, E. H. (N '48)
Damsel debonaire. Walsh, M. (Ag '48)
Dan Owen and the angel Joe. Mitchell, R. E. (Mr '48)
Dance without music. Cheyney, P. (My '48)
Dancers
  Magriel, P. D., ed. Chronicles of the American dance. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dancing
  Magriel, P. D., ed. Chronicles of the American dance. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Tabourot, J. Orchesography. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Folk and national dances
  Hughes, R. M. Spanish dancing. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Leaf, E. Isles of rhythm. (S '48)
Dante Alighieri
  La Piana, A. Dante's American pilgrimage. (S '48)
Dante's American pilgrimage. La Piana, A. (S '48)
Daredevil. Silliman, L. (Ap '48)
Dark daughters. Davies, R. (Mr '48)
Dark December. Merriam, R. E. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Dark house on the Moss. Savery, C. (My '48)
Dark is the mirror. Kinsey, W. (My '48)
Dark wheel. MacDonald, P., and Correll, A. B. (Ap '48)
Darkness of the sun. Baker, R. T. (My '48)
Data book for civil engineering: v3, Field practice. Seelye, E. E. (My '48)
Date with a dish. De Knight, F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Daughter of the mountains. Rankin, L. (Je '48)
Dauntless women. Mathews, W. (S '48)
Davenports are at dinner. Dalgliesh, A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
David, King of Israel

Juvenile literature
  King, M. Young King David. (O '48)
Davis, Jefferson
Fiction
  Kane, H. T. Bride of fortune. (N '48)
  Seifert, S. Proud way. (Ag '48)
Davis, Samuel
Fiction
  Rowell, A. C. On Jordan's stormy banks. (Ag '48)
Davis, Varina (Howell)

Fiction
  Kane, H. T. Bride of fortune. (N '48)
  Seifert, S. Proud way. (Ag '48)
Dawn of creation. Mansfield, J. C. (Ap '48)
Day, William Rufus
  McLean, J. E. William Rufus Day. (Ag '48)
Day is gone. Gregory, A. (My '48)
Days of promise. Stevens, L. (Je '48)
Days without time. Teale, E. W. (N '48)
Dead level. Gordon, R. (Ap '48)
Dead man blues. Woolrich, C. (My '48)
Dead ringer. Brown, F. (Je '48)
Deadly ditto. Stevens, F. M. R. (My '48)
Deafness
  Davis, H., ed. Hearing and deafness. (Ap '48)
  Warfield, F. Cotton in my ears. (Ag '48)
Dealing out death. Ballard, W. T. (Ap '48)
Death casts a vote. Yates, M. P., and Bramlette, P. (Mr '48)
Death commits bigamy. Knipscheer, J. M. W. (Mr '48)
Death haunts the dark lane. Cunningham, A. B. (D '48)

Death in Lord Byron's room. Wood, S. C. (Ag '48)
Death is my lover. Brock, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Death of a worldly woman. Cunningham, A. B. (Je '48)
Death of an author. Street, C. J. C. (Ap '48)
Death of Jezebel. Lewis, M. C. M. (O '48)
Death of Socrates. Guardini, R. (S '48)

Debates and debating
Phelps, E. M., and Ulman, R., eds. University debaters' annual, v33. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Debs, Eugene Victor
Morais, H. M., and Cahn, W. Gene Debs. (D '48)

Debts, Public
Harris, S. E. National debt and the new economics. (Je '48)

Debussy, Claude

Juvenile literature
Harvey, H. B. Claude of France. (D '48)
Decade of group work. Hendry, C. E., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Decentralize for liberty [2d ed]. Hewes, T. (Mr '48)

Decoration and ornament
Plath, I. Decorative arts of Sweden. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Decorative arts of Sweden. Plath, I. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Deer cry. Schofield, W. G. (N '48)

Deer hunting
Koller, L. R. Shots at whitetails. (D '48)
Defeat in the west. Shulman, M. (Mr '48)
Defeated. Cummins, P. D. (My '48)
Definition of good. Ewing, A. C. (Mr '48)

Degas, Hilaire Germain Edgar
Degas, H. G. E. Letters. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Valéry, P. Degas dance drawing. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Degas dance drawing. Valéry, P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

De Hueck, Catherine
Doherty, E. J. Tumbleweed. (N '48)
Dehumanization of art. Ortega y Gasset, J. (Ag '48)

Delacroix, Eugene
Delacroix, E. Journal. (Ag '48)

Fiction
Hersch, V. D. To seize a dream. (D '48)

Delft ware
Garner, F. H. English delftware. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Delius, Frederick
Hutchings, A. J. B. Delius. (Ag '48)
Del Palma. Kellino, P. (Ap '48)
Demian. Hesse, H. (Mr '48)

Democracy
Bishop, H. M., and Hendel, S. eds. Basic issues of American democracy. (S '48)
Blaich, T. P., and Baumgartner, J. C. Challenge of democracy [rev ed]. (My '48)
Ferguson, C. W. Little democracy is a dangerous thing. (D '48)
Griswold, A. W. Farming and democracy. (Ag '48)
Heimann, E. Freedom and order. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Laski, H. J. American democracy. (Ag '48)
Wright, D. M. Democracy and progress. (Ap '48)
Democracy and empire in the Caribbean. Blanshard, P. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Democracy and progress. Wright, D. M. (Ap '48)
Democracy, the threshold of freedom. Gosnell, H. F. (S '48)

Democratic party
Nichols, R. F. Disruption of American democracy. (My '48)
Depends what you mean by love. Monsarrat, N. (Mr '48)
Depression decade. Mitchell, B. (Mr '48)

Desert fauna
Carr, W. H. Desert parade. (Ap '48)

Desert flora
Carr, W. H. Desert parade. (Ap '48)
Desert parade. Carr, W. H. (Ap '48)

Design
Osburn, B. N. Constructive design. (D '48)

Design, Industrial
Rosenthal, R., and Ratzka, H. L. W. Story of modern applied art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Design for giving. Seymour, H. J. (Ag '48)
Design of metal cutting tools. Woodcock, F. L. (S '48)
Desire. Picasso, P. (D '48)
Destination Palestine. Gruber, R. (N '48)

Detectives
Fisher, J. Art of detection. (My '48)
Detoxication mechanisms. Williams, R. T. (S '48)
Detroit murders. Hamer, A. C., ed. (Je '48)
Developing a curriculum for modern living. Stratemeyer, F. B., and others. (Ap '48)
Development of social thought [2d ed]. Bogardus, E. S. (S '48)
Development of Southern sectionalism. Sydnor, C. S. (S '48)
Development of the Constitution. Fenn, P. T (S '48)
Development of the theatre [3d ed rev & enl]. Nicoll, A. (Ag '48)
Devil and destiny. Du Bois, T. M. (Je '48)
Devil in the sky. Bradley, M. (Ap '48)
Devil make a third. Bailey, W. F. (O '48)
Devil take a whittler. Stone, W. (Je '48)
Devil within. Lea, F. H. (Je '48)
Devilbirds. De Chant, J. A. (Ap '48)
Devil's stronghold. Brown, Z. J. (S '48)
Devious design. Hitchens, D. B. (Ag '48)

Devotional exercises
Gordon, G. A. And let us reason together. (My '48)
Vernier, P. Not as the world giveth. (My '48)

Dewey, George
West, R. S. Admirals of American empire. (Je '48)

Diabetes
Tangney, M. E. Diabetes and the diabetic in the community. (My '48)
Diabetes and the diabetic in the community. Tangney, M. E. (My '48)

Dialectic (theology)
Buber, M. Between man and man. (D '48)

Dialogs
Biancolli, L. L., ed. Book of great conversations. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Diamond head. Branch, H., and Waters, F. (Je '48)
Diaries, 1910-1913. Kafka, F. (Je '48)
Diary. Laval, P. (N '48)
Diary and sundry observations. Edison, T. A. (Je '48)
Diary of democracy. Toulmin, H. A. (My '48)
Diary of Independence Hall. Eberlein, H. D., and Hubbard, C. V. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dickens reader. Dickens, C. (O '48)

Dictators
Bychowski, G. Dictators and disciples from Caesar to Stalin. (N '48)
Rossiter, C. L. Constitutional dictatorship. (N '48)
Dictators and disciples from Caesar to Stalin. Bychowski, G. (N '48)

Dictionaries, Polyglot
De Kerchove, R. International maritime dictionary. (Ap '48)
Dictionary of musical themes. Barlow, H., and Morgenstern, S. (Ag '48)
Dictionnaire de biographie Francaise. (O '48)
Die in the dark. Eng title of: Missing widow. Malleson, L. B. (Je '48)

Diesel engines
Allen, O. F. Modern Diesel. (Je '48)

Diet
Lewis, P. Eating for health. (D '48)
Tobey, J. A. Your diet for longer life. (D '48)
Dignity of man. Baker, H. C. (N '48)
Dike against the sea. Hollister, M. B. (O '48)
Dinner at Antoine's. Keyes, F. P. W. (D '48)
Dinner for none. Eng title of: Party for Lawty. Sarsfield, M. (My '48)

Diplomatic memoirs
Gafencu, G. Last days of Europe. (Je '48)
Hull, C. Memoirs. (Je '48)
Diplomatic prelude. Namier, L. B. (S '48)
Direct-current machinery. Blalock, G. C. (Ap '48)

Directors of corporations
Copeland, M. T., and Towl, A. R. Board of directors and business management. (Ap '48)
Disabled
Rehabilitation, etc.
Hinshaw, D. Take up thy bed and walk. (S '48)
Kessler, H. H. Rehabilitation of the physically handicapped. (S '48)
Stafford, G. T. Sports for the handicapped. (Ag '48)
Disarmament
Tate, M. United States and armaments. (S '48)
Disaster! Kartman, B., and Brown, L., eds. (N '48)
Disasters
Kartman, B., and Brown, L., eds. Disaster! (N '48)
Discoveries (in geography)
Mallery, R. D., ed. Masterworks of travel and exploration. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Rogers, S. R. H. It took courage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Quinn, V. Pageant of the seven seas. (D '48)
Discovery. Perkins, V. C. (Ap '48)
Discrimination in employment
Ross, M. H. All manner of men. (Ap '48)
Diseases transmitted from animals to man [3d ed]. Hull, T. G. (Je '48)
Dispossessed. Berryman, J. (Ag '48)
Disruption of American democracy. Nichols, R. F. (My '48)
Dissociation
Gaydon, A. G. Dissociation energies and spectra of diatomic molecules. (S '48)
Geyer, E. W., and Bruges, E. A. Tables of properties of gases. (N '48)
Dissociation energies and spectra of diatomic molecules. Gaydon, A. G. (S '48)
Distant Trojans. Chapman, V. H. (S '48)
Distillation
Kirschbaum, E. Distillation and rectification. (D '48)
Distillation and rectification. Kirschbaum, E. (D '48)
Divided. Freedman, R. (S '48)
Divine passion. Fisher, V. (N '48)
Divorce
Bergler, E. Divorce won't help. (Ag '48)
Divorce of Marcia Moore. Roberts, E. K. (Ag '48)
Divorce won't help. Bergler, E. (Ag '48)
Dix, Dorothea Lynde
Juvenile literature
Lowe, C. Gentle warrior. (D '48)
Dixie frontier. Dick, E. N. (My '48)
Dixie raider. Morgan, M. C. (N '48)
Do your own thinking. Scherf, C. H. (N '48)
Doctor Dolittle and the secret lake. Lofting, H. (N '48)
Doctor Faustus. Mann, T. (D '48)
Doctor Freud. Ludwig, E. (Mr '48)
Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief. Taylor, R. L. (Ap '48)
Dr Trotter and his big gold watch. Gilbert, H. E. (D '48)
Doctors of today and tomorrow. Shadid, M. A. (Ag '48)
Dodgers. Durant, J. (Ag '48)
Dodgers and me. Durocher, L. E. (Ag '48)
Dog shows
Larson, M. Kennel, show and field. (D '48)
Dogs
Connett, E. V., ed. American sporting dogs. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Holland, R. P. Bird dogs. (S '48)
Larson, M. Kennel, show and field. (D '48)
Legends and stories
Downey, F. D. Seventh's staghound. (D '48)
Elting, M., and Gossett, M. Patch. (O '48)
Grew, D. Whitepaw goes north. (S '48)
Johnson, M. S. Gay, a Shetland sheepdog. (Ag '48)
Kjelgaard, J. A. Snow dog. (D '48)
L'Hommedieu, D. K. Leo, the little St Bernard. (O '48)
McCracken, H. Toughy: bulldog in the Arctic. (N '48)
Meek, S. St P. Boots. (D '48)
Rounds, G. Stolen pony. (D '48)
Shurtleff, B. L. Awol, the rajah. (N '48)
Strong, C. S. Ranger, sea dog of the Royal mounted. (My '48)
Watson, H. O. White Boots. (D '48)
Zistel, E., ed. Golden book of dog stories. (Je '48)
Training
Davis, H. P. Training your own bird dog. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pfaffenberger, C. J. Training your spaniel. (Je '48)
Doll houses
Lee, T. How to make dolls and doll houses. (D '48)
Dolls
Lee, T. How to make dolls and doll houses. (D '48)
St George, E. Dolls of yesterday. (Ag '48)
Dolls' house. Godden, R. (O '48)
Dolls of yesterday. St George, E. (Ag '48)
Domestic animals
Juvenile literature
Hogner, D. C. Barnyard family. (N '48)
Dominic of the Mother of God. See Barberi, Domenico
Dominican Republic
Walker, S. Journey toward the sunlight. (My '48)
Description and travel
Cooper, P. Sambumbia. (Ag '48)
Donald, William Henry
Selle, E. A. Donald of China. (Ap '48)
Donald of China. Selle, E. A. (Ap '48)
Donner party
McGlashan, C. F. History of the Donner party [rev ed]. (Ap '48)
Doorway to good living. Lewis, J. E. (D '48)
Dora. Green, E. (Ap '48)
Dostoievsky's Crime and punishment, dramatised. Ackland, R. (Ag '48)
Doty, Silas
Doty, S. Life of Sile Doty. (O '48)
Double axe. Jeffers, R. (S '48)
Douglass, Frederick
Quarles, B. Frederick Douglass. (O '48)
Dove. Tucker, W. (S '48)
Down in Dixie. Harper, W., comp. (F '49) (1948 Anuual)
Dragon in the forest. Plant, R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Drake, Carlos
Drake, C. Mr Aladdin. (Mr '48)
Drama
History and criticism
James, H. Scenic art. (Ag '48)
Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1947-1948. (D '48)
Nicoll, A. Development of the theatre [3d ed rev & enl]. (Ag '48)
Young, S. Immortal shadows. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Technique
Finch, R. How to write a play. (Je '48)
Dramas
Ackland, R. Dostoievsky's Crime and punishment, dramatised. (Ag '48)
Anderson, M. Anne of the thousand days. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Brecht, B. Parables for the theater. (D '48)
Camus, A. Caligula; and Cross purpose. (S '48)
Cocteau, J. Eagle has two heads. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Conkle, E. P. Five plays. (Ag '48)
Coward, N. P. Peace in our time. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Goetz, R. and A. Heiress. (D '48)
Green, P. Common glory. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Haines, W. W. Command decision. (Je '48)
Heggen, T., and Logan, J. Mister Roberts. (Ag '48)
Huxley, A. L. Mortal coils. (My '48)
Masefield, J. Play of St George. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Picasso, P. Desire. (D '48)

Dramas—Continued
Priestley, J. B. Linden tree, and An inspector calls. (N '48)
Williams, T. Streetcar named Desire. (Mr '48)
Wolfe, T. Mannerhouse, a play. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Collections

Chapman, J. A., ed. Burns Mantle best plays of 1947-48. (D '48)
Gow, J. R., and Hanlon, H. J., eds. Five Broadway plays. (Ap '48)
Hark, M., and McQueen, N. Special plays for special days. (Mr '48)
Mayorga, M. G., ed. Best one-act plays. (S '48)

Drawing
Anderson, C. W. Sketchbook. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Morang, A. Adventure in drawing. (S '48)

Instruction

Dali, S. Fifty secrets of magic craftsmanship. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harris, B. J. Airbrush illustration. (O '48)
Sherman, H. L., and others. Drawing by seeing. (Ap '48)

Juvenile literature

Hogeboom, A. Horses and how to draw them. (D '48)

Drawing by seeing. Sherman, H. L., and others. (Ap '48)

Drawings
Crite, A. R., il. Three spirituals from earth to heaven. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Holme, B., ed. Master drawings in line. (N '48)
Mayne, J. Barnett Freedman. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn. Selected drawings. (N '48)
Wickiser, R. L. Mardi gras day. (My '48)

Dreadful California. Helper, H. R. (N '48)
Dreadful freedom. Grene, M. G. (S '48)
Dreadful summit. Ellin, S. (Je '48)

Dreyfus, Alfred
Herzog, W. From Dreyfus to Petain. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Drink the green water. Evans, H. A. (Ap '48)
Drinks on the victim. Heberden, M. V. (Mr '48)

Drugs
Smith, A. E. Drugs you use. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Williams, R. T. Detoxication mechanisms. (S '48)

Juvenile literature

Eberle, I. Modern medical discoveries. (D '48)

Drugs you use. Smith, A. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dry wood. Houselander, F. C. (Ap '48)

Du Chatelet-Lomont, Gabrielle Emilie (Le Tonnelier de Breteuil) marquise
Wade, I. O. Studies on Voltaire. (My '48)

Duck shooting
Bovey, M. K. Whistling wings. (Mr '48)

Dulcie and the gypsies. Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. (D '48)
Dumblebum. Glenn, E. and M. (Mr '48)

Dunkirk, France, Battle of, 1940
Divine, A. D. Dunkirk. (Ag '48)

Dupree blues. Curran, D. (My '48)
Dusty of the Double Seven. Dean, G. M. (Je '48)

Dutch in the United States
Mulder, A. Americans from Holland. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Dutch poetry

Collections

Barnouw, A. J. ed. Coming after. (S '48)

Duus, Olaus Fredrik
Duus, O. F. Frontier parsonage. (S '48)

Dvorak, Antonin

Juvenile literature

Fles, B. Slavonic rhapsody. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Dwarf fruit trees. Southwick, L. (Ag '48)

Dwellings
Duncan, K. Home builder's handbook. (D '48)
Sleeper, C. B. and H. R. House for you to build, buy or rent. (Je '48)

Dyes and dyeing
Fox, M. R. Vat dyestuffs and vat dyeing. (My '48)

Dynamic aspects of biochemistry. Baldwin, E. J. (Ap '48)

Eagle at my eyes. Katkov, N. (Mr '48)
Eagle has two heads. Cocteau, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Eagle in the sky. Mason, V. (Mr '48)
Eagle in the wind. Carmer, C. L. (D '48)
Eagle of Guatemala. Raine, A. (Ap '48)
Early Alabama publications. Ellison, R. C. (My '48)
Early days of oil. Giddens, P. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Early Irish literature. Dillon, M. (My '48)
Early tales of the atomic age. Lang, D. (O '48)
Earth is ours. Teal, M. P. (My '48)
Earthbound. Reymond, D. S. (Ap '48)

Earthquakes
Leet, L. D. Causes of catastrophe. (Ap '48)

East (Far East)

History

Clyde, P. H. Far East. (S '48)

Sources

Isaacs, H. R., ed. New cycle in Asia. (Ap '48)

East (Near East)
Eliot, G. F. Hate, hope and high explosives. (O '48)
Middle East, 1948. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Economic conditions

Warriner, D. Land and poverty in the Middle East. (O '48)

Religion

Frankfort, H. Kingship and the gods. (Ag '48)

East India company (English)
Furber, H. John Company at work. (N '48)

East of Fifth. Dunn, A. (My '48)
Eastern Asia. Ennis, T. E. (N '48)

Eastern question (Balkan)
Roucek, J. S. Balkan politics. (O '48)

Eastern question (Far East)
Ennis, T. E. Eastern Asia. (N '48)

Eastman, Max
Eastman, M. Enjoyment of living. (My '48)

Eastwick, U.S.A. Hush, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Eating for health. Lewis, P. (D '48)

Ecclesiastical law
Torpey, W. G. Judicial doctrines of religious rights in America. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Echo my tears. Foster, J. (O '48)
Echo of evil. Komroff, M. (N '48)
Economic aid to Europe. Summers, R. E., comp. (S '48)

Economic conditions
Hickman, C. A., and others. World economic problems. (Ap '48)
Isaac, J. Economics of migration. (Ag '48)

Economic policy
Clark, J. M. Alternative to serfdom. (My '48)
Lauterbach, A. T. Economic security and individual freedom. (O '48)
Meade, J. E. Planning and the price mechanism. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Robbins, L. C. Economic problem in peace and war. (O '48)
Simons, H. C. Economic policy for a free society. (S '48)
Wright, D. M. Democracy and progress. (Ap '48)

Economic policy and democratic thought. Hartz, L. (D '48)
Economic policy for a free society. Simons, H. C. (S '48)
Economic problem in peace and war. Robbins, L. C. (O '48)
Economic reconstruction of Europe. Crowther, G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Economic reports of the president. United States. President, 1945- . (Je '48)
Economic rivalry between St. Louis and Chicago. Belcher, W. W. (S '48)
Economic security and individual freedom. Lauterbach, A. T. (O '48)

Economics
Baerwald, F. Fundamentals of labor economics. (S '48)
Bain, J. S. Pricing, distribution, and employment. (F '49) (1949 Annual)
Flink, S. American economy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Gruchy, A. G. Modern economic thought. (My '48)
Hayek, F. A. von. Individualism and economic order. (N '48)
Klein, L. R. Keynesian revolution. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Knauth, O. W. Managerial enterprise. (S '48)
Mund, V. A. Open markets. (N '48)
Reder, M. W. Studies in the theory of welfare economics. (Ag '48)
Samuelson, P. A. Economics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Soule, G. H. Introduction to economic science. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Veblen, T. B. Portable Veblen. (Ag '48)
Weber, M. Theory of social and economic organization. (My '48)

Economics, Mathematical
Samuelson, P. A. Foundations of economic analysis. (N '48)
Economics of migration. Isaac, J. (Ag '48)
Economics of public finance. Allen, E. D., and Brownlee, O. H. (Ag '48)

Edge, Walter Evans
Edge, W. E. Jerseyman's journal. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Edge of darkness. Eng title of: Edge of night. Prebble, J. (My '48)
Edge of night. Prebble, J. (My '48)

Edison, Thomas Alva
Edison, T. A. Diary and sundry observations. (Je '48)
Edmund Spenser and the Faerie queene. Bradner, L. (Ag '48)

Education
Davenport, W. W., ed. Pacific era. (N '48)
Kelley, E. C. Education for what is real. (Je '48)
Modern education and human values, by B. H. Bode and others. (Je '48)
Neilson, F. Modern man and the liberal arts. (My '48)
Rugg, H. O. Foundations for American education. (Ap '48)
United nations (organization). Educational scientific and cultural organization. Commission on fundamental education. Fundamental education. (My '48)

Aims and objectives
Conant, J. B. Education in a divided world. (N '48)
Kirkendall, L. A., and others. Goals for American education. (D '48)

Curricula
Noar, G. Freedom to live and learn. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Stratemeyer, F. B., and others. Developing a curriculum for modern living. (Ap '48)

Finance
Harris, S. E. How shall we pay for education? (My '48)

History
Sources
Ulich, R., ed. Three thousand years of educational wisdom. (My '48)

Philosophy
Henderson, S. V. Introduction to philosophy of education. (Ap '48)
Johnson, G. Some ethical implications of a naturalistic philosophy of education. (S '48)
Keller, F. J. Principles of vocational education. (O '48)
Wynne, J. P. Philosophies of education from the standpoint of the philosophy of experimentalism. (My '48)

Germany
Lilge, F. Abuse of learning. (Ap '48)

United States
Conant, J. B. Education in a divided world. (N '48)
Douglass, H. R., and Grieder, C. American public education. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Gould, G., and Yoakam, G. A. Teacher and his work. (Ap '48)
Quattlebaum, C. A. Federal aid to elementary and secondary education. (D '48)

Directories
Patterson, H. L., ed. American educational directory. (Je '48)

Education, Higher
College reading and religion. (S '48)
Cooperative study in general education. Cooperation in general education. (Ap '48)
Cowling, D. J., and Davidson, C. Colleges for freedom. (Ap '48)
United States. President's commission on higher education. Higher education for American democracy. (O '48)

Education, Humanistic
Dunkel, H. B. General education in the humanities. (Mr '48)

Education, Secondary
Leeson, S. Public schools question. (S '48)
Rivlin, H. N. Teaching adolescents in secondary schools. (S '48)

Education and state
Quattlebaum, C. A. Federal aid to elementary and secondary education. (D '48)
Education for an industrial age. Kahler, A., and Hamburger, E. (S '48)
Education for what is real. Kelley, E. C. (Je '48)
Education in a divided world. Conant, J. B. (N '48)

Education of adults
Laubach, F. C. Teaching the world to read. (S '48)

Education of children
Kuhn, A. L. Mother's role in childhood education. (Ap '48)

Educational measurements
Wood, B. D., and Haefner, R. Measuring and guiding individual growth. (N '48)
Effective labor arbitration. Kennedy, T. (N '48)
Effective letters in business. Shurter, R. L. (O '48)

Efficiency, Industrial
Lansburgh, R. H., and Spriegel, W. R. Industrial management [4th ed]. (Je '48)
Ryan, T. A. Work and effort. (Ap '48)

Egypt
Religion
Frankfort, H. Ancient Egyptian religion. (N '48)
Eight for eternity. Roberts, C. (Ag '48)
8 popular plays for amateurs in prompt book style. Davis, E. C., ed. (My '48)

Eisenhower, Dwight David
Eisenhower, D. D. Eisenhower speaks. (Je '48)
Summersby, K. Eisenhower was my boss. (N '48)
Eisenhower speaks. Eisenhower, D. D. (Je '48)
Eisenhower was my boss. Summersby, K. (N '48)

Elasticity
Alfrey, T. Mechanical behavior of high polymers. (S '48)
Van den Broek, J. A. Theory of limit design. (S '48)

Elections
United States
Bean, L. H. How to predict elections. (S '48)
Moon, H. L. Balance of power. (Ag '48)

Electric currents, Alternating
Kimbark, E. W. Power system stability, v 1. (S '48)
Tarboux, J. G. Alternating-current machinery. (Ap '48)

Electric discharge lighting
Forsythe, W. E., and Adams, E. Q. Fluorescent and other gaseous discharge lamps. (O '48)

Electric engineering
Cook, A. L. Elements of electrical engineering [5th ed]. (Ag '48)

Electric engineering—Continued
Stafford, H. E. Troubles of electrical equipment [rev 3d ed]. (Ag '48)
Electric furnaces
Paschkis, V. A. Industrial electric furnaces and appliances, v2. (O '48)
Electric lighting, Fluorescent
Forsythe, W. E., and Adams, E. Q. Fluorescent and other gaseous discharge lamps. (O '48)
Electric lines
Weinbach, M. P. Electric power transmission. (S '48)
Electric machinery
Blalock, G. C. Direct-current machinery. (Ap '48)
Tarboux, J. G. Alternating-current machinery. (Ap '48)
Electric motor maintenance. McCullough, W. W. (Ap '48)
Electric motors
Heumann, G. W. Magnetic control of industrial motors. (My '48)
McCullough, W. W. Electric motor maintenance. (Ap '48)

Repairing

Stafford, H. E. Troubles of electrical equipment [rev 3d ed]. (Ag '48)
Electric power
Kimbark, E. W. Power system stability, v 1. (S '48)
Electric power transmission. Weinbach, M. P. (S '48)
Electric waves
Bronwell, A. B., and Beam, R. E. Theory and application of microwaves. (Ap '48)
Glasoe, G. N., and Lebacqz, J. V., eds. Pulse generators. (S '48)
Electric wiring
Richter, H. P. Practical electrical wiring [3d ed]. (Ap '48)
Electric wiring, Interior
Nowak, J. F. Practical residential wiring. (D '48)
Richter, H. P. Practical electricity and house wiring [new ed]. (D '48)
Electricity
Bewley, L. V. Two-dimensional fields in electrical engineering. (S '48)
Loeb, L. B. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism [3d ed]. (Ap '48)
Electroacoustics
Olsen, H. F. Elements of acoustical engineering [2d ed]. (Ap '48)
Electromagnetism
Loeb, L. B. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism [3d ed]. (Ap '48)
Electron and nuclear physics [3d ed]. Hoag, J. B. (S '48)

Electronic apparatus and appliances
Glasoe, G. N., and Lebacqz, J. V., eds. Pulse generators. (S '48)
Greenwood, I. A., and others., eds. Electronic instruments. (S '48)
Electronic engineering principles. Ryder, J. D. (Ap '48)
Electronic instruments. Greenwood, I. A., and others., eds. (S '48)

Electronic transformers
Lee, R. Electronic transformers and circuits. (Ap '48)

Electronics
Bachman, C. H. Techniques in experimental electronics. (Ag '48)
Davis, H. M. Energy unlimited. (Ap '48)
Ryder, J. D. Electronic engineering principles. (Ap '48)
Wellman, W. R. Elementary industrial electronics. (S '48)
Zeluff, V., and Markus, J. What electronics does. (Ag '48)

Electrons
Albert, A. L. Fundamental electronics and vacuum tubes. (Ag '48)
Hoag, J. B. Electron and nuclear physics [3d ed]. (S '48)
Elementary concepts of mathematics. Jones, B. W. (My '48)
Elementary industrial electronics. Wellman, W. R. (S '48)
Elementary mechanical vibrations. Church, A. H. (Ag '48)
Elementary musicianship. Bauman, A. (My '48)
Elementary nuclear theory. Bethe, H. A. (My '48)
Elements of acoustical engineering [2d ed]. Olson, H. F. (Ap '48)
Elements of democratic government. Corry, J. A. (Ap '48)
Elements of electrical engineering [5th ed]. Cook, A. L. (Ag '48)
Elements of nomography. Douglass, R. D., and Adams, D. P. (My '48)
Elements of radio [2d ed]. Marcus, A. and W. (S '48)
Elements of radio servicing. Marcus, W., and Levy, A. (Je '48)

Elevators

Juvenile literature

Bechdolt, J. E. Going up. (D '48)

Eliot, George, pseud. of Mrs Mary Ann (Evans) Cross
Bullett, G. W. George Eliot. (My '48)
Eliot, Thomas Stearns
Unger, L., ed. T. S. Eliot. (Ag '48)
Elizabeth of Hungary, Saint
Seesholtz, A. G. Saint Elizabeth. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Elizabeth, queen of England

Fiction

Irwin, M. E. F. Elizabeth, captive princess. (D '48)

Elisabeth, princess of France
La Vergne, Y., de. Madame Elisabeth of France. (S '48)
Elizabeth, captive princess. Irwin, M. E. F. (D '48)
Elsa's secret. Grey, E. (D '48)
Emergency committee in aid of displaced foreign scholars
Duggan, S. P. H., and Drury, B. Rescue of science and learning. (N '48)
Emigration and immigration
Isaac, J. Economics of migration. (Ag '48)
Kulischer, E. M. Europe on the move. (O '48)
Emmet, Robert
Landreth, H. Pursuit of Robert Emmet. (Ap '48)
Emotional maturity. Saul, L. J. (Ag '48)
Emotions
Sartre, J. P. Emotions. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Emperor's duchess. Graefenberg, R. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Employees' representation in management
Chamberlain, N. W. Union challenge to management control. (Ap '48)
Lever, E. J., and Goodell, F. Labor-management cooperation and how to achieve it. (Ag '48)
Employers liability. See Workmen's compensation
Employment management
Cushman, F. and R. W. Improving supervision. (S '48)
Drake, F. S. and C. A. Human relations casebook. (Ap '48)
Furnas, C. C., ed. Research in industry. (Je '48)
Ghiselli, E. E., and Brown, C. W. Personnel and industrial psychology. (S '48)
Heron, A. R. Why men work. (S '48)
Lawshe, C. H. Principles of personnel testing. (O '48)
Pigors, P. J. W., and Myers, C. A. Personnel administration. (Ap '48)
Shuman, R. B. Management of men. (S '48)
Thomason, C. C. Human relations in action. (Ag '48)
Empty tower. Bothwell, J. (N '48)
Enchanted life. Main, M. F. (N '48)
Encores on Main street. Pearson, T. (S '48)
Encyclopedia of vocational guidance. Kaplan, O. J., ed. (Je '48)
Encyclopedias and dictionaries
Britannica junior. (O '48)
Champlin, J. D. Champlin encyclopedia. (O '48)
Compton's pictured encyclopedia. (My '48)
Encyclopaedia Britannica. Ten eventful years. (Je '48)

New wonder world; ed. by J. R. McGaughy [11th ed]. (My '48)
Stimpson, G. W. Information roundup. (O '48)
Wonderland of knowledge. (O '48)
World book encyclopedia. (My '48)
World-scope encyclopedia. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Bennett, D. A. Golden encyclopedia. (Je '48)
Encyclopedie, ou Dictionnaire raisonne des sciences
Oliver, A. R. Encyclopedists as critics of music. (D '48)
Encyclopedists as critics of music. Oliver, A. R. (D '48)
End of an epoch. Rowse, A. L. (My '48)
The enduring Federalist. Federalist. (Mr '48)
Energy unlimited. Davis, H. M. (Ap '48)
Engaged couple has a right to know. Weisman, A. I. (S '48)
Engelbert von Admont
Fowler, G. B. Intellectual interests of Engelbert of Admont. (Je '48)
Engine room questions and answers. Higgins, A. (S '48)
Engineering
Canfield, D. T., and Bowman, J. H. Business, legal, and ethical phases of engineering. (D '48)
Dunham, C. W. Planning industrial structures. (S '48)
Study and teaching
Finch, J. K. Trends in engineering education. (D '48)
Engineering applications of fluid mechanics. Hunsaker, J. C., and Rightmire, B. G. (S '48)
Engineering databook. Heating and ventilating (periodical). (Ag '48)
Engineers
Bjork, K. Saga in steel and concrete. (Ag '48)
England
Description and travel
Clark, S. A. All the best in England. (Je '48)
Jefferies, R. Old house at Coate. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Laughlin, C. E. So you're going to England [2d rev ed]. (Je '48)
Social life and customs
Moore, J. C. Brensham village. (My '48)
Thompson, F. Still glides the stream. (S '48)
England. Hamilton, H. (Ap '48)
England and Napoleon III. Palm, F. C. (S '48)
English country parson. Addison, W. (Ap '48)
English delftware. Garner, F. H. (F '49) (1948 Annual) English drama
Collections
Davis, E. C., ed. 8 popular plays for amateurs in prompt book style. (My '48)
English folk-heroes. Hole, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
English language
Lewis, N. How to speak better English. (My '48)
Mencken, H. L. American language; suppl. II. (My '48)
Antonyms
Funk & Wagnalls standard handbook of synonyms, antonyms, and prepositions [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Composition and exercises
Flesch, R. F., and Lass, A. H. Way to write. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dictionaries
American college dictionary; ed. by Clarence L. Barnhart. (Mr '48)
Funk & Wagnalls new Standard dictionary of the English language. (O '48)
Webster, N. New international dictionary of the English language [2d ed]. (O '48)
Webster, N. New international dictionary of the English language, with reference history. (O '48)
Wright, W. W. Rainbow dictionary. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)
Glossaries, vocabularies, etc.
Pfeiffer, G. and L., comps. Language through pictures. (D '48)
Prepositions
Funk & Wagnalls standard handbook of synonyms, antonyms, and prepositions [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pronunciation
Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '48)
Style
Masterson, J. R., and Phillips, W. B. Federal prose. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Synonyms
Funk & Wagnalls standard handbook of synonyms, antonyms, and prepositions [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Terms and phrases
Funk, C. E. Hog on ice. (My '48)
Taylor, A. M., comp. Language of world war II [rev & enl ed]. (N '48)
Words
Barnes, D. C. Wordlore. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Brown, I. J. C. I give you my word. (S '48)
English literature
Collections
Brady, C. A., ed. Catholic reader. (My '48)
Watkins-Pitchford, D. J., comp. Shooting man's bedside book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
History and criticism
Adams, M. R. Studies in the literary backgrounds of English radicalism. (Ag '48)
Baugh, A. C., ed. Literary history of England. (Je '48)
Bennett, H. S. Chaucer and the fifteenth century. (N '48)
Brooke, C. F. Essays on Shakespeare and other Elizabethans. (Ag '48)
Mott, F. L. Golden multitudes. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Tinker, C. B. Essays in retrospect. (Ag '48)
Wilson, J. H. Court wits of the restoration. (D '48)
Woolf, V. S. Common reader. (D '48)
English poetry
Collections
Adshead, G. L., and Duff, A., eds. Inheritance of poetry. (O '48)
Arlott, J., ed. First time in America. (D '48)
Bullett, G. W., ed. Silver poets of the 16th century. (Ag '48)
History and criticism
Leavis, F. R. Revaluation. (Ap '48)
Poets at work. (Ap '48)
Tillyard, E. M. W. Five poems. (N '48)
Engravings
Brueghel, P. Fantasy of Pieter Brueghel. (My '48)
Zigrosser, C. Book of fine prints [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Enjoyment of living. Eastman, M. (My '48)
Entertaining
Carlson, B. W. Junior party book. (D '48)
Daly, S. J. Party fun. (Ag '48)
Van Rensselaer, A. Complete party book. (O '48)
Enzymes
Northrop, J. H., and others. Crystalline enzymes. (D '48)
Erica's return. Vilmorin, L. de. (D '48)
Ernst, Morris Leopold
Ernst, M. L. So far so good. (N '48)
Erskine, John
Erskine, J. My life as a teacher. (Je '48)
Escalator method in engineering vibration problems. Morris, J. (Ap '48)
Escape from the pit. Kulkielko, R. (Je '48)
Escape from Vermont. Gordon, J. M. S. (D '48)
Eskimo doctor. Gilberg, A. (S '48)
Eskimo store. Lange, A. (D '48)
Eskimos
Gilberg, A. Eskimo doctor. (S '48)
Helmericks, C. and H. Our summer with the Eskimos. (N '48)

Essays
Barker, E. Traditions of civility. (S '48)
Bishop, J. P. Collected essays. (N '48)
Brown, J. M. Seeing more things. (N '48)
Cohn, A. E. No retreat from reason. (Je '48)
Freedom and experience; essays presented to Horace M. Kallen. (Je '48)
Gogarty, O. St. J. Mourning became Mrs Spendlove. (My '48)
Neilson, F. Modern man and the liberal arts. (My '48)
Newman, J. H. Essays and sketches. (D '48)
Nizer, L. Between you and me. (S '48)
Tinker, C. B. Essays in retrospect. (Ag '48)
Warren, A. Rage for order. (Ag '48)
Woolf, V. S. The moment. (Je '48)
Essays and sketches. Newman, J. H. (D '48)
Essays in retrospect. Tinker, C. B. (Ag '48)
Essays on freedom and power. Acton, J. E. E. D.-A. (N '48)
Essays on music. Rolland, R. (S '48)
Essays on primitivism. Boas, G. (D '48)
Essays on Shakespeare and other Elizabethans. Brooke, C. F. (Ag '48)
Essences and essential oils
Guenther, E., and others. Essential oils. (Ag '48)
Essential oils. Guenther, E., and others. (Ag '48)
Esthetics
Berenson, B. Aesthetics and history in the visual arts. (D '48)
Greenough, H. Form and function. (My '48)
Ortega y Gasset, J. Dehumanization of art. (Ag '48)
Eternity ring. Wentworth, P. (Je '48)
Ethan, the shepherd boy. Ceder, G. D. (My '48)
Ethics
Fromm, E. Man for himself. (Ap '48)
Lewis, H. D. Morals and the new theology. (N '48)
Maritain, J. Person and the common good. (My '48)
O'Neill, A. M. Ethics for the atomic age. (S '48)
Ethics, Evolutionary
Holmes, S. J. Life and morals. (My '48)
Ethics for the atomic age. O'Neill, A. M. (S '48)
Ethics in sex conduct. Leuba, C. (D '48)
Ethics of sexual acts. Guyon, R. (S '48)
Ethnology
Fiji islands
Quain, B. H. Fijian village. (O '48)
Etiquet
Bryant, B. M. Miss Behavior. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Jonathan, N. H. Guide book for the young man about town. (Je '48)
Vogue (periodical). Book of etiquette. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Europe
Civilization
Brown, L. F., and Carson, G. B. Men and centuries of European civilization. (N '48)
Weber, A. Farewell to European history. (S '48)
Description and travel
Bemelmans, L. Best of times. (D '48)
Clark, P. F. Challenge of the American know-how. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Fielding, T. H. New travel guide to Europe. (S '48)
Lerner, L. A. Continental journey. (My '48)
Matthiessen, F. O. From the heart of Europe. (O '48)
Millar, G. R. Isabel and the sea. (S '48)
Welles, S. G. Profile of Europe. (N '48)
Economic conditions
Crowther, G. Economic reconstruction of Europe. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harris, S. E. European recovery program. (D '48)
Summers, R. E., comp. Economic aid to Europe. (S '48)
Ward, B. West at bay. (N '48)
History
Alington, C. A. Europe. (N '48)
Brown, L. F., and Carson, G. B. Men and centuries of European civilization. (N '48)
Burns, C. D. First Europe. (My '48)
Ergang, R. R. Europe in our time. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Garrett, M. B., and Godfrey, J. L. Europe since 1815. (Mr '48)
May, A. J. Europe and two world wars. (Ap '48)
Schenk, H. G. Aftermath of the Napoleonic wars. (My '48)
Wallace, L. P. Papacy and European diplomacy. (Ag '48)
Sources
Stearns, R. P., ed. Pageant of Europe. (Je '48)
Politics
Gafencu, G. Last days of Europe. (Je '48)
Pollock, J. K., ed. Change and crisis in European government. (Ap '48)
Roberts, L. Home from the cold wars. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Schenk, H. G. Aftermath of the Napoleonic wars. (My '48)
Wallace, L. P. Papacy and European diplomacy. (Ag '48)
Ward, B. West at bay. (N '48)
Welles, S. G. Profile of Europe. (N '48)
Population
Kulischer, E. M. Europe on the move. (O '48)
Europe. Alington, C. A. (N '48)
Europe and two world wars. May, A. J. (Ap '48)
Europe in our time. Ergang, R. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Europe on the move. Kulischer, E. M. (O '48)
Europe since 1815. Garrett, M. B., and Godfrey, J. L. (Mr '48)
European ideologies. Gross, F., ed. (D '48)
European recovery program. Harris, S. E. (D '48)
European war, 1914-1918
Germany
Hafkesbrink, H. Unknown Germany. (Ag '48)
United States
Paxson, F. L. American democracy and the World war, v3. (S '48)
Evaluation of non-directive psychotherapy. Muench, G. A. (Je '48)
Evangelistic work
Shoemaker, S. M. Revive thy church beginning with me. (N '48)
Ever after. Whitney, P. A. (D '48)
Everest, Mount
Tilman, H. W. Mount Everest. (S '48)
Everglade gold. Sackett, B. (Je '48)
Everybody slept here. Arnold, E. (Je '48)
Everyday miracle. Eckstein, G. (S '48)
Everyday problems of American democracy [rev ed]. Greenan, J. T. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Everyman looks forward. Whyte, L. L. (D '48)
Everyman's dictionary of music. Blom, E., comp. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Evolution
Bagehot, W. Physics and politics. (D '48)
Evolution of American foreign policy. Perkins, D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Excess profits tax
Seidman, J. S. Legislative history of excess profits tax laws, 1946-1917. (Ag '48)
Exciting journey. Dale, N. (O '48)
Executive director on the job in membership organization. Clark, M. L., and Teall, B. (Ap '48)
Executive power
Hart, J. American presidency in action, 1789. (N '48)
Exercise
Stafford, G. T. Exercise during convalescence. (N '48)
Exercise during convalescence. Stafford, G. T. (N '48)
Exile ends in glory. Merton, T. (N '48)
Existentialism
Bobbio, N. Philosophy of decadentism. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Grene, M. G. Dreadful freedom. (S '48)
Harper, R. Existentialism. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ruggiero, G. de. Existentialism. (Ap '48)

Exodus 1947 (ship)
Gruber, R. Destination Palestine. (N '48)
Experiment in world order. McGuire, P. (Je '48)
Experimental designs in sociological research. Chapin, F. S. (S '48)
Exploring art. Kainz, L. C., and Riley, O. L. (My '48)
Explosion. Disney, D. C. (Ap '48)
Exporting arms. Stedman, M. S. (S '48)
Exposition of empire. Carrington, C. E. (Ap '48)

Expulsion
Labor research association. Palmer raids. (O '48)

F as in flight. Treat, L. (My '48)
F.D.R., his personal letters, 1905-1928. Roosevelt, F. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
FM transmission and reception. Rider, J. F., and Uslan, S. D. (Ag '48)
Face of hate. Du Bois, T. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Factory management
Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. Running a machine shop [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Lever, E. J. and Goodell, F. Labor-management cooperation and how to achieve it. (Ag '48)

Factory sanitation
Parker, M. E. Food-plant sanitation. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Fair Havens. Jefferson, B. C. (N '48)
Fair wind to Java. Roark, G. (O '48)

Fairy tales
Fenner, P. R., ed. With might and main. (D '48)

Fairy tales, Irish
Campbell, A. Tales my father told. (D '48)

Faith
Chalmers, A. K. High wind at noon. (D '48)
Gilkey, J. G. Gaining the faith you need. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Faith of reason. Frankel, C. (S '48)
Faithful company. Swinnerton, F. A. (Ag '48)
Fakes. Kurz, O. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fall of Mussolini. Mussolini, B. (D '48)
Fall of the Spanish American empire. Madariaga, S. de. (D '48)

Fall River line
McAdam, R. W. Priscilla of Fall River. (Mr '48)
Fallen sun. Busch, N. F. (Mr '48)
False bounty. Davis, F. C. (My '48)
Familiar quotations [12th rev ed]. Bartlett, J., comp. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Family
Ellenwood, J. L. Just and durable parents. (O '48)
Grossman, J. S. Life with family. (N '48)
Groves, E. R. and G. H. Contemporary American family. (Ap '48)
Nimkoff, M. F. Marriage and the family. (Je '48)
Schaffner, B. H. Father land. (S '48)
Schmiedeler, E. Introductory study of the family [rev ed]. (Je '48)
Truxal, A. G., and Merrill, F. E. Family in American culture. (Je '48)
Zimmerman, C. C. Family and civilization. (Mr '48)
Family affair. Hunt, M. F. (O '48)
Family and civilization. Zimmerman, C. C. (Mr '48)
Family circle. Skinner, C. O. (O '48)
Family farm policy. Ackerman, J., and Harris, M. D. (S '48)
Family in American culture. Truxal, A. G., and Merrill, F. E. (Je '48)
Family members. Yoseloff, M. (D '48)
Fantasy of Pieter Brueghel. Brueghel, P. (My '48)
Far distant bugle. MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. (N '48)
Far East. Clyde, P. H. (S '48)
Faraway tree. Storm, J. (My '48)

Farber, Milton
Farber, M. Blackstone and White rock. (O '48)
Farewell to European history. Weber, A. (S '48)

Farm life
Allen, G. Rustics for keeps. (Ag '48)
Beston, H. Northern farm. (D '48)
Bromfield, L. Malabar Farm. (Je '48)
Jacobs, H. A. We chose the country. (S '48)
Teal, M. P. Earth is ours. (My '48)

Farm management
Black, J. D., and others. Farm management. (Ag '48)
Degraff, H. F., and Haystead, L. Business of farming. (S '48)
Farm manual. Popular mechanics magazine. (S '48)

Farm tenancy
Ackerman, J., and Harris, M. D. Family farm policy. (S '48)
Farmers' handbook. White, J. M. (S '48)
Farming and democracy. Griswold, A. W. (Ag '48)

Farms
Moral, H. R. Buying country property. (Je '48)
Fashionable Brighton. Dale, A. (N '48)
Fatal step. Wade, B., and Miller, B. (Ap '48)
Father Dominic Barberi. Gwynn, D. R. (O '48)
Father Knickerbocker rebels. Wertenbaker, T. J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Father land. Schaffner, B. H. (S '48)

Fatima, Nossa Senhora da
McGlynn, T. M. Vision of Fatima. (D '48)
Fatty acids and their derivatives. Ralston, A. W. (S '48)
Favorite animal stories. Salten, F., comp. (D '48)
Fear is the parent. Ferro, M. (My '48)
Febold Feboldson. Beath, P. R., comp. (Ap '48)

Feboldson, Febold
Beath, P. R., comp. Febold Feboldson. (Ap '48)
Federal aid to elementary and secondary education. Quattlebaum, C. A. (D '48)

Federal government
Federalist. The enduring Federalist. (Mr '48)
Federalist. The Federalist, ed. by Max Beloff. (D '48)

Federal party
White, L. D. The Federalists. (Ag '48)
Federal prose. Masterson, J. R., and Phillips, W. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Federal protection of civil rights. Carr, R. K. (My '48)
Federalist, ed. by Max Beloff. Federalist. (D '48)
The Federalists. White, L. D. (Ag '48)
Fellowship of the saints. Kepler, T. S., comp. (D '48)

Fertilizers and manures
Hopkins, D. P. Chemicals, humus, and the soil. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Festivals
Douglas, G. W. American book of days [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Fickle moment. Blackmore, P. (Ap '48)

Fiction (books about)

Bibliography
Bleiler, E. F., ed. Checklist of fantastic literature. (S '48)
Wright, L. H. American fiction, 1774-1850. (D '48)

History and criticism
James, H. Art of fiction. (Je '48)
Maugham, W. S. Great novelists and their novels. (N '48)
O'Connor, W. V., ed. Forms of modern fiction. (S '48)
Ortega y Gasset, J. Dehumanization of art. (Ag '48)

Fiction (classified according to subject)

Adolescence
Ader, P. F. Leaf against the sky. (Ap '48)
Capote, T. Other voices, other rooms. (Mr '48)
Daly, M., ed. My favorite stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hesse, H. Demian. (Mr '48)
Morley, B. Intemperate season. (Ag '48)
Nathan, R. Long after summer. (N '48)
Plagemann, B. Into the labyrinth. (N '48)
Raphaelson, D. W. Morning song. (Ag '48)
Skouen, A. Stokers' mess. (Je '48)

Fiction—Adolescence—Continued

Summers, H. S. City limit. (O '48)
Wouk, H. City boy. (O '48)
Yaray, H. One page missing. (My '48)
Yoseloff, M. Family members. (D '48)

Adventure

Farnol, J. Most sacred of all. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Gann, E. K. Benjamin Lawless. (D '48)
Hammond-Innes, R. Gale warning. (My '48)
Schoonover, L. L. Burnished blade. (N '48)
Webber, E. and O. Rampart street. (D '48)

Aeronautics

Norway, N. S. No highway. (O '48)

Allegories

Huxley, A. L. Ape and essence. (O '48)
Jünger, E. On the marble cliffs. (My '48)
Lowry, R. J. Find me in fire. (O '48)
Mann, T. Doctor Faustus. (D '48)
Read, H. E. Green child. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Williams, C. All Hallows' eve. (D '48)

Americans abroad

Palffy, E. Largely fiction. (D '48)

Americans in France

Longstreet, S. Crystal girl. (D '48)

Animal stories

Waring, P. A. Peacock country. (Ap '48)

Cats

Salten, F. Jibby the cat. (S '48)

Horses

Howard, F. R. Sailmaker. (Ag '48)

Architects

Wickware, F. S. Tuesday to bed. (My '48)

Art dealers

Loring, E. B. I hear adventure calling. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Artists

Alman, D. Well of compassion. (S '48)
Aswell, J. Midsummer fires. (D '48)
Murphy, D. Cold heaven. (Ap '48)
Verdier, E. Sun and the barrow. (Ap '48)

Authors

Francis, R. We fly away. (N '48)

Aviators

Lay, B., and Bartlett, S. Twelve o'clock high! (Ag '48)

Biblical stories

Bauer, F. A. M. Abram, son of Terah. (Je '48)
Blythe, L. Bold Galilean. (N '48)
Douglas, L. C. Big fisherman. (D '48)
Fast, H. M. My glorious brothers. (N '48)

Biographical novels

Abraham, the patriarch

Bauer, F. A. M. Abram, son of Terah. (Je '48)

Allen, Ethan

Van de Water, F. F. Reluctant rebel. (My '48)

Baudelaire, Charles

White, C. W. Midnight gardener. (O '48)

Benjamin, Judah Philip

Abrahams, R. D. Mr Benjamin's sword. (O '48)

Burns, Robert

Barke, J. Song in the green thorn tree. (Ag '48)

Caesar, Caius Julius

Wilder, T. N. Ides of March. (Ap '48)

Campbell, Archibald

Porteus, S. D. Restless voyage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Carroll, Anna Ella

Noble, H. Woman with a sword. (S '48)

Crompton, Samuel

Thompson, T. Crompton way. (Mr '48)

Davis, Samuel

Rowell, A. C. On Jordan's stormy banks. (Ag '48)

Davis, Varina (Howell)

Kane, H. T. Bride of fortune. (N '48)
Seifert, S. Proud way. (Ag '48)

Delacroix, Eugène

Hersch, V. D. To seize a dream. (D '48)

Elizabeth, queen of England

Irwin, M. E. F. Elizabeth, captive princess. (D '48)

French, Daniel Chester

Longstreth, T. M. Great venture. (D '48)

Grenville, Sir Richard

Fletcher, I. C. Roanoke hundred. (D '48)

Jackson, Andrew

Crabb, A. L. Home to the Hermitage. (My '48)

James I, king of Scotland

Fremantle, A. J. James and Joan. (Ap '48)

Judith, princess of France

Leighton, M. C. Judith of France. (Ap '48)

Kemble, Frances Anne

Henkle, H. Fire in the heart. (D '48)

Mary Stuart, queen of Scots

Dakers, E. K. Parcel of rogues. (O '48)

Mendeleev, Dimitriĭ Ivanovich

Posin, D. Q. Mendeleyev, the story of a great scientist. (D '48)

Patrick, Saint

Schofield, W. G. Deer cry. (N '48)

Richard II, king of England

Barnes, M. C. Within the hollow crown. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Rimbaud, Jean Nicolas Arthur

Bercovici, K. Savage prodigal. (Ag '48)

Seton, Mother Elizabeth Ann (Bayley)

Eaton, E. S. M. and Moore, E. R. Heart in pilgrimage. (My '48)

Stevenson, Robert Louis

Stern, G. B. No son of mine. (Ag '48)

Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch

Mann, K. Pathetic symphony. (Je '48)

Tubman, Mrs Harriet (Ross)

Parrish, A. Clouded star. (O '48)

Bohemians in the United States

Auslander, J., and Wurdemann, A. My Uncle Jan. (My '48)

Bonus expeditionary force, 1932

Weaver, J. D. Another such victory. (My '48)

Brass

Clark, H. Mill on Mad river. (Ag '48)

Brothers

Bushnell, A. Rock Haven. (O '48)
Kamal, A. Full fathom five. (O '48)

Bullfights

Conrad, B. Innocent villa. (Ag '48)

Character studies

Baker, A. Short term. (Ap '48)
Baker, D. D. Our gifted son. (S '48)
Bombal, M. L. Shrouded woman. (Je '48)
Boyd, M. Lucinda Brayford. (Ap '48)
Cain, J. M. The moth. (S '48)
Caldwell, J. T. Melissa. (Ag '48)
Campbell, G. M. G. Fresh wind blowing. (Ap '48)
Campbell, P. Lush valley. (N '48)
Cather, W. S. Old beauty. (O '48)
Connell, V. Golden sleep. (Ap '48)
De Capite, M. Bennett place. (Mr '48)
De Polnay, P. Moot point. (Ap '48)
Dudley, O. F. Michael. (S '48)
Engstrand, S. D. Beyond the forest. (N '48)

Farren, J. Train from Pittsburgh. (Ap '48)
Feikema, F. F. Chokecherry tree. (My '48)
Frank, L. Mathilde. (Je '48)
Gibbons, R. F. Patchwork time. (Mr '48)
Gibbs, P. H. Hopeful heart. (S '48)
Godden, J. House by the sea. (Ag '48)
Green, E. Dora. (Ap '48)
Hurston, Z. N. Seraph on the Suwanee. (N '48)
Hutchins, M. P. M. Georgiana. (O '48)
Ingersoll, R. M. Great ones. (Ap '48)
Johnson, P. H. Avenue of stone. (My '48)
Kuhn, R. L. Cornelia. (Ag '48)
Mannes, M. Message from a stranger. (Ap '48)
Maxwell, W. Time will darken it. (O '48)
Morris, E. Charade. (O '48)
Parrish, R. H. My uncle and Miss Elizabeth. (My '48)
Pennell, J. S. History of Nora Beckham. (O '48)
Perkins, V. C. Discovery. (Ap '48)
Rackowe, A. Stylish marriage. (Ag '48)
Seifert, E. Glass and the trumpet. (Ag '48)
Sharp, M. Foolish gentlewoman. (Ag '48)
Sinclair, U. B. One clear call. (O '48)
Spalding, H. White witnesses. (O '48)
Stevens, J. Big Jim Turner. (N '48)
Stone, G. Z. Secret thread. (O '48)
Sylvester, R. Rough sketch. (Ap '48)
Taylor, D. They move with the sun. (N '48)
Wechsberg, J. Continental touch. (Ap '48)
White, P. Aunt's story. (Mr '48)
Yates, E. Beloved bondage. (D '48)

Children, Stories about

Barker, A. L. Innocents. (My '48)
Sze, M. Silent children. (My '48)

Chinese in the United States

Lin, Yu-t'ang. Chinatown family. (N '48)

Christmas stories

Cousins, M. Uncle Edgar and the reluctant saint. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Clergy

Cheavens, M. L. Crosswinds. (N '48)
Cunningham, A. B. Victory of Paul Kent. (S '48)
Sherriff, R. C. Another year. (My '48)
White, N. G. No trumpet before him. (My '48)

Communism

Saxton, A. P. Great Midland. (D '48)

Communism and communists

Gibbs, W. Tender men. (Ap '48)

Convent life

Warner, S. T. Corner that held them. (D '48)

Cotton industry

Thompson, J. E. Seed in spring. (O '48)

Country life

Field, B. Last freshet. (S '48)
Morris, W. Home place. (S '48)

Crime and criminals

Kaufman, L. Lower part of the sky. (My '48)
Lustgarten, E. M. Blondie Iscariot. (O '48)
McCoy, H. Kiss tomorrow good-bye. (Je '48)
Stone, G. Z. Secret thread. (O '48)
Woolrich, C. Dead man blues. (My '48)

Czechs in the United States

Ormonde, C. Laughter from downstairs. (N '48)

Dancers

Godden, R. Candle for St. Jude. (S '48)

Deserters

Harris, B. K. Hearthstones. (O '48)

Divorce

Roberts, E. K. Divorce of Marcia Moore. (Ag '48)

Doctors

Meersch, M. van der. Bodies and souls. (My '48)

European war, 1914-1918

Beebe, E. T. R. Kissing kin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Existentialism

Beauvoir, S. De. Blood of others. (S '48)
Sartre, J. P. Wall. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Experimental forms

Parrish, R. H. My uncle and Miss Elizabeth. (My '48)

Family chronicles

Beebe, E. T. R. Kissing kin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bentley, P. E. Life story. (O '48)
Boardman, N. S. Long home. (My '48)
Boyd, M. Lucinda Brayford. (Ap '48)
Bushnell, A. Rock Haven. (O '48)
Deasy, M. Hour of spring. (Mr '48)
Doner, M. F. Ravenswood. (O '48)
Fischer, B. M. Nazarovs. (Ag '48)
Forbes, E. Running of the tide. (N '48)
Goudge, E. Pilgrim's inn. (Ap '48)
Idell, A. E. Great blizzard. (My '48)
Jenkins, S. We gather together. (S '48)
Pakington, H. Washbournes of Otterley. (O '48)
Rinehart, M. R. Light in the window. (Mr '48)
Weiskopf, F. C. Children of their time. (N '48)

Family life

Blackmore, P. Fickle moment. (Ap '48)
Colebrook, J. Northerner. (D '48)
Compton-Burnett, I. Bullivant and the Lambs. (Ag '48)
Erdman, L. G. Lonely passage. (D '48)
Goertz, A. Moon is mine. (N '48)
Jackson, S. Road through the wall. (Ap '48)
Lear Heap, W. Causeway. (O '48)
Millar, M. It's all in the family. (Je '48)
Moser, E. Roundelay. (Ag '48)
Niggli, J. Step down, elder brother. (Mr '48)
Ormonde, C. Laughter from downstairs. (N '48)
Park, R. Harp in the south. (Ap '48)
Seifert, E. Glass and the trumpet. (Ag '48)
Turlington, C. I. H. Three to make ready. (D '48)
Wickenden, D. Tobias Brandywine. (Je '48)

Fantasies

Carr, R. S. Room beyond. (N '48)
Dahl, R. Some time never. (My '48)
Dunsany, E. J. M. D. P. Fourth book of Jorkens. (D '48)
Jones, G. P. and C. B. There was a little man. (Je '48)
Kaup, E. D. Repeat with laughter. (My '48)
Liston, E. Bowl of light. (S '48)
Malcolm-Smith, G. Grass is always greener. (Mr '48)
Mitchell, R. E. Dan Owen and the angel Joe. (Mr '48)
Pinckney, J. Great mischief. (My '48)
Pratt, F. Well of the Unicorn. (Ap '48)
Read, H. E. Green child. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Stone, W. Devil take a whittler. (Je '48)
Taylor, S. W. Heaven knows why. (Je '48)
Vilmorin, L. de. Erica's return. (D '48)
Wilder, T. N. Ides of March. (Ap '48)

Farm life

Bromfield, L. Wild country. (N '48)
Laing, D. B. Great year. (N '48)
Sherman, H. M. Call of the land. (My '48)

Fathers and daughters

Busch, N. Furies. (N '48)
Chamberlain, M. Leaf shall be green. (My '48)
Corbett, E. F. Immortal Helen. (Ap '48)
Davies, R. Dark daughters. (Mr '48)

Fathers and sons

Seager, A. Inheritance. (Ag '48)
Vercel, R. Northern lights. (O '48)

Feuds

Burt, K. N. Still water. (Ap '48)

Finance

Nels, J. Man of means. (S '48)

Fishermen

Carter, G. G. The smackmen. (O '48)
Gilligan, E. Storm at Sable island. (N '48)
Kamal, A. Full fathom five. (O '48)

Fiction—Continued

Fishing

Foote, J. T. Anglers all. (Mr '48)
MacDougall, A. R. Where flows the Kennebec. (Mr '48)
Wylie, P. Crunch and Des. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Forests and forestry

Stewart, G. R. Fire. (My '48)

Friends, Society of

Emerson, E. H. Garnered sheaves. (O '48)

Frontier and pioneer life

Colebrook, J. Northerner. (D '48)
Van Every, D. Shining mountains. (O '48)

Fur trade

Jennings, J. E. River to the west. (N '48)

Future, Stories of the

Huxley, A. L. Ape and essence. (O '48)
Van Vogt, A. E. World of A. (My '48)

Ghost stories

Hodgson, W. H. Carnacki. (My '48)
Leiber, F. Night's black agents. (Je '48)

Greeks in the United States

Kamal, A. Full fathom five. (O '48)

Historical novels

Argentina

Rundell, E. R. Color of blood. (Ag '48)

Crusades

Oldenbourg, Z. World is not enough. (Ag '48)

Denmark

Maass, E. Queen's physician. (Ap '48)

England

Barnes, M. C. Within the hollow crown. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Edmondston, C. M., and Hyde, M. L. F. King's man. (My '48)
Faure, R. C. Lady Godiva and Master Tom. (Mr '48)
Fletcher, I. C. Roanoke hundred. (D '48)
Heyer, G. Foundling. (My '48)
Irwin, M. E. F. Elizabeth, captive princess. (D '48)
Warner, S. T. Corner that held them. (D '48)
Wheelwright, J. H. Strong room. (Ap '48)
Williams, J. Good yeomen. (Je '48)

Florida

Kendrick, B. H. Flames of time. (Ag '48)

France

Edmondston, C. M., and Hyde, M. L. F. King's man. (My '48)
Graefenberg, R. G. Emperor's duchess. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Jordan, M. A. Asylum for the queen. (Ag '48)
Oldenbourg, Z. World is not enough. (Ag '48)
Schoonover, L. L. Burnished blade. (N '48)

Germany

Baum, V. Headless angel. (My '48)

Germany—Allied occupation, 1945-

Marcus, A. Straw to make brick. (Ap '48)

Haiti

Taylor, A. Black Jade. (Mr '48)

Israel

Fast, H. M. My glorious brothers. (N '48)

Italy

Creed, W. Sword of Il Grande. (S '48)
Kelland, C. B. Merchant of valor. (Ag '48)

Louisiana (New Orleans)

Roberts, W. A. Creole dusk. (N '48)

Mexico

Baum, V. Headless angel. (My '48)
Gorman, H. S. Cry of Dolores. (Ap '48)

Netherlands

Sinclair, K. H. N.-W. Valiant lady. (Ap '48)

Rome (empire)

Mitchison, N. M. H. Blood of the martyrs. (N '48)
Williamson, T. R. Gladiator. (D '48)

Rome (republic)

Wilder, T. N. Ides of March. (Ap '48)

Scotland

Dakers, E. K. Parcel of rogues. (O '48)
Fremantle, A. J. James and Joan. (Ap '48)

Spanish civil war, 1936-1939

Sender, R. J. King and the queen. (Ag '48)

Trebizond, Empire of

Schoonover, L. L. Burnished blade. (N '48)

United States

Sandburg, C. Remembrance rock. (N '48)
Seton, A. Hearth and Eagle. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Stevens, L. Days of promise. (Je '48)

United States—Colonial period

Allen, H. Toward the morning. (S '48)
Best, A. C. Seven beaver skins. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Van de Water, F. F. Reluctant rebel. (My '48)

United States—Revolution

Kenyon, T. Something gleamed. (D '48)
Mason, V. Eagle in the sky. (Mr '48)
Miller, H. T. Trumpet in the city. (N '48)
Nutt, F. T. Three fields to cross. (Mr '48)

United States—Constitutional period, 1789-1809

Gabriel, G. W. I thee wed. (Je '48)
Slaughter, F. G. Sangaree. (N '48)

United States—Nineteenth century

Chidsey, D. B. Stronghold. (Ap '48)
Clark, H. Mill on Mad river. (Ag '48)
Crabb, A. L. Home to the Hermitage. (My '48)
Lockridge, R. F. Raintree county. (Mr '48)

United States—1815-1861

Blake, F. Johnny Christmas. (Ap '48)
Laughlin, R. Wind leaves no shadow. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Parrish, A. Clouded star. (O '48)
Seifert, S. Proud way. (Ag '48)
Wilder, R. Bright feather. (Ag '48)

United States—Civil war

Abrahams, R. D. Mr Benjamin's sword. (O '48)
Branch, H., and Waters, F. Diamond head. (Je '48)
Kane, H. T. Bride of fortune. (N '48)
Lagard, G. Scarlet Cockerel. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Lancaster, B. No bugles tonight. (O '48)
Noble, H. Woman with a sword. (S '48)
Rowell, A. C. On Jordan's stormy banks. (Ag '48)
Wheelwright, J. H. Gentlemen, hush! (D '48)

United States—Reconstruction period, 1865-

O'Rourke, F. Action at Three Peaks. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Stewart, C. P. Three roads to Valhalla. (O '48)
Warren, C. M. Valley of the shadow. (D '48)

Horror tales

Marshall, E. Castle in the swamp. (D '48)

Hospitals and sanatoriums

Barton, B. A. Long walk. (Je '48)
Seifert, E. Hospital zone. (N '48)
Wynd, O. Red sun south. (S '48)

Humor

Dolson, H. Husband who ran way. (O '48)
Iams, J. Prematurely gay. (Ap '48)
MacDougall, A. R. Where flows the Kennebec. (Mr '48)
Malcolm-Smith, G. Grass is always greener. (Mr '48)
Turlington, C. I. H. Three to make ready. (D '48)
Wodehouse, P. G. Spring fever. (Ag '48)

Wodehouse, P. G. Uncle Dynamite. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Insane asylums

Harvin, E. Stubborn wood. (My '48)

Intermingled lives

Roberts, C. Eight for eternity. (Ag '48)
Wallace, K. Reunion at Meads. (Ap '48)

International intrigue

Garth, D. Tortured angel. (Ag '48)

Interracial marriages

Katkov, N. Eagle at my eyes. (Mr '48)
Linebarger, P. M. A. Carola. (Mr '48)

Irish in the United States

Curran, M. D. Parish and the Hill. (O '48)
Deasy, M. Hour of spring. (Mr '48)

Irrigation

Hobart, A. T. N. Cleft rock. (O '48)

Italians in the United States

Atkins, L. If this be my harvest. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Jazz orchestras

Curran, D. Dupree blues. (My '48)
Willis, G. W. Little boy blues. (Je '48)

Jewish problem

Bradbury, B. Curious wine. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Buck, P. S. Peony. (Je '48)
Farren, J. Train from Pittsburgh. (Ap '48)
Kissin, R. This precious dust. (Ag '48)
Ward, M. J. Professor's umbrella. (Mr '48)

Jews and Jewish life

Abrahams, R. D. Mr Benjamin's sword. (O '48)
Asch, S. Tales of my people. (D '48)
Cook, F. F. Storm against the wall. (My '48)
Hughes, K. T. Not quite a dream. (Ap '48)
Ibn-Sahav, A. Jessica, my daughter. (D '48)
Katkov, N. Eagle at my eyes. (Mr '48)
Morgenstern, S. In my father's pastures. (Ap '48)
Schwartz, D. World is a wedding. (S '48)

Johnstown flood

Emerick, L. Web of evil. (S '48)

Journalists

Zinberg, L. Hold with the hares. (N '48)

Juvenile delinquency

Brown, K. Incorrigible. (Ap '48)
Gorham, C. O. Future Mister Dolan. (O '48)

Labor and laboring classes

Gaer, J., ed. Our lives. (D '48)
Saxton, A. P. Great Midland. (D '48)

Legendary history

Anderson, F. M. B. Black sail. (Ag '48)

Locality

Africa

Forester, C. S. Sky and the forest. (S '48)
Greene, G. Heart of the matter. (Ag '48)
Prokosch, F. Storm and echo. (O '48)

Africa (Rhodesia)

Krepps, R. W. Field of night. (Mr '48)

Alabama

Bailey, W. F. Devil make a third. (O '48)
Hunt, M. F. Family affair. (O '48)

Alaska

Bell, M. E. Watch for a tall white sail. (My '48)

Algeria

Camus, A. The plague. (S '48)

Algeria (Algiers)

Favre, L. Temptations of Mourad. (Mr '48)

Argentina

Childs, H. Way of a gaucho. (N '48)
Main, M. F. Enchanted life. (N '48)
Rundell, E. R. Color of blood. (Ag '48)

Argentina (Buenos Aires)

Boley, J. Baby lamb. (My '48)

Arizona (Tucson)

Meynier, G. Stranger at the door. (My '48)

Arkansas

Sherman, H. M. Call of the land. (My '48)
Thompson, J. E. Seed in spring. (O '48)

Australia

Boyd, M. Lucinda Brayford. (Ap '48)
Colebrook, J. Northerner. (D '48)
Furphy, J. Such is life. (N '48)

Australia (Sydney)

Park, R. Harp in the south. (Ap '48)

Austria

Freedman, R. Divided. (S '48)

Austria (Vienna)

Landau, M. A. Tenth symphony. (N '48)

Belgium

Van Paassen, P. Tower of Terzel. (N '48)

California

Hobart, A. T. N. Cleft rock. (O '48)
Howard, F. R. Sailmaker. (Ag '48)
Jackson, S. Road through the wall. (Ap '48)
Marion, F. Westward the dream. (Ag '48)
Myers, V. Angelo's wife. (N '48)

California (Hollywood)

Heth, E. H. We are the robbers. (My '48)
Sherriff, R. C. Another year. (My '48)

California (San Francisco)

Campbell, P. Lush valley. (N '48)
Gibbs, W. Tender men. (Ap '48)
Young, M. B. Heaven faces west. (D '48)

California (San Joaquin Valley)

Atkins, L. If this be my harvest. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Canada

Campbell, G. M. G. Fresh wind blowing. (Ap '48)
Elwood, M. Towards the sunset. (Je '48)

Canada (Quebec, city)

Lemelin, R. Town below. (Je '48)

Caribbean sea

Yerby, F. G. Golden hawk. (Je '48)

China

Buck, P. S. Peony. (Je '48)
Linebarger, P. M. A. Carola. (Mr '48)
Shu, C. Quest for love of Lao Lee. (D '48)

Connecticut

Allis, M. Law of the land. (Je '48)
Clark, H. Mill on Mad river. (Ag '48)
Greene, J. E. Bridge at Branfield. (Je '48)
Morley, B. Intemperate season. (Ag '48)

Cuba

Bottume, C. H. Hills around Havana. (Ap '48)

Czechoslovakia (Prague)

Weiskopf, F. C. Children of their time. (N '48)

Egypt

Sykes, C. Answer to question 33. (N '48)

England

Blackmore, P. Fickle moment. (Ap '48)
Boyd, M. Lucinda Brayford. (Ap '48)
Carter, G. G. The smacksmen. (O '48)
Compton-Burnett, I. Bullivant and the Lambs. (Ag '48)
Connell, V. Golden sleep. (Ap '48)
Davies, R. Dark daughters. (Mr '48)
Eden, E. Semi-detached house. (N '48)
Farnol, J. Most sacred of all. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Gibbs, P. H. Hopeful heart. (S '48)
Mercer, C. W. Berry scene. (Je '48)
Waugh, A. Unclouded summer. (Ap '48)

England (provincial and rural)

Ashton, H. Lost captain. (My '48)
Cadell, E. Gay pursuit. (O '48)

Fiction—Locality—England (provincial)—Cont.
Carfrae, E. Good morning, Miss Morrison. (N '48)
Drake, M. E. Chrysantha. (S '48)
Dudley, O. F. Michael. (S '48)
Goudge, E. Pilgrim's inn. (Ap '48)
Mackintosh, E. Miss Pym disposes. (Ag '48)
Pakington, H. Washbournes of Otterley. (O '48)
Pargeter, E. By this strange fire. (My '48)
Penn, M. Manchester, fourteen miles. (Je '48)
Renault, M. North face. (O '48)
Smith, D. G. I capture the castle. (N '48)
Sykes, C. Answer to question 33. (N '48)
Thirkell, A. M. Love among the ruins. (N '48)
Thirkell, A. M. Private enterprise. (Mr '48)
Thompson, F. Still glides the stream. (S '48)
Wodehouse, P. G. Uncle Dynamite. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

England (Cambridge)

Snow, C. P. Light and the dark. (Ap '48)

England (Cornwall)

Christie, A. M. Rose and the yew tree. (Je '48)
Clemo, J. R. Wilding graft. (D '48)
Godden, J. House by the sea. (Ag '48)

England (Lancashire)

Thompson, T. Crompton way. (Mr '48)

England (London)

Fitz Gibbon, C. Arabian bird. (Je '48)
Frankau, G. Michael's wife. (N '48)
Fuller, M. W. This awakening. (S '48)
Godden, R. Candle for St. Jude. (S '48)
Houselander, F. C. Dry wood. (Ap '48)
James, H. Princess Casamassima. (O '48)
Kersh, G. Song of the flea. (Je '48)
Lear Heap, W. Causeway. (O '48)
Lustgarten, E. M. Blondie Iscariot. (O '48)
Sharp, M. Foolish gentlewoman. (Ag '48)
Sherriff, R. C. Another year. (My '48)
Thompson, S. People opposite. (D '48)

England (Yorkshire)

Bentley, P. E. Life story. (O '48)

Florida

Hurston, Z. N. Seraph on the Suwanee. (N '48)
Kamal, A. Full fathom five. (O '48)
Stewart, C. P. Three roads to Valhalla. (O '48)
Wilder, R. Bright feather. (Ag '48)
Wylie, P. Crunch and Des. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

France

Bercovici, K. Savage prodigal. (Ag '48)
Boyle, K. 1939, a novel. (Ap '48)
Mackinder, D. Wandering osprey. (D '48)
Meersch, M. van der. Bodies and souls. (My '48)
Morris, I. V. Tree within. (N '48)
Stern, G. B. No son of mine. (Ag '48)
Vercel, R. Northern lights. (O '48)
Woods, W. H. Street of Seven Monks. (Ap '48)

France (provincial and rural)

Mauriac, F. Unknown sea. (N '48)

France (Marseilles)

Malaquais, J. World without visa. (Ag '48)

France (Paris)

Aymé, M. Transient hour. (My '48)
Gabriel, G. W. I thee wed. (Je '48)
Landau, M. A. Tenth symphony. (N '48)
Vailland, R. Playing for keeps. (O '48)
White, C. W. Midnight gardener. (O '48)

France (Riviera)

Waugh, A. Unclouded summer. (Ap '48)

Georgia

Caldwell, E. This very earth. (O '48)
King, M. J. Vine of glory. (S '48)
Lay, M. R. Thornblossoms. (S '48)

Germany

Jameson, S. Black laurel. (Je '48)
Kissin, R. This precious dust. (Ag '48)
Mann, T. Doctor Faustus. (D '48)
Plant, R. Dragon in the forest. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Prebble, J. Edge of night. (My '48)
Smith, W. G. Last of the conquerors. (O '48)

Hawaiian islands

Porteus, S. D. Restless voyage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Widdemer, M. Lani. (Je '48)

Hawaiian islands (Honolulu)

Mackay, M. M. Sharon. (My '48)

Hungary (Budapest)

Frank, P. Affair of state. (O '48)

Idaho

Stevens, J. Big Jim Turner. (N '48)

Illinois

Emerson, E. H. Garnered sheaves. (O '48)
Maxwell, W. Time will darken it. (O '48)

Illinois (Chicago)

Parrish, R. H. My uncle and Miss Elizabeth. (My '48)
Ross, S. Someday, boy. (Je '48)
Saxton, A. P. Great Midland. (D '48)

India

Collier, R. Solitary witness. (Je '48)
Hitrec, J. G. Son of the moon. (My '48)
Menen, A. Prevalence of witches. (Mr '48)
Moorehead, A. Rage of the vulture. (D '48)
Waring, P. A. Peacock country. (Ap '48)
Wernher, H. Story of Induraja. (O '48)

Indiana

Lockridge, R. F. Raintree county. (Mr '48)

Iowa

Buxbaum, K. Iowa outpost. (O '48)
Feikema, F. F. Chokecherry tree. (My '48)
Kantor, M. Midnight lace. (Mr '48)
Yoseloff, M. Family members. (D '48)

Ireland

Crone, A. Bridie Steen. (O '48)
Macken, W. Quench the moon. (Je '48)
McLaverty, M. Three brothers. (O '48)
O'Faoláin, S. Man who invented sin. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Robertson, O. Field of the Stranger (Ag '48)
Walsh, M. Damsel debonaire. (Ag '48)

Ireland (Belfast)

Doncaster, P. Sigh for a drumbeat. (Ag '48)

Italy

Atkins, L. If this be my harvest. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Bacon, M. S. Star called wormwood. (D '48)
Berto, G. Sky is red. (N '48)
Brinkley, W. W. Quicksand. (O '48)
Creed, W. Sword of Il Grande. (S '48)
Martin, B. E. Unpromised land. (My '48)

Italy (Florence)

Reisner, M. Katherine and the dark angel. (D '48)

Italy (Venice)

Ibn-Sahav, Jessica, my daughter. (D '48)
Reisner, M. Katherine and the dark angel. (D '48)

Kansas

Davis, K. S. Years of the pilgrimage. (Mr '48)
Pennell, J. S. History of Nora Beckham. (O '48)

Kentucky

Robertson, C. Send for Miss Cora. (My '48)

Kentucky (Louisville)

McMeekin, C. Gaudy's ladies. (Ag '48)

Louisiana

Ballowe, H. L. Creole folk tales. (N '48)
Ballowe, H. L. Lawd sayin' the same. (Mr '48)
Feibleman, J. K. Long habit. (D '48)
Reymond, D. S. Earthbound. (Ap '48)

Louisiana (New Orleans)

Keyes, F. P. W. Dinner at Antoine's. (D '48)

Roberts, W. A. Creole dusk. (N '48)
Tallant, R. Angel in the wardrobe. (O '48)
Webber, E. and O. Rampart street. (D '48)

Maine

Bushnell, A. Rock Haven. (O '48)
Loring, E. B. I hear adventure calling. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
MacDougall, A. R. Where flows the Kennebec. (Mr '48)
Moore, R. Fire balloon. (D '48)

Malaya

Kauffman, R. F. Coconut wireless. (Ag '48)

Malaya, British (Singapore)

Wynd, O. Red sun south. (S '48)

Maryland

Beverley-Giddings, A. R. River of rogues. (Je '48)
Kerr, S. Sound of petticoats. (O '48)

Massachusetts

Chamberlain, M. Leaf shall be green. (My '48)

Massachusetts (Boston)

Jones, K. Miss Gifford's. (N '48)
West, D. Living is easy. (Ag '48)

Massachusetts (Cape Cod)

Bassett, S. W. Within the harbor. (S '48)
Nathan, R. Long after summer. (N '48)

Massachusetts (Marblehead)

Seton, A. Hearth and Eagle. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Massachusetts (Martha's Vineyard)

Bates, S. C. Weather breeder. (Je '48)

Massachusetts (Salem)

Forbes, E. Running of the tide. (N '48)

Mexico

Baker, D. D. Our gifted son. (S '48)
Hunt, H. Maelstrom. (O '48)
Niggli, J. Step down, elder brother. (Mr '48)
Osterhout, H. M. Flame and the serpent. (D '48)

Michigan

Doner, M. F. Ravenswood. (O '48)
Seager, A. Inheritance. (Ag '48)

Minnesota

Boardman, N. S. Long home. (My '48)

Mississippi

Creekmore, H. Welcome. (D '48)
Faulkner, W. Intruder in the dust. (N '48)
Spencer, E. Fire in the morning. (O '48)
Sumner, C. R. Tammy out of time. (Je '48)

Missouri

Bromfield, L. Wild country. (N '48)
Erdman, L. G. Lonely passage. (D '48)

Missouri (Ozark mountains)

Stone, W. Devil take a whittler. (Je '48)

Montana

Savage, T. Lona Hanson. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Netherlands

Spoelstra, C. Roll back the sea. (O '48)

Netherlands Indies

Roark, G. Fair wind to Java. (O '48)

New England

Lewisohn, L. Anniversary. (Mr '48)

New Guinea

Gerahty, D. G. Gulf of time. (Ag '48)

New Hampshire

Abbott, J. L. D. Outsiders. (O '48)

New York (city)

Gorham, C. O. Future Mister Dolan. (O '48)
Greenhood, D. Love in dishevelment. (O '48)
Heth, E. H. We are the robbers. (My '48)
Idell, A. E. Great blizzard. (My '48)
Kissin, R. This precious dust. (Ag '48)
Miller, M. That winter. (Mr '48)
Partridge, B. Big freeze. (O '48)
Powell, D. Locusts have no king. (Je '48)
Raphaelson, D. W. Morning song. (Ag '48)
Scheinfeld, A. Postscript to Wendy. (O '48)
Stead, C. A little tea, a little chat. (O '48)
Todrin, B. Plundered heart. (O '48)

New York (city) (Bronx)

Wouk, H. City boy. (O '48)

New York (city) Brooklyn

Smith, B. W. Tomorrow will be better. (O '48)

New York (city) (Ellis island)

Wahl, K. v. Threshold. (Ag '48)

New York (city) (Harlem)

Hewlett, J. H. Harlem story. (D '48)
Stark, I. Invisible island. (S '48)

New York (city) (Staten Island)

Nutt, F. T. Three fields to cross. (Mr '48)

New York (state)

Jackson, C. R. Outer edges. (Ag '48)
Komroff, M. Echo of evil. (N '48)

New Zealand

Ballantyne, D. W. The Cunninghams. (D '48)
Dudley, O. F. Michael. (S '48)

North Carolina

Fitz-Simons, F. Bright leaf. (N '48)
Harris, B. K. Hearthstones. (O '48)

Ohio

Lowry, R. J. Find me in fire. (O '48)

Ohio (Cleveland)

Young, A. B. Light in the sky. (S '48)

Oklahoma

Kelleam, J. E. Blackjack. (My '48)

Pennsylvania

Castor, H. Spanglers. (N '48)
Emerick, L. Web of evil. (S '48)
Gabriel, G. W. I thee wed. (Je '48)

Pennsylvania (Philadelphia)

Sturges-Jones, M. Heart has reasons. (N '48)

Poland

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Meek shall inherit. (D '48)
Morgenstern, S. In my father's pastures. (Ap '48)
Morris, E. Charade. (O '48)

Russia

Fischer, B. M. Nazarovs. (Ag '48)
Romanski, A. K. Prisoners of the night. (Mr '48)

Russia (Moscow)

Spewack, S. Busy busy people. (D '48)

Russia (Stalingrad)

Plievier, T. Stalingrad. (N '48)

Scotland

Barke, J. Song in the green thorn tree. (Ag '48)
Niall, I. No resting place. (O '48)
Stern, G. B. No son of mine. (Ag '48)

South Africa

Abrahams, P. Path of thunder. (Ap '48)
Paton, A. Cry, the beloved country. (Ap '48)

South America

Storm, H. O. Of good family. (Ag '48)

South Carolina

Marshall, E. Castle in the swamp. (D '48)

South Carolina (Charleston)

Pinckney, J. Great mischief. (My '48)

South Sea islands

Widdemer, M. Lani. (Je '48)

Spain

Conrad, B. Innocent villa. (Ag '48)
Maugham, W. S. Catalina. (N '48)

Fiction—Locality—Continued

Sweden

Kinsey, W. Dark is the mirror. (My '48)

Switzerland

Frank, L. Mathilde. (Je '48)

Texas

Cheavens, M. L. Crosswinds. (N '48)
Jefferson, B. C. Fair Havens. (N '48)
Lasswell, M. Bread for the living. (S '48)
Westheimer, D. Summer on the water. (Ag '48)
Wilson, J. W. High John, the conqueror. (D '48)

Tripoli

Maxwell, J. A. I never saw an Arab like him. (My '48)

Turkey

Kark, L. Owl in the sun. (N '48)

United States (middlewestern)

Bellamann, H. and K. Parris Mitchell of Kings Row. (Je '48)
Deasy, M. Hour of spring. (Mr '48)
De Capite, M. Bennett place. (Mr '48)
Holmes, M. R. Ten o'clock scholar. (Mr '48)
Ostenso, M. Milk route. (Ap '48)
Ward, M. J. Professor's umbrella. (Mr '48)

United States (northwestern)

Jennings, J. E. River to the west. (N '48)

United States (southern)

Aswell, J. Midsummer fires. (D '48)
Burt, K. N. Still water. (Ap '48)
Seifert, E. Glass and the trumpet. (Ag '48)

United States (southwestern)

Brooks, R. Boiling point. (Mr '48)
Lauritzen, J. Song before sunrise. (N '48)

United States (western)

Blake, F. Johnny Christmas. (Ap '48)
Busch, N. Furies. (N '48)
Halleran, E. E. Outlaw guns. (Je '48)
O'Rourke, F. Action at Three Peaks. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Vermont

Laing, D. B. Great year. (N '48)

Wales

Fletcher, H. L. V. Woman's house. (Je '48)
Mitchell, R. E. Dan Owen and the angel Joe. (Mr '48)
Thomas, G. Venus and the voters. (Mr '48)

Washington, D.C.

Adams, S. H. Plunder. (My '48)
Arnold, E. Everybody slept here. (Je '48)
Frank, P. Affair of state. (O '48)

Washington (state)

Campbell, P. Lush valley. (N '48)

Washington (state) (Seattle)

Jones, N. Island. (D '48)
Post, M. B. Annie Jordan. (Ag '48)
Running, C. Garden shower. (Je '48)

West Indies

Hubler, R. G. Quiet kingdom. (My '48)

Wisconsin

Auslander, J., and Wurdemann, A. My Uncle Jan. (My '48)
Corbett, E. F. Immortal Helen. (Ap '48)
Engstrand, S. D. Beyond the forest. (N '48)
Wellner, J. Time for laughter. (D '48)

Wyoming

Davis, C. B. Temper the wind. (Ap '48)

Love stories

Cadell, E. Gay pursuit. (O '48)
Carfrae, E. Good morning, Miss Morrison. (N '48)
Christie, A. M. Rose and the yew tree. (Je '48)
Fletcher, H. L. V. Woman's house. (Je '48)
Greenhood, D. Love in dishevelment. (O '48)
Holton, E. A. Green carpet. (Je '48)
Lindop, A. Soldiers' daughters never cry. (O '48)
Mergendahl, C. H. This spring of love. (Ag '48)
Patchen, K. See you in the morning. (My '48)
Pickerel, P. M. Moving stairs. (N '48)
Schoenberner, E. Mirabelle. (Je '48)
Smith, D. G. I capture the castle. (N '48)
Summers, H. S. City limit. (O '48)
Sumner, C. R. Tammy out of time. (Je '48)
Thirkell, A. M. Love among the ruins. (N '48)
Waugh, A. Unclouded summer. (Ap '48)
Wetherell, J. P. Run, sheep, run. (Je '48)

Lumber industry

Field, B. Last freshet. (S '48)

Lynching

Porteous, C. South wind blows. (Ag '48)

Marriage problems

Berlin, E. M. Lace curtain. (Ag '48)
Brinkley, W. W. Quicksand. (O '48)
Buck, P. S. Peony. (Je '48)
Colver, A. M. R. Uncertain heart. (S '48)
Creekmore, H. Welcome. (D '48)
Dolson, H. Husband who ran away. (O '48)
Downes, A. M. Mary Donovan. (My '48)
Fitz Gibbon, C. Arabian bird. (Je '48)
Frankau, G. Michael's wife. (N '48)
Franken, R. D. L. Marriage of Claudia. (Je '48)
Holmes, M. R. Ten o'clock scholar. (Mr '48)
Hunt, M. F. Family affair. (O '48)
Hurston, Z. N. Seraph on the Suwanee. (N '48)
Lawrence, J. Pleasant morning light. (Je '48)
Lea, F. H. Devil within. (Je '48)
Lewisohn, L. Anniversary. (Mr '48)
MacLennan, H. Precipice. (O '48)
Roberts, E. K. Divorce of Marcia Moore. (Ag '48)
Rosmond, B. Party for grownups. (Mr '48)
Running, C. Garden shower. (Je '48)

Marriage versus a career

Ware, H. Wonderful Mrs. Ingram. (N '48)

Metaphysical novels

Pargeter, E. By this strange fire. (My '48)
Read, H. E. Green child. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Miscegenation

Abrahams, P. Path of thunder. (Ap '48)
Alman, D. Well of compassion. (S '48)
Westheimer, D. Summer on the water. (Ag '48)

Mormons and Mormonism

Cannon, B. Nothing ever happens Sunday morning. (Je '48)
Taylor, S. W. Heaven knows why. (Je '48)

Mountaineering

Renault, M. North face. (O '48)

Murder stories

Coates, R. M. Wisteria cottage. (O '48)
Cooper, M. K. Lily Henry. (My '48)
Ellin, S. Dreadful summit. (Je '48)
Goldman, L. Wolf tone. (Ag '48)
Jackson, C. R. Outer edges. (Ag '48)
James, H. Other house. (O '48)
Lyon, D. Frightened child. (Je '48)
Morgan, B. S. Vain citadels. (Mr '48)
Sherry, E. Sudden fear. (Ap '48)
Smith, S. Woman in the sea. (N '48)
Ullman, A. Sorry, wrong number. (My '48)
Walker, G. So deadly fair. (Je '48)
Winterton, P. Trouble with murder. (S '48)

Murder trials

Campbell, P. Lush valley. (N '48)

Musicians

Fabricant, N. D., and Werner, H., eds. Caravan of music stories. (My '48)
Goldman, L. Wolf tone. (Ag '48)

Mystery and detective stories

Aarons, E. S. Gift of death. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Aarons, E. S. Nightmare. (My '48)
Armstrong, C. Chocolate cobweb. (Ag '48)
Bailey, H. C. Save a rope. (S '48)

Ballard, W. T. Dealing out death. (Ap '48)
Ballinger, W. S. Body in the bed. (O '48)
Bellairs, G. Case of the seven whistlers. (S '48)
Bergquist, L., and Moore, I. Your shot, darling! (Mr '48)
Bornemann, E. W. J. Tremolo. (S '48)
Bowen, R. S. Murder gets around. (Mr '48)
Bradley, M. Devil in the sky. (Ap '48)
Bramhall, M. Murder is an evil business. (Ag '48)
Branson, H. C. Last year's blood. (Mr '48)
Brean, H. Wilders walk away. (My '48)
Brock, S. Death is my lover. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Brock, S. Just around the coroner. (Ag '48)
Brown, F. Dead ringer. (Je '48)
Brown, F. Murder can be fun. (D '48)
Brown, Z. J. Devil's stronghold. (S '48)
Browne, H. Halo for satan. (O '48)
Burke, R. Sinister street. (S '48)
Bush, C. Case of the curious client. (S '48)
Carr, J. D. Skeleton in the clock. (D '48)
Chamberlain, E. Snare for witches. (O '48)
Charteris, L. Call for the Saint. (Ap '48)
Charteris, L. Saint errant. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Cheyney, P. Dance without music. (My '48)
Cheyney, P. Try anything twice. (S '48)
Christie, A. M. There is a tide. (My '48)
Christie, A. M. Witness for the prosecution. (O '48)
Chute, V. Wayward angel. (Ap '48)
Clark, D. P. Poison speaks softly. (Mr '48)
Clark, P. Flight into darkness. (Ap '48)
Cohen, O. R. More beautiful than murder. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Cohen, O. R. My love wears black. (My '48)
Coles, M. Among those absent. (S '48)
Collier, R. Solitary witness. (Je '48)
Cooke, D. C., ed. Best detective stories of the year, 1948. (O '48)
Coxe, G. H. Hollow needle. (N '48)
Coxe, G. H. Venturous lady. (My '48)
Crane, F. K. Black Cypress. (D '48)
Crofts, F. W. Silence for the murderer. (O '48)
Cumberland, M. And then came fear. (O '48)
Cunningham, A. B. Death haunts the dark lane. (D '48)
Cunningham, A. B. Death of a worldly woman. (Je '48)
Curtiss, U. R. Voice out of darkness. (N '48)
Daly, E. Book of the lion. (Ag '48)
Davis, F. C. False bounty. (My '48)
Davis, F. C. Gone tomorrow. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Davis, F. C. Moment of need. (Mr '48)
Davis, L. R. Threat of dragons. (N '48)
Davis, M. B. Room upstairs. (O '48)
Day-Lewis, C. Minute for murder. (Mr '48)
Dean, A. No traveller returns. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Denniston, E. No tears for the dead. (Mr '48)
Dent, L. Lady afraid. (My '48)
De Polnay, P. Moot point. (Ap '48)
Disney, D. C. Explosion. (Ap '48)
Disney, D. M. Testimony by silence. (D '48)
Disney, D. M. That which is crooked. (Je '48)
Dodge, D. Long escape. (S '48)
Dolph, J. Murder is mutuel. (N '48)
Dolph, J. Odds-on murder. (Ag '48)
Doyle, A. C. Adventure of the blue carbuncle. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Dresser, D. Blood on the stars. (Ag '48)
Dresser, D. Michael Shayne's triple mystery. (Ag '48)
Du Bois, T. M. Devil and destiny. (Je '48)
Du Bois, T. M. Face of hate. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Duncan, D. Bramble bush. (S '48)
Eastman, E. Mouse with red eyes. (S '48)
Ellington, R. It's a crime. (N '48)
Ellington, R. Shoot the works. (Ap '48)
Evans, H. A. Drink the green water. (Ap '48)
Evans, H. A. Milkmaid's millions. (O '48)
Farrar, H. Murder goes to school. (Ap '48)
Fischer, B. Bleeding scissors. (Ag '48)
Foster, J. Echo my tears. (O '48)
Fox, R., and Fahrenkopf, A. Symphony in two time. (O '48)
Freedgood, M. Blue hour. (Je '48)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the lonely heiress. (Ap '48)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the vagabond virgin. (S '48)
Gardner, E. S. D.A. takes a chance. (D '48)
Goldthwaite, E. K. Root of evil. (Ap '48)
Goodis, D. Nightfall. (Mr '48)
Gordon, R. Dead level. (Ap '48)
Gruber, F. Lock and the key. (D '48)
Gruber, F. Murder '97. (Ap '48)
Gruber, F. Scarlet feather. (Ag '48)
Hamilton, D. Steel mirror. (D '48)
Handley, A. Kiss your elbow. (O '48)
Heberden, M. V. Case of the eight brothers. (N '48)
Heberden, M. V. Drinks on the victim. (Mr '48)
Heberden, M. V. 4th funeral. (O '48)
Hitchcock, A. J., ed. Fireside book of suspense. (Mr '8)
Hitchens, D. B. Cats have tall shadows. (Je '48))
Hitchens, D. B. Devious design. (Ag '48)
Hocking, A. Finishing touch. (Je '48)
Holmes, P. A. Murder buttoned up. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hutton, J. F. Too good to be true. (S '48)
Jepson, S. Outrun the constable. (Mr '48)
Kane, H. Armchair in hell. (Mr '48)
Kane, H. Report for a corpse. (Ag '48)
Keyes, F. P. W. Dinner at Antoine's. (D '48)
Knight, C. Affair of the sixth button. (Ap '48)
Knight, K. M. Bait for murder. (O '48)
Knight, K. M. Birds of ill omen. (Je '48)
Knight, K. M. Borderline murder. (Mr '48)
Knipscheer, J. M. W. Death commits bigamy. (Mr '48)
Knipscheer, J. M. W. Inconvenient bride. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Kutak, R. I am the cat. (My '48)
Kyd, T. Blood on the Bosom Devine. (Ap '48)
Leslie, J. Hair of the dog. (Mr '48)
Leslie, J. Shoes for my love. (D '48)
Lewis, M. C. M. Death of Jezebel. (O '48)
Lipsky, E. Murder one. (Ag '48)
Little, C. and G. Black coat. (D '48)
Little, C. and G. Black piano. (Ap '48)
Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. Murder is served. (D '48)
Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. Untidy murder. (Mr '48)
Lockridge, R. and F. L. D. I want to go home. (Je '48)
Long, M. Savage breast. (Ag '48)
Loring, E. B. Beckoning trails. (Mr '48)
Loring, E. B. I hear adventure calling. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
McCloy, H. She walks alone. (Je '48)
MacDonald, P., and Correll, A. B. Dark wheel. (Ap '48)
McDonell, G. My sister, goodnight. (Mr '48)
McDougald, R. Lady without mercy. (Je '48)
McGerr, P. Catch me if you can. (D '48)
McGivern, W. P. But death runs faster. (Je '48)
MacKinnon, A. Map of mistrust. (Ag '48)
Mackintosh, E. Miss Pym disposes. (Ag '48)
Macqueen, J. W. But the patient died. (N '48)
Malleson, L. B. Missing widow. (Je '48)
Marcus, A. A. Widow Gay. (O '48)
Mason, S. E. The whip. (Mr '48)
Mayor, D. Last call for Lissa. (S '48)
Millar, K. Three roads. (Ag '48)
Montgomery, R. B. Love lies bleeding. (Ag '48)
Murray, M. King and the corpse. (S '48)
Nelson, H. L. Fountain of death. (O '48)
Nelson, H. L. Island of escape. (Ap '48)
O'Farrell, W. Brandy for a hero. (Ap '48)
O'Farrell, W. Ugly woman. (O '48)
Official detective stories magazine. Official detective omnibus; ed. by Harry Keller. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Oursler, F. These are strange tales. (Ag '48)
Queen, E., ed. Queen's awards, 1948. (N '48)
Queen, E. Ten days' wonder. (N '48)
Queen, E., ed. Twentieth century detective stories. (S '48)
Revell, L. No pockets in shrouds. (Je '48)
Reywall, J. Trial of Alvin Boaker. (Ap '48)
Rice, C. Fourth postman. (N '48)
Rivett, E. C. Relative to poison. (My '48)
Rivett, E. C. Screen for murder. (D '48)
Rohmer, S. Shadow of Fu Manchu. (S '48)
Roos, K. Murder in any language. (O '48)
Ross, Z. H. One corpse missing. (Ap '48)
Russell, C. M. Ill met in Mexico. (Ag '48)
Ryan, P. W. Many a monster. (My '48)

Fiction—Mystery and detective stories—Cont.
Sarsfield, M. Party for Lawty. (My '48)
Scherf, M. Always murder a friend. (Mr '48)
Scherf, M. Murder makes me nervous. (S '48)
Schwartz, A. Blowtop. (Ap '48)
Sher, J. Cold companion. (O '48)
Siegel, D. Witches pond. (Je '48)
Singleton, F. Independent means. (Je '48)
Smith, S. He died of murder. (My '48)
Stein, A. M. Cradle and the grave. (S '48)
Stein, A. M. In cold blood. (D '48)
Stein, A. M. Starting gun. (Ag '48)
Stevens, F. M. R. Deadly ditto. (My '48)
Stone, H. Corpse in the corner saloon. (D '48)
Stout, R. And be a villain. (N '48)
Street, C. J. C. Death of an author. (Ap '48)
Street, C. J. C. Links in the chain. (S '48)
Stuart, W. L. Night cry. (Mr '48)
Taylor, S. W. Man with my face. (N '48)
Terrall, R. Killer is loose among us. (D '48)
Thayer, L. Out, brief candle! (D '48)
Thayer, L. Pig in a poke. (Ap '48)
Tillett, D. S. All men are liars. (D '48)
Tillett, D. S. Make my bed soon. (Mr '8)
Treat, L. F as in flight. (My '48)
Treat, L. Over the edge. (N '48)
Truss, S. Where's Mr Chumley? (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tucker, W. Dove. (S '48)
Upfield, A. W. Author bites the dust. (Ap '48)
Upfield, A. W. Mountains have a secret. (O '48)
Van Siller, H. Paul's apartment. (Ag '48)
Wade, B., and Miller, B. Fatal step. (Ap '48)
Wade, B., and Miller, B. Uneasy street. (S '48)
Walling, R. A. J. Late unlamented. (O '48)
Warren, J. R. This inward horror. (S '48)
Watkins, A. And she had a little knife. (N '48)
Watkins, A. Bishop's cap. (Je '48)
Waugh, H. Hope to die. (Je '48)
Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. Run to death. (O '48)
Wells, A. M. Sin of angels. (Je '48)
Wentworth, P. Case of William Smith. (N '48)
Wentworth, P. Eternity ring. (Je '48)
Whelton, P. Women are skin deep. (Mr '48)
Williams, W. I knew Macbean. (Mr '48)
Wood, S. C. Death in Lord Byron's room. (Ag '48)
Woolrich, C. Dead man blues. (My '48)
Woolrich, C. I married a dead man. (O '48)
Woolrich, C. Rendezvous in black. (My '48)
Worley, W. My dead wife. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Yates, M. P., and Bramlette, P. Death casts a vote. (Mr '48)

Negro life

Ballowe, H. L. Lawd sayin' the same. (Mr '48)
Hewlett, J. H. Harlem story. (D '48)
West, D. Living is easy. (Ag '48)

Negro problem

Abrahams, P. Path of thunder. (Ap '48)
Faulkner, W. Intruder in the dust. (N '48)
King, M. J. Vine of glory. (S '48)
Porteous, C. South wind blows. (Ag '48)
Smith, W. G. Last of the conquerors. (O '48)
Stark, I. Invisible island. (S '48)
Van Gelder, R. Important people. (S '48)
Wilson, J. W. High John, the conqueror. (D '48)

Newspaper life

Todrin, B. Plundered heart. (O '48)

Novels in pictures

Morris, W. Home place. (S '48)

Parables

Bruckberger, R. M. Seven miracles of Gubbio and the eighth, a parable. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Camus, A. The plague. (S '48)

Philosophical novels

Bacon, M. S. Star called wormwood. (D '48)
Beauvoir, S. De. Blood of others. (S '48)
Feibleman, J. K. Long habit. (D '48)
Green, F. L. Flask for the journey. (Mr '48)
Landau, M. A. Tenth symphony. (N '48)
Lockridge, R. F. Raintree county. (Mr '48)
Miller, H. Smile at the foot of the ladder. (S '48)
Pinckney, J. Great mischief. (My '48)
Prokosch, F. Storm and echo. (O '48)
Sartre, J. P. Chips are down. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sender, R. J. King and the queen. (Ag '48)

Physicians

Cronin, A. J. Shannon's way. (S '48)
Mason, V. Eagle in the sky. (Mr '48)
Roberts, W. A. Creole dusk. (N '48)
Schrag, O. Bedrock. (My '48)
Seifert, E. Hospital zone. (N '48)
Taylor, D. They move with the sun. (N '48)

Picaresque novels

Cary, J. Herself surprised. (O '48)
Childs, H. Way of a gaucho. (N '48)

Pirates

Westcott, J. V. Captain for Elizabeth. (D '48)
Yerby, F. G. Golden hawk. (Je '48)

Plague

Camus, A. The plague. (S '48)

Politics

Adams, S. H. Plunder. (My '48)

Poor

Lemelin, R. Town below. (Je '48)
Smith, B. W. Tomorrow will be better. (O '48)

Prehistoric times

Fisher, V. Divine passion. (N '48)

Primitive man

Forester, C. S. Sky and the forest. (S '48)

Prison camps

Romanski, A. K. Prisoners of the night. (Mr '48)

Prison life

Webb, J. E. Four steps to the wall. (My '48)

Prize fighting

Davis, C. B. Temper the wind. (Ap '48)

Prostitution

Slade, C. B. Mrs Party's house. (D '48)

Pseudo-history and biography

Mann, T. Doctor Faustus. (D '48)

Pseudo-scientific novels

Van Vogt, A. E. World of Ā. (My '48)

Psychic phenomena

Kellino, P. Del Palma. (Ap '48)

Psychoanalysis

Frankau, G. Michael's wife. (N '48)

Psychological novels

Aswell, J. Midsummer fires. (D '48)
Baker, F. My friend the enemy. (My '48)
Bornemann, E. W. J. Tremolo. (S '48)
Capote, T. Other voices, other rooms. (Mr '48)
Carr, R. S. Room beyond. (N '48)
Chapman, V. H. Distant Trojans. (S '48)
Coates, R. M. Wisteria cottage. (O '48)
Davies, R. Dark daughters. (Mr '48)
De Polnay, P. Moot point. (Ap '48)
Eastman, E. Mouse with red eyes. (S '48)
Ellin, S. Dreadful summit. (Je '48)
Faure, R. C. Lady Godiva and Master Tom. (Mr '48)
Ferro, M. Fear is the parent. (My '48)
Hesse, H. Demian. (Mr '48)
Hughes, B. P. Magic penny. (My '48)
Jackson, C. R. Outer edges. (Ag '48)
James, H. Other house. (O '48)
Kinsey, W. Dark is the mirror. (My '48)
Komroff, M. Echo of evil. (N '48)
Long, G. M. V. C. Mignonette. (S '48)
McCormick, J. Nightshade. (My '48)
Mackintosh, E. Miss Pym disposes. (Ag '48)
Modell, M. My sister, my bride. (Ag '48)
Packer, P. Inward voyage. (Ag '48)
Presson, J. Spring riot. (D '48)
Reisner, M. Katherine and the dark angel. (D '48)
Scheinfeld, A. Postscript to Wendy. (O '48)
Schoenberner, E. Mirabelle. (Je '48)

Self, M. C. Come away! (S '48)
Snow, C. P. Light and the dark. (Ap '48)
Sohn, M. Flesh and Mary Duncan. (D '48)
Vidal, G. City and the pillar. (Mr '48)
Winner, P. Mote and the beam. (My '48)
Yates, E. Beloved bondage. (D '48)
Yorck, R. L. So cold the night. (N '48)

Publishers and publishing

Gorham, C. O. Gilded hearse. (Ap '48)
Ingersoll, R. M. Great ones. (Ap '48)
Rinehart, M. R. Light in the window. (Mr '48)
Swinnerton, F. A. Faithful company. (Ag '48)
Van Gelder, R. Important people. (S '48)

Quakers

See Fiction—Friends, Society of

Race problems

Bates, S. C. Weather breeder. (Je '48)
Habe, H. Walk in darkness. (N '48)

Radio

Hargrove, M. Something's got to give. (Je '48)

Railroads

Saxton, A. P. Great Midland. (D '48)

Ranch life

Savage, T. Lona Hanson. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Reconstruction, 1939-

Woods, W. H. Street of seven monks. (Ap '48)

Refugees

Mangione, J. Ship and the flame. (Ag '48)
Martin, B. E. Unpromised land. (My '48)
Morris, E. Charade. (O '48)

Roman Catholic faith

Crone, A. Bridie Steen. (O '48)
Greene, G. Heart of the matter. (Ag '48)
Mannin, E. E. Late have I loved thee. (N '48)
Plagemann, B. Into the labyrinth. (N '48)

Roman Catholic priests

Houselander, F. C. Dry wood. (Ap '48)

Romance

Creed, W. Sword of Il Grande. (S '48)

Salesmen and salesmanship

Laing, F. Six seconds a year. (Je '48)

Salt industry

Doner, M. F. Ravenswood. (O '48)

Salvation army

Valley, A. E. Marching bonnet. (Je '48)

Satire

Boley, J. Baby lamb. (My '48)
Burton, E. Roaring dove. (Ag '48)
Fessier, M. Clovis. (My '48)
Harrison, C. Y. Nobody's fool. (O '48)
Huxley, A. L. Ape and essence. (O '48)
Maugham, W. S. Catalina. (N '48)
Menen, A. Prevalence of witches. (Mr '48)
Powell, D. Locusts have no king. (Je '48)
Spewack, S. Busy busy people. (D '48)
Stern, D. Francis goes to Washington. (N '48)
Van Gelder, R. Important people. (S '48)
Waugh, E. Loved one. (Ag '48)

School and college life

Holmes, M. R. Ten o'clock scholar. (Mr '48)
Mackintosh, E. Miss Pym disposes. (Ag '48)
Redinger, R. V. Golden net. (D '48)
Ward, M. J. Professor's umbrella. (Mr '48)

Science

Conklin, G., ed. Treasury of science fiction. (Je '48)
Derleth, A. W., ed. Strange ports of call. (Ag '48)

Sculptors

Spalding, H. White witnesses. (O '48)

Sea stories

Aymar, G. C., comp. Treasury of sea stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Collins, N. Black ivory. (O '48)
Forbes, E. Running of the tide. (N '48)
Geer, A. C. Sea chase. (N '48)
Gilligan, E. Storm at Sable island. (N '48)
Gilpatric, G. Canny Mr. Glencannon. (Ag '48)
Hammond-Innes, R. Gale warning. (My '48)
Hogeboom, A., ed. Tales from the high seas. (D '48)
Mangione, J. Ship and the flame. (Ag '48)
Melville, H. Billy Budd. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Porteus, S. D. Restless voyage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Roark, G. Fair wind to Java. (O '48)

Short stories

For collections of short stories by two or more writers see Short stories—Collections

Asch, S. Tales of my people. (D '48)
Barker, A. L. Innocents. (My '48)
Beck, W. First fish. (Mr '48)
Cather, W. S. Old beauty. (O '48)
Charteris, L. Saint errant. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Christie, A. M. Witness for the prosecution. (O '48)
Coppard, A. E. Collected tales. (My '48)
Derleth, A. W. Sac Prairie people. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dickens, C. Best short stories. (Mr '48)
Foote, J. T. Anglers all. (Mr '48)
Gilpatric, G. Canny Mr. Glencannon. (Ag '48)
Hawthorne, N. Portable Hawthorne. (O '48)
Heard, G. Lost cavern. (Ap '48)
Hodgson, W. H. Carnacki. (My '48)
Kerr, S. Sound of petticoats. (O '48)
MacDougall, A. R. Where flows the Kennebec. (Mr '48)
Machen, A. Tales of horror and the supernatural. (O '48)
Maxwell, J. A. I never saw an Arab like him. (My '48)
Melville, H. Piazza tales. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Milne, A. A. Birthday party. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mitchell, J. Old Mr Flood. (D '48)
Nin, A. Under a glass bell. (D '48)
O'Donovan, M. Common chord. (Ap '48)
O'Faoláin, S. Man who invented sin. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Oursler, F. These are strange tales. (Ag '48)
Sartre, J. P. Wall. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Schwartz, D. World is a wedding. (S '48)
Sylvester, H. All your idols. (O '48)
Taylor, P .H. Long Fourth. (My '48)
Tennyson, H. Wall of dust. (Ap '48)
Waring, P. A. Peacock country. (Ap '48)
Warren, R. P. Circus in the attic. (Mr '48)
Woolrich, C. Dead man blues. (My '48)
Wylie, P. Crunch and Des. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Singers

Lauferty, L. Baritone. (S '48)

Sisters

Klempner, J. Hurry, hurry home. (N '48)

Slave trade

Collins, N. Black ivory. (O '48)
Forester, C. S. Sky and the forest. (S '48)

Small town life

Bailey, W. F. Devil make a third. (O '48)
Baker, A. Short term. (Ap '48)
Bellamann, H. and K. Parris Mitchell of Kings Row. (Je '48)
Bradbury, B. Curious wine. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Corbett, E. F. Immortal Helen. (Ap '48)
Creekmore, H. Welcome. (D '48)
Greene, J. E. Bridge at Branfield. (Je '48)
Kantor, M. Midnight lace. (Mr '48)
Scott, V. J. Hickory stick. (D '48)
Sullivan, R. First citizen. (N '48)
Yoseloff, M. Family members. (D '48)

Social conditions and problems

Dibner, M. Bachelor seals. (Mr '48)
Frank, W. D. Invaders. (Ag '48)
Haydn, H. C. Time is noon. (My '48)
Meersch, M. van der. Bodies and souls. (My '48)
Rubins, H. Never love a stranger. (Ag '48)

Sophisticated novels

Walker, M. Thinly veiled. (D '48)

Fiction—Continued

Spies

Canning, V. Panthers' moon. (Ag '48)
Household, G. Arabesque. (Je '48)
Kauffman, R. F. Coconut wireless. (Ag '48)
MacLean, R. Baited blonde. (N '48)
Quayle, A. On such a night. (Mr '48)
Slater, H. Conspirator. (Je '48)

Strikes and lockouts

Lee, H. Sir and brother. (N '48)

Supernatural phenomena

Caldecott, A. Not exactly ghosts. (Ap '48)
Williams, C. All Hallows' eve. (D '48)

Surgeons

Meersch, M. van der. Bodies and souls. (My '48)

Surrealist novels

Queneau, R. Skin of dreams. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Syphilis

Goss, J. M. This magnificent world. (My '48)

Teachers

Boyce, B. Miss Mallett. (My '48)
Carfrae, E. Good morning, Miss Morrison. (N '48)
Scott, V. J. Hickory stick. (D '48)

Textile industry

Thompson, T. Crompton way. (Mr '48)

Theater and stage life

Kaup, E. D. Repeat with laughter. (My '48)
Sellars, I. P. Contrary winds. (Je '48)

Tobacco

Fitz-Simons, F. Bright leaf. (N '48)

Trade unions

Lee, H. Sir and brother. (N '48)

Translated stories

Arabic

Gibran, K. Nymphs of the valley. (My '48)

French

Beauvoir, S. De. Blood of others. (S '48)
Bost, J. L. Last profession. (S '48)
Bruckberger, R. M. Seven miracles of Gubbio and the eighth, a parable. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Camus, A. The plague. (S '48)
Favre, L. Temptations of Mourad. (Mr '48)
Lehmann, J., ed. Modern French short stories. (S '48)
Mauriac, F. Unknown sea. (N '48)
Nels, J. Man of means. (S '48)
Oldenbourg, Z. World is not enough. (Ag '48)
Proust, M. Pleasures and regrets. (S '48)
Queneau, R. Skin of dreams. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sartre, J. P. Chips are down. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sartre, J. P. Wall. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Vailland, R. Playing for keeps. (O '48)
Vercel, R. Northern lights. (O '48)
Vilmorin, L. de. Erica's return. (D '48)

German

Frank, L. Mathilde. (Je '48)
Heine, H. Rabbi of Bacherach. (Mr '48)
Hesse, H. Demian. (Mr '48)
Kafka, F. Penal colony. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Mann, T. Doctor Faustus. (D '48)
Morgenstern, S. In my father's pastures. (Ap '48)
Plievier, T. Stalingrad. (N '48)
Salten, F. Jibby the cat. (S '48)
Weiskopf, F. C. Children of their time. (N '48)
Yaray, H. One page missing. (My '48)

Italian

Alvaro, C. Man is strong. (O '48)
Berto, G. Sky is red. (N '48)

Norwegian

Skouen, A. Stokers' mess. (Je '48)

Polish

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Meek shall inherit. (D '48)

Russian

Turgenev, I. S. First love. (O '48)

Spanish

Sender, R. J. King and the queen. (Ag '48)

Yiddish

Asch, S. Tales of my people. (D '48)

Trials

Giddings, A. F. Short term. (Ap '48)
Hamilton, B. Hanging judge. (Ap '48)
Lyon, D. Frightened child. (Je '48)
Reywall, J. Trial of Alvin Boaker. (Ap '48)

Underground railroad

Parrish, A. Clouded star. (O '48)

Undertakers and undertaking

Belfrage, C. Abide with me. (Ag '48)
Waugh, E. Loved one. (Ag '48)

Utopias

Read, H. E. Green child. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Skinner, B. F. Walden Two. (Ag '48)

Veterans

Ashton, H. Lost captain. (My '48)
Barton, B. A. Long walk. (Je '48)
Bunker, R. M. Amanda said the grass was green. (My '48)
Goldknopf, D. Hills on the highway. (Ag '48)
Gorham, C. O. Future Mister Dolan. (O '48)
Lasky, J. L. Spindrift. (Ag '48)
Lowry, R. J. Find me in fire. (O '48)
Miller, M. That winter. (Mr '48)
Packer, P. Inward voyage. (Ag '48)
Sohn, M. Flesh and Mary Duncan. (D '48)
Woods, W. H. Street of Seven Monks. (Ap '48)

Wealth

Sichel, P. Such as we. (Je '48)
Van Gelder, R. Important people. (S '48)

Witchcraft

Chamberlain, E. Snare for witches. (O '48)
Pinckney, J. Great mischief. (My '48)

Women

Allis, M. Law of the land. (Je '48)
De Pereda, P. All the girls we loved. (Mr '48)
Lasswell, M. Bread for the living. (S '48)
Nolan, J. C. This same flower. (D '48)
Ronald, J. Angry woman. (N '48)

World war, 1939-1945

Arnold, E. Everybody slept here. (Je '48)
Aymé, M. Transient hour. (My '48)
Berto, G. Sky is red. (N '48)
Bost, J. L. Last profession. (S '48)
Brinkley, W. W. Quicksand. (O '48)
Clewes, H. "Thus am I slayn." (My '48)
Cooper, J. C. Gesture. (Ap '48)
Cozzens, J. G. Guard of honor. (N '48)
De Pereda, P. All the girls we loved. (Mr '48)
Gellhorn, M. E. Wine of astonishment. (N '48)
Hammond-Innes, R. Gale warning. (My '48)
Heym, S. Crusaders. (O '48)
Household, G. Arabesque. (Je '48)
Lay, B., and Bartlett, S. Twelve o'clock high! (Ag '48)
Lear Heap, W. Causeway. (O '48)
Lyon, A. Toward an unknown station. (D '48)
Mailer, N. Naked and the dead. (Je '48)
Maxwell, J. A. I never saw an Arab like him. (My '48)
Monsarrat, N. Depends what you mean by love. (Mr '48)
Morris, I. V. Tree within. (N '48)
Moss, S. and S. Thy men shall fall. (N '48)
Plievier, T. Stalingrad. (N '48)
Roberts, C. Eight for eternity. (Ag '48)
Scott, J. D. Buy it for a song. (Je '48)
Shaw, I. Young lions. (N '48)
Sinclair, U. B. One clear call. (O '48)
Spoelstra, C. Roll back the sea. (O '48)
Stratton, A. M. P. Lord love us. (D '48)
Vailland, R. Playing for keeps. (O '48)
Wilkinson, B. Proceed at will. (Je '48)
Williamson, S. G. Convoy through the dream. (D '48)
Wynd, O. Red sun south. (S '48)

Fidus Achates. Eng title of: Paris of Troy. Baker, G. E. (My '48)
Field of night. Krepps, R. W. (Mr '48)
Field of the Stranger. Robertson, O. (Ag '48)
Fielder from nowhere. Scholz, J. V. (N '48)
Fielding, Henry
  Jenkins, E. Henry Fielding. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Willcocks, M. P. True-born Englishman. (Ap '48)
50 great Americans. Schnittkind, H. T. and D. A. (Je '48)
Fifty secrets of magic craftsmanship. Dali, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Fighting crime. Leyson, B. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fighting frigate. Hungerford, E. B. (My '48)
Fighting frontiersman. Bakeless, J. E. (N '48)
Fighting Indians of the West. Schmitt, M. F., and Brown, D. (D '48)
Fighting politician. Harrington, F. H. (D '48)
Figure drawing
  Pelikan, A. G. Fun with figure drawing. (Ag '48)
Figures for an apocalypse. Merton, T. (Ag '48)
Fijian village. Quain, B. H. (O '48)
Filene, Edward Albert
  Johnson, G. W. Liberal's progress. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Filipinos in the United States
  Buaken, M. I have lived with the American people. (Ag '48)
Films in business and industry. Gipson, H. C. (S '48)
Finance
  Allen, E. D., and Brownlee, O. H. Economics of public finance. (Ag '48)
  Groves, H. M. Trouble spots in taxation. (S '48)
New York (city)
  Madden, J. T., and others. Money market primer. (S '48)
United States
  Kimmel, L. H., and Maroney, M. Governmental costs and tax levels. (O '48)
Finance, Personal
  Donaldson, E. F. Personal finance. (S '48)
Find me in fire. Lowry, R. J. (O '48)
Fine art of mixing drinks. Embury, D. A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Finishing touch. Hocking, A. (Je '48)
Finland
Foreign relations
  Finland and World war II, 1939-1944. (Ag '48)
Finland and World war II, 1939-1944. (Ag '48)
Fire. Stewart, G. R. (My '48)
Fire balloon. Moore, R. (D '48)
Fire Eye. Lindman, M. J. (Je '48)
Fire in the heart. Henkle, H. (D '48)
Fire in the morning. Spencer, E. (O '48)
Fire was lighted. Maynard, T. (Je '48)
Firearms industry. See Munitions industry and trade
Fireproof construction
  Staley, H. R. Semi-fireproof construction. (D '48)
  Voss, W. C. Fireproof construction. (O '48)
Fireside book of romance. Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. (Je '48)
Fireside book of suspense. Hitchcock, A. J., ed. (Mr '48)
Fireside book of Yuletide tales. Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
First book of trains. Tatham, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
First Christmas. Trent, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
First citizen. Sullivan, R. (N '48)
First Europe. Burns, C. D. (My '48)
First First ladies, 1789-1865. Whitton, M. O. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
First fish. Beck, W. (Mr '48)
First flowers of our wilderness. See Flexner, J. T. American painting. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
First freedom. Parsons, W. (S '48)
First frontier. Coleman, R. V. (Ap '48)
First holy one. Collis, M. (N '48)
First horseman. Crowell, P. (D '48)
First love. Turgenev, I. S. (O '48)
First reader and three plays. Stein, G. (My '48)
First romantics. Elwin, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
First time in America. Arlott, J., ed. (D '48)
Fish in the air. Wiese, K. (Je '48)
Fish ponds
  Edminster, F. C. Fish ponds for the farm. (Ag '48)
Fish ponds for the farm. Edminster, F. C. (Ag '48)
Fisher, Jonathan
  Chase, M. E. Jonathan Fisher. (D '48)
Fisherman's knots and nets. Graumont, R., and Wenstrom, E. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Fishes
  Schultz, L. P., and Stern, E. M. Ways of fishes. (S '48)
Fishing
  Babcock, H. My health is better in November. (My '48)
  Barker, M. J. Southeast of Noman's. (N '48)
  Evanoff, V. Surf fishing. (S '48)
  Newell, D. M. Fishing and hunting answer book. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Rodman, O. H. P. Saltwater fisherman's favorite four. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Wall, R. Contemplative angler. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Implements and appliances
  Graumont, R., and Wenstrom, E. W. Fisherman's knots and nets. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Alaska
  Annabel, R. Hunting and fishing in Alaska. (Je '48)
Great Smoky mountains
  Gasque, J. Hunting and fishing in the Great Smokies. (O '48)
Mexico
  Stilwell, H. Fishing in Mexico. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Fishing and hunting answer book. Newell, D. M. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Fishing in Mexico. Stilwell, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fitch, Minnie Ewing (Sherman)
  Burton, K. K. Three generations. (Mr '48)
Five Broadway plays. Gow, J. R., and Hanlon, H. J., eds. (Ap '48)
Five brothers. Mahābhārata. (D '48)
Five great rules of selling. Whiting, P. H. (Ap '48)
Five plays. Conkle, E. P. (Ag '48)
Five poems. Tillyard, E. M. W. (N '48)
Five puppies for sale. Brann, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Flags
  World flag encyclopedia. (D '48)
Flak bait. Francis, D. E. (N '48)
Flame and the serpent. Osterhout, H.M. (D '48)
Flameproofing textile fabrics. Little, R. W ed. (S '48)
Flames of time. Kendrick, B. H. (Ag '48)
Flashing spikes. O'Rourke, F. (D '48)
Flask for the journey. Green, F. L. (Mr '48)
Flemish poetry
Collections
  Barnouw, A. J., ed. Coming after. (S '48)
Flesh and Mary Duncan. Sohn, M. (D '48)
Flies, Artificial
  Brooks, J. Bass bug fishing. (Mr '48)
Flight
  Green, R. Wing-tips. (S '48)
Flight engineering and cruise control. Moe, H. G. (Ap '48)
Flight into darkness. Clark, P. (Ap '48)
Flight into sunshine. Cruickshank, H. G. (D '48)
Floral decoration
  Rogers, M. Flower arrangement. (S '48)
Florida
Juvenile literature
  McNeer, M. Y. Story of Florida. (Mr '48)
Views
  Hannau, H. W. Florida. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Flower arrangement. Rogers, M. (S '48)

Flowers
Clements, E. G. S. Flowers of prairie and woodland. (S '48)
Hausman, E. H. Beginner's guide to wild flowers. (O '48)
Wherry, E. T. Wild flower guide. (Je '48)

Juvenile literature
McClintock, M. Let's learn the flowers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Pictorial works
Dix, J. F. C., and Roozen, W., eds. Flowers in colour. (D '48)

Flowers for mother. Evans, K. (Je '48)
Flowers in colour. Dix, J. F. C., and Roozen, W., eds. (D '48)
Flowers of prairie and woodland. Clements, E. G. S. (S '48)
Fluid mechanics of turbomachinery. Wislicenus, G. F. (Ag '48)
Fluorescent and other gaseous discharge lamps. Forsythe, W. E., and Adams, E. Q. (O '48)
Fly-by-nights. Newell, A. (Je '48)

Fly casting
Gordon, T. Complete fly fisherman. (Mr '48)

Focs'le days. Fischer, A. O. (Ap '48)

Folk art
Lipman, J. H. American folk art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Folk song. U.S.A. See Lomax, J. A. and A., eds. 111 best American ballads. (Je '48)

Folk songs, American
Lomax, J. A. and A., eds. 111 best American ballads: Folk song. U.S.A. (Je '48)
Randolph, V., ed. Ozark folksongs; v2. Songs of the south and west. (N '48)
Seeger, R. C. American folk songs for children. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Folklore
Zimmer, H. R. King and the corpse. (S '48)

England
Hole, C. English folk-heroes. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Latin America
Onis, H. de., ed & tr. Golden land. (D '48)

Louisiana
Ballowe, H. L. Creole folk tales. (N '48)

New England
Jagendorf, M. A. New England bean-pot. (D '48)

South
Chase, R., ed. Grandfather tales. (O '48)

Spain
Davis, R. Padre Porko. (O '48)

United States
Lys, C. de. Treasury of American superstitions. (S '48)
Withers, C., comp. Rocket in my pocket. (D '48)

West
Beath, P. R., comp. Febold Feboldson. (Ap '48)

Wisconsin
Gard, R. E. Wisconsin is my doorstep. (Ag '48)

Folklore, Jewish
Ausubel, N., ed. Treasury of Jewish folklore. (S '48)
Goitein, S. D. F., ed. From the land of Sheba. (Mr '48)

Folklore, Negro
Ballowe, H. L. Lawd sayin' the same. (Mr '48)

Folklore, Polish
Borski, L. M., tr. Polish folk tales. (My '48)

Follow the music. Coit, L. E., and Bampton, R. (Ag '48)

Food

Analysis
Sherman, H. C. Calcium and phosphorus in foods and nutrition. (My '48)

Food, Frozen
Gortner, W. A., and others. Principles of food freezing. (My '48)
Simpson, J. I., and Taylor, D. M. Frozen food cook book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Food industry and trade
Parker, M. E. Food-plant sanitation. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Food-plant sanitation. Parker, M. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Food supply
Vogt, W. Road to survival. (S '48)

Foolish gentlewoman. Sharp, M. (Ag '48)

Football
Cohane, T. Gridiron grenadiers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Roberts, H. Big nine. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Footlights and highlights. Gaige, C. (D '48)
Footloose in France. Sutton, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
For want of a nail. Daniel, H. (O '48)
For what we have received. Toye, F. (N '48)

Force and energy
Gaydon, A. G. Dissociation energies and spectra of diatomic molecules. (S '48)

Ford, Henry
Richards, W. C. Last billionaire, Henry Ford. (Ap '48)
Sward, K. T. Legend of Henry Ford. (Ag '48)

Juvenile literature
Caldwell, C. C. Henry Ford. (Ap '48)

Foreign economic policy for the United States. Harris, S. E., ed. (D '48)
Foreign policy of Soviet Russia; v 1: 1929-1936. Beloff, M. (My '48)
Foreign sources of Shakespeare's works. Guttman, S. (Je '48)

Foremen
Cushman, F. and R. W. Improving supervision. (S '48)
Uris, A. Improved foremanship. (O '48)

Forest influences
Kittredge, J. Forest influences. (O '48)

Forest products
Hazard, J. T. Our living forests. (N '48)

Forest valuation. Chapman, H. H., and Meyer, W. H. (Je '48)

Forests and forestry
Hazard, J. T. Our living forests. (N '48)
Kittredge, J. Forest influences. (O '48)
Spurr, S. H. Aerial photographs in forestry. (Ag '48)

Valuation
Chapman, H. H., and Meyer, W. H. Forest valuation. (Je '48)

United States
Lillard, R. G. Great forest. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Pinchot, G. Breaking new ground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Forgery of works of art
Kurz, O. Fakes. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Fork in the trail. Ames, M. M. (S '48)
Form and function. Greenough, H. (My '48)
Forms of modern fiction. O'Connor, W. V., ed. (S '48)
Forsaken fountain. Murray, R. (S '48)
Fortunate islands. Karig, W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Forward prices for agriculture. Johnson, D. G. (My '48)

Foundations, Charitable and educational
American foundations and their fields, sixth survey. (O '48)

Foundations for American education. Rugg, H. O. (Ap '48)
Foundations of economic analysis. Samuelson, P. A. (N '48)
Foundations of psychology. Boring, E. G., and others, eds. (D '48)
Foundations of Tudor policy. Zeeveld, W. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Foundling. Heyer, G. (My '48)

Foundry practice
Cady, E. L. Precision investment castings. (S '48)

Fountain of death. Nelson, H. L. (O '48)
Four corners of the world. Duvoisin, R. A. (D '48)
400 years of a doctor's life. Rosen, G. and B. C. eds. (My '48)
Four months on a Jap whaler. McCracken, D. R. (My '48)
Four poems. Rimbaud, J. N. A. (S '48)
Four sons of Norway. Acker, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Four steps to the wall. Webb, J. E. (My '48)
Four studies in loyalty. Sykes, C. (Je '48)
Four thousand years of China's art. Carter, D. O. (Ag '48)
4000 years of Christmas. Count, E. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fourth book of Jorkens. Dunsany, E. J. M. D. P. (D '48)
4th funeral. Heberden, M. V. (O '48)
Fourth postman. Rice, C. (N '48)

Foxes
  Pinkerton, K. S. G. Bright with silver. (Mr '48)
Legends and stories
  George, J. L. and J. Vulpes, the red fox. (Je '48)

France
Biography
  Dictionnaire de biographie Francaise. (O '48)
Description and travel
  Clark, S. A. Today in cathedral France [rev ed]. (S '48)
  Murray, S. Traveler's guide to France. (Je '48)
  Ogrizek, D., ed. France: Paris and the provinces. (Je '48)
  Sutton, H. Footloose in France. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Foreign relations
Great Britain
  Palm, F. C. England and Napoleon III. (S '48)
History
  Buchan, A. Joan of Arc and the recovery of France. (S '48)
  Maurois, A. Miracle of France. (D '48)
Juvenile literature
  Doorly, E. Story of France. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Revolution
  Brace, R. M. Bordeaux and the Gironde. (S '48)
  Lefebvre, G. Coming of the French revolution. (Ap '48)
Third republic, 1870-1940
  Jackson, J. H. Clemenceau and the Third republic. (N '48)
Juvenile literature
  Davis, R. France. (Ap '48)
Politics and government
  Herzog, W. From Dreyfus to Petain. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Laval, P. Diary. (N '48)
  Wright, G. Reshaping of French democracy. (My '48)
Religion
  Bishop, C. H. France alive. (Ap '48)
France alive. Bishop, C. H. (Ap '48)
France: Paris and the provinces. Ogrizek, D., ed. (Je '48)

Francis of Assisi, Saint
  Maynard, T. Richest of the poor. (Je '48)
Francis goes to Washington. Stern, D. (N '48)

Franklin, Benjamin
Juvenile literature
  Eaton, J. That lively man, Ben Franklin. (D '48)
Freddy goes camping. Brooks, W. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Free admission. Chase, I. (My '48)
Free speech and its relation to self-government. Meiklejohn, A. (N '48)

Free trade and protection
  Villard, O. G. Free trade—free world. (Ap '48)
Free trade—free world. Villard, O. G. (Ap '48)

Freedman, Barnett
  Mayne, J. Barnett Freedman. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Freedmen
  De Forest, J. W. Union officer in the reconstruction. (Ag '48)
Freedom and experience; essays presented to Horace M. Kallen. (Je '48)
Freedom and order. Eden, A. (O '48)
Freedom and order. Heimann, E. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Freedom and the administrative state. Rosenfarb, J. (S '48)
Freedom to live and learn. Noar, G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

French, Daniel Chester
Juvenile literature
  Longstreth, T. M. Great venture. (D '48)
French cook book. Simon, A. L. (Ag '48)
French grand opera. Crosten, W. L. (N '48)

French language
Glossaries, vocabularies, etc.
  Pfeiffer, G. and L., comps. Language through pictures. (D '48)
French stories from New writing. Eng title of: Modern French stories. Lehmann, J., ed. (S '48)
Fresco painting. Nordmark, O. (Mr '48)
Fresh wind blowing. Campbell, G. M. G. (Ap '48)

Freud, Sigmund
  Ludwig, E. Doctor Freud. (Mr '48)
  Reik, T. Listening with the third ear. (O '48)
  Schneider, L. Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. (D '48)
Freud; on war, sex and neurosis. Freud, S. (S '48)
Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. Schneider, L. (D '48)
Frieda Lawrence collection of D. H. Lawrence manuscripts. Tedlock, E. W. (Ag '48)

Friede, Donald
  Friede, D. Mechanical angel. (Je '48)

Friends, Society of
  Hodgkin, L. V. Gulielma. (Mr '48)
Frightened child. Lyon, D. (Je '48)

Frisbie, Florence
  Frisbie, F. Miss Ulysses from Puka-Puka. (My '48)
From Beethoven to Shostakovich. Graf, M. (Ap '48)
From crocus to snowman. Bascom, P. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
From Dreyfus to Petain. Herzog, W. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
From many one. Brinton, C. C. (Je '48)
From my journal. Maurois, A. (Ap '48)
From Rollo to Tom Sawyer. Jordan, A. M. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
From the ashes of disgrace. Maugeri, F. (Ag '48)
From the ground up. Cook, C. (D '48)
From the ground up. Tyler, P. M. (O '48)
From the heart of Europe. Matthiessen, F. O. (O '48)
From the land of Sheba. Goitein, S. D. F., ed. (Mr '48)
From the League to U.N. Murray, G. (N '48)
From Versailles to Pottsdam. Muralt, L. von. (O '48)

Fromm family
  Pinkerton, K. S. G. Bright with silver. (Mr '48)
Front seat at the opera. Marek, G. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Frontier and pioneer life
Alaska
  Hines, J. C. Minstrel of the Yukon. (Je '48)
  Romig, E. C. Pioneer woman in Alaska. (S '48)
California
  Shinn, C. H. Mining camps. (Mr '48)
Idaho
  Baumann, J. Old Man Crow's boy. (O '48)
Kentucky
  Drake, D. Pioneer life in Kentucky. (S '48)
  Toulmin, H. Western country in 1793. (N '48)
Michigan
  Hedrick, U. P. Land of the crooked tree. (N '48)
Minnesota
  Blegen, T. C. Grass roots history. (Ap '48)
  Snyder, M. I. Chosen valley. (D '48)

Frontier and pioneer life—Continued

New Mexico

Fergusson, E. Murder and mystery in New Mexico. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Northwest

McKeown, M. F. Trail led north. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

South

Dick, E. N. Dixie frontier. (My '48)

Southwest

Harkey, D. R. Mean as hell. (D '48)

Segale, B. At the end of the Santa Fe trail. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Texas

Geiser, S. W. Naturalists of the frontier [2d ed rev & enl]. (O '48)

United States

Wentworth, E. N. America's sheep trails. (D '48)

Virginia

Toulmin, H. Western country in 1793. (N '48)

West

Haley, J. E. Jeff Milton. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Lavender, D. S. Big Divide. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Wisconsin

Duus, O. F. Frontier parsonage. (S '48)

Wyoming

Rollinson, J. K. Wyoming cattle trails. (Je '48)

Frontier doctor. Crumbine, S. J. (D '48)

Frontier parsonage. Duus, O. F. (S '48)

Frontiers of flight. Gray, G. W. (S '48)

Frontiers of jazz. De Toledano, R., ed. (Ag '48)

Frozen food cook book. Simpson, J. I., and Taylor, D. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Frozen sea. Neider, C. (My '48)

Fruit culture

Southwick, L. Dwarf fruit trees. (Ag '48)

Fuel

De Lorenzi, O., ed. Combustion engineering. (Ag '48)

Full employment and free enterprise. Pierson, J. H. G. (My '48)

Full employment in your community. Upjohn institute for community research. (O '48)

Full fathom five. Kamal, A. (O '48)

Fun, incorporated. Tracey, J. L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Fun with figure drawing. Pelikan, A. G. (Ag '48)

Fun with your camera. Deschin, J. (Ag '48)

Fundamental education. United nations (organization). Educational scientific and cultural organization. Commission on fundamental education. (My '48)

Fundamental electronics and vacuum tubes. Albert, A. L. (Ag '48)

Fundamentals in chemical process calculations. Kowalke, O. L. (My '48)

Fundamentals of apparel design. Pepin, H. (N '48)

Fundamentals of carpentry. Durbahn, W. E. (Je '48)

Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism. Loeb, L. B. [3d ed]. (Ap '48)

Fundamentals of engineering mechanics. Sloane, A. (Ap '48)

Fundamentals of human reproduction. Potter, E. L. (D '48)

Fundamentals of labor economics. Baerwald, F. (S '48)

Fundamentals of photographic theory. James, T. H., and Higgins, G. C. (Ag '48)

Fundamentals of soil mechanics. Taylor, D. W. (S '48)

Fundamentals of statistics. Kelley, T. L. (S '48)

Fungi

Wolf, F. A. and F. T. Fungi. (Ap '48)

Fungicides

Frear, D. E. H. Chemistry of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides. [2d ed] (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Funk & Wagnalls new Standard dictionary of the English language. (O '48)

Funk & Wagnalls standard handbook of synonyms, antonyms, and prepositions [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Fur farming

Pinkerton, K. S. G. Bright with silver. (Mr '48)

Furies. Busch, N. (N '48)

Furniture

Kates, G. N. Chinese household furniture. (S '48)

Rogers, M. R. American interior design. (My '48)

Wenham, E. G. Antique furniture for modern rooms. (S '48)

Repairing

Yates, R. F. How to restore antiques. (O '48)

Future Mister Dolan. Gorham, C. O. (O '48)

Future of the American Jew. Kaplan, M. M. (My '48)

Gabriel Churchkitten and the moths. Austin, M. (O '48)

Gage, Thomas

Alden, J. R. General Gage in America. (S '48)

Gages

Feller, E. W. F. Instrument and control manual for operating engineers. (Je '48)

Gaige, Crosby

Gaige, C. Footlights and highlights. (D '48)

Gaining the faith you need. Gilkey, J. G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Gale warning. Hammond-Innes, R. (My '48)

Galois, Evariste

Infeld, L. Whom the gods love. (Ap '48)

Galut. Baer, Y. F. (Mr '48)

Game and game birds

Camp, R. R., ed. Hunter's encyclopedia. (D '48)

Field and stream (periodical). Game bag. (D '48)

Game bag. Field and stream (periodical). (D '48)

Games

Carlson, B. W. Junior party book. (D '48)

Morehead, A. H., and Mott-Smith, G. Games for two. (Ap '48)

Potter, S. Theory and practice of gamesmanship. (S '48)

Games for two. Morehead, A. H., and Mott-Smith, G. (Ap '48)

Gandhi, Mohandas Karamchand

Gandhi, M. K. Autobiography. (O '48)

Jones, E. S. Mahatma Gandhi. (N '48)

Maurer, H. Great soul. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Nehru, J. Nehru on Gandhi. (Ag '48)

Gannett, Frank Ernest

Williamson, S. T. Imprint of a publisher. (Ag '48)

Gaol delivery. Degras, H. E. (S '48)

Garden book for all sections of the United States and Canada. Woman's home companion (periodical). (Ag '48)

Garden shower. Running, C. (Je '48)

Gardening

Free, M. Gardening [rev ed]. (Ap '48)

Woman's home companion (periodical). Garden book for all sections of the United States and Canada. (Ag '48)

South

Hastings, L. and D. Southern garden book. (Ag '48)

Garment cutting

Kirschner, J. Pattern grading, simplified. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Garner, John Nance

Timmons, B. N. Garner of Texas. (D '48)

Garner of Texas. Timmons, B. N. (D '48)

Garnered sheaves. Emerson, E. H. (O '48)

Gas and oil engines

Vincent, E. T. Supercharging the internal combustion engine. (S '48)

Gas turbine construction. Sawyer, R. T. (Je '48)

Gas turbines

Neville, L. E., and Silsbee, N. F. Jet propulsion progress. (S '48)

Sawyer, R. T. Gas turbine construction. (Je '48)
Zucrow, M. J. Principles of jet propulsion and gas turbines. (S '48)

Gases
Geyer, E. W., and Bruges, E. A. Tables of properties of gases. (N '48)

Gastronomy
Pellegrini, A. M. Unprejudiced palate. (D '48)

Gates, John Warne
Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. Bet a million. (D '48)

Gathering storm. See Churchill, W. L. S. Second World war, v 1. (Ag '48)
Gaudy century. Bruce, J. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Gaudy's ladies. McMeekin, C. (Ag '48)

Gaulle, Charles André Joseph Marie de
Malraux, A., and Burnham, J. Case for De Gaulle. (Je '48)

Gay, a Shetland sheepdog. Johnson, M. S. (Ag '48)
Gay pursuit. Cadell, E. (O '48)

Gearing
Steeds, W. Involute gears. (D '48)

Gem cutting. Willems, J. D. (S '48)
Gem testing. Anderson, B. W. (D '48)

Gems
Pearl, R. M. Popular gemology. (O '48)
Willems, J. D. Gem cutting. (S '48)

Gems and gem materials. Kraus, E. H., and Slawson, C. B. (Je '48)
General and applied chemistry. Currier, A. J., and Rose, A. (N '48)
General education in the humanities. Dunkel, H. B. (Mr '48)
General education in the social studies. Levi, A. W. (D '48)
General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation army. Wilson, P. W. (S '48)
General Gage in America. Alden, J. R. (S '48)

Generals
Liddell Hart, B. H. German generals talk. (O '48)

Genius
Terman, L. M., and others. Gifted child grows up. (Mr '48)

Genius of industrial research. Killeffer, D. H. (S '48)
Gentle warrier. Lowe, C. (D '48)
Gentlemen, hush! Wheelwright, J. H. (D '48)

Geography
Bibliography
Wright, J. K., and Platt, E. T. Aids to geographical research. (Je '48)

Geology
Juvenile literature
Williams, H. L. Stories in rocks. (D '48)

Geopolitics
Walsh, E. A. Total power. (Ag '48)

George, Saint
Drama
Masefield, J. Play of St George. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

George and his horse, Bill. Alsop, R. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Georgiana. Hutchins, M. P. M. (O '48)
German generals talk. Liddell Hart, B. H. (O '48)
German opposition to Hitler. Rothfels, H. (S '48)
German porcelain. Honey, W. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
German realities. Stolper, G. (My '48)
German theories of the corporative state. Bowen, R. H. (My '48)
Germans on trial. Lunau, H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Germany
Zbinden, H. Whither Germany? (D '48)

Foreign relations
Russia
Germany. Auswärtiges amt. Nazi-Soviet relations, 1939-1941. (Je '48)

History
Barraclough, G. Origins of modern Germany [2d rev ed]. (O '48)

Allied occupation, 1945-
Gollancz, V. In darkest Germany. (Mr '48)
Joesten, J. Germany: what now? (My '48)
Rodnick, D. Postwar Germans. (My '48)
Warburg, J. P. Germany, bridge or battleground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Zink, H. American military government in Germany. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Nazi movement
Gisevius, H. B. To the bitter end. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Goebbels, J. Goebbels diaries. (Je '48)
Lunau, H. Germans on trial. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Picard, M. Hitler in our selves. (My '48)
Rothfels, H. German opposition to Hitler. (S '48)
Walsh, E. A. Total power. (Ag '48)

Politics and government
Bowen, R. H. German theories of the corporative state. (My '48)
Gisevius, H. B. To the bitter end. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Rothfels, H. German opposition to Hitler. (S '48)
Wiechert, E. E. Poet and his time. (O '48)

Germany. Army
Liddell Hart, B. H. German generals talk. (O '48)

Germany, bridge or battleground. Warburg, J. P. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Germany: what now? Joesten, J. (My '48)
Gesture. Cooper, J. C. (Ap '48)
Getting results from suggestion plans. Seinwerth, H. W. (S '48)

Gettysburg, Battle of, 1863
Miers, E. S., and Brown, R. A., eds. Gettysburg. (Ag '48)

Ghetto and the Jews of Rome. Gregorovius, F. A. (O '48)
Ghost town on the Yellowstone. Paul, E. H. (S '48)

Ghosts
Reynolds, J. Ghosts in Irish houses. (Mr '48)

Ghosts along the Mississippi. Laughlin, C. J. (My '48)
Ghosts in Irish houses. Reynolds, J. (Mr '48)

Gide, Andre Paul Guillaume
Ames, V. M. André Gide. (Mr '48)
Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v 1. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Gide, A. P. G. Journals, v2. (Ag '48)

Gift of death. Aarons, E. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Gifted child grows up. Terman, L. M., and others. (Mr '48)

Gilbert, Joseph
Douthit, D. Nobody owns us. (S '48)

Gilded hearse. Gorham, C. O. (Ap '48)

Gill, Eric
Gill, E. Letters. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Gin rummy (game)
Jacoby, O. Gin rummy. (Je '48)

Ginnie and Geneva. Woolley, C. (O '48)
Giraffe twins. Hogan, I. (O '48)
Girl can dream. Cavanna, B. (Je '48)
Girl grows up [new ed rev & enl]. Fedder, R. (N '48)

Girls
Bryant, B. M. Miss Behavior. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Fedder, R. Girl grows up [new ed rev & enl]. (N '48)
McCorry, V. P. Those terrible teens. (Ap '48)

Girondists
Brace, R. M. Bordeaux and the Gironde. (S '48)

Gladiator. Williamson, T. R. (D '48)
Glass and the trumpet. Seifert, E. (Ag '48)

Glass blowing and working
Waugh, S. Making of fine glass. (Je '48)

Glass manufacture and trade
Barbour, H. B. Sandwich, the town that glass built. (S '48)
Phillips, C. J. Glass, the miracle maker. (D '48)
Scoville, W. C. Revolution in glassmaking. (D '48)

Glass, the miracle maker. Phillips, C. J. (D '48)

Glassware
  Bergstrom, E. H. Old glass paperweights. (Ap '48)
  Phillips, C. J. Glass, the miracle maker. (D '48)
Glory of Thy people. Simon, M. R. (My '48)
Go West, young bear. Hamilton, E. (Ag '48)
Goals for American education. Kirkendall, L. A., and others. (D '48)
Goats
  Walsh, H. Starting right with milk goats. (Je '48)
God
  Farmer, H. H. God and men. (S '48)
  Guerry, E. M. God the Father. (D '48)
    Juvenile literature
  Bedier, M. J. My book about God. (Ag '48)
God and men. Farmer, H. H. (S '48)
God confronts man in history. Coffin, H. S. (Mr '48)
God the Father. Guerry, E. M. (D '48)
God was in Christ. Baillie, D. M. (D '48)
Goddess to a God. Balderston, J. L., and Bolitho, S. (D '48)
Goebbels, Joseph
  Goebbels, J. Goebbels diaries. (Je '48)
  Riess, C. Joseph Goebbels. (O '48)
Goebbels diaries. Goebbels, J. (Je '48)
Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von
  Fairley, B. Study of Goethe. (Ap '48)
  Goethe, J. W. von. Permanent Goethe. (O '48)
  Schweitzer, A. Goethe. (S '48)
Going up. Bechdolt, J. E. (D '48)
Gold is the cornerstone. Caughey, J. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Gold prospector. Rush, W. M. (D '48)
Golden age of Vienna. Gál, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Golden book of dog stories. Zistel, E., ed. (Je '48)
Golden encyclopedia. Bennett, D. A. (Je '48)
Golden Gate, the park of a thousand vistas. Wilson, K. (Je '48)
Golden hawk. Yerby, F. G. (Je '48)
Golden land. Onis, H. de., ed & tr. (D '48)
Golden Mother Goose. Mother Goose. (D '48)
Golden multitudes. Mott, F. L. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Golden net. Redinger, R. V. (D '48)
Golden opinions. Tobin, R. L. (D '48)
Golden sleep. Connell, V. (Ap '48)
Golf
  Hogan, B. Power golf. (O '48)
  Wind, H. W. Story of American golf. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Zaharias, M. B. D. Championship golf. (O '48)
Gone tomorrow. Davis, F. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Good and evil
  Ewing, A. C. Definition of good. (Mr '48)
Good European. Blackmur, R. P. (Je '48)
Good morning, Miss Morrison. Carfrae, E. (N '48)
Good pagan's failure. Murray, R. (My '48)
Good partner. Pinkerton, K. S. G. (N '48)
Good work! McCullough, J. G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Good yeomen. Williams, J. (Je '48)
Goodenough Gismo. Kelsey, R. I. (Je '48)
Goodly fellowship of the prophets. Paterson, J. (Ag '48)
Gothic England. Harvey, J. H. (Mr '48)
Gouzenko, Igor
  Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)
Government and mass communications. Commission on freedom of the press. (Mr '48)
Governmental costs and tax levels. Kimmel, L. H., and Maroney, M. (O '48)
Grace (theology)
  Hardman, O. Christian doctrine of grace. (Mr '48)
Graduate work in the South. Pierson, M. B. H. (Ag '48)
Gramophone shop encyclopedia of recorded music [3d ed]. Gramophone shop, inc. (N '48)
Grandfather tales. Chase, R., ed. (O '48)
Grandfather vs. Peru. Wilder, W. B. (S '48)
Graphic arts
  Kauffmann, D. Graphic arts crafts. (O '48)
Graphic arts crafts. Kauffmann, D. (O '48)
Grass is always greener. Malcolm-Smith, G. (Mr '48)
Grass roots history. Blegen, T. C. (Ap '48)
Gray, Thomas
  Cecil, D. Two quiet lives. (Ap '48)
Great blizzard. Idell, A. E. (My '48)
Great Britain. Court of common pleas
  Hastings, M. Court of common pleas in fifteenth century England. (Ag '48)
Great Britain. Parliament
  Haskins, G. L. Growth of English representative government. (S '48)
Great Britain
    Biography
  Linklater, E. Art of adventure. (S '48)
    Civilization
  Barker, E., ed. Character of England. (Mr '48)
  Harvey, J. H. Gothic England. (Mr '48)
    Colonies, dominions, etc.
  Carrington, C. E. Exposition of empire. (Ap '48)
  Furnivall, J. S. Colonial policy and practice. (Je '48)
  McGuire, P. Experiment in world order. (Je '48)
    Constitutional history
  Thompson, F. Magna carta. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
    Constitutional law
  Amery, L. C. M. S. Thoughts on the constitution. (N '48)
    Economic conditions
  Meade, J. E. Planning and the price mechanism. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
    Economic policy
  Baster, A. S. J. Little less. (Ag '48)
  Jewkes, J. Ordeal by planning. (S '48)
    Foreign policy
  Mackay, R. W. G. You can't turn the clock back. (O '48)
    Foreign relations
  Eden, A. Freedom and order. (O '48)
      China
  Pelcovits, N. A. Old China hands. (Ap '48)
      France
  Palm, F. C. England and Napoleon III. (S '48)
      Germany
  Wheeler-Bennett, J. W. Munich. (O '48)
    History
  Hamilton, H. England. (Ap '48)
  McGuire, P. Experiment in world order. (Je '48)
      Plantagenets, 1154-1485
  Harvey, J. H. Plantagenets. (D '48)
      Stuarts, 1603-1714
  Schenk, W. Concern for social justice in the Puritan revolution. (D '48)
    Kings and rulers
  Harvey, J. H. Plantagenets. (D '48)
    Politics and government
  Eden, A. Freedom and order. (O '48)
  Zeeveld, W. G. Foundations of Tudor policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
    Social conditions
  Webb, B. P. Our partnership. (My '48)
    Social life and customs
  Rickert, E., comp. Chaucer's world. (Je '48)
Great Britain. Navy
    History
  Lewis, M. A. Navy of Britain. (D '48)
Great Dr Burney. Scholes, P. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Great forest. Lillard, R. G. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Great hope. Rudolph, M. (Ap '48)
Great Midland. Saxton, A. P. (D '48)
Great mischief. Pinckney, J. (My '48)

Great Northern? Ransome, A. (Ag '48)
Great Northwest. Winther, O. O. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Great novelists and their novels. Maugham, W. S. (N '48)
Great ones. Ingersoll, R. M. (Ap '48)
Great paintings in America. Kimball, S. F., and Venturi, L., eds. (D '48)
Great pictures, 1948. (Ag '48)
Great rehearsal. Van Doren, C. C. (Mr '48)
Great shorter works. Pascal, B. (S '48)
Great soul. Maurer, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Great venture. Longstreth, T. M. (D '48)
Great year. Laing, D. B. (N '48)
Greater city. Nevins, A., and Krout, J. A., eds. (D '48)

Greece

Description and travel

Ethridge, W. S. It's Greek to me. (Ap '48)

History

Burn, A. R. Alexander the Great and the Hellenistic empire. (S '48)

Greece, Modern

Politics and government

Twentieth century fund, incorporated. Report on the Greeks. (N '48)

Greek literature

Translations into English

Auden, W. H. ed. Portable Greek reader. (N '48)

Green, Anne
Green, A. With much love. (Je '48)
Green carpet. Holton, E. A. (Je '48)
Green child. Read, H. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Green Mountain farm. Merrick, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Green seas and white ice. MacMillan, M. L. (N '48)
Green treasure. Ross, M. I. (S '48)
Green wave. Rukeyser, M. (My '48)
Green world of the naturalists. Von Hagen, V. W., ed. (Je '48)

Greenland

Description and travel

Gilberg, A. Eskimo doctor. (S '48)

Gregory, Alyse
Gregory, A. Day is gone. (My '48)

Grenville, Sir Richard

Fiction

Fletcher, I. C. Roanoke hundred. (D '48)

Greystone book of gifts you can make yourself. Stevenson, I., ed. (S '48)
Gridiron grenadiers. Cohane, T. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Grieg, Edvard Hagerup

Juvenile literature

Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Gris, Juan
Kahnweiler, D. H. Juan Gris. (Ag '48)
Ground of induction. Williams, D. C. (My '48)
Group experience and democratic values. Coyle, G. L. (S '48)

Group work
Blumenthal, L. H. Administration of group work. (S '48)
Coyle, G. L. Group experience and democratic values. (S '48)
Hendry, C. E., ed. Decade of group work. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Growth
Beverly, B. I. Psychology of growth. (Je '48)

Growth (plants)
Crocker, W. Growth of plants. (S '48)
Growth of English representative government. Haskins, G. L. (S '48)
Growth of physical science. Jeans, J. H. (Ap '48)
Growth of plants. Crocker, W. (S '48)

Growth-promoting substances
Avery, G. S., and others. Hormones and horticulture. (Ap '48)
Mitchell, J. W., and Marth, P. C. Growth regulators for garden, field, and orchard. (Ap '48)

Growth regulators for garden, field, and orchard. Mitchell, J. W., and Marth, P. C. (Ap '48)
Guarantee of annual wages. Kaplan, A. D. H. (Mr '48)
Guard of honor. Cozzens, J. G. (N '48)

Guatemala

Social life and customs

Dodge, D. How lost was my weekend. (Ag '48)

Guerard, Albert Leon
Guérard, A. L. Personal equation. (Je '48)
Guide book for the young man about town. Jonathan, N. H. (Je '48)
Guide to America. Jenkins, E., ed. (Ag '48)
Guide to children's records. Eisenberg, P., and Krasno, H. (D '48)
Guide to confident living. Peale, N. V. (My '48)
Guide to the literature of mathematics and physics. Parke, N. G. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)
Guide to Trollope. Gregory, W., and Gerould, J. T. (N '48)
Gulf of time. Gerahty, D. G. (Ag '48)
Gulielma. Hodgkin, L. V. (Mr '48)

Gurgeny, Hugo
Jayne, M. S.-R. Hugo Gurgeny. (S '48)

Hadley, Arthur Twining
Hadley, M. Arthur Twining Hadley. (O '48)
Hair of the dog. Leslie, J. (Mr '48)
Half a century in community service. Bernheimer, C. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Half hours with great scientists. Fraser, C. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Half-pint Jinni. Dolbier, M. (O '48)

Halloween
Sechrist, E. H., comp. Heigh-ho for Halloween. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Halo for satan. Browne, H. (O '48)

Halsted, William Stewart
Bernheim, B. M. Story of the Johns Hopkins. (D '48)
Hammond's new world atlas. (O '48)

Hancock, John
Allan, H. S. John Hancock, patriot in purple. (S '48)
Hand made jewelry. Wiener, L. (Je '48)
Handbook for social agency administration. Street, E. (Je '48)
Handbook of antique chairs. Drepperd, C. W. (O '48)
Handbook of basic economic statistics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Handbook of Judaism. Waxman, M. (O '48)
Handbook of old American toys. Hertz, L. H. (Ag '48)
Handbook of outboard motorboating. Henry, P., and Allard, W. (Je '48)
Handbook of psychiatry. Overholser, W., and Richmond, W. V. (My '48)

Handel, Georg Friedrich
Dent, E. J. Handel. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Flower, N. George Frideric Handel. (Ag '48)

The Messiah

Herbage, J. L. Messiah. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Myers, R. M. Handel's Messiah. (Ag '48)

Handicraft
Adams, J. V. Plastic arts crafts. (N '48)
Haines, R. E., ed. Home crafts handbook. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Maginley, C. J. Toymaker's book. (D '48)
Popular mechanics magazine, Chicago. What to make for children. (Je '48)
Zarchy, H. Let's make a lot of things. (Je '48)
Handling horses. Stewart, P. D. (N '48)
Hanging judge. Hamilton, B. (Ap '48)

Happiness
Gould, L. Way to be happy. (D '48)
Kling, S. G. and E. B., eds. Art of being happy. (D '48)
Wiggam, A. E. New techniques of happiness. (D '48)
Happy little family. Caudill, R. (Mr '48)

Hardy, Thomas
Webster, H. C. On a darkling plain. (Ap '48)

Harlem story. Hewlett, J. H. (D '48)
Harmonic analysis
  Murnaghan, F. D. Introduction to applied mathematics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harmony
  Schönberg, A. Theory of harmony. (O '48)
Harp in the south. Park, R. (Ap '48)
Harper, Allanah
  Harper, A. All trivial fond records. (My '48)
Harper of heaven. Service, R. W. (My '48)
Harvard university
  Biography
  Brown, R. W. Harvard Yard in the golden age. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harvard Yard in the golden age. Brown, R. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hasidism
  Buber, M. Hasidism. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hate, hope and high explosives. Eliot, G. F. (O '48)
Hatfield-McCoy feud
  Jones, V. C. Hatfields and the McCoys. (My '48)
Hatfields and the McCoys. Jones, V. C. (My '48)
Hawaii. Morgan, J. T. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hawaiian Islands
  Davenport, W. W., ed. Pacific era. (N '48)
  Furnas, J. C. Anatomy of paradise. (N '48)
  Economic conditions
  Morgan, J. T. Hawaii. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hawk, the white Indian. Carleton, P. D. (Mr '48)
Hawthorne, Mont
  McKeown, M. F. Trail led north. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hawthorne, Nathaniel
  Cantwell, R. Nathaniel Hawthorne; the American years. (N '48)
  Stewart, R. Nathaniel Hawthorne. (D '48)
He died of murder. Smith, S. (My '48)
Headless angel. Baum, V. (My '48)
Health in your daily living. Rathbone, J. L., and others. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hearing
  Davis, H., ed. Hearing and deafness. (Ap '48)
Hearing aids, Mechanical
  Davis, H., and others. Hearing aids. (My '48)
Hearing and deafness. Davis, H., ed. (Ap '48)
Heart has reasons. Sturges-Jones, M. (N '48)
Heart in pilgrimage. Eaton, E. S. M., and Moore, E. R. (My '48)
Heart of the matter. Greene, G. (Ag '48)
Hearth and Eagle. Seton, A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Hearthstones. Harris, B. K. (D '48)
Heat
  Conduction
  Ingersoll, L. R., and others. Heat conduction. (D '48)
Heat conduction. Ingersoll, L. R., and others. (D '48)
Heathens. Howells, W. W. (Ap '48)
Heather hill. Trevor, E. (O '48)
Heating
  Hall, J. D. Industrial applications of infrared. (Ap '48)
  Heating and ventilating (periodical). Engineering databook. (Ag '48)
  Shoemaker, R. W. Radiant heating. (S '48)
Heaven faces west. Young, M. B. (D '48)
Heaven knows why. Taylor, S. W. (Je '48)
Heigh-ho for Halloween! Sechrist, E. H. comp. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Heiress. Goetz, R. and A. (D '48)
Heirs apparent. Young, K. H., and Middleton, L. (My '48)
Helicopter adventure. Klemin, A. (Mr '48)
Hello Peter. Gipson, M. (O '48)
Henry VIII, king of England
  Drama
  Anderson, M. Anne of the thousand days. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Herbicides
  Frear, D. E. H. Chemistry of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Here is the veld. Gatti, A. (N '48)
Here rolled the covered wagons. Salisbury, A P. and J. S. (S '48)
Here, Suzy! Hills, V. (N '48)
Heredity
  Gates, R. R. Human ancestry from a genetical point of view. (Je '48)
Here's how in sports. Morrison, E. G. (O '48)
Here's looking at you. Wilkens, E. (D '48)
Heritage of freedom. Monaghan, F. (Mr '48)
Herndon, William Henry
  Donald, D. H. Lincoln's Herndon. (O '48)
Heroes
  Hole, C. English folk-heroes. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Herself surprised. Cary, J. (O '48)
Hess, Rudolf
  Rees, J. R., ed. Case of Rudolf Hess. (Ap '48)
Hickory stick. Scott, V. J. (D '48)
Hideout club. Reilly, F. A. (Ag '48)
High harvest. Low, E. (N '48)
High John, the conqueror. Wilson, J. W. (D '48)
High trail. Breckenfeld, V. G. (D '48)
High wind at noon. Chalmers, A. K. (D '48)
Higher education for American democracy. United States. President's commission on higher education. (O '48)
Highland heart in Nova Scotia. MacNeil, N. (S '48)
Highlights among the Hudson River artists. Sears, C. E. (My '48)
Highpockets. Tunis, J. R. (My '48)
Highway across the West Indies. Lanks, H. C. (Ag '48)
Hill, Grace (Livingston)
  Karr, J. Grace Livingston Hill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hills around Havana. Bottume, C. H. (Ap '48)
Hills on the highway. Goldknopf, D. (Ag '48)
Hingham, Massachusetts
  Coatsworth, E. J. South Shore town. (D '48)
Historians
  Saveth, E. N. American historians and European immigrants. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Historic spots in California. Hoover, M. B., and others. (N '48)
Historical appraisal of mechanics. Girvin, H. F. (My '48)
Historical geography of the United States. Brown, R H. (S '48)
Historical introduction to modern philosophy. Miller, H. (Ap '48)
Historical sociology. Barnes, H. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Historical work of Ammianus Marcellinus. Thompson, E. A. (N '48)
History
  Reither, J., ed. Masterworks of history. (Ag '48)
  Rowse, A. L. Use of history. (S '48)
  Historiography
  Neff, E. E. Poetry of history. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Philosophy
  Bober, M. M. Karl Marx's interpretation of history [2d ed rev]. (D '48)
  Cohen, M. R. Meaning of human history. (Ap '48)
  Toynbee, A. J. Civilization on trial. (Je '48)
History, Modern
  Bruun, G. World in the twentieth century. (S '48)
  Sources
  Stearns, R. P., ed. Pageant of Europe. (Je '48)
History, Universal
  Hammerton, J. A., ed. New illustrated world history. (Je '48)
  Thorndike, L. Short history of civilization [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Juvenile literature
  Hartman, G., and Saunders, L. S. Builders of the Old World. (Ag '48)

  Hillyer, V. M. Child's history of the world [rev & enl ed]. (Ap '48)
History. Wittman, E. (O '48)
History of Boston college. Dunigan, D. R. (S '48)
History of factory and mine hygiene. Teleky, L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
History of libraries in Great Britain and North America. Predeek, A. (My '48)
History of local government. Smellie, K. B. (D '48)
History of musical thought [2d ed]. Ferguson, D. N. (Ag '48)
History of Nora Beckham. Pennell, J. S. (O '48)
History of Norway. Larsen, K. (D '48)
History of popular music in America. Spaeth, S. G. (D '48)
History of the Donner party [rev ed]. McGlashan, C. F. (Ap '48)
History of the homeland. Eng title of: England. Hamilton, H. (Ap '48)
History of the Islamic peoples. Brockelmann, C. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
History of the Jews. Sachar, A. L. (O '48)
History of the Persian empire. Olmstead, A. T. (N '48)
History of the Times, v3: The twentieth century test. Times, London. (Ap '48)
History of the United States navy [rev ed]. Knox, D. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
History of United States naval operations in World war II; v3, The Rising Sun in the Pacific. Morison, S. E. (O '48)
Hitler in our selves. Picard, M. (My '48)
Hobbies
  Leeming, J. Money-making hobbies. (O '48)
  Pettit, T. Book of nature hobbies. (Mr '48)
Hobo hound. Edwards, M. (S '48)
Hodgin, Edwin Stanton
  Hodgin, E. S. Confessions of an agnostic clergyman. (N '48)
Hog on ice. Funk, C. E. (My '48)
Hold with the hares. Zinberg, L. (N '48)
Holidays
  Douglas, G. W. American book of days [rev ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Hark, M., and McQueen, N. Special plays for special days. (Mr '48)

Poetry

  Clark, T. C. and R. E., comps. Poems for the great days. (Ag '48)
Hollow needle. Coxe, G. H. (N '48)
Hollywood on trial. Kahn, G. (My '48)
Holy Spirit
  Nuttall, G. F. Holy Spirit in Puritan faith and experience. (Ag '48)
Holy Spirit in Puritan faith and experience. Nuttall, G. F. (Ag '48)
Home book of laughter. Becker, M. L., ed. (O '48)
Home book of proverbs, maxims and familiar phrases. Stevenson, B. E., ed. (D '48)
Home builder's handbook. Duncan, K. (D '48)
Home crafts handbook. Haines, R. E., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Home economics
  Harris, F. L., and Kauffman, T. E. Young folks at home. (D '48)
  Ripperger, H. S. Household manual. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Shea, N. B. Army wife. (S '48)
Home from the cold wars. Roberts, L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Home guide to repair, upkeep and remodeling. Crouse, W. H. (My '48)
Home place. Morris, W. (S '48)
Home to the Hermitage. Crabb, A. L. (My '48)
Homer

Iliad

  Bespaloff, R. On the Iliad. (My '48)
Homes. Progressive architecture (periodical). (My '48)
Homiletical illustrations
  Thomas, G. B. What shall I preach? (Ag '48)
Hoover, Herbert Clark
  Lyons, E. Our unknown ex-president. (Ag '48)
Hope, John
  Torrence, F. R. Story of John Hope. (S '48)
Hope to die. Waugh, H. (Je '48)
Hopeful heart. Gibbs, P. H. (S '48)
Hopkins, Gerard Manley
  Peters, W. A. M. Gerard Manley Hopkins. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hopkins, Harry Lloyd
  Sherwood, R. E. Roosevelt and Hopkins. (N '48)
Hormones
  Avery, G. S., and others. Hormones and horticulture. (Ap '48)
  Mitchell, J. W., and Marth, P. C. Growth regulators for garden, field, and orchard. (Ap '48)
Hormones and horticulture. Avery, G. S., and others. (Ap '48)
Horse called Pete. Bialk, E. (Je '48)
Horse racing
  Steigleman, W. A. Horseracing. (Je '48)
Horse training
  Stewart, P. D. Handling horses. (N '48)
Horsemanship
  Self, M. C. Riding simplified. (Je '48)
  Stewart, P. D. Handling horses. (N '48)
Horseracing. Steigleman, W. A. (Je '48)
Horses
  Vesey-Fitzgerald, B. S. ed. Book of the horse. (Ag '48)

Legends and stories

  Alsop, R. F. George and his horse, Bill. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Balch, G. Wild horse. (Ag '48)
  Bialk, E. Horse called Pete. (Je '48)
  Glick, C. Mickey wins his feathers. (Ag '48)
  Henry, M. King of the wind. (D '48)
  Lindman, M. J. Fire Eye. (Je '48)
  Robertson, K. Ticktock and Jim. (Ap '48)
  Rounds, G. Stolen pony. (D '48)
  Self, M. C. Come away! (S '48)
  Starr, J. C. Black Dinah. (Ag '48)

Pictures, illustrations, etc.

  Anderson, C. W. Sketchbook. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Hogeboom, A. Horses and how to draw them. (D '48)
Horses and how to draw them. Hogeboom, A. (D '48)
Hosiery
  Kennedy, T. Effective labor arbitration. (N '48)
Hospital care in the United States. Commission on hospital care. (Je '48)
Hospital zone. Seifert, E. (N '48)
Hospitals
  Commission on hospital care. Hospital care in the United States. (Je '48)
  Goldwater, S. S. On hospitals. (My '48)
Hotels, taverns, etc.

West

  Lewis, J. E. Doorway to good living. (D '48)
Hour of spring. Deasy, M. (Mr '48)
House by the sea. Godden, J. (Ag '48)
House decoration
  Derieux, M., and Stevenson, I. Complete book of interior decorating. (Ag '48)
  Gillies, M. D. All about modern decorating [rev & enl ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Rogers, M. R. American interior design. (My '48)
House for you to build, buy or rent. Sleeper, C. B. and H. R. (Je '48)
House of Nasi: Doña Gracia. Roth, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
House of the Swan. Coatsworth, E. J. (Je '48)
House on the river. Baker, C. (D '48)
House without a roof. Sayre, J. (D '48)
Household electric refrigeration. Wostrel, J. F., and Praetz, J. G. (S '48)
Household manual. Ripperger, H. S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Housing
  Weaver, R. C. Negro ghetto. (S '48)
How come Christmas. Bradford, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
How life is handed on. Bibby, C. (Je '48)
How lost was my weekend. Dodge, D. (Ag '48)
How our minds work. Joad, C. E. M. (D '48)
How shall we pay for education? Harris, S. E. (My '48)

How tax laws make giving to charity easy. Lasser, J. K. (D '48)
How to attract the birds. Lemmon, R. S. (Mr '48)
How to be a successful advertising woman. McBride, M. M., ed. (Je '48)
How to be popular though conservative. Clark, F. G., and Rimanoczy, R. S. (O '48)
How to buy more for your money. Margolius, S. (Je '48)
How to double your vocabulary. Smith, S. S. (Mr '48)
How to draw farm animals. Tunnicliffe, C. F. (D '48)
How to enjoy poetry. Farren, R. (S '48)
How to help your child grow up. Patri, A. (Ag '48)
How to interpret social welfare. Baker, H. C., and Routzahn, M. B. S. (Ap '48)
How to live in the woods. Halsted, H. B. (S '48)
How to live your faith. Thomas, G. E. (S '48)
How to make better speeches. Hoffman, W. G. (D '48)
How to make dolls and doll houses. Lee, T. (D '48)
How to make money in commercial art. Brosnac, E. (S '48)
How to make publicity work. Ramsberger, J. F. (S '48)
How to pitch. Feller, R. W. A. (O '48)
How to predict elections. Bean, L. H. (S '48)
How to restore antiques. Yates, R. F. (O '48)
How to speak better English. Lewis, N. (My '48)
How to stop the Russians without war. Sternberg, F. (Ap '48)
How to stop worrying and start living. Carnegie, D. (S '48)
How to take industrial photographs. Zielke, M. H., and Beezley, F. G. (Ag '48)
How to think about ourselves. Wilkinson, B. (S '48)
How to torture your husband. Webster, H. T. (S '48)
How to torture your wife. Webster, H. T. (O '48)
How to write a play. Finch, R. (Je '48)
How we got our denominations. Stuber, S. I. (N '48)
How's your bridge game? Osborn, F. (D '48)

Hughes, Adella (Prentiss)
Hughes, A. P. Music is my life. (Ap '48)

Huguenots
Dodge, G. H. Political theory of the Huguenots of the dispersion. (My '48)

Hull, Cordell
Hull, C. Memoirs. (Je '48)

Hull, Isaac
Grant, B. Isaac Hull, captain of Old Ironsides. (Mr '48)

Human ancestry from a genetical point of view. Gates, R. R. (Je '48)
Human knowledge. Russell, B. A. W. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Human relations casebook. Drake, F. S. and C. A. (Ap '48)
Human relations in action. Thomason, C. C. (Ag '48)
Human side of music. Hughes, C. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Humanism
Zeeveld, W. G. Foundations of Tudor policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Humanist as hero. Maynard, T. (Mr '48)

Humanities
Northrop, F. S. C. Logic of the sciences and the humanities. (Mr '48)

Humor
Barkins, E. W. I love my doctor. (Ag '48)
Becker, M. L., ed. Home book of laughter. (O '48)
Cerf, B. A., ed. Shake well before using. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Croy, H. What grandpa laughed at. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Cummings, P. Whimsey report. (O '48)
Kircher, R. C. Wrap it as a gift. (Ap '48)
Perelman, S. J. Westward ha! (O '48)
Potter, S. Theory and practice of gamesmanship. (S '48)
Ruark, C. C. I didn't know it was loaded. (D '48)
Seaver, E., ed. Pageant of American humor. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Smith, H. A. Larks in the popcorn. (D '48)
Thurber, J. Beast in me and other animals. (N '48)
Wilder, W. B. Grandfather vs. Peru. (S '48)
Wiley, A. Laughing with Congress. (Mr '48)

Juvenile literature
Horowitz, C., and Hart, H., eds. Treasury of laughs for boys & girls. (O '48)

Humus
Hopkins, D. P. Chemicals, humus, and the soil. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Hungarians in the United States
Lengyel, E. Americans from Hungary. (Je '48)

Hungary

History
Montgomery, J. F. Hungary, the unwilling satellite. (Mr '48)

Politics and government
Nagy, F. Struggle behind the iron curtain. (D '48)

Hungry Gulliver. Johnson, P. H. (Mr '48)
Hunters and the hunted. Sitwell, S. (Mr '48)
Hunter's encyclopedia. Camp, R. R., ed. (D '48)

Hunting
Field and stream (periodical). Game bag. (D '48)
Keith, E. Big game hunting. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Newell, D. M. Fishing and hunting answer book. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Popowski, B. Hunting small game. (My '48)
Robinson, B., ed. World's great stories of hunting and adventure. (Ap '48)
Watkins-Pitchford, D. J., comp. Shooting man's bedside book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Encyclopedias and dictionaries
Camp, R. R., ed. Hunter's encyclopedia. (D '48)

Africa
Pretorius, P. J. Jungle man. (O '48)

Alaska
Annabel, R. Hunting and fishing in Alaska. (Je '48)

Great Smoky mountains
Gasque, J. Hunting and fishing in the Great Smokies. (O '48)

India
Corbett, J. E. Man-eating leopard of Rudraprayag. (Je '48)

Northwest
Ormond, C. Hunting in the Northwest. (O '48)

United States
Babcock, H. My health is better in November. (My '48)

West
Hibben, F. C. Hunting American lions. (N '48)

Hunting American lions. Hibben, F. C. (N '48)
Hunting and fishing in Alaska. Annabel, R. (Je '48)
Hunting and fishing in the Great Smokies. Gasque, J. (O '48)
Hunting in the Northwest. Ormond, C. (O '48)
Hunting small game. Popowski, B. (My '48)

Hurricanes
Leet, L. D. Causes of catastrophe. (Ap '48)

Hurry, hurry home. Klempner, J. (N '48)
Husband who ran away. Dolson, H. (O '48)
Hustle and Bustle. Slobodkin, L. (N '48)

Huygens, Christiaan
Bell, A. E. Christian Huygens and the development of science in the seventeenth century. (My '48)

Hybrid-corn makers. Crabb, A. R. (Ap '48)

Hydraulic engineering
Hunsaker, J. C., and Rightmire, B. G. Engineering applications of fluid mechanics. (S '48)

Hydraulics
Wislicenus, G. F. Fluid mechanics of turbomachinery. (Ag '48)

Hygiene
Rathbone, J. L., and others. Health in your daily living. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hygiene, Industrial
Brandt, A. D. Industrial health engineering. (Ap '48)
Dalla Valle, J. M. Industrial environment and its control. (Je '48) Teleky, L. History of factory and mine hygiene. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hygiene, Rural
Mott, F. D., and Roemer, M. I. Rural health and medical care. (D '48)
Hypnotism
Marks, R. W. Story of hypnotism. (S '48)
Shaw, S. I. Hypnotism can help. (S '48)
Wolfe, B., and Rosenthal, R. B. Hypnotism comes of age. (S '48)
Hypnotism can help. Shaw, S. I. (S '48)
Hypnotism comes of age. Wolfe, B., and Rosenthal, R. B. (S '48)

I am the cat. Kutak, R. (My '48)
I capture the castle. Smith, D. G. (N '48)
I didn't know it was loaded. Ruark, R. C. (D '48)
I give you my word. Brown, I. J. C. (S '48)
I have lived with the American people. Buaken, M. (Ag '48)
I hear adventure calling. Loring, E. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
I knew Macbean. Williams, W. (Mr '48)
I learn from children. Pratt, C. (N '48)
I lift my lamp. Pauli, H. E., and Basch, E. (Je '48)
I love my doctor. Barkins, E. W. (Ag '48)
I married a dead man. Woolrich, C. (O '48)
I never saw an Arab like him. Maxwell, J. A. (My '48)
I saw Poland betrayed. Lane, A. B. (Ap '48)
I sing of a Maiden. Thérèse, Sister, ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
I struggle and I rise. Eng title of: Valiant lady. Sinclair, K. H. N.-W. (Ap '48)
I thee wed. Gabriel, G. W. (Je '48)
I want to go home. Lockridge, R. and F. L. D. (Je '48)
I work on a newspaper. Lent, H. B. (Ag '48)
Ibsen, Henrik
Juvenile literature
Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Iceland
Rothery, A. E. Iceland, new world outpost. (S '48)
Juvenile literature
Rothery, A. E. Iceland roundabout. (D '48)
Iceland, new world outpost. Rothery, A. E. (S '48)
Iceland roundabout. Rothery, A. E. (D '48)
Ideas have consequences. Weaver, R. M. ((Ap '48)
Ides of March, Wilder, T. N. (Ap '48)
If this be my harvest. Atkins, L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ill met in Mexico Russell, C. M. (Ag '48)
I'll never go back. Koriakov, M. (Ag '48)
I'll take Cappy. McCabe, L., and Fagan, N. (N '48)
Illinois
Social life and customs
Grierson, F. Valley of shadows. (Ag '48)
Illinois congress of parents and teachers
Sparks, D. E. Strong is the current. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Illiteracy
Laubach, F. C. Teaching the world to read (S '48)
Imagination
Osborn, A. F. Your creative power. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sartre, J. P. Psychology of imagination. (S '48)
Immigration problem. Peters, C. A., comp. (D '48)
Immortal Helen. Corbett, E. F. (Ap '48)
Immortal shadows. Young, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Immortality
Thurman, H. Negro spiritual speaks of life and death. (Ap '48)
Imperialism
Winslow, E. M. Pattern of imperialism. (S '48)
Importance of Scrutiny. Scrutiny (periodical). (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Important people. Van Gelder, R. (S '48)
Imprint of a publisher. Williamson, S. T. (Ag '48)
Improved foremanship. Uris, A. (O '48)
Improving supervision. Cushman, F. and R. W. (S '48)
In Bible days. Hartman, G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
In cold blood. Stein, A. M. (D '48)
In darkest Germany. Gollancz, V. (Mr '48)
In Henry's backyard. Benedict, R. F., and Weltfish, G. (Ap '48)
In my father's pastures. Morgenstern, S. (Ap '48)
In Norway. Thorne-Thomsen, G. (Je '48)
In search of a way of life. Singer, E. A. (N '48)
In search of South Africa. Morton, H. C. V. (N '48)
In the tower's shadow. Cruickshank, N. K. (N '48)
Incarnation
Baillie, D. M. God was in Christ. (D '48)
Incas
Bingham, H. Lost city of the Incas. (D '48)
Inconvenient bride. Knipscheer, J. M. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Incorrigible. Brown, K. (Ap '48)
Incredible Crosby. Ulanov, B. (Je '48)
Indentured servants
Smith, A. E. Colonists in bondage. (My '48)
Independent means. Singleton, F. (Je '48)
India
Commerce
Furber, H. John Company at work. (N '48)
History
Emerson, G. Pageant of India's history. (D '48)
Nationality
Wallbank, T. W. India. (D '48)
Politics and government
Furber, H. John Company at work. (N '48)
Jones, G. E. Tumult in India. (My '48)
Social conditions
Jones, G. E. Tumult in India. (My '48)
India called them. Beveridge of Tuggal, W. H. B. (Je '48)
Indians of North America
Children
Leighton, D. C., and Kluckhohn, C. Children of the people. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Marriott, A. L. Indians on horseback. (D '48)
Legends
Hooke, H. M. Thunder in the mountains. (My '48)
Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Schmitt, M. F., and Brown, D. Fighting Indians of the West. (D '48)
Pottery
Marriott, A. L. Maria: the potter of San Ildefonso. (S '48)
Wars
Campbell, W. S. Warpath and council fire. (Ag '48)
Schmitt, M. F., and Brown, D. Fighting Indians of the West. (D '48)
Canada
Hooke, H. M. Thunder in the mountains. (My '48)
Indians on horseback. Marriott, A. L. (D '48)
Individualism
Hayek, F. A. von. Individualism and economic order. (N '48)
Individualism and economic order. Hayek, F. A. von. (N '48)

Indonesian story. Wolf, C. (O '48)
Industrial applications of infrared. Hall, J. D. (Ap '48)

Industrial arts

History

Giedion, S. Mechanization takes command. (Je '48)

Industrial buildings
Dunham, C. W. Planning industrial structures. (S '48)
Industrial electric furnaces and appliances, v2. Paschkis, V. A. (O '48)
Industrial environment and its control. Dalla Valle, J. M. (Je '48)
Industrial experimentation [2d ed]. Brownlee, K. A. (Ag '48)
Industrial health engineering. Brandt, A. D. (Ap '48)

Industrial management
Clark, P. F. Challenge of the American know-how. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Lansburgh, R. H., and Spriegel, W. R. Industrial management [4th ed]. (Je '48)
Industrial management [4th ed]. Lansburgh, R. H., and Spriegel, W. R. (Je '48)

Industrial mobilization (for war)
Woodbury, D. O. Battlefronts of industry. (N '48)

Industrial relations
Bakke, E. W., and Kerr, C., eds. Unions, management, and the public. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Braun, K. Union-management co-operation. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Chamberlain, N. W. Union challenge to management control. (Ap '48)
Harbison, F. H., and Dublin, R. Patterns of union-management. (Ap '48)
Hartley, F. A. Our new national labor policy. (N '48)
Lester, R. A., and Shister, J., eds. Insights into labor issues. (O '48)
Selekman, B. M. Labor relations and human relations. (O '48)

Industrial research
Columbia university. Division of war research. Statistical research group. Selected techniques of statistical analysis for scientific and industrial research and production and management engineering. (Ap '48)
Furnas, C. C., ed. Research in industry. (Je '48)
Killeffer, D. H. Genius of industrial research. (S '48)

Industrial statistics
Columbia university. Division of war research. Statistical research group. Selected techniques of statistical analysis for scientific and industrial research and production and management engineering. (Ap '48)
Industrial weighing. Considine, D. M. (Ag '48)

Industrial workers of the world
Chaplin, R. Wobbly. (N '48)

Industries, Location of Hoover, E. M. Location of economic activity. (D '48)

Industry

Organization, control, etc.

Florence, P. S., and Baldamus, W. Investment, location, and size of plant. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Industry and state
Jewkes, J. Ordeal by planning. (S '48)
Meade, J. E. Planning and the price mechanism. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Inevitable peace. Friedrich, C. J. (My '48)

Infants

Care and hygiene

Lawler, E. G. Baby care from birth to birthday. (Ag '48)
Shultz, G. D., and Hill, L. F. Your baby. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Tenney, H. K. Let's talk about your baby [3d ed]. (My '48)

Infection and infectious diseases
Eberson, F. Microbes militant: a challenge to man. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hull, T. G. Diseases transmitted from animals to man [3d ed]. (Je '48)
Influence of sea power in World war II. Puleston, W. D. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Information roundup. Stimpson, G. W. (O '48)

Information tests
Bethers, R. Can you name them? (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Infra-red rays
Hall, J. D. Industrial applications of infrared. (Ap '48)
Inheritance. Seager, A. (Ag '48)
Inheritance of poetry. Adshead, G. L., and Duff, A., eds. (O '48)
Innocent villa. Conrad, B. (Ag '48)
Innocents. Barker, A. L. (My '48)
Inorganic process industries. Kobe, K. A. (N '48)
Inquiring mind. Martin, H. (Ag '48)

Inscriptions, Semitic
Obermann, J. J. Ugaritic mythology. (N '48)
Insect guide. Swain, R. B. (S '48)

Insecticides
Frear, D. E. H. Chemistry of insecticides, fungicides and herbicides [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Insects
Swain, R. B. Insect guide. (S '48)

Insects, Injurious and beneficial
Dethier, V. G. Chemical insect attractants and repellents. (S '48)
Inside Pan-Arabia. Steiner, M. J. (Ag '48)
Inside story of the Legion. Gray, J., and Bernstein, V. H. (N '48)
Inside story of the Pendergast machine. Milligan, M. M. (My '48)
Insights into labor issues. Lester, R. A., and Shister, J., eds. (O '48)
Instrument and control manual for operating engineers. Feller, E. W. F. (Je '48)

Insurance, Health
Bachman, G. W., and Meriam, L. Issue of compulsory health insurance. (D '48)
Bauer, L. H. Private enterprise or government in medicine. (S '48)
Malmberg, C. 140 million patients. (Mr '48)

Insurance, Life
Gilbert, E. A. Insurance and your security. (S '48)

Insurance, Social
De Schweinitz, K. People and process in social security. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Insurance, State and compulsory
Bachman, G. W., and Meriam, L. Issue of compulsory health insurance. (D '48)
De Schweinitz, K. People and process in social security. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Insurance and your security. Gilbert, E. A. (S '48)

Integral equations
Murnaghan, F. D. Introduction to applied mathematics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Intellect
Halstead, W. C. Brain and intelligence. (My '48)
Intellectual interests of Engelbert of Admont. Fowler, G. B. (Je '48)
Intemperate season. Morley, B. (Ag '48)

Intercollegiate conference of faculty representatives
Roberts, H. Big nine. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

International cooperation
Ferguson, C. W. Little democracy is a dangerous thing. (D '48)
Hickman, C. A., and others. World economic problems. (Ap '48)
Mackay, R. W. G. You can't turn the clock back. (O '48)
Murray, G. From the League to U.N. (N '48)
Potter, P. B. Introduction to the study of international organization. (O '48)
Ward, B. West at bay. (N '48)
Whyte, L. L. Everyman looks forward. (D '48)
Wright, Q., ed. World community. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

International federation
Brinton, C. C. From many one. (Je '48)
Committee to frame a world constitution. Preliminary draft of a world constitution. (N '48)

International law
Americano, J. New foundation of international law. (My '48)
Jessup, P. C. Modern law of nations. (My '48)
International maritime dictionary. De Kerchove, R. (Ap '48)

International missionary council
Latourette, K. S., and Hogg, W. R. Tomorrow is here. (D '48)

International relations
Carr, E. H. International relations between the two World wars. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Carroll, W. Persuade or perish. (S '48)
Cave, F. A., and others. Origins and consequences of World war II. (N '48)
Friedwald, E. M. Man's last choice. (Mr '48)
Graham, M. W. American diplomacy in the international community. (O '48)
McMurry, R. E., and Lee, M. Cultural approach. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Meyer, C. Peace or anarchy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Morgenthau, H. J. Politics among nations. (D '48)
Muralt, L. von. From Versailles to Pottsdam. (O '48)
Smith, S. R. Manchurian crisis, 1931-32. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Winslow, E. M. Pattern of imperialism. (S '48)
Wittmann, E. History. (O '48)
Wright, Q., ed. World community. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
International relations between the two World wars. Carr, E. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
International trade: tariff and commercial policies. Isaacs, A. (N '48)
International who's who, 1948. (O '48)
International world who's who, 1947. (My '48)

Interplanetary voyages
Nicolson, M. H. Voyages to the moon. (D '48)
Interpretation of Shakespeare. Craig, H. (S '48)
Interpretation of spectra. Venable, W. M. (S '48)
Into the labyrinth. Plagemann, B. (N '48)
Introducing Washington, D.C. MacIntyre, C. B. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Introduction to applied mathematics. Murnaghan, F. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Introduction to art activities. Wickiser, R. L. (Mr '48)
Introduction to cartooning. Taylor, R. D. (My '48)
Introduction to chemical thermodynamics [2d ed]. Steiner, L. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Introduction to Chinese art and history. Silcock, A. (Ag '48)
Introduction to color. Evans, R. M. (S '48)
Introduction to economic science. Soule, G. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Introduction to paleobotany. Arnold, C. A. (Ag '48)
Introduction to philosophy of education. Henderson, S. V. (Ap '48)
Introduction to the history of science; v3, Science and learning in the fourteenth century. Sarton, G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Introduction to the history of sociology. Barnes, H. E., ed. (My '48)
Introduction to the physics of metals and alloys. Boas, W. M. (S '48)
Introduction to the study of international organization. Potter, P. B. (O '48)
Introductory physical metallurgy. Mason, C. W. (My '48)
Introductory study of the family [rev ed]. Schmiedeler, E. (Je '48)
Intruder in the dust. Faulkner, W. (N '48)
Invaders. Frank, W. D. (Ag '48)

Inventories
Giedion, S. Mechanization takes command. (Je '48)
Investment, location, and size of plant. Florence, P. S., and Baldamus, W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Investments, Foreign
Buchanan, N. S., and Lutz, F. A. Rebuilding the world economy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Invisible encounter. Sikorsky, I. I. (N '48)
Invisible island. Marshall, D. (D '48)
Invisible island. Stark, I. (S '48)
Involute gears. Steeds, W. (D '48)
Inward voyage. Packer, P. (Ag '48)
Iowa outpost. Buxbaum, K. (O '48)

Irish literature

History and criticism

Dillon, M. Early Irish literature. (My '48)
Flower, R. Irish tradition. (S '48)

Irish poetry

Collections

Colum P., ed. Anthology of Irish verse. (Ag '48)

History and criticism

Farren, R. Course of Irish verse in English. (My '48)
Irish tradition. Flower, R. (S '48)

Iron alloys
Lorig, C. H., and Adams, R. R. Copper as an alloying element in steel and cast iron. (O '48)
Iron curtain. Gouzenko, I. (Ag '48)
Irregular gentleman. Bellah, J. W. (Je '48)
Is God evident? Heard, G. (O '48)
Is it hard? is it easy? Green, M. M. (D '48)
Is that me? Auerbach-Levy, W., and Von Wien, F. (Mr '48)
Isaac Hull, captain of Old Ironsides. Grant, B. (Mr '48)
Isabel and the sea. Millar, G. R. (S '48)
Island. Jones, N. (D '48)
Island of escape. Nelson, H. L. (Ap '48)
Island stallion. Farley, W. (D '48)

Islands of the Pacific
Furnas, J. C. Anatomy of paradise. (N '48)
Islands to windward. Mitchell, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Isle of Que. Singmaster, E. (O '48)
Isles of rhythm. Leaf, E. (S '48)
Isn't it a crime? Cott, T., and others. (Ap '48)

Isomerism
Bergmann, E. D. Isomerism and isomerization of organic compounds. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Isomerism and isomerization of organic compounds. Bergmann, E. D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Israel
Garcia-Granados, J. Birth of Israel. (D '48)
Stone, I. F. This is Israel. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Issue of compulsory health insurance. Bachman, G. W; and Meriam, L. (D '48)
It could be verse. Newman, J. S. (D '48)
It gives me great pleasure. Kimbrough, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
It took courage. Rogers, S. R. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
It took nine tailors. Menjou, A. (Ap '48)
It was not what I expected. Teal, V. (O '48)

Italy

Civilization

Prezzolini, G. Legacy of Italy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Fascist movement

Mussolini, B. Fall of Mussolini. (D '48)

History

Addis Ababa, P. B. d'. Italy in the second World war. (N '48)
Italy in the second World war. Addis Ababa, P. B. d'. (N '48)
It's a crime. Ellington, R. (N '48)
It's all in the family. Millar, M. (Je '48)
It's an old California custom. Shippey, L. (Ap '48)
It's an old New Orleans custom. Robinson, L. (D '48)
It's easy to fix your bike. McFarlane, J. W. (Je '48)
It's Greek to me. Ethridge, W. S. (Ap '48)

Ives, Burl
Ives, B. Wayfaring stranger. (D '48)

Jack London, American rebel. London, J. (Mr '48)

Jackson, Andrew

Fiction

Crabb, A. L. Home to the Hermitage. (My '48)

James II, king of England
Turner, F. C. James II. (N '48)

James I, king of Scotland

Fiction

Fremantle, A. J. James and Joan. (Ap '48)

James, Henry
James, H. Notebooks. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Nowell-Smith, S., comp. Legend of the master: Henry James. (Je '48)
Washington Square
Goetz, R. and A. Heiress. (D '48)
James, William
Perry, R. B. Thought and character of William James. (My '48)
James and Joan. Fremantle, A. J. (Ap '48)
James family
Matthiessen, F. O. James family. (Ag '48)
Jamestown, Virginia
Juvenile literature
Waring, G. Three ships come sailing. (N '48)
Janice, air line hostess. Hager, A. R. (Je '48)
Japan
Civilization
Ennis, T. E. Eastern Asia. (N '48)
Lyell, T. R. G. Case history of Japan. (O '48)
Wakefield, H. New paths for Japan. (D '48)
Description and travel
Cole, A. B., ed. Yankee surveyors in the Shogun's seas. (My '48)
Morrow, J. Scientist with Perry in Japan. (Mr '48)
Foreign relations
United States
Clinard, O. J. Japan's influence on American naval power. (My '48)
Mears, H. Mirror for Americans: Japan. (O '48)
History
Dilts, M. M. Pageant of Japanese history. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Allied occupation, 1945-
Brines, R. MacArthur's Japan. (N '48)
Busch, N. F. Fallen sun (Mr '48)
Gayn, M. J. Japan diary. (D '48)
Mears, H. Mirror for Americans: Japan. (O '48)
Wakefield, H. New paths for Japan. (D '48)
Juvenile literature
Yaukey, G. S. Japan. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Japan. Yaukey, G. S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Japan diary. Gayn, M. J. (D '48)
Japanese in the United States
Smith, B. Americans from Japan. (O '48)
Japan's influence on American naval power. Clinard, O. J. (My '48)
Jazz music
Delaunay, C. New hot discography. (D '48)
De Toledano, R., ed. Frontiers of jazz. (Ag '48)
Jeanne d'Arc, Saint
Bernanos, G. Sanctity will out. (Ap '48)
Buchan, A. Joan of Arc and the recovery of France. (S '48)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Joan of Arc. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Winwar, F. Saint and the devil. (Ap '48)
Jeanneret-Gris, Charles Edouard
Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. Le Corbusier, architect, painter, writer. (Ag '48)
Jeff Roberts, railroader. Ford, E. (S '48)
Jefferson, Martha. See Randolph, Martha (Jefferson)
Jefferson, Thomas
Berman, E. D. Thomas Jefferson among the arts. (My '48)
Boorstin, D. J. Lost world of Thomas Jefferson. (N '48)
Kingdon, F. Architects of the Republic. (Ap '48)
Lehmann-Hartleben, K. Thomas Jefferson. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Malone, D. Jefferson and his time; v 1, Jefferson the Virginian. (My '48)
Drama
Green, P. Common glory. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Jefferson and his time; v 1, Jefferson the Virginian. Malone, D. (My '48)
Jefferson's daughter. Criss, M. (Ag '48)
Jenny's first party. Averill, E. (My '48)
Jerseyman's journal. Edge, W. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Jessica, my daughter. Ibn-Sahav, A. (D '48)
Jesus Christ
Danniel, B. Jesus, Jews and gentiles. (My '48)
Hamilton, E. Witness to the truth. (Je '48)
Lawton, J. S. Conflict in Christology. (My '48)
Schweitzer, A. Psychiatric study of Jesus. (S '48)
Art
Bailey, A. E. Christ and his gospel in recent art. (Je '48)
Bible. New Testament. Selections. Scenes from the life of Jesus in woodcut. (Mr '48)
Birth
Luther, M. Christmas book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Trent, R. First Christmas. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Crucifixion
Wall, E. A. Sovereign emblem. (Je '48)
Fiction
Blythe, L. Bold Galilean. (N '48)
Juvenile literature
Jones, M. A. Jesus and his friends. (Ap '48)
Langford, N. F. King nobody wanted. (Je '48)
Person and offices
Baillie, D. M. God was in Christ. (D '48)
Baker, G. P. Witness of the prophets. (O '48)
Graham, A. Christ of Catholicism. (My '48)
Poetry
Mims, E. Christ of the poets. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Royal office
Visser 't Hooft, W. A. Kingship of Christ. (N '48)
Teachings
Bowman, J. W. Religion of maturity. (S '48)
Jesus and his friends. Jones, M. A. (Ap '48)
Jesus, Jews and gentiles. Danniel, B. (My '48)
Jet propulsion
Neville, L. E., and Silsbee, N. F. Jet propulsion progress. (S '48)
Zucrow, M. J. Principles of jet propulsion and gas turbines. (S '48)
Jet propulsion progress. Neville, L. E., and Silsbee, N. F. (S '48)
Jew of Tarsus. Schonfield, H. J. (My '48)
Jewelry
Wiener, L. Hand made jewelry. (Je '48)
Jewish community life in America. Edidin, B. M.
Jewish literature
Collections
Ausubel, N., ed. Treasury of Jewish folklore. (S '48)
Jewish people: past and present. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Jews
Eckardt, A. R. Christianity and the children of Israel. (My '48)
Goldin, H. E. Case of the Nazarene reopened. (N '48)
Jewish people: past and present. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sartre, J. P. Anti-Semite and Jew. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Civilization
Kaplan, M. M. Future of the American Jew. (My '48)
History
Baer, Y. F. Galut. (Mr '48)
Sachar, A. L. History of the Jews. (O '48)
Persecutions
Waren, H. Buried are screaming. (My '48)
Political and social conditions
Baer, Y. F. Galut. (Mr '48)
McWilliams, C. Mask for privilege. (My '48)

Sartre, J. P. Anti-Semite and Jew. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Religion

Danniel, B. Jesus, Jews and gentiles. (My '48)
Glatzer, N. N., ed. Language of faith. (Mr '48)
Kaplan, M. M. Future of the American Jew. (My '48)
Matthews, I. G. Religious pilgrimage of Israel. (Ap '48)
Waxman, M. Handbook of Judaism. (O '48)

Jews in literature
Lewisohn, L., ed. Among the nations. (My '48)

Jews in Palestine
Stone, I. F. This is Israel. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Jews in Poland
Pat, J. Ashes and fire. (Ag '48)

Jews in Rome
Gregorovius, F. A. Ghetto and the Jews of Rome. (O '48)

Jews in the United States
Edidin, B. M. Jewish community life in America. (N '48)
Goodman, A. V. American overture. (Ap '48)
Kaplan, M. M. Future of the American Jew. (My '48)
McWilliams, C. Mask for privilege. (My '48)

Jews in Yemen
Goitein, S. D. F., ed. From the land of Sheba. (Mr '48)
Jibby the cat. Salten, F. (S '48)
Joan, free lance writer. Colver, A. M. R. (Je '48)

Joan of Arc, Saint. See Jeanne d'Arc, Saint

Job analysis
Jones, P. W. Practical job evaluation. (Ag '48)
Job for every woman. Neuschutz, L. M. (D '48)
Job of living. White, W. E. (O '48)
Joe Magarac and his U.S.A. citizen papers. Shapiro, I. (N '48)
John Company at work. Furber, H. (N '48)
John Goffe's mill. Woodbury, G. (O '48)
Johnny Blossom. Zwilgmeyer, D. (D '48)
Johnny Christmas. Blake, F. (Ap '48)
Johnny Groundhog's shadow. Payne, E. (Je '48)
Johnny Maple-Leaf. Tresselt, A. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Johns Hopkins university
Bernheim, B. M. Story of the Johns Hopkins. (D '48)

Johnson, Walter Perry

Juvenile literature

Treat, R. L. Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers. (My '48)

Johnston family
White, W. L. Lost boundaries. (My '48)
Jonathan and the rainbow. Blanck, J. (D '48)

Jones, Anson
Gambrell, H. P. Anson Jones. (Ap '48)

Jonson, Ben
Baum, H. W. Satiric and the didactic in Ben Jonson's comedy. (Ap '48)
Journal. Delacroix, E. (Ag '48)
Journal. Hughes, T. (Je '48)
Journal of a visit to London and the Continent. Melville, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Journalism
Lent, H. B. I work on a newspaper. (Ag '48)

Journalists

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Brown, W. Win, lose or draw. (Ap '48)
Gayn, M. J. Japan diary. (D '48)
O'Brien, H. V. All things considered. (Je '48)
Rose, B. Wine, women and words. (D '48)
Journals, v 1. Gide, A. P. G. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Journals, v2. Gide, A. P. G. (Ag '48)
Journey into faith. Ruggles, E. (Ag '48)
Journey toward the sunlight. Walker, S. (My '48)
Journeying through Mexico. Helm, M. (My '48)

Joyce, James
Givens, S., ed. James Joyce. (O '48)
Juanita. Politi, L. (My '48)

Juárez, Benito Pablo
Roeder, R. Juarez and his Mexico. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Juarez and his Mexico. Roeder, R. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Judaism and Christianity. Parkes, J. W. (N '48)

Judas Maccabeus

Fiction

Fast, H. M. My glorious brothers. (N '48)
Judicial doctrines of religious rights in America. Torpey, W. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Judith, princess of France

Fiction

Leighton, M. C. Judith of France. (Ap '48)
Judith of France. Leighton, M. C. ((Ap '48)
Juggernaut. Roe, W. (N '48)
Jungle man. Pretorius, P. J. (O '48)

Junior high schools
Noar, G. Freedom to live and learn. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Junior party book. Carlson, B. W. (D '48)

Jurieu, Pierre
Dodge, G. H. Political theory of the Huguenots of the dispersion. (My '48)

Jurisprudence
Schoch, M., ed. & tr. Jurisprudence of interests. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Jurisprudence of interests. Schoch, M., ed. & tr. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Just and durable parents. Ellenwood, J. L. (O '48)
Just around the coroner. Brock, S. (Ag '48)

Justice
Schenk, W. Concern for social justice in the Puritan revolution. (D '48)

Juvenile delinquency
Banay, R. S. Youth in despair. (Ag '48)
Ellingston, J. R. Protecting our children from criminal careers. (O '48)
Goldberg, H. L. Child offenders. (Ag '48)
Howard league for penal reform. International committee. Lawless youth. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Merrill, M. A. Problems of child delinquency. (Ap '48)
Swartsfager, V. Bell ringers. (N '48)

Kafka, Franz
Kafka, F. Diaries, 1910-1913. (Je '48)
Neider, C. Frozen sea. (My '48)
Tauber, H. Franz Kafka. (N '48)

Kansas City

History

Garwood, D. Crossroads of America. (N '48)

Politics and government

Milligan, M. M. Inside story of the Pendergast machine. (My '48)

Kant, Immanuel
Friedrich, C. J. Inevitable peace. (My '48)
Karl Marx's interpretation of history [2d ed rev]. Bober, M. M. (D '48)
Katherine and the dark angel. Reisner, M. (D '48)
Ke Sooni. Fairfax, V., and Buie, H. (Je '48)

Keats, John
Rollins, H. E., ed. Keats circle. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Keats circle. Rollins, H. E., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Kelly, Howard Atwood
Bernheim, B. M. Story of the Johns Hopkins. (D '48)

Kemble, Frances Anne

Fiction

Henkle, H. Fire in the heart. (D '48)
Kennel, show and field. Larson, M. (D '48)

Keynes of Tilton, John Maynard Keynes, 1st baron
Klein, L. R. Keynesian revolution. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Keynesian revolution. Klein, L. R. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Keys to the keyboard. Foldes, A. (Je '48)
The Kid. Aiken, C. P. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Kievan Russia. Vernadsky, G. (Ag '48)
Killer is loose among us. Terrall, R. (D '48)
Kinematics of machines. Sahag, L. M. (S '48)
King and the corpse. Murray, M. (S '48)
King and the corpse. Zimmer, H. R. (S '48)
King and the queen. Sender, R. J. (Ag '48)
King nobody wanted. Langford, N. F. (Je '48)
King of the wind. Henry, M. (D '48)

Kings and rulers
  Frankfort, H. Kingship and the gods. (Ag '48)

Kings and rulers, Primitive
  Kuper, H. African aristocracy. (Je '48)

King's man. Edmondston, C. M., and Hyde, M. L. F. (My '48)
Kingship and the gods. Frankfort, H. (Ag '48)
Kingship of Christ. Visser 't Hooft, W. A. (N '48)

Kinsey, Alfred Charles

Sexual behavior in the human male
  Deutsch, A., ed. Sex habits of American men. (Ag '48)
  Ernst, M. L., and Loth, D. G. American sexual behavior and the Kinsey report. (Ag '48)

Kiss tomorrow good-bye. McCoy, H. (Je '48)
Kiss your elbow. Handley, A. (O '48)
Kissing kin. Beebe, E. T. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Klystron and microwave triodes. Hamilton, D. R., and others. (S '48)
Knife and fork in New York. Mackall, L. (O '48)

Knitting
  Mathieson, E. L. Baby book of knitting and crochet. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Stevenson, I., ed. Greystone book of gifts you can make yourself. (S '48)

Knives
  Thorp, R. W. Bowie knife. (D '48)

Knots and splices
  Day, C. L. Art of knotting and splicing. (Ap '48)
  Graumont, R., and Wenstrom, E. W. Fisherman's knots and nets. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Know your real abilities. Broadley, C. V. and M. E. (S '48)

Knowledge, Theory of
  Russell, B. A. W. R. Human knowledge. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Werkmeister, W. H. Basis and structure of knowledge. (D '48)

Kongo, Belgian
  Marvel, T. New Congo. (S '48)

Korea
  Keith, E., and Robertson-Scott, E. K. Old Korea. (Ag '48)

Koriakov, Mikhail
  Koriakov, M. I'll never go back. (Ag '48)

Kuniyoshi, Yasuo
  Goodrich, L. Yasuo Kuniyoshi. (O '48)

Labor and laboring classes
  Baerwald, F. Fundamentals of labor economics. (S '48)
  Heron, A. R. Why men work. (S '48)

Asia, Southeast
  Thompson, V. M. Labor problems in southeast Asia. (Ag '48)

United States
  Lester, R. A., and Shister, J., eds. Insights into labor issues. (O '48)
  Mills, C. W., and Schneider, H. New men of power. (N '48)
  Pope, L., ed. Labor's relation to church and community. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Roe, W. Juggernaut. (N '48)

Labor force in the United States, 1890-1960. Durand, J. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Labor laws and legislation

United States
  Hartley, F. A. Our new national labor policy. (N '48)
  Killingsworth, C. C. State labor relations acts. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Labor leader. Ginzberg, E., and Carwell, J. (My '48)
Labor-management cooperation and how to achieve it. Lever, E. J., and Goodell, F. (Ag '48)

Labor officials
  Mills, C. W., and Schneider, H. New men of power. (N '48)

Labor problems in southeast Asia. Thompson, V. M. (Ag '48)
Labor relation to church and community. Pope, L., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Labor relations and human relations. Selekman, B. M. (O '48)

Labor supply

United States
  Durand, J. D. Labor force in the United States, 1890-1960. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Labor unions in action. Barbash, J. (Je '48)
Lace curtain. Berlin, E. M. (Ag '48)
Lady afraid. Dent, L. (My '48)
Lady Godiva and Master Tom. Faure, R. C. (Mr '48)
A lady possessed. Eng title: Del Palma. Kellino, P. (Ap '48)
Lady without mercy. McDougald, R. (Je '48)

La Follette, Robert Marion, 1855-1925
  Doan, E. N. La Follettes and the Wisconsin idea. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

La Follette, Robert Marion, 1895-
  Doan, E. N. La Follettes and the Wisconsin idea. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

La Follettes and the Wisconsin idea. Doan, E. N. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

La Guardia, Fiorello Henry
  La Guardia, F. H. Making of an insurgent. (Ag '48)

La Jolla, California
  Miller, M. Town with the funny name. (O '48)

Lake Okeechobee. Hanna, A. J. and K. A. (Ap '48)

Lakes
  Lane, F. C. World's great lakes. (Mr '48)

Lambarene, Gabon
  Joy, C. R., and Arnold, M. Africa of Albert Schweitzer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Lambeth and unity. Haselmayer, L. A. (S '48)

Lambeth conferences
  Haselmayer, L. A. Lambeth and unity. (S '48)

Land
  Renne, R. R. Land economics. (Ag '48)
  Salter, L. A. Critical review of research in land economics. (N '48)

Land and poverty in the Middle East. Warriner, D. (O '48)
Land economics. Renne, R. R. (Ag '48)
Land in California. Robinson, W. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Land of shorter shadows. Gardner, E. S. (Je '48)
Land of the crooked tree. Hedrick, U. P. (N '48)

Land tenure
  Ackerman, J., and Harris, M. D. Family farm policy. (S '48)
  Griswold, A. W. Farming and democracy. (Ag '48)

California
  Robinson, W. W. Land in California. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

East (Near East)
  Warriner, D. Land and poverty in the Middle East. (O '48)

Land utilization
  Salter, L. A. Critical review of research in land economics. (N '48)

Lands of the dawning morrow. Beals, C. (Ag '48)
Lands of the inner sea. Roberts, W. A. (Mr '48)

Landscape painting
  Born, W. American landscape painting. (D '48)

Lang, Lucy (Fox) Robins
  Lang, L. F. R. Tomorrow is beautiful. (D '48)

Language and area studies in the armed services. Matthew, R. J. (Ap '48)

Language and languages
  Lewis, M. M. Language in society. (S '48)
  Wilson, R. A. Miraculous birth of language. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Language in society. Lewis, M. M. (S '48)
Language of faith. Glatzer, N. N., ed. (Mr '48)
Language of World war II [rev & enl ed]. Taylor, A. M., comp. (N '48)
Language through pictures. Pfeiffer, G. and L., comps. (D '48)
Languages, Modern
  Study and teaching
  Matthew, R. J. Language and area studies in the armed services. (Ap '48)
Lani. Widdemer, M. (Je '48)
Largely fiction. Palffy, E. (D '48)
Larks in the popcorn. Smith, H. A. (D '48)
Last billionaire, Henry Ford. Richards, W. C. (Ap '48)
Last call for Lissa. Mayor, D. (S '48)
Last chance. Urquhart, C., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Last days of Europe. Gafencu, G. (Je '48)
Last defense. Heinz, H. J., and Iorgy, J. (My '48)
Last freshet. Field, B. (S '48)
Last lath. Dunn, A. (Mr '48)
Last of the conquerors. Smith, W. G. (O '48)
Last profession. Bost, J. L. (S '48)
Last year's blood. Branson, H. C. (Mr '48)
Late have I loved thee. Mannin, E. E. (N '48)
Late unlamented. Walling, R. A. J. (O '48)
Latex
  Barron, H. Modern rubber chemistry [2d ed]. (S '48)
Lathrop, Mrs Rose (Hawthorne) (Mother Alphonsa)
  Maynard, T. Fire was lighted. (Je '48)
Latin America
  Beals, C. Lands of the dawning morrow. (Ag '48)
  Description and travel
  Goetz, D. Other young Americans. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Lothrop, E. B. Throw me a bone. (My '48)
  Price, W. D. Roving south. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Stuntz, A. E. To make the people strong. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Foreign relations
  United States
  Whitaker, A. P. United States and South America. (Je '48)
  History
  Bannon, J. F., and Dunne, P. M. Latin America. (Ap '48)
  Madariaga, S. de. Fall of the Spanish American empire. (D '48)
  Madariaga, S. de. Rise of the Spanish American empire. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Plenn, A. Southern Americas. (My '48)
  Trend, J. B. Bolivar and the independence of Spanish America. (D '48)
  Relations (general) with the United States
  Stuntz, A. E. To make the people strong. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Latin America. Bannon, J. F., and Dunne, P. M. (Ap '48)
Latin America. Josephs, R. (O '48)
Laughing with Congress. Wiley, A. (Mr '48)
Laughter from downstairs. Ormonde, C. (N '48)
Laughter in the next room. Sitwell, O. (N '48)
Laval, Pierre
  Laval, P. Diary. (N '48)
Lavallière, Ève
  Murphy, E. F. Mademoiselle Lavallière. (S '48)
Law, William
  Law, W. Serious call to a devout and holy life. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Law
  Cardozo, B. N. Selected writings. (Mr '48)
  History and criticism
  Seagle, W. Men of law. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Reports and digests
  Post, C. G., and others, eds. Basic constitutional cases. (D '48)
  Study and teaching
  Brown, E. L. Lawyers, law schools and the public service. (S '48)
  Sayre, P. L. Life of Roscoe Pound. (D '48)
  Russia
  Vyshinskiĭ, A. I., ed. Law of the Soviet state. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Law of the land. Allis, M. (Je '48)
Law of the Soviet state. Vyshinskiĭ, A. I., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Lawd sayin' the same. Ballowe, H. L. (Mr '48)
Lawless youth. Howard league for penal reform. International committee. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Lawrence, David Herbert
  Bibliography
  Tedlock, E. W. Frieda Lawrence collection of D. H. Lawrence manuscripts. (Ag '48)
Lawyers
  Brown, E. L. Lawyers, law schools and the public service. (S '48)
  Seagle, W. Men of law. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Ernst, M. L. So far so good. (N '48)
  Farber, M. Blackstone and White rock. (O '48)
  Hine, R. L. Confessions of an un-common attorney. (Ap '48)
Lawyers, law schools and the public service. Brown, E. L. (S '48)
Lazy beaver. Bowen, V. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Leadership
  Bluemel, C. S. War, politics, and insanity. (S '48)
  Lasswell, H. D. Power and personality. (O '48)
Leaf against the sky. Ader, P. F. (Ap '48)
Leaf, fruit and flower. McClintock, M. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Leaf shall be green. Chamberlain, M. (My '48)
League of nations
  Murray, G. From the League to U.N. (N '48)
Learning and scholarship
  Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Learning and world peace. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Duggan, S. P. H., and Drury, B. Rescue of science and learning. (N '48)
  Zeeveld, W. G. Foundations of Tudor policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Learning and world peace. Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Leather industry and trade
  Brown, L. C. Union policies in the leather industry. (Ap '48)
Leave my old morale alone. Herbert, A. P. (Mr '48)
Le Corbusier, architect, painter, writer. Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. (Ag '48)
Lectures and lecturing
  Kimbrough, E. It gives me great pleasure. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Legacy of Italy. Prezzolini, G. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Legacy of Sacco and Vanzetti. Joughin, G. L. and Morgan, E. M. (N '48)
Legend of Henry Ford. Sward, K. T. (Ag '48)
Legend of the master: Henry James. Nowell-Smith, S., comp. (Je '48)
Legends
  Zimmer, H. R. King and the corpse. (S '48)
  Canada
  Hooke, H. M. Thunder in the mountains. (My '48)
Legends, Jewish
  Goitein, S. D. F., ed. From the land of Sheba. (Mr '48)
Legion tourney. McCormick, W. (O '48)
Legislative history of excess profits tax laws, 1946-1917. Seidman, J. S. (Ag '48)

Lehmann, Lotte
  - Lehmann, L. My many lives. (Ag '48)

Lenin, Nikolai
  - Shub, D. Lenin. (Je '48)
  - Wolfe, B. D. Three who made a revolution. (N '48)

- Leo, the little St Bernard. L'Hommedieu, D. K. (O '48)

Leopards
  - Corbett, J. E. Man-eating leopard of Rudraprayag. (Je '48)

- Lesser crossroads. Mellick, A. D. (N '48)
- Lessons in loveliness. Scott, J. U. (Ap '48)
- Let's learn the flowers. McClintock, M. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Let's look inside your house. Schneider, H. and N. (N '48)
- Let's make a lot of things. Zarchy, H. (Je '48)
- Let's make a puppet! Farnam, H., and Wheeler, B. (Ag '48)
- Let's talk about your baby [3d ed]. Tenney, H. K. (My '48)
- Let's visit Canada. Steel, B. (S '48)
- Let's whittle. Pynn, L. (N '48)

Letter writing
  - Watson, L. E. Standard book of letter writing. (O '48)

Lettering
  - Owen, R. E. Practical sign painting. (S '48)

- Letters. Degas, H. G. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Letters. Gill, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Letters. Poe, E. A. (D '48)
- Letters and selected writings. Olivier, S. H. O. (Ag '48)
- Letters, 1910-1926. Rilke, R. M. (Ap '48)
- Letters of Pope Celestine VI to all mankind. Papini, G. (Mr '48)
- Letters of the scattered brotherhood. Strong, M. H. W. ed. (Ag '48)
- Letters of William Allen White and a young man. White, W. A., and Wilson, G. B. (Ap '48)

Levant

Politics

  - Steiner, M. J. Inside Pan-Arabia. (Ag '48)

- Liberal presidents. Long, J. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Liberal spirit. Kallen, H. M. (N '48)

Liberalism
  - Long, J. C. Liberal presidents. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  - Watkins, F. M. Political tradition of the West. (D '48)

- Liberal's progress. Johnson, G. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Liberia
  - Wilson, C. M. Liberia. (Mr '48)

Social life and customs

  - Warner, E. S. New song in a strange land. (Ag '48)

Liberty
  - Acton, J. E. E. D.-A. Essays on freedom and power. (N. '48)
  - Andrews, B. Washington witch hunt. (S '48)
  - Commission on freedom of the press. Government and mass communications. (Mr '48)
  - Heimann, E. Freedom and order. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  - Kallen, H. M. Liberal spirit. (N '48)
  - Pauli, H. E., and Basch, E. I lift my lamp. (Je '48)
  - Rosenfarb, J. Freedom and the administrative state. (S '48)
  - Scherer, P. E. Plight of freedom. (N '48)

Liberty of speech
  - Meiklejohn, A. Free speech and its relation to self-government. (N '48)

Liberty of the press
  - Commission on freedom of the press. Government and mass communications. (Mr '48)

- Librarian and the teacher in general education. Johnson, B. L., and Lindstrom, E., eds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Libraries

Instruction in use

  - Johnson, B. L., and Lindstrom, E., eds. Librarian and the teacher in general education. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Great Britain

  - Predeek, A. History of libraries in Great Britain and North America. (My '48)

United States

  - American library association. Committee on post-war planning. National plan for public library service. (N '48)
  - Predeek, A. History of libraries in Great Britain and North America. (My '48)

Libraries and schools
  - Johnson, B. L., and Lindstrom, E., eds. Librarian and the teacher in general education. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

- Library broadcasts. Nunmaker, F. G. (N '48)

Library science
  - American library association. Committee on post-war planning. National plan for public library service. (N '48)
  - Davis, W. L. School library routines visualized. (O '48)
  - Martin, D., ed. Catholic library practice. (Ap '48)

Lieber, Francis
  - Freidel, F. Francis Lieber. (Ag '48)

Life
  - Alexander, J. Life, its nature and origin. (Ag '48)
  - Cameron, D. E. Life is for living. (O '48)
  - Morris, C. W. Open self. (D '48)
  - Singer, E. A. In search of a way of life. (N '48)

- Life and morals. Holmes, S. J. (My '48)
- Life and times of Prosper Mérimée. Lyon, S. (O '48)
- Life and times of Tycho Brahe. Gade, J. A. (Ap '48)
- Life is for living. Cameron, D. E. (O '48)
- Life, its nature and origin. Alexander, J. (Ag '48)
- Life of Roscoe Pound. Sayre, P. L. (D '48)
- Life of science. Sarton, G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Life of Sile Doty. Doty, S. (O '48)
- Life story. Bentley, P. E. (O '48)
- Life with family. Grossman, J. S. (N '48)
- Light and the dark. Snow, C. P. (Ap '48)
- Light in the sky. Young, A. B. (S '48)
- Light in the window. Rinehart, M. R. (Mr '48)

Lighting
  - Moon, P., and Spencer, D. E. Lighting design. (O '48)

- Lighting design. Moon, P., and Spencer, D. E. (O '48)
- Like father, like fun. Hall, A. (My '48)

Lilienthal, David Eli
  - Whitman, W. David Lilienthal. (Mr '48)

- Lily Henry. Cooper, M. K. (My '48)
- Limits of art. Cairns, H., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Lincoln, Abraham
  - Donald, D. H. Lincoln's Herndon. (O '48)
  - Hesseltine, W. B. Lincoln and the war governors. (Ag '48)
  - Jones, E. D. Lincoln and the preachers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  - Kingdon, F. Architects of the Republic. (Ap '48)
  - Lincoln, A. Autobiography. (Ap '48)
  - Lincoln, A. Papers. (D '48)

- Lincoln and the preachers. Jones, E. D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Lincoln and the war governors. Hesseltine, W. B. (Ag '48)
- Lincoln's Herndon. Donald, D. H. (O '48)
- Linden tree, and An inspector calls. Priestley, J. B. (N '48)
- Links in the chain. Street, C. J. C. (S '48)
- Lion and the rose. Sarton, M. (Je '48)

Lions

Legends and stories

  - Martin, D. L. Munya, the lion. (My '48)

- List of theological subject headings and corporate church names. Pettee, J. E., comp. (Ap '48)
- Listening with the third ear. Reik, T. (O '48)

Literary criticism
  - Grabo, C. H. Creative critic. (S '48)
  - Hyman, S. E. Armed vision. (Ag '48)
  - Schorer, M., and others, eds. Criticism. (Ag '48)
  - Scrutiny (periodical). Importance of Scrutiny. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  - Thompson, F. Literary criticisms. (Ag '48)

- Literary history of England. Baugh, A. C., ed. (Je '48)

Literary history of the United States. Spiller, R. E., and others, eds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Literature
Daiches, D. Study of literature, for readers and critics. (N '48)
Collections
Biancolli, L. L., ed. Book of great conversations. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Cairns, H., ed. Limits of art. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hodapp, W. C., ed. Pleasures of the jazz age. (O '48)
McClintock, M., ed. Nobel prize treasury. (Ag '48)
Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
Benét, W. R., ed. Reader's encyclopedia. (D '48)
History and criticism
Cairns, H., ed. Limits of art. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Scrutiny (periodical). Importance of Scrutiny. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Warren, A. Rage for order. (Ag '48)
Literature and history
Neff, E. E. Poetry of history. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Literature and morals
Baum, H. W. Satiric and the didactic in Ben Jonson's comedy. (Ap '48)
Literature of the piano. Hutcheson, E. (O '48)
Lithographs
Barker, M. J. Southeast of Noman's. (N '48)
Little Annie Oakley. Holbrook, S. H. (D '48)
Little boy blues. Willis, G. W. (Je '48)
Little democracy is a dangerous thing. Ferguson, C. W. (D '48)
Little duchess, Anne of Brittany. Brock, E. L. (O '48)
Little Dusty Foot. Magoon, M. A. W. (O '48)
Little farmer. Brown, M. W. (Je '48)
Little girl from the city. Voronkova, L. (O '48)
Little heroes of Hartford. Cross, G. (Ag '48)
Little less. Baster, A. S. J. (Ag '48)
Little old automobile. Ets, M. H. (N '48)
Little red engine goes to market. Denney, D. (Ap '48)
A little tea, a little chat. Stead, C. (O '48)
Little treasury of American poetry. Williams, O., ed. (S '48)
Little world, hello! Savo, J. (Mr '48)
Lives of the liners. Braynard, F. O. (Ap '48)
Living is easy. West, D. (Ag '48)
Lobbying
Key, V. O. Politics, parties, and pressure groups [2d ed]. (Ag '48)
Local government
Great Britain
Smellie, K. B. History of local government. (D '48)
Location of economic activity. Hoover, E. M. (D '48)
Lock and the key. Gruber, F. (D '48)
Locomotives
Kiefer, P. W. Practical evaluation of railroad motive power. (S '48)
Locusts have no king. Powell, D. (Je '48)
Log cabins
Swanson, W. E. Log cabins. (Ag '48)
Logic
Northrop, F. S. C. Logic of the sciences and the humanities. (Mr '48)
Searles, H. L. Logic and scientific methods. (D '48)
Williams, D. C. Ground of induction. (My '48)
Logic, Symbolic and mathematical
Lieber, L. R. Mits, Wits and logic. (Ap '48)
Logic and scientific methods. Searles, H. L. (D '48)
Logic of the sciences and the humanities. Northrop, F. S. C. (Mr '48)
Logistics
Daniel, H. For want of a nail. (O '48)
Lona Hanson. Savage, T. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Lonely passage. Erdman, L. G. (D '48)
Long after summer. Nathan, R. (N '48)
Long arm of the Mounted. Mowery, W. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Long escape. Dodge, D. (S '48)
Long Fourth. Taylor, P. H. (My '48)
Long habit. Feibleman, J. K. (D '48)
Long holiday. Ambrière, F. (Ap '48)
Long home. Boardman, N. S. (My '48))
Long Island triptych. Hubbell, L. W. (Ap '48)
Long portage. Best, H. (D '48)
Long walk. Barton, B. A. (Je '48)
Long windows. Corbett, L. and S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Look at America: New York city. Look (periodical). (S '48)
Look at America: the central northeast. Look (periodical). (Ag '48)
Look at America: the far West. Look (periodical). (Je '48)
Look, listen and learn. Strauss, L. H., and Kidd, J. R. (Je '48)
Looking at paintings. Rothenstein, M. (Mr '48)
Loran
Pierce, J. A., and others, eds. Loran, long range navigation. (S '48)
Lord love us. Stratton, A. M. P. (D '48)
Lord, teach us to pray. Claudel, P. (D '48)
Lord's prayer
Juvenile literature
Taylor, F. M. T. Thine is the glory. (D '48)
Lorimer, George Horace
Tebbel, J. W. George Horace Lorimer and The Saturday evening post. (Je '48)
Los Angeles
Juvenile literature
Alderman, F. L., and Wilson, A. M. About Los Angeles. (S '48)
Los Angeles Star
Rice, W. B. Los Angeles Star. (Ap '48)
Losses. Jarrell, R. (Je '48)
Lost art of profanity. Johnson, B. (N '48)
Lost boundaries. White, W. L. (My '48)
Lost captain. Ashton, H. (My '48)
Lost cavern. Heard, G. (Ap '48)
Lost city of the Incas. Bingham, H. (D '48)
Lost illusion. Utley, F. (Je '48)
Lost Karin. Dunlop, A. M. R. (O '48)
Lost son. Roethke, T. (Ag '48)
Lost world of Thomas Jefferson. Boorstin, D. J. (N '48)
Louisiana
Historic houses, etc.
Laughlin, C. J. Ghosts along the Mississippi. (My '48)
Love
Magoun, F. A. and R. M. Love and marriage. (D '48)
Love among the ruins. Thirkell, A. M. (N '48)
Love and marriage. Magoun, F. A. and R. M. (D '48)
Love and war in the Middle English romances. Gist, M. A. (S '48)
Love in dishevelment. Greenhood, D. (O '48)
Love lies bleeding. Montgomery, R. B. (Ag '48)
Loved one. Waugh, E. (Ag '48)
Lovett, Robert Morss
Lovett, R. M. All our years. (Ag '48)
Lowell, Abbott Lawrence
Yeomans, H. A. Abbott Lawrence Lowell. (Ag '48)
Lower part of the sky. Kaufman, L. (My '48)
Lucinda Brayford. Boyd, M. (Ap '48)
Luke Baldwin's vow. Callaghan, M. (D '48)
Lulu's play school. Steiner, C. (D '48)
Luminescence
Fonda, G. R., and Seitz, F., eds. Preparation and characteristics of solid luminescent materials. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Lungfish, the dodo, and the unicorn [new ed rev & enl]. Ley, W. (D '48)
Lush valley. Campbell, P. (N '48)
Luther, Martin
Nettl, P. Luther and music. (O '48)
Luther and music. Nettl, P. (O '48)

MacArthur, Douglas
Brines, R. MacArthur's Japan. (N '48)
MacArthur's Japan. Brines, R. (N '48)
Maccabees
Bickerman, E. Maccabees. (Ap '48)

McCormick, Cyrus Hall
Juvenile literature
Judson, C. I. Reaper man. (O '48)
McGuffey, William Holmes
Mosier, R. D. Making the American mind. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Machine design. Black, P. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Machine shop practice
Colvin, F. H. Starting a small machine shop. (Ag '48)
Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. Running a machine shop [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hobbs, D. B. Working with aluminum. (Ap '48)
Machine woodworking [rev ed]. Smith, R. E. (O '48)
Machinery
Design
Black, P. H. Machine design. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Machinery in industry
Giedion, S. Mechanization takes command. (Je '48)
Machines for the farm, ranch and plantation. Turner, A. W., and Johnson, E. J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Machu Picchu, Peru
Bingham, H. Lost city of the Incas. (D '48)
Macmillan, Donald Baxter
MacMillan, M. L. Green seas and white ice. (N '48)
Madame Elisabeth of France. La Vergne, Y., de. (S '48)
Made in America. Kouwenhoven, J. A. (D '48)
Mademoiselle Lavellière. Murphy, E. F. (S '48)
Madison, James
Brant, I. James Madison [v2] The nationalist. (Ap '48)
Maelstrom. Hunt, H. (O '48)
Magic
Butler, E. M. Myth of the Magus. (O '48)
Seligmann, K. L. Mirror of magic. (Je '48)
Magic as a hobby. Elliott, B. (S '48)
Magic forest. Ross, P. F. (D '48)
Magic land: Mexico. Hancock, R. (O '48)
Magic of believing. Bristol, C. M. (S '48)
Magic penny. Hughes, B. P. (My '48)
Magic, science and religion. Malinowski, B. (O '48)
Magic shadows. Quigley, M. (O '48)
Magna carta
Thompson, F. Magna carta. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Magnetic control of industrial motors. Heumann, G. W. (My '48)
Magnetism
Loeb, L. B. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism [3d ed]. (Ap '48)
Mahan, Alfred Thayer
West, R. S. Admirals of American empire. (Je '48)
Maimon, Solomon
Maimon, S. Autobiography. (Mr '48)
Main issues confronting Christendom. Bosley, H. A. (N '48)
Main line. King, E. L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Maine
Description and travel
Averill, G. Ridge runner. (Ap '48)
Social life and customs
Beston, H. Northern farm. (D '48)
Maize. See Corn (maize)
Make my bed soon. Tillett, D. S. (Mr '48)
Makers of mathematics. Hooper, A. (O '48)
Making friends with birds. Park, A. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Making of an insurgent. La Guardia, F. H. (Ag '48)
Making of fine glass. Waugh, S. (Je '48)
Making of the Union of South Africa. Geen, M. S. (S '48)
Making the American mind. Mosier, R. D. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Malabar Farm. Bromfield, L. (Je '48)
Man
Baker, H. C. Dignity of man. (N '48)
Buber, M. Between man and man. (D '48)
Maritain, J. Person and the common good. (My '48)
Ramuz, C. F. What is man. (D '48)
Influence of environment
Petersen, W. F. Man, weather, sun. (S '48)
Vogt, W. Road to survival. (S '48)
Migrations
Isaac, J. Economics of migration. (Ag '48)
Origin
Gates, R. R. Human ancestry from a genetical point of view. (Je '48)
Man, Prehistoric
Juvenile literature
Mansfield, J. C. Dawn of creation. (Ap '48)
Man. Cosgrave, J. O. (Ap '48)
Man and his works. Herskovits, M. J. (O '48)
Man and metaphysics. Adams, G. P. (D '48)
Man and the state. Ebenstein, W., ed. (Mr '48)
Man called White. White, W. F. (N '48)
Man-eating leopard of Rudraprayag. Corbett, J. E. (Je '48)
Man for himself. Fromm, E. (Ap '48)
Man in midpassage. MacLeod, N. (S '48)
Man in the street. Bailey, T. A. (Je '48)
Man is strong. Alvaro, C. (O '48)
Man of means. Nels, J. (S '48)
Man running. Eng title of: Outrun the constable. Jepson, S. (Mr '48)
Man, weather, sun. Petersen, W. F. (S '48)
Man who invented sin. O'Faoláin, S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Man with my face. Taylor, S. W. (N '48)
Management
Barnard, C. I. Organization and management. (S '48)
Shuman, R. B. Management of men. (S '48)
Management of men. Shuman, R. B. (S '48)
Management-union arbitration. Copelof, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Managerial control of business. Trundle, G. T., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Managerial enterprise. Knauth, O. W. (S '48)
Manchester, fourteen miles. Penn, M. (Je '48)
Manchurian crisis, 1931-32. Smith, S. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Manchurian question
Smith, S. R. Manchurian crisis, 1931-32. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mann, Thomas
Neider, C., ed. Stature of Thomas Mann. (My '48)
Mann, William M.
Mann, W. M. Ant hill odyssey. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mannerhouse, a play. Wolfe, T. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Man's last choice. Friedwald, E. M. (Mr '48)
Manservant and maidservant. Eng title of: Bullivant and the Lambs. Compton-Burnett, I. (Ag '48)
Manuel goes to sea. Fuller, H. K. (My '48)
Manufactures
Costs
Neff, P., and others. Production cost trends in selected industrial areas. (O '48)
Schutt, W. H. Process engineering. (D '48)
Many a monster. Ryan, P. W. (My '48)
Map of mistrust. MacKinnon, A. (Ag '48)
Maranos
Roth, C. House of Nasi: Doña Gracia. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
March of Muscovy. Lamb, H. (Ap '48)
Marching bonnet. Valley, A. E. (Je '48)
Mardi gras. Tallant, R. (Ap '48)
Mardi gras day. Wickiser, R. L. (My '48)
Margaret of Cortona, Saint
Mauriac, F. Saint Margaret of Cortona. (O '48)
Maria: the potter of San Ildefonso. Marriott, A. L. (S '48)
Marie Berchmans, Mother
Merton, T. Exile ends in glory. (N '48)
Marin, John
Helm, M. John Marin. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Marines' war. Pratt, F. (Mr '48)
Marionettes
Farnam, H., and Wheeler, B. Let's make a puppet! (Ag '48)

- Maritime history of Maine. Rowe, W. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Mark Twain and Hawaii. Frear, W. F. (Ap '48)
- Mark Twain at your fingertips. Clemens, S. L. (My '48)
- Market and marketing analysis. Heidingsfield, M. S., and Blankenship, A. B. (Ag '48)
- Market surveys
  - Heidingsfield, M. S., and Blankenship, A. B. Market and marketing analysis. (Ag '48)
- Marketing
  - Heidingsfield, M. S., and Blankenship, A. B. Market and marketing analysis. (Ag '48)
  - Mund, V. A. Open markets. (N '48)
- Marranos. See Maranos
- Marriage
  - Bergler, E. Divorce won't help. (Ag '48)
  - Brink, F. W. This man and this woman. (D '48)
  - Cuber, J. F. Marriage counseling practice. (D '48)
  - Fishbein, M., and Burgess, E. W., eds. Successful marriage. (Mr '48)
  - Leuba, C. Ethics in sex conduct. (D '48)
  - Magner, J. A. Art of happy marriage. (Ap '48)
  - Magoun, F. A. and R. M. Love and marriage. (D '48)
  - Nimkoff, M. F. Marriage and the family. (Je '48)
  - Today's woman (periodical). What today's woman should know about marriage. (O '48)
  - Weisman, A. I. Engaged couple has a right to know. (S '48)
- Marriage and the family. Nimkoff, M. F. (Je '48)
- Marriage counseling practice. Cuber, J. F. (D '48)
- Marriage in literature
  - Gist, M. A. Love and war in the Middle English romances. (S '48)
- Marriage of Claudia. Franken, R. D. L. (Je '48)
- Marshal, William, 1st earl of Pembroke. See Pembroke and Striguil, William Marshal, earl of
- Marten, Maria
  - Curtis, J., comp. Murder of Maria Marten. (O '48)
- Martin and Judy songs. Thomas, E. L., comp. (O '48)
- Martinez, Maria Montoya
  - Marriott, A. L. Maria: the potter of San Ildefonso. (S '48)
- Martyrs of the Oblong and Little Nine. Smith, De C. (S '48)
- Marvelous journey. Putnam, S. (Ag '48)
- Marx, Karl
  - Bober, M. M. Karl Marx's interpretation of history [2d ed rev]. (D '48)
- Mary, Virgin
  - Poetry
    - Thérèse, Sister, ed. I sing of a Maiden. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
- Mary of the Immaculate Heart, Sister. See Santos, Lucy dos, in religion Sister Mary of the Immaculate Heart
- Mary Stuart, queen of Scots
  - Fiction
    - Dakers, E. K. Parcel of rogues. (O '48)
- Mary Ann's first picture. Bromhall, W. (My '48)
- Mary Donovan. Downes, A. M. (My '48)
- Mary Montgomery, rebel. Daringer, H. F. (My '48)
- Mask for privilege. McWilliams, C. (My '48)
- Masquerade in Spain. Foltz, C. (Ag '48)
- Massachusetts institute of technology
  - Burchard, J. E. Q. E. D.; M. I. T. in World war II. (S '48)
- Master drawings in line. Holme, B., ed. (N '48)
- Masterpieces of religious verse. Morrison, J. D., ed. (D '48)
- Masters of the keyboard. Apel, W. (Ap '48)
- Masterworks of history. Reither, J., ed. (Ag '48)
- Masterworks of travel and exploration. Mallery, R. D., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Materials and methods of sculpture. Rich, J. C. (Je '48)
- Mathematical instruments
  - Greenwood, I. A., and others, eds. Electronic instruments. (S '48)
- Mathematical physics
  - Bewley, L. V. Two-dimensional fields in electrical engineering. (S '48)
- Mathematical statistics
  - Brownlee, K. A. Industrial experimentation [2d ed]. (Ag '48)
- Mathematicians
  - Hooper, A. Makers of mathematics. (O '48)
- Mathematics
  - Jones, B. W. Elementary concepts of mathematics. (My '48)
  - Bibliography
    - Parke, N. G. Guide to the literature of mathematics and physics. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)
  - History
    - Hooper, A. Makers of mathematics. (O '48)
- Mathilde. Frank, L. (Je '48)
- Matilda's buttons. Hunt, M. L. (N '48)
- Matisse, Henri
  - Romm, A. G. Matisse. (My '48)
- Maurice, Frederick Denison
  - Vidler, A. R. Witness to the light. (N '48)
- Maurois, Andre
  - Maurois, A. From my journal. (Ap '48)
- Maxims
  - Proust, M. Maxims. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  - Stevenson, B. E., ed. Home book of proverbs, maxims and familiar phrases. (D '48)
- Mean as hell. Harkey, D. R. (D '48)
- Meaning of human history. Cohen, M. R. (Ap '48)
- Measuring and guiding individual growth. Wood, B. D., and Haefner, R. (N '48)
- Mechanical angel. Friede, D. (Je '48)
- Mechanical behavior of high polymers. Alfrey, T. (S '48)
- Mechanical engineering
  - Sahag, L. M. Kinematics of machines. (S '48)
- Mechanical models
  - Pearce, C. C. Toys and models. (N '48)
- Mechanics
  - Girvin, H. F. Historical appraisal of mechanics. (My '48)
- Mechanics, Analytic
  - Sloane, A. Fundamentals of engineering mechanics. (Ap '48)
- Mechanics, Applied
  - Church, A. H. Elementary mechanical vibrations. (Ag '48)
- Mechanization takes command. Giedion, S. (Je '48)
- Medical economics
  - Shadid, M. A. Doctors of today and tomorrow. (Ag '48)
- Medical jurisprudence
  - Levinson, S. A., ed. Symposium on medicolegal problems. (D '48)
- Medical research
  - Shryock, R. H. American medical research, past and present. (Je '48)
  - Juvenile literature
    - Eberle, I. Modern medical discoveries. (D '48)
- Medical service
  - Miller, B. F. You and your doctor. (S '48)
- Medici chapel. De Tolnay, C. (N '48)
- Medicine
  - Cohn, A. E. No retreat from reason. (Je '48)
  - History
    - Juvenile literature
      - Eberle, I. Modern medical discoveries. (D '48)
    - United States
      - Malmberg, C. 140 million patients. (Mr '48)
      - Miller, B. F. You and your doctor. (S '48)
- Medicine, Patent, proprietary, etc.
  - Smith, A. E. Drugs you use. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Medicine, Preventive
  - Eberson, F. Microbes militant: a challenge to man. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Medicine, Psychosomatic
Halliday, J. L. Psychosocial medicine. (S '48)
Medicine, Rural
Mott, F. D., and Roemer, M. I. Rural health and medical care. (D '48)
Medicine, State
Bauer, L. H. Private enterprise or government in medicine. (S '48)
Mediterranean sea
Reitzel, W. The Mediterranean. (Ag '48)
Siegfried, A. Mediterranean. (Ag '48)
Meek shall inherit. Kossak-Szczucka, Z. (D '48)
Meet Henry Wallace. Wise, J. W. (N '48)
Meet the Amish. Rice, C. S., and Shenk, J. B. (Mr '48)
Melissa. Caldwell, J. T. (Ag '48)
Melville, Herman
Melville, H. Journal of a visit to London and the Continent. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Memoirs. Hull, C. (Je '48)
Memoirs of a secret agent of Free France. Renault-Roulier, G. (Ap '48)
Memphis, Tennessee
McIlwaine, S. Memphis down in Dixie. (Je '48)
Memphis down in Dixie. McIlwaine, S. (Je '48)
Men against fire. Marshall, S. L. A. (My '48)
Men and centuries of European civilization. Brown, L. F., and Carson, G. B. (N '48)
Men, cities and transportation. Kirkland, E. C. (O '48)
Men of law. Seagle, W. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mendeleev, Dmitrii Ivanovich
Fiction
Posin, D. Q. Mendeleyev, the story of a great scientist. (D '48)
Mendeleyev, the story of a great scientist. Posin, D. Q. (D '48)
Mendesia, Gracia
Roth, C. House of Nasi: Doña Gracia. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Menjou, Adolphe
Menjou, A. It took nine tailors. (Ap '48)
Mennonites in Pennsylvania
Rice, C. S., and Shenk, J. B. Meet the Amish. (Mr '48)
Mental diseases
Hospitals
Deutsch, A. Shame of the States. (D '48)
Mental health in modern society. Rennie, T. A. C., and Woodward, L. E. (Ag '48)
Mental hygiene
Rennie, T. A. C., and Woodward, L. E. Mental health in modern society. (Ag '48)
Wittenberg, R. M. So you want to help people. (Je '48)
Menus
Young, H. Working girl's own cook book. (S '48)
Merchant marine
United States
Farrington, S. K. Ships of the U.S. merchant marine. (My '48)
Merchant of valor. Kelland, C. B. (Ag '48)
Meredith, George
Sassoon, S. Meredith. (N '48)
Merimee, Prosper
Lyon, S. Life and times of Prosper Mérimée. (O '48)
Merrymount press, Boston
Updike: American printer and his Merrymount press. (Ap '48)
Merton, Thomas
Merton, T. Seven storey mountain. (N '48)
Message from a stranger. Mannes, M. (Ap '48)
Messiah. Herbage, J. L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Metabolism
Williams, R. T. Detoxication mechanisms. (S '48)
Metal art crafts. Miller, J. G. (N '48)
Metal cutting
Woodcock, F. L. Design of metal cutting tools. (S '48)
Metal process engineering. Woldman, N. E. (S '48)
Metal work
Miller, J. G. Metal art crafts. (N '48)
Morgan, A. P. Tools and how to use them. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Woldman, N. E. Metal process engineering. (S '48)
Metallography
Mason, C. W. Introductory physical metallurgy. (Mr '48)
Metallurgical materials and processes. Elberfeld, J. (S '48)
Metallurgy
Bray, J. L. Non-ferrous production metallurgy [2d ed]. (Ap '48)
Dunkley, G. T. Controlled atmospheres in heat-treatment. (My '48)
Elberfeld, J. Metallurgical materials and processes. (S '48)
Harrington, R. H. Modern metallurgy of alloys. (S '48)
Schwarzkopf, P., and others. Powder metallurgy. (Mr '48)
Sisco, F. T. Modern metallurgy for engineers [2d ed]. (S '48)
Metals
Boas, W. M. Introduction to the physics of metals and alloys. (S '48)
Metals, Powdered
Schwarzkopf, P., and others. Powder metallurgy. (Mr '48)
Metaphysical society
Brown, A. W. Metaphysical society. (Ap '48)
Metaphysics
Adams, G. P. Man and metaphysics. (D '48)
Meteorology
Blair, T. A. Weather elements [3d ed]. (D '48)
Haynes, B. C. Techniques of observing the weather. (Ag '48)
Methodism
Anderson, W. K., ed. Methodism. (Je '48)
Methodology
Searles, H. L. Logic and scientific methods. (D '48)
Mexican architecture of the sixteenth century, 2v. Kubler, G. (N '48)
Mexicans in the United States
Griffith, B. W. American me. (D '48)
Mexico
Cerwin, H. These are the Mexicans. (Mr '48)
Description and travel
Hancock, R. Magic land: Mexico. (O '48)
Helm, M. Journeying through Mexico. (My '48)
History
Roeder, R. Juarez and his Mexico. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Social conditions
Whetten, N. L. Rural Mexico. (D '48)
Social life and customs
Martin, S. You meet them in Mexico. (S '48)
Michael. Dudley, O. F. (S '48)
Michael Shayne's triple mystery. Dresser, D. (Ag '48)
Michael's wife. Frankau, G. (N '48)
Michelangelo Buonarrati
De Tolnay, C. Medici chapel. (N '48)
Michigan. University
Babst, E. D., and Vander Velde, L. G., eds. Michigan and the Cleveland era. (D '48)
Sagendorph, K. Michigan, the story of the university. (S '48)
Michigan, the story of the university. Sagendorph, K. (S '48)
Mick and Mack and Mary Jane. Bennett, R. (D '48)
Mickey wins his feathers. Glick, C. (Ag '48)
Microbes militant: a challenge to man. Eberson, F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Micromeritics. DallaValle, J. M. (Ag '48)
Micronesia
Karig, W. Fortunate islands. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Micro-organisms, Pathogenic
Eberson, F. Microbes militant: a challenge to man. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Micropaleontology
Glaessner, M. F. Principles of micropaleontology. (Ag '48)
Microwave mixers. Pound, R. V. (S '48)
Microwave receivers. Van Voorhis, S. N., ed. (S '48)
Middle East, 1948. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Midnight gardener. White, C. W. (O '48)
Midnight lace. Kantor, M. (Mr '48)
Midsummer fires. Aswell, J. (D '48)
Midwest heritage. Drury, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mighty five. Seroff, V. I. (Ag '48)
Mignonette. Long, G. M. V. C. (S '48)
Migration, Internal
Kulischer, E. M. Europe on the move. (O '48)
Militarism
Kerwin, J. G., ed. Civil-military relationships in American life. (S '48)
Military art and science
Marshall, S. L. A. Men against fire. (My '48)
Milk route. Ostenso, M. (Ap '48)
Milkmaid's millions. Evans, H. A. (O '48)
Mill on Mad river. Clark, H. (Ag '48)
Milton, Jeff Davis
Haley, J. E. Jeff Milton. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Milton, John
Paradise lost
Gilbert, A. H. On the composition of Paradise Lost. (My '48)
Milwaukee
Social life and customs
Meyer, E. L. Bucket boy. (Ag '48)
Milwaukee road. Derleth, A. W. (Je '48)
Mind and body
Joad, C. E. M. How our minds work. (D '48)
Mind to mind. Warcollier, R. (Je '48)
Mineral industries
Tyler, P. M. From the ground up. (O '48)
Mineralogy
Dictionaries
Chambers's mineralogical dictionary [new ed]. (N '48)
Mines and mineral resources
United States
Tyler, P. M. From the ground up. (O '48)
Mines and mining
California
Shinn, C. H. Mining camps. (Mr '48)
Mining camps. Shinn, C. H. (Mr '48)
Minstrel of the Yukon. Hines, J. C. (Je '48)
Minute for murder. Day-Lewis, C. (Mr '48)
Mirabeau, Honore Gabriel Riquetti, comte de
Vallentin, A. Mirabeau. (Ap '48)
Mirabelle. Schoenberner, E. (Je '48)
Miracle of France. Maurois, A. (D '48)
Miraculous birth of language. Wilson, R. A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Mirror for Americans: Japan. Mears, H. (O '48)
Mirror for the sky. West, J. (My '48)
Mirror of magic. Seligmann, K. L. (Je '48)
Mirror of music. Scholes, P. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Miss Behavior. Bryant, B. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Miss Gifford's. Jones, K. (N '48)
Miss Mallett. Boyce, B. (My '48)
Miss Pym disposes. Mackintosh, E. (Ag '48)
Miss Ulysses from Puka-Puka. Frisbie, F. (My '48)
Missing widow. Malleson, L. B. (Je '48)
Missionaries
Mathews, W. Dauntless women. (S '48)
Missions
Latourette, K. S., and Hogg, W. R. Tomorrow is here. (D '48)
Japan
Baker, R. T. Darkness of the sun. (My '48)
Southwest
Segale, B. At the end of the Santa Fe trail. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Missions, Medical
Schweitzer, A. On the edge of the primeval forest. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Mississippi
Social life and customs
Cohn, D. L. Where I was born and raised. (Ag '48)
Topp, M. S. Smile please. (O '48)
Mississippi river
Rosskam, E. and L. Towboat river. (My '48)
Mississippi valley
Drury, J. Midwest heritage. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Missouri
History
Grierson, F. Valley of shadows. (Ag '48)
Missouri valley
Terral, R. Missouri valley. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mr Aladdin. Drake, C. (Mr '48)
Mr and Mrs Noah. Lenski, L. (My '48)
Mr Benjamin's sword. Abrahams, R. D. (O '48)
Mr Clutch. Casey, R. J. (S '48)
Mr Flip Flop. Garrett, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mr Hobbs can fix it. Pickard, V. (N '48)
Mister Roberts. Heggen, T., and Logan, J. (Ag '48)
Mr Topple's wish. Chalmers, A. (D '48)
Mr Whittier, and other poems. Scott, W. T. (N '48)
Mrs Party's house. Slade, C. B. (D '48)
Mitre, Bartolome
Hole, M. C. Bartolomé Mitre. (My '48)
Mits, Wits and logic. Lieber, L. R. (Ap '48)
Mode in footwear. Wilcox, R. T. (Ag '48)
Modeling
Randall, R. H. Ceramic sculpture. (S '48)
Modern colloids. Dean, R. B. (Ag '48)
Modern cosmeticology. Harry, R. G. [3d rev ed]. (Ag '48)
Modern Diesel. Allen, O. F. (Je '48)
Modern economic thought. Gruchy, A. G. (My '48)
Modern education and human values, by B. H. Bode and others. (Je '48)
Modern French short stories. Lehmann, J., ed. (S '48)
Modern law of nations. Jessup, P. C. (My '48)
Modern man and the liberal arts. Neilson, F. (My '48)
Modern medical discoveries. Eberle, I. (D '48)
Modern metallurgy for engineers [2d ed]. Sisco, F. T. (S '48)
Modern metallurgy of alloys. Harrington, R. H. (S '48)
Modern plywood [2d ed]. Perry, T. D. (O '48)
Modern rubber chemistry [2d ed]. Barron, H. (S '48)
Modern tailoring for women. Mauck, F. F. (My '48)
Modernizing old houses. Williams, H. L. and O. K. (O '48)
Mohammedan empire
History
Brockelmann, C. History of the Islamic peoples. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mohammedanism
Brockelmann, C. History of the Islamic peoples. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mohawk. Hislop, C. (D '48)
Mohawk river
Hislop, C. Mohawk. (D '48)
Mohegan Indians
Smith, De C. Martyrs of the Oblong and Little Nine. (S '48)
Molecules
Gaydon, A. G. Dissociation energies and spectra of diatomic molecules. (S '48)
Moliere, Jean Baptiste Poquelin
Turnell, M. Classical moment. (O '48)
Moment. Woolf, V. S. (Je '48)
Moment of need. Davis, F. C. (Mr '48)
Monasteries
Smith, R. A. L. Collected papers. (Mr '48)
Money
Kidd, E. F. Women never go broke. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Money—Continued

Great Britain

Balogh, T. A. Studies in financial organization. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

United States

Madden, J. T., and others. Money market primer. (S '48)

Money-making hobbies. Leeming, J. (O '48)

Money market primer. Madden, J. T., and others. (S '48)

Money raising campaigns

Seymour, H. J. Design for giving. (Ag '48)

Monopolies

Stocking, G. W., and Watkins, M. W. Cartels or competition? (N '48)

Monsieur Teste. Valéry, P. (Mr '48)

Monte. Franklin, G. C. (Ag '48)

Moods of type. Whitehill, C. (My '48)

Moon in literature

Nicolson, M. H. Voyages to the moon. (D '48)

Moon is mine. Goertz, A. (N '48)

Moondrop to Gascony. Walters, A. M. (Mr '48)

Moonymouse. Evers, H. A. (Ag '48)

Moot point. De Polnay, P. (Ap '48)

Moral theology

Lewis, H. D. Morals and the new theology. (N '48)

Morals and the new theology. Lewis, H. D. (N '48)

Moravian church

Missions

Smith, De C. Martyrs of the Oblong and Little Nine. (S '48)

More, Sir Thomas, Saint

Maynard, T. Humanist as hero. (Mr '48)

More, T. Correspondence. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

More beautiful than murder. Cohen, O. R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

More favorite stories old and new. Gruenberg, S. M., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

More folk tales from China. Lim, Sian-tek. (Ag '48)

More fun with magic. Leeming, J. (O '48)

More perfect union. MacIver, R. M. (Ag '48)

More than we are. Bro, M. H. (O '48)

Morning song. Raphaelson, D. W. (Ag '48)

Morris, William

Godwin, E. and S. Warrior bard. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Morrow, James

Morrow, J. Scientist with Perry in Japan. (Mr '48)

Mortal coils. Huxley, A. L. (My '48)

Most sacred of all. Farnol, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Mote and the beam. Winner, P. (My '48)

The moth. Cain, J. M. (S '48)

Mother Lode album. Weston, O. (O '48)

Mother's role in childhood education. Kuhn, A. L. (Ap '48)

Motor boats

Henry, P., and Allard, W. Handbook of outboard motorboating. (Je '48)

Mount Everest. Tilman, H. W. (S '48)

Mountain Laurel. Emery, A. (D '48)

Mountain tamer. Stapp, A. D. (Ag '48)

Mountaineering

Mountaineers, incorporated. Mountaineers handbook. (S '48)

Tilman, H. W. Mount Everest. (S '48)

Mountaineers handbook. Mountaineers, incorporated. (S '48)

Mountains have a secret. Upfield, A. W. (O '48)

Mourning became Mrs Spendlove. Gogarty, O. St J. (My '48)

Mouse with red eyes. Eastman, E. (S '48)

Moving pictures

Grierson, J. On documentary. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Lindgren, E. Art of the film. (S '48)

History

Quigley, M. Magic shadows. (O '48)

Moving pictures in industry

Gipson, H. C. Films in business and industry. (S '48)

Moving stairs. Pickrel, P. M. (N '48)

Mozart, Johann Chrysostom Wolfgang Amadeus

Fiction

Morike, E. F. Mozart on the way to Prague. (Ag '48)

Mozart on the way to Prague. Morike, E. F. (Ag '48)

Muddy paws. Smith, D. J. (S '48)

Munich. Wheeler-Bennett, J. W. (O '48)

Munich four power agreement, 1938

Wheeler-Bennett, J. W. Munich. (O '48)

Municipal government

MacCorkle, S. A. American municipal government and administration. (O '48)

Munitions industry and trade

Deyrup, F. J. Arms makers of the Connecticut valley. (N '48)

Stedman, M. S. Exporting arms. (S '48)

Munya, the lion. Martin, D. L. (My '48)

Mural painting and decoration

Nordmark, O. Fresco painting. (Mr '48)

Murder

Fergusson, E. Murder and mystery in New Mexico. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Hamer, A. C., ed. Detroit murders. (Je '48)

Makris, J. N., ed. Boston murders. (N '48)

Sandoe, J., ed. Murder: plain and fanciful. (My '48)

Murder and mystery in New Mexico. Fergusson, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Murder buttoned up. Holmes, P. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Murder can be fun. Brown, F. (D '48)

Murder gets around. Bowen, R. S. (Mr '48)

Murder goes to school. Farrar, H. (Ap '48)

Murder in any language. Roos, K. (O '48)

Murder is an evil business. Bramhall, M. (Ag '48)

Murder is mutuel. Dolph, J. (N '48)

Murder is served. Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. (D '48)

Murder makes me nervous. Scherf, M. (S '48)

Murder '97. Gruber, F. (Ap '48)

Murder of Maria Marten. Curtis, J., comp. (O '48)

Murder one. Lipsky, E. (Ag '48)

Murder: plain and fanciful. Sandoe, J., ed. (My '48)

Murphy, Timothy

Poetry

Sullivan, A. M. Tim Murphy. (My '48)

Music

Hughes, C. W. Human side of music. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Rolland, R. Essays on music. (S '48)

Slonimsky, N. Thing or two about music. (O '48)

Analysis, interpretation, appreciation

Lieberson, G., ed. Columbia book of musical masterworks. (My '48)

Thomson, V. Art of judging music. (Ap '48)

Veinus, A. Victor book of concertos. (O '48)

Discography

See Phonograph records

Encyclopedias and dictionaries

Barlow, H., and Morgenstern, S. Dictionary of musical themes. (Ag '48)

Blom, E., comp. Everyman's dictionary of music. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

History and criticism

Bukofzer, M. F. Music in the baroque era. (My '48)

Ferguson, D. N. History of musical thought [2d ed]. (Ag '48)

Graf, M. From Beethoven to Shostakovich. (Ap '48)

Sachs, C. Our musical heritage. (Ag '48)

Instruction and study

Bauman, A. Elementary musicianship. (My '48)

Psychology

Graf, M. From Beethoven to Shostakovich. (Ap '48)

Smith, C. T. Music and reason. (S '48)

Theory

Toch, E. Shaping forces in music. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

France
Oliver, A. R. Encyclopedists as critics of music. (D '48)

Great Britain
Scholes, P. A. Mirror of music. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

New York (city)
Thomson, V. Art of judging music. (Ap '48)

United States
O'Connell, C. Other side of the record. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Spaeth, S. G. History of popular music in America. (D '48)
Year in American music, 1946-1947. (S '48)

Vienna
Gál, H. Golden age of Vienna. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Music, Physical effect of
Schullian, D. M., and Schoen, M., eds. Music and medicine. (My '48)
Music, Popular
Spaeth, S. G. History of popular music in America. (D '48)
Music and criticism. French, R. F., ed. (O '48)
Music and literature
Brown, C. S. Music and literature. (D '48)
Music and medicine. Schullian, D. M., and Schoen, M., eds. (My '48)
Music and reason. Smith, C. T. (S '48)
Music and women. Drinker, S. L. H. (Ap '48)
Music as a profession
Denis, P. Your career in show business. (Je '48)
Music in churches
Kettring, D. D. Steps toward a singing church. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Music in the baroque era. Bukofzer, M. F. (My '48)
Music is my life. Hughes, A. P. (Ap '48)
Music of Sibelius. Abraham, G. E. H., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Musical criticism
French, R. F., ed. Music and criticism. (O '48)
Musical times (periodical)
Scholes, P. A. Mirror of music. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Musicians
American Society of composers, authors, and publishers. ASCAP biographical dictionary. (My '48)
De Toledano, R., ed. Frontiers of jazz. (Ag '48)
Lieberson, G., ed. Columbia book of musical masterworks. (My '48)
O'Connell, C. Other side of the record. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Bauer, H. Harold Bauer, his book. (O '48)
Broekman, D. H. Shoestring symphony. (N '48)
Hughes, A. P. Music is my life. (Ap '48)
Ives, B. Wayfaring stranger. (D '48)
Wechsberg, J. Sweet and sour. (D '48)
Willson, M. And there I stood with my piccolo. (N '48)
Musicians, Russian
Seroff, V. I. Mighty five. (Ag '48)
Muskellonge
Claflin, B. Muskie fishing. (S '48)
Muskie fishing. Claflin, B. (S '48)
My book about God. Bedier, M. J. (Ag '48)
My brother Mike. Gates, D. (D '48)
My dead wife. Worley, W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
My father's dragon. Gannett, R. S. (Je '48)
My favorite stories. Daly, M., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
My flag is down. Maresca, J. V. (My '48)
My friend the enemy. Baker, F. (My '48)
My glorious brothers. Fast, H. M. (N '48)
My health is better in November. Babcock, H. (My '48)
My life as a teacher. Erskine, J. (Je '48)
My life with the Redskins. Griffith, C. (Mr '48)
My lord of Wrybourne. Eng title of: Most sacred of all. Farnol, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
My love wears black. Cohen, O. R. (My '48)
My many lives. Lehmann, L. (Ag '48)
My own story. Robinson, J. R. (Je '48)
My pet, Peepelo. Credle, E. (Ag '48)
My sister, goodnight. McDonell, G. (Mr '48)
My songs. Hayes, R., ed. (D '48)
My story. Rinehart, M. R. (D '48)
My uncle and Miss Elizabeth. Parrish, R. H. (My '48)
My Uncle Jan. Auslander, J., and Wurdemann, A. (My '48)
My very first book. Petersham, M. F. and M. (My '48)
Myself when young. Richardson, H. H. (S '48)
Mysteries and adventures along the Atlantic coast. Snow, E. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Mystery of Lost Valley. Wellman, M. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Mysticism
Cloud of unknowing; a version in modern English. (Ag '48)
Inge, W. R. Mysticism in religion. (O '48)
Murray, R. Forsaken fountain. (S '48)
Phillips, D. B., and others, eds. Choice is always ours. (Ag '48)
Strong, M. H. W., ed. Letters of the scattered brotherhood. (Ag '48)
Watts, A. W. Behold the spirit. (Ap '48)
Mysticism in religion. Inge, W. R. (O '48)
Myth of the Magus. Butler, E. M. (O '48)
Mythology
Graves, R. White goddess. (O '48)
Lum, P. Stars in our heaven. (D '48)
Zimmer, H. R. King and the corpse. (S '48)
Mythology, Semitic
Obermann, J. J. Ugaritic mythology. (N '48)

Naked and the dead. Mailer, N. (Je '48)
Names, Geographical
Gannett, H. American names. (Je '48)
Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '48)
Names, Personal
Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '48)
Naming of the telescope. Rosen, E. (Ag '48)
Nansen, Fridtjof

Juvenile literature
Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Napoléon III, emperor of the French
Palm, F. C. England and Napoleon III. (S '48)
National characteristics, American
Gorer, G. American people. (My '48)
Nevins, A., ed. America through British eyes [new rev ed]. (O '48)
Vanderschmidt, F. What the English think of us. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Visson, A. As others see us. (D '48)
National characteristics, German
Hafkesbrink, H. Unknown Germany. (Ag '48)
Schaffner, B. H. Father land. (S '48)
National characteristics, Japanese
Lyell, T. R. G. Case history of Japan. (O '48)
National characteristics, Mexican
Martin, S. You meet them in Mexico. (S '48)
National characteristics, Russian
Crankshaw, E. Russia and the Russians. (Ap '48)
National characteristics, Swiss
Herold, J. C. Swiss without halos. (D '48)
National conference of social work
Bruno, F. J. Trends in social work. (Ag '48)
National debt and the new economics. Harris, S. E. (Je '48)
National paint dictionary [3d ed]. Stewart, J. R. (N '48)
National plan for public library service. American library association. Committee on postwar planning. (N '48)
National policy for the oil industry. Rostow, E. V. (S '48)
National resources planning board
Millett, J. D. Process and organization of government planning. (Ag '48)
National road
Jordan, P. D. National road. (Je '48)
National self-determination. Cobban, A. (S '48)

National war fund, incorporated
Seymour, H. J. Design for giving. (Ag '48)
Nationalism and nationality
Bagehot, W. Physics and politics. (D '48)
Natural history
Verrill, A. H. Young collector's handbook. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Canada

Rowlands, J. J. Cache Lake country. (Mr '48)

New England

Pearson, H. S. Sea flavor. (Ag '48)

South America

Von Hagen, V. W., ed. Green world of the naturalists. (Je '48)

West

Carr, W. H. Desert parade. (Ap '48)
Natural resources
Vogt, W. Road to survival. (S '48)
Natural theology
Heard, G. Is God evident? (O '48)
Naturalism
Johnson, G. Some ethical implications of a naturalistic philosophy of education. (S '48)
Naturalists
Geiser, S. W. Naturalists of the frontier [2d ed rev & enl]. (O '48)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Mann, W. M. Ant hill odyssey. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Naturalists of the frontier [2d ed rev & enl]. Geiser, S. W. (O '48)
Nature
Campbell, S. A. On wings of cheer. (O '48)
Fuller, R. T. Nature quests and quizzes. (O '48)
Jefferies, R. Old house at Coate. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pettit, T. Book of nature hobbies. (Mr '48)
Teale, E. W. Days without time. (N '48)
Watkins-Pitchford, D. J., comp. Shooting man's bedside book. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Nature quests and quizzes. Fuller, R. T. (O '48)
Nature study
Brown, V. Amateur naturalist's handbook. (N '48)
Navaho Indians
Leighton, D. C., and Kluckhohn, C. Children of the people. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Naval art and science

Dictionaries

De Kerchove, R. International maritime dictionary. (Ap '48)
Navigation
Hall, J. S., ed. Radar aids to navigation. (Ap '48)
Navy of Britain. Lewis, M. A. (D '48)
Nazarovs. Fischer, B. M. (Ag '48)
Nazi-Soviet relations, 1939-1941. Germany. Auswärtiges amt. (Je '48)
Needlecraft encyclopedia. Good housekeeping (periodical). (Ap '48)
Needlework
Good housekeeping (periodical). Needlecraft encyclopedia. (Ap '48)
Stevenson, I., ed. Greystone book of gifts you can make yourself. (S '48)
Negro business and business education. Pierce, J. A. (Ap '48)
Negro ghetto. Weaver, R. C. (S '48)
Negro in America. Myrdal, G., and others. (S '48)
Negro literature
Gloster, H. M. Negro voices in American fiction. (Ag '48)
Negro spiritual speaks of life and death. Thurman, H. (Ap '48)
Negro spirituals
Crite, A. R., il. Three spirituals from earth to heaven. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hayes, R., ed. My songs. (D '48)
Thurman, H. Negro spiritual speaks of life and death. (Ap '48)
Negro voices in American fiction. Gloster, H. M. (Ag '48)
Negro year book [1947]. (O '48)
Negroes
Bontemps, A. W. Story of the Negro. (Ag '48)
Loescher, F. S. Protestant church and the Negro. (O '48)
Myrdal, G., and others. Negro in America. (S '48)
White, W. F. Man called White. (N '48)
White, W. L. Lost boundaries. (My '48)

Biography

Barton, R. C. Witnesses for freedom. (S '48)

Education

Pierce, J. A. Negro business and business education. (Ap '48)

Employment

Ross, M. H. All manner of men. (Ap '48)

History

Aptheker, H. To be free. (S '48)
Ottley, R. Black odyssey. (D '48)

Juvenile literature

McKean, E. Up hill. (Ap '48)

Moral and social conditions

Weaver, R. C. Negro ghetto. (S '48)

Politics and suffrage

Moon, H. L. Balance of power. (Ag '48)

Yearbooks

Negro year book [1947]. (O '48)

Mississippi

Cohn, D. L. Where I was born and raised. (Ag '48)

Tennessee

Cohn, D. L. Where I was born and raised. (Ag '48)
Negroes in business
Pierce, J. A. Negro business and business education. (Ap '48)
Nehru, Jawaharlal

Juvenile literature

Yaukey, G. S. Nehru of India. (S '48)
Nehru of India. Yaukey, G. S. (S '48)
Nehru on Gandhi. Nehru, J. (Ag '48)
Nervous system
Wiener, N. Cybernetics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Netherlands

Colonies

Furnivall, J. S. Colonial policy and practice. (Je '48)
Netherlands Indies
Furnivall, J. S. Colonial policy and practice. (Je '48)

Politics

Wolf, C. Indonesian story. (O '48)
Neuroses
Saul, L. J. Emotional maturity. (Ag '48)
Never a greater need. Benton, W. (My '48)
Never love a stranger. Rubins, H. (Ag '48)
New Congo. Marvel, T. (S '48)
New cycle in Asia. Isaacs, H. R., ed. (Ap '48)
New developments in railway modelling. Beal, E. (Mr '48)
New England
Mitchell, E. V. Yankee folk. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Description and travel

Kent, L. A. Village greens of New England. (O '48)
Pearson, H. S. Sea flavor. (Ag '48)

Historic houses, etc.

Chamberlain, S. Open house in New England [5th rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Views

Chamberlain, S. Six New England villages. (S '48)
New England bean-pot. Jagendorf, M. A. (D '48)
New foundation of international law. Americano, J. (My '48)

New geography of American antiques. Drepperd, C. W., and Guild, L. V. (Je '48)
New hot discography. Delaunay, C. (D '48)
New houses from old. Hawkins, R. R., and Abbe, C. H. (S '48)
New illustrated world history. Hammerton, J. A., ed. (Je '48)
New international dictionary of the English language [2d ed]. Webster, N. (O '48)
New international dictionary of the English language, with reference history. Webster, N. (O '48)
New Jersey
Politics and government
Edge, W. E. Jerseyman's journal. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Social life and customs
Mellick, A. D. Lesser crossroads. (N '48)
New letters, 1788-1801. Adams, A. S. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
New men of power. Mills, C. W., and Schneider, H. (N '48)
New Orleans
Basso, E. S., ed. World from Jackson square. (D '48)
Carnival
Tallant, R. Mardi gras. (Ap '48)
Wickiser, R. L. Mardi gras day. (My '48)
Social life and customs
Robinson, L. It's an old New Orleans custom. (D '48)
New paths for Japan. Wakefield, H. (D '48)
New poems. Van Doren, M. (My '48)
New song in a strange land. Warner, E. S. (Ag '48)
New techniques of happiness. Wiggam, A. E. (D '48)
New Testament literature. Lyons, W. N., and Parvis, M. M. eds. (S '48)
New travel guide to Europe. Fielding, T. H. (S '48)
New view of the plays of Racine. Orgel, V. (D '48)
New wonder world; ed. by J. R. McGaughy [11th ed]. (My '48)
New world of space. Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. (Je '48)
New York (city)
Rodgers, C., and Ramkin, R. B. New York: the world's capital city. (S '48)
Description
Beaton, C. Portrait of New York. (N '48)
Lait, J., and Mortimer, L. New York: confidential! (S '48)
Look (periodical). Look at America: New York city. (S '48)
History
Nevins, A., and Krout, J. A., eds. Greater city. (D '48)
Wertenbaker, T. J. Father Knickerbocker rebels. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Social life and customs
Beaton, C. Portrait of New York. (N '48)
Lait, J., and Mortimer, L. New York: confidential! (S '48)
Maresca, J. V. My flag is down. (My '48)
New York (city). Bellevue hospital
Cooper, P. Bellevue story. (D '48)
New York (city). City and country school
Pratt, C. I learn from children. (N '48)
New York (city). Police department
Leyson, B. W. Fighting crime. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
New York (state)
Description and travel
Perry, C. W. Underground empire. (O '48)
Politics and government
Moscow, W. Politics in the Empire state. (S '48)
New York, Chicago and St Louis railroad company
Hampton, T. Nickel plate road. (My '48)
New York: confidential! Lait, J., and Mortimer, L. (S '48)
New York: the world's capital city. Rodgers, C., and Rankin, R. B. (S '48)
New Zealand
Politics and government
Lipson, L. Politics of equality. (O '48)
Newer methods of preparative organic chemistry. (D '48)
Newman, John Henry, cardinal
Middleton, R. D. Newman and Bloxam. (S '48)
Ruggles, E. Journey into faith. (Ag '48)
Ward, M. Young Mr Newman. (O '48)
Newman and Bloxam. Middleton, R. D. (S '48)
The newspaper. Rothenberg, I. (Ag '48)
Newspapers
Bruce, J. R. Gaudy century. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
South
Clark, T. D. Southern country editor. (N '48)
Next development in man. Whyte, L. L. (Ap '48)
Nickel plate road. Hampton, T. (My '48)
Nicolaus de Autricuria
Weinberg, J. R. Nicolaus of Autrecourt. (D '48)
Niebuhr, Reinhold
Davies, D. R. Reinhold Niebuhr. (S '48)
Nietzsche, Friedrich Wilhelm
Reyburn, H. A., and others. Nietzsche, the story of a human philosopher. (S '48)
Nietzsche, the story of a human philosopher. Reyburn, H. A., and others. (S '48)
Night cry. Stuart, W. L. (Mr '48)
Nightfall. Goodis, D. (Mr '48)
Nightmare. Aarons, E. S. (My '48)
Nightmare of American foreign policy. Mowrer, E. A. (D '48)
Night's black agents. Leiber, F. (Je '48)
Nightshade. McCormick, J. (My '48)
Nihilism
Weber, A. Farewell to European history. (S '48)
Nils. Aulaire, I. M. d'. and E. P. d'. (N '48)
Nine lives of citizen Train. Thornton, W. (D '48)
1939, a novel. Boyle, K. (Ap '48)
No bugles tonight. Lancaster, B. (O '48)
No highway. Norway, N. S. (O '48)
No man's land. Rister, C. C. (D '48)
No place to hide. Bradley, D. J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
No pockets in shrouds. Revell, L. (Je '48)
No resting place. Niall, I. (O '48)
No retreat from reason. Cohn, A. E. (Je '48)
No son of mine. Stern, G. B. (Ag '48)
No tears for the dead. Denniston, E. (Mr '48)
No traveller returns. Dean, A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
No trumpet before him. White, N. G. (My '48)
Nobel prize treasury. McClintock, M., ed. (Ag '48)
Nobody owns us. Douthit, D. (S '48)
Nobody's fool. Harrison, C. Y. (O '48)
Nomad. Maugham, R. C. R. (My '48)
Nomography (mathematics)
Douglass, R. D., and Adams, D. P. Elements of nomography. (My '48)
Levens, A. S. Nomography. (Ag '48)
Non-ferrous production metallurgy [2d ed]. Bray, J. L. (Ap '48)
Nonmetallic inclusions in steel. Baeyertz, M. (My '48)
Normandy to the Baltic. Montgomery, B. L. (My '48)
North face. Renault, M. (O '48)
North pole
Crouse, N. M. Search for the North pole. (Je '48)
North to the promised land. Wire, H. C. (Ag '48)
Northern farm. Beston, H. (D '48)
Northern lights. Vercel, R. (O '48)
Northerner. Colebrook, J. (D '48)
Northwest
Chittick, V. L. O., ed. Northwest harvest. (Ap '48)
History
Mills, R. V. Stern-wheelers up Columbia. (Ag '48)
Salisbury, A. P. and J. S. Here rolled the covered wagons. (S '48)
Northwest, Pacific
Glassley, R. H. Visit the Pacific Northwest. (N '48)

Northwest, Pacific—Continued
Winther, O. O. Great Northwest. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Northwest corner. Sheldon, H. D., il. (O '48)
Northwest harvest. Chittick, V. L. O., ed. (Ap '48)

Norton, Mrs Caroline (Sheridan)
Acland, A. Caroline Norton. (O '48)

Norway

Biography

Acker, H. Four sons of Norway. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Civilization

Thorne-Thomsen, G. In Norway. (Je '48)

History

Larsen, K. History of Norway. (D '48)

Norwegians in the United States
Bjork, K. Saga in steel and concrete. (Ag '48)
Duus, O. F. Frontier parsonage. (S '48)
Not as the world giveth. Vernier, P. (My '48)
Not by might. Muste, A. J. (Ap '48)
Not exactly ghosts. Caldecott, A. (Ap '48)
Not quite a dream. Hughes, K. T. (Ap '48)
Notebooks. James, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Nothing ever happens Sunday morning. Cannon, B. (Je '48)

Novelists
Maugham, W. S. Great novelists and their novels. (N '48)
Now it's fall. Lenski, L. (O '48)
Now you're cookin'. Gossett, M., and Elting, M. (D '48)

Nuclear physics
Bethe, H. A. Elementary nuclear theory. (My '48)
Goodman, C. D., and others, eds. Science and engineering of nuclear power. (Ag '48)
Hoag, J. B. Electron and nuclear physics [3d ed]. (S '48)
Nuremberg. Calvocoressi, P. (My '48)

Nurses and nursing
Brown, E. L. Nursing for the future. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Chayer, M. E. Nursing in modern society. (Je '48)
Deming, D. Practical nurse. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Neal, R. E. Chemistry in nursing. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Yost, E. American women of nursing. (Mr '48)
Nursing for the future. Brown, E. L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Nursing in modern society. Chayer, M. E. (Je '48)

Nutrition
Lewis, P. Eating for health. (D '48)
Sahyun, M., ed. Proteins and amino acids in nutrition. (S '48)
Tobey, J. A. Your diet for longer life. (D '48)
Nymphs of the valley. Gibran, K. (My '48)

Occult philosophy. Jones, M. E. (S '48)

Occult sciences
Jones, M. E. Occult philosophy. (S '48)

Occupations

Juvenile literature

McCullough, J. G. Good work! (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Odds-on murder. Dolph, J. (Ag '48)
Of flight and life. Lindbergh, C. A. (O '48)
Of good family. Storm, H. O. (Ag '48)

Office management
Maze, C. L., ed. Office management. (Ap '48)
Official detective omnibus; ed. by Harry Keller. Official detective stories magazine. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Ohio river
Rosskam, E. and L. Towboat river. (My '48)

Oil shales
Bell, H. S. Oil shales and shale oils. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Oil shales and shale oils. Bell, H. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Oils and fats
Hilditch, T. P. Chemical constitution of natural fats [2d ed rev]. (O '48)

Okeechobee, Lake
Hanna, A. J. and K. A. Lake Okeechobee. (Ap '48)

Oklahoma

History

Rister, C. C. No man's land. (D '48)

Old beauty. Cather, W. S. (O '48)
Old China hands. Pelcovits, N. A. (Ap '48)
Old glass paperweights. Bergstrom, E. H. (Ap '48)
Old house at Coate. Jefferies, R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Old Korea. Keith, E., and Robertson-Scott, E. K. (Ag '48)
Old Man Crow's boy. Baumann, J. (O '48)
Old Mr Flood. Mitchell, J. (D '48)
Old Testament commentary. Alleman, H. C., and Flack, E. E., eds. (S '48)

Olivier, Sydney Haldane Olivier, baron
Olivier, S. H. O. Letters and selected writings. (Ag '48)

Olympic games
Henry, W. M. Approved history of the Olympic games. (S '48)
On a darkling plain. Webster, H. C. (Ap '48)
On active service in peace and war. Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. (Je '48)
On ballet. Seymour, M. (Mr '48)
On becoming a writer. Eng title of: On being an author. Brittain, V. M. (O '48)
On being an author. Brittain, V. M. (O '48)
On board Old Ironsides. Stork, C. W. (S '48)
On documentary. Grierson, J. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
On hospitals. Goldwater, S. S. (My '48)
On Jordan's stormy banks. Rowell, A. C. (Ag '48)
On pinochle. MacDougall, M. (Je '48)
On such a night. Quayle, A. (Mr '48)
On the composition of Paradise Lost. Gilbert, A. H. (My '48)
On the edge of the primeval forest. Schweitzer, A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
On the Iliad. Bespaloff, R. (My '48)
On the limits of poetry. Tate, A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
On the marble cliffs. Jünger, E. (My '48)
On wings of cheer. Campbell, S. A. (O '48)
Once a cowboy. Martin, C. M. (D '48)
One clear call. Sinclair, U. B. (O '48)
One corpse missing. Ross, Z. H. (Ap '48)
One great church. Newton, J. F. (O '48)
111 best American ballads: Folk song, U.S.A. Lomax, J. A. and A., eds. (Je '48)
140 million patients. Malmberg, C. (Mr '48)
One hundred years ago. Wood, J. P., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
One page missing. Yaray, H. (My '48)
One story of radar. Rowe, A. P. (N '48)
One thousand Americans. Seldes, G. (Mr '48)
Open house in New England [5th rev ed]. Chamberlain, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Open markets. Mund, V. A. (N '48)
Open self. Morris, C. W. (D '48)

Opera
Crosten, W. L. French grand opera. (N '48)
Marek, G. R. Front seat at the opera. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Peltz, M. E. O., ed. Opera lover's companion. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Stories, plots, etc.

Howard, J. T. World's great operas. (N '48)

Opera ballerina. Pelus, M. J. (O '48)
Opera lover's companion. Peltz, M. E. O., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Operations Santa Fé. Armitage, M. (S '48)
Orchesography. Tabourot, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Orchestral music
Bagar, R. C. and Biancolli, L. L. Concert companion. (Ap '48)

Orchids
Watkins, J. V. ABC of orchid growing. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Ordeal by planning. Jewkes, J. (S '48)
Ordeal of the Union. Nevins, A. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Ordnance
Burchard, J. E., ed. Rockets, guns and targets. (O '48)

Oregon

Views

Sheldon, H. D., il. Northwest corner. (O '48)

Organic chemistry. Brewster, R. Q. (S '48)

Organization
  Barnard, C. I. Organization and management. (S '48)

Organization and management. Barnard, C. I. (S '48)
Organizing for community action. King, C. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Organizing scientific research for war. Stewart, I. (S '48)
Origins and consequences of World war II. Cave, F. A., and others. (N '48)
Origins of modern Germany. [2d rev ed] Barraclough, G. (O '48)
Origins of modern Russia. Kucharzewski, J. (S '48)

Osborne, Dorothy. See Temple, D. O.

Oscillators, Electric
  Glasoe, G. N., and Lebacqz, J. V., eds. Pulse generators. (S '48)

Osler, William
  Bernheim, B. M. Story of the Johns Hopkins. (D '48)

Other house. James, H. (O '48)
Other side of the hill. Eng title of: German generals talk. Liddell Hart, B. H. (O '48)
Other side of the record. O'Connell, C. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Other voices, other rooms. Capote, T. (Mr '48)
Other young Americans. Goetz, D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Our American government. Patman, W. (Ap '48)
Our American language. Mallery, R. D. (Mr '48)
Our emergent civilization. Anshen, R. H., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Our gifted son. Baker, D. D. (S '48)
Our lives. Gaer, J., ed. (D '48)
Our living forests. Hazard, J. T. (N '48)
Our musical heritage. Sachs, C. (Ag '48)
Our new national labor policy. Hartley, F. A. (N '48)
Our oil hunters. Crump, I. (D '48)
Our own Baedeker. Kinkead, E., and Maloney, R. (Mr '48)
Our partnership. Webb, B. P. (My '48)
Our plundered planet. Osborn, F. (My '48)
Our summer with the Eskimos. Helmericks, C. and H. (N '48)
Our unknown ex-president. Lyons, E. (Ag '48)
Out, brief candle! Thayer, L. (D '48)
Out of the silence. Mahony, P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Out of this world. Shane, S. M. (Je '48)

Outdoor life
  Halsted, H. B. How to live in the woods. (S '48)
  Rowlands, J. J. Cache Lake country. (Mr '48)

Outdoors with the camera [rev ed]. Grabbe, P., and Sherman, J. E. (Je '48)
Outer edges. Jackson, C. R. (Ag '48)
Outlaw guns. Halleran, E. E. (Je '48)

Outlaws
  Harkey, D. R. Mean as hell. (D '48)

Outline of English painting. Wilenski, R. H. (S '48)
Outline of European architecture. Pevsner, N. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Outlines of physical chemistry. Daniels, F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Outrun the constable. Jepson, S. (Mr '48)
Outsiders. Abbott, J. L. D. (O '48)
Outstanding modern quarter horse sires. Nye, N. C. (Je '48)
Over the edge. Treat, L. (N '48)

Overland journeys to the Pacific
  McGlashan, C. F. History of the Donner party [rev ed]. (A '48)

Owl in the sun. Kark, L. (N '48)
Oxford companion to American literature [2d ed rev & enl]. Hart, J. D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Ozark folksongs; v2, Songs of the south and west. Randolph, V., ed. (N '48)

Pablo Picasso. Eluard, P. (Mr '48)
Pacific era. Davenport, W. W., ed. (N '48)

Pacific ocean
  Davenport, W. W., ed. Pacific era. (N '48)

Surveys

  Cole, A. B., ed. Yankee surveyors in the Shogun's seas. (My '48)

Padre Porko. Davis, R. (O '48)
Pageant of American humor. Seaver, E., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pageant of Europe. Stearns, R. P., ed. (Je '48)
Pageant of India's history. Emerson, G. (D '48)
Pageant of Japanese history. Dilts, M. M. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Pageant of the seven seas. Quinn, V. (D '48)

Paint

Dictionaries

  Stewart, J. R. National paint dictionary [3d ed]. (N '48)

Painters
  Lewisohn, S. A. Painters and personality [rev ed]. (O '48)

Painters, American
  Luhan, M. G. D. Taos and its artists. (Ap '48)

Painters, British
  Redgrave, R. and S. Century of British painters. (D '48)

Painters, Haitian
  Rodman, S. Renaissance in Haiti. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Painters and personality [rev ed]. Lewisohn, S. A. (O '48)
Painter's question & answer book. Taubes, F. (S '48)

Painting
  Burton, L. V. Week-end painter. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Dali, S. Fifty secrets of magic craftsmanship. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Davidson, M. Approach to modern painting. (S '48)
  Grosser, M. R. Painting in public. (Ap '48)
  Taubes, F. Painter's question & answer book. (S '48)
  Woodward, S. W. Adventure in marine painting. (Ag '48)

Painting, American
  Flexner, J. T. American painting: first flowers of our wilderness. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Painting, British
  Redgrave, R. and S. Century of British painters. (D '48)
  Wilenski, R. H. Outline of English painting. (S '48)

Painting, Chinese
  Cohn, W. Chinese painting. (O '48)

Painting, Haitian
  Rodman, S. Renaissance in Haiti. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Painting and sculpture in the Museum. New York. Museum of modern art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Painting in public. Grosser, M. R. (Ap '48)
Painting toward architecture. Hitchcock, H. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Paintings
  Bethers, R. Pictures, painters, and you. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Jeanneret-Gris, C. E. New world of space. (Je '48)
  Kimball, S. F., and Venturi, L., eds. Great paintings in America. (D '48)

Catalogs

  New York. Museum of modern art. Painting and sculpture in the Museum. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Conservation and restoration

  Stout, G. L. Care of pictures. (N '48)

Paintings, American
  Genauer, E. Best of art. (Ap '48)

Paintings, British
  Ironside, R. Pre-Raphaelite painters. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Rothenstein, M. Looking at paintings. (Mr '48)

Paintings, Italian
  Pope-Hennessy, J. Sienese quattrocento painting. (Ag '48)

Paleobotany
  Andrews, H. N. Ancient plants, and the world they lived in. (Ag '48)
  Arnold, C. A. Introduction to paleobotany. (Ag '48)

Paleontology
Verrill, A. H. Strange prehistoric animals and their stories. (S '48)

Juvenile literature

Mansfield, J. C. Dawn of creation. (Ap '48)

Palestine

Jewish-Arab problem

Robinson, J. Palestine and the United nations. (My '48)
Steiner, M. J. Inside Pan-Arabia. (Ag '48)

Politics and government

Garcia-Granados, J. Birth of Israel. (D '48)
Robinson, J. Palestine and the United nations. (My '48)
Welles, S. We need not fail. (Ag '48)

Views

Sonnenfeld, H. S. Palestine: land of Israel. (O '48)
Palestine and the United nations. Robinson, J. (My '48)
Palestine: land of Israel. Sonnenfeld, H. S. (O '48)
Palladio, Andrea
Reynolds, J. Andrea Palladio. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Palmer raids. Labor research association. (O '48)
Palomino boy. Emblen, D. L. and B. J. M. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Panama canal
Minter, J. E. The Chagres. (O '48)
Panislamism
Steiner, M. J. Inside Pan-Arabia. (Ag '48)
Panthers' moon. Canning, V. (Ag '48)
Papacy
Wallace, L. P. Papacy and European diplomacy. (Ag '48)
Papacy and European diplomacy. Wallace, L. P. (Ag '48)
Paper work
Soong, M. H. Art of Chinese paper folding for young and old. (Je '48)
Papers. Lincoln, A. (D '48)
Paperweights
Bergstrom, E. H. Old glass paperweights. (Ap '48)
Parables

Juvenile literature

Sargent, J. H. 63 popular parables for young folks. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Parables. Kafka, F. (Ap '48)
Parables for the theater. Brecht, B. (D '48)
Paraffins
Egloff, G., and Hulla, G. Alkylation of alkanes: v 1, Patents on alkylation of alkanes. (D '48)
Parcel of rogues. Dakers, E. K. (O '48)
Parent and child
Grossman, J. S. Life with family. (N '48)
Kuhn, A. L. Mother's role in childhood education. (Ap '48)
Parents' and teachers' associations
Lane, B. B. Your part in your child's education. (D '48)
Sparks, D. E. Strong is the current. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Pares, Bernard
Pares, B. Wandering student. (My '48)
Paris

Description

Laughlin, C. E. So you're going to Paris! [8th rev ed] (Ag '48)

History

Anderson, R. G. City and the cathedral. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Paris. Notre Dame
Anderson, R. G. City and the cathedral. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Paris of Troy. Baker, G. E. (My '48)
Paris. Opera
Crosten, W. L. French grand opera. (N '48)
Paris spleen. Baudelaire, C. P. (Ap '48)
Parish and the Hill. Curran, M. D. (O '48)
Parker, Theodore
Dirks, J. E. Critical theology of Theodore Parker. (D '48)
Parris Mitchell of Kings Row. Bellamann, H. and K. (Je '48)
Parson takes a wife. Sheerin, M. W. S. W. (D '48)
Particles
Dalla Valle, J. M. Micromeritics. (Ag '48)
Party for grownups. Rosmond, B. (Mr '48)
Party for Lawty. Sarsfield, M. (My '48)
Party fun. Daly, S. J. (Ag '48)
Pass that puck. Flood, R. T. (D '48)
Passfield, Sidney James Webb, baron. See Webb, Sidney
Pastel drawing
Sears, E. L. Pastel painting step-by-step. (Ap '48)
Pastel painting step-by-step. Sears, E. L. (Ap '48)
Pasteur, Louis
Wood, L. N. Louis Pasteur. (Je '48)
Pastoral Epistles. Easton, B. S. (N '48)
Pastoral triumph. Kemp, C. F. (O '48)
Pastoral work
Kothen, R. Priest and the proletariat. (D '48)
Peale, N. V. Guide to confident living. (My '48)
Patch. Elting, M., and Gossett, M. (O '48)
Patchwork time. Gibbons, R. F. (Mr '48)
Paterson, New Jersey

Poetry

Williams, W. C. Paterson (book two). (Ag '48)
Paterson (book two). Williams, W. C. (Ag '48)
Path of thunder. Abrahams, P. (Ap '48)
Pathetic symphony. Mann, K. (Je '48)
Patrick, Saint

Fiction

Schofield, W. G. Deer cry. (N '48)
Patrick calls me mother. Barley, A. L. (Ag '48)
Patsy Jefferson of Monticello. Vance, M. (D '48)
Pattern grading, simplified. Kirschner, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Pattern of imperialism. Winslow, E. M. (S '48)
Patterns of union-management. Harbison, F. H., and Dublin, R. (Ap '48)
Paul, Saint
Goodspeed, E. J. Paul. (Ap '48)
Schonfield, H. J. Jew of Tarsus. (My '48)
Paul's apartment. Van Siller, H. (Ag '48)
Paul's Epistle to the Romans. Scott, E. F. (Ap '48)
Peace
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Learning and world peace. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Friedrich, C. J. Inevitable peace. (My '48)
Heinz, H. J., and Iorgy, J. Last defense. (My '48)
Meyer, C. Peace or anarchy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Muste, A. J. Not by might. (Ap '48)
Park, N. White man's peace. (S '48)
Stuntz, H. C. United nations challenge to the church. (S '48)
Urquhart, C., ed. Last chance. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Wallace, H. A. Toward world peace. (Je '48)
Peace. Jünger, E. (O '48)
Peace in our time. Coward, N. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Peace or anarchy. Meyer, C. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Peace or power. Butler, H. B. (S '48)
Peace treaties, 1919
Muralt, L. von. From Versailles to Pottsdam. (O '48)
Peachtree island. Lawrence, M. (D '48)
Peacock country. Waring, P. A. (Ap '48)
Peale, Charles Willson
Sellers, C. C. Charles Willson Peale. (Ag '48)

Peasantry
Mexico
Whetten, N. L. Rural Mexico. (D '48)
Russia
Maynard, J. Russia in flux. (My '48)
Pease, Herbert L.
Pease, H. L. Singing rails. (O '48)
Pedro's choice. Blanton, C. (D '48)
Peg-a-leg. Linwood, J. (Je '48)
Pelican here, pelican there. Weisgard, L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Pembroke and Striguil, William Marshal, 1st earl of
Fiction
Edmondston, C. M., and Hyde, M. L. F. King's man. (My '48)
Penal colony. Kafka, F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pendergast, Thomas Joseph
Milligan, M. M. Inside story of the Pendergast machine. (My '48)
Penn, Gulielma Maria (Springett) (Mrs William Penn)
Hodgkin, L. V. Gulielma. (Mr '48)
Pennsylvania
Economic policy
Hartz, L. Economic policy and democratic thought. (D '48)
Pennsylvania Dutch cook book. Hutchison, R. S. (S '48)
Pennsylvania railroad
Alexander, E. P. Pennsylvania railroad. (Ap '48)
Penny goes to camp. Haywood, C. (O '48)
Pennyweather luck. Hubbard, M. A. (D '48)
Penuchle (game). See Pinocle (game)
Peony. Buck, P. S. (Je '48)
People and process in social security. De Schweinitz, K. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
People in colonies. Goshal, K. (N '48)
People opposite. Thompson, S. (D '48)
People's song book. Hille, W., and others, eds. (N '48)
Pepsin
Northrop, J. H., and others. Crystalline enzymes. (D '48)
Perception
Sherman, H. L., and others. Drawing by seeing. (Ap '48)
Perennial harvest. Smith, P. H. (Je '48)
Peretz, Isaac Loeb
Samuel, M. Prince of the ghetto. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Perfection
Chalmers, A. K. High wind at noon. (D '48)
Periodicals
Bibliography
Ulrich's periodicals directory [1947]. (Je '48)
Directories
Ulrich's periodicals directory [1947]. (Je '48)
Permanent Goethe. Goethe, J. W. von. (O '48)
Pershing, John Joseph
Palmer, F. John J. Pershing. (N '48)
Persia
History
Ancient to A.D. 640
Olmstead, A. T. History of the Persian empire. (N '48)
Near and Middle East. (N '48)
Persian art and design influences from the Persimmon Hill. Kennerly, W. C. (D '48)
Person and the common good. Maritain, J. (My '48)
Personal equation. Guerard, A. L. (Je '48)
Personal finance. Donaldson, E. F. (S '48)
Personal papers. Chekhov, A. P. (Ag '48)
Personality
Kluckhohn, C., and Murray, H. A., eds. Personality in nature, society, and culture. (D '48)
Lewisohn, S. A. Painters and personality [rev ed]. (O '48)
Menninger, W. C., and Leaf, M. You and psychiatry. (S '48)
Murphy, G. Personality. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Salter, J. A. Personality in politics. (O '48)
Saul, L. J. Emotional maturity. (Ag '48)
Sorokin, P. A. Reconstruction of humanity. (Je '48)
Wiggam, A. E. New techniques of happiness. (D '48)
Personality, Disorders of
Beverly, B. I. Psychology of growth. (Je '48)
Bluemel, C. S. War, politics, and insanity. (S '48)
Personality in nature, society, and culture. Kluckhohn, C., and Murray, H. A., eds. (D '48)
Personality in politics. Salter, J. A. (O '48)
Personnel administration. Pigors, P. J. W., and Myers, C. A. (Ap '48)
Personnel and industrial psychology. Ghiselli, E. E. and Brown, C. W. (S '48)
Personnel service in education
Davis, F. G., ed. Pupil personnel service. (Je '48)
Wood, B. D., and Haefner, R. Measuring and guiding individual growth. (N '48)
Persuade or perish. Carroll, W. (S '48)
Peru
Description and travel
Wilder, W. B. Grandfather vs. Peru. (S '48)
Pete the great magician. Logan, D. (S '48)
Peter, Saint
Walsh, W. T. Saint Peter, the apostle. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Fiction
Douglas, L. C. Big fisherman. (D '48)
Peter I, the Great, emperor of Russia
Lamb, H. City and the Tsar. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Peter paints the U.S.A. Colby, J. P. (Je '48)
Petroleum
Bell, H. S. Oil shales and shale oils. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Jones, P. J. Petroleum production; v4, Condensate production and cycling. (N '48)
Weil, B. H., and Lane, J. C. Synthetic petroleum from the synthine process. (N '48)
Geology
Crump, I. Our oil hunters. (D '48)
Petroleum industry and trade
Rostow, E. V. National policy for the oil industry. (S '48)
Pennsylvania
Giddens, P. H. Early days of oil. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Petroleum production; v4, Condensate production and cycling. Jones, P. J. (N '48)
Phantom backfield. Brier, H. M. (D '48)
Philadelphia. Independence Hall
Eberlein, H. D., and Hubbard, C. V. Diary of Independence Hall. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Philippine Islands
Juvenile literature
O'Neill, H. Picture story of the Philippines. (Je '48)
Politics and government
Bernstein, D. Philippine story. (Ag '48 (1947 Annual) Philippine story. Bernstein, D. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Philo Judaeus
Wolfson, H. A. Philo. (My '48)
Philosophers
Dunham, J. H. Religion of philosophers. (O '48)
Philosopher's way. Wahl, J. A. (O '48)
Philosophies of education from the standpoint of the philosophy of experimentalism. Wynne, J. P. (My '48)
Philosophy
Buber, M. Between man and man. (D '48)
Geiger, G. R. Philosophy and the social order. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Martin, H. Inquiring mind. (Ag '48)
Wahl, J. A. Philosopher's way. (O '48)
Whitehead, A. N. Wit and wisdom. (Ap '48)
History
Miller, H. Historical introduction to modern philosophy. (Ap '48)
Weber, A. Farewell to European history. (S '48)

Philosophy, American
Boorstin, D. J. Lost world of Thomas Jefferson. (N '48)
Philosophy, Chinese
Feng, Y. Short history of Chinese philosophy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Philosophy, Indic
Rāmakṛishṇa. Ramakrishna: prophet of new India. (Ap '48)
Philosophy, Modern
Cosgrave, J. O. Man. (Ap '48)
Philosophy and religion
Dunham, J. H. Religion of philosophers. (O '48)
Philosophy and the social order. Geiger, G. R. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual) Philosophy of decadentism. Bobbio, N. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Philosophy of religion. Sheen, F. J. (D '48)
Phonograph records
Barbour, H. B., and Freeman, W. S. Children's record book. (Ap '48)
Delaunay, C. New hot discography. (D '48)
Gramophone shop, inc. Gramophone shop encyclopedia of recorded music [3d ed]. (N '48)
Hall, D. Record book. (O '48)
Lieberson, G., ed. Columbia book of musical masterworks. (My '48)
Whiteman, P. Records for the millions. (O '48)

Juvenile literature

Eisenberg, P., and Krasno, H. Guide to children's records. (D '48)
Phosphorus

Physiological effect

Sherman, H. C. Calcium and phosphorus in foods and nutrition. (My '48)
Photographic books
Mother Goose. Toni Frissell's Mother Goose. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Photography
Deschin, J. Fun with your camera. (Ag '48)
Grabbe, P., and Sherman, J. E. Outdoors with the camera [rev ed]. (Je '48)
James, T. H., and Higgins, G. C. Fundamentals of photographic theory. (Ag '48)

Lighting

Abel, C. Commercial photographic lightings. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Yearbooks

Great pictures, 1948. (Ag '48)
Photography, Aerial
Spurr, S. H. Aerial photographs in forestry. (Ag '48)
Photography, Artistic
Thorek, M. Camera art as a means of self-expression. (Ap '48)
Photography, Commercial
Abel, C. Commercial photographic lightings. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Zielke, M. H., and Beezley, F. G. How to take industrial photographs. (Ag '48)
Photography of birds
Bovey, M. K. Whistling wings. (Mr '48)
Cruickshank, H. G. Flight into sunshine. (D '48)
Park, A. F. Making friends with birds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Physical education and training
Stafford, G. T. Sports for the handicapped. (Ag '48)
Physical science and human values. Wigner, E. P., ed. (Mr '48)
Physicians

Biography

Rosen, G. and B. C., eds. 400 years of a doctor's life. (My '48)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Gilberg, A. Eskimo doctor. (S '48)
Physics

Bibliography

Parke, N. G. Guide to the literature of mathematics and physics. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)

History

Fraser, C. G. Half hours with great scientists. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Schneider, H. and N. Let's look inside your house. (N '48)

Philosophy

Lecomte du Noüy, P. Road to reason. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Physics and politics. Bagehot, W. (D '48)
Piano

Instruction and study

Foldes, A. Keys to the keyboard. (Je '48)
Freedman, J. Teaching piano to your child. (Ag '48)
McClintock, L. Teach yourself to play the piano. (O '48)
Piano music
Apel, W. Masters of the keyboard. (Ap '48)
Ferguson, D. N. Piano music of six great composers. (My '48)

History and criticism

Hutcheson, E. Literature of the piano. (O '48)
Piano music of six great composers. Ferguson, D. N. (My '48)
Piazza tales. Melville, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Picasso, Pablo (Pablo Ruys)
Eluard, P. Pablo Picasso. (Mr '48)
Sabartes, J. Picasso. (Ag '48)
Picture book of the weather. Meyer, J. S. (D '48)
Picture story of the Philippines. O'Neill, H. (Je '48)
Pictures
Stout, G. L. Care of pictures. (N '48)
Pictures, painters, and you. Bethers, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Pig in a poke. Thayer, L. (Ap '48)
Pilgrim's inn. Goudge, E. (Ap '48)
Pillars of faith. Ferré, N. F. S. (O '48)
Pine, potatoes and people. Hamlin, H. (Ag '48)
Piney bear. Ogston, H. (My '48)
Pinocle (game)
MacDougall, M. On pinochle. (Je '48)
Pinto's journey. Bronson, W. S. (Je '48)
Pioneer life in Kentucky. Drake, D. (S '48)
Pioneer preacher. Berryman, O. L. (D '48)
Pioneer railroad. Casey, R. J., and Douglas, W. A. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pioneer woman in Alaska. Romig, E. C. (S '48)
Pipe fitting
Heating and ventilating (periodical). Engineering databook. (Ag '48)
Pippin, Horace
Rodman, S. Horace Pippin, a Negro painter in America. (Mr '48)
Pisan Cantos. Pound, E. L. (O '48)
Pittsburgh. Baseball club (National league)
Lieb, F. G. Pittsburgh Pirates. (S '48)
Pittsburgh Pirates. Lieb, F. G. (S '48)
Pizarro, Francisco, marquis

Juvenile literature

Duvoisin, R. A. Four corners of the world. (D '48)
The plague. Camus, A. (S '48)
Plague and I. MacDonald, B. B. H. (N '48)
Planning and the price mechanism. Meade, J. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Planning industrial structures. Dunham, C. W. (S '48)
Plantagenet, House of
Harvey, J. H. Plantagenets. (D '48)
Plantagenets. Harvey, J. H. (D '48)
Plastic arts crafts. Adams, J. V. (N '48)
Plasticity
Alfrey, T. Mechanical behavior of high polymers. (S '48)
Plastics
Adams, J. V. Plastic arts crafts. (N '48)
Groneman, C. H. Plastics made practical. (S '48)
Newkirk, L. V., and others. Adventures with plastics. (Mr '48)

Dictionaries

Dickinson, T. A. Plastics dictionary. (Ag '48)
Plastics dictionary. Dickinson, T. A. (Ag '48)

Plastics made practical. Groneman, C. H. (S '48)

Plato
Guardini, R. Death of Socrates. (S '48)
Plato. Portable Plato. (D '48)

Play of St George. Masefield, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Play production. Smith, M. M. (O '48)
Playing for keeps. Vailland, R. (O '48)
Playing with fire. Eng title of: Playing for keeps. Vailland, R. (O '48)
Playtime in Cherry street. Bianco, P. (N '48)
Pleasant morning light. Lawrence, J. (Je '48)
Pleasures and regrets. Proust, M. (S '48)
Pleasures of the jazz age. Hodapp, W. C., ed. (O '48)
Plight of freedom. Scherer, P. E. (N '48)
Plowshares into swords. Chew, A. P. (D '48)
Plunder. Adams, S. H. (My '48)
Plundered heart. Todrin, B. (O '48)

Plywood
Meyer, L. H. Plywood. (Ap '48)
Perry, T. D. Modern plywood [2d ed]. (O '48)

Poe, Edgar Allan
Poe, E. A. Letters. (D '48)

Poems. Adams, M. J. (O '48)
Poems. Benjamin, P. (O '48)
Poems. Ignatow, D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Poems. Smith, W. J. (D '48)
Poems for the great days. Clark, T. C. and R. E., comps. (Ag '48)
Poems, 1940-47. Spencer, T. (My '48)
Poems, 1943-1947. Day-Lewis, C. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Poems, 1922-1947. Tate, A. (Ap '48)
Poet and his time. Wiechert, E. E. (O '48)

Poetry
Farren, R. How to enjoy poetry. (S '48)
Graves, R. White goddess. (O '48)
O'Connor, W. V. Sense and sensibility in modern poetry. (F '49) (1948 Annual) Tate, A. On the limits of poetry. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Collections
Clark, T. C. and R. E., comps. Poems for the great days. (Ag '48)
Thérèse, Sister, ed. I sing of a Maiden. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Poetry (individual)
Adams, M. J. Poems. (O '48)
Aiken, C. P. The Kid. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Bangs, J. N. Cornstalk fiddle. (Ag '48)
Batchelor, J. M. Poems. (Je '48)
Benjamin, P. Poems. (O '48)
Benton, W. Never a greater need. (My '48)
Berryman, J. Dispossessed. (Ag '48)
Bishop, J. P. Collected poems. (N '48)
Blackmur, R. P. Good European. (Je '48)
Bowes-Lyon, L. H. Collected poems. (D '48)
Brecht, B. Selected poems. (Mr '48)
Coatsworth, E. J. Summer green. (D '48)
Cruickshank, N. K. In the tower's shadow. (N '48)
Cummins, P. D. Defeated. (My '48)
Daugherty, J. H. Wild wild West. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Davis, R. R. Questing self. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Day-Lewis, C. Poems, 1943-1947. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Eberhart, R. Burr Oaks. (Ag '48)
Everson, W. Residual years. (D '48)
Fearing, K. Stranger at Coney Island. (N '48)
Frost, F. M. Christmas is shaped like stars. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Garcia Lorca, F. Selected poems. (My '48)
Gibson, W. Winter crook. (S '48)
Goodman, M. W. Single flame. (Je '48)
Goudge, E. Songs and verses. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Grelle, L. R. Remembered weather. (My '48)
Herschberger, R. Way of happening. (S '48)
Hopkins, G. M. Poems. (N '48)
Horan, R. Beginning. (Ag '48)
Hubbell, L. W. Long Island triptych. (Ap '48)
Ignatow, D. Poems. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Jarrell, R. Losses. (Je '48)
Jeffers, R. Double axe. (S '48)
Kagawa, T., and Cole, F. Willow and the bridge. (Ap '48)
Keith, J. J. Always the need. (S '48)
Lanier, S. Selected poems. (Ap '48)
Lawrence, D. H. Selected poems. (My '48)
McGrath, T. To walk a crooked mile. (Je '48)
McLaughlin, H. Where the moment was. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
MacLeish, A. Actfive. (O '48)
MacLeod, N. Man in midpassage. (S '48)
Meredith, W. M. Ships and other figures. (S '48)
Merton, T. Figures for an apocalypse. (Ag '48)
Newman, J. S. It could be verse. (D '48)
Oxenham, J. Selected poems. (Ja '48) (1948 Annual)
Pound, E. L. Cantos. (O '48)
Pound, E. L. Pisan Cantos. (O '48)
Pratt, E. J. Behind the log. (Ag '48)
Quick, D. Variations on a theme. (My '48)
Rimbaud, J. N. A. Four poems. (S '48)
Roethke, T. Lost son. (Ag '48)
Rukeyser, M. Green wave. (My '48)
Sarton, M. Lion and the rose. (Je '48)
Scott, W. T. Mr Whittier, and other poems. (N '48)
Shapiro, K. J. Trial of a poet. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Sitwell, E. Song of the cold. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Smith, W. J. Poems. (D '48)
Spencer, B. Aegean islands. (Ap '48)
Spencer, T. Poems, 1940-47. (My '48)
Spender, S. Returning to Vienna 1947. (My '48)
Stevens, W. Transport to summer. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Stork, C. W. On board Old Ironsides. (S '48)
Sullivan, A. M. Tim Murphy. (My '48)
Tate, A. Poems, 1922-1947. (Ap '48)
Van Doren, M. New poems. (My '48)
Verlaine, P. M. Selected poems. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Viereck, P. R. E. Terror and decorum. (D '48)
Watkins, V. Selected poems. (O '48)
Williams, W. C. Paterson (book two). (Ag '48)

Poetry of history. Neff, E. E. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Poets at work. (Ap '48)
Pogo's farm adventure. Norling, J. S. (Je '48)
Poison speaks softly. Clark, D. P. (Mr '48)

Poland

Foreign relations

Russia
Lane, A. B. I saw Poland betrayed. (Ap '48)
Mikolajczyk, S. Rape of Poland. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Politics and government
Lane, A. B. I saw Poland betrayed. (Ap '48)

Police

United States
Floherty, J. J. Behind the silver shield. (N '48)

Polish folk tales. Borski, L. M., tr. (My '48)

Political conventions
Stoddard, H. L. Presidential sweepstakes. (Ag '48)

Political dictionary. White, W. W. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)

Political parties
Hesseltine, W. B. Rise and fall of third parties. (Je '48)

United States
Key, V. O. Politics, parties, and pressure groups [2d ed]. (Ag '48)

Political power in the U.S.S.R, 1917-1947. Towster, J. (D '48)

Political science
Bagehot, W. Physics and politics. (D '48)
Corry, J. A. Elements of democratic government. (Ap '48)
Ebenstein, W., ed. Man and the state. (Mr '48)
Friedwald, E. M. Man's last choice. (Mr '48)
Gross, F., ed. European ideologies. (D '48)
Heimann, E. Freedom and order. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Lasswell, H. D. Analysis of political behaviour. (N '48)

Political science—Continued
Neilson, F. Modern man and the liberal arts. (My '48)
Rowse, A. L. End of an epoch. (My '48)
Waldo, C. D. Administrative state. (O '48)
Dictionaries
White, W. W. Political dictionary. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)
History
Dodge, G. H. Political theory of the Huguenots of the dispersion. (My '48)
Watkins, F. M. Political tradition of the West. (D '48)
Political theory of the Huguenots of the dispersion. Dodge, G. H. (My '48)
Political tradition of the West. Watkins, F. M. (D '48)
Politics, Practical
Bluemel, C. S. War, politics, and insanity. (S '48)
Key, V. O. Politics, parties, and pressure groups [2d ed]. (Ag '48)
Politics among nations. Morgenthau, H. J. (D '48)
Politics in the Empire state. Moscow, W. (S '48)
Politics of equality. Lipson, L. (O '48)
Politics, parties, and pressure groups [2d ed]. Key, V. O. (Ag '48)
Polymers and polymerization
Alfrey, T. Mechanical behavior of high polymers. (S '48)
Polysaccharides
McIlroy, R. J. Chemistry of the polysaccharides. (N '48)
Pontiac, Ottawa chief
Peckham, H. H. Pontiac and the Indian uprising. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Pontiac and the Indian uprising. Peckham, H. H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Pony called Lightning. Mason, M. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pony farm. Brown, P. (N '48)
Pony wagon town, along U.S. 1890. Riker, B. (N '48)
Poor scholar. Kiely, B. (S '48)
Popular gemology. Pearl, R. M. (O '48)
Population
Smith, T. L. Population analysis. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Population analysis. Smith, T. L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Portable Greek reader. Auden, W. H., ed. (N '48)
Portable Hawthorne. Hawthorne, N. (O '48)
Portable Plato. Plato. (D '48)
Portable Swift. Swift, J. (Ag '48)
Portable Veblen. Veblen, T. B. (Ag '48)
Portrait of New York. Beaton, C. (N '48)
Portrait of the anti-Semite. Eng title of: Anti-Semite and Jew. Sartre, J. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Portraits
Egbert, D. D., and Lee, D. M. Princeton portraits. (S '48)
Portraits with backgrounds. Barjansky, C., and Denniston, E. (Mr '48)
Portugal
History
Livermore, H. V. History of Portugal. (Ap '48
Postage stamps
Kehr, E. A. Romance of stamp collecting. (Mr '48)
Postal service
Great Britain
Robinson, H. British post office. (S '48)
Postman. Marshak, S. I. (D '48)
Postscript to Wendy. Scheinfeld, A. (O '48)
Postscript to yesterday. Morris, L. R. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Postwar Germans. Rodnick, D. (My '48)
Pottery
Lester, K. M. Creative ceramics. (N '48)
Randall, R. H. Ceramic sculpture. (S '48)
Pottery, German
Honey, W. B. German porcelain. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Pottery, Korean
Honey, W. B. Corean pottery. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Poultry
Klein, G. T. Starting right with poultry. (My '48)
Pound, Roscoe
Sayre, P. L. Life of Roscoe Pound. (D '48)
Powder metallurgy. Schwarzkopf, P., and others. (Mr '48)
Power and personality. Lasswell, H. D. (O '48)
Power from the wind. Putnam, P. C. (O '48)
Power golf. Hogan, B. (O '48)
Power system stability, v 1. Kimbark, E. W. (S '48)
Practical astronomy. Nassau, J. J. (D '48)
Practical chess openings. Fine, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Practical electrical wiring [3d ed]. Richter, H. P. (Ap '48)
Practical electricity and house wiring [new ed]. Richter, H. P. (D '48)
Practical evaluation of railroad motive power. Kiefer, P. W. (S '48)
Practical job evaluation. Jones, P. W. (Ag '48)
Practical job pointers [2d rev ed]. Burbank, N. L., comp. (Mr '48)
Practical nurse. Deming, D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Practical residential wiring. Nowak, J. F. (D '48)
Practical rules for graphic presentation of business statistics. Smart, L. E., and Arnold, S. (Je '48)
Practical sign painting. Owen, R. E. (S '48)
Practice of group therapy. Slavson, S. R., ed. (O '48)
Prayer
Bro, M. H. More than we are. (O '48)
Claudel, P. Lord, teach us to pray. (D '48)
Harkness, G. E. Prayer and the common life. (S '48)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about prayer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Prayer and the common life. Harkness, G. E. (S '48)
Prayers
Bartlett, R. M. Boys' prayers. (Mr '48)
Glatzer, N. N., ed. Language of faith. (Mr '48)
Precious stones
Anderson, B. W. Gem testing. (D '48)
Kraus, E. H., and Slawson, C. B. Gems and gem materials. (Je '48)
Precipice. MacLennan, H. (O '48)
Precision draping. Link, N. W. (S '48)
Precision investment castings. Cady, E. L. (S '48)
Preliminary draft of a world constitution. Committee to frame a world constitution. (N '48)
Prematurely gay. Iams, J. (Ap '48)
Preparation and characteristics of solid luminescent materials. Fonda, G. R., and Seitz, F., eds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Preparation, properties, chemical behavior, and identification of organic chlorine compounds. Huntress, E. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Preparing for federal radio operator examinations. Shostak, A. A. (S '48)
Pre-Raphaelite painters. Ironside, R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Preraphaelitism
Ironside, R. Pre-Raphaelite painters. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
President is many men. Smith, A. M. (Ag '48)
President Roosevelt and the coming of the war, 1941. Beard, C. A. (My '48)
Presidential sweepstakes. Stoddard, H. L. (Ag '48)
Presidents (United States)
Levin, P. R. Seven by chance. (S '48)
Long, J. C. Liberal presidents. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Smith, A. M. President is many men. (Ag '48)
Whitton, M. O. First First ladies, 1789-1865. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Election
Stoddard, H. L. Presidential sweepstakes. (Ag '48)
Pictorial works
Milhollen, H. D., and Kaplan, M. Presidents on parade. (Je '48)
Presidents on parade. Milhollen, H. D., and Kaplan, M. (Je '48)

Press
United States
Seldes, G. One thousand Americans. (Mr '48)
Press law
Rothenberg, I. The newspaper. (Ag '48)
Pressure vessels
Spring, H. M. Pressure vessels for industry. (Ag '48)
Pressure vessels for industry. Spring, H. M. (Ag '48)
Pretorius, Philip Jacobus
Pretorius, P. J. Jungle man. (O '48)
Pretty, please. Daly, S. J. (D '48)
Prevalence of witches. Menen, A. (Mr '48)
Price of power. Baldwin, H. W. (My '48)
Prices
Bain, J. S. Pricing, distribution, and employment. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Hamilton, E. J. War and prices in Spain. (Je '48)
Johnson, D. G. Forward prices for agriculture. (My '48)
Pricing, distribution, and employment. Bain, J. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Priest and the proletariat. Kothen, R. (D '48)
Priest-workman in Germany. Perrin, H. (My '48)
Prime antiques and their current prices. Ormsbee, T. H., ed. (Ap '48)
Primitivism
Boas, G. Essays on primitivism. (D '48)
Prince of Arabia. Stitt, G. (O '48)
Prince of Paris. Adams, K. (My '48)
Prince of the ghetto. Samuel, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Princess Casamassima. James, H. (O '48)
Princeton portraits. Egbert, D. D., and Lee, D. M. (S '48)
Princeton university
Biography
Egbert, D. D., and Lee, D. M. Princeton portraits. (S '48)
Principles and methods of telemetering. Borden, P. A., and Thynell, G. M. (D '48)
Principles of chemistry [5th ed]. Hildebrand, J. H. (Je '48)
Principles of food freezing. Gortner, W. A., and others. (My '48)
Principles of jet propulsion and gas turbines. Zucrow, M. J. (S '48)
Principles of micropalaeontology. Glaessner, M. F. (Ag '48)
Principles of personnel testing. Lawshe, C. H. (O '48)
Principles of servomechanisms. Brown, G. S., and Campbell, D. P. (O '48)
Principles of vocational education. Keller, F. J. (O '48)
Printing, Practical
Style manuals
Skillin, M. E., and others. Words into type. (N '48)
Priscilla (steamboat)
McAdam, R. W. Priscilla of Fall River. (Mr '48)
Priscilla of Fall River. McAdam, R. W. (Mr '48)
Prisoners of the night. Romanski, A. K. (Mr '48)
Prisoners of the Redwoods. Powers, A. (D '48)
Prisons
Great Britain
Degras, H. E. Gaol delivery. (S '48)
India
Hutheesing, K. N. Shadows on the wall. (My '48)
Private enterprise. Thirkell, A. M. (Mr '48)
Private enterprise or government in medicine. Bauer, L. H. (S '48)
Prize homes. (N '48)
Prize stories of 1948. O. Henry memorial award. (N '48)
Problems of American society. Cuber, J. F., and Harper, R. A. (D '48)
Problems of child delinquency. Merrill, M. A. (Ap '48)
Proceed at will. Wilkinson, B. (Je '48)
Process and organization of government planning. Millett, J. D. (Ag '48)
Process engineering. Schutt, W. H. (D '48)
Process of creative writing. Hogrefe, P. (Je '48)
Production cost trends in selected industrial areas. Neff, P., and others. (O '48)
Production in the United States, 1860-1914. Frickey, E. (My '48)
Profession, Choice of
Broadley, C. V. and M. E. Know your real abilities. (S '48)
Professor's umbrella. Ward, M. J. (Mr '48)
Profile of Europe. Welles, S. G. (N '48)
Progress
Bosworth, E. I. Christian religion and human progress. (N '48)
Frankel, C. Faith of reason. (S '48)
Projected visual aids in the church. Hockman, W. S. (Mr '48)
Propaganda
Carroll, W. Persuade or perish. (S '48)
Doob, L. W. Public opinion and propaganda. (S '48)
McMurry, R. E., and Lee, M. Cultural approach. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Propellers
Theodorsen, T. Theory of propellers. (S '48)
Proper study of mankind. Chase, S. (N '48)
Property
Fletcher, J. F., ed. Christianity and property. (Ap '48)
Prophet in the wilderness. Hagedorn, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Prospecting for a united church. Dun, A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Prosperity decade. Soule, G. H. (Ap '48)
Protecting our children from criminal careers. Ellingston, J. R. (O '48)
Proteins
Sahyun, M., ed. Proteins and amino acids in nutrition. (S '48)
Proteins and amino acids in nutrition. Sahyun, M., ed. (S '48)
Protestant church and the Negro. Loescher, F. S. (O '48)
Protestant church building. Leach, W. H. (Ag '48)
Protestant Episcopal church in Virginia
Brydon, G. M. Virginia's mother church. (O '48)
Protestant era. Tillich, P. J. (S '48)
Protestant pulpit. Blackwood, A. W., comp. (Mr '48)
Protestantism
Bach, M. L. Report to Protestants. (O '48)
Tillich, P. J. Protestant era. (S '48)
Proud way. Seifert, S. (Ag '48)
Proudhon, Pierre Joseph
Lubac, H. de. Un-Marxian socialist. (O '48)
Proust, Marcel
March, H. Two worlds of Marcel Proust. (Ag '48)
Proverbs
Stevenson, B. E., ed. Home book of proverbs, maxims and familiar phrases. (D '48)
Psychiatric study of Jesus. Schweitzer, A. (S '48)
Psychiatry
Overholser, W., and Richmond, W. V. Handbook of psychiatry. (My '48)
Psychiatry and religion. Liebman, J. L., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Psychiatry in a troubled world. Menninger, W. C. (O '48)
Psychiatry: its evolution and present status. Menninger, W. C. (S '48)
Psychoanalysis
Bergler, E. Battle of the conscience. (O '48)
Freud, S. Freud; on war, sex and neurosis. (S '48)
Ludwig, E. Doctor Freud. (Mr '48)
Reik, T. Listening with the third ear. (O '48)
Schneider, L. Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. (D '48)
Wolfe, B., and Rosenthal, R. B. Hypnotism comes of age. (S '48)
Psychological warfare
Linebarger, P. M. A. Psychological warfare. (Ag '48)

Psychologists

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Reik, T. Listening with the third ear. (O '48)

Psychology
Boring, E. G., and others, eds. Foundations of psychology. (D '48)
Fromm, E. Man for himself. (Ap '48)
Sorenson, H., and Malm, M. Psychology for living. (Ag '48)

Psychology, Applied
Bray, C. W. Psychology and military proficiency. (D '48)
Broadley, C. V. and M. E. Know your real abilities. (S '48)
Crawford, J. E., and Woodward, L. E. Better ways of growing up. (Je '48)
Ghiselli, E. E. and Brown, C. W. Personnel and industrial psychology. (S '48)
Gould, L. Way to be happy. (D '48)
Lasswell, H. D. Power and personality. (O '48)
Peale, N. V. Guide to confident living. (My '48)
Ryan, T. A. Work and effort. (Ap '48)
Scherf, C. H. Do your own thinking. (N '48)
Thomason, C. C. Human relations in action. (Ag '48)

Psychology, Pastoral
Bonnell, J. S. Psychology for pastor and people. (Je '48)
Liebman, J. L., ed. Psychiatry and religion. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Psychology, Pathological
Ehrenwald, J. Telepathy and medical psychology. (Je '48)
Mayo, E. Some notes on the psychology of Pierre Janet. (N '48)
Menninger, W. C. Psychiatry in a troubled world. (O '48)
Menninger, W. C. Psychiatry: its evolution and present status. (S '48)
Menninger, W. C., and Leaf, M. You and psychiatry. (S '48)
Rennie, T. A. C., and Woodward, L. E. Mental health in modern society. (Ag '48)

Psychology, Religious
Gray, A. H. Secret of inward peace. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Psychology and military proficiency. Bray, C. W. (D '48)
Psychology for living. Sorenson, H., and Malm, M. (Ag '48)
Psychology for pastor and people. Bonnell, J. S. (Je '48)
Psychology of growth. Beverly, B. I. (Je '48)
Psychology of imagination. Sartre, J. P. (S '48)
Psychosocial medicine. Halliday, J. L. (S '48)

Psychotherapy
Hamilton, G. Psychotherapy in child guidance. (S '48)
Liebman, J. L., ed. Psychiatry and religion. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Muench, G. A. Evaluation of non-directive psychotherapy. (Je '48)
Slavson, S. R., ed. Practice of group therapy. (O '48)
Psychotherapy in child guidance. Hamilton, G. (S '48)

Public administration
Gulick, L. H. Administrative reflections from World war II. (O '48)
Rosenfarb, J. Freedom and the administrative state. (S '48)
Waldo, C. D. Administrative state. (O '48)
White, L. D. The Federalists. (Ag '48)

Public health
Phelps, E. B., and others. Public health engineering. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Public health engineering. Phelps, E. B., and others. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Public opinion
Doob, L. W. Public opinion and propaganda. (S '48)

Europe

Visson, A. As others see us. (D '48)

Great Britain

Vanderschmidt, F. What the English think of us. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

United States
Bailey, T. A. Man in the street. (Je '48)
Cottrell, L. S., and Eberhart, S. American opinion on world affairs in the atomic age. (D '48)
Public opinion and propaganda. Doob, L. W. (S '48)
Public relations at work. Baus, H. M. (Je '48)
Public-school publicity. Horn, G. (D '48)

Public schools (endowed)

England

Leeson, S. Public schools question. (S '48)

Great Britain

Malim, F. B. Almae matres. (My '48)
Public schools question. Leeson, S. (S '48)

Public speaking
Hoffman, W. G. How to make better speeches. (D '48)
Wright, C. W. Better speeches for all occasions. (Ag '48)

Publicity
Baker, H. C., and Routzahn, M. B. S. How to interpret social welfare. (Ap '48)
Baus, H. M. Public relations at work. (Je '48)
Goldman, E. F. Two-way street. (N '48)
Griswold, G. and D. P., eds. Your public relations. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Horn, G. Public-school publicity. (D '48)
Nunmaker, F. G. Library broadcasts. (N '48)
Ramsberger, J. F. How to make publicity work. (S '48)
Reck, W. E., ed. College publicity manual. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Pueblo Indians
Whitman, W. Pueblo Indians of San Ildefonso. (Je '48)
Pulse generators. Glasoe, G. N., and Lebacqz, J. V., eds. (S '48)

Pumas
Hibben, F. C. Hunting American lions. (N '48)

Pumping machinery
Stepanoff, A. J. Centrifugal and axial flow pumps. (Ag '48)
Pupil personnel service. Davis, F. G., ed. (Je '48)
Purchasing. Heinritz, S. F. (My '48)

Puritans
Schenk, W. Concern for social justice in the Puritan revolution. (D '48)
Pursuit of Robert Emmet. Landreth, H. (Ap '48)
Pursuit of the horizon. Haberly, L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Pushkin, Aleksandr Sergi͡eevich
Lavrin, J. Pushkin and Russian literature. (Ag '48)
Pushkin and Russian literature. Lavrin, J. (Ag '48)
Put yourself in Marshall's place. Warburg, J. P. (My '48)
Puzzle pond. Flexner, H. (D '48)

Puzzles
Cott, T., and others. Isn't it a crime? (Ap '48)

Q. E. D.; M. I. T. in World war II. Burchard, J. E. (S '48)
Quality control. Enrick, N. L. (D '48)
Quality control in industry. Rutherford, J. G. (D '48)
Quality control methods. Kennedy, C. W. (S '48)

Quarter horse
Nye, N. C. Outstanding modern quarter horse sires. (Je '48)
Quartets of Beethoven. Mason, D. G. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Queen's awards, 1948. Queen, E., ed. (N '48)
Queen's physician. Maass, E. (Ap '48)
Quench the moon. Macken, W. (Je '48)
Quest for love of Lao Lee. Shu, C. (D '48)
Questing self. Davis, R. R. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Question of German guilt. Jaspers, K. (Ap '48)
Questions and answers. See Information tests
Quicksand. Brinkley, W. W. (O '48)
Quiet kingdom. Hubler, R. G. (My '48)

Quiller-Couch, Sir Arthur Thomas
Brittain, F. Arthur Quiller-Couch. (D '48)
Quotations
Bartlett, J., comp. Familiar quotations [12th rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Berger, O., ed. Aesop's foibles. (Mr '48)
Stevenson, B. E., ed. Home book of proverbs, maxims and familiar phrases. (D '48)

Rabbi of Bacherach. Heine, H. (Mr '48)
Rabbits
Juvenile literature
Zim, H. S. Rabbits. (My '48)
Race
Benedict, R. F., and Weltfish, G. In Henry's backyard. (Ap '48)
Race and nationality. Fairchild, H. P. (Mr '48)
Race problems
Cox, O. C. Caste, class and race. (Ap '48)
Racine, Jean Baptiste
Orgel, V. New view of the plays of Racine. (D '48)
Turnell, M. Classical moment. (O '48)
Radar
Cady, W. M., and others, eds. Radar scanners and radomes. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hall, J. S., ed. Radar aids to navigation. (Ap '48)
Roberts, A. ed. Radar beacons. (Ag '48)
Rowe, A. P. One story of radar. (N '48)
Smith, R. A. Radio aids to navigation. (O '48)
Soller, T., and others, eds. Cathode ray tube displays. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Radar aids to navigation. Hall, J. S., ed. (Ap '48)
Radar beacons. Roberts, A., ed. (Ag '48)
Radar scanners and radomes. Cady, W. M., and others, eds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Radiant heating. Shoemaker, R. W. (S '48)
Radicals and radicalism
Adams, M. R. Studies in the literary backgrounds of English radicalism. (Ag '48)
Radio
Marcus, A. and W. Elements of radio [2d ed]. (S '48)
Rider, J. F., and Uslan, S. D. Understanding vectors and phase. (N '48)
Short wave
Bronwell, A. B., and Beam, R. E. Theory and application of microwaves. (Ap '48)
Glasoe, G. N., and Lebacqz, J. V., eds. Pulse generators. (S '48)
Hamilton, D. R., and others. Klystron and microwave triodes. (S '48)
Pound, R. V. Microwave mixers. (S '48)
Strutt, M. J. O. Ultra- and extreme- short wave reception. (S '48)
Van Voorhis, S. N., ed. Microwave receivers. (S '48)
Stations
Reinsch, J. L. Radio station management. (D '48)
Radio advertising
Nunmaker, F. G. Library broadcasts. (N '48)
Radio aids to navigation. Smith, R. A. (O '48)
Radio announcer's handbook. Henneke, B. G. (Je '48)
Radio broadcasting
Bryson, L. Time for reason about radio. (O '48)
Ennes, H. E. Broadcast operators handbook. (Ag '48)
Henneke, B. G. Radio announcer's handbook. (Je '48)
Children's programs
Callahan, J. W. Radio workshop for children. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Radio circuits
Arguimbau, L. B. Vacuum-tube circuits. (Ag '48)
Radio frequency modulation
Rider, J. F., and Uslan, S. D. FM transmission and reception. (Ag '48)
Radio in aeronautics
Smith, R. A. Radio aids to navigation. (O '48)
Radio in education
Callahan, J. W. Radio workshop for children. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Willey, R. D., and Young, H. A. Radio in elementary education. (N '48)
Radio in elementary education. Willey, R. D., and Young, H. A. (N '48)
Radio in religion
Parker, E. C., and others. Religious radio. (Ap '48)
Radio news
Brooks, W. F. Radio news writing. (S '48)
Warren, C. N. Radio news writing and editing. (Ag '48)
Radio news writing. Brooks, W. F. (S '48)
Radio news writing and editing. Warren, C. N. (Ag '48)
Radio operators
Shostak, A. A. Preparing for federal radio operator examinations. (S '48)
Radio receivers
Marcus, W., and Levy, A. Elements of radio servicing. (Je '48)
Pound, R. V. Microwave mixers. (S '48)
Strutt, M. J. O. Ultra- and extreme- short wave reception. (S '48)
Van Voorhis, S. N., ed. Microwave receivers. (S '48)
Radio rectifiers
Torrey, H. C., and Whitmer, C. A. Crystal rectifiers. (S '48)
Radio station management. Reinsch, J. L. (D '48)
Radio workshop for children. Callahan, J. W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Rage for order. Warren, A. (Ag '48)
Rage of the vulture. Moorehead, A. (D '48)
Railroads
Juvenile literature
Olds, E. Riding the rails. (D '48)
Tatham, C. First book of trains. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Models
Beal, E . New developments in railway modelling. (Mr '48)
Great Britain
Ellis, C. H. Trains we loved. (Je '48)
Nock, O. S. Railways of Britain, past and present. (N '48)
New England
Kirkland, E. C. Men, cities and transportation. (O '48)
United States
Holbrook, S. H. Story of American railroads. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Railways of Britain, past and present. Nock, O. S. (N '48)
Rain and rainfall
Foster, E. E. Rainfall and runoff. (D '48)
Rainbow dictionary. Wright, W. W. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)
Rainbow for me. Kiser, M. G. (D '48)
Rainbow in Tahiti. Guild, C. (My '48)
Rainfall and runoff. Foster, E. E. (D '48)
Raintree county. Lockridge, R. F. (Mr '48)
Rais, Gilles de Laval, seigneur de
Winwar, F. Saint and the devil. (Ap '48)
Rāmakrishna: prophet of new India. Rāmakrishna. (Ap '48)
Rampart street. Webber, E. and O. (D '48)
Ranch life
Wentworth, E. N. America's sheep trails. (D '48)
Randolph, Martha (Jefferson)
Criss, M. Jefferson's daugter. (Ag '48)
Juvenile literature
Vance, M. Patsy Jefferson of Monticello. (D '48)
Ranger, sea dog of the Royal mounted. Strong, C. S. (My '48)
Rape of Poland. Mikolajczyk, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ras Shamra
Obermann, J. J. Ugaritic mythology. (N '48)
Ravenswood. Doner, M. F. (O '48)
Rayon
American viscose corporation. Rayon technology. (O '48)

Rayon technology. American viscose corporation. (O '48)
Read to me about Peter Platypus. Hogan, I. (Ap '48)
Reader in general anthropology. Coon, C. S., ed. (D '48)
Reader's encyclopedia. Benét, W. R., ed. (D '48)

Reading
  Laubach, F. C. Teaching the world to read. (S '48)

Real estate business
  Moral, H. R. Buying country property. (Je '48)

Real living takes time. Werner, H. G. (N '48)
Reaper man. Judson, C. I. (O '48)

Reason
  Frankel, C. Faith of reason. (S '48)

Rebel raider. Semmes, R. (S '48)
Rebuilding the world economy. Buchanan, N. S., and Lutz, F. A. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Recipes for two. Glass, M. L. (Mr '48)

Reconstruction
  Coulter, E. M. South during reconstruction. (Mr '48)
  De Forest, J. W. Union officer in the reconstruction. (Ag '48)

Reconstruction (1939-)
  Buchanan, N. S., and Lutz, F. A. Rebuilding the world economy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Hazlitt, H. Will dollars save the world? (My '48)

China
  Lieu, D. K. China's economic stabilization and reconstruction. (O '48)
  Winfield, G. F. China, the land and its people. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Europe
  Armstrong, H. F. Calculated risk. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Crowther, G. Economic reconstruction of Europe. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Harris, S. E. European recovery program. (D '48)
  Summers, R. E., comp. Economic aid to Europe. (S '48)
  Warburg, J. P. Put yourself in Marshall's place. (My '48)

Germany
  Jaspers, K. Question of German guilt. (Ap '48)
  Ratchford, B. U., and Ross, W. D. Berlin reparations assignment. (Mr '48)
  Stolper, G. German realities. (My '48)
  Warburg, J. P. Germany, bridge or battleground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Greece
  Twentieth century fund, incorporated. Report on the Greeks. (N '48)

Japan
  Brines, R. MacArthur's Japan. (N '48)
  Gayn, M. J. Japan diary. (D '48)

United States
  Hewes, T. Decentralize for liberty [2d ed]. (Mr '48)

Yugoslavia
  St John, R. Silent people speak. (Mr '48)

Reconstruction of humanity. Sorokin, P. A. (Je '48)
Record book. Hall, D. (O '48)
Record of American diplomacy. Bartlett, R. J. ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Records for the millions. Whiteman, P. (O '48)
Recreation centers. See Community centers
Red carpet. Parkin, R. (Je '48)
Red chair waits. Huggins, A. M. (D '48)

Red Eagle, Choctaw Indian

Juvenile literature
  Moran, M. O. Red Eagle, Buffalo Bill's adopted son. (D '48)

Red Embers. Lyons, D. (D '48)
Red Hannah. Caldwell, R. G. (My '48)
Red man's trail. Dean, L. W. (My '48)
Red Sox. Hirshberg, A. (Mr '48)
Red sun south. Wynd, O. (S '48)
Red wine of youth. Stringer, A. J. A. (S '48)

Reference books

Bibliography
  Graham, B. Bookman's manual [6th ed rev & enl]. (N '48)

Reference point. Hopkins, A. M. (S '48)
Reflections on the world today. Valéry, P. (Ag '48)

Reformation

England
  Rupp, E. G. Studies in the making of the English Protestant tradition. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery
  Gortner, W. A., and others. Principles of food freezing. (My '48)
  Magnus, E. R., and Marlott, G. D. Refrigeration serviceman's manual. (O '48)
  Wostrel, J. F., and Praetz, J. G. Household electric refrigeration. (S '48)

Refrigeration serviceman's manual. Magnus, E. R., and Marlott, G. D. (O '48)

Refugees, Jewish
  Gruber, R. Destination Palestine. (N '48)

Regency style. Pilcher, D. E. (N '48)

Regionalism
  Dickinson, R. E. City region and regionalism. (Je '48)

Regular cowboy. Phelps, M. (N '48)
Rehabilitation of the physically handicapped. Kessler, H. H. (S '48)
Rehearsal for conflict. Bill, A. H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Reign of Queen Victoria. Bolitho, H. (D '48)
Relative to poison. Rivett, E. C. (My '48)

Religion
  Phillips, D. B., and others, eds. Choice is always ours. (Ag '48)

Philosophy
  Handel, C. W. Civilization and religion. (S '48)
  Sheen, F. J. Philosophy of religion. (D '48)

Religion, Primitive
  Frankfort, H. Kingship and the gods. (Ag '48)
  Howells, W. W. Heathens. (Ap '48)
  Malinowski, B. Magic, science and religion. (O '48)

Religion and science
  Jones, R. M. Call to what is vital. (D '48)
  Lecomte du Noüy, P. Road to reason. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Religion in the twentieth century. Ferm, V. T. A., ed. (Je '48)
Religion of maturity. Bowman, J. W. (S '48)
Religion of philosophers. Dunham, J. H. (O '48)
Religion through the ages. Bell, H. F., comp. (N '48)

Religions
  Ferm, V. T. A., ed. Religion in the twentieth century. (Je '48)

Religious education
  Chaplin, D. P. Children and religion. (S '48)
  Johnson, A. W., and Yost, F. H. Separation of church and state in the United States. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Religious liberty
  Torpey, W. G. Judicial doctrines of religious rights in America. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Religious literature
  McNeill, J. T. Books of faith and power. (Ap '48)

Collections
  Bell, H. F., comp. Religion through the ages. (N '48)
  Fedotov, G. P., ed. Treasury of Russian spirituality. (D '48)
  Kepler, T. S., comp. Fellowship of the saints. (D '48)

Religious orders
  Knowles, D. Religious orders in England. (D '48)

Religious orders in England. Knowles, D. (D '48)
Religious pilgrimage of Israel. Matthews, I. G. (Ap '48)

Religious poetry
  Morrison, J. D., ed. Masterpieces of religious verse. (D '48)
  Van Stockum, H. Angels' alphabet. (D '48)

Religious radio. Parker, E. C., and others. (Ap '48)
Reluctant rebel. Van de Water, F. F. (My '48)

Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn
  Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn. Catalogue of Rembrandt's selected drawings. (N '48)
  Rosenberg, J. Rembrandt. (D '48)
Remembered weather. Grelle, L. R. (My '48)
Remembrance rock. Sandburg, C. (N '48)
Renaissance in Haiti. Rodman, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Rendezvous in black. Woolrich, C. (My '48)

Repairing
  Crouse, W. H. Home guide to repair, upkeep and remodeling. (My '48)
Repeat with laughter. Kaup, E. D. (My '48)
Report for a corpse. Kane, H. (Ag '48)
Report on the Greeks. Twentieth century fund, incorporated. (N '48)
Report to Protestants. Bach, M. L. (O '48)

Reporters and reporting
  Greene, W., ed. Star reporters. (S '48)

Representative government and representation
  Gosnell, H. F. Democracy, the threshold of freedom. (S '48)
  Haskins, G. L. Growth of English representative government. (S '48)

Reproduction
  Bibby, C. How life is handed on. (Je '48)
  Potter, E. L. Fundamentals of human reproduction. (D '48)

Republican party
  Schriftgiesser, K. This was normalcy. (Je '48)
Rescue of science and learning. Duggan, S. P. H., and Drury, B. (N '48)
Research in industry. Furnas, C. C., ed. (Je '48)

Research, industrial. See Industrial research
Reshaping of French democracy. Wright, G. (My '48)
Residual years. Everson, W. (D '48)
Resolving social conflicts. Lewin, K. (S '48)

Restaurants, lunch rooms, etc.
  Breland, J. H. Chef's guide to quantity cookery. (Ap '48)
  Shea, M. H. Tavern in the town. (Je '48)

New York (city)

  Mackall, L. Knife and fork in New York. (O '48)

West

  Lewis, J. E. Doorway to good living. (D '48)
Restless voyage. Porteus, S. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Return to tradition. Thornton, F. B., ed. (S '48)
Returning to Vienna 1947. Spender, S. (My '48)
Reunion at Meads. Wallace, K. (Ap '48)
Revaluation. Leavis, F. R. (Ap '48)
Revive thy church beginning with me. Shoemaker, S. M. (N '48)
Revolution in glassmaking. Scoville, W. C. (D '48)
Ricardo's white horse. Kelsey, A. G. (N '48)

Richard II, king of England

Fiction

  Barnes, M. C. Within the hollow crown. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Richard, king of the Romans. See Cornwall, Richard, earl of Richardson, Henry Handel, pseud.

  Richardson, H. H. Myself when young. (S '48)
Richest of the poor. Maynard, T. (Je '48)
Ridge runner. Averill, G. (Ap '48)
Riding simplified. Self, M. C. (Je '48)
Riding the pony express. Bulla, C. R. (O '48)
Riding the rails. Olds, E. (D '48)

Rifles
  Chapel, C. E. Boy's book of rifles. (D '48)
  Stebbins, H. M. Small game and varmint rifles. (Ap '48)

Rimbaud, Jean Nicolas Arthur

Fiction

  Bercovici, K. Savage prodigal. (Ag '48)

Rinehart, Mary Roberts
  Rinehart, M. R. My story. (D '48)
Ring of danger. Bill, A. H. (D '48)
Rise and fall of third parties. Hesseltine, W. B. (Je '48)
Rise of the American novel. Cowie, A. (Ag '48)
Rise of the Spanish American empire. Madariaga, S. de. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Rising Sun in the Pacific. See Morison, S. E. History of United States naval operations in World war II, v3. (O '48)
River dragon. Lane, C. D. (My '48)
River of rogues. Beverley-Giddings, A. R. (Je '48)
River of the Wolves. Meader, S. W. (D '48)
River to the west. Jennings, J. E. (N '48)
Road through the wall. Jackson, S. (Ap '48)
Road to reason. Lecomte du Noüy, P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Road to survival. Vogt, W. (S '48)
Roads. Jenison, M. (S '48)
Roanoke hundred. Fletcher, I. C. (D '48)
Roaring dove. Burton, E. (Ag '48)
Robbut. Lawson, R. (D '48)

Robert I, king of Scotland

Juvenile literature

  Baker, N. B. Robert Bruce: king of Scots. (O '48)

Robinson, Edwin Arlington
  Neff, E. E. Edwin Arlington Robinson. (D '48)
  Robinson, E. A. Untriangulated stars. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Robinson, John Roosevelt
  Robinson, J. R. My own story. (Je '48)
Rock Haven. Bushnell, A. (O '48)
Rocket in my pocket. Withers, C., comp. (D '48)
Rockets, guns and targets. Burchard, J. E., ed. (O '48)

Rocky mountains
  Lavender, D. S. Big Divide. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Rocky summer. Kingman, L. (N '48)
Roll back the sea. Spoelstra, C. (O '48)

Roman Catholic authors. See Authors, Roman Catholic

Roman Catholic church

Clergy

  Kothen, R. Priest and the proletariat. (D '48)

Converts

  Maritain, J., and Cocteau, J. Art and faith. (Ag '48)
  Simon, M. R. Glory of Thy people. (My '48)

Devotions

  Guerry, E. M. God the Father. (D '48)

Encyclopedias and dictionaries

  Pfeiffer, H. A. Catholic picture dictionary. (Je '48)

Relations (diplomatic)

  Wallace, L. P. Papacy and European diplomacy. (Ag '48)

Roman Catholic church in France
  Bishop, C. H. France alive. (Ap '48)

Roman Catholic church in the United States

Biography

  Finn, B. A. Twenty-four American cardinals. (D '48)

History

Bibliography

  Ellis, J. T. Select bibliography of the history of the Catholic church in the United States. (Je '48)

Roman Catholic literature

Collections

  Brady, C. A., ed. Catholic reader. (My '48)
  Roehrenbeck, W. J., ed. Christmastide. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Thornton, F. B., ed. Return to tradition. (S '48)

Roman Catholic poetry
Merton, T. Figures for an apocalypse. (Ag '48)
Roman moon mystery. Williams, J. (Je '48)
Romance of stamp collecting. Kehr, E. A. (Mr '48)
Romances
Gist, M. A. Love and war in the Middle English romances. (S '48)
Romanticism
Elwin, M. First romantics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Rome
History
Cowell, F. R. Cicero and the Roman republic. (O '48)
Juvenile literature
Foster, G. S. Augustus Caesar's world. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Roof over our heads. Dickson, M. S. (O '48)
Roofs
Wilson, J. D., and Werner, S. O. Simplified roof framing [2d ed]. (D '48)
Room beyond. Carr, R. S. (N '48)
Room upstairs. Davis, M. B. (O '48)
Roommates. Rendina, L. J. C. (Je '48)
Roosevelt, Franklin Delano
Beard, C. A. President Roosevelt and the coming of the war, 1941. (My '48)
Farley, J. A. Jim Farley's story. (Ap '48)
Flynn, J. T. Roosevelt myth. (O '48)
Kingdon, F. Architects of the Republic. (Ap '48)
Nesbitt, V. H. K. White House diary. (S '48)
Pritchett, C. H. Roosevelt court. (O '48)
Roosevelt, F. D. F.D.R., his personal letters, 1905-1928. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sherwood, R. E. Roosevelt and Hopkins. (N '48)
Tittle, W. Roosevelt as an artist saw him. (O '48)
Roosevelt and Hopkins. Sherwood, R. E. (N '48)
Roosevelt as an artist saw him. Tittle, W. (O '48)
Roosevelt court. Pritchett, C. H. (O '48)
Roosevelt era. Crane, M., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Roosevelt family
Nesbitt, V. H. K. White House diary. (S '48)
Roosevelt myth. Flynn, J. T. (O '48)
Root of evil. Goldthwaite, E. K. (Ap '48)
Rose, Billy
Rose, B. Wine, women and words. (D '48)
Rose and the yew tree. Christie, A. M. (Je '48)
Rosenfeld, Paul
Mellquist, J., and Wiese, L., eds. Paul Rosenfeld. (Je '48)
Roses
Allen, R. C. Roses for every garden. (O '48)
Roses for every garden. Allen, R. C. (O '48)
Rosie the rhino. Conger, M. (My '48)
Rotary valve engines. Hunter, M. C. I. (S '48)
Rough sketch. Sylvester, R. (Ap '48)
Roundelay. Moser, E. (Ag '48)
Roving south. Price, W. D. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Royal road. Simon, C. M. H. (N '48)
Royal road to card magic. Hugard, J., and Braue, F. (Je '48)
Royden, Agnes Maude
Royden, A. M. Threefold cord. (D '48)
Rubber
Barron, H. Modern rubber chemistry [2d ed]. (S '48)
Rudiments of chemistry. Whittaker, R. M. (Ag '48)
Rue plays the game. Blackstock, J. (My '48)
Rugs
Batchelder, M. R. Art of hooked-rug making. (Mr '48)
Rules for the catalog of printed books. Vatican. Biblioteca apostolic vaticana. (D '48)
Rumania
Politics and government
Bishop, R., and Crayfield, E. S. Russia astride the Balkans. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Rumor
Jacobson, D. J. Affairs of Dame Rumor. (D '48)
Run, sheep, run. Wetherell, J. P. (Je '48)
Run to death. Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. (O '48)
Runaway rocking horse. Robertson, L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Running a machine shop [2d ed]. Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Running of the tide. Forbes, E. (N '48)
Running waters. Newcomb, C. (Mr '48)
Runyon, Damon
Weiner, E. H. Damon Runyon story. (N '48)
Rural churches
Gebhard, A. L. M. Rural parish! (Ap '48)
Rural health and medical care. Mott, F. D., and Roemer, M. I. (D '48)
Rural life in Argentina. Taylor, C. C. (O '48)
Rural Mexico. Whetten, N. L. (D '48)
Rural parish! Gebhard, A. L. M. (Ap '48)
Rush, Benjamin, 1745-1813
Rush, B. Autobiography. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Russell Sage foundation, New York
Glenn, J. M., and others. Russell Sage foundation. (Ag '48)
Russia
Johnson, H. Soviet Russia since the war. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mikhaĭlov, N. N., and Pokshishevsky, V. Soviet Russia. (Ap '48)
Overseas press club of America. As we see Russia. (N '48)
Biography
Hecht, D. Russian radicals look to America. (Ap '48)
Civilization
Berdiaev, N. A. Russian idea. (My '48)
Pares, B. Wandering student. (My '48)
Constitutional law
Towster, J. Political power in the U.S.S.R, 1917-1947. (D '48)
Vyshinskiĭ, A. I., ed. Law of the Soviet state. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Description and travel
Gray, G. D. B. Soviet land. (O '48)
Roberts, L. Home from the cold wars. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Steinbeck, J. Russian journal. (Je '48)
Economic conditions
Gray, G. D. B. Soviet land. (O '48)
Schwartz, H. Russia's postwar economy. (Ag '48)
Foreign policy
Welles, S. G. Profile of Europe. (N '48)
Foreign relations
Beloff, M. Foreign policy of Soviet Russia; v 1: 1929-1936. (My '48)
Mikolajczyk, S. Rape of Poland. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Roberts, L. Home from the cold wars. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sternberg, F. How to stop the Russians without war. (Ap '48)
Whyte, L. L. Everyman looks forward. (D '48)
East (Far East)
Dallin, D. J. Soviet Russia and the Far East. (D '48)
Germany
Fischer, R. Stalin and German communism. (O '48)
Germany. Auswärtiges amt. Nazi-Soviet relations, 1939-1941. (Je '48)
Poland
Lane, A. B. I saw Poland betrayed. (Ap '48)
Rumania
Bishop, R., and Crayfield, E. S. Russia astride the Balkans. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
United States
Dean, V. M. United States and Russia. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Warburg, J. P. Put yourself in Marshall's place. (My '48)

History
Kucharzewski, J. Origins of modern Russia. (S '48)
Lamb, H. City and the Tsar. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Lamb, H. March of Muscovy. (Ap '48)
Maynard, J. Russia in flux. (My '48)
Vernadsky, G. Kievan Russia. (Ag '48)

Revolution
Wolfe, B. D. Three who made a revolution. (N '48)

Intellectual life
Kucharzewski, J. Origins of modern Russia. (S '48)

Politics and government
Crankshaw, E. Russia and the Russians. (Ap '48)
Kucharzewski, J. Origins of modern Russia. (S '48)
Towster, J. Political power in the U.S.S.R, 1917-1947. (D '48)
Utley, F. Lost illusion. (Je '48)

Relations (general) with the United States
Hecht, D. Russian radicals look to America. (Ap '48)

Social conditions
Bruford, W. H. Chekhov and his Russia. (N '48)
Steinbeck, J. Russian journal. (Je '48)

Social life and customs
Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)
Russia and the Russians. Crankshaw, E. (Ap '48)
Russia astride the Balkans. Bishop, R., and Crayfield, E. S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Russia in flux. Maynard, J. (My '48)
Russian architecture. Voyce, A. (N '48)
Russian idea. Berdîaev, N. A. (My '48)
Russian journal. Steinbeck, J. (Je '48)
Russian literature

Collections
Kunitz, J., ed. Russian literature since the revolution. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Russian literature since the revolution. Kunitz, J., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Russian radicals look to America. Hecht, D. (Ap '48)
Russians in Poland
Mikolajczyk, S. Rape of Poland. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Russia's postwar economy. Schwartz, H. (Ag '48)
Russo-Finnish war, 1939-1940
Finland and World war II, 1939-1944. (Ag '48)
Rustics for keeps. Allen, G. (Ag '48)
Ruth, George Herman (Babe Ruth)
Meany, T. Babe Ruth. (Mr '48)
Ruth, G. H. Babe Ruth story. (Je '48)
Weldon, M. Babe Ruth. (Je '48)

S-O-S helicopter. Baine, E. U. (Je '48)
Saarinen, Eliel
Christ-Janer, A. W. Eliel Saarinen. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sac Prairie people. Derleth, A. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sacco, Nicola
Joughin, G. L., and Morgan, E. M. Legacy of Sacco and Vanzetti. (N '48)
Saddles up! ride 'em high. Warren, W. S. (D '48)
Safe for solo. Reeder, F. M. (Je '48)
Saga in steel and concrete. Bjork, K. (Ag '48)
Sail away. White, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sailing to win. Bavier, R. N. (Mr '48)
Sailing vessels
Anderson, R. and R. C. Sailing-ship. (Mr '48)
Sailing-ship. Anderson, R. and R. C. (Mr '48)
Sailmaker. Howard, F. R. (Ag '48)
Sails
Ratsey, E. A., and De Fontaine, W. H. Yacht sails. (O '48)

Saint and the devil. Winwar, F. (Ap '48)
Saint Elizabeth. Seesholtz, A. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Saint errant. Charteris, L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
St Louis

Economic conditions
Belcher, W. W. Economic rivalry between St. Louis and Chicago. (S '48)

History
Kennerly, W. C. Persimmon Hill. (D '48)
Saint Margaret of Cortona. Mauriac, F. (O '48)
St Nicholas anthology. St Nicholas (periodical). (D '48)
Saint Peter, the apostle. Walsh, W. T. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Saints
Fedotov, G. P., ed. Treasury of Russian spirituality. (D '48)
Jones, C. W. Saints' lives and chronicles in early England. (N '48)
Saints' lives and chronicles in early England. Jones, C. W. (N '48)
Salesmanship
Whiting, P. H. Five great rules of selling. (Ap '48)
Sally Tait. Sayers, F. C. (D '48)
Salmon fishing
Haig-Brown, R. L. H. Western angler [2d ed]. (Mr '48)
Hewitt, E. R. Trout and salmon fisherman for seventy-five years. (D '48)
Waddington, R. Salmon fishing. (O '48)
Salmon fishing. Waddington, R. (O '48)
Saltwater fisherman's favorite four. Rodman, O. H. P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Saltwater summer. Haig-Brown, R. L. H. (O '48)
Salvation army
Wilson, P. W. General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation army. (S '48)
Sam and the Superdroop. Leaf, M. (D '48)
Sambumbia. Cooper, P. (Ag '48)
Sampling (statistics)
Columbia university. Statistical research group. Sampling inspection. (S '48)
Enrick, N. L. Quality control. (D '48)
Kennedy, C. W. Quality control methods. (S '48)
Rutherford, J. G. Quality control in industry. (D '48)
Sampling inspection. Columbia university. Statistical research group. (S '48)
Sampson, William Thomas
West, R. S. Admirals of American empire. (Je '48)
San Francisco

Biography
Dickson, S. San Francisco is your home. (Ap '48)

History
Bruce, J. R. Gaudy century. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Dickson, S. San Francisco is your home. (Ap '48)
O'Brien, R. This is San Francisco. (D '48)

Views
Caen, H. E. San Francisco book. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
San Francisco book. Caen, H. E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
San Francisco. Golden Gate Park
Wilson, K. Golden Gate, the park of a thousand vistas. (Je '48)
San Francisco is your home. Dickson, S. (Ap '48)
Sanctity will out. Bernanos, G. (Ap '48)
Sandwich, Massachusetts
Barbour, H. B. Sandwich, the town that glass built. (S '48)
Sandwich, the town that glass built. Barbour, H. B. (S '48)
Sangaree. Slaughter, F. G. (N '48)
Sanitary engineering
Phelps, E. B., and others. Public health engineering. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Santa Claus book. Smith, I., comp. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Santa Fe railroad. See Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway company
Santa's footprints. (D '48)

Santos, Lucy dos, in religion Sister Mary of the Immaculate Heart
  McGlynn, T. M. Vision of Fatima. (D '48)
Sarmiento, Domingo Faustino
  Sarmiento, D. F. Anthology. (S '48)
Satiric and the didactic in Ben Jonson's comedy. Baum, H. W. (Ap '48)
Saturday evening post (periodical)
  Tebbel, J. W. George Horace Lorimer and The Saturday evening post. (Je '48)
Savage breast. Long, M. (Ag '48)
Savage prodigal. Bercovici, K. (Ag '48)
Save a rope. Bailey, H. C. (S '48)
Saving a rope. Eng title of: Save a rope. Bailey, H. C. (S '48)
Say it ain't so, Joe. Stix, T. L., ed. (Ap '48)
Say it with figures. Zeisel, H. (O '48)
Scales (weighing instruments)
  Considine, D. M. Industrial weighing. (Ag '48)
Scandinavia

Description and travel
  Laughlin, C. E. So you're going to Scandinavia! [2d rev ed] (Ag '48)

Juvenile literature
  Evans, E. B. Scandinavia. (N '48)
Scandinavian cookery for Americans. Brobeck, F. R., and Kjellberg, M. (Je '48)
Scarface. Norton, A. M. (N '48)
Scarlet bird. Anderson, E. T. (S '48)
Scarlet Cockerel. Lagard, G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Scarlet feather. Gruber, F. (Ag '48)
Scenes from the life of Jesus in woodcut. Bible. New Testament. Selections. (Mr '48)
Scenes of my childhood. Thompson, J. A. (N '48)
Scenic art. James, H. (Ag '48)
Schley, Winfield Scott
  West, R. S. Admirals of American empire. (Je '48)
School finance
  Quattlebaum, C. A. Federal aid to elementary and secondary education. (D '48)
School libraries
  Davis, W. L. School library routines visualized. (O '48)
  Walraven, M. K., and Hall-Quest, A. L. Teaching through the elementary school library. (My '48)
School library routines visualized. Davis, W. L. (O '48)
Schubert, Franz Peter
  Deutsch, O. E., ed. Schubert reader. (Ap '48)
Schubert reader. Deutsch, O. E., ed. (Ap '48)
Schweitzer, Albert
  Hagedorn, H. Prophet in the wilderness. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Joy, C. R., and Arnold, M. Africa of Albert Schweitzer. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Schweitzer, A. Albert Schweitzer; an anthology. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Science
  Ashley-Montagu, M. F., ed. Studies and essays in the history of science and learning. (Je '48)
  Cohen, I. B. Science, servant of man. (O '48)
  Cohn, A. E. No retreat from reason. (Je '48)
  Haldane, J. B. S. What is life? (Mr '48)
  Weaver, W., ed. Scientists speak. (Mr '48)
  Wigner, E. P., ed. Physical science and human values. (Mr '48)

Abbreviations
  Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. Scientific and technical abbreviations, signs and symbols. (O '48)

History
  Bell, A. E. Christian Huygens and the development of science in the seventeenth century. (My '48)
  Jeans, J. H. Growth of physical science. (Ap '48)
  McKeehan, L. W. Yale science, the first hundred years, 1701-1801. (Je '48)
  Sarton, G. Introduction to the history of science; v3, Science and learning in the fourteenth century. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Sarton, G. Life of science. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Struik, D. J. Yankee science in the making. (O '48)

Juvenile literature
  Crouse, W. H. Understanding science. (O '48)
  Walpole, E. W. Tell me. (Ap '48)

Methodology
  Churchman, C. W. Theory of experimental inference. (D '48)

Philosophy
  Churchman, C. W. Theory of experimental inference. (D '48)
  Cosgrave, J. O. Man. (Ap '48)
  Lieber, L. R. Mits, Wits and logic. (Ap '48)
  Lindbergh, C. A. Of flight and life. (O '48)
  Northrop, F. S. C. Logic of the sciences and the humanities. (Mr '48)
  Werkmeister, W. H. Basis and structure of knowledge. (D '48)
Science and engineering of nuclear power. Goodman, C. D., and others, eds. (Ag '48)
Science of clocks and watches [2d ed]. Rawlings, A. L. (S '48)
Science, servant of man. Cohen, I. B. (O '48)
Scientific and technical abbreviations, signs and symbols. Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. (O '48)
Scientific expeditions

Juvenile literature
  McCracken, H. Toughy: bulldog in the Arctic. (N '48)
Scientific recreations
  Swezey, K. M. After-dinner science. (D '48)
Scientific research
  Columbia university. Division of war research. Statistical research group. Selected techniques of statistical analysis for scientific and industrial research and production and management engineering. (Ap '48)
Scientist with Perry in Japan. Morrow, J. (Mr '48)
Scientists
  Sarton, G. Introduction to the history of science; v3, Science and learning in the fourteenth century. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Morrow, J. Scientist with Perry in Japan. (Mr '48)
Scientists speak. Weaver, W., ed. (Mr '48)
Scotch in Nova Scotia
  MacNeil, N. Highland heart in Nova Scotia. (S '48)
Screen for murder. Rivett, E. C. (D '48)
Sculpture
  Rich, J. C. Materials and methods of sculpture. (Je '48)
  Zorach, W. Zorach explains sculpture. (My '48)

Catalogs
  New York. Museum of modern art. Painting and sculpture in the Museum. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sculpture, American
  Brummé, C. L., ed. Contemporary American sculpture. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Lipman, J. H. American folk art. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sculpture, Indic
  Archer, W. G. Vertical man. (My '48)
Sea change. Worth, K. (O '48)
Sea chase. Geer, A. C. (N '48)
Sea flavor. Pearson, H. S. (Ag '48)
Sea hawks of empire. Bailey, R. E. (D '48)
Sea of adventure. Blyton, E. (N '48)
Sea power
  Puleston, W. D. Influence of sea power in World war II. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Sea songs
  Shay, F. American sea songs and chanteys. (D '48)
Seabird. Holling, H. C. (O '48)
Seafaring life
  Brindze, R. Seamanship below deck [new ed]. (Je '48)
  Fischer, A. O. Focs'le days. (Ap '48)
Seamanship below deck [new ed]. Brindze, R. (Je '48)

Search for a soul. Bottome, P. (N '48)
Search for form. Saarinen, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Search for the North pole. Crouse, N. M. (Je '48)
Second world war, v 1: The gathering storm. Churchill, W. L. S. (Ag '48)
Secret of inward peace. Gray, A. H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Secret of the bog. Stone, E. (D '48)
Secret of the buried tomb. Knight, C. (My '48)
Secret service
Russia
  Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)
Secret thread. Stone, G. Z. (O '48)
Secretaries, Private
  Wanous, S. J., and Erickson, L. W. Secretary's book [rev ed] (D '48)
Secretary's book [rev ed] Wanous, S. J., and Erickson, L. W. (D '48)
Secrets of New England cooking. Bowles, E. S., and Towle, D. S. (My '48)
Secrets of the heart. Gibran, K. (My '48)
Sectionalism (United States)
  Sydnor, C. S. Development of Southern sectionalism. (S '48)
Sects
  Stuber, S. I. How we got our denominations. (N '48)
See you in the morning. Patchen, K. (My '48)
Seed in spring. Thompson, J. E. (O '48)
Seeds of liberty. Savelle, M. (Ag '48)
Seeing California. Tavenner, B. (S '48)
Seeing more things. Brown, J. M. (N '48)
Segale, Sister Blandina
  Segale, B. At the end of the Santa Fe trail. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Select bibliography of the history of the Catholic church in the United States. Ellis, J. T. (Je '48)
Selected drawings. Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn. (N '48)
Selected poems. Brecht, B. (Mr '48)
Selected poems. Lawrence, D. H. (My '48)
Selected poems. Oxenham, J. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Selected poems. Verlaine, P. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Selected poems. Watkins, V. (O '48)
Selected techniques of statistical analysis for scientific and industrial research and production and management engineering. Columbia university. Division of war research. Statistical research group. (Ap '48)
Selected writings. Cardozo, B. N. (Mr '48)
Self
  Morris, C. W. Open self. (D '48)
  Wilkinson, B. How to think about ourselves. (S '48)
Self determination, National
  Cobban, A. National self-determination. (S '48)
Semi-detached house. Eden, E. (N '48)
Semi-fireproof construction. Staley, H. R. (D '48)
Send for Miss Cora. Robertson, C. (My '48)
Señor Castillo. Caire, H. (Je '48)
Sense and sensibility in modern poetry. O'Connor, W. V. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Separation of church and state in the United States. Johnson, A. W., and Yost, F. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Seraph on the Suwanee. Hurston, Z. N. (N '48)
Serious call to a devout and holy life. Law, W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sermons
  Blackwood, A. W., comp. Protestant pulpit. (Mr '48)
  Butler, G. P., ed. Best sermons, 1947-48. (Ap '48)
  Thomas, G. E. How to live your faith. (S '48)
Serpents
Juvenile literature
  Morris, P. A. Boy's book of snakes. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Service, Robert
  Service, R. W. Harper of heaven. (My '48)
Servomechanisms
  Brown, G. S., and Campbell, D. P. Principles of servomechanisms. (O '48)
  Greenwood, I. A., and others, eds. Electronic instruments. (S '48)
  James, H. M., and others, eds. Theory of servomechanisms. (S '48)
Seton, Mother Elizabeth Ann (Bayley)
Fiction
  Eaton, E. S. M., and Moore, E. R. Heart in pilgrimage. (My '48)
Seven beaver skins. Best, A. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Seven by chance. Levin, P. R. (S '48)
Seven miracles of Gubbio and the eighth, a parable. Bruckberger, R. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Seven storey mountain. Merton, T. (N '48)
Seventh's staghound. Downey, F. D. (D '48)
Sex
  Brink, F. W. This man and this woman. (D '48)
  Deutsch, A., ed. Sex habits of American men. (Ag '48)
  Dickerson, R. E. So youth may know [rev ed]. (S '48)
  Ernst, M. L., and Loth, D. G. American sexual behavior and the Kinsey report. (Ag '48)
  Guyon, R. Ethics of sexual acts. (S '48)
  Herschberger, R. Adam's rib. (My '48)
  Kinsey, A. C., and others. Sexual behavior in the human male. (Mr '48)
Sex habits of American men. Deutsch, A., ed. (Ag '48)
Sex in literature
  Basler, R. P. Sex, symbolism, and psychology in literature. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
  Partridge, E. Shakespeare's bawdy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sex instruction
  Bibby, C. How life is handed on. (Je '48)
Sex, symbolism, and psychology in literature. Basler, R. P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sexual behavior in the human male. Kinsey, A. C., and others. (Mr '48)
Sexual ethics
  Dickerson, R. E. So youth may know [rev ed]. (S '48)
  Guyon, R. Ethics of sexual acts. (S '48)
  Leuba, C. Ethics in sex conduct. (D '48)
Sexual hygiene
  Pemberton, L. Stork didn't bring you! (N '48)
Shadow of Fu Manchu. Rohmer, S. (S '48)
Shadows on the wall. Hutheesing, K. N. (My '48)
Shake well before using. Cerf, B. A., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Shakespeare, William
Single works
King Lear
  Heilman, R. B. This great stage. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
About Shakespeare
  Brooke, C. F. Essays on Shakespeare and other Elizabethans. (Ag '48)
  Craig, H. Interpretation of Shakespeare. (S '48)
Characters
  Yoder, A. Animal analogy in Shakespeare's character portrayal. (My '48)
Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
  Partridge, E. Shakespeare's bawdy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Language
  Miriam Joseph, Sister. Shakespeare's use of the arts of language. (S '48)
Sources
Bibliography
  Guttman, S. Foreign sources of Shakespeare's works. (Je '48)
Stage presentation
  Flatter, R. Shakespeare's producing hand. (D '48)
Technique
  Flatter, R. Shakespeare's producing hand. (D '48)
Shakespeare's bawdy. Partridge, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Shakespeare's producing hand. Flatter, R. (D '48)

Shakespeare's use of the arts of language. Miriam Joseph, Sister. (S '48)
Shame of the States. Deutsch, A. (D '48)
Shannon's way. Cronin, A. J. (S '48)
Shaping forces in music. Toch, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sharon. MacKay, M. M. (My '48)

Shaw, Effie (Mrs William Hudson Shaw)
Royden, A. M. Threefold cord. (D '48)

Shaw, George Bernard
Bentley, E. R. Bernard Shaw. (Mr '48)

Shaw, William Hudson
Royden, A. M. Threefold cord. (D '48)
She walks alone. McCloy, H. (Je '48)

Sheep
Wentworth, E. N. America's sheep trails. (D '48)

Sheerin, Maria Ward Skelton
Sheerin, M. W. S. W. Parson takes a wife. (D '48)

Shelley, Percy Bysshe
Baker, C. H. Shelley's major poetry. (S '48)
Barrell, J. Shelley and the thought of his time. (Ag '48)
Shelley and the thought of his time. Barrell, J. (Ag '48)
Shelley's major poetry. Baker, C. H. (S '48)

Shenandoah (Confederate States steamship)
Morgan, M. C. Dixie raider. (N '48)

Sheridan, Richard Brinsley Butler
Cove, J. W. Sheridan. (N '48)

Sherman, Ellen (Ewing)
Burton, K. K. Three generations. (Mr '48)
Shifting winds. Ware, L. (Ag '48)
Shining mountains. Van Every, D. (O '48)
Ship and the flame. Mangione, J. (Ag '48)

Shipbuilding
Braynard, F. O. Lives of the liners. (Ap '48)
Rowe, W. H. Maritime history of Maine. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Shipping

Maine
Rowe, W. H. Maritime history Maine. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Ships
Braynard, F. O. Lives of the liners. (Ap '48)
Farrington, S. K. Ships of the U.S. merchant marine. (My '48)
Ships and other figures. Meredith, W. M. (S '48)
Ships of the U.S. merchant marine. Farrington, S. K. (My '48)

Shoes
Wilcox, R. T. Mode in footwear. (Ag '48)
Shoes for my love. Leslie, J. (D '48)
Shoestring symphony. Broekman, D. H. (N '48)
Shoot the works. Ellington, R. (Ap '48)

Shooting
Askins, C. Wing and trap shooting. (N '48)
Chapel, C. E. Boy's book of rifles. (D '48)
Field and stream (periodical). Game bag. (D '48)
Shooting man's bedside book. Watkins-Pitchford, D. J., comp. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Short history of Chinese philosophy. Feng, Y. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Short history of civilization [2d ed]. Thorndike, L. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Short novels of the masters. Neider, C., ed. (D '48)

Short stories
For volumes of short stories by individual authors see Fiction—Short stories

Collections
Aymar, G. C. comp. Treasury of sea stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Canby, H. S., and Bailey, R., eds. Book of the short story [new enl ed]. (D '48)
Conklin, G., ed. Treasury of science fiction. (Je '48)
Cooke, D. C., ed. Best detective stories of the year, 1948. (O '48)
Daly, M., ed. My favorite stories. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Derleth, A. W., ed. Strange ports of call. (Ag '48)
Fabricant, N. D., and Werner, H. eds. Caravan of music stories. (My '48)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1948. (N '48)
Gaer, J., ed. Our lives. (D '48)
Kielty, B., ed. Treasury of short stories. (Mr '48)
Lehmann, J., ed. Modern French short stories. (S '48)
Lewisohn, L., ed. Among the nations. (My '48)
Neider, C., ed. Short novels of the masters. (D '48)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1948. (N '48)
Official detective stories magazine. Official detective omnibus; ed. by Harry Keller. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Owen, F. Teen-age baseball stories. (N '48)
Owen, F., ed. Teen-age stories of action. (N '48)
Queen, E., ed. Queen's awards, 1948. (N '48)
Queen, E., ed. Twentieth century detective stories. (S '48)
Seaver, E., ed. Cross section, 1948. (Je '48)
Stanford short stories, 1948. (Ag '48)
Stix, T. L., ed. Say it ain't so, Joe. (Ap '48)
Summers, R. A. Craft of the short story. (N '48)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Fireside book of romance. (Je '48)
Wolfe, D. M., ed. American vanguard. (S '48)

Short story
Canby, H. S., and Bailey, R., eds. Book of the short story [new enl ed]. (D '48)
Elwood, M. Write the short short. (Je '48)
Summers, R. A. Craft of the short story. (N '48)
Short term. Giddings, F. A. (Ap '48)

Shostakovich, Dmitri Dmitrievich
Martynov, I. I. Shostakovich. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Shots at whitetails. Koller, L. R. (D '48)
Shrine of liberty, the Alamo. Hall-Quest, O. W. (N '48)
Shrouded woman. Bombal, M. L. (Je '48)

Sibelius, Jean Julius Christian
Abraham, G. E. H., ed. Music of Sibelius. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Sibelius. Eng title of Music of Sibelius. Abraham, G. E. H., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Sibiya, Christina
Reyher, R. H. Zulu woman. (Je '48)
Sienese quattrocento painting. Pope-Hennessy, J. (Ag '48)

Sierra Nevada mountains
Muir, J. Yosemite and the Sierra Nevada. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Peattie, R., ed. Sierra Nevada. (Mr '48)
Sigh for a drumbeat. Doncaster, P. (Ag '48)

Sign painting
Owen, R. E. Practical sign painting. (S '48)

Sikorsky, Igor Ivan

Juvenile literature
Bartlett, R. M. Sky pioneer. (Mr '48)
Silence for the murderer. Crofts, F. W. (O '48)
Silent children. Sze, M. (My '48)
Silent company. See Renault-Roulier, G. Memoirs of a secret agent, v 1. (Ap '48)
Silent people speak. St John, R. (Mr '48)
Silver poets of the 16th century. Bullett, G. W., ed. (Ag '48)
Silver wings. Wilber, E. L., and Schoenholtz, E. R. (Je '48)

Silverware
Semon, K. M., ed. Treasury of old silver. (Ap '48)

Simon, M. Raphael
Simon, M. R. Glory of Thy people. (My '48)
Simplified roof framing [2d ed]. Wilson, J. D., and Werner, S. O. (D '48)
Sin of angels. Wells, A. M. (Je '48)
Sin of our age. Davies, D. R. (My '48)
Since 1900. Barck, O. T., and Blake, N. M. (Ap '48)

Singers

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Lehmann, L. My many lives. (Ag '48)

Singing games
Coit, L. E., and Bampton, R. Follow the music. (Ag '48)
Singing rails. Pease, H. L. (O '48)
Single flame. Goodman, M. W. (Je '48)
Sinister street. Burke, R. (S '48)
Sir and brother. Lee, H. (N '48)

Sitwell, Edith
Villa, J. G., ed. Celebration for Edith Sitwell. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Sitwell family
Sitwell, O. Laughter in the next room. (N '48)
Six bells off Java. McDougall, W. H. (Je '48)
Six New England villages. Chamberlain, S. (S '48)
Six seconds a year. Laing, F. (Je '48)
63 popular parables for young folks. Sargent, J. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Skeleton in the clock. Carr, J. D. (D '48)
Sketchbook. Anderson, C. W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Ski with Sverre. Engen, S., and Atwater, M. M. (Ap '48)
Skid. Hayes, F. S. (N '48)
Skiing the Americas. Jay, J. C. (Ap '48)
Skin of dreams. Queneau, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Skinner, Maud (Durbin)
Skinner, C. O. Family circle. (O '48)
Skinner, Otis
Skinner, C. O. Family circle. (O '48)
Skis and ski running
Engen, S., and Atwater, M. M. Ski with Sverre. (Ap '48)
Fawcus, A. Swing into skiing. (Ap '48)
Jay, J. C. Skiing the Americas. (Ap '48)
Sky and the forest. Forester, C. S. (S '48)
Sky is red. Berto, G. (N '48)
Sky pioneer. Bartlett, R. M. (Mr '48)
Slavic civilization through the ages. Cross, S. H. (S '48) Slavonic rhapsody. Fles, B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Slavs
Cross, S. H. Slavic civilization through the ages. (S '48)
Sleeping giant. Estes, E. (D '48)
Sleigh bells for Windy Foot. Frost, F. M. (D '48)
Slide rule
Strohm, R. T., and De Groot, A. Slide rule. (S '48)
Slip, the story of a little fox. Erickson, P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Smacksmen. Carter, G. G. (O '48)
Small business. Kaplan, A. D. H. (D '48)
Small child's book of verse. Doane, P., comp. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Small game and varmint rifles. Stebbins, H. M. (Ap '48)
Smile at the foot of the ladder. Miller, H. (S '48)
Smile please. Topp, M. S. (O '48)
Smudge. Newberry, C. T. (N '48)
Snare for witches. Chamberlain, E. (O '48)
Snow dog. Kjelgaard, J. A. (D '48)
So cold the night. Yorck, R. L. (N '48)
So deadly fair. Walker, G. (Je '48)
So far so good. Ernst, M. L. (N '48)
So you want to help people. Wittenberg, R. M. (Je '48)
So you're going to England [2d rev ed]. Laughlin, C. E. (Je '48)
So you're going to Paris! [8th rev ed] Laughlin, C. E. (Ag '48)
So you're going to Scandinavia! [2d rev ed] Laughlin, C. E. (Ag '48)
So youth may know [rev ed]. Dickerson, R. E. (S '48)
Social control. Roucek, J. S., ed. (Ag '48)
Social problems
Cuber, J. F., and Harper, R. A. Problems of American society. (D '48)
Greenan, J. T. Everyday problems of American democracy [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Groves, E. R. and G. H. Contemporary American family. (Ap '48)
Urquhart, C., ed. Last chance. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Social problems on the home front. Merrill, F. E. (Je '48)
Social psychology
Bluemel, C. S. War, politics, and insanity. (S '48)
Halliday, J. L. Psychosocial medicine. (S '48)
Heinz, H. J., and Iorgy, J. Last defense. (My '48)
Lewin, K. Resolving social conflicts. (S '48)
Schneider, L. Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. (D '48)
Vaughan, W. F. Social psychology. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Social psychology. Vaughan, W. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Social relations and structures. Hiller, E. T. (My '48)
Social sciences
Chase, S. Proper study of mankind. (N '48)
Frank, L. K. Society as the patient. (S '48)
West, E., and others. Contemporary problems, here and abroad. (Ap '48)

Study and teaching

Levi, A. W. General education in the social studies. (D '48)
Peters, C. C. Teaching high school history and social studies for citizenship training. (S '48)
Social work
Baker, H. C., and Routzahn, M. B. S. How to interpret social welfare. (Ap '48)
Bernheimer, C. S. Half a century in community service. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Bruno, F. J. Trends in social work. (Ag '48)
Hush, H. Eastwick, U.S.A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
King, C. Organizing for community action. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
McCormick, M. J. Thomistic philosophy in social casework. (N '48)
Paradise, V. I. Toward public understanding of casework. (D '48)
Socialism
Lubac, H. de. Un-Marxian socialist. (O '48)
Socialism in Russia
Hecht, D. Russian radicals look to America. (Ap '48)
Society, Primitive
Herskovits, M. J. Man and his works. (O '48)
Society as the patient. Frank, L. K. (S '48)
Sociology
Bossard, J. H. S. Sociology of child development. (S '48)
Hiller, E. T. Social relations and structures. (My '48)
Roucek, J. S., ed. Social control. (Ag '48)
Sorokin, P. A. Reconstruction of humanity. (Je '48)
Weber, M. Theory of social and economic organization. (My '48)
Zimmerman, C. C. Family and civilization. (Mr '48)

History

Barnes, H. E. Historical sociology. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Barnes, H. E., ed. Introduction to the history of sociology. (My '48)
Bogardus, E. S. Development of social thought [2d ed] (S '48)

Methodology

Chapin, F. S. Experimental designs in sociological research. (S '48)
Sociology, Christian
Bosley, H. A. Main issues confronting Christendom. (N '48)
Fletcher, J. F., ed. Christianity and property. (Ap '48)
Keller, J. G. You can change the world! (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Muste, A. J. Not by might. (Ap '48)
Sikorsky, I. I. Invisible encounter. (N '48)
Sociology, Rural
Griswold, A. W. Farming and democracy. (Ag '48)
Taylor, C. C. Rural life in Argentina. (O '48)
Whetten, N. L. Rural Mexico. (D '48)
Sociology of child development. Bossard, J. H. S. (S '48)
Socrates
Guardini, R. Death of Socrates. (S '48)
Soil mechanics [2d ed]. Krynine, D. P. (Ap '48)
Soil mechanics in engineering practice. Terzaghi, K. von, and Peck, R. B. (Je '48)
Soils (engineering)
Krynine, D. P. Soil mechanics. [2d ed]. (Ap '48)
Taylor, D. W. Fundamentals of soil mechanics. (S '48)
Terzaghi, K. von, and Peck, R. B. Soil mechanics in engineering practice. (Je '48)

Soldiers

Education

Matthew, R. J. Language and area studies in the armed services. (Ap '48)

Soldiers' daughters never cry. Lindop, A. (O '48)

Solitary witness. Collier, R. (Je '48)

Solomon islands

Macquarrie, H. Vouza and the Solomon islands. (S '48)

Some ethical implications of a naturalistic philosophy of education. Johnson, G. (S '48)

Some notes on the psychology of Pierre Janet. Mayo, E. (N '48)

Some thoughts on university education. Livingstone, R. W. (S '48)

Some time never. Dahl, R. (My '48)

Somebody else's shoes. Lowe, F. (Ag '48)

Someday, boy. Ross, S. (Je '48)

Something gleamed. Kenyon, T. (D '48)

Something's got to give. Hargrove, M. (Je '48)

Son of the moon. Hitrec, J. G. (My '48)

Song before sunrise. Lauritzen, J. (N '48)

Song in the green thorn tree. Barke, J. (Ag '48)

Song of the cold. Sitwell, E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Song of the flea. Kersh, G. (Je '48)

Songs

Hille, W., and others, eds. People's song book. (N '48)

Spaeth, S. G. History of popular music in America. (D '48)

Songs and verses. Goudge, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Sorry, wrong number. Ullman, A. (My '48)

Sound

Juvenile literature

Geralton, J. Story of sound. (D '48)

Recording and reproducing

Olson, H. F. Elements of acoustical engineering [2d ed]. (Ap '48)

Sound of petticoats. Kerr, S. (O '48)

Sound production by animals

Mason, G. F. Animal sounds. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

South

History

Coulter, E. M. South during reconstruction. (Mr '48)

Simkins, F. B. The South, old and new. (Mr '48)

Sydnor, C. S. Development of Southern sectionalism. (S '48)

Social conditions

Dick, E. N. Dixie frontier. (My '48)

South Africa

Shepherd, R. H. W., and Paver, R. G. African contrasts. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Description and travel

Gatti, A. Here is the veld. (N '48)

Morton, H. C. V. In search of South Africa. (N '48)

History

Geen, M. S. Making of the Union of South Africa. (S '48)

South America

Description and travel

Josephs, R. Latin America. (O '48)

Storm, H. O. Of good family. (Ag '48)

South Carolina

Social life and customs

De Forest, J. W. Union officer in the reconstruction. (Ag '48)

South during reconstruction. Coulter, E. M. (Mr '48)

The South, old and new. Simkins, F. B. (Mr '48)

South Shore town. Coatsworth, E. J. (D '48)

South wind blows. Porteous, C. (Ag '48)

Southeast of Noman's. Barker, M. J. (N '48)

Southern Americas. Plenn, A. (My '48)

Southern country editor. Clark, T. D. (N '48)

Southern empire: Brazil. Harding, B. L. (D '48)

Southern garden book. Hastings, L. and D. (Ag '48)

Southern Pacific railroad

King, E. L. Main line. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Southey, Robert

Elwin, M. First romantics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Southpaw from San Francisco. Harkins, P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Southwest

Arnold, O. Sun in your eyes. (Ap '48)

Wertenbaker, G. P. America's heartland. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Juvenile literature

McNeer, M. Y. Story of the Southwest. (D '48)

Sovereign emblem. Wall, E. A. (Je '48)

Soviet ballet, by Juri Slonimsky, and others. (Je '48)

Soviet land. Gray, G. D. B. (O '48)

Soviet Russia. Mikhailov, N. N., and Pokshishevsky, V. (Ap '48)

Soviet Russia and the Far East. Dallin, D. J. (D '48)

Soviet Russia since the war. Johnson, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Soviet success. Eng title of: Soviet Russia since the war. Johnson, H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Space and time

Hammerschmidt, W. W. Whitehead's philosophy of time. (N '48)

Space cadet. Heinlein, R. A. (D '48)

Spain

Colonies

Madariaga, S. de. Fall of the Spanish American empire. (D '48)

Madariaga, S. de. Rise of the Spanish American empire. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Economic conditions

Hamilton, E. J. War and prices in Spain. (Je '48)

Foreign relations

Feis, H. Spanish story. (Je '48)

Politics and government

Foltz, C. Masquerade in Spain. (Ag '48)

Spanglers. Castor, H. (N '48)

Spaniels

Pfaffenberger, C. J. Training your spaniel. (Je '48)

Spanish American literature

Collections

Onis, H. de., ed & tr. Golden land. (D '48)

Spanish American poetry

Collections

Fitts, D., ed. Anthology of contemporary Latin-American poetry. (S '48)

Spanish dancing. Hughes, R. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Spanish language

Glossaries, vocabularies, etc.

Pfeiffer, G. and L., comps. Language through pictures. (D '48)

Spanish story. Feis, H. (Je '48)

Speaking of animals. Devoe, A. (Mr '48)

Special plays for special days. Hark, M., and McQueen, N. (Mr '48)

Spectrum analysis

Venable, W. M. Interpretation of spectra. (S '48)

Spenser, Edmund

Bradner, L. Edmund Spenser and the Faerie queene. (Ag '48)

Spies

Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)

Singer, K. D., ed. Three thousand years of espionage. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Spindrift. Lasky, J. L. (Ag '48)

Spiritualism

Mahony, P. Out of the silence. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

White, S. E. Job of living. (O '48)

Spirituality

Meehan, F. J. G. Temple of the spirit. (S '48)

Spoodles. Black, I. S. (My '48)

Spooks of the valley. Jones, L. C. (Ag '48)

Sports
  Brown, W. Win, lose or draw. (Ap '48)
  Danzig, A., and Brandwein, P., eds. Sport's golden age. (N '48)
  Marsh, I. T., and Ehre, E., eds. Best sports stories, 1948. (Ag '48)
  Morrison, E. G. Here's how in sports. (O '48)
  Stafford, G. T. Sports for the handicapped. (Ag '48)
  Stix, T. L., ed. Say it ain't so, Joe. (Ap '48)
Sports for the handicapped. Stafford, G. T. (Ag '48)
Sport's golden age. Danzig, A., and Brandwein, P., eds. (N '48)
Sportsmanlike driving. American automobile association. (Je '48)
Spotlight on a union. Robinson, D. B. (Je '48)
Spring fever. Wodehouse, P. G. (Ag '48)
Spring riot. Presson, J. (D '48)
Squires can take it. Haystead, L. (S '48)
Stainless steel kimono. Chaze, E. (Mr '48)

Stalin, Iosif
  Fischer, R. Stalin and German communism. (O '48)
  Wolfe, B. D. Three who made a revolution. (N '48)
Stalin and German communism. Fischer, R. (O '48)
Stalingrad. Plievier, T. (N '48)
Standard book of letter writing. Watson, L. E. (O '48)
Stanford short stories, 1948. (Ag '48)
Star called wormwood. Bacon, M. S. (D '48)
Star reporters. Greene, W., ed. (S '48)

Starlings
  Bronson, W. S. Starlings. (Je '48)

Stars
  Pickering, J. S. Stars are yours. (O '48)

Stars (in religion, folklore, etc.)
  Lum, P. Stars in our heaven. (D '48)
Stars are yours. Pickering, J. S. (O '48)
Stars in our heaven. Lum, P. (D '48)
Starting a small machine shop. Colvin, F. H. (Ag '48)
Starting gun. Stein, A. M. (Ag '48)
Starting pitcher. Decker, D. W. (Ag '48)
Starting right with milk goats. Walsh, H. (Je '48)
Starting right with poultry. Klein, G. T. (My '48)

State, The
  Ebenstein, W., ed. Man and the state. (Mr '48)
  Rosenfarb, J. Freedom and the administrative state. (S '48)

State governments

Federal relations

  Hesseltine, W. B. Lincoln and the war governors. (Ag '48)
State labor relations acts. Killingsworth, C. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
State of mind. Linscott, R. N. (S '48)

Statesmen
  Salter, J. A. Personality in politics. (O '48)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

  Olivier, S. H. O. Letters and selected writings. (Ag '48)
  Roosevelt, F. D. F.D.R., his personal letters, 1905-1928. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. On active service in peace and war. (Je '48)

Statesmen, American
  Hofstadter, R. American political tradition and the men who made it. (O '48)

Statesmen, French

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

  Laval, P. Diary. (N '48)

Statistical mechanics
  Wiener, N. Cybernetics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Statistics
  Kelley, T. L. Fundamentals of statistics. (S '48)
  Zeisel, H. Say it with figures. (O '48)

Graphic methods

  Smart, L. E., and Arnold, S. Practical rules for graphic presentation of business statistics. (Je '48)

Statue of liberty, New York
  Pauli, H. E., and Basch, E. I lift my lamp. (Je '48)
Stature of Thomas Mann. Neider, C., ed. (My '48)

Steam engineering
  De Lorenzi, O., ed. Combustion engineering. (Ag '48)
  Higgins, A. Engine room questions and answers. (S '48)
Steam shovel family. Eberle, I. (Ag '48)
Steam shovel that wouldn't eat dirt. Walters, G. (N '48)

Steamboats
  Mills, R. V. Stern-wheelers up Columbia. (Ag '48)
  Smith, E. W. Trans-Atlantic passenger ships. (O '48)

Steel
  Bullens, D. K. Steel and its heat treatment. (Ag '48)

Analysis

  Baeyertz, M. Nonmetallic inclusions in steel. (My '48)

Steel alloys
  Lorig, C. H., and Adams, R. R. Copper as an alloying element in steel and cast iron. (O '48)
Steel and its heat treatment. Bullens, D. K. (Ag '48)
Steel mirror. Hamilton, D. (D '48)
Steelhead. Kreider, C. M. (D '48)
Steep places. Angell, N. (Mr '48)

Stein, Gertrude
  Rogers, W. G. When this you see remember me. (S '48)
Step down, elder brother. Niggli, J. (Mr '48)

Stephens college
  Johnson, B. L., and Lindstrom, E., eds. Librarian and the teacher in general education. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Steps toward a singing church. Kettring, D. D. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Stereochemistry
  Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical architecture. (Ag '48)
Stern-wheelers up Columbia. Mills, R. V. (Ag '48)
Stevedore. Fulton, R. (S '48)

Stevenson, Robert Louis
  Cooper, L. U. Robert Louis Stevenson. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Fiction

  Stern, G. B. No son of mine. (Ag '48)
Still glides the stream. Thompson, F. (S '48)
Still the Bible speaks. Smart, W. A. (N '48)
Still water. Burt, K. N. (Ap '48)
Stillmeadow kitchen. Taber, G. B. (Je '48)

Stilwell, Joseph Warren
  Stilwell, J. W. Stilwell papers. (Je '48)
Stilwell papers. Stilwell, J. W. (Je '48)

Stimson, Henry Lewis
  Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. On active service in peace and war. (Je '48)
Stokers' mess. Skouen, A. (Je '48)
Stolen pony. Rounds, G. (D '48)
Stories in rocks. Williams, H. L. (D '48)
Stories of neighbor nations. Ems, F. R. (Je '48)
Stork didn't bring you! Pemberton, L. (N '48)
Storm against the wall. Cook, F. F. (My '48)
Storm and echo. Prokosch, F. (O '48)
Storm at Sable island. Gilligan, E. (N '48)
Story behind great stories. Montgomery, E. R. (Ap '48)
Story of American golf. Wind, H. W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Story of American railroads. Holbrook, S. H. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Story of cloth. Eberle, I. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Story of Florida. McNeer, M. Y. (Mr '48)
Story of France. Doorly, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Story of hypnotism. Marks, R. W. (S '48)
Story of Induraja. Wernher, H. (O '48)
Story of John Hope. Torrence, F. R. (S '48)
Story of modern applied art. Rosenthal, R., and Ratzka, H. L. W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Story of plants. Asch, J. (O '48)
Story of sound. Geralton, J. (D '48)
Story of the Johns Hopkins. Bernheim, B. M. (D '48)

Story of the Negro. Bontemps, A. W. (Ag '48)
Story of the Southwest. McNeer, M. Y. (D '48)
Story of your bread. Hollos, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Strains and stresses
Cissel, J. H. Stress analysis and design of elementary structures [2d ed]. (Ag '48)
Hansen, H. J., ed. Timber engineers' handbook. (Je '48)
Van den Broek, J. A. Theory of limit design. (S '48)

Strange ports of call. Derleth, A. W., ed. (Ag '48)
Strange prehistoric animals and their stories. Verrill, A. H. (S '48)
Stranger at Coney Island. Fearing, K. (N '48)
Stranger at the door. Meynier, G. (My '48)
Stranger in the earth. Sugrue, T. (My '48)

Stravinskii, Igor' Fedorovich
White, E. W. Stravinsky. (Ap '48)

Straw to make brick. Marcus, A. (Ap '48)
Street of seven monks. Woods, W. H. (Ap '48)
Streetcar named Desire. Williams, T. (Mr '48)

Strength of materials
Marin, J. Strength of materials. (S '48)

Stress analysis and design of elementary structures [2d ed]. Cissel, J. H. (Ag '48)
Strong is the current. Sparks, D. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Strong room. Wheelwright, J. H. (Ap '48)
Stronghold. Chidsey, D. B. (Ap '48)

Structures, Theory of
Cissel, J. H. Stress analysis and design of elementary structures [2d ed]. (Ag '48)

Struensee, Johann Friedrich, greve

Fiction

Maass, E. Queen's physician. (Ap '48)

Struggle behind the iron curtain. Nagy, F. (D '48)

Stuart, Gilbert

Juvenile literature

Holberg, R. L. Gilbert Stuart. (N '48)

Stuart and Georgian churches. Whiffen, M. (Je '48)
Stubborn wood. Harvin, E. (My '48)

Studebaker, John Mohler
Corle, E. John Studebaker. (D '48)

Students
Kiang, W. Chinese student movement. (D '48)

Religious life

College reading and religion. (S '48)

Studies and essays in the history of science and learning. Ashley-Montagu, M. F., ed. (Je '48)
Studies in child development. Gesell, A. L. (O '48)
Studies in financial organization. Balogh, T. A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Studies in the literary backgrounds of English radicalism. Adams, M. R. (Ag '48)
Studies in the making of the English Protestant tradition. Rupp, E. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Studies in the theory of welfare economics. Reder, M. W. (Ag '48)
Studies of children. Meyer, G. E., ed. (Je '48)
Studies on Voltaire. Wade, I. O. (My '48)
Study of child welfare in a rural New York county. Zaki, A. (O '48)
Study of Goethe. Fairley, B. (Ap '48)
Study of literature, for readers and critics. Daiches, D. (N '48)
Study of the Bible today and tomorrow. Willoughby, H. R., ed. (Je '48)
Stylish marriage. Rackowe, A. (Ag '48)

Subject headings

Theology

Pettee, J. E., comp. List of theological subject headings and corporate church names. (Ap '48)

Successful marriage. Fishbein, M., and Burgess, E. W., eds. (Mr '48)
Such as we. Sichel, P. (Je '48)
Such is life. Furphy, J. (N '48)
Sudden fear. Sherry, E. (Ap '48)
Sue Ann's busy day. Scott, S. (D '48)

Suffrage
Gosnell, H. F. Democracy, the threshold of freedom. (S '48)

Suggestion systems
Seinwerth, H. W. Getting results from suggestion plans. (S '48)

Sugrue, Thomas
Sugrue, T. Stranger in the earth. (My '48)

Sulfonamides
Northey, E. H. Sulfonamides and allied compounds. (Ag '48)

Sulfonamides and allied compounds. Northey, E. H. (Ag '48)

Sumatra

Social life and customs

Petersen, H. T. Tropical adventure. (O '48)

Summer at Yellow Singer's. Bailey, F. L. (O '48)
Summer green. Coatsworth, E. J. (D '48)
Summer on the water. Westheimer, D. (Ag '48)

Sumter (Confederate cruiser)
Semmes, R. Rebel raider. (S '48)

Sun and the barrow. Verdier, E. (Ap '48)
Sun in your eyes. Arnold, O. (Ap '48)

Sun spots
Stetson, H. T. Sunspots in action. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Sunday schools
Rice, R. Creative activities. (Ag '48)

Sunnycove. Walden, A. E. (O '48)
Sunspots in action. Stetson, H. T. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Supercharging the internal combustion engine. Vincent, E. T. (S '48)

Superstition
Lys, C. de. Treasury of American superstitions. (S '48)

Surf fishing. Evanoff, V. (S '48)
Surface chemistry for industrial research. Bikerman, J. J. (S '48)
Survey of the American economy, 1940-1946. Craf, J. R. (N '48)
Survey of the principles and practice of wave guides. Huxley, L. G. H. (Ag '48)
Survey of western civilization. Barnes, H. E. (Ap '48)

Survival (after airplane accidents, shipwrecks, etc.)
Tate, M. L. G. Twelve walked away. (Je '48)

Survival or suicide. Moore, H. H. ed. (O '48)
Susan's year. Johnson, S. J. (O '48)
Susie. Justus, M. (Ag '48)
Swamp boy. Cormack, M., and Bytovetzski, P. L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Swamp shadows. Dunsing, D. M. (O '48)

Swazi (African tribe)
Kuper, H. African aristocracy. (Je '48)

Swearing
Johnson, B. Lost art of profanity. (N '48)

Swedenborg, Emanuel
Toksvig, S. Emanuel Swedenborg. (My '48)

Sweet and sour. Wechsberg, J. (D '48)

Swift, Jonathan
Swift, J. Portable Swift. (Ag '48)

Swimming
Brown, R. L. Teaching progressions for the swimming instructor. (D '48)

Swindlers and swindling
Weil, J. R. "Yellow Kid" Weil. (S '48)

Swing into skiing. Fawcus, A. (Ap '48)
Swiss medieval tapestries. Gysin, F. (D '48)
Swiss without halos. Herold, J. C. (D '48)

Switzerland
Herold, J. C. Swiss without halos. (D '48)

Sword of Il Grande. Creed, W. (S '48)

Symbolism in literature
Basler, R. P. Sex, symbolism, and psychology in literature. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Symphony in two time. Fox, R., and Fahrenkopf, A. (O '48)
Symposium on medicolegal problems. Levinson, S. A., ed. (D '48)
Synthetic methods of organic chemistry. Theilheimer, W. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Synthetic petroleum from the synthine process. Weil, B. H., and Lane, J. C. (N '48)

Tables of physical and chemical constants [10th ed]. Kaye, G. W. C., and Laby, T. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tables of properties of gases. Geyer, E. W., and Bruges, E. A. (N '48)
Tahiti
Guild, C. Rainbow in Tahiti. (My '48)
Tai-Lee's precious seed. Beck, M. I. (N '48)
Tailoring
Mauck, F. F. Modern tailoring for women. (My '48)
Take up thy bed and walk. Hinshaw, D. (S '48)
Taking the cure. Lovell, R. G. (N '48)
Tales, Chinese
Lim, Sian-tek. More folk tales from China. (Ag '48)
Tales from the high seas. Hogeboom, A., ed. (D '48)
Tales my father told. Campbell. A. (D '48)
Tales of horror and the supernatural. Machen, A. (O '48)
Tales of my people. Asch, S. (D '48)
Talleyrand-Périgord, Charles Maurice de, prince de Bénévent
Madelin, L. Talleyrand. (Ag '48)
Tammy out of time. Sumner, C. R. (Je '48)
Taos, New Mexico
Luhan, M. G. D. Taos and its artists. (Ap '48)
Taos and its artists. Luhan, M. G. D. (Ap '48)
Tapestry
Gysin, F. Swiss medieval tapestries. (D '48)
Tariff
Isaacs, A. International trade: tariff and commercial policies. (N '48)

United States

Villard, O. G. Free trade—free world. (Ap '48)
Taste and technique in book-collecting. Carter, J. (O '48)
Taste of angels. Taylor, F. H. (N '48)
Tavern in the town. Shea, M. H. (Je '48)
Tax dodgers. Irey, E. L. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Tax evasion and avoidance
Irey, E. L. Tax dodgers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Taxation
Groves, H. M. Trouble spots in taxation. (S '48)

United States

Kimmel, L. H., and Maroney, M. Governmental costs and tax levels. (O '48)
Lasser, J. K. How tax laws make giving to charity easy. (D '48)
Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch

Fiction

Mann, K. Pathetic symphony. (Je '48)
Teach yourself to play the piano. McClintock, L. (O '48)
Teacher and his work. Gould, G., and Yoakam, G. A. (Ap '48)
Teachers

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Erskine, J. My life as a teacher. (Je '48)
Lovett, R. M. All our years. (Ag '48)
Teaching
Gould, G., and Yoakam, G. A. Teacher and his work. (Ap '48)
Teaching adolescents in secondary schools. Rivlin, H. N. (S '48)
Teaching high school history and social studies for citizenship training. Peters, C. C. (S '48)
Teaching piano to your child. Freedman, J. (Ag '48)
Teaching progressions for the swimming instructor. Brown, R. L. (D '48)
Teaching the world to read. Laubach, F. C. (S '48)
Teaching through the elementary school library. Walraven, M. K., and Hall-Quest, A. L. (My '48)
Techniques in experimental electronics. Bachman, C. H. (Ag '48)
Techniques of observing the weather. Haynes, B. C. (Ag '48)
Technology

Abbreviations

Zimmerman, W. T., and Lavine, I. Scientific and technical abbreviations, signs and symbols. (O '48)

Juvenile literature

Crouse, W. H. Understanding science. (O '48)

Philosophy

Giedion, S. Mechanization takes command. (Je '48)
Teen-age aviation stories. Samson, D., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Teen-age baseball stories. Owen, F. (N '48)
Teen-age blues. Frankel, E. G. (Je '48)
Teen-age football stories. Owen, F., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Teen-age historical stories. Carter, R. G. (Ag '48)
Teen-age mystery stories. Owen, F., ed. (Je '48)
Teen-age stories of action. Owen, F., ed. (N '48)
Teen-age stories of the West. Payne, S. (My '48)
Teen-age treasure chest of sports stories. Coombs, C. I. (O '48)
Telegraph
Thompson, R. L. Wiring a continent. (Mr '48)
Telemeter
Borden, P. A., and Thynell, G. M. Principles and methods of telemetering. (D '48)
Telepathy. See Thought transference
Telepathy and medical psychology. Ehrenwald, J. (Je '48)
Telescope
Rosen, E. Naming of the telescope. (Ag '48)
Television
Kempner, S., ed. Television encyclopedia. (Ag '48)
Kiver, M. S. Television simplified [2d ed]. (Ag '48)
Rider, J. F. Television: how it works. (D '48)
Royal, J. F., ed. Television production problems. (D '48)
Television encyclopedia. Kempner, S., ed. (Ag '48)
Television: how it works. Rider, J. F. (D '48)
Television production problems. Royal, J. F., ed. (D '48)
Television simplified [2d ed]. Kiver, M. S. (Ag '48)
Tell me. Walpole, E. W. (Ap '48)
Tell me about prayer. Jones, M. A. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tell the West. Gliksman, J. (Je '48)
Temper the wind. Davis, C. B. (Ap '48)
Temple, Dorothy (Osborne)
Cecil, D. Two quiet lives. (Ap '48)
Temple, William, abp.
Iremonger, F. A. William Temple. (D '48)
Temple of the spirit. Meehan, F. J. G. (S '48)
Temptations of Mourad. Favre, L. (Mr '48)
Ten Beaver road. McLelland, I. C. (My '48)
Ten days' wonder. Queen, E. (N '48)
Ten eventful years. Encyclopaedia Britannica. (Je '48)
Ten o'clock scholar. Holmes, M. R. (Mr '48)
Tender men. Gibbs, W. (Ap '48)
Tenggren's cowboys and Indians. Jackson, K and B. (D '48)
Tennessee river
Davidson, D. Tennessee; v2, The new river. (Mr '48)
Tennessee valley
Davidson, D. Tennessee; v2, The new river. (Mr '48)
Tennessee Valley authority
Whitman, W. David Lilienthal. (Mr '48)
Tennyson, Alfred Tennyson
Baum, P. F. Tennyson sixty years after. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tennyson sixty years after. Baum, P. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tenth symphony. Landau, M. A. (N '48)
Terror and decorum. Viereck, P. R. E. (D '48)
Terry, Sir Richard Runciman
Andrews, H. Westminster retrospect. (O '48)
Testimony by silence. Disney, D. M. (D '48)

Texas
History
Gambrell, H. P. Anson Jones. (Ap '48)
Myers, J. M. Alamo. (Ap '48)
Textbook of the materials of engineering [7th ed]. Moore, H. F. (Ap '48)
Textile brand names dictionary. Textile book publishers, incorporated, New York. (Ag '48)
Textile fabrics
Little, R. W., ed. Flameproofing textile fabrics. (S '48)
Textile book publishers, incorporated, New York. Textile brand names dictionary. (Ag '48)
Juvenile literature
Eberle, I. Story of cloth. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Textile industry
American viscose corporation. Rayon technology. (O '48)
That girl of Pierre's. Davis, R. (D '48)
That lively man, Ben Franklin. Eaton, J. (D '48)
That which is crooked. Disney, D. M. (Je '48)
That winter. Miller, M. (Mr '48)
Theater
Gaige, C. Footlights and highlights. (D '48)
Hopkins, A. M. Reference point. (S '48)
Young, S. Immortal shadows. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
History
Nicoll, A. Development of the theatre [3d ed rev & enl]. (Ag '48)
Little theater movement
Pearson, T. Encores on Main street. (S '48)
Production and direction
Smith, M. M. Play production. (O '48)
United States
Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1947-1948. (D '48)
Theatre book of the year, 1947-1948. Nathan, G. J. (D '48)
Theft of the golden ring. Lawrence, I. (Ag '48)
Theology
Bosworth, E. I. Christian religion and human progress. (N '48)
Dirks, J. E. Critical theology of Theodore Parker. (D '48)
Theory and application of microwaves. Bronwell, A. B., and Beam, R. E. (Ap '48)
Theory and practice of gamesmanship. Potter, S. (S '48)
Theory of experimental inference. Churchman, C. W. (D '48)
Theory of harmony. Schönberg, A. (O '48)
Theory of limit design. Van den Broek, J. A. (S '48)
Theory of propellers. Theodorsen, T. (S '48)
Theory of servomechanisms. James, H. M., and others, eds. (S '48)
Theory of social and economic organization. Weber, M. (My '48)
There is a tide. Christie, A. M. (My '48)
There is another China. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
There was a little man. Jones, G. P. and C. B. (Je '48)
Thermodynamics
Lichty, L. C. Thermodynamics [2d ed]. (S '48)
Steiner, L. E. Introduction to chemical thermodynamics [2d ed]. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
These are strange tales. Oursler, F. (Ag '48)
These are the Mexicans. Cerwin, H. (Mr '48)
Theseus
Fiction
Anderson, F. M. B. Black sail. (Ag '48)
They move with the sun. Taylor, D. (N '48)
They tamed the sky. Ingells, D. J. (Ap '48)
Thidwick, the big-hearted moose. Geisel, T. S. (N '48)
Thine is the glory. Taylor, F. M. T. (D '48)
Thing or two about music. Slonimsky, N. (O '48)
Thinly veiled. Walker, M. (D '48)
This awakening. Fuller, M. W. (S '48)
This fascinating advertising business. Bird, H. L. (Je '48)
This great stage. Heilman, R. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
This inward horror. Warren, J. R. (S '48)
This is Israel. Stone, I. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
This is San Francisco. O'Brien, R. (D '48)
This magnificent world. Goss, J. M. (My '48)
This man and this woman. Brink, F. W. (D '48)
This precious dust. Kissin, R. (Ag '48)
This same flower. Nolan, J. C. (D '48)
This spring of love. Mergendahl, C. H. (Ag '48)
This very earth. Caldwell, E. (O '48)
This was my choice. Eng title of: Iron curtain. Gouzenko, I. (Ag '48)
This was normalcy. Schriftgiesser, K. (Je '48)
Thomas Aquinas, Saint
McCormick, M. J. Thomistic philosophy in social casework. (N '48)
Thomas, George Henry
O'Connor, R. Thomas, Rock of Chickamauga. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Thomas Jefferson among the arts. Berman, E. D. (My '48)
Thomas, Rock of Chickamauga. O'Connor, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Thomas Wolfe: a critical study. Eng title of: Hungry Gulliver. Johnson, P. H. (Mr '48)
Thomistic philosophy in social casework. McCormick, M. J. (N '48)
Thompson, Josephine Elizabeth (Moroney)
Thompson, J. A. Scenes of my childhood. (N '48)
Thoreau, Henry David
Krutch, J. W. Henry David Thoreau. (N '48)
Thornblossoms. Lay, M. R. (S '48)
Those terrible teens. McCorry, V. P. (Ap '48)
Thought and character of William James. Perry, R. B. (My '48)
Thought and thinking
Scherf, C. H. Do your own thinking. (N '48)
Thought transference
Bristol, C. M. Magic of believing. (S '48)
Ehrenwald, J. Telepathy and medical psychology. (Je '48)
Warcollier, R. Mind to mind. (Je '48)
Thoughts on the constitution. Amery, L. C. M. S. (N '48)
Threat of dragons. Davis, L. R. (N '48)
Three brothers. McLaverty, M. (O '48)
Three fields to cross. Nutt, F. T. (Mr '48)
Three generations. Burton, K. K. (Mr '48)
Three golden rivers. Price, O. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Three little Chinese girls. Lattimore, E. F. (O '48)
Three roads. Millar, K. (Ag '48)
Three roads to Valhalla. Stewart, C. P. (O '48)
Three ships come sailing. Waring, G. (N '48)
Three spirituals from earth to heaven. Crite, A. R., il. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Three thousand years of educational wisdom. Ulich, R., ed. (My '48)
Three thousand years of espionage. Singer, K. D., ed. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Three to make ready. Turlington, C. I. H. (D '48)
Three-two pitch. McCormick, W. (Je '48)
Three who made a revolution. Wolfe, B. D. (N '48)
Threefold cord. Royden, A. M. (D '48)
Threshold. Wahl, K. V. (Ag '48)
Throw me a bone. Lothrop, E. B. (My '48)
Thunder in the mountains. Hooke, H. M. (My '48)
"Thus am I slayn." Clewes, H. (My '48)
Thy men shall fall. Moss, S. and S. (N '48)
Ticktock and Jim. Robertson, K. (Ap '48)
Tidal waves
Leet, L. D. Causes of catastrophe. (Ap '48)
Timber engineers' handbook. Hansen, H. J., ed. (Je '48)
Time changes the tune. Eng title of: Reunion at Mead's. Wallace, K. (Ap '48)
Time for laughter. Wellner, J. (D '48)
Time for reason about radio. Bryson, L. (O '48)
Time is noon. Haydn, H. C. (My '48)
Time study
Gomberg, W. Trade union analysis of time study. (S '48)
Time will darken it. Maxwell, W. (O '48)

Times, London
Times, London. History of the Times, v3: The Twentieth century test. (Ap '48)
Tiny animal stories. Kunhardt, D. M. (Je '48)
To be free. Aptheker, H. (S '48)
To make the people strong. Stuntz, A. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
To secure these rights. United States. President's committee on civil rights. (My '48)
To seize a dream. Hersch, V. D. (D '48)
To the Arctic [rev & expanded ed]. Mirsky, J. (My '48)
To the bitter end. Gisevius, H. B. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
To walk a crooked mile. McGrath, T. (Je '48)
Tobias Brandywine. Wickenden, D. (Je '48)
Toby, a curious cat. Black, I. S. (S '48)
Today in cathedral France [rev ed]. Clark, S. A. (S '48)
Told under the Christmas tree. Association for childhood education. Literature committee. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tolstai͡a, Sof'ia Andreevna (Bers) grafinia
Kuz'minskai͡a, T. A. B. Tolstoy as I knew him. (O '48)
Tolstoĭ, Lev Nikolaevich, graf
Kuz'minskai͡a, T. A. B. Tolstoi as I knew him. (O '48)
Tolstoy as I knew him. Kuz'minskai͡a, T. A. B. (O '48)
Tomorrow is beautiful. Lang, L. F. R. (D '48)
Tomorrow is here. Latourette, K. S., and Hogg, W. R. (D '48)
Tomorrow will be better. Smith, B. W. (O '48)
Toni Frissell's Mother Goose. Mother Goose. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Too good to be true. Hutton, J. F. (S '48)
Tools
Frankl, L. Basic tools for woodworking. (D '48)
Morgan, A. P. Tools and how to use them. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Woodcock, F. L. Design of metal cutting tools. (S '48)
Tools and how to use them. Morgan, A. P. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Tortured angel. Garth, D. (Ag '48)
Total power. Walsh, E. A. (Je '48)
Totalitarianism
Walsh, E. A. Total power. (Je '48)
Touch of parsley. Eells, M. W. (O '48)
Toughy and his trailer truck. Hurd, E. T. (N '48)
Toughy: bulldog in the Arctic. McCracken, H. (N '48)
Tournament forward. Jackson, C. P. (D '48)
Toward an unknown station. Lyon, A. (D '48)
Toward public understanding of casework. Paradise, V. I. (D '48)
Toward the morning. Allen, H. (S '48)
Toward world peace. Wallace, H. A. (Je '48)
Towards the sunset. Elwood, M. (Je '48)
Towboat pilot. Melton, E. J. (Ap '48)
Towboat river. Rosskam, E. and L. (My '48)
Tower of Terzel. Van Paassen, P. (N '48)
Town below. Lemelin, R. (Je '48)
Town with the funny name. Miller, M. (O '48)
Toye, Francis
Toye, F. For what we have received. (N '48)
Toymaker's book. Maginley, C. J. (D '48)
Toys
Hertz, L. H. Handbook of old Americn toys. (Ag '48)
Maginley, C. J. Toymaker's book. (D '48)
Pearce, C. C. Toys and models. (N '48)
Popular mechanics magazine, Chicago. What to make for children. (Je '48)
Toys and models. Pearce, C. C. (N '48)
Tracking and trailing
Jaeger, E. Tracks and trailcraft. (O '48)
Tracks and trailcraft. Jaeger, E. (O '48)
Trade and professional associations
Bowen, R. H. German theories of the corporative state. (My '48)
Trade union analysis of time study. Gomberg, W. (S '48)
Trade union wage policy. Ross, A. M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Trade unions
Barbash, J. Labor unions in action. (Je '48)
Lester, R. A., and Shister, J., eds. Insights into labor issues. (O '48)
Morais, H. M., and Cahn, W. Gene Debs. (D '48)
Ross, A. M. Trade union wage policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Selekman, B. M. Labor relations and human relations. (O '48)

United States

Bakke, E. W., and Kerr, C., eds. Unions, management, and the public. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Brown, L. C. Union policies in the leather industry. (Ap '48)
Ginzberg, E., and Carwell, J. Labor leader. (My '48)
Mills, C. W., and Schneider, H. New men of power. (N '48)
Roe, W. Juggernaut. (N '48)
Traditions of civility. Barker, E. (S '48)
Traffic regulations
American automobile association. Sportsmanlike driving. (Je '48)
Trail led north. McKeown, M. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Trail of courage. Watson, V. C. (N '48)
Train, George Francis
Thornton, W. Nine lives of citizen Train. (D '48)
Train from Pittsburgh. Farren, J. (Ap '48)
Training your own bird dog. Davis, H. P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Training your spaniel. Pfaffenberger, C. J. (Je '48)
Trains we loved. Ellis, C. H. (Je '48)
Trans-Atlantic passenger ships. Smith, E. W. (O '48)
Transient hour. Aymé, M. (My '48)
Transport to summer. Stevens, W. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual) Transportation

New England

Kirkland, E. C. Men, cities and transportation. (O '48)
Trapping
McCracken, H., and Van Cleve, H. Trapping. (Ap '48)
Traveler's guide to France. Murray, S. (Je '48)
Treasure chest of sea stories. Herzberg, M. J., comp. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Treasury of American superstitions. Lys, C. de. (S '48)
Treasury of Jewish folklore. Ausubel, N., ed. (S '48)
Treasury of laughs for boys & girls. Horowitz, C., and Hart, H., eds. (O '48)
Treasury of old silver. Semon, K. M., ed. (Ap '48)
Treasury of Russian spirituality. Fedotov, G. P., ed. (D '48)
Treasury of science fiction. Conklin, G., ed. (Je '48)
Treasury of sea stories. Aymar, G. C., comp. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Treasury of short stories. Kielty, B., ed. (Mr '48)
Tree by the waters. Karsavina, J. (Ag '48)
Tree within. Morris, I. V. (N '48)
Trembles, Montana
Paul, E. H. Ghost town on the Yellowstone. (S '48)
Tremolo. Bornemann, E. W. J. (S '48)
Trends in engineering education. Finch, J. K. (D '48)
Trends in social work. Bruno, F. J. (Ag '48)
Trial of a poet. Shapiro, K. J. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Trial of Alvin Boaker. Reywall, J. (Ap '48)
Trials
Runyon, D. Trials and other tribulations. (My '48)
Trials and other tribulations. Runyon, D. (My '48)
Tricks
Elliott, B. Magic as a hobby. (S '48)
Todd, J. P. Tricks every boy can do. (D '48)
Tricks every boy can do. Todd, J. P. (D '48)
Triumph of freedom. Miller, J. C. (Je '48)
Trollope, Anthony
Gregory, W., and Gerould, J. T. Guide to Trollope. (N '48)
Tropical adventure. Petersen, H. T. (O '48)
Trotsky, Leon
Wolfe, B. D. Three who made a revolution. (N '48)

Trouble spots in taxation. Groves, H. M. (S '48)
Trouble with murder. Winterton, P. (S '48)
Troubles of electrical equipment [rev 3d ed]. Stafford, H. E. (Ag '48)
Trout and salmon fisherman for seventy-five years. Hewitt, E. R. (D '48)
Trout fishing
  Haig-Brown, R. L. H. Western angler [2d ed]. (Mr '48)
  Hewitt, E. R. Trout and salmon fisherman for seventy-five years. (D '48)
  Kreider, C. M. Steelhead. (D '48)
  MacDowell, S. Western trout. (Ag '48)
  Walden, H. T., ed. Angler's choice. (My '48)
Trudy Terrill. Bryant, B. M. (Ag '48)
True-born Englishman. Willcocks, M. P. (Ap '48)
True zoo stories. Bridges, W. (N '48)
Truman, Harry S.
  McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. Harry Truman, president. (Ag '48)
Trumpet in the city. Miller, H. T. (N '48)
Trumpets at the crossroads. Reinherz, N. (D '48)
Trusts, Industrial
International trusts
  Stocking, G. W., and Watkins, M. W. Cartels or competition? (N '48)
Try anything twice. Cheyney, P. (S '48)
Trypsin
  Northrop, J. H., and others. Crystalline enzymes. (D '48)
Tuberculosis
  Lovell, R. G. Taking the cure. (N '48)
  MacDonald, B. B. H. Plague and I. (N '48)
Tubman, Mrs Harriet (Ross)
Fiction
  Parrish, A. Clouded star. (O '48)
Tuesday to bed. Wickware, F. S. (My '48)
Tugboats
  Rosskam, E. and L. Towboat river. (My '48)
Tumbleweed. Doherty, E. J. (N '48)
Tumult in India. Jones, G. E. (My '48)
Turbines
  Wislicenus, G. F. Fluid mechanics of turbomachinery. (Ag '48)
Turning point. Fitzgerald, E. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Turning stream. Aikman, D. (Ag '48)
Twain, Mark, pseud. See Clemens, S. L.
Twelve o'clock high! Lay, B., and Bartlett, S. (Ag '48)
Twelve walked away. Tate, M. L. G. (Je '48)
Twentieth century
  Anshen, R. H., ed. Our emergent civilization. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Bruun, G. World in the twentieth century. (S '48)
Twentieth century detective stories. Queen, E., ed. (S '48)
Twenty-four American cardinals. Finn, B. A. (D '48)
26 letters. Ogg, O. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Two-dimensional fields in electrical engineering. Bewley, L. V. (S '48)
Two pennies overboard. Tompkins, J. F. (N '48)
Two quiet lives. Cecil, D. (Ap '48)
Two-way street. Goldman, E. F. (N '48)
Two worlds of Marcel Proust. March, H. (Ag '48)
Two years with the Chinese communists. Band, C. and W. (My '48)
Type and type founding
  Whitehill, C. Moods of type. (My '48)

Ugaritic mythology Obermann, J. J. (N '48)
Ugly woman. O'Farrell, W. (O '48)
Ulrich's periodicals directory [1947]. (Je '48)
Ultra- and extreme- short wave reception. Strutt, M. J. O. (S '48)
Uncertain heart. Colver, A. M. R. (S '48)
Uncle Dynamite. Wodehouse, P. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Uncle Edgar and the reluctant saint. Cousins, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Unclouded summer. Waugh, A. (Ap '48)
Under a glass bell. Nin, A. (D '48)
Under the ancestor's shadow. Hsü, F. L. K. (O '48)
Underground empire. Perry, C. W. (O '48)
Understanding science. Crouse, W. H. (O '48)
Understanding vectors and phase. Rider, J. F., and Uslan, S. D. (N '48)
Uneasy street. Wade, B., and Miller, B. (S '48)
Unemployment
  Pierson, J. H. G. Full employment and free enterprise. (My '48)
  Upjohn institute for community research. Full employment in your community. (O '48)
Unfolding of artistic activity. Schaefer-Simmern, H. (Ag '48)
The unforgiven. Eng title of: "Thus am I slayn." Clewes, H. (My '48)
Union challenge to management control. Chamberlain, N. W. (Ap '48)
Union-management co-operation. Braun, K. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Union officer in the reconstruction. De Forest, J. W. (Ag '48)
Union policies in the leather industry. Brown, L. C. (Ap '48)
Unions, management, and the public. Bakke, E. W., and Kerr, C., eds. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
United hatters, cap and millinery workers international union
  Robinson, D. B. Spotlight on a union. (Je '48)
United nations, 1942-1945
  Arne, S. United nations primer. (S '48)
United nations (organization)
  Armstrong, H. F. Calculated risk. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Evatt, H. V. United nations. (Ap '48)
  Koo, W. Voting procedures in international political organizations. (My '48)
  Meyer, C. Peace or anarchy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  Murray, G. From the League to U.N. (N '48)
  Robinson, J. Palestine and the United nations. (My '48)
  Stuntz, H. C. United nations challenge to the church. (S '48)
  Welles, S. We need not fail. (Ag '48)
United nations challenge to the church. Stuntz, H. C. (S '48)
United nations primer. Arne, S. (S '48)
United States. Congress
  Wiley, A. Laughing with Congress. (Mr '48)
United States. Congress. House of Representatives
  Ewing, C. A. M. Congressional elections, 1896-1944. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
United States. Congress. House. Committee on un-American activities
  Kahn, G. Hollywood on trial. (My '48)
United States. Congress. Senate. Special committee investigating the national defense program
  Toulmin, H. A. Diary of democracy. (My '48)
United States. Constitution
  Federalist. The enduring federalist. (Mr '48)
  Federalist. The Federalist, ed. by Max Beloff. (D '48)
  Fenn, P. T. Development of the Constitution. (S '48)
  Kelly, A. H., and Harbison, W. A. American Constitution. (O '48)
  Van Doren, C. C. Great rehearsal. (Mr '48)
Juvenile literature
  Witty, P. A., and Kohler, J. You and the Constitution of the United States. (N '48)
United States. Forest service
  Pinchot, G. Breaking new ground. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
United States. Justice, Department of
  Labor research association. Palmer raids. (O '48)
United States. National advisory committee for aeronautics
  Gray, G. W. Frontiers of flight. (S '48)
United States. National munitions control board
  Stedman, M. S. Exporting arms. (S '48)
United States. Scientific research and development, Office of Burchard, J. E., ed. Rockets, guns and targets. (O '48)
  Stewart, I. Organizing scientific research for war. (S '48)

United States. Supreme court
Post, C. G., and others, eds. Basic constitutional cases. (D '48)
Pritchett, C. H. Roosevelt court. (O '48)

United States. Treasury department. Intelligence unit
Irey, E. L. Tax dodgers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

United States. War department. Alsos mission
Goudsmit, S. A. Alsos. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

United States. War production board
Catton, B. War lords of Washington. (N '48)

United States

Biography
Egbert, D. D., and Lee, D. M. Princeton portraits (S '48)
Forbes, B. C., ed. America's fifty foremost business leaders. (D '48)
Holbrook, S. H. Little Annie Oakley. (D '48)
Schnittkind, H. T. and D. A. 50 great Americans. (Je '48)
Who's who in the East. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Young, K. H., and Middleton, L. Heirs apparent. (My '48)

Church history
Sweet, W. W. American churches. (Ag '48)

Civilization
Aikman, D. Turning stream. (Ag '48)
Johnson, F. E., ed. Wellsprings of the American spirit. (S '48)
Kouwenhoven, J. A. Made in America. (D '48)
Laski, H. J. American democracy. (Ag '48)
Morris, L. R. Postscript to yesterday. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Mosier, R. D. Making the American mind. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Savelle, M. Seeds of liberty. (Ag '48)
Wright, L. B. Atlantic frontier. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Commerce
China
Thompson, A. B. China trade days in California. (O '48)

Commercial policy
Buchanan, N. S., and Lutz, F. A. Rebuilding the world economy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Hazlitt, H. Will dollars save the world? (My '48)

Constitutional history
Kelly, A. H., and Harbison, W. A. American Constitution. (O '48)

Constitutional law
Fenn, P. T. Development of the Constitution. (S '48)
Post, C. G., and others, eds. Basic constitutional cases. (D '48)
Pritchett, C. H. Roosevelt court. (O '48)

Defenses
Baldwin, H. W. Price of power. (My '48)
Kerwin, J. G., ed. Civil-military relationships in American life. (S '48)
Tate, M. United States and armaments. (S '48)
Toulmin, H. A. Diary of democracy. (My '48)

Description and travel
Arnall, E. G. What the people want. (Ag '48)
Bradshaw, G., ed. Collection of travel in America. (Je '48)
Jenkins, E. ed. Guide to America. (Ag '48)
Look (periodical). Look at America: the central northeast. (Ag '48)
Nevins, A., ed. America through British eyes [new rev ed]. (O '48)

Diplomatic and consular service
Childs, J. R. American foreign service. (Ap '48)

Economic conditions
Craf, J. R. Survey of the American economy, 1940-1946. (N '48)
Flink, S. American economy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Frickey, E. Production in the United States, 1860-1914. (My '48)
Harris, S. E. National debt and the new economics. (Je '48)
Mitchell, B. Depression decade. (Mr '48)
Mitchell, B. and L. P. American economic history. (Je '48)
Slichter, S. H. American economy. (D '48)
Soule, G. H. Prosperity decade. (Ap '48)
United States. President, 1945- . Economic reports of the president. (Je '48)
Wecter, D. Age of the great depression. (S '48)

Statistics
Handbook of basic economic statistics. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Economic policy
Allen, E. D., and Brownlee, O. H. Economics of public finance. (Ag '48)
Greenan, J. T. Everyday problems of American democracy [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Harris, S. E., ed. Foreign economic policy for the United States. (D '48)
Hewes, T. Decentralize for liberty [2d ed]. (Mr '48)
Millett, J. D. Process and organization of government planning. (Ag '48)
Pierson, J. H. G. Full employment and free enterprise. (My '48)
Simons, H. C. Economic policy for a free society. (S '48)
Summers, R. E., comp. Economic aid to Europe. (S '48)

Emigration and immigration
Peters, C. A., comp. Immigration problem. (D '48)
Saveth, E. N. American historians and European immigrants. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Foreign policy
Armstrong, H. F. Calculated risk. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Bailey, T. A. Man in the street. (Je '48)
Beard, C. A. President Roosevelt and the coming of the war, 1941. (My '48)
Carroll, W. Persuade or perish. (S '48)
Chamberlain, L. H., and Snyder R. C., eds. American foreign policy. (S '48)
Finer, H. America's destiny. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Harris, S. E., ed. Foreign economic policy for the United States. (D '48)
Hull, C. Memoirs. (Je '48)
Johnston, E. A. We're all in it. (D '48)
Marion, G. Bases and empire. (S '48)
Millington, H. American diplomacy and the War of the Pacific. (O '48)
Mowrer, E. A. Nightmare of American foreign policy. (D '48)
Perkins, D. Evolution of American foreign policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Perkins, D. United States and the Caribbean. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Reitzel, W. The Mediterranean. (Ag '48)
Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. On active service in peace and war. (Je '48)
Wallace, H. A. Toward world peace. (Je '48)
Welles, S. G. Profile of Europe. (N '48)

Foreign population
Saveth, E. N. American historians and European immigrants. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Foreign relations
Baldwin, H. W. Price of power. (My '48)
Bartlett, R. J., ed. Record of American diplomacy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Beard, C. A. President Roosevelt and the coming of the war, 1941. (My '48)
Cottrell, L. S., and Eberhart, S. American opinion on world affairs in the atomic age. (D '48)
Graham, M. W. American diplomacy in the international community. (O '48)
Holborn, H. American military government. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Smith, S. R. Manchurian crisis, 1931-32. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Sternberg, F. How to stop the Russians without war. (Ap '48)
Visson, A. As others see us. (D '48)
Ward, B. West at bay. (N '48)

United States—Foreign relations—Continued

Japan

Clinard, O. J. Japan's influence on American naval power. (My '48)
Mears, H. Mirror for Americans: Japan. (O '48)

Latin America

Whitaker, A. P. United States and South America. (Je '48)

Russia

Dean, V. M. United States and Russia. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Warburg, J. P. Put yourself in Marshall's place. (My '48)

Historical geography

Brown, R. H. Historical geography of the United States. (S '48)

History

Eberlein, H. D., and Hubbard, C. V. Diary of Independence Hall. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
French, M. O. America and war. (My '48)
Lillard, R. G. Great forest. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Sources

Bartlett, R. J., ed. Record of American diplomacy. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Monaghan, F. Heritage of freedom. (Mr '48)
Washington, G. Basic writings. (O '48)

Colonial period

Coleman, R. V. First frontier. (Ap '48)
Wright, L. B. Atlantic frontier. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Revolution

Alden, J. R. General Gage in America. (S '48)
Bill, A. H. Campaign of Princeton. (S '48)
Miller, J. C. Triumph of freedom. (Je '48)

Revolution—Personal narratives, British

Hughes, T. Journal. (Je '48)

Revolution—New York (city)

Wertenbaker, T. J. Father Knickerbocker rebels. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

1815-1861

Nevins, A. Ordeal of the Union. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

War with Mexico, 1845-1848

Bill, A. H. Rehearsal for conflict. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Civil war

Eisenschiml, O., and Long, E. B. As luck would have it. (N '48)
O'Connor, R. Thomas, Rock of Chickamauga. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Civil war—Causes

Nevins, A. Ordeal of the Union. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Civil war—Naval operations

Morgan, M. C. Dixie raider. (N '48)
Semmes, R. Rebel raider. (S '48)

Civil war—Personal narratives

Andrus, O. Civil war letters. (Je '48)

Civil war—Sources

Lincoln, A. Papers. (D '48)

1865-

Adams, J. T., and others, eds. Album of American history: v4, End of an era. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Babst, E. D., and Vander Velde, L. G., eds. Michigan and the Cleveland era. (D '48)

20th century

Barck, O. T., and Blake, N. M. Since 1900. (Ap '48)
Morris, L. R. Postscript to yesterday. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Paxson, F. L. American democracy and the World war, v3. (S '48)
Wecter, D. Age of the great depression. (S '48)

1932-1945

Crane, M., ed. Roosevelt era. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

History, Military

French, M. O. America and war. (My '48)

History, Naval

Clinard, O. J. Japan's influence on American naval power. (My '48)
Knox, D. W. History of the United States navy [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
West, R. S. Admirals of American empire. (Je '48)

Intellectual life

Boorstin, D. J. Lost world of Thomas Jefferson. (N '48)
Canby, H. S. American memoir. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Savelle, M. Seeds of liberty. (Ag '48)

Moral conditions

Deutsch, A., ed. Sex habits of American men. (Ag '48)
Ernst, M. L., and Loth, D. G. American sexual behavior and the Kinsey report. (Ag '48)
Kinsey, A. C., and others. Sexual behavior in the human male. (Mr '48)

Nationality

Fairchild, H. P. Race and nationality. (Mr '48)

Politics and government

Arnall, E. G. What the people want. (Ag '48)
Bishop, H. M., and Hendel, S., eds. Basic issues of American democracy. (S '48)
Blaich, T. P., and Baumgartner, J. C. Challenge of democracy [rev ed]. (My '48)
Brown, S. G., ed. We hold these truths [2d ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Douglas, W. O. Being an American. (S '48)
Greenan, J. T. Everyday problems of American democracy [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Hesseltine, W. B. Rise and fall of third parties. (Je '48)
Hofstadter, R. American political tradition and the men who made it. (O '48)
Kerwin, J. G., ed. Civil-military relationships in American life. (S '48)
Laski, H. J. American democracy. (Ag '48)
Lincoln, A. Papers. (D '48)
Long, J. C. Liberal presidents. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Patman, W. Our American government. (Ap '48)
Seldes, G. One thousand Americans. (Mr '48)
Steinberg, S., and Knowlton, D. C. American way in community life. (Je '48)

1783-1865

Nichols, R. F. Disruption of American democracy. (My '48)
White, L. D. The Federalists. (Ag '48)

Civil war

Hesseltine, W. B. Lincoln and the war governors. (Ag '48)

1865-

Hugh-Jones, E. M. Woodrow Wilson and American liberalism. (S '48)

20th century

Farley, J. A. Jim Farley's story. (Ap '48)
Flynn, J. T. Roosevelt myth. (O '48)
Schriftgiesser, K. This was normalcy. (Je '48)
Sherwood, R. E. Roosevelt and Hopkins. (N '48)

1932-1945

Catton, B. War lords of Washington. (N '48)

Race question

Fairchild, H. P. Race and nationality. (Mr '48)
MacIver, R. M. More perfect union. (Ag '48)
Nelson, W. S., ed. Christian way in race relations. (S '48)

Weaver, R. C. Negro ghetto. (S '48)
White, W. F. Man called White. (N '48)

Relations (general) with China

Fairbank, J. K. United States and China. (S '48)

Relations (general) with Latin America

Stuntz, A. E. To make the people strong. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Relations (general) with Russia

Hecht, D. Russian radicals look to America. (Ap '48)

Religion

Bach, M. L. Report to Protestants. (O '48)
Sweet, W. W. American churches. (Ag '48)

Social conditions

Blaich, T. P., and Baumgartner, J. C. Challenge of democracy [rev ed]. (My '48)
Groves, E. R. and G. H. Contemporary American family. (Ap '48)
Merrill, F. E. Social problems on the home front. (Je '48)
Nimkoff, M. F. Marriage and the family. (Je '48)
Truxal, A. G., and Merrill, F. E. Family in American culture. (Je '48)

Social life and customs

Adams, J. T., and others, eds. Album of American history: v4, End of an era. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Blegen, T. C. Grass roots history. (Ap '48)
Hawes, E. Anything but love. (O '48)
Martin, R. G. Best is none too good. (Ap '48)
Nevins, A., ed. America through British eyes [new rev ed]. (O '48)

Territorial expansion

McCaleb, W. F. Conquest of the West. (Mr '48)
Marion, G. Bases and empire. (S '48)

United States and armaments. Tate, M. (S '48)
United States and China. Fairbank, J. K. (S '48)
United States and Russia. Dean, V. M. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
United States and South America. Whitaker, A. P. (Je '48)
United States and the Caribbean. Perkins, D (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

United States. Army

Military life

Shea, N. B. Army wife. (S '48)

United States. Army air forces
Haugland, V. AAF against Japan. (N '48)
Hinton, H. B. Air victory. (S '48)
United States. Air force, Department of. Office of air force history. Army air forces in World war II. (O '48)

Juvenile literature

Wilber, E. L., and Schoenholtz, E. R. Silver wings. (Je '48)

United States. Coast guard
Floherty, J. J. White terror. (Mr '48)

United States cumulative book auction records, 1940-45. (Je '48)

United States. Marine corps
De Chant, J. A. Devilbirds. (Ap '48)
Pratt, F. Marines' war. (Mr '48)

United States. Military academy, West Point
Cohane, T. Gridiron grenadiers. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

United States. Navy
Morison, S. E. History of United States naval operations in World war II; v3, The Rising Sun in the Pacific. (O '48)

History

Knox, D. W. History of the United States navy [rev ed]. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

University debaters' annual, v33. Phelps, E. M., and Ulman, R., eds. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Unknown Germany. Hafkesbrink, H. (Ag '48)
Unknown sea. Mauriac, F. (N '48)
Un-Marxian socialist. Lubac, H. de. (O '48)
Unprejudiced palate. Pellegrini, A. M. (D '48)
Unpromised land. Martin, B. E. (My '48)
Unpublished diary of Pierre Laval. Eng title of: Diary. Laval, P. (N '48)
Untidy murder. Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. (Mr '48)
Untriangulated stars. Robinson, E. A. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Up hill. McKean, E. (Ap '48)

Updike, Daniel Berkeley
Updike: American printer and his Merrymount press. (Ap '48)

Use of history. Rowse, A. L. (S '48)

Utopias
Parrington, V. L. American dreams. (My '48)

Vacuum-tube circuits. Arguimbau, L. B. (Ag '48)

Vacuum tubes
Albert, A. L. Fundamental electronics and vacuum tubes. (Ag '48)
Arguimbau, L. B. Vacuum-tube circuits. (Ag '48)
Hamilton, D. R., and others. Klystron and microwave triodes. (S '48)
Spangenberg, K. R. Vacuum tubes. (Ag '48)

Vain citadels. Morgan, B. S. (Mr '48)
Valiant lady. Sinclair, K. H. N.-W. (Ap '48)
Valley of shadows. Grierson, F. (Ag '48)
Valley of the shadow. Warren, C. M. (D '48)

Valves and valve gearing
Hunter, M. C. I. Rotary valve engines. (S '48)

Van Orsdel, William Wesley
Smith, A. J. Brother Van. (Je '48)

Vanzetti, Bartolomeo
Joughin, G. L., and Morgan, E. M. Legacy of Sacco and Vanzetti. (N '48)

Variations on a theme. Quick, D. (My '48)
Vat dyestuffs and vat dyeing. Fox, M. R. (My '48)

Veblen, Thorstein Bunde
Schneider, L. Freudian psychology and Veblen's social theory. (D '48)
Veblen, T. B. Portable Veblen. (Ag '48)

Vector analysis
Murnaghan, F. D. Introduction to applied mathematics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Rider, J. F., and Uslan, S. D. Understanding vectors and phase. (N '48)

Ventilation
Heating and ventilating (periodical). Engineering databook. (Ag '48)

Venturous lady. Coxe, G. H. (My '48)
Venus and the voters. Thomas, G. (Mr '48)

Verdi, Giuseppe

Juvenile literature

Humphreys, D. Verdi. (D '48)

Vermont

Social life and customs

Gordon, J. M. S. Escape from Vermont. (D '48)

Vertical man. Archer, W. G. (My '48)

Veterans
Martin, R. G. Best is none too good. (Ap '48)

Vibration
Church, A. H. Elementary mechanical vibrations. (Ag '48)
Morris, J. Escalator method in engineering vibration problems. (Ap '48)

Vice-presidents (United States)
Young, K. H., and Middleton, L. Heirs apparent. (My '48)

Victor book of concertos. Veinus, A. (O '48)

Victoria, queen of Great Britain
Bolitho, H. Reign of Queen Victoria. (D '48)

Victory of Paul Kent. Cunningham, A. B. (S '48)
Village greens of New England. Kent, L. A. (O '48)
Vine of glory. King, M. J. (S '48)

Virgin Islands

Description and travel

Jarvis, J. A., and Martin, R. Virgin Islands picture book. (D '48)

Virgin Islands picture book. Jarvis, J. A., and Martin, R. (D '48)

Virginia
Church history
Brydon, G. M. Virginia's mother church. (O '48)
History
Drama
Green, P. Common glory. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Virginia reader. Rosenberger, F. C., ed. (D '48)
Virginia's mother church. Brydon, G. M. (O '48)
Vision of Fatima. McGlynn, T. M. (D '48)
Visit the Pacific Northwest. Glassley, R. H. (N '48)
Visual instruction
Exton, W. Audiovisual aids to instruction. (Je '48)
Hockman, W. S. Projected visual aids in the church. (Mr '48)
Strauss, L. H., and Kidd, J. R. Look, listen and learn. (Je '48)
Vocabulary
Smith, S. S. How to double your vocabulary. (Mr '48)
Vocational education
Kahler, A., and Hamburger, E. Education for an industrial age. (S '48)
Keller, F. J. Principles of vocational education. (O '48)
Vocational guidance
Kaplan, O. J., ed. Encyclopedia of vocational guidance. (Je '48)
Kaufmann, F. Your job. (S '48)
Voice out of darkness. Curtiss, U. R. (N '48)
Volcanoes
Leet, L. D. Cause of catastrophe. (Ap '48)
Voltaire, François Marie Arouet de
Wade, I. O. Studies on Voltaire. (My '48)
Volumetric analysis
Kolthoff, I. M., and Stenger, V. A. Volumetric analysis [2d rev ed]. (Ag '48)
Voting
Koo, W. Voting procedures in international political organizations. (My '48)
Voting procedures in international political organizations. Koo, W. (My '48)
Vouza and the Solomon islands. Macquarrie, H. (S '48)
Voyages, Imaginary
Nicolson, M. H. Voyages to the moon. (D '48)
Voyages and travels
Freeman, I. H., ed. White sails shaking. (D '48)
Mallery, R. D., ed. Masterworks of travel and exploration. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Millar, G. R. Isabel and the sea. (S '48)
Juvenile literature
Quinn, V. Pageant of the seven seas. (D '48)
Voyages to the moon. Nicolson, M. H. (D '48)
Vulgarity in literature
Partridge, E. Shakespeare's bawdy. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Vulpes, the red fox. George, J. L. and J. (Je '48)

Wages
Jones, P. W. Practical job evaluation. (Ag '48)
Kaplan, A. D. H. Guarantee of annual wages. (Mr '48)
Ross, A. M. Trade union wage policy. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wait till the moon is full. Brown, M. W. (D '48)
Wald, Lillian
Juvenile literature
Williams, B. Lillian Wald. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Walden Two. Skinner, B. F. (Ag '48)
Walk in darkness. Habe, H. (N '48)
Wall. Sartre, J. P. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Wall of dust. Tennyson, H. (Ap '48)
Wallace, Henry Agard
Macdonald, D. Henry Wallace. (Ap '48)
Wise, J. W. Meet Henry Wallace. (N '48)
Wallace, Lew (Lewis)
McKee, I. Ben-Hur Wallace. (Mr '48)
Walpole, Horace
Walpole, H. Correspondence with Thomas Gray, Richard West and Thomas Ashton, v13-14. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Walter, Lucy
Scott, G. Lucy Walter. (N '48)
Walter Johnson, king of the pitchers. Treat, R. L. (My '48)
Wandering osprey. Mackinder, D. (D '48)
Wandering scholar. Bonn, M. J. (D '48)
Wandering student. Pares, B. (My '48)
War
Economic aspects
Chew, A. P. Plowshares into swords. (D '48)
War and emergency powers
Rossiter, C. L. Constitutional dictatorship. (N '48)
War and literature
Gist, M. A. Love and war in the Middle English romances. (S '48)
War and prices in Spain. Hamilton, E. J. (Je '48)
War and religion
Jones, R. M., ed. Church, the gospel and war. (O '48)
War crimes
Trials
Calvocoressi, P. Nuremberg. (My '48)
War lords of Washington. Catton, B. (N '48)
War, politics, and insanity. Bluemel, C. S. (S '48)
War we lost. Fotitch, C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Warfield, Frances
Warfield, F. Cotton in my ears. (Ag '48)
Warpath and council fire. Campbell, W. S. (Ag '48)
Warren, Earl
Stone, I. Earl Warren. (O '48)
Warrior bard. Godwin, E. and S. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Washbournes of Otterley. Pakington, H. (O '48)
Washington, Booker Taliaferro
Mathews, B. J. Booker T. Washington. (N '48)
Washington, George
Freeman, D. S. George Washington, v 1-2. (N '48)
Hart, J. American presidency in action, 1789. (N '48)
Kingdon, F. Architects of the Republic. (Ap '48)
Washington, G. Basic writings. (O '48)
Washington, D.C.
Description
MacIntyre, C. B. Introducing Washington, D.C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Social life and customs
Hurd, C. Washington cavalcade. (Mr '48)
Washington, D.C. Football club (national league)
Griffith, C. My life with the Redskins. (Mr '48)
Washington, D.C. White House
Nesbitt, V. H. K. White House diary. (S '48)
Washington (state)
Views
Sheldon, H. D., il. Northwest corner. (O '48)
Washington cavalcade. Hurd, C. (Mr '48)
Washington witch hunt. Andrews, B. (S '48)
Watch for a tall white sail. Bell, M. E. (My '48)
Watch repairing as a hobby. Fletcher, D. W. (S '48)
Watchdog. Bannon, L. M. (Ag '48)
Water
Foster, E. E. Rainfall and runoff. (D '48)
Water-color painting
Staples, F. A. Water-color painting is fun. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Water-color painting is fun. Staples, F. A. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Water color paintings
  Rowlandson, T. Watercolor drawings. (My '48)
Water mills
  Woodbury, G. John Goffe's mill. (O '48)
Watercolor drawings. Rowlandson, T. (My '48)
Waterproofing
  Hunter, L. E. Concrete waterproofing. (S '48)
Waterways
  North America
  Connett, E. V., ed. Yachting in North America. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wave guides
  Huxley, L. G. H. Survey of the principles and practice of wave guides. (Ag '48)
Waxes
  Warth, A. H. Chemistry and technology of waxes. (Je '48)
Way of a gaucho. Childs, H. (N '48)
Way of happening. Herschberger, R. (S '48)
Way to be happy. Gould, L. (D '48)
Way to write. Flesch, R. F., and Lass, A. H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wayfaring lad. Bolton, I. M. (Je '48)
Wayfaring stranger. Ives, B. (D '48)
Ways of fishes. Schultz, L. P., and Stern, E. M. (S '48)
Ways of men. Gillin, J. P. (S '48)
Wayward angel. Chute, V. (Ap '48)
We are the robbers. Heth, E. H. (My '48)
We called it culture. Case, V. R. O. (Ap '48)
We chose the country. Jacobs, H. A. (S '48)
We fly away. Francis, R. (N '48)
We four together. Weissenstein, H. (Je '48)
We gather together. Jenkins, S. (S '48)
We hold these truths [2d ed]. Brown, S. G., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
We need not fail. Welles, S. (Ag '48)
We, the citizens. Aldrich, J. C., and Markert, M. A. (Je '48)
Weather
  Haynes, B. C. Techniques of observing the weather. (Ag '48)
  Juvenile literature
  Meyer, J. S. Picture book of the weather. (D '48)
  Mental and physiological effects
  Petersen, W. F. Man, weather, sun. (S '48)
Weather breeder. Bates, S. C. (Je '48)
Weather elements [3d ed]. Blair, T. A. (D '48)
Weaving
  Allen, E. L. Weaving you can do. (Ag '48)
Weaving you can do. Allen, E. L. (Ag '48)
Web of evil. Emerick, L. (S '48)
Webb, Beatrice (Potter) (Mrs Sidney Webb)
  Webb, B. P. Our partnership. (My '48)
Webb, Sidney
  Webb, B. P. Our partnership. (My '48)
Wechsberg, Joseph
  Wechsberg, J. Sweet and sour. (D '48)
Week-end painter. Burton, L. V. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Weekly reader parade. My weekly reader (periodical). (My '48)
Weil, Joseph R.
  Weil, J. R. "Yellow Kid" Weil. (S '48)
Welch, William Henry
  Bernheim, B. M. Story of the Johns Hopkins. (D '48)
Welcome. Creekmore, H. (D '48)
Well of compassion. Alman, D. (S '48)
Well of the Unicorn. Pratt, F. (Ap '48)
Wellsprings of the American spirit. Johnson, F. E., ed. (S '48)
We're all in it. Johnston, E. A. (D '48)
West
  Description and travel
  Kennerly, W. C. Persimmon Hill. (D '48)
  Lewis, J. E. Doorway to good living. (D '48)
  Look (periodical). Look at America: the far West. (Je '48)
  History
  McCaleb, W. F. Conquest of the West. (Mr '48)
West at bay. Ward, B. (N '48)
West Indies
  Description and travel
  Bertram, K. and R. H. Caribbean cruise. (Je '48)
  Clark, S. A. All the best in the Caribbean. (Ap '48)
  Lanks, H. C. Highway across the West Indies. (Ag '48)
  Leaf, E. Isles of rhythm. (S '48)
  Mitchell, C. Islands to windward. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Roberts, W. A. Lands of the inner sea. (Mr '48)
Western angler [2d ed]. Haig-Brown, R. L. H. (Mr '48)
Western conference. See Intercollegiate conference of faculty representatives
Western country in 1793. Toulmin, H. (N '48)
Western trout. MacDowell, S. (Ag '48)
Westinghouse electric corporation
  Woodbury, D. O. Battlefronts of industry. (N '48)
Westminster retrospect. Andrews, H. (O '48)
Westward ha! Perelman, S. J. (O '48)
Westward the dream. Marion, F. (Ag '48)
Whale hunt. Haley, N. C. (Ag '48)
Whaling
  Haley, N. C. Whale hunt. (Ag '48)
  McCracken, D. R. Four months on a Jap whaler. (My '48)
What am I doing here? Dean, A. (Mr '48)
What book is that? Harshaw, R. H., and MacBean, D. W. (D '48)
What electronics does. Zeluff, V., and Markus, J. (Ag '48)
What every young rabbit should know. Denison, C. (D '48)
What grandpa laughed at. Croy, H. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
What happened to George? Engebretson, B. L. (Ap '48)
What is life? Haldane, J. B. S. (Mr '48)
What is man. Ramuz, C. F. (D '48)
What shall I preach? Thomas, G. B. (Ag '48)
What the English think of us. Vanderschmidt, F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
What the people want. Arnall, E. G. (Ag '48)
What to make for children. Popular mechanics magazine, Chicago. (Je '48)
What today's woman should know about marriage. Today's woman (periodical). (O '48)
When Cricket was little. Rowlett, M. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
When this you see remember me. Rogers, W. G. (S '48)
When were you built? Hokinson, H. E. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Where flows the Kennebec. MacDougall, A. R. (Mr '48)
Where I was born and raised. Cohn, D. L. (Ag '48)
Where the heart is. Lambert, J. (Ag '48)
Where the moment was. McLaughlin, H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Where's Mr Chumley? Truss, S. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
While Susie sleeps. Schneider, N. (My '48)
Whimsey report. Cummings, P. (O '48)
The whip. Mason, S. E. (Mr '48)
Whistling wings. Bovey, M. K. (Mr '48)
White, Walter Francis
  White, W. F. Man called White. (N '48)
White, William Allen
  Johnson, W. William Allen White's America. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
  White, W. A., and Wilson, G. B. Letters of William Allen White and a young man. (Ap '48)
White Birds island. Skrebitsky, G. (O '48)
White Boots. Watson, H. O. (D '48)
White goddess. Graves, R. (O '48)
White House diary. Nesbitt, V. H. K. (S '48)
White man's peace. Park, N. (S '48)
White sails shaking. Freeman, I. H., ed. (D '48)
White terror. Floherty, J. J. (Mr '48)
White winter. Meigs, E. B. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
White witnesses. Spalding, H. (O '48)
Whitehead, Alfred North
  Hammerschmidt, W. W. Whitehead's philosophy of time. (N '48)
Whitehead's philosophy of time. Hammerschmidt, W. W. (N '48)

Whitepaw goes north. Grew, D. (S '48)
Whither Germany? Zbinden, H. (D '48)

Whitney, William Collins
  Hirsch, M. D. William C. Whitney, modern Warwick. (N '48)
Who dealt this mess? Webster, H. T. (S '48)
Whole of their lives. Gitlow, B. (D '48)
Whom the gods love. Infeld, L. (Ap '48)
Who's important. (My '48)
Who's who in the East. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Who's who on the Pacific Coast. (My '48)
Why men work. Heron, A. R. (S '48)
Widow Gay. Marcus, A. A. (O '48)

Wild animals
  Bridges, W. Wild animals of the world. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wild animals of the world. Bridges, W. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wild country. Bromfield, L. (N '48)
Wild flower guide. Wherry, E. T. (Je '48)
Wild folk at the pond. Fenton, C. L. (N '48)
Wild horse. Balch, G. (Ag '48)
Wild wild West. Daugherty, J. H. (Ja '49 (1948 Annual) Wild wood. Clewes, D. (Ag '48)

Wilde, Oscar
  Roditi, E. Oscar Wilde. (Ap '48)
Wilders walk away. Brean, H. (My '48)
Wilding graft. Clemo, J. R. (D '48)
Will dollars save the world? Hazlitt, H. (My '48)
Willow and the bridge. Kagawa, T., and Cole, F. (Ap '48)
Willow Brook farm. Christ, K. D. (N '48)

Willson, Meredith
  Willson, M. And there I stood with my piccolo. (N '48)

Wilson, Gilbert Brown
  White, W. A., and Wilson, G. B. Letters of William Allen White and a young man. (Ap '48)

Wilson, Woodrow
  Hugh-Jones, E. M. Woodrow Wilson and American liberalism. (S '48)
Win, lose or draw. Brown, W. (Ap '48)
Wind and Peter. Tresselt, A. R. (Ap '48)
Wind leaves no shadow. Laughlin, R. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Windmills
  Putnam, P. C. Power from the wind. (O '48)
Window on the sea. Newcomb, E. (D '48)
Wine of astonishment. Gellhorn, M. E. (N '48)
Wine, women and words. Rose, B. (D '48)
Wing and trap shooting. Askins, C. (N '48)
Wing-tips. Green, R. (S '48)
Wings in the woods. McClung, R. M. (N '48)
Winning chess. Chernev, I., and Reinfeld, F. (Ag '48)
Winning pitch. Bowen, R. S. (Ag '48)
Winter crook. Gibson, W. (S '48)
Wiring a continent. Thompson, R. L. (Mr '48)

Wisconsin

Politics and government
  Doan, E. N. La Follettes and the Wisconsin idea. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Wisconsin is my doorstep. Gard, R. E. (Ap '48)
Wish for tomorrow. Miller, J. D. (Ag '48)
Wish on an apple. Garst, D. S. (D '48)
Wisteria cottage. Coates, R. M. (O '48)
Wit and wisdom. Whitehead, A. N. (Ap '48)
Witch of Scrapfaggot Green. Gordon, P. (My '48)
Witches pond. Siegel, D. (Je '48)
With a southern accent. Liddell, V. G. (Je '48)
With might and main. Fenner, P. R. ed. (D '48)
With much love. Green, A. (Je '48)
Within the harbor. Bassett, S. W. (S '48)
Within the hollow crown. Barnes, M. C. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Without halos. Cochran, B. W. (Ap '48)
Witness for the prosecution. Christie, A. M. (O '48)
Witness of the prophets. Baker, G. P. (O '48)
Witness to the light. Vidler, A. R. (N '48)
Witness to the truth. Hamilton, E. (Je '48)
Witnesses for freedom. Barton, R. C. (S '48)
Wobbly. Chaplin, R. (N '48)
Wolf tone. Goldman, L. (Ag '48)

Wolfe, Thomas
  Johnson, P. H. Hungry Gulliver. (Mr '48)
  Muller, H. J. Thomas Wolfe. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Woman
  Kidd, E. F. Women never go broke. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

Biography
  Mathews, W. Dauntless women. (S '48)
  Whitton, M. O. First First Ladies, 1789-1865. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Yost, E. American women of nursing. (Mr '48)

Employment
  McBride, M. M., ed. How to be a successful advertising woman. (Je '48)

History and condition
  Herschberger, R. Adam's rib. (My '48)

Occupations
  Neuschutz, L. M. Job for every woman. (D '48)
Woman in the sea. Smith, S. (N '48)
Woman with a sword. Noble, H. (S '48)
Woman's house. Fletcher, H. L. V. (Je '48)
Women are skin deep. Whelton, P. (Mr '48)
Women as musicians
  Drinker, S. L. H. Music and women. (Ap '48)
Women in literature and art
  Gist, M. A. Love and war in the Middle English romances. (S '48)
Women in the United States
  Hawes, E. Anything but love. (O '48)
Women in Zululand
  Reyher, R. H. Zulu woman. (Je '48)
Women never go broke. Kidd, E. F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Women's International League for Peace and Freedom
  Detzer, D. Appointment on the Hill. (My '48)
Wonderful Mrs. Ingram. Ware, H. (N '48)
Wonderful story book. Brown, M. W. (Ag '48)
Wonderland of knowledge. (O '48)
Wood carving
  Pynn, L. Let's whittle. (N '48)
Woodrow Wilson and American liberalism. Hugh-Jones, E. M. (S '48)
Woodwork
  Frankl, L. Basic tools for woodworking. (D '48)
  Morgan, A. P. Tools and how to use them. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
  Smith, R. E. Machine woodworking [rev ed]. (O '48)
  Van Tassel, R. Woodworking crafts. (Mr '48)
Woodworking crafts. Van Tassel, R. (Mr '48)
Wool
  Von Bergen, W., and Mauersberger, H. R. American wool handbook [2d enl ed]. (Ag '48)

Wool trade
  Von Bergen, W., and Mauersberger, H. R. American wool handbook [2d enl ed]. (Ag '48)
Wordlore. Barnes, D. C. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Words into type. Skillin, M. E., and others. (N '48)
Words to live by. Nichols, W. I., ed. (Ag '48)
Wordsworth, William
  Elwin, M. First romantics. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Work and effort. Ryan, T. A. (Ap '48)
Work and history. Schrecker, P. (Ag '48)
Working girl's own cook book. Young, H. (S '48)
Working with aluminum. Hobbs, D. B. (Ap '48)
Workmen's compensation
  Reede, A. H. Adequacy of workmen's compensation. (Ag '48)
Works of the mind. Heywood, R. B., ed. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
World book encyclopedia. (My '48)
World communism today. Ebon, M. (Ap '48)
World community. Wright, Q., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
World economic problems. Hickman, C. A., and others. (Ap '48)
World flag encyclopedia. (D '48)

World from Jackson square. Basso, E. S., ed. (D '48)

World in the twentieth century. Bruun, G. (S '48)

World is a wedding. Schwartz, D. (S '48)

World is not enough. Oldenbourg, Z. (Ag '48)

World of A. Van Vogt, A. E. (My '48)

World politics

- Angell, N. Steep places. (Mr '48)
- Baldwin, H. W. Price of power. (My '48)
- Bonn, M. J. Wandering scholar. (D '48)
- Butler, H. B. Peace or power. (S '48)
- Carr, E. H. International relations between the two World wars. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
- Douglas, W. O. Being an American. (S '48)
- Finer, H. America's destiny. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
- Isaacs, H. R., ed. New cycle in Asia. (Ap '48)
- Mackay, R. W. G. You can't turn the clock back. (O '48)
- Malraux, A., and Burnham, J. Case for De Gaulle. (Je '48)
- Moore, H. H., ed. Survival or suicide. (O '48)
- Morgenthau, H. J. Politics among nations. (D '48)
- Park, N. White man's peace. (S '48)
- Sternberg, F. How to stop the Russians without war. (Ap '48)
- Urquhart, C., ed. Last chance. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
- Valéry, P. Reflections on the world today. (Ag '48)
- Wallace, H. A. Toward world peace. (Je '48)
- Wittmann, E. History. (O '48)

Dictionaries

- White, W. W. Political dictionary. (Je '48) (1947 Annual)

World-scope encyclopedia. (F '49) (1948 Annual)

World war, 1939-1945

- Churchill, W. L. S. Second world war, v 1: The gathering storm. (Ag '48)

Aerial operations

- De Chant, J. A. Devilbirds. (Ap '48)
- Francis, D. E. Flak bait. (N '48)
- Haugland, V. AAF against Japan. (N '48)
- Hinton, H. B. Air victory. (S '48)
- Ingells, D. J. They tamed the sky. (Ap '48)
- United States. Air force, Department of. Office of air force history. Army air forces in World war II; v. 1. (O '48)

Campaigns and battles

- Eisenhower, D. D. Crusade in Europe. (D '48)
- Merriam, R. E. Dark December. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
- Montgomery, B. L. Normandy to the Baltic. (My '48)
- Shulman, M. Defeat in the west. (Mr '48)

Causes

- Cave, F. A., and others. Origins and consequences of World war II. (N '48)

Chemistry

- Noyes, W. A., ed. Chemistry. (O '48)

Children

Juvenile literature

- O'Neill, H. Young patriots. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Civilian relief

- Seymour, H. J. Design for giving. (Ag '48)

Congresses, conferences, etc.

- Arne, S. United nations primer. (S '48)

Dictionaries

- Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '48)

Diplomatic history

- Namier, L. B. Diplomatic prelude. (S '48)

Displaced persons

- Duggan, S. P. H. and Drury, B. Rescue of science and learning. (N '48)

Documents, etc, sources

- Germany. Auswärtiges amt. Nazi-Soviet relations, 1939-1941. (Je '48)

Drama

- Haines, W. W. Command decision. (Je '48)

Economic aspects

- Craf, J. R. Survey of the American economy, 1940-1946. (N '48)
- Toulmin, H. A. Diary of democracy. (My '48)

Humor, Caricatures, etc.

- Herbert, A. P. Leave my old morale alone. (Mr '48)

Influence and results

- Cave, F. A., and others. Origins and consequences of World war II. (N '48)

Jews

- Pat, J. Ashes and fire. (Ag '48)
- Waren, H. Buried are screaming. (My '48)

Language

- Taylor, A. M., comp. Language of World war II [rev & enl ed]. (N '48)

Naval operations

- Karig, W., and others. Battle report, v4. (Ag '48)
- Morison, S. E. History of United States naval operations in World war II; v3, The Rising Sun in the Pacific. (O '48)
- Puleston, W. D. Influence of sea power in World war II. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Occupied territories

- Holborn, H. American military government. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)

Peace

- Jünger, E. The peace. (O '48)

Personal narratives, American

- Eisenhower, D. D. Crusade in Europe. (D '48)
- McDougall, W. H. Six bells off Java. (Je '48)
- Stilwell, J. W. Stilwell papers. (Je '48)
- Summersby, K. Eisenhower was my boss. (N '48)
- Weinstein, A. A. Barbed-wire surgeon. (My '48)

Personal narratives, English

- Band, C. and W. Two years with the Chinese communists. (My '48)
- Maugham, R. C. R. Nomad. (My '48)
- Walters, A. M. Moondrop to Gascony. (Mr '48)

Personal narratives, French

- Ambrière, F. Long holiday. (Ap '48)
- Perrin, H. Priest-workman in Germany. (My '48)
- Renault-Roulier, G. Memoirs of a secret agent of Free France. (Ap '48)

Personal narratives, Italian

- Maugeri, F. From the ashes of disgrace. (Ag '48)

Personal narratives, New Zealand

- Bertram, J. M. Beneath the shadow. (Mr '48)

Personal narratives, Polish

- Kulkielko, R. Escape from the pit. (Je '48)

Personal narratives, Russian

- Koriakov, M. I'll never go back. (Ag '48)

Poetry

- Pratt, E. J. Behind the log. (Ag '48)

Prisoners and prisons, German

- Ambrière, F. Long holiday. (Ap '48)

Prisoners and prisons, Japanese

- Bertram, J. M. Beneath the shadow. (Mr '48)
- Weinstein, A. A. Barbed-wire surgeon. (My '48)

World war, 1939-1945—Continued
Propaganda
Carroll, W. Persuade or perish. (S '48)
Psychological aspects
Menninger, W. C. Psychiatry in a troubled world. (O '48)
Reparations
Ratchford, B. U., and Ross, W. D. Berlin reparations assignment. (Mr '48)
Science
Burchard, J. E. Q. E. D.; M. I. T. in World war II. (S '48)
Burchard, J. E., ed. Rockets, guns and targets. (O '48)
Goudsmit, S. A. Alsos. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Stewart, I. Organizing scientific research for war. (S '48)
Secret service
Renault-Roulier, G. Memoirs of a secret agent of Free France. (Ap '48)
China
Stilwell, J. W. Stilwell papers. (Je '48)
Finland
Finland and World war II, 1939-1944. (Ag '48)
France
Laval, P. Diary. (N '48)
Renault-Roulier, G. Memoirs of a secret agent of Free France. (Ap '48)
Germany
Gisevius, H. B. To the bitter end. (Ag '48) (1947 Annual)
Goebbels, J. Goebbels diaries. (Je '48)
Liddell Hart, B. H. German generals talk. (O '48)
Sayre, J. House without a roof. (D '48)
Shulman, M. Defeat in the west. (Mr '48)
Great Britain
Churchill, W. L. S. Second world war, v 1: The gathering storm. (Ag '48)
Eden, A. Freedom and order. (O '48)
Italy
Addis Ababa, P. B. d'. Italy in the second World war. (N '48)
Maugeri, F. From the ashes of disgrace. (Ag '48)
Mussolini, B. Fall of Mussolini. (D '48)
Pacific ocean
Haugland, V. AAF against Japan. (N '48)
Pratt, F. Marines' war. (Mr '48)
Poland
Lane, A. B. I saw Poland betrayed. (Ap '48)
Russia
Gouzenko, I. Iron curtain. (Ag '48)
Spain
Feis, H. Spanish story. (Je '48)
United States
Beard, C. A. President Roosevelt and the coming of the war, 1941. (My '48)
Catton, B. War lords of Washington. (N '48)
Gulick, L. H. Administrative reflections from World war II. (O '48)
Merrill, F. E. Social problems on the home front. (Je '48)
Sherwood, R. E. Roosevelt and Hopkins. (N '48)
Stimson, H. L., and Bundy, M. On active service in peace and war. (Je '48)
Yugoslavia
Fotitch, C. War we lost. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
World without visa. Malaquais, J. (Ag '48)
World words. Greet, W. C. (Ag '48)
World's great lakes. Lane, F. C. (Mr '48)
World's great operas. Howard, J. T. (N '48)
World's great stories of hunting and adventure. Robinson, B., ed. (Ap '48)

Worry
Carnegie, D. How to stop worrying and start living. (S '48)
Wrap it as a gift. Kircher, R. C. (Ap '48)
Write the short short. Elwood, M. (Je '48)
Writing
History
Diringer, D. Alphabet. (N '48)
Ogg, O. 26 letters. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Writings and speeches, v4. Cromwell, O. (Je '48)
Writings and speeches. Debs, E. V. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Wyoming cattle trails. Rollinson, J. K. (Je '48)

Yacht racing
Bavier, R. N. Sailing to win. (Mr '48)
Yacht sails. Ratsey, E. A., and De Fontaine, W. H. (O '48)
Yachting in North America. Connett, E. V., ed. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual) Yachts and yachting
Brindze, R. Seamanship below deck [new ed]. (Je '48)
Connett, E. V., ed. Yachting in North America. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Freeman, I. H., ed. White sails shaking. (D '48)
Mitchell, C. Islands to windward. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Ratsey, E. A., and De Fontaine, W. H. Yacht sails. (O '48)
Yale science, the first hundred years, 1701-1801. McKeehan, L. W. (Je '48)
Yale university
Hadley, M. Arthur Twining Hadley. (O '48)
McKeehan, L. W. Yale science, the first hundred years, 1701-1801. (Je '48)
Yankee auctioneer. Bean, G. H. (N '48)
Yankee folk. Mitchell, E. V. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Yankee science in the making. Struik, D. J. (O '48)
Yankee surveyors in the Shogun's seas. Cole, A. B., ed. (My '48)
Yasuo Kuniyoshi. Goodrich, L. (O '48)
Year in American music, 1946-1947. (S '48)
Years of the pilgrimage. Davis, K. S. (Mr '48)
Yeats, William Butler
Ellmann, R. Yeats, the man and the masks. (D '48)
"Yellow Kid" Weil. Weil, J. R. (S '48)
Yellow robe. Payne, P. S. R. (Je '48)
Yosemite and the Sierra Nevada. Muir, J. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Yosemite National park
Muench, J. Along Yosemite trails. (N '48)
Yosemite valley
Muir, J. Yosemite and the Sierra Nevada. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
You and psychiatry. Menninger, W. C., and Leaf, M. (S '48)
You and the Constitution of the United States. Witty, P. A., and Kohler, J. (N '48)
You and your doctor. Miller, B. F. (S '48)
You can change the world! Keller, J. G. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
You can't turn the clock back. Mackay, R. W. G. (O '48)
You meet them in Mexico. Martin, S. (S '48)
Young collector's handbook. Verrill, A. H. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Young folks at home. Harris, F. L., and Kauffman, T. E. (D '48)
Young Henry Adams. Samuels, E. (D '48)
Young King David. King, M. (O '48)
Young lions. Shaw, I. (N '48)
Young Mr Newman. Ward, M. (O '48)
Young patriots. O'Neill, H. (Ja '49) (1943 Annual)
Young Robin Brand, detective. Crofts, F. W. (Ap '48)
Young women's Christian associations
Clark, M. L., and Teall, B. Executive director on the job in a membership organization. (Ap '48)
Your baby. Shultz, G. D., and Hill, L. F. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Your boat. Barnes, H. (Je '48)

Your career in show business. Denis, P. (Je '48)
Your creative power. Osborn, A. F. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)
Your diet for longer life. Tobey, J. A. (D '48)
Your job. Kaufmann, F. (S '48)
Your kind indulgence. Malvern, G. (Je '48)
Your loving sister, Pat Downing. Wright, F. F. (Je '48)
Your part in your child's education. Lane, B. B. (D '48)
Your public relations. Griswold, G. and D. P., eds. (F '49) (1948 Annual)
Your shot, darling! Bergquist, L. and Moore, I. (Mr '48)
Your solar house. Simon, M. J., ed. (Ap '48)

Youth
  Pierce, W. G. Youth comes of age. (S '48)

Societies and clubs
  Chambers, M. M. Youth-serving organizations. (Je '48)
  Tracey, J. L. Fun, incorporated. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Latin America
  Goetz, D. Other young Americans. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Youth comes of age. Pierce, W. G. (S '48)
Youth in despair. Banay, R. S. (Ag '48)

Youth movement
  Kiang, W. Chinese student movement. (D '48)
Youth-serving organizations. Chambers, M. M. (Je '48)

Yugoslavia

Description and travel
  St John, R. Silent people speak. (Mr '48)

History
  Fotitch, C. War we lost. (Ja '49) (1948 Annual)

Zoology
  Clark, A. H. Animals alive. (O '48)
  Ley, W. Lungfish, the dodo, and the unicorn [new ed rev & enl]. (D '48)
Zorach explains sculpture. Zorach, W. (My '48)
Zulu woman. Reyher, R. H. (Je '48)

Directory of Publishers

A.L.A. American Library Association, 50 E Huron St, Chicago 11
Abingdon-Cokesbury. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Hdqrs, 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tenn; 150 5th Av, N.Y. 11
Division of Meth. Pub. House; imprint of Clermont Press used when publishing for author or doing outside printing
Academic Press, Inc. 125 E 23d St, N.Y. 10
Addison-Wesley. Addison-Wesley Press, Inc, 308 Kendall Sq Bldg, Cambridge 42, Mass.
Distributors for all books printed by Lew A. Cummings Co, Cambridge, Mass. & Manchestèr, N.H.
Aladdin. Aladdin Books, 554 Madison Av, N.Y. 22
Allen, Towne & Heath, Inc, 1 Madison Av, N.Y. 10; Agent, W. S. Hall & Co, 457 Madison av, N.Y. 22
Am. Artists. American Artists Group, Inc, 106 7th Av, N.Y. 11
Publications distributed by Tudor
Am. Bk. American Book Company, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. 16; 360 N Michigan Av, Chicago; 300 Pike St, Cincinnati; 126 Newbury St, Boston; 91 Cone St, NW, Atlanta; 1319 Young St, Dallas; 121 2d St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage
Am. Council on Educ, 744 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.
Am. Council on Public Affairs, Washington, D.C. See Public Affairs Press
Am. Philosophical Soc, Independence Sq, Philadelphia 6
Publications no longer distributed by Univ. of Pa. Press
Am-Scandinavian Foundation, 116 E 64th St, N.Y. 21
Am. Soc. for Metals, 7301 Euclid Av, Cleveland 3
Originally pub. as Am. Soc. for Steel Treating
Am. Tech. Soc, 850 E 58th St, Chicago 37; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Am. Universities Medical Research Publications, Inc, 240 Broadway, N.Y. 7
Anderson House, 726 Jackson Pl, Washington, D.C.
Associated with Dodd
Antioch Press, Yellow Springs, Ohio
Appleton. D. Appleton-Century-Crofts, Inc, 35 W 32d St, N.Y. 1; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Formerly Appleton-Century
Merged with Crofts
Arco. Arco Publishing Company, 480 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Argus. Argus Books, Inc (Ben Abramson and Nathaniel Roth, Props) 3 W 46th St, N.Y. 19
Acquired the publications of Cheshire now out of print
Arkham House, Sauk City, Wis.
Handles sale & distribution of bks. of Mycroft & Moran and Stanton & Lee
Associated Pubs, Inc, 1538 9th St, NW, Washington 1, D.C.

Banyan Press, Pawlet, Vt.
Barnes, A.S. A. S. Barnes & Co, Inc, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Copp
Acquired the publications of Am. Sports Pub.
Barnes & Noble, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. 3
Barrows. M. Barrows & Company, Inc (H. Tanner Olsen) 114 E 32d St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Also use imprint Village Green Press
Batsford. B. T. Batsford, Ltd, 122 E 55th St, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, Clarke, Irwin
Beacon Press. The Beacon Press, 25 Beacon St, Boston 8
Formerly pub. as Am. Unitar
Beechhurst Press, Inc, 296 Broadway, N.Y. 7; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Formerly Ackerman
Birchard. C. C. Birchard & Company, 221 Columbus Av, Boston 16
Blakiston. The Blakiston Company, 1012 Walnut St, Philadelphia 5 (medical & scientific bks. only); refer trade orders for other titles to Garden City Pub. Co; 215 Victoria St, Toronto 2; Pacific Coast Depository, Stacey
Subsidiary of Doubleday
Bloch. Bloch Publishing Company, Inc, 31 W 31st St, N.Y. 1
Bobbs. Bobbs-Merrill Company, 724 N Meridian St, Indianapolis 7; 468 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Acquired the publications of Orchard Hill Press
Boni & Gaer, Inc, 133 W 44th St, N.Y. 18 (corr address)
Boni & Liveright. See Liveright
Bowker. R. R. Bowker Company, 62 W 45th St, N.Y. 19
Brookings. Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.
Brown Univ, Prospect St, Providence 12, R.I.
Bruce Pub. Bruce Publishing Company, 524-544 N Milwaukee St, Milwaukee 1; 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 105 La Salle St, Chicago 3; Canadian Agent (educ bks) Ryerson Press
Religious lit. pub. & distributed by Northland Pub.

Caribbean Lib, 730 5th Av, N.Y. 19
Caxton Printers, Ltd, Caldwell, Idaho; refer trade orders to Reilly & Lee; Wilde (New England States); Canadian Agent, Copp
Chanticleer. Chanticleer Press, Inc, 41 E 50th St, N.Y. 22
Chemical Pub. Co, Inc, 26 Court St, Brooklyn 2, N.Y; refer trade orders to Tudor; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Childrens Press, Inc, Throop & Monroe Sts, Chicago 7; 200 5th Av, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Citadel. Citadel Press, 120 E 25th St, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Purchased the Furman and Macaulay bks. and Sheridan House publications issued through 1939
Claremont Colleges. Claremont Colleges, Adm. Offices, Harper Hall, Claremont, Calif.
Columbia Univ. Press, 2960 Broadway, N.Y. 27; US Agent for the publications of the United Nations
See also King's Crown Press
Commonwealth Fund. Commonwealth Fund, Division of Publications, 41 E 57th St, N.Y. 22
Compton. F. E. Compton & Co, 1000 N Dearborn St, Chicago; Canadian Agent (educ) Gage
Comstock Pub. Co, Inc, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Consolidated. Consolidated Bk. Pubs, Inc, 151-153 N Michigan Av, Chicago 1; refer school and lib. orders to Basic Bks, Inc, 151 N Michigan Av, Chicago 1
Merged with Standard Am. Corp. and also publish as Univ. of Knowledge, Inc.
Co-Op. League of the U.S.A. Cooperative League of the United States of America, 343 S Dearborn St, Chicago 4; 23 W 45th St, N.Y. 18; 726 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

Cornell Maritime. Cornell Maritime Press, Box 386, Cambridge, Maryland; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Cornell Univ. Press, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y.
Coward-McCann, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Creative Age. Creative Age Press, Inc, 11 E 44th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Criterion Music Corp, R.K.O. Bldg, N.Y. 20
Crofts. F. S. Crofts & Co, N.Y. See Appleton
Cross Publications, 116 John St, N.Y. 7
Crowell. The Thomas Y. Crowell Company; 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Ambassador
Crown. Crown Publishers, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Ambassador
Arden Bk. publications again handled by Arden Bk.
Subsidiary of Outlet
Purchased the assets and publications of Covici
Cummington Press, Cummington, Mass.
Current Bks, Inc, 23 W 47th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Ambassador
Bks. distributed by Wyn

Day. John Day Co, Inc, 121 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 13; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Daye. Stephen Daye Press, Inc, Brattleboro, Vt. See Ungar
Decker Press, Prairie City, Ill.
Formerly Press of James A. Decker
Desmond & Stapleton, 7 Seneca St, Buffalo 3, N.Y.
Devin-Adair. Devin-Adair Company, 23-25 E 26th St, N.Y. 10
Dial Press, Inc, 461 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Didier Pubs, 660 Madison Av, N.Y. 21; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)
Dierkes. Dierkes Press, 4834 N Ashland Av, Chicago 40
Dietz. Dietz Press, Inc, 112 E Cary St, Richmond 19, Va.
Dodd. Dodd, Mead & Company, Inc, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Dodd, Mead & Company (Canada) Ltd, 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto
Dorrance. Dorrance & Company, Inc, 364-376 Drexel Bldg, 5th & Chestnut Sts, Philadelphia 6; Canadian Agent, Associated Pubs (Toronto)
Doubleday. Doubleday & Company, Inc, 14 W 49th St, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; refer trade orders to Garden City, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McClelland Consolidation of Doubleday, Page & Co, George H. Doran & Co.
See also Garden City Pub. Co.
Drake, F.J. Frederick J. Drake & Co, Inc, 117 Green Bay Rd, Wilmette, Ill; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Dramatists. Dramatists Play Service, Inc, 6 E 39th St, N.Y. 16
Dryden. The Dryden Press, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Acquired the publications of Cordon
Duell. Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)
Also use imprint Gerent Press
Duke Univ. Press, College Station, Durham, N.C.
Formerly Duke Univ.
Durrell. Oliver Durrell, Inc, 527 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17
Again publish under own imprint
Formerly Smith & Durrell
Duschnes. Duschnes, Crawford, Inc, 66 E 56th St, N.Y. 22
Formerly Philip C. Duschnes
Dutton. E. P. Dutton & Co, Inc, 286-302 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Emerson. Emerson Books, Inc, 251 W 19th St, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc, 20 N Wacker Drive, Chicago 6; 342 Madison Av, N.Y. 17
Europa. Europa Publications, Ltd, 39 Bedford Sq, London, WC 1
Exposition. The Exposition Press, 1 Spruce St, N.Y. 7

Fairchild. Fairchild Publications, 7 E 12th St, N.Y. 3
Trade bks. distributed by Wyn
Falmouth. Falmouth Publishing House, Box 168, Portland 1, Me.
Also publish as Dirigo Editions
Formerly Falmouth Bk. House
Farrar, Straus. Farrar, Straus & Co, Inc, 53 E 34th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Clarke, Irwin
College division operate as and use imprint Hendricks House-Farrar, Straus
Fell. Frederick Fell, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Western Agent, Rodd; Canadian Agent, McLeod (corr agent)
Fellowship of Reconciliation (N Y). Fellowship of Reconciliation, 2929 Broadway, N.Y. 25
Publications bear trademark Fellowship Publications
Fine Editions. Fine Editions Press, 227 E 45th St, N.Y. 17
Fireside Press, Inc, 604 S Washington Sq, Philadelphia 6
Follett. Follett Publishing Co, 1255 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5
Publishers of textbooks; for trade books see Wilcox & Follett
Forbes. B. C. Forbes Publishing Company, 120 5th Av, N.Y. 11
Franklin & Marshall. Franklin & Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.
French. Samuel French, Inc, 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; 811 W 7th St, Los Angeles; Samuel French (Canada) Ltd, 480 University Av, Toronto
Acquired the publications of Playrights & Publications, Ltd.
Friendship Press, 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Funk. Funk & Wagnalls Company, 153 E 24th St, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Funk, W. Wilfred Funk, Inc, 227 E 44th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Garden City Pub. Co, Inc, Garden City, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Also use imprints Blue Ribbon Bks; Halcyon House Publication; Sun Dial & Triangle Bks
Georgetown Univ. Press, 37th & O Sts, Washington 7, D.C.
Greenberg, Publisher, 201 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, Ambassador
Gresham Press. Gresham Press, Inc, 11 Broadway, N.Y. 4
Greystone. Greystone Press, Inc, 100 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 13; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.
Grune. Grune & Stratton, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16

Harcourt. Harcourt, Brace & Company, Inc, 383 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; for high school texts only: 1525 E 53d St, Chicago; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Absorbing publishing house of Reynal & Hitchcock, continuing imprint for the present
Harper. Harper & Brothers (Pleiad Press Imprint) 49 E 33d St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Musson
Acquired the publications of Hoeber which will remain under the imprint: Paul B. Hoeber, Inc, Medical Bk. Dept. of Harper & Bros.
Hart. Hart Publishing Company, 101 W 55th St, N.Y. 19; refer library and school orders to Children's Reading Service, 106 Beekman St, N.Y. 7; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Harvard Univ. Division of Research. Harvard Univ. Graduate School of Business Adm. Division of Research. Soldiers Field, Boston 63
Publishing agents for the Business School

Harvard Univ. Press. Pub. Dept, 44 Francis Av, Cambridge 38, Mass; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R. (corr address)
Acquired the Loeb Classical Library from Putnam
Handle Harvard-Yenching Inst. publications

[illegible] Hastings House Publishers, [illegible] St. N.Y. 22; 249 San Marcos [illegible] Barbara, Calif; Canadian Agent, [illegible] (corr address)

[illegible] Boston [illegible] St. N.Y. [illegible] St. NE [illegible] St. San Francisco; [illegible] St. Dallas Canadian Agent, Copp
Acquired all textbooks formerly pub. by Atlantic Monthly and Little Hebrew Pub. Hebrew Pub. Co. 77-79 Delancey St. N.Y.

[illegible] 15-17 S [illegible]

[illegible] Hermitage Press, Inc. 8 E 61st St. N.Y. [illegible]

Hinds. Hinds, Hayden & Eldredge, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. 3
Southern Distributors: Johnson Pub.
Subsidiary of Barnes & Noble

Hispanic Inst. in the U.S. Columbia Univ, 435 W [illegible] St. N.Y. [illegible]
[illegible] as Instituto de las Espanas

[illegible] House, Inc. 513 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Holt. Henry Holt & Company, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; for educ. bks. only: 2626 Prairie Av, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Canadian Agents, (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Horn Bk. Inc. 248 Boylston St. Boston 16

Houghton. Houghton Mifflin Company (Riverside Press, Cambridge) 2 Park St, Boston 7; 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 2500 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 500 Howard St. San Francisco 5; 715 Browder St. Dallas 1; Canadian Agents, Allen, T. Nelson (Toronto), [illegible]

[illegible] Publishers, Inc. [illegible] E [illegible] St. N.Y. [illegible] Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

[illegible]

[illegible] Henry E. [illegible] San Marino [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Infantry Journal Press, 1115 [illegible] Washington 6, D.C.

[illegible] Sweet Springs, Mo.

[illegible]

[illegible] International Publishers Co. Inc. [illegible] N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, [illegible]

[illegible] Textbook Company, [illegible] Scranton 9, Pa; [illegible] Canadian, Ltd [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Irwin. Richard D. Irwin, Inc, 3201 S. Michigan Av. Chicago 18; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co. Ltd. 17 Queen St, E, Toronto

Jewish Pub. The Jewish Publication Society of America, 222 N 15th St, Philadelphia 2

Johns Hopkins Press, Homewood, Baltimore 18

Kamin. Kamin Dance Bookshop & Gallery, 1365 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 19

King's Crown Press, 2960 Broadway, N.Y. 27 (corr address)
Division of Columbia Univ. Press

Knopf. Alfred A. Knopf, 501 Madison Av, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, McClelland (corr agent)
Acquired publications of the Wm. Penn Pub. Corp. published prior to 1943

La. State Univ. Press, University Station, Baton Rouge 3, La.

Lantern Press (N Y). Lantern Press, Inc (A. L. Furman, Proprietor) 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Gold Label books consolidated with Lantern Press (N Y)

[illegible] & Larkin, Chicago. See [illegible]

[illegible] Publishers, Inc, 24 E 11th St, N.Y. 3
Bks. distributed by Crown

Lib. Research Service, 114 S. Carroll St, Madison 3, Wis.

Lippincott. J. B. Lippincott Company, 227-231 S 6th St, Philadelphia 5; 521 5th Av, N. Y. 17; 333 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto); (medical dept only) 2083 Guy St, Montreal
Acquired the publications of Carrick; also those of Stokes

Little. Little, Brown & Company, 34 Beacon St, Boston 6; Canadian Agent, McClelland; (educ) Ryerson Press
Functions as publisher and distributor of trade books for Atlantic Monthly Press publications
Textbooks of Little and Atlantic Monthly have been transferred to Heath

Liveright. Liveright Publishing Corporation, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Formerly Boni & Liveright

Longmans. Longmans, Green & Company, Inc, 55 5th Av, N.Y. 3; 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto 1

Lothrop. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 126 Newbury St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Ambassador
Owned and operated by Crown

McBride. Robert M. McBride & Company, 200 E 37th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Own and control Dodge

McGraw. McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; McGraw-Hill Company of Canada, Ltd, 12 Richmond St, E, Toronto 1; 68 Post St, San Francisco 4; 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11
Purchased the firm of Embassy; also Gregg whose identity will be kept
Trade bks. pub. under name Whittlesey House

McKay. David McKay Company, 604-608 S Washington Sq, Philadelphia 6; 9 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Musson

McKnight. McKnight & McKnight, 109-11 W Market St, Bloomington, Ill; Canadian Agent, Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto

Macmillan. The Macmillan Company, 60 5th Av, N.Y. 11; 2549 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 1701 Ross Av, Dallas 1; 240 Newbury St, Boston 16; 289 Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta 3; 350 Mission St, San Francisco 5; The Macmillan Co. of Canada, Ltd, St Martin's House, 70 Bond St, Toronto 2

McMullen. Declan X. McMullen Co, Inc, 23 Beekman St, N.Y. 7 (corr address)
Acquired publications of Fordham Univ. Press

Macrae Smith Co, Lewis Tower Bldg, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Am News Co (Toronto)

Manual Arts. Manual Arts Press, 237 N Monroe St, Peoria 3, Ill; Canadian Agent, Copp

Marquis. The A. N. Marquis Company, Marquis Publications Bldg, 210 E Ohio St, Chicago 11
Acquired the publications of Larkin, Roosevelt & Larkin

Meador. Meador Publishing Company, 324 Newbury St, Boston 15

Merriam. G. & C. Merriam Company, 47 Federal St, Springfield 2, Mass; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Messner. Julian Messner, Inc, Publishers, 8 W 40th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Acquired the publications of King, A.H.; also the controlling interest of Veritas

Meth. Pub. House. The Methodist Publishing House (Whitmore & Stone, Agents) 150 5th Av, N.Y. 10; 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tenn; 581 Boylston St, Boston; 516 N Charles St, Baltimore; 5th & Grace Sts, Richmond 16, Va; 524 Penn Av, Pittsburgh; 28 Elizabeth St, E, Detroit; 420 Plum St, Cincinnati; 740 Rush St, Chicago; 1910 Main St, Dallas; 1121 McGee St, Kansas City, Kan; 85 McAllister St, San Francisco; 225 SW Broadway, Portland, Ore.
Abingdon-Cokesbury division of Meth. Pub. House; imprint of Parthenon Press used when publishing for author or doing outside printing
Consolidation of Meth Bk; Pub. House M.E. Ch. So; and Meth. Protestant Bk. Concern
Publications of Meth. Episcopal Church. Bd. of Educ. and those of Division of Plays & Pageants now obtainable from Meth. Pub. House

Military Service. Military Service Publishing Company, 100 Telegraph Bldg, Harrisburg, Pa.
Formerly Nat. Service Pub. Co.

Mill. M. S. Mill Company, Inc, 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16; refer trade orders to Morrow; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Morehouse. Morehouse-Gorham Company, Inc, 14 E 41st St, N.Y. 17
Consolidated Morehouse Publishing Company and Edwin S. Gorham, Inc.

Morrow. William Morrow & Co, Inc, 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 1422 San Vicente Blvd, Santa Monica, Calif; Canadian Agent, Collins (corr agent)
Also use joint imprint Swallow Press & William Morrow & Co.
Bought Bookmark Press, Haddonfield, N.J.

Muhlenberg Press, Publishers, 1228 Spruce St, Philadelphia 7
Trade dept. of United Lutheran Pub.

Museum of Modern Art, 11 W 53d St, N.Y. 19; refer trade orders to Simon & Schuster

Nat. Foundation Press, 143 N Meridian St, Indianapolis 4

Nelson. Thomas Nelson & Sons, 385 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Thomas Nelson & Sons, Ltd, 91 Wellington St, W, Toronto 1
Transferred Elementary & High School Textbooks to Newson; also College Text Dept. to Ronald

New Directions, Norfolk, Conn; 500 5th Av, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Jonathan David Co, 1501 St Catherine St, W, Montreal 25

Norton. W. W. Norton & Company, Inc, 101 5th Av, N.Y. 3; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Norwegian-Am. Hist. Assn, Northfield, Minn.

Odyssey. Odyssey Press, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16

Ohio State Univ. Bur. of Business Research. Ohio State Univ. Bur. of Business Research. College of Commerce & Administration, Columbus 10, Ohio

Oxford. Oxford University Press, 114 5th Av, N.Y. 11; 480-486 University Av, Toronto 2 (including imprints of Clarendon Press, Humphrey Milford and Geoffrey Cumberlege) US Agent for Phaidon Press Bks. and Iris Verlag; Canadian Agent (educ) Clarke, Irwin
For music publications address Fischer, Carl
Publish Home Univ. Lib. Publications, formerly pub. by Butterworth, T.

Pacific Bks, Publishers, Box 558, Palo Alto, Calif.

Page. L. C. Page & Company (St Botolph Soc) 53 Beacon St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Pantheon Bks, Inc, 41 Washington Sq, N.Y. 12; Canadian Agent, Jonathan David Co, 1501 St Catherine St, W, Montreal 25

Pellegrini & Cudahy, Inc, 65 5th Av, N.Y. 3

Philosophical Lib, Inc, 15 E 40th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Pilgrim Press (of the Congregational Pub. Soc) 14 Beacon St, Boston 8; 19 La Salle St, Chicago

Pitman. Pitman Pub. Corp, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons (Canada) Ltd, Pitman House, 381-383 Church St, Toronto
Acquired the publications of Wilson, E; the aeronautical publications of Gale

Polish Inst. of Arts & Sciences in Am, 39 E 35th St, N.Y. 16
Bks. distributed by Herald Square

Pop. Mechanics. Popular Mechanics Co, 200 E Ontario St, Chicago 11; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Trade bks. pub. under name Windsor Press

Prentice-Hall, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Hobart Bldg, 582 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent (trade bks) McLeod

Presbyterian Bd. Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Publication Department (The Westminster Press) Witherspoon Bldg, Philadelphia 7; depositories at 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10; 8 S Dearborn St, Chicago 3; 234 McAllister St, San Francisco 2; Granite Bldg, Pittsburgh 22; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Press of James A. Decker, Ill. See Decker Press

Princeton Univ. Press, Princeton, N.J; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Public Adm. Public Administration Service, 1313 E 60th St, Chicago 37
Formerly pub. as Municipal Adm. Service

Public Affairs Press, 2153 Florida Av, Washington 8, D.C.
Acquired the publications of the Am. Council on Public Affairs

Putnam. G. P. Putnam's Sons, 121 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 13; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.
Acquired the publications of Kinsey; also handle and sell all Minton publications
Loeb Classical Library acquired by Harvard Univ. Press

Quarrie. Quarrie Corporation, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago

Rand McNally. Rand McNally & Company, 536 S Clark St, Chicago 5; 111 8th Av, N.Y. 11; 559 Mission St, San Francisco 5; (educ bks) 2009 Terrace Pl, Nashville 4, Tenn; 1104 Nat. Press Bldg, Washington 4, D.C; Canadian Agents, Allen, T.; (educ bks) Gage

Random House, Inc, 457 Madison Av, N.Y. 22; Random House of Canada, Ltd, 12 Richmond St, E, Toronto 1

Purchased Burt Home Library from Blue Ribbon Bks.

Handle The Nonesuch Library Series of Nonesuch

Regnery. H. Regnery Co, 53 S. Washington St, Hinsdale, Ill.

Reilly & Lee. Reilly & Lee Company, 325 W Huron St, Chicago 10; Canadian Agent, Copp

Reinhold. Reinhold Publishing Corporation, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Successors to Chemical Catalog Co. and Pencil Points Press

Revell. Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 5th Av, N.Y. 10

Trade bks. no longer pub. jointly with Assn. Press

Revere. Revere Publishing Company, 15 Trinity Pl, N.Y. 6

Reynal. Reynal & Hitchcock. See Harcourt

Rider, J. F. John Francis Rider, Publisher, Inc, 480 Canal St, N.Y. 13 (corr address)

Also publish as Rider Publications

Rinehart. Rinehart & Co, Inc, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Clarke, Irwin (corr agent)

Purchased the business of Radio & Tech. Pub. Co, whose publications will be distributed by the subsidiary: Tech. Division, Murray Hill Bks, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16

Formerly known as Farrar & Rinehart, Inc.

Rockport Press. Rockport Press, Inc, 545 5th Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Ronald. The Ronald Press Company, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10

Acquired Cattell & Co. books

Roy Pubs. Roy Publishers, A.N, 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Royal Inst. of Int. Affairs, 542 5th Av, N.Y. 19

Russell Sage. Russell Sage Foundation, 130 E 22d St, N.Y. 10

Rutgers Univ. Press, New Brunswick, N.J; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Salloch. William Salloch, 142 7th Av, S, N.Y. 14

Saunders. W. B. Saunders Company, 218 W Washington Sq, Philadelphia 5

Schalkenbach. Robert Schalkenbach Foundation, Inc, 50 E 69th St, N.Y. 21

Schocken. Schocken Bks, Inc, 342 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Jonathan David Co, 1501 St Catherine St, W, Montreal 25

Schuman. Henry Schuman, Inc, Publishers, 20 E 70th St, N.Y. 21

Formerly Schuman's

Science Research. Science Research Associates, Occupational Information Division, 228 S Wabash Av, Chicago 4

Scott. Scott, Foresman & Company, 433 E Erie St, Chicago 11; 114-120 E 23d St, N.Y. 10; 50 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta 3; 2210 Pacific Av, Dallas 1; 1233 S Hope St, Los Angeles 15; 533 Mission St, San Francisco 5; Canadian Agent, Gage

Scott, W.R. William R. Scott, Inc, 513 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Scribner. Charles Scribner's Sons, 597-599 5th Av, N.Y. 17; for school bks. only: 320 E 21st St, Chicago; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Batsford books formerly handled by Scribner now handled by Batsford (N Y)

Shady Hill Press, 17 E 96th St, N.Y. 28

Sharon. Sharon Books, Inc, 45 E 17th St, N.Y. 3

Sheed. Sheed & Ward, Inc, 830 Broadway, N.Y. 3; Canadian Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Now handles the publications of St Michael's college

Sheridan. Sheridan House, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod

All former Furman and Macaulay bks. and Sheridan House publications issued through 1939 now sold to Citadel

Silver. Silver Burdett Company, Everett Bldg, 45 E 17th St, N.Y. 3; Wesleyan Bldg, 581 Boylston St, Boston; 221 E 20th St, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Simmons-Boardman. Simmons-Boardman Publishing Corporation, 30 Church St, N.Y. 7; 105 W Adams St, Chicago; Terminal Tower, 50 Public Sq, Cleveland; Nat. Press Bldg, Washington, D.C; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Simon & Schuster, Inc, 1230 Av. of the Americas, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; refer trade orders to 100 Av. of the Americas, N.Y. 13; Canadian Agent, Musson

Also use imprint Venture Press—Simon & Schuster

Sloane. William Sloane, Associates, Inc, 119 W 57th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Acquired Maxwell Anderson Plays from Anderson House

Smith, Richard R. Richard R. Smith, 120 E 39th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Also use imprint of Margent Press

Smith & Durrell, Inc, N.Y. See Durrell

Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Address The Library

Social Science Research Council, 230 Park Av, N.Y. 17

Social Sciences. Social Sciences Publishers, 1966 Broadway, N.Y. 23

Stanford Univ. Press, Stanford University, Calif.

State Hist. Soc. of Mo, Columbia, Mo.

Stephen-Paul. Stephen-Paul Publishers, 367 Fulton St, Brooklyn 1, N.Y; refer trade orders to Greenberg

Stewart. George W. Stewart, Publisher, Inc, 109 E 39th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McLeod (corr address)

Storm. Storm Publishers, Inc, 507 5th Av, N.Y. 17

Studio. Studio Publications, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Musson

Superior Pub. Superior Publishing Company, 2603 3d Av, Seattle 1, Wash.

Swallow, A. Alan Swallow, 2679 S York St, Denver 10

Formerly pub. as Swallow & Critchlow

Syracuse Univ. Press, 920 Irving Av, Syracuse 10, N.Y.

Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 W 120th St, N.Y. 27

Textile Bk. Textile Book Publishers, Inc, 303 5th Av, N.Y. 16

Thomas, C. C. Charles C. Thomas, Publisher, 301-327 E Lawrence Av, Springfield, Ill; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Transatlantic. Transatlantic Arts, Inc (Dr. George Vajna, Pres) Forest Hills, N.Y.

Twentieth Century Fund, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18

Ungar. Frederick Ungar Publishing Co, 105 E 24th St, N.Y. 10; Western Distributor, Perkins

Purchased Stephen Daye, Inc. and will continue to use Daye imprint

Univ. of Ala. Press, Drawer 2877, University, Ala.

Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Address The University of Calif. Press, California Hall, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Now handle the Comparative Psychology Monographs formerly handled by Williams & Wilkins

Univ. of Chicago Press, 5750 Ellis Av, Chicago 37; US Agent, Stacey; Canadian Agent, Gage

Univ. of Ga, Athens, Ga.

Address The University of Ga. Press

Univ. of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii

Univ. of Ill, Urbana, Ill.

Address The University of Ill. Press

Univ. of Mich, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Address The University of Mich. Press, 311 Maynard St, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Univ. of Minn, Minneapolis 14

Address The University of Minn. Press, 10 Nicholson Hall, Minneapolis, 14 (corr address)

Univ. of N.C. Press, Box 510, Chapel Hill, N.C; Canadian Agent, Gage

Univ. of N.Mex. Press, Albuquerque, N.Mex.

Univ. of Neb, Lincoln Neb.

Address The University of Neb. Press

Univ. of Okla. Press, Faculty Exchange, Norman, Okla.

Univ. of Pa. Press, 3436 Walnut St, Philadelphia 4; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Acquired the series Studies and Documents from Lake, K.

Am Philosophical Soc. again distributes own publications

Publish & distribute Temple Univ. publications

Univ. of Pittsburgh, Bigelow & Parkman Sts, Pittsburgh

Address The University of Pittsburgh Press

Univ. of S.C, Columbia 19, S.C.

Address The Extension Division

Univ. Press in Dallas, Southern Methodist Univ, Dallas 5

Universal Educ. Universal Educ. Guild, Inc, 17 Smith St, Brooklyn 2, N.Y.

Vanguard. Vanguard Press, Inc, 424 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Copp

Vanni. S. F. Vanni, Inc, 30 W 12th St, N.Y. 11

Van Nostrand. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc, 250 4th Av, N.Y. 3; D. Van Nostrand Company (Canada) Ltd, 228 Bloor St, W, Toronto 5

Viking. The Viking Press, Inc, 18 E 48th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto)

Want List, 95 Broad St, N.Y. 4

Washburn. Ives Washburn, Inc, 27-29 W 57th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Watson-Guptill. Watson-Guptill Publications, Inc, 345 Hudson St, N.Y. 14; refer trade orders to Baker & Taylor

Watts, F. Franklin Watts, Inc, 285 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Ambassador

Waverly House, 18 Tremont St, Boston; Western Agent, McNaughton

Webb. Webb Publishing Company. Book Division, 55-79 E 10th St, St Paul 2, Minn; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Formerly known as Webb Bk. Pub. Co. which has been dissolved

Trade titles issued under imprint Itasca Press

Acquired the publications of Midland House

Whitman, A. Albert Whitman & Company, 560 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Eastern Agent, Barrows; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Acquired all the publications except educational of Laidlaw Bros.

Whittlesey House. See McGraw

Wilcox & Follett. Wilcox & Follett Co, 1255 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5; Canadian Agent, Associated Pubs (Toronto)

Publishers of trade books; for textbooks see Follett

Wilde. W. A. Wilde Company, 131 Larendon St, Boston 16; Canadian Agent, Upper Canada Tract Soc, 406 Yonge St, Toronto

Wiley. John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 440 4th Av, N.Y. 16; depository at Tech. Bk. Co, 432 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Renouf

Williams & Wilkins. The Williams & Wilkins Company (Waverly Press) Mt Royal & Guilford Avs, Baltimore 2; depositories at Chicago Med; Stacey; T. H. McKenna, 882 Lexington Av, N.Y. 21; E. F. Mahady, 851 Boylston St, Boston; C. W. Alban & Co, Inc, 3626 Olive St, St Louis 8; Canadian Agent, Univ. of Toronto Press

Purchased the business of Wood

Bks. printed by Waverly Press

No longer handle the Comparative Psychology Monographs

Wilson, H.W. The H. W. Wilson Company, 950-972 University Av, N.Y. 52

Wings. The Wings Press, Box 332, Mill Valley, Calif; 7 W 65th St, N.Y. 23

Winston. John C. Winston Company, 1006-1020 Arch St, Philadelphia 7; 623-629 S Wabash Av, Chicago; 60 Front St, W, Toronto

Also publish as Universal Bk. & Bible House

Wise. Wm. H. Wise & Company, Inc, 50 W 47th St, N.Y. 19; Agent, Mill; Canadian agent, Musson

Womans Press. Woman's Press, 600 Lexington Av, N.Y. 22; Asilomas, Monterey County, Calif.

Wonder Bks, Inc. See Random House

World Bk. World Book Company, 313 Park Hill Av, Yonkers 5, N.Y; 2126 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 441 W Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta; 14 Beacon St, Boston; 707 Browder St, Dallas 1; 121 2d St, San Francisco; 408 SW 5th Av, Portland, Ore; Canadian Agents, Gage; Renouf

World Press, Inc, 1837 Champa St, Denver 2

World Pub. The World Publishing Co, 2231 W 110th St, Cleveland 2; 107 W 43d St, N.Y. 18; 608 S Hill St, Los Angeles; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Writer. The Writer, Inc, 8 Arlington St, Boston 16; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Wyn. A.A. Wyn, Inc, 23 W 47th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Ambassador

Distributors of Current Bks. and of bks. formerly published by L.B. Fischer

Yale Univ. Press, 143 Elm St, New Haven 7, Conn; 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; US Agent, Norton; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Am. Oriental Ser. and Offprint Ser. of Am. Oriental Soc. now obtainable from Am. Oriental Soc.

Ziff-Davis. The Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, 185 N Wabash Av, Chicago 1; Empire State Bldg, 350 5th Av, N.Y. 1; 815 S Hill St, Los Angeles 14; Canadian Agent, Ambassador

Acquired the publications of Alliance Bk. now dissolved

Z
1219
C95
1948

GTU LIBRARY
3 2400 00643 0809

Reference Room
San Francisco Theological Seminary
MUST NOT BE REMOVED